

The Man who tries, and fails, succeeds.

The Acadian.

The man who succeeds without trying, fails.

HONEST, INDEPENDENT, FEARLESS.

VOL. XXXVII.

WOLFVILLE, KINGS COUNTY, N. S. FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 6, 1918.

NO. 51

THE ACADIAN.

Published every Friday morning by the Proprietors, DAVISON BROS., WOLFVILLE, N. S.

Subscription price is $1.00 a year in advance. If sent to the United States, $1.50.

News, communications from all parts of the county, or articles upon the topics of the day, are cordially solicited.

ADVERTISING RATES.

$1.00 per square (2 inches) for first insertion, 50 cents for each subsequent insertion.

Contract rates for yearly advertising furnished on application.

Rules.

Copy for news advertisements will be received up to 11:30 a. m. Copy for changes in contract advertisements must be in the office by Wednesday noon.

Advertisements in which the number of insertions is not specified will be continued and charged for until otherwise ordered.

This paper is mailed regularly to subscribers until a definite order to discontinue is received and all arrears are paid in full.

Job Printing is executed at this office in the latest styles and at moderate prices. All postmasters and news agents are authorized agents of the Acadian for the purpose of receiving subscriptions, but receipts for same are only given from the office of publication.

TOWN OF WOLFVILLE.

J. E. HALL, Mayor.

H. V. BISHOP, Town Clerk.

OFFICE HOURS:

7:30 to 12:30 a. m.

1:30 to 5:00 p. m.

Close on Saturday at 12 o'clock.

POST OFFICE, WOLFVILLE.

Office hours, 8:00 a. m. to 6:00 p. m. On Saturdays open until 8:30 p. m. Mails are made up as follows:

For Halifax and Windsor close at 7:50 a. m.

Express west close at 9:35 a. m.

Express east close at 4:00 p. m.

Kentville close at 6:40 p. m.

Reg. letters 10 minutes earlier.

CHURCHES.

BAPTIST CHURCH.—Rev. N. A. Harkness, Pastor. Sunday Services: Public Worship at 11:00 a. m. and 7:00 p. m. Sunday School at 3:00 p. m. Mid-week prayer-meeting on Wednesday evening at 7:30 p. m.

Methodist Church.—Rev. W. H. Wain, Pastor. Sunday Services: Public Worship at 11:00 a. m. and 7:00 p. m. Sunday School at 3:00 p. m. Mid-week prayer-meeting on Wednesday evening at 7:30 p. m.

Presbyterian Church.—Rev. G. W. Miller, Pastor. Public Worship every Sunday at 11 a. m., and at 7 p. m. Sunday School at 3:30 p. m. Prayer Meeting on Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. Services at Port Williams and Lower Horton as announced. W. F. M. S. meets on the second Tuesday of each month at 8:30 p. m. Senior Mission Band meets fortnightly on Monday at 7:00 p. m. Junior Mission Band meets fortnightly on Sunday at 1:00 p. m.

Methodist Church.—Rev. W. H. Wain, Pastor. Services on the Sabbath at 11 a. m. and 7 p. m. Sabbath School at 10 o'clock, a. m. Prayer Meeting on Wednesday evening at 7:45. All the seats are reserved for strangers welcomed at all the services. At Greenhill, preaching 3 p. m. on the Sabbath.

Church of England. St. John's Parish Church, of Horton.—Services: Holy Communion every Sunday, 8 a. m.; first and third Sundays at 11 a. m.; Matins every Sunday 11 a. m. Evensong 7:00 p. m. Special services in Advent, Lent, etc., by notice in church. Sunday School, 10 a. m.; Superintendent, R. Orsington. All seats free. Strangers heartily welcome.

Rev. R. F. Dixon, Rector. A. G. Jones, H. Troys-Bullock, Wardens.

St. Francis (Catholic)—Rev. Fr. Donohue, P. P.—Mass 9 a. m. the second Sunday of each month.

The Tabernacle.—During Summer months open air gospel services—Sunday at 7 p. m., Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. Sunday School at 2:30 p. m. Splendid class rooms, efficient teachers, men's bible class.

MASONIC.

St. George's Lodge, A. F. & A. M., meets at their Hall on the third Monday of each month at 7:30 o'clock. H. A. Peck, Secretary.

ODDFELLOWS.

Opferus Lodge, No. 99, meets every Monday evening at 8 o'clock, in their hall in Harris' Block. Visiting brethren always welcome. H. M. Watson, Secretary.

TEMPERANCE.

Wolfville Division S. of T. meets every Monday evening in their Hall at 8 o'clock.

FORESTERS.

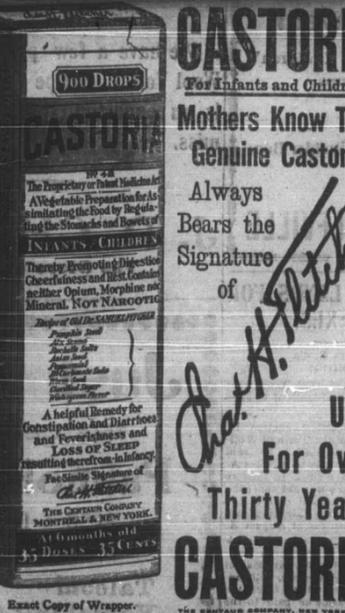

Cover's Blomfield, I. O. F., meets in Temperance Hall on the third Wednesday of each month at 7:30 p. m.

R. J. Whitten & Co. HALIFAX. Receivers and Sellers of all kinds of Farm Produce. Consignments Solicited. Prompt Returns.

Substitute economy for waste.

Use only such foods as contain the greatest amount of nourishment, with the least possible waste. No food meets these requirements more perfectly than

BOVRIL

Exact Copy of Wrapper.

A Soldier's Letters.

The following extracts from different letters written by Everett R. Fraser, a soldier of the grand old 56th Battalion, of the former Highland Brigade, received at his home in Greenwich, are interesting and will show to our boys who are now in training that it is not always hard times over there:

France, June 28th, 1918. Dear Folks at Home.—Think it was about time I was dropping you people a few lines again. I don't think any week since I came overseas, but I accept the first week or two when I was wounded last summer. There isn't anything much to write though, except to say that we are well and happy. There are so many things one could write that would probably be interesting, but of course we are not allowed to write it. We are still at the same place. To day we marched out about five kilometers and occupied some trenches—had sort of a sham fight. Of course there was no 'Hynies' anywhere near us. We have not had a route-march yet this week, so I expect we will have one to-morrow (Saturday). Route-marches over here are a lot easier than we used to have in Canada. We don't go nearly as far, nor carry such heavy loads. Pretty good news in the papers the last couple of days from the Italian front. That's the stuff to give 'em. Imagine old Fritz will get some sort of a dose like that before the summer is over.

July 4th. Last Monday was a holiday. There were sports on, but the only way to get there was by motor lorries and as there were so many to go—there were Corps sports—there were only a few lorries allowed to each battalion. There were eleven from each platoon went from our batt. It was one of the hottest days we have had this summer.

I see by a paper old Fritz sunk one of our Hospital ships the other day. By bombing hospitals and sinking ships he has proven beyond all possible doubt his policy of carrying on a war. Things like that don't go far toward spoiling the morale of the men who are out to beat him. On the contrary it makes them all the more anxious to get at him.

Arthur Currie, made us a call the other day. Our batt. marched out about four miles to a big square and with the rest of the brigade, lined up for inspection, after which Sir Robert stood up in his car and gave an address. We gave him three cheers and a tiger, the Corps commander his three and a tiger, then the Divisional commander the same done. After that they got in the shade of a big tree, close to the road on our way home, while we marched past (in the Sir Arthur taking the salute and Sir Robert acknowledging it by removing his hat. Another big time on Saturday. I guess a highland gathering. I am booked to pull on the batt. of-war team. We are up against a team that has been pulling together for two years and I don't think I have ever been beaten, so I guess they will have 'easy meat' when they tackle our team.

July 6th. On Sunday evening a minister in civilian clothes preached to us, a Mr. Wallace (Baptist) he told Gerald. He used to preach occasionally quite a while ago in Port Williams Baptist church. His home was in Canada. He was pastor of a large church in Montreal and was sent over here by the Canadian government. Probably some of you people know him.

Last Saturday the Highlanders gathering spoken of in my last letter came off. It was held in a large field about fifteen miles from here with a big imitation marble archway for an entrance, with Canadian Corps Championship' printed across the top. The grounds were very nicely decorated with the flags of the Allies. Three or four large grand-stands for the officers and their lady friends. There were only about eighteen from each company went from our batt. We went in motor lorries. Of course being a Highlanders' gathering, there were only Kilties there, Imperials as well as Canadians. There were the Argyle and Sutherland plaid (that's us), also the Cameron, Seaforth, McLean and the Black Watch. Don't know whether there were others or not. All of the above named are of different colors. The Cameron and McLean are the most showy, having a lot of bright red in them. There were all kinds of sports going on all day. Our batt. sent a tug-of-war team and I was one of them, as I said before; also that we were to pull against a well-trained Canadian team. We had no training and of course were defeated. Got there at 9:30 a. m. and left at 7 p. m. All day long they were marching in the file bands, one at a time, when the judges looked them over, heard them play, etc. There was a competition between them. An Imperial band took first prize, and one of the bands from the brigade our batt. is attached to took third prize. The last thing on the program was massed bands. All the bands lined up, two bands deep, and marched back and forth across the grounds three or four times, playing as they went. Altogether there were about five hundred instruments. Believe me, it was some sight as well as sound. A man would probably travel the world over a lifetime and never see anything like it again. Our major was talking to some of us just before we left and said: 'I bet those Piper's will be telling their children's children about that.'

You know Lt. Col. Borden has been discharged as physically unfit for duty. But our present commander (the major referred to above was Major Ivan Kistson who was recently killed in action.) We have just been issued with our kit again, a light colored arrangement that goes all around the kit and are worn to protect the kit from dirt, wear and tear.

July 6th. We have had a lot of rain recently with heavy thunder storms. We marching gunners were out for a walk this forenoon to get the eye pieces in our respirators changed. The old ones would sometimes steam up, so that it was pretty hard to see through them; but they have invented a new kind that don't steam up. We went in 'walking out' dress and had to walk about five miles to get there but cut off a couple of miles coming back by taking a short cut.

Some of the letters received from Canada make me laugh. Some people seem to think that we are fighting in some large field and once in a while take a stroll up and down calling on our friends. One old lady in Scotland thought it was mighty queer that one of our fellows who was talking to her when over there, had never seen her over here in France.

Every Woman's Right.

Every woman belongs the right to enjoy a healthy, active, happy life, yet almost every ten suffer years of agony, usually from some form of bloodlessness. That is why one sees on every side pale thin cheeks, dull eyes and drooping figures—sure signs of weakness, weak backs, aching limbs and uncertain health. All weak women should also the right to be made strong with the new, rich, red blood that promptly transforms them into healthy, attractive women. This new, rich, red blood is supplied in abundance by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills which reaches every organ and every nerve in the body.

Through the use of these pills thousands of women have found a prompt cure when suffering from anaemia, indigestion, heart palpitation, rheumatism, general weakness, and those ailments from which women alone suffer. There is no part of this broad domain in which you will not find some former sufferer who has regained health and strength through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and this is the reason why these pills have been a favorite household remedy for more than a generation. If you are ailing and will give the pills a fair trial you will find renewed health and happiness in their use.

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 which you will not find some former sufferer who has regained health and strength through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and this is the reason why these pills have been a favorite household remedy for more than a generation. If you are ailing and will give the pills a fair trial you will find renewed health and happiness in their use.

A Hand Book for Dairymen.

Report No. 10 of the Canadian Record of Performance for Pure-bred Dairy Cattle constitutes a hand book that dairymen can hardly do without. It contains the rules and regulations governing the records of performance; the standards for registration; the records of performance of all pure-bred dairy cattle in the country; convenient summaries of reports, exact details of the records achieved and the addresses of the owners; a record of the cows that have produced sufficient milk and milk quality but have failed to freshen within fifteen months after the commencement of the test; a list of bulls open to registration and an index to owners. The whole forms a valuable and concise book of dairy records that can be had free on application to the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

A woman, lying in a hospital had been given a watch of curious and foreign design. The attending doctor was interested.

'Where did your watch come from?' he asked.

'A German gave it me,' he replied. 'A little piqued, the doctor inquired how the foe had come to convey this token of esteem and affection.'

'I'd to,' was the laconic reply.

A man who was showing off by diving into the sea and staying under the water for a time, after one dive came up and found he had remained under water for two minutes.

'That's going some!' he bragged. 'I'll bet that's a record around here.'

'Oh, no, it ain't!' replied a spectator. 'A man dived in here this time yesterday, and he ain't come up yet!'

The Morning Cup

well begins the day.

KING COLE ORANGE PEKOE

The "Extra" in Choice Tea

Down With Strikes.

The Ottawa Journal Press, under the caption, 'Down With Strikes,' discusses labor unrest in war times as follows:

Strikes are not often excusable until all possible negotiation and discussion have been exhausted—not even in times of peace.

In times of war strikes are almost inexcusable in any class of employment and utterly and absolutely inexcusable in any employ connected with war work until after a Board of Conciliation has acted as provided by law.

Don't let us be told that to strike is a sacred right of labor.

Nobody has sacred rights these days. Our men are being conscripted. They have no rights to their own bodies in this regard.

Our hotels and households are being required not to use certain foods at certain times. None of us have rights to choose our own eating.

Our business men are being heavily taxed on their profits beyond a certain point. They have no rights to make money as they used to.

Our politicians are being compelled to unite with each other. They have lost the right to be partisans.

The war has demanded sacrifices of right by everybody. Labor is no exception.

All honor to the union men of Woolwich Arsenal who sent that splendid message to Coventry munition workers:

'Strike and you will earn the blessing of the Kaiser and his army of murderers—Strike and you may go to hell. Woolwich will remain at work.'

Get Rid of Bronchitis.

Mr. W. H. Walker, Calmar, Altr., writes:—I am pleased to say that Dr. Chase's Spruce L-meed and Turpentine has done much good to myself, wife and children. My eldest girl, 7 years, had bronchitis and the doctor who attended her did not seem to do much good. We got Chase's Spruce of L-meed and Turpentine for her and she soon got well. We always keep this medicine in the house now ready for use and find that it soon cures coughs and colds.

Use Vegetables to Save Wheat.

Only an abnormally large wheat crop in the United States has relieved the anxiety of our Allies with regard to the supply of this essential grain.

Prospects indicate that with continued economy in domestic use of wheat, the United States will be able to supply the Allies with from 300 to 400 million bushels from the 1918 crop. This, supplemented with 100 million bushels from Canada, should meet the Allies' requirements from North America.

But in order to supply these quantities continued conservation is absolutely necessary. Had the United States wheat crop been anything short of phenomenal the situation of our Allies would have been almost desperate. What the 1919 wheat harvest will be in Canada and the United States no one can say. Reserves must be built up against all possible contingencies. The margin of safety is small, even with the large crop this year in the United States, and until unless a very great crop on the North American continent is assured in 1919, our Allies' wheat situation will not be free of dangers and conservation efforts must not be relaxed.

In order to save wheat and other food, the greatest possible use should be made of garden vegetables, which have been produced in such abundance in most parts of Canada this summer. Potatoes, cabbages, onions, turnips and other vegetables are important wheat savers, and should be utilized to the utmost.

No Chance For The Germs.

Disease germs cannot live in rich, red blood. It is people in low vitality that fall victims to germ diseases. By using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food you enrich the blood, increase vitality and prevent disease germs from finding lodgment in your body. There's wisdom in prevention. It's easier to keep well than to get well.

The wife of a clergyman warned him as he set off to officiate at a funeral one rainy day: Now John, don't stand with your bare head on the damp ground.'

Explaining to the Gender—She—I never could see why they call a bat 'she.'

Hi—Evidently you never tried to steer one.—The Widow.

A lucky man on being asked how it felt to be engaged to a helmsman replied:

'Fine! Every time I kiss her I feel as if I were clipping a cupon off a government bond.—Baton Transcript.

Job PRINTING

Neatly and promptly Executed at

THE ACADIAN

We print Wedding Invitations, Calling Cards, Letter Heads, Note Heads, Statements, Bill Heads, Envelopes, Shipping Tags Business Cards, Receipt Forms in all the latest styles of type.

HUTCHINSON'S

Livery and Automobile Service

WOLFVILLE, N. S.

Teams or Autos always ready for a drive through the Evangeline Land.

Trips at all trains and boats.

Weddings carefully attended to by Auto or team.

Give us a call. Telephone 58.

T. E. HUTCHINSON, Proprietor

WALL PAPERS!

Our Spring Stock of Wall Papers is Now Complete!

We also have the sample books of all the big manufacturers. Call and we will be glad to have you see what we have to offer.

Woodman's Furniture Store

WOLFVILLE

A Friend in Need

The Pandora Range is your real friend on wash day. Change the top around, set the boiler on the far side and use the three nearest holes—you can boil on all of them. Dinner on time; no extra fuel, no rush or confusion.

For sale by L. W. Sleep

McClary's Pandora Range

London Toronto Montreal Winnipeg Vancouver
St. John, N.B. Hamilton Calgary Edmonton Saskatoon

THE ACADIAN.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., SEPT. 6, 1918

Editorial Brevities.

Mr. Frank Veigh, organizing secretary for the Canada War Lectures Bureau, spent a short time in Wolfville on Wednesday evening at a meeting with the Council and citizens. Mr. Veigh came by motor from Windsor, where he had been in the furtherance of his duties, and went on the same evening to Kentville to have a similar meeting. He gave a short address before the Council meeting, describing the work that is being carried on throughout Canada and asked that a local organization be formed in Wolfville. The Bureau furnishes well-written material for addresses on the different phases of the war operations, and aims to secure in every community a number of speakers who will undertake to carry out its program when and where it is possible to get a company of people together. The object is to direct public attention along the best lines, to preserve and encourage the morale of the people during and after the war, and generally to carry on a propaganda of information and instruction. A number of these present made reference to the work, expressing their appreciation and a desire to assist. A committee composed of Mayor Hales, Dr. W. L. Archibald and B. O. Davidson was appointed as a nucleus for what is hoped will be an efficient and active organization in Wolfville for the carrying on of the most important work.

Canada Food Board Says.

For ignoring the regulation which calls for a reckoning for bad eggs purchased from producers or country dealers, over and above an allowance of one percent, the William Davies Company and the Mathews-Blackwell Company, both of Montreal, have been forbidden to buy, sell or otherwise deal in eggs for 30 days. According to the regulations in force since June 1st, every dealer placing eggs for sale is required to furnish to the operator of the warehouse, a statement in writing certifying that such eggs have been candied and that bad or unsound eggs have been removed. No licensee of the Canada Food Board is permitted to pay, or demand payment for bad eggs in excess of an allowed margin of one percent on total amount of the transaction. The object of the Canada Food Board was to make the handling of such eggs unprofitable for the dealer, who is now obliged to charge them back against those from whom they are originally purchased. In the case of the two companies under suspension, it was found that no attempt had been made to charge back for unsound eggs. The records showed percentages running as high as fourteen. A firm in Charlottetown has been disciplined in the same way for a similar offence. It was manifestly nothing but fair that the public should not be called upon to pay for bad eggs. If a dealer purchases bad eggs and pays for them the least trouble for him would be to say nothing about it after finding the fact out by candling, but pass the eggs on into the channels of trade where the consumer would eventually pay for the loss. Everybody else who handled the eggs from the producer to the retail storekeeper would thus have charged their profits and expenses just the same. By the order of the Canada Food Board, it is provided that bad eggs be reported and charged to their source of origin so that the loss is borne by the parties responsible for their delay in reaching the market fresh. In these times of high prices for eggs and every other food commodity, the consumer is doubly entitled to fresh eggs bought in good faith in the regular way. Producers should be careful of the stock they sell and dealers should be watchful of the stock they buy.

Baby's Great Danger During Hot Weather.

More little ones die during the summer months than at any other time of the year. Diarrhoea, dysentery, cholera infantum and stomach disorders, come without warning and when a medicine is not at hand to give promptly the child may die. The frequent means that the child has passed beyond aid. Baby's Own Tablets should always be kept in the home, where there are young children. An occasional dose of the Tablets will prevent stomach and bowel troubles or if the trouble comes suddenly the prompt use of the Tablets will cure the baby. Mrs. Chas. Anderson, Miss A. A. says: "Baby's Own Tablets are the best medicine for little ones who are suffering from stomach troubles. They cured my baby and have made her a fine healthy girl." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

BORN

Henry - On Tuesday, Aug. 13th, to Prof. and Mrs. J. A. Batey, of Lafayette, Indiana, a son - Martin

WHEN USING WILSON'S FLY PADS READ DIRECTIONS CAREFULLY AND FOLLOW THEM. For more effective than Bilely Fly Catchers. Clean to handle. Sold by Grocers and Grocers everywhere.

A Soldier's Experience.

R. B. BLAUVELT'S DESCRIPTION OF THE DAY HE WAS WOUNDED AT PASCHENDALE-OCTOBER 10th, 1917.

The men, who away back home, sit in their office chairs and write such wonderful words of wisdom regarding the glories of war and the rest of it, are away of the track. We read them and say 'some of them guys can take our places—they're welcome to the glory.' When, just before going over the top, one looks around and sees men with white faces and staring eyes, muttering prayers, or others, their faces some the less white and drawn, trying to laugh and bluff it out, while another, perhaps beside the praying Roman with his rosary, is cursing horribly at the delay—and you yourself with a face like chalk, your heart in your boots and covered with a cold sweat, sit there with a thousand thoughts chasing each other through a brain that never was so alert before in your life—then you cannot really see much glory in it. But even you go just the same. Some will encourage, but I prefer to call it pride, that queer inward force that says, 'I know you're yellow old boy, but for the love of Mike don't let anyone else know it', and takes you over in spite of the instinct of self preservation.

Once over, the air is literally thick with every projectile known to the evil ingenuity of man—a shell stuns you with concussion and covers you with mud—a bullet, no a dozen of them rips holes in your equipment—even in your boots but on you go in a wild white hot rage, with the primal lust for blood in full possession but tempered by the mental cunning of a 20th century training—your one object to reach that grey line that is hurrying death your way. Comrades fall but you must go on—some lie so still, others writhe in horrible torment unable to die and on you go, the snarl of a beast on your face cursing like a fiend, or as I think I was till I reached the German line—too mad to say anything but content yourself with muttering at the dying figures—and have the satisfaction of getting a couple of more. Then suddenly the earth gets an awful jolt and you're lit again. Its time to quit and get back to a dressing station, unless you're unable to move.

If this descent to the savagery of your prehistoric ancestors, this orgy of death—the exultant joy in facing death and killing in the glory of war—then it is a disgrace to civilization and should never be spoken of, much less written of, in glowing words of laudation. Then if you can't walk—you crawl back, perhaps for nine hours and a half, as I did, with that hell of machine gun bullets and big shells harassing a bit—wounded, helpless, weak, nervous, expecting any moment to be killed after all—and worst of all I had had both gas masks shot to pieces and was expecting gas over at any moment. It did come, but fortunately it had thinned out too much to choke much. If a day spent crawling through mud and worse, in cold rain, all shot up and nearly done, is glory then bang the glory.

Strange that the one touch of civilization of that whole day of horror, was a German Red Cross man—a prisoner making his way back to our lines. I saw him coming and thought I was done—but I crawled for a rifle and had him covered when I noticed his Cross. He was as welcome as the flowers in May, though I'll admit that I kept that bayonet handy. But talk about skill—they're wonders. He had me bandaged and the blood stopped in a minute. Then I bandaged his arm up under his direction and on we went. That was a Fritz and the old fellow was pretty decent. But the way Fritz shelled the Red Cross Play and Dressing Stations that day, even using gas shells on them, shows how much they respect the Red Cross sign.

Taken altogether it was a day of horror. Wounded about 6 a. m., I didn't get to the Clearing Station for my operation till 5 p. m., and all that time crawling half crazy with pain and fear across a stricken battlefield, strewn with bodies of comrades and enemies and swept with a merciless storm of bullets and high explosives. Wet through, covered with mud and speckles I got there though and that other one was one of the best things I ever saw—about two breathes and I was away, and I stayed away till nearly noon the next day, Wednesday, and I had the first food or drink since Monday night. After a couple of days went on down to the Base to No. 7 Gen. Hospital, was the only Canadian in the ward and had some time. As soon as I was fit to move (ten days) I got marked for England and over I came.

MONEY TO LOAN on mortgage security. Apply to E. S. Crawley Wolfville.

MARRIED. RYAN-WOODMAN - On August 17th in Washington, D. C. Mr. C. W. Herbert Ryan, son of Mrs. W. H. Ryan, of Vancouver, and Miss Hazel Jean Woodman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Woodman, of Wolfville, Nova Scotia.

SAVE WHEAT

BY USING

Moir's Victory Bread.

SOLD ONLY BY

R. E. HARRIS & SONS.

Two Telephones: 115-11 and 16. Retail Licence, No. 8-308. Wholesale License, No. 12-15.

Acadia Seminary. The Fall Term begins Sept. 4, 1918. Pupils may register in the Principal's Office at 9 o'clock. Special opportunity is offered to Pupils desiring thorough instruction in Pianoforte, Voice, Violin, Organ, Elocution, Art, Household Science, Stenography, and Typewriting. Students prepared for University Junior and Senior Matriculation. For further information and Catalogue apply to Rye. H. T. DeWolfe, PRINCIPAL.

ONE WEEK'S BUDGET FOR A FAMILY OF FIVE. 1. 40 lbs. Potatoes. 2. 14 lbs. other Fresh Vegetables. 3. 10 lbs. FLOUR. 4. 10 lbs. CEREAL. 5. 2 lbs. BUTTER or 1 lb. Oleomargarine. 6. 1 lb. COOKING FAT. 7. 1 quart whole MILK. 8. 1 lb. SUGAR. 9. 1 lb. CORN SYRUP. 10. 1 lb. MOLASSES or Honey. MEAT & MEAT SUBSTITUTES AT LEAST 2 lbs. FRESH FISH. 11. 1 lb. SALT FISH. 12. 1 DOZ. EGGS. 13. 1 DOZ. BEANS. 14. 1 DOZ. SPINACH. 15. 1 lb. CHEESE. 16. 1/2 lb. LARD. 17. 1/2 lb. LARD. 18. 1/2 lb. LARD. 19. 1/2 lb. LARD. 20. 1/2 lb. LARD. WHEAT, MEAT, and FAT are NEEDED OVER/EA. SAVE THEM IN EVERY POSSIBLE WAY.

BEST AID TO WEAK EYES. Glasses if worn when first needed, will save you a heap of trouble. You may put it off, and put it off, but if your eyes need glasses, the sooner you know about it, the better it will be for your eyes and your pocket book as well. That which helps you to accomplish more is an investment—a good investment not an expense. Your investment here will be according to your requirements, but it will be a profitable investment and the first cost will be the least cost. We guarantee satisfaction. Williams & Co. Jewelers & Opticians.

ACADIA COLLEGIATE & BUSINESS ACADEMY. WOLFVILLE, NOVA SCOTIA. A Residential and Day School for Boys and Young Men. NINETIETH YEAR. THE COLLEGIATE DEPARTMENT offers Matriculation, Diploma Courses preparatory to Arts, Medicine, Law, Engineering, etc. THE BUSINESS DEPARTMENT offers Diploma Courses in Commercial Subjects, Stenography, Typewriting, etc. THE MANUAL TRAINING DEPARTMENT provides instruction in Wood Working, Iron Working and Mechanical Drawing. A Strong Staff of Experienced Teachers. A new Students' Residence. Modern in Equipment. Charges very Moderate. For illustrated Catalogue write to Principal W. L. Archibald, Wolfville, Nova Scotia.

SAVE THE BREAD. ONE OUNCE OF BREAD. THIS REPRESENTS A WASTE OF 17 SHILLINGS OR ONE YEAR. WASTED ONCE A DAY BY 800,000 PEOPLE IN CANADA. AT THE PRESENT RATE THE CRUSTS LEFT OVER EACH DAY WOULD FEED 100,000 PEOPLE. F. J. PORTER, High Sheriff. H. S. CRAWLEY, Wolfville, N. S., Plaintiff's Solicitor. Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA.

SOAP!

We have just received a shipment of Toilet and Bath Soaps at 15c per Cake they are Splendid Value.

BUY NOW!

As Prices like the Allies are advancing.

A. V. Rand, Phm. B., - Wolfville, N. S.

JEFFERSON THE CASH SHOE STORE.

For Summer Footwear

We have a full line of Ladies' and Children's White Boots, Shoes, Slippers and Pumps.

FOR MEN!

We have the Hartt Boot. Also the Strider Boot made by F. W. Slater.

G. D. JEFFERSON - WOLFVILLE

Wedding Bells. The marriage of Miss Hazel Jean Woodman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Woodman, of Wolfville, Nova Scotia, and Mr. Charles Wilbert Ryan, of Vancouver, B. C. took place in Washington Saturday, August 17th, at the apartment of the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. W. H. Ryan, in the Victoria.

There were no attendants for either bride or bridegroom, and the parents of both were the only witnesses to the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. William H. Harrison, Jr. The bride's gown was of tulle crepe net.

Mr. Ryan, who is a graduate of Acadia University, Wolfville, Nova Scotia, and later of McGill University, Montreal, is engaged in war construction work in Washington, and he and his mother have had an apartment in the Victoria since their arrival here. Mr. and Mrs. Woodman, parents of the bride, accompanied her to Washington from their home in Wolfville, and she is situated in the said town on an account of the bridegroom's work.

They will make their home for the present in Washington, in the apartment where the marriage took place.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodman left Washington on Monday and will visit several American and Canadian cities before returning to Nova Scotia - Evening Star, Washington, D. C.

Wolfville High School. Pass List at Provincial Examination. Names are in order of merit.

GRADE XI. Margaret Ford, Theodore Rand, Muriel Kennedy, Marie Mason, Fred Harbin, Felton Haybin, Helen Young.

GRADE X. Mary Parkinson, Allan Parker, Dorothy Mitchell, Hilda Johnson, Marion Rodden, John Crowell, Evelyn Duncanson.

GRADE IX. Allan Smith, Gertrude Rogers, Helen Archibald, Leslie Ritchie, Muriel Outton, Edgar DeWolf.

Announcing that to date more than 750,000 American soldiers have embarked for foreign shores. General March, chief of staff, reiterated today his firm belief that the presence of 400,000 troops of the United States in France next summer would enable the Allies to carry out any campaign they may adopt for the defeat of Germany at the end of the war. Such a campaign, General March said, would be founded upon cold-blooded logic of the respective manpower of the Allies and of the enemy in 1919, and are not based as usual on military statistics.

Miss Florence and Isobel Davidson who have been spending the summer at their home here, left on Friday last for Middleton as route for New England. The latter will resume her position as English teacher in the Beverly, Mass. schools, and the former will go to New Hampshire to visit her brother, Rev. H. S. Davidson, at Lebanon.

"Stop and Rest" Inn. AN EXCLUSIVE RESORT for Motorists, House and Week-End Parties. Evening Functions and After-Theatre Suppers arranged. Afternoon Teas. W. G. STACKHOUSE, WOLFVILLE, N. S. Phone 161.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA.

Remnant Sale!

Remnants and short lengths of Cottons, Gingham, Flannelettes and Wash Goods.

SILKS.

in short ends suitable for Blouses and Linings.

Black Wool Dress Goods!

We have a few pieces of old stock in All Wool Voiles, Stripe Voiles, at old prices. This is an opportunity that you cannot afford to miss.

J. D. CHAMBERS

The Store of Good Values.

Just Arrived

THE CELEBRATED Palmolive Soap

ALSO A FULL LINE OF PALMOLIVE TOILETS.

Talcum Vanishing Cream Lip Salve Rouge Face Powder

ACADIA PHARMACY

HUGH E. CALKIN

WOLFVILLE N. S.

SALE OF LANDS FOR TAXES.

Province of Nova Scotia. Town of Wolfville. In the matter of 'The Assessment Act' in the matter of lands of Charles Stewart.

To be sold at public auction by the Town Clerk of the Town of Wolfville, at the Town Hall in the said town, on the third day of October, A. D. 1918 at eleven o'clock in the forenoon; pursuant to a warrant under the hand of the mayor and seal of the said town of Wolfville bearing date the twenty-seventh day of August, A. D. 1918 commanding the said clerk to levy upon and sell the lands hereinafter described for the arrears of rates and taxes due thereon, with interest and expenses, unless, before the time of sale the same be paid to the said clerk. All that certain lot, piece or parcel of land situated in the said town of Wolfville and described as follows:

On the north by the road leading from the said bridge to Gasperess, on the east by lands now or formerly belonging to the estate of the late C. D. Randall, on the south by lands of Martin Pick and the Cemetery land, and on the west by lands of Watson Duncanson, and containing six acres more or less.

TERMS OF SALE:—Ten per cent deposit at time of sale, remainder on delivery of deed.

Wolfville, the 27th day of August, A. D. 1918.

H. V. BISHOP, Town Clerk.

Sheriff's Sale. 1918. A No. 3274.

In the Supreme Court. Between: WILLIAM B. HARRIS and JUBRON D. HARRIS, Plaintiffs, and LESTER RAUFER, Defendant.

To be sold at public auction by the Sheriff of the County of Kings, or his deputy, at the County Court House in Kentville, in the said county, on Monday, the 16th day of September, A. D. 1918 at eleven o'clock in the forenoon, pursuant to an order of foreclosure and sale made in the above action dated the sixteenth day of August, A. D. 1918, unless before the day appointed for said sale the amount due the plaintiffs herein for principal, interest and costs, be paid to them or to their solicitor.

All that certain lot of land and premises situated at Lower Wolfville in Horton aforesaid, and bounded as follows:—On the south by the highway known as the highway of the late George Graham, west by lands of the late Lyander Harris and north by lands of David Moffat, containing twenty acres more or less. Also a lot of land opposite the above described lot and bounded north by the above said highway to Wolfville, south by Fred Egan, west by Cross Road between highway to Wolfville and back road and east by lands of Edward Tenholm, containing seven acres more or less. Also a bounded lot on Pinch Mountain, bounded north by lands of Cunningham estate, south by lands of Edward Tenholm, west by lands of the late William Brown and east by old road, containing twelve acres more or less. The same being the lands conveyed in the said Lester Rauffer by J. J. D. Martin by deed bearing date the thirtieth day of January, A. D. 1908 and recorded in the registry of said county of Kings in book 94 page 84, but subject to a mortgage held by said J. J. D. Martin for $2,500, and the buildings, improvements, easements, tenements and appurtenances to the same being lying or in anywise appertaining. Sale to be subject to the prior mortgage held by J. J. D. Martin for $2,500, and all sums due thereon. Terms of Sale:—Ten per cent deposit at time of sale and remainder upon delivery of deed.

Kentville, August 10th, A. D. 1918.

F. J. PORTER, High Sheriff. H. S. CRAWLEY, Wolfville, N. S., Plaintiff's Solicitor.

Mr. Owen Goodwin has charge of the railway station here during the absence of Mr. Coombs.

Portrait Sittings will be received at the GRAHAM STUDIO ON Saturday, Aug. 10. PHONE 70-11, WOLFVILLE.

The Cash Grocery AND MEAT STORE. LICENCE NO. 8-1115.

We have a good supply of Fruit Jars and Jelly Jars on hand at present. Also Jar Rings. Now is the time to buy as these goods are advancing in price.

Staple and Fancy Groceries! Choice Meats and Fresh Fish!

FANCY BISCUITS A SPECIALTY. FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

PHONE 53.

FRANK W. BARTEAUX.

THE ACADIAN.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., SEPT. 6, 1918.

Local Happenings.

Hit the Kaiser a crash when you visit the Fair.

To Luv—A large, warm, furnished room near College building, suitable for two persons. Apply to ACADIAN OFFICE.

The military band from Aldershot will furnish music for the Patriotic evening at the new warehouse this evening.

See Graham's photo frames.

There will be no early celebration of the Holy Communion in St. John's church during September owing to the absence of the rector.

Mr. Roy Jodrey has purchased from Mrs. W. M. Black her fine residence in Wolfville, and we understand is coming here shortly to reside.

Visit the Italian Fruit Stand when at the Fair on Saturday.

There will be a meeting of the executive of the W. C. T. U. Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, at the home of the President, Mrs. B. O. Davidson, Summer street.

FOR SALE—2 new milch cows. They can be best seen any day after six p. m. J. D. Henderson, Avonport, N. S.

Mr. Hill, who recently purchased from Mr. Geo. A. Caldwell the large residence on East Main street, has come with his family to take up his residence in Wolfville.

Dr. Allan and family, who have been spending the summer at their country home in Shelburne county, returned to Wolfville on Monday and are occupying the same house on Summer street.

Labor Day passed off quietly in Wolfville, being very generally observed as a holiday. The weather was most delightful. There were many motor trips to many points of interest and enjoyment.

Dainty Japanese Tea served for twenty-five cents on Saturday.

Mrs. Malcolm Elliott returned on Saturday from a month's visit to St. Stephen, N. B. She was accompanied by Mrs. Harold Haley and daughter E. A. Beth, who will be her guests for the month of September.

Mr. Prescott, of Albert county, New Brunswick, who recently purchased Mr. J. W. Vaughan's residence on Summer street, has arrived with his family and taken possession. THE ACADIAN gives them a welcome to Wolfville.

Saving a minute on each letter means saving an hour for every 100 letters, an average daily output in some offices. The automatic indenting mechanism of the Remington Typewriter will do this for you.

A. MILNE FRASER, Halifax, N. S.

The congregation of St. Andrew's church was favored on Sunday morning by a delightful solo by Mrs. I. A. Daniel, who is spending the summer at her old home. Mrs. Daniel was for a time a member of the choir of the church and she was very gladly heard on Sunday by many old friends.

Don't fail to see Maunor Salisbury and Ruth Clifford at Opera, Thursday and Saturday.

Monday and Tuesday, Opera House presents the famous beauty Maunor Norman in "The Floor Below," a beautiful picture and a beautiful actress.

Auto to HERS—Apply to H. D. Almine, Phone 27 11.

Wolfville Methodist church—minister, Rev. W. A. Watts, Services for Sunday, Sept. 8th, at 11 and 7 Morning subject: "Christianity, a Religion of Joy." Evening subject: "Suggestions from the account of Paul's Shipwreck." Divine services also conducted at Greenwood at 3 p. m. Preacher at each service the minister.

Have Father Pete foretell your mate at the Fair on Saturday.

The Wolfville public schools reopened on Tuesday with a good attendance. There are two new teachers, Miss Blanche Thomas and Marion J. Hopkins. The staff for the coming year will be: Principal, R. W. Ford, Miss Blanche Thomas, Miss Hester Reid, Miss Marjorie Hopkins, Miss Gladys I. West, Miss Susie Baxter, Miss Hazel R. Nichols.

Rogers' silver plated knives, forks and spoons just arrived at Williams.

The annual meeting of the station agents and telegraphers of the D. A. R. is to be held in Wolfville on Sunday next. This is the only day in the month when these officials are able to get together. The business meeting will be held at the Council Chamber which has been placed at their disposal. The dinner will be held at the Royal Hotel and a number of automobile owners have offered to give the visitors a drive to points of interest.

New Kodak catalogue just received. Come in and get one at Reed's.

Annapolis Spectator: The town is to lose the genial presence of Judge and Mrs. Savary the coming winter as they intend to live in Wolfville and rent their residence here. The Judge went to Wolfville Thursday and Mrs. Savary, who has been in Halifax, will meet him there. Capt. Lynch, of Somerville, Mass., arrived Tuesday on his annual visit to his niece, Mrs. Joe McMillan, at the Queen Hotel. Capt. Dan is 76 years but carries it well. His brother, Wm. Lynch, is however, now very feeble.

Boys' School Outfits! $20.30

We give below what we think would go a long way, to give the average school boy a feeling of respect and desire to make good, as a future successful man.

- 1 Suit of Clothes $12.00
1 Pr. Box Kep Boots 3.15
1 Pr. Hose 60
1 Cap .85
1 Shirt .85
1 Collar and Tie .60

Other Outfits at different prices.

F. K. Bishop Co., LIMITED SUCCESSORS TO C. H. BORDEN. WOLFVILLE, N. S.

Men's and Boys' Outfitters and Family Shoe Store. Acadia Goods Carried in Stock.

A Memorable Day.

Labor Day, 1918, dawned as fair as the most enthusiastic small boy could wish, and at an early hour about 75 of the Wolfville Scouts left for Hantsport. The patrols from White Rock, Greenwood and Grand Pre were well represented.

The morning's program consisted of water sports, the events being as follows: 100 yds. relay swimming race, won by Henry Kelly and Allan Parker, of the Wolfville troop.

High Dive—won by Hantsport, Allan Parker, second. Surface Dive—won by Arth. Tingley, Allan Parker second.

Junior Dive—won by Leicester Colt. Fancy Dive—won by Allan Parker, Arthur Tingley, second. 50 yds. (Senior)—won by Henry Kelly.

50 yds. (Junior)—won by Leicester Colt, Murray Thompson, second. The water sports concluded with a whale hunt, which was a fittingly premier event of the day. The Hantsport boys captured the whale, but only after a strenuous battle during which the Wolfville crew had two axes broken.

After dinner the Wolfville troop headed by their band marched to the school grounds.

The events here were certainly well contested and were won as follows: Sack Race—by Wendell Manning. Potato Race—by Hantsport. Tag of War—by Wolfville Juniors. High Jump—by Hantsport, Theodore Rand, second.

Broad Jump—by Joe McClelland, Allan Parker, second. Pole Vault—by Allan Parker. Relay Race—by Allan Parker, Theodore Rand and Henry Kelley, of Wolfville.

100 yds. Dash (Junior) by Cecil Thompson. All the events of the day were carried out in a spirit of good fellowship and win or lose each contestant had a smile for the other. The band remained for the evening, playing at a concert arranged by the Hantsport Scoutmaster.

The thanks of the Wolfville Boys are particularly due to Scoutmaster Holmes for planning the events of the day and carrying them out so satisfactorily. Thanks are also due to Mr. Wood, Mr. Hemmison and Mr. Paulquin for their services as judges.

It is contended that these could be arranged to take place between the different neighboring towns, they could be made most effective in promoting the moral well being and good fellowship of our future citizens.

Contributions to this department will be gladly received.

Miss Charlotte Pearson, of Greenwood, is a student at Acadia Seminary this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bowley are spending a few weeks at the former's old home at Paradise.

Miss Mona Harris, of Kentville, was an over Sunday visitor in Wolfville, a guest at the home of Mrs. E. L. Gould.

Mr. C. G. C. Coombs, station agent, accompanied by Mrs. Coombs and family, are spending a short vacation at Berwick.

Miss Marguerite Elderkin left last week for L'Abbaye, Alta., where she has been appointed to a position in the teaching staff of the public schools.

Mr. Ernest Pearson, who has spent the past twelve years in business in St. Paul's, arrived at Port Williams yesterday and, with his family, intends making his home there.

Mr. T. A. Pearson, D. A. R. agent at Port Williams, leaves tomorrow for a short vacation. Accompanied by his son from St. Paul, Miss, he will motor to Parnouth and Bedford.

Capt. A. D. Borden is spending a few weeks vacation at his old home in Wolfville. Capt. Borden has for some time been acting as military instructor at Brown University, Providence, R. I.

Miss Violet Sleep, who has a profession in Halifax, was home for over Sunday and Labor Day. She was accompanied by her friend, Mrs. Wright, wife of Sergeant Wright of Halifax.

Mr. A. W. Bleskney returned on Saturday last from a pleasant vacation trip to Boston and vicinity, having accompanied his son, Rev. Guy Bleskney, on his return by auto a few weeks ago.

Mr. R. G. Thurber, a former resident of Wolfville, for some time, arrived on the evening train on Wednesday and is staying at the Royal. Mr. Thurber is now residing in Providence, R. I., his old home. Many Wolfville friends are glad to welcome him back.

Miss Fernie Woodman, of Wolfville, who is a graduate of Arts and Crafts from Mt. Allison Ladies' College, Sackville, and who has spent the last two years in the employ of the Goodrich Tire and Rubber Company, Boston, Mass., has resigned her position and left Monday for Toronto to take a course at the Toronto University in Vocational Therapy.

Tides at the Head of the Bay of Fundy.

THE EXTREME TIDES OF THE YEAR.

The attention of the farmer is directed to the fact that the highest tides of the year are given in advance in the Tide Tables issued by the Tidal and Current Survey, in the Dominion Government service. If a storm should occur at the date of one of these unusually high tides, there may be flooding of the dyked marshes in one locality or another according to the direction which the storm may take. Farmers may therefore reduce the chances of damage by placing their crops in safety before the date of any such specially high tide in the autumn, in case it should happen to be a storm tide.

In the Bay of Fundy the height of the tide is as much affected by the change in the moon's distance as by the change from springs to neaps. As a consequence of this, one of the spring tides of the month is usually higher than the other; and accordingly it is only once in a month, either two or three days, that the tides reach their greatest height. Also, the spring tides in the Bay of Fundy occur about noon or midnight. The exact time for each locality can be found from the Tide Tables; but here, it is merely indicated whether the highest tide occurs in the day time or in the middle of the night. The dates of the highest normal tides during the present year (1918) are as follows: Night tides were the highest in March, April and May.

Day tides, September 21 to 23, and October 19 to 22.

Day tides, November 18 to 20, and December 17 to 18.

Tide Levels. There is now a system of continuous levels in the Maritime Provinces, by which Bench-marks have been established by two of the Government departments. With regard to the regions where dyked marshes occur, these levels extend from Moncton through Sackville and Amherst to Miramichi, and throughout the region of Windsor, Grand Pre and Kentville. The reference marks are along the railways which are not far from the shore.

The heights reached by extreme tides during storms in past years have been observed and recorded by the Tidal Survey; and their level with reference to these Bench marks can now be given for the guidance of farmers in deciding on the best height for their dykes. This information can be supplied by the Superintendent of Tidal Surveys, Naval Service Department, Ottawa.

The above information has been furnished by Dr. W. Bell Dawson, of the Tidal & Current Survey, Ottawa.

W. S. BLAIR, Superintendent, Experimental Station, Kentville, N. S.

DIED.—At Wolfville, Sept. 4th, Susan Reid, relict of the late Joseph G. Reid, formerly of Gasperen, aged 86 years. Funeral at 3 o'clock this (Friday) afternoon from residence of her daughter, Mrs. C. M. Gormley, interment at Gasperen.

Our Heroes.

News has been received of the death in action on August 10th of Private Walter Gayer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Silas Gayer, of Port Williams.

Word has also come of the wounding of Ralph Smith, of the same place.

Mr. and Mrs. Avaril J. Woodman returned last Saturday from Washington, D. C., where they have been attending the marriage of their daughter Hazel to Mr. C. Wilbert Ryan. On their way home they visited New York, Philadelphia, Buffalo, Niagara and Toronto, in which city they were the guests of Mrs. Woodman's sister, Mrs. L. S. Gove, who with her family, is summering at Hanlan's Point.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodman took in the Dominion Exhibition in Toronto, and leaving there enjoyed the beautiful Thousand Islands trip down the St. Lawrence.

Every 10c Packet of WILSON'S FLY PADS WILL KILL MORE FLIES THAN 50c WORTH OF ANY STICKY FLY CATCHER.

Clean to handle. Sold by all Drug, Grocers and General Stores.

WARNING!

All persons driving Automobiles must have numbers and lights properly displayed as required by the Motor Vehicle Act 1918.

The offence of speeding by Automobile, or horse on the streets of Wolfville will be prosecuted by order.

H. Y. BISHOP, Town Clerk.

Even If War Is On You Must Have Clothes

And we are well prepared to serve you in this line. Our work is MEN'S CLOTHING OF ALL KINDS.

It is winning us a reputation. We use the best materials, employ the best workmanship and our styles are always right.

We guarantee every garment and shall be pleased to show goods and quote prices.

A. E. Regan, Wolfville

Notice.

The Provincial Highway Tax and Patriotic Fund are now over due and all who have not paid please do so at once.

H. Y. Bishop, TOWN CLERK.

OPERA HOUSE WOLFVILLE. Friday and Saturday, Sept. 6-7. Maunor Salisbury and Ruth Clifford in a stirring story, "THE RED, RED HEART". See These Favorites. Also Two Reels L. K. O. Comedy. Show at 8 p.m. Prices: 10c. and 20c. and 2c. tax extra. Coming! Charlie Chaplin in his "New Job". Friday and Saturday, Sept. 13-14. DON'T MISS IT! Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 16-17. "THE BELGIAN". Not a new picture but it shows the gripping accuracy the effects of the invasion of the Rhine; but does not put on the screen the unforgettable ruthlessness of the ruffian horde. Ladlet, You Must See This Picture.

Boy Scouts! This is the Magazine You Want. "Boy's Life" (Boy Scout's Official Magazine) SUBSCRIPTION PRICE $1.60. H. P. DAVIDSON, "The Magazine Man". Phone 5. Wolfville, N. S.

Fight the Bug BY USING Paris Green, Blue Vitrol, Calcine Plaster, Land Plaster, etc. SHAKERS IN STOCK. L. W. SLEEP.

NEW MUSLIN UNDERWEAR. These Garments are made of the finest materials obtainable, trimmed with fine Laces and Embroiders. At Very Reasonable Prices. Night Dresses, 75c, 85c, $1.00, to $3.00 each. Chemise Combinations, $1.25, 1.50, 1.75 and 2.00. Drawers, 60c, 75c, 85c, $1.00 to $1.50. Skirts, 75c, 85c, $1.00 to $3.50 each. Misses' and Children's White Muslin Underwear. All styles and prices. White Knitted Undervests, Combinations and Drawers, for Ladies, Misses and Children. Standard Fashions' Patterns in stock. J. E. Hales & Co., Ltd., WOLFVILLE, N. S.

Dry Goods Department. MIDSUMMER REDUCTION SALE. NOW IS THE TIME FOR BARGAINS! Ladies and Misses Middles and Smocks $1.65 each. Wash Skirts 1.65 each. Voil Waists .98 each. Hamburg Flouncings, wide Ribbons, up to half an inch 23c. per yd. Ribbons, up to 5 inches 6c. per yd. Striped Beach Cloth, 36 inches 14c. per yd. Corset Cover Embroidery 20c. per yd. Childrens White Wash Dresses 19c. per yd. $1.00 each. A full range of Women's House Dresses, Children's Wash Dresses, Rompers, Hose, etc. New Curtain Scrims, Mullins, Silks. All sizes in Ladies' and Children's White Footwear. SPECIAL Smart new Mahogany Oxfords with NEOLIN Soles, per pair $4.75.

CONGOLEUM Art Rugs. For every room in the house. The Modern Floor Covering, Durable, Artistic, Sanitary, can be easily washed up like Linoleum. Special colored booklet mailed on request. 1 x 1 yd. $1.35. 1 x 2 yd. 2.70. 1 1/2 x 1 1/2 yd. 2.90. 1 1/2 x 2 yd. 4.00. 2 x 2 yd. 5.40. 2 x 3 yd. 8.00. 2 1/2 x 3 yd. 12.00. 3 x 3 yd. 14.50. 3 x 3 1/2 yd. 17.00. 3 x 4 yd. 19.00.

ILLSLEY & HARVEY CO., LIMITED. Port Williams N. S. Write for Big Catalogue. We Pay Freight on orders amounting to $10.00.

Potato Diggers. Now is the time to place your order for THE "VICTOR". The machine does excellent work. It will not bruise or bury the potatoes, and one pair of horses can handle it with ease. Write, phone, or call and we will be pleased to give full particulars.

BONDS! Victory Bonds have advanced 1 per cent in price. Other Bonds for sale: Newfoundland, 10 year Bonds to yield 6 1/2 per cent. City of Charlottetown to yield 6 per cent. Town of Dartmouth to yield 6 per cent. City of Calgary to yield 7 per cent. Consult your own Broker. Annie M. Stuart, Broker. Grand Pre, June 12, 1918.

Your Money will certainly go further and you will be on the sure road to putting down the cost of living if you buy your Groceries from WENTZELLS LIMITED. What winter Groceries do you require? Send to Wentzells Limited for prices and buy there. You are sure to have something worth while. Ten dollar orders, except for Flour, Sugar and heavy articles of this nature, are shipped freight paid. WENTZELLS LIMITED "The Big Store," Halifax.

NO MORE KIDNEY TROUBLE

Since He Commenced to Take "Fruit-a-lives"

78 Lees Avenue, Ottawa, Ont.
"Three years ago, I began to feel run-down and tired, and suffered very much from Liver and Kidney Trouble. Having read of 'Fruit-a-lives', I thought I would try them. The result was surprising. I have not had my liver's sickness since I commenced using 'Fruit-a-lives', and I know now what I have not known for a good many years—that is, the blessing of a healthy body and clear thinking brain."
WALTER J. MARRIOTT,
100, a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ottawa.

White Ribbon News.

Woman's Christian Temperance Union first organized in 1874.
AIM—The protection of the home, the abolition of the liquor traffic and the triumph of Christ's golden rule in custom and in law.

Motto—For God and Home and Native Land.

Emblem—A knot of White Ribbon. Wagon—Agitate, educate, or organize.

Officers of Wolfville Union.

President—Mrs. B. O. Davidson.
1st Vice President—Mrs. G. W. Miller
2nd Vice President—Mrs. W. O. Taylor
Recording Sec'y—Mrs. Ernest Ledden
Cor. Secretary—Mrs. (Mrs.) McKenna
Treasurer—Mrs. H. Pines.

Superintendents.

Laborer Work—Mrs. Fielding.
Lumberman—Mrs. J. Kempton.
Temperance in Sabbath-schools—Mr. Edson Graham.

Evangelistic—Mrs. Purves Smith.
Press—Mrs. M. Freeman.
White Ribbon Bulletin—Mrs. Dr. McKenna.

Loyal Temperance Legion—Miss Mason.
Red Cross Work—Mrs. J. Vaughn.

Greetings

Dear fellow workers,—

Recognizing my inability to undertake the administration of the affairs of our Union as they should be conducted, it was with much hesitation that I allowed my name to be submitted for the position of president for the coming year; and it was only my interest in our order and the work which it represents that finally induced me to accept.

I thank you for the honor you have done me in electing me to this honorable and important position and solicit your sympathy and co-operation in making the coming term a successful and pleasant one.

Our Union has done good work in the days that have gone, and it must be evident to you all that our work is not yet finished. Let us undertake great things in the coming year for God, and home and native land.

Cordially yours,
E. M. DAVIDSON, President.

World's W. C. T. U. Notes

The W. C. T. U. was started amid a burst of enthusiasm beginning in a small way in 1873 in the middle west where Mother Thompson began her famous crusade of prayer against the liquor traffic. A band of women went one day and prayed in a bar-room in Hillsboro, Ohio, and continued to go and pray until the conviction of sin settled down on the proprietor and his bar was closed. This movement spread and from it sprang up the W. C. T. U. of which Frances Willard was first president. It now has branches in every country in the world.

Mrs. Helen Barton of Scotland, who will be remembered as one of the delegates attending the World's W. C. T. U. convention at Brooklyn and the National convention at Asbury Park, has been for many months at work in Australia. She has just completed a tour of three months in South Australia, securing 50 new members and the organization of several new local unions. She travelled 3,000 miles and addressed nearly 200 meetings, including the annual convention of the South Australia W. C. T. U.

The first convention of the colored W. C. T. U. of South Africa met at Queenstown, Cape Colony. It was a very wonderful time and marks a great forward movement in the history of our colored women and of our temperance work, writes Nellie Selouson, president of the South Africa W. C. T. U. "The very best type of colored women was present, representing six branches. Their interest and enthusiasm were most inspiring. I believe it to be the first conference of the colored women held in South Africa."

The W. C. T. U. of Caylon joined recently with other organizations in a great rally at Pasadena. The proceedings of the day began with a devotional service, the Christianese meet up at the Wesleyan Chapel, where a large number of Pasadena students took part in the praise and prayer hour. Buddhist delegates and their friends assembled at a nearby temple.

"In Heaven," promised the colored evangelist, there will be great banquets and sumptuous feasts."
"Yeh-uh huh-dai's see," commented a dusky negro in the audience, "but tell me, young fellow, who's gonna wash dem dishes, huh?"

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

Milner's Linctus cures Croup, Whooping Cough, Sore Throat, and all the ailments of Infants and Children.

Always bears the Signature of Dr. J. C. FLETCHER

"RHEUMATISM ARRESTED" Many people suffer with the muscles and stiffened joints because blood impurities have invaded the system and caused rheumatism.

To arrest rheumatism it is quite as important to purify your general health as to purify your blood, and the cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion is nature's great blood-maker, while its medicinal nourishment strengthens the organs to expel the impurities and rebuild your strength. Try it.

Scott's Emulsion, Toronto, Ont.

A Successful Experiment

By GORTON CARRUTH

He put his paper aside abruptly, rose and walked down the leaf-strewn path to the other bench, where the girl was sitting.
"Would you like to try an experiment?" he asked quietly, standing with his hand behind his back.
She looked at him for a moment, smiling, her expression neither inviting nor repelling.
"Perhaps," she said at length.
He sank into the seat beside her. "It is something I have often wanted to try," he said slowly. "Here are we two, perfect strangers in a city of five millions, and never likely to see each other again after we leave this chance meeting place. We have sat here for half an hour, each pretending to read or to watch the squirrels, or the falling leaves, or the misty golden sunshine out there on the field, but each examining and appraising the other when the other wasn't looking."
"Now, this is the experiment: We have each gained a strong first impression of the other. Let us first absolutely trust each other, and let us do what friends cannot do—speak without reservations, made for fear of hurting each other's feelings."
She sat without speaking for a moment after he had finished, gazing thoughtfully out at the warm expanse of autumnal trees.
"But why?" she asked at last. "I am not sure that Burns was right. Perhaps it is just as well that we can't see ourselves as others see us."
"That," he said, "makes it an experiment. It will be a new experience. I want to know exactly how I look in the eyes of a stranger, however much the knowledge may hurt. Have you ever felt that way?"
"Yes," she said, "I have. Everyone does. I think."
"Well, I'll tell you, if you will do as much for me."
Again she hesitated and sat silently watching a gray squirrel that untroubled by self-consciousness, was busy burying a nut.
"Well," she said finally, "you first."
"The fact that I came over here and proposed this experiment to you at all shows that I thought you a sensible girl," he began slowly. "You impressed me as being neither a prude nor a flirt. You are pretty—I don't need to tell you that—but I was not spoiled. You are rather thoughtful and studious, and you have a genuine feeling for the beauties of nature—something which too many girls just pretend to have. You are not above, I believe, taking an interest in babies and embroidery, although you know what is going on about you in the world and read something besides the women's page in the newspapers. You don't work for your living, and your home is one of the comfortable houses in the Seventies. You see a good deal of the society side of life, but you keep healthfully true to serious things. You are probably a suffragist in a quiet way, and you are also interested in some form of social or philanthropic work, which you do not see as a merely humanitarian duty."
He was interrupted by the girl's low laughter. "Why not say that I have all the good qualities, and be done with it?" she asked. "Your impression is certainly not very accurate. Let's see if I can do better."
"You, it seems to me, have many of the excellent qualities that you are attributing to me. You are nothing of a 'report,' but are a rather serious-minded young man, somewhat too much given to introspection. You are not just looking, and you impress me as having a good deal of common sense. You are about twenty-five, and you are one of our rising young professional men—an architect, perhaps, or an engineer of some sort. You read a good deal, and when it comes to newspapers, something besides the sporting pages. You are rather domestic by nature, and you have a sense of humor. You also live in one of the better homes in the Seventies or the Eighties, and you are a confirmed New Yorker. There, how far is that for a snapshot portrait?"
He did not answer at once, and they both sat silently for a few minutes. "My experiment has failed, I'm afraid," he said at length.
"Of course," she assented gently. "It was bound to. It shows of how little worth a first impression is, especially when you wonder if the defects that you see in yourself were apparent to others, and you are half disappointed that they are not, for you do not like the idea of wearing a mask. Isn't that it?"
"Yes."
"And yet you must have known, except in moments of self-deprecation, that you make a favorable first impression; and I know that I do, conceded as that may sound."
"All right," she straightened up abruptly. "Then we come to the second part of this experiment. We will now tell just how badly each of us is mistaken."
"Well," she hesitated. "We can say it, but this also is a pretty hard thing to do."
"Listen to me first," he answered, "while I tell you what a poor judge of character at first glance you are. I may have a sense of humor, but it doesn't work very well. I am gloomy, pessimistic and am rapidly developing into a chronic grump. I am not one of our rising young professional men. I am a clerk in a large mercantile house, and there hasn't been anything startling in my rise yet. I may have common sense, but I don't keep me from making a fool of myself about half the time. I may be domestic by nature, but that's all the good it does me. So far from living in a brownstone house in the Eighties, I live in a single room down in the Twenties. I came from Michigan and am a comparative stranger in New York. I read a good deal, it is true, and you are right about the sporting page, but I don't believe that I ever had an original idea in my life. And well, I might go on at considerable length, but how do you like the rough-drawn portrait, so far?"
The girl was laughing at him again. "I think the portrait none the worse," she said; "especially since you are clearly in a mood for self-deprecation. Let me after your portrait of me a little. I hope that I am sensible. I'm not a flirt, but I'm not so sure that I am not conceited. I like babies and embroidery, but I'm not interested in charitable work and I do read the women's pages in the newspapers. I don't live in a brownstone house in the Eighties, either, but have a room up in the One Hundred and Eighties. I earn my living by teaching a class of little Greek, Italian and Russian children down in an East Side school, and I don't have any other money. I have a bad temper, but I don't offer a good deal at times. No doubt, I'm more studious than most girls, but I like the movies and candy and all sorts of frivolous things very much. Now how do you like the rough-drawn portrait?"
"Well," he admitted gravely, "I rather think it improves the portrait; it makes it so much more human."
They fell silent again, watching the sunshine on the colored trees.
"You are quite right about one thing," said the girl presently. "I love the trees and the fields and the sky. I was brought up in the country, and I don't believe I could stand it here in the thick smoke of cities and stone, if it were not for the park."
"I come here often myself," the man said. "Do you?"
"Every Sunday afternoon. I like this spot best of all; the view is so beautiful."
"So do I."
The sun had left the trees and they could see the lights of the city twinkling like brilliant stars.
"Do you know," said the man, rising, "I think my experiment is not going to be a failure, after all, though it has not resulted as I expected."
"Perhaps it won't be," answered the girl quietly.
"There was a moment's pause. Then she said, "I'm glad—good-night."
"Good-night," she answered. "I turned and walked along the darkening path. As he reached the end he broke into a cheerful whistle. The girl, smiling, walked briskly away. She was wondering what she would wear next Sunday afternoon, and he was trying to decide if it would be worth a take a look of candy with him."

The Empty Coat.

"Tain't no use, a-hangin' there on it's peg no more! Sivees a-showin' too much wear. Pocket badly tore. Probably, when he war is done, it'll be too small. Guess he'll have another one—'ll he comes back at all. But it's sacred in our eyes; Somethin' like a prayer; Now it looks so lonesome-wise, Just a-hangin' there. Seems like yest' day I stood, Watched him 'bout his chores; Bragin' in the kitchen wood, Stumplin' cross the floors, Langued to see him anopin' round, Like he used to s'oop. Whiatlin' happy when he 'tound Ma was makin' s'up! Now that he sin't here no more Ma and me just glance— Up at that coat he wore 'Fore he wen' to France. Sighin', when all the doors is shut, 'Fore I go to sleep, 'Tain't no use, a-hangin' there. Touch its sleeve an' find it we— Ma's been cryin' there. Somethin' smartin' my eyes, too, Have to wink 'em tight, When I whisper, 'Proud o' you! Good night! lad! Good night.'"
Lon Brier.

PILES

Do not suffer from PILES. Dr. Chase's Ointment will relieve you in one or two days. Sample box free if you mention this paper and enclose 10c. in postage.

The Term 'Tonnage.'

To many persons who are not experienced shipbuilders the various uses of the term "tonnage" in relation to the size of a ship may be confusing. The following article from the "Penny and Jones Shipbuilder" explains the terms well and makes a clean distinction between the various ways in which they are used.

There are four kinds of tonnage in use in shipping circles. They are gross tonnage, net registered tonnage, deadweight carrying capacity and displacement.

Deadweight tonnage is what the vessel actually can carry in tons of heavy cargo, plus stores and bunker coal.

Gross tonnage is based on the cubic contents of the hull, with certain arbitrary spaces deducted, and has little bearing on the cargo carrying capacity of the vessel.

Net registered tonnage is gross tonnage with certain allowances for crew space and machinery space deducted, and is the "bearing" on the dead weight carrying capacity of the vessel.

Displacement is the total weight of the vessel when full of cargo—that is, the weight of her hull plus her dead weight tonnage.

In round numbers a ship of 9,000 tons deadweight would stand about as follows: Deadweight carrying capacity, 9,000; gross tonnage, 5,000; net registered, 3,000; displacement, 12,000.

St. Isidore, P. Q. August 18, 1890
Milner's Linctus Co., Limited.
Gentlemen,—I have frequently used MILNER'S LINCTUS and also prescribed it for my patients always with the most gratifying results, and I consider it the best all-round Linctus extant.

Yours truly,
Dr. J. C. FLETCHER

How to Break Rearing Horses.

I have had considerable trouble with rearing of horses and have found that they can usually be broken by the following method and especially if they are young and taken in time.

Place a rope or strap of the size around the body just back of the forelegs and fasten a pulley on either side of this. Take 20 or 25 feet of 3/4 inch rope and run it through the front pulleys. Fasten them around the front legs just below the pastern joints. Keep the loop of the rope in your hand and when the horse is well up in the air, draw up on it thus bringing his feet up against his belly.

When he comes down he will be tired and slumped on his knees. This is no advisable on a hard road a there is danger of injuring his legs, but a few days in this sort given on the grass or in a plowed field will not ruin a youngster.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children In Use For Over 30 Years Always bears the Signature of Dr. J. C. FLETCHER

"In Heaven," promised the colored evangelist, there will be great banquets and sumptuous feasts."
"Yeh-uh huh-dai's see," commented a dusky negro in the audience, "but tell me, young fellow, who's gonna wash dem dishes, huh?"

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

Milner's Linctus cures Croup, Whooping Cough, Sore Throat, and all the ailments of Infants and Children.

Fighting in Mesopotamia

By GORTON CARRUTH

He put his paper aside abruptly, rose and walked down the leaf-strewn path to the other bench, where the girl was sitting.
"Would you like to try an experiment?" he asked quietly, standing with his hand behind his back.
She looked at him for a moment, smiling, her expression neither inviting nor repelling.
"Perhaps," she said at length.
He sank into the seat beside her. "It is something I have often wanted to try," he said slowly. "Here are we two, perfect strangers in a city of five millions, and never likely to see each other again after we leave this chance meeting place. We have sat here for half an hour, each pretending to read or to watch the squirrels, or the falling leaves, or the misty golden sunshine out there on the field, but each examining and appraising the other when the other wasn't looking."
"Now, this is the experiment: We have each gained a strong first impression of the other. Let us first absolutely trust each other, and let us do what friends cannot do—speak without reservations, made for fear of hurting each other's feelings."
She sat without speaking for a moment after he had finished, gazing thoughtfully out at the warm expanse of autumnal trees.
"But why?" she asked at last. "I am not sure that Burns was right. Perhaps it is just as well that we can't see ourselves as others see us."
"That," he said, "makes it an experiment. It will be a new experience. I want to know exactly how I look in the eyes of a stranger, however much the knowledge may hurt. Have you ever felt that way?"
"Yes," she said, "I have. Everyone does. I think."
"Well, I'll tell you, if you will do as much for me."
Again she hesitated and sat silently watching a gray squirrel that untroubled by self-consciousness, was busy burying a nut.
"Well," she said finally, "you first."
"The fact that I came over here and proposed this experiment to you at all shows that I thought you a sensible girl," he began slowly. "You impressed me as being neither a prude nor a flirt. You are pretty—I don't need to tell you that—but I was not spoiled. You are rather thoughtful and studious, and you have a genuine feeling for the beauties of nature—something which too many girls just pretend to have. You are not above, I believe, taking an interest in babies and embroidery, although you know what is going on about you in the world and read something besides the women's page in the newspapers. You don't work for your living, and your home is one of the comfortable houses in the Seventies. You see a good deal of the society side of life, but you keep healthfully true to serious things. You are probably a suffragist in a quiet way, and you are also interested in some form of social or philanthropic work, which you do not see as a merely humanitarian duty."
He was interrupted by the girl's low laughter. "Why not say that I have all the good qualities, and be done with it?" she asked. "Your impression is certainly not very accurate. Let's see if I can do better."
"You, it seems to me, have many of the excellent qualities that you are attributing to me. You are nothing of a 'report,' but are a rather serious-minded young man, somewhat too much given to introspection. You are not just looking, and you impress me as having a good deal of common sense. You are about twenty-five, and you are one of our rising young professional men—an architect, perhaps, or an engineer of some sort. You read a good deal, and when it comes to newspapers, something besides the sporting pages. You are rather domestic by nature, and you have a sense of humor. You also live in one of the better homes in the Seventies or the Eighties, and you are a confirmed New Yorker. There, how far is that for a snapshot portrait?"
He did not answer at once, and they both sat silently for a few minutes. "My experiment has failed, I'm afraid," he said at length.
"Of course," she assented gently. "It was bound to. It shows of how little worth a first impression is, especially when you wonder if the defects that you see in yourself were apparent to others, and you are half disappointed that they are not, for you do not like the idea of wearing a mask. Isn't that it?"
"Yes."
"And yet you must have known, except in moments of self-deprecation, that you make a favorable first impression; and I know that I do, conceded as that may sound."
"All right," she straightened up abruptly. "Then we come to the second part of this experiment. We will now tell just how badly each of us is mistaken."
"Well," she hesitated. "We can say it, but this also is a pretty hard thing to do."
"Listen to me first," he answered, "while I tell you what a poor judge of character at first glance you are. I may have a sense of humor, but it doesn't work very well. I am gloomy, pessimistic and am rapidly developing into a chronic grump. I am not one of our rising young professional men. I am a clerk in a large mercantile house, and there hasn't been anything startling in my rise yet. I may have common sense, but I don't keep me from making a fool of myself about half the time. I may be domestic by nature, but that's all the good it does me. So far from living in a brownstone house in the Eighties, I live in a single room down in the Twenties. I came from Michigan and am a comparative stranger in New York. I read a good deal, it is true, and you are right about the sporting page, but I don't believe that I ever had an original idea in my life. And well, I might go on at considerable length, but how do you like the rough-drawn portrait, so far?"
The girl was laughing at him again. "I think the portrait none the worse," she said; "especially since you are clearly in a mood for self-deprecation. Let me after your portrait of me a little. I hope that I am sensible. I'm not a flirt, but I'm not so sure that I am not conceited. I like babies and embroidery, but I'm not interested in charitable work and I do read the women's pages in the newspapers. I don't live in a brownstone house in the Eighties, either, but have a room up in the One Hundred and Eighties. I earn my living by teaching a class of little Greek, Italian and Russian children down in an East Side school, and I don't have any other money. I have a bad temper, but I don't offer a good deal at times. No doubt, I'm more studious than most girls, but I like the movies and candy and all sorts of frivolous things very much. Now how do you like the rough-drawn portrait?"
"Well," he admitted gravely, "I rather think it improves the portrait; it makes it so much more human."
They fell silent again, watching the sunshine on the colored trees.
"You are quite right about one thing," said the girl presently. "I love the trees and the fields and the sky. I was brought up in the country, and I don't believe I could stand it here in the thick smoke of cities and stone, if it were not for the park."
"I come here often myself," the man said. "Do you?"
"Every Sunday afternoon. I like this spot best of all; the view is so beautiful."
"So do I."
The sun had left the trees and they could see the lights of the city twinkling like brilliant stars.
"Do you know," said the man, rising, "I think my experiment is not going to be a failure, after all, though it has not resulted as I expected."
"Perhaps it won't be," answered the girl quietly.
"There was a moment's pause. Then she said, "I'm glad—good-night."
"Good-night," she answered. "I turned and walked along the darkening path. As he reached the end he broke into a cheerful whistle. The girl, smiling, walked briskly away. She was wondering what she would wear next Sunday afternoon, and he was trying to decide if it would be worth a take a look of candy with him."

The Term 'Tonnage.'

To many persons who are not experienced shipbuilders the various uses of the term "tonnage" in relation to the size of a ship may be confusing. The following article from the "Penny and Jones Shipbuilder" explains the terms well and makes a clean distinction between the various ways in which they are used.

There are four kinds of tonnage in use in shipping circles. They are gross tonnage, net registered tonnage, deadweight carrying capacity and displacement.

Deadweight tonnage is what the vessel actually can carry in tons of heavy cargo, plus stores and bunker coal.

Gross tonnage is based on the cubic contents of the hull, with certain arbitrary spaces deducted, and has little bearing on the cargo carrying capacity of the vessel.

Net registered tonnage is gross tonnage with certain allowances for crew space and machinery space deducted, and is the "bearing" on the dead weight carrying capacity of the vessel.

Displacement is the total weight of the vessel when full of cargo—that is, the weight of her hull plus her dead weight tonnage.

In round numbers a ship of 9,000 tons deadweight would stand about as follows: Deadweight carrying capacity, 9,000; gross tonnage, 5,000; net registered, 3,000; displacement, 12,000.

St. Isidore, P. Q. August 18, 1890
Milner's Linctus Co., Limited.
Gentlemen,—I have frequently used MILNER'S LINCTUS and also prescribed it for my patients always with the most gratifying results, and I consider it the best all-round Linctus extant.

Yours truly,
Dr. J. C. FLETCHER

How to Break Rearing Horses.

I have had considerable trouble with rearing of horses and have found that they can usually be broken by the following method and especially if they are young and taken in time.

Place a rope or strap of the size around the body just back of the forelegs and fasten a pulley on either side of this. Take 20 or 25 feet of 3/4 inch rope and run it through the front pulleys. Fasten them around the front legs just below the pastern joints. Keep the loop of the rope in your hand and when the horse is well up in the air, draw up on it thus bringing his feet up against his belly.

When he comes down he will be tired and slumped on his knees. This is no advisable on a hard road a there is danger of injuring his legs, but a few days in this sort given on the grass or in a plowed field will not ruin a youngster.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children In Use For Over 30 Years Always bears the Signature of Dr. J. C. FLETCHER

"In Heaven," promised the colored evangelist, there will be great banquets and sumptuous feasts."
"Yeh-uh huh-dai's see," commented a dusky negro in the audience, "but tell me, young fellow, who's gonna wash dem dishes, huh?"

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

Milner's Linctus cures Croup, Whooping Cough, Sore Throat, and all the ailments of Infants and Children.

A Successful Experiment

By GORTON CARRUTH

He put his paper aside abruptly, rose and walked down the leaf-strewn path to the other bench, where the girl was sitting.
"Would you like to try an experiment?" he asked quietly, standing with his hand behind his back.
She looked at him for a moment, smiling, her expression neither inviting nor repelling.
"Perhaps," she said at length.
He sank into the seat beside her. "It is something I have often wanted to try," he said slowly. "Here are we two, perfect strangers in a city of five millions, and never likely to see each other again after we leave this chance meeting place. We have sat here for half an hour, each pretending to read or to watch the squirrels, or the falling leaves, or the misty golden sunshine out there on the field, but each examining and appraising the other when the other wasn't looking."
"Now, this is the experiment: We have each gained a strong first impression of the other. Let us first absolutely trust each other, and let us do what friends cannot do—speak without reservations, made for fear of hurting each other's feelings."
She sat without speaking for a moment after he had finished, gazing thoughtfully out at the warm expanse of autumnal trees.
"But why?" she asked at last. "I am not sure that Burns was right. Perhaps it is just as well that we can't see ourselves as others see us."
"That," he said, "makes it an experiment. It will be a new experience. I want to know exactly how I look in the eyes of a stranger, however much the knowledge may hurt. Have you ever felt that way?"
"Yes," she said, "I have. Everyone does. I think."
"Well, I'll tell you, if you will do as much for me."
Again she hesitated and sat silently watching a gray squirrel that untroubled by self-consciousness, was busy burying a nut.
"Well," she said finally, "you first."
"The fact that I came over here and proposed this experiment to you at all shows that I thought you a sensible girl," he began slowly. "You impressed me as being neither a prude nor a flirt. You are pretty—I don't need to tell you that—but I was not spoiled. You are rather thoughtful and studious, and you have a genuine feeling for the beauties of nature—something which too many girls just pretend to have. You are not above, I believe, taking an interest in babies and embroidery, although you know what is going on about you in the world and read something besides the women's page in the newspapers. You don't work for your living, and your home is one of the comfortable houses in the Seventies. You see a good deal of the society side of life, but you keep healthfully true to serious things. You are probably a suffragist in a quiet way, and you are also interested in some form of social or philanthropic work, which you do not see as a merely humanitarian duty."
He was interrupted by the girl's low laughter. "Why not say that I have all the good qualities, and be done with it?" she asked. "Your impression is certainly not very accurate. Let's see if I can do better."
"You, it seems to me, have many of the excellent qualities that you are attributing to me. You are nothing of a 'report,' but are a rather serious-minded young man, somewhat too much given to introspection. You are not just looking, and you impress me as having a good deal of common sense. You are about twenty-five, and you are one of our rising young professional men—an architect, perhaps, or an engineer of some sort. You read a good deal, and when it comes to newspapers, something besides the sporting pages. You are rather domestic by nature, and you have a sense of humor. You also live in one of the better homes in the Seventies or the Eighties, and you are a confirmed New Yorker. There, how far is that for a snapshot portrait?"
He did not answer at once, and they both sat silently for a few minutes. "My experiment has failed, I'm afraid," he said at length.
"Of course," she assented gently. "It was bound to. It shows of how little worth a first impression is, especially when you wonder if the defects that you see in yourself were apparent to others, and you are half disappointed that they are not, for you do not like the idea of wearing a mask. Isn't that it?"
"Yes."
"And yet you must have known, except in moments of self-deprecation, that you make a favorable first impression; and I know that I do, conceded as that may sound."
"All right," she straightened up abruptly. "Then we come to the second part of this experiment. We will now tell just how badly each of us is mistaken."
"Well," she hesitated. "We can say it, but this also is a pretty hard thing to do."
"Listen to me first," he answered, "while I tell you what a poor judge of character at first glance you are. I may have a sense of humor, but it doesn't work very well. I am gloomy, pessimistic and am rapidly developing into a chronic grump. I am not one of our rising young professional men. I am a clerk in a large mercantile house, and there hasn't been anything startling in my rise yet. I may have common sense, but I don't keep me from making a fool of myself about half the time. I may be domestic by nature, but that's all the good it does me. So far from living in a brownstone house in the Eighties, I live in a single room down in the Twenties. I came from Michigan and am a comparative stranger in New York. I read a good deal, it is true, and you are right about the sporting page, but I don't believe that I ever had an original idea in my life. And well, I might go on at considerable length, but how do you like the rough-drawn portrait, so far?"
The girl was laughing at him again. "I think the portrait none the worse," she said; "especially since you are clearly in a mood for self-deprecation. Let me after your portrait of me a little. I hope that I am sensible. I'm not a flirt, but I'm not so sure that I am not conceited. I like babies and embroidery, but I'm not interested in charitable work and I do read the women's pages in the newspapers. I don't live in a brownstone house in the Eighties, either, but have a room up in the One Hundred and Eighties. I earn my living by teaching a class of little Greek, Italian and Russian children down in an East Side school, and I don't have any other money. I have a bad temper, but I don't offer a good deal at times. No doubt, I'm more studious than most girls, but I like the movies and candy and all sorts of frivolous things very much. Now how do you like the rough-drawn portrait?"
"Well," he admitted gravely, "I rather think it improves the portrait; it makes it so much more human."
They fell silent again, watching the sunshine on the colored trees.
"You are quite right about one thing," said the girl presently. "I love the trees and the fields and the sky. I was brought up in the country, and I don't believe I could stand it here in the thick smoke of cities and stone, if it were not for the park."
"I come here often myself," the man said. "Do you?"
"Every Sunday afternoon. I like this spot best of all; the view is so beautiful."
"So do I."
The sun had left the trees and they could see the lights of the city twinkling like brilliant stars.
"Do you know," said the man, rising, "I think my experiment is not going to be a failure, after all, though it has not resulted as I expected."
"Perhaps it won't be," answered the girl quietly.
"There was a moment's pause. Then she said, "I'm glad—good-night."
"Good-night," she answered. "I turned and walked along the darkening path. As he reached the end he broke into a cheerful whistle. The girl, smiling, walked briskly away. She was wondering what she would wear next Sunday afternoon, and he was trying to decide if it would be worth a take a look of candy with him."

The Term 'Tonnage.'

To many persons who are not experienced shipbuilders the various uses of the term "tonnage" in relation to the size of a ship may be confusing. The following article from the "Penny and Jones Shipbuilder" explains the terms well and makes a clean distinction between the various ways in which they are used.

There are four kinds of tonnage in use in shipping circles. They are gross tonnage, net registered tonnage, deadweight carrying capacity and displacement.

Deadweight tonnage is what the vessel actually can carry in tons of heavy cargo, plus stores and bunker coal.

Gross tonnage is based on the cubic contents of the hull, with certain arbitrary spaces deducted, and has little bearing on the cargo carrying capacity of the vessel.

Net registered tonnage is gross tonnage with certain allowances for crew space and machinery space deducted, and is the "bearing" on the dead weight carrying capacity of the vessel.

Displacement is the total weight of the vessel when full of cargo—that is, the weight of her hull plus her dead weight tonnage.

In round numbers a ship of 9,000 tons deadweight would stand about as follows: Deadweight carrying capacity, 9,000; gross tonnage, 5,000; net registered, 3,000; displacement, 12,000.

St. Isidore, P. Q. August 18, 1890
Milner's Linctus Co., Limited.
Gentlemen,—I have frequently used MILNER'S LINCTUS and also prescribed it for my patients always with the most gratifying results, and I consider it the best all-round Linctus extant.

Yours truly,
Dr. J. C. FLETCHER

How to Break Rearing Horses.

I have had considerable trouble with rearing of horses and have found that they can usually be broken by the following method and especially if they are young and taken in time.

Place a rope or strap of the size around the body just back of the forelegs and fasten a pulley on either side of this. Take 20 or 25 feet of 3/4 inch rope and run it through the front pulleys. Fasten them around the front legs just below the pastern joints. Keep the loop of the rope in your hand and when the horse is well up in the air, draw up on it thus bringing his feet up against his belly.

When he comes down he will be tired and slumped on his knees. This is no advisable on a hard road a there is danger of injuring his legs, but a few days in this sort given on the grass or in a plowed field will not ruin a youngster.