POETRY.

Longing.

The hills slope down to the valley,
The streams run down to the sea,
And my heart, my heart, Oh, far one
sets and strains toward thee.

But only the feet of the mountain are felt by the rim of the plain,
And the source and soul of the hurrying reach not the calling main.

The dawn is sick for the daylight,
The morning yearns for the noon,
And the twilight sighs for the evening star and the rising moon.

But the dawn and the daylight never were seen in the self-same skies,
And the glowing disc of its own desire when the moon and the stars arise.

The Springtime calls to the Summer:
"Oh, mingle your life with mine!"
And the summer to Autumn "platin low!"

"Meet the harvest he only thing!"
But the nightingale goes when the swallow comes, and the leaf is the blossom shed.

And when Autumn sits on her golden throne, then the edge of the rose is dead.

And hunger and thirst, and will and want are lost in the empty air,
And the heavenly spirit vainly pines for the tooth of the earthly fair.

And the hills slope down to the valley,
The streams run down to the sea,
And my heart, my heart, Oh, far one
sets and strains toward thee.

—Alfred Austin.

SELECT STORY.

Wolfe the Ranger.

CHAPTER IX.

As consciousness returned fully, Constance, looking up at the face of the Marquis, saw no trace or sign of the sternness, almost savage sternness, which she had seen, or dreamed she had seen, upon it when he dismissed the man, if indeed he had dismissed him; but instead there was an expression of pitying anxiety which was full of many tenderances.

With the hot blood coming and going fitfully in her face, she raised her head and tried to get up. He held her for a moment or two, shaking his head sorrowfully, then allowed her to rise, but drew her arm within his and supported her with a firmness which, insistent as it was, was full of respect and reverence.

"Are you better?" he said. "You are still trembling. Sit down on these cushions and rest a little longer."

Constance shook her head as she tried to rearrange her hair.

"I am quite well, my lord," she said, trying to smile. "Well enough, but for the shame I feel at having given you so much trouble. I will never ride again; it was such a circus-fall!" and she bit her lip as the tears of vexation came into her eyes.

"No, it wasn't," he said, quietly, his eyes still fixed on her face with an intent regard. "The best rider in the world—and if you are not the best you are a particularly good one—might have been thrown under the circumstances. It is a mercy the mare did not fall on you! Give me your hand."

She held it out to him with instant obedience, and he took it and held it.

"It trembles still," he said. "You shall wait another five minutes. Would you like to go back to Mrs. Marsh's, or—"

"Oh, to the castle, please," said Constance, flushing. "I do not know what the Marchioness—what Lady Ruth will say!" she added, unguardedly.

"My mother will have nothing but kind and womanly sympathy for you; good heavens! why should she not? As to Lady Ruth—she stopped with a quick frown. "What has Ruth to do with it?"

Constance was spared an answer, for at that moment Arol came in, walking as quickly as he could with the caution necessary to so ticklish a burden as a cupful of water.

"Here you are, Uncle Wolfe—oh, I am so, so glad!" he broke off, gazing up at Constance, with his big eyes full of tears.

"Good boy!" said the Marquis, approvingly. "Give me your handkerchief, Miss Grahame."

He took it and dipped it in the water, and handed it to her. "Bathe your forehead with it," he said gently.

Constance took it gratefully and did so, and the cold spring water refreshed her.

"I shall never ride again," murmured Constance, almost inaudibly.

But the Marquis heard her.

"Never is a long day," he said, in almost as low a voice.

They rode on more quickly presently, and now and again the Mardian spoke, and Constance answered in monosyllables, but he seemed grave and thoughtful, yet ever watchful for her, for once the chestnut threw up his head suddenly, and the Marquis' hand was on its neck in an instant. Every now and then his dark eyes glanced toward her with an expression difficult to define. Arol chattered on, and made the comparative silence of the other two less noticeable, and soon they rode into the avenue.

The Marquis looked round; no one was in sight.

"We will go round to the courtyard," he said.

A groom hurried forward as they rode in, but the Marquis was at Constance's side in an instant and lifted her from the saddle as gently and easily as he had placed her in it.

Constance murmured, "Thank you, my lord," and held out her hand for Arol, but the Marquis held him back.

"You go and

The Civic Elections.

The town elections for Mayor and three Councillors which took place on Tuesday last, resulted in the return of J. W. Bigelow for Mayor by acclamation and J. W. Caldwell, G. W. Borden and Prof. Haley, Councillors. The vote was as follows: J. W. Caldwell 96, G. W. Borden 94, F. R. Haley 60, C. S. Fitch 60. 122 votes only were polled out of a qualified vote of 240.

Town Council.

The Town Council met on Tuesday evening last. Mayor Bigelow and the newly elected Councillors, J. W. Caldwell, G. W. Borden and Prof. Haley were sworn in by the Recorder.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The following resolution moved by Coun. Porter and seconded by Coun. Harris passed unanimously. Resolved that this Council approve of the amendment drafted by the Recorder to the Water Supply Act with regard to provisions for acquiring lands, so as to make it more in accordance with provisions of the Town Act for acquiring lands.

The Council adjourned to meet Friday afternoon, at 2 o'clock.

The Budget speech was delivered by Hon. Mr. Foster last Friday afternoon. After dealing with the figures of last year, and commenting on the reduction of taxation as shown by the reduction of the total duties paid, Mr. Foster took up the statement for the current year, and estimated that the revenue would amount to $37,000,000, and the expenditure to about the same.

There would be very much either of a surplus or a deficit, but admitted that it was much more difficult to make an estimate when the fiscal year had five months more to run than it was last year when he delivered his Budget speech in May.

One noticeable feature of this portion of his speech was its hopeful and confident tone. He spoke with no uncertain sound of the evident improvement of business and the clear indications that the period of depression which had been felt throughout the civilized world for three years past, but less in Canada than elsewhere, was passing away, and that material betterment in business may be expected in the near future.

The result of the Cape Breton election on Tuesday last was the return of Sir Charles Tupper by a majority of 820 votes.

It was a very close contest, and the result of the election was a surprise to many. The Liberal could hardly expect to win the constituency, but were largely hopeful of cutting down the majority or preventing it being increased.

The majority of Mr. McKern at the general election in 1891 was 722. The increase in the number of voters on the lists made a change in the conditions under which the election was run and the increase in the majority may reasonably be attributed to some extent to that cause. This makes the sixteenth election and victory for Sir Charles.

In 1884 Eugene Field wrote a story which he called "The Werewolf." When it was finished he laid it aside and a year afterward entirely rewrote it. In 1886 he again took it up and revised it, and during the nine years between that time and his death in November last, he rewrote it eight times. His last revision pleased him and he decided to print it. His death came too suddenly, and the story was found, unpublished, among his effects.

Mrs. Field, concluding to have the story appear, gave it to the editor of The Ladies Home Journal, in which magazine all of Mr. Field's work, outside of his newspaper articles, was presented to the public. The story will be printed in the next issue of the Journal, strikingly illustrated by Mr. Howard Pyle.

The new ballot recently adopted by the Dominion government was used in Cape Breton for the first time at the recent election. The ballot is printed black, the only white portions being the oblong spaces for the names of candidates and the circular disks opposite wherein the crosses are to be marked. With this form it is almost impossible for a voter to make a mistake in marking his ballot.

He has merely to make a cross on the white spot or disc opposite the name of the candidate for whom he intends voting. Heretofore a large number of ballots have been spoiled and thrown out as worthless by the presiding officers on account of the crosses having been made on the lines between the names of the conflicting candidates.

The report that a treaty or entente of some character has been arranged between Russia and Turkey appears to gain credence, and it is probable that it is likely to have an important bearing on the Armenian question. The Constantinople correspondent of the London Times says that although no definite agreement exists for the immediate or proximate Russian occupation of Armenia, it is certain that there is a private understanding between Russia and the Sultan, which gives the Sultan confidence in Russia's friendship and disposes him to conform to reason in matters of foreign policy.

The coldest place in North America is at the mouth of the Mackenzie river, where the temperature is often as low as 70 degrees below zero.

When the Elections Will Be.

The present parliament is dissolved by the lapse of time on April 24th next. How soon after this the elections must be held is a matter of frequent discussion. Apparently the only limit fixed by the constitution is the provision that Parliament must assemble again within a year.

Clause twenty of the B. N. A. Act provides that "there shall be a session of the Parliament of Canada once at least in every year, so that twelve months shall not intervene between the last sitting of parliament in one session and its first sitting in the next session." Thus by this provision, it would be necessary for a parliament to be elected and ready to meet by the 24th day of April, 1897.

This, however, would leave the country without a parliament for something like a year. While no less might ensue to the country from this circumstance, a government would hardly venture to keep office and exercise executive power for so long a period without a parliament at its back.

An administration under our system is supposed to enjoy the confidence of parliament, and to draw its life from that source; so that purposely to shut out from inviting the people to select a new parliament after the old one from which it secured its right to rule had died of old age, would be a straining of its privileges and a bad political move.

British parliamentary rules are largely ignored in this country. Precedent gathers authority as it gathers age, and the experiment of yesterday becomes the practice of to-day and the rule of to-morrow. Whether it be a practice or a rule, the custom now is to prorogue parliament for intervals of forty days only. These prorogations appear from time to time in the official Gazette, and members know that no call of the two houses is to be obeyed until they are asked to appear "for the dispatch of business."

Now if no parliament exists it is plain that these prorogations of forty days at a time cannot take place and the fact that these frequent formal communications with the representatives of the Crown would seem to go to show that the theory is that the country shall not be without a parliament for any unnecessary length of time.

Undoubtedly, this would be the opinion of the people as a whole. Any attempt to keep the government alive after the death of parliament without at once issuing writs for a new election would be a piece of political hardihood. A ministry could not well present a more effective weapon to its opposition. There certainly seems to be no prohibition in the Canadian constitution against delaying the next general elections until the spring of '97; but the constitution of the country is not so plain.

Death of the Cow-boy Pianist. The following is from the Randolph, N. Y., Register and will be read with interest by Wolfville people generally. It will be remembered that Col. Babel visited our town about four years ago and delighted our citizens with his wonderful talent. We are sure that all who then made his acquaintance will regret very much to hear of his death.

Col. A. O. Babel, known to the world as the famous cow-boy pianist, died at his home in Randolph, Sunday afternoon. He had been confined to his bed but a few days though his ailment was a complication of diseases resulting from heart trouble of long standing. Mr. Babel was born at Seguin, Texas, and near that place now lives his aged mother with several brothers and sisters. He has made his home in Randolph for the last eight or nine years and has been an exemplary citizen; he leaves a large circle of friends who join Mrs. Babel in mourning his untimely death.

Col. Babel was the original cow-boy pianist and although he has had many imitators none succeeded in reaching his standard or attracting the public attention. He gave concerts in almost every town in the United States and Canada and was well known in the concert halls of Europe and Australia. He was of mild-mannered and temperate disposition accepting success or disappointment in his business as a matter of course and always ready to give assistance to any of his craft who needed help.

He was an active member of Randolph Lodge of Odd Fellows and the K. O. T. M. and took a great interest in the work of these bodies when he was at home. Mr. Babel's funeral was held at his late residence on Washington street yesterday afternoon, Rev. S. M. Stewart and Rev. E. A. Bishop officiating. The obsequies were attended by Odd Fellows and Maccabees lodges and a large concourse of friends and neighbors. Burial was made at Randolph cemetery.

Postmaster-General's Report. The annual report of the Postmaster-General presented to Parliament shows that there were 832 post-offices in Canada on July 1, 1895, being an increase of 168. The new mail routes instituted last year cover a distance of 1263 miles. The total amount of railway mail travel in the year was 30,251,115 miles, a decrease of half a million, due to the reduction of train service. The total number of letters posted in Canada last year was 119,000,000 post cards 24,500,000; newspapers and book packages, 23,000,000.

Toronto is again at the head of the list for the whole of Canada, having the greatest mail delivery, the total number of letters, cards and newspapers delivered by carriers amounting to 30,027,452; Montreal, 11,426,577; Hamilton, 3,558,000; London, 2,444,137; Halifax, 1,747,775; St. John, 1,593,997.

The total net revenue for the year was $2,792,782; and the total expenditure $3,593,647.

The Page Woven Wire Fence.

Is the best in the world. Every foot guaranteed Galvanized Steel. An upright wire every foot. Only needs one post for every two rods of fence. It don't blow over or drift fall with snow. It is the cheapest fence. No farm animal can go through it. No paint needed, and it don't rot or rust. I am taking orders now for spring delivery. If I do not happen to call on you soon enough drop me a post card as a reminder.

J. P. BIGELOW.

Wolffville, Jan. 1st, 1896.

Hantsport.

On Tuesday, Feb. 4th, the election of councillors took place. The successful candidates were J. W. Lawrence, W. S. Whitman, and H. W. Davison.

Dr. Margeison has been elected Mayor by acclamation. It is reported that our former Mayor is going to take up his residence in New York.

The friends of Edward Colquhoun were shocked to hear of his sudden death last Wednesday morning. Standing by the fire in apparent good health, he succumbed to another world came.

Mrs. Frank Dodge and her family narrowly escaped suffocation Saturday night. Coal gas escaped from the stove and Mrs. Dodge was awakened by a headache and found the children all sick. Medical aid was called and now all have recovered.

The Rev. D. L. Hatt went to Wolffville on Monday, to pass some examinations in connection with his college work.

The Rev. Mr. Phillips, assisted by the Rev. Wm. Anley, is holding special meetings. A special children's meeting was held on Saturday.

On Sunday morning the right hand of fellowship was given to twenty-three in the Baptist church.

Rev. P. S. McGregor, after spending a few days at home again, went to Billtown to hold services on Sunday. On Wednesday he expects to go to Boston, to remain for the rest of the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Reid, of Berwick, spent a few days with their daughter, Mrs. H. W. Davison.

Wm. Chittick has gone to Amherst to work for the rest of the winter.

Cold Storage. A bill has been introduced in the house of assembly to incorporate the Canadian Cold Storage Co. Ltd. The incorporators are Geo. E. Boak, Wm. Clark, Thomas Ritchie, J. W. Bigelow, Wolffville, and Jas. U. MacIntosh.

The capital is placed at $125,000, divided into 2,500 preference shares of $50 each. The capital can be increased to $500,000. The location proposed for the warehouse and work of the company is in Dartmouth, and Halifax capitalists are urging that they should be on their side of the harbor. They will probably remain in Dartmouth. That town has the better side of the harbor and her citizens are willing to do something for themselves. The people of Halifax are continually begging government or the outside public to supply them with industrial works, public buildings and monuments.

Canning. The funeral of Mrs R. D. G. Harris took place on Wednesday. Mr. Harris has the sympathy of the entire community.

The special meetings are still being held in the Baptist church.

The trains were late the first part of this week, the heavy storms being the cause.

The new skating rink is proving a great attraction. The carnival was well attended, a large number coming from Kentville and Wolffville. Miss Maude Borden and Master Fred Eaton were the prize winners. The Kentville band furnished the music.

The Fate of the Singing Class. Many students got together. Because it was so near cold weather, a singing class was organized. With a Professor both large and wise.

He taught us, Do, Re, Me, Fa, La. And we each with a loud reply did. He taught us scales both major and minor. And we did stamp with our great big feet. He would then repeat the minor scale which struck the horse like an autumn gale.

One day attention, we refused to pay. We as a class were feeling gay. Familiar songs we began to sing. And the Old Class Room began to ring. The Professor didn't know what to do. He almost looked the class into. Then he made a very bold statement for the day. Because his singing class was over.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., FEB. 7, 1896.

Local and Provincial.

There will be service of song in the Methodist church, next Sunday evening. Special music by the choir. A collection will be taken for church repairs.

Rev. F. C. Simpson, of Bridgewater, occupied the pulpit of St. Andrew's church of this town, on Sunday morning and evening last. His sermons were much enjoyed.

The voters' lists for Ward 8 outside of Wolfville for revision are now ready, whenever the paper is taken from the files at O. W. Trenholm's store, Grand Pre; R. C. Forreth's store, Gasperaux; and Fort Williams station.

A bill has been introduced in the legislature of the province to make July 1st a public holiday throughout Nova Scotia. It is certainly time that this, the natal day of our Dominion, should be so recognized.

A large number of skaters were at Aberdeen rink on Wednesday evening, a few of whom came from Kentville. The ice was in excellent condition, and the programme of music rendered by the Wolfville Band was "away up."

The monthly meeting of the Fire Company will be held in the firemen's rooms this evening, when the officers for the ensuing year will be elected and other important business will be transacted. A full attendance of the members is requested.

The appeal of Messrs. Townsend and Whiteman from the conviction secured against them for assault on Policeman Toys of Wolfville and Mr. Selfridge of Somerset, was argued last week. It is claimed that the indictment was improperly drawn.

Miss Alice A. Reade, the talented teacher of education at Acadia Seminary, is to hold a recital and concert in Colgate Hall next Monday evening. She will be assisted by Miss M. H. Fitch, violinist; and Miss Bertha Barker, soloist; and the Colgate Quartette.

Miss Mabel Davidson, champion lady skater of America, is coming to the Maritime Provinces, about the middle of the present month. Mr. Harley Davidson, brother of the above lady, will probably accompany his sister, and give the best of our local skaters a chance to try their speed.

Prof. A. J. Cox, of Halifax, delivered a lecture on "Astronomy" in Calder's Hall last Wednesday evening. Those who were present speak highly of it. We understand Prof. Cox will repeat the entertainment this evening. All who are interested in this subject should endeavour to be present.

On Friday evening last the members of Wolfville and Fort Williams Divisions paid a fraternal visit to the Division at Kentville. The evening was a pleasant one, although cold, and the drive was much enjoyed by all. The visitors were given a hearty welcome by the members of Kentville Division, and a most enjoyable evening was spent. The programme, which was an excellent one, was taken part in by members of the three societies, and consisted of vocal and instrumental music, readings, speeches, etc., and concluded with an exceedingly well rendered tableau by the members of "Lily of the Valley" Division. During the evening refreshments were provided and passed around, which added much to the enjoyment of the occasion.

Miss Reade's Recital. The programme for the Recital Monday evening will be as follows:

- 1. Opening number—Selected: The College Quartette.
2. Reading—"An adventure of a Preacher in the Wilderness" (W. H. H. Murray) Miss A. Reade.
3. Violin Solo—"Le Reve" (Gottmann) Mary Harding Fitch.
4. Recital (b) "The Day is Done" (Longfellow) (b) "The Marriage of the Flowers" (Byers) Miss Reade.
5. Solo—"Il Bacio" Miss Bertha Barker.
6. Reading—"The Honor of the Woods" (Murray) Miss Reade.
7. Violin Solo—"Air Variet" (Rode) Miss Fitch.
8. Reading—"Scene from a Summer Resort" (Bunnett) Miss Reade.
9. Solo—"a) "March" (Raff) (b) "Wilgenlied" (Hauser) Miss Fitch.
10. Reading—"The first Xmas Eve" "Ben Hur" (Low Walker) Miss Reade.
Miss Reade is well and very favorably known in the three Maritime Provinces, and an evening's readings given by her cannot fail to be a treat for all who are privileged to attend. Her assistants are so well and so favorably known that comment is unnecessary. As Monday evening will be the first appearance of Miss Fitch in solo work since her recent study at the N. E. Conservatory of Music her many friends will be glad to embrace the opportunity of once more enjoying her artistic work.

Our Work Abroad

An excellent account of the second Indian National Convention at Bangalore, Mrs Dr Phillips in the chair, is given by the Bombay Guardian.

LA GRIPPE'S VICTIMS

A Scourge More to be Dreaded than Pestilence.

The Story of a Nova Scotian Lady who almost lost her life through the ravages of this epidemic.

Upon recovering from neuritis, she one day noticed a little pimple on her left ankle which became exceedingly painful.

Mrs Palmer writes: "The Diamond Field's Advertiser, published at Kimberly, Cape Colony, is at hand. The sixth annual convention of the colonial W. C. T. U. had just closed in that town.

"The department for the education of women in good citizenship has been formed. This is in anticipation of an universal franchise for women.

Mis Agnes Slack, secretary of the World's W. C. T. U., has just visited several of the leading cities of Ireland.

The Alliance News, Dublin, says of Miss Slack's visit: "Her work has been crowned with marked success, and temperance effort must receive a great impetus from her eloquent and persistent advocacy."

On the occasion of the first annual meeting of the Methodist Women's Total Abstinence Union of Dublin, Miss Slack was invited to address them.

The most startling example of human helplessness is the paralytic.

He of the palsied hand stifly pressing the benumbed side is to be seen everywhere we go.

The most convincing proof that this pitiable condition is the outcome of kidney disease is the fact that Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure it.

Not generally recognized as a kidney disease, it is usually kidney treatment.

Did you ever know of a cure? Just think a moment!

If you do it must have been the work of Dodd's Kidney Pills, for no other medicine has ever cured it.

Scraps for Odd Moments.

The difference between obstinacy and firmness is the difference of viewing it from the outside or the inside.

She—Did Mand lose her heart when you proposed to her? No; I think she must have lost head; she said no.

Minards Liniment is the best. He—Do you know, I always feel like a fool in a full dress suit. She—What a pity you can't hide your feelings a little.

One of the troubles of life is the fact that the man who has money enough to pay as he goes can get all the credit he wants.

Mab—And so you're engaged to one of the Mandon twins? Fred—I don't distinguish between them? Fred—I don't try.

Minards Liniment cures La Grippe. Blobs—Miss Oidgiri would make a good soldier, Slobs—Used to powder, eh? Blobs—yes, and never deserts her colors.

The man who sits down to wait for his opportunity will some time discover that it passed that way several hours before he sat down.

Alexander, you are an idiot. I am sorry, sir. Hereafter if I need an idiot to do something for me, I'll do it myself.

Consumptives obtain relief by using Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. No other cure is so effective.

Do you think that De Bede is two faced? I should hope not. One such face as he has is enough to convict a man.

Ho—I'm afraid the coming woman will sweat. She—Oh, no; she intends to run things so well there won't be anything to sweat at.

When a young man calls on a girl, and does not compliment her, she thinks he is mean, and if he does compliment her, she says she does not believe a word he says.

Hoar—I understand you run away to sea when you were a boy? Just—No, I started to, but my father caught me, and I went on a whaling expedition with him.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, and expels all poisonous elements. Sold by druggists.

Considerate Father—Why did you allow young Marchman to kiss you in the parlour last night? Daughter—Because I was afraid he'd catch cold in the hall.

Miss A. raised the farmer, minus a name lot. And, he continued, if we don't get no rain, I allow it will be baked too hard for ploughin'.

Clara—I wonder if it is true that one is likely to catch something from being kissed? Mandie—Of course not. You've been kissed enough, but you haven't caught anything yet, have you?

Improper and deficient care of the scalp will cause grayness of the hair and baldness. Escape both by the use of that reliable specific, Hall's Hair Renewer.

A Professor was expostulating with a student for idleness, when the latter said: "It's no use; I was cut out for a loafer. Well, declared the Professor surveying the student critically, whoever cut you out understood his business."

Here is the way a burxom young girl passed the word "kiss" in a Phoenix, Ariz. school the other day. Kiss is a noun, though generally used as a conjunction. It is never declined. It is more common than proper. It is not very singular and is generally used in the plural number and agrees with me.

Minards Liniment the best Hair Restorer. Maine newspapers are telling that a Carbonclergman, the other Sunday, noticing that the choir seats were unoccupied when the time for beginning the service arrived, he rose and remarked: "I see all the singers are absent this morning. Let the congregation rise and sing 'Gloria God, from whom all blessings flow."

In a biographical sketch, intended to be wholly complimentary, of a banker in Lamar, Ky., a newspaper of that town says the banker "has forged his way from a clerkship to a position in the firm." Obviously it would be a difficult and delicate task to undertake to explain that the use of the unfortunate figure of speech was well meant.

I WAS CURED of a bad case of Grip by MINARD'S LINIMENT. Sydney, G. B. G. E. LAUREL.

I WAS CURED of loss of voice by MINARD'S LINIMENT. Yarmouth. CHARLES FLOMMER.

I WAS CURED of Severe Rheumatism by MINARD'S LINIMENT. Burin, Nfld. Lewis S. BROWN.

Paralysis Curable. Sudden Ours to be Seen Everywhere—This form of Living Death cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

The most startling example of human helplessness is the paralytic. The victim excites your commiseration but resents your pity.

He of the palsied hand stifly pressing the benumbed side is to be seen everywhere we go.

The most convincing proof that this pitiable condition is the outcome of kidney disease is the fact that Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure it.

Not generally recognized as a kidney disease, it is usually kidney treatment.

Did you ever know of a cure? Just think a moment!

If you do it must have been the work of Dodd's Kidney Pills, for no other medicine has ever cured it.

DON'T DESPAIR

WILL CURE YOU

We guarantee Dodd's Kidney Pills to cure any case of Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Female Disorder, Impaired Vision, Headache, Neuralgia, Dropsy, Rheumatism, or any ailment arising from a disordered condition of the kidneys.
