

Report of Football League Meeting

The meeting of the Calgary City and District League on Tuesday evening cleared up a great many points which had up to that time been very obscure. Since the controversy over the question of grounds opened, it has always been maintained that the Hillhurst Football Club would have the use of the grounds on Victoria Park. The decision of the league to play the games on Victoria Park was given on Monday last when the event appeared under the name of the Hillhurst secretary in a city newspaper. The league was prepared to meet the Hillhurst club in every way in view of the alleged liability of the Hillhurst club. It was the intention of the league to meet the Hillhurst club on Tuesday evening this willingness was manifested when Mr. Alken, of the Post Office Club moved that the league should reconsider their decision in connection with their resignation. Mr. Alken felt that something in the way of concession should be granted Hillhurst, and this was generally agreed to, allowing them to play all their home games at Hillhurst Park, and making some arrangements for the use of the grounds. Mr. Robertson, the president of the league, asked Mr. Melville, who represented Hillhurst, what liability they had, and thinking that the question was put with respect to the Hillhurst Athletic Association and the Hillhurst Football Club, Melville replied somewhat evasively that they simply the same liability as other clubs so far as the grounds were concerned. These were that they were to pay the 30 per cent on each game, with the five dollar minimum. Mr. Robertson asked then if the Hillhurst Club did not play any games on the Hillhurst grounds would they be any liability? Mr. Melville replied that there would not, and this, of course, put the matter in a very different light. All the delegates understood that the Hillhurst Football Club had no liability in connection with the Hillhurst Football grounds which did not apply to any other clubs, but by the statement made on Tuesday it would appear that the Hillhurst Club had nothing whatever to do with the grounds, other than pay their 30 per cent and five dollar minimum, like the other clubs. The chairman asked then what all this meant, and he was told that the real reason for the objection of the Hillhurst club to the playing of the games on Victoria Park, and the incurring of expense in connection with fencing, etc., was the very natural one of liability. Mr. Melville Hillhurst Amateur Athletic Association. This side of the matter has been strenuously objected to by Hillhurst footballers, they having based their case entirely on the liability question, which was thoroughly reviewed Tuesday.

Division of Gates.
Arising out of this discussion on the Hillhurst liability, which altered the terms of the motion proposed by Mr. Alken, considerably, the delegates considered the gate receipts at Hillhurst was fully considered. The delegates representative, Mr. Matheson, asked Mr. Melville for a straight division, all round. If the Hillhurst Club got their home gates, such another question as the year might arise whenever the Hillhurst Club had three games at the end of the season, arising out of the gate receipts, the two first attempts to settle the matter had been, and would mean in that case that the gate receipts would have to play three games for the Hillhurst Club, which was a question which was thoroughly reviewed Tuesday.

THE OLD FOOTBALL GROUNDS' QUESTION REHASHED FOR ALBERTA READERS

Footballers Appeared to Have Got the Advertising Instinct—A Review of the Controversy Between Hillhurst and the League

(By J. K. Mathewson)
Just in the same manner as the booming of the various baseball "stars" throughout the country was the opening of the Calgary District Football league this year. In former years the Old Country game was opened with the old customs and comparatively quiet ceremony; but this year things have been quite different and so it has been necessary that much publicity should be given to the procedure through which the league has arrived at its present status, in order that the many football followers in the city should have a proper conception of the importance of the game in Western Canada.
The Beginning.
At the general meeting of the league, which was held in March, there were several proposals made, which, it passed, would have had a very different bearing on the subsequent existence of the league than has transpired. It need, however, only be said that the proposals were not received by the delegates as a league, and that they consequently were defeated. At a later meeting, held for the purpose of making arrangements for running the league, the question of grounds was discussed, and the proposal of the Hillhurst Amateur Athletic Association, on whose grounds the league had played their games during past season was laid before the delegates. Without exception, every representative of a club voted against the proposal. The scheme presented by the Hillhurst Athletic Association was to charge 30 per cent of each gross gate received, with a 45 minimum, and this was to apply to all clubs indiscriminately. When the Hillhurst Football Club, which, according to all reports, is an entirely separate organization of itself, although some of the members are connected with both bodies, was to play on the grounds they were to receive in common with other clubs, 30 per cent of the gates after the cost of 30 per cent was paid. This proposal was submitted by the representative of the Hillhurst Football Club, and here is where the Hillhurst Amateur Athletic Association were at fault. Even if there was no connection between the two bodies, it was manifestly an invidious thing to allow the representative of the football club to state the case of the association, more especially when the football representative stated distinctly that he sat at the board as the football club representative, and in no wise as representing the association. To make a long story short, the league delegates refused to consider the matter on the terms proposed, and a committee was appointed to interview the Hillhurst association, on the motion of the Hillhurst Football club representative, and such interview duly took place.
Several Statements.
The result of that interview was fully reported to the league by Mr. A. D. Alken, and it was to the effect that the Hillhurst association were willing to concede a reduction of the minimum charge from $1.50 to $1.

SYMPATHY IS WITH PLUCKY MONTENEGRINS

Austria Will Have to Walk Warily or Will Be in Trouble

LONDON, May 2.—Political prophets are going out of business. A tricky trade at best, it becomes impossible when dealing with such an embroglio as exists in southeastern Europe.
What can be said when a defeated Turkish general aims at kingship on the morrow of his surrender? Who knows the bargain between Essad Pasha and King Nicholas? Yet much, perhaps all, depends on the trend of reading of this riddle. If the future of Scutari is settled between these two, Austria's policy becomes fatuous for she can hardly fight to force Montenegro to give Albania what Albania does not want.
Dangers Incalculable
As Lord Morley said in the house of lords on Wednesday, it is one of the most perplexing knots intractable and the dangers of the situation are incalculable. The powers are unwilling to use coercive measures with Montenegro without further attempts at negotiations. If Austria executes her resolve to act independently, she must walk warily if she desires to prove that she is merely the executant of a policy approved by the powers. The smallest deviation from the path of the slightest suspicion that she is playing a lone hand threatens to excite Russian opinion beyond the power of the government to restrain and all know what that means.
Austria is making desperate efforts to induce England to participate in the coercive expedition with the obvious desire to embroil England with the Slav states. The snare, however, is too apparent to entrap the British bird. There are few ties of sympathy between England and Austria, while the general feeling is that Montenegro deserves adequate compensation for her gallant conclusion of her centuries long warfare with Turkey.

GO SLOW AFTER AGE OF 55
(From the London Mail)
On the question of why we grow old, discussed in connection with the inquiry being carried out by Dr. Andrews, pathologist to St. Bartholomew's hospital, on arterial decay, a doctor says: "It is very important for men to recognize that the danger period is from the age of 50 or 55 upwards. Up to 50 the arteries respond fairly well to the stress of ordinary life, but about that age a man must ease off decidedly or he will find himself going quickly downhill. This warning applies not only to physical but also to mental work. There are some exceptionally sound men of more than 55 who can do a day's hunting or shooting or work their brain at high pressure for eight or ten hours a day without apparent hurt, and there are also men who can eat and drink as freely at this age as when in full vigor. Probably they shorten their lives by a few years. The vast majority of men certainly cannot act in this way without bad consequences."

MONDAY, MAY 5, 1913.
GROWTH OF LIBERTY.

Adeline Duchess of Bedford has been assailing the Portuguese republic with great fury in the columns of the "yellow press" of London, Eng. The Daily Mail is the vehicle chosen by this noblewoman to convey her objurgations to the world. According to her, the Republican leaders are completely under the domination of the Carbonari and that to that famous society's machinations are due what is depicted as an odious and unprecedented state of things.
Admitted, for mere argument's sake, that hundreds of inoffensive people have been arrested as suspects and detained for months in prison before trial. You cannot make an omelette without breaking eggs; and someone is bound to undergo unpleasant experiences in a land in Portugal's stage of transition. An old-established monarchy, which had become impossible and objectionable, has been swept away, and a republic set up upon its ruins. The marvel is that so radical a change has been effected with so very little bloodshed, suffering and coercion in its train.
Justice and truth it is asserted, play no part in the trials of the individuals accused of conspiring against the safety of the republic. Convictions are determined on beforehand; false evidence is given for a price by mercenary ruffians, etc., etc. The fact is, however, that in all the world's history, no person accused of a political offence ever received a really fair and impartial trial; and for the following reasons: A government which is powerful enough to arrest its enemies as alleged conspirators, bringing them to trial before the courts of law, must necessarily have a vast preponderance of public opinion on its side. In other words, the public at large are prejudiced against the prisoner before he comes into court; so are the jury, who are members of that public; so are the judges, lawyers, even the very jailors and policemen on duty. Such has been the history of all political trials in the past; and so long as political prosecutions continue to be resorted to by governments, especially in times of revolution, so long will the prisoner continue to be tried by a prejudiced tribunal made up, for the most part, of his opponents.
Eight hundred persons, it is said, are now languishing in Portugal's jails merely as suspected conspirators. That, of course, is regrettable. But the Portuguese republic by no means stands alone. Time and again, in the United Kingdom itself, coercion acts have been resorted to in times of trouble in Ireland, and hundreds of persons have been laid by the heels and detained in jail for months on bare suspicion of conspiracy. In Great Britain itself, the land of Magna Charta, at the time of the Great French Revolution the government of the day suspended the habeas corpus act, and everyone who expressed sympathy with the democratic longings of the French people was liable to be promptly hauled off to prison.
So the Portuguese republic sins in good company, if all this is true. But the fact is that all the telegraph from Portugal, with very few exceptions, is written with a strong reactionary and Anti-Republican bias. It is manifest to anyone who studies it with ordinary care; and that being so, it is superfluous to add that Liberals need to take it "cum grano salis."
CLEARING HOUSE FOR LABOR.
Without entering into the details of the trouble which resulted in the death of the labor bureau, the Albertan believes that the outcome is regrettable. The move was one in the right direction, even though the city was losing money in the venture. Hardly enough time was given for a satisfactory test, and during the greater part of the time that it was in operation the city authorities were not in sympathy with the management of the bureau.
In Wisconsin, the state conducts a labor bureau with great success. It is merely the work of a province or state, or even of a Dominion than of a mere city. To be successful there should be cooperation.
Miss Wilman has done some good by directing the different provinces and the Dominion towards a general movement of this kind. The establishment of a general clearing house for labor throughout the Dominion, would be a move in the right direction. The Toronto Star in speaking of the suggestion, in a recent issue says:—
"Miss E. St. John Wilman, founder and manager of the Calgary Labor Bureau, is advertising a scheme of government bureau for Canada, under the control of the Dominion Department of Labor. There would be a bureau in each city and large town, di-

THREE TRAGIC DEATHS
IN CITY DURING WEEK END

It was stated that Metcalfe had always been a satisfactory employee and had done good service. His books were in good shape and he was never in trouble with his employers. It was known, however, that his personal affairs had not been going well and he had been despondent and much downhearted about them for some weeks past.
Yet within the last few days he had been brighter and on Friday evening he took his wife to the picture show and appeared to be in good spirits. On Saturday morning he rose at the usual hour and went downstairs and played with the child for a time. Mrs. Metcalfe who was upstairs then heard a report of a gun and rushing down to the basement found her husband lying bleeding on the floor with the gun at his side and blood streaming from a wound in the head.
Death instantaneous.
Dr. Danks, who lives next door, was summoned and found death had been instantaneous. Coroner Dr. Rose was notified and on his arrival announced that an inquest would be unnecessary. Arrangements will be made for the burial this morning. The wife is much upset but the small children do not appear to understand.
Mrs. Metcalfe is a second wife and has been married about three years and is left with three small children. Mr. Metcalfe had a daughter by his former wife and she is at present in England.
Toronto Market Dull
Toronto, May 3.—A dull session closed the week on the Toronto stock exchange. Local securities, most of them, did not move perceptibly and brokers are not hopeful of improvement until things turn definitely better in Europe and the money market eases off.

AN OPPORTUNITY NEGLECTED.

It would pay the publicity department of the industrial bureau to engage a good "tipster" for the scenic street car. Hundreds of tourists and citizens patronize this car weekly, and the trip affords excellent opportunities for the advertisement of the city's development. The masopahome man seems to be quite unfamiliar with local street improvements and points of interest. On the trip to East Calgary, for instance, new industries, factory sites, proposed street railway extensions, street improvements and new buildings are ignored, the spier occupancies the time with relation of somewhat vulgar stories, except for an interruption to point out the brewery, one small frame, church, and St. George's Island Park. On the trip up Eighth avenue where between four and five million dollars' worth of important new buildings are under course of construction, the time is also occupied with pointless and even objectionable anecdotes and the opportunity to enlighten visitors as well as citizens with valuable information is lost.

We Have Passed the 243rd
Anniversary of Our History

THE Pilgrim Fathers did not land at Plymouth Rock with loftier ideals, a more heroic spirit or cleaner purpose than that which animated the missionaries of this great enterprise who came to it with a mercantile spirit, and with a firm purpose of conducting an honorable profession of trade and government of a great and little known land.
This was over two and a quarter centuries ago, and yet this business is still young and growing.
The principles adopted by the founders of this great business upon its inception were strong and immutable, and have prevailed throughout. Though the growth of this business has kept pace and been part of the rapid development of our country, it has never outgrown these foundation principles of integrity in its dealings with the public, of sincerity in all its words and actions; of courteous service to its patrons and the greatest integral worth of its merchandise.
In the past we have made an honest endeavor to cater to the wants of the people in a manner which assures them of the height of service, the dependable quality of our goods, and a lasting satisfaction to our patrons.
As we look back upon the work of those who have preceded us—a work well done—we feel the weight of a great responsibility, and look forward with the hope that because of extended facilities, we can serve you better each day. If we do so, it will be the happy furtherance of our ideals.

Our Contribution to Proper
Dressing of Boys
GET a boy used to clothes that make him comfortable, fit him well and give him a certain pride in his personal appearance and when he gets old enough to buy his own clothing he will buy the right sort. Meanwhile, in pleasing him, please yourself. Buy him suits that you know will wear as well as they look. Let them be fairly priced, of course. It is easy to buy good clothing at high figures; the problem is to invest moderately and yet be fully satisfied.
And that's the Hudson's Bay Clothing for boys. Not a suit that isn't the best possible for the least money. Best in every essential to satisfactory service.
Here's a bird's-eye view of the new suits for summer that we ordered for sturdy western boys.
In Russian blouse and Buster effects we are showing a large range of choice in fine tweeds and blue serge, including all the best shades of gray, brown and fawns; well made little suits either with or without braid trimming and leather belts.
Priced ..... $3.50 to $7.00
For boys a little older we recommend the celebrated "Lion Brand" clothes, acknowledged by those in a position to judge to be leaders in their line, as the makers confine every effort to the proper making of boys' clothing exclusively. These are here in tweeds, in browns, grays, greens and heather mixtures. Well cut and strongly put together in every detail. And two pairs of pants with each suit will be appreciated by both mothers and boys.
Ask to see the "College" and "Harvard," two very smart models, in two and three button double-breasted styles with vent sack coats. These are the dress suits any boy can put on and represent splendid value at the prices ..... $4.50 to $13.50

WESTERN MEMBERS COMPLAIN AT OTTAWA

In the government and railway commission there must be something done in this matter. Mr. Martin said he did not wish to be considered criticizing the action of the railway commission. "That body has occupied a sacred position in the eyes of the people, but if it is to be foisted with for the next two or three years in regard to freight rates, it will lose its prestige." He hoped that the members of railways would not offer special excuses for lack of action in that case. In regard to nearly every matter brought up it was the custom of the government to say that their predecessors in office did or did not do a certain thing, but he thought it was wrong about it or did not have to look into it.

Minister Makes Answer

Hon. Frank Cochrane, minister of railways in reply said: "I suppose the public generally are not satisfied with the way in which the railway commission came into power without bringing this subject before the railway commission. But I cannot get away from that fact. The late chairman of the railway commission, whose death we all deplore, and to whom I feel the compliment of the western farmers in January, 1911, replied that he had never had anything of the kind referred to him nor any request made to him to investigate the matter in hand and with the appointment of the new chairman, and with the quantity of work placed before the board, naturally had the effect of causing some delay. But I do not think that any one will find fault with the present chairman. I believe that our predecessors in office were particularly happy with the chairman appointed, for he proved himself of great service to the people of Canada, and I have great pleasure in saying that judging by what has been accomplished in the last few months, the present chairman of the board will prove the equal of any of his predecessors, which is saying a great deal. I might remind the honorable member for Regina of the investigation which was referred to by my hon. brother-in-law and on which no ruling was made until 1910.

"I refer to the investigation into the subject of express rates and I may say that when they were under consideration, there was no reduction of the rates. Since the present chairman took up the case, he has issued an order that express companies operating west of Sudbury shall reduce their rates by 25 per cent, and he has been in office for only a few months. I understand the railways put in a statement only about two months ago and that the board of the government has been getting experts from the United States trade bureau in order to go over and check up on this. This is not a question of death in a year or a month. If it is dealt with in a year they will do well. This is a serious question and one that the present government and the present board are giving attention to. We are not humbugging or delaying over this matter, notwithstanding what the member for Regina has said."

East Suffers Too

Hon. Frank Oliver said that this was not merely a Western matter because what was being done in the West hurt the whole Dominion. In this case, the change in the transportation rates is taking more than 100,000,000 out of the pockets of the people of the West. It is this, he said, that is the real cause of the trouble. He said that the people of the West should pay more for their freight than the people of the East. He desired to protest against such an attitude. But allowing counsel to dwell with this question for one and a half years the government suggested that it was on the side of discrimination. The question was discussed in parliament a year or so ago so the ministers could not say that they had not heard of it. In conclusion, Mr. Oliver declared that the question was of such great importance that it demands an early settlement in accordance with the terms of the Railway Act.

Want Contented People

W. A. Buchanan, Medicine Hat, said that he had found that the Western people are always complaining. The people of the West were anxious for development of the country. A reduction in the freight rates would help development of the West. He said it was impossible without contented people. They could not be contented when excessive and discriminatory freight rates existed. Touching on conditions existing last winter, he said that there had been a serious car shortage in some sections despite the more favorable season for the movement of grain. The people of the West are anxious that conditions should be remedied.

Denies Bad Faith

Hon. Robert Rogers said that the opposition had been endeavoring to fasten on the government a charge of bad faith in regard to this matter. He absolutely denied any bad faith, and challenged the opposition to produce the slightest bit of evidence to show that there was bad faith in carrying out the inquiry into the freight rates. This was a very wide and very large question and representative of the whole Dominion. He had been selected to represent the government and the people. He had every confidence that the matter would be dealt with fairly and speedily. It was only two months since the last evidence had been filed. Mr. Rogers added that while it was most desirable to have freight rates reduced, it was

"THE MERRY WIDOW"

There is a snap and a sparkle, a joyousness and enthusiasm to Henry W. Savage's play, "The Merry Widow" which may be while add greatly to the enjoyment of an audience, and this is particularly true of the enormous all-star revival of "The Merry Widow" which Mr. Savage will send to the Grand for three nights commencing tonight. Mr. Savage is well known as a model of good style, but no matter how well written a bad acting play may be, it will never really succeed. It was this fact that the plays of Scribner opened Sardou's eyes.

The Average Playgoer

In his successful days Sardou paid little heed to the opinions of actors, and to those of critics none at all. On the other hand, he attributed great value to the opinions of the less subtle spectators at his rehearsals. He closely watched the impressions and attitudes of the stage hands, the scene-shifters, firemen, supernumeraries and other humble people behind the scenes. These represented to him the average playgoer. A good or a bad play, he knew that to succeed he must satisfy that mind and not that of the critics. For this reason he disregarded an adverse reception on first night. On first night audience, he maintained, never represented the average playgoer. A cold or a hot first reception, therefore, left him calm. He would wait for the average playgoer, and on more than one occasion his faith was justified.

Sardou or Sarcey

Francisque Sarcey, for many years the doyen of Parisian critics, while praising Sardou's dramatic gifts, was the first to order, though his powers of observation by no means profound. A good deal of animosity existed between the two. When "La Tosca" was produced in 1887 the chorus of critics smote the piece hip and thigh and Sarcey incautiously went so far as to dub it "a pantomime." The dramatist was not a little nettled by this treatment and retorted: "I knew that Sarcey was a cold and a hard man, but I did not expect him to be so stupid. He really did not need this new infirmity."

Theodor's Table Fork

The story of anachronism and the falsification of history were frequently attributed to Sardou. Some of us recall the critical affair over the table fork which he allowed the Empress Theodora to use. Sardou's answer was that the first fork known to history came from the island of Crete, and was used by the Empress Helena two centuries before the time of Theodora. That, moreover, the fork is now preserved in the museum at Turin. As for his strangling of Theodora instead of allowing her to die of cancer, he denied the act. "It would be evidently absurd to make Mary Stuart die of consumption, Marie Antoinette of poison, or Jeanne d'Arc in the torturous voice apparatus, as that of Theodora authorizes me, I suppose, in imagining for her a death more Byzantine than the real one."

Handkerchief No. 15

"Handkerchief No. 15" is the title of a bright and pleasing sketch in which Sardou has made a number of allusions to the life of the late Emperor. It is a play in which Sardou has made a number of allusions to the life of the late Emperor. It is a play in which Sardou has made a number of allusions to the life of the late Emperor. It is a play in which Sardou has made a number of allusions to the life of the late Emperor.

Country's Credit Affected

The member for Calgary stated that anything which affected the credit of two great railways affected the credit of Canada, and such a matter of supreme interest should be long and carefully considered before being decided with the stroke of a pen. A more complex or intricate problem never came before the commission, nor before any tribunal of its kind in history. Moreover, the credit of the country was affected if the statements of two railways were to be credited. The government had nothing to do with the tribunal.

Don't look so angry about it

"Don't look so angry about it," said A. K. MacLean, Halifax. "The C. P. R. is all right," said Mr. Oliver. "I am $10,000 a year poorer since I severed my connection with the C. P. R.," said Mr. Bennett. The member for Calgary referred to a case which had been before the interstate commerce court of the United States for years without a binding order having been given. Mr. Carvell asked if Mr. Bennett wished to quote this as a precedent for Canada to follow.

Mr. Bennett declared that the question now was as to whether rates in Western Canada were reasonable as viewed from the service rendered.

Mr. Bennett declared that it was counsel for Saskatchewan and Alberta who had moved for the last adjournment. The commission had desired that the hearing be adjourned until November, but Mr. Cowan had moved for a longer period of time, and it had been adjourned until January. Country's Credit Affected. #### "A PARISIAN GUARD"

Louis A. Simon and Kathryn Osterman, late stars of the musical comedy field, have entered the vaudeville fold and will headline Thursday's bill at the Orpheum as the principals in a miniature musical comedy, "A Parisian Guard," which is the bill. Miss Osterman is a handsome woman and full well how to display her assets. She is a member of the "Merry Widow's" own symphony orchestra, plays the score, the gowns are made of beauty, designed and imported especially for this play, and the chorus contains three score young girls of superlative beauty and charm.

Sardou and Sardou's Plays

In the course of his long life Victorien Sardou wrote over fifty plays and contributed much to the entertainment of his own and other nations. Many a theatre-goer has come away from what has appeared to him an English play ignorant of the fact that he has been witnessing an adaptation of Sardou. Critics, on the other hand, have written of "Diplomacy"—the Bancroft-Scott-Stephenson version of "Dora"—as if it were Sardou's unaltered work. "Theodora" and "La Tosca," and "Madame Sans-Gene" certainly did not have his reputation as a playwright enhanced by the verities of those who adapted them. The adapters deemed it necessary to transmute personages, scenes and actions for the benefit of foreign audiences. This is one of the penalties of dramatic fame, as royalties are one of its compensations.

From Poverty to Wealth

Like so many men who achieve fame and fortune, Sardou had his early struggles and failures. There was a time when he looked upon dinner, on the days when he had taken luncheon, as a wild extravagance. To Sardou, the end of his life is often received over $50,000 a year for his plays. For a single play he frequently received in the first year $30,000, and his more successful pieces, such as "La Tosca" and "Madame Sans-Gene," netted him over $100,000 apiece. At ten years of age Victorien had not only read the plays of Moliere, but had learned them by heart and recited them enthusiastically. The works of Scribner also appear to have exercised an early effect upon him, and he formed the habit of analyzing them systematically. His method was to read the first act of a play and stop there; write the remainder himself, and then compare his work with

Mr. Bennett declared that it was counsel for Saskatchewan and Alberta who had moved for the last adjournment. The commission had desired that the hearing be adjourned until November, but Mr. Cowan had moved for a longer period of time, and it had been adjourned until January. Country's Credit Affected. The member for Calgary stated that anything which affected the credit of two great railways affected the credit of Canada, and such a matter of supreme interest should be long and carefully considered before being decided with the stroke of a pen. A more complex or intricate problem never came before the commission, nor before any tribunal of its kind in history. Moreover, the credit of the country was affected if the statements of two railways were to be credited. The government had nothing to do with the tribunal.

BROWNING LOVE

LETTERS BROUGHT ENORMOUS PRICE

Fancy Sums Paid by Connoisseurs for Manuscripts and Autographs of Famous Poet and His Wife. London, May 3.—At the second session of the Browning sale, held today at Sotheby's, the originals of the love letters which passed between Robert Browning and Elizabeth Barrett previous to their marriage in 1846, numbered 284 from the former and 287 from the latter, passed into the hands of Frank T. Sabin, brother of J. S. Sabin, the New York dealer, for $32,750, while the poet's old friends looked on in dismay. The first bid was $3,000, the contest developing rapidly into a duel between Bernard Quaritch and Frank T. Sabin. After $10,000 had been reached the two men capped each other's offers by $250, Sabin finally winning.

The Average Playgoer

In his successful days Sardou paid little heed to the opinions of actors, and to those of critics none at all. On the other hand, he attributed great value to the opinions of the less subtle spectators at his rehearsals. He closely watched the impressions and attitudes of the stage hands, the scene-shifters, firemen, supernumeraries and other humble people behind the scenes. These represented to him the average playgoer. A good or a bad play, he knew that to succeed he must satisfy that mind and not that of the critics. For this reason he disregarded an adverse reception on first night. On first night audience, he maintained, never represented the average playgoer. A cold or a hot first reception, therefore, left him calm. He would wait for the average playgoer, and on more than one occasion his faith was justified.

Sardou or Sarcey

Francisque Sarcey, for many years the doyen of Parisian critics, while praising Sardou's dramatic gifts, was the first to order, though his powers of observation by no means profound. A good deal of animosity existed between the two. When "La Tosca" was produced in 1887 the chorus of critics smote the piece hip and thigh and Sarcey incautiously went so far as to dub it "a pantomime." The dramatist was not a little nettled by this treatment and retorted: "I knew that Sarcey was a cold and a hard man, but I did not expect him to be so stupid. He really did not need this new infirmity."

Theodor's Table Fork

The story of anachronism and the falsification of history were frequently attributed to Sardou. Some of us recall the critical affair over the table fork which he allowed the Empress Theodora to use. Sardou's answer was that the first fork known to history came from the island of Crete, and was used by the Empress Helena two centuries before the time of Theodora. That, moreover, the fork is now preserved in the museum at Turin. As for his strangling of Theodora instead of allowing her to die of cancer, he denied the act. "It would be evidently absurd to make Mary Stuart die of consumption, Marie Antoinette of poison, or Jeanne d'Arc in the torturous voice apparatus, as that of Theodora authorizes me, I suppose, in imagining for her a death more Byzantine than the real one."

Handkerchief No. 15

"Handkerchief No. 15" is the title of a bright and pleasing sketch in which Sardou has made a number of allusions to the life of the late Emperor. It is a play in which Sardou has made a number of allusions to the life of the late Emperor. It is a play in which Sardou has made a number of allusions to the life of the late Emperor.

Moreover, the credit of the country was affected if the statements of two railways were to be credited. The government had nothing to do with the tribunal.

Don't look so angry about it

"Don't look so angry about it," said A. K. MacLean, Halifax. "The C. P. R. is all right," said Mr. Oliver. "I am $10,000 a year poorer since I severed my connection with the C. P. R.," said Mr. Bennett. The member for Calgary referred to a case which had been before the interstate commerce court of the United States for years without a binding order having been given. Mr. Carvell asked if Mr. Bennett wished to quote this as a precedent for Canada to follow.

Mr. Bennett declared that the question now was as to whether rates in Western Canada were reasonable as viewed from the service rendered.

Mr. Bennett declared that it was counsel for Saskatchewan and Alberta who had moved for the last adjournment. Six W.C.L. Teams Expect to Win the 1913 Pennant

(By Joe Prior.) Calgary baseball fans this year may expect to see the fastest team in this city which has ever worn Broncho uniforms. This is a pretty strong statement to make before the season starts but from the showing made by the boys in the pre-season practices and from the record which they have made in the past and which are officially recorded this prediction is safe.

OFFICIAL OPENING OF SENIOR CITY LEAGUE WILL TAKE PLACE AT MEWATA PARK TONIGHT—MAYOR SINNOTT WILL HEAVE FIRST BALL

Edmonton is the place selected for the opening of the Western Canada League today, but Calgary is not going to be baseless. For this day has been selected by the senior city amateur baseball league for the opening process and tonight at 6:30 His Worship Mayor Sinnott will heave, or try to heave, the official first ball into the outstretched palms of Bill Crowley, who is president of the league this year.

THE FOOTBALL GROUND CASE REHASHED

Continued from page 3. The invitation then came out. When a hearty invitation was extended to the Hillhurst club to play their games on the Victoria park, the representative said that having turned down the Hillhurst Amateur Athletic Club on the same basis as it was the intention of the Hillhurst Football Club to withdraw from the league.

The infield will be strong with O'Day, Norton, Jensen and Hagel on the job, while the catching department should be ably looked after by Crittenden, Otto Moore and Foley. The executive of the Millers have great confidence in the line up and candidly it is expected that they will be up among the leaders when the last game of the season is played here on August 30 with Bert Dunn's "Mad Hatters."

(By H. B. Widdien, Sporting Editor Saskatoon Phoenix.) Saskatoon, Sask., May 4.—With an even break of luck and barring more than the average number of accidents which befall baseball teams, the Saskatoon "Quakers" should either capture the "Big Six" pennant or finish very close to it.

(By Allan Longstaff, Sporting Editor The Medicine Hat News.) Medicine Hat, Alta., May 5.—The outlook for the Medicine Hat team is the brightest, if the form shown since their arrival here is any criterion. They have been practicing regularly since their arrival and yesterday played an exhibition game against a local team, showing up to good advantage, while not having to let out. From the showing so far Bert Dunn has picked a very well balanced team, and one that for carrying home the pennant, has as good a chance as any in the league.

(By Wm. Ryan, Sporting Editor Regina Leader.) Regina, May 5.—As I have not seen the Regina Red Sox at work, owing to the fact that they did all their practice training at Albany, I am unable to say whether they will be up among the leaders when the last game of the season is played here on August 30 with Bert Dunn's "Mad Hatters."

(By Frank Ford, Sporting Editor Moose Jaw Times.) Moose Jaw, May 5.—While those betting on the Moose Jaw team are making no high predictions, it is confidently expected that the Robins will at least finish in the first division. Led by all the club's best players, the team is expected to get a good start in the season. The team will feel no misgivings should they be asked to perform again on Wednesday when the Bronchos play in Calgary. Smick Meyers, Wainwright catcher, has been selected to play for the Bronchos last night.

(By F. M. Gerris, Sporting Editor Edmonton.) Edmonton, May 4.—For the first time in three years this city possesses a professional baseball team which looks to have better than a side chance of landing the 1913 race for Western Canada league honors. Manager Whisman has gathered together a bunch of players who are showing promise in one afternoon from former teams displaced throughout an entire season.

(By Wm. Ryan, Sporting Editor Regina Leader.) Regina, May 5.—As I have not seen the Regina Red Sox at work, owing to the fact that they did all their practice training at Albany, I am unable to say whether they will be up among the leaders when the last game of the season is played here on August 30 with Bert Dunn's "Mad Hatters."

FIGHTING DICK HYLAND LOST TO AMATEUR

Vancouver, B. C., May 5.—Ray Campbell, a former San Francisco amateur lightweight Saturday night pointed the famous "Fighting Dick" Hyland over the 15-round route at the Steveston arena. Campbell surprised with his clever work and although lacking a punch he was all over Hyland with his clever footwork and made good use of a straight left and right cross. Campbell had a lead in eight rounds, Hyland in three and four were even. Hyland finished strong but was unable to overcome Campbell's lead. It was the best battle witnessed at the new arena.

Professor Eastman of the Calgary university, lectured to a large audience last evening on the subject of "Syraculism." Explaining that the movement originated in France he threw some interesting light on its progress in various countries. Out of his own experience the professor was able to embellish his address and the subject was much enjoyed by those present.

THE RESULT OF THE FOOTBALL GROUND CASE

The result of the controversy this year has been to provide more athletic grounds for the citizens of Calgary. Mr. Riley expressed himself as at ease with the league in their proposal to acquire as many grounds as possible, and yet his practical endorsement of the action is to see the club which has the honor to preside over, withdraw from the very body which he presides to support on the ground question. Although the withdrawal of Hillhurst from the organized football of the province is to be very much regretted, there is no reason why the league should not go ahead and have a very successful future. All the teams this year are much stronger than they ever were before. There is an abundance of budding talent coming into the city, and there is also a considerable increase in the number who will attend the games. The very controversy in the beginning of this year will have the effect of drawing far more attention to the liveliness of the soccer code than otherwise would be the case, and although some of the more rabid supporters of the Hillhurst Football club will naturally abstain from participation in some of the beginning of the season, it is reasonable to believe that the natural desire to see the game played and to indulge in criticism will again draw them to the field, with the added possibility that they will then be able to discriminate better between the relative merits of each competing team rather than have the single bigoted eye for the interests of one, irrespective of the well-being of any other.

SOMEBODY BEHIND NAUGHTY NICHOLAS

Some Mightier Factor Backing the Montenegrin Monarch; a "United States of the Balkans" Fore-shadowed by Diplomat

London, May 4.—Great importance is attached to the results of the conference today, but there is no reason to believe that more decisive results will be secured than on Monday. The differences between the two powers, which are at the bottom of the present deadlock, have not been smoothed, and European diplomacy has been preoccupied with avoiding an open breach than with finding a radical solution to the Montenegrin problem. What adds gravity to the situation is the suspicion that a mightier factor is endeavoring to bring about the evacuation of Serbia.

Efforts are being made to induce her to sign a peace treaty with the king, but she is loath to do so. The king's exertions of the powers may effect before the end of the week. The king's exertions of the powers may effect before the end of the week. The king's exertions of the powers may effect before the end of the week.

For the present both states would be independent as regards business, but the whole diplomatic representation would be in the hands of the king. The king's exertions of the powers may effect before the end of the week. The king's exertions of the powers may effect before the end of the week.

Ere Ten Years! COUNT DE LAMBERT, THE GREAT FRENCH AVIATOR, SAYS ATLANTIC WILL BE CROSSED IN THE AIR

Paris, May 4.—I think it will be done before ten years have passed, and not only so, but I think it will be done better between sunrise and sunset.

Such was the deliberate reply of the Count de Lambert to my question, "How long do you think it will be before the Atlantic from the United States to England is crossed in an aeroplane?" The value of this man as everyone who has followed aeronautics from the beginning has been aware of. The Count de Lambert is a French gentleman whose enthusiasm for the aviation is well known. He is also the inventor of the hydroplane, a machine which can take to the water and fly.

"The two great difficulties," he said, "will be to keep on one's course if one is out of sight of land, and to be able to land on a ship. The first is a matter of navigation, and the second is a matter of construction. As things are today, the machine could get across without stopping on the water. Hitherto the greatest distance covered by a machine is about 625 miles. Take a machine weighing a ton, everything included. Suppose the whole distance across to be 2,000 miles, and the machine to fly at a moderate speed of 62 miles an hour. To drive the machine at 90 feet per second would require a motor of 400 hp., or 66 hp. To obtain this in practice a motor of 100 to 120 hp. would be required.

For the present both states would be independent as regards business, but the whole diplomatic representation would be in the hands of the king. The king's exertions of the powers may effect before the end of the week. The king's exertions of the powers may effect before the end of the week.

The World's Markets
Winnipeg Wheat Market
Winnipeg, May 5.—On the wheat market today trading in options was extremely light and prices were firm. American markets were easier, influencing factor being good rains in Kansas and in the northwestern wheat belt. Winnipeg opened unchanged, 1-8c to 1-16c lower and closed unchanged, 1-8c to 1-16c lower and closed 1-8c to 1-16c lower. Liverpool's closing cables were 1-8c to 1-16c higher. Paris closed 1-4c to 1-16c lower. Berlin 1-8c lower. Huda Pest 3-16c up and Antwerp unchanged. The cash demand at Winnipeg was fairly good, and offerings heavy, while exporters are buying from time to time to fill space.
Oats were steady and prices weaker. Cash oats closed 1-4c up all grades, but cash flax closed 1-2c to 1c down for all grades.
Deliveries through the clearing house today were: Wheat 98,000 bushels; oats, 184,000 bushels; flax 4,000 bushels.
Inspections Friday were: 183 cars and Saturday there were 300 in sight.

Winnipeg Cattle Market
Winnipeg, May 5.—Receipts at the live stock yards were 250 head cattle and 1,187 hogs. Trading was keen for choice butchers' steers, good cows and heifers and prices were unchanged. The quality of the cattle for the last 10 days has been fairly good and giving satisfaction.
The supply of hogs was around the trading dull and prices on the decline. Quotations: choice hogs were at $9 and $8 for roughs and heavies.

London Market
London, May 3.—The Securities question keeps the stock market in a dull and nervous state and, although bidding for a favorable issue of the ambassador's conference, local dealers realized today. This pressure was followed by continental selling which caused a weakness in all directions. Home rails were affected by the Welsh labor troubles.
American securities opened quiet with prices around parity. Reports of labor troubles and continental selling imparted a weak tone to the dealings and the list declined under the lead of Canadian Pacific. The closing was easy, with values ranging from 1-4 to 1-7-8 below Friday's New York closing. Money and discount rates were a shade easier.

$160,000 FOR THE ASKING
Mr. C. W. Lidbetter Offered This Sum But Refused
Think! $160,000 for being honest. This sum was offered to a young man a few days ago and yet he refused to bite the tempting bait.
Last week he received a letter purporting to be from a Russian banker, who was in jail in Spain.
This letter said that the writer knew the young man to be of an honest character, and the sad situation which the writer was in, compelled him to reveal an important affair in which he could procure a modest fortune, saving at the same time the writer's darling daughter.
It was only necessary to obtain the sum of $480,000 left by the writer in America, and go to Spain, raise the money and return to Canada, to receive the writer's trial costs, and also recover a portmanteau containing a secret pocket in which was the document indispensable in the recovery of said sum.
He goes on to state that he would give the young man $100,000. As the writer was in prison, the young man was to send a cablegram to a friend whose address he gave, if he accepted the offer.
This letter was received by C. W. Lidbetter, of the Russell Shoe Store, 239 Young street. When asked if he had sent the cable he replied laughing: "No, I didn't send, it's too old a gag, but I wanted to let the public know that that kind of letter is going around again. I received the letter last week."
The letter gave its date as at least sixty years old, and always purporting to be from a banker in jail, generally in Spain.

New York World.
"I often wondered how many young American women who come to Paris to be 'finished' and educated have been broken down morally by the life here. I have heard of and have seen several instances."
This statement was contained in a letter received by Lieut. O'Hara, chairman of the Illinois vice committee, from B. F. Gillette of Paris. The writer said he has followed with interest the progress of the committee, and said he blamed low wages for 95 percent of the cases where women are ruined.
"I have no hope that fallen women can be redeemed. I reached this conclusion after the experience of a great deal of time and money," he wrote.
Public appearance of disorderly women at the races and gambling resorts of Europe result in the corruption of hundreds of country girls, according to Mr. Gillette. He advocates a law prohibiting fallen women from appearing in public within certain hours.
