BRIDGETOWN, ANNAPOLIS COUNTY, NOVA SCOTIA, JANUARY 17, 1912

NO. 40

VOL. 39

ANNAPOLIS, SS.

In the Municipal Council ANNUAL SESSION, 1912

Council met at the Court House at Annapolis the 9th day of January 1912, at 10 o'clock in the morning. There were present the Warden, W. G. Clarke; Councillors, Frank R. Elliott, Freeman Fitch, Joseph I. Foster, Watson Pent, William E. Armstrong, Edgar H. Porter, Elias Rawding, William C. Hoaly, Frank H. Willett, William FitzRandolph, J. C. Grimm, A. D. Thomas, J. Bartlett Gillis, A. Stanley Brown.

Minutes of semi-annual session read and approved.

Moved by Councillor Healey, seconded by Councillor Brown that the standing committees for 1912, be the same as those of 1911.

Moved in amendment by Councillor Elliott, seconded by Councillor Outbit, that a committee be appointed to draft standing committees, an amendment lost.

The following reports which will be published in a future issue of the Monitor-Sentinel, were then read and adopted: The report of the Superintendent of the Annapolis County Hospital; of the attending Physician of the Municipal Institutions; the Health Officer, M. E. Armstrong, M. D.; the Scott Act Inspector John Hall, and others.

At subsequent sessions the following business was transacted:—

The warden read a communication from Dr. James Ross, Halifax, in re an anti-tuberculosis convention to be held in Halifax, January 27th, and 28th, asking that delegates be appointed by the Council to attend said Convention.

The report of the committee appointed to look into the matter of a gravel pit was then read. Moved by Councillor FitzRandolph, seconded by Councillor Fitch, that this municipality vote $100 towards the purchase of a gravel pit near Lawrencetown mentioned in above report passed.

Ordered that the Committee on tenders and public property make the necessary arrangement to instal a telephone in the office of the registrar of deeds at Bridgetown.

Ordered that the Committee on tenders and public property be authorized to give to the deputy registrar of deeds in Bridgetown, authority to purchase such books and make such records therein as may be absolutely necessary to preserve the records of the said office at the lowest possible cost.

Ordered that Mr. G. W. Shipton be heard.

Mr. Shipton addressed the Council in re the Saunders Road, claiming that the same had not been laid out and defined in accordance with the instruction of the Council to their committee and asking that a further committee be appointed.

Upon reading the petition of Bernard Longmire and upwards of twenty other freeholders of the County of Annapolis, praying for the opening of a new road extending from the south-west corner of Arthur Longmire's west line, west of school-house and north of main highway in the Village of Hillsburn also leading in a direct line westerly, across properties of the late William Longmire deceased, George Bay and Roy Longmire, to the Anderson Cove breakwater, and that a committee be appointed to report upon the necessity for said road, and report. Ordered that Fred Longmire, John Kay, and C. F. Armstrong be the committee.

Ordered that the following by-law be adopted by this Council and be known as By-law No. 28.

Relating to Jury Fees:—Be it ordained by the Council of this Municipality that the fee for jurymen in this county be increased to $2.00 per day for actual attendance under the provisions of Nova Scotia Acts of 1903, Chapter 57. Moved by Councillor Outbit, seconded by Councillor Thomas that the Semi-Annual Session be abolished, motion lost.

Ordered that this municipality appropriate the sum of two hundred dollars towards the building of the Recreation Hall, built by Mr. Hiltz, for the benefit of the County Institutions.

Moved by Councillor Armstrong, seconded by Councillor Outbit, that the services of John Hall as Scott Act Inspector be continued another year.

Moved in amendment that Elias Messenger be the Scott Act Inspector for this municipality for the ensuing year. The Council called for election by ballot. The ballot was taken, resulted in a tie and no one was therefore elected. A second ballot also resulted in a tie, eight votes for Hall and eight votes for Messenger.

Harry B. Clarke Found Not Guilty

St. John Man Acquitted of Charge of Stealing Money From Bank.

St. John, Jan. 11—Harry B. Clarke, the former bank manager, was this afternoon found not guilty of stealing the sum of $2,477.77 from the Bank of New Brunswick. The jury returned to Court at 2:40 o'clock and announced the finding, and were at once discharged. Geo. W. Fowler, K.C., M.P., warmly shook the hand of his client, who was at once set at liberty.

Mr. Fowler, in his address to the jury said that the Bank did not lose a single cent by the transfer of the Gallagher account to the account of Wm. McBeath. He said that the bank authorities had not properly enquired into the standing of the different people whom Clark had to do business with. He scored the Bank for not answering the telegrams sent to them by Clarke from New York, and asked why Collins and McBeath were not arrested.

The Attorney General declared that Clarke was guilty, and spoke strongly to the jury regarding Clarke's wife and family in the city in their consideration of the case. Judge Barry in his charge summed up the evidence briefly, and it was thought that he spoke slightly against the prisoner.

MAY REMOVE THE DUTY ON POTATOES.

Washington, Jan. 16 A suspension for six months of the tariff duty of twenty-five cents per bushel on potatoes was proposed in a Bill introduced today by Representative Ayers of New York. The Bill stated that "the scarcity of potatoes in the markets of the United States has raised the price to a point almost prohibitive to the consumer."

One of the Most Prosperous Years Bridgetown Ever Had

Early in the year it was announced that the C. P. R. had put based in A. R. A. A few months since a lease was contracted and though no change has yet been made in the personnel of the management the D. A. R. is operated by the C. P. R. The Company is expected to make some improvements in the line, in the way of new steamers, railway equipment and summer hotels, and it is also hoped that the inadequate and antique stations along the line may come in for attention, and that Bridgetown in particular may thus have one of its greatest needs realized.

Some months ago a delegation of the Town Council and the Board of Trade met the federal member for Annapolis County, Mr. S. W. W. Pickup, to ask for a public building to include post office and custom office to be subsidized by the federal and provincial governments. It was understood that the proposition was favorably received, and the present federal member, A. L. Davidson, has also encouraged the citizens who have consulted him to believe that the coming year will see the erection of a suitable building undertaken.

Socially Bridgetown has many advantages. Its churches and schools are beyond reproach. Its citizens are cordial and sociable with each other and to the stranger within the gates. For the amusement of the young a tennis and croquet club with a wide membership furnish summer sports, and an open-air skating rink is a fine field for winter sport. During the year a company of Boy Scouts was organized under capable and enthusiastic leadership. A moving picture show which is open four nights a week the year around furnishes entertainment for old and young, and the management have recently shown their progressive and business-like abilities in the entire rearrangement of the Hall which they occupy, for the better convenience and accommodation of the amusement-loving public, and will fit it up this winter with suitable scenic equipment for local and other dramatic entertainments.

The attractiveness of Bridgetown as a residential town is undisputed. Its fine residences, with well kept grounds, its wealth of beautiful shade trees, and its natural picturesque setting on the banks of the Annapolis River between the North and South Ranges, which lend the beauty of their verdure summer and winter, all combine to place our town among the foremost in beauty of the towns of the province. With one of the best possible water systems, fed by springs from the heart of the mountain, a superior electric light system and modern street construction, Bridgetown stands easily among the finest towns in Nova Scotia, from a residential point of view.

McKENZIE, CROWE & Co., Ltd.

Bridgetown's oldest industry, which had for its nucleus George Murdoch's tannery, over fifty years ago, and which later passed into the hands of William H. McKenzie is the firm of McKenzie, Crowe and Co., Ltd., of which Councillor Arnold B. McKenzie, one of the youngest and also one of the most energetic of our business men is the general manager, his father sometime since having retired from active business life. Every year witnesses some new advancement in equipment made by this progressive firm. This year they have added a steam dryer to their tannery plant. Through the aggressive salesmanship of Mr. McKenzie this firm is sending heavy shipments of their larrigan products to the West. Winnipeg and Montreal bought a large proportion of the 75,000 pairs manufactured last year turning into the firm $92,000 in cash of which $20,000 was paid over to their forty-five employees.

A large proportion of the receipts goes to Halifax and St. John for hides, which unfortunately cannot be supplied in sufficient quantities by our stock-raising constituency. This is a case where supply and demand should be better balanced and we commend the problem to our agriculturists for consideration.

The Day of the East

(Senser Record)

West will be east before we know it. We have accustomed ourselves to look to the west for big things and some day we have, to a certain extent, turned ourselves into the belief that the east could not amount to anything. We have been shaking that off and there is good reason for it. The east is as good as the west, and better in the average year, and what we want to do is to convince our own people and intending settlers that such is the case.

The Record has had so many instances of failure in the west brought to its attention lately, that it is becoming more and more convinced that he is a foolish man who will leave a comfortable home in the east to take up life in the west. There can be no doubt of that if the question of farming alone is concerned. The farmers of the west are today experiencing some of the bitter discomforts of western life. The railways are unable to handle the grain that has been threshed, and the owners are without their money. Others have been unable to get their grain out of the straw and will not do so until spring. Many have had the experience of seeing wheat which should have graded number one hard, fall as low as number four.

A former resident of one of the finest sections of Queens county, who sold out to go west, writes home that he wished he had not. His entire crop of wheat is still in the straw and he is discouraged. He wants to come back to New Brunswick to live, and there are thousands like him. A good New Brunswick home is better, my friend, than a cabin many miles from nowhere in the west. Think it over. The day of the east is at hand.

Find Worth $20,000

Lump of Ambergris Picked up on Nantasket Beach.

Brockton, Mass., Jan. 6—Tests just completed by a New York chemist have assured William H. White, of this city, that a piece of substance which he picked up on Christmas Day while walking along the beach at Nantasket is ambergris of excellent quality.

At the present market price, the lump is worth nearly twenty thousand dollars.

This firm give work to their employees the year around with the exception of two weeks at the beginning of the year for stock-taking. During the fall season they are usually running over time in some of their departments.

The energetic young manager has just returned from a trip to Winnipeg and Montreal where he has booked the sales of half the proposed output of 1912.

LAKE LARRIGAN FACTORY

Although this industry is yet in its infancy being but two or three years old, its prospects are promising, and the business for the year has been most satisfactory. It has a good building and an up-to-date equipment.

J. H. Hicks & Sons

This progressive firm has had a banner year. A large part of its output and building contracts have gone towards the construction of apple warehouses for the various local co-operative companies which have become so popular. Five large apple warehouses have been built by them this season all of improved frost-proof design.

They also erected twelve cottages for the Canadian Iron Corporation at Torbrook, built a store at Aylesford and supplied a large amount of building finish throughout the Valley. About 1½ million of lumber was purchased and thus a large amount of money distributed. During the busy season they had on their pay-roll over seventy men.

They are now building the new Baptist Church at Gaspereaux and have excellent prospects for the coming season.

The furniture house of J. H. Hicks and Sons is one of the finest and best-stocked business establishments in the Valley. They have recently issued a handsome art catalogue from the Monitor job print department and find mail order sales steadily growing.

Talking Through "Sound-Proof" Wall

(Senser Record)

An English inventor, Grindell Matthews, with the aid of a $48 instrument known as the aeroplane, has just succeeded in projecting the sound of his voice through material which the big steel projectile on earth would fail to penetrate. Lintec States Consul-General John L. Griffiths, of London, in a consular report, says that Mr. Matthews was placed in the strong room of a big London commercial house and locked in, with nine inches of armor steel, nine inches of fire brick and six feet of concrete between him and the outer world. By means of his small portable apparatus he carried on a conversation with an operator in another room on the farther side of the building. So distinct and faithful was the transmission that the experts in attendance were actually able to hear the tick of his watch, notwithstanding the almost impenetrable mass between the two instruments.

The inventor contemplates a further test through five miles of solid rock. In speaking about the aeroplane, he said that vibrations produced in the air by his apparatus do not take the form of Hertzian waves, as in the Marconi system of wireless telegraphy in fact, they are not waves at all, inasmuch as the disturbances are of such high frequency that there is no appreciable break between them, and their action is rather continuous than fitful and separate, as in the case of Hertzian waves. It is estimated that a complete set of instruments by means of which it will be possible to carry on a conversation through walls, mountains or any other object within a radius of five miles will cost forty-eight dollars.—Springfield Republican.

St. James' Church Notes

Visit of the Bishop—Annual Meeting.

The first annual meeting of the Rector, Wardens, Vestry and Parishoners under the new Church Act was held in the Sunday school room last Monday evening, the Rector presiding. Probably on account of the storm, the attendance was much smaller than anticipated. After the presenting and adopting of accounts the retiring church-wardens Messrs A.F. Hiltz and T. Bird, were re-elected for the ensuing year. The qualifications for vestrymen having been changed it was decided to elect the minimum number required, and the following will form the Vestry for this year: Messrs. A. Morse, R.W.W. Purdy, H. Ruggles, T. Kelley, W. Spurr, A. Fitz-Randolph. The other elections were: Vestry-Clerk, W.R. Longmire; Treasurer, E. Ruggles.

After some discussion of the requirements of Sec. 21 (2) Church Act and the proposed changes in the financial system, the hour being late, it was decided to further discuss these, with a view to some definite action being taken, at an adjourned meeting to be held in the same place next Monday evening, 22nd inst. at half-past seven o'clock.

Last Monday evening the third of this season's social gatherings under the auspices of the Adult Bible Class, was held in the school-room and a very pleasant evening was spent by those (a goodly number) who braved the elements in order to be present.

The Bishop of the Diocese will pay a visit to the parish from Saturday to Monday next for the purpose of administering the Apostolic rite of "The laying on of hands" (Confirmation) on Sunday in St. James' church. The services during the day in Bridgetown at which the Bishop will be present will be at 8 a.m. (Holy Communion) 11 a.m. and 7 p. m.

If your children are subject to attacks of croup, watch for the first symptom, hoarseness. Give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the child becomes hoarse and the attack may be warded off. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

The Sydney moving-picture theatre was burned last week by the explosion of a film. No one was injured.

Halifax Has Big Fire

Property Loss Estimated at $300,000, Insurance

About $150,000—Thirty-Seven Firms and

Offices and Six Families Burned Out—

Most Disastrous Conflagration

That Has Visited Halifax

in Many Years

The Halifax Recorder of Friday last says:—

Halifax has had several serious conflagrations the past few weeks, but not in years has such a blaze been experienced as that which destroyed some of the buildings in the heart of the city this morning.

The loss cannot be correctly estimated today, but it is believed that the damage will total $350,000, and some even say the loss will be nearer the half million mark. Nothing but hard work on the part of the fire department and the two brick buildings of the Recorder on Granville street, prevented a much greater loss than occurred.

The firemen all responded quickly when the three alarms from box four were rung in and they had one of the most difficult undertakings that they have had for many years.

The fire zone extended from Sabot's on Barrington street, north to George the Recorder office building. All of the structures within those points with the exception of one were gutted and practically all the contents destroyed. The exception was the three-story wooden building on George street, owned by William Dennis and occupied by H.H. Marshall and Harry Wright. Only the rear of this building was touched by the flames, and but one room on an upper flat was to any extent damaged.

STARTED IN MUNNIS' STORE.

The first known of the fire was when a man named Fox, passing up George street, shortly before one o'clock this morning, saw the reflection of a fire apparently on Barrington street. He immediately hastened to the Public Station and sounded an alarm from box four.

With lightning-like rapidity the fire which originated from some unknown cause, spread to the adjoining buildings, and the whole block, surrounded by Barrington, Granville and Prince streets, was soon endangered.

So quickly did the flames spread that people residing in the nearby buildings escaped with little or no clothing, aside from their night clothing.

From the Munnis building the flames spread to the Herald building, and this morning one of the finest of buildings in Halifax is nothing but a mass of ice-coated smouldering ruins, with the walls still standing.

The first duty of the early arrival at the conflagrations was to save the people asleep in the adjoining buildings. Police, firemen and newspaper men forced their way into the smoke-filled dwellings and carried the women and children to places of safety. The Munnis building, Herald, Cragg Bros. Davidson's Bookstore, H. H. Marshall's, Continental Hotel and other adjoining buildings on Granville St., were totally destroyed and several others were badly gutted.

The fire was bursting from the roof of the Munnis building, and the flames were leaping across the intervening space to the windows of the Herald building and the wooden building on Granville street to the south of the Herald.

The family of Thomas Hardy at 109 Granville street were all removed to a place of safety, and the guests in the Acadian Hotel were all aroused and notified to seek quarters more removed from the conflagration.

The flames broke through into L. Clyde-Davidson's bookstore on the south and Schaefer's jewelry store on the north.

In the rear the flames were eating up the side and going into the windows of the Herald Building and the top of that building was soon in the grip of the fire-fend. The buildings on the south of the Herald, all constructed of wood, were soon burning and the firemen were driven from their first stand in the rear of Hardy's back on to Granville street. From this point ladders were run up to the roof, the front of which had not been touched, and turned their streams down from that point of vantage.

With the wind fanning the fire to ever-increasing fury the flames spread quickly in the rear of the buildings on Barrington and Granville streets and the tenants all south of the fire were forced to vacate.

Eating its way against the wind the fire spread into the buildings on the corner of Barrington and George St. occupied by Cragg Bros. and the building on George street, occupied by Harry Wright, and the store of H.H. Marshall.

Every piece of apparatus was called into use, and tons of water were being poured into the burning buildings making fiery furnaces.

Once the fire got its grip on the Herald building the structure was doomed. As it broke in through windows it spread quickly into the offices in the upper stories and the roof fell in with a crash in a very short time.

On Barrington street the flames broke out in the front of the building, and the firemen were able to get at them.

Cold and Colds

One Doctor Supports the Old-Fashioned Theory of Their Relation.

(From the "Diet and Hygiene Gazette")
Notwithstanding some strenuous contemporary effort to belittle the nomenclature of our ancestors the name "colds" as applied to that dismal combination of sneezing, nose blowing and general wretchedness is a good one. Cold is almost invariably the primary cause of colds, while bacteria, which of late have been receiving the chief credit for these disturbances, come in secondary or tertiary sequence.

Bacteria swarm most abundantly in warm weather, and yet winter is the season of colds. Yes, there are summer colds, but they follow some indiscretion, such as sitting on the cold ground or lying in a relaxed state in too much intimacy with a heat extracting draught. In either of these instances fatigue may be placed etiologically and cold second, but neither of these places can be given over to bacteria, which, thus given the opportunity to do so, finally kick up the main part of the trouble.

Cold is and always has been the greatest enemy of life. Life swarms in the tropics, but leads a sorry existence at the poles. And this reminds us of the chief argument of the all bacteria etiologists for colds.

They will say immediately that Arctic explorers do not suffer from colds until they return to civilization, when "they all come down with colds." It may be that the aids and abettors of cold in its production of disease are absent or in abeyance in the Arctic regions, but men who go into that region become so exhausted during their prolonged exposure to cold that they are rendered upon their return to warmer regions a more than easy prey to the bacteria.

We have never read that explorers in the tropics succumbed to colds on their return to the temperate regions, even though the return is made in January.

Even the Indians knew enough to keep themselves warm and especially to guard against refrigeration of the extremities. Ben Franklin tells us how they took this precaution even in time of war, when it was too dangerous for them to have a smoking fire. They dug a pit, in which they set fire to charred remains of burned trees, and slept with their legs dangling in the hole. A hunter in the Canadian woods, who, notwithstanding his absence from civilization, took a severe cold, asked his companion, an Indian guide how to keep from taking cold. He made the laconic reply: "Keep your feet dry."
Even the Indians, whose skin has not been so softened to the effects of colds as have ours, appreciates that cold is the antecedent of colds and takes precaution accordingly.

Undoubtedly over-exposure to high temperatures may also reduce our immunity to the germs lying about, but the colds we take after being in overheated rooms probably more often come from the resulting chill of going too abruptly into the cold than from the warmth of the room itself, although superheating renders an animal more susceptible to infection. It is, however, only in cold weather that rooms are heated much above the surrounding atmosphere. Again, cold is really to blame for the results "Bad air" is usually the result of economy in fuel. Poor ventilation is unknown in July.

An ideal room temperature for the sedentary is that between sixty-six and seventy degrees. Below these temperatures the heat regulating apparatus of the body finds it necessary to close up the peripheral vessels, more or less internal congestion slowly begins and the conditions for a cold are secured.

As most of us are slow to respond to the intelligence of a temperature only a few degrees lower than that for comfort, though we are less obtuse to stronger thermic impulses, the temperature between sixty and sixty-six degrees has been well termed the danger zone and undoubtedly more colds are acquired at these than at lower temperatures. We should be alive to our thermometer, if we may coin the word, and respond accordingly, even at the expense of a few handfuls of coal, for often a cold and its consequences will cost more than a ton of fuel.

For those of weakened circulation, and especially old people, the temperature must often be higher than seventy degrees in order to be on the safe side.

Here is a remedy that will cure your cold. Why waste time and money experimenting when you can get a preparation that has won a worldwide reputation by its cures of this disease and can always be depended upon? It is known everywhere as Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and is a medicine of real merit. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

For Farmers' Sons

One reasonably so many boys leave the farm for the city is because of the failure of the father to take the boy into his confidence and make clear to him that he is not merely a "hewer of wood and carrier of water," but that he is in full partnership with him and has a personal interest in the success of the work.

Those of us who were raised on the farm know, of course, that it would be practically impossible for the father to always demonstrate this to his son by a cash consideration; but if the seeds of dissatisfaction are not to be planted, some greater consideration for the son's services will have to be made than that of merely board and clothing. If, say, the son knew that he would receive even a small share of the proceeds from the sale of a pig, or a lamb or a calf, and occasionally of a cow or a horse, to do with as he might like, to save or to spend, we believe, speaking from experience, that the arrangement would be mutually advantageous. The son does not like to feel under the obligation of going to his father every time he wants a few cents for some expenditure; and, besides, he should be in a position to lay up something for the "Rainy Day." The needs of a quarter of a century ago do not accord with the needs of the present day; nor did the boys of that time have the same facilities for investment as the boys now have. Today we have practically at our door strong financial institutions which accept small amounts on deposit; and we also have the Canadian Government's great Annuities system, in regard to which a word of explanation may not be out of place. It was approved by Members of both Houses of Parliament, has at the back of it the security of the whole of the Dominion of Canada and there could be no better or safer plan of investment as a means of making provision for old age. The payments may be spread over as many years as may be desired. The Government attends to all the details free of charge. For example, a payment of $13—the price of one hog—made for a boy of 10 and continued until he is 60, will give him an Annuity of $215.20 for life. If the payments are continued until 65, he will receive $335.73, or over $120 a year more than he would receive at 60. The same Annuity could be purchased for a boy of an older age at a little advance in his cost. If therefore, a farmer's boy knew that at the time when he shall be no longer able to work he would have ample provision for the remainder of his days, and that if he died before drawing the first payment of Annuity all that he had paid in with 3 per cent compound interest would be returned to his heirs, what a difference this would make in his outlook; how much more contented he would be to remain on the farm—for there is no occupation more honorable, and how much more independent he would be in his old age. This is worth the serious consideration of every farmer who has boys, and of every farmer's son who is old enough to reason for himself. The Government's system is, of course, available not only to farmers' sons and daughters, but to the sons and daughters of every other man who makes Canada his home, no matter what his nationality or creed may be. Literature explaining this provident system may be obtained at the Post Office, or on application to the Superintendent of Annuities, Ottawa, to whom your letters go free of postage.

Washington, Jan. 2.—Fox farming is probably the most profitable agricultural industry in the world. This was what J. Walter Jones, of the Department of Agriculture, told the American Breeders' Association here.

FOX FARMING.

At the suggestion of Secretary of Agriculture, Wilson, Mr. Jones made an investigation of the fox farms of Canada, where a practical monopoly of the business now is enjoyed, with the idea of trying to interest some Americans in the work.

Natural black fox sets sell at from two thousand to ten thousand dollars a set, Mr. Jones said. Next year's expected crop of pups already has been sold for six thousand dollars a pair.

"The increasing scarcity of costly furs," he declared, "and the greatly increased demand makes the significance of breeding in captivity the more important."

Don't allow yourself to be a cynic, a disapprover; don't go about with a microscope looking for other people's faults and failings. Learn to believe in people, to see the good in them. We have a peculiar love and admiration for some people because they find good in us; they see the possibilities which others do not see. We love them because they do not see the bad, the ugly, the crooked in us.

Try the flour that holds the confidence of thousands of home-cooks

THE present huge demand for PURITY FLOUR shows the confidence in which it is held by thousands of home-cooks.

Those who have used PURITY FLOUR have come to believe in it. They look on PURITY as a friend. They feel they can trust it implicitly, because each and every lot of PURITY FLOUR has always been uniform—always up to the high standard of quality that has made it famous.

Wouldn't you, too, like to use a flour you could always rely on? Wouldn't you like to feel certain that your bread, cakes, and pies were going to turn out exactly right? That's just how you'll feel when you become a user of PURITY FLOUR—the confidence-creating flour.

PURITY FLOUR gives high-class results, because it consists exclusively of the high-grade portions of the best Western hard wheat.

On account of the extra strength of PURITY FLOUR please remember, when making pastry, to add more shortening than an ordinary flour requires.

And when making bread add more water, and PURITY FLOUR will expand into more loaves than the same weight of ordinary flour can produce, thus making "more bread and better bread."

Make your next flour order spell P-U-R-I-T-Y F-L-O-U-R. It costs slightly more, but it's worth the difference. Add PURITY FLOUR to grocery list right now.

Canadian Pictorial

That delightful illustrated magazine the "Canadian Pictorial," which is to Canada what the "Illustrated News" or the "Graphic" are to England, continues to improve with each year of its existence. It is by all odds the best printed magazine in Canada. While Canadian pictures generally predominate, plenty of illustrations are given of events and scenes the world over, so as to merit its claim to give "News by Views." Short complete stories, music, and well edited departments add to the interest. It is not only a beautiful album of the highest work of the engravers, but it gives much information that the printed page unaccompanied by fine illustrations simply cannot convey.

The quality of the photogravures, the exquisite enameled paper, and the fine printing, cannot be fully appreciated unless you actually see it, but to quote Lord Strathcona, "It is undoubtedly a credit to Canadian journalism." The "Canadian Pictorial" is issued monthly by the Pictorial Publishing Company, 142 St. Peter street (Witness Building) Montreal, and the subscription rate is $1.00 a year. To NEW subscribers for 1912, on trial, only sixty-five cents. Mention The Monitor-Sentinel.

THE EFFECTIVE LAXATIVE

Tastes Like and is Eaten Like Candy

In our experience in the handling of drugs and medicines, we believe we have never had experience with any Remedy that gave such great satisfaction to our customers as to Rexall Orderlies. This Remedy is not like any other laxative or cathartic. It contains all the good features of other laxatives, but none of their faults. Our own faith in Rexall Orderlies is so strong that we offer them to you with our own positive personal guarantee, that if they do not thoroughly satisfy you, you only need tell us and we will hand back to you every penny you paid us for them. Therefore, in trying them upon our recommendation you take no risk whatever. Rexall Orderlies taste like and are eaten like candy. THE UNWELCOME GUEST.

A popular revivalist had been holding services at a town in Mississippi when a heavy rain came on and he accepted an invitation to pass the night at the house of one of the townsmen.

The good man had made the change and was on his way back to the sitting room when the woman of the house came out of another room, holding in her hands the big family Bible, out of which the minister was to be invited to read a chapter before the family went to bed.

NO LUXURIES FOR HIM.

"Yes, look at me," cried the orator as he waxed eloquent, "Sixty years of age—never had a day's illness, and can do my four miles an hour. Why? Because I lived a regular life. No luxuries for me, no late hours. Every day, summer and winter, I went to bed at nine, got up at five, lived principally on porridge, worked hard from eight to one, then dinner, then an hour's walking exercise and then—"

THE ONLY THING.

Mrs. Kate Douglas Wiggin once heard a New England wife express views on the suffrage question. The woman had a laborious life on a farm, and had lost her romantic notions, if she ever had any. One day, one day she was asked whether she wanted to vote. "No, I certainly do not," she replied. "I say if there's one thing the men folks can do alone for goodness sakes let 'em do it."

THE MAN WHO WAITS.

(Yonkers Statesman): Church: "What is an optimist?" Gotham: "A man who believes everything comes to him who waits." "And if he waits and nothing comes to him, what is he?" "Why, he's a fool."

GROWN PROSPEROUS SINCE

SUES "BEAUTY DOCTOR"

Paris Woman Sues Her Good Looks Are Spoiled and She Wants Five Thousand Dollars.

Paris, Jan. 6.—A beauty doctor who undertook to provide new skins for old is defendant in a suit for five thousand dollars damages brought by a lady who alleges that he has spoiled her good looks for life.

It is alleged that the beauty doctor undertook to remove all wrinkles and restore the perfect skin of youth by a special treatment. The charge for a new face was five hundred dollars and for "le complet," one thousand dollars. The patients were shut up in the dark for a fortnight and the skin then treated with a special unguent.

The immediate results were entirely satisfactory, but the plaintiff asserts that after a few weeks the old wrinkles returned and became twice the former depth, while the hair fell out and could not be induced to grow again.

THE WIZARD EDISON INVENTS NEW MOTOR.

Chicago, Jan. 6.—Thomas A. Edison inventor in Chicago for the first time since the world's fair in 1893, told members of the Electric Club last night that electrification of railroads would not be practicable for several years, and for cases an announcement of a new type of electric motor he has invented. Third rails and trolleys, he said, would not be satisfactory as power transmitters for railroads, especially in switching yards, improved motors and either generators gasoline driven or on board the power cars or storage batteries, he thought, ultimately would be used.

PURIFIED HIS BLOOD

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills Healed Mr. Wilson's Sores

When the sewers of the body—bowels, kidneys and skin ducts—get clogged up, the blood quickly becomes impure and frequently sores break out over the body. The way to heal them, as Mr. Richard Wilson, who lives near London, Ont., found, is to purify the blood. He writes:

"For some time I had been in a low, depressed condition. My appetite left me and I soon began to suffer from indigestion. Quite a number of small sores and blotches formed all over my skin. I tried medicine for the blood and used many kinds of ointments, but without satisfactory results. What was wanted was a thorough cleansing of the blood, and I looked about in vain for some medicine that would accomplish this."

At last Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills were brought to my notice, and they are one of the most wonderful medicines I have ever known. My blood was purified in a very short time, sores healed up, my indigestion vanished. They always have a place in my home and are looked upon as the family remedy."

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills cleanse the system thoroughly. Sold by all dealers at 25c a box.

BALD HEADS NOT WANTED

Baldness is too Generally Considered a Sign of Advanced Years.

A bald-headed person does not have an equal chance with one blessed with a healthy head of hair, because baldness is too generally accepted as an indication of age. Many large corporations have established an age limit, and refuse to take men over thirty-five years of age as new employees.

Probably sixty-five per cent of bald-headed people may regain a good head of healthy hair if they will follow our advice and accept our offer. We have a remedy that we positively guarantee to grow hair on any head, unless the roots of the hair are entirely dead, their follicles closed, and the scalp has become glazed and shiny. We want people to try this remedy at our risk, with the distinct understanding that unless it does exactly what we claim it will, and gives satisfaction in every respect, we shall make no charge for the remedy used during the trial.

We know exactly what we are talking about, and with this offer back of our statements no one should doubt our word, or hesitate to put our remedy to an actual test. We want everyone in Bridgetown who is suffering from any scalp or hair trouble, dandruff, falling hair, or baldness to try our Rexall "93" Hair Tonic. We want them to use it regularly—say until three bottles have been used—and if it does not eradicate dandruff, cleanse and refresh the scalp, tighten the hair in its roots, and grow new hair, we will return every cent paid us for the remedy for the mere asking. There is no formality expected, and we exact no obligation from the user whatever.

We are established right here in Bridgetown, and make this offer with a full understanding that our business success entirely depends upon the sort of treatment we accord our customers and we would not dare make the above offer unless we were positively certain that we could substantiate it in every particular. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store, Royal Pharmacy, W.A. Warren.

The Pony Express of Olden Days

J. W. REGAN READ AN INTERESTING PAPER BEFORE HISTORICAL SOCIETY

There was a larger attendance than usual last night, says Saturday's Chronicle at the regular monthly meeting of the Nova Scotia Historical Society in the Legislative Council Chamber in the Province Building. Rev. W. J. Armitage, the president, presided. The paper for the evening by J. W. Regan was on a new subject,—"The inception of the Associated Press; the pony express operated between Halifax and Victoria Beach, Digby, 1848-9 to forward to the United States the English news received from the Cunard steamers at Halifax."

The paper was listened to with very close attention. It contained a great many particulars respecting this pony express, which was conducted by King Brothers, of St. John, with 12 horses and two riders. The distance from Halifax to Victoria Beach was 144 miles. There was a fresh horse every twelve miles. The whole distance was covered in the average time of eight hours, 15 minutes, which would compare favorably with the railway schedule at the present time. From Victoria Beach the despatches were conveyed across the Bay of Fundy to the terminus of the telegraph line at St. John. From there they were wired to New York. The whole time from Halifax to St. John was usually between ten and eleven hours.

Recollected Pony Express.—A number of letters were read in connection with the paper written by the residents of the Annapolis Valley who recollect the pony express. One of particular interest was from Mrs. Mary O'Dell, aged 82, of Annapolis Royal, who is the widow of Cory O'Dell one of the despatch riders. Other letters from Jacob Randall, Kingston Station, Frank A. Bolser and Richard Hains of Spa Springs, John Hall, Lawrencetown, Annapolis, and Gilbert O. Bent, St. John, were read. The writers all contributed important details.

There was also a letter from T. M. Robinson, St. John, who was the first telegraph operator in Canada. Conclusive evidence was adduced in this paper to show that the Associated Press was organized in New York in 1848 for the express purpose of procuring the English news from Halifax in the above fashion.

A specially interesting feature of the paper was an interview with Alexander West of 32 North Street, Halifax, who will be 90 years of age on April next. Mr. West was connected with newspaper offices in Halifax for 70 years. He was selected in 1848 to receive the English despatches from the mail steamers and transfer them to the express riders waiting at the wharf. Mr. West maintained a small boat at the Market Wharf in which he rowed out to meet the steamer at George's Island, and after showing a small flag was permitted to go alongside and receive the despatches. Sometimes these despatches were enclosed in a tin can and were dropped overboard and picked up by Mr. West. The express riders were armed and rode night and day, employing a shrill horn which they blew for a half mile before reaching each relay station in order that a fresh horse would be in readiness without any delay.

Several of those present discussed the subject and at the close F. W. Bassett and S. A. Chesley, moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Regan, for his interesting paper.

Mrs. A. R. Tabor, of Crider, Mo., had been troubled with sick headaches for about five years, when she began taking Chamberlain's Tablets. She has taken two bottles of them and they have cured her. Sick headache is caused by a disordered stomach, for which these tablets are especially intended. Try them, get well and stay well. Sold by all druggists and dealers.

LOST A HAND.

A very serious accident at Grafton on Thursday evening. The wedding of Mr. Weldon and Miss Kinsman had, as usual, attracted a number of the class whose tastes and interests rise to the heights of a charivari. During this performance a gun in the hands of one of the actors, Mr. John Silver, burst, scattering his left hand. He was taken into Mr. Kinsman's house, where Mrs. Kinsman, a trained nurse, rendered first aid, stopping the flow of blood and bandaging the arm. The injured man was then brought to Berwick, where Dr. McNally amputated the hand. Mr. Silver remained at the home of the doctor until Monday, when he was taken to the Victoria General Hospital.—Berwick Registrar

DON'T LET THAT COUGH ROB YOU OF SLEEP

You probably know all too well how it goes. Just as you doze off, the tickling starts in your throat. A gentle cough, and sleep. A harder cough, and then another. First thing you know, you're wide awake, coughing your head off.

A few nights of that and you're so worn out and weakened that the cough takes a tight grip on you. But why endure it? Na-Dru-Co Syrup of Linseed, Licorice and Chlorodyne will soothe that expiring tickling, loosen the phlegm and cure the inflammation of the mucous membrane. It not only stops the cough quickly, allowing you to get sound, refreshing sleep, but it goes to the root of the trouble and drives out the cold completely. Children willingly take Na-Dru-Co Syrup of Linseed, Licorice and Chlorodyne, because it tastes so good. Your Druggist has it or can quickly get it for you in 25c. and 50c. bottles. MOTHER'S FROZEN BODY SAVES SON FROM DEATH.

Hutchinson, Kan., despatch:—After an all-night search in a blinding snow-storm, amounting almost to a blizzard, W.D. Nifton found the body of his wife this morning buried in the snow near Fowler. Clinging to her was her five-year-old son. The partly protected from the cold by his mother's body and was still alive. He may recover.

Mrs. Nifton taught school in St. Jacob's Well, sixteen miles from Minneola. She started home with her son in a buggy about half past four o'clock yesterday afternoon. It had been snowing nearly all day and the road was blocked with drifts in many places, making progress hazardous, if not practically impossible.

The mother evidently decided to try to reach home by walking across the fields, and, taking her son with her, deserted the horse and buggy. Although her home is only two and a half miles from the school, the boy was found four and a half miles north east, showing that she had lost her way in the darkness, wandering in circles in two feet of snow.

She had been dead several hours when the body was found and must have wandered through most of the night in the cold and snow before she stumbled and fell exhausted, to die with her body and wraps protecting her little boy as much as possible.

When the wife did not return home at the usual time the husband became worried and set out to search for her. He visited the school first and found she had left there. He then started to search along the road leading from the little country school to their home.

Soon he came upon the horse and buggy, the animal almost frozen. Guessing that his wife had found the road impassable and had abandoned the buggy to take a short cut across country, Nifton set out in the direction of his home in the hope of overtaking her.

But he arrived there without finding her and the boy, and after calling several neighbors to his aid, again resumed the search in the storm. The hunt continued throughout the night, the husband and his friends tramping miles through the drifts and fields. But their efforts met with no success until daylight, when the body was found far from the road and almost covered with snow.

After being carried to his home and partially revived, the little boy was able to tell of the wanderings of his mother in the storm, which ended when she could drag herself no farther. Part of the time she carried her son and part of the time he stumbled along with his mother, his hand clasped tightly in hers. Finally the boy was unable to travel longer in the snow, which reached his armpits in places, and the mother, unable to carry him, sank down and put her cloak around him.

TURN HIS AIRSHIP INTO TWO-STORY HOUSE.

Manchester, Jan. 6.—A flying machine which can rapidly be converted into a neat little two-story cottage has been invented by H. G. Turner, of Eldon Grove.

The inventor asserts that this new departure in aviation will make the flying man independent of hotel accommodation, and enable him to guard his machine at night by sleeping on the premises.

Mr. Turner describes his machine as a tri-monoplane, and says that in two or three minutes will suffice to convert the places into a two-story structure, with a couple of cabins for sleeping and cooking. Oil stoves and heating can be carried on the machine.

Persons troubled with partial paralysis are often very much benefited by massaging the affected parts thoroughly when applying Chamberlain's Liniment, also relieves rheumatic pains. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

GREAT POSSIBILITIES

L. S. AMERY DISCUSSES HUDSON BAY ROUTE.

British Journalist and M.P. Says Direct Route to Great Britain For the Wheat Lies By Way of the Northern Inland Ocean and the Difficulties Are Small Compared With the Advantages To Be Reaped By Farmer.

With the definite issue of tenders for the construction of the first section of the line from The Pas, on the Canadian Northern, the nearest railway terminus to Hudson Bay, the opening up of the Hudson Bay Route has entered the practical stage. The business world will now have to take careful stock of the possibilities of the project and judge for itself to what extent it is likely to contribute to the development of Northwestern Canada and to the expansion of inter-Imperial trade, says L. S. Amery, British M.P. in "Canada." Mr. Amery accompanied Earl Grey on his trip to the Bay in August, 1910.

The geographical advantages of the route are obvious to anyone who has once looked at a globe and realized that the Canadian Northwest is no further from England than Eastern Canada. From Liverpool to Fort Churchill, on the western shore of Hudson Bay, is only 2,948 nautical miles—nineteen miles more than the distance from Liverpool to Montreal by Cape Race, and 185 miles more than the distance to Montreal by Belle Isle Straits.

But the greater part of the prairie region is fully 1,600 miles nearer to Churchill than it is to Montreal. The route from Edmonton or Saskatoon via Winnipeg, Port Arthur and Montreal to England, which looks so direct on the ordinary flat map, really represents a detour of over 1,000 miles additional railway journey. The direct route is across by Hudson Bay and Hudson Straits.

For very nearly a century Hudson Bay was the principal gateway to the Northwest, and it was the advantage in distance and facility of transportation over both Eastern Canada and the United States that enabled the Hudson Bay Co. first of all to absorb the Northwestern Co., whose base was Montreal, and secondly to establish an effective British occupation over a vast region which would otherwise inevitably have fallen into American hands.

Even before the cession of the company's territories to the Dominion in 1869 the westward extension of the American railways and the establishment of steamship services on the Great Lakes had, however, begun to present a detour of the geographical advantages of the Hudson Bay Route.

The political transfer hastened a process which was completed by the building of the Canadian Pacific Railway. The old route fell into complete disuse, and there was for a long time no practical motive for re-opening it. For many years the Canadian Pacific was more than sufficient to handle all the trade of the prairie region.

When the new era of expansion began ten years ago the natural tendency was to improve and parallel the existing line of transportation rather than to open up an entirely new route involving heavy outlay and surrounded by many doubts and difficulties. The extension of the Canadian Pacific, the building of the Canadian Northern and Grand Trunk Pacific, the improvement of navigation on the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence, and the practical consideration of the great Georgian Bay Canal project, all followed the natural course of evolution and show how trade routes, once established, tend to perpetuate themselves.

Nevertheless, the expansion of the Northwest has taken place, and is taking place, at a rate which has continuously outrun the provision of transportation, and has acquired a magnitude which now justifies bold departures and big expenditures.

For years past, so the West asserts, there has been a continuous grain blockade. It has been stated that not more than 20 per cent. of the wheat crop can get shipped away from the West before Lake Superior freezes up, the rest having to wait till next spring.

Again, during the period of harvest the westward traffic is no little disorganized, and merchants complain that they have the greatest difficulty in replenishing their stores just when they are most anxious to do so to meet the farmers' autumn purchases. The demand for a new outlet to tide water has become so strong in the west that no Government could have resisted it, that is certain. The question is: Will it be a really practical contribution to the problem? Will any large proportion of the exports and imports of the west really make use of it?

Nor does Hudson Bay itself offer any difficulties to navigation, except occasional vagaries of the compass, caused by the proximity of the Magnetic Pole. As far as navigation within its confines is concerned, it might be utilized for traffic for seven months in the year, or possibly even all the year round with the help of ice-breakers.

The real difficulty is not in the Bay, but in Hudson Straits, which get choked up with Arctic ice from Fox Channel and Davis Strait, and are not available for ordinary steamship traffic before the last ten days of July and after the first ten days or so of November. Experience may enable this period to be prolonged by a few days at the beginning and a fortnight or more at the end, but broadly speaking the total period of navigation through the Straits is not likely to exceed four months.

During that period the dangers and difficulties of navigation are, it would seem, no greater than those of the St. Lawrence route. Icebergs may be somewhat more frequent, but fog is decidedly fewer, and it is the combination of the two that is the real danger. The period is certainly short. But an Arctic port like Archangel has for centuries conducted a large trade with at least equally narrow limits of time.

On Sunday Mr and Mrs. John Marshall of Granville, who are spending the winter with their daughter, Mrs. H. Cox, 21 Britain street, celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their wedded life.

Mrs. S. C. Turner New Year Appreciations

I received many New Year Greetings from former students. These I appreciated very highly. The fact which pleased me most was that so many mentioned the increase in salary for 1912.

LOCAL AND SPECIAL

Carnival tonight! What shall be the name of the new opera house? See adv. Policeman Connell and an assistant have been testing the hydrants. Supt. Hiltz treated his patients of the Annapolis County Hospital to a sleigh-ride yesterday. Mr. Bickwith is renovating the interior of his store, which was damaged by the recent fire. The bark Calburga is ashore at Annapolis with part of a cargo of lumber. She was loading for South America. The steamer Boston, on account of last week's storm, was compelled to omit her Wednesday's sailing from Yarmouth for Boston. At Mrs. Helle, during Tuesday (8th) night's gal, Mr. William MacLeod had several ribs fractured by being struck by a barn door. Correspondents will, when possible, kindly send in their communications on Monday. Last week and this correspondence has come to hand too late for publication. The attention of the authorities was called this morning to the low pressure of the water, and policeman Connell was dispatched to the reservoir where he found it necessary to turn on the lake water. There was an exchange of pupils in the Baptist, Methodist and Presbyterian churches on Sunday evening last. Rev. Mr. Duran preached in Baptist church, Rev. Mr. MacNeil in the Methodist church and Rev. Mr. Foster in the Presbyterian church. The stallion Ferron, holding the record of being the best bred stallion in the province, and having been the property of N. R. Neily of St. James Hotel for fifteen years, dropped dead in his stall on the 2nd inst. The cause of his death is a mystery but poisoning was suspected. During the heavy gale of Tuesday night at Port Louis the new building just built as an annex of the Bay View Hotel, and having passed the bath and plastering stage, was swept off its foundations by the gale and carried several feet over the bank. The building was seventy by twenty feet.

A sudden death occurred last night. Mrs. W. H. Winchester, of Round Hill and son Augustus, fifteen years of age, came to Bridgetown yesterday to visit her brother, Mr. R. D. McGowan, Morse Road. During the night the boy was taken sick and died from heart failure after a few hours' illness. The suggestion is again made that the streets of the town should have their respective names designated by signs. With the exception of Queen and Granville it is doubtful if ten citizens would agree upon the names of the remaining streets. Goad's plan used by insurance agents would be a good guide for naming them. The assault case, The King vs. Walsh, was tried before Judge Pelton at Annapolis on Thursday and Friday of last week. O. S. Miller, counsel for defendant, J. Irvin, K.C., conducting the case for the Crown. The penalty of two years in the District penitentiary was the moderate sentence meted out to the offender. The friends of A. W. DeWitt, a former Clarence boy will be interested to learn of the honor recently conferred upon him. At Eustis, (Florida) which is the adopted home of Mr. DeWitt he was elected as Mayor of that city. Mr. DeWitt is in business in the city, owns considerable property and is vitally interested in the prosperity of Eustis. The Bishop of Nova Scotia will preach at the 11 a.m. service at St. James' church on Sunday next and administer the Rite of Confirmation at the evening service. He will also preach in St. Mary's, Bridgetown on Sunday next. The collection is for St. Sunday, both in St. James' and St. Mary's will be for the Foreign missionary work of the church. A general alarm of fire was given on Sunday afternoon about four o'clock. The fire department turned out promptly in answer to a summons from the south end, where it was found that some ashes in the barn of Mr. James Quirk had caused a blaze. Neighbors had tried to put out the incipient fire with buckets of water, but it was soon quenched by a stream from the hose by the firemen before much damage had been done. At Young's Cove, on Sunday morning last, George Murray discovered, while walking along the shore, the body of a man, nude with the exception of one boot, headless and badly decomposed. It was thought likely to be the body of a man named Sims, who was lost by the overturning of a gasoline dory a few months since. His brothers were summoned to identify the body if possible, and though identification was difficult, a certain mark found on one finger convinced them that the body was that of their brother.

PERSONAL

Miss Reynolds of Halifax is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Dickie. Mr. A. Steele Crowe is at home with his family for an indefinite time. Mr. Gordon Brown, of the Royal Bank staff returned on Saturday from a visit to Boston. Mrs. C. L. Marsh returned on Monday from a very enjoyable visit at Berwick and Somerset. Rev. R.M. Jost, whose health has compelled him to take a rest from preaching, has been appointed postmaster at Acadia, says the Yarmouth Times. Dr. J. B. Hall was in town for a few hours today. He had been in Halifax at a "gathering of the clans" and went to his Valley home this afternoon. He intends to take a trip to England in the spring.—Truro News. A letter recently received from Mr. Justice and Mrs. Longley brought news that they were then at Magnolia Springs, Florida, and that Mr. Justice Longley's health has been greatly benefited by his stay in the Sunny South. Hon. O. T. Daniels, Attorney-General, with Mrs. Daniels and Miss Miss Eichel left yesterday for Halifax where they will remain indefinitely. Mrs. Muir, the mother of Mrs. Daniels is spending the winter with her son, Mr. Snow Muir, Lawrencetown.

HYMENEAL

NICHOLS-PARKER. An interesting ceremony was enjoyed by about sixty guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Israel J. Parker, Bridgetown, Tuesday evening, Dec. 23rd when their daughter, Lena Gertrude was united in marriage to Mr. William Lamert Nichols by Rev. B. J. Porter, pastor of the Methodist church. The rooms were tastefully decorated in green and white. At the hour appointed, to the strains of the wedding march, played by Miss Fannie Nichols, sister of the groom, the bridal party entered the room, the groom supported by his brother, Mr. Morley Nichols, followed by the bridesmaid, Miss Hettie Parker, sister of the bride. Immediately behind was the bride on the arm of her father. She was very attractive in cream silk voile, with bridal veil and orange blossoms. A large number of useful and handsome presents testified to the popularity of the bride, who is a general favorite and her removal will be regretted by all. The groom's gift to the bride was a gold locket and chain, and to the bridesmaid and organist each a gold brooch. Mr. Nichols takes his bride to his beautiful new home in Nicholsville, followed by the best wishes of their many friends.

A SUCCESSFUL INSURANCE AGENT.

(Special to Monitor-Sentinel) Millen, Mass., Jan. 12th.—A Nova Scotian in the person of Mr. Bernard Dolan claims the honor of having led the agency force of the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co., of Boston and furthermore that his record for the year past has never been equaled by any agent in the Company's history of fifty years. In recognition of his work the Company has reinstated him to his former position of Asst. Supt. of Medford. It will be remembered that Mr. Dolan attained much prominence when, in 1885, he was rewarded by the Canadian government with a silver watch for the heroism he displayed in saving two men from drowning in the Annapolis River.

LOCAL AND SPECIAL

The Saskatoon Phoenix reports of one of our Bridgetown boys, now in the real estate business in that city, as follows:—Sydney Fay has returned to Saskatoon after an extended visit to the east. While away from the city Mr. Fay visited Toronto, Ottawa and Chicago. At Ottawa he was cordially received by Geo. E. McCraney, M.P., and was shown over the city. He also had the pleasure of meeting a number of the cabinet ministers. At Chicago he was the guest of the Canadian club and delivered an address at a luncheon which was held. Following the very interesting and successful week of prayer meetings held in this town last week special evangelistic meetings are being held this week. Monday's meeting was in the Baptist church, Tuesday's in the Methodist and tonight (Wednesday) the meeting will be in the Baptist church. Tomorrow (Thursday) the meeting will be in the Presbyterian church and will be an amalgamated service of Sunday School and Evangelistic interests. The meeting on Friday will be in the Methodist church. The public are cordially invited to attend these meetings. The past week has given us some extremely severe winter weather. The coldest night was Friday when it was reported at four below. The mercury still hovered about the same figure the next morning at ten o'clock and at five o'clock tomorrow afternoon of that day had dropped to the same temperature. This is a most unusual record for Bridgetown. On Saturday snow fell in sufficient quantities to make fair sleighing. The weather on Sunday was moderate and fine. Monday afternoon brought more snow which turned to sleet, followed by a rising temperature on Tuesday. At night the temperature dropped again, leaving a frozen surface. This morning an additional layer of "beautiful" fell, a fine surface for runners.

HEALTHY MINDEDNESS.

The great need in many women's lives today is the cultivation of healthy mindedness. We can never eliminate worry from daily life in the sense that all life contains some measure of difficulty of discipline, of pain. But we can cultivate the right mental attitude, try to see the good, the beauty, the happiness of life, and not morbidly exaggerate its trials. The first result would be improved looks, because beauty is very largely dependent upon expression. The worrying woman loses her charm, her power of attraction, she develops lines, ugly lines which suggest a warped nature, a selfish soul, a small, self-centered mind. In the second place the physical health is immensely improved by the cultivation of healthy optimism and simple cheerfulness. Enthusiasm and optimism increase the rapidity of the blood circulation. Cheerfulness is a direct stimulant to the nervous and digestive systems. Thus the food is more easily digested. Everybody knows how a family quarrel, a "few words," or a "worry" at meal time banishes a desire for food and brings on indigestion. The woman who gives way to worry is deliberately depressing all the vital functions. As a rule she loses weight because the body nourishment is impaired, and what doctors call tissue metabolism is interfered with.

The remedy is partly physical, partly psychological. In the sense that the woman who worries must make up her mind to get well. At the same time any chronic health ailment must be attended to. Dyspepsia may be a cause as well as an effect of worry. A decayed tooth by causing attacks of neuralgia will increase any tendency to worry about trifles.

Attention to the general health is also of importance in improving the vitality. Thus fresh air, outdoor exercise, and healthy recreation must not be neglected. Then there is the self-control treatment. The determination not to give way to worry is the first step. The habit of self-control can be acquired. But it requires daily, almost hourly effort. The worrying woman must keep before her the idea that healthy mindedness is a real worth striving for. Her nerves are out of hand. They want rest. So that a day or two, even one day, in bed in absolute quiet is often the best beginning to treatment. Fatigue will start the worry habit. Rest will help to cure it, will help to restore the energy, vitality, repose, peace, the possession of which are essential if we are to face the worries and disorders of every-day life in the right spirit.—Dr. Elizabeth Cresser in London Leader.

LOOK OUT FOR YOUR FACE.

"My boy," said a wise father, who knew how to play and be a chum with his twelve-year-old lad, "you do not own your own face."

The boy looked puzzled. He had come to the breakfast table with a frowning, clouded countenance, and had started moodily to eat his food. Everybody felt the shadow of his ill spirits evident in his looks. His father's unexpected words brought him back to life, and he looked up with a half-guilty expression, but did not understand what was meant.

"You do not own your own face," his father repeated. "Do not forget that. It belongs to other people. They, not you, have to look at it. You have no right to come to the table with a sour, gloomy, and crumpled face."

The boy had never thought of that, but he understood and did not forget. And all of us should understand and none of us should forget that our faces belong to other people.

GASOLINE FOR FLEAS.

When a house becomes infested with fleas the family dog or cat should be washed every other day with carbolic soap to kill the adult fleas, and if the animals are allowed to run about the house, they will in a few days attract all the fleas to themselves, where they can be destroyed as above indicated. If dogs or cats are not available as traps, gasoline should be applied after a thorough cleaning of the infested quarters. Pour the gasoline into cracks in the floor and along the baseboards, etc., taking care not to pour it near a fire. Gasoline will kill both larvae and adults as soon as it touches them.

SAVING THE HANDS.

When washing dishes, a small mop will save the hands from contact with hot water. Wearing rubber gloves will protect the hands, but they should not be worn except in the kitchen, as they make the hands perspire. A pair of large, old kids, or even cotton flannel will protect the hands while sweeping, and doing other housework. It is the grinding of the fine particles of dirt into the hands that ruins the texture. If the hands look grimy, rub fresh clean lard over them, then wash with alcohol or oat or corn meal, instead of soap, and they will be clean.

MOTHER'S EXAMPLE.

You must set your own standard of living according to your own income, education and tastes and not according to your neighbor's House-keeping and cooking should be interesting and worthy work, and the majority of women should enjoy it, if they would improve their opportunities to know more of its science and system. It must be considered elevating, the highest art, and not a brainless occupation. If a man is not ashamed of his profession or work why should a woman be ashamed of hers? There is no household management without a home, and no thoroughly organized home without some kind of system. Your system may not be mine, nor mine yours. Why should I set myself up as an authority to say on what days you would wash, iron, mend, bake, make calls, polish silver or wash the windows? Monday does not suit me as a washday, but it might suit my neighbor perfectly; and we might follow down through each day in the week and differ in the days for regular work. Study your own home and the needs and conveniences there, and then systematize your work accordingly. A business man sold me in his office that he looked back he could see how thoroughly systematic his mother was in the home and how his father's and later his own, success in life could be traced to that very fact. Now, in his own home he is fortunate in the same careful management there, which was easy to see reflected in this successful business man.

TO WASH VELVET.

Not every owner of a velvet gown is aware that velvet stands washing. Yet this can be very successfully done with care. Have ready a warm soap lather, immerse the velvet garment in it and gently rub until the dirt disappears. After rinsing in clean water, lay flat on a white damp cloth on the wrong side with hot irons frequently changed. Then hang in front of the fire to finish drying, and the pile will come up like new. Painted sofa pillow tops of velvet can be washed very nicely.

A LABOR SAVER.

Most every housewife has complained of scrubbing on the stairs, on the sides and back, also bare holes there is oil cloth, it is a labor saver. Now, if you would get a piece of zinc, have it planed out to fit the sides and back, also bare holes large enough to allow for tacks, an place as close to the sink as possible, turning up rough edges, they will have something that is easily cleaned clean, well and is more healthy than oil cloth or wood. It can be wiped with a cloth dipped in kerosene.

FOR SMALLPOX.

A California medical man and a friend of ours gave me this curious prescription as a sure preventive as well as a cure for smallpox: Place one ounce of cream of tartar in sixteen ounces of pure water and take a tablespoonful three times a day, and you may sleep with a smallpox patient with perfect immunity.—Exc.

USE FOR AN ALARM CLOCK.

When one has a variety of work to do on baking day an alarm clock will be found particularly helpful. Just set the alarm at the time bread or cake should be done, and one may give her whole attention to another task without fear of forgetting the baking.

INK STAIN ON WOOD.

Vinegar and linseed oil blended will remove ink stains from wood; rub with the grain of the wood till the spot disappears; then polish with a piece of soft linen.

GIVING POWDERS TO CHILDREN.

A novel way of giving children powders is to cut open a chocolate cream, insert the powder and close it up again. It is even better than putting it in jelly.

A solution for cleansing grease from woolen is made from one part salt and four parts alcohol.

If new shoes blister the feet, rub the shoes on the inside lining with a piece of hard soap.

ANOTHER C. P. R. WRECK.

Montreal, Jan. 8.—This afternoon at Vincent de Paul Station on the C.P.R. line, the train which left Montreal at half-past one p.m. was standing west of the station and the train from Quebec overran the switch at which it should have taken the side track, with the result that the baggage car partially telescoped the second class car following, killing three passengers and the brakeman. The engineer of the train from Quebec J. C. Hamilton, was badly injured as was the conductor, O. Frchette.

THE BLESSING OF WORK

Can you work when you want to? Are you able, when troubles and anxieties harass you, to fling yourself into work that must be done, and thus dull or even completely forget these harassments?

As long as you can say "yes" to these queries, my friend, I don't think you have any right to complain of your lot.

One of the most wonderful lines that Elizabeth Stuart Phelps ever wrote was this: "Too useful to be lonely and too busy to be sad."

She was writing of a woman who had many of the ordinary reasons for unhappiness, but who was not unhappy because she was "too useful to be lonely and too busy to be sad."

I was quoting that line to an invaluable friend the other day and she sighed. "No one knows better than I how true that is," she said, "It's just because I haven't the strength to keep off anxiety and discontent to keep off being useful, and sadness by being busy, that I am so unhappy. I used to think my life was pretty hard when I had to work all the time, but now I know how very fortunate I was then. No one who has the health and strength to work and keep off unhappiness that way knows what real sadness is."

Half of your grievance you see—the necessity of working hard—is your greatest blessing.

"Thank God every morning when you get up that you have something to do which must be done, whether you like it or not," says Charles Kingsley. "Being forced to work and forced to do your best will breed in you temperance and self-control, diligence and strength of will, cheerfulness and content, and a hundred virtues which the idle never know."

Perhaps this morning you faced the routine of a busy, exacting day with revolt and discontent. Perhaps you said: "If I only didn't have to work!"

You will remember tomorrow morning won't you, that in the necessity for meeting the exacting of your day, you have the greatest antidote for worry and discontent and disappointment that the world has ever known, and that in the ability to meet these exacting you have a blessing which many thousands of your fellow beings envy you with all their hearts.

Perhaps you are of another class—of those who are able to work, but are not obliged to.

Then you are not so fortunate as those who have something they must do every day, whether they like it or not, but if you will, you may still be much more fortunate than those who cannot be busy, no matter how much they may wish to be.

For you, Mrs. Phelps' great line is not so much a reminder of your blessings, as a suggestion of the possibilities of your life.

It tells you the good news that you need not be sad or lonely any more, if you do not wish to. It is a bugle call to you to find the corner of the world's work which needs you and be "too useful to be lonely and too busy to be sad."—Ruth Cameron.

AEROPLANE PROPELLERS.

Principal Problem is the Selection of Proper Material.

The first aerial screw was proposed and used by Leonardo da Vinci, the great artist, architect and man of learning of Italy, who, like Giotti and Michelangelo, was too big for any one art to contain. After the fashion of most master minds, he went right to the heart of the matter and pointed out the ideal propeller for air navigation, but it was centuries after before the little men around him could get away from the follies of oars, paddle wheels, windmills and such primitive ideas as incumbered their minds, and it was not till 1834 that a series of Frenchmen finally developed the screw for balloon propulsion. Fifty years thereafter it approached the true helix under Dupuy de Lome in 1872.

Colonel Renard in 1888 published the results of his numerous experiments on the losses due to slip, etc., and the causes thereof, and gradually it became apparent that these should not exceed 50 per cent of the work of the motor in any well designed screw. The development of the various types soon again divided into classes—slow speed and large diameter and high speed with small diameter. At present both classes have their ardent adherents, but in view of the conclusive results in favor of the slow speeds and large diameter, obtained by experiments with ordinary blast fans during the last few years, there is no doubt that the best results are got by the slow speed and reasonable diameter of propellers.

The French never use two propellers, as in some American makes, principally because of the great danger that ensues when one of the screws breaks or stops, if there are two. They all vary in size between two and three meters and 600 to 1,200 revolutions per minute. Specifically the Voisin is 2.3 meters, 1,100 revolutions per minute; Clement-Bayard, 2.4 meters, 750 revolutions; Bleriot XII, 2.7 meters, 580 revolutions; Farman, 2.5 meters, 800 revolutions.

The principal problem at present is to get a strong, light material which will not warp in the weather, will not fly to pieces under the centrifugal force nor bend out of shape and yet be light and shapely. You can buy propellers from the aeroplane dealers in Paris in solid wood, hickory and ash, glued up of sections of flat pieces, in black walnut, oak, omege, hickory and holly, or you can get them in solid cast aluminum finely finished, prices varying from $100 to $150 each. I think that when Americans get around to it we will stamp them out of sheet steel and clinch the edges.

—Warren H. Miller in Engineering Magazine.

Round Bill

Round Bill, Jan. 7th.—Mr. L. Wiltshire returned home on Tuesday last from the Halifax Infirmary, where he underwent an operation for appendicitis, which was very successful.

We are glad to report Mr. Bernard Saunders, who has been ill for some past months, much improved.

Mr. Lewis Dodge, of Bridgetown, spent the week end with relatives here.

Miss Edith Everett of Bridgetown, was the guest of Mrs. Alex. Dargie over Sunday.

While pressing hay one day last week, Hallet McLaughlin had the misfortune to jam his foot, which will lay him by for about two weeks.

GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. James McDormand celebrated their Golden Wedding on the 23rd ult. Both are as hale and hearty as persons of their age can be, possessing all their faculties and doing their share of the work to be found on a farm. They live with their daughter, Bessie, wife of Mr. Bernard Spurr, at the "Pines," one of the many beautiful sites on the Annapolis River. No public celebration was made, but a few neighbors called in the evening to congratulate the happy couple in behalf of whom Mr. Alonzo Daniels presented a purse of gold with a few well-timed remarks, made with his accustomed facility. He called attention to the fact that it is rare that a family has lived as long without a break in the ranks. Mrs. Spurr, the only fruit of their union, has three children, all living.

Mr. and Mrs. McDormand's friends unite in wishing them many more happy peaceful years.—COM.

Traffic of the Soo Canals.

The Soo canals are the busiest artificial waterways in the world, and the traffic grows apace. The last report of Colonel C. McD. Townsend of the United States army corps of engineers shows that the total value of freight passing through the canals during the season of 1909 was $626,104,173. The total freight traffic for the year amounted to 57,895,149 net tons, an increase of so less than 40 per cent over the amount in 1908. The average number of vessels per day through the locks of the American canal was thirty-five. Through the Welland lock of the same canal it was twenty-two and through the Canadian lock twenty-seven per day. The whole of this immense traffic was confined to a season of navigation of seven months and twenty-seven days.

Paste For Hanging Burlap.

The paste should consist of one pound of good glue dissolved in two gallons of water, into which put enough paste powder to make it stiff, then add to the stiff warm paste two tablespoonfuls of turpentine or Canada balsam, and stir well. The paste powder consists of eighty-four parts of wheat flour or starch, eight parts of caustic soda and eight parts of sulphate of ammonia. All parts must be weighed.

Obituary

MRS. ISAAC NEELY.

At her home West Brooklyn on Jan. 5th, Minnie L., beloved wife of Isaac Neely, passed peacefully away at the age of thirty-one years. She was a great sufferer but was patient throughout, expressing a wish to be beyond where suffering and sorrow are no more.

She leaves to mourn besides a sorrowing husband and infant child an aged father, Isaac Moore three sisters and three brothers besides a large circle of relatives and friends, who learned with deep regret of her early death.

A few years ago Mrs. Neely united with a church in Massachusetts and was still connected with the same.

The funeral services which took place on Sunday afternoon, were conducted by Rev. S. S. Poole and were largely attended. Favorite selections of deceased were sung, among them one she requested, "Safe in the arms of Jesus," which was sung by Miss Phillips.

Interment took place at Pine Grove cemetery. Much sympathy is felt for the entire family in this their time of sore bereavement.—COM.

Celebrate Their Silver Wedding

Rev. J.M.C. and Mrs. Wade celebrated the 25th anniversary of their marriage on December 25th by an "at home" at the Rectory, Brooklyn. Owing to the roughness of the weather on that day many were prevented from attending to personally express their good wishes, and extend congratulations. Yet, in spite of the cold there was a fair representation of parishioners. Two ladies drove all the way from Ardoise to show their appreciation of the Rector and his wife. The mail brought many expressions of good wishes both in kindly words and gifts of silver.

Mr. and Mrs. Wade who are deservedly popular with the people of their entire parish were both made very happy by the many kind words and gifts received from the people among whom they labor, and they are also given new courage to continue their work of love and service for the benefit of their beloved parish.

Many remembrances came to them also from the various parishes in which they had previously lived and worked, adding greatly to the happiness of the event.

Mr. Wade was also handsomely remembered at the Christmas season. On the Saturday before he received a box from Walton which greatly surprised and pleased him. On opening the box he found a fur coat, a dandy. There was also a box containing twenty fifty cent pieces, one each from twenty members of the Walton section of his parish. Needless to say Mr. Wade's heart was cheered as his body will be warmed by the beautiful gift.—Windsor Tribune.

The reverend gentleman was a Granville boy and has many friends and relatives throughout this county.—ED.

Miss Claire Paré has returned to her school duties at Truro.

Mrs. John Bath visited her old home and friends at Kingston, King Co., recently.

with the exception of the Herald building, was all in the rear. At the Herald the flames first appeared in view to the streets on the top stories, and the great height of the building made it impossible for the fireman to reach the flames.

At two o'clock there was every prospect that the flames would sweep right through the whole block, but the brick walls of the Acadian Recorder building prevented the fire from creeping any further south, although on two or three occasions it looked as if even this building would be included in the conflagration. Valuable records and files at the Recorder office were moved over to the Chronicle office.

At 4.45, the store occupied by Wm. Crowe, on Barrington street, had caught, and there appeared no hope of stopping the fire short of G. M. Smith's.

At two o'clock Chief Broderick telephoned to Dartmouth for assistance, and a special boat bringing the fire and apparatus from Dartmouth arrived quickly. The Dartmouth engine was stationed at the corner of Prince and Hollis streets, and the men at once set to work with a will. At three o'clock the situation on Barrington street was practically stayed. The fire had reached the brick wall of the Cabot building, and progress seemed to have been stayed. On Granville and George streets the fire was at its worst.

The slippery condition of the streets made it most difficult for the firemen to move around.

Great tongues of flames shot high in the air and the reflection illuminated the whole city. The fire spread with such tremendous rapidity that the tenants in the fire zone had but little opportunity to save any of their effects.

The zero weather caused the water to freeze very quickly, coating the streets with ice.

SOME OF THE LOSSES.

William Crowe, stock and building, $15,000 The Davidson Building and stock of L.C. Davidson & Co., about 35,000 The Munnis stock, about 19,000 The McCormack stock, about 6,000 Schaefer and Son's building and stock 8,000 Cragg Bros' building and stock, about 45,000 Herald building and plant, about 175,000 The Borden-Ritchie library plant about 3,000 Other offices losses, furniture, etc., in the Herald Building, total about 10,000 The Dennis Building (occupied by Thomson & Thomson and others) 6,000 Continental Hotel, T. Hardy, building and stock about 8,000 The Dennis Building, occupied by Wannacott, Marshall, and others 3,000

The occupants losses, about 1,000 W.H. Cabot, about 2,000 Blackadar Bros. about 2,000

The Herald was published through the kindness of the Chronicle, who loaned them their matter and printed the paper with the Herald's heading and notice to the Herald's readers of their $20,000 loss. The Herald building was a five story granite block of modern construction and contained one of the best newspaper plants in the province.

The Treasurer of this fund asks us to publish the following:—

Since the commencement of this fund we have, by your kindness, acknowledged all monies donated or raised for it through your columns. But on looking over my books I do not find that I acknowledged the following in this way:—

R. D. Connell $18.50 Bridgetown Boy Scouts $5.00 R. E. Felts, Lawrencetown 5.00 J. E. Murray, Waterville third donation 12.00 Interest .37

These sums added to the amounts already published in the Monitor ($44.42) bring the building fund irrespective of the 1911 Christmas fund, to $710.29.

I may add the above were all acknowledged in the specially printed list sent out last November and this probably accounts for the oversight.

Truly yours, ERNEST UNDERWOOD

HER SKIN SEEMED ON FIRE

Every Other Treatment Failed But "Fruit-a-lives" Cures

GRANDE LIGNE, QUE., Jan. 2nd, 1910. "My wife was greatly distressed for three years with chronic Eczema on the hands, and the disease was so severe that it almost prevented her from using her hands. The doctor gave her several ointments to use, but none of them did any good. He also advised her to wear rubber gloves and she wore out three pairs without getting any benefit. As a last resort, I persuaded her to try "Fruit-a-lives" and the effect was marvelous. Not only did "Fruit-a-lives" entirely cure the Eczema, but the Asthma, which she suffered from, was also completely cured.

We both attribute our present good health to "Fruit-a-lives". N. JOUBERT. "Fruit-a-lives" will always cure Eczema or Salt Rheum because "Fruit-a-lives" purifies the blood, corrects the Indigestion and Constipation, and tones up the Nervous System.

"Fruit-a-lives" is the only medicine in the world made of fruit juices and valuable tonics, and is the greatest of all blood-purifying remedies.

CHAPPED HANDS & COLD SORES

One thorough application of Zam-Buk at night will bring ease by morning. Zam-Buk stops the smarting, heals the cracks, and makes the hands smooth.

PROOF—Miss Hattie Bertrand, Galesburg, Ont., writes:—"I was troubled with chapped hands and arms and nothing ever seemed to heal them thoroughly until we found Zam-Buk. It has cured them. My father has also used it for several skin troubles and injuries, and thinks there is nothing like Zam-Buk."

Mothers should see that their children use Zam-Buk daily, as there is nothing like prevention. A little Zam-Buk lightly smeared over the hands and wrists, after washing, will prevent chaps and cold sores.

Zam-Buk is also a sure cure for skin diseases, eczema, itch, ringworm, blood-poisoning, piles, and for cuts, burns and bruises. Get box at all stores and druggists, or post-free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Beware of harmful substitutes and imitations.
