

do have. They struck and the Villa de Havre went under!

The third test by which you may know whether the society to which you belong is good or bad is this:—What is its effect on your senses?

MORAL AND RELIGIOUS OBLIGATION?

Now, if I should take the names of all the people in this audience this morning and put them on a roll, and then I should take that roll and call it from A to Z, there would not be one of you answer, I say that any society that makes me for got that fact is a bad society. When I go to Chicago I am sometimes perplexed at Buffalo, as I suppose many travellers are, as to whether it is better to take the Lake Shore route or the Michigan Central, equally expeditious and equally safe, getting to their destination at the same time. But suppose that I hear that on one route the track is torn up, the bridges are down and the switches are unhooked, it will not take me a great while to decide which road to take. Now, here are two roads in the future—the christian and the unchristian, the safe and the unsafe. Any institution or any association that confuses my ideas in regard to that fact is a bad institution and a bad association. I had grave doubts before I joined that society, did I have them afterward? I attended the house of God before I connected myself with the union, do I absent myself from religious influences? Which would you rather have in your hand when you come to die?

A PACK OF CARDS OR A BIBLE.

Which would you rather have pressed to your lips in the closing moment—the cup of Bohemianism or the chalice of Christian communion? Who would you rather have for your pallbearer—the elders of a Christian church or the companions whose conversation was full of slang and innuendo? Who would you rather have for your eternal companions—those men who spend their evenings betting, gambling, swearing, cursing and telling vile stories, or your little child, that bright girl whom the Lord took? Oh, you would not have been away so much nights, would you, if you had known she was going away so soon? Dear me, your house has never been the same place since. Your wife has never brightened up, she has never got over it. She never will get over it. How long the evenings are with no one to put to bed and no one to whom to tell the beautiful Bible stories.

What a pity it is that you cannot spend more evenings at home in trying to help her bear that sorrow. You can never know what it is like to see your dear wife break away from the little arms that used to be flung around your neck when she used to say, "Papa, do stay with me tonight. Do stay with me tonight." You will never be able to wipe away from your lips the dying kiss of your little girl.

Oh man stray, God help you! I am going to make a very stout rope. You know that sometimes I am going to take very small threads and wind them together until they become a cable. And I am going to take many very small delicate threads and wind them together until they make a very stout rope. I will take all the memories of the marriage day—a thread of laughter, a thread of light, a thread of union, a thread of language, a thread of congratulation, and I will twist them together and I have one strand. Then I take a thread of the hour of the first advent in your house, a thread of the light that followed, and a thread of the beautiful scarf that little child used to wear when she bounded out to greet you; and then a thread of the beautiful dress in which you laid her away for the resurrection; and then I twist all these threads together and I have another strand. Then I take a thread of the scarlet robe of a suffering Christ, and a thread of the white raiment of your loved one before he died, and a string of the harp chords, and I twist them all together, and I have a third strand. "No, I will take these strands and I will twist them together, and one end of that rope I will hang, not to the communion table, for it shall be removed; not to the pillar of the organ, for that will crumble in the ages but I will wind it round and round the cross of a sympathizing Christ, and having fastened one end of the rope to the cross, I throw the other end to you. Lay hold of it! Pull for your life! Pull for heaven!

and Colds, use Allen's Lung Balm. Relief is warranted or money refunded.

GIBSON NOTES.

Washington, April 19.—A number of men under the supervision of Mr. Alexander are engaged repairing the wharf of the New Brunswick Railway Co.

Mr. B. Miller, principal teacher of St. Mary's school, will retire after the first of May. Mr. McKinley is mentioned as his successor.

Mr. David Burpee's family are going to leave for the Niagara river this week to reside there for the summer.

Police Court.

Five cases of drunkenness have been reported at the police court since Monday, or as many cases as was reported during the whole of the month of December and January. Yesterday John Long was fined $5 for being drunk on the street, and John McCarthy, for interfering with public safety, was also fined $5. Both defendants their fines. Benj. Cookman, drunk, was also fined $5, which was paid.

The police magistrate informed the reporter that several Scott Act papers were being prepared, and the police court would be occupied for some time in dealing with the violators.

New Place Glass Fronts.

Mr. E. B. Everett received by last English mail invoices of two more place glass fronts for two of our enterprising establishments, viz: Mr. Elliot Clark's hotel and shoe store, and Mr. W. F. H. Fenety's bookstore. There are six in the Dominion, of equal population, with as many fine shops with place glass fronts as Fredericton. This speaks volumes for the place of its business men, and it is to be hoped they will be equally rewarded for their enterprise.

Reporters.

The Spring meeting opened on Monday. The race for the great Survey handicap was won by Douglas Baird's four-year-old brown colt. The great "Indisputable stake" was won by Duke of Portland's gelding, Salspeter.

Traders for the Hospital.

Traders are asked for in another column for the collection of the hospital fund. It is desired that those who have subscribed and have not handed in their subscription, will gladly do so as early as they can. It is also desired that the building operations will require funds.

UNDESIRABLE IMMIGRANTS.

Recent events lend color to the belief that the British government intend to foist upon Canada by means of emigration numbers of their miserable and worthless poor. In all schemes of emigration with which English speculators have had to do, Canada has appeared to them a convenient and profitable outlet for the deposit of their refuse poor. An ardent advocate of emigration in England offers his scheme to "rate-payers and taxpayers striving to find out some way of escape from the crisis, prostration, beggary and starvation which raises its hideous head in so many quarters." This certainly is generous. England must be purified; let her have the filtrate, Canada the dregs.

Landlords under cultivation in many parts of Britain, and the working of which gave employment to many hands are again becoming wastes, "the sportsman's vast domain." Laborers once employed upon them are forced to seek the cities, where a life of poverty and wretchedness awaits them. This is the element the British government seeks to foist upon us. We indeed need settlers in our country, but preserve us from settlers such as these. The kind of settlers we seek are men with means, men with bone and muscle, men who come among us with an energy and determination to succeed, to work out a destiny in a new and perhaps favored country. Vast as is our territory we have no room for the kind of settlers that are being foisted upon us, and who have founded colonies in our province, and who have improved the country as well as bettered their lot.

It is understood in many quarters that influences are at work to induce the federal government to assist in Canada the refuse Britain seeks to dump upon us. Whether the government will seek to encourage a scheme so hostile to the interests of the state will depend on the nature of the influence brought to bear upon it. The policy of expediency may here too play a part.

THE CHURCHMAN'S CONCERN.

The exposure of the whole system of the so-called Christian Science, which the recent trial has called forth, should cause the most ardent exponents of its doctrines to examine carefully the grounds upon which they base their tenets. The examination at the court has developed not a point in favor of the science which a moment's reflection cannot explain. Answers the most ludicrous, given in all seriousness to the questions of the prosecuting lawyer, about false overstatements of the scientists to hang their heads. After such an exposure of a science that there still be found those who believe in its methods?

The prosecution, while it has not increased the favor of the medical fraternity, whose motive has been questioned, has yet been productive of good. It has shown, in addition to hollow doctrines, a method of diagnosis of "minds diseased." It has shown that here in our own enlightened city superstition lingers.

We expressed regret in a recent issue that female witnesses had been summoned before a magistrate's court, yet we cannot but agree with public opinion which looks with discredit upon overzealous devotees of the system voluntarily spending the greater and most busy part of their day, for days together, in attending court in order to show their adherence to this superstitious doctrine. There should be for them more cheerful surroundings and a more useful sphere.

We commend to them the lines of Milton:—

"Nobler livelihood can be found in woman
And good works in her husband to promote."

TO OPRESS THE IRISH PEOPLE.

The second reading of the Coercion Bill passed the British house of commons Monday night. Coercion will thus doubtless become operative in Ireland at an early day. The bill was met with great resistance, not only by the Irish members, but by the larger wing of the liberal party.

The bill though introduced ostensibly for the suppression of crime in Ireland is in reality a measure for the oppression of the Irish people, and as Gladstone pointed out an act making crimes of what were not crimes before. Such a measure introduced into any parliament but that of Britain would receive but scant attention at the hands of the representatives of the people. Crimes have been committed in Ireland, but are the Irish as a people to be held responsible for these? Those who are agitating for Irish rights and who are the leaders of public opinion in the Emerald Isle are averse to violations of law as are those who framed this iniquitous bill. The outrages which have been committed in Ireland have invariably been thrown by a partisan press upon the shoulders of the Irish people and opinions to their prejudice sent broadcast to the world.

The demands of Ireland are what its people have a right to claim. They simply ask for more moderate rents from existing landlords, and a parliament at Dublin to enable them to manage their own local affairs.

Premier Newcas of Manitoba resigned on Friday last to face the legislature with unbroken ranks. At the last election he was returned to power with a majority of six or seven, instead of fifteen as in the parliament that closed with last session. Since then Mr. Newcas withdrew from the government and joined the opposition ranks, and it was thought that on the opening of the legislature the government would be defeated. Mr. Newcas, however, visited Ottawa, had an interview with the premier of Manitoba, and on his return quickly accomplished a reunion by the adoption of nearly every plank in the platform of the liberals. In the speech from the throne he promised legislation in favor of a railway to the boundary, the Hudson Bay railway, an appeal to the imperial authorities if the policy of disallowance of provincial law by the dominion is continued, and most marvellous of all, he declares that steps are being taken to secure greater representation in the management of provincial affairs.

The liberal government of Quebec seems to be dealing out justice to the many crooked officials of that province. Under late Tory rule many frauds were practiced in connection with the colonization funds, and one of the moves of the new liberal government was to appoint a commission to enquire into such matters. Already in one of the eastern townships, a mayor and his two sons have been indicted for forgery and misappropriation of funds in connection with the colonization expenditure. They live in Quebec was never looked upon as a blessing, but as the recent disclosures showing how systematically the people of that province were robbed, are being made known, the public are beginning to understand just what Tory rule means.

Our friend of the Chatham World comes to a strange desire to put to the officials, who had the right to vote in the election of De Quincey, so great has been the influence of the optimist editor. We note his friend's interest in the "Recollected" cases, and his putting from Ann on Sherwood street, "away from the tumult and bliss of Piccadilly."

It is said that the present session of parliament will be a short one; that the children of Mr. Macdonald with St. Dunstan's church did themselves some credit by the display they made at their fair in the afternoon. The fair was a success, and the children of the fair were the centre of attraction, and as good prizes as were secured in that the articles were, on the whole, up to the standard of excellence usually met with in the fair. The fair was a success, and the children of the fair were the centre of attraction, and as good prizes as were secured in that the articles were, on the whole, up to the standard of excellence usually met with in the fair.

The custom regulations with respect to baggage to be re-examined in the future as railway travel and inland transportation are concerned. They are to be enforced only in respect to passengers by ocean steamers.

In the recent elections Sir Charles Tupper premised to Nova Scotia political works the cost of which will run well up to the nice sum of thirteen and a half millions of dollars. Quite a bribe, was it not?

A LETTER FROM MR. GREGORY.

Sir:—The Farmer of yesterday published in his issue a copy of a circular issued by me to my agents during the last election.

I beg to say that no such circular was issued. Such a circular without the postscript was printed by order of a member of the election committee, but it was not approved or issued.

There were 80 copies ordered; the printer, as is usual, overran the number by two or three and the whole were placed in a drawer of my office desk. I now find 81 copies in the drawer.

That the copy furnished to the Farmer has been surreptitiously taken from my drawer by some one having access to the office, and not obtained through any carelessness in the printing office where they were printed, is proved by the fact that the postscript was not on the printed copies, but was written at my office on the foot after receipt from the printing office.

It is now in order for the editor of the Farmer to explain how he came in possession of the copy he has.

I challenge the production of a single copy of the circular obtained honestly or in a regular way.

Yours truly,
Geo. F. Gregory.

Clothing up Business.—Roderick Bros. give notice in another column that they are closing up business in this city, and that after the 10th of May all outstanding bills will be placed in the hands of an attorney for collection.

A Bad Case of Poisoning.—It is that of any man or woman afflicted with disease or derangement of the liver, resulting in poisonous accumulations in the blood, such as jaundice, skin diseases, and all other liver ailments.

These troubles can be cured only by going to primary cause, and getting the liver in a healthy condition. To accomplish this, the result is the "Golden Medical Discovery," which has never failed to cure the liver, and it is a sure cure for all liver troubles, including jaundice, biliousness, and all other liver ailments.

The bill condemning the Phoenix Park murders and which is attributed by the London Times to Parnell, is an outrage upon the leader of the Irish party. The letter bears unmistakable evidence of forgery. The composition of the letter is not that of an educated man; the handwriting is not that of Parnell. Parnell is too shrewd a man to trust another with a secret.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

Mr. Weldon obtained orders for a number of returns respecting the purchase of oil, etc., for the intercolonial railway. Before the orders of the day were called, Hon. Mr. Mills rose to a question of privilege and called attention to the outrageous manner in which the granting of Liberal members of parliament had been delayed after the general election. He pointed out that the granting of all Tory members had been pushed forward while the returns of Liberal members had been kept back eventually for the government an unfair advantage. Up to 19th March, 30 out of 40 Liberal members of parliament were granted their returns. The Liberal members were granted their returns, but the Tory members were not. This was an outrageous violation of the privileges of parliament by the government or their officers which should not be permitted in any free country. He concluded by moving that the government be ordered to grant the returns of all Liberal members of parliament who had been delayed after the general election.

Mr. Russell showed that, up to this time, while 27 Tory members for Quebec province were granted only four Liberal returns. He said that the government had been guilty of a gross violation of the privileges of parliament by the government or their officers which should not be permitted in any free country. He concluded by moving that the government be ordered to grant the returns of all Liberal members of parliament who had been delayed after the general election.

Mr. Jones said that when the premier complained about the delay of local government he ought not to forget that such hostility was provoked before the last provincial election of 1884. He said that the government had been guilty of a gross violation of the privileges of parliament by the government or their officers which should not be permitted in any free country. He concluded by moving that the government be ordered to grant the returns of all Liberal members of parliament who had been delayed after the general election.

Mr. Tupper of Pictou, said that a dominion minister had not visited Nova Scotia since the general election of 1884. He said that the government had been guilty of a gross violation of the privileges of parliament by the government or their officers which should not be permitted in any free country. He concluded by moving that the government be ordered to grant the returns of all Liberal members of parliament who had been delayed after the general election.

Mr. Weldon (St. John) said that Mr. Tupper had elected to the vote of dominion members of parliament. He said that the government had been guilty of a gross violation of the privileges of parliament by the government or their officers which should not be permitted in any free country. He concluded by moving that the government be ordered to grant the returns of all Liberal members of parliament who had been delayed after the general election.

ST. JOHN LOG DRIVING CO.

Mr. Robert Connors, Gets the Corporation Driving.

The city was crowded with lumbermen yesterday. It is estimated that beside operators and members of the St. John log driving company, there must have been fully five hundred drivers in the city who are waiting for the driving to begin, and all made it a point to be in the city yesterday, being a good time to hire. The annual sale of the corporation driving took place at 3 o'clock in the afternoon in front of the county court house. There was an unusually large gathering and the bidding was keen. The lowest bidder was Mr. Kenwick, of Hartland, but as his prices were so very low, he could not get anyone to act as loggers, and consequently, the sale was made over again, when after some more lively bidding it was finally knocked down to Mr. Robert Connors, of St. Francis, the prices for the different limits being as follows: Grand Falls to Fredericton, 12 cents per M; Salmon River, 13 cents; Ansonburg, 14 cents; all points below 15 cents.

The annual meeting of the company was held in the Queen Hotel parlors after the sale when the following directors were elected for the ensuing year: Franklin Stetson, St. John, president; Mr. Murray, St. John, vice-president; Houlton; E. W. Marlett, Fort Kent; Darin Nixon, Houlton; Mr. J. J. Moore, Grand Falls; and Mr. J. J. Moore, Grand Falls.

A Common Cold

Is often the beginning of serious affections of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes, and Lungs. Therefore, the importance of early and effective treatment cannot be overestimated. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral may always be relied upon for the speedy cure of a Cold or Cough.

Last January I was attacked with a severe Cold, which by neglect and frequent exposure, became worse, finally settling on my lungs. A terrible cough followed, accompanied by pains in the chest, from which I suffered intensely. After trying various remedies, without obtaining relief, I commenced taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and was Speedily Cured.

I am satisfied that this remedy saved my life. -Jno. Webster, Pawtucket, R. I.

I contracted a severe cold, which suddenly developed into Pneumonia, presenting dangerous and obstinate symptoms. My physician at once ordered the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. His instructions were followed, and the result was a rapid and permanent cure. -H. E. Simpson, Rogers Falls, Tenn.

Two years ago I suffered from a severe Cold which settled on my lungs. I consulted various physicians, and took the medicines they prescribed, but received only temporary relief. A friend induced me to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. After taking two bottles of this medicine I was cured. Since then I have given the Pectoral to my children, and consider it

Land and Love.

A THRILLING TALE OF THE EARLY DAYS OF LABOR STRIKES IN THE WEST.

Twilight was falling, and its melancholy influence was beginning to affect him. He thought less and less of the joy of his love and more of his hopelessness. By the time he reached his house he had begun to entertain the possibility of a life of renunciation, and after the manner of Americans of fortune who have no special ties, his mind turned naturally to Europe. "I cannot stay here to enjoy her," he thought, and to begin to plot for the summer and winter, and in fancy, was at the second cataract of the Nile before his horse's hoofs, ringing on the asphalt of the stable-yard, recalled him to himself.

The next day, he was compelled to go to New York to attend to some matters of business. Before taking the train, he laid his complaint of being stopped on the road before the chief of police, who promised to make vigorous inquiry. Farnham remained several days in New York, and on his return, one warm, bright evening, he found his table prepared and the brave Duke waiting behind his chair.

He ate his dinner hastily and in silence, with great zest. "You have not lost your appetite," said Duke, who was his external conscience in social matters. "That you are going this evening to New York."

"I think I shall not go," said Farnham. "I have not time to go this afternoon, sir, which he said it was most particular. I asked him would he call again. He said no, he was not going to New York tonight. But it was most particular, he said."

Rudyard spoke in the tone of solemn and respectful tyranny which he always assumed when reminding Farnham of his social duties, and which conveyed a sense of impression to his master that, if he did not do what was bidding, his butler was quite capable of picking him up and deferentially carrying him to the scene of festivity, and depositing him on the doorstep.

"What could Tempe want to see me about?" "Most particular," he said, "I want to see you well. After all, I may as well pass the evening there as anywhere."
