BRITISH IMPROVED POSITION SOUTH OF SOMME LAST NIGHT STUGGLE IS CONTINUED WITH VIOLENCE BELOW AYETTE Counter Attack in Neighborhood of Hangard Successful

German Attack Along French Sector of Battle Line Has Ceased Today, and Only Infantry Activity is Recorded--Anniversary of Entry of United States Into War Marked by Battle Which is Raging in Picardy

London, April 6.—The British positions south of the Somme was improved to some extent by a counter-attack delivered in the neighborhood of Hangard yesterday, according to to-day's War Office announcement.

Along the whole front below Avette, in the sector north of the Somme, the struggle continued with violence until late yesterday evening. Although the Germans made incessant attacks, they met with no further success than attended their efforts in the morning.

The statement follows: "North of the Somme heavy fighting continued along the whole front south of Avette until late yesterday evening. The enemy constantly attacked in considerable strength, but with no further success than attended his efforts during the morning.

"Local fighting also took place yesterday afternoon south of the Somme in the neighborhood of Hangard. We improved our position somewhat by a counter-attack."

ATTACK HAS CEASED

Paris, April 6.—The German attack along the French sector of the battle front has ceased. To-day's official statement says there was violent artillery fighting last night north and south of the Avre, but that no infantry actions occurred.

ANNIVERSARY OF U. S. ENTRY

On the anniversary of the entrance of the United States into the war, the greatest battle in that conflict is still being waged on the fields of Picardy. Their great attack halted, the Germans are making strong but ineffectual efforts to break through the Allied lines or bend them back so as to gain Amiens, and complete the first stage of the advance, which began at St. Quentin.

General Foch, the commander in chief, and under whose orders more than 100,000 American troops to aid the French and British, declares that the Bosche tidal wave is broken. "All is going well," he adds, and expresses confidence in the future. As proof of his statement, is the fact that in the past two days the enemy has made only slight gains on a 38-mile front, and these have been equalized in part by Franco-British advances at some points.

STRATEGY FUTILE

French resistance broke the German storm Thursday south of the Somme and north the British on Friday showed the same stern metal by repulsing furious assaults. The sudden switch in the attack to a front of thirty miles north of the Somme may have been made to catch Field Marshal Haig napping, but if so the attempt was futile.

As in the attack against the Franco-British front, the Germans sustained heavy casualties in their efforts against the British.

Dernacourt and Albert, along the Anceur were the positions attacked most heavily by the enemy, while a strong assault was made near Moyenneville, 20 miles north of the Somme. For many hours the enemy surged against the British lines, but succeeded only in gaining a footing in the foremost trenches at Dernacourt. Southwest of Albert a British counter-attack drove the enemy from the front line positions he had entered there.

At Moyenneville the enemy was thrown back with loss. Between the point and Albert in the region of Mesnil, the Germans were unable to dislodge the British from their defences. Southeast of Gommecourt, in the region Serre, north of Mesnil, the British launched an attack and captured 120 prisoners. In vigorous counter-attacks the French have driven the Germans from some positions north of Montdidier. At Mailly-Rameville, where he made gains Thursday, the enemy was driven back. Further south at Cantigny the French attackers gained and held the northern and western outskirts of the town. On the Lassigny-Noyon sector the French also made a slight advance north of Mont Remond. There has been lively artillery activity here as well as around Verdun.

The end of America's first war year finds more than 1,500,000 soldiers under arms, many thousands of whom are in France. On several sectors of the fighting front, American troops are facing the foe and learning how to fight and overcome a cunning and ruthless enemy. The war expenditure has been $12,000,000,000 for the first year. Uncle Sam's navy, greatly enlarged, continues to aid the Allied fleets in keeping the vital sea lanes open

INSPIRATION AND CONFIDENCE FROM U.S. ENTRY IN WAR

Messages From Prominent Men of Britain on American Intervention

FIRST ANNIVERSARY "Salvation of Humanity" in Declaration of Viscount Mersey

Belfast, Ireland, April 6.—(Correspondence, The Associated Press).—Inspiration and confidence arising from America's entrance into the world war and from the effort to exert her whole power in the Entente cause were expressed by noted Britons and Irishmen today in a series of messages to the people of the United States on the first anniversary of American participation. "It has inspired us," writes Sir Ignatius O'Brien, Lord Chancellor of Ireland. "It is the salvation of humanity," says Viscount Mersey, formerly head of the commission which investigated the destruction of the Lusitania. "We understand one another," declares Sir Arthur Conan Doyle.

These messages gathered by the Belfast Telegraph were given to The Associated Press. They represent many shades of political and religious belief. Excerpts from the most notable of them follow: "Sir Ignatius O'Brien, Lord Chancellor of Ireland.—The splendid way in which the people of the United States have thrown themselves wholeheartedly into the prosecution of the war on behalf of right and freedom, has inspired us all with the hope that the world may soon, in the words of their great President, be made safe for democracy."

Walter Hume Long, British Secretary of State for the Colonies.—"I hope that the united efforts of the great Anglo-Saxon races and their allies may soon put an end to the curse of militarism."

The Most Reverend Dr. John B. Crozier, Primate of all Ireland.—"May God bless our kinfolk across the seas who are now cementing the long continued friendship of America and Great Britain."

Lord Tennyson, a son of the famous poet, sent this extract from one of his father's poems: "Gigantic daughter of the West. We drink to thee across the flood. We know thee thou, we love thee best."

For art not thou of British blood? Hands all round! God the tyrant's cause confound. To our great kinfolk of the west, my friend, And the great cause of freedom Round and round."

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle.—"America and we understand one another. There is no more to say. Just one hand-grip and to work."

George H. Roberts, British Minister of Labor.—"Patriotic labor here rejoices that its instinct finds such splendid response in the heart of American labor. We go forward unitedly to the achievement of a peace based upon universal justice."

John Hodges, British Pensions Minister.—"We look to the coming year for such a manifestation of America's power as will help forward the Allied aim of making the world safe for democracy."

The Right Reverend Dr. Ingram, Bishop of London.—"The entrance of America into the war was the greatest event in the history of the Anglo-Saxon race and will, I hope, assure victory for our righteous cause."

Father Bernard Vaughan.—"We congratulate with all our hearts the champions of the rights of mankind, the American people."

Viscount Mersey.—"I regard the advent of America as the salvation of humanity." Sir William Crooks.—"I have been cheered by noting the whole-hearted manner in which America is taking her place in the fight for right and liberty."

Marie Corelli, novelist.—"Old dissensions are dead—old prejudices have ceased to exist—and not only hands across the sea have met to defend the Mother Country, but hearts too, are united in a bulwark of safety for the world."

BOY HIT BY RADIAL CAR

Ten Year Old Lad Sustained Fractured Skull in Accident This Morning PLAYING NEAR TRACK

While playing near the tracks of the Brantford and Hamilton railway at the Alfred street bridge this morning, ten year old Albert Vycary, of Glenville avenue, was struck by the rear of an outboard car. Dr. Phillips was summoned to attend the lad, who was hurried in the ambulance to the hospital, where he was found to be suffering from a fractured skull. An operation was performed, and hopes are entertained for the little chap's life.

INQUEST INTO ISAACS DEATH IS ADJOURNED

Mrs. Gerrard, Most Important Witness, is Still in Hospital

NO DEVELOPMENTS

Little Fresh Testimony Was Given at Inquest Yesterday Afternoon

Little new data was brought out by the inquest into the death of Alfred Isaacs, held at the police station yesterday afternoon, no evidence being submitted to fasten any actual responsibility upon George Duncan, who is held upon a murder charge, beyond the fact that Isaacs apparently sustained his injuries in the latter's home. After the testimony of five witnesses had been taken, the inquest was adjourned for two weeks, pending the discharge of Mrs. Gerrard from the hospital. Mrs. Gerrard is a sister of Mrs. George Duncan, and gave the first alarm by leaping from an upper window in the Duncan home last Sunday night. As a result she is suffering from injuries to both feet. It is thought that her evidence, when given, will shed more light upon the affair, as she is believed to have been present when Isaacs received his injuries.

was the first witness called to the stand. Shortly before seven o'clock last Sunday evening he was summoned to 83 Alfred street, and there saw the body of Alfred Isaacs lying near the landing on the second floor, his face very much contused, features distorted, bleeding freely and breathing stertorously, being totally unconscious. Duncan was also present.

Isaacs was removed to the hospital, where he died the next morning, of hemorrhage, coagulation of the brain and shock, occasioned by violence.

Witness was told by Duncan that Isaacs had been injured in the street, and carried into the house. Constable Dymont was already present when witness arrived.

Dr. Phillips, at the request of prisoner's counsel then read the full findings of the post-mortem examination, confirming the testimony he had already given. The principal impact sustained by Isaacs had been over the right eye and on the upper lip. Duncan, when witness arrived, appeared "wonderfully calm" and was cleaning the blood from the floor.

Dr. Chapin corroborated the testimony of Dr. Phillips with regard to Isaacs' injuries, and the cause of his death. The injuries could not have been self-inflicted; they must have been caused by extraneous violence. He did not believe that Isaacs had lost enough blood to cause death; shock, caused by violent injuries to the head, was more probably the cause. There was no special hemorrhage of the brain.

was next called to the stand. He knew Isaacs, a taxi driver employed by C. J. Mitchell, and a well built man, weighing at least 165 pounds. Witness had once seen Isaacs in the police court in a liquor case on one occasion.

At 6:45 on the night of March 31, Constable Dymont was sent to 83 Alfred street. He found the door closed, but not locked; entering, he found Isaacs as already described. Duncan was wiping blood off the injured man's forehead, and stated that he had found Isaacs on the sidewalk.

After summoning Dr. Phillips and Constable Miller, witness found Mrs. Gerrard, who had leaped from a second storey window of 83 Alfred St. at 3:30 P.M. Colborne street. At the time she appeared to be unhurt, and was sent by witness to the police station.

The witness observed blood upon the walls and ceiling of the third floor, and on the wall beside the stairway leading thence to the second floor.

GORDON MITCHELL.

a son of C. J. Mitchell, testified that the latter employed Isaacs as a

ANOTHER BEAUTIFUL FRENCH EDIFICE BEING SACRIFICED TO THE GOD OF WAR. The cathedral of Noyon is one of the most beautiful French examples of the transition style of architecture of the eleventh-twelfth centuries. It is on fire as the result of the French reply to German bombardment, says an official statement from Berlin. The chapels of the cathedral were built in the 14th and 15th centuries. The pictures show an exterior and interior view of the cathedral.

SONS.

Men in brown with marching feet, Like a great machine moved down the street, And the shrieking of a rifle, Led the river of young life, Soldiers bearing kits and guns, Mothers' sons—mothers' sons.

Out of the crowd a woman pressed Forward a little from the rest, "That's him," she said, "the third one there, The third one with the light brown hair!" She caught my arm and then she swayed And whispered—I suppose she guessed, And still they passed with kits and guns, Mothers' sons.

The death occurred in Detroit yesterday of a well-known St. Paul's Sergeant Sharpe, for many years a member of the Dufferin Rifles, but who had lately lived with his son in that city. He was 69 years of age and was universally liked and esteemed by all with whom he came in contact. A sorrowing widow and five sons survive to mourn the loss of a true husband and father. The sons are Henry, Evanford, Arthur, Grand Rapids, Charles, Detroit, Clarence, Brantford; Allan, Detroit.

The late Sergeant Sharpe was a fine type of man and citizen in the very best sense of the word. He was in the local 38th Battalion he was for years one of the most energetic and prominent members, and he held in the highest regard by officers and members alike. He was a staunch Britisher and the grand old Union Jack and the privileges which it typifies were very dear indeed to him. To his sons he has left the rich heritage of a manly and honorable career in every relation of life.

The death occurred in Detroit yesterday of a well-known St. Paul's Sergeant Sharpe, for many years a member of the Dufferin Rifles, but who had lately lived with his son in that city. He was 69 years of age and was universally liked and esteemed by all with whom he came in contact. A sorrowing widow and five sons survive to mourn the loss of a true husband and father. The sons are Henry, Evanford, Arthur, Grand Rapids, Charles, Detroit, Clarence, Brantford; Allan, Detroit.

The late Sergeant Sharpe was a fine type of man and citizen in the very best sense of the word. He was in the local 38th Battalion he was for years one of the most energetic and prominent members, and he held in the highest regard by officers and members alike. He was a staunch Britisher and the grand old Union Jack and the privileges which it typifies were very dear indeed to him. To his sons he has left the rich heritage of a manly and honorable career in every relation of life.

Mrs. Frank Bishop, St. Paul's avenue, and Mr. Leonard Bishop were at home on Tuesday afternoon, and evening, when a great number of friends took advantage of the opportunity to call on the bride who has so recently come to Canada from London, England. In the dining room, Mrs. Cameron and Miss Leonard presided at the tea table, assisted by Miss Emily Bunnell and Miss Margaret Bishop.

It was with deep regret that the many Brantford friends of Mrs. Othman Ross (nee Miss Annie McLaren) heard of her death this week in Fort Worth, Tex., and a great deal of sympathy goes out to the bereaved young husband, Lieut. Othman Ross, and the mother, Mrs. McLaren, and brother, Mr. Douglas McLaren, who were touring in California when the sad news reached them. The funeral will take place in Toronto.

SAYS SCIENCE DEPT. NEEDS IMPROVING

Inspector Makes Recommendation in Regard to High School at Simcoe

(From our own correspondent) Simcoe, April 6.—The report of Inspector I. M. Levan, on the high school was laid before the Board of Education last night.

The report comments favorably regarding the thorough overhauling and interior decorations of last mid-summer, but complains that the report approach has served its time, and the building is not large enough for the attendance. Chemical Laboratory Antiquated. The chemical laboratory, it is claimed, requires an entire new installation of tables of a wooden type, and the report complains that costly apparatus which should be laid away in closed cases, is stacked on the floor or on open shelves for want of proper storing accommodation.

Economy Regarding Equipment. There has been during the year no outlay for new equipment, which may be taken as showing that the school had been up to standard a year ago, and that the department has let a year pass without adding any new frills. Depreciation has totalled only $33.70, and the figures at present are:

Reference library	$567.70
Supplementary reading	84.93
Science apparatus	832.65
Maps, charts and globes	125.85
Art models	96.60
Typewriters	150.00
Biological specimens	141.10
Phy. culture apparatus	25.50
Total		$2,085.33

An extensive rearranging of the equipment and library up to standard and to provide individual sets for experiments by pupils, is recommended.

Organization. The division of duties and timetables are approved. The commercial department is demoralized, writing and book-keeping are not taught, but the art work instruction is continued efficiently by a temporary teacher.

IMPROVE L. E. & N. DEPOT APPROACH

Simcoe, April 5.—(From our own correspondent) — Messrs. M. W. Kirkwood, General Manager, and F. H. Midgely, engineer, of the L. E. & N., were in town yesterday conferring with Mayor Siler, Solicitor F. R. Innes and Engineer Guy E. Marston regarding the bridge and street allowance leading to the depot, the Sherman street agreement and a legacy of other odds and ends handed down from 1914 and 1915. Everything points to an amiable and permanent arrangement between the town and the railway.

GIRLS! TRY IT! HAVE THICK, WAVY, BEAUTIFUL HAIR

Every particle of dandruff disappears and hair stops coming out. Draw a moist cloth through hair and double its beauty at once.

Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a "Danderine hair cleanse." Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

Besides beautifying the hair at once, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff, cleanses, perfumes and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair. But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it, surely invest a few cents in a bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter, and just try it. Save your hair! Beautify it! You will say this was the best money you ever spent.

THE SITUATION.

The Germans have been making some slight progress towards Amiens, but at an appalling cost. While the British have fallen back to a small extent the French lines under great pressure still hold good and by vigorous counter-attacks they have even improved their positions.

The Germans announce the capture in Russia of Ekaterinoslav, an important commercial centre. The fact of the signing of a peace treaty does not prevent them from marching on.

A despatch from London announces that if the Allies are to hold Siberia they must lose no time and that a more handful would be sufficient for the job.

GOVERNMENT SHIPBUILDING PROGRAM.

That was an important announcement which Hon. Mr. Ballantyne, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, made in the Dominion House on Thursday, when he announced that the Government had reached the conclusion that "the time was opportune for Canada to embark on the building of steel ships as a national permanent policy."

THE SIGNIFICANCE OF THE LLOYD GEORGE APPEAL.

Great Britain did not ask Canada to send troops to help her cause in this war. That in the first place was a voluntary act upon the part of loyal men in this Dominion, just as in the case of the South African struggle many years ago.

"The Government of Canada to reinforce its heroic troops in the fullest possible manner and with the least possible delay."

A similar message has been sent to Australia and to the United States.

That men and still more men is the prime need at this time cannot be questioned or else Britain's Premier would not have sent out the S.O.S. call. Napoleon once remarked that he had noticed that Providence was always on the side of the heaviest battalions and that cynicism aside it cannot be doubted that the Hun hordes have to be met by numerical strength.

Great Britain and the overseas Dominions first of all depended upon voluntary enlistments, but as far as the Old Land and Canada are concerned that has been changed into selective drafts, a camouflage for conscription. In the United States they started things off on a better basis, but then they had the advantage of the experience of John Bull and his sons and entered the fray at a time when it was recognized as a far more desperate and critical affair than it at first appeared.

As to that there are still a great many people who do not yet seem to recognize that matters are hanging in the balance, and apparently need to be subjected to "peppin' raids or something of that sort in order to shake some realization into their narrow souls."

The Military Service Act has been Canada's latest contribution to help matters out and a great many people have gained the idea that it is not achieving the results it should, although the statement of Sir Robert Borden in the House yesterday afternoon will go a great way towards allaying that feeling.

Much more, however, is hoped for and will be expected as the rate per month has not been up to that under the voluntary effort. In connection with the latter system renege Quebec was doing practically nothing, whereas under the new order of things that Province was also supposed to get into line, but hasn't. The draft system should be

SIDELIGHTS AT OTTAWA

H. F. Gadsby's Weekly Letter From the Capital—Union Government is Indeed That; A Cosmopolitan Cabinet

Ottawa, April 6—Union Government does very well, thank you. It sets along together like a dozen of eggs which lie quietly in the basket and will not break unless jarred from the outside.

I speak of the Cabinet of course. The rest of the eggs are comparatively strange to each other yet. When one speaks of a Union Government one is obliged to become anatomical because every Union Government is a freak of nature.

The present Union Government is not that kind of twin. It is a much more viable child because it has only one head, one stomach from which party patronage is abolished, and a plentiful supply of bowels in the shape of the largest majority in the history of Canadian politics. It ought to be able to digest anything.

No one doubts that it will—pull through this session but next session trouble may develop, particularly if the war is in sight of its finish.

Union Government as it exists today is a union from the collar up two heads that beat—as usual. What I mean to say is that the party spirit hinders on and prevents a complete fusion. We must go through a great deal more adversity before we really get together.

A concrete example is the party caucus rooms—and the Liberal Unionists who seem to be all dressed up and no place to go. The old Liberal caucus room is as empty as a beggar's pocket.

The old Liberal caucus who supported Laurier before December last do not go there as a matter of course, and the new Liberals, like Noah's dove, have no place to perch. Quebec has a room of its own, from which it watches the game with a coldly critical eye, gauging the time when it will drive in the wedge and upset the arrangements.

That time is not yet, matters being much too serious in Europe just now to indulge in factious manoeuvres at home. Meantime the Quebec bloc, thrown on itself, develops a sense of comradeship and solidarity which may function actively when the sky clears. Sir Wilfrid's support, outside of Quebec, numbers nineteen, and as it does not mix readily with the French conscripts, it finds itself between the devil and the deep sea, and so compromises, each man of it, by crawling into his own hole and dragging the hole in after him.

If Union is to be a success, the private rooms for members will likely have to be cut out or greatly curtailed. This explains why the old Liberal caucus room has no life in it except the messenger in one corner and the clock ticking sadly on the wall. The old Conservative caucus room has a bricker's appearance but its briskness is not due to brotherly love between the two parties. It is due to the fact that the Conservatives old and new go there because it is the proper place to go. It is still known as the Conservative room, and no change of labels can rigidly applied there without any more nonsense and all who get in the way should receive summary treatment, no matter what their position. The people have also a right to expect better results from the other Provinces.

Lloyd George is not the sort of man to call bluff and his appeal carries with it a solemnity and urgency, which should cause the straining of every nerve with a Cromwellian method of cutting all red tape interference.

BRITISH FORCES TAKE ANOTHER "NIBBLE" The map gives the relation of the gains made by the Germans with the whole allied front. The small arrow indicates the point where the British recaptured the village of Arette. The dotted line shows where the Germans advanced in 1914.

WOULD YOU SMILE? COULD YOU SMILE? If you were a British aviator who had bagged 42 German airmen? If you were a Captain at 20 one of the youngest officers of your rank in the British army? If you had won the D.S.O. and M.C.?

CREAM FOR CATARRH OPENS UP NOSTRILS Tells How To Get Quick Relief from Head-Colds. It's Splendid!

In one minute your clogged nostrils will open, the air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more hawking, snuffling, blowing, headache, dizziness. No struggling for breath at night; your cold or catarrh will be gone.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic, healing cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothes the inflamed or swollen mucous membrane and relief comes instantly.

It's just fine. Don't stay stuffed-up with a cold or nasty catarrh—Relief comes so quickly.

Margaret Garrett's Husband

By JANE PHELPS

THE BEST LAID PLANS OFT GANG AGLEE. Chapter XXIII.

Neither of us again made any reference to John Kendall's presence at our restaurant dinner. But the next day when Bob came in he remarked:

"I met Miss Warren to-day, and John didn't exaggerate when he said she was clever. I am sure you would enjoy knowing her."

"Where in the world did you meet her?" I asked, surprised.

"Oh, John called me up and asked me to drop in at the Publisher's Club for luncheon. Miss Warren was lunching with him, so of course I met and talked to her. She is an unusual woman."

Instantly I was annoyed. I hated to hear Bob praise another woman; and I was cross that John Kendall should have asked him to meet his friend.

"She is going to review that new book of Kendall's for him," he added.

"The book he had last night?" "Yes, and I am sure you will enjoy reading it when it comes out. It is a most interesting psychological study, as well as a whacking good story."

"I know one thing, Bob, and that is I wish you never had known John Kendall!" I burst out.

"Why, Margaret, what's the matter with Kendall? He's as fine a fellow as you can find. I've known him for years and he's all work, and fully three feet wide. Don't take a dislike to him, Margaret. He is one of my best friends, and I should like you to be friends with him, also."

"I've nothing against him, also," I said slowly. "It is only that he takes you from me, interests in things which hold no appeal for me. That is why I do not like him."

"You're unreasonable, dear. I told you the other night that I must have some outside interests; that I could not content myself with just sitting down after business hours. Why, dear, I'd go mad!"

"That is—you mean that I am not enough for you, my society does not satisfy you?"

"Don't put it that way, dear. We all need something outside of ourselves or we grow narrow and selfish. It is no sign that I do not care for you because I enjoy being with others."

"But it is!" I insisted. "I would not mind if I never saw anyone but you, if you gave me all your time as I am willing to give you mine."

"That isn't love, as you seem to think, Margaret," he returned soberly. "It is a brand of selfishness. But whatever it is you will have to make over your ideas in that direction. You have friends, cultivate them, enjoy them, go where they are, and have them come to you."

"I have invited father and mother to dinner Friday night, and father is planning to have an evening of chess with you."

"You knew I was going. That my plans were all made. You will explain to your people, and make my excuses."

"Excuses—absolutely dumbfounded. His tone as well as his words let me understand that there would be no use in my objecting, yet I made one more attempt."

"It is such a slight to them!" I pleaded, my voice trembling with disappointment.

"I'm sorry if you view it that way, you knew I was going when you invited them."

"I was not at all inclined to be jealous; it had never really entered my mind that Bob would give me cause. But I did not like the idea of John Kendall making him a third at his luncheon. What if Miss Warren were clever, it didn't follow that he need ask Bob to help entertain her. I made a remark that if I could I would break up this silly friendship Rob had for John Kendall. One more reason too why I should not give my consent to his going away for the week end.

My plan to keep him at home was simple enough. I had asked father and mother to dinner for Friday evening. Bob was so very fond of mother; he enjoyed playing chess with father too so thoroughly that I figured he would not disappoint them and me by going away.

I said nothing until we were at breakfast Wednesday morning. Bob had been looking up the weather reports and remarked:

"The paper says we are to have pleasant weather the remainder of the week. That's fine!"

"But Bob, if you have reference to your plan to go down on Long Island, you will have to give it up. I have invited father and mother to dinner Friday night, and father is planning to have an evening of chess with you."

"You knew I was going. That my plans were all made. You will explain to your people, and make my excuses."

"Excuses—absolutely dumbfounded. His tone as well as his words let me understand that there would be no use in my objecting, yet I made one more attempt."

CHILDREN AND POULTRY

The monthly meeting of the Brantford and Brant County Pet Stock Association was held on Thursday evening, and it was decided to promote the interests of poultry keeping amongst the school children of Brant County and Brantford Township. The association agreed to purchase three silver cups for competition for school children, one to be given for the best pair Wyandottes, any variety; one for best pair Rocks, one for the best pair of R. I. Reds, the same to be the property of the winners. Space at the shows to be given free to each exhibitor. The Association hopes that the children will accept this opportunity to increase production and better poultry.

S. S. TEACHERS MET

A meeting of the Brantford graduated union of the elementary Sunday School Teachers was held in the club room of the Y. W. C. A. on Thursday evening. After the opening hymn and prayer, Mrs. Bowyer gave a very interesting bible reading. Mrs. Taylor sang "A Song of Trust," which was much enjoyed. It was with regret that the resignation of Mrs. Brewster as secretary-treasurer was accepted. Miss C. Campbell was appointed for this office. We then divided into groups for conference, each department having very interesting and helpful programs. The meeting closed with the benediction. The next meeting will be held Thursday, May 2, at 4.15 in the club room.

GIVEN SHOWER.

On Thursday evening last at their home at 12 Ruth Street, Constable Howting of the local police force, and Mrs. Howting, just married last Wednesday, were surprised by a number of friends and given a miscellaneous shower of useful household articles. A very enjoyable time was spent. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Howting. The marriage services were held at St. Andrews' Presbyterian church by Rev. J. W. Gordon. Constable Howting and Mrs. Howting (nee Miss Eliza Nesbitt) came to Canada together with their Mr. Howting's mother and sister, six years ago, from the north of Ireland. Constable Howting has been on the police force for some time.

Little change in the prices and quantity of grains, vegetables and meats was observed on the market this morning. Good quantity and quality of maple syrup was obtainable.

POLICE COURT.

In the Police Court this morning George Wilson was charged with carrying concealed weapons. He was warned and allowed to go. Charles Lewis was charged with being drunk and was remanded until Tuesday.

FATHERS AND SONS.

The opening day of Fathers and Sons' week is being observed at the Men's Song Service at the Y.M.C.A. on Sunday at 4.15, when Rev. G. A. Woodside will speak on "What a Son Expects of His Father." A father's quartette will sing.

LEAGUE ORGANIZED.

Amateur baseball in Brantford for the summer months becomes a certainty as a result of the organization meeting held last night in the Y.M.C.A. with a record number in attendance, the meeting being one of the largest held in years. Sam Lee occupied the chair, and proposals for the organization of the league, to be known as "The Telephone City Manufacturers' League," were submitted. A number of applications for membership were received, and a tentative list of officers appointed. It has not yet been decided whether the league will be composed of four or six teams.

C. O. R.

The military dance under the auspices of the sergeants of the 2nd C.O.R., was held in the Conservatory of Music last night, and in every way was a marked success. Music was furnished by the regimental band and orchestra from the Rex Theatre. Numerous guests from Toronto, Hamilton, Simcoe, Galt, and other outside points were in attendance.

All the officers of the battalion were present and all the sergeants who are still stationed here. The success which marked the event was to a great extent due to the work of the president and members of the committee, whose untiring efforts in the face of difficulties was instrumental in bringing the affair to a successful climax.

DECORATION NIGHT.

Decoration Night was held in the Boys' Department of the Y.M.C.A. last night, the event proving a great success. The various groups competed at decorating the tables and some interesting designs were effected. The prizes went to the "Chiefs," headed by Bruce Irwin. Marks for judging were given for neatness 30, design 30, economy 15, percentage of attendance at table, 25. The ladies assisting were Mrs. Frank Westaway, Mrs. T. E. Ryerson, Miss Simmons, Mrs. Kerr, Mrs. G. H. Williamson, Mrs. Colter, Mrs. Geddes.

THEM WAS THE DAYS.

For Easter week this year the people of Brantford have enjoyed most ideal weather, greatly different from the weather of the 6th of April, 1878. After a short "let up" of the stormy winds of winter, what the "old timers" of the city believe was the heaviest snow storm which ever hit Brantford, swept in upon the town. Mr. John Colter of the Portland Cement Co. recalled the incident this morning and told of having seen the snow piled all over the town at a depth of two feet, with drifts much deeper. A notable incident of the storm was recalled by Mr. Wm. Robins, of the J. S. Hamilton Co., who told of the weight of the snow carving in the roof of the building now occupied by Duncan's on King street, then the Stratford Building. A valuable stock of drugs was stored on the top storey of the building, and an exciting time salvaging the drugs.

LADIES' AID MEET.

On Wednesday, April 3rd, the members of Colborne St. Ladies' Aid Society held their annual meeting, when the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. C. F. Verity; first-vice, Mrs. J. M. Young; second-vice, Mrs. Jas. Harley; treasurer, Mrs. John Robinson; secretary, Mrs. R. W. Mills; assistant secretary, Mrs. R. D. Johnson; program committee, Mrs. C. W. Grantham and Mrs. F. W. Thompson; convenors of committees, Finance, Mrs. T. R. Jones; social, Mrs. C. Cowhore; visiting, Mrs. G. Church; parlours, Mrs. Jas. Harley; pianist, Mrs. C. W. Grantham; collectors, Mesdames Church, Cowherd, Abernethy, Brown, Johnson, Henderson, Crayston. The Rev. G. A. Woodside acted as chairman and congratulated the ladies on the splendid year's work. The annual reports showed all liabilities paid and a substantial balance in the treasury. The President was presented with a beautiful bouquet after the meeting.

LAI D AT REST

MRS. GILLIES. Yesterday afternoon the funeral of the late Mrs. Gillies took place from her late residence, at 30 Brant Avenue to Mount Hope Cemetery. Rev. Mr. Woodside officiated at the house and at the graveside. The pallbearers were Thos. McPhail, Thos. Anderson, C. Riley, E. Hendrick, C. Maxwell and P. Newton.

MRS. J. ANDERSON.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Jessie Anderson took place Thursday afternoon from the residence of her son, John, 15 Simpson street, to the family plot in Mt. Hope Cemetery. The services were conducted by Rev. D. L. Campbell and Mr. Watt. The bearers were Chas. Lamb, Jack Lawrence, Alex. Summerhayes and three nephews of the deceased, Fred Nicholl, Wm. Nicholl and Jack Watson. Three daughters and one son are left to mourn the loss of a loving mother, John of this city, Mrs. Arvilla Schram of Saskatchewan, Mrs. H. R. Willey and Mrs. C. O. Washburne of Toronto. Beautiful flowers from family, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Boyer, bank, Miss Myra Pettiback (Toronto), Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Lamb and Mr. Summerhayes, Mrs. Nicholl and family, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Summerhayes, Mrs. E. J. Hendry and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. Townsend, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lee, Balfour Street Ladies' Aid.

MRS. J. INGLEBY.

The funeral of the late Mrs. John Ingleby took place yesterday from her former residence, 287 Dalhousie St., to Mount Hope Cemetery. The services were conducted by Rev. Logan. The pallbearers were Messrs. Harley, H. Judson Smith, Thos. Heaman, Thos. Harris, Chas. Churchill and J. Blakney. The floral tributes were: Pillow,

"The three new Studebaker cars have attracted unusual interest and comment because they are really new models in a year when new models are very rare. They are new models in appearance, design and mechanical construction. They are distinctive in appearance—modish, and in conservatively good taste, without being faddish or freakish. Each of the three cars differs from the other in appearance—each has its own distinctive beauty. In mechanical construction they embody many new features—every feature has been proved unquestionably superior, not only by use in some of the highest priced cars on the market, but in Studebaker cars, in the wonderful Studebaker endurance run on the Chicago Speedway where a car of each model covered a distance of 30,000 miles at an average speed of 45 miles an hour. The new Studebaker cars are moderately lightweight, with great strength and high factors of safety. They are unusually high powered with remarkable gasoline economy. The mechanical excellence of each car insures low maintenance and up-keep expenses. Their superiority in these features has been proved under tests equivalent to every condition of service. Any one of the three new Studebaker cars is a highgrade, distinctively handsome, economical car to own and drive. Each model is in keeping with the spirit of the times—economical, efficient, dependable—and priced at a very reasonable price in consideration of the quality and value." H. C. IN THE WORLD OF LABOR

Auto mechanics in five of the big shops in Vancouver are on strike for an increase in wages.

Signalmen in British Columbia who are unorganized and forced to work 12 hours every day in the year without intermission, for $75 or less a month, have asked the C. N. R. to raise their wages to $85 a month and reduce hours to 8 a day.

The Lady Garment Workers report that they are enrolling a large number of new members at the present time in Montreal. Two local unions of the craft exist in that city, and they have combined to wage a live membership campaign.

Hamilton painters and decorators are asking for fifty cents an hour and improvements in working conditions. This organization is one of the old reliable.

The long drawn out strike of the electrical workers is officially declared to be amicably settled, and the best of feeling now exists between the employees and the union.

The Brandon (Manitoba) local of the American Federation of Musicians has been very successful of late in initiating many of the lady musicians and artists in that city, and states that within a very short period of time that local, 501, will be a real live aggressive one hundred per cent.

The maintenance of way employees on the Q. M. & S. Railway have, through the efforts of General Chairman J. Sheppard and a never say die committee, secured an increase in wages of 50 cents a day. Rules and working conditions have also been materially improved.

have succeeded in securing an advantageous new agreement with the building contractors. Wages are advanced to a minimum of 75 cents an hour, and hereafter wages are to be paid weekly, which is looked upon as an important concession.

Charley Doughty, of Guelph, President of the Ontario Conference of Typographical Unions, and ex-President of the Labor Educational Association of Ontario, does not work exclusively in the interests of his own particular craft, as is shown by the fact that he took the initiative that led up to the formation of the Street Railway Employees Union and the recent organization of the Rubber Workers in the Royal City.

The Ontario Provincial Conference of Typographical Unions, which will meet in Brantford next June, is making very satisfactory progress. It now has 14 affiliated local organ-

CAVALRY FOUGHT A GALLANT BATTLE

Canadian Mounted Troops Went Days Without Rest or Sleep

Ottawa, April 6.—The following cable dealing with the operations of the Canadian cavalry during the last great battle has been received by Sir Robert Borden from Sir Edward Kemp, Minister of Militia overseas.

Ten days and nights without rest, rarely getting sleep, some times on horse, then on foot, yet to-day the Canadian cavalry brigade continued their wonderful record by driving the Boches back from commanding positions which had cost him immense losses to gain. They went into the fight this morning with the calm assurance that they were so much better than the Hun that they knew they would win.

There might have been more prisoners, but we were too tired to run after them," said a Fort Garry captain. The Huns had been warned that our Canadian horsemen were there, but they didn't expect an attack to materialize.

Our casualties were not as heavy as in the British cavalry action I mentioned in a previous dispatch when a large wood was wrested from the enemy infantry. In that story, I unfortunately did not get the best of the battle. It was started by the Canadian Dragoons, who made a really old-fashioned cavalry charge over yards of broken meadow and plowed land with never a shelter from the enemy's fire, but surprised him so that he broke and ran, even before the Canadian horsemen were on him.

A large delegation from the New Brunswick Federation of Labor waited upon the provincial government in Fredericton in March, while the annual convention was on, and among other things asked for woman suffrage, improvements in the workmen's compensation act, a proportional representation in all provincial, municipal and civic government bodies, free text books in the public schools, an independent commission to handle all matters relating to labor with the exception of the compensation act.

reorganization of organized labor by appointment of labor representatives upon public bodies, the permission of manufacturer and sale of 1-2 per cent. alcoholic beer. It also pressed strongly that the manufacture of ice cream and candy be stopped during the war to conserve the supply of milk and sugar.

THE AMAZING MOTOR CAR

We are over the joy-riding period in the motor car industry. In keeping with the hour period of war, we have cut out the mad speed at which we have been going and settled down to a sane, determined stage of manufacture, sale and use of automobiles.

And yet the war has thrown a new glamor over the motor-driven vehicle. The gasoline wagon has become the chief of Mars. On steeds of metal, with feet of rubber, driven by gasoline, the soldiers dash up to the battle front. The fighting man is supplied with his forces of destruction by slower and more lumbering vehicles, which also are propelled by exploding gas. And the victims of war, too, are taken away by other motor cars. Into the jaws and out again to the speeding wagons that were undreamt of when in times gone by men fought man for power and land.

Verdun was saved by motor trucks. And thus the destiny of a whole nation may have been changed. Without the endless procession of motor trucks, the day-and-night, up to the battle front with powder and shells, back to the supply depots for more and ever more powder and shells, the rapid crown prince might have penetrated the lines of the brave poilus at Verdun. The German in his coldly calculating manner, had it all figured out that France could not stand against his machine of death, for France, England sent every one of fighting men supplied. But he did not estimate the resources of freedom fighting for home and country. France had been saved once before through the use of the motor truck. In those first fearful months when the hordes of invading Teutons swept through poor, weeping Belgium and across northern France, England sent every one of the big motor buses of London across the channel. These buses saved the day. They transported the thousands of British troops from the seaports to the battle fronts. They carried the beef of old England that kept life in the fighting Tommies. Without them, Britain might have been beaten.

There are now 300,000 motor trucks of all kinds in use on all the fighting fronts. American manufacturers are at work on contracts calling for 30,000 motor trucks for the use of our expeditionary forces in France. For an army of 1,000,000 men we shall provide 30,000 motor vehicles of all kinds. Already since the war started America has shipped 45,000 trucks to England, France and Russia.

There we have the new romance of the automobile. It is more in the prosaic and utilitarian truck than in that we are used to, calling the pleasure car. War is elemental. Peace is refined. So the truck is typical of war-time, the pleasure car of the piping days of peace. Some imaginative persons say the war will be won by motor cars. They even say it will be won by Canadian and American motor cars. Are they too imaginative who say that? May they not be the really far-seeing, sensible ones. An army crawls on its belly, lives on its stomach. It's the motor car that supplies the stomach, does the crawling.

The sleek, shining, self-propelled vehicle is surrounded with the air of romance, glorified by its use on fields where man stakes all against his enemy man. We endow the motor car with personality, we endow it with our own times of danger, it becomes a thing of muscle and breath, as the horse.

We could not live without the motor car. There is too much work to be done in this world, and too little time in which to do it with the old implements. We've got to be in too many places in one day. We've got to annihilate space and time. And nothing aids us in that so much as the motor car. In war, in peace, it's the same. Long ago they took us the crest of this business had been reached. Yet every year we went over the top in production, and we're still speeding up. Finally they told us the war would kill the automobile business. But it hasn't. At the end of seven continuous years of prosperity in the business there were manufactured in the United States in 1914 a total of 1,755,640 passenger cars and 311,343 commercial vehicles. In 1915 the totals were 1,625,578 pleasure cars and 321,130 trucks. There are now registered in the United States 4,423,128 motor vehicles, including 418,000 trucks. There is one motor for every 24 persons living in the United States. There are 1.8 motor cars for every square mile of territory.

In 11 middle western states the proportion of cars to people is 1 to 17. In Iowa it is 1 to 11. Almost incredible, isn't it? Read some more of the staggering figures about this gigantic industry. There are in the United States 550 manufacturers of motor vehicles, 238 making pleasure vehicles—some, of course, manufacturing both. These factories are located in 32 States and have a total capital of $736,000,000. They employ 280,000 men and women paying for wages during the year ending June 30, 1917, a total of $778,000,000. The average wage per employe is thus seen to be nearly $1,000. The average price of the passenger cars produced in 1917 was $720.

But that is only part of this gigantic business. The number of concerns manufacturing some articles used in the auto trade is estimated at 6,780, and 1,080 supply trucks, bodies, parts and accessories. In the side lines there is invested $336,000,000 and these plants give employment to 320,000 men at a yearly average wage of $900. The automobile tire business is a stupendous one. Last year 18,000,000 tires were manufactured, with a value of $450,000,000. There is a total of 48,000 dealers, garages and repair shops in the United States, 27,000 automobile and truck dealers and 25,500 garages, 13,500 repair shops, 12,700 tire vulcanizers, 2,550 supply houses and 23 jobbers of supplies. In all these establishments there are 280,000 workers who, it is estimated draw an average salary of $300.

The value of all the motor cars owned in the United States at the moment is nearly $5,000,000,000. This figure is arrived at by rating the cost of 75 per cent of the cars registered at $1,000 each and the remaining 25 per cent at $2,000 each. In 1917 alone the amount spent upon the purchase of 1,725,194 new cars by American motorists was $917,470,800. Looking over the field, we find

FEEL FINE! TAKE "CASCARETS" FOR LIVER, BOWELS

Don't Stay Bilious, Sick, Headachy or Constipated

Can't Harm You! Best Cathartic for Men Women and Children

Enjoy life! Your system is filled with an accumulation of bile and bowel poison which keeps you bilious, headachy, drowsy, tongue coated, breath bad and so on. Why don't you get a 10 cent box of Cascarets at the drug store and feel fully. Take Cascarets to-night and enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel medicine you ever experienced. You'll wake up with a clear head, clean tongue, lively step, rosy skin and looking and feeling fit. Mothers can give a whole Cascaret to a sick, cross, bilious, feverish child any time—they are harmless—never gripe or sicken.

that upwards of 2,000,000 persons are employed in various capacities in the motor car industry. Hence we may safely estimate that the population of 100,000,000 in the United States fully 5,000,000 are dependent upon the manufacture of motor cars.

After all this orgy of figures, says an American exchange, "we come to our equilibrium. We know we have about reached the limit. In fact, we are slowing up in at least one great branch of the business, the manufacture of pleasure cars. The majority of manufacturers already have made plans to curtail their output for 1918. The curtailment from 20 to 50 per cent. Ordinarily if a business were curtailed to that extent we should hear dire prophecies of disaster. But not in the motor car industry. There they say the slowing up will be a grand thing for the business."

There are other vital things to be done at the factories. There are motors to be manufactured for fighting airplanes, motors for a new kind of submarine destroyer, parts for ships, shells, guns, rifles and everything and anything that will help Uncle Sam whip to a standstill the worst enemy to industry that mankind ever has known.

Even with the reduced output, there will be enough pleasure cars to go around. There will be enough business to enable both manufacturer and dealer to hold together. Every thing and anything that only, both manufacturer and dealer can make a profit. With the reduced number of cars put out, there ought to be more buyers than cars. That is always a healthy state for any industry to be in.

MOTOR CAR IS "HERO" AT FIRE

Sedan First Draws Snow- Stalled Hose Cart, Then Hook and Ladder

Realism in the window display of a sedan at Skaneateles, N. Y., was instrumental in getting badly needed fire fighting apparatus through deep-drifted snow, and saving a burning home.

When the alarm sounded, just after a heavy fall of snow, about thirty men began to clear one of the lowest hose wagons toward the scene of the fire. A little of this was sufficient to convince them all that man-power would not do the trick. Appeal was made to the dealer, it so happened that he had a sedan on display in the window, all ready to run.

In a moment the sedan was started, in a minute later the firemen had a stream of water on the fire, the motor car having pulled the hose cart through the snow without any difficulty.

It was driven back to the hose house, where it hooked up to the hook and ladder truck and trundled it down to the fire. The situation was more or less ironical because the town had died, during the previous summer, not to add a 75-horsepower motor truck to its fire equipment, many believing such a truck would be useless in the winter snows.

Rippling Rhymes

AVOIDING TREASON.
I would not like a traitor fall, my back against a Hesterstone wall, a hiding ground in front; 'twould be a dismal way to end the Hittite path. I humbly wend, this think to my stout. So I keep tab upon my tongue, and see that loyal words are sprung, when I see up and speli; disloyal words may do great harm, may paralyze some soldier's arm, and make him drop his steel. The careless talker drifts around, and frets and acids and grows sour; perhaps they mean no ill; but they're pained if they could know how far their idle ravings go to hearten Kaiser Bill. In times of peace, each native soul could stand and ease the government, until his lungs went lame; I used to do it, I confess; we all enjoyed it more or less, and all endorsed the game. Free speech is numbered with the boons for which our fathers soaked their spoons, and stripped the strongbox bare; when gentle peace is here once more, we'll all be privileged to roan, and rant around and swear. But now sweet peace is done to death; and he who uses up his breath to grumble and complain, to show that all we do is wrong, is striving doubly to prolong the Teuton Tyrant's reign. I would not like a traitor swing from some tall tree where robins sing, a rope around my neck; and so I spring

A Ford Car Takes the Place of all These Things

WHEN you own a Ford you can do away with many articles that are a source of continuous expense to the man who still drives a horse. For instance, not only your driving-horse and buggy, but the single harness, blankets, whips, currycombs, brushes, horse-shoes, pitch-forks, feed-bins, etc.

In their place you have a speedy, dependable, dignified, roomy Ford Car—complete in itself. It is vastly superior to the narrow, cramped buggy that travels so slowly. And when a Ford is standing idle it does not eat three meals a day, and it requires no "looking after."

A Ford will save you time, trouble, and money. It is the utility car for the busy farmer and his family.

GARDENING AS A MEANS OF THRIFT

Prize Winning Essays Written By Public School Pupils for Thrift League—Sound Reasons For Cultivation of Vacant Lots Given.

Herewith the Courier gives two more of the prize winning essays written last year by pupils of the public schools for the Thrift League.

GARDENING AS A MEANS OF THRIFT
By Gordon Hendry, Senior III, Victoria School.

Since the great European war, Canada has supplied England with food and England has depended upon Canada for some of its food, especially grain.

The Canadian people have been very thrifty during this great world war, especially at gardening. It is not only the world war, but the farmers, engineers, women, boys and girls' war, and everybody should help to win.

Our country is face to face with a situation which necessitates the increasing of our food supplies by every means at our command. Vegetables as well as other food stuffs must be given careful consideration, as they form an important part in the everyday diet of most individuals.

Canada is the storehouse from which the Mother Country must draw supplies, said Lloyd George, as it is the nearest grainery.

And so produce—produce, produce—must be one of Canada's watchwords that others shall not starve.

A short story on how to make a garden:
Don't hurry too much in beginning your garden. Wait until the season is well advanced. Plant the hardy vegetables first, such as peas, lettuce, radishes, parsley, etc. Plant two varieties of each vegetable.

Make a business of gardening. Dress for it in suitable clothing; don't go to the expense of making a hot-bed, when you can buy your seedlings so cheaply at your local greenhouse.

Make your garden at first a small one, don't despise a small beginning. You may only grow a little bit, but this multiplied means a total that will be enormous when all the gardens are taken into consideration.

How vegetable growing will help the nation:
1st.—It will make a producer, not simply a consumer.
2nd.—It will help you save your money that might have been spent for vegetables.

3rd.—It will help solve the "high cost of living."
4th.—By lessening living expenses, and you can invest the money saved into war bonds, etc.

5th.—It will help the people who are now growing vegetables for you, to be free to enlist.
6th.—It will increase the food stuffs available for exports, to England and other countries, and the boys in the trenches.

7th.—It is healthy to work outside growing vegetables, etc.
Many people are giving up lots and yards and are planting vegetables. Some people are giving up the beautiful flowers, and are planting vegetables instead. There are many

GARDENING AS A MEANS OF THRIFT

(By Margaret K. Reid, Junior IV, Alexandra School.)

To-day the whole world is in a state of upheaval, confusion, and the other terrible things that accompany the condition that is so dreadful and terrifying to people and is known as "war." Even in all the existing misery, which people are suffering now, there still comes another hardship, in the shape of a great question, looming up stark and horrifying on all sides—"How are we to prevent famine, and keep the people from starving?"

The only answer to this problem is to be thrifty and make the most insignificant things go for some good purpose. I am sure that every one of us is feeling severely the lack of luxuries concerning food, which we were formerly accustomed to, but those who have felt this strongly enough are helping their Empire, as well as themselves, by cultivating on their own property the vegetables, etc., they would otherwise have bought.

To keep up his physical health man must have a certain amount of exercise, and at the present time, on account of the "high cost of living," he is unwillingly forced to accept substitutes, such as canned goods, etc., so, if he wishes to make up this loss he will find it actually refreshing, after a steady day's work in a hot, noisy city, to work in his garden in the cool of the evening.

In your own garden you are able to supply your household in the way of vegetables, etc., those vegetables which you otherwise would have bought, would be able to increase the surplus, which is being sent to the fighting nations of Europe. There are some men—mainly farmers—who do not enlist because they feel it their duty to remain behind and produce the necessary foodstuffs for the country. If the men who are forced to remain, "physically unfit," would take into their own hands the work of these farmers, it would release the farmers for the work that they deem it their duty to attend to, at the front and would also satisfy the other men for they are doing just as much as the soldiers, in guarding the health, as well as the safety, of those they love.

Surely we all feel it our duty, if we can boast of the fact that we are able to export, to England, etc., gain another victory for Britain. We all will readily say that Germany has committed many awful deeds, but we must admit that she has taught us a profitable lesson, and one that she herself must have learned thoroughly, before she could show herself so powerful to the world, and that lesson is "thrift."

So far what promises to be the outstanding feature of the season in Canada in 1918 is the formation of a Seniors' Association here. Mr. W. R. Baker, C.V.O., President of the Royal Montreal, has called a meeting at the Royal Hotel on Saturday, May 18th, for organization purposes. All the leading clubs in the Royal Canadian Golf Association have been asked to send delegates to the United States Seniors' Association is possibly the most powerful body of golfers in that country. It numbers amongst its ranks of 600 many of the big men of the country—men big in affairs of State, in finance and commerce.

In the Dominion, the proposal is to make the age limit fifty and the membership (by invitation) 250. It is only fit and proper that the Royal Montreal, the oldest golf club on the continent, should "father" this noble scheme. Its endorsement, of course, spells success for the organization. Later on it is proposed to hold international matches with the U.S. Seniors. All revenues will be devoted to patriotic purposes.

The cry of "produce, produce, and then produce more" will not go unheeded this season amongst golf clubs and golfers. Last season the leading clubs all produced vegetables in sufficient quantities to supply the needs of the club house, and in many instances the needs of the members.

This year it is planned to greatly increase the production, in some instances five, six, and even more acres will be put into cultivation on the links. Much voluntary work will be done by the golf players themselves.

Wage advances granted since Aug. 1, 1915, at the Bayonne, N. J., plant of the Standard Oil Co., total from 73 to 88 per cent.

THE ROYAL AND ANCIENT

News of the Links in Canada, and Throughout the Anglo-Saxon Golfing World

The Royal and Ancient... (By "Snickernee")

It is really wonderful how this game of golf keeps up its vogue throughout the Anglo-Saxon world, notwithstanding the world war that is raging. It is the only sport that in Canada at least, has not shown a diminution, both as regards interest and adherents. Over 3,000 golfers throughout the Dominion are in khaki and over 20,000 are "paid the price." There is not a young man of fit, fighting age playing the game, but in spite of all this, annual reports which are coming in from the clubs almost without exception, tell of an increased membership and a determination to "carry on" which is nothing short of a splendid "drive."

Another club which will get into its "swing" this season in all probability is the St. Bruno, a $100,000 organization, in the Montreal district. An immense amount of work has already been done on the course and this spring the seeding will be completed. It gives every promise of being one of the finest greens in the vicinity of the Canadian metropolis.

As in Great Britain and Canada, so in the United States, the war is making a heavy call on golfers. Outlets, "Bobby" Gardner and hundreds of other U.S. experts of wood and iron are now either over in France or are preparing to go there. It is stated on good authority, and it may well be believed, that golfers make ideal fighting men. The game teaches them to calculate distances with almost unerring skill and mortar and iron work is largely a question of calculating distances correctly. A man who can approach "dead to the pin" is a good man to be back of a bomb when it comes to the crucial "pick-up shot."

As was generally expected the Woman's North and South Championship at Pinehurst was won by Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd, who defeated Mrs. Ronald H. Barlow of Philadelphia rather decisively by five and three. Mrs. Hurd was for three years a resident of Canada, making her headquarters at Hamilton with Miss Florence L. Harvey, twice champion of Canada, who has recently, by the way, gone overseas to join the Scottish Hospital unit in France as a chauffeur. As Miss Dorothy Campbell, the present North and South champion, had competitions and trophies literally by the hundred to her credit. She was the winner of the British championship in 1909 and 1911, Scottish championship, 1905, 1906 and 1908; American championship, 1909 and 1910, and Canadian championship, 1910, 1911 and 1912. She is the only lady golfer who has won the

German Quartermaster General Will Not Accept Title From Kaiser

It is General Ludendorff, not von Ludendorff. His official title is "first quartermaster-general of the German armies," and he is proud of the fact that he is not of the nobility. He has been offered a patent of nobility by the German emperor, but he refused it.

The question of General Ludendorff's right to be called "von" has been brought out by the persistence with which the newspapers give it to him. Here is a little newspaper anecdote, however, which reveals what the general himself thinks about it.

When Oswald F. Schuetz, then the staff correspondent of the New York Globe with the armies of the central powers, wrote an account of "A Day With the German Kaiser" two years ago, that report had to be submitted to General Ludendorff for his personal censorship. In that article Mr. Schuetz had written twice "General von Ludendorff."

When the manuscript was returned to Mr. Schuetz by the press division of the German general staff the offending "von" had been red pencilled—German censors use red instead of blue—and the official who brought the manuscript from headquarters said: "General Ludendorff said he had twice declined to let the Kaiser confer a title upon him and that he did not now intend to let a newspaper do it."

THIRD LIBERTY LOAN.

Washington, April 5.—Final preparations were being rushed to-day for the opening to-morrow of the sale campaign of the third liberty loan. Legislation necessary for floating the loan was completed yesterday when the house accepted minor senate amendments to the bill authorizing the sale of additional bonds and President Wilson approved the measure.

Here are the essentials of the new issue: Amount $3,000,000,000 and all subscriptions above that amount; interest rate 4 1/4 per cent.; campaign period April 6 to May 4, date of bonds May 9, 1918; maturity 10 years, or September 15, 1928; interest payable semi-annually September 15 and March 15; bonds of the first and second liberty loans may be converted into third liberty loan bonds, but bonds of the third loan are not convertible into future issues.

RICE BROS. CIRCUS.

The coming of the Grand Opera House Monday, April 8th, of Rice Brothers Colossal Circus, for one day has taken Brantford theatregoers by the ears. The circus will be presented twice in this city—at matinee and evening performances, and indications are that there will be packed audiences.

It seldom happens in the theatrical season that such a novel and prodigious attraction is available and the four Canadian cities which are to benefit by the innovation are indeed fortunate.

Rice Brothers Circus is a real circus in every sense of the word, a big aggregation of Barnum and Bailey proportions, carrying the feature acts of the world-famed Ringling Brothers, Sells-Floto, and Hagenback and Wallace summer circuses. Magnificent in conception, regal in appointment, representing a tremendous investment, amazing in its lavish scope, it attracts circus lovers everywhere. The circus which came into Canada from Chicago and Detroit, where it held forth for a full week at the great Lyceum Theatre, was due next to play in Cleveland, when arrangements were made for a brief engagement in the Dominion before proceeding to Boston.

"THE BRAT."

"Worry," says Rhea Martin, who comes to the Grand Opera House next Thursday, with "The Brat," is the best little sulidude word the language of any country has coined. "Worry" plants the germ that kills ambition, and while microbes that destroy our physical welfare are more or less successfully fought by family physicians, the world has yet to produce a practitioner who can formulate a recipe for the germ "worry."

"We should force cheerfulness into our range of vision," says Miss Martin, "clothe our retrospective with a rosy hue of humor, forget the rains of yesterday in the sunshine of to-day and thus rid ourselves of unpleasant memories by relegating them to the storehouse of forgetfulness."

"WATCH YOUR STEP."

Watch Your Step, Irving Berlin's international syncopated musical success, which comes to the Grand Opera House during the present month, has firmly established itself as one of the most notable attractions in America, by its long run of six months in New York, three months in Chicago, three months in Philadelphia three months in Boston, with important engagements in Washington, Baltimore, St. Louis and other leading cities. It is described as one of the crispest, snappiest and brightest musical comedies seen in this country for several years.

"POLLYANNA"

"Pollyanna," a comedy of good cheer, has been brought to the stage by Klaw and Erlanger and George C. Tyler, just at an opportune time when playgoers are surfeited with morbid themes and wearied by a long procession of crooks, detectives and hectic exponents of the sex triangle. Optimism was never more needed than now in the world's affairs and the amusement of the people. It is a tremendously popular play that Catherine Chisholm Cushing has fashioned from the rapid-selling stories by Eleanor H. Porter, read by hundreds of thousands, young and grown-up. The comedy is best enjoyed by men and women of experience and understanding. "Pollyanna" will be seen at the Grand Opera House Thursday, April 18th, acted by the original and only company, including Patricia Collinge, Oswald Yorke, Beatrice Morgan, Joseph Jefferson, Helen Westhersby, Mattie Ferguson, Maude Hosford, Stephen Davis, Harry Barfoot and Selma Hall, whose names and achievements are familiar to every sophisticated theatregoer.

Joyous in every expression, is George Walsh in his newest William Fox photoplay "Some Boy" which will be seen at the Rex Theatre on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. George plays the role of "Joyous" himself, and he plays it so convincingly that George Walsh fashion that has made friends and admirers for him all over the country.

Joyous begins the story in a college dormitory. Expelled from there because of disobeying his father's instructions that he was not to be allowed to play baseball again, he gets a job as a press agent for a fashionable hotel.

Meanwhile he has met the girl, Marjorie Millbank (Doris Pawn), whose main interest in life has been centered in a Texas ranch. As soon as she meets "Joyous," she transfers that interest to him, and he reciprocates.

There are oceans of exciting adventures and they all live happily ever after.

DOROTHY DALTON

Dorothy Dalton will be seen at the Rex next week in "The Price Mark." The story follows:

Two Americans, Fielding Powell, an artist, and Doctor Daniel Meff, are visiting in Cairo, Egypt, when Powell becomes enamored of Nakhla, a native girl. As soon as her brother, Hassan, a rug dealer, learns of the affair, he poisons his sister and secretly attempts to take the life of Powell. Dr. Meff brings Powell to New York immediately the latter is convalescent and with them comes Hassan, in the capacity of a servant to Powell. Hassan hopes to kill the artist and avenge the dishonor of his sister for her relations with the infidel.

Powell is a successful and popular artist, and to his studio comes Paula Lee, a beautiful young girl from an Ohio town. Possessed of an unusual fine voice, the girl had hoped to procure a theatrical engagement, but failing in this effort, she becomes a model for Powell. He regards Paula as legitimate prey so long as he provides her with the comforts of life, although he soon comes to love the girl with a devotion so sincere that he wants to marry her. A misunderstanding separates Paula and Powell, and she meets Dr. Meff, who is ignorant of her previous life in New York.

Paula and the doctor are married and are supremely happy. After a time the doctor invites Powell to meet his wife, declaring her to be "the sweetest woman in the world." The mutual recognition causes Paula to fear that Powell will disclose their former relations to her husband, and Powell threatens to do this unless Paula consents to come to his apartments that evening. In fear of exposure Paula agrees to Powell's demand, and later in the artist's rooms, the girl makes a brave and determined fight for her honor.

In the midst of the tense struggle between Powell and Paula, Hassan sees an opportunity to avenge the wronging of his sister. How he accomplishes his purpose, bringing happiness once more into the life of Paula, is shown in a thrilling climax.

"THE SPINNER"

At the Brant Theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday will be shown a film production second in importance and timeliness to no other seen this season. It is "The Splendid Sinner," by Kate Jordan.

The powerful story depicts life as we see it to-day, and the locale ranges from New York and its environs to the battlefield of France. Miss Garden is seen as a dominant figure in the smartest set of Bohemia and as a Red Cross nurse.

Miss Garden is enthusiastic over the production, declaring it to be in every respect a worthy successor to her "That" with the added advantage of allowing her to be herself—a woman of to-day as her friends know her.

"THE HIDDEN HAND"

As the Hidden Hand approaches Doris she struggles to loosen the bonds. He unbinds her and she leans up. She realizes that the Hidden Hand intends to kill her. She attempts to escape, but is caught and knocked to the floor in the fifth episode of "The Hidden Hand" at the Brant theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

"AMARILLY"

Mary Pickford in "Amarilly of Clothesline Alley" will be the feature attraction at the Brant next Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday. The supporting cast are seen Wm. Scott, Norman Kerry, Ida Waterman, Kate Price, Herbert Standing and other notables. This is the most amusing picture Mary has ever done. It is full of wholesome philosophy, showing that people from the environments of such places as "Clothesline Alley" can never mix happily with the upper classes of society. One of the scenes of the picture is that showing Chinatown of San Francisco. Mary has the title role and lives in the tenement hours with her jolly tenderhearted mother and her small brothers, who are messengers and newsboys. Amarilly is the boss of the Alley and makes the boys toss the mark. She obtains the job of scrub girl at a theatre and her fiancé, Terry Medowan, is the pride of the alley and the bartender at the Midway saloon. Terry is temperance however. Gordon Phillips, a wealthy young man, while on a slumming expedition, is injured in a brawl and Amarilly takes him to her home and nurses his wounds. Terry becomes jealous. After Gordon's recovery, Amarilly is given the job of caring for Gordon's studio and when her brothers are stricken with fever she is given a permanent home with Mrs. Phillips. Eminent situations prevail here and proves to Amarilly that the Alley gang can never mix with the upper crust.

"THE WOMAN IN THE WEB"

Patrons of the Rex Theatre who followed those amazing adventure serials, "The Fighting Trail" and "Vengeance and the Woman," will be interested to learn that the manager of the Rex Theatre has secured Vitagraph's newest chapter photoplay, "The Woman in the Web," the first episode of which will be seen Thurs. and Sat., a chapter to follow each week.

"The Woman in the Web," it is announced, is totally different in type from its predecessors, but even exceeding them in heart-interest and suspense. It is written by Albert E. Smith, president of Vitagraph, and past master in devising screen stunts, and Cyrus Townsend Brady

GERMAN DEBT SOARS

Amsterdam, March 13.—(By Mail)—Germany's debt after the war will be thirty times what it was at the beginning, George Bernhard, editor of the Vossische Zeitung, declared in a lecture recently in Berlin in connection with the campaign for the Eighth German war loan. The editor's speech was hardly calculated to afford his hearers much cause for rejoicing. He said that at the end of the war, Germany probably will be faced with a debt of 150,000,000,000 marks, 5,000,000,000 before the war. Editor Bernhard said that 14,000,000,000 marks would be provided annually after the war through taxation. He estimated the Empire's national wealth at 400,000,000,000 marks, a large part of which is state and communal property. He did not favor a single levy on capital and said small capitalists should not be taxed too hard. This, he declared, would mean that the larger fortunes would have to pay as high as fifty per cent, which he thought was not safe tax from an economic viewpoint.

CANADA HELPING ALLIES TO INCREASE SHIPPING TONNAGE

Shipbuilding has come to stay in British Columbia as a leading industry, and amongst the cities prominent in the construction of vessels is New Westminster. The

New Westminster Construction and Engineering Company was incorporated on June 18th, 1917. Work was started soon afterwards at the Poplar Island yards, on the north arm of the Fraser River. The company secured the contract from the Imperial Munitions Board for the building of four wooden ships. The infant industry sprang to adult proportions in a very short time, and now it employs 300 men, earning a salary of $78,000 a month.

This payroll has swelled the monthly payroll of the city's ten prominent industries to between $225,000 and $275,000. The name of the first of the four vessels to be launched is "War Comox." Its convenient situation and its proximity to the great timber forests of the province make New Westminster specially adapted for the new sphere of activity on which she has embarked.

MATTERS IN QUEBEC

Debated in the Dominion House Premier Borden Announces Results of M. S. A. Act.

Ottawa, April 5.—The Prime Minister completely took the wind out of Col. Currie's sails this afternoon, when he outlined to Parliament emergency measures taken by the Government to suppress riot and insurrection in Quebec. The more vigorous and effective enforcement of the Military Service Act. He also made the rather surprising announcement that "from the 31st October, 1917, to the 30th of this present month of April, if our plans for this month are carried out, as I have no doubt they will be carried out, we shall have sent overseas to the support of the gallant men who are fighting our battles there about 47,000 Canadian soldiers."

Twenty-one Supported Motion. In anticipation of a lively debate, another record crowd assembled when the summons bell rang at 3 o'clock. The preliminaries were quickly disposed of, and Colonel Currie moved for leave to adjourn the House for the purpose of discussing the "rioting, agitation, disturbance and non-observance of the law in Quebec." Before he could go on it was necessary that twenty members of the House support his motion. Twenty-one did so, and it is noteworthy that not one of them was a Laurier Liberal or a Liberal Unionist. All were Conservatives, and the majority of them were from Toronto and Ontario. They included T. G. Wallace of West York, H. B. Morphy of North Perth, Dr. Sheard of South Toronto, Thomas Foster of East York, Dr. Anderson of Halton, H. H. Stevens of Vancouver, W. F. Edwards of Frontenac, J. A. Sexsmith and J. H. Burnham of East and West Peterboro', and Sir Sam Hughes, Victoria.

Colonel Currie intended dividing the House if he failed to secure the requisite number to carry his motion, his view being that no Ontario Government supported the M. S. A. vote against a discussion of the Military Service Act and its relation to the Quebec situation.

Keep Strictly to Subject. Those in the galleries evinced a lively interest in the proceedings, and practically every member of the House was in his place when the Speaker warned the North Simcoe member to restrict his remarks to the limits of his motion.

Denies Unequal Enforcement. Sir Robert Borden did not make a long speech. He quickly denied that there had been an application of the law in Quebec different from its application in the other eight Provinces. The aim of the Government was to enforce the measure consistently, but firmly and impartially, in every Province of the Dominion.

Satisfactory Figures Presented. The figures the Premier gave respecting the number of men who have been drafted for service in the trenches were evidently satisfactory to an overwhelming majority of his followers, who were elected to see that reinforcements were speedily despatched to the front. He said that in the last seven weeks, by means of the Military Service Act, 16,000 men have been brought to the colors. No results anything like that could have been secured by the voluntary system. Since the act was proclaimed they had got 50,000 men, including 18,000 from the United States and 32,000 from Canada under the Military Service Act. From the 1st of October, 1917, to 30th of April, 1918, if their plans were carried out—and he had no doubt they would be—the Government would have sent 47,000 men overseas.

Appeals Being Dealt With. Sir Robert admitted that there had been wholesale exemptions in some sections of Quebec, but the government had appealed against these decisions, and at the present time 30,000 appeals had been disposed of by the Appeals Division and were now being brought forward to the Central Appeals Courts.

Defends Amending Order. Failing notice of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's protest against the act being amended by order in Council, the Premier said that "under the conditions which confront this country at the present time we would have been derelict to our duty if we had waited to come to Parliament. We should have acted at once, and it will be open to my Right Honourable friend, if he desires to do so, to challenge our actions by a vote in this House." (Laughter and applause.) It was all right for Parliament to pass on such matters, but Parliament might trust the Government to act quickly in case of an emergency to suppress riot and insurrection, and that would be the policy of the Government. (Renewed applause from Government benches.)

Country Wants Free Discussion. Col. Currie explained that his resolution was a want of confidence motion, as he had no desire to embarrass the government. He believed however that the whole country was Catarhal Deafness Cannot be Cured by Local Applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Failure of circulation can be restored and this tube restored to its normal condition, and hearing be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are cured by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Circulars free. All Druggists, etc.

CONSERVATION OF HEALTH AN IMPORTANT DUTY

CARE IN DIET SAVES BOTH FOOD AND HEALTH

The Use of a Tonic to Keep the Blood Built Up and the Nerves From Being Undernourished Strongly Recommended at This Season

Nature is always fighting to keep us well. Under normal conditions the forces of health within our bodies keep the disease germs in subjection. They are not expelled entirely, but they are kept harmless. Some indiscretion in diet and the digestion is upset; overwork and worry disturbs the nervous system, the blood gets thin and watery and the ever-present disease germs assert themselves. The blood fights the body's battles, but the blood can only keep you healthy when it is rich, red and pure. That is why it is of the greatest importance that thin-blooded people, people with pale faces, or those troubled with skin blemishes, or indigestion, or rheumatism, or any of the many ailments due to poor blood, should fortify themselves with a safe and effective tonic like Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills purify and strengthen the blood and bring good health and efficiency to weak, ailing men, women and children.

Do not be persuaded to take a substitute. See that the full trade mark name, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People," is printed on the wrapper around the box. If you cannot get these Pills through your dealer they will be sent by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

PALE AND WEAK

The blood is responsible for the health of the body. If it is bad disease is bound to appear. One person may be seized with rheumatism and another with anemia, indigestion, heart palpitation, headaches or backaches, or unstrung nerves. There is just one certain, speedy cure—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They make new, rich blood, and this good blood strengthens the whole system and brings good health and happiness. Miss Devina Lalibert, St. Jerome, Que., says, "Last year I seemed gradually to grow weak and run down I had a poor appetite and generally lost weight. I consulted a doctor who told me I was anemic, and gave me a time, but it did not help me and I appeared to be growing worse and finally I was hardly able to go about the house and almost wholly incapable for work. While in this condition a friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I got several boxes. It was not long after I began their use when I could see an improvement, which first manifested itself in an improved appetite and better rest at night. From this on the improvement was rapid and I am not long in regaining perfect health. I think Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a real blessing for all weak girls."

NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

Nourish your nerves—that is the only way you can overcome life's worst misery—nervous exhaustion. The fits of depression and frustration, the prostrating headaches, the weakness and tremblings of the legs, the unsteady hand and the imperfect digestion that mark the victim of nerve weakness, must end in nervous breakdown if neglected. Your nerves are crying out for pure blood and the mission of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is to make new, rich blood. This explains why these pills have proved successful in so many cases of nervous disease that did not yield to ordinary treatment. For example, Mr. Wilfrid Donald, West Flamboro, Ont., says, "Before I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I was in a serious condition. I was not only badly run down, but my nerves seemed to be completely shattered. I slept badly at night and when I got up in the morning was as tired as when I went to bed. I seemed to be on the verge of a nervous breakdown. At this stage I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. In the course of a few weeks I felt much relief, and continuing the use of the pills they completely restored my health. I can now sleep soundly, eat well, and enjoying complete freedom from the old nervous troubles."

INDIGESTION CURED

Thin, pale people who complain of indigestion must improve the condition of their blood to find relief. The most active blood builder in such cases is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They make the rich, red blood which quickly restores the digestive organs to their proper activity and the dyspeptic who has hated the sight of and smell of food now looks forward to meal time with pleasure. Miss Edith M. Smith, R. R. No. 4, Perth, Ont., says, "I can honestly say I owe my present good health to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. My stomach was terribly weak and I suffered from indigestion and sick headache, and was always very nervous. I was troubled this way for nearly three years, and in that time took a great deal of doctors' medicine, which, however, did not help me. I could not eat anything without experiencing the most agonizing pain. My sick headaches were most violent and I could not rest night or day. I was asked one day by a friend to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and consented to do so. After taking them some time I found they were helping me, and I continued to take them steadily for several months, until I found that I was completely cured. While taking the pills I gained both in strength and weight, and I feel it impossible to praise Dr. Williams' Pink Pills too highly."

waiting for a free and open discussion of the military situation in the country.

During the past year, he said there had been frequent outbreaks in the Province, similar to the recent occurrences in Quebec. At the last session silence had been maintained in regard to them, but this was not the desire of anyone to say anything that would damage voluntary recruiting.

Glad to See More "Pop." Referring to the orders in Council regarding rioting and idleness which Sir Robert Borden read at the opening of the session, Col. Currie said he was glad to see that the Government proposed to put more "pop" in the administration of the Military Service Act in Quebec. The regulations in regard to the taking of men, he said, are excellent, but the question which it is desirable to discuss is one that goes back to the time, two years and three months ago, when Sir Robert Borden announced that Canada would provide for overseas service a force of half a million men.

Reviewing the method adopted by the Government to obtain men under the voluntary system, Col. Currie spoke of national service, and said, "You can't carry on the war by a card index-system, neither by boards; we must have men, and that is what the country wants."

Leaders in Quebec to Blame. Col. Currie then spoke of the adoption of the Military Service Act, declaring that if it had been passed subsequent to the passing of the War-time Election Act it would have been far more stringent. He said that the people in the Province of Quebec were not at fault in their attitude toward the war. They had been misled by their political leaders. If the Government had gone to the country at the time of the last election without the War-time Election Act, the anti-British element would have won the election. This remark called forth cheers from the Opposition.

Why Was Not Bourassa Interested? Col. Currie said that the Government was to blame in the way it had started out to enforce the Military Service Act in Quebec. It had been too quiet and subtle. For instance, a prominent figure in the Province was the editor of the newspaper called Le Devoir, Henri Bourassa. When the war opened this man had been in Belgium, or Strassburg, or somewhere, but he had sneaked out under the protection of the British flag and come over to start trouble in Canada.

"Why was not this man interned and his paper suppressed?" (Applause.) "The Government feared that he would be more dangerous locked up than free. Better than Bourassa have been locked up in the United States without causing any difficulties."

Govt. Advertising in Le Devoir. In the pages of Le Devoir, Col. Currie continued, were to be found columns of Government advertising. He held up a copy of the paper and pointed to an advertisement which he said was signed by the Minister of Justice. "No doubt," he said, "the Minister will have an explanation for this, but how can any French-Canadian who reads this paper fail to think he is quite outside the pale.

And Lavergne Also? There is another man, going around Quebec, Armand Lavergne, said Col. Currie, wearing the stars of a Colonel on his shoulders. He is allowed to write and give documents. He is not doing any good. He is not producing food or engaging in any useful occupation. He should also be interned. Col. Currie closed with an appeal to Parliament to keep faith with the boys in the fields of Flanders.

Sir Wilfrid's Sentiments. Col. Currie read a speech of Sir Wilfrid's delivered on June 24th, 1889, on the occasion of the annual French-Canadian festival in which the Leader of the Opposition urged his compatriots to be true to their French ancestors.

"Does the Right Hon. gentleman still believe in those sentiments? Does he intend to implement those sentiments?" he asked.

This country, he said, has not yet sufficiently conscripted itself. All Class I men should at least have been called out and drilled and prepared.

The people of this country gave the Government a mandate to carry out the conscription law. They were to see that men were sent to the front. How could members of the House go home and look men and women in the face if this were not done?

Col. Currie closed by painting a vivid picture of conditions on the firing line, and with an appeal to his comrades of the House who had served overseas to "keep faith with the living and the dead, as you promised in Flanders fields."

Labor Takes Three Y. G. The Journeymen Barbers in Winnipeg are a great deal more active and up-to-date than the bosses. The latter recently held a meeting to organize a master barbers' association, and the secretary of the journeymen was on hand to tell them a few things for the good of their health and the trade. Anyway, after hearing that they decided that in future all barber shops should be closed light on Sundays hereafter, and the issue go home, and get well, and how else would be left well, and all shops closed every night except Saturday, when the closing

CORP. S. GILROY IS KILLED IN ACTION

Former Brantfordite Enlisted in West; Gave His Life at Passchendaele

Word was received in the city this week of the death of Corporal Seymour Gilroy, a former Brantfordite, who went overseas with a western Canada unit, and was reported missing and believed killed, since the battle of Passchendaele. Corp. Gilroy was born here, the son of Mr. Charles Gilroy, now of Minnetonas, Manitoba, and is a brother of Mrs. Allan Misener, Pine Grove, and a nephew of Mrs. S. R. Cole of Cainsville. The following letter, received by his father from the officer in charge of Corp. Gilroy's company, gives further particulars of the manner in which the young hero made the supreme sacrifice:—

I am writing to express my sympathy for you on the account of the loss of your son, Corp. S. A. Gilroy, who was Lewis gun corporal in my platoon, and was with me at Passchendaele, in which battle he was officially reported missing, believed killed. Your son was with me until about 6 p.m. on the evening of November 6th, the day the Canadians took Passchendaele; about that time he went to visit another part of the trenches to get some of his equipment and after that I did not see him again. We were relieved that night and when he was reported missing I had all the trenches in the vicinity searched in an endeavor to find him, but without success. You will perhaps be able to understand that the task was not an easy one on a pitch dark night and under continued shell fire and through trenches that had been in many places completely blown in afterwards. I made many enquiries in an endeavor to get definite information and I have regretfully been compelled to accept the official verdict. There is not the remotest chance of his wandering into the German lines and being taken prisoner, as we were not at the time in the front line and he could not have got into German lines without crossing our front lines. Your son was finally missed by all the boys in the platoon, with whom he was very popular. He died for Canada and the Empire in a war that the British people and all that makes life living. Yours very sincerely, H. H. READE, Lieut. No. 7 Platoon, 2nd Battalion.

The organization of the Winnipeg branch of the Dominion Labor Party has been completed and an energetic committee have been elected. Standing committees have also been formed to deal with publicity, organization and finance, and plans perfected to secure the affiliation of unions and other bodies. According to the constitution adopted, unions can be affiliated and be represented by delegates proportionate in number to their membership. A very large number of members have already joined the new party, and every-thing points to a successful future for the movement, not only in Winnipeg but throughout Manitoba, where it is expected many branch associations composed of farmers will be organized.

Nearly all the central labor unions in Canada have sent in petitions to Sir Robert Borden and the Government asking that a fair increase of wages be made to the latter class, whom it is generally conceded are underpaid.

WANTED—A WIFE. I want a housewife; not a fool. Not a scolding, gossiping queen. One who obeys love's delicate rule. A light in death's darkest scene.

I want a woman who fears the Lord. But Oh, not a spiritual saint. One meat and quiet in thought and word. A beauty that needs no paint.

If she's to share my bed and board, I'd have no slurs and sneers. My heart's health her feet I'd give to tread. If only free from blame.

No electric plate lady for me. I'd have no slurs and sneers. I like a bright, hearty and cosy tea. But not a poor apology mess.
