SOLIGNUM

A Remarkable Test! Locally made by Messrs. W. & G. RENDELL.

To test Solignum as a preservative for Wood against the attacks of Worms, we tried a piece of 2×4 Spruce, about two feet tacks of Worms, we tried a piece of 2 x 4 Spruce, about two feet in length, by painting one-third with Solignum, leaving the balance clear wood, this we suspended by a wire through the centre, in the water about one foot from the bottom, immediately over a pile of stones the remains of a sunken wharf (which is the place where our Wharf Shores are eaten off first) for Three Months. On taking it up at the end of that time we found some half-dozen small holes only a very short distance in the clear part of the wood, which shows the liquid had penetrated through the whole piece and the water had be all trated through the whole piece and the worms had hardly begun boring before coming in contact with it.

Last year as a test of some brands of Copper Paint we handle, we had a similar piece of wood treated at both ends, leaving the centre third clean; this was in exactly the same place as the piece for the Solignum test for Three Months and Three Days, when taken up the painted ends were perfect but the centre was riddled with worm holes

Both these pieces of wood are to be seen at our Office by those interested in the preservation of Wharf Piles or any other is anxious to get good results from her first efforts in baking. She is eager for the admiring comments of her husband and her visitors. She knows that her bread and pastry will be subjected to close criticism, and realizes that in her nervous anxiety she is likely to make mistakes, by using too much of this or too little of that. Then again, the flour she uses is apt to vary in quality from time to time, unless she uses which takes a heavy burden of responsibility off the young wife's shoulders. It is a scrupulously exact blend of Manitoba Spring wheat and Ontario Fall wheat, so balanced as to provide an unvarying uniformity of superlative quality.

"BEAVER FLOUR" contains all the gluten - the bone and muscle forming element-of the Manitoba wheat and the qualities of the Ontario wheat that make bread light and white, and cakes and pastry tasty and flaky.

"BEAVER FLOUR" saves the trouble of keeping one flour for bread and another for pastry. It is a bread flour and a pastry flour too. It is reliable at all times and under all conditions. It is also economical, for it makes more loaves to the barrel than any other flour-loaves that are as good to look upon as they are tasty and nutritious. For biscuits, pies and pastry, "BEAVER FLOUR" has no equal. Don't take our word for it. Try it, and be convinced.

Your grocer has it, and will be proud to recommend it.

Vest's Tribute to a Dog

One of the most eloquent tribute ver paid to a dog was delivered by the late Senator Vest, of Missouri some years ago. He was attending court in a country town, and while waiting for the trial of a case in which he was interested, was urged by the attorneys in a dog case to help them out. Voluminous evidence was introduced to show that the defendant had shot the dog in malice while other evidence went to show hat the dog had attacked defendant Vest took no part in the trial and was not disposed to speak. The attorneys nowever, urged him to speak. Being thus urged, he arose, scanned the LONDON, June 23. On the day of the crowning of George V. King of the United King-dom of Great Britain and Ireland, and of the British Dominions beyond the Seas, nothing has been wanting to make the solemn and impressive ceremony one long to be remembered, not only throughout this country, but in every corner of the Empire. Never before in its history has the Imperial note been struck in so magnificent a manner. The Imperial aspect has undoubtedly been the most remarkable feature of the Coronation. King George, more than any sovereign of the past, represents the embodiment of the Imperialistic idea. He only of all his predecessory on the throne, has travelled through the vast Dominions, and thus acquainted himself at first hand with the needs and aspirations of the various peoples of the over, the Imperial Conference sitting at the time of the Coronation has enabled all representatives of the King's Overseas Dominions to participate in this significant ceremony which, if the hopes of those attend-ing the Conference bear fruit, will bring parts of the Empire into closer and more intimate relations. The striking events were carried through without a hitch, or serious accident of any kind, but the weather was less avourable than had been hoped for

Never in history, never in the experience of any person who witnessed the ceremony, has there been a historic scene so magnificent as the ancient Abbey of Westminster presented, when in state, upon their thrones, their Majesties, with gleaming crowns on their heads, gorgeous robes outspread behind them, the great cullinan diamond flashing from the Imperial Crown, all the nobles around the throne in the quaint cos tume of their ancient offices, with few modern uniforms, four peeresses attending the Queen in shimmering gowns, pages in light blue and whit grouped behind them, an array of church dignitaries robed in and gold formed the centre picture.

Below the King and Queen were the young Prince of Wales, almos able to hear any more of the young smothered in the dark blue robes of the Order of the Garter, with th Peer's crimson mantle around his shoulders, and the Duke of Connaugh in the uniform of a Field Marshal Above the Altar, to the right of the King, was the girlish Princess Mary wearing the coronet of a Peeress, with her hair hanging down her shoulders and the three young Princes in Scotcl kilts. Near them were the other mem should be to bring these young people bers of the Royal Family. The ceremony occupied more than two hours. The Queen, who bore herself with great stateliness during the crowning, was at first noticeably ner-vous. While the King was being anointed and crowned she had he handkerchief to her eyes frequently When the King received the Homage of the Heir Apparent, he displayed after's affection. Both routes of the procession were filled up long before the troops found secretary of the introduction bureau their places. At 10.30 the Royal salute announced the departure of the King and Queen from Buckingham Palace, and as this most gorgeous of processions made its way through the coop lined street, a wave of cheer ing came from one and all. The London Daily . Mirror recently: "Every man and woman whose work requires a large expenditure of mental energy should divide his or her sleeping hours in two. I am acquainted with many people who now always take their sleep in two doses, and they will tell you what a vast improvement it is on the usual rule of one long sleep in the 21 hours. The ideal times of sleep for the brain worker are the afternoon and the early hours of the morning. Of course, this programme could only be carried out by the man whose time is his own.

At the Duchess of Devonshire's Derby night party in London, Ambassador Reid's wife wore a gown that was the great sensation of the occasion. It was made of tiny mother of pearl and crystal beads, so closely worked together as to actually form the material of the dress. The skirt was severely plain, but the sleeves and bodice were hung with deep, heavy fringes of crystals more than a foot long and over this on the corsage was a network of pearls beside her other jewels. Mrs. Reid remarked that she could never wear the gown again because of its great weight. She was literally weighed down by it, and showed her fatigue by sitting the greater part of the evening in the big drawing room, not moving until sun-cut cleanest and easiest with the angle stroke. The angle stroke was the only thing that made the old open-blade razor possible-except as an instrument of torture. Yet many men use the GILLETTE like a hoe and expect it to cut clean and easy. The superb quality of its cutting edge is proved by the fact that even when used in this way the GILLETTE gives a good shave. But to get the real satisfaction which the GILLETTE is capable of ving you, you naturally must use the angle stroke. Then you will know and appreciate the genuine luxury of the clean, cool, comfortable, easy three-minute GILLETTE shave.

Buy a GILLETTE and enjoy it-if you haven't one already. If you have one now, use it right and enjoy it to the full.

The Tenderfoot Farmer

It was one of these experimental farmers, who put green spectacles on his cow and fed her shavings. His theory was that it didn't matter what the cow ate so long as she was fed. The questions of digestion and nourishment had not entered into his calculations.

It's only a "tenderfoot" farmer that would try such an experiment with a cow. But many a farmer feeds him-testion and nutrition. He might almost as well set shave

King's Coronation Gift to Newtoandland.

Our readers will be glad to learn that His Majesty the King has intimated his gracious intention of presenting to Newfoudland a copy of a Coronation Portrait of Himself and Her Majesty the Queen. We append the announcement we have received from

His Excellency the Governor. "The Governor has the honour to announce that His Majesty the King has been graciously pleased to approve of a copy of a State Portrait of Himself and of Her Majesty the Queen being presented to Newfoundland. As the original portraits are not begun some time must elapse before His Majesty's gracious intention can be carried into effect. "RALPH WILLIAMS, Narrow Escape from Drowning.

Messrs. Jas. Young and Frank Elsworth went out on the Cape Spear grounds this morning fishing when they were overtaken by a gale of S.W. wind with a high sea. They sailed to a point of Cuckholds Cove when they intended to lower the sails and row up shore in the smooth water. Before they could do so a squall hit the boat and she filled and sank with the fish on board and both were left struggling in the water. Young grasped an oar which floated up and then grasped Elsworth by the coat and fortunately their frail support kept their head above water. A man named Fox saw the accident from his boat, pulled to the scene just as both men who were greatly exhausted and on the point of sinking. They were rescued and brought to Quidi Vidi where they were well treated by the people. In reaching a gaff for him Elsworth was badly cut over the eye by Fox. Elsstill very ill. THE ILLUMINATIONS.

St. John's has always been noted for the neatness with which it cele-brates events of National and Empirewide importance, and on the occasion of the celebration of the Coronation of our beloved Sovereigns King George and Queen Mary it lived up to its best traditions. All Thursday the city, harbour front and shipping at the wharves or in the stream were em-blazoned with bunting, the churches, halls, public buildings, stores and private residences were beautifully decorated and draped and the scene was one which must engrave itself on the memory of the thousands who beheld it. At night the city was aglow with light, and to attempt a description in detail would more than over tax the columns of the People's Pa per. A feature which greatly im persed the lieges was the number of decorated and illuminated autos and taxicabs, while lines of brilliant elec-tric bulbs bordered the tops of the street cars which were thronged till a late hour with loyal and patriotic sight seeres. The whole populace wore the national colours red, white and blue and a most praiseworthy fact was to be noted in the almost complete absence of drunkenness or disorder of any kind. Nor was there an accident of a serious kind to be chronicled despite the big displays of fireworks and the constant detonations of explosives in the shape of giant crackers, torpedoes, skyrockets tc., with which the event was in part celebrated. As regards the illumina-tions the buildings in which most attention was turned were the Colonial Campbell (C.C.C.) Time, Building and the railway station of the Reid Nfld. Co.. The whole front of the former was outlined in brilliant electrical points of fire, the windows, pillars and capitals showing prominently forth. The Union Jack in its conventional colours blazed forth over the upper portion of the facade, while below shone in motto, "one flag, one Empire, one Throne," in a border of red. On the pillars were 2nd, Cullen (C.C.C.) 1.0, the King in state and splendor Then the priest said: BRETHREN, I desire you to pra or our Sovereign Lord King GEORGE for the people of this realm wherein God has called him to bear remembering especially the King's great need of God's mos racious favour and continual help. Then all the people kneeling, the Priest said:

Let us pray. Lord, have mercy upon us. Christ, have mercy upon us. Lord, have mercy upon us. Our Father, &c.

O LORD our God, who upholdes governest all things by the word Thy power: Receive our humble rayers for our Sovereign Lord, King GEORGE; and as thou dost this day a crown of pure gold upon his head, so let Thy wisdom be his guide and let Thine arm strengthen him; le buth and justice, holiness and right cousness, peace and charity, abounce in his days; direct all his counsels and endeavours to Thy glory, and the welfare of his subjects; give us grace to obey him cheerfully for conscience sake, and let him always possess th hearts of his people; let his reign b long and prosperous, and crown him with everlasting life in the world to come: through Jesus Christ our Lord ALMIGHTY God the fountain all goodness: Give ear, we beseech thee, to our prayers, and multiply thy blessings upon thy servant MARY consecrated in thy Name this day to our Queen; defend her evermo rom all dangers, ghostly and bodily make her a great example of virtu and piety, and a blessing to this king iom; through Jesus Christ our Lord ho liveth and reigneth with thee, Father, in the unity of the Holy Stirit, world without end. Amen. O GOD, the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, our only Saviour, the Prince of Peace: Give us grace seriously to lay to heart the great dangers we are in by our unhappy divisions Take away all hatred and prejudice ard whatsoever else may hinder us from godly union and concord; that as there is but one Body, and one Spirit, and one hope of our calling one Lord, one faith, one baptism, one God and Father of us all; so we may henceforth be all of one heart, and of one soul, united in one holy bond truth and peace, charity, and may with one mind and one mouth glorify thee; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen. THE grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God, and the fellowship of the Holy Ghost, be with us all evermore. Amen.

The Recognition of the Sovereign by the people. The Oblation. The Oath. The Anointing. The Investiture. The putting on of the Crown and presenting the Holy Bible. The Benediction. The Enthronization.

The Holy Communion, The limits of this sermon make impossible for me to enlarge upon these several features. I will only ask you to read at your leisure the summary of these Acts given in the Preface to the Service Book, which has been placed in your hands, and I will at once pass to a lesson which seems to be suggested by the great event of to-day, and which it will b well for us all to lay to heart.

The Coronation of our King is only a solemn religious ceremony; is the response in every Englis heart to the sense of the Union which pinds the people of England to their Sinds the people of England to their Wonarchy, and the Monarchy to the people. The Psalmist of old drew a picture of what such a Monarchy should be. "Give the King Thy judgnents, O God, and Thy righteousness into the King's Son. He shall inde Thy people with righteousness, and Thy poor with judgment. He shall leliver the needy when he crieth; the poor also, and him that hath no help . In his days shall the righteourish: and abundance of peace s ong as the moon endureth." Such was the ideal of a just an peneficent Monarchy three thousan rears ago. Such, to all who can fee or think, it still is, amidst whateve aixture of personal and national inrmity, and whatever changes have been wrought by differences of times and race and country, in our modern existence philosophic, Christian aspect of such Monarchy, at that which alone ren lers possible the feelings which ani nate us to-day. It is the one name and place among us which unites in lmost unbroken succession the whol range of our island story, which i common property of the whole British people, we might almost say the whole Anglo-Saxon race. No other existing throne in Europe reach other combines with such an und vided charm the associations of past, the interests of the present. s the one name and place which, b ing raised high above all party strug gles, all local jealousies, over cases, ecclesiastical as well as civi the supreme controlling sprin which bids together, in their wides sense, all the forces of the State and II the forces of the Church. It the one name and place which, being beyond the reach of personal ambition, beyond the need of private gain has the inestimable chance of guiding noulding, elevating the tastes, the customs, the morals of the whole comnunity. It is the one institution which, by the very nature of its existence, unites the abstract idea of country and of duty with the person al endearments of family life, of do-mestic love, of individual character. This is the bright side of that ancient and august possession has steadied the course of our onward progress, and given us peace in the midst of tumults, and freedom in the midst of disorder. It is because of the greatness of this possession that we so reverently pray and hope that he who enters upon it to-day shall be worthy of his noble to-day shall be worthy of his hole inheritance. He knows, and we know, that on him henceforth devolves the glorious task of devoting to his country's service that life which souther the service and of equity, in the government of a great and free people. God he with him is, in a special sense, no longer his, but ours, for which his country's prayers are being so earnestly offer-ed. Hardly ever, in the long course force of a stainless and guileless life,

a terror, not to good works, but to the throne, let us ask ourselves about the Monarchy, what the Empire, what the world expects from us. It is the glory of England that if the welfare of the Prince is the welfare of the people, not less is the well-being of the people the only safeguard of the vell-being of the Prince. It is not with us, as in some Eastern or despotic States, where the Royal House livells apart, withdraws from all the currounding influences of the country or the age in which their lot is The breath of public opinion, o good or evil example, in our mixed and varied society, rises upward as much as it descends downward. It is in our power, in the power the people of this great Empire, drag down the throne even in spite itself, to the level, if so be, of our wn meanness, triviality, or self-infulgence, as it is, thank God, also in ur power, by the purity of our homes. the sincerity and loftiness of our purposes, to create the atmosphere in which the Throne must become pure and lofty, because it cannot help receiving the influences which ascend We, by raising up a constant succession of just, upright, loyal, single sion of Just, upright, loyal, single-minded citizens, of enlightened and inergetic teachers, of far-seeing and unselfish Statesmen, form a body-guard around the Royal House of England, even as the statues and nonuments of famous Englishmen in Vestminster Abbey stand like a which contain the dust of our Princes and Kings. Any breach in that sacred line of honest English hearts any failure of duty, of vigilence of of faithfulness on our part, lays ope the way for the destroyer to come in and lay waste the innermost sanctucry of the State itself. Our prayers. our thanksgivings, if they are to last beyond the passing moment, mustake the shape, not of idle flattery o

ond endearments, but of stern requirements of duty both from other and from ourselves. My brethren, it is not in the spiri of vain glorious exultation, nor with the idle desire of comparing ourselves with other nations, not to foster the subtle passion of civic pride, that we hold this service to-day, but to deepen our sense of loyalty to the throne o quicken our sense of unity as eople, and kindle a deeper glow devotion to Him who is the giver of all good, and the source of all blessng. And therefore it is that I have ndeavoured within the few moments at my disposal to set before you wha I conceive should be our Christian duty toward that Kingly Commonwealth of which we are memberswhich we are proud-for which we are bound in the sight of God to lay down our lives and to spend our latest breath. One more historic scene has been added to the many glorious spectacles witnessed in our Ancient Abbey. One more Sovereign, crowned and anointed within its stately precincts, goes forth amid the thunder of the saluting guns, and the enthusiastic acclaple. LAYING FOUNDATION STONE The function of laying the foundaion stone of the new Ceamen's Home on Water Street was attended by a concourse of citizens Thursday, despite the wet weather which prevailed. A spacious platform had been erected and from it many flags flew while seats were placed around for those who occupied it. There present the chief government officials, members of the Legislature, representa-tives of the Bench and Bar, many of the clergy of different denominations. he Mayor and members of the City Council, the captains and officers of he British and French warships and large body of people. The stone it self was one of Newfoundland gran-ite beautifully polished and bearing the following inscription on its face:

—"This stone was laid by Sir Ralph Champneys Williams, K. C. M. G.
Governor of Newfoundland, on the Coronation of King George V." Drawn up in front of the building and fully accountred were a squad of blue jack L. B. and a platoon of the police On the arrival of His Excellency and Lady Williams, the naval men, brigade and police presented arms, while the C. L. B. band, choir and audience sang the National Anthem and the ceremony began. Mr. J. W. Withers, the chairman, gave a brief introductory addresss. The hymn "O God our help in ages past" was then sung, when His Lordship Bishop Jones who was attended by Rev. G. H. Bolt, M.A., as Chaplain, offered a prayer. His Ex-cellency now stepped forward and was presented with a handsome silver trowel properly inscribed and which he spread the mortar bedding for the stone. A special cable line had been run from the head Angle Office in London to Buckingham Palace and thence a through line was nade via Valentia, Ireland and Heart's Content to the platform in this city From 12.15 p.m., local time, all the elegraphic instruments had beer losed at London and His Majesty had irect control of the through wire to John's. Exactly at 12.31 p.m. the gong which showed that the Sovereign had given the signal, sounded, just above the stone which hung from the derrick, the electrical current passed through a powerful magnet and the cam" or clutch which held the stone was released and # dropped into posi-tion, while tumultuous cheers broke from all present, a feu de foie of olleys was fired by the naval contingent, and again the band rendered the National Anthem while all bared their

of June 10th, His Majesty commands me to transmit following message at the opening of the Seamen's Institute message begins.

I desire, on the occasion of the layng of the foundation stone of the new Institute for Seamen in Newoundland, to express my high appreciation of the admirable work which is being done for the welfare of sailors and fishermen in the Colony, under the direction of Dr. Grenfell, from whom, on his last visit to England, I learned the details of the arduous lives of those of my people who are engaged in the Newfoundland Fisheries. I learn with much pleasure that much of the cost of the Institute has been contributed by people of the United States, and I recognize in their action one more proof of the increas ing friendliness of the English speak-ing peoples of the North American Continent. It is my earnest wish that this Institute may prove of the greatest benefit to the people of Newfound land and I have been glad to consent to the request that it should be styled "King George the Fifth Seamen's Institute" and to extend to it my patronage.

HARCOURT. Then in a fluent address His Excellency dwelt on the great interest vinced by His Majesty in the welfare of his subjects all over the Empire and particularly in this his Oldest Colonial possession, spoke of the great advantages that must come to the fishermen as a result of the building of the new institution, complimented Dr. Grenfell on his work, referred to the generosity of the people of the United States and Canada and concluded wishing Newfoundland and her people continued success and prosperity. Cheers called for by the Governor for their Majesties the King and Queen were given with a will, after which Dr. renfell spoke at some length, and in the course of his address highly complimented Mayor W. J. Ellis for his worth socially, and his ability professionally, as seen in the work of the building to-date, showed that the building would cost $150,000, that $13,000 of this had been subscribed by our mercantile men whose generosity he extolled, and hoped the institution would lead to the betterment and comfort of our tollers of the sea.

Chief Justice Sir William Horwood proposed a vote of thanks to His Excellency the Governor, seconded by Mayor Ellis. Both made eloquent speeches. A short measage from the speeches. A short message from the Premier was then read. After this the hymn "All people that on earth do dwell" was sung by the audience

Parade of Brigades.

Amongst the mose attractive events Coronation festivities was the oint parade of the City Brigades and the naval men from the H. M. S. Brilliant. The marines and seamen came ashore to the King's Wharf at 10 a.m. where they were met by the L. B., C. C. C. and Highlanders. After lining up in processional order hey all marched to the General Hospital grounds by way of Duckworth

Street to assist at the laying of the corner stone of the Nurses' Home. From there they marched to the Parade Ground followed by a large concerns of attitude of the corner of the corner of attitude of the corner of attitude of the corner of t course of citizens who greatly admir-ed the splendid showing made by the Brigades. The naval men were in front followed by the C. L. B., C. C. C. and Highlanders. His Excellency he Governor arrived at the Parade fround at noon and was greeted with the National Anthem played by the bands; a royal salute was also fired. The Governor who took up a position on a platform on the northern side of the grounds was attended by his suite and a number of prominent citizens, now reviewed the troops being given every possible assistance by Lieut. Pritchard, of H. M. S. Brilliant, who had charge of the parade and who directed the different commanding officers. When the salute was fired from the warship in the harbour at high noon the naval men also fired volley, the bands then played God Save the King and the brigades presented arms. As the flag was borne along in front of the stand with the brigades marching behind cheers rent the air that could be heard all over the city. Meantime the C. L. B. and C. C. C. Bands stationed in midground rendered patriotic airs. His Excellency delivered a forcible and and eulogized the Brigades for their patriotic address in which he dwelt on fine turn out. At the close His Excellency called for cheers for the King and Queen and his request was heartily complied with. Lieut. Pritchard also asked for three hearty cheers for the Governor and Lady which were given with a will. After the Brigades had successfully ac omplished the drill and military manouevres they formed up into line and companied the naval men back to the King's Wharf. The C. L. B. played grand music along the route and at the pier while the tars got into Brilliant. The parade was one of the best seen in the city, there being about 900 men all told.

The Highlanders looked especially well in their white helmets worn for he first time. The Commander of he French warship D'Estrees and of ficers were interested spectators. His Excellency the Governor heartily con gratulated all on their excellence i drill and smart appearance, as did Lieut. Pritchard on arrival near the ling's Wharf. The band of the C B. went to the pier and "played off" the tars as they returned to the war ship. As the C. L. B. halted nea armoury hearty cheers wer given for the boys of the C. C. as they swept past, and these were as heartily returned by the Cadets opposite their own armoury.

The sermon was preached by the President of the Methodist Conference, Rev T Darby, B.A., who took for his text: To make the high above all nations we may raise them to the level to which he hath made in praise and in which we have attained and to clim name and in honor; that thou mayest | with them the heights of true Chris be an holy people unto the Lord thy God as he hath spoken." The Coronation service, said the preacher, was of men whom Tennyson has sung. no mere pageant, but essentially solemn religious service. The British people were engaged in setting apart in solemn fashion its King for his high office and important function to which it believes God had called him. In illustration of this he outlined some of the Coronation ceremonies to show how religious and solemn the service is. As a nation the English people recognized that the nation belonged to God, and its King rules his sanction. The King rules by the Forest Pond, Goulds, at 3 o'clock were special features of the day. In the evening the bonfire, fireworks and illumination of private residences closed a highly enthusiastic celebration and one which will be sanction. The King rules by the will of the people and the King is the visible embodiment of the kingly power of the people. We honour the king as a man and are tive of the nation, and in the latter capacity we do him homage, and when we consecrate our King to God we consecrate the nation to God. The text declared that a chosen eople are endowed with two forms f greatness: excellence before man and excellence before God, and God

Coronation Concert.

AT PRINCE OF WALES RINK. It is estimated that over 3000 people attended the concert held at the rince's Rink last night, in honour of the Coronation. The rink was beautifully decorated for the occasion, the box occupied by His Excellency the Governor receiving special attention. dembers of the city brigades acted as When His Excellency the Governor and Lady Williams arrived the National Anthem was sung by the choir accompanied by the united bands. At a signal from Conductor Hutton, the whole assemble took up the refrain in the last verse and made a thunder of melody the like of which was never heard before in the city. His Excellency the Governor then addressed the gathering in an eloquent and patriotic speech. His Ex-cellency referred to the fact that he was addressing old friends. He was glad to take part in such a grand demonstration of loyalty on the part of the people of Newfoundland towards the King and Queen. New-foundland was the first of Britain's colonies in point of term she was also the first in loyalty. The Governor then referred to the greatness and extent of the Empire, alluding particularly to India and Canada. He had no fear that United States would annex Canada, in fact, it looked now as if it would be the other way about The United States would become the BROS. LIMITED, true friend of Canada and the Empire . He then went on to speak of Australia and New Zealand and the glory that they added to the British rown. South Africa too was becomng a great country. His Excellency THE JOHNSTON WOOD COMPANY made special reference to the honour conferred on Premier Morris recenty. It was an honour to the whole eople of Newfoundland. At the conclusion of his excellent, speech the Governor invited all to rise and join Laths and all kinds of Fencing Material.

Patriotic Entertainment by the Nicke Troupe.

It was a very satisfying and con petent all-round production which the Nickel troupe gave last night of the military musical playlet, "Soldiers of the King." That an audience very largely composed of Old Country peo-ple—to judge from much audible comment-should give expression to such hearty appreciation of the performance is in itself a fair index to the ance is in aseif a fair index to the quality of the players work. Mr. Geo. Irving was a tower of strength as Lieut. Durant, and he rendered Leslie Stuart's ballad with delightful emphasis. Mr. Leo Murphy filled the role of the cheerful British Officer to confection while a gaud from the C perfection, while a squad from the C. C. C. worked conscientiously and with excellent effect. Those latter were Messrs. Burton, Wadden, Butler, Gladney, Morrissey and McGrath.

Casino Attraction.

The splendid production of the musical ensemble "Paddy's Dream of the Coronation," staged at the Casino Theatre last night, is a spec-tacular offering of which the skilled producers, Mr. and Mrs. Rossley, might well feel proud. It was unquestionably one of the best acts of its kind. The various nationalities had their representatives and a charming stage picture was formed at the finale when, in their picturesque garbs, they posed for an allegorical tableaux. Seldom has such a pretty tabloid musicale been presented, and no one should fail to see its last performance to-night. .

Bishop Elect Power.

At the Papal Legate's private chapel in Ottawa last week the initial seremony in connection with the con-secration of Bishop Power took place, when Monsignor Stagni received the formal profession of Faith of the Bishon-elect. Amongst those ent were Revs. Father Brown, of Newoundland, Father Kelly and Monsignor Sinnott. After the ceremony a group photo was taken outside the church and included in it was Mrs. 'ower, mother of the Bishop, two brothers and two sisters. One brother, Mr. Anthony Power, who is a wealthy resident of Ottawa, gave a dinner in honour of the event to the Delegate Monsignor Stagni and many others.

Attacked by a Bnll.

Mr. Chaytor, butcher, New Gower Street, was set upon by a mad bull yesterday. He was about to kill it in the stable on the Topsail Road, and had the animal's nose tied down by a ring to the floor. He was about to strike it with the pole axe when the bull got mad and broke loose by tearing the ring out of its nose. Chaytor ran for his life and the bull meanwhile broke up the fixtures and pounds in the stable. Mr. Chaytor went to Mr. Neville's for assistance He returned with a rifle and killed poor taurus.
