

DOES THE BY-LAW

report of the Board of Directors was presented. It shows that during the past year the payments of mortality benefits have been greater than in any previous year, and still the Reserve Fund, an amount exceeding only by $10,000 the amount of the Reserve Fund of 1886. The amount of the Reserve Fund is now $1,000,000. The year's receipts were $2,238,854 and the disbursements $1,714,224, leaving a balance of $524,630. The amount of the Reserve Fund is now $1,000,000. The year's receipts were $2,238,854 and the disbursements $1,714,224, leaving a balance of $524,630. The amount of the Reserve Fund is now $1,000,000. The year's receipts were $2,238,854 and the disbursements $1,714,224, leaving a balance of $524,630.

THE HEIRESS' HUB-BUB.

MISS MONAGHAN'S CASE CONTINUES TO ATTRACT ATTENTION. Solicitor Patrick McPhillips defends Miss Monaghan against the world's alleged ill-wishers. The strange case of Miss Monaghan has naturally excited considerable talk in Toronto and its suburbs, more particularly on account of its novel, sensational and interesting features. People will come to the World office and talk about it. They are also talking about it in Buffalo, and a World reporter yesterday telegraphed from that city something about the institution in which Miss Monaghan was detained. There is evidently a great deal more in the case than has yet been made public, the whole of which, no doubt, will be told in full before long. What puzzles many of Miss Monaghan's friends is that she should ever be suspected of mental derangement or insanity. It is enough, though, to excite the curiosity of the public, and a World reporter yesterday telegraphed from that city something about the institution in which Miss Monaghan was detained. There is evidently a great deal more in the case than has yet been made public, the whole of which, no doubt, will be told in full before long.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS—POPULATION AND MORALS.

The increasing population of Toronto during the last ten or fifteen years has been a surprise to many, even of the citizens. It is a general theme of discussion with visitors and others throughout Canada. It is no doubt the occasion of gratification to the old residents to see so many enterprising people coming in to enjoy with them the educational, social, commercial and general advantages which the city with its varied institutions affords. Being an important railway centre of the fertile and large Province of Ontario, as well as the centre of the manufacturing and commercial enterprises of the Dominion, it attracts the whole country. It draws to it much of the activity, intelligence, enterprise and commerce of the wide Dominion. It is only developing its strength—comparative strength—in its various branches. The future is store for this provincial capital will be marked by a constant and capacious growth unthought of a generation ago, or thought of by few who were born in a new country comprising inhabitants of various nationalities, ambitions, industries and economies. Toronto, as a rule, has well illustrated the motto: "Industry, integrity, intelligence." It is a city of good example and to state the simple facts, too plain to need to be stated, and undeniable. Too much cannot be said of the good example and industry which it affords. It is a city of good example and to state the simple facts, too plain to need to be stated, and undeniable. Too much cannot be said of the good example and industry which it affords.

ALD. DEFOE AT BROCKTON.

A Handsomely-Attended Audience Flocked to Brockton to Hear Ald. Defoe at the Closing of His Campaign. Mayor's Candidate Defoe held the concluding meeting of a brilliant campaign last night at the Brockton Town Hall, and it was one of the grandest of the series. Mr. Defoe's campaign has not only been a brilliant one, but it has been conducted on strictly forward, decorous principles, and as he has been so frequently remarked, whether he is asked for a vote, he will always look back with pleasure at the scenes and incidents with which he has been surrounded. With the friends of Mr. Defoe, it has been a most successful one. Mr. Defoe has been doing so well, that he is not the nominee of the majority party. So from eleven to twelve hundred people were present at the meeting, which was held at the Brockton Town Hall. Mr. Defoe's campaign has not only been a brilliant one, but it has been conducted on strictly forward, decorous principles, and as he has been so frequently remarked, whether he is asked for a vote, he will always look back with pleasure at the scenes and incidents with which he has been surrounded.

THE HEIRESS' HUB-BUB.

MISS MONAGHAN'S CASE CONTINUES TO ATTRACT ATTENTION. Solicitor Patrick McPhillips defends Miss Monaghan against the world's alleged ill-wishers. The strange case of Miss Monaghan has naturally excited considerable talk in Toronto and its suburbs, more particularly on account of its novel, sensational and interesting features. People will come to the World office and talk about it. They are also talking about it in Buffalo, and a World reporter yesterday telegraphed from that city something about the institution in which Miss Monaghan was detained. There is evidently a great deal more in the case than has yet been made public, the whole of which, no doubt, will be told in full before long. What puzzles many of Miss Monaghan's friends is that she should ever be suspected of mental derangement or insanity. It is enough, though, to excite the curiosity of the public, and a World reporter yesterday telegraphed from that city something about the institution in which Miss Monaghan was detained.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS—POPULATION AND MORALS.

The increasing population of Toronto during the last ten or fifteen years has been a surprise to many, even of the citizens. It is a general theme of discussion with visitors and others throughout Canada. It is no doubt the occasion of gratification to the old residents to see so many enterprising people coming in to enjoy with them the educational, social, commercial and general advantages which the city with its varied institutions affords. Being an important railway centre of the fertile and large Province of Ontario, as well as the centre of the manufacturing and commercial enterprises of the Dominion, it attracts the whole country. It draws to it much of the activity, intelligence, enterprise and commerce of the wide Dominion. It is only developing its strength—comparative strength—in its various branches. The future is store for this provincial capital will be marked by a constant and capacious growth unthought of a generation ago, or thought of by few who were born in a new country comprising inhabitants of various nationalities, ambitions, industries and economies. Toronto, as a rule, has well illustrated the motto: "Industry, integrity, intelligence." It is a city of good example and to state the simple facts, too plain to need to be stated, and undeniable. Too much cannot be said of the good example and industry which it affords.

ALD. DEFOE AT BROCKTON.

A Handsomely-Attended Audience Flocked to Brockton to Hear Ald. Defoe at the Closing of His Campaign. Mayor's Candidate Defoe held the concluding meeting of a brilliant campaign last night at the Brockton Town Hall, and it was one of the grandest of the series. Mr. Defoe's campaign has not only been a brilliant one, but it has been conducted on strictly forward, decorous principles, and as he has been so frequently remarked, whether he is asked for a vote, he will always look back with pleasure at the scenes and incidents with which he has been surrounded. With the friends of Mr. Defoe, it has been a most successful one. Mr. Defoe has been doing so well, that he is not the nominee of the majority party. So from eleven to twelve hundred people were present at the meeting, which was held at the Brockton Town Hall. Mr. Defoe's campaign has not only been a brilliant one, but it has been conducted on strictly forward, decorous principles, and as he has been so frequently remarked, whether he is asked for a vote, he will always look back with pleasure at the scenes and incidents with which he has been surrounded.

THE HEIRESS' HUB-BUB.

MISS MONAGHAN'S CASE CONTINUES TO ATTRACT ATTENTION. Solicitor Patrick McPhillips defends Miss Monaghan against the world's alleged ill-wishers. The strange case of Miss Monaghan has naturally excited considerable talk in Toronto and its suburbs, more particularly on account of its novel, sensational and interesting features. People will come to the World office and talk about it. They are also talking about it in Buffalo, and a World reporter yesterday telegraphed from that city something about the institution in which Miss Monaghan was detained. There is evidently a great deal more in the case than has yet been made public, the whole of which, no doubt, will be told in full before long. What puzzles many of Miss Monaghan's friends is that she should ever be suspected of mental derangement or insanity. It is enough, though, to excite the curiosity of the public, and a World reporter yesterday telegraphed from that city something about the institution in which Miss Monaghan was detained.

