It is pointed out that Britain has hrge interests in the Republic of Mexico and in the immediate vicinity of Magdalena Bay, and that the United States is determined to obtain the harbor for strategic reasons before the completion of the Panama Canal. CAPTAIN MISSING. Fears For the Safety of the Commander of British Cruise.

Grenada, British West Indies, March 20.-Fears are entertained aboard the British cruiser Scylla, stationed at Grenada, for the safety of the captain of the cruiser, who, in a small boat, manned by one sailor, put out to his ship on Wednesday night. Apparently the men lost their bearings, for they failed to arrive on board.

A coastal steamer searched for the boat until daylight, but without suc-cess. The Scylla is now engaged in a more extended search, it being thought that the boat might have been blown

The British navy list for March, 1908, gives Crawford MacLachlan as commander of the Scylla, which is a 3,400 ton protected cruiser, attached to the fourth cruiser squadron.

In a final effort to effect a settlement with the Hamilton Street Railway Com pany, Chairman Sweeney, of the Board of Works, will endeavor to have the Ontario Railwey Board come here and talk natters over informally with the aldernen and company officials. It was the Railway Board that made the suggestion for the company and city to get toether when the Council was making application for an order to compel the ailway to make improvements. Chair-W. M. His idea is that if an arrangement could be reached, which the people would be likely to endorse, a by-law could be submitted at the same time, providing for an expenditure of $250,000 for good roads. Inits would give the unemployed in Hamilton work tursughout the year and solve the problem that has been confronting the addermen. City Engineer Barrow City Engineer Barrow will again strongly urge the ablermen to purchase a trenching machine. It is said that in the past they have always steered say of this, on account of the labor vote, The engineer estimates that there is about 16,000 yards of excavating to be done on the east end sewer. This cost about 16,000 yards of excavating to be done on the east end sewer. This cost from 70 cents to $1 a yard, and Mr. Barrow says that with a trenching machine, which would cost about $3,000, this work could be done for half of what it would cost otherwise. Besides, the machine could be used throughout the year for doing excavation work on other jobs.

Chief TenEyck, of the Fire Department, who went to Toronto yesterday to see how they handled the fire drill in the schools there, will as a result of his visit, recommend to the Board of Education that smoke be used in the testa here occasionally, and that the reverse drill be practiced. This consists of halting the pupils when they are marching out, and, instead of using the regular exit, sending them out by one of the other exits. The Chief thinks it is a good plan to have the smoke drill, first good plan to have the smoke drill, first warning the pupils. In case of a tife then the pupils would not become panie-stricken with the smell or sight of smoke.

Mr. Barrow thinks that the best pro Mr. Barrow thinks that the best proof of the good job that was made at the filtering basins last year, notwithstanding the criticism hurled at his department, is the fact that no sand whatever has got into the intake during the winter months, when the heavy eastern gales have been raging. Another good proof of the effectiveness of the filtering basins is furnished by the fact that during the big blow from the cast last week the intakes were shut off for four days, all the water used being filtered.

The knowledge that he did not love her—could never have truly loved her—had been a death blow to her happiness. "It has broken my heart—I can never love again," moaned Norine, her lips quivering with pitiful emotion.

She realized poor Joe's love for her now as she had never realized it before; but alas! when one loves another, there is no affection to give elsewhere, deep as her pity might be for him.

She looked at Joe's careworn face, and her heart ached for him. As yet she had not had the opportunity to tell him how cruelly he had been misjudged by his friends and neighbors—that they quite believed he had absconded with the express company's money—never dreaming that he had fallen into the hands of the despress "Pawness.

They had not a moment to lose; they must push on; she must awaken Joe, and tell him the awful story.

She tried to spring to her feet, but her limbs refused to obey her; nor could she utter the cry on her lips; her every nerve seemed paralyzed.

And as the moments passed, the world seemed to slip from her; the deep snow seemed to melt and strett? away into green pastures, where bright-hued flowers rioted in the sunshine and birds sang the sweetest of melodies among the green, waving branches. Then, slowly, the singing of the little rivulet at her feet seemed to crease, the birds notes were stilled, and the terrible stillness around and about her seemed to grow oppressive. Something shone like twin scintillating diamonds at her feet, among the wild flowers. The sparkling jewels seemed to wave to and fro to—and—fro—impelling her almost unconsciously to sway to and fro to keep time with them. The blood scemed to recede from her heart, leaving her a cold as ice; her banch kung powerless at her side. It was clearly evident to him that there was no other way than passing the long hours of the night up in the same tree again, waiting for the light of another morrow to proceed.

In the midst of his sad reflections a thought came to him like an inspiration. He remembered once hearing of a hunter who overcame just such an obstacle as confronted him now by laying several heavy fallen branches across the almost level boughs of the trees, making thus a sort of rude platform up in the tree, where he could stretch himself out and sleep in comparative comfort, and out of where he comparative comfort, and out of sleep in comparative comfort, and out of the reach of the roaming, howling beasts One Hundred Miles of Grand Trunk of the forest, who were unable to reach him so far up in his cyric among the topmost branches.

With alacrity Joe set about constructing two such landlings, Norine watching him with wide open, puzzled eyes.

He soon had them as secure as they could possibly be made, and when he helped Norine up to her place of shelter she rewarded his labor by deciaring the scheme an excellent one, assuring him that she could rest there without fear.

Thus the long hours of the night dragged their slow lengths by, Joe taking fiftul naps by fits and starts, listening long and earnestly every little while to hear the faint sound of Norine's breathing from above.

As for himself, he dared not trust himself to sleep lest some unforessen caught the sound of moccasined feet approaching.

He realized that it was a prowling hand of Pawnees, and as they halted under the great tree for a moment he gathered from their conversation that the chiefs had given up the hope of capturing the fugitives, and had ordered the braves all back to their wigwams, where they were to be summarily disciplined for not bringing back the two who had so eleverly eluded the vigilant Pawnees.

Wyss, reproachfully. "No," replied Mr. Wyss, mournfully, "a loss."—Judge,

Then they fell to discussing vigorously what course they had taken, and by listening intently Joe soon learned that the main read, of which he had been in search, was scarcely two miles distant from that very spot, and that by following an almost hidden path that lay alongside of a row of stunted bushes it could be reached with little difficulty. Soon afterward the Pawnees resumed their journey, much to Joe's infinite relief.

TURNER TRIAL

CHARGED WITH PERFORMING AN ILLEGAL OPERATION.

Witness Tells of Rose Winter's Sufferings- Says That Dr. Lehmann Agreed to Operate, But Girl Had Not Enough Money.

Toronto, March 20,-Mrs. Minnie Turner, over whose guilt a jury in the Assizes last December disagreed, was placed on trial in the Sessions yesterday But Joe Brainard was too noble for that.

Never until after he had placed her in the arms of her good old grandfather and his old wife would he tell the girl how much she was to bim, and plead with her to let him protect through the gears to come her his, which he had saved not once, but thrice.

He made no attempt to converse with her as they walked along, content to feel her so near him, and to pick out the best steps for her trembling leet, with the prayer in his heart that they might always walk through life just so Cosely together.

the prayer in his heart that they might always walk through life just so closely together.

On and on they walked, pausing to rest now and then whenever Norine showed signs of weariness.

At length, much to Joe's alarm, he noticed that the sun was fast sinking in the west over the belt of trees.

He knew that it would not be long until night would close in upon them again. The forest was scarcely more than ten miles long each way; why, then, had they not reached the mountain road ere this? he asked himself in dismay, over and over again.

"Are we almost there, Joe' asked Norine at length, as though reading the troubled thoughts that he was striving so diligently to keep from her.

"We ought to strike into the mountain road at any moment now, he replied, endeavoring to speak cheerfully.

"It almost seems to me as though we had passed this very spot before," murmured Norine, g'ancing around critically.

"All spots in a desnse-forest like this."

"All spots in a desnse-forest like this."

"All spots in a desnse-forest like this appear pretty much the same," he de-lared.

That was on the Friday night. Clared.

But Norine stopped short.

"We have been here before, Joe," she said, her face paling perceptibly.

"We have been kere before, Joe," size said, her face paling perceptibly. "This is the spot where the stake was; don't you see him hanging over the branch of that tree—just where you flung han?"

It was, indeed, but too true. They had traversed for long hours in a semicircle from the time they had resumed their journey after Norine's thrilling experience.

"Heaven help us both: you are right. Norine." he answered, with the sound of tears in his voice. "I thought I was going due east, How could I have made such a fatal error?"

They had proceeded but a short distance further ere they came upon the till tree in which they had found shelter, with the three fallen Pawnees buried in the snow beneath it.

They looked into each other's troubled face, unable to utter a word.

"Forgive me, Norine," was all that Joe could say in broken accents.

"It was through no fault of yours that it kappened, Joe," she answered, making the bravest kind of an effort to keep back her tears. "Everything happens for the best. No doubt if we had gone any other way we would have been murdered by some roving bands of Pawnes."

"It is most kind of you to overlook it in that way," he answered huskily. "You was in all ow state.

She seemed so sorry for what had happened and used to cry very bitterly.

Dr. Stephen B. Pollard said he had known Mrs. Turner for several years past. She met him on the street our day and asked him to come and see a girl at her house. He saw it was a case of blood-poisoning and the girl was in allow state.

"It is most kind of you to overlook it in that way," he answered huskily. "You Another night up in the tree! God in heaven! could any prospect be more horrible to contemplate?

For himself he cared nothing: but Norine—ah! how would she ever be able to endure it without breaking down altogether?

It was clearly evident to him that there was no other way than passing the long hours of the night up in the same of the night up in the same.

Pacific Which Will Cost Millions.

Winnipeg, March 19.—A contract was signed to-day by the Grand Trunk Pacific and the firm of Foley, Walsh &

Pacific and the firm of Foley, Walsh & Stewart, which involves an expenditure of between five and ten million dollars. The contract requires the completion by the firm of Foley, Walsh & Stewart of the line of the Grand Trunk Pacific from Prince Rupert, on the Pocific coast, to a point one hundred miles distant on the bank of the Skeena River. A small amount of earth is found on the banks of the Skeena River, but almost all of the work of excavation is in the rock and for the whole distance the rails of the Grand Trunk Pacific will rest thereon. Men and material can be delivered at any point along the line within a few yards of the point of operation. For some twenty or thirty miles the line skirts the coast of the Pacific Ocean. As for himself, he dared not trust himself to sleep lest some unforeseen danger confront them and need all his energies to battle with it.

His fears proved to be well grounded, for in the wee small hours of that neverto-be-forgotten night his sharpened ear caught the sound of moccasined feet approaching.

BEULAH SURVEY LOTS SELLING

Take a stroll over the survey and you will be convinced that we are offering superior value in "Boulah Lots," and you will also agree that we are justified in advancing the price $2 per foot May 1st. A word or two about restrictions: The purchaser is not compelled to build, but should he desire to do so, then he must erect a dwelling with a cash valuation of at least $1.500. The wall of house next to street shall be 14 feet from street line, and 4 feet from northerly line of lot, this restriction giving a uniform building line on each street, also permitting lawns on south side of every house. Not more than one dwelding shall be built on each lot, thus ensuring sunshine and a healthy surrounding. We think these wholesome restrictions will appeal to "Home Builders" in preference to a "Lone Lot"

Trade was a little better on account of the light run, and prices were said to be about 10c per cwt. better, but they were certainly not any more. Exporters—A few cattle of export weights were bought for butcher purposes. Une load was reported at $5.20 per cwt. that weighed 1,300 lbs. each. Export bulls sold from $3.75 to $4.40 per cwt.

NOON STOCK LETTER.

New York, March 20.—The market during the morning ruled firm, with no definite trend, but an evident disposition on part of interests who promoted the recent advance to take stocks offered at concessions. The prospect for a strong annual report of U. S. Steel, a favorable bank statement and Washington legislation for benefit of corporations were important elements. It is stated that real attitude of Texas authorities and the people is improving as regards the railroads. The continued advance in Southern 5 per cent, bonds is considered significant. Appearances indicate that powerful interests desirous of encouraging sentiment in business circles by the advance in stock prices will maintain that position. Good news is quickly reflected by quotations, while adverse items cause less real selling than for some time past.

If you are the average American worker you are going to be a failure. This isn't a nice sort of thing to stare one in the face on a Sunday morning, it is quite true, but if you were playing a lottery and a lot of people had gone around and told you that your ticket contained the lucky number, wouldn't you sooner have somebody come up an tell you the truth—that you were not the winner—than to go ahead and figure how you were going to spend the thousands that you were going to spend the thousands that you were going to know the truth in the beginning than to go along in happy

Isn't it better to know the truth in the beginning than to go along in happy delusion until the smrah of expectations and hopes comes in such a lump that one gives way to despair? Of course. Therefore, it is well to face the fact that if you are an average American worker you are not going to be a success, counting success as it is counted nowadays, with the bank book as the only foundation.

This does not mean that you cannot succeed, that it is imposible for you to win your way. You can do both, of course. But if you and your career are representative of the general run of the worker you aren't going to do it. You are not going to be a success any more than the average lottery player is going to be a winner, or the average human being live to be 80 years old.

Average Player Can't Win.

The Treasurer said there was essity now for economy, forget ting that economy was a virtue that ould always be cultivated. Mr. Smith's statement in regard to the Beck power scheme was brief, plain and pointed: "Mr. Beck has talked for three years and a half and done nothing. Indeed, the difference between the parties is now only great or small ding to the degree of optimism with which the future of the city and the company may be viewed.

(Vancouver Saturday Sunset.)

Whatever the political faults of Hon. Joseph Martin thay have been, graft or a complacent view of it in his own or any other party, has not been one. His bitterest political enemies must admit that. Some of his most uncompromising antagonists are men of his own party. At a meeting of Liberals after his shortlived Premiership of this Province and opposition to him had developed within the party ranks, he exclaimed: "Show me a Liberal in this hall who is opposed to me and I will tell you which graft he wanted and did not get." Joe Martin is not a diplomat. His blunt outspokenness and downright honesty are distinguishing characteristics of the man, but there are behind these ability of a high order, force and political ambition.

Under the direction of Miss Kate Lawlor, who is the head of the department, and leaves and pony backs. Another pleasing effect is shown in a Copenhagen blue hat, trimmed with small flowers and foliage with a band of tan ribbon and heavy Dresden ribbon forming the band around the crown. A stylish dress hat is shown of Alice blue tulle, trimmed with ruching, of three tones. Around the crown is a band of Copenhagen blue, and it is finished at the side front with small roses and violets of the same shade. Something dainty is to be seen in a tan rustic hat. The crown is formed of American Beauty roses and foliage and the trimming is of bronze green taffeta ribbon, with a large folded bow. The band is finished in brown tulle.

Another style that will please is a cream mohair hat with a collar of mohair and Dresden ribbon forming the trimming on the rim. It is finished at the side-front with two large cream plumes and a buckle. There is a cute bisque design of mohair faced with silk of the same shade. The trimming is of the same shade. The trimming is of creame tuille, and frayed silk on the brim ereame taille, and frayed silk on the brim with pink roses and foliage banked at the side. The picture hat is still in vogue. One is shown in pale blue of mohair braid, finished with a box-pleating of tulle around the brim. There is a band of taffeta around the crown with three large plumes falling off the side. These are caught up with two gold pins. A splendid line of New York tailored bats is being shown in two tone styles, in tan, brown, Copenhagen blue, trimmed with fancy mounts and wings. Spec-

A large assortment is being silk violets and large wings in the side front. This store makes a specialty of

A pretty golden hued Paris togue is trimmed with melme and brown and white osprey. Great interest centred in a large Gainsboro-Paris hat in green shade and very swell. Among the New York hats is the pretty Merry Widow sailor that is very popular just now. The high crown Merry Widow with gold band and pleatings of emerald, green velvet ribbon with large wings at side, is very charming.

Few people in Smoke Ridge had ever seen an automobile, so when one of these "red deviis" stopped for a few moments in the isolated village the curious inhabitants gazed at the snorting demon with a mixture of fear and awe, and the owner, who had entered the one general store to make a purchase, heard one rustic remark: "The bet it's a man-killer!"

"Of course it is," assured another.

"Look at that number on the back of the car. That shows how many people it's run over. It's accordin' to law. Now if that feller was to run over anybody here in Smoke Ridge, it would be our duty to telograph that number—1284—to the next town ahead."

"And what would they do?" demanded the interested auditors.

"Why the police would stop him and change his number to 1285."

Hon. Gco. E. Foster, in resuming the budget debate, spent considerable time in criticism of the tariff policy of the Liberals in Opposition and in power. It had, he deceated, gone from change Foster's criticisms of the growing exhibitorials in Opposition and in power, the liberals of the Gonservatory with the price for this tready. Like the sea a small list of articles on alich the French minimum tariff was bitained, but the British preference had been attacked and lowered, and welve countries had been given the seduced terms extended to France, and or them Canada got, nothing in ream. Dealing with the increased volume of trade shown in the trade and avigation returns, he maintained that he returns were misleading, in that hey did not take account of the higher rices now, compared with those in 1896. He then contrasted the growth importance with that of exports, citing figures to show that, while since 906 the former had increased 169 per ent., the exports that they did not want to give the entire the entire the entire the entire that the day of resk in the entire the entire that the entire the entire the entire that the entire the entire the entire the entire that the entire the enti to change and absurdity to absurdity.
The French treaty, he thought, would not work out so satisfactorily as the Finance Minister expected. Canada not work out so satisfactority as the Finance Minister expected. Canada had paid a high price for this treaty. There was a small list of articles on which the French minimum tariff was obtained, but the Britisa preference had been attacked and lowered, and twelve countries had been given the reduced terms extended to France, and for them Canada got nothing in return. Dealing with the increased volume of trade shown in the trade and ravigation returns, he maintained that the returns were misleading, in that they did not take account of the higher prices now, compared with those in prices now, compared with those in 1896. He then contrasted the growth of imports with that of exports, cit-ing figures to show that, while since 1906 the former had increased 169 per cent, the exports had increased 118 per cent. Trade with the United States, too, he caimed, had increased out of seential to where son, and, finally greater economy in expenditure.

He proceeded to criticise the Crow's Ness Pasa agreement, comparing it with the agreement with the C. P. R., which the former Government had proposed, 0f the subsidy of 83,600,000 to this road, $2,000,000 was, he said, a direct hose to the country, and nothing had been obtained in return but promise of lower rates, which would have the country and did come long any event, and did come long any event, and did come long. well-known friends and financial sup-porters, who had sold their charter to the C. Sir Frederick Borden pointed out that the matter was in the first place raferred to the Judge of the Exchequer Court, who had referred it to the referee.

Mr. Foster wanted to know who recommended the referee.

Sir Frederick Borden promptly retorted that Mr. Foster had said a referee had been recommended and appointed by the Government. As a matter of fact, he repeated, the referee was appointed by a Judge of the rychequer Court. The bon, gentleman

"Each stalwart new Liberal gets just what he axes.

And the people their annual soft sawder and taxes."

Hon. William Paterson.

And the people their annual soft sawder and taxes."

Hon. William Paterson.

Hon. William Paterson, was greeted with rousing cheers, followed, In his opening remarks he made a humorous calculation. Supposing a six months' session, working every day excepting Sundays, for seven hours a day, it would work out at 4 1-2 hours a session for each member. But deducting mornings, which were devoted to committees, and Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, for a six months' session, it would give each member three hours and forty minutes for the session. On that basis Mr. Foster's contribution to the budget debate had occupied nearly all the time that should be given to two members. Moreover, taking other occasions during the present session, it worked out to Mr. Foster having taken up the time of six members of the House. Presumably a number of members had given to Mr. Foster their time. If not, then what conception had he of his own importance? He wondered if the leader of the Opposition had given some of his time to Mr. Foster. It was to be hoped not, because they would rather hear Mr. Borden than Mr. Foster. The leader of the Opposition did not possess the habit of speaking for the sake of speaking, and repeating over and over again the same oid story. Alluding to some of Mr. Foster's arguments, he pointed out that the late Conservative Administration came into power at a most favorable time, following a period of depression. He admitted Mr. Foster's claims that in the period of Conservative rule there had been progress, and he proceeded to make comparisons. Taking the last eleven years of the Conservative Government, trade had, as Mr. Foster said, increased $80,000.000.000 but during eleven years of the present Administration foreign trade had increased by $80,000.000.000 during the whole eighteen years of the last eleven years. Mr. Paterson spent a few moments dealing with Mr. Foster's criticisms of the growing even years of the last eleven years of the last eleven woments dealing with Mr. Foster's criticisms of the gro in the last eleven years. Continuing, he referred among things to what the member for tion. Continuing, he retried among other things to what the member for North Toronto had termed the Crow's Nest Pass seandal. Hon, gentlemen opposite had as much foundation for that as for any other of their alleged scandals. They had, including Mr. Foster, voted for the subsidy of $3,500,000, the granting of which had resulted in the opening up of the Boundary country and a reduction in the rates on coal that in five years had put back into the pockets of the people all that had been given as a subsidy. And now the hon, gentlemen talked of scandal! Mr. Paterson ably defended the Government's course in respect to the Yukon, and particularother things to ably defended the Government's course in respect to the Yukon, and particularly in reference to the attempt frustrated by the then Conservative influences in the Senate to secure the building of the all-Canadian railway to that Territory. To Mr. Foster's rehashed attack on the Arctic expedition to the North Sea he said Mr. Foster had belittled the putting up of the Canadian flag on the islands, and had urged them to trust in diplomacy. "I believe in trusting to occupancy myself," said Mr. Paterson, if remark that evoked hearty Liberal cheers.

Providing for Capital Expenditures.

Providing for Cepital Expenditures.
Reverting for a moment to the question of expenditure, he said that during the last eleven years of the Conservative regime $80,000,000 had been expended on capital account, of which they had to borrow $62,000,000. Under Liberal rule $127,000,000 had been expended on capital account, of which the Finance Minister had borrowed only $5,000,000, and that had been necessitated by the National Transcontinental Railway. The only thing that could be made out of Mr. Foster's arguments in this regard was that none of the revenue should be spent on public works, canals, etc. Feople should be taxed enough to get the money for such undertakings, and if money for such undertakings, and if sufficient could not be obtained that way the rest should be borrowed.

What Sir Wilfrid Said.

Proceeding, Mr. Paterson said it had once again been charged that the Prime Minister had said the National Trans-continental could be built for $13,000,000. Mr. Taylor—He said it. It is there in Hansard peach was devoted to meeting Mr. oster's allegations that the Governnent had not carried out their policies when in Opposition, especially in gard to the tariff. The principle when in Opposition, especially in regard to the tariff. The principle of hon. gentlemen opposite was protection to the extent of putting the tariff up 100 per cent., thus shutting out imports, which would, of course, cut off the revenue. The Liberals had, however, carried out their policy, with the result that they had under a revenue tariff a trade of $840,000,000, compared with $249,000,000 under the old protective tariff. He alluded in this connection to some criticisms as to the increase in imports from the United States. This was in common with the growing imports from other countries, and the increase from the United States was in articles for the interest of the people generally. He alluded to other policies which the Government had carried out, incidentally culogizing the development of the west under Hon. Clifford Sifton's Ministry, which evoked cheers, and concluded with a brief summary of the general results of the present Administration. He was again heartily cheered as he sat down.

Mr. Cockshutt.

Mr. Cockshutt. Mr. Cockshutt criticised the Government for carrying out a fiscal policy which, he said, allowed an adverse balance of trade of $120,000,000 to be icy which, he said, allowed an adverse balance of trade of $120,000,000 to be piled up against the country. He denied that the country was in a presperous condition. The suffering in Ontario during the past winter had been more intense than ever before, and the Minister of the Interior was largely responsible for it. Expenditures had so increased that the country was staggering under the load. He condemned, the action of the Finance-Minister in taking five million dollars out of the reserve to meet the financial emergency in full. It was, he thought, a deplorable example to set to the financial institutions of the country, and many a banker had to go behind the bars tor offences no greater than that of the Finance Minister. Mr. tockshutt then waxed indignant over what he called the Quebee bridge bargain, and drew a gloomy picture of factories running short time, labor unemployed in luge centres, imports from the United States and Europe displacing home products, particularly woollens and agricultural implements.

Mr. Cockshutt—My policy is that these things should be made in Canada, and the tariff should be adjusted so that they could be made in Canada.

Mr. Maedonald—Then why not move

Mr. Macdonald—Then why not move

Mr. Cockshutt evaded the challenge Mr. Cockshutt evaded the challenge, however, and proceeded to enlarge upon the growth of imports. The whole policy of the Government had brought the country to the verge of ruin. Even in the Globe they read of men marching upon the public buildings and asking for bread. He urged the need of great retrenchment, and of a readjustment of the tariff to suit the needs of industries that were languishing and dying.

Mr. Sifton moved the adjournment of the debate.

carried out in all the large cities of Canada. The Ottawa situation is unique, in that at all other centres where it has been planned to hold the festivals there has been no such difficulty, the cathedral church of each diocese being opened to him.

Bishop Hamilton's objection to the festival being held in one of the English churches is strictly canonical. "The law and custom of the Church are against it," he says. One of the difficulties in the way seems to be that those attending will contribute towards the expenses of Sir Frederick Pridge's Canadian tour, but it is understood that such contributions are derstood that such contributions are for the expenses only, and there is no thought of making money out of Sir Frederick Bridge's visit, which has been arranged largely to benefit the Canadian church choirs and congregations by bringing them in con-tact with the leading exponent of sacred music of the day.

E. T. SHIPP WON.

He Was 10 to 1 In the Betting Yesterday.

New Orleans, March 20.—Favorites had the best of yesterday's card at City Park track, five winning out of the seven races. The two-year-old race furnished a close contest between Arionette, at 6 to 5, and Anne McGee, at 2 to 5, the first and second choices. The former won through the good ride given her by Jockey Lee. The fourth race resulted in a fierce duel between E T. Shipp and Toy Boy. The latter showed speed, but was never able to shake off E. T. Shipp, and when the stretch was reached E. T. Shipp proved the better, and won by a safe margin. He was 10 to 1.

Splendid Address By C. N. Smith, M. P. P., of Sault Ste. the municipalities were populated by so many children. As an illustration they had an opportunity to deliver the very goods they said they would deliver, and failed."

Marie, In Arcade Hall Last Night.

Some Plain Talk About the Squandering of the Money of the Province by the Whitney Government.

Predicts That the Hydro-Electric Commission Will Never Deliver a Horse-Power of Electricity In Hamilton.

The big, enthusiastic crowd that filled the assembly hall of the Arcade last evening at the open meeting under the auspices of the Hamilton Liberal Club. Soo and an old Wentworth boy, was the thief speaker, enjoyed the most stirring and effective political address heard in Hamilton in many a day. For an hour Mr. Smith held the close attention of the big audience, flaying the Whitney Sovernment right and left for its bunging and extravagance, and when he closed his address with an appeal from the Liberal leader, Hon. A. G. Mackey, hoping Hamilton would do its duty, the plause that made the rafters ring.

Mr. Calvin Davis, President of the slub, was in the chair and those on the platform included: Warden-Emory, W. D. Sealey, W. H. Wardrope, K. C., E. J. Suest, reeve of Ancaster, Joseph Wm. Kirkpatrick, Adam Ballentine Dixon, Seneca Jones, James Chis-James Dixon, Seneca holm, W. N. McClem holm, W. N. McClemont, William Robertson, Dundas, Mayor Moss of Dundas, E. A. C. Clarke, Secretary of the Dundas Liberal Association, Watson Truesdale, Isaac, Christian, Israel Awrey and others.

Advises Them to Prepare.

The President, in a short address, urged the Liberals of the local ridings to warm up-for the approaching battle. "We are within sight now of two sleetions," he said, "and it is for us to be getting read". It cannot be long efore we have an announcement of the dates and when that time comes must be ready, and I am sure we will."

The President expressed his pleasure at welcoming Mr. Smith to Hamilton on behalf of the club. Years ago he had been associated with him in newspaper . "He has made a name for I which will stand and of which self which will stand and of which we as Liberals should be proud."

He announced that Jacob Kohler, the member from Haldimand, who was to have been present, was prevented in account of his duties in the Legislature from attending, but hoped to appear inter in the season and address the club. During the evening Messrs. A. L. Garthwaite, W. O. Pettie and W. H. Holland sang and George Goddard was accompanist. The programme was thorsompanist. The programme was thorsometical designs and the season of the ompanist. The programme was thor-ughly enjoyed and the contributors obrespond to encores. The club fortunate in getting those of last night good singers, and those of last night-ranked among the very best. Mr. Pettie-and Mr. Garthwaite sang before Mr. Smith came in, and both were in grand voice. Mr. Pettie sang "The king," in a way that stirred the large audience, and way that surred the large audience, and Mr. Garthwaite's solo was "His Majesty," with "Scots Wa Hae." as an encore, sung in fine ringing style. Mr. Holland sang "The Mighty Deep," and "The Drinking Song." Mr. Goddard made an artistic aecompanist.

Wentworth's Member.

Mr. Daniel Reed, the popular member from South Wentworth, was given a cordial reception. He warmly congratulated the Liberal Club on its splendid work during the last two years. That there was a Liberal member in the Dominion House, he considered, was largely due to the club.

"I been in the coming elections, in islation through and that the elections would be held immediately after. No definite time has been settled yet, but it is hoped that the date will be fixed for in June or May.

Mr. Reed pointed out that in West Hamilton they were sure of the man they would have to oppose, Hon. John S. Hendrie. In the east it was differ-

Regarding the distribution bill, Mr.
Reed said he did not know that he could give any definite information, more than that it was proposed to give Toronto

ould also oppose it.
"We think it is an injustice that Toronto should be given eight members," he continued. "It is true Toronto has a large population, but the Parisanent buildings are situated there, and they should have no difficulty in getting any matter before the House. We don't think they should have as large a population as the properties of the production of the product tank they sould have as large a population as the rural districts."

Mr. Reed argued that the members should not be distributed in cities or the same basis as to population as the rural districts, over which the population was so scattered.

tion was so scattered.

The Liberal leader contended that the six members in Toronto should be elected one from each district, instead of two from each district, as at present.

The Liberals had had some hints, but nothing definite yet about the Wentworths. Some of the members had said there would be only one Wentworth after the redistribution. The Government had set out, he thought, with the intention of cutting out some of the rural districts to give more members to Toronto, and give Northern Ontario larger representation. He thought the north part of the Province was entitled to it. It looked now as if the Premier was going to go half way and increase the number of members from 98 to 102. "We may have only one Wentworth and we may have two; we should know next week," said Mr. Reed.

The Whitney Government claimed that it had carried out everything it had undertaken except law reform, which was about to be introduced. Mr. Reed made a slashing attack on the Government's educational administration. He referred to the arbitrary bill affecting rural constituencies, which raised such a storm of protest throughout the Province, that although the Government claimed its educational policy of a year ago was giving splendid satisfaction, three or four days after the speech from the throne changes were made which practically wiped out the bill, showing that the Government's ideas of education were very crude.

Mr. Reed also vigorously attacked the

He is a lawyer, and I might like him better if he were not, for I think newspaper men are better than lawyers, 'he added humorously.

"He is one of the brightest lawyers, the ablest men and best platform speakers in Canada to-day. My prediction is that before five years have rolled around the people will concede to Hon. Alexander Grant MacKay that he is the greatest political leader the country has produced. I make this statement with all deference to Sir Wikirid Laurier, our honored leader in the Dominion, to Sir Oliver Mowat, to Hardy. Ross and all the rest of them. I believe that we have as leader of the Liberal Opposition to-day the makings of one of the greatest statemen that the Province of Ontgrio has yet produced."

Mr. Smith expressed regret that Mr. MacKay could not be present. "The teld mo," he said, "that he expects the Liberal of the said, that he expects the Liberal of the said th

I think the city of Hamilton was very ungrateful when it defeated him at the polls here some years ago, but the time is coming when you will have an opportunity of making amends, and if the men you send us are strong enough, I think I may promise you on behalf of Mr. MacKay that you will have a representative in the Cabinet of the Liberal Government." the Liberal Government.'

Mr. Reed also vigorously attacked the method of the Government grants to that only 5 per cent. of the pupils from the public schools went to the university. Mr. Reed showed that the Whitney Government when it assumed control folking the method of the footsteps of the Ross Government in many things which it had so roundly condemned in the old Government. Had it not been for the money derived from the Cobalt region, which was being developed through the foresight of the Ross Government in building the Temiskaming & New Ontario. Railway, the Government would have had a large deficit this year.

An ovation that a Marathon hero might have envied was estended Mr. Smith as he arose to speak. After an apprenticeship of from the grant old war appreciative reference, marked with a touch of pathos, to that grand old war horse of Wentworth Liberalism, Israel Acate by his side on the platform, the member from the Soo plunged into his address.

"I am in a way pleased to be here to religible to the power and the platform, the member from the Soo plunged into his address.

"I am in a way pleased to be here to religion." Should we not come together and genditer the Government and demand that a technical college should be established cither in your city or mine, for the good of the workingmen of the Province?

"What kind of a prophet is he?" asked the speaker again, "to say that Ross pledged the security of a rotten concern and had nothing to give for the extension of the power concerns of the Province: a concern that has put six and a half millions in the pockets of the artisans, laborers and mechanics of the country; put twenty millions in the pockets of the producers of the raw material?

"Hon. Adam Beck talks of power. He has been talking of power for the last four years. (Laughter.) Has he over delivered a single horse-power in Hamilton?"

as leader of the Liberal Opposition to day the makings of one of the greatest statemen that the Province of Ontgrio has yet produced."

Mr. Smith expressed regret that Mr. MacKay could not be present. "he teld me," he said, "that he expects the Liberals of Hamilton to do their duly when election day comes around, and betore it, and to send, him one or two representatives.

"There is no reaso nin the world why you should not carry one or both the constituencies. Hamilton has done well for the Province in the past. One of the brighteet mends that ever graced the Legislature came from Hamston, Hon. J. M. Gibson meed not take a second place to any man in the way will have to pay it.

"The audience endorsed the tribute with enthusiastic applause.

"In point of ability, Mr. Gibson need not take a second place to any man in goods they said they would deliver, and failed."

Mr. Smith recited briefly the details of the Electrical Development Company proposed deal and the interview of the British capitalist with Premier Whitney.

"When he asked, 'Ara' you ready to entertain a proposition?" said Mr. Smith, "what do you think the Premier's reply was. No, 'flat no, they were not prepared to enter into negotiations and take over this plant, the only plant which would make it impossible for the Government to deliver the goods which it has been promising for the last four years to deliver. The one great proposition which the Whitney Government has shouldered since it came into office, the delivering of power within the electric radius, it has fallen down on when it has a chance to succeed.

"I venture the opinion, sir, that after the next election you will never hear any more about cheap power from the Government to the municipalities.

At Country's Expense.

At Country's Expense.

At Country's Expense.

"If Beck is not good at one thing he is good at showing horses in London. (Laughter.) Looking through the public accounts I see $2,000 for exhibiting horses at the show in the old country. During a portion of last summer the newspaners and society columns were The Technical College.

Mr. Smith turned to the north country, from where he came. "I think we should make one subject common cause between us," he said. "In Hamilton, you have a great iron working centre. At the Soo we have a great steel making centre. I have been contending for the last year that we should have a technical school or university, where the sons of workingmen of this Province may learn technical and industrial arts. There are two points marked out where that college or university might be established; one is Hamilton, your city, and the other the place where I live.

"Should we not come together and go after the Government and demand that a technical college should be established either in your city or mine, for the good of the workingmen of the Province?

"The Ontario Government last spent nearly half a million dollars for higher education. What did they do for the workingmen who cannot afford to send their boys and girls to the univer."

"Sovernment of Spendthritts."

"These are some of the ways the Gov-rement has succeeded. If during three years they can pags a million dollars out the back door to their friends, what do you think they would do in six or twelve years. We would have to go to the poor house and leave the rest for our friends the lawyers."

Another Incident.

Another Incident.

Mr. Smith told of Hon, J. J. Foy's trip to the old land last year to attend the Imperial educational conference. "He thought a trip to the old country would do him good," said Mr. Smith, "and he took it at your expense and mine, and so on through the public accounts. This is the way a great deal of the money has gone during the last three years. It has not been devoted to technical education, agriculture or building railways. It has gone to party friends and favorites. Even in the light of the present day you must see that it was a great misfortune when the Liberals were turned out of office, even though they had been there thirty-three years or one hundred and thirty-three."

Government-Owned Railways.

Government-Owned Railways.

Mr. Smith said he had been agitating for some years to get the Government to take up the building of railways that they might be owned for all time by the people. He referred to the construction of the Temiskaming Railway, through the Ross Government, and the rich field it opened up. Its earnings last year had been $259,000. He said he would like to see the line which extended seventy miles into the interior from North Bay continued through to Hudson Bay, crossing the main line of the C. P. R. and the G. T. P. He would like to see another line built east of the Soo and west of Government-Owned Railways ong the main line of the C. P. R. and the G. T. P. He would like to see another line built east of the Soo and west of North Bay to the Grand Trunk Pacific. When that line was complete the Province would own three lines running north and south from the great lakes system. By this means traffic over the G. T. P. and C. P. R. would find outlets to the older parts of the Province. Much as he would like to see the Dominion owning its own railways, it was impossible to conceive of such a thing at the present time. It would be impossible to undertake such a great responsibility. "What we can do, though," he said, "is to build the colonization roads in the Province of Ontario for the people and own them for all time to come."

Pulpwood Industry

Pulpwood Industry.

Dealing with timber and pulpwood, Mr. Smith said he had advised the Premier to get together with the other Provinces where pulpwood grew so abundantly and arrive at an understanding that none of the provinces would permit pulpwood in the raw state to go across the border. "If this was done," he said, "it would not be long before we would find the pulp mills and industries of the States moving into Ontario and Quebec. To my mind it is one of the most important questions confronting us to-day. Pulpwood Industry.

portant questions confronting us to-day.

"If this is done it means that we develop the Province of Ontario for the people of Ontario. I respect our neighbors to the south, but I think the time has arrived when we should have a little more self-reliance. Let us be for Ontario first, last and all the time. If we have anything left, then we will give it to those across the line. We should be like two brothers on a farm, each happy in his own possession, and each master of his own household.
"For 125 years we have done much to his own household.

"For 125 years we have done much to retain the dignity of Canada. The time has come when the throb of nationhood is felt in the breast of the young man, the middle-aged man and the old man of Canada. We have a rar greater nation to the north than we have to the south. Let us show the world that went colve Let us show the world that we not onl believe it, but can demonstrate it is tru

Would Drive Them to Farms. Would Drive Them to Farms.

"I want to see the sons and daughters of Ontario to-day not go over the border, but up north. We have lots of room for them there, and vast agricultural possessions. The great bane of to-day is the trend of population to the city rather than the farm. We have in Toroptic to-day great. Toronto to day great masses of eni grants brought there at the public ex-pense. Ireland, Scotland, Switzerland or elsewhere and not work is no good to us, and not worth sending back. If they won't work, let them starve."

The railway development in the north would include in its many advantages the reducing of the cost of living in Ontario, which was out of proportion now to the wages paid. The remedy was to employ men clearing the forest and building railways.

One for Mostern

One for Hogtewn.

One for Hogtewn.

"There is one other reason," said the member from the Soo, with a twinkle in his eye, "why I am glad to be in Hamilton to-night. It is forty miles from Hogtown. In our country newspapers we often refer to Toronto as Hogtown, I am prepared here in public to make the statement that, it is, the greatest Hogtown on the North American continent, and if I had a voice as loud as Billy Patterson up in Brantford I would speak so loud they would hear me now."

Mr. Smith referred to the proposed redistribution. A committee of eight, of which five were Conservatives, were to arrange it. The Liberals, he said, might as well not be represented at all. This committee, however, was to have nothing to say about Toronto, It was fixed that it ishould have eight members. "If that is done," said Mr. Smith, "it will be one of the rankest injustices that has been perpetrated on the people of this Province."

Toronto was Conservative, solid, and it was simply a job to get four more members from there to offset the rural constituencies. It was unjust to the rural places. A deputation from the Soo was waiting on the Government to-night, It had to travel five hundred miles at a cost to each one of about $50 while people in Toronto for five cents for car fare censes in Toronto wers not being administered honestly, but after paying the money the Government was afraid to bring to light the facts because it involved their friends.

"These are some of the ways the Government has succeeded. If during three years they can pass a million dollars out the back door to their friends, what do you think they would do in six or twelve years. We would have to go to the poor house and leave the rest for our friends the lawyers."

This murder was committed on July 21st, 1902, and caused intense excitement, not only in Breathitt country, but throughout Kentucky as well. It was generally believed that the Hargis faction was responsible not only for the murder of James Cockrill, but for that of Dr. Cox. Hargis, however, was not charged with being an accomplice or the instigator of the crimes until several months later.

months later.

Marcum's Murder Reddest of All.

The most sensational murder of them all was yet to come. This was the killing of James B. Marcum, a prominent attorney of Jackson.

Marcum was an uncompromising foe to the Hargis people, and he wielded a powerful influence against them. He had fearlessly condemned the methods employed by Hargis in politics, and he had been unaparing in his denunciation of the murders of Cox and Cockrill. Marcum knew that he was imperilling his own life, but held steadily on his way. He finally issued a letter in which he declared that he was a marked man, and because he knew that sooner or later he, was certain to be murdered he had decided to leave Jackson. More fortunate than James Cockrill, he was allowed to leave, and took up his residence in Lexington, Ky, and entered upon the practice of his profession.

Shortly after the departure of Marcum from Jackson, Hargis caused his indictment on charges of criminal libel, declaring that Marcum had insinuated that Hargis had been connected with various and sundry killings in Brenthitt county.

Marcum was a typical mountaineer, and the restrained life of a city like Lexington was irksome to him. His law business was not as prosperous as he had hoped, and he became discouraged and homesick for the mountains. He announced that he intended to return to Jackson again, and persisted in his resolve against the arguments of all his friends.

Call of Home Too Strong.

Call of Home Too Strong. Call of Home Too Strong.

They pointed out to him, that he was courting death if he returned, but there is only one thing on earth that can cure a longing for home, and that is to go there. Well aware that he was staking his life. Marcum packed up his belongings and returned to the home of his father. For several months whenever he walked the streets of Jackson he carried in his arms his infant child, believing that nobody would shoot him down for fear of killing the baby.

On May 4, 1903, while standing on the steps of the court house in Jackson, talking with Capt. B. J. Ewen, Marcum was shot through the heart from behind and instantly killed. Curtis Jett, a nephew of Hargis, and Tom White, a political follower, were convicted of the murder of Marcum and sentenced to life imprisonment in the penitentiary at Frankfort.
