London, Saturday, Sept. 1 .- 4:20 a.m. | Chang is able to obtain the necessary authority. The recent statement that the admirals of the powers in Chinese - In the absence of further news from China the papers are again fillfoundation. Li Hung Chang will reed with discussions of the Russo-American proposals, which, so far as may be gathered from expressions of his colleagues of the Chinese Governopinions in the various European cap-Itals, are calculated to subject the unity of the allies to an exceedingly dangerous test. In Germany especially these proposals are so diametrically opposed to Emperor William's policy that they have produced something like consternation.

As the Daily News editorially remarks: "Count Von Waldersee was assuredly not sent to assist in restoring the empress dowager." It is recognized on all sides that Germany's decision is

STRONG LANGUAGE OF "THE TIMES."

The Times editorially fairly represents the opinion of all. The Times says the changes of Russia's policy are not manifest, and it is very doubtful whether it will recommend Itself to powers like Britain and Germany that have large commercial interests in the establishment of a stable and progressive government to replace the reactionary clique which has impeded all progress and development in China in recent years. Negotiations with Li Hung Chang would be a condonation of government crimes and the throwing away of all the advantages gained by the occupation of Pekin. Much mischief may already have been done by the hesitation to enter the Forbidden City. To withdraw from Pekin would be interpreted as proving not only that the allies are cowards, but that they are hopelessly divided. It may be that some of the powers will withdraw, but that does not imply that others are bound to leave Pekin and to acquiesce in the restoration of a government guilty of a gross inter-

The Daily Mail says: Russia has forced the hand of the United States against the better judgment of the latter. At the same time the United States Government has adduced such valid reasons why the Russian policy is a bad one that it will hardly be expected that other powers will concur." The Daily News, which complains bitterly that the British Government does not communicate a particle of information respecting the important negotiations, calls Mr. Adee's dispatch "very able," and asks what the British Government is doing in the matter.

The Daily Chronicle thinks the question of the open door will prove the rift within the lute, which now sounds such sweet harmony between the United States and Russia. "Russia," says the Daily Chronicle, "has heard of the open door before, from a greater naval power than the United States, and has replied by simply slamming the door in that power's face." The paper then proceeds to comment upon the difficulty of understanding Russia's real motives and the dangers of following Russian leadership.

The Daily Telegraphs remarks: "The Russian proposals are among the most extraordinary coups attempted of re-cent years, even by Russia. The upwill probably be the acceptance of Li Hung Chang to negotiate some kind of a compromise with the empress dowager.'

PUZZLER FOR THE JAPS. "Germany's attitude towards the Chinese crisis," says a dispatch to the Times from Tokio, dated yesterday, "Is causing much perplexity in Japan. The Chinese authorities at Amoy having guaranteed the security of life and property the Japanese marines will now withdraw."

FEELING AT VIENNA.

Vienna specials show that the Russo-American proposals have caused extreme annoyance there. It is believed that Austria and Hungary will follow in Germany's steps; but it is recognized in both Berlin and Vienna that the withdrawal of Russian and the United States from Pekin would leave the other powers little but to follow.

ANOTHER STORY.

London, Aug. 31.-The Associated Press has official authority for announcing that the American-Russian proposal in favor of the withdrawal of the Allied forces from Pekin, with the wiew of facilitating negotiations for the conclusion of peace, has not only met with considerable favor at European chancellories, but it is almost certain to be adopted. In the mean-while the question of employing Li Hung Chang as an intermediary is meeting with more and more favor, and will in all probability be settled in the Stewart River country. Next Week's Entertainment at Springbank Park Promises to Eclipse All Its Predecessors-Special Matinee on Labor Day.

The London Street Railway Company have, with commendable forethought, provided for Springbank patrons next week a programme which promises to excel anything that has yet been offered at the popular riverside resort. Meritorious as have been the attractions hitherto provided for the entertainment of visitors, next week's programme is to completely eclipse all former efforts in the line of catering to the amusement-loving insent two days ago by the board of at Sydney, C. Bertha Ellis, the talented and pretty comedienne, will render catchy bal-lads and perform national dances, and Horace Somerset, the clever and popular tenor will introduce a number of new songs, which will be sure to catch the popular fancy.

In addition, the Opera House Orchestra, and the Musical Society Band, under the direction of Fred L. Evans, will render their delightful programmes of the latest and best musical selections. Altogether, the bill provided for next week is one that is sure to prove an immense drawing card for Springbank.

In addition to the usual evening performances and matinees of the week, there will be an extra matinee on the afternoon, of Monday, Labor Day, beginning at 3:30 sharp. A firstclass car service will be provided, and trip thither, a thoroughly enjoyable day while there, and a comfortable and safe return.

IDENTITY OF ENGLISH AND AM-ERICAN AIMS IN THE EAST. America's supreme concern in China, which appeals to the greatest number of her people, is the commercial opportunity. That is likewise Great Britain's chief concern, and should be that of Germany, France and Japan. On the other hand, it is doubtless true that Russia's chief ambition is to extend her territorial limits. America, it will be admitted the world over, has no desire whatever for territorial aggrandizement. She is on record as being unreservedly opposed to the partition of the empire, to acquiring for herself any port, part, or province of China, and as being committed emphatically to the "open-door" policy. Great Britain is now face to face with a growing sentiment in her own country against any further extension of her imperial domain, and has always led the agitation in favor of the open door. If the war in South Africa would seem to be inspired by a sentiment contradictory to this assertion, it, on the other hand, would appear to mark the limit of conquest which the English people would favor or permit. In America the preponderance of unprejudiced opinion is that the United States have taken and are maintaining possession of the Philippines as a result of meeting the unavoidable moral responsibilities growing out of the war with Spain; but the American people would not tolerate for a moment a policy openly in favor of the partition in China or the acquisition of American territory in the limits of Cathay .- Hon. John Barrett, in Engineering Magazine.

Brilliant Success of a Sortie Made by Everyone Looking for the Date of the General Elections-Government Ex. pieces. The rival Nell Gywnnes are pects to Ride Into Office on the Back of "Bobs."

[Special London Cable Letter.] London, Sept. 1 .- Pending the discovery of the diplomatists as to how best to wash their hands of the Chinese embarrassment, public interest is momentarily diverted to the nation's private affairs; and the wearisome war in South Africa, the outbreak of the spread disturbances and dissatisfaction in railway circles and the dissoludonga in single file they were struck tion of parliament are all receiving much attention. It is considered evident from the speech of the Right couple of men, out of sight, until the Hon. Wm. St. John Brodrick, under secretary of state for foreign affairs, made on Wednesday, that the government considers the end of the war close enough to the horizon to justify looking beyond it and preparing for A GENERAL ELECTION.

Therefore, an authoritative pronouncement on the subject of the dissolution of parliament is expected at an early date. Whether Mr. Brodrick's anticipation that Lord Roberts' present movement will have a decisive bearing upon the length of the war is justified or not, remain for the present a matter of conjecture; but there is no mistaking the intention of the government to utilize any appreciable military success, and ride into office again on the back of "Bobs," who is expected, if all goes well, will be able to RETURN IN OCTOBER, and take up the duties of commanderin-chief, and incidentally aid in the election. Lord Roberts' emphatic commendation of Gen. Buller's strategy at Machadodorp looks like a desire to restore public confidence preparatory to the devolution of the future conduct of the campaign upon the shoulders upon which it originally rested. YOUNG HAY'S POPULARITY.

In connection with the ultimate settlement of Transvaal matters, recent arrivals from South Africa think it possible that the services of United States Consul Adelbert Hay might be advantageously utilized. "Young Hay has managed to please both the Boers and the British," said Louis De Villiers, a kinsman of the Cape Colony chief justice, who has lately arrived, to a representative of the Associated Press. "When Hay arrived at Pre-toria public opinion had been made difficult for him by stories of his English sympathies. The Boer feeling was so intense that statements that Hay was no better than an English spy were readily believed. But he behaved with such quiet good sense that he speedily got the respect of the Boer official class, while he did not part with his original opinion that the Britons, in the main, were right in the war. An American lady of the keenest N. Wallace, Palmerston, Sept. 25-26. Boer sympathies added to Mr. Hay's Mosa and Ekfrid, Glencoe, Sept. 25-26. Boer sympathies added to Mr. Hay's Wm. He was in fact that Monday is a public hollday campaign to win him to the Boer side. his alleged pro-British purposes. he outlived all this, was helpful to the British prisoners, and lately, under British supremacy, has interposed more than once in the interest of the Boers." MRS. MAYBRICK'S CASE,

A tangible result of the recent visit to Mrs. Florence Maybrick at Aylesbury Prison of Dr. Clark Bell, the prisoner's counsel, and a representative of the Associated Press, was the discovery of a hitherto unknown letter from the late Baron Russell of Killowen, lord chief justice of England, to Mrs. Maybrick, reaffirming his belief in his client's innocence and vigorously declaring his conviction that she had been unfairly condemned. This letter has since been made the basis for a new memorial praying for Mrs. Maybrick's release, and so strong is Mr. Bell's belief in the force of this document that a copy of it has been sent personally to Sir Matthew White Ridley, secretary of state for home department, at his summer home in Northumberland, accompanied by the request that he give it his earliest consideration. Mr. Bell started for the continent today more than with the effects of his visit to England. He has not only succeeded in seeing his client for the first time since her incarceration, but has since secured for Mrs. Maybrick an interview with her mother, Baroness De Roques. The discovery of the Russell letter is regarded as important, and many recent evidences of leniency towards the prisoner incline her friends to believe that her incarceration will not be prolonged.

YACHTING. INTERNATIONAL RACE.

Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 31.—As Skipper Davis, of the Genesee, yacht which will defend the Fisher cup, has not picked a crew to sail the champion of the great lakes against the Canadian challenger. He has selected three of the five men, but as they have not been notified, Mr. Davis does not care to make their names public at this. time. Two of the judges have been chosen, and the third, it is expected, will be selected today, when all the names will be given out. Skipper Davis has been trying the Genesee on the lake during the past few days in company with the Nox and other fast boats. The center-boarder has shown great speed, and it is believed to be even faster than when the race of the Canada cup took place. Preparations have been made for the reception and entertainment of a large Canadian delegation expected to visit Charlotte during the races, which are scheduled to com-mence on Sept. 8.

DON'TS FOR DYSPEPTICS

Timely Advice for the Use of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Don't starve yourself to death in the midst of plenty because you have Dyspepsia or Indigestion. You don't need to do so. Your Dyspepsia won't bother you if you take a couple of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets after eating. You'll forget that you ever had Dyspepsia after you have used a couple of boxes of Tablets.

Don't abstain from eating your favorite foods because they used to cause Indigestion. You don't need to if you use one or two of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets after having eaten.

Don't suffer because you are not quite sure that Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets cure Indigestion, Dyspepsia and all stomach troubles, as surely as the sun rises. You don't need to do so. Get a box of the Tablets and try them. You'll never doubt afterwards. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets have been tested too often, and have cured too many hundreds of thousands of cases to fail in

Don't delay. You are unwise if you do. For why should you suffer an hour longer than is necessary? You don't need to suffer another day. You can't suffer from Dyspepsia, Indigestion, nor any other stomach complaint, if you use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Don't be obstinate and "pig-headed," and worry your wife and family because you are dyspeptic. It's your own fault that you are. You've been assured that Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure you, and if you haven't taken advantage of this assurance, so much the worse or you.

Don't a Dyspeptic. Don't have Indigestion. Take Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and be a man—a healthy, strong, manly, vigorous man.

More than 100,000 acres of peat are said to be available in the Canadian Province of Ontario.

Thrilling Episode of the Ashanti Rebellion.

Stones, Gravel and Wire Used as Ammunition.

Message From Andree-When He Wrote He Was in Excellent Health.

London, Sept. 1. - One of the most thrilling episodes of the Ashanti rebellion was the advance on Coomassi of the No. 1 relief column under the command of Captain Aplin, of the Lagos Constabulary. The force was about 250 strong, with two seven-Batteries-Bernhardt, Donohue and | pounders and Maxims.

Capt. Aplin, relating his experiences to a representative of Reuter's agency, said the column at one time was threading a narrow path in the dense bush where there was not a sign of a native anywhere, and the road was as still as death. Suddenly a hail of slugs and a piece of twisted telegraph wire was hurled into the column by rebels perched in the trees on either side of the track. Not a foe could be seen anywhere, for the natives, after fighting, slid down the trunks of the trees into the jungle. The force became gradually enveloped, and the opposition was so great that it took two hours to fight its way to the nearest village, less than half a mile distant. The machine guns became heated and jammed, and eventually the village was carried with the Batteries—Flaherty and Steelman; Braun and Leahy. Umpire—Egan. On reaching the Ordah River, where tacked by 4,000 rebels, who fought desperately. The action began at 11 o'clock and lasted till 5 in the evening. A formidable stockade had to be carried, and 30 Hausas, under Captain Cochrane, made a detour to outflank it. Again the Maxims jammed, and a seven-pounder was brought up, but ammunition soon ran short, and as a last resort the seven-pounder was loaded with gravel and stones from the road.

At this critical moment three volleys announced that Captain Cochrane had enfiladed the stockade. The Hausas were ordered to charge, but hesitated, until a native officer, waving his sword, adjured them in God's name to advance. They rose as one man and stormed the stockade in the teeth of terrific fire, thus opening the In this fierce combat every one of

The career of the play promises to be brilliant. Neilson, who is a charming Nell, played throughout with great power, her womanliness captivating all. The entire cast is very efficient. It includes Fred Terry as King Charles II. and Louise Calver as Lady Jeffreys. The play is strong, richly mounted and sumptuously costumed. There is hardly a dull moment throughout the four acts. At the close of the performance, in addition to a multiplicity of recalls after the various acts, Miss Neilson and Mr. Terry were made the subjects of a remarkable demonstration. In re-

AMONG THIEVES

Merchant Robbed of Over $25,000 at Niagara Falls-Purse-Stealing by Girls in Toronto.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Sept. 1 .- A big pockets, who relieved a wealthy Indian indigo merchant named Anand A. Advani, of a letter of credit for $25,000 and $185 in cash. Advani missed his money at the whirlpool rapids bazar, on the Gorge Railroad. It is altogether probable that pickpockets, who have been working about the falls recently secured his money. The police here and in Buffalo are working on the case. Advani has offices in Bombay and Calcutta, besides London, and is reputed to the one of the wealthiest East Indian merchants who has ever visited this country.

GIRL THIEVES. Toronto, Sept. 1 .- In the police court yesterday, four young girls—the eldest being 18 and the others about 15—admitted that for months they had been carrying on a purse-stealing and general thieving business in the city as an organized gang. The leader was Bella O'Brien, and the others, who received a regular wage from Bella, who ran chances on being recouped by the plunder, were Annie Ayling, Lizzie Shaw and Irene Forward. The girls went into stores together, and the O'Brien girl did the stealing, while the others distracted attention from her actions. The wages of the girl Forward, who turned Queen's evidence, and told of a long series of robberies, were $2 50 per week. Gold watches, fine clothing, and many purses were among the spoils. The girl O'Brien received an medicine, and I would not be without intermediate sentence at the Mercer, a bottle in my house."

THE NOMINATIONS. nominations, ex-Warden W. Watter- whelming majority was a certainty worth said he had much pleasure in throughout the Dominion. I remember presenting to the consideration of the well in 1897, when Sir Charles decendlarge and representative convention the ed upon the Province of Nova Scotia name of their esteemed representative, and declared that the annihilation of Sir Kichard Cartwright. (Cheers.) It was quite unnecessary and out of place to say anything as to the character of Sir Richard or his qualifications to represent them. He was not only well an orator and a statesman, was not confined to the Dominion of Canada, but had gone beyond its confines. Any country should be extremely proud indeed to have such an able representative as Sir Richard Cartwright. (Applause.) He was sure that Sir Richard's name would be received with enthuslasm and his election would be certain if he received the nomination, which he had no doubt he would when the ballot was taken. The nomination was received with cheers.

The nomination was seconded by Mr. W. S. Schell. The following were also nominated:

Mr. Thos. Maybury, Mr. J. B. Jackson, Col. J. C. Hegler, M. S. Schell, Stephen Noxon, Dr. McKay, M. P. P., Justice Miller (Ingersoll), Andrew Pattullo, M.P.P., Valentine Fitch, Donald Guth-Thomas Brown, John Shehan, William Messrs. Schell, Shehan, Brown, Cook,

Watterworth, Guthrie and Fitch announced their retirement. Brief speeches were made by Mr. Andrew Pattullo, M.P.P., Mayor Miller, of Ingersoll; Dr. McKay, M. P. P., S. Noxon, M. S. Schell, Col. Hegler, J. B. Jackson and T. R. Mayburn. All the other candidates having retired in favor of Sir Richard Cartwright, the president cast a ballot, and rousing cheers greeted the announcement that the minister of trade and commerce was the unanimous nominee of the convention.

STR RICHARD'S SPEECH. On Sir Richard coming forward three cheers were called for and given with tremendous vigor. The cheers were renewed before the minister of trade and commerce had time to commence his speech. When the cheering had subsided Sir Richard spoke as follows: Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen-You have done me a very great honor, and I hope and trust that before many months have elapsed I shall be able to prove to you that you have also done some slight service to the Laberal cause throughout the Province of Ontario, and possibly throughout this Dominion. Do not suppose for one moment that because you have upon four several occasions bestowed this distinguished honor upon me, who came among you a stranger, hardly known to you, except by reputation, that I have in the slightest degree lost the appreciation which I then formed of the electorate who did me so great a favor and so great an honor. (Hear, hear.) When I first had the honor of being selected as the representative of this banner constituency of Western Ontario, the fortunes of the Liberals were perhaps in as extremely low a plight as they had been for forty years. You did not select me then because you had any reason or just expectation that within any reasonable period of time, or within a short period of time, the Liberal party would succeed in returning to power. You selected me knowing well that by selecting me you placed yourselves in a position of direct antagonism to the powers that be. Few and far between, in those days, were the services which your representative could render to the constituency of is one which is specially conversant South Oxford, and I do not say too with the details of your trade and much in saying, as I do say, that you were for many years proscribed and 1867, the total trade and commerce of marked by our opponents by reason of Canada amounted to, I think, $130,000,your devoton to the Liberal cause. If, and justice is done to you, it is only a very small compensation for the dethat you have manufested during all this period toward Liberal principles. But I know well that it is not

For cessful, and it is for you and for the electors of Canada to say whether the circumstances ought to be reckoned as Liberal party, or, what is more, the people of Canada, have any reason to be ashamed of the record of the last four years of of the manner in which the Liberal Government have conducted your affairs. VAPORINGS OF SIR CHARLES. I do not take any very great amount that that worthy gentleman people see Sir Charles Tupper they will Conservative regime shall once more flourish in the land. (Laughter.) Well, gentlemen, those of us who know Sir Charles Tupper, those of us who remember Sir Charles Tupper's declarations in olden time, know very well what amount of value is to be attached to Sir Charles' utterances. I remember perfectly well in 1896 that Sir Charles declared in equally stentorian As soon as the president called for tones that his election by an overpresent them. He was not only well known to the audience but throughout the Dominion and his fame, both as party, out of 36 Local members, returned 8. (Cheers and laughter.) I remember in the same year, or a few months later, that Sir Charles, backed this time by that notable prophet, Mr. George Eulas Foster, declared that the Conservatives were about to descend in their might upon the Province of New Brunswick, and sweep the dastard, mongrel cabinet, as he called it, into utter perdition; and I remember very well a few weeks later, that out of 46 representatives in New Brunswick the Conservatives succeeded in returning 4. (Cheers and laughter.)

RESULT IN QUEBEC. I remember very well how a little later they were going to sweep Quebec, and unless I am very greatly deceived my friend. Mr. Marchand, was returned by a considerably larger marie, Wm. Watterworth, G. H. Cook, jority than heretofore. I remember also how there was going to be an end, not merely of Mr. Pattullo, Dr. McKay and Mr. Hardy, but of the whole Liberal administration of the Province of Ontario, and I believe that these gentlemen are today stronger than when the ballots were cast in 1898. There is the result of five Conservative predictions. True it is, Sir Charles and his friends have succeeded in winning a skirmish in Manitoba, although I believe, if the truth was known, that my friend Mr. Greenway, had a majority of the votes that were cast, even if he was in a minority in the constituencies.

LIBERAL RESPONSIBILITY. Now. I just want to call your attention to one fact: In days gone by the Conservative party were in the habit of holding the Liberal party strictly responsible for every misforfune, for every calamity—regardless whether or not it was one that could be foreseen or by any possibility be averted-which overtook the people of Canada. We were held responsible, as you all know, for every disaster that occurred from 1873 to 1878, no matter how clearly we might prove and show that it did not occur through any acts of the Liberal Government, but was due to the acts of our predecessors rather than our own. Now, I propose to apply the same excellent rules to the Conservative Government in Manitoba. According to their rules, the Government of the country, mind you, is responsible for every disaster, misfortune or calamity that may happen. Well, the Conservatives have won in Manitoba, and what is the consequence For years they have not had a shorter crop in Manitoba than they have had this season. (Cheers and laughter.) THE GROWTH OF TRADE. Turning from fiction to fact, turning from Sir Charles Tupper public records, I want to lay before you two or three brief statements. I am not going to inflict a column of figures upon you; I am going to lay before you two or three brief statements, which go to show how the affairs of Canada have suffered from the substitution of Liberal for Conservative rule during the past four years. As one of our friends rightly said, the department of trade and commerce, over which I have the honor to preside commerce. Well, sir, 33 years ago, in 000. Four years ago, in 1896, the total herefore, I am in any degree able now trade and commerce of Canada amount-o see that fair play is rendered to you ed to, I think, $239,000,000. In the period from 1867 to 1896 it had grown from a trifle over $108,000,000. From 1896 to the present year of grace, 1900. the commerce of Canada has grown from $239,000,000 to $372,000,000, being an increase of $133,000,000 in four years in that we can render to you at Ottawa | the total volume of our trade and exports, as against an increase of $108,-000,000 in eight and twenty years which preceded the return of the Liberal party to power in the Dominion. (Loud cheers.) Now, sir, that is a fact. Account for it and make any explanation you please, but that is exactly what has happened in the last four years, as against the eight and twenty preceding years.

THE PUBLE DERT

THE PUBLC DEBT. Then there is another point to which our friends on the opposition side have drawn a great deal of attention, and that is this: They have contended, and contended rightly that we in times past deprecated the enormous rate at which the public debt was increasing, and they have condemned us in the most unmeasured language. Why? "Because, forsooth, after you had declaimed against the increase of the public debt on every public platform in Canada, you yourselves in a period of four years, or three years, have added $7,-000,000 to the public indebtedness." Well, gentlemen,that is true; or rather it is one-half the truth, which is about the nearest the Conservative speakers can get to it. When the Con-servatives went out of office they left servatives went out of office they left undischarged obligations for the con-struction of canals and for public works very considerably exceeding $16,000,000. We have added, they say, $7,000,000. Now, gentlemen, though the facts are not absolutely published, I may tell you this, We have so ad-ministered the affairs of Canada dur-ing the last year that although we ing the last year that although we have had to build enormous public works and we have had great expenditures to make, we have given $2,-000,000 to the service of the empire. equipping and sending out our contingents on the 30th of June, or our debt had not increased one copper during the last year. (Loud cheers.) More than that: in the four years which terminated the period I speak of, the total increase of the debt was a little best calculated to carry it out.

the last four years your efforts and the last four years your efforts and those of your friends throughout the those of your friends throughout the per cent loan, put there by my friend per cent loan.

> REDUCTION OF INTEREST. On the contrary, by effecting that loan at 2½ per cent, he has laid the foundation for a very considerable reduction, a permanent reduction, in the charges for interest, and it is in no way justly charged against us. There was besides $2,000,000, which was given, as I believe, with the full consent of the people of Canada, as a special gift of the people of Canada to the empire. (Cheers.) Deduct that, and you will really find that in the four years the total increase farly chargeable to the Liberal party has barely amounted to $4,000,000, although when we took office we assumed liabilities of $16,000,-000; and for Sir Charles Tupper's information I will add that in the four years preceding the Conservative government had contrived to add at least $16,000,000 to the total capital indebtedness of Canada. (Cheers.)

an injury to us.

CIRCUMSTANCES HAVE CHANGED More than that. I once in past time condemned, and justly condemned, the recklessness with which the expenditure was being piled up, but mainly on this ground, because I saw that day by day and year by year our opponents were adding to what may be called the fixed capital charges of the country, so that a very small amount was left for us to expend for other purposes, and you may not wonder that when we found in 1895 that the total fixed charges of Canada that could not well be controlled or reduced—charges for the collection of revenue, payment of interest on the public debt, and railway subsidies—amounted to something like $27,000,000, and that the whole sum available for the discharge of the various duties of government was barely $6,000,000 or $7,000,000, we did condemn, and justly condemn, the government of the day for indulging in any expenditure that could possibly (Cheers.) How stands the avoided. case? In the year 1895 the revenue, as I have said, was about $6,000,000, after deducting the fixed charges. How stands the case today? After deducting all these same fixed charges it would amount to something like $21,-000,000, being to all practical intents and purposes three or four times as much income available for ordinary purposes of government as we possess ed four years ago. (Cheers.) Those are facts which neither Mr. Foster nor Sir Charles Tupper can deny. They cannot alter them, and cannot prevent us from proving them, however much they may endeavor to claim the credit for themselves (why I cannot imagine) for having brought about such a state of things

THE EXODUS STOPPED. More than that, as you know also, one reason why the Liberal party deprecated any unnecessary and extravagant expenditure was this: During all that long period, as you well know, our people were flying from the country to the United States by tens of thousands. by hundreds of thousands; flying, I might almost truly say, by millions. from this country. But now the tide has changed. Now, for the first time in our history, largely owing to the able administration of his department by my friend, Mr. Sifton, we find that instead of our people flying from Canada to the United States by thousands every month, we see that large numbers of our compatriots and their children are making their way from the am speaking from recollection, but I know I am not more than a few entries astray, if at all, when I say that in the single item of homesteads entries alone, the homestead entries which have been made in the Northwest alone, apart from the sales by railroad companies, which in itself is a very good indication, and by private persons and companies, have increased nearly 400 per cent. In 1896 they amounted to, I think. carely 1,600 all told; in the last year, 1899, or the early part of this year for which we have the records, they amounted to, not 1,600 alone, but to 6,400 homestead entries, every one representing a family, and every family making a large addition to the producing and purchasing capacity of Canada.

METHODS OF RELIEVING BUR-DENS. Now upon the question of taxation. There are two ways in which the government of the country may relieve the burdens of the people, and they are ment the credit for what occurred unthese: either by practising strict economy or by so developing the resources; for themselves. (Cheers.) of the country and the increase of po-pulation that the number of those who contribute to the revenue shall be largely increased. These gentlemen talk of the recklessness and of the extent of which we have added to the public debt, but they desire wholly and entirely to keep from the view of the people of Canada the fact that during the four years of Liberal rule there is every reason to believe that the population of Canada has increased by from 400,000 to 500,000, and that in consequence the actual charge per capita is largely less today than it was in 1896, the year to which they are so fond of referring. (Cheers.) A STRIKING CONTRAST.

It is known that when he assumed office in 1873 he inherited enormous obligations, contracted by his predecessors, which he could not honorably refuse to discharge United States to Canada. (Cheers.) I and for which they had made no provision whatever. It is known also that after he assumed those obligations this country in common with other countries was severely affected by a depression which was world-wide in its effects. The United States in its whole history never experienced a more severe depression than that which existed during the period between 1873 and 1878. The same is true with respect to Great Britain and the nations of Europe generally. There was a large reduction in the value of all products and of most articles of general commerce, and there was in consequence a considerable fall in revenue. (Hear, hear.) I am within the judgment of every honest and intelligent man in Canada, whether he be Conservative or Reformer, whether under these circumstances the Conservative party did not, one and all, hold Mr. Mackenzie and his colleagues to the very strictest account for every disaster that overtook Canada during their period of office. (Hear, hear.) They held them up to the people as men utterly incapable of efficiently administering public affairs. Misfortunes came which no foresight could have prevented, and also because of ways. If the Conservatives blamed Mr. strongest possible way by the blood of There is one body that knows more than anybody, and that is everybody.

-Talleyrand. Alex. Mackenzie for everything that occurred during his term of office, they should not withdraw from this governder their administration and claim it DESIRE OF THE GOVERNMENT.

Now, I have a word to say to you with respect to the prosperity of Canada at the present time. The desire of the government is this: We desire, first and foremost, to render equal justice to all classes of persons and to all portions of Canada; we desire as far as in us lies to make this Canada of ours a united Canada; we do not want only that there should be no distinction in Canada between Roman Catholie and Protestant Frenchmen or Englishman, between the man who speaks one language or the man who speaks another language, or between the man who professes one religion and the man who professes another; but we want to see every man in Canada proud And now I do not want to detain to be a Canadian, and working togethyou, but I want you to contrast for er, shoulder to shoulder, for the benefit of this country each day. Acting upon that view my friend and leader, Wilfrid Laurier, took his political life in his hands in 1896, and in opposition position, apparently, to every instinct of his own people, he took the position that every province should have the right to manage its own affairs as it deemed best. (Hear, hear.) It was a noble, a daring thing for him to do. (Cheers.) The triumph Sir Wilfrid Laurier achieved in settling the school question was the greatest achievement of any administration in the last fifty years. (Cheers.)

SIR WILFRID AND THE CONTIN-

GENT. The same spirit which actuated him then actuated him in dealing with the question of the contingent. It was no part of his duty to rush uncalled for into the fray. Sir Wilfrid Laurier had been blamed for lack of energy, but he would have been derelict in his duty if he had failed to consider carefully and well what was the proper thing for Canada to do at that particular moment, and so far from being blamed for taking time to act with due consideration, he never showed himself better qualified for the office of leader than when, after mature consideration, he did decide to cast in our lot with the mother country. He saw to it that our valuable contingent should be foremost in the field in South Africa the moment it became clear that British territory was invaded, and that the object of Paul Kruger and his friends was to sweep the British influence and the actions of our predecessors; it was name from off the continent of South extremely difficult for us to submit to Africa. (Cheers.) It was infinitely to these without great loss of revenue. I the credit of Sir Wilfrid Laurier that will take these gentlemen now on their he did it after full and careful conown ground. Uncle Sam Has No Political Interests in China Beyond Securing Freedom of Trade and Intercourse.

New York, Sept. 1 .- The London correspondent of the Tribune says people in London well recognize that the United States, which has no political interests in China beyond that of secourse, should be anxious to withdraw ever presented in the city. No money from the Asiatic continent as speedily as possible. Britain, however, as the holder of Hong Kong and Wei Hai Wei, cannot retire so easily. Whether it is due to the habitual suspicion entertained of Muscovite diplomacy in this country it is impossible to say. but it is certain that the Russian peacemaking suggestions are not liked.

LI'S FAIR PROMISES. New York, Sept. 1.-Li Hung Chang has sent the following cablegram from Shanghai, under date of Aug. 31, in answer to inquiries made of him by the Tribune: "Withdrawal of foreign troops from Pekin will facilitate peace negotiations. No doubt need be enter-tained that I shall undertake vigorously to restore order, protect foreigners and punish and suppress Boxers.

(Signed) "LI HUNG CHANG." A dispatch sent to Wu Ting Fang, the Chinese minister to the States, who is at Cape May, asking his opinion of the message from Earl Li, was answered as follows: "Earl Li Hung Chang's answer is correct. He will undoubtely do what he says."

SPRINGBANK DAM

Will Be Completed Next Week-Contractor Grant Says the Structure Will Last One Hundred Years.

The Springbank dam will be completed next week. Contractor Grant says that it will last 100 years, being built of artificial stone. The dam has a total length over all of 383 feet, including abutments. The dam proper, between the flume-wall and first sluicepier, is 274 feet long. Work on the dam was begun thirteen months ago, but there has been only about nine months of constant labor, with from 20 to 200 men steadily engaged. The average number of men employed per day this summer has been 40.

Contractor Grant, who has been contracting for large public works for 40 years, says there is no dam on the continent which will better answer the purposes for which it was constructed than will this one. The venture, from a financial standpoint, has not, Grant says, been a success owing to several washouts and trouble with laboring men when they went on strike for increased wages.

The commissioners promised to pay Grant & Co. $44,050 for the construction of the dam, provided they completed the structure some time in December last. The penalty for failure was fixed at $50 per day. Consequently the commissioners are at liberty to rerain some $10,000 or $12,000 of the contract price. They will not keep it all. They may keep some. The failure of Grant & Co. to have the work completed on time, no matter the causes, has been an expensive matter for the Hundreds of tons of coal have had to be used, where the rushing waters in the flumeway would have filled

The dam is built entirely of cement, having a capping of steel. At the base it is 20 feet through. Back of this again is a crib-work 20 feet thick, giving a total width at the bottom of 40 The height of the dam is 19 feet. The top has what is known as the G" shape, curving like the letter "S." The crest is protected with steel plates 6 feet wide, and bolted to anchors or knees every 6 feet. The down-stream side of the dam is protected with the crib-work referred to, which is 10 feet deep, and runs across the whole length of the dam. The up-side is perpendicular, and is carefully covered with fine sand and cement to prevent the entrance of water. The rear of the cement structure, where the crib-work begins, is 10 feet 6 inches high. Provision is made for flash-boards.

At the north end of the dam there are two sluice-ways, each 24 feet wide in the clear. By means of stop-logs there may be quickly opened or closed, together or separately. The fish-way is at the south end.

GONE FORWARD

Remarkable Growth of One of London's Youngest and Most Enterprising Firms-The Messrs. Clark Pennock & Co.

Every public-spirited citizen takes a certain amount of pride in the successful advancement of the city's business concerns, and it has been with no little satisfaction that the rapid growth of one of London's youngest and most enterprising firms, Messrs. Clark, Pennock & Co., has been noted. The firm launched out in the millinery business three years ago, and since then it has gone forward rapidly. With the ambition, enterprise and energy of young men they brought in to the business bright, up-to-date methods that helped them largely in building it up. While progressive they were also prudent. They reaped the advantage gained from the experiences of other firms, and thus avoiding the pitfalls of commercial life were enabled to make surer and more substantial progress. Strict attention to business, and a reputation for supplying the very best of the most up-to-date goods at moderate prices, soon built up a very liberal and increasing trade, and today, at the end of the three brief years of their existence, they can confidently claim the proud position of being one of the foremost concerns of Western Ontario. They also do an extensive business in Manitoba and the Northwest.

The public generally do not realize what this means for the city. London's splendid railway facilities and situation justifies its claim to be considered the shipping center for Western Ontario, and the contention has been strengthened through the energy of this young firm, who have made it German legation will be established at the distributing point for the Western Ontario millinery trade. The firm employs six travelers on the road all the year around, and also have a large number of hands employed in their

Their millinery openings have been held since Aug. 22, and it is no extravagant statement to say that they eclipsed all such openings ever held in the city. They gave another opportunity of showing the worth of such a firm to the city. Not only were there many merchants from outside places, but the openings were also attended by many from the city. The firm have procred the latest and most attractive goods offered at the great Paris, London and New York establishments. This year they have had exceptional facilities for making a magnificent display. They have re-cently moved from their former premises, which were too small for their rapidly-growing trade, and they are now installed in new and enlarged warehouses on Richmond street, where they can conveniently carry on busi-

The firm have arranged everything in the most convenient way, and the warerooms present a very neat and tosty appearance. The ground floor, or basement, is used as a storage room and also as a shipping room and place for the opening of the large cases of imported goods. On the first floor, at the right of the main entrance, is a large and well appointed office. flat is devoted to the hat department, and here are to be found all the latest styles in ladies' felt hats. A large shipping room in the rear is another important department of the warehouse. The second flat is devoted to silks, velvets, ribbons, feathers and all the other rich and beautiful trimmings which go to make up a well-dressed lady's headgear. The third flat is the millinery room proper. This department contains assortment of articles that are the joy of the fair sex. Here are displayed hundreds of all the latest Paris, London and New York pattern hats. The styles for this fall are particularly beautiful. They were viewed with delight by the throngs that attended the openings. The fourth or top flat is devoted to ornaments, fancy feathers and braid. This department, like all the rest, is very prettily arranged, and, in fact, there is an air of neatness about the whole place that betokens careful attention, good judgment and taste, together with years of practical experi-

Steamer Deutschland Beats All Trans atlantic Records.

New York, Sept. 1.-The famous express steamer Deutschland of the Hamburg-American Line has again eclipsed all previous records for fast tranatlantine traveling. She has broken the eastern and western records.

Her time on the voyage just ended is 5 days, 12 hours, 29 minutes, between The Mole, at the entrance of the Cherbourg harbor, and the Sandy Hook lightship. At noon of the 31st she passed the record for the fastst day's run, making 584 knots. Her average speed was 23.02 knots per hour. The Deutschland sailed from Hamburg, Aug. 25; Southampton and Cher-bough, 26th; she passed The Mole at the entrance of the latter port, at 9:55 c'clock on the evening of Aug. 26, arriving at Sandy Hook lightship at 5:24

POLITICAL POINTERS

Several Conservative Nomination Made on Friday-The Candidates in West Huron.

Mr. D. C. Fraser, M.P., was nominated in Guysboro. A Kingston, Ont., dispatch says: There is a feeling among the city conservatives that H. A. Calvin should be taken from the county and made the city candidate for the commons.

At a Conservative convention at Bridgetown, N. S., J. B. Mills was chosen as candidate to contest the county of Annapolis, N. S., at the coming federal elections.

Toronto Telegram: The East Middlesex protest, as prophesied, has been withdrawn. This was the last day for the filing of the necessary particulars and none were tiled. The trial was set for Sept. 13.

East and West Elgin ballots were sent down to St. Thomas today for the trials of the protests against the return of Mr. Brower and Mr. McDiarmid, which open there on Tuesday and Wednesday.

WEST HURON CONSERVATIVES. Goderich, Ont., Sept. 1.-The West Huron Conservative convention at Smith's Hill yesterday indorsed Mr. Robert McLean as the party candidate. Mr. McLean, in a moderate speech, accepted the honor, and the two Bobs are once more in the field. Dr. Sproule, M.P., North Gray, and T. W. Leavite, the Conservative organizer, each addressed the gathering. Resolutions in support of Sir Charles Tupper and Mr. J. P. Whitney were carried with three

MR. ROWELL FOR EAST YORK. Reformers of St. Paul's Ward met in Cumberland Hall, Toronto, last evening, to consider the most desirable candidate to bring before the East York convention, which will convene Friday next. The names of Mr. N. W. Rowell, Mr. R. J. Gibson, Mr. Peter Ryan, Mr. John Richardson and Ald. J. K. Leslie were submitted and a ballot taken. Mr. Rowell was found to have received a majority over the others, and accordingly his name will be brought before the convention as the choice of St. Paul's Ward. Mr. Rowell is an ex-Londoner, and was as popular here as he appears to be in the community of which he now forms Prosperous Farmers.

[Montreal Herald.] Question-Have the farmers of Canada shared in the general prosperity since 1896? Answer-Yes, they undoubtedly have. Q .- To what is this particularly to be attributed?

A .- Very largely to the fact that under the business-like administration of the department of agriculture by the Hon. Sidney Fisher, it is now possible to concentrate agricultural production in Canada so that there is increasing available surplus which fin is a ready sale in the market of Great Britain. Q.-What steps were taken to this end? A .- A workable system of cold storage, from the producer to the con-sumer, was installed at factories, on railways, at central cold storage stations in cities, and on steamships, as the result of inducements offered by the Parliament of Canada on Mr. Fisher's recommendation.

Q.-How did this affect the butter trade, for example? A .- The net result is, that while in the year ending June 30, 1896, the total exports of Canadian butter to Great Britain amounted to only $893,-053, in the year ending June 30, 1899, the total so exported was $3,526,007. Q .- What does the gain amount to? A.-Last year the Canadian farmers got from Great Britain, for butter alone, two and a half millon dollars more than in 1896. Q.—Was there also an increase in the exportation of eggs to Great Brit-

A.-Yes; from a value of $704,768 in 1896, to $1,254,392 in 1899. Q.-Did this installation of cold storage facilities have any effect upon the export business in hams and bacon? A .- Yes; in 1896 the total export of hams and bacon to Great Britain was

$4,370,349; in 1899 it was $10,407,654. Q .- So that there was here an increase in the business done by the Canadian farmers of six million dollars a

A.-Yes. Q.-Was the increase in the butter trade at the expense of former busine in cheese exports? A .- No; in 1896 the exports of cheese had a total value of $13,924,672, whereas in 1899 the total was three millions greater, or $16,718,418. Q.-Taking the exports for the year ending June 30, 1896, as the standard, what is he total increase in the value of these productions to the Canadian farmer, as shown by the trade returns? A .- First as to eggs; the increase was $219,197 in the first year; $539,283 in the second year; $549,624 in the third year; a total of $1,308,004 on the item of eggs alone. Q.-What about butter?

A .- In the first year the increase was $1.019,336; in the second year $1,002,497; a large and bewilderingly attractive in the third year, $2,623,954; a total gain of $4,674,787 in three years on the butter exports. Q.-What has been the total increase on hams and bacons? A.-In the first year $1,461,274; in the second year, $3,659,133; in the third year, $6,937,243; a total of $11,157,659. Q.—And on cheese exports?

A.-In the first year, $721,187; in the second year, $3,598,000; in the third year, $2,793,746; a total of $7,112,942. Q.—What do you calculate to be the total increase sales of these four items. resulting largely from the inauguration

A.-$24,253,383 in these three years, Q.-That looks as though the Canadian farmers were getting their share of the prosperity of the period? A .- Yes, it does, and it explains the almost unvarying support being given by the farming community to the Laurier administration

RETURN OF CONVICTIONS. Police Court Clerk John Moule has compiled his quarterly report of convictions for non-indictable offenses. These include breaches of bylaw and liquor license act, vagrancy, drunk and disorderly, common assault, and minor offenses. Summary convictions during the quarter numbered 199. This is nearly double the number for the corresponding quarter last year, and this increase in police court business has meant a great deal of extra work for the officials, and especially for Clerk Moule. The fines imposed during the quarter totaled $677, but all of this amount was not paid, as many of those fined went to jail in default of pay-ment. Winnipeg, Aug. 31.-It is understood that there was an important meeting of the C. P. Chicago Tribune: William Jennings Bryan's three books—"Republic or Empire?" "The First Battle" and "The Second Battle"-all expounding the Democratic doctrines of the present campaign, have been boycotted by the union printers as the produce of non-union labor. The International Typographical Union tonight took formal steps to expose publicly the action of Mr. Bryan in having his campaign books produced by non-union workmen. Evidence was presented to the convention showing that since the disclosures made relative to the non-union workmanship on the books, the Democratic National Committee had sought to circumvent criticism on Mr. Bryan by attempting surreptitiously to unionize the shops of W. B. Conkey at Hammond, Ind., where the books are being produced. Efforts are being made to unionize the shops illegally and without the consent of Chicago Typographical London's twelve had a fast practice last night preparatory to the game with the Alerts of St. Marys on Monday next. This season the local team were handicapped by having to meet the strong Alerts early in the schedule, before the local team had settled down to hard work or before the executive had a chance to sift out a good team. The twelve that went up against Brantford on Wednesday last showed a great improvement over the teams of preceding games and the team for Monday's game will be still stronger. The local executive have been on the still hunt for players to make up next season's twelve, and have succeeded in digging up some of the most promising youngsters in this part of the province. They will be given a good chance to show what they can do on the holiday.

THROUGH AN

Wabash Train Plunges Into the River Rouge.

A Vancouver Family Burned to Death Manitoba Man and His Two Children Killed in a Hurricane.

Detroit, Sept. 1.-A double-header Wabash freight train plunged into the River Rouge through an open drawbridge yesterday morning. The train had come up close to the bridge, and stopped at the warning post, but the signal for them to proceed was long in coming, and they took chances. They crept slowly on through the fog which prevailed at the time, but when they came close to the edge, the leading engineer noticed that the bridge was open and whistled for brakes, at the same time reversing his engine. The second engineer did the same, but the slack of the train bumped into them and pushed the locomotives over the bank. The water is 15 feet deep at this point, and into it the two ponderous locomotives plunged.

CREWS JUMPED. The crews of the engines had only time to jump as the head of the train went over the side. Four cars went over, and lodged in such a way as to block the track completely, preventing the bridge from closing, and render ing navigation impossible on that sid of the bridge. Superintendent G. M. Burns estimated the loss at $9,000 at the very outside.

KILLED IN A HURRICANE. Wapella, Man., Sept. 1.-Wapella wa the scene of a disastrous storm of wind, rain and hail on Tuesday night The wind blew a regular cyclone for short time. The public school, a ston-structure, had one part of the roo completely destroyed, stables were de molished on every hand. Considerable damage was done to standing crops, while many farmers have to rebuild. But the saddest thing is the death of Angus McDonald and family, who were living on their farm about two miles from town. When the storm was at its height they decided to seek refuge in the celiar. The father took his daughter, a girl of two, in his arms, while the mother took charge of the little boy aged six. Just as the father attempted to lift the cellar trap door the wind blew the trap door into his face. Seeing no escape that way they decided to get outside, but before being able to do so the cyclone lifted house and inmates, and in a few minutes all was desolation. Hope is entertained that the mother will recover, but the others are dead.

MAN, WIFE AND CHILD PERISH. Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 1 .- A. Rescoa, wife and child were burned to death here Thursday morning. Their twostory frame house was discovered on fire about 3 o'clock, and as soon as the flames were partially extinguished, the firemen entered and found the charred remains of Mrs. Rescoa on the lower floor. A. Rescoa was in bed with burning clothes wrapped around him, suffocated. The baby had rolled from the bed on the floor in its agony. .

MANY VICTIMS

Cleveland People Being Killed Off Fast by Street Cars.

[Clevelad Plaindealer.] Aug. 13-Thomas Baker, aged 10 years, of No. 1393 East Madison avenue, struck by a cross-town car while rid ing a wheel and died later in the day Aug. 20-Peter Huberty, of No. 863

Aug. 22-Mrs. Maggie Helmrich, of No. 319 Chandler avenue, bruised, left arm infured.

Aug. 22-Anton Gaush, of 206 Willson avenue, bruised. Aug. 23—George Gerlach, two years old, of No. 164 Gauge street, bruised. Aug. 23-Jerome Sullivan, of No. 32

Newton street, painful bruises.

Aug. 24-Harry Hillwitz, of No. 285 Broadway, badly bruised.
Aug. 27—Anton Jersey, 18 years old, probably fatally injured.

Aug. 27—Anna Kasper, 7 years old, died as result of injuries. Aug. 28—Henrietta Stoll, 6 years old, killed.

Since Aug. 13 to yesterday afternoon reports had been made to the police of street car accidents in which three people have been killed and seven others injured. Of the latter number one more death is expected. There appears to be an epidemic of accidents. It is a question whether they are the result of carlessness on the part of the street car employes, of citizens, or whether they are mere coincidences. The coroner will decide this question in the three instances in which death ensued. Since Monday of this week the lives of two sweet little girls, not yet in their teens have been wiped out.

Work of Increasing Springbank's Attractiveness Continued by the Company.

Pleasure in Plenty Awaiting the Park's Patrons-Labor Day Will See the Best Programme of the Season-An Extra Matinee.

The management of the London

Street Railway Company is a whole "Booster Club" in itself, as far as Springbank is concerned. Seemingly, its one aim and endeavor recently has thought came over me that we might just been to boost the popular park to the pinnacle of public favor by the most | the whale as to die by inches. The hours approved boosting processes known, wore on, however, and we began to grow - 16 Of course, the difficulties of their task were in a measure overcome by the many attractive features of the place, ever being rescued, my companion. Bill its proximity to the city, its magnifi- Royce, gave a shout of joy and pointed cent natural beauty, the shade of its out over the ocean toward a big steam splendid old trees, the cool breezes of frigate which was pointing in our directhe river. These qualities, so good in tion. We were quite sure she saw us as themselves, appeal to all classes, and we must have been plainly marked against especially to those who seek rest and quiet enjoyment, but in this age of every-day hustle and stern attention to the money-making and wrinkle-productive ride of life and rakish and we must have been finantly marked against the angry colors of the sunset. The vessel looked like a man-of-war, for her spars were clean cut and rakish and we caught the glint of polished brass work. ing side of life, most of us have a - 15 strong hankering after a bit of pleasure. The management of the com-pany has worked upon this condition of things. In doing so they made a radical departure from Barnum's desire-tobe-gulled view of the public, and in providing amusement for the people they said at the outset that by giving sheer, cramful abundance of value for money expended, they would win for the park the fullest measure of patronage. For next week the company is offering a prodigality of pleasure-producing features. Apparently it was not satisfied last week with giving the biggest array of good things ever offered in the city for ten cents, because this week they are building up and improving the programme again. For Labor Day and the balance of the week they have been fortunate in procuring a very excellent programme. The effect of good specialties may be spoiled by a poor setting, and to avert this possible drawback, the stage and lights will be improved. The feature of the attractions will be a clever comedy sketch that was originated and produced by Somerset and Ellis. Its title, "Kitchen Courtship," is redundantly suggestive of laughable situations, of unexpected and amusing climaxes. Wherever it has been seen it has been proclaimed as a capital novelty in one act that permits the risibilities of no onlooker to stay in a state of repose. Besides the comedy part there is in-troduced into the sketch the popular Spanish dance and duo singing, and lso Billy Bump's abreast-of-the-times Chinese song, "Little Ah Sid." The catchy songs and national dances of the clever comedienne, Miss Bertha Ellis, will undoubtedly be as popular here as they have been in other places where this versatile entertainer has appeared. The company has re-engaged Mr. Horace Somerset, so that those who were unable to hear the popular tenor this week, may have an opportunity of doing so. He will introduce a number of new ballads of the descriptive type. Catchy music will be dispersed by the Musical Society Band, who will be assisted in making the time pass pleasantly for the crowds by the Opera House Orchestra. This unusually com-

An Old Whaleman's Exciting Story of a Race for Life That Made His Hair Turn Gray and Caused Him to Quit the Business.

"It was in 1873," said the old sea captain, "and I was an able seaman on the whaler Rivenoak looking for blubber in the south Atlantic, with a seat in the second mate's whaleboat. We had had the boats ready to lower and the mast heads manned for over three weeks be fore we sighted grease, and when the cry, "There she blows." rang but from the fore skysail yard the old man wen wild with delight. 'Sperm whale sure he bawled. Down from aloft, every one! Stand by to lower!' We got the boats off in good shape, and our boat tool the lead, which we held till we came up with the whale. The boat header let g his harpoon, sending it out of sight int the side of the monster, which started of at a rate of speed that made the bon hum through the water. She kept this up for 20 minutes, and we soon lost sigh of the Rivenoak and the other boats And then, as though tiring of pulling a along, she suddenly showed flukes an began to make for the bottom like load of pig lead. The rope, one end o which was attached to the harpoon in the whale's back, ran out of the boat se fast that it looked like a thread of blue smoke.

"'Cut that rope if it fouls,' cried the mate, tossing me a hatchet, 'and lose no time about it! If you don't, God help us! The beast is going to sound 100 fathoms, sure!'

"I had just leaned forward to pick up the implement when there was a sud den jerk, a crashing, whirring sound, and I knew that the rope had fouled. The next minute I felt thyself drawn down through the ocean like a shot from a gun. I caught a brief glimpse of the longboat flashing through the water, a number of struggling forms, and then I began to come up. It seemed ages before I reach ed the surface and those blue skies never seemed so welcome before. Only one of my comrades succeeded in getting out of the boat, and he was floating about on a long plank which had been stored in the bottom of the boat for just such a purpose. I swam up and caught hold of the other end of it. Luckily the water was calm and the plank kept our heads well out of water. Not a sign of our ship or small boats did we see, however, and the as well have been pulled to the bottom by weak and it got to be a question of how much longer we could hold out. "Just as we were about to despair of aught the glint of polished The smoke was pouring out of her funnel and in a few minutes she was within a quarter of a mile of us. I remarked to Royce that we were very lucky, and receiving no reply I turned to look at him. "I have never seen such a look in a man's face before nor since. It was as white as a sheet, his eyes seemed to bulge out of his head and his teeth rattled together with castanets. He caught my look and in reply pointed off in the direction opposite to that from which the frigate was approaching. 'Sharks,' he whispered. 'They have been attracted by the whale's blood. It's all up now, for sure. "I saw but one shark. He was quite a distance off and was making for us in a leisurely way. The men on the warship saw it too and realized our danger. A single dull boom was heard, and a solid shot struck about 50 feet to one side of the man eater, which paid no attention to the compliment, but continued to make for us with a slightly increased speed. Behind him, about 30 feet in the rear, was another shark. Both were quite near now. So was the warship.

"We could hear the crew manning the davits and falls: we could hear the splash as the small boat took to the water. Again the gun boomed from the warship, but this time the shot went clear over the sharks and struck the water a quarter of a mile beyond. Nearer and nearer came the first shark, and we now saw that the small boat could not reach us in time. "The beast made straight for Royce, who screamed with terror. Over on his back turned the shark, with his cavernous mouth open and his long, cruel teeth reeking with froth. The boat was still 20 yards off. Royce in sheer terror let go his hold on the plank and tried to swim for it. The next instant the shark was upon him. I closed my eyes, heard a shriek from Royce, and when I looked the water was stained with blood, but Royce was gone. It was my turn now. The second shark was almost upon me, and I caught a glimpse of his little swinish eyes as he turned over on his back The yards of the warship were thronged, and nothing could be heard but the splash of the approaching boat. I was paralyzed. I could not have left the plank to save my soul. Nearer came the shark. and again I shut my eyes. I could even hear the snuffling of the beast, and then came the clear, cool command: 'Steady. men! Aim! Fire!' A volley of musketry awoke the stillness, and then I lost consciousness. When I came to, I was on the deck of the United States ship The jackies in the rowboat had shot the shark when it was within three feet of me. "Since then, gentlemen, I have never been in a whaler, and I bear an everlasting grudge against sharks, not only be cause of my close call, but because it made my hair turn as white as you now see it, which was not becoming to a boy

HIS MEMORY WAS GOOD.

Adept at Shopping.

Mr. S. wanted to move from the city to a small town near by in which there were but one or two stores. He would be in the city every day and agreed to purchase the "few little things" his wife could not buy in the village stores. "You'd better put them down on a piece of paper," said Mrs. S. when about to give her first order.

"Oh, no," said Mr. S. "My memory is "Well, then," began Mrs. S., "a spool of 60 black thread."

"Yes," said Mr. S. "A yard of not too light and not too dark calico."

"Yes." "A small hammer, a can of peaches, a dozen small pearl buttons, two yards of cardinal ribbon, silk on one side and satin on the other." "Yes," said Mr. S. thoughtfully. "A pair of slippers for baby, a dozen lemons, a good toothbrush, a pineapple, two ounces of sky blue yarn, an ounce vial of homeopathic nux vomica pellets, "Wait a second," said Mr. S., counting on his fingers and looking perplexed. "And a bottle of vanilla extract, and a yard of triple box plaited crepe lisse ruching, and three yards of small checked nainsook, and".

But Mr. S. had seized his hat and was running for the station.

What the poor man brought home was: A yard of bedticking, three yards of black crape, a bottle of vinegar, eight yards of nankeen, a scrubbrush, a pound of green yarn, 60 spools of "coat thread," a yard of very light and a yard of very dark calico and a pint bottle of homeopathic pills.

"There, my dear," he said triumphantly, throwing down his numerous packages, "I don't think you'll find a thing missing. Who says a man can't do shop-My memory never played me false Barbers In India. In India, the land of iron caste, the barbers rank away down along with the blacksmiths and the washerwomen. A barber's son must be a barber all his life. and his wife must be a barber's daughter. Like the Chinese barber, the Hindoo shaving man travels about in search of customers, and the barbering is done in the street. But there are no stools, both barber and customer squatting on their heels while the operation is performed. The Hindoo barber is a manicure and a chiropodist as well, and his pay is wretchedly small.

Barbers in India working as servants for a swell native family or for a European receive from $1.25 to $2 a month. They often act as surgeons, and they make a speciality of piercing the ears of young girls for earrings, while barbers' wives are almost always hairdressers.

Dressing Fish In 1575.

Prepare fish after this sort: Set a good quantity of white strong vinegar and stale ale, with a cursey of salt, a little mint, origanum, parsley and rosemary, and when your liquor boileth fast upon the fire stop the mouth of your fish with a natmeg thrust down into his throat and cast him skipping into the liquor, keeping him down till he be thorow dead and perfectly sodden. Dress pikes, roches, carps, grailings, mullets and all great fish of the river in the like sort, for it will make them to eat pleasant, crisp, brittle and firm, not watrish and flaggy, as most fish do, because we know not how to use and order them .-Dr. Thomas Muffett, 1575.

ARCTIC DELICACIES.

Meat, Hide and Hair.

This is the way an Eskimo lady sits at the head of her table and dispenses hospitality, and these are the delicate items in her bill of fare. They were tested at first hand by W. H. Gilder when, in crossing Siberia at the north, he had to accept native customs with what grace he might. No matter how early you may awaken in the morning, you will always find the mistress of the house already up-that is. her position has changed from reclining to sitting. But as soon as she observes that you are really awake she hands you a small piece of meat to steady your nerves until breakfast time. Then she goes into the next apartment. which is merely an inclosure for keeping the dogs away from the stores, and after 15 minutes of pounding and chopping returns with the breakfast.

A large, flat wooden tray is placed on the floor, and the landlady takes her position at one end in the attitude elegantly described as squatting. The family and their guests gather around the board on either side, lying flat on their stomachs with their heads toward the breakfast and their feet out.

The first course is some frozen weeds, mixed with seal oil and eaten with small portions of fresh blubber, which the lady of the house cuts with a large chopping knife.

The next course is walrus meat. This is also cut up by the presiding lady and is served with no stinting hand. At this portion of the meal the one who can wallow the largest piece without chewing has the advantage, and the only way to get even with him is to keep one piece in your mouth and two in your hand.

After this joint has been thoroughly discussed there comes a large piece of walrus hide, which has a small portion of blubber attached to it and the hair still on the outside. It is about an inch thick and very tough, so that it is impossible to affect it by chewing. It is therefore cut into very small pieces by the hostess and finishes the meat Really it is the most palatable dish of all.

China's Long Bridge.

The longest bridge in the world is, it is recorded, the Lion bridge, near Sangang, in China. It extends 51/4 miles over an area of the Yellow sea and is supported by 300 huge stone arches. The roadway is 70 feet above the water and is inclosed in an iron network. A marble lion, 21 feet long, rests on the crown of each pillar. The bridge was built at the command of the Emperor Keing Long.

The star attraction for the day and the ensuing week will be the production of Somerset and Ellis' laughable comedy-sketch, "Kitchen Courtship." This amusing one-act Courtship." This amusing one-act comedy has never before been seen in London, and its mirth-provoking qualities are such that it is assured of a favorable reception. In it will be intro-duced the graceful Spanish dance, duo singing, and Billy Bumps' comical Chinese song, "Little Ah Sid." Horace Somerset, the sweet-voiced tenor, will again delight his hearers with his renditions of the newest popular songs, while Miss Bertha Ellis, a dainty com-edienne, will sing catchy songs and do national dances. In addition to all this the Musical Society Band and the Opera House Orchestra, under the leadership of Fred L. Evans, will render a choice programme of musical selec-

Bniping Near Mafeking-Decoyed by a Woman-More Invalided Canadians Reach Quebec-The War Medal.

London, Aug. 31 .- The following dispatch has been received at the war office from Lord Roberts:

"Belfast, Aug. 31.-About 1,800 British prisoners released at Nooit Gedacht, have reached French and Pole-Carew. They are badly clothed, and some are said to be half-starved. Ambulances are out picking up sick and weakly ones. The officers are reported to have been taken to Barberton. Some of them escaped, including the Earl of Leitrim and Viscount En-nismore. The prisoners report that Kruger, Steyn, Botha, Lucas, Meyer and Schalk-Burger left Nooit Gedacht on Aug. 29 for Nelspruit.

"The Boers seem to be scattering." At the request of Lord Roberts the Cape Government has sent its medical officer of health, Dr. George Turner, to Pretoria, to advise on the sanitary condition of the city.

BOER GENERAL WOUNDED. Belfast, Aug. 30 .- The Boers admit that in the Carolina skirmish Com-mander Smuts, who was second in command, was wounded in the abdomen. SNIPING. Mafeking, Aug. 31.-Yesterday evening Pte. Park, of the Royal Fusiliers, who was on outpost duty at Maritzani, on challenging a man who was approaching him, was fired at by the latter and wounded in the leg with an expanding bullet. Four men of the Munster Fusiliers were also fired at yesterday while patrolling at Roolground. They were allowed to approach to within twenty yards of a farm, when a party of Boers opened fire from it, wounding two of the men, one of whom has since died. Another was taken prisoner, but the fourth succeeded in escaping.

DECOYED. Machadodorp, Sept. 1 .- One of the South African horse was wounded in a skirmish three miles outside this camp, and subsequently died. A party of seven having become detached on the left, the Boers fired upon them at close range. A hussar was also wounded. A woman beckoned to the cavalry scouts from a farm house, and on their approaching stated that there were no Boers within long distances of the building. When the mounted men were leaving, however, they were fired upon from an adjacent house. The cavalry surrounded the house yesterday, and found two Boers inside, together with a number of empty cartridges. wounds in each case were caused by

THE WAR MEDAL. Returned Canadian soldiers and others will be interested in reading the following statement from the Daily Telegraph:

"Notwithstanding statements to the contrary, the ribbon and medal, recognizing the services of our troops in South Africa, will be issued together, not separately, shortly after the ter-mination of the war. That is the usual course, and the war office has every intention to follow precedent on the present occasion. As soon as peace is declared an army order will be promulgated, and a month or six weeks later the coveted award will be ready for distribution. It is hoped that cir-cumstances will allow the presentation to be made by her Majesty the Queen, at a review of picked men, representing all the regiments that have been fighting at the front. With regard to both the ribbon and the medal, most of the published descriptions are extremely wide of the mark.

"The ribbon which has been chosen is one inch and a quarter broad and divided into five horizontal stripes. The broadest stripe in the center is not khaki color, as has been stated, but a rich, bright orange, having on either side a narrow stripe of navy blue, edgwith a wider stripe of red. "Absolutely erroneous is the an-nouncement that the medal is in the form of a five-pointed star, corresponding in size with the Khedival Star of 1882, and having a golden center, upon which is graven a head of the sovereign, surrounded by a ring of bronze. the points of the star being silver. Monetary conditions seem sound, but demand for commercial loans is small the season.

Steady improvement is seen in the iron market. It is not possible to report progress in the boot and shoe industry. Prices of wool are unchanged, and western holders have not lost any of their confidence. Sales at the three chief eastern markets were only 4,234,-700 pounds, against 5,062,500 in the previcus week, and 6,328,700 a year ago. Stocks have been inactive compared with the records of last summer.

Failures for the week were 175 in the United States, against 141 last year,

THE MILLERS

Dominion Association Elects Officers and Discusses Important Questions.

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 31 .- At their annual meeting yesterday the Dominion Millers' Association appointed a deputation to wait upon the railway companies and urged them to allow the privilege of milling in transit of Ontario wheat for export, the same as is now allowed on Manitoba wheat by the C. P. R. While such an arrange ment might prove detrimental to the small men, it would, it is believed, be of benefit to the province, as it would keep within its boundaries an increased amount of grain offal for raising stock. The executive reported that the government had agreed to allow wheat for seed to be imported from Kansas free of duty, provided it was sold to farmers at cost price; that the association had arranged to bring into Canada from Kansas between 10,000 and 12,000 bushels of red turkey wheat, which has ben found to withstand the Canadian winter and to be good for milling purposes. They reported also that the railway companies had agreed to give the same rates on flour for export from Ontario points as has been given to wheat.

The following officers were elected: them cool and comfortable. There is no Bailey, Hamilton; treasurer, Wm. Galbetter remedy for sore, aching, tired braith, Toronto; secretary, Chas. B. Watts. Toronto: executive committee. | Marys; H. Shaw, Toronto.

SIR RICHARD'S NOMINATION

which our country is divided. Charles Tupper was making strongest possible racial appeals in the Province of Quebec against Sir Wilfrid Laurier, because the latter chose to stand up for the right of the Province of Manitoba to administer its own affairs as it thought best. What is Sir Charles Tupper doing today The Op-position leader is doing his best now to set the people of Ontario and the English-speaking Provinces against Sir Wilfred Laurier, because, forsooth, he thinks that by so doing he may possibly succeed in exciting a very strong feeling in Sir Wilfrid'sown province against him. Sir Charles has two faces-one turned to the people of Ontario proclaims aloud that he and his friends have a monopoly of loyalty to empire in every shape and form. But he has another face, which is turning now, and has been turning for a long time, toward the people of Quein which he denounces Sir Wilfrid Laurier as too English for him, as too imperialistic for him, as a man who is prepared to barter our autonomy, the right to manage our own affairs, for a little trumpery applause from some of the English papers, and he has gone the length of declaring that Sir Wilfrid Laurier's policy is likely to cost the people annually some $46,000,000 a year for the purpose of defraying our contributions to the charge of defending the empire. Well, such sentiments as that only require to be mentioned to be refuted. (Cheers.) But mark, sir, you have heard on the one side a man of French extraction, a man who is not, and ought not, to be judged by our own standard-you find the one man standing up for the unity of the empire, and opposing the prehis own countrymen when he thought his duty to the empire required a confight the battles of the empire in South Africa. On the other hand, you hear animosity for the sake of gaining a political advantage. Judge these men

by their acts. (Cheers.)

A TEST OF LOYALTY. One of my friends here was good enough to allude to the fact that I had a deep personal interest in the contest which has recently been waged. gentlemen, I do not want to boast of what friends or relatives of mine may have done, but I have a right, when these gentlemen talk as if they alone had a monopoly of loyalty in Canada, to point to this simple fact. In the front line in South Africa there were ceries and provisions, and collections said to be some seven sons of ministers of the crown now holding office prospects for fall trade are encourag- at Ottawa, and to the best of my recollection I think that the front bench in the opposition side was represented also noticed a good export de- Mr. Clarke Wallace, the late controller of percentages-particularly Mr. Fos-Montreal reports successful fall mil- ter-and I am quite willing on the presloyalty given by the front-bench ministers and the front bench opposition, Seven of our sons to one of theirs—I think that is a fair criterion of the real, genuine loyalty which distinguishes Liberals from Conservatives. (Cheers.) A voice-Tupper has no sons there. Sir Richard-No, he has not. They are employed, I am sorry to say, in circumstantially slandering some of the this: that we have been grievously men who are risking their lives in hampered. You know right well we large too much on that point, yet I grievously handicapped-handicapped must say one thing upon this occasion. in this very Province of Ontario-be-I am willing to allow very great latitude, very great latitude indeed, to justice, right and fairness, the senate, things that are said in the heat of debate, but there was one thing which occurred during the recent debates in parliament which deserves, I think, to be brought to the notice of every Canadian audience, and which I propose to bring to the notice of the present audience as an incidental proof of the kind of manner in which the opposition conducted their attacks on the government mercial, 42, for $792,629. There were and their utter indifference to what I only two banks, with Mabilities of might say were the common demands

A COWARDLY ATTACK. You are aware that my friend Dr. Borden, the minister of militia, was severely held to task by the opposition in the House of Commons on a recent occasion. Sir, I am sorry to say that in those debates there were found men enough, I might say-to hint, when somebody had alluded to the fact that Dr. Borden had a very strong personal interest in providing for the welfare and well-being of the troops at the front, that Dr. Borden's son ran very little risk indeed of encountering Boer care of and kept out of danger. Sir, and 19 in Canada, against 25 last year. that slander, that base and cowardly slander, was hardly cold on the lips of the man who was mean enough to make it, before we had the intelligence that my dear young friend, Lieut. Bordengreat liking for him-had sealed with his life-blood his devotion to the empire. Well, these are tolerably good evidences, not merely of the mode in which the government of Canada has been conducted, but they are tolerably good evidences of the fairness with which our friends the enemy are disposed to deal with us when they are of the administration.

A CONTRAST MADE.

And now I have one other thing to say, and I shall not detain you much longer. I want you to contrast-because you are all, like myself, Canadians-you are all, like myself, men who desire, I believe, the welfare and prosperity of Canada-I want you to contrast the position that Canada occupies today, in this year of grace 1900, with the position Canada occupied nine years ago in 1891. Sir, on that occasion the name of Canada was very familiar, I am sorry to say, most of the readers of English newspapers. The name of Canada was being freely discussed, not merely in England, but in almost every country with which

end of England to the other, in every stituencies I have no fear. Take South state and class of society in England, and North Oxford and North Brant Canada was held up as being a country and Wentworth. I find that if the Libof boodlers, where the government was eral party chose to put forth their full conducted with plunder, by plunder, for strength they have a clear majority of plunder, and probably had been so for 4,000 or 5,000 votes. They could afford a very great period of time; and I am to give Mr. Paterson, himself and Mr. sorry to say the evidence, the over- Sutherland a clear, cool majority whelming evidence, which was pro- 500 each and still have a clear 3,500 to duced on that occasion, rendered it impossible for the most patriotic Cana- stituencies to which they belonged if dian-no matter how keen he might there was only a fair distribution, feel the insult to his country-to say anything in its defence, except that he believed when the facts were known the people of Canada would purge the government of the men who had so betrayed it and defiled its fair name. (Cheers.) That was the position in 1891. Now, sir, the name of Canada is far more on the lips of the English public. The name of Canada is far more frequently quoted than ever it has been before by the English press; the name of Canada is in every shape and way ten times more a household word in England than it has ever been before-certainly since confederation. (Cheers.) Whereas in 1891 the name of Canada was a name of opprobrium, a name of reproach, a name that were not fond of hearing repeated outside our own country, today, sir, wherever you go you find that Canadians are received with acclaim as men who have done honor to the empire, that Canadians are received as members of the first colony of the empire-as members of the one colony of the empire that has shown by its acts, by its legislation, that it has the welfare of the people of England at heart. (Cheers.) And, I may add, that Canada is known also as the country which is presided over by one of the ablest statesmen that English colonial parliamentary government has yet known,in the person of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. (Loud

FOR THE PEOPLE TO SAY. If the people of Canada wish to have a return to the position which we occupied in 1891, they know the way to do it. They have simply to reinstate Sir Charles Tupper and the rest of judices of his own countrymen where those gentlemen who still adhere to his he thought the welfare of Canada re- cause-if cause it can be called-and quired it, opposing the prejudices of who have shown their loyalty to each other, as you may well remember, by the exhibition which they made on the tingent of our own people to go and floor of parliament, when their then premier in my hearing crossed the floor for the purpose of informing some a man who is willing to arouse a racial friend on our side that he did not know what a nest of traitors he had ilved in until that moment. (Cheers and laughter.) If the people of Canada desire to see a repetition of this matter, if they desire to see Canada in the same position which it occupied in 1891, if they desire to sink from the present pinnacle of honor and prosperity which they have attained to the depths of degradation-because I have to say that it was a depth of degradation-to which they fell in 1891, then let the people of Canada withdraw their confidence from Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his colleagues and let them call in the nest of traitors presided over by Sir Charles Tupper-although, to do him justice, the worthy baronet had sufficient good sense and a sufficient amount of regard for his own good position not to appear openly in the scandalous compact which resulted in the deposition of Sir Mackenzie Bowell. If, on the other hand, the people desire to see Canada go on and prosper, if they desire to see the great problems which still await solution fairly and honestly grappled with, then well to give Sin I think Wilfrid Laurier and his colleagues a fair chance. (Cheers.) THE PARTISAN SENATE. Sir, we have done a great deal; that I think I may fairly contend. I don't pretend to say we have done all that we might have done; I certainly do not pretend to say we have done all that we desired to do; but I do say South Africa. I do not want to en- have to go into this very contest very cause, notwithstanding the claims of a nominated body, a partisan body, a body the majority of whom are composed of our opponents, refused to obey the will of the people as expounded by their representatives in the Commons. Therefore they have condemned us to fight this battle in Ontario hampered and impeded by the same gerrymander which on other occasions has caused a loss of from eight to ten seats, and of which you, gentlemen, are one of the most notable examples throughout this western peninsula (Cheers.)

A WARNING NOTE. I have another thing to say, and it shall be the last one. I do not want any of you to go away-even from this county in which it has been truly said that nomination is practically equivalent to election-with the idea that the base enough, cowardly enough-cruel contest in which we are about to engage is going to be one of a trifling or easy character. Gentlemen, my late friend, Joe Rymal, used to say that the Conservatives robbed of office was worse than a she-bear robbed of her whelps, and if the Conservative sees ahead of him the prospect of being bullets, and was sure to be well taken robbed of office, not merely for the four years that have passed, but for the ten years that have to come, fancy the rage and indignation which will possess him in this last struggle. (Cheers and laughter.) More than this, our opponents know that if the Liberals knew him, poor fellow, and had a succeed on this occasion the senate must of necessity very shortly possess a large Liberal majority. They know right well that the gerrymander, which alone enabled them to maintain unjust supremacy for many years in the Province of Ontario, will be swept away and they know that there will be a redistribution-although I have to tell you that we will endeavor to make a rediscalling in question the acts or conduct stribution as fair and just as possible, and within the county limits, as we have always laid down it should bethey know there will be a redistribuwhich will be fatal, in all human probability, to their hopes of regaining pawer, not merely at this election, but at, at least, one election to follow. (Cheers.)

COMES FROM GAME STOCK. And, therefore, as I say, their determination to fight and die is great; and I will say this for Sir Charles Tupper, that the stock from which he springs is, as has been shown by his kinsman, Paul Kruger-(laughter and cheers)one of those stocks that possess the quality, a great deal in common with onr own, that they do not know when they are beaten and are willing to die the dominion had anything to do. I game. (Renewed laughter.) That call upon you to remember that in 1891, credit I give to my ancient antagonist. no longer ago than nine years, there I have no doubt that he will make this was scarcely-I shall not hurt your the fight of his life, that he will do feelings by reciting the identical lan- everything that talk and great guage which was used with respect to personal exertion can do to secure vic-Canada-but at that time there was tory. But very indifferently spoken of, to say the I would be sorry if our friends here least; in which we were not held up as or elsewhere should think this is going a sample, a pattern, of the worst re- to be an easy contest. DEVOTED TO THE PARTY. You have, as I say, done very considerable service not merely to me but to the party to which we all belong by the generous confidence which you have shown in selecting me as your candidate. I for my part will do my best to take care that the vantage ground you have given me shall be used for the benefit of the party and for the benefit of the party at large. (Cheers.) It is no longer in my power to traverse Ontario from end to end, as I used to do, but perhaps I may make up in experience what I lack in activity. (Hear, hear.) Of one thing you may be sure, that if I cannot run very fast after the enemy I shall not run away from him. (Cheers.) It has not been possifor me to do as I used to and as I always wish to do, and that is to pay my annual visits to you during the last year or two. In all probability you have today sent me out to what may be my last battle. (No, no.) But whether it be my last battle or whether I may be allowed by good luck to fight a little longer, of one thing you may rest assured: neither now nor then shall I ever forget the extraordinary confidence which you, when we were comparative strangers, placed in me and which you have continued so long. I can assure you that I shall do all I can for my part to maintain and uphold the principles which you in this grand old riding have so gloriously defended during many long years. Sir Richard resumed his seat amid loud and prolonged cheers.

Dr. Talmage Describes God's Chosen Ones.

Stamp of Divine Favor Elevates His Children.

In this discourse, Dr. Talmage, who, during his journey homeward, has seen much of royal and imperial splendors, in passing through the capitals of Europe, shows that there is no higher dignity nor more illustrious station than those which the Christian has as a child of God. Text: Judges, viii., 18: Each one resembled the children of a Zebah and Zalmunna had been off to battle, and when they came back they were asked what kind of people they had seen. They answered, that the people had a royal appearance; "each one resembled the children of a king." That description of people is not extinot. There are still many who have this appearance. Indeed, they are sons and daughters of the Lord Almighty. Though now in exide, they shall yet come to their thrones. These are famlly names that stand for wealth, or patriotism, or intelligence. The name of Washington among us will always represent patriotism. The family of the Medeci stood as the representative of letters. The family of the Rothschilds is significant of wealth.

ROYAL FAMILY OF CHRISTIANS. But I preach of a family more potential, more rich, and more extensivethe Royal House of Jesus, of whom the whole family in heaven and on earth is named. We are blood relations by the relationship of the Cross; all of us are the children of the King.

Our family name takes luster from the star that heralded him, and the spear that pierced him, and the crown that was given him. It gathers fragrance from the frankincense brought to his cradle, and the Miles that flung their sweetness into his sermons, and the box of alabaster that broke at his feet. The Comforter at Bethany. The Resurrector at Nain. The supernatural Oculist at Bethsaida. The Saviour of one world and the chief joy of another. The storm his frown, The sunlight his smile. The spring morning his breath. The earthquake the stamp of his foot. The thunder the whisper of his voice. The ocean the drop of his finger. ven a sparkle on the bosom of his love. Eternity the twinkling of his eye.

Henceforth swing out the coat of arms! Great families wear their coat of arms on the dress, or on the door of the coach, or on the helmet when they go out to battle, or on flags and ensigns. The heraldic sign is sometimes a lion, or a dragon, or an eagle. Our coat of arms worn right over the heart hereafter shall be a cross, a famb standing under ft, and a dove flying over it. Grandest of all escutcheons!

JOINED BY SACRED SORROWS. Next, I speak of the family sorrows. If trouble come to one member of the family all feel it. It is the custom, after the body is lowered into the grave, for all the relatives to come to verge of the grave and look down into it. First those nearest the departed come, then those next of kin, until they have all looked into the grave. So when trouble and grief go down through the heart of one member of the family they go down through them all. The sadness of one is the sadness

Next I notice the family property. After a man of large estate dies the relatives assemble to hear the will read. So much of the property is willed to his sons, and so much to his daughters, and so much to benevolent societies. Our Lord Jesus hath died and we are assembled today to hear the will read. He says: "My peace I give unto you." Through his apostle he says: "All things are yours." What! everything? Yes, everything! This world and the next. In distinguished families there are old pictures hanging on the wall. They are called the "heirlooms" of the estate. They are very old and have come down from generation to generation. So I look upon all beauties of the natural world as the heir-looms of our royal family. A BOUNDLESS ESTATE.

You cannot see a large estate in one morning. You must take several walks around it. The family property of this royal house of Jesus is so great that we must take several walks to get any idea of its extent. Let the first walk be around this earth. All these valleys, the harvests that wave in them, and the cattle that pasture them-all these mountains, and the precious things hidden beneath them, and the crown of glacier they cast at the feet of the Alpine hurricane-ail these lakes, these slands, these continents, are ours.

In the second walk go among the 'reet lamps of heaven, and see stretchoff on every side a wilderness of worlds. For us they shine. For us they sang at a Saviour's nativity. For us they will wheel into line, and with their flaming torches add to the splendor of our riumph on the day for which all other days were made. In the third walk, go around the eternal As we come near it, hark to the rush of its charlots, and the weddingpeal of its great towers. The bell of heaven has struck twelve. It is high noon. We look off upon the chaplets which never fade, the eyes that never weep, the temples that never close, the loved ones that never halt, the trees never wither, the walls that never can be captured, the sun that never sets until we can no longer gaze, and we hide our eyes and exclaim: "Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him!" As these tides of glory rise, we have to retreat and hold fast lest we be swept off and drowned in the emotions of gladness, and thanksgiving and triumph.

HOMESTEAD OF CHRISTIANS. Almost every family looks back to a homestead-some country place where you grew up. You sat on the door sill. You heard the footsteps of the rain on the garret roof. You swung on the gate. You ransacked the barn. You waded into the brook. You threshed the orchard for apples and the neighboring woods for nuts; and everything ground the old homestead is of interest to you. I tell you of the old homestead ci eterniy. "In my Father's house are many mansions." All the welling places of dukes and princes and queens are as nothing to the family mansion that is already awaiting our arrival. The hand of the Lord Jesus lifted the pillars, and swung the doors, and planted the parks. Angels walk there, and the good of all ages. A family mansion means reunion. Some of your families are very much

Charleston; but perhaps once a year you come together at the old place. How you wake up the old plane that has been silent for years! (Father and mother do not play on it.) How you bring out the old relics, and rummage the garret, and open old scrap books, and shout, and laugh, and cry, and talk over old times, and though you may be 48 years of age, act as though you were 16! Yet soon it is good-bye at the car window, and good-bye at the steam boat wharf. But how will we act at the reunion in the old family mansion of heaven? It is a good while since you parted at the door of the grave. What clasping of hands! What embracings! What coming together of lip to lip! What tears of joy! You say, "I thought there were no tears in heaven." There must be, for the Bible says that: "God shall wipe them away"; and if there were no tears there, how could he wipe them away? They cannot be tears of disappointment. They must be tears of gladness. Christ will come and say: "What! child of heaven, is it too much for thee? Dost thou break down under the gladness of this reunion? Then I will help thee." And, with his one arm around us and the other arm around our loved ones, he shall hold us up in the eternal jubilee.

THEY NEVER KNEW FAILURE. Careful observation of the effects of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills has shown that they act immediately on the diseased organs of the system and stimulate them to healthy action. There may be cases in which the disease has been long seated and does not easily yield to medicine, but even in such cases these Pills have been known to bring relief when all other so-called remedies have failed. These assertions can be substantiated by many who have scattered. The children married, and used the Pills, and medical men speak highly of their qualities.

CAGE BIRDS

Game Warden Trying to Release Them From Captivity.

Arrests Many Men-Forty Have Been Fined and Imprisoned for Trading in Songsters.

[Chicago Tribune. It's an old saying that a bird in the hand is worth two in the bush. This does not agree with the opinion of W. H. Loveday, state game warden, however, nor with those of the members of the Illinois Audubon Society, and they have started out to secure for all native birds now held in captivity in this state a free passage back to the bushes from which they were stolen in childhood. They are convinced that a bird in the bush is of great use as a destroyer of the pernicious insects and as a songster, while one in the hand or even in a cage is of no use whatever, except, when he dies, to be stuff-ed and stuck up on the hat of a vain woman. Warden Loveday has been working according to the dictates of this belief, as well as in accordance with the state law and the desires of the Audubon Society in beginning a determined effort to stamp out the trade in birds that breed in Illinois. First of all, he has secured the arrest and conviction of more than forty men in Cook county alone for robbing nests and capturing song birds, and has had each fined or imprisoned. Next he has seized hundreds of native-breeding birds which were held in captivity in Chicago bird stores, has entered complaint against their captors, and has cases against several of them now pending in the courts.

WILL LIBERATE ALL. "I shall not stop until there is not a captive native bird in Chicago or down state that my men can find," says Warden Loveday. "I shall go ahead with the seizures and condemn the birds. The old ores which are too old to care for themselves if turned free, having been so many years in captivity, will then be given to Lincoln or some other park, where they will have comparative freedom in the big cages and will be well cared for. The young ones will be turned loose to shift for themselves, and to make their way back to the thickets and to find mates and nests in the wilderness.

"The public seems to have no idea of what all this bird trade means. There are shipped into Chicago every year, I believe, tens of thousands of song birds native to this state. Of these a majority die in a short time, and their bodies are made use of for decoration or food. The rest are trained and sold as songsters or pets. There is not a native song bird that can be made to breed in captivity, and so every one of these birds has been stolen from the nest either in the egg or while young. The new broods have to be stolen to replace those that die, and thus the woods are stripped of them. As the birds captured do not breed, each one captured means the destruction of what might have been a numerous progeny.

TRADE IN MOCKINGBIRDS. "There is one man who sends to Chicago from Louisiana twice a year half a carload of young mockingbirds. Now, the mockingbird is native to Illinois and breeds freely in this state, but many of our native birds are also captured and sent up here. The half carload represents thousands of nests robbed and thousands of birds stolen fom the southern woods. That means that much less protection for the woods down there and a rapid extinction of the sweetest singers in them. To sure, those birds did not breed in this state, but they are mixed with other mockers which did, and we cannot make a distinction.

"The thickets of Cook county used to be filled with little yellow birds called commonly wild canaries, and known sometimes as yellowhammers. as canaries, and men immediately made a business of going through the thick-Robins and sparrows seemed to think ets trapping them and stealing their eggs. They made no distinction as to the time of the season when they robbed, but took as freely during breeding time as at any other. In the woods these birds are great insect eaters, but in captivity they are of no use whatever. Though they sing sweetly in the woods, they will not do so in a cage, and they do not live three months in captivity. They will not breed in a cage. Many people bought them thinking they were the real Hartz Mountain canaries, which breed and sing in captivity as well as in the woods. We have broken up the trade now, but there has been an awful reduction in the number of yellowhammers in the nearby shrubbery. DESTROY THE FINEST BIRDS. "Redwing blackbirds, thrushes, robins, meadow larks, bobolinks, all of them among the finest birds we have,

were fast being killed out by the traders. We found many of them in captivity. They are no use there, and will neither sing nor breed, but when they die, as most of them do quickly, their plumage can be used for trimming millinery. Then the other birds of the state come in in quantities. For millinery purposes great numbers of herons have been killed for feather aigrettes. These birds are killed at the breeding season and the young birds are left in the nest to starve, thus wiping out the whole family and any chance of future increase from them.

"Too much praise in this regard cannot be given the Audubon Society, which has aided in our work, has endeavored successfully to stir up public sentiment, and to begin teaching the children the wrong of 'bird-nesting,' and has found evidence for me of many violations of the law." Dealers in birds claim that they are aiding the cultivation of kindness to animals by selling the birds, as they say that a family which has a bird as a pet learns to treat well all wild But this does not meet the things. views of the warden, who points to the fact that keeping the bird captive is keeping it from everything that is natural in its life-freedom, sunshine, the wild woods, song and its mate. "The daily sight of a bird thus kept in restraint and distorted out of its natural life cannot inspire kindliness to birds," he says. "On the contrary, it dulls any such feeling. That claim is equal to the one that we are trying to give freedom to old birds which have not had it in so many years that they cannot care for themselves. Now we are taking care of every bird we get, but if we could not, and if every bird we seized died, there would be but a thousand of them, where our work will save the lives of tens and even hundreds of thousands of birds which are now free but for which hunters are

Industry of Considerable Importance on the Shores of Oneida Lake.

Among a class of people residing along the shores of Oneida lake in the vicinity of Upper South Bay the industry of hunting frogs is surpassed in importance only by that of fishing.
Frog's legs and fish go together in making up an appetizing meal at many of the Oneida lake summer hotels, and killing frogs and catching fish are kindred pursuits. In this manner a score of Oneida lake longshoremen make a livelihood. The frog business, however, is comparatively new.

During a greater part of the season frogs are found in marshy places along the lake shore. A frog hunter sometimes uses a spear, but more often a long, stout club. The club has a flat end, and one well-directed blow will add another frog to the collection in the hunter's basket.

During the summer months frogs are found on high ground, having migrated from the bogs bordering the lake. Hay fields are a favorite abiding place for them in summer, and it is no unusual sight to see a frog hunter following a mowing machine and aiming blows at frogs that are exposed to view as the grass falls.

In the southeastern part of the state there are inclosed frog farms with artificial ponds. Here frogs are raised for the New York city market. While central New York cannot yet boast of a real frog farm, an Oneida lake man is proprietor of something closely resembling such an institution. The Oneida lake man has a large yard on his premises inclosed by a tight board fence. In the yard are thousands of fine looking frogs. They were picked up along the lake shore last spring before they had awakened from a stupor brought on by a few days of cold weather.

The owner of this collection of frogs is able to fill orders from hotel proprietors for fresh frog's legs promptly By going into the yard with a lantern at night as many frogs as are required may easily be picked up by hand, providing the collector is careful to make Frog's legs after being dressed are left on ice for a day or two to make them good for eating. Twenty or twenty-five cents a pound is the price usually paid by Oneida lake hotel proprietors.-Syracuse Post-Standard.

LOCOMOTIVES AT THE PARIS FAIR. Reviewing the locomotive exhibit at Paris as a whole, I think the points which strike one most forcibly are: 1. The enormous prepondence of compound type of engines over the simple highpressure type.

2. The comparative scarcity of eccentricities in design. 3. The immense increase in size and weight of locomotives since the last exhi-

4. The specially huge size and power of certain Russian engines. 5. The almost universal employment of coupled wheels in express engines, and the consequent all but complete disappearance of the single-driver type. 6. The large augmentation of heating surface and of steam pressure.

These were the points which struck me most in my general survey of the exhibition. On the whole, they represent the principle of development in locomotive practice. They tend in the direction of increased haulage power, rather than in that of any attempted addition to existing possibilities in respect of maximum speeds. - Charles Rous-Marton, in The Engineering Magazine for September.

"I do not know how long I lay there, but it seemed an age, and I was nearly wild about the money. I could not move, being so securely tied, and I believed that I must lay there until someone discovered me in the morning. However, I thought that would not be the worst that could happen to me, for as long as I was not seriously injured, I should be able to set the officers at once on the track of the audacious robber. But the plans were defeated by the return of my assailant. He entered the second time, securely lock-ing the door after him. Then I heard him strike a match, a candle was lighted, and an old man with white

I knew well enough that it was Aspinwall in disguise; but I could not speak, for that gag and bandage had been very thoroughly arranged. Just then, away in the distance, I heard one of the city clocks strike three. My heart sank within me, for knew well enough there would be little hope of obtaining assistance at that hour. The pseudo old man took me by the arm and led me to the door, where he extinguished his candle. Then he cautiously looked forth into the

I could only obey, for I was helpless to do otherwise, and he followed me, forcing me into this room, which was dimly lighted and arranged as you see it now. The gate to this cage was open. He commanded me to enter. I stopped and faced him, while I struggled frantically to free my hands, which were bound be-hind my back. I could not resign myself to such a fate without an effort to But, of course, it was useless, and taking me rudely by the shoulder he pushed me inside, when he closed locked the gate upon me.

SYRIAN WOMEN AND VANITY. A medical missionary in Syria writes that the vanity of Syrian women is sometimes most amusingly exemplified. A short time ago a patient in the hospital at Beyrout succeeded in having her friends smuggle in to her a number of forbidden articles of food and numerous toilet accessories. In her locker were discovered a piece of looking glass, a small quantity of French chalk and a minute supply of rouge, all intended to aid in the decoration of her person for the impending operation. She protested tearfully when the cosmetics were confiscated, and refused to be comforted, saying that she did not like to look so pale.

SILK STOCKINGS. The girl who never before wore silk stockings wears them this season. It is in the air-a statement less improper than it sounds. Women have suddenly developed a mania for fancy and beautiful hosiery, and the stocking counter of a good shop would make a rainbow feel faded. The open-work stockings have reached a point of flimsiness that is more marvelous than beautiful, and the most modish women prefer fine silk in solid color, handembroidered or with inset lace or applique over the ankle. One woman at Newport has started a fad for plain

A MIGHTY TREE.

Professor Brewer describes the "big trees" as in great abundance on the western flanks of the Sierra Nevada, at from 5,000 to 7,000 feet altitude for a distance of more than twenty-five miles. One of the largest seen by Professor Brewer measured 106 feet in circumference at four feet from the ground, and was 276 feet in height.

IRISH EMBROIDERY WORK.

Irish embroidery work that was so much the style 40 years ago, is being revived. Designs used so long ago are somewhat difficult to secure, and women of leisure who spend the greater part of the summer doing fancy work, are passing round their "finds" among their friends, and as a result some beautiful pieces are already gracing the low neck gowns of several of the prettiest women in Newport. Needlework like this cannot be purchased, and, therefore, it is the envy of all lovers of such dainty things, especially those who are not lucky enough to secure a pattern for themselves.

FAD IS FOR BELT BUCKLES

Girls Use All Kinds of Queer Things as Ornaments and for Use on Modern Woman's Dress.

If you have an old odd piece of silver which you can't get coined at the Bryan ratio, and are a woman, you will try to have it made into a belt buckle. If you have it and are a man it may be well to remind you that almost any odd shape from souvenir spoons to sword handles are now equipped with buckle spikes and worn between a shirt waist and its attendant skirt. The odder the piece the better. Old coins, shoebuckles of the long are being adapted to the belt that finishes the waist line of the modern woman's dress. Some bit of silver with a family history, such as the handle of an ancestral sword, is most desirable. Spoons are mounted in the same way and worn, the buckle hooks being attached by soldering to the backs of them. It is not enough to buy buckle spoons; the buckle should be made to order and some bit of sentiment or romance attached to the silver front. Norway spoons, with flat bowls and with their beautiful filigreework, are most desired.

One Chicago girl has an odd belt buckle which has caused her friends to wonder. It is a big disk of silver with elaborate historic design, and for a long time, she kept the secret of her getting it. Finally she admitted that it had been the cover for a jar of cold cream which some one had given to her as a toilet piece. She had taken the cover off, bent the edges down at the back, and had the buckle tongues soldered on at the back. Another girl has the handle of a Japanese sword which she picked up as a keepsake because of a romantic story told her of it. It was the desire to utilize it afterwards that induced her to have it mounted as a buckle, and as such she finds it not only useful but unconventionally artistic and ornatmental.

Old coins of a size approaching that of a silver dollar are prized for belt buckles. They should be of foreign coinage and be mounted in such a way as not to expose the buckle attachments at the back. The simplicity of them are their ohief charms as belt fasteners. Old buckles that came off grandfather's slippers or some of the fasteners for their stockings are rather large for the purpose of fastening belts, but they are used wherever some granddaughter can lay her hands upon one of them, and the age and history of the buckle are its chief sentimental charm. One quaint buckle is of gold, once worn on a garter and presenting the outline of a coiled snake with jeweled eyes. Some of the quaintest of the silver buckles come from Holland, and of these those showing heads of Medusa and of mermaids are most admired. Belt buckles that approach jewelry make use of the turquoise matrix. They are showy, beautiful, and consequently expensive. Those of Egyptian and Oriental design are most popular. Prices on these range from $50 to $75

PESTER CANARY BIRDS. Owners of canary birds will receive a valuable tip by reading this story.

A well-known educator of youths in this city has for years had as a pet one or more of the songsters hung in cages about his house. In the summer it is one of his chief delights to sit on his front porch and listen to them. Recently he noticed that two of his birds were becoming droopy, irritable and very restless, and that little spots of blood mysteriously made their appearance on the bottom of the cage. wetched the canaries closely for the next few nights and made the astounding discovery that they were being nearly bitten to death by mosquitoes.In speaking of the affair he said: "I watched one of the birds narrowly for a long while and wondered why it kept hopping from one foot to the other. I saw the mosquitoes in the cage, but it never emtered my mind that they were attacking the canary until I saw a tiny spot of blood on the bird's leg. I picked the bird up and saw that it had just received a well-developed mosquito bite.

"The only vulnerable part of the camary is the leg, where the skin is very thin and tender, and almost unprotected by feathers. The mosquitoes appear to know the tenderness of the skin and attack in such numbers that in the course of time they could seriously injure the health of the bird by draining it of blood. I blocked the game by draping each cage with mosquito netting. My canaries are now well protected and happy. I suffer so much myself from the mosquitoes that it is astonishing I did not think of them in connection with the birds."-Baltimore

CHINA'S RELIGION

Dr. Max Mueller Writes of Its Three Forms and Christianity.

Christianity Was Once Hailed in China When Religious Tolerance Ruled-Some Interesting Information From the Pen of the Great Orientalist and Famous Oxford Professor-Influence of Indifferentism.

Dr. Max Mueller, the great Orientalist and famous Oxford professor, as contributed to Die Woche, a Berfin periodical, an interesting essay on the three religions of China and on Christianity. In China, the writer lays, there are three religions, the two most popular being Confucianism and Taoism, and the other Buddhism of India. Confucius, or Kung-fu-tse (i.e., King, the holy master), however, was not the founder of the religion named after him. He protests repeatedly against such an assumption. The religion which he taught was the one of the days of antiquity and Confucius maintains that he simply collected the ancient doctrines and rendered them in style appropriate in his times, about 550-475 B.C. The so-called religion of Confucius is philosophy and ethics more than theology, because he studiously refrains from utterances concerning the existence and attributes of the Almost contemporary with Confucius was Lao-tze, whose birth is fixed at 604 B.C. His system, which is usually characterized as rationalism, concerns especially the Tao, that is. the direct way, reason. In reagrd to Lao-tze everything depenhs upon the comprehension of his Tao. Julien translated Tao-teh-King with "Le Livre de la Voie et de la Vertu" (The Book of the Straight Path and of Virtue). Dr. Chehners, another authority, does not translate Tao at all, maintaining that no occidental language has a word which is comprehensive enough. Some believe that nature expresses Tao best, as the abstract cause, or the principle of life and law, to which its devotees ascribe the principles of immateriality, of eternity, of the infinite and the invisible. At any rate, it is plain that Tao originally was a very metaphysical idea, and it is quite possible that. like Confucius, Lao-tze took this idea from antiquity.

As all religions which begin with pronounced abstract metaphysical principles soon grow coarser in popular practice and become mere idolatry, superstition and miracles. So Taoism fared in China. First it was in opposition with the teachings of Confucius, then it approached Buddhism, and both finally became a superstition which, particularly in the lower strata of the people, became immensely popular. While Confucianism and Taoism are undoubtedly systems of Chinese origin, Buddhism did not become known in China until the first century of the Christain era. The circumstances accompanying this introduction are purely historical and have been frequentlyd escribed. It was Emperor Ming-ti, who, in 65, expressly recognized Buddhism as the third religion of state in his empire. He not only sent Chinese savants to India to study Sanskrit and to translate Buddhist texts into Chinese, but he also invited Buddhist savants to come to China.

It has often been observed religious indifferentism was the reason why three state religions were permitted in China; that even the emperor had to be present once a year in the temples of Confucianists, Taotists and Buddhists. But this indifferentism may also be looked upon as religious tolerance, ascribing to the emperor and his mandarins the view that all religions have the same origin and This was follow the same aim. quite reasonable in China because all three state religions contain but little dogmatism, do not claim by any means to be based upon divine origin and are chiefly devoted to philosophy and morals.

Hence it is quite explainable that at the outset Christianity, as a new teaching, was not only readily received in China, but was for a time treated with the same tolerance as Buddhism. This was the case with the Nestorian Christians who settled in China during the seventh century, and of whose efforts the monument of Hsian-Fu (Sigan-Fu) speoks. It was erected in 781 and was found by Dr. Williamson in 1866, buried beneath a heap of debris. The monument contains a Chinese inscription and a few lines in the Syrian language. For a long time prior to Dr. Williamson's discovery the existence of this monument was treated as apocryphal, though no less an authority than Gibson insisted upon its genuineness. The inscription says that the first Christian missionary, who came to China in 665, had the name of Olo-He was received in friendship by the emperor and was given permission to teach his religion just as the other three religions were taught. The idea of a rivalry or an enmity between different religions does not seem to have existed. The Christian religion was named the religion of Ta-tsia, and the abode of the Nestorian priests was the Tatsia convent. The word Ta-tsia signifies Syria, and was soon extended to everything emenating from Rome and relating to Christianity, Some times the Christian religion was called the glorious teaching, while Confucianism was simply "the teaching," Taoism "the way" and Buddhism "the law" (dharma). These four religions existed in harmony together. Only the good they taught and did was considered, and the idea of envy and mutual hatred does not seem to have existed. Each religion was permitted to do good after its own fashion, about as physicians are looked upon who gratuitously help the common people.

Christianity appears to have spread rapidly, because there are authentic records of churches and convents in hundreds of cities-records even of high Chinese officials who became converts from Buddhism to Christianity, and proved to be great benefactors of the Christians in Tschangan, and particularly of the monks of Tatsia. This happy condition prevailed until 781, when the monument of Hsian-Fu was erected. During the next century, however, the emperors, who then frequently resided in Tschangan, seem to have followed a different policy. In 841 Emperor Wutung issued his notorious edict which abolished all Buddhist convents and caused a persecution of all foreign The Christians were treatreligions. ed like the Buddhists, and the religion of Ta-tsai seems to have been completely exterminated in China since that time. While the Buddhists recovered slowly, Marce Polo found upon his journey in China that there were only idolaters in Hsian-Fu, and not a single Christian.

A remarkable coincidence is that the inscription of the monument of Hsian-Fu mentions a choir director, Adam, who, according to a Chinese version, had as a guest in the Tatsia Convent a Buddhist named Praj-The latter was engaged in translating a Buddhist text into Chinese, of which, however, he knew s little that he engaged Adam as co laborator. Adam, in turn, was rather weak in his knowledge of the Sanskrit. To overcome the mutual linguistic deficiency a Mongolian translation was used, and in this manner a work was completed so faulty that complaint was made to Emperor Te-tsung. The Emperor criticised the translation severely, because it mingled Buddhist and Christian ideas. This, he added, could not be permitted, because the teachings of both were different and often contradictory. Adam should disseminate the teachings of the Miching, (Messiah) and Prajna those of Buddha, he decreed, but both should not be mixed. This decision of Emperor Te-tsung is of great historic importance, because it proves that Christians and Buddhists lived under the same roof.

At any rate the settlement of West Roman monks in the Ta-tsia convent at Tschangan is the first attempt to disseminate Christianity, or at least its most important moral doctrines, in China, and it appears comprehensible that the four religions in China could dwell in peace and quietness so long as they simply confined themselves to moral doctrines, in which they were even favored by the Imperial Government. Then came, beginning with the ninth century, the persecution of Buddhists and Christians, which ended with the total extermi nation of all Christians and their settlements in China. The Roman church later on made new efforts to spread Christianity in China, once during the thirteenth century and again, on a larger scale, toward the close of the sixteenth century, while the Protestant church has pressed its missionary work in China only since 1807 with energy. However, judging from the number of churches and convents at the time, Christianity has never since made such progress in China as during the seventh and eighth centuries.

In recent times Christian missionaries have enjoyed great liberty in China, but only because they were protected by the European powers. In the Chinese people the hatred of the Christian religion-not so much on account of its errors as because of its foreign origin-has grown more and more fervent, until it culminated in the present formidable strife. The Chinese, whether he follows the teachings of Confucius, of Lao-tze or Buddha, will stand a great deal if he is let alone, but he hates everything foreign which is sought to be forced upon him.

The recent horrors would have been severely condemned by men like Confucius, Lao-tze and Buddha, but nobody can expostulate with a people which has been politically inflamed and is actuated by know-nothingism. Such people will rather suffer death than accept reason, and their patriotism is stronger than their religion. Thus it is everywhere, and it is now seen in China, as elsewhere, what Dr. Samuel Johnson meant when he said that patriotism is the last refuge of the scoundrel.

How They Live, What They Wear, and How Thought Of.

In the Lower Classes She Undoubtedly Leads a Life of Degredation, While Those in the Upper Classes Have Only a Limited Freedom-Empress Dowager Once a Slave Girl-A Country of Contradictions.

The Chinese woman is kept well in the background. In the lower classes she undoubtedly leads a life of degrading bondage, and even the women of the upper classes have only a limited amount of freedom. Of course there are notable exceptions. There is the Empress-Dowager herself, who according to the popular tradition, rose from a slave girl to hold sway over the whole Empire.

But there are several other powerful and ambitious women in China One of these is the wife of Kenc Sho Tsay, a prominent Boxer chief. She has a most intense and jealous hatred of the Dowager-Empress and, it is believed, would like to make herself the next "old woman of China." She is her hfisband's chief adviser, and it is she who has urged on the Boxer outrages from the beginning.

Put, while there are rare instances where Chinese women have won power and prominence, it is the general sentiment in China that women are of inferior clay and are to be treated more as vassals than as equals. In spite of all this the feminine ideal is high in China, but it is one of the characteristics of this inscrutable race that their theories are often at variance with their practices.

From her very birth the Chinese woman has an unenviable lot. At her first appearance in the world she meets a disappointed and angry fa-As a girl she is given the ther. most rudimentary education. At 12 she is banished from all companionship to become "the young girl who sits in the house" until her marriage, when she is apt to marry some one she has never seen. Then she must obey her husband and her mother-in-law.

The doctrine inculcated in the Chinese classics is that a woman has three stages of obedience-first, to her father; second, to her husband, and, third, if her husband dies, to her son when he reaches manhood. The proverb reads: "Men wish their boys to be wolves and fear lest they should be timid. Their girls they wish to be like mice and fear lest they should have the boldness of the tiger." The laws established 2,300 years ago are in force to-day, and among them are no rules stricter than those for keeping women in bondage.

Chinese books of instruction for girls consist chiefly of exhortations to discharge their duties as daughters, wives, mothers and daughtersin-law. "The Girl's Fair Books," to which two famous emperors wro prefaces, describe how the female mind and character must be trained. Modesty, gentleness, self sacri-a virtuous disposition must be a woman's equipment in life. There is no pressing need for intellectual education.

About 100 women in every 10,000, however, read books of philosophy, literature, poems. Among the aristocratic classes men of letters have even been known to teach their wives and daughters not only to read, but to write, and they have as well published literary works by them. The standard book of etiquette in China was written by Lady Cho 2,700 years since. She was the widow of a distinguished literary man of north China and after his death was faithful to his memory. Her husband's brother was historian of that dynasty, but when his work was half completed he lost his sight. The emperor sent a message to him asking who could finish the book, and the reply was returned that only his brother's widow was capable of doing it. The emperor sent for Lady Cho, and she was conducted in the greatest of state to the palace. There she completed her brother-inlaw's work so satisfactorily that it is impossible to tell where she took up her task.

It was not until less than two years ago that the gates of the Forbidden City were opened to let in women from the foreign legation. Of this occasion, when the exclusiveness of centuries was broken down for the time being and the first foreign women were permitted to see the glories of the dragon throne. Lady Macdonald, wife of the British Chinese Minister, sent home to some of her personal friends

There sat the empress dowager, and we gathered about her as before. She seemed bright and happy. Her face was aglow with good will. There was no trace of cruelty to be seen. In simple expressions she welcomed us, but her actions were full of freedom and warmth. She arose and wished us well. She reached both hands toward each lady and then to herself and said with much enthusiastic earnestness: 'One family. All one family.' Everything she said was in Chinese. She presented to each lady the empress, the emperor's wife, who gave her hand to each. The empress is young and what is called a beautiful Chinese woman. She wore the decorations, paint, etc., of the young women."

Chinese women do not, however. wear hats and bonnets, but sometimes a band or crown. They wear jewelry, and they always make their own small shoes. Women wear shorter clothes than men, with skirts coming not quite to the knees. On special occasions the skirts may come to the feet.

Life at 421 Degrees Below Zero.

Investigations recently made in England show that the lower forms of life, both animal and vegetable, are capable of existing in the extreme cold of 421 degrees below zero Fahrenheit. At this almost inconceivable temperature the earth's atmosphere would be frozen solid and would incrust the globe to a depth of several feet. Professor Allan Malfayden has just presented his results to the Royal Society of England covering experiments made with bacteria and other germs. The most vigorous varieties of bacteria were selected and exposed for 20 hours to the temperature of liquid air 275 degrees below zero. They were thawed out and examined. The experiment yielded the startling result that these living organisms were apparently unchanged by the extreme cold.

The Queen's Coronation Coach. Queen Victoria has at her disposal when she wishes to take a ride innumerable carriages. Of these the coronation coach is first. This carriage is unknown to the present generation, as it has never left the royal mews at Buckingham Palace since 1861. It is lovely, but cumbersome. was designed for George III, and every portion is richly decorated and gilded. Outside its panels are pictures painted by noted artists. Speaking much is a sign of vanity, most interesting accounts. These for he that is lavish in words is a letters have recently been made publinggard in deed.—Sir W. Releigh.

One Which Should Be Generally Followed by the Humane.

Hot Weather Has Led to the Adoption of Hats and Eounets for Horses in the World's Fair City-Though They Look Ridiculous, They Are Most Comfortable When Protected by a Big Yellow Straw Hat.

Hot weather this summer has led to the adoption of many Paris fashions, and it is to be hoped that one in particular will find favor over here—that is, bonnets and big hats for horses. Canadian horses are supposed to be well looked after in comparison with the French ones, but as yet there has not been seen over here such an extraordinary variety of headgear as is seen in Paris. There medium sized and large sized hats of coarse yellow straw adorn the heads of the truck horses, while the donkeys and even some of the cab horses have also been seen lately with bonnets on. At first sight there seems something absolutely ridiculous about a sedate looking horse wearing a big yellow straw hat, but certainly he looks most comfortable. The ears are stuck through the straw on either side, and around the crown is a band of ribbon or braid, on which is embroidered or written the horse's name. The brim is bound with the same colored ribbon that is put around the crown—as a rule, bright warlet-or is left unbound, and the hat is then trimmed with a bunch of flowers. The donkeys look especially funny in their hats, bot they seem to know how to wear them better than the horses, or else their long ears give a more piquant expression to the trimming, and they carry their heads proudly.

The object of the hat is, of course, to shield the animals from the sun's rays, and it has seemed to work most satisfactorily, for it shields the head without giving any undue weight, and is far better in appearance and in effect than canvas headdresses. The crown of the hat is always high enough to allow of a sponge being put inside.

It is interesting from an artistic point of view to notice the flowers that the French drivers put on the ed rich satins and silks with large ers are, of course, great favorites, while marguerites and popples are combined in most attractive bunches. The horse's name on the band of ribbon around the crown is altogether the plainest trimming that is seen but the lettering is very distinct, and the band is wide enough to show off each letter. The names that the horses bear have apparently something to do with whether the band is used or flowers are supplied. Often the flowers are natural ones.

MRS. TOM THUMB.

The Famous Midget Has Returned to Her Native Land.

Mrs. General Tom Thumb, who has just arrived in New York from Europe, is the most famous midget in the world, and has been such for 40 years, if the single exception of her late husband be allowed.

She is now the Countess Magri, and is accompanied by her second husband, whose stature is about the same as that of his celebrated spouse. The Countess was a Miss Bump of Middleboro, Mass. She met Charles S. Stratton (General Tom Thumb) at the house of P. T. Barnum in 1859 and married him in 1861. This little pair traveled over all the world and were received everywhere. They met Abraham Lincoln, the Prince and Princess of Wales, Emperor Napoleon, the Empress Eugenie, General Sherman, Admiral Porter, General presidents of the United States and several oriental princes. Mrs. Thumb was first exhibited at Barnum's museum in New York. In 1865 she and the general went abroad and were received by Queen Victoria at Windsor. They were afterward entertained by companies of Liliputians for the stage. The Countess is now 60, but as youthful in spirit as she was 40 years ago,

Carrying Attachment for Bicycles. Henry L. Haff, of Chicago, Ill., has obtained a U.S. patent on the bicycle carrier here illustrated, the objects of which are to provide a simple and inexpensive device upon which children or packages can be conveniently carried without rendering the riding more difficult or jarring the carrier. The device can be readily attached to a safety bicycle with a few minutes' labor, and the frame is so made that when attached it will not interfere with steering the bicycle, being formed of jointed and pivoted sections, which move freely. The single wheel is placed directly under the centre of the weight, so that no strain is added to the bicycle frame, and the small wheel is provided with pneumatic tire and ball bearings, which also add to the ease of propulsion. When the device is used for carrying packages the seat and foot-rest are replaced by a basket or covered receptatle, Puncture Proof Tire.

A German scientist has patented a puncture proof tire filling. If successful, it will prove a boon to bicycle riders, as well as to the owners of rubber tired vehicles of all kinds and air saddles and cushions. filling is a jelly made of glue. Glycerin is added to prevent hardening and an antiseptic preparartion that keeps it from fermenting. The mixture is first heated until it liquefies and is then beaten to a stiff foam. While in this frothy condition it is introduced into the tire or saddles and allowed to cool and partly solidify. The result is a light, spongy material of cellular formation, exceedingly light in weight and proof against tacks nails, glass and all puncturing objects,—Popular Science.

Lady Jookeys. There are but few callings in life in which women are not to be found nowadays, but hitherto, says the London Express, the lady jockey has been almost an unknown quantity. No Englishwoman has yet had the courage to strike out in this direction, but in Austria the lady jockey is a by no means uncommon sight at race meetings.
