Supreme War Council Completes Main Details of Military Treaty.

Paris, Feb. 22.—Denmark's claims for a portion of Schleswig-Holstein were heard by the supreme council today. H. A. Boinhoft, the Danish minister in Paris, who appeared to represent Denmark, told the council the i northern half of Schleswig-Holstein rightfully belonged, on historical and nationas grounds, to Denmark, but that Denmark was willing to have a plebiscite determine its disposition. ~

While the Danish minister did not make a flat claim for the southern half of Schleswig-Holstein, including the Kiel canal, he said that in justice to the population of this district he believed that it should have the right to determine its possession. VIRTUAL CIVIL WAR PREVAILS IN MUNICH Troubles at Bavaria's Capital Become Serious, Ten Thousand Workmen Marching Thru Streets---People Hear Violent Firing.

London, Feb. 22.—The troubles in Munich took a still more serious turn yesterday afternoon, according to a Copenhagen despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company. Church belis began ringing, 10,000 workmen from the suburbs marched into the centre of the city and a short time later violent firing was heard, it is said. The mob is reported to have begun plundering shops.

The despatch characterizes the conditions now prevailing in Munich evirtually those of civil war.

Hundreds of civilians started to flee from Munich, the Exchange Telegraph correspondent adds, but this movement was stopped when the Spartacans occupied the railway terminus.

"His impassioned Eloquence. When I speak of eloquence of Laurier my mind instinctivety goes back thrace years to a speech delivered on the historical feud between the Hudson Bay Company and the North West Company, which culminated in a murder trial in the city of Toronto in the early part of the mineteenth century. Those who heard him that night, aged as he was with the frost of 70 winters upon his brow, may well recall the genius of Laurier as he made those vigorous old voyageurs of the forest prime val, walk before us. He clothes them with flesh and blood. Under the spell of Laurier's magic they were not spectres from a dead past—no! They lived and moved and had their being before our very eyes. The Varsity, the students' organ of Toronto University, asked the hext morning. Why can't our professors make history as interesting as Laurier?"

There is a danger, however, standing in the shadow of this national catastrophe—one might run to hyperbole. Am I not right in attributing to Sir Wilfrid Laurier a description he once used of that lover of Canadian freedom, Louis Joseph Papineau? DANGEROUSLY ILL

London, Feb. 22.—Adelina Patti, the famous opera singer, is dangerously ill at her home in Wales, according to The Liverpool Post.

Adelina Patti, prima donna, was born in Madrid, Feb. 19, 1843. She was the daughter of Salvatore Patti of Catania, Sicily, and Caterina Chiesa, a well-known opera singer. She was three times married, her husbands being Marquis de Caux, 1868; Signor Nicolini, 1886, and Baron Rolf Cederstrom, 1899. She made her debut at the Academy of Music, New York, November, 1859, and at Italian Opera House, Covent Garden. Lon-

Great Britain insists that these ships be destroyed. The published assertion that these ships will be destroyed would seem premature since there is considerable opposition to the plan, especially on the part of France.

Ottawa, Feb. 22.-Sir Wilfrid Laurier maintained his pride and interest in Ottawa to the last. It is understood that a clause in his will dedicates to the capital city all the tokens of honor bestowed upon him during his distinguished public career.

Many of these are of almost priceless value. They include the testimenials covering the freedom of cities in the United Kingdom. The casket containing the freedom of the city of Edinburgh, one of the most beautiful of the collection, is solidly encrusted with diamonds. The intention is that the souvenirs shall find a place in the war memorial building which will doubtless erected in Ottawa before long.

Rather remarkable is the situation which has arisen in connection with the order-in-council relative to war gratuities. Under this order-in-council, many thousands of men, many of them far over age, who had been able to get any farther than Britain, while serving with the C. E. F., were debarred from that clause which made the gratuities retroactive to dates of discharge. Word was re-cently given out in certain quarters that the order had been amended to include the thousands of "Britain"

Wood, Gundy & Company have purchased three million dollars' worth of the city's harbor bonds. They are 35-year four and one-half per cent. tonds and the price is 84.71.

In reply to Mr. McCarron he admitted that the car was only held subject to investigation. Mr. McCarron remarked with studied significance, "That is very different." It was admitted that the car belonged to Lavell, who was exonerated upon the charge that he was bringing the charge that he was bringing liquor into Canada with it, so that the

For the initial dinner the head table was arranged on a raised platform, this platform has been ordered torn down and the Duke of Devonshire, General Pau and other distinguished guests will be on the same floor level with the fighting men on Wednesday. Further, there will be no special favors for these guests such as cigars. They must accept the same cigarets the men receive or bring their own "smokes."

Thursday, there will be only one speaker, the governor-general, tho it is quite possible that General Pau may decide to extend short greetings to the assembled fighting men.

The 48th Highlanders' Band and Pipers will furnish the music, while everyone present will receive as a souvenir a "soldier's diet sheet," in the shape of a handsome menu card.

"De Palma, driving Packard special Twin-Six, set new official world record here this morning for the kilometer (five-eighths of a mile) and the mile. Official time announced by Chairman Richard Kennerdell, of A. A. A. Contest Board is twenty-four and two onehundredths seconds for the mile. This is one hundred forty-nine and seventytwo one-hundredths miles per hour. Car performed magnificently, but beach was too soft. De Palma will try, to break his own record."

In April, 1911, Bob Burman astonished the automobile world with a record of 142 miles per hour. He drove a Blitzen-Benz (German made) with a piston displacement one-half greater than De Palma's Packard. But the Packard which has just broken Burman's record develops 260 horse-power against 250 by the Blitzen-Benz.

De Palma says: "This new world record is a good start. Just ahead of me I see speeds of 180 miles an hour or more. Two features of my Packard make that feat

Among automotive engineers Ralph De Palma is respected probably as much for his scientific knowledge as for his wonderful

For over four years he has been both student and teacher in the great Packard Laboratories. In 1915 he saw Packard engineers solve the problem of more horse power per gallon of gasoline by evolving the Twin-Six principle. Less than a year later the Twin-Six had shown such extraordinary efficiency that a Twin-Six Aviation Engine (No. 299) was produced. In De Palma's hands one of these, mounted on a racing chassis, broke every world distance record for one to six hours. During 1917 and 1918 all distance records from onequarter mile to ten miles were established by Packard Twin Six No. 299 and No. 905.

Now the last unbroken record (of 142 miles per hour by a Blitzen-Benz) has been smashed by Packard Twin-Six No. 905.

Canadian Girl Expresses Pleasure at Wise Selections of Soldiers.

Iditor Sunday World: Replying to staff Sergeant Baker's letter relative to the superior merits and qualifications of the English girl which entitle tions of the English girl which entitle her to occupy the position of better half to a number of our Canadian soldiers, I desire in behalf of Canadian girls to say that we Canadian girls are pleased to know that our boys have made such wise selections, and while we are not quite certain that we are so greatly exceeded in the the transport of the control of the con geant toward such a rosy conclusion as he outlines, but only hope for the best.

Above other things that Canadian gris admire are faithfulness and steadfastness, and we sincerely trust that the English girls who have married Canadians may be adaptable to our customs and practical life, as the staff-sergeant attributes to them the quality of adaptability. Also Canadian girls admire the aforementioned virtues in men as well as in women, and providing we find the marriage marketa depleted of Canadian boys we can extend our field to the republic to the south of us, where there are many millions of practical young business men who contain these virtues, and the majority of them have one other, which most Canadian boys have, if they believe that a girl has shortcomings they are chivalrous enough to keep it to themselves.

The staff-sergeant mentions that the Canadian boy accustomed to the "practical western life, which spends time and money in the pursuit of a definite goal," is amazed and pleased by the generous hospitality of the host and hostess of England. We thank the English host and hostess for their generosity, and reply to the staff-sergeant by saying that this practical western life has made the Canadian people famous over most of the world today, and we accept the compliment that we do reach a definite goal. We sincerely trust that the return of our boys to this practical life of ours will in no way interfere with the unbounded happiness which they have experienced overseas.

Staff-Sergeant Baker cannot deny that our Canadian girls are bright and happy. Brightness and happiness cannot be obtained without health.

Just another word: In the fifth reason given by the staff-sergeant he expresses his admiration for the "selling talk" of a Canadian soldier, and mentions that he is a great advertiser. In thinking over this reason, I, being a young business woman, have decided that it is just possible that this selling talk may not have been so strong in our practical western atmosphere.

> Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save four-fifths of the morey usually spent for cough preparations, by using this well-known old recipe for making cough syrup as home. It is simple and cheap but it really has no equal for prompt results. It takes right hold of a cough and giv immediate relief, usually stoppin, an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth) from any druggist, pour it into a 16-oz bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make 16 ounces. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing low quickly it acts, penetrating throug every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for pronchitis, spasmodic croup, whooping cough or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concendic croup, whooping cough or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its healing effect on the membranes.

Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

When once he starts there should be no quitting, nothing big is ever ac-complished without persistence and determination to stick, regardless of obstacles. FAVURITES ARE THE CHAMPIONS IN BIG BATTLES OF RING

In All the Ring Classics, the Title-Holder Ruled Favorite.

Some Think That Dempsey Will Be the Public Choice.

By Iconoclast. New York, Feb. 22.-There are some who think that Jack Kearns is wrong when he asserts that when Willard and Dempsey meet in the ring on July 4 for the first time in the history of boxing the challenger for the heavy weight championship will be favorite over the champion. Those that take issue with Kearns insist that precedent will be followed, and that Willard will be at least an 8 to 5 choice. I am inclined to agree with Kearns, I would like to see Willard favorite, so 1 could be sure of dying rich from the ioney I win on Dempsey. But I am afraid that even money will prevail, with the possibility of Dempsey being a 7 to 5

It is true that champions were in variably made favorites in past heavyweight title bouts. But there was always a reason for this, as I will try to show here briefly. John L. Sullivan was a 5 to 1 choice. championship at New Orleans, Sentiment, tho, played the major part in great heavyweight champion. His loyalty made possible a false price, James J. Corbett was favored to de feat Robert Fitzsimmons at Carson City This was logical, tho. Corbett figured to win. He was bigger, more clever and impion. There are many who think his defeat was an accident.

Old Fitz. Was Choice. Fitzsimmons was a heavy favorite defeat James J. Jeffries when he lost the title to the big Californian.

the title to the big Californian. And Fitz, too, was a logical choice. He had won the championship from a master fighter, and had beaten as big men as Jeffries with ease. It was thought that no heavyweight, save Corbett, whom Fitzsimmons would not fight again, had a chance with him.

We can skip the Johnson-Burns battle in Australia. That was not really a championship fight.

James J. Jeffrie, was favorite for the fight with Jack Johnson at Rens, Nev. But there was a reason for that. It was a question of race feeling. The country in general wanted Jeffries to win. It stood by him with its money.

Dempsey.

Willard Unpopular.

Willard is unpopular, old, as fighters go, out of condition, and has no great ring record. In his entire career he only defeated one good man, Jack Johnson, and then it took him twenty-six rounds to beat a boxer who was all in from dissipation.

The public knows these things about Willard. It also knows that Jack Dempsey is young, a terrific puncher and has a better record than any heavyweight of recent years.

The friendly rivalry existing amongst the various teams in the Consumers' Gas League was very much in evidence last week. Obviously, the crews in 1919 will not be so precisely representative of the best quality which would be available under normal conditions. Therefore it has to be decided whether it would be advisable to allow the most amportant trophies to be competed for. The various events represent the blue riband of amateur rowing. Naturally, therefore, it is one of the greatest honors to have one's name inscribed on any of the trophies associated with the event.

It would not be surprising if under the circumstances competition were limited to the Thames-Cup for eights, Visitors' and Wyfold Cups for fours, and probably Silver Goblets for pairs, and the Diamond sculls. Even with a curtailment of the usual events from eight to five, I feel confident that sufficient entries would be received to provide some excellent sport and a memorable revival of an historic sporting fixture.

Montreal, Feb. 22.—After nearly two hours of wrangling at a conference held at noon today, matters were still deadlocked regarding the selection of the referees in tonight's match at the Jubilee Rink between Ottawa and Canadiens, the first of a series to decide the National Hockey League championship, and the right to go to the Pacific coast to defend the Stanley Cup.

The Ottawa Club, represented at the conference by Tommy Gorman, stood firm in its refusal to accept Jack Marshall as one of the referees named by President Calder. George Kennedy, on behalf of Canadiens, was willing to accept anyone. President Calder stood solidly behind his appointment, and declined to let any team or teams dictate to him in the matter of appointing officals.

NATIONAL PERIL SEEN IN PRESENT COMMONS

Khaki, Profiteer and Local Manufacturer Predominate and May Get Away From Ministry of Lloyd George.

(Copyright, 1919, by Public Ledger Co.)

London, Feb. 22.—A new house of commons always present the same interesting speculations as a newborn child with an equal uncertainty of its possible developments. This observation applies more to the present than to almost any previous parliament, as one-half of its members are quite new to parliamentary life, and all were more or less elected under the pressure of the khaki-feeling, with no defined principles beyond passionate support of the war that is past, and more or less pledged to allegiance to the leadership of Lloyd George. Old reporters and parliamentarians and old officials like the speaker gaze on this new portent of unfamiliar faces with wistful uncertainty, and their impressions differ.

Some persons declare it is the best dressed house since the days when only rich gentlemen squires monopolized all the seats. Others declare it is the richest house for generations, which is translated by cynical and unfriendly Radical observers into the statement that it consists mainly of baldheaded profiteers. The profiteer and rich local manufacturer is certainly a numerous factor, largely owing to the difficulty on the one hand of getting candidates, and on the other hand of raising electioneering funds.

What talent may lie latent in these annoymous benches nobody can yet tell, but for the moment this house is conspicuously inferior in parliamentary talent to any which preceded it. The control of the members are independent of the same introduction and content in the sea in the sea of the control of the members are members are members are decision on almost any question. This tonact conditions will not re-teal themselves for some time, probably not until the end of the peace conference, for Lloyd George is being conference, for Lloyd George is onference, for Lloyd George is onference, for Lloyd George is onference, for Lloyd George of the man who won the war and also as the man who can win peace. annoymous benches nobody can yet tell, but for the moment this house is conspicuously inferior in parliamentary talent to any which preceded it. The disappearance of Mr. Asquith and all other leaders of the old Liberal party is felt by everybody as a national loss, perhaps even a national peril. These apprehensions are not mitigated by a survey of the ministerial benches, for Mr. Lloyd George's colleagues consist of men of such mediocre ability that even the Tory newspapers deride them and Lord Northcliffe has not ceased in his many newspapers in denouncing the new ministry with as much fervor as he formerly lashed the Asquith wait-and-see administration.

Commons Uncertain.

One thing certainly is palpable and undeniable, that there never was so uncertain a house of commons, uncertain in its opinions, its actions and its durability. Born in the midst of the passions of war, with a majority of its members frankly helping to win their election by the appeal of such cries as "Hang the Kaiser," and "big indemnity from Germany," with a coupon for Lloyd George of personal adhesion to

SHOULD ANY ALIENS BE GRANTED LICENSES? Another important item is the re-newal of the Exhibition lease for a period of ten years.

Among the knotty problems to be dealt with by the city council to-morrow, the question of issuing licenses to aliens who are not alien enemies promises to promote an interesting debate. For some time licenses have been refused to all but naturalized or British-born citizens, but it has been recommended that a broader policy be adopted, owing to the appeals made by aliens who cannot be classed as alien enemies.

Some opposition is anticipated to the application for legislation to impose license fees on a number of businesses, while has been recommended, and it is reported that deputations will wait on the council representing those affected by the change.

Several recommendations involving amendments to residential bylaws, forwarded to the council by committees, will come up for consideration together."

Key to Mental Qualifications

BELOW is the key which shows how new soldiers were expected to show their mental qualifications thru quick answers to the puzzles on the

Imagine it before you on a desk in a room with 500 others, and here is what you would be called upon to do with the above chart : 1. "'Attention!' says the examiner. 'Attention' always means 'Pencils' Look at the circles at No. 1. When I say 'Go!' but not before, make a cross in the second circle and also a figure 1 in the third circle—'Go!' (Five seconds to do this.)

2. "Attention! Look at No. 2, where the circles have numbers in them. When I say 'Go!' draw a line from Circle 2 to Circle 5 that will pass above Circle 3 and below Circle 4—'Go!'" (Not more than five

3. Make a cross in the space which is in the square, and not in the triangle and also make a figure in the space which is in the triangle and not in the square. Ten seconds.

4. Make a figure 1 in the space which is in the triangle, but not in the circle or square, and also make a figure 2 in the space which is in the square and the circle, but not in the triangle. Ten seconds.

5. If a regiment is bigger than a company, then put a cross in the first circle; if not, draw a line under the word "No." Ten seconds. 6. Put in the second circle the right answer to the question: "How many months has a year?" in the fourth circle do nothing, but in the fifth circle put any number that is a wrong answer to the question that you just answered correctly. Ten seconds.
7. Cross out the letter just before D, and also draw a letter before the second letter before I. . 8. Notice the three circles and the three words. Make in the first circle the last letter of the first word; in the second circle the last letter of the second word, and in the third circle the third letter of the third

9. Cross out each number that is more than 30 but less than 40. Fifteen seconds.

10. Notice that the drawing is divided into five parts. Put a 3 or a

2 in each of the two smaller parts and a number between 4 and 7 in the part next in size to the largest part. Fifteen seconds.

11. Draw a line thru every odd number that is not in a circle and also thru every odd number that is in a circle with a letter. Twenty-five

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS MAY BE OVERCOME

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or are even just a little hard of hearing or have head noises go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength), and add to it ½ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone losing hearing or who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial. should give this prescription a trial.

The percentage of men classed as best in the various groups increased steadily from none in D— to 37.7 per cent. in A, while the percentage classed as poorest decreased steadily from 80 per cent, in D— to 11.5 per cent. in A.

Significant Findings

Considering that low military value may be caused by many things besides inferior intelligence, the above findings are considered significant. It should be stated also that these tests, up to the signing of the armistice. That these men testing above C-|- up to the signing of the armistice, were undergoing change in the effort to shape them into a more effective measuring rod of mental ability.

"How would you go about it?"
"In the practical way, experimenting. Take a group of the best lawyers and one of the best physicians. Prepare a set of questions. Note the questions which the lawyers as a group answer best, and those which the physicians answer best. There would be the first hint, but only a hint. On it as a guide, however, other hint. On it as a guide, however, other questions could be framed, for the questions could be framed, for the purpose of defining more clearly the line between the two talents. Then, after a tentative set of questions had been made, other groups of lawyers and graysicians, lower down in the scale of ability, could be drawn into the experiment, with the aim of bringing out the discrimination of mental ing out the discrimination of menta ability between the two profession more sharply. It would require pa-tience and the closest observation, and in the end, it should be remembered, would only show mental ability.

Soldier Tests.

"So it is with the soldier tests they do not measure loyalty, bravery, power to command, or the emotional traits that make a man 'carry on'; but in the long run these qualities are more likely to be found in a man of superior than in one of inferior intelligence. In fact, it has been found that there is a fairly high correlation between the two. Intelligence seems to be the most important single factor in determining a soldier's value to the service. Consequently, when by experiments you are able to draw out and classify those traits of intelligence and aptitude peculiarly suited to the professions and trades, you have made decided progress in determining what may be the chances of success the applicant has for a particular calling."

Three Systems.

Three systems of tests were in use in the army: First. Alpha, a group test for men who could read and write English. It required only fifty minutes and It required only fifty minutes and was given to groups as large as 500.

Second, Beta, for foreigners, and illiterates. A unique feature of the Beta, test was that all information as Beta test was that all information as Beta test was that all information as to the questions to be answered was given in pantomime. Classes ranged from 75 to 300, and the time was about fifty minutes.

Third, Individual Tests for all the falled in the test for illiterates, to find what should be done with them.

Each of the group tests consisted of eight distinct tests, and, that these might be changed frequently, there might be changed frequently, there were a number of different forms.

HOLDERS OF DOME MUST BE SHOWN

J. Wilson, one of the directors of the Dome Extension, is down from Masse to attend a meeting in connection with the proposed option of that company's property to the Big Dome. It cannot be said that the Dome shareholders are enamored of the proposition, and the deal may meet considerable opposition.

Among the arguments being put forward by those advocating the merger, is one that the flat on the Dome Extension affects an excellent location for the big mill to be re-erected. It is also said that large ore bodies have been located on the Dome Extension by Dome development, but these are not quite sufficient, it is thought, to warrant the handing over of one ten-dollar share of Dome Extension. The Dome Extension shareholders are not likely to raise any objection to the deal, but the same can scarcely be said of the Dome shareholders, who have waited a long time for returns on their investment.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK IN UNITED STATES GOOD

bor Cloud Less Threatening and a Better Feeling Prevails Every-where.

J. S. Bache & Co., New York, in their market letter this week say: The records of the times indicate that a trend is developing towards improvement in the business and financial situation. The statement of exports and imports for January just passed, shows a surprising increase in our outgoing shipments. If with shipping hampered we can do so much foreign business as the January report shows, the future of such business, when ocean freight-room is business, when ocean freight-room is in ample supply, looms large.

Export inquiries in the steel trade are, the Iron Age reports, in good volume and actual business seems to be deterred only by high ocean freight Many lines of business, especially those affected by the large trade of those affected by the large trade of the retail dry goods stores, are already operating at full head. While there is no rush for raw materials, some buying is breaking thru what was for a time much stagnation. This latter still exists in aggravated form in copper, but the large over-supply in this metal accounts for it. Generally, stocks of goods are low thruout the country, and replenishment is proceeding satisfactorily. The labor cloud, too, is now less threatening, and a better feeling prevails nearly everywhere.

The stock market is a recorder of trends, and the more favorable prospects are having effect on prices. These started from a low level, and this movement looks like going further.

SOVEREIGN OFFERING HIGHLY SUCCESSFUL

The offering of treasury stock of the Sovereign Porcupine Gold Mines Co. by F. C. Sutherland & Co has been highly successful and a distinct evidence that the Ontario gold camps will be readily assisted by capital when proper opportunities are presented. One of the Sovereign claims, being next to the Hollinger Mines, gives great speculative chances to Sovereign shareholders. It is understood that Sutherland & Co. have still a limited portion of the stock for sale at 25c, but with this exhausted no further offering will be made, except at a price consequent on the showing made on the properties during the diamond drilling, which will be proceeded with without delay.

PLAN BIG OPERATIONS AT PORCUPINE CROWN

Porcupine, Feb. 22.—In addition to the development of the present known ore bodies of the Porcupine Crown Mine, it is planned to conduct extensive diamond drill operations. It is quite probable that the future of the mine will not be confined to the mining of the present known $500,000 ore reserv. Indeed, with development and explication work once more under way at full blast, it is generally considered that some surprises may be in store for Porcupine Crown shareholders. The mine is equipped with a mining plant with which operations will probably be carried from the present deepest workings of 1100 feet to perhaps 1400 feet, or well over one-quarter of a mile. The mill on the property is one of the most efficient in the country and within a comparatively short time should be producing large profits.

SCHUMACHER PREPARING TO RESUME OPERATIONS

Timmins, Feb. 22.—According to re-orts the management of the Schumines, Limited. To continue development on the 40 acre claim next the Hollinger, the World's greatest gold mine, we are selling shares in the Sovereign at what we consider a bargain price of 25 cents. When the stock is listed and the company's properties proved, we confidently expect the shares to sell at materially higher prices. To our clients and others we say with emphasis that we regard this as the very best offer that has yet come out of Porcupine for future prospective profits.

Hamilton B. U.S. Churches To Campaign For Missions

Protestants Intend to Raise Three Hundred Million Dollars for Enlightening the World.

WITH 25,000 communicants of some 30 different denominations. 200,000 individual churches and at least 200,000 Sunday school pupils, the leaders of the various Protestant churches in the United States plan to raise at least $300,000,000 within a period of five years for the enlightenment of the world.

Their campaign is said to be well organized. The country has been divided into districts, the districts into smaller localities and the localities into unions of groups of churches. That is, where a small town can boast of three or four little churches, none of which can do more than barely support itself, these have been gathered under one, head and will carry on the work of meeting their allotments as one body. Then, too, just as the Liberty Loan had its four-minute men the religious organization today can boast of some 100,000 speakers who have taken it upon themselves to bring home the need of this work to their

The movement started about four years ago when Dr. S. Earl Taylor, executive secretary of the joint centenary committee of the Methodist Episco-pal Church began a survey of world conditions, religious, sanitary, educa-tional, etc. At the very beginning the Methodist Church was going to tackle the problem alone, but when the plans were presented to the other churches in the Protestant group they decided that the project was worthy of united support and that it could be most effectively carried out if all the Protestant churches put their shoulders to the wheel. Not the least important field of the work will be home missions. There are three important phases of this: First, the treatment of the depressed, belated. or so-called inferior classes; second, the teaching of religion to the laboring classes, and third, the activities with the Indians, negroes, Mexicans, Alaskans and similar groups. On the subject of those Dr. Taylor's survey bears the following message:

"The biggest piece of missionary work possible would be for the people in every Christian church to start tomorrow and be friendly, cordial and helpful to the immigrants living at their doors. This would mean decent houses and more schools for them, and it would mean a raprat education which so far they have not yet received. They are brought in touch with the worst side of American life, and that to their friends and in conversation The failure when they return home. The failure to apply Christianity is almost fatal. The cost to the allies of the defection of Russia is incalculable. That defection due to many causes, but none more than to the stories of exploitation told by returned Russian

"Face to face with the possibility of such fundamental changes in the social order, the church must realize that it for about the such must realize that it, too, should begin a process of adaptation, if it is to be the master of future reconstruction "In the modern city industrial community there are not many homes left in the old-fashioned sense of the word. Not only the mothers, but the boys and girls, spend their days in mills and factories and this will be increasingly true unless child labor laws are children and their mothers may sleep, men and women lodgers mixed pro-

TF HEAVEN had meant we should be enemies, Though from your loins, England, we had sprung, it had not made us so by severing seas,
But cursed our converse with a different tongue.

We brought your language with us, if we speak Your language with a drawl or nasal twang, We mould it boldly as we live and seek, Some words of Shakspeare in his time were slang.

If you have spread your glory in the world Your navy was of use, perhaps your sword, But long ago your banner had been furled Save for the conquest of your written word.

In this we share. The man we celebrate At Birmingham spoke in an utterance clear Of hopes for which we stand the advocate, The freedom that our common hearts revere.

You taught us words to write a lasting charter. What people now impugn its sacred worth?

A world republic of free thought and barter

Was sketched in English on July the fourth.

It was the very year your Adam Smith Wrote down a merchant culture for mankind. The new day asks us to put by the myth

In English talk the business of the hour,
Take counsel in its literature and law. This is the back-bone of a League of Peace Nations we keep, as houses if you will, To which for private talk we have release From market places where we match our skill

There may be Leagues of Nations-they must rest On words of understanding, not decrees. We cannot bring together East and West Except as equals, as democracies

Your noble spirits have not failed as yet To honor Washington and Lincoln too,
We still remember you did not forget
To give Walt Whitman at the first his due.

And thus I speak, because your sons of light Join with us in this tribute to a man Who kept the flame of duty pure and bright Lowell who sensed the faith American.

He helped to bring us closer, make us friends. But if we would be closer, wholly free We must resolve the problem which transcends All other problems, that of poverty.

We should not have it with us. As for you Something remains with you of gavelkind, Uproot it, and we promise if you do To try to rid us of the village mind.

When Lowell lived we had the literal whip, Chains tangible, the rule of ignorant blood. Our task is greater. O for fellowship To extirpate the things for which they stood.

Insatiate rule and laws tyrannical Are chains no less! Come soldiers from the war And help us in our task political, Destroy the banal gardens we abhor.

Your fathers from our civil war returned As from a kiln, vessels for us to see The emblem of the Union on them burned Come to us with the word of Liberty.

The war has sent us running here and there. Some foolish feet may stumble in the quest Over forgotten books of heart's despair With wisdom sealed, too many years at rest. Kicked by a casual foot, perhaps inspired.

A thing of powder for an ancient code. It will be well if what we have desired Is lighted us by thoughts which don't explode. These treasured spirits treasured up for us

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain. How To Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe, to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestents are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after ful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia to stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

French Adopt Novel Plan For Restoring Soil in Regions Wrecked by

An interesting new method for the rehabilitation of the French or chards devastated by the enemy was recently laid before the French Academy by its author. M. Andre Piedaliu. The process consists essentially in using dynamite for the double purpose of breaking up the earth and securins an intimate mixture of the required fertilizers with it. The author had noticed the specially vigorous development of wild plants around the edges of old shell holes and old trenches which had suffered from heavy firths. He attributed this vigor of growth parfly to the fissuration of the soil and partly to its impregnation with nitrogenous subjects. This view was supported by some experiments made several years ago in the western part of the United States, in which two-year-old cherry trees planted in holes excavated by dynamite reached by a spade remained spinding and growth, no scope for progress. All sound as sufficient of three metres (about 10 feet), while similar specimens planted by a spade remained spinding and growth, no scope for progress. Waltham Opens Canadian Factory

NOTHER instance of Canada's I industrial progress is furnished by the decision of the Waltham Watch Company of Waltham, Mass., to open a factory in Canada.

This factory extension will be located in Montreal where, for many years, the company's Canadian sales and administration offices have been situated.

Hereafter, Waltham Watches sold in Canada will be assembled, adjusted and timed in Montreal, thus providing an additional convenience for both the trade and the public, and at the same time giving assurance that the greatly increased demand for Waltham Watches will be adequately provided for.

The reason behind the outstanding success of Waltham is found in

MOVING PICTURES FROM PLAYS AND VICE VERSA

That a successful motion picture production is a valuable basis for a stage play is the evident belief of the prominent New York theatrical producing firm, the Messrs. Lee and J. J. Shubert, who announced last week that they will shortly produce on the spoken stage Constance Talmadge's first Select Picture, "Scandal," by Cosmo Hamil-

According to the announcement, the Messrs. Shubert, in association with Walter Hast, have already placed Mr. Hamilton's "Scandal" in rehearsal, with Charles Cherry in the role created by Harry C. The rest of the Shubert cast has not been announced, but the cast in support of Miss Talmadge when "Scandal" was originally produced contained the live has made such an alaxming increase in iron deficiency in the blood of American men and women that I have often marveled at the large number of people who lack iron in the blood, and who never suspect the cause of their weak, nervous, run-down state. Lack of iron in the blood not only makes a man a physical and mental weak-king, nervous, irritable, easily fatigued, but it utterly robs him of that virile force, that stamina and strength of will which are so necessary to success and power in every walk of life. It may also transform a beautiful, sweet-tempered woman into one who is cross, nervous and irritable. I have strongly emphasized the great necessity of physician's making blood examinations of their weak, anaemic, run-down patients. Thousands of persons go on year after year suffering from physical weakness and a highly nervous condition due to lack of sufficient iron in their red blood corpusales without ever realizing the real and true-cause of their trouble. ANADIANS who have occasion to visit or transact business in the commercial life are serious. The key to the situation lies in the fact that Canada during the past few years has been annually importing about $400,-000 worth of goods more than it has exported to the United States. In the years before the war the balance was not as great; and it was, moreover, offset in part by the expenditures of American travelers in the Dominion which amounted to about $50,000-000 per annum. Then, again, Canada borrowed between $200,000,000 and $250,000-000 yearly in the republic.

A testimonial to the merit and drawing power of this really remarkable play is that it "repeats" to extraordinarily large patronage. Some plays wear well and "Daddy Long Legs" is a conspicuous example. The part of Judy is played by Alice Haynes, a Boston girl.

Air Ministry Prepares Scheme for Developing of Commercial Aeronautics.

BY CLAIR PRICE

ONDON .- At some early day the British air ministry is expected to put forward a complete scheme for the development of commercial areonautic and the organization of aerial routes. In this way the ministry expects to solve the great problem of finding employement for the surplus personnel and material of the Royal Air Force during the period when it is being transferred from a war to a peace basis.

The early development of commercial aeronautics to an extent which would do justice to Britain's imperial air needs is already determined upon by air men in this country.

"It is of the first importance," said one, "that the British Empire should not be allowed to lag behind other nations in this respect, more especially as delay might seriously affect the empire with regard to the international aspects of aerial transport."

A campaign of propaganda has already ben determined upon to convince the whole nation of the vast importance and posibilities of aerial transport and to familiarize the government of the vast importance and posibilities of aerial transport and to familiarize the government. British air ministry is expected ernments and local authorities with the subject.

A special committee has already been appointed which hints at an early conference in Paris to settle the legal aspects of commercial flying.

Another special committee already appointed, urges that for commercial success speed is probably the most important material factor, and that for commercial success the speed needed depends very greatly on the conditions of competing methods. Between large centres connected by direct high speed railways speeds of 100 miles an hour are desirable, but for linking places which the railway service is slow or interupted by sea crossings lower speeds will be found commercially practicable.

At present three main types of aircraft are to be placed almost at once upon the aerial highways of Britain. First is the large passenger machine, by engines developing nearly 2000-horsepower, traveling, say, between London and Parts at 100 miles per long to the subject of the property of the provided by a modern touring motor car. All these three types are now being made ready for commercial work.

Three types of air stations are being contemplated. First, there will be the main or terminal airdromes, like those in the neighborhood of London. Thas there will come substidiary airdromes on the outskirts, say, of large provincial cities, while, acting as links between these main and subsidiary airdromes, will be a series of emergency alighting grounds, on which a pilot whose engine fails will always be able to make a safe landing. Aerial tourists will use these emergency grounds for housing their machines or obtaining emergency supplies of fuel, just as the motorist uses the garage along the machines are ready for commercial work.

It was logical that Goodyear should produce the Cord Tire that bears our name.

It is a better tire.

It is a tire that costs more to buy—less to use.

And the Goodyear Cord Tire has proved this—over and over Proved it so fully that it has become the dominant factor in the Cord Tire field.

We said it was logical that Goodyear should develop such a tire because the Goodyear Cord Tire is an epitome of our business history.

Every Goodyear Tire development—and there have been many has aimed at reducing motoring cost.

Motoring cost—NOT tire prices.

There is a difference.

Already the majority of the world's motorists realize this difference. They are buying tires for the service that is in them, not for the price down to which they are kept.

And as a result Goodyear Tires are the largest selling tires in the world.

An important link in the world-wide Goodyear organization is the Goodyear Service Station Dealer near you. Ask him about Goodyear Tires. Ask him, too, about Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes. Governor Davis, at a Virginia good roads convention the other day, received an ovation when he put forward the proposition of raising $25,000,000 for the building of 1,200 miles of state highways. He frankly admitted that he wanted to be known as the "Good Roads Governor of Virginia."

FIFTEEN MILLIONS FOR ONTARIO ROADS IN 1919

Senator Gideon Robertson's anouncement that the Dominion government will appropriate twenty-five million dollars for federal aid to the provinces in oad construction during 1919, coupled with the announcement of Hon. Dr. J. D. Reid to the effect that the federal government will pay forty per cent of the cost of main roads thruout the Dominion, this federal aid to be divided among the provinces on the basis of population, means that approximately fifteen million dollars will be spent on highway construction in Ontario during

It is not to be thought of that the provincial government will not provide the sixty per cent. necessary to gain the maximum federal aid available approximately six million dollars. This means that appropriation over five million dollars promised for road construction in Ontario by Premier, Sir Wm. Hearst last week must be increased to nine million dollars. We are convinced that the provincial government will have the wisdom to do this because under the five million appropriation pledged by Premier Hearst the federal and would only amount to a third of a million over half the amount available for this province.

Some conception of the start fifteen million dollars would give road work in this province this year may be gleaned from the fact that it would construct the trans-provincial highway of the same quality and style thruout from Windof construction thruout the trans-provincial highway. Consequently a cenunder the county system, it is provable that a permanent highway from Toronto to Sarnia will be built, touching Georgetown, Brampton, Gait, Guelph. Waterloo, Kitchener, Stratford, St. Mary's, Sarnia and other centres.

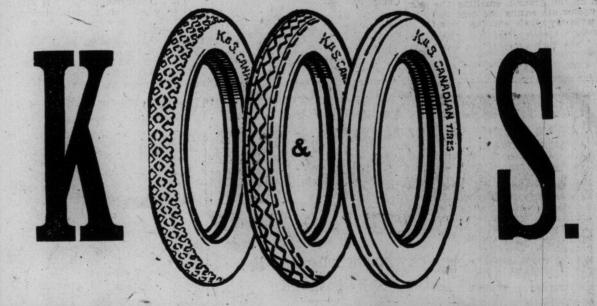

The road to Muskoka, too, should be improved as prior to the war tourist traffic ranked third among the Dominion's sources of revenue

They had been tuning up some new scout planes with Liberty motors. One of these was assigned to the stranger. He climbed in, sighed his approval and soared up into the ether. of months before the war ended. But it lasted long enough to give him a well-rounded experience in flying, both of the stunts which might be compared to the thrills of the speedway, and long-distance flying, which is comparable to the long grind of automobile road racing. And the veteran auto star lost no time in getting back to his own game, firm in the conviction that it beats aviation for thrills. "Flying seemed monotonous compared with motor racing," he says.
"On a trip of several hundred miles you may be making speeds which would be terrific in an auto—140 miles an hour. But at the height of a mile or more you have no realization of speed, and sitting up there in the wind will go after speedway and dirt track racing this summer—its displacement makes it eligible for all official contests under the A. A. A. rules.

These two cars had broken every official automobile record in the world except one, when war ended. The German Blitzen-Benz achievement of nearly 142 miles per hour, made by the late Bob Burman, was the only record left in 1911. Depalma had his eye upon that during the war, and went straight for it as soon as he was free. And he got it! Expert Explains Functions and Maintenance of Starting And he got it!

And he also officially "got" the unofficial "Flat" Ostend record.

When you travel two and one-half miles a minute, he says, you need a good car, good nerves and a clean mind. There must be no worries, nor anything to interfere with the absoand Lighting Units.

Electric starting and lighting systems on automobiles have engaged some of the best brains of the contisome of the best brains of the continent, and have been developed to a remarkable state of perfection.

"But owing to the fact that every such system is necessarily a complete miniature electric light and power generating and distributing system, it is only to be expected that troubles will develop, especially considering the hard usage to which it is subject, more so at this time of the year," declares R. P. Caulford of the Auto Electric Service Co., 8 to 10 Elm street.

"The generator, upon which the stormind. There must be no worries, nor anything to interfere with the absolute concentration needed in driving. Nerves and concentration must be such that you meet an emergency as a matter of reflex action, almost without thinking—at two-and one-half miles a minute emergencies are dealt with in fractions of a second, for one is traveling 220 feet a second!

DePalma trains for his work by temperate living and a little bicycle riding daily to keep on edge. Physical training can easily be overdone, however, as exhaustion might follow too severe exercise. Mental training is far more important, in his opinion. Weeks of preparation precede an event like that at Daytona Beach. His mind is centred on the car day and night. He lives with its mechanism every waking hour, and at night mentally goes over it part by part, testing for a second. "The generator, upon which the storage battery, and indirectly the other electrical units on the car, depend for their energy, is therefore the prim-ary unit of the system, and therefore is considered here first. The car is considered here first. The car owner can only occasionally clean out the carbon and copper dust and oil which accumulates inside. Anything further should receive the attention of a skilled automotive electrician. For goes over it part by part, testing for strength and efficiency, seeking de-tails that call for alteration, making

It is this preparation which gives him the clean mind needed for the event itself, because not until thousands of mechanical details have been settled to his own satisfaction is it possible to dismiss them, and with them all worry, when he climbs in behind the wheel for the real test.

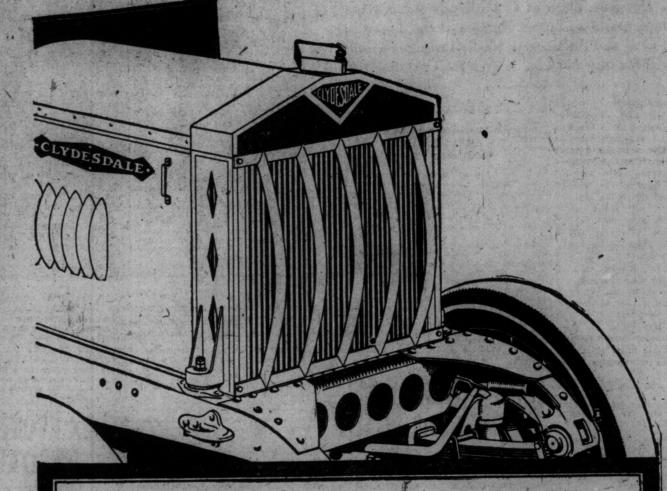

economy's and efficiency's sake, it is imperative that the generator receive a yearly overhaul, otherwise, at best, the charge rate will gradually decrease and battery will be starved.

"The storage battery which receives and conserves the electrical energy from the generator is that part of the electrical equipment which, as a rule, is stored "comfortably" away under the floor boards of the car, and with which a number of owners have only a "bowing" acquaintance, altho it is a "bowing" acquaintance, altho it is to their advantage to foster a real friendship with their battery. Of course this construction costs more—a lot more, but it pays Clydesdale owners. There are no seams for the vibration to open. You have to smash a Clydesdale radiator to make it leak. And this is almost impossible, due to the heavy nickel guard bars. A leaky tube can be easily plugged and the truck kept moving.

This is only one example of many distinctive features you will find about the Clydesdale, that have made it one of the most dependable trucks ever sold in this city.

When salt solutions are used for antifreeze purposes, great care must be taken to see that all leaks are stopped. After the water evaporates the salt re-mains to cause trouble in the ignition system.

There is practically a complete stoppage of the use of motor cars in Argentina, due to the shortage of gasoline. Not only is gasoline selling at an exhorbitant price, but the actual lack of it is so great that conservative estimates say that 75 per cent, of the motor crs are laid up in storage due to the shortage. This situation is acting very much to the detriment of the sale of motor trucks, tires, accessories, cars and motorcycles.

Dr. Doolittle and his confreres started the good roads sentiment in Ontario, along with certain other far-seeing men, who tackled the problem from the angle of helping the farmet get to the town, the railway station or the cheese factory with less trouble and in less time. Rubber is very quickly disintegrated by oil, and at the same time at has a most unfortunate capillary affinity for the oil. For this reason it is very important to keep oil away from the rubber insulators that are used in connection with the conductors and wires of all the circuits of the magneto. Altho oil is not a conductor of electricity, it ruins the insulation and the result is the breakdown of the insulation and short circuits.

Mild winter weather, which a large section of the country has been enjoying this year, is also serving a good purpose in the motor car business. Barly sales are being made and the spring rush of business will get a start much sooner this season.

The records Hudsons made in the tests that prove endurance are just as important today as they were when made two and three years ago.

That was the only way then in which it could be proved a life car. The abuse which only the speedway and the hardest touring and hill-climbing would reveal in a few hours had to be used to demonstrate Hudson limits of endurance. Ordinary driving was too slow.

Now 60,000 users through every kind of service and neglect are individually confirming what was shown in those tests. They have established the leadership of Hudson Super-Six in every way that proves performance and

Rival's Imitations Make It the Pattern Car

Every car produced since Hudson Super-Six design showed the importance of minimizing motor vibration, as it does with its exclusive motor, has reflected Hudson leadership. First it was mechanical leadership. Now it is in body designing as well, that others look to Hudson.

This year's auto shows reveal that influence. Comparison of most cars with earlier Hudson models show it. Present Hudson models in such types as the Sedan, the Touring Limousine, Coupe and others are regarded as forecasts of what others will offer next fall.

When you get a Hudson you may expect to see a similar type on models which others bring out six months to a year hence. But there is a shortage of Hudsons this spring as there has been every spring for the past three years. You should speak early to assure delivery.

Three Hundred Millions for U.S. Roads This Year

Estimates of contemplated highway expenditures in the United States for the season of 1919 place the total at approximately $300,000,000. Because of governmental restrictions the amount was considerably lower than this in 1918, while in 1917 it was placed at $280,000,000.

Trouble is frequently experienced in cutting the vent for a muffler cut-out. A V shaped vent prevents free movement of the butterfly valve used on so many cut-outs. Here is a way of cutting a satisfactory vent: Cut the exhaust pipe with a hacksaw thru half of the pipe diameter. Then saw a parallel slit and finally another diagonally across. In this way two points can be bent back and sawed off. A little asbestos packing makes a tight cut-out joint.

CAR SERVICE IS LARGELY UP TO YOU

Abuse, Neglect and Hard Driving Make Maintenance and Mileage Costly.

Each motorist wants to receive the maximum service from his automobile, and the daily service his car will render him depends altogether, aside from the mechanical dependability of the automobile, on the care and attention he gives to the combination of metals he calls his automobile.

If the owner will start out with the metals he calls his automobile.

If the owner will start out with the fixed idea that his automobile is a piece of machinery, subject to the same degree of deterioration—the same susceptibility to wear, and requiring the same watchfulness that you would expect to give a fine watch, dynamo or steam engine—it is safe. dynamo or steam engine—it is safe to assume that he will bestow on it to assume that he will bestow on it the care and attention it requires.

At the outset, it is a good idea to remove all sentimental thoughts of your automobile. You may be especially proud of it, or it may mean quite an investment to you, but, regardless of that, it's a piece of machinery, deaf and dumb. It cannot help itself. It must depend on you for care.

Some Good Examples.

As an illustration, suppose you were obliged to depend on the family horse and wagon. Would you forget to feed the horse, keep it clean and properly shod; would you neglect to lubricate the wheels, tighten loose bolts and replace worn parts; and, would you drive at break-neck speed over rough roads, over cobblestone streets, and turn corners on two wheels? No, you will admit—the horse would soon die and the wagon fall to pieces in a and the wagon fall to pieces in a and the wagon fall to pieces in a short time.

And yet, there are automobile owners who expect that very same thing from their automobiles. They forget to lubricate the parts requiring lubrication. They forget to keep the working parts clean—to tighten loose bolts and to replace worn parts when needed. They forget the ordinary precautions which the wise man takes—in short, their only concern is to drive as far as they can, as fast as their car will go with the least personal inconvenience to themselves.

But, at the same time, they demand service. If the car refuses to run; if something breaks or fails to hold, the car manufacturer is at fault, and the service department is called upon for service department is called upon for impossible adjustments.

The amount of satisfaction and the car manufacturer?" The obliga-tion to yourself is to get from the money invested in your car the great-est satisfaction and continued use est satisfaction and continued use possible. Your car is deserving of the same consideration and thoughtful-ness that you would give to a horse that was as fine and costly as your expect that you will be considerate and careful of the fine product he has delivered to you; that you will keep it clean and in a healthy condition, and that you will regularly tubricate and inspect all working parts.

The motorist who does this, can be assured of a maximum service with a minimum of upkeep cost. It is well to remember that it is not the question of how many miles are covered in a or how many miles are covered in a given time that counts, but the number of miles of useful travel that can be obtained at the least cost for fuel oil, tires and repairs.

The manufacturers supply with each car complete instructions as to the proper care of their cars. These are written after years of experience both in the manufacture and operation of motor cars, and we urge you, as a duty to your car, to study these carefully, to become familiar with as many of the working parts as possible, and to regularly practice the rules set forth, and you will save yourself many exasperating breakdowns and side repairs.

And so, in the last analysis, the service an automobile will render you will depend on the attention it receives. Neglect it and it will show the neglect by causing trouble. Treat it with care and it will treat you well. It is noticeable that the average motorist is appreciating this sense fact more each day.

CLEANLINESS AND EFFICIENCY.

The car owner should be careful to keep the exterior of the engine clean, as well as the interior. Dirt, grease, and general flith act as insulators, preventing the metal from throwing off heat into the air. Incidentally, this rule regarding cleanliness applies to other parts, such as rear axle, brake mechanism, etc. When mud is allowed to remain on brake rod clevises and other similar parts, it soaks up the oil designed to lubricate the joints, which become dry and wear excessively All such parts as this must be cleaned regularly and have fresh on applied to them.

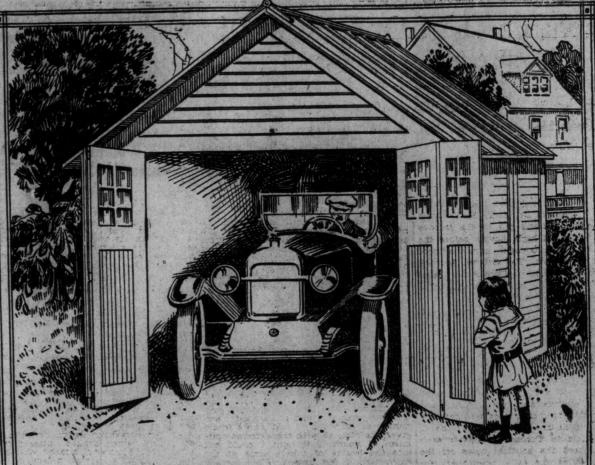

LEAKING GUIDES.

LEAKING GUIDES.

When the valve stem guides leak, enough air may be sucked into the engine to cause misfiring, which is especially bad at low speeds. Where guide bushings are used, the best remedy is to press out the old bushing and press in new ones, Sometimes this procedure is too expensive, and then, too the guides may be integral with the cylinder casting. In these latter cases it is possible to make sheet metal thimbles to fit snugly over the end of the valve stem guides. These thimbles are drilled so that the guide stem will go thru the centre. The thimble is filled with felt and is slipped in place over the valve stem, being held in position by a long slim coil spring, resting in the annular space between the valve spring and the stem. This spring pushing upward holds the felt in the thimble tight against the opening between the valve stem and its guide, preventing the passage of any air.

SCREENS AT INTAKE KEEP MOTOR CLEAN.

While carbon deposits in the combuttion chambers contain residuum from burned gasoline and oil, there also is a considerable percentage of road dust, which is almost ideally adapted to act with the other ingredients in producing the carbon. It is possible to reduce the amount of this dust entering the cylinders by placing a screen in the air intake and cleaning it frequently. Of course, this does not entirely exclude the foreign matter in the air, but it helps, eign matter in the air, but it helps, which is worth while.

A Garage of Your Own---And One You Can Be Proud Of

YOUR garage bills from a public garage will in a short time pay for a garage such as this—in which you can keep your car where it belongs, right beside your home.

The point that has heretofore deterred most motorists from providing their properties with garages, has been the difficulty of obtaining a garage sightly in appearance, yet low in price.

SOME USEFUL POINTERS ON WINTER DRIVING

If the Mercury Dropped Thirty Points Tonight, Would Your Battery or "Rad." Freeze?-How to Start, and How Not to Start-Battery Suggestions - Ignition Faults and Remedies-Spark Plug Adjustment -Lighting Facts.

An extremely cold motor—give it a uarter turn with the hand crank. Don't try to start engine by hand, but just help the electric cranker that much by relieving it of the initial load due to pistons, bearings and other parts held fast in the grip of congealed oil and grease; so give the motor a quarter or close the switch or use the pedal.

Hold out the clutch with the left foot while you close the starter switch. You can do this whenever the cranker engages directly with the engine. If your cranker operates under these conditions you will avoid turning over the clutch and the transmission shaft and gears as and the transmission shaft and gears as well. In cold weather particularly, the oil or grease in the transmission is stiff, and it requires considerable effort for the gears to revolve in it. Relieve the cranker of this extra werk by holding out the clutch. It's not a bad habit for all year 'round.

Don't grind forever—You wouldn't do it if you were cranking by hand. If the starter spins the engine, some other cause is preventing the latter from getting away under its own power. If you keep the starting switch closed indefinitely, hoping that at some revolution the engine will take hold, you may be overlooking a shut-off inginition switch or the absence of spark or gasoline.

Close the throttle and open it wide, alternately. Open it a moment and then close it to allow the pumping in of air. Too much raw gass is as bad as too little—and just as hard to ignite.

A stationary "cranker" is one which won't turn over when the starter switch is closed. If the engine moves just a little—but quickly stalls—when you first close the switch, release the starter immediately. Try once or twice more to make sure of no results.

but fails to start, unfasten at the terminal on the coil the large single (high tension) wire which leads from the coil to the centre of the "distributor" and hold it about an inch from the terminal. Have someone close the starter switch and with engine turning over a spark will jump the gap if everything is in working order. Be sure ignition switch is closed when making this test.

A burned resistance will prevent a spark at the main coil as above described. The resistance is a small coil of fine wire wound around a porcelain under the small metal cap. This cap may be either on the main coil or on the side of the distributor. If burned in two, any piece of wire may be substituted in place of it, as a temporary repair to get the motor started. It is

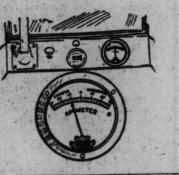

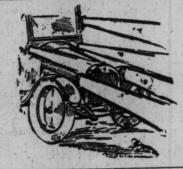

Motor truck shows were held in connection with the national shows in 1913 at Chicago and New York, and were discontinued after that. Motor trucks had not reached their high standard of today at that time, and the business was not looked upon with favor, while business men looked upon commercial vehicles of every sort as an experiment. Now times have changed, and the great war accomplished much, for motor lorries were absolutely essential to a victory in Europe. There was a triumph for the New York exhibitors at the truck show last week in the surprisingly good attendance at the event, and in the substantial business character of that attendance. Chicago's experience was similar.

A broken spring may lead to serious bent.

There is a drain hole in the removable rim around your headlight glass. Water works its way inside. When replacing the glass on the lamp, always see that this drain hole is at the bottom; otherwise, it won't drain, but it will rust,

Care of "Rad,"

A warm radiator saves gas. During the summer months the problem is to cool the motor. The radiator and the fan combined accomplish this. Winter weather, however, makes it necessary to find some way of retaining a proper portion of the motor's natural warmth, Covering the front of a radiator is one way to accomplish the above. A good plan is to use cardboard, leather, rubber, or the like, and cover only the lower half of the radiator front, Attach such cover with strings around the side of the radiator shell and let it rest on the ledge at the bottom, Never abuse the "paper-thickness" metal of the radiator itself by attaching the cover with wires drawn thru the passages. The sawing effect due to natural vibration will quickly cause a leak. The entire front of the radiator should only be covered when the car stands still or for the first few minutes of driving, to warm up. A certain flow of air between the cell walls is absolutely necessary. dangerous to operate engine any length of time with this temporary arrangement. Permanent damage may be done if a proper resistance unit is not installed promptly.

Watch Ammeter.

Watch Ammeter.

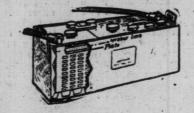

Watch the ammeter—in cold weather you make shorter runs use the cranker more frequently, and burn lights more lights. Low generating—or none at all—will soon exhaust the battery. If the instrument on the dash which reads "charge" and "discharge" doesn't show from 8 to 10 points on the "charge" side—depending on the car—at. say, 20 miles per hour, you may be inviting trouble.

Examine pluge—Failure to run evenly on "all six" is as often plug trouble as anything else. Plug points not only get near together but too far separated. Plug porcelains, tho not actually broken, may be just naturally worn out and leaky. When your engine misses, look first to the plugs.

Contact points—Uneven ignition may be due to dirty or burned contact points. The contact points may not be properly adjusted. It will pay to spend a few minutes at the service station occasionally having the distributor examined.

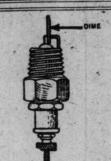

Condenser trouble will be indicated by a rapid burning and jutting of the contact points offer they are cleaned. If this occurs the equipment should be submitted for inspection and test.

Maryland did, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts are trying to, place restrictions upon the operation of trucks—why?

They themselves did not foresee an era which, surely coming, makes the truck not a problem, but a blessing. The large problem which confronts us is not to restrict, but to encourage. It is strange that in these times, when the great problem of transportation confronts us, the question of trucks and trucking cannot be wholly seen from an economical standpoint.

The railroad has gone almost as far attempts on the part of manufacturers to meet this demand.

Complications have been added and the number of parts increased, but they still fall short; for, with the twelve cylinder car as with the four, when a stop is made, there is still a clutch to be disconnected; and, to start again, a shift into a lower gear and a re-engagement of the clutch sometimes it is necessary to use the time when we must think of the shorter lines, which can be covered by trucks only. It is of vital importance—this question of highway transport and rural motor express.

The farmer and the consumer of his products are drawing closer, and the products are drawing closer, and the consumer of his products are drawing closer, and the drawing closer, and drawing closers. and a re-engagement of the clutch is still necessary, and there still re-mains at least one repetition of these operations to get back into direct Description.

The Radcliffe Turbine Drive consists of two moving parts: a driving member and a driven member.

These two members stand apart, their only contact being at the bearings, which are exceedingly liberal and run submerged in oil.

The driving member is made in the form of an oil tight, pressed steel bousing carring the impeller of a pressuring charging charging the impeller of the impeller is directly imparted to the runner, and the residual velocity energy generated in the impeller is directly imparted to the runner, and the residual velocity energy unabsorbed by the runner, is prevented to the impeller.

A double-acting thrust bearing is provided to take any thrust produced by the driving member on the driven member, but mainly serving to take the pull exerted in disconnecting the drive (in this particular form) from the driven of a level road.

By increasing the speed of the motor an increased torque is obtained, until, with wide open throttle, the full torque of the motor will be transmitted to the rear wheels at a standstill or whatever speed they may be turning

The driving member is made in the form of an oil tight, pressed steel housing, carrying the impeller of a centrifugal pump, and rotates as a unit with the motor.

The driven member consists of a turbine runner, made of pressed steel and riveted to a cast steel hub. This member is located in the driving member, extending out thru the stuffing box. This driven member is carried on a bronze bearing and rotates absolutely independent of the driving member.

purposes, and the resulting curtailment of productions, caused us to change our business plans several times. But with each curtailment we revised our production program, in order to spread out the supply of cars allotted to us over the entire period of 1918 production. Every effort was expended to keep our dealers in business thruout the year, for, with each uay, we hoped that some settlement would be arrived at abroad—some decisive action that would put a definite end to hostilities. We felt that it was inevitable, for, with America heart and soul in the war, adding its superb weight to the preponderance of the allies, we could not understand how Germany could withstand the onslaught long.

cause or another, could not instil the same flexibility into their production programs.

As a result of our careful planning, when the armistice came, and with it the general lifting of all restrictions, we were particularly fortunate in the position we had acquired. Our selling organization was intact. Our production had not been interrupted. We had made it a point to take instant advantage of every improvement in automotive construction evolved during the war. And we were able to increase our production 100 per cent, instantly when peace carps.

In a similar interview a year ago, I outlined the policy of, our company for the ensuing year, as follows: "Aware of the fact that there are thousands of individuals who have heretofore been in the habit of buying motor cars of the $6000-and-upward class, who may feel it incumbent on them to spend less for a car, under present conditions, providing a car can be found which approximates their requirements, our company is endeavoring to furnish a product purchase price."

In times when values were more closely scrutinized than ever before in the history of the industry, the Cole Aero-Eight acquired more prestige than any other car we ever produced. The public was quick to appreciate the effort that we put forth. We were richly rewarded during the year passed.

And, given freer rein in every department of our business in 1919, we will be able to add to our efforts immeasurably. And, with an increased production, we will be able to supply more cars.

There is destined to be no period of delay in our production. We can make immediate deliveries to the full capacity of our plant, as we have decided on our supply more cars. of our plant, as we have decided on our production for the coming six months.

The Essex Speaks for Itself

New in Name and Type---Proved in Popularity

Its Position Is Assured

Marks Progressive Step in Construction and Engineering Development

The Essex was introduced without an elaborate advertising campaign. Its makers were confident it would win popularity by its performance and appearance. They wanted the car to speak for itself. They wanted the public to be its advertisers.

So eloquently has the car spoken that the number of Essex owners promises to be limited only by the production capacity of the factory. The year's only new car has won such enthusiastic admirers that we resist the temptation to describe or make claims for it. Whatever we said would of necessity be overshadowed by the praise of those who have seen the car tested.

We want you to have an actual demonstration. We know that you will recognize in the Essex a distinctly new type of car.

We are sure you will appreciate the beauty, comfort, riding qualities, endurance and refinement that usually mark the costly car, combined with the lightness and economy of the inexpensive one.

Reports from the factory indicate that production can not keep pace with demand. Those who fail to buy now may be disappointed later in the season. Probably half a million people have recognized the unusual worth of the Essex. They have made it the chief topic of automobile conversation. Salesrooms have been crowded. Waiting lists have had to be established for those who wish delivery at the earliest possible

Meets Every Demand

Let us prove to your satisfaction that the Essex, at a moderate price, has none of the shortcomings and limitations common with inexpensive cars. Learn why others love to ride in it and marvel at its grace and mechanical merit. See for yourself why its beauty is so much admired-why > it has won unprecedented popularity with both men and women. You will see that it meets every exacting demand of youth for smartness and flexibility; that it gratifies the desire of maturity for comfort, refinement and reliability.

You've often bought a piece of music in a music store and had the man at the piano play it for you. Then you've taken it home, played it, or heard it played by one of your family—and it hasn't sounded the same at all. The "swing" and "punch" that made it so attractive in the store has disappeared.

NOW THAT'S WHAT JACK STRATHDEE TEACHES YOU.

Just the difference between the way you heard it in the store—or at a dance—or on the stage—and the way it sounded at home—and he can teach you to play just that way whether you now know anything of music or not.

"Vanity Fair," a delightful musical revue, will be the offering at the Grand Opera House week comencing Monday, March 3. This is the production that is known as the "somewhat different" musical offering, because it departs from the old lines of the girl and music attraction. The company is composed of specialists, and the blending of the individual turns, with just sufficient plot to carry the piece along, has gained for "Vanity Fair," a prominent place in the season's new productions. Of course there is a chorus, and the catchy songs are capitally rendered by the able and sprightly bevy of chor-

It is not long ago that the story, "Virtuous Wives," by Owen Johnson, created a sensation when it appeared in novel form. Again, when it appeared as a serial in The Cosmopolitan, every person was talking about it and picturing to themselves the scenes that must have taken place according to the story.

Now there comes the picture version the illustrated story, so to speak, telling in actual life just what occurred, what resulted, and so on, and it comes with all the snap, fire and vim that was left to the imagination in the word story. There is every reason to word story. There is every reason to believe that every married couple in Toronto, every couple about to be married in Toronto, every single person who expects that at some time he or she will be married in Toronto or elsewhere, will most decidedly want to see this unique and startling picture

At least according to the code of Mrs. Delabarre they were such, for as she expressed it, "Women must have more than food, shelter and clothes---and if our husbands are too busy, then we play with our 'human alligators' --- every society woman has twenty or more. Yes, they look and think they are wicked, but they are never quite fast enough to catch us, so we remain 'Virtuous Wives'."

Man like, Amy Forrester's husband, loving her and ambitious to satisfy her every whim, decided his petty twenty-five thousand a year was insufficient and went west to recoup his fortunes. "I must work; you play for both of us," he said. "I won't be jealous." And thus he left her at the pagan feast.

H. Austin Adams, now a writer for the screen, was formerly a curate at Trinity Church, New York. Leaving the ministry, he first turned to the press, and then to the stage, where he attracted some attention with "God and Co." in 1916. His next noticed work was "Ception Shoals."

It is full of lively, joyous life. It is an enthralling love story, the charm of which you will long remember. Tom Moore is seen as Dick Latham, a tenderfoot, who after arriving in a rough western town, has un-

The coiffure is copied from the one that Josephine made famous, with its ringlets at the top and at the temples. The bridesmalds are appareled in pure Directoire costumes—in the red and blue toire costumes-in the red and blue of France. Their cutaway coats are of red satin, and the skirts are blue. By the way, whenever one speaks of the enormous prices of clothes in these recent days of war prices, there is a memory of some of the prices quoted in those days, when society was supposed to be struggling for its existence. Few peace brides, no matdings this spring, will pay more for their gowns than did Mrs. Wellesley-Pole, whose costume was made to outshine the bridal gown of daughter of the Duchess of Devon-shire, which was displayed for a fortnight at the ducal house.

This gown was of real Brussels point lace draped over white satin, and a lace veil fell down its length. The frock alone cost thirty-five hundred dollars, the headdress seven hundred and fifty, and the veil one thousand dollars. The necklace and earrings worn cost one hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars.

This, mind you, was in England during war. What would be said of a girl in this country if the papers published such expenditures for a bridal costume to take her to the altar

EXTRAORDINARY FEATURE

Gen. Pershing's Own Map of The Great Argonne Battle

This splendid Map, in colors, was sent to THE LITERARY DIGEST by General Pershing, and occupies two full pages in the February 22d number. It is accompanied by a thrilling article drawn from the American Commander-in-Chief's own report of the battle, which was sent with the map. In this tremendous eleven day's fight in the Argonne forest 600,000 American doughboys faced the crack divisions of the German Army and put them to rout, capturing 468 guns and 16,059 prisoners. Never before was an American Army engaged in such a great battle, and never before in any battle did any army face such almost insurmountable obstacles.

This unusual Map made by the army cartographers at headquarters in France during the progress of the great push will be invaluable for preservation. The position of every Division engaged on every day of the advance, and in some cases the morning and afternoon positions on the same day are clearly shown; the heavy German defense systems that were broken are clearly indicated, showing the irresistible impact of the American push. Every River, Railroad Wagon-road, City and Town in the Meuse-Argonne region is plainly given.

In a million American homes this number of "The Digest" containing the splendid Argonne Battle Map will be read with intense interest. Every returned soldier and every relative of a hero in this great drive will be particularly eager to have "The Digest" this week. As no extra copies will be printed, we advise you to go to the news-stand NOW and get yours before they are all sold.

Listening to one TO-DAY, to the other a week LATER, the untrained ear might not always note the great difference; but hear them together and the superiority of the Pathephone will be immediately apparent: it is like setting up dross against GOLD! The Pathephone, built with ideals of ART and TRUTH, renders the art and truth of MUSIC at its BEST!

"WILLIAM @ MARY" Price $209.00

The wonderful inventive genius that brought the Pathephone to its perfection and has maintained it ever in the lead, has manifested itself in several remarkable devices, such as the Sapphire Ball, which not only greatly improves the tone, but also does away with needle changing and ensures long life to the Record, and the tone modulator, permitting you to augment or decrease the volume of tone at your pleasure. Then, there is the ingenious device which makes it possible to play ANY make of Record!

You must hear the Pathephone to realize what a wonderful and artistic Music Maker it is. It is splendidly built in modern as well as in Period designs. They are exquisite examples of the Furniture maker's art, and still they cost LESS than ordinary Phonographs and are sold on terms of payment which make buying convenient.

This is the third movement of a general kind among the farmers. In 1890 the Patrons of Industry were sarted, and for a time swept the rural sections like wildfire reaching the summit of their power in the provincial election of 1894, when they elected 17 members, their power however, dissipating in a few years.

Early in the seventies the Grange organization came to Ontario. The farmers halled it with delight, believing that they were not getting a square deal. Hallon County was thoroly organized, the meetings of the subordinate granges developing a splendid brotherly feeling among the country toilers. Believing that a monopoly of the sait business doubled the price of this necessary commodity, they secured a well of their own and proudly boasted that in a few years in salt alone they by their organization had saved to the farmers over one million dollars in salt.

A: that time the stock and dairy business had not been developed to any great extent. The chief industry was grain growing, the greater part of which was barley. I should like to know if any of the boys or girls either are interested in stamp collecting. If they are, we will form an exchange, and those wishing to join can send in their names and any interesting information which they have about stamps. It is an interesting hobby, which dates back to 1855, when the craze for collecting stamps first started. King George is said to have one of the finest collections in the world.

Dear Aunt Rose: I have read your letters in The Sunday World and have decided to join. I am enclosing eight cents in stamps for a badge. I may send a story in for your paper. I am ten and in the junior III. class at school. I guess I'll close now with love.

Trout Fishing Calls For Maximum Skill

Like Other Games, This One Proves Difficult to Acquire--- Algonquin Park Affords Excellent Field for Training.

UNDOUBTEDLY, the sport one most enjoys, is that calling for the maximum amount of skill. Indigestion Comes With a Debilitated and Run-down Condition of the System and Can Be Cured Through Enriching the Blood.

There are many symptoms of indigestion, such as acute pain after eating, belching of wind, nausea and vomiting, bloating and pains in the region of the heart, a dread of food for the misery it causes. Dieting and the use of pre-digested foods may give ease, but can't cure—they only further weaken the stomach. The work of digestion depends upon the blood and the nerves, and the only way to cure indigestion is to tone up the stomach through the blood to do the work nature intended it should do. The very best way to cure indigestion is through a course of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which renew the blood, strengthen the nerves and enable the stomach to do its work with ease and comfort. Neglected indigestion means prolonged misery, and a more difficult cure. If you have any of the symptoms of this trouble try the tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at once, and you will be gratified with the results.

Some of the fool Germans are objecting. If they are wise they will recognize this as the finest thing that could happen for them. Apparently no nation will adopt the non-resistance principle voluntarily. But if it be imposed on Germany and the law works as we all devoutly profess to believe it does, then Germany will be the premier nation on earth. "Peace hath her victories no less renowned than war." If all the energies of Germany are tuned to the arts of peace, to commercial, industrial, agricultural and other self-development, unhandicapped by military expenditure, she will soon be the wealthiest nation. Out of sheer shame, if not from the marcial, industrial, agricultural and other self-development, unhandicapped by the fool of the said he wished her to the self-development, unhandicapped by the fool of the said he wished he of the said he wished her of the said he wished her to the self-development, unhandicapped by the fool of the said he wished he of the said he wished her of the said he wished her the two two the said that the libraries of only building we could dignify with the make of a public library had it to been for the most complete and hand diest booklets that we have come diest booklets that we have come diest booklets that we have come of the carnegie endownent for with the exception of the exception of the exception of the exception of the carnegie endownent for with the exception of the carnegie endownent for with the exception of the exce shall be compelled to disarm for and was very anxious that both my who have disarmed her, will be bound not to attack her, and in fact will be compelled to protect her. While Germany is thriving in her compulsory prosperity, the other nations if they many meeting the of commerce, from which Germany will be excluded, will be cutting each others' throats economically. There is only one remedy. It is to recognize the fallacy of the so-called law of supply and demand, and the fallacy of money values; to set every body to work producing without the supply and demand, and the fallacy of money values; to set every body to work producing without the supply and demand, and the fallacy of money values; to set every body to work producing without the supply and demand, and the fallacy of money values; to set every body to work producing without the supply and the sup body to work producing without limit everything that can be produced which people need for the supply of their natural desires and requirements. Money is only a medium of exchange of values and not of any value itself. If we all labored six hours a day and produced ten times as much food and clothes and houses and temples and books and pictures and temples and carriages and games ody to work and temples and books and pictures and motors and carriages and games and candy and every other good and wholesome thing that was wanted, we wholesome thing that was wanted, we could store the surplus, and everybody on production of his ticket as an honest worker in good standing could have anything he wanted. Nobody would be rich or poor. Nobody would be ignorant. We would cure the rich or poor treatment. Our would be ignorant. We would cure the vicious by proper treatment. Our fellow "men the warld ower should brithers be an' a' that." Why did not Lenine and Trotzky think of this? Why did not Kaiser Bill think of it? Why did not Kaiser Bill think of it? Has President Wilson got it in the back of his mind? It is the real working democracy. The bees and the control know all about it. They do working democracy. The bees and the ants know all about it. They do not bother about supply and demand. They all work and work and work, and take their pleasure in it and produce

Thrilling Story of Russian Woman Soldier.

"Yashka" (Toronto: Frederick D. Goodchild. $2) is the self-told story of the life of Maria Botchkareva, the celebrated leader of the Battalion of Death in the Russian army before German intrigue had corrupted the nation, and the Bolshevists had established their reign of terror. There are two reasons for reading this book which no one who desires to understand one of the chief aspects of the great war can ignore The first is the picture of Russia itself prior to the war, with the suggestions it offers of impossible social conditions, and the second is the account of the devilish behaviour of the Bolsheviki. Chapter XVIII. describes a scene which for fiendishness, has not been surpassed even by the Germans. Korniloff and Botchkareva had met and she refused to fight against the soldier-peasants. "It is also very hard for me to fight the boys that I love so much," he said, "but they have turned beasts now. We are fighting for our lives, for our uniforms," and his explanation was that "Bolshevism had clouded the minds of the people." If our local Bolshevists would exhibit any consciousness of the horror of such acts one might hope for reform, but leaders like Pugatchov, perverted themselves, would deprave a nation. The story is of a girl, married at fifteen to a depraved and drunken boor, whose superior in intelligence she was, so that when they engaged in street paving she was speedily promoted to be assistant foreman, while he remained a common labourer. She ran away and was safe for a while, but he found her refuge. When she saw him coming she jumped into the river, to come to consciousness in a hospital. The incredible cruelties of this brutal husband, and the indomitable will of the 19-year-old girl persisting through all the temptations and horrors of a veritable hell The first is the picture of Russia itself prior to the war, with the suggestions girl persisting through all the temptations and horrors of a veritable hell in following the goal of her aspirations, and how she won through and became leader of the Battalion of Death is a romance as thrilling as anything in fiction, and her leadership could never be understood until the earlier experiences she had are known. Her message to the west is an appeal for help Russia from the yoke under which she suffers, but what the end will be no one can surmise.

As interesting a book as one could desire to read is the new "History of the American People," by Charles A. Beard and William C. Bagley (Toronto: The Macmillan Company of Canada, $1.20). 'It is intended to supply the American History Revised for New Generation.

Canada, $1.20). It is intended to supply the demand for a more correct and less prejudiced view of the events and policies which have gone to the creation of the American republic. The leading motive behind the volume has been the preparation of children for citizenship through an understanding of the ideals, institutions, achievements and problems of the country. Boys and girls, in the view of the authors, must be taught to think of the events and issues of the living present in the light of their historical past, and developing the sense of historical continuity. This idea may very well be carried beyond national, into racial relations. America has been made, it is observed, by the labours, sacrifices and ideals of millions of men, women and children, unhonoured and unsung in the ordinary books, "That is the essence of democracy." While this is a school book, and arranged for convenience of teaching, in chapters and sections, the ordinary reader will find it a most readable narrative. For the Canadian reader nothing is more valuable than to understand by such a volume the point of view of our neighbours. These are the conceptions of history the next generation of Americans will be trained to hold. Canadians will regret that in dealing with the burning of the Capitol at Washington in August, 1814, no mention is made of the fact that the act was one of retaliation for the burning of the Parliament Buildings at York (now Toronto), which was itself an unjustifiable measure. It is stated that "the British escaped without any punishment for this wanton act." It is one of the incidents, suppression of the truth about which has caused much misunderstanding.

Biology of Sex For Teachers and Parents.

In this new age of plain-speaking on matters of sex it is of the first importance that books on the subject should be reliable, sensible and in good taste. The teaching of children on such matters is attended with difficulty, owing to the foolish prejudices or ignorance of parents, who will risk the most frightful danger and disease for their families for the sake of a fancied innocence, which is practically non-existent. Such for the sake of a fancied innocence, which is practically non-existent. Such a volume as "Biology of Sex for Parents and Teachers" (London: D. C. Heath & Co.), by T. W. Galloway, Ph.D., is a most welcome addition to the somewhat scanty literature that deals with the question in a desirable way. The material comprised in the volume first served in a series of talks to meetings of mothers and teachers. From a scientific point of view it is up to date, and at the same time popularly treated. There are eleven illustrations of the development of cell life and kindred matters. Another book with a somewhat different mission is Dr. Pancoast's "Tokology and Indies" Medical Guide (Toronto: Frederick Goodchild, $2). It deals fully and comprehensively with the subject of maternity. It is for the benefit of the whole human race that men and women should have correct knowledge of the great processes of life, and not rely on the old wives' superstitions of the dark ages, about things on which so health and well-being of human depend. There is no greater deterrent from vice and vicious practices than the certain knowledge of the disease
