Enemy Repulsed by British With Heavy Losses

Teuton Attacks Delivered With Violence Against British Last Night; All Beaten off With Heavy Losses to Enemy

By Courier Leased Wire.

London, Aug. 18.—The German troops in Flanders were again completely repulsed by the British after sharp fighting, according to the British official statement issued after this morning. The text of the official statement follows:

"The enemy early today delivered another counter-attack against our recently captured position immediately northwest of Lens. His troops were again completely repulsed after sharp fighting in which we secured a few prisoners. There was considerable hostile artillery during the night in this neighborhood and also northwest of Ypres.

"We carried out last night a successful raid east of Vermelles. The enemy's support line was reached and many casualties were inflicted.

"There was great activity in the air yesterday although a strong west wind made fighting difficult. Our airplanes had greatly the better of the fighting and were able to carry out their task successfully in spite of the determined efforts on the part of the hostile aircraft to interfere with their work. Our activity commenced before dawn and continued uninterruptedly throughout the day. Hostile airdromes were cleared with machine gun-fire from a height of a few score feet. A total of 9 1-2 tons bombs was dropped on the enemy's airdromes, rail way stations and billets.

"Our machines directly assisted our infantry in their attack harassing the German infantry and gunners with machine gun fire. Our artillery fired directly upon concentration of German troops, fifteen hostile machines were brought down, eleven others were driven down out of control. One German observation balloon was also brought down aflame. Eleven of our airplanes are missing."

Canadians in Raid.

London, Aug. 18.—Six Canadians were killed and twenty-three injured in the accidental explosion of a mine during a submarine war at the manoeuvres camp in Hampshire, Thursday, according to "The Daily Mail."

Bombing Raid.

London, Aug. 18.—The Admiralty announces that a hostile destroyer and two mine sweepers were damaged severely by British naval forces on Thursday. The British warships were not damaged.

London, Aug. 18.—The Admiralty announces that another bombing raid was carried out about midnight Thursday by the naval air service on the railway station and junction at Thourout, a town in west Flanders, 11 miles south west of Bruges. Fires were caused and it is thought that an ammunition dump was hit and the railway damaged. Many tons of bombs were dropped on the objectives. All machines returned safely.

Air Raid Alarm.

Paris, Aug. 18.—An air raid alarm was sounded at 3 o'clock this morning, the sky was clear and with a quarter of an hour the hum of despatch airplanes could be heard as they circled over the city. At 4.05 bugles were sounded indicating the danger was over.

The Aftermath.

British Front in France and Belgium, Aug. 18.—(By the Associated Press)—The fighting Thursday at Pozegon was unusually desperate. Wave after wave of the enemy came surging up against the London troops who held on determinedly with rifle and bayonet until two simultaneous counter-attacks from different directions forced them to retreat.

Gradually they withdrew, fighting all the way. Some few of them were surrounded and fought until forced to surrender. One young officer, in command of ten men, found himself encircled by the enemy, and his men being swept by machine gun fire. The last heard of him was contained in a message he signalled back to his division, saying that his men were facing certain death and that he was ready to die with them.

Weather Bulletin.

Toronto, Aug. 18.—The shallow depression which was over Quebec and the middle Atlantic states yesterday is now moving into the Maritime provinces where the weather has become showery. Heavy showers have occurred at a few points in Manitoba and Saskatchewan but over the greater part of the western provinces it continues dry and very warm.

Forecasts. Moderate westerly winds, fine and moderately warm. Sunday—Moderate winds, mostly fine and warm, but thundershowers in a few localities.

saw no way but to surrender, and save their lives.

Along most of the French front it was comparatively quiet, although a hard local battle was continuing about a strong German redoubt, known as "Les Lias" which lies about a thousand yards southwest of the St. Jansbeek River. In their advance the French surged forward on either side of this position, making a sort of pocket around it, and it was seen that the small German garrison would be compelled to surrender shortly. The Germans delivered a counter-attack on the French extreme right flank, but this was repulsed by artillery fire.

The contact between the British and French armies was excellent. The prisoners accounted for to date totalled more than 370, and this figure represented considerably more than the entire French casualties along their whole front in their Thursday's offensive. The remarkably small casualties were due to the fine work of the French artillery. Preliminary bombardment of German positions was the most effective and the advance was made under a perfect barrage.

As was the case of the British front, about Langemark, the German barrage was totally inadequate and their counter-battery work whereon so much depends, gave no trouble. The French counter-battery fire resulted in silencing a large number of enemy guns, and a result the French have been little troubled by gunfire in carrying out consolidations.

The work of the French engineers in this difficult terrain which as it approaches the river is a veritable morass had been thrust forward swiftly and when it came to bridging the flooded Steenbeek for crossing at dawn Thursday there was not the slightest delay in getting the numerous bridges over.

The French air service played an important part in the advance going ahead along the line and keeping up the contract of the patrols at the heights of two or three hundred metres. The German airmen who ventured into direction of the French were driven back and the air was cleared of enemy machines. In addition to patrol work the French airmen did good execution with machine guns and bombs on enemy redoubts.

Guyerner The Hero. British front in France and Belgium, Aug. 18.—(By the Associated Press)—From a section of the French front it is reported that the renowned aviator, Captain George Guyerner, brought down two more German machines, making 52 he has accounted for.

Guyerner visited headquarters yesterday to receive a decoration from a distinguished Roumanian general. The medal was pinned on the breast of the intrepid aviator beside numerous orders he won, including a decoration from the King of the Belgians the day before.

Guyerner undoubtedly was proud of the honor, but he was much disturbed over an article which has just appeared in Berlin papers saying he is not really brave, but that he flew at a great height, and that he flew by swooping down on them. The purport of the stories was that Guyerner did not play the game fairly. Guyerner swore vengeance for this canard and as he walked away after receiving the decoration, with a determined look on his face, the young aviator gave full indication as to what he had planned. It may be added that he appeared to hold the deepest veneration of French soldiers. As he strode out of the headquarters grounds yesterday with his breast blazing in the sun from many medals the soldiers stood at attention all along the way, even those who were inside the offices rising to their feet as a tribute to the hero.

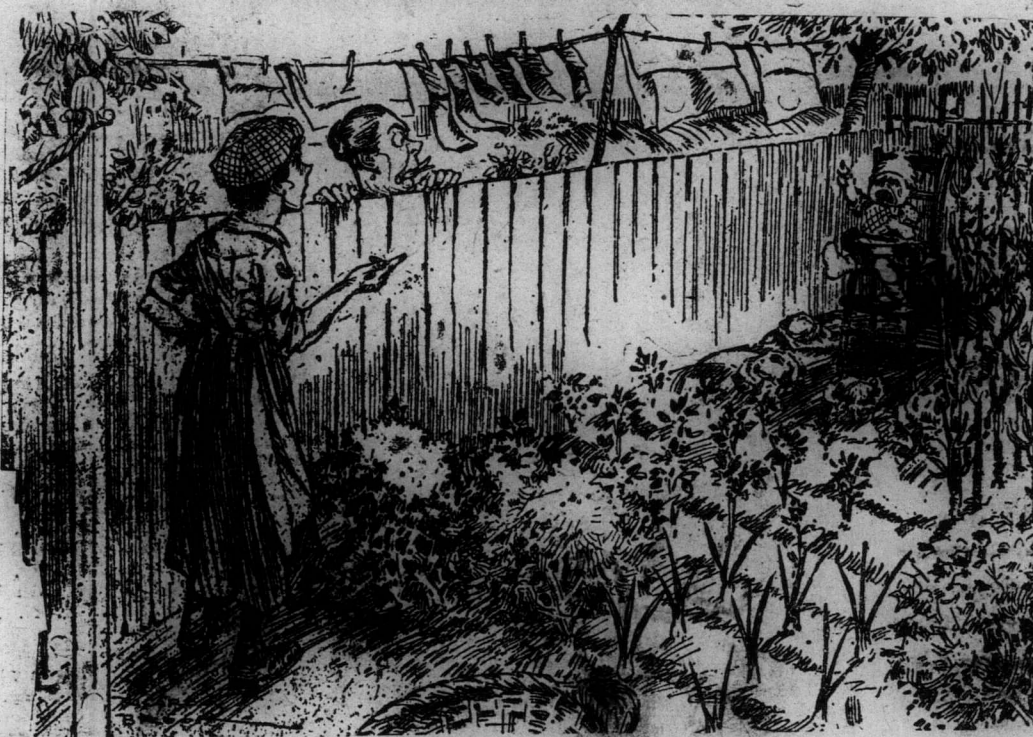

HUN ADMIRAL DEAD.

By Courier Leased Wire. Amsterdam, Aug. 18.—Rear Admiral Rosenadahl, of the German navy, is reported to have died Thursday while visiting in the Trentino. He was the first German governor of Kaio Chau, China.

FINNISH BUDGET.

By Courier Leased Wire. Petrograd, Aug. 18.—Notwithstanding the provisional government's dissolution decree, the budget committee of the Finnish diet renewed its sessions. M. Hallsten, Finnish member, protested on the ground that the meeting was unconstitutional and left the committee room, but Socialists and agrarians continued to sit. Petrograd newspapers declare the provisional government will not shrink from force in order to prevent the diet sitting.

JUVENILE LABOR ON THE LAND.

EXPLOSION IN QUEBEC POWDER PLANT TAKES VERY HEAVY TOLL OF LIVES

Feared Over 250 Were Killed When Great Factory at Rigaud Blew up Early This Morning; Rescuers Hasten to Scene of Appalling Disaster

By Courier Leased Wire.

Montreal, Aug. 18.—The powder plant at Rigaud, Quebec, blew up this morning. It is feared the loss of life will be heavy. The plant belongs to Curtis and Harvey, Ltd. The plant and adjacent grounds cover five miles square. Reports received here soon after the explosion said that the plant was nearly all in flames. Five thousand men and women are employed in the factory.

The explosion blew up the telegraph and telephone systems and rendered it most difficult to get information out of Rigaud.

The C. P. R. Ottawa-Montreal line is close to the plant. Traffic was suspended temporarily this morning on this section.

From points near Rigaud it was learned that three explosions took place. The first at nine o'clock, was heard in Vaudreuil, twenty miles away. It was followed by two others in quick succession.

Trainmen who got away from the scene of the explosion stated that forty houses at Dragon, a little village near the factory, occupied by workmen in the plant were blown down by the force of the explosions.

The whole countryside was covered by a dense copper colored smoke at ten o'clock. A special train of doctors and nurses left Montreal at ten-thirty for the scene of the explosion.

At the local office of Curtis and Harvey, it was stated that the cause of the explosion, which apparently set fire to a portion of the plant, was not known. It was thought that not more than 300 would be working in the section of the factory affected and that probably many of these would have time to escape. The fire probably, it was believed, spread to other portions of the factory, causing the two other explosions heard. Men and women working in them would have time to get away.

Curtis and Harvey officials were hopeful that the death list would not amount to as many as 250, the estimate given at points near the plant.

Ottawa, August 18.—First reports received here from stations surrounding the scene of the disaster state that in the neighborhood of 250 persons are believed to have been killed.

Passengers on a C. P. R. train who passed near the scene of the disaster placed the number of dead from the first explosion at 20. They said the missing list is big, because everybody in the factory rushed into the open country when the first explosion occurred, and had not returned when their train left for Montreal.

The extent of the explosion may be judged by the fact that two farm houses, over a mile from the plant, were destroyed. At noon the village of Rigaud was blazing and it looked as if it would be totally destroyed.

WIN-THE-WAR.

By Courier Leased Wire. Kerrobert, Sask., Aug. 18.—At a win-the-war meeting last night a resolution was unanimously passed calling upon Liberal and Conservative executive to form a Win-the-War party to support a pro-conscription candidate. Both Liberal and Conservative nominees agree to withdraw in favor of the Win-the-War candidates.

MILITARY CLUB.

By Courier Leased Wire. Paris, Aug. 18.—The presence of so many allied officers in Paris has resulted in the formation of a military club for their use. Baron Henri de Rothschild has offered his mansion in the Rue Saint Honore, with gardens reaching to the Champs Elyses, as a club house. Marshal Joffre has accepted the honorary presidency.

REFUSES.

By Courier Leased Wire. Paris, Aug. 18.—The newspaper Libre Pole announces that it refuses to increase its price to two cents as provided by a recent ministerial decree. The paper says the order is without legal base and that higher interests command resistance to such intolerable encroachment on the liberty of the press by the state.

RAILWAY STRIKE IN OLD LAND

Engineers and Firemen May Walk Out Unless Demands are Granted

8 HOUR DAY QUESTION

General Strike Appears To Be Impending At Present Time

By Courier Leased Wire.

London, Aug. 18.—There is considerable danger of an immediate strike, involving about half the engineers and firemen employed on British railroads. The main point at issue being the recognition of the principle of an eight-hour day, although the demand does not necessarily include making the principle effective during the war. The men concerned number about 40,000 and belong to the Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen. The union is distinct from the much larger one of railway men.

The trouble has been brewing some time. The government recently stated in the House of Commons that the society's claims were inadmissible, but President Stanley, of the Board of Trade held two or three conferences with the leaders in the hope of arranging the dispute though without success. At a meeting of the executive committee of the society, held in London, it was decided to strike because the demands were not granted. Late in the evening, Secretary Bromley submitted to his colleagues further suggestions which were undisclosed. The executive committee despite the decision to strike agreed to submit Mr. Stanley's financial communication to a conference of delegates convened for to-day.

Secretary Bromley says although eight hours is normal and enough for any engineer, they often work 15 hours at a stretch, recognizing the necessity of working somewhat longer at the present time. The men inflexibly insist on the recognition of the principle of the eight-hour day. The newspapers point to the extreme gravity of a strike at the present time, the delay in transportation of wounded as well as reinforcements of men and supplies to ports. J. H. Thomas, M.P., of the National Union, says the union has protested strongly against the society's action, which he regards as a breach of labor truce. It seems, however, that there is some antagonism between the two unions. It is predicted that if the strike develops the government will take very strong measures.

Wardle Appointment.

London, Aug. 18.—The appointment of George J. Wardle, as parliamentary secretary of the Board of Trade, is welcomed by the press opposed to the Stockholm Socialist conference as indicating that he accepts the attitude of the government with regard thereto. His acceptance of the office is regarded as the more significant as he accompanied Arthur Henderson, who recently resigned as member of the War Council, and James Ramsay MacDonald, ex-chairman of the Labor party, on their recent famous visit to Paris, since which time he has not declared his views. The appointment of George H. Roberts, as minister of labor, necessitates his seeking re-election at Norwich. Other appointments do not incur the obligation of reappearing to their constituents.

THE SITUATION.
The news from the Roumanian front is somewhat better. It is announced that Austro-German attacks in Southwestern Moldavia, have been repulsed and that the foe has made no further gains in the region of Oena since last Thursday. It may be that even yet Kerensky and his associates can stop the further spread of disintegration among the troops, to the extent of making them an offensive force again at an earlier period than seemed at all likely. In this respect the statements of Commander-in-Chief Korniloff are still further encouraging. He has arrived at Petrograd to see the Premier, and in the course of an interview has announced that as the result of energetic measures the normal fighting capacity of the army had been considerably strengthened. Still further, he expressed hope of a complete regeneration of the Russian forces, and predicted operations on a vast scale on the Roumanian front, and elsewhere.

The Kaiserites, in pursuance of their policy of hiding unpalatable truths from the people, are resorting to even more mendacious lies than usual with regard to recent events. The Berlin official report, after admitting the fact that Hun lines had been penetrated by the British, and Langemacker entered, made the further announcement that counter attacks had again secured the place and other lost positions. The British war office has issued a prompt denial stating that not only has Langemacker not been recovered, but that no attempt has been made by the enemy to do so—the place is not only held but in addition a considerable length of German offensive positions 800 yards to the north of it.

The Canadian troops are not only holding their line gains, but in addition, are making further advances. Gen. Sir Arthur Currie says, "Everything is going well with us. I am quite sure that the splendid reputation now enjoyed by the corps will be fully maintained, provided of course, Canada does her duty, and keeps the necessary drafts supplied."

Those last words ought to burn deep into the consciences and the determination of all true Canadians.

THE STARS AND STRIPES IN EUROPE.

In time not long passed the man would have been considered a veritable dreamer, if not something far less complimentary, if he had ventured to predict that the stars and stripes would be found alongside of the Union Jack and the flag of France in a European conflict.

Such a seemingly impossible thing however, has come to pass, brought about by the devilish tenets and practices of the Hun in direct variance to all the dictates of a common and decent humanity. The London Times thus appropriately refers to the blending of these national emblems.

"The unfurling of the Stars and Stripes in Europe beside the Union Jack and the Tricolor means more than a vast addition to our military strength, more than allied victory, more even than a democratic peace. It is an earnest of all these, but it is also a symbol of that union of mind and feeling between the ordered democracies of England, France and the United States, which promises to play the greatest part in moulding the future ideals and the future destinies of the world. This union, as we have more than once insisted, bids fair to rank for ever amongst the great historic landmarks in the moral and political history of mankind. It is too large and too near a thing for the boldest amongst us to gauge. In character, extent, and in duration its results are past finding out. But we know that it is built on all that is best and most solid in the tried and trusted traditions of the three democracies who have combined with most success the blessings of progressive liberty and the blessings of stable order in their national life. We know that the principles in which these traditions have their roots are sacred, and that from them no evil can proceed. We feel that this union is good, and we look forward with eager hopefulness to the exalted visions which it fore-shadows. Victories, traditions and principles alike that are all incompatible with the elementary dogmas of Prusso-German culture and of its daughter, 'militarism.'"

Uncle Sam, entrenched behind his Monroe Doctrine, has hitherto been content to pride himself upon his freedom from any possible entanglements outside of this continent, but to his honor, he has now broken through the restraints of that isolation and is taking a red blooded part on behalf of helping to enforce the charter of world freedom.

THE OFFER WAS SPURNED.
Most people are agreed that at this time of crisis the most suitable thing for Canada would be the establishment of a representative National Government.
Sir Robert Borden reached that conclusion and has bent every effort to bring about such a desirable consummation.
The one man who has stood in the way has been Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

The Winnipeg Free Press, the leading Liberal paper of the west, in referring to the matter says:—
"Reliable information leads one to believe that the door to that settlement was opened and kept open with praiseworthy insistence by Sir Robert Borden during the negotiations with regard to coalition. The responsibility for closing it rests with Sir Wilfrid Laurier. No amount of regard—and there has been general regard throughout Canada—for the difficulties of Sir Wilfrid's position can obscure that fact."
Sir Wilfrid some two years ago when there were rumors of a war election became very indignant and during the course of one impassioned speech said that he would refuse to open the door of office with that "Bloody Key."
Since then the door of coalition has been wide open to him and he has refused to cross the portal and enter into an arrangement which all sincere and thoughtful men and women must realize is at this time the one true and commendable course to pursue.

Instead what he now most desires is a contest, for which he formerly expressed unstinted abhorrence, and one too of all things upon the question of whether Canada shall at once send the needed aid to the brave Canadians at the front who have acquitted themselves so nobly in scores of actions, and who are now adding still further to their imperishable honors by glorious achievements in the Lens region.

In the Old Land such staunch party men as A. J. Balfour, Bonar Law, Sir Edward Carson and others have not hesitated for one moment to strenuously uphold the hands of such political antagonists as Asquith and Lloyd George. They are for the Empire, and human liberty at this period, regardless of all other consideration and surely if men of that calibre can so comport themselves, it would have been the proper and the statesmanlike course for Sir Wilfrid Laurier to also render hearty co-operation.

He has elected otherwise and in so doing must not be surprised over the fact that thousands of his former supporters throughout the Dominion feel that his leadership for them is ended.

NOTES AND COMMENTS
The Huns are adding to their cathedral burning. In the end they will have to bow to the Ex cathedra of the allies.
The need for a drastic handling of Quebec is becoming more and more apparent.
Any men, or set of men who would withhold immediate reinforcements for the brave boys at the front are not worthy of the name of Canadians.
Instead of marching into Paris, the Huns are commencing to back towards Berlin.
The Hindenburg line is getting crooked enough to be used as a corkscrew by the tipping German officers.
A lot of harvester machinery has been silenced in Europe, but the mowing of the massed forces of the Kaiser continues apace.
TO RECONVENE.
By Courier Leased Wire.
Berlin, via London, Aug. 18.—The main committee of the Reichstag will reconvene on August 21 for its first session since the recent ministerial crisis. The committee will have to elect a new chairman as Dr. Spahn no longer is a member of the Reichstag since his appointment as a Prussian minister of justice. The present vice chairman is Dr. Suedkum, a Social Democrat. The approaching session will be the committee's first opportunity to confer with the newly appointed government heads as well as with the new chancellor.

MEETINGS BANNED
By Courier Leased Wire.
Amsterdam, Aug. 18.—The military commander at Stettin, Germany, has forbidden "in the interest of public safety" meetings in Stettin in the district of Ranzow. The Socialist organ, Vorwaerts, says the executive committee of the Socialist party sent to Chancellor Michaelis a protest against such prohibitions, which are reported in all parts of Germany, and a request for the abolition thereof.

ON THEIR WAY.
By Courier Leased Wire.
Petrograd, Aug. 17.—Telegrams from Viatka on the northern route to Siberia, report the passage of two special trains with lowered blinds, which no one was allowed to approach. The trains, which are going eastward, are assumed to contain the former Emperor Nicholas and his family.

TWO MORE COUNTER ATTACKS
Successfully Beaten Off By The Canadians
On The Eastern Slope Of Hill 70
(By Stewart Lyon,
Canadian Press Correspondent With the Canadian Headquarters in France, Aug. 18.—In a fair, stand-up, hand-to-hand fighting on the eastern slope of Hill 70 last night our men beat off two more counter-attacks, in which the last available battalions of the Fourth Prussian Guard division were broken and destroyed as a fighting force. In my despatch of Thursday night the story was told of the impetuous charge by which our line was pushed forward east of the hill. Prisoners state that at the very moment when our assault was launched the Guards' battalions were assembling to attack Hill 70. They were under our barrage and suffered severe losses in their positions in Bois Hugo and Cite St. Auguste.
Notwithstanding this punishment they proceeded to the trenches from which their attack was planned to come, and shortly after 7 o'clock they advanced with such determination that our forward post were almost our main line. The enemy secured possession of our advanced line. At 9 o'clock another and more serious assault was undertaken against our main line, which this time remained in our possession after the heaviest of the most determined fighting experienced by the veteran troops of the original expeditionary force, who took part. By midnight fighting had quieted down and the morning of Hill 70 is an extinct volcano, with only our incomparable infantry in undisputed occupation.
Finally Won Objectives
The struggle was renewed on that part of the front south of St. Laurent at four o'clock yesterday morning, when an Ontario battalion went forward to attack a strong position along the railway embankment, which now forms the boundary of the enemy line west of Lens. Strong opposition was encountered. After bombing their way into a nest of trenches our men were themselves bombed out. More troops were put in and the area of the attack was extended to the north by the participation of another battalion. For several hours the struggle went on, but the Canadians finally won their objectives, which were three trenches from which observation could be secured upon the recently won front.
The feature of yesterday's struggle was the free use of aeroplanes by the enemy in support of his infantry. Taking a leaf out of our book the German airmen flew low over the trenches and engaged the occupants with their machine guns. There were many aerial fights between these enemy airmen and ours.
The number of prisoners, wounded and unaccounted, now totals well over a thousand. The enemy's killed and wounded must number at least five times as many. Three enemy divisions and Fourth Guards, have ceased to have any fighting value as the result of their great losses.
Old German Tricks
With the object of excusing their failure to hold ground of such vital importance in the defence of Lens, Gen. von Ludendorff, in an official statement, places the Canadian objective at Yvetin le Vieil, four kilometers in from the recent German front line, and then shows that this objective was not attained, but that the line advanced with great impressiveness that the goal was not reached. The people of Canada may rest assured that the operation was carried out practically as planned, and that the German report is more than usually mendacious.
As the battalions which took part in the battle got into touch with both grave and gay, drift back. One battalion mourns a gallant young officer, a Quebecer, who was wounded in the face, and after having his wound bound up insisted on going on with his men. He had advanced only a hundred feet further when he was again hit, and fell dead at the side of his company.

Two More Counter Attacks
Successfully Beaten Off By The Canadians
On The Eastern Slope Of Hill 70
(By Stewart Lyon,
Canadian Press Correspondent With the Canadian Headquarters in France, Aug. 18.—In a fair, stand-up, hand-to-hand fighting on the eastern slope of Hill 70 last night our men beat off two more counter-attacks, in which the last available battalions of the Fourth Prussian Guard division were broken and destroyed as a fighting force. In my despatch of Thursday night the story was told of the impetuous charge by which our line was pushed forward east of the hill. Prisoners state that at the very moment when our assault was launched the Guards' battalions were assembling to attack Hill 70. They were under our barrage and suffered severe losses in their positions in Bois Hugo and Cite St. Auguste.
Notwithstanding this punishment they proceeded to the trenches from which their attack was planned to come, and shortly after 7 o'clock they advanced with such determination that our forward post were almost our main line. The enemy secured possession of our advanced line. At 9 o'clock another and more serious assault was undertaken against our main line, which this time remained in our possession after the heaviest of the most determined fighting experienced by the veteran troops of the original expeditionary force, who took part. By midnight fighting had quieted down and the morning of Hill 70 is an extinct volcano, with only our incomparable infantry in undisputed occupation.
Finally Won Objectives
The struggle was renewed on that part of the front south of St. Laurent at four o'clock yesterday morning, when an Ontario battalion went forward to attack a strong position along the railway embankment, which now forms the boundary of the enemy line west of Lens. Strong opposition was encountered. After bombing their way into a nest of trenches our men were themselves bombed out. More troops were put in and the area of the attack was extended to the north by the participation of another battalion. For several hours the struggle went on, but the Canadians finally won their objectives, which were three trenches from which observation could be secured upon the recently won front.
The feature of yesterday's struggle was the free use of aeroplanes by the enemy in support of his infantry. Taking a leaf out of our book the German airmen flew low over the trenches and engaged the occupants with their machine guns. There were many aerial fights between these enemy airmen and ours.
The number of prisoners, wounded and unaccounted, now totals well over a thousand. The enemy's killed and wounded must number at least five times as many. Three enemy divisions and Fourth Guards, have ceased to have any fighting value as the result of their great losses.
Old German Tricks
With the object of excusing their failure to hold ground of such vital importance in the defence of Lens, Gen. von Ludendorff, in an official statement, places the Canadian objective at Yvetin le Vieil, four kilometers in from the recent German front line, and then shows that this objective was not attained, but that the line advanced with great impressiveness that the goal was not reached. The people of Canada may rest assured that the operation was carried out practically as planned, and that the German report is more than usually mendacious.
As the battalions which took part in the battle got into touch with both grave and gay, drift back. One battalion mourns a gallant young officer, a Quebecer, who was wounded in the face, and after having his wound bound up insisted on going on with his men. He had advanced only a hundred feet further when he was again hit, and fell dead at the side of his company.

Senators May Sell Johnson
Washington Club in Serious Condition; Heavy Financial Losses
The financial losses sustained by the Washington Senators this year may be the means of releasing Walter Johnson from the fetters that bind him to a losing club.
Of course, the possibility of Johnson's sale is not being advertised in a wholesale manner around Washington but it has been talked of in other cities around the big leagues, and, according to a well-informed baseball man, the season of 1918 will see Johnson in the uniform of some other club.
Clark Griffith vehemently denies that he has any thought of parting with his pitching star, yet, as Griffith is a heavy stockholder in the club, it would be no surprise should he consent to a deal involving the big Kansan, providing the sale price is high enough.
Rumor says that Jim Dunn, owner of the Cleveland Indians, stands the best chance of any American league magnate to land Johnson. It is a certainty that Ban Johnson would not consent to a deal which would permit him to get away from the American league, and Dunn and Griffith are said to be very close friends.
Col. Jacob Ruppert, president of the Yankees, who has taken active charge of the affairs of the club since Capt. T.H. Huston joined the colors as a member of the engineering corps, is said to be casting a longing eye on the Washington idol, and will be one of the big bidders if he is put on the market.

SANITARY SYSTEM.

The absolute necessity of immediately connecting the House of Refuge with the city sanitary system has been pointed out by Mr. A. K. Bunnell in a letter written to the city clerk. Some time ago Mr. Bunnell was appointed to act with county clerk A. E. Watts to consider the advisability of improving the present system. The estimated cost would be $2950 of which the city would pay $1600 and the county $1350. It is possible that the work could be accomplished this fall.

REORGANIZING DUFFS.

An important move in the reorganization of the 38th Dufferin Rifles will be considered at a mass meeting of members of the G.W.V.A. and other returned soldiers of the city on the Y.M.C.A. to-morrow afternoon. At five o'clock a miniature parade of automobiles was seen—and heard—coming up Colborne street from an easterly direction. A delegation from the S. A. C. and the G. W. V. A. had motored to Cainsville and there met Sgt. George Patte, who motored up from Toronto with his father and brother. The cars were gaily decorated with flags, and the tooting of horns caused considerable attention. J. Draper and D. W. Willers arrived home on the 7:32, but as no information had been received giving the time at which they would reach Brantford, they were missed.

MAYOR INSISTS L. E. AND N. ACT

Widening of Water Street Must Be Undertaken at Once

The following letter has been sent by Mayor Bowly:— Brantford, Aug. 16, 1917. Martin L. Todd, Esq., Lake Erie and Northern Ry., Galt, Ont. Dear Sir—I am in receipt of yours of the 16th inst. and note that you had a deed forwarded to you, Senator, Mr. Brewster, for adjustment, that he is away upon his holidays and that on his return you will have the matter attended to. I have no desire to be discourteous, but you should be advised that many months have elapsed since the Hon. the Board of Railway Commissioners at Ottawa made their findings, and that I have been more than patient in my duty as Mayor to see that the order of the said Board was complied with by widening Water Street, thus removing the unsightly bill board, fences, etc. I take it, if you need legal advice, in the absence of Mr. Brewster, the same can be procured. I expect that within a week these objections to what the said Board declared should form a part of Water Street shall be removed, and I do not compel any further action in the premises. I have the honor to be, Yours truly, J. W. BOWLEY, Mayor.

COAL ELEVATOR

A large coal elevator is to be erected adjacent to the Grand Trunk tracks by the Gibson Coal Company on their property on Clarence street. The structure will cost in the neighborhood of $450.

PROVINCIAL HIGHWAY

The cities and towns of Western Ontario interested in a connecting highway, have not dropped their agitation for better inter communication, and although Premier Hearst some time ago assured the deputation from the central and northern route cities that nothing would be done in the way of construction of a provincial highway, until after the war, representative meetings are now being held. At a recent meeting of the Guelph Board of Trade, deputations from Mount Fergus and Owen Sound were present and outlined a scheme for promulgating a county-provincial highway between Owen Sound and Hamilton. Controller Jutten, of Hamilton, is still actively interested in the central route from Niagara Falls to Windsor. Speaking of the undertaking recently, he said: "I shall endeavor to have a meeting of all the municipalities along the route, called at an early date. We should have the engineers of all these places prepare profile maps with the estimated cost of the road-way. This information will be essential when the time comes to start work on the highway." The route suggested by Controller Jutten for the Niagara Falls-Windsor highway is through Hamilton, Brantford, Paris, Woodstock, Ingersoll, London and Windsor.

A. R. CLUB.

Further important steps toward co-operation with the G. W. V. A. and toward the strengthening of their own quickly growing organization were taken at last night's meeting of the "A. R. Club" held in the Temple Building. Affiliation with the parent branch at Toronto, which is possessed of a Dominion charter, is favored and it is expected that within the course of a few days, that the necessary arrangements will be completed, when the buttons and charter will be received from the central organization in the Queen City. The design and letters on the buttons are copyrighted and approved by the government.

To allow rejected men, who work nights, to get into close touch with the club, a special meeting has been called for Sunday afternoon at three o'clock, when all interested are asked to be present. The rejected men are entering heartily into co-operation with the G. W. V. A. and intend to assist materially in the big Labor Day celebration to be held by the war veterans. The A. R. men have assumed responsibility for the sale of a large number of tickets, and will assist in other ways at the grounds. A committee consisting of Messrs. Gordon Houlding, Frank Sterne and J. P. Murphy, was appointed to supervise the activities of the A. R. men in this connection.

ART COLLECTION FROM THE ORIENT.

Wonderful Examples of Persian Craftsmanship to be Shown at the Exhibition.

The Art Exhibit, like all other departments of the Canadian National Exhibition, will have several new features, including the exhibit of Persian art and craftsmanship, dating back to the 16th century, and bearing out some extent the claim of her advocates that Persia is the fountain head of the arts of the great world. Also to be shown, together with a French collection. All three were sent to America for the Panama Pacific Exposition, but owing to the hazardous state of ocean traffic they cannot return. Hence the opportunity that will be afforded the Canadian public to see this marvelous display. There will also be the usual selected collection of Canadian works and United States masterpieces.

Paris, August 17.—(From our own correspondents.)—The community was shocked to hear of the sudden death this morning of Helen Ross, beloved wife of Henry Byers. The deceased had been poorly for the past two weeks with rheumatism, but her condition was not thought to be serious. Much sympathy is extended here, and for several years on and sudden loss. The funeral will leave her late residence, Emily St., on Monday afternoon for the Paris cemetery. Service at the house at 2 o'clock.

One of the promising young men of Paris passed away through the night, in the person of Mr. Harold H. Roberts. He was born and educated here, and for several years on the general office staff of the "Penny's" Limited. The funeral will take place from his late residence, Falls to Windsor, on Sunday afternoon. The funeral being in charge of the Oddfellows and the Brant Encampment.

Mr. Joseph Tobin, Paris Station, passed away early this morning. Funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

Master Archie Fraser, a lad about 12 years of age, met with a serious accident at the new Y.M.C.A. building. It seems that a number of boys are in the habit of playing around the chimney, and several years ago running from the roof to the basement. In some manner young Fraser went through to the basement, a distance of four storeys. His lively nature was terribly frightened when they saw what had happened, but they carried the lad home, and medical aid was immediately summoned. The lad is now recovering, but his ankles of both feet being broken, his nose and hip badly torn, which required several stitches to close.

There is also a rumor out that they are going to borrow some new money.

CANADIANS WIPE OUT 3 DIVISIONS OF ENEMY TROOPS

Ontario Unit Advances Its Line; Foe Put Out Of Fight

London, Aug. 18.—Perry Robinson, in despatch to the Times says: "One of the German counter-attacks against the Canadians at Lens will become famous both as one of the bloodiest incidents of the war, also because the troops which suffered were the Fourth division of the Prussian Guards. Since last autumn the Germans have been endeavoring more and more to develop the tactics in counter-attacks they learned on the Somme. No number of men upon the ground attacked, however defended and fortified, could resist our advances. What they try to do therefore is to offer stubborn opposition, but, assuming beforehand that the opposition will be useless, endeavor to mass as formidable forces as possible near at hand for an immediate counter-attack. Occasionally, as happened more than once in the recent thick weather, when our airmen and gunners could not see the counter-attack developing, they succeeded in forcing us back and winning a portion of the ground lost. It is an essential feature of these counter-attacks that they be delivered with a number of men far greater than is opposed to them, but the Fourth division must be launched without the usual artillery preparation. However few our men may be or how poorly protected in open country, they meet the counter-attacks head on, and the enemy, therefore, the enormous majority of them fall completely and suffer terribly. It may be the best form of defensive war the Germans can devise, but it is dreadfully costly.

"In this particular case, besides the various troops massed nearer the scene of fighting, which flung themselves in the counter-attacks against the Canadian front, only to be beaten back, mangled and broken, it seems that the Fourth Guard division was being held in reserve for a grand obliterating counter-attack. They had to come three miles over level ground and they came incredibly in columns of fours, as if routing marching. Almost the whole distance they were exposed not only to our artillery, but machine gun positions on the new Canadian front, and the execution was terrible. It is not known what portion of the division was actually thrown into the attack, but apparently not less

POLICE COURT

An array of legal talent and judicial authority was involved in the charge of conversion of some clothing by Richard Johnson, in the police court this morning. In the absence of Magistrate Livingston, Acting Magistrate Spence and Calbeck heard the case. S. A. Jones prosecuting, and M. W. McEwen acting for the accused. The charge was preferred by Barbalo Sarvas, a foreign woman, who claimed that some coats planted on the property rented by her husband from Johnson, had been seized by the latter in lieu of rent. The husband died recently, and it was after his death that the grain was taken. The case was adjourned until Wednesday.

OPEN VERDICT AT INQUESTIN MALTESE CASE

Coroners Jury Exonerated Cellija From Accusation Of Murder

"Death at the hands of some person or persons unknown" was the verdict returned by the coroner's jury last evening, at the inquest into the death of Gio Batta Bornello. The only evidence taken was that of Detective Schuler, supplementing his testimony at the previous session, on August 7th, and although it tended to cast suspicion upon Carmello Cellija, the man now in the hands of the authorities, the jury returned an open verdict.

Detective Schuler described the scene of the crime, a cleared space of some 40 feet in the willow growth on the bank. The body in the water was badly decomposed about the face, and bore bruises and other marks of ill treatment about one eye. At the point where the body was found, footsteps were to be seen leading both into and out of the water. Mud was found on the fence a short distance below the scene. A pair of drawers were found on the scene, and a shirt of similar material in the room of Cellija, charged with the murder.

BIBLE CONTINUES YEAR AFTER YEAR WORLD'S BEST SELLER

Especially Momentous is Occasion When a Person of Sensitive Nature First Finds the Bible for Himself as a Living Book and Not as a Mere Article of Ecclesiastical Furniture

That is a red letter day in the life of a young man of parts when he first meets the masters of literature Shakespeare, once but a great name becomes a land of Arcadia; Tennyson moves the noblest sentiments of his heart; Browning summons him to the soul's home on the heights; Scott leads him into the golden fields of romance, and Hugo shows him that he is a blood brother to all humanity. The endings of these beginnings who can tell?

Especially momentous is the occasion when a person of sensitive nature first finds the Bible for himself as a living book, and not as a mere article of ecclesiastical furniture. He has known it always as a repository of texts, from which sermons were preached, and as a book much affected by religious people. But of a sudden in a shining, transfiguring hour he realizes that the Book is for him individually—that it is adroit with present import, that it is delicately attuned to his immediate need and attitude, and that it is directly for him, a clear, insistent and authoritative message of duty and destiny.

The discovery of the Bible, as each person makes it for himself, is as great an occasion as Columbus' discovery of America, or as King Josiah's discovery of the old Book of Law. This is the one vital comprehensive, power-imparting and eternally contemporaneous volume. It continues year after year, to be the "best selling book of the week." It is as its name declares, "The" Book.

A King's Treasure
It was while treasure hunting that the priests found among the silver and gold of the temple the better riches of the Book of Law. Josiah had been instituting reforms, as last week's lesson showed and in the progress of the work this particular and precious roll—possibly the original, certainly a special and authorized copy—was unearthed. The discovery recalls the principle that "we get light as we go on; the converse of which is that "Every duty we omit obscures some truth we should have known." Because the temple had been neglected, its guidance had been lost.

Some of us cherish the hope that after Jerusalem passes out of the power of the Turk there will be momentous discoveries in the subterranean chambers and passages of Mount Zion. Many priceless treasures that have been lost may be discovered. What if the Ark of the Covenant should be found?

Occasionally a miner or adventurer discovers a "lost mine." Lost arts there are, also, and lost peoples. There are even lost Bibles to-day, as in Josiah's time, a preacher rescued one from an ash barrel, and it now adorns the pulpit of a great New York church. Some bibles are lost in the bottoms of trunks, and in garrets; and some are effectively lost in glass cases and on parlor tables. In every case it is a dire calamity when a person or a people lose the Bible. It was a special copy of the Law that was found by the priests in the sense that one's own Bible is dearer and clearer and fuller of meaning than any other, there is a difference in Bibles. The passing of the cumbersome family Bible is not to be regretted where it is supplanted by the more convenient and usable individual Bibles in the best translation. He is poor indeed who does not possess his own Bible, more familiar to his fingers than any other book.

King Josiah found his in a temple. That is where it would naturally be looked for; although it is sometimes lost from modern churches. People go to church to find out what the word of God is; they do not want a garbled edition of the daily paper, nor some man's homiletical essay on the topics of the times, nor even his ingenious comments on the Book itself; they want the word, plainly and directly presented and expounded.

The Corner Stone of Reform
This great find was exactly what was needed to make Josiah's reforms deep and abiding. There is no permanent basis for religious progress except a generally read Bible. There is a deal of talk to-day about an "ethical revival," but no merely ethical revival can come to stay; it must be sustained by study of the Scriptures. Impulses and emotions pass, the Bible remains. No matter how many converts a revival may gain, most of them will lapse unless they are fed and nurtured by intelligent, persistent study of the quickening Word. It is a portentous fact that only where the Bible has been a living book has Christianity flourished in vitality and fruitfulness. Many a soldier will testify that it was worth his while to go into the trenches to become acquainted with a pocket Testament.

Even a purely secular body like the National Educational Association has spoken out in unmistakable terms concerning the indispensability of the Bible in any complete scheme of modern education. The pre-eminent importance of the Bible in public instruction and progress is indicated by Huxley's saying, "The Bible has been the Magna Charta of the poor and oppressed."

After all, the world's needs and most have, some invariable rule of conduct. The final appeal is not to convention, reason or conscience; for those are fallible. The supreme court of ethics is the old Bible, which has for centuries moulded the lives of the best people of the world.

A Book That Does Things
No other writings have the Bible's power to make men squirm. It has the keenest, subtlest, most biting and most burning language ever penned, as well as the gentlest, tenderest and most comforting. The power of the Book to move men to action is prodigious; it has caused wars, overturned empires and been the dominating influence in shaping the course of history. It has nerved men to battle as it has bent them to the plow. The power of the simple word of God to transform lives is none the less marvellous because an everyday spectacle. President Wilson's long training in the ethics and language of the Bible has borne wonderful fruit for the world. Well did the Psalmist say, "The entrance of Thy Word giveth light"; and again, "Wherewithal shall a young man cleanse his way? By taking heed thereto according to Thy Word."

Young King Josiah so felt. The reading of the newly-discovered Law stirred his spirit's depths. He rent his clothes in anguish as he contemplated his people's sins afresh in the light of this revelation. It has been said that truth can only be understood in the light of a truth. Josiah felt as if the unshaped stone from the mountain was about to fall upon his nation to crush it. For the first result of an accession of God's light is an intense hatred for sin. That is why the purest souls are most concerned over their own purity.

What he learned moved Josiah to know more. We go through present knowledge to greater knowledge. He has that pre-eminently royal trait of the noblest human spirits, a thirst for truth. Therefore, he sent the priests to inquire further concerning the will of Jehovah. Willingness to know the will of God is a sign of the truly religious. Some there be who lament the decline of the old-fashioned, hilarious camp meeting from this continent; but since its place is being more than filled by the Summer Bible Conferences, which are characterized by education instead of excitement, though with no less devotion, one can scarcely regret the change which the times are witnessing.

The messengers repaired to a woman prophet, Hulda. She gave Jehovah's word to Josiah and it was a dire message. With a "Thus saith Jehovah" she foretold the fulfillment of the curses which the King has read in the newly discovered Law, because the chosen people had forsaken God and worshipped idols,

SMALLEST MEN IN WAR THE ANNAMITES

"Little Brown Men" of Indo-China Fight With The French Troops

SUBJECTS OF FRANCE They Take Place In Trenches Beside Their Poilu Brothers

(By Henry Wood, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

With the French Armies, Aug. 18.—Annamite troops, "the little brown men" of France's colonies in Indo-China, have just had their baptism of fire on the western front. The Annamites are the smallest men participating in the European conflict, yet they have acquitted themselves in the fighting in a manner that gives them rank alongside with the troops of greater physical endowment. The Annamite battalions are composed entirely of volunteers. Their first public appearance was on July 14, 1916, the French national holiday, when along with the Russians, Canadians, English, Belgian and Australian troops, they participated in the military parade at Paris.

Almost without exception they are students from the French schools, colleges and universities in Indo-China.

The announcement there early in 1916, that volunteer battalions would be formed for service in France, resulted almost in the depletion of the French educational institutions. The students enlisted almost to a man. Titles scrupulously observed.

In the battalion now serving in France are Annamites with the rank of count, with the rank of marquis of the first, second and third classes, and with various other distinctions of cast and nobility. Amongst themselves all the courtesies to which these ranks give title are scrupulously observed.

But when the battalions are formed for fighting or other service on the French front, the counts and mandarins become merely the privates and soldiers that they temporarily are, and the brothers of all the rest.

When the Annamites were first brought to France there was no idea of using them as fighting troops. Their small stature seemed to preclude that. They were drilled and employed in all the various services of the rear, such as convoy chauffeurs, road builders, forestation work and similar occupations. Their constant proximity to the front, however, soon aroused in them an ardent desire to participate in the fighting, and now after a little more than a year of faithful service in the auxiliary service of the French army, establish their right to be in the fighting ranks. Their place there, too, seems to have been permanently won.

Paris, Aug. 18.—Queensy, a little village north of the Oise, counts July 7, 1917, as the proudest day in its modest annals. On that day a French general, with a guard of war veterans in attendance, came to pin the War Cross on the breast of Madame Pelliquier, the local schoolmistress and mayor, for her gallant conduct.

Mme. Pelliquier is one of those modest heroines whom France has reason to be proud of. When war broke out Mme. Pelliquier was teaching school in Queensy, while her husband was similarly employed at the neighboring village of Maucourt. For his sake the people were spared; even as many a community has been spared by the remnant of the righteous in it.

It was served warm, as is the custom here, and addressing the barmaid, he said: "Isn't that beer a little stale?" To which the barmaid replied: "Why shouldn't it be; it's been waiting for you for three years."

Pelliquier why they were separated from the German empire. "Because they belong to us," she answered simply. Then, at last, the French returned in March, and the report they made of the noble work accomplished by Mme. Pelliquier, has earned her the distinction reserved for the heroes of France.

ALIENS CREATE TROUBLE.
By Courier Leased Wire.
Calgary, Aug. 17.—Trouble is reported at the Star Coal Mining Camp at Drumheller. A large number of miners, including Austrians went on strike yesterday afternoon and upon the arrival of seven veterans from Calgary, who were appointed temporary constables, they cut telephone wires connecting with Calgary in an effort to prevent further communication between the constables and the city. The Veterans returned to Calgary with the advice that a squad of soldiers be sent up to inter, including Austrians sent on the aliens. The trouble has arisen over the question of the unionization of the camp.

Rippling Rhymes

There is no earthly spot, no cavern in the snow, no desert blazing hot, where agents do not go. I've tried to hide myself from men who'd sell me books, high on a mountain's shelf, in lonely forest nooks; in vain, for everywhere the agents find their way; they track me to my lair, with works by Bertha Clay. I've hid in hermits' cells that little comfort gave; in far sequestered dells I've lived, in grove and cave. I've quit the haunts of men to find some lonesome place, where I might never again behold an agent's face. On bleak and barren moor I have concealed my frame; and when I felt secure the agents always came. Now on a mountain top above the fleecy clouds, in cabin home I stop, remote from maddening crowds. At last, serene and calm, I scamed the plains below, and said, "At last I am where agents never go." But even as I spoke I saw a dame approach, with alpenstock of oak and large gummetal brooch. She looked me in the eye, and cried, her voice a scream, "Say, don't you want to buy the works of Charlotte Brae-me?" Then down the mountain side I hid, and tore out lots of hair. Side Talks

SIDELIGHTS ON THE STAGE AND SCREEN

Jim Grimsby's Boy
Frank Keenan and Enid Markey, who have had many successes in the past under the Triangle-Kay Bee banner, are seen as co-stars in "Jim Grimsby's Boy," from the pen of Lanier Bartlett, at the Rex next week. This is the first story by this author to be produced in Culver City and is said to be one of the most picturesque dramas ever made at the Ince plant.

"The Love That Lives"
Patiline Frederick, one of the screen's greatest emotional actresses, would grace any role that she was given to perform, but in "The Love That Lives" she has been accorded a vehicle which allows her to display the full splendid scope of her remarkable talent. It can be truthfully said that in this production, which was directed by Robert G. Vignola, Miss Frederick has attained to heights of artistry never before reached even in her brilliant career.

"Baby Mine"
Could a woman borrow a baby and make a husband believe it her own? Baby Mine is a play written from a true story. It happened in Chicago. A husband left his wife. She was a good-looking, she didn't like babies. He had babies, and what was more, he believed if she had a baby it would prevent her going out so much and it would keep her mind on her home. She told a friend who her husband had left her and that she wanted him back because she loved him dearly. The friend suggested getting a baby from a home. The wife jumped at the idea, and the husband of the wife's guest is sent for the baby, and at the same time the husband is wired for to come home and see his new baby. But at the home the youngest baby available is three months old—a little too big, but it must do, as the husband is rushing home to see his dear little wife and baby.

Complications ensue, as the baby has not arrived at the house when the husband reaches there. So more lies are told, and he is led to believe that the baby is out with its nurse. Just then the washerwoman's little daughter arrives with the laundry and announces that they have found the baby. The wife announces upon this chance to get the baby, while the husband is shaving in the next room. But just then the first baby comes in and is placed in the cradle, but it's a boy. The husband has been told it was a girl. Then just as he is cuddling the first second baby comes in and is introduced to the father as little Alfred. His other son. Now he is the father of twins. Later another baby is brought in to take the place of the second child, whose mother sends for it. But the husband returns to the room in time to see all three babies, and not knowing them apart, the wife claims them all. When the various owners of all the babies call for their children in turn, the husband discovers his wife's scheme to bring him back to her, but seeing that she loves him so much, he forgives her and all ends well. Baby Mine is a scream from start to finish. It was made for laughing purposes only. On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday night and Wednesday matinee next week, this play will be presented at the Grand Opera House by the Edward Keane drama players.

The fact that Kathryn Williams, the noted Morocco star, and Wallace Reid, the popular young Lasky star, will be seen together at the Brant on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday in the Morocco-Paramount production, "Big Timber," a picture written by Gardner Hunting of Bertrand Sinclair's famous story, is bound to be of unusual importance.

Sporting Comment
Cobb this year threatens to break one of the American League records—for triples. Joe Jackson, when a Nap, established it in 1912, the "Shoeless Person's" three-masted drives that year numbering 26. Here in mid-August we find that Cobb has driven out 22 three-baggers, his last hit of this kind having been made on July 30.
Tyrus has the five hits in one game faculty well developed this year, too. Twice has he dipped in and extracted a quintette of safeties. The first time he did so was on June 5 against the Yankees, for whom Shawkey was hurling. Cobb then batted five times, making a pair of singles, one double and a pair of triples. At Washington, on July 30, batting five times against Harper, Shaw, Dumont and Gallia, Cobb collected three one spots, one double and one triple.

FILMETS.
A lady, who hailed from Lake Worth, was proud of her generous girth. She was hired to pose for the big picture shows. And her avoirdupois caused much mirth.
John P. Robinson, Eida Millar and Winifred Allen, who are being featured at the Triangle Yankers Studios, are both in the beauty class, but of widely different type. Miss Millar is tall and stately, with blue eyes and classic features. Miss Allen stands just four feet eleven, and is a decided brunette.

Boston Takes Lead in American When Athletics Beat Chicago

Chicago, Aug. 18.—Chicago slipped down to second place in the pennant race yesterday when it lost to Philadelphia, 9 to 7, while Boston won from Cleveland. The game was nip and tuck from start to finish, and was broken up in the 12th inning by Connie Mack's recruit second baseman, Grover, who tripled to the centre base fence, scoring Jamieson who had singled. Grover counted on Bodie's single and clinched the victory. Chicago had several chances to win, but Mack's strategy in ordering the passing of men in two innings when a hit would have ended the game, and a sensational catch by Bodie of a long liner by Schalk saved the game for Bush. Score: Philadelphia—003031000002—9 17 2 Chicago—12000200000—7 13 2 Batteries, Schauer, Johnson, Bush and Schang; Scott; Danforth; Faber, Cloutte and Scholtz. At Cleveland. TALES OF TURK CRUELTY TOLD BY ARMENIAN

Men Were Butchered, And Women Flung Into The River

"One of the best things that is being done in Bagdad just now is the relief of Armenian women and children who are now living in Mussulman families," writes the British official eyewitness with the army in Mesopotamia.

"A visit to one of these institutions and a talk with the refugees there furnishes a convincing arraignment against the Turkish government. The inmates are all young, many of marriageable age, and a great number of children under six have already forgotten their language and their faith."

"There is a girl of ten from a village near Trerum. She and her family started on donkeys with a few belongings, but in three days the Kurds had left them nothing, and they had to walk. The Turks had issued a proclamation in all the villages that the Armenians were to be sent away to a colony that was being prepared for them, and that their property was to be kept under the care of the government during the war and then restored. This was more than a year ago."

"The conditions were very pleasant to them in their homes, and told them that they would be given new land to cultivate, and that their journey would not be long. The first assurance, as they guessed, was visionary. In the second, the gendarmes did not lie. For many of them it was over on the third day. Two or three hundred of the men were killed or mangled from the women and killed—shot or cut down with the sword."

"The same thing happened nearly every day. The guards were very haphazard; there was no system. Some of the women were pushed into the river, others thrust over precipices. Twelve hundred left the two villages near Erzerum; four hundred only reach Ras-el-Ain. Children there was not a man among them nor a male child over nine years old."

Women Fought Battle. "The refugees, although unarmed, sometimes turned on their guards. More than once they made the assassins pay dearly. There is a woman in a Bagdad hotel who was one of a brave band of two or three hundred Armenian women who held a pass near Uria. Their menfolk had all been treacherously killed off earlier, and they knew that obedience to the proclamation of exile was as fatal as resistance."

"They held the pass with their rifles for nearly a week, and the Turks had to bring up artillery to break their resistance. The woman who is now in Bagdad, a traveller by a Turk of the better school, who treated her as his own daughter."

Handsome Women Spared. "Few Armenian women were so fortunate. Many were killed with as little scruple as the men. Plainness and good looks were fatal in different ways. The old and ugly died by violence or were starved; the young and handsome were taken into the households of the Turks. A traveller now in Bagdad was given a letter by an official at Ras-el-Ain to deliver to the gendarme in charge of the road. "Choose a pretty one for me," he wrote, "and leave her in the village outside the town."

URGE NO ELECTION.

By Courier Leased Wire. Winnipeg, Aug. 18.—At a general meeting of the Great War Veterans here last night a resolution was adopted to oppose, with force if necessary, any attempts by their political party to trifle with questions of national importance in the manner exhibited in the recent Liberal convention. Veterans deplored the holding of an election during the war, advised the formation of a national government and pledged their support to independent candidates on the conscription platform.

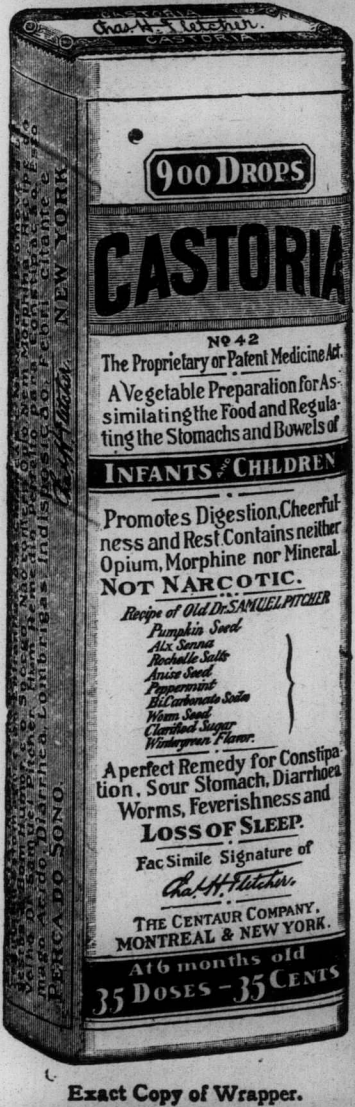

AVIATOR KILLED

By Courier Leased Wire. Toronto, Aug. 18.—Cadet S. H. Dory was killed near Armour Heights aviation camp yesterday morning about seven o'clock as a result of a collision with another machine, 800 feet in the air. The other aviator, whose name is withheld by the Royal Flying Corps at present, had a mitre flying at a good rate of speed, crashed together. Dory's machine burst into flames and pitched headlong to the earth. Dory's neck was broken and his body badly burned.

RAID'S SUCCESSFUL

By Courier Leased Wire. London, Aug. 18.—The Admiralty announces the successful carrying out of a series of raids by aviators of the royal naval air service yesterday. Many tons of bombs were dropped on military objectives in Belgium. The Ostend railway station and sidings and the Thourout railway junction were attacked. 8811 WOUNDED MEN IN HOSPITAL

That Number Received Treatment Under Military Commission In Canada

Ottawa, Aug. 18.—With an increase of 320 new patients added to the list of convalescent in the military hospitals in Canada is 8,811, a record. The number of those who are at present in convalescent homes is 7,032, with 1,104 in sanatoria for the treatment of tuberculosis and 675 in other institutions, chiefly general hospitals.

It is announced that all returned men are now divided into five classes. Those fit for general service, or likely to be fit in a short time; those fit for service in Canada, but not for general service; those fit for service in Canada, the temporarily unfit and those waiting discharge or reclassification.

Until this time practically none in the first two classes have been returned to Canada. Those designated as temporarily unfit are those requiring medical treatment, while those fit for service in Canada are divided into three classes, those detailed for special service companies, those for special services in C.A.M.C., and a third class for sedentary work, such as clerical positions.

Lieut.-Col. Thompson, M.P., medical superintendent of the M.H.C., explains that the medical standard for those detailed to special service companies shall be free from serious organic diseases, be able to march five miles, able to shoot without glasses and hear well. Detailed for special service companies in the C.A.M.C. must also be free from organic diseases, be able to march five miles and fit for service conditions in Canada.

ENEMY ACTIVE

A Pacific Port, Aug. 17.—Five ships, three American, one British and one Japanese are overdue at this port, and have been practically given up by their owners and agents. Mariners say they believe the vessels have been destroyed by time bombs placed in the cargoes by enemy agents. This theory was strengthened to-day when a sailor employed at this port, told of having seen fragile bottles containing explosives taken from cargo powder cases where they had been placed in such a manner that the breaking of the bottles would have ignited the powder. The overdue vessels are the American schooner Winsl are the American schooner Betuga; the Japanese freighter Koto Hira and the British freighter Wiaruna.

PRUSSIAN REFORMS

By Courier Leased Wire. Berlin, via London, Aug. 17.—In addition to drafting bills for electoral reforms, the Prussian ministry of the interior, is said to be engaged also in working out legislative measures affecting Prussian constitutional institutions. One of these concerns the re-organization of the Upper House, which may be patterned after the Upper Chamber of the Diet of Baden, with due consideration for the historical development of the Prussian legislative body. The other measure under advisement concerns the readjustment of Prussian electoral districts, upon which the bureau of statistics is now working.

Captain Forciano Manduyren, his wife, and all but five members of the crew are missing and are believed to have been drowned. Five survivors were picked up July 27 by a United States warship and landed in a Chilean port.

A New Wagon Road for Tourists.

AFTER having been operated since the year 1886, the year the first snow-sheds were constructed, the old Rogers Pass is to become a wagon road for tourists, the right-of-way having been handed over by the Canadian Pacific Railway to the Parks Department of the Dominion Government. The brief statement recently made by Mr. F.

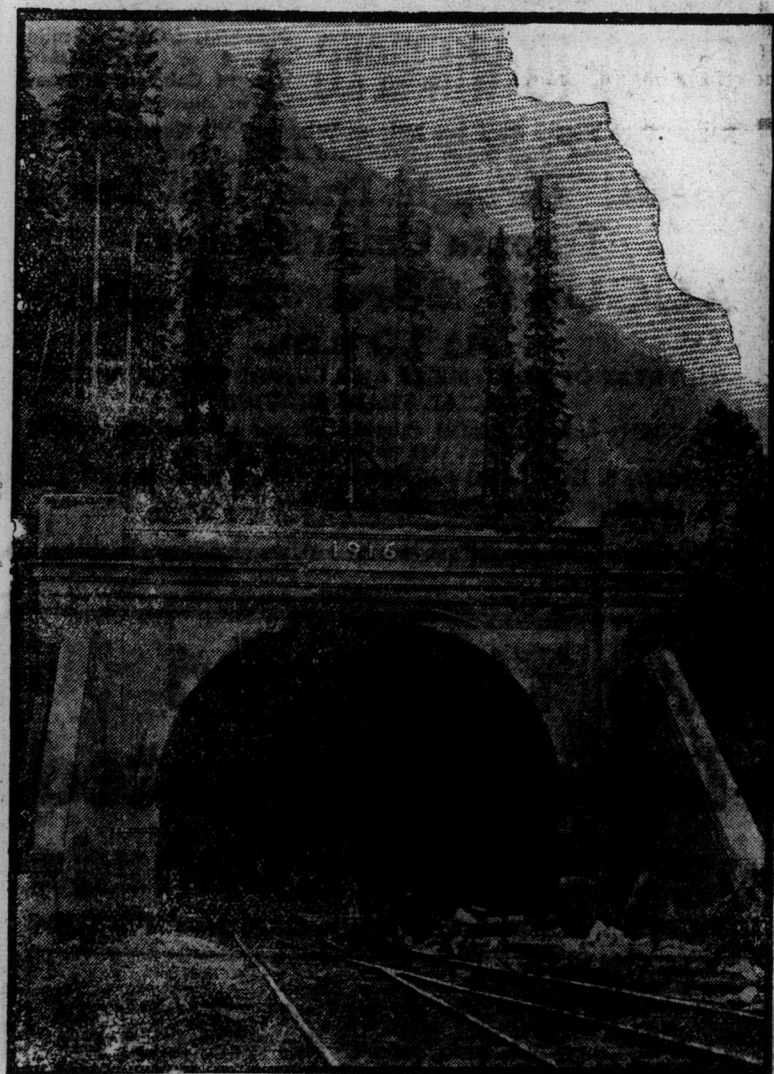

W. Peters, Superintendent of the British Columbia Division, that a contract had been awarded to the S. E. Jenkins Company for the salvaging of the tracks and the snow-sheds means that this famous piece of trackage will, within the next three months, be a thing of the past. The steel lies between Cambie and Stoney Creek stations. For over thirty years the trains of the C. P. R. have passed and repassed over this well known route. It was in 1885 that the work of construction was commenced, but it was not until the following year that the first train was run that way to the Pacific Coast. The distance between the two stations is approximately eighteen miles, and the extent of the snow-shed is four and one-half miles, so that the task of the salvage firm is not an easy one. The more up-to-date Connaught Tunnel, formerly known as the Rogers Pass Tunnel, while it deprives the travelling public of a view that is unequalled on the continent, at the same time ensures safety from the avalanches that are prevalent in that district in the spring, and the heavy snowfalls in the winter. Old officials of the line can tell some hair-raising stories of the narrow escapes they experienced, and the toll of lives that the snow has taken in the years that are gone. The greatest fight that any corporation ever waged against an enemy was that fought by the C. P. R. against the snowslides in the Rogers Pass, and there are to-day men, still in the service of the Company, who have jumped in the nick of time as the avalanche came roaring down the side of the mountain. It was while the snow-sheds were being constructed that Mr. R. Marpole, executive officer of the company in Vancouver, had one of these experiences. The slide missed him by a few feet, as he was able to get into the friendly shelter of one of the sheds before scores of tons of earth and snow came along carrying death and destruction in its path. In that memorable slide some nine men lost their lives. It is not expected that the work of converting the former right-of-way into a wagon road will be undertaken this year, but it is anticipated that it will be completed in time for the tourist traffic of 1918. It will be one of the finest scenic highways in Canada, and by it tourists will be enabled to travel between Field and Glacier, getting magnificent views of the scenery along that road, that it was impossible to secure before.

FOOD CONTROL REGULATIONS

Heavy Penalties Attached To Infringements of New Order-in-Council

Meatless days are no win for earnestly and hotel and restaurant proprietors must observe the regulations of the Food Control Act. There was a special edition of the Canada Gazette at Ottawa on Monday of this week containing provisions of the new order-in-council. It was first proposed to put the new order on Saturday, but the providers of food in many were interested only apparently. The penalties, it was decided to along the "fast day" by publishing a special edition of the Gazette. Beef and bacon must not be served on Tuesdays or Fridays, the serving of meat at more public eating houses is discouraged by heavy fines. The same order-in-council forbids the use of wheat the distillation or manufacture of alcohol except for munitions manufacturing purposes. Substitutes of oat cakes and corn meal may also be served to assist in serving the supply of white bread.

Summary conviction for violation of the provisions of the act brings down a fine on the offender not exceeding $100 and not more than $25 for the first offense. Each subsequent infringement is punishable by a fine ranging from $100 to $500 or imprisonment for any term not exceeding three months. The penalty of a $500 fine may be imposed on the daring person who uses wheat for the forbidden purpose.

Copies of the new law may be secured by those interested by writing to the Food Controller's headquarters, Ottawa.

Courier Daily Pattern Service

MISS By An

A frock that is "different" is an appeal to the modern young miss. It has several novel features to give distinction. There are short panels of material at front and back which hang down as far as the hip line to the pockets. The pockets are very large and hang loose. Underneath these panels a two piece skirt is gathered to the raised waist line. Narrow belts of material cover the seams at the waist. The square collar harmonizes with the pockets. One may choose either long tight-fitting sleeves or the ones with cuffs.

The dress pattern, No. 8294, is in sizes 16, 18 and 20 years. Width of lower edge is 2 1/4 yards. As on the 16 year size requires 4 1/2 yards of material, with 1/8 yard 36 inch contrasting goods.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents to the office of this publication.

Heavy Penalties Attached To Infringements of New Order-in-Council

Meatless days are no win force in earnest, and hotel and restaurant proprietors must observe the regulations of the Food Controller in this respect or suffer the heavy penalties provided for infringement. There was a special edition of the Canada Gazette at Ottawa on Wednesday of this week containing the provisions of the new order-in-council. It was first proposed to publish the new order on Saturday, but as the providers of food in many cities were interested only apparently in the penalties, it was decided to hurry along the "fast day" by publishing a special edition of the Gazette.

Beef and bacon must not be served on Tuesdays or Fridays, and the serving of meat at more than one meal on any day by keepers of public eating houses is discouraged by heavy fines. The same order-in-council forbids the use of wheat in the distillation or manufacture of alcohol except for munitions or manufacturing purposes. Substitutes of oat cakes and corn meal bread may also be served to assist in conserving the supply of white wheat bread.

Summary conviction for violation of the provisions of the act will bring down a fine on the offender not exceeding $100 and not less than $25 for the first offense. For each subsequent infringement a fine ranging from $100 to $500 may be imposed, or in default of payment imprisonment for any term not in excess of three months. The severe penalty of a $500 fine may be imposed on the daring person who utilizes wheat for the forbidden purpose.

Copies of the new law may be secured by those interested by writing to the Food Controller's headquarters, Ottawa.

SIDE TALKS

BY RUTH CAMERON
THE "YAP MIND"

"The condition of all development is not to be content with the present but to have the courage to ask how everything can be made better and the good fortune to find a right answer to this question in thought or in action."—Elton Key.
In a newspaper discussion on the justice of women wearing wedding rings while men do not, occurred the following:
"I am one of those who believe that 'whatever is, is right,' and the fact that the wisest men of the world for thousands of years have thought it best for women to wear rings, and for men not to, is sufficient for me."
I am not so egotistical and vain as to imagine that I am wiser in such matters than the wisest men of the last hundred centuries."
Not Conceded
That is a perfect example of what the Authorman calls the yap mind—the Mind That Lives On Formulas. What he means by the yap mind is the mind that is never used to think things out but merely accepts formulas and repeats them. The only makes me feel like a war horse smelling powder.
For there is no sentiment in this world that exasperates me like that, one "whatever is, is right."
How far would we ever have advanced in civilization if everyone had held that theory?

Result—The pup was instantly killed. The driver never even stopped to see what damage he had done. I'm sure we would like to know what the speed limit is. The only safe way to cross the Hamilton road is in an airplane.

Good Night Stories

By Blanche Silcott

THE THREE SISTERS
Once in the long ago there was an old woman who had three daughters. They were very poor and when the mother was taken ill and could work no more she began to wonder what would become of her children. Now, in the town nearby, there lived a wealthy couple who had no children, so the old woman thought what a wonderful thing it would be if her little girls could find a home with the rich family when she was gone.
"I am one of those half truths that do more harm than lies. A custom may have something good in it and yet deserve to give way to one that has much more good in it. And again the custom may have been perfectly good when it became a custom and conditions may have changed now so that what was good once is now rotten to the core."
I Hope to Help Change Something That is
Before I die I hope I'll do something to better the world by helping, if ever so slightly, to change some custom.
Of course, this does not mean that one should go off half cocked and try to change everything, just for the sake of change. The people who do that do as much harm as the "stand patters."
One has got to use one's mind and one's self control and one's patience as well as one's courage if one wants to help to hinder.
And of course one does want that.

First take a kettle sufficiently large to place 2 chickens in; then take a tablespoonful of sugar and brown in the bottom of the kettle; prevent from burning by stirring; when brown pour in about a cupful of water; have your chickens ready; rub them inside with a little salt and put them in the kettle; let cook slowly for an hour; put more water in if needed; when they are nicely browned and feel tender take them up from the kettle and make a gravy; cream a tablespoonful of flour in a little water and pour into kettle; then pour in a cup of cream and let all come to a boil; season with white pepper and salt to suit taste, strain and serve.

Meat Croquettes.
Chop cold roast beef fine, season with salt and pepper, add bread crumbs and moisten with milk; rub the meat into balls, dip it into beaten eggs, then in fine cracker crumbs and fry in butter.

Fried Tripe.
Cut in bits for serving, roll them in seasoned flour, then in egg, and last in very fine bread crumbs, fry a nice brown in deep fat and serve with parsley. Tripe is usually better if allowed to simmer gently in clean water until perfectly tender. If it has strong smell add a little vinegar to water and change several times. Dry perfectly before frying.

SEPTEMBER IN ALGONQUIN PARK.
September in Algonquin Park, Ontario, is one of the most delightful months of the year. A beneficial holiday can be enjoyed with all the comforts of home at "The Highland Inn," situated in the midst of a charming wilderness on Cache Lake. It is also a good month for the camper and canoeist. Splendid fishing is found in the innumerable lakes (over 1500) that nestle in the forests of pine and balsam. Don't leave it until the last minute to make your reservation at the Inn and write Miss Jean Lindsay, Manager, Algonquin Park Station, Ontario, for rates, etc., or to any Grand Trunk Railway agent for handsome illustrated booklet telling you all about the district.
A heavy electric and rainstorm in the Port Hope district leveled hay and grain crops to the ground, and did much damage.

MISSES' DRESS.

By Anabel Worthington.

A frock that is "different" is sure to appeal to the modern young miss who is always in search of variety. This one has several novel features to give it distinction. There are short panels of the material at front and back which extend down as far as the hip line to meet the pockets. The pockets are very large and hang loose. Underneath these panels the two piece skirt is gathered to the slightly raised waist line. Narrow belts of the material cover the seams at the sides. The square collar harmonizes well with the pockets. One may choose either the long tight-fitting sleeves or the short ones with cuffs.
The dress pattern, No. 8394, is cut in sizes 16, 18 and 20 years. Width at the lower edge is 2 1/2 yards. As on the figure, the 16 year size requires 4 1/2 yards of 36 inch material, with 3/8 yard 36 inch contrasting goods.
To obtain this pattern send 10 cents to the office of this publication.

YES! MAGICALLY! CORNS LIFT OUT WITH FINGERS

You simply say to the drug store man, "Give me a quarter of an ounce of Trezono." This will cost very little but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn from one's feet.
A few drops of this new ether compound applied directly upon a tender itching corn should relieve the soreness instantly, and soon the entire corn, root and all, dries up and can be lifted out with the fingers.
This new way to rid one's feet of corns was introduced by a Cincinnati man, who says that while frezono is sticky, it dries in a moment, and simply shrivels up the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin.
Don't let father die of infection or lockjaw from whittling at his corns, but clip this out and make him try it.

ALERT and active little folks are quick to respond when Dominion Toasted Corn Flakes are served.
No hesitating on the part of the grown folks either, for the Dominion flavor and crispness appeal to young and old.

THE BRITISH WAY

(By F. J. Sleath)

In no branch of the British Army does personal initiative count for more than in the Flying Corps. In no branch of the service has it been more encouraged. The British pilots held the German in check by sheer inherent manpower when machine supremacy was undeniably with the Germans. Now that this supremacy has been neutralized by the increasing effectiveness of the British aeroplane, British pilots are given greater liberty of action still, and many times and in ways it might be called a "free lance" capacity.

The story which will be told here concerns one of these roving airmen. He was over the line early one morning with other purpose than that of sending to destruction any hostile plane which he might chance to meet, when the singular scarcity of possible opponents decided him to push further afield. He had long cherished a certain project. The shyness of the German aviators decreed the fate of the other machines.

As soon as his intention became manifest, the German gunners concentrated their attention on him. Clouds of anti-aircraft shrapnel foisted his course, and he seemed to be groping his way through a smoky miasma where each fresh shell-burst appeared like distant lightning rending its way through a lowering thunder cloud. "Flaming onions"—inflammable shells designed to set fire to an aeroplane—groaned up from below and burst in their neatly ordered groups. But all the efforts of the German gunners were in vain. Our airman was a master of his craft. Now nose-diving and side-slipping, he turned his course, and he seemed to be groping his way through a smoky miasma where each fresh shell-burst appeared like distant lightning rending its way through a lowering thunder cloud.
