STEWART'S Home Made Bread,

THE BREAD MY DADDY LIKES.

Daddy is evidently not one of those back number lords of creation who believes that woman's place is in the home—and only there. His taste in a wife is an up-to-date woman who will prove herself a real companion. He knows that if she is a slave to her kitchen she can't enjoy the poise or have the interest in world affairs that a little extra leisure would make possible; and so he is pleased to eat MRS. STEWART'S HOME MADE BREAD—the loaf with the home made flavor.

The smiling, well-nourished kiddie doesn't look as though suffering because mother is progressive enough to buy good bread made by a bread specialist, instead of wearing out her life in the kitchen.

MOTHER naturally thinks of the possibilities of the fabric shrinking in the wash. It is therefore a relief to her to know that the fabric will not shrink or lose its charm if Lux is used for its cleansing.

Durability, charm of colour, quality of texture, the freshness of newness—these are preserved to all good fabrics washed with Lux. A packet of Lux—a bowl of warm water—and dainty hands can cleanse delicate fabrics in a delightfully easy manner.

The beautiful pure Lux flakes are whisked into a creamy, bubbly lather in an instant. Gently squeeze this cleansing foam through and through the soiled texture—then rise in clean water and hang to dry. Lux cannot harm a silken thread. It coaxes rather than forces the dirt from the clothes.

Packets (two sizes) may be obtained everywhere.

CHAPTER XXXV.
A PRETTY PLOT.

Verona sighs sadly. "Papa does not think of me—of anything but Italy," she whispers. "Confound Italy!" exclaims Hal, under his breath. "And because the count is an old friend, and had a hand in some of these conspiracies, the princess quietly hands him the greatest treasure the world possesses!"

"Papa does not think—and in Italy girls marry when their fathers wish them, and I—I have been promised to the count ever since I could talk."

Hal groans. "This is too awful, too wicked to be believed. But it shall not be. I'll talk Micky Count of his prey. There must be some way—chance—time will give us some opportunity, and I must think—think!" and he thrusts his hands through his short curls desperately.

"Chance—time!" echoes Verona, sadly. "Alas, there is no chance can help us, and for time—"

She pauses and hides her head. "What—what do you mean?" says Hal.

She does not look up, and her voice drops so low that it is almost inaudible. "I am afraid!" she says, trembling.

"Afraid! of what?" says Hal, fiercely. "I am afraid—and she clings closer to him, and hides her white face shudderingly. "That they are going to take me away—soon!"

Hal's face grows as white as her own, and he holds her so tightly that his hard, strong arm hurts her, but she neither cries out nor moves.

"Take you away! When? How do you know?" he ejaculates, brokenly. "I overheard the count and Senora Fittels—"

"Confound her!" "—talking. It was on the terrace; they did not know that I was near. And they are going to take me—and papa—to Russia!" almost shouts Hal.

"—and—" she breathes, shuddering again, "the day after—tomorrow." Hal is speechless, overwhelmed, benumbed.

Girls! Save Your Hair! Make It Abundant!

Immediately after a "Danderine" massage, your hair takes on new life, lustre and wondrous beauty, appearing twice as heavy and plentiful, because each hair seems to thicken. Don't let your hair stay lifeless, colorless, plain or scraggly. You, too, want lots of long, strong, beautiful hair.

A 35-cent bottle of delightful "Danderine" freshens your scalp, checks dandruff and falling hair. This stimulating "beauty- tonic" gives to thin, dull, fading hair that youthful brightness and abundant thickness—All druggists!

For all his preparation, she is astonished and stunned. "You—take me away!" she murmurs. Then a crimson blush flies to her face.

"Ob, Hal!" He thrills as she breathes his name. "Well, there is nothing dreadful in that," he says, trying to speak lightly; "and I shan't take you to Russia, darling! No, we'll go to—"

He stops, for the simple reason that he doesn't know where on earth to go. But he runs on rapidly. "We'll go to some place I'll hunt out to-night, and there we'll be married, and then we'll see if his excellency can carry you off to Russia!"

"Oh, I dare not!" she murmurs, panting. "But I dare," says Hal, with a grin. "You are in my hands now, my darling. You have said you loved me, you know, and in England that means a great deal; it means that the man is to protect his sweetheart and help her out of all danger; and if you're not in danger now, nobody ever was. Yes, that must be it—must! there's nothing else for it. They've brought it on themselves, we're not to blame, not a jot; at least, you are not, darling. And—don't cry, or I shall think you are afraid of me."

"Afraid!" she says, raising her swimming eyes with a glance of sweet reproach; "I afraid! See!"—and she opens his brown hand and puts her little white one into it—"see, I am yours; do with me what you will!" (To be continued.)

THE Phantom Lover.

(By the Author of "A Bachelor Husband.")

Somewhere out in the night a woman was crying, crying desolately. The sound, rather monotonous, sound broke the silence of the street and floated through the open window of a room where Micky Mellowes was wondering how the deuce he should get through the long evening lying before him.

Micky was in a bad temper. It was not often that he was in a bad temper, but he had begun the day with a headache, which was still with him, and which accounted for the wide open window and the breath of icy air which was filling the room and fluttering the curtains; and half an hour ago some people with whom he had been going to dine had rung up and told him that the party was off owing to the sudden death of a relative, thereby leaving the evening dinner and empty on his hands.

It was New Year's Eve, too, which made matters a thundering sight worse. He wondered if Marie Deland was feeling as sick about it as he was. Micky was in the middle of an interesting flirtation with Marie, which bade fair to develop into something deeper with careful engineering on the part of her family, for Micky was a catch, and though so far he had proved himself singularly adroit in avoiding mothers with marriageable daughters, the Delands were beginning to pat each other on the back and to look pleased.

When the sound of crying reached him he had been feeling so thoroughly fed-up with life that it had seemed impossible for anything to ever interest him again; but now he elbowed out of his chair with a faint show of energy and strolled over to the window.

It was a cold, clear night, with myriads of stars in the dark sky that seemed to shed a faintly luminous light to earth, bright enough at all events for Micky to distinguish the figure of a girl walking slowly along the pathway below.

She was walking so slowly and dis-

BULBS AND CHARACTERS.

Almost everyone knows what a joy it is to have a few bulbs growing and developing day after day and finally fulfilling themselves in the miracle of blue or white or yellow blossoms.

It isn't just the beauty of them that enriches one's life. It is the joy of watching them develop from day to day.

Do you know what I think is just as interesting and, in its way, just as beautiful? To watch character growing. Both your own and other people's, I mean. We all have qualities that we want to develop, and most of us as we grow older do develop them.

The Ideal is the Seed. Make it a sort of game with yourself. Visualize the qualities that you want to develop as you grow older as so many plants or bulbs. By your wish to develop them you have planted the seed or bulb of ambition, of courage and patience and forbearance and unselfishness and tact and self control, and they are growing in your heart, and now and then you get a glimpse of the progress they have made.

Of course it isn't a day to day process this time. It's a month to month, or perhaps a year to year affair.

The forces of human nature cannot be hurried any more than the forces of nature. And then it's not always a painless process. It does not seem possible for human beings to grow and develop unless they have the discipline

THE SAFE COURSE.

I haven't sandbagged any man, or kidnapped anybody's child; I've followed up my old time plan when all the world was running wild. I haven't swiped a Henry car, or galloped in illegal spoli; but I have picked in a jar the small rewards of honest toil. I pity men who rob and slay, who will not like good scots behave; they never have a decent day between the cradle and the grave. There's no use talking, life's a frost unless we doge all sin with skill; our breaks are made at frightful cost, and every man must pay his bit. We can't be happy or serene as through this world of ours if we go, unless our records are as clean as is the well known driven snow. Oh, some for long may dodge the cops, and carry on a course of crime, but when we sin all comfort stops, we cease to have a bully time. We have no joy, no peace of mind, our nerves are racked, our hearts are sore; avengere seem to walk behind, and retribution stalks before. I pity those who cheat and steal or slug a stranger for his roll; their lives are bleak, they never feel the peace that warms the white man's soul.

Magie! Drop a little "Freeseon" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. Doesn't hurt a bit.

Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freeseon" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and calluses.

The publisher of the best Farmer's paper in the Maritime Provinces in writing to us states:

"I would say that I do not know of a medicine that has stood the test of time like MINARD'S LINIMENT. It has been an unerring remedy in our household ever since I can remember, and has outlived dozens of would-be competitors and imitators."

What's the matter? he asked again, more gently, and waited for the pathetically shaken denial which he felt sure would come.

How Germany Forced France to Pay in 1871.

(From The Toronto Telegram.)

Howls of wrath, mixed with loud lamentations, arise from all parts of Germany. Alackaday, the erstwhile big bully has been ordered to settle for his crimes. The Supreme Council of the Allies have presented the war bill—$56,000,000,000 in gold, to be paid in instalments over a period of 42 years. Also a little additional tax in the meantime of 12 per cent. on all exports from Germany. To arrange details of payment the Germans have been requested to send a delegation to London on February 28th. Hence the howls and the frantic protestations that "the Fatherland cannot possibly this insane bill pay."

Had No Fly on France in 1871.

Just fifty years ago the shoe was on the other foot. It was France who had to pay then, and Germany gave little heed to her condition. Broken and bleeding, France was ordered by Bismarck to hand over her two rich provinces of Alsace and Lorraine to Germany and into the bargain to pay an indemnity of one billion dollars in four years time. And remember that at the purchasing power of a dollar in 1871 the above sum would represent about $2,500,000,000 to-day.

To increase the agony of France at that moment civil war broke out. And what did old Bismarck do? He threatened to occupy Paris unless the loyal French troops quelled the forces of the Communists immediately, and as a punishment to France that "man of blood and iron" made the peace terms harsher than had been proposed by him in the beginning.

Made Peace Terms Harder.

Says the official communication of the Imperial German Chancellor to the Reichstag in this connection:

"The terms of payment of the war indemnity have been shortened; the first half milliard francs (100,000,000) will be delivered within thirty days following the occupation of Paris by the Versailles army."

The second payment, amounting to one thousand million francs ($200,000,000) is to be made in the course of this year by the end of December. Not till then are we bound to evacuate the forts before Paris.

The fourth half milliard ($100,000,000) has to be paid by the 1st of May, 1872. With reference to the last three milliards ($600,000,000) the stipulations of the preliminaries of the Treaty of France will be adhered to and the payments will be concluded by the 1st of March, 1874. The French Government hopes to be able to satisfy our requirements."

How France Bravely Faced the Music.

Thus France not only lost her two provinces, but was ordered to pay within four years an indemnity of what would at present values amount to practically $2,500,000,000. Instead of whining about it as Germany is doing to-day, France bravely set about the task of discharging this under the circumstances—appalling debt. Thiers, the first president of the new republic, had loans floated and directed his great genius to the speedy liquidation of that debt. For until the last farthing had been paid German troops were to remain in France. Thanks to the wonderful industry, frugality and patriotism of the French people every copper of the indemnity was paid off in the amazing short space of three years. Bismarck's sole regret as he expressed it was that he had not imposed double the indemnity on France.

Germany's Wealth.

Germany is in better condition to-day to pay than was France in 1871. Germany has double the population France had fifty years ago, and modern machinery has enormously increased the means of production wealth. Just before the war, Germany with a total annual trade of $5,350,000,000, ranked second to Britain only as the world's greatest commercial nation. Germany has great natural resources. Quite apart from the coal in the internationalized Saar Valley, Germany has vast areas of coal in several places well within her boundaries. The deposits in Silesia alone are said to be almost inexhaustible. In 1913 Germany mined 230 million tons of coal. Germany also has huge deposits of lignite from which all the dyes and chemicals forming so important a branch of her trade are manufactured. Germany's iron ore, smelted in 1913 amounted to 30 million tons, her zinc to 700,000 tons and the sugar she refined to 2,800,000 tons.

Corner on World's Potash Supplies.

But potash is Germany's greatest natural product. Germany is about the only country in the world where potash is found in vast quantities in its natural state. The whole world is really dependent on Germany for potash, for potash and its derivative chemicals are vital to trade and commerce. The shutting off of the German potash field by the war forced other countries to supply their needs by the expensive processes of extracting potash from ashes and from other minerals which held a small content of it. A plant even started at Muskota, Wharf during the war to try and extract the needed chemicals from the seams of feldspar in the granite. To-day, everyone will seek the natural product. Potash, chiefly used in preparing fertilizer, is becoming more and more vital to the agricultural life of Ontario. The demand is world-wide, and outside the deposits in Lorraine, now under French rule, Germany has nearly all the natural potash in the world in the huge deposits in Prussian Saxony.

In 1913 Germany, chiefly from Saxony, mined almost 15 million tons of potash rock and salt. Potash is worth $200 a ton in Toronto to-day. And such raw products were only an item in Germany's trade which was mainly in her manufactured articles.

If Germany refuses to start paying off her war debt, the Allies will merely have to do as they provide in the terms of the Peace Treaty.

Regulations Lifted.

HON. W. R. WARREN KEEPS U.P.O. MISE.

By a proclamation dated March 8th and published in the Royal Gazette, all regulations and rules as regards sales of fish to Portugal have been rescinded. The only restriction now in force governs dates of sailings and this was agreed to by exporters amongst themselves to prevent glutting the market. The abandonment of the Fish Regulations is the result of repeated demands by exporters made at three meetings held in the Board of Trade Rooms and at which the Attorney General, Hon. W. R. Warren was present. At the last meeting Mr. Warren promised that the regulations would be lifted; this despite the vacillating policy of the Premier, who was afraid of arousing the ire of Mr. Coaker by taking a definite stand. It is at least a consolation to know that one man in the Government has backbone enough to make a promise and keep it.

TODAY'S MESSAGES.

A BOLSHEVIK REVERSE.

LONDON, March 8. Reuters Helsingfors' correspondent reports it is reliably reported that Bolshevik infantry attacked Kronstadt this morning, but were repulsed with heavy losses. The bombardment continued throughout the morning. Gun shells of Systerbak batteries, shell-krustadt, were plainly visible at night during the night. Finnish ships are massing on the frontier.

GREEKS AND TURKS.

ATHENS, March 8. Greek advance guards have occupied the heights, South of Ortansea, according to an army communication from Smyrna, and have taken some prisoners.

WEST INDIAN CONFEDERATION.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, March 8. The majority of Jamaicans are not in favor of the suggested sale of the island to United States. As a counter to a resolution was introduced in the legislature to-day, urging consideration of the entire group of West Indies, with a uniform franchise.

PRINCE AT GLASGOW.

GLASGOW, March 8. The Prince of Wales, who is visiting Glasgow to-day, was accorded an enthusiastic reception. During the day, there was a parade of the unemployed, who carried banners with such mottoes as "We want the 1914 peace," and "The Prince has refused our dinner." "We have no option," the last inscription referred to the Prince having declined to attend a public dinner in his honor, owing to opposition by Laborites in the Town Council, to expenditure of funds for a function.

OBVIOUSLY.

LONDON, March 8. German delegates to reparations conference here, left London for Berlin at two o'clock this afternoon, and seemed pleased to get away. Their departure was without incident, a number of persons, mostly German residents of London, being at the station to see them off.

FOR CLOSER RELATIONS.

LONDON, March 8. British and Canadian business men have decided to form a Canadian Chamber of Commerce in London with the object of increasing trade with Canada. F. C. Wade, Agent General for British Columbia, who presided at a meeting of business men held to-day, said the great question to be determined was whether Canada was to remain a British country, or to be lost to Great Britain owing to the influence of United States money.

WENT AGAINST THEM.

RIGA, March 8. The fortress of Krasnoya Corko, which is reported to have joined the revolutionaries, was relied on by the Soviet Government to quell the Kronstadt uprising. Soviets had threatened to blow up Kronstadt from Krasnoya Gorko, if rebels in Kronstadt did not surrender.

GERMANY HATES VIOLENCE.

BERLIN, March 8. Chancellor Fehrenbach, at the re-assembling of the Reichstag to-day, announced the breaking off of negotiations at London. He said, "The Allies have already begun to put penalties into effect. This, in plain German, means an act of violence, for penalties have nothing to do with usual principles of right. The conditions imposed on us are to be secured by force. This rupture can neither be disguised nor justified by legal deceptions." Open discussion of the situation cannot begin. It was announced, until the return to Berlin of Dr. Simons, Foreign Minister.

S. D. I. League Meeting.

At a meeting of the Local Branch of the S. D. I. League held last night in the T. A. Armoury an election of officers under what is known as the Australian System (election from the floor) was held. The following were elected:—Hon. M. P. Gibbs, President; D. J. O'Quinn, Treasurer; Miss Mary Keegan, Secretary; and in addition an executive of four were elected by ballot comprising the following:—John Fagan, P. J. Shea, D. P. Redmond, Thos. Kelly, Mr. John Fagan conducted the election after which a vote of thanks was tendered to him by the assembly.

A 10-Day Tube of Pepsodent is sent to all who ask. See coupon.

You Can't Escape Tooth troubles if you leave a film

You should try this new method of teeth cleaning. Try it ten days without cost. It combats the film which dims the teeth and causes most tooth troubles. See and feel the results. To millions they are bringing cleaner, safer, whiter teeth.

The tooth wrecker

Film is the great tooth wrecker. A viscous film clings to the teeth, enters crevices and stays. The ordinary tooth paste does not end it. Old ways of brushing leave much of it intact. And very few people have escaped the troubles which it causes.

It is the film-coat that discolors, not the teeth. Film is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea—a disease now alarmingly common.

A new dental era

Dental science has now found ways to combat that film. The methods have been amply proved by years of careful tests. Now millions employ them. Leading dentists everywhere advise them.

The methods are combined in a dentifrice called Pepsodent. And, to let all know how much it means, a ten-day tube is being sent to all who ask.

Five desired effects

Pepsodent brings five desired effects. It combats the teeth's great enemies as nothing has done before.

One ingredient is pepsin. Another multiplies the starch-digestant in the saliva, to digest starch deposits that cling. The saliva's alkalinity is multiplied also. That to neutralize the acids which cause tooth decay.

Two factors directly attack the film. One of them keeps teeth so highly polished that film cannot easily adhere. Every application repeats these results.

Send the coupon for the 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear.

What you see and feel will be a revelation and the book we send will explain how each effect is natural and necessary. It is important that you know this. Cut out the coupon now.

W. J. HERDER, Proprietor C. T. JAMES, Editor

Wednesday, March 9, 1921.

Bon Voyage.

If ever there was a year in the history of Newfoundland, when a big seal catch was necessary, it is in this year of grace, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one. And it is not only because the strength of the fleet has been, by force of circumstances reduced, but because the number of the crews has been, for reasons of economy in the operation of the voyage, decreased. Therefore for these reasons, if for none other, it is essential to the well-being of the country financially that the sealing voyage of 1921 be a success far greater than it has turned out for the past few years. A reduced fleet means greater opportunities—in a measure—for arriving at the main patch and securing loads. In other terms it will not mean so much following the leader as every skipper looking out for himself and shaping his own course to the latitude and longitude in which he thinks to find the fat. Chasing the smoke of some other ship has often resulted in a "clean" trip, and no master is inclined to take that chance this year.

Then again the decrease in the complement of men carried will mean greater wages individually, should loads for each ship be secured, and it is the ardent hope of all well wishers of the Colony that this desideratum will follow the hazard of the voyage. The success or failure of the sealfishery is usually regarded as the index of the year's prospects, and should the present venture reach expectations, it will undoubtedly be a criterion of better things. Conditions at present are so grave and so fraught with premonitions of the country's failure in foreign marts that it needs an almost unprecedented seal kill for this year to restore confidence locally. Trade matters have gone from bad to worse, in consequence of the battledore and shuttlecock game played by the Government with regard to our main industry—the Codfishery, the best interests of its operators having been sacrificed to satisfy the whims of a man who never should have been permitted to control the outcome of an issue so vital to the best interests of the country. But that which has been done has been, and there is no good to be accomplished by weeping over lost markets. The duty of the hour is to make a supreme attempt to regain them. That will be entered upon if a successful sealfishery should crown the efforts of the masters of the ships sailing to-morrow. That a kind Providence will direct their course toward the rich harvest of the frozen pans, all devoutly hope, and in wishing the eight steamers leaving port to-morrow, and the one already left, a speedy and safe return with, to use an old sealing saying, "bloody decks and greasy holds," you are sure that we echo the sincere desire of all. Then bon voyage to the gallant men whose prowess has been demonstrated many and many a time amidst storm and stress, and ice and snow, and grinding raft and drifting floe.

High Cost of Living.

The Advocate, under the enlightened inspiration of its editor, Hon. A. W. Mews, who is also the Chairman of the Food Control Board, is working energetically the past few days trying to prove that the present Government is in no way responsible for the high cost of living, but that this condition is due to causes altogether beyond the control of the Government of this country or of any other country, being wrapped up in economic problems of world magnitude. It is all very well for Mr. Mews to take that stand now, but we invite the people of Harbor Main to remember that Mr. Mews and his associates were equally vehement in denouncing the last Government for the high prices which then existed, and accused the Government not only of failure to take steps to reduce these prices, but asserted that friends and supporters of that Government were flagrantly profiteering and growing rich and fat out of the money they were robbing from the people of Newfoundland. If that was true of the late Government, it is equally true of the present Government. If Sir Michael Cashin and his associates helped to make the cost of living high in the old days, Mr. Squires and his followers are doing the same to-day, and the man who has to pay fourteen or fifteen dollars for a barrel of flour, and twenty-five cents for a pound of sugar, is as much justified in blaming the present Government for these conditions just now, as the Advocate and the Star, and their associates, were justified in charging the late Government with responsibility for the conditions which existed then.

The problem of fishery supplies for the coming season is also a matter respecting which a comparison between the records of the two parties is justified. Before the last election the same papers were active in their criticism of the Cashin Government for the difficulties which the fishermen were said to be having in the matter of obtaining salt and other requisites, and in the high cost of everything they needed for their fishery enterprise, and it was proclaimed very loudly that if Mr. Coaker and his friends were entrusted with office, all this would be ended, and there would be abundant and cheap supplies, and everybody would be happy and contented in the future. One sees nothing now though in the Advocate and Star, about this matter of cheap and abundant supplies. There is not a reference at all to the coming season's fishery, who are to prosecute it, and where they are to get the means with which to do so. All over the country the impression is now becoming widespread and growing stronger, daily, that this spring and summer there will be no supplies whatever obtainable for the fishery, either from the merchants, the banks, or from any other source and least of all from Mr. Coaker. That gentleman was never noted for liberality in providing the people with the means to carry on the fishery. His activities usually began when the fishery was over, and he started in to buy fish himself, and to endeavor to make the Union Trading Company a paying speculation in regard to the handling and shipping of what fish was to be obtained. Now, apparently, things are changed entirely. If reports that are current are to be believed, and they have been stated in the newspapers, a lot of people in the Northern Bays who furnished fish to the F.P.U. stores in different harbors and were promised their money, or an equivalent in provisions at the end of January, are told that they have to wait until Mr. Coaker completes the sales of their fish in Europe and comes back with the money and thus enables his Company to repay the people who own the fish. But if, as now seems almost inevitable, Mr. Coaker is going to lose a lot of money on the selling of the fish in Europe, where is the money going to come from to make up that shortage? In other words, if Mr. Coaker promised to pay the fishermen eight dollars a quintal, and can only get six or seven dollars for it, it means that now he can only pay these amounts or else he must get the extra dollar from some other source.

And if the difference is two dollars, the condition is that much worse, or he must get two dollars a quintal from somewhere else. There are people about who are apprehensive that a demand will be made on the country to find this two dollars, through an extension of the Government guarantee now in effect with regard to a certain amount of the fish, and this would mean that the Public Treasury would be levied upon for an amount which no one can estimate at the present time. If any such thing as that is attempted, it means, in the first place, that the money already paid in by the people of the rest of the country, of Harbor Main District for instance, will be taken and used for the benefit of a section of the people in the two or three Northern Bays who have been backing Mr. Coaker, or it means that if there is not enough money in the Public Treasury for the purpose at present, that the taxation on the people will be increased at the coming session of the Legislature in order to make them pay the amount. This is a danger that overhangs the country at the present time. Six months ago nobody would have believed that Government money could have been taken to guarantee forty thousand qts. of fish, but it was done and the result has been disastrous. Now apparently there is a danger that it may be done again and for a very much larger amount. Therefore the people of Harbor Main District should make their feeling on this matter clear and unmistakable on Saturday next by voting against the Government and any such policy, and marking their ballots for the Opposition candidates.

JONES AND LEWIS.

Pointers.

Saturday, March 12th. Polling Day in Harbor Main.

The favorite Candidates—JONES and LEWIS.

The thumb of Coaker cannot be allowed to press the throat of Harbor Main.

Warren, as Minister of Justice, promised to have the Fish Regulations lifted. We believe that he will keep this promise.

Both Coaker and Squires may rave but the members for Fortune Bay will make good. He has pledged his ministerial word to the Exporters.

With a following of seven members of the House of Assembly Warren is in a position to fulfil his pledge, despite the hostility of the other leaders.

After Saturday the House of Assembly will have no less than four parties, made up as follows: Liberal-Labor 13; Coakerites 11; Warrentites 7; Squiresites 4. The Prime Minister's faction is away down the list. The Speaker is not included.

The tinpot Warship Lobelia, purchased by Mr. Coaker for Government service, still swings at anchor in the harbor. A piece of ice will puncture her plates one of these days, and she will then go to bottom. Hawco and Fawc are also going to bottom on Saturday.

Bon Voyage to Our Sealers.

Here's to you—fleet of manhood. Here's to the pride of our race. Dauntless in war or in danger. Courage is stamped on each face. Hastening on to the ice-fields. May you be strong for the test. This is the name the world gave you. Better by far than the best.

Here's to the sons of our island. Cradled where tempests rage high. Wind sweeping o'er the wild ocean. Sang you a weird ballad. Then as you wakened to manhood. Strong was your heart and your hand. God sent His blessings upon you. Sons of the tempest-kissed strand!

Here's to you—fathers and brothers—Everyone there in his place. As the great ships bear you onward. There is a smile on each face. Here's to you—army of toilers. Bringing each one, bumper trower. Waving adieu to your dear ones. Saying farewell to your land!

Here's to each man and each captain. Hear's to the sturdy old ships. May you come in from the ice-fields. Bringing each one, bumper trower. Out there when dangers surround you. May you be strong for the test. And all success travel with you. Hall to you—bravest and best. GLADYS M. RUSSELL. Bay Roberts.

WINS $3,000 IN LOTTERY. A well known man about town, who invested a few dollars in a State lottery, was recently informed that he had won a prize amounting to the sum of $3,000. He had taken only four tickets in the lottery and he had forgotten that he had invested in them until he was informed by the promoters that he had won the prize. He is expecting to receive the amount by an early mail, and being a "good sport" it is not unlikely that part of it will be given to some deserving charity.

Hockey Notes.

The Tie Cup series on the knockout system will begin to-night when the Terra Novas and Saints will clash in what will, in all probability, be an exciting contest. A cup is being put up by the rink directors for competition in this series and must be won three seasons before it can become the property of any club.

It has not yet been decided what night will be set apart for the ice-men's benefit.

The St. Bon's and Feildians will meet on Friday night in the second game of the Tie Cup series. These two teams have already met three times and each game has been a close one. Friday night's will therefore be looked forward to by supporters of each side.

BASE FABRICATION!

Dr. Jones Nails the Griffin Lie With a Prompt Denial.

Special to Evening Telegram. MANUELS, March 9. The Special Editions of the Star and Advocate, circulating here, contains a letter of P. J. Griffin, which is an absolute fabrication. Griffin's zeal for Coaker's cause must have intoxicated him or at least stimulated his vivid imagination. P. J. Griffin is the last man in the country I would trust with any confidences, much less dealing with Squires of Affidavit fame.

Squires' Government Dispossesses Widow.

Penalizes Paupers, Then Blames Dr. Jones.

The Harbour Main editions of the Star and Advocate have been filled with scurrilous and contemptible attacks on Dr. W. E. Jones, the universally respected Progressive candidate in the forthcoming by-election, because they say he is refusing to attend the poor. The Government's campaign managers have even circulated a doggerel ballad describing his neglect of a fictitious pauper, who was supposed to die while he was attending a meeting at Holywood, and incidentally stating that he is the only doctor declining to attend to the old lady. This is a downright lie. Needless to say, no such incident as that of the pauper ever occurred. But the whole matter of the fees is grossly misrepresented. The fact is that over two-thirds of the medical profession throughout the island is united in refusing to do Government work at less than cost, and that is what it amounts to, when the necessary expenses of transportation are considered. The practitioners of Trinity Bay, Bonavista Bay, Harbor Grace, and many other places are all on strike against the Government's ridiculous demands. What it actually amounts to is that the Government has too much to do increasing the salaries of its own members to spare money for sick paupers. However sick a man may be it has instructed all relieving officers to limit the medical treatment to one dollar's worth. Meanwhile it poses as the champion of the poor! Witness the following note: CONCEPTION, July 21st, 1920. Dr. W. E. Jones. Dear Sir.—Would you give Lizzie Mrs. Piercey of Lime Street, whose son, Trooper A. Pearcey, of the 15th King's Hussars, was fatally wounded at Ypres on June 1st, 1915, has just received from the King a handsome memorial plaque, and an accompanying message, dated from Buckingham Palace, as follows:—"I join with my grateful people in sending you this memorial of a brave life, given for others in the Great War. On the face of the plaque Britannia, with trident and wreath, stands by the side of the British Lion. Feildians Defeat St. Bon's.

IN FAST HOCKEY GAME. By the add goal in 7, the Feildians defeated St. Bon's at the rink last night before over 1000 people, including His Excellency the Governor, and Miss Armorel Harris. The game which was a fast and exciting one, was held under the auspices of the G.W.V.A. The full band of the C. L. B. Cadets was in attendance during the evening and discoursed some excellent music. The ice, owing to the recent mild weather, was in poor condition and impeded play to a slight extent. Individual play was the feature of the game but there was also an occasional flash of excellent combined play. Both Gibbs and Hunt put up splendid games in their respective goals and it is safe to say that it has rarely happened that two goal keepers of such equal merit have ever appeared in the one hockey season before. Tait, Ewing and Winter got in some excellent work for the Feildians, whilst Cahill, Higgins and Power played well for St. Bon's. In the face of this outrageous and indecent act of injustice and of the fact that the difficulty over pauper attendance was due solely to the Government's own miserliness when someone else is getting the money, the Squires-Coaker, sheets have the authority to charge Dr. Jones with grinding down the faces of the poor. But Dr. Jones did not take a job from a widow to give it to a well-to-do employee. He did not hold back money from sick paupers to put it in his own pockets. It was the Squires heathen who did that! Show them what you mean when the time comes, men of Harbour Main!—Com. wound. Trooper Piercey was formerly a member of the Methodist Guards.

President Ebert Protests Allied Occupation.

Germany Taking Invasion Quietly -- No Colonial or Colored Troops Included in Armies -- London Newspapers Generally Approve Action -- U. S. Forces Not Being Withdrawn.

PROTESTS AGAINST ALLIED ACTION.
LONDON, March 8. — Advance protests against the decision of the Allies to occupy the German cities east of the Rhine were contained in a proclamation issued in Berlin today by President Ebert of Germany, who said the action of the Allies was contrary to the terms of the Versailles treaty.

ALLIED FORCES IN OCCUPATION.
MAYENCE, March 8. — French and Belgian troops occupied Mayence at noon. The Allies then took possession of the city.

NO OPPOSITION YET.
BERLIN, March 8. — The occupation of Dusseldorf, Cologne and Ruhrort by Allied troops will not be opposed by the German Government, it was indicated this morning. The cabinet dispersed at eleven o'clock without taking any action calculated to meet the situation which has arisen between Germany and the Allied nations. President Ebert has issued an appeal to the people urging them to "meet foreign despotism" with "austere discipline."

THE FRENCH FORCE.
PARIS, March 8. — Less than twenty-five thousand troops were used in carrying out the occupation of additional German territory under decisions reached at London and affected today. It was stated at the Foreign Office this afternoon that no colonial forces and no troops whatever were included in this number, so that the Germans would have no basis for criticism on this ground, it was explained. The occupation was completed without friction, the Foreign Office announced and troops have been ordered to observe strict discipline in the new area and to abstain from any act of violence.

SPANISH PREMIER ASSASSINATED.
LONDON, March 8. — Premier Eduardo Dato of Spain has been assassinated, according to dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company from Madrid. Senor Dato was killed by revolver shots as he left his office.

NEWSPAPER OPINION.
LONDON, March 8. — The morning newspapers, with the exception of the Daily News, approved of the Allied decision to penalize Germany for refusing to accede to the Allied reparations. The News commented that the decision was "a step towards justice."

HINTS TO HOME DECORATORS.
The decorating of the home is a fine art, the best results can be obtained by careful study of surroundings. The following hints may be helpful: If your room faces North use warm colored paper such as brown, yellow, or red. For rooms which get a good deal of sunshine, paper of cool shades such as Greys and blues may be used. Care should be taken to harmonize Your Wall Papers with the Paints. Fawns and Tans usually blend nicely with natural wood finish or grained doors and wood-work.

Remember Green is Nature's colour for a Decorative Background, and Green Papers of the latter shades usually contrast well with rugs, curtains, and pictures particularly if the latter have gilt frames. Small Rooms may be made to appear larger by the use of Striped Papers. On low ceilings only use a narrow bordering, or perhaps better a drop ceiling of white paper which joins up almost unnoticeably with the white ceiling, and so gives the room the appearance of more height than really has. It is important to buy your papers at TEMPLETON'S who keep a Splendid Selection of the latest Patterns at Prices which defy Competition.

the city. Revolutionary leader Kozlovski is completely victorious, the advice adds. He has issued a proclamation to the effect that he is in a hurry to save the population from the oppression of a tyrannous clique.

WARNED THE INHABITANTS.
DUSSELDORF, March 8. — The inhabitants of this city were warned in a proclamation by the Mayor today against taking a provocative attitude against Allied forces occupying the town.

KERENSKY DIRECTING REVOLUTION.
COPENHAGEN, March 8. — Kerensky, Premier of the Russian Provisional Government, overthrown by the Bolsheviks in 1917, is said to be at Kronstadt directing the revolutionary offensive at Petrograd.

AIRPLANES IN SERVICE.
DUSSELDORF, March 8. — French and British airplanes flew over Dusseldorf this afternoon while Allied troops with machine guns were taking positions on bridges and roads and in important factories. Inhabitants of the city had not been prepared by newspapers for the determination of the Allies to occupy additional German territory, and were surprised this morning at day-break to see the Rhine boats moored north and south of the city loaded with troops and war materials. British tanks and cavalry landed to the north and French artillery and engineers landed to the south of the city. Anglo-French forces massed around Dusseldorf while Belgian infantry, which had concentrated yesterday at Crefeld, crossed the bridge into the centre of the city. Allied quartermasters have asked the Mayor to give them possession of certain schools, besides barracks and railway stations which have not yet been occupied. Traffic with Oberassel across the Rhine has stopped, and telephone communication has been interrupted.

SEVERAL HUNDRED WORKMEN KILLED IN MOSCOW.
LONDON, March 8. — During the recent bombardment of workmen's quarters in Moscow, several hundred thousand men and women, it is despatch adds, are now on strike in Moscow.

AUSTRIA'S TURN NOW.
LONDON, March 8. — The Allied Supreme Council yesterday notified the Austrian Government that it is now ready to discuss the Austrian question and will receive the Austrian representatives for the purpose.

NO GENERAL GERMAN STRIKE.
BERLIN, March 8. — There will be no general strike in protest against the Allied advance into Germany, it has been decided by labor unions. Communists have been urging a strike.

TURKS OCCUPY BATHUM.
LONDON, March 8. — The Turkish Nationalist forces have occupied Bathum since a Reuters despatch from Constantinople. It has been declared that if the city is in control of the Nationalists, the occupation of Armenia by the Russian Bolsheviks would be impossible.

GREAT LOSS OF LIFE.
HONG KONG, March 8. — More than eight hundred Chinese are believed to have been drowned in the wreck of the steamer King Mo off the port of Swatow on March third.

FORTRESS IN ACTION.
LONDON, March 8. — Kronstadt Gorko fortress is directing its fire against Moscow-Petrograd railway line, says a despatch to the Central News from Helsinki.

NOT CONSIDERING WITHDRAWAL.
WASHINGTON, March 8. — The withdrawal of United States forces from the Rhine is not under consideration, Secretary Weeks of the War Department announced today after the first meeting of the cabinet.

PETROGRAD WORKMEN REVOLTING.
LONDON, March 8. — Petrograd workmen are revolting against forced mobilization and have attacked Soviet troops, says a Helmsing report to the London Times. St. Petersburg, after street fighting, took possession of the greater part of the city.

Another Lie Nailed.

MR. WALSH CHALLENGES STAR.
HOLYROOD, March 8. — Special to Evening Telegram.

In the Harbor Main special of the St. John's Daily Star of yesterday's date I notice that the editor or one of his assistants states that I was prepared to walk across the floor of the House and support the present Government if I was given a commission in the army, and that I wrote a letter to a member of the Government to this effect. Here is my answer: The man who wrote this statement is a contemptible liar, and I challenge him to produce and publish the letter. It is true that I was offered a Commission at five thousand dollars per year and a liberal amount for expenses, but I declined the offer. I am not like a great many of the members of the present Coaker Govt. thinking of their own selfish interests. I always have and always will stand by the men who sent me to the House of Assembly. We have today hundreds of good honest people in the District of Placentia and St. Mary's forced into the yoke of pauperism by the inane actions of an incapable and discredited one-man Government. The special editions of the Star and Advocate cannot stem the current of popular opposition to a discredited Government in Harbor Main District. Jones and Lewis with five hundred majority will be the verdict. A new, capable, and an honest Government will be the result. Again I challenge the Star to publish the letter, returned to me.

PERSONAL.
Rev. Dr. Bond has, we hear, accepted an invitation to Grafton St. Church, Halifax. Dr. Bond has already served as a pastor in this church and this second call is a compliment that he undoubtedly appreciates. Constable Humber of the Central Station, who has been in hospital for several months, was released from the institution a few days ago and is very much improved in health. It will be some time, however, before he will be able to resume regular duty.

Yesterday's Gazette contained the appointment of Mr. William Bragg to the position of Sub-Collector of Customs at Chapeau. Mr. Bragg is an official of long service in the Customs at Port aux Basques, and his promotion comes as a reward of meritorious service. Congratulations.

C. C. C. Dance St. Patrick's Night.
The C.C.C. Committee held a meeting in the Cadet Hall last night to make arrangements in connection with a dance to be held on St. Patrick's night. A dance committee arranged a programme of dances which will be advertised on Thursday. Tickets are now ready for sale. The full C.C.C. Band will furnish the music and an enjoyable night is anticipated. On Friday afternoon the Ladies' Committee are holding a meeting in connection with the supper which they intend to provide on the night of the dance.

Cobbett, the Political Reformer.

William Cobbett, who was born on March 9, 1762, at Farnham in Surrey, was a child of the people, and earned his own living from a very early age. His first occupation was driving away birds from newly sown seed, and from this beginning he advanced to every kind of farm and garden work. In 1780 he enlisted as a foot soldier and his regiment was sent to Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. He made an admirable soldier, being a model of punctuality and attention to duty. Every minute he could spare he devoted to study. The edge of his bed was his seat, a bit of board his writing table, and his knapsack was his bookcase. He was promoted to sergeant-major, and helped to keep the accounts of the regiment. After being eight years in the army he returned to London, obtained his discharge and married a soldier's daughter whom he had met in New Brunswick. He then brought serious charges of peculation against some officers of his late regiment. A court-martial was arranged, but Cobbett, fearing he would not only lose his case but be punished himself, fled to France. His paper sold in hundreds of thousands and he became a terror to the government. In 1810 he was tried for sedition and was sentenced to two years imprisonment and fined £1,000. On his release he revisited America, but soon returned to England, and resumed his old activities. He was elected to Parliament for Oldham in 1832, but was too downright honest to make a successful politician. Whatever man or measure he thought likely to give poor people more food he praised. The arts and sciences he ridiculed as rubbish. A downright John Bull sort of man, whom he much resembled in figure, he said what he thought and did not care who he offended. Two of his works are still worth reading. His "English Grammar," is perhaps the best and simplest, and "Rural Rides" is a delightful description of England as he saw it from horseback. He died on June 19, 1835.

Some Irish History and a Reply.

Editor Evening Telegram

Dear Sir—My attention has been called to a letter, published in the "Evening Advocate," some time ago, and written by P. J. Griffin of Conception Hr., in which he makes an attempt to prove that the bull "Laudabiliter" was a forgery and he uses practically the same arguments as J. A. Gibbs who wrote some time previously on the same subject. In one portion of his letter, Mr. Griffin says, "The general opinion is expressed in the concluding lines of the article on Adrian IV. in the most recent edition of the Britannica, where it is stated beyond the shadow of a doubt, the much discussed bull is not genuine."

Thus we see that the Britannica does not state "beyond the shadow of a doubt," as Mr. Griffin says, but merely gives Owen J. Thatcher's investigation and says "according to him the facts SEEM to be," which is rather different from Mr. Griffin's distorted rendering.

complaints, in which Ireland figures perpetually as the persecuted victim, and of which the rest of her history is simply another edition. Now, no research has ever been able to prove that Turgisus ever existed! There is no trace of him in any other chronicle nor in Scandinavian Sagas. But, on the other hand, there was at that time in Ireland, besides the usual endemic war of clans, never very humane, one Fredlimd, King of Munster and Bishop of Cashel, who, in order to become supreme King over the whole island, put it to fire and sword, devastating and pillaging with extreme ferocity. At last it was realized that the best part of the atrocities ascribed to the mystical invader Turgisus bore a remarkable resemblance to those of Fredlimd, whose praises were still being sung by his hands and chroniclers. This is the first of the "persecutions" of Ireland—a sorry precedent for the veracity of narratives to come!

The Middle Ages pass, and gradually we approach the fatal day when the Irish lost their independence for good and all—if independence means killing one another with great perseverance. This loss is called "The Bull Landabilliter."

Trusting you will do me the honor to produce this in your columns.

Yours sincerely, G. LUFF.

The Irish Question.

Editor Evening Telegram

Dear Sir—God help Ireland is the thought that rises in the heart of every one who reads what is daily happening in that terribly afflicted country. Homes are being devastated, buildings burnt down, men and women murdered, wives made widows, children orphans, sweethearts losing their lovers, and why? Because a little common sense is not being used to settle differences which should easily be settled. It takes two people to make a quarrel. If one of two quarrelling ladies stops talking the other soon holds her tongue for lack of argument. It seems to me that the two stories of the two goats is very applicable to the condition of affairs in Ireland. You remember that the first two goats meeting on a narrow ledge fought and fell to destruction. When the second pair of goats met one laid down and the other passed over its body and both safely reached their destination. If England and Ireland fight, then certainly Ireland will suffer, and possibly England. Let one lie down and both are saved.

I cannot find that they make any conscience of sin." Mr. Griffin continues: "At this very time the Irish nation had risen up against an Irish King and had driven him out for an act of adultery." This was certainly a noble act on the part of Ireland, when we consider that there were Kings held in high esteem and popular preference, who also had this crime to their record. This kind of remembrance makes us think of the persecutions of Ireland. In the ninth century, Norwegian pirates came to ravage the shores of Ireland, and, needless to say, their methods were not gentle. Thereupon there arose the legend of a personage in whom every cruelty was incarnate: Turgesius the Viking. An Irish manuscript overthrows him with detail, then the story is taken up and enlarged by the Monk Jocelyn, and also Geraldus Cambrensis. This is in fact the first specimen of those national Woman Suffrage.

An address delivered by Mary Johnson, the noted historical novelist, to the House of Governors at Richmond, Virginia.

"Your Excellencies—If there are two things in the world inextricably intertwined, they are men and women. Neither of us can live without the other. To tell the truth, neither of us wishes to live without the other. We talk of the man in the abstract, and of woman in the abstract, and all the time there is no such thing as an abstract man or woman. It is a monster that doesn't exist. Men and women are concrete persons, here and now, here and now, here and now, welded together. All men are the sons of women and all women are the daughters of men. Every man here was born of a woman and a man, and every woman here was born of a man and a woman, and we inherit equally from each; that means, as any biologist will tell you, that we are each Woman cannot content man without contenting herself and man cannot content woman without contenting himself. Man and woman, we are co-heirs, we are kings and queens—not kings with a queen-consort walking behind, and not queens with a prince-consort walking behind, but fellow sovereigns—Williams and Marys, Ferdinands and Isabelas!

That is our contention. That is what we stand for to-day to uphold. That is the heart of the woman movement. That is what, over all the world to-day, woman, awakened and struggling to her feet, is crying to her mate, is crying to the future!

What is at the root of the world-wide unrest among women? What is at the root of the Woman Movement? The oldest thing that the world is as the root of the Woman Movement. Diffidence is at the root of the Woman Movement—growth, the divine yearning outward and upward and upward. Stop it? Still it? Stop the ocean with your hand; stop the wind with a straw; stay the great mind of the world with your plaintive "Day before yesterday was just the right weather!"

It did not come up in a night, the Woman Movement, and it is in no danger of perishing from view. It is here to stay and to grow. It is not the work of a few fanatics and faddists. It is a perfectly logical phenomenon, born out of the fullness of time and the larger mind of the world, evidencing itself in all the countries of the world and under the most diverse circumstances, participated in by individuals of every stratum, by the rich and the poor, the learned and the unlearned, the young and the old. It is indestructible, it is moving on with an ever-increasing depth and velocity, and it is going to revolutionize the world. It has many sides—educational, economic, industrial, eugenic, political. In a thousand and speeches we could only slightly touch the fringes of this vast, multi-faceted Woman Movement. To-day we are to speak, and that most briefly, only to its political aspect in our own country. Then, what are we asking, here in America, here in Virginia? We are asking that a democracy be a democracy. We are asking that the government of this country be the government of the whole people, for and by the whole people, and not a government of, for and by half the people. We are asking that we who live under laws which we must obey and which affect our relation in life—may have something to do with the making of those laws. We are asking that we who pay a very considerable portion of the taxes of the State and of the country may have a voice in the apportionment of those taxes. We are asking that we who work may have a say as to the conditions under which we work—conditions which, even now, are largely under political control.

HAS NO PAIN NOW

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Did for Mrs. Peasey of London.

London, Ont.—"I suffered with periodical pains, was weak and run down, could not eat and had headaches. The worst symptoms were dragging down pains so bad I sometimes thought I would die. I was in this condition for two or three years and could not seem to work. I tried all kinds of remedies and had been treated by physicians, but received no benefit. I found one of your booklets and felt inclined to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I received the best results from it, and now I keep house and go out to work and am like a new woman. I have recommended your Vegetable Compound to my friends, and if these facts will help some poor woman use them as you please."—Mrs. J. F. PEASEY, 208 Rectory Street, London, Ont.

The reason women write such letters to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. and tell their friends how they are helped is that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought health and happiness into their lives. Freed from their illness they want to pass the good news along to other suffering women that they also may be relieved.

If there are any complications you do not understand write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

When the 20th Century Began.

The twentieth century began on the first day of January, 1901. In common usage the first century means the years A.D. 1-100; the second century the years 101-200; and the nineteenth century the years A.D. 1801-1900. The fifth century before Christ was 500-401 B.C. A century begins with the beginning of the fifth day in its first year, and does not end until the close of the last day in its hundredth year. The mode of reckoning is often confused with the common mode of stating the age of a person. A person born at the beginning of the Christian era would be called one year old during his second year, that is during the course of the year two; he would be called two during the year three; and forty during the year forty-one, etc.

From the Ranks to the Throne.

Jean Baptiste Bernadotte, who died on March 8, 1844, as Charles XIV. of Sweden, may be regarded as the most fortunate of all the children of the French Revolution. Certainly he did not rise as high as Napoleon, but what he gained he kept; and upon the whole nobody to whom 1789 opened the doors of opportunity took better advantage of his chances. The son of a lawyer, he was born at Paris in 1764, and, while yet a youth, enlisted in the army, in which at that time none but nobles could expect to reach commissioned rank. The Revolution, however, altered all that; and Bernadotte, who had been a non-commissioned officer for years, found himself in a brief while commanding armies. Later he was War Minister, and, although he took no share in the events that made Napoleon First Consul, the fact that he and Joseph Bonaparte had married sisters proved of substantial advantage to him. In 1804 he received his marshal's baton, and in 1806 he was made Prince of Ponte Corvo. Four years later he was elected Crown Prince of Sweden by the Riksdag. The most equivocal part of his life was when he joined the Allies against Napoleon in 1812; while throughout the subsequent campaign of 1813 he caused much suspicion by his intrigues to succeed Napoleon, and his attitude throughout was "emancipated." However, his plans came to nothing, and he had to content himself with annexing Norway, and began a reign marked by good and careful government, whereby he won the respect and confidence of both nations, so that he rated for 26 years with complete success and handed on the heritage to his descendants.

Vapo-Cresoline. A Vapor Treatment for Coughs and Colds. The time for Vapo-Cresoline is at the first indication of a cold. It is a simple thing to use, you just light the little lamp that carries the Cresoline and place it near the bed. The soothing antiseptic vapor makes breathing easy, relieves the cough, eases the soreness and congestion, and protects in evidence. Recommended for Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Croup, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, and Asthma. Cresoline has been used for the past 50 years. The benefit is unquestionable. Price 25c. VAPOR-CRESOLINE CO., London, W.C. 2, England.

Household Notes. Things out of season are always high. Potatoes should be served in an uncovered dish. Clean brass kettles before using with salt and vinegar. Children should not have meat more than once a day. Worn places in matting may be darned with strands of raffa. Serve small sausages with roast chicken to add to the flavor. A nice way to serve creamed vegetables is in timbale cases. An ordinary iron fire shovel makes an excellent salamander. Unseasoned cereals may be used to thicken soups, stews or gravies. Keep pickles in a dark, dry place, in either glass or stone jars. Lettuce, cooked just as you would cook spinach, is delicious served with beefsteak. Chopped parsley added to creamed potatoes gives them an excellent flavor. A little wire brush is excellent for removing hairs from a carpet sweeper. Strips of green peppers are delicious fried in olive oil and highly seasoned. Lemons will be ripe and juicy if kept in cold water. Change water every week. Fritters should be served hot on a folded napkin and accompanied by their sauce. As canned mushrooms are already cooked, do not boil them when preparing them. Chop suzy should be served with boiled rice, steamed dry in the Chinese fashion.

Aching Limbs. Pains in the system cause pains, aches and stiffness. The pains are quickly removed by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. One pill a dose. 25c. a box, all dealers.

Just Folks. I mustn't forget that I'm getting old. That's the worst thing ever to can do. I must keep in mind without fail that old ideas must be given up to new. Let me be always upon my guard. Never a crabby old man to be too precious to have a little fun. By the cranky whims of a man I must remember that customs change. An' I've had my youth an' my love is gray. Mustn't be too surprised at what Or startlin' things that the years stars say. Mustn't keep the bit in their mouths too tight. What is something old people queer. What used to be, was wrong may be right. An' it may not be wrong just coz it's new. Want 'em to like me an' want 'em to know. That I need their laughter mirth an' song. An' I want 'em near, coz I love 'em so. An' home is the place where the smiles bring. They're growin' up, an' it seems queer. To hear 'em talk of the years they held. But age with youth shouldn't be quarrel. An' I mustn't forget that I'm gettin' old.

A TRUST COMPANY AS EXECUTOR.

A Trust Company as Executor affords the Estate for which it is acting all the advantages of the best private Executor with none of the weaknesses which are inseparable from individual Executorships.

In addition, there are many exclusive advantages possessed by a Trust Company which should be carefully considered by all intending Testators before appointing an Executor for the administration of their Estates.

If you are interested, communicate with the Officers of this Company and they will explain the matter fully to you.

CONTROL!

"RAYBESTOS" Brake Lining

Will always grip and hold the car in any emergency because it is made of long fibre asbestos woven with brass wire and treated in a way that gives it the greatest gripping power.

"RAYBESTOS"

gives longer wear than any other lining, and it wears evenly down to the last sixteenth of an inch. Most of the best known car manufacturers use RAYBESTOS.

Look for the silver edge: your protection against imitations.

Send your car to us to be overhauled and have the brakes relined with RAYBESTOS and protect yourself against accidents.
