CANADA TO HAVE TWO REPRESENTATIVES AT THE VERSAILLES CONFERENCE

LIEBKNECHT, ROSA LUXEMBOURG AND CHIEF EICHSHORN, SPARTACAN LEADERS, FLEE FROM BERLIN

Members of the Spartacus Gr oup Are Court-Martialed and Executed by Government Troops—Search For Arms Is Being Made Am ong Berlin People.

London, Jan. 14.—Members of the Spartacus faction in Germany have been court-martialed and executed, according to a wireless dispatch from Berlin picked up here. The dispatch follows: "The number of killed and wounded during recent fighting has b en extraordinarily high, but the exact figures are not known as yet. The Spartacus people court-martialled and shot seven Government soldiers. Such acts had to be met with reprisals."

The dispatch confirms reports that a son of Dr. Karl Liebknecht has been arrested and that Rosa Luxembourg, Dr. Liebknecht's chief lieutenant, has fled from Berlin.

Dr. Liebknecht is reported to have fled from Berlin to Leipsic. Chief of Police Eichshorn, according to the Vorwaerts of Berlin, has gone to Denmark, using a passport obtained from the Danish legation some days ago. A large mass of documents has been seized at Eichshorn's residence.

The Government at Berlin has issued warrants for the arrest of Dr. Liebknecht, Rosa Luxembourg and Eichshorn. The war minister is quoted as saying that loyal troops have begun a search for arms, with a view to disarming the population of Berlin.

HAMBURG POLICE PROTECT SPARTACANS FROM ENRAGED MOB

Berlin, Sunday, Jan. 12—(By the Associated Press).—Order has been completely restored in cities outside of Berlin where the Spartacans had established themselves, according to reports received here today. Spandau, which has been placed under martial law, is quiet. Fifty-five Bolshevists have been arrested, one of their leaders killed, and several wounded. All have been disarmed.

Spartacan leaders at Hamburg have been arrested by military police, who had difficulty in protecting them from enraged citizens. The situation there, however, is still tense. Spartacan leaders at Dresden, when arrested, admitted that they had intended to forcibly prevent elections to the National Assembly. A newspaper at Wilhelmshaven has been surrendered by the Spartacans. The executive committee of the soldiers' and workmen's council at Alle has resigned as a protest against the Bolshevists, and has ordered the election of a new council.

REPUBLIC LASTED BUT SIX HOURS

Luxembourg's New Government Had a Brief Existence.

London, Jan. 14.—The republic of Luxembourg, which was proclaimed on Thursday by the committee on public health, lasted only six hours, according to a report to the Express from Brussels which adds that French military authorities restored order in the grand duchy.

LUXEMBOURG MAY BE ANNEXED TO FRANCE

Paris, Jan. 14.—Havas.—The faction in Luxembourg which proclaimed the establishment of a republic there, has decided to send an official delegation to Paris, according to the Journal des Debats.

The newspaper adds that the movement favorable to the annexation of Luxembourg to France is growing stronger, and that the delegation to be sent here will be entrusted with a proposal along that line to the French Government.

GRAND DUCHESS MARIE LOSES HER POPULARITY

Geneva, Jan. 14.—Details of the proclamation of a republic in Luxembourg, which have reached here, say that revolutionists forced an entry to the palace of Grand Duchess Marie on Friday and demanded her abdication. She consented to go to her chateau outside of the city. In the meantime the Parliament held a disorderly meeting.

Grand Duchess Marie had a minority following, it is said, being mainly clerical.

It is said that feeling against the grand duchess is due to the fact that she received former Emperor William, the crown prince and other German officers, and also permitted her sister to become engaged to Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria. It is said the people desire to be absolutely independent of German control.

BOLSHEVIK FORCES ADVANCING ON WARSAW; POLES FEAR THAT CAPITAL WILL FALL TO FOE

Enemy Army of 30,000 Men Are Marching From Vilna — Polish Soldiers in Posen May Be Thrown Against the Bols heviki.

Warsaw, Sunday, Jan. 12.—(By the Associated Press).—Bolshevist forces are converging on Warsaw over the lines of railroad. They are advancing from Vilna and have passed Zudarce and Orani. Southwest of Lida they have reached Mosty, which is situated on the eastern bank of the Nieman River. Other columns are reported nearing Brest-Litovsk. The German evacuation of Bialystock is holding up the Bolshevist advance in that region.

The number of the enemy is unknown, the Poles not having sent aviators, as yet to investigate. It is estimated, however, that the Bolshevists have 30,000 men. It is feared that Warsaw is in danger of meeting the fate of Vilna. The Poles have a certain number of soldiers in Posen which may be thrown against the Bolshevists.

RUSSIA MAY BE REPRESENTED AT PEACE CONGRESS

Decision On Question Will Be Reached at Meeting To Be Held Thursday.

LEAGUE PROBLEM FIRST

Delegates to Conference Will Devote Twelve Hours Daily to Discussion If Necessary.

Paris, Jan. 14.—Russia may be represented, together with all the other nations that were engaged in the war against Germany at the first formal meeting of the peace conference. Whether Russia will have present at that time a delegation of prominent Russians, irrespective of party or spokesmen, if any, probably will be decided at the next meeting preliminary to the congress. This will be held tomorrow before the opening of the session of the French Parliament. All the delegations, with the exception of the French which will be occupied with parliamentary affairs, will employ their time in preparations for Wednesday's meeting.

To Discuss League.

The first question to come up before the actual peace conference will be that of the proposed league of nations and it was made known today that it had been planned for the confrees to devote twelve hours daily to this work if necessary, until it is on the way to completion. There is some reason for believing that the first plans of the structure of a league of nations to be laid before the conference probably will be somewhat composite, representative of a consensus of opinion on the part of American, British and French statesmen who have been discussing the subject. It will not purport to be a finished product, but is intended to serve as a starting point for development.

Foch Leaves for Treves.

Marshal Foch, the Allied commander-in-chief, is today on the way to his headquarters at Treves to meet the German delegates, and lay down terms for the extension of the armistice. There was some disposition during yesterday's conference to make the terms of the extension more drastic than had at first been proposed, but this was not carried out.

The extension, however, provides for the turning over of the German commercial fleet to transport troops, in exchange for food; for the restitution of material from France and Belgium, and for full compliance with the terms of the original armistice.

FIVE GREAT POWERS WILL EACH HAVE FIVE DELEGATES AT THE PEACE CONFERENCE

Canada, Australia, India and South Africa Will Have Two Representatives Each—Wilson's Plan To Submit Problems to Technical Committees Is Adopted.

Paris, Jan. 13.—By the Associated Press.—France, Great Britain, the United States, Italy and Japan will each have five representatives in the peace congress. This was decided upon today by the supreme council engaged in the preliminary work of organizing the peace procedure.

The British dominions, it was decided, will be represented apart from Great Britain. Canada, Australia, South Africa and India will have two representatives each, and New Zealand will have one delegate.

Brazil was given three representatives. Belgium, Serbia, Greece, Poland, Czecho-Slovakia, Rumania and China were assigned two representatives each. Portugal and the states which did not declare war upon Germany, but merely broke off diplomatic relations with her, were given one delegate each.

Brazil owes her special treatment to her historic position as a former empire and her population of more than 20,000,000, which worked against placing her secondary to nations much less peopled.

The representation to be given Jugo-Slavia was not decided upon, but it is considered probable that the Croats and Slovenes will be represented similarly to the Serbians. Nothing was done about Montenegro in view of the political situation created by the refusal of King Nicholas to recognize the desire of his people to unite with Jugo-Slavia.

Consideration of the question of Russian representation was postponed.

The size of representation of each nation was decided upon, not, as proposed by the French, in accordance with the part played by the nation in the war, but following the American and British plan, in proportion to the extent of the interest of each nation in the peace settlement.

The question of representation settled, the council began the discussion of procedure. A proposal by President Wilson concerning the sending of problems to technical committees for examination, was adopted. At the meeting on Wednesday the council will fix upon the methods of work and the guiding principles of the conference.

President Poincare will open the plenary session of the peace congress on Saturday with an address, after which officers will be elected.

GERMANY MUST SURRENDER ALL HER CARGO STEAMERS TO ALLIES

Paris, Jan. 13.—The economic terms approved by today's session of the supreme war council to be imposed for the extension of the armistice with Germany, provides that Germany shall hand over to the Allies all her cargo steamers in German, and other ports to enable the Allies to revictual Germany and such adjacent countries as may be decided upon. The terms also require the restitution of all manufacturing machinery, etc., taken from the invaded regions, which it is possible to identify. This was decided upon in the view that it would bring about a quicker revival of economic life than the payment of an equivalent in money. The financial clauses concern the gold reserve of the Reichsbank and the issue of money by Germany. Marshal Foch, when he meets the German armistice delegates, will make suggestions regarding the security of Government monetary deposits and the means of issuing bank notes. Guarantees will be required regarding any removal of the Reichsbank's gold from Berlin in view of Bolshevik activities.

The naval conditions demand strict compliance with the requirements of the original armistice concerning the handing over of submarines, which have not yet been compiled with. No question was raised regarding the occupation of German ports by the Allies, as had been reported.

Examination into the question of Allied intervention in Poland against the Bolsheviki was postponed by the council.

The armistice question thus being settled, Marshal Foch left tonight for Treves, where the German delegates will be received.

BRITISH OFFICER IS ARRESTED ON MURDER CHARGE

Lieut.-Col. Rutherford Is Held Following the Death of Major Seton.

London, Jan. 14.—A sensation was caused in military circles today when it was learned that Lieut.-Col. Norman Cecil Rutherford had been arrested, charged with the wilful murder of Major Miles Charles Seton of Milbourne. The murder occurred at the residence of Major Seton's cousin, Malcolm Cotter Seton, secretary of the judicial and public department of the Indian office, last night.

Col. Rutherford, according to the police, was seen to enter the Seton house. The police were sent for a few minutes later, and when they arrived there they found Major Seton dead with three bullet wounds in his body. The reasons for the shooting have not been disclosed.

Major Miles Charles Seton was born in 1874, and served in South Africa in 1901-02, and formerly was a captain in the Cape Medical Corps. In the male line he was the representative of the Setons of Carlston. He was made a Companion of the Bath in 1915. He was a fellow of the Royal College of Surgeons, a graduate of the University of Edinburgh and honorary anaesthetist of Alfred Hospital, Melbourne.

Ex-Kaiser Bill Growing a Beard To Protect Ear

Former German Emperor Will Have Real Bolshevik Adornment.

Amerongen, Saturday, Jan. 11—(By the Associated Press).—William Hohenzollern, the former German emperor, is growing a beard to protect his ear which was recently operated upon. The former emperor's facial appearance, therefore, is undergoing a radical change. Herr Hohenzollern's affected ear is badly influenced by the climate here.

The former emperor's beard is iron grey in color, and while it is still quite short, it makes Herr Hohenzollern look considerably older. The distinguished fugitive shows improvement in health, and is able to continue his walks in the garden of the chateau where he is living. While strolling he wears a fur greatcoat.

G. W. V. A. ALLEGES BAD TREATMENT OF INSANE SOLDIERS

Claim Is Made That Conditions in Certain Asylums Require Improvement.

Montreal, Jan. 14.—Treatment of mentally unbalanced returned soldiers in the insane asylums of this province, which they described as extremely unsatisfactory, was roundly denounced by members of the Great War Veterans' Association at their regular monthly meeting in the Molson Hall tonight. Secretary Trooper Brown said it had been brought to his attention that returned soldiers suffering from shell shock, and mentally unbalanced from this cause, instead of being segregated and given every encouragement to look for complete recovery are placed indiscriminately in the midst of the incurable and violently insane patients, at certain asylums in this province.

Ottawa, Jan. 14.—The British troopship Protesilaus, which was reported in difficulties owing to a broken propeller is safe and proceeding to Vladivostock under her own steam. Word to this effect has been received by both the militia and naval departments here. The naval department cable came from the naval transport officer at Vladivostok and states that the ship, with Canadian troops for Siberia on board, is safe and steaming to Vladivostok.

The militia department advice was sent by Gen. Elmsle, commanding the Canadian Siberian expeditionary force, who states that the protesilaus reported by wireless: "No assistance required."

The vessel has over two thousand Canadian soldiers on board from all parts of the Dominion. Gen. Bickford, commanding the Canadian infantry division in Siberia, is believed to be a passenger.

Vancouver, B. C., Jan. 14.—The British steamer Protesilaus left Vancouver about December 15 last with troops and mail for Vladivostok. Canadian censorship regulations in effect at that time, however, forbade any mention of the personnel the steamer had on board. It is believed here, however, that the vessel had discharged her troops and was on the return voyage by way of the Orient.

Salonika, Dec. 24.—Correspondence of the Associated Press. — Photographs found on Bulgarian prisoners showing hangings of Serbian men and women by Bulgarians, have come into possession of the Allies. Austrian and Bulgarian officers are shown grinning at the terrible fate of the victims who are seen hanging from specially constructed gibbets in rows. The women are attired in vari-colored peasant costumes which would seem to indicate that they had chosen to die in their best dresses.

Ross Rifles Thrown Away By Canadians

Returned Men Declare Lee-Enfield Was Used in Preference.

Montreal, Jan. 14.—An argument arose as to whether the Ross or the Lee Enfield rifle should be used by Canadians at Bisley rifle matches at a rifle-shooting meeting here last night. Returned soldiers at the meeting all declared emphatically that the Canadian soldiers had thrown away the Ross rifle and secured Lee Enfields whenever they could, finding the latter the best when it came to hard fighting, although the Ross was a fine rifle for sniping. A vote showed a majority in favor of using the Ross rifle at Bisley matches.

DECLARES NO EFFORT WAS MADE TO PROVE PUBLISHERS' CLAIMS

Counsel For Paper Mills Tells of Newspaper Dividends.

Ottawa, Jan. 14.—George H. Montgomery, chief counsel for the paper mills, continued his address in the newsprint inquiry today. He declared that no attempt had been made to prove before Mr. Pringle's tribunal the assertion that newspapers are being ruined by the high price of paper. He pointed out that newspapers had not waited for final settlement of newsprint prices but had doubled their price per copy. He read an extract from the Financial Post reporting a quarterly dividend of five per cent, with a bonus of two per cent, by a certain Ontario newspaper, whose proprietor, Mr. Montgomery claimed, had more than anyone else been responsible for the newsprint inquiry. This newspaper, he presumed, must have been one of the worst off, as its proprietor had "put up the loudest howl."

Mr. Tilley objected to the quotation from the Financial Post as not being in the evidence. Mr. Montgomery replied that the extract had been mentioned at the last hearing.

"Then any statement once made by counsel is to be treated as evidence!" exclaimed Mr. Tilley.

"If there is no evidence, we will not consider that point," said Chairman White.

London, Jan. 14.—Among the most convincing end-of-the-war signs are advertisements of Government auction sales of enormous assemblages of military property, including several factories as they stand, airplanes, nearly two hundred war vessels, enormous quantities of miscellaneous war goods, such as tents, textile products and boots. APPLES DECLARED TO BE "SURFACED"; BAGS OF POTATOES UNDER WEIGHT

A Government representative at the market today examined some apples which were brought to the market by S. Cornish, Rural Route No. 1, Byron, and declared them "surfaced." The word "surfaced" is used to describe barrels of apples in which the fruit on the top and sides is first-class, but that in the middle is of inferior quality. He also examined a load of potatoes which consisted of 25 bags. When two bags were weighed they just tipped the scale at 89½ pounds, which included the bag, instead of 91 pounds. They were owned by D. McNair, Denfield, No. 4, who said that all weighed the same, as he had weighed them before he left home. Both names will be sent to the department of justice, and prosecution may follow. In the meantime the owners of the fruit and vegetables were allowed to sell their products.

A skit was given by the first-year art students, being a burlesque on a movie, starring Miss Helen Berdan as "Simple Sue" and George Wainwright as "Zeke."

GERMAN DOCTORS TRIED TO MAKE LONDONER SUBMIT TO OPERATION WITHOUT ANAESTHETIC, BUT FAILED

Pte. William Wood Home After Terrible Experiences as Prisoner—Fifty Hospital Cases Arrive, But Not One Will Have Stretcher—At Least One Military Medal Winner Among Them.

A party of fifty returned soldiers, all of them hospital cases, and many of them minus limbs, reached the city in two Canadian Government Railway Red Cross cars at 3 p.m. yesterday. Three of the men were listed as stretcher cases, and a stretcher and bearers were on hand to take them from the train to the waiting A. M. A. motor ambulance, but such was the tonic effect of realizing that they were actually home again that all of them declined to be carried and managed to hobble across the platform and through to York street.

Guard of Honor.

The band of the C. G. R. played the battle-scarred veterans in, and a guard from the same unit, forming two lines of men with linked hands, kept back the crowds so as to allow free passage for the wounded men, who were taken, some in motor ambulances and some in automobiles provided by citizens, to the Central Military Convalescent Hospital on Ottaway avenue.

Given a Welcome.

There they were provided with a substantial meal, and they did justice to it in spite of the fact that they had had a noon meal on the train. Afterwards Rev. W. J. Ashton bade them welcome on behalf of the citizens of London, and Ed. Lance, secretary of the soldiers' aid commission, explained briefly to them the nature of the commission's work.

No Tales of Bravery.

A military medal winner and a man who spent twelve months in Germany as a grievously wounded prisoner, both of them Londoners, were among the party. The former, Sergt. Alfred Benbow, went overseas with the 142nd Battalion. He won his decoration at the battle of Armiens on August 11 last. Asked what he got it for his reply was "Swinging the Lead I Guess." As that expression is the army term for malingering it obviously was not intended to be taken seriously, but Sergt. Benbow could not be persauded to give a more believable explanation. He was wounded at Monchy while serving with the 5th C. M. R., to which he was transferred, when the 142nd was broken up in England. His wife and four children were at the station to meet him, and after the proceedings at the hospital he accompanied them to their home on Garfield avenue, where it is safe to say that the next few days will do much to make up for the heartache of the last three years.

Tears and Joy.

The repatriated prisoner of war was Pte. William Wood. His wife and three children greeted him as he stepped off the train, and although the sight of his helpless right arm and emaciated face brought tears to the eyes of his wife, there was more of happiness than of grief in her tears. "He is a lot thinner," she said to a reporter, "but it's good to see him safely back after all this weary time."

Pte. Wood enlisted with the 135th Battalion, and went to the 87th Battalion in France. He had been eight months at the front when at Lens on August 15, 1917, a piece of shrapnel shattered his right elbow. Wounded and suffering intense pain, he was captured by the Germans and sent to Mulheim, where for ten months he was a patient in the hospital.

A Terrible Time.

Pte. Wood must have spent a terrible time in this hospital. He does not like to talk much about it, but one gathers that the thought of it still brings a mental shudder of horror. The food, he told an interviewer, consisted mainly of soup and black bread, and not much of that. Instead of building up the strength of the wounded men this diet barely was enough to keep them alive, and all of them got weaker instead of stronger. Many died of absolute neglect, the returned man declared, and he expressed wonderment that any survived. He was at Mulheim seven months before any Red Cross boxes reached him, but after they did come his sufferings were greatly mitigated.

Four Operations.

He was operated on four times, and once the surgeons attempted to operate without using anaesthetic, but he made such a vigorous complaint that one of the doctors insisted that anaesthetic must be used. Pte. Wood said the treatment he received in the hospital was beyond description. Often his wound, an open running one, was not dressed for four days at a time, and other seriously wounded patients were similarly neglected. He said that not much active unkindness was his portion, but some of the attendants were worse than others in this respect.

After the attempt to restore use to his arm, which had become paralyzed had been given up, Pte. Wood was sent to Nurnster prison camp in Westphalen to wait for exchange, and two months later was exchanged for a German prisoner. He was repatriated by way of Holland and England.

Three Wounds.

Pte. T. A. Baker, an original 34th Battalion man, bears four blue chevrons and three gold wound stripes on his sleeve. He was hit at Ypres, again at Hill 70, and a third time at Arras in August last. His home is in Sarnia.

Minus his right leg below the thigh, but looking quite cheerful, Pte. Leslie Murray, who came from Detroit to enlist in the cyclist platoon in London in the early part of 1917, spoke joyfully of his prospective return to Detroit. He spent nine months in France with the 1st Battalion.

Pte. J. M. Mammal was another man who, in spite of the loss of a foot, was brimming over with good humor. "I really lost two feet," he explained. "My right foot is off, and the foot that is gone is left—in France." He enlisted in the 161st Battalion. His home is in Goderich.

Others Maimed.

Pte. Archie Humphrey, formerly of the 135th Battalion, served with the 15th Battalion, 42th Highlanders, in France, and lost his right arm in the Arras fighting last September.

Although his left arm is off, Pte. Alfred Wistow was greeted by his wife and two children with a joyousness which his mutiliation could not minimize. He went overseas with the 34th Battalion, and was wounded at Amiens on August 17, the same day that Pte. Mammal lost his foot.

Pte. James Shepherd, a native of Terre Haute, Ind., is on his way back there as soon as he can get his discharge. He still suffers from the effect of a serious abdominal wound, but has all his limbs and is altogether happy to be back more or less whole. He went overseas from Windsor with a draft from the 21st Battalion.

A MENACE TO PELEE ISLAND.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Now that our council, after due deliberation and counting the seriousness of the step, and also being well aware of the ever-increasing menace of the sandsucker evil, have at last taken the bit between its teeth and issued its ultimatum to those corporations by entering an action in the courts for damages and restraining them from future havoc, seemingly some people in our midst are not alive to the ever-growing seriousness of the situation, and certainly do not take the interest they should. It is not for me to say what damage has already been done. It is not for me to say what terrible calamity is staring us in the face. But go and see for yourself; go some day when a northeaster is tearing up the lake and look at the cut at the east pump, and you will see things as I have seen them. You will see seven or eight feet of bank between the on-rushing waters of Lake Erie at least five feet above the level of the marsh lands, where thousands of acres of wheat are growing in the highest state of fertility. Some, after reading these lines, will think the gravity of this situation has not advanced to this stage, but they are living in false security, for just as sure as the sun rises and sets, if steps are not taken immediately to repair this damage and prevent future havoc, the low lands of our island will be inundated by the waters of Lake Erie. And then what? Well, I'll tell you what the consequences will be. The marsh will be covered with waters from the lake. The upland of the island is holding those marsh debentures as well as the low lands, and the upland cannot possibly pay them. The result will be that you have to leave your homes which you have taken years to prepare and seek a home elsewhere. What good will your farms be to you then? Are you going to lay down and see this state of things exist? Are you going to see your heritage swept into the sea to satisfy a few American capitalists, who don't care a two-penny bit whether you sink or swim, or are you going to put up a fight? Remember, it certainly is going to be some fight, for those lake dredgers will not disgorge their gains until you shake it out of them by the strong arm of justice, for they will employ every means to gain their ends. So it is up to you to not let them do it. When Germany and her allies menaced civilization, did the rest of the civilized world say we can never stand the expense of this? No, their motto was: we will win at all costs, for it is better to die fighting for your rights than be trampled down by injustice, and if this arrogant trespass is not kaiserism, it is the next thing to it. Up till now, I've been a resident of Pelee Island, and still have the interests of the community at heart and I am endeared to it as such and for its speindid possibilities, and for that reason I hate to see the old place go to destruction where I have spent the best part of my life, and it is heartrending to see it so menaced. However, I believe the time has now arrived when others see as I do, and it is your duty as well as the pride you have for the island to stand by the council like a stone wall and help it by every means which you can employ, for a united effort strongly persisted in seldom fails in accomplishing its purpose.

As tillers of the soil, you have been up against it; flood, frost, drouth, and a thousand and one other things as such you are exposed to. Your island heritage has subjected you to many privations that your more favored brothers on the mainland have not to contend with, forces practically unknown to the rest of the country, your drainage, roads, schools, mail or any of the utilities necessary for your very elxstence, and yet you do exist, and by your superhuman efforts made your existence possible. You have done it well and ungrudgingly, and now you are up against the greatest menace of all, and the most unwarranted, a menace if allowed to continue unchecked, will mean the sacrifice of all your noble efforts. Men of the council of 1919, go to it; you represent a body of public-spirited men and women. Is not your almost unanimous return to office an indorsement that your fellow-citizens approve of your efforts and are willing to help hold up your hands and do their bit?

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for space in your valuable paper and your valued assistance in the past, and hoping that you will continue to proclaim against this nefarious and gross injustice, which if persisted in means the extinction of this beauty spot of Canada.

A NEW SUB LOCATOR.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Now, since the war is over, I wish to place before your readers a clipping from the North American Review of the later part of May, 1918, regarding a new sub-locator, which can detect subs many miles away and point the direction to same.

We have all become Missourians as to mechanical devices that will beat the submarines, but Col. George Harvey makes a very important announcement, if true. It runs as follows: "We have the distinguished privilege and supreme satisfaction of announcing that the problem of locating the exact position of a submarine from a ship, at a distance which from obvious reasons cannot be mentioned, has been solved by American inventive genius. This is not a guess based on experiment. It is a fact demonstrated by actual experience. While the contrivance does not presage the complete extirpation of the pest, it does virtually guarantee its ultimate elimination as a material force in piratical warfare.

"The question is one of supreme importance to the Allies, and to the United States most of all. It is not merely a question of feeding the armies, and the population of Britain, France and Italy, but of the lives of American soldiers. Thousands of them are sailing for France daily, and the influx will continue all summer.

"The sense of relief that Americans, and Canadians, too, must experience in feeling that their boys, though some may never come back, will die 'doing their bit' instead of being drowned in torpedoed ships, is inestimable."

I would like to draw your attention to the fact that this invention is not due to American inventive genius, for I have a right to say the invention is Canadian.

WM. WELSH, Kincardine.

COL. DENNISON'S OUTBURST.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

I have a particular aversion to writing letters to the newspapers, but I cannot refrain from sending you a line of congratulation upon the editorial appearing in your evening issue of today, entitled "Mischievous Words."

I read in a London paper a few days ago the effusion of Colonel Dennison, and at the time was struck with the peculiar tactlessness and importunateness of the characteristic blunder.

At a time such as this, when the leaders of the British Empire are bending every energy towards cementing and solidifying the happy relations existing between the two great Anglo-Saxon races, it does seem the height of stupidity, not to say disloyalty for anyone, particularly one holding a Government position and a commission in his majesty's forces, to express such ridiculous sentiments, calculated to stir up feeling or even discussion. However, we must consider the source and not worry.

Colonel Dennison has for thirty years or more cultivated and nourished unkind thoughts and given expression from time to time to similar sentiments, to which people with well-balanced minds give no heed. Yours truly,

GEORGE T. BROWN.
London, Jan. 13, 1919.

A FRANK CRITIC.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

We have just read a letter in The Advertiser in which they make reference to that liquor case at Windsor, and we want to make bold to ask a pertinent question on the matter.

Do those ministers wish the general public to believe that a doctor in Windsor took advantage of the innocence of those two "students or probationers" and invited them in from the street to buy a prescription for whiskey from him?

If so, we refuse to believe it. Newspapers in Western Ontario published the news that those two men, whether ministers or probationers, went and asked for those prescriptions. And we are pleased to note in today's editorial, it says: "The Advertiser does not retreat from the position it held that the action of the probationers was injudicious and reprehensible." Certainly it was, and we feel that those three ministers who have reopened the discussion would have done the Methodist church a greater service if they had not indulged in such obvious camouflage. Perhaps they have never heard that old saying about "the more you stir up the mud the deeper it gets," or words to that effect.

We had to admit on our return to Canada that the Methodist church had become a strong political power during the war, but signs are not lacking that it has done so at the expense of its spirituality. And even if it should gain its coveted position of "the giant church of Canada," we would respectfully remark that Shakespeare said, "It is excellent to have a giant's strength, but tyrannous to use it like a giant." Surely the events of the past four years have proved that tyranny is a back number.

The case of Dr. Knowles as placed before the public was not exactly bristling with humility on the part of the church, and coming nearer home, we find that the request of Mr. Gies to have hymn books placed in the churches for visitors, was promptly met by "Faithful Methodist," telling him to buy a hymn book if he wanted one. Not much Christian humility or even common courtesy about that. We take it for granted that "Faithful Methodist" has a financial interest in the Methodist book bindery at Toronto, and was ashamed to give his real name to the public.

Now, please do not think that we are anti-Methodist. Among our valued friends we number lifelong Methodists, and we are violating no confidence when we say that they have admitted to us their regret over matters connected with the church. Personally, we should be heart-sorry to see any branch of Christ's church on earth suffer defeat, for we know that without the uplifting influences of the churches Canada will never be able to take her place among the nations for which her glorious sons have battled.

We have read and admired the life of John Wesley, and if we were asked which one of his sermons had the most bearing on present day matters, we should unhesitatingly say the one where he took for his text, "Pride goeth before destruction, and a haughty spirit before a fall." More anon,

Respectfully yours,
FRED YOUNG,
18th Battalion.

How Have You Been Impressed?

The recent epidemic has indelibly impressed upon all minds the uncertainty of life.

Since the outbreak a number of people have changed their Wills and named The Canada Trust Company as executor and trustee in place of friends.

Epidemics and disease take from our midst many robust persons—friends whom we thought would be the last to succumb.

If you have appointed an individual executor, why not change your Will and name The Canada Trust Company?

Epidemics do not affect its service!

SCHOOL PUPILS HOLD ELECTION OF THEIR OWN

For the purpose of giving the children instruction in civic affairs and to teach them how an election is run, the boys' and girls' department of the Alexandra School has elected a president, a vice-president and council of six. These will meet jointly, and separately from time to time.

The children were taught how to nominate, ballots were marked correctly and scrutineers were on the job. W. Kirkwood, the principal, reports that the children are keenly interested in this new form of instruction, which teaches them how to govern themselves.

The walls of the school were gay with posters soliciting the votes for the favorite candidates in each department.

AUSTRIANS TRY TO SAIL FOR HOMELAND, BUT ARE PREVENTED

No Tickets Sold Them, According to Law.

WANTED TO GO QUICKLY

Having Heard That Their Countrymen Were Leaving in Numbers.

Austrians or other enemy aliens will not be allowed to book passage for their own country for some time yet. Three natives of the dual monarchy stepped into F. B. Clarke's ocean steamship ticket office at noon today and asked for passage to their homeland. They said that they had read in a Hamilton paper that Austrians were going home in large numbers, and that they desired to sail as soon as possible.

Mr. Clarke explained to them the regulations, and also declared that the ocean traffic between North America and that country was somewhat disorganized. The Russians, he said, were allowed to go back to their country because they were not looked upon as being antagonistic to the Allies. He thought that possibly after the conclusion of the peace conference, the regulations governing the traveling of enemies would be changed, but that at present they were still in force, the same as if the war was in progress.

Police Treated Old Man Just As If He Were Their Father

Aged Mr. Weller Testifies in Court to Their Goodness.

The police court session today was short and sweet. Deputy Magistrate Bartlett disposed of the cases in short order. Zilma Lsponoida paid $1 for a breach of a bylaw, while H. Pocock and H. Lavagh paid $2 each for their breaches of bylaws.

Wellington Weller, a man of 78 years, was found wandering around the streets Monday afternoon. He had just come from Windsor, and had no place to go. In court today he stated that the police had treated him well over night, and had shown him every consideration.

"The boys just treated me as if I was their father," said Mr. Weller in a high, cracked, thin voice. He was remanded for a few days, and in the meantime Mr. Bartlett will consider what is to be done. The old man also stated that he had a daughter in Sault Ste. Marie, who would look after him if he could only reach her.

MISS BOULTON HERE TO UNDERTAKE EXTENSIVE EDUCATIONAL CAMPAIGN

Miss Constance Boulton of Toronto, arrives in the city this afternoon and will be a guest at the board of education banquet to be held in the Tecumseh House at 6 o'clock this evening at which Hon. Dr. Cody, minister of education, will be the guest of honor.

Miss Boulton comes to London to undertake an educational campaign under the auspices of the Daughters of the Empire and the Navy League of Canada. She will remain here for about ten days, lecturing in the various schools, and showing interesting slides. Her work will then cover the whole of Western Ontario, London acting at headquarters. This district being No. 1 Military District, has been the first field of operation for this educational campaign which eventually will extend throughout the Dominion.

Tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock Miss Boulton will speak to the children of the Tecumseh avenue school, and in the afternoon she will be the lecturer at a public meeting in St. Peter's Parish Hall.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS HOSTESSES AT SUPPER

The women members of the board of education were the guests of honor at a well-attended meeting of the High School Girls' Club held in the Central Y. W. C. A. building on King street. The meeting took the form of supper after which Miss Hilda Keene spoke on social service work, referring especially to the social service centre in Toronto with which she was connected for some time. The usual high school songs were sung, and a jolly time spent by all.

ALDERMEN INDORSE MAYOR'S IDEAS FOR CIVIC IMPROVEMENT

Nearly All Eager To Plan For Enlargement.

START ON NECESSITIES

New City Hall Construction Is Likely To Wait Year At Least.

Ald. O. G. Keene, chairman of No. 2 committee, is in accord with the policy outlined in Mayor C. R. Somerville's inaugural address concerning local improvements. Ald. Keene thinks that the city should lay down necessary pavements, make sewer extensions and lay sidewalks this year.

"We laid down on this work last year on account of the war," said he, "and now that the war is over we should get busy with some of the most necessary work." He will bring the matter to the attention of the committee this evening, when some definite policy will be outlined. City Engineer H. A. Brazier will be present to consult with the committee also.

All Want Improvements.

Practically all of the aldermen are of the opinion that now that the war is over action should be taken towards improving London and building for the 160,000 population which the city will have by the end of 1924.

Ald. E. S. Little, chairman of No. 1 committee, thinks that the laying of pavements is most necessary work this year. He would like to see ten miles laid this summer.

Regarding the site of the new city hall, which will be erected in London some time in the not too far distant future, Ald. Little says that the site of the present "ramshackle building," as Mayor Somerville terms it, is the logical one.

Would Erect New One.

He is thoroughly in accord with the mayor, that the present building should be torn down and a suitable one erected. Plans for the new hall may be prepared this year, but as far as can be learned it is doubtful if the building will be erected for at least one year.

Ald. Little also is in full accord with the mayor in reference to the building of a war veterans' home this summer. Some action should be taken immediately with this end in view, he thinks.

HON. DR. CODY PAYS MOST ELOQUENT TRIBUTE TO ALLIES AND MENTIONS ESPECIALLY WORK OF BRITISH NAVY

Addresses Canadian Club at Luncheon and Draws Attention to the Great Work Done by Women of Britain.

A wonderfully eloquent tribute of admiration was paid by Hon. Dr. H. J. Cody, minister of education for Ontario, at a luncheon given by the Canadian Club in the Tecumseh House at noon today, to the United States, Canada and the colonies, France, and particularly to the mother country.

"Lord Roberts, as described by Kipling, was typical of the British people," said Dr. Cody. "He's little, but he's wise; he's a terror for his size, and he does not advertise.' The British do not advertise their achievements, but they have done wonders. The 'contemptible little British army' held the Germans at Mons, and made possible the victory of the Marne. At the first battle of Ypres they shed their blood so freely that that part of Flanders is rich with it, but they did not give way, and the Germans were frustrated in their attempt to reach the channel ports."

Work of Women.

Dr. Cody spoke of the wonderful organization behind the lines which had been built up by Britain, with special reference to the work which had been done by the women of Britain. He mentioned that whereas before the war about two hundred thousand women in Britain were employed, at the end more than five million of them were working and taking the places of men so that the latter could fight.

He also referred to the work of the British navy, and described a visit he paid to the grand fleet at Edinburgh. He could not help allowing his imagination to picture the fleet's past, present and future, and he felt that it was not merely a mass of metal, but a sentient body, which housed the soul of Drake, Hawke, Frobisher and Nelson.

Downfall of Tyrants.

"Every tyrant who has sought world power has been frustrated by sea power," he said. "Philip of Spain, Louis Quartorze of France, Napoleon, and William the last and least of Germany have in their turn failed in the effort to wield the sceptre of world dominion because of sea power. The navy swept German commerce from the sea, and kept the German highseas fleet safely bottled up in harbor except on one or two memorable occasions. They came out once and the battle of Jutland took place, and they went back. And they stayed back until, as Beattie said, they came out on a string."

A special tribute was paid by the speaker to Marshal Foch, whom he described as the greatest scientific soldier of his day. At the time the armistice was granted to Germany Foch's strategy had been developed so far that, if the war had gone on for another week or ten days the Allies would have won the greatest military victory ever recorded, with probably more than a million captives. But Foch, setting aside personal ambition, had chosen to save the lives of his gallant men, realizing that the same result could be attained in another way.

Speaking of Canada's part in the war Dr. Cody declared that the Canadian Corps was unsurpassed. And as the "spearhead," the shoc kforce, it was safely within the bounds of reason to say that it was unequalled.

Tribute to U. S. A.

America's contribution was also the subject of a warm tribute. The United States troops, said Dr. Cody, had not had much opportunity to play a big part in the actual fighting, but because they were on hand to form a large reserve force, Marshal Foch was able to use his French and British troops to deliver the hammer blows which battered and shattered the Hindenburg line and resulted in the ultimate collapse of the enemy forces.

Dr. Cody incidentally described an encounter with a submarine while he was traveling from New York to England on board the Carmania. The undersea boat, one of the super-submarines which operated on the Atlantic coast of America, came up between the Carmania and the Baltic, but the attendant cruiser and the vessels of the convoy opened fire on it, and it submerged without making an attack.

CHILLED TO THE MARROW, AGED COLORED WOMAN GOES OUT TO FIND FUEL; MEETS SAMARITANS

Boy Finds Coal For Her, and Local Doctor, Seeing Them, Gives Her Enough Money To Buy Some When the Morning Dawns.

While comfortable, well housed and properly warmed London slept on Sunday night, a poor old colored woman crept from her cold, cold, little house, carrying a basket on her arm. She couldn't bear it any longer, the chill that was eating to her heart, so she turned her footsteps towards the Grand Trunk tracks to see, if perchance, she might possibly gather up a few nuggets of coal that had been dropped by passing engines. Near Bathurst street, she was discovered as she bent over, peering at the roadbed with her weary old eyes, by an express boy, who, hearing her story and noting her advanced age, had compassion upon her. He insisted that she should go on down a little farther, to the corner of Bathurst street, where a supply of the company's coal is piled and take what would be required to keep her warm until morning.

Then another good Samaritan came along, this time a well-known city doctor, who was walking home after attending a night call in the south end of the city. Inquiring in regard to what was going on, he gave the old woman enough money to tide her over. The story is told as follows by the express boy:

On January 12, I was going home between 12 and 1 o'clock at night, when I found an old colored lady searching along the G. T. R. for fuel. She was actually in want, hardship and distress. At the G. T. R. and Bathurst street a supply of coal is piled, and I insisted on her taking what would be required to keep her warm. Just then Dr. ——, acting the good Samaritan, came along, and gave the colored woman some money to tide her over.

"She may be colored, but her soul may be white. Come to the rescue and receive the reward. It is wonderful how some people live in luxury while others have to be 'tided over.'"

The good Samaritan doctor, like a real Samaritan, won't have his name mentioned. It was just a little thing he did, that anyone would have done if he had seen for himself the circumstances, so he says. It happened this way: He was coming home Sunday night late after attending a patient, and saw the old woman standing there with her basket. There was a young man talking to her who seemed a very nice chap from the interest he was taking. The young fellow did the only humane thing at that hour of the night that could be done for a poor, old woman, who was without fuel at home. He saw that her basket was filled. So far as the doctor's own part was concerned "nothing, simply, nothing," so her says.

PROGRAM OF MAYOR MEANS MUCH WORK FOR CITY ENGINEER

But Latter Heartily Indorses Some of Plans.

SEWAGE SYSTEM IS BAD

And Need of a Better Disposal Plant Is Evident To Citizens.

One of the busiest departments of the city this year will be that of City Engineer H. A. Brazier if the city council authorizes the carrying out of the work mentioned in the inaugural address of Mayor C. R. Somerville.

Construction of a new sewage disposal plant at the Cove, and connecting all the sewers of the city with it that are not at present connected, is, in the opinion of Mr. Brazier, one of the most important items for consideration. At present several of the sewers empty direct into the river, and this has always brought forth criticism by the citizens. While the building of the new interceptor sewer plant at King and Ridout streets will take care of some of these, it will not take in all of them.

Much Undiluted.

Mayor Somerville, in his address, estimates that 40 per cent of the sewage empties into the river in a raw state as a result of the inadequacy of the sewer beds and feeder pipes.

With this Mr. Brazier agrees, and for this reason he says that the work should be done as soon as possible. Plans, in all probability, will be prepared this year, he says.

Sewer extensions for West London, and the newly-annexed districts to the east of the city, are other public works that possibly will be considered this year. Plans will likely be prepared of extensions for the districts that the council considers most in need at this time.

Fears Labor Shortage.

The state of the labor market, Mr. Brazier thinks, will determine to a great extent the amount of work carried out this year. He fears that there will be a scarcity of help, and this, as well as the high price of materials, will have a tendency to curtail the work to a large extent.

In addition to the sewer extensions, bylaws have already been passed by former councils authorizing the laying of several miles of pavements and sidewalks.

These questions will be considered at the meeting of No. 2 committee this evening, along with the regular routine business.

Mrs. Mary McDonald (nee Ferguson) of San Francisco will receive on Wednesday afternoon at the home of her sister, 137 Maple street.

TELLS OF MISSIONARY WORK AMONG JAPANESE

Miss Goveniock Says Girls Turning Towards Christianity.

The Dundas Centre Auxiliary of the W. M. S. met in the ladies' parlors on Monday afternoon. The room was well filled. An interesting program was presented.

Miss Govenlock, late of Japan, inspired the members with her graphic description of the work among the girls. Many even among the embroidery girls are turning towards the light and are excepting Christianity.

Mrs. S. Keenleyslides rendered, "If I Were a Voice" with much feeling and her contribution to the program was much appreciated.

A pleasing incident was the presentation of a certificate of life membership to Mrs. Letteney, who for several years has so efficiently filled the office of pianist.

A liberal collection was taken up for the rest fund, together with the promise of further life memberships.

MANY RETURNED MEN APPLY FOR POSITIONS

Wm. Ruddick at Bureau Office to Assist Them.

W. M. Ruddick, who went overseas with the first contingent, has been installed in the local Government employment bureau office, and will spend his entire time arranging for positions for returned soldiers. Mr. Ruddick, who was appointed by the soldiers' civil re-establishment commission, took over his work Monday, and has already received a number of applications for work from returned men.

"A number of the boys have already applied for work," said Mr. Ruddick this morning. "They are looking for jobs, some as laborers, shippers, molders' helpers and firing boilers. Any persons needing help would do well to call me up on the phone at the Government employment bureau.

AMOUNT WAS $100.—In the list of donors to the Protestant Orphans' Home in yesterday's paper, owing to a typographical error, Mrs. Allen McLean was credited with a gift of $1, instead of $100, which amount she gave for the work of the home.

MEAT BUSINESS OF U. S. UNDER CONTROL OF LARGE PACKERS

Francis J. Heney Declares a Monopoly Is Held by Five Firms.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 14.—Francis J. Heney, who acted as special counsel for the federal trade commission in the investigation of the meat packing industry, was a witness today before the Senate agriculture committee, which resumed its hearings on the bill providing for Government control of certain facilities of the meat industry, including cattle and refrigerating cars.

"The evidence gathered by the commission," said Mr. Heney, "convinced me that five large packers have what is in effect a monopoly of the meat business in the United States and have it so entrenched by control over the meat business of other countries contributory to the United States that they are able to overthrow the law of supply and demand and fix prices not only to the producer but also to the consumer.

Reviewing the history of the packing industry from its acquisition of control over refrigerator cars of the country, Mr. Heney said the big companies now controlled more than 90 per cent of the refrigerator cars, and had destroyed the local slaughtering business.

TWO ROBBERIES ON DUNDAS STREET IN HOURS OF DARKNESS

Eyeglasses and Watches Are Taken From Cases.

Petty thieving has again broken out in the city. Last night or early this morning the lock on the glass case owned by J. S. Barnard, jeweler, just outside the store entrance, was broken and several pairs of glasses stolen from the case.

A small case outside the entrance to the Steele Hardware Company was also broken and half a dozen Ingersoll watches were taken. The thieving, it is believed, was done by the same party or parties. The police are investigating both robberies.

DEFER NATIONS LEAGUE TILL AFTER PEACE, IS PLEA IN U. S. SENATE

Washington, Jan. 13.—Speeches advocating postponement of consideration of the league of nations plans until after the peace conference were made in the Senate by Senators Sterling of South Dakota, Republican, and Meyers of Montana, Democrat. Both insisted that problems of the peace conference should not be complicated by this plan.

Senator Sterling contended that existing relations between the United States, Great Britain, France and Italy made a league to enforce peace unnecessary. Senator Meyers advocated establishing a league of nations without impairing the sovereignty of its members and with the central powers barred at least for this generation.

DOCUMENTS MUST CONTINUE TO BE CARRIED BY ALL OF MILITARY AGE

Important Regulations Under the M. S. A. Are Still in Effect.

Ottawa, Jan. 14.—Important regulations under the military service act, it is officially stated, are still in force. These include the regulation which requires each person of apparent military age and description to carry documents proving his status under the act. They include also the regulations pertaining to the duty of employers to notify registrars of all Class One men taken on or off their employ and of assuring themselves that no men in their employ, or taken on their employ, are in any way in default under the M. S. A. A number of other regulations passed under the act have been suspended. Men becoming 19 years of age, Americans, British subjects coming to Canada to reside, and men becoming widowers, are no longer required to register. It is also unnecessary for any Class One man to make any further applications whatever in connection with exemptions, as all exemptions current on November 11, 1918, are continued effective indefinitely.

Requirement of notification of change address to the M. S. A. registrars is suspended,as also is the provision requiring registrants to obtain permits to leave Canada.

To render the detection of defaulters as simple as possible, registrars are issuing a uniform protection certificate to all men under their jurisdiction and in good standing on their records of November 11, 1918. This certificate will replace all exemption and protection certificates previously issued by registrars.

With the exception of a nucleus staff, consisting of the registrar and five assistants, registration offices are to be closed February 15.

Attempt To Play Politics Frustrated

Council Member's Efforts Found No Support From His Fellows.

Rumors are current that a certain member of the new council endeavored to play politics in the appointment of the committees yesterday, but was frustrated in this attempt. It is said that one of the aldermen tried to have the Conservative members appointed to No. 2 committee, with a Conservative chairman, and a chairman of the same shade of politics for No. 1 committee.

The playing of politics is frowned upon by the majority of the members of the council, however. In fact, it is said that there was only one member of the council who desired to introduce the political element into the city government at this time.

BANK OF HAMILTON TO INCREASE CAPITAL BY ONE MILLION DOLLARS

Hamilton, Jan. 13.—Sir John S. Hendrie, president of the Bank of Hamilton, makes the announcement that the capital stock of the bank has been increased by $1,000,000, which will be issued to share holders of record February 20, at $150 a share. This makes the capital stock of the bank $4,000,000. The new stock will be issued to shareholders on the basis of one new share to every three shares of old stock. The increase was made necessary by the expansion of the bank's business, as shown by the total assets of $81,000,000. The reserves and undivided profits now amount to over $3,500,000.

London, Jan. 14.—Satisfaction is expressed by the Times in an editorial commenting upon the foundation of an "inter-Allied fellowship of medicine society, which, it says, will unite more closely British, American and other Allied schools of medicine.

Dr. Sir Wm. Osler is president of the organization and Sir Arbuthnot Lane is treasurer. Steps will be taken to inaugurate in London post-graduate courses in medicine similar to those already established at Paris for the heads of the American and Dominion army medical services. Officers on leave will be enabled to study medicine here, according to the plan which has been outlined.

MOTHERS' PENSIONS OR DAY NURSERIES, WHICH IS BETTER?

Different Opinions Expressed at Mothers' Club.

About fifty mothers were present at the Riverview Mothers' Club, which met last evening at the school. Miss Bertha Smith, child welfare nurse, spoke on her work, introductory to the well baby clinic, which is to be held in the school on Friday next, and many of the mothers present volunteered to assist her on that day. It is expected that many babies will be out to attend this clinic, the Talbot street school clinic yesterday setting the pace with 26 babies in attendance.

Miss Smith also expressed the hope that day nurseries would soon be established in the city, where mothers who are working all day might leave their children in competent hands. Both Principal Newhouse and Mrs. F. R. Hardie, president of the club, were of the opinion that all energy should be spent rather towards the establishment of mothers' pensions, which would give the mother freedom to look after her own children, than on the day nurseries, which would place the children in the care of others.

Mrs. Hardie gave a most interesting paper on "Domesticity in the Home," urging the mothers to teach their girls how to care for a home and children. A reading from "Ann of Green Gables" was given in a charming manner by Miss Sybal Higman, a vocal solo by Sergt. Depotie and a pinao solo by Miss Doris Thomas.

The meeting closed with the serving of refreshments and a social half-hour.

WIVES AND FAMILIES OF RETURNED SOLDIERS SWELLING POPULATION

The population of London has been doing some growing in the past few weeks, owing to the arrival from overseas of the wives and children of soldiers. In several cases where the family is English or Scotch, it has taken a war to get them here. The head of the household came to Canada years ago to make a home for his wife and little ones, but, before he had sufficient of the wherewithal to bring them the war broke out. Like a good Britisher, and in order to protect his dependents, he enlisted and went back home on his way to France.

Now they are all here together, looking hopefully forward to the future, as the patriotic association visitors know.

One visitor, by the way, has visited a number of these families which have arrived in the past ten days. Two families each had six children, bright, well-cared for children, with capable, thrifty-looking mothers.

"I'm satisfied those families are going to make good," was the statement made today to The Advertiser. "In one case, the mother of six is Scotch, the other English. I believe from what I have seen that a number of the families are going to be excellent citizens. At present, they are staying with other families, but are eager to get settled in their own homes, and are now looking for houses.

NUXATED IRON

"Say, Doctor, This Prescription Works Like Magic."

Physician Says Nuxated Iron Quickly Puts Astonishing Strength and Energy Into the Veins of Men and Brings Roses to the Cheeks of Nervous, Run-Down Women.

Ask the first hundred strong, healthy people you meet to what they owe their strength and see how many reply "Nuxated Iron." Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital, (Outdoor Dept.), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital, says: "Thousands of people suffer from iron deficiency but do not know what to take. There is nothing like organic iron—Nuxated Iron, to enrich the blood, make beautiful, healthy women, and strong, vigorous iron men. To make absolutely sure that my patients get real organic iron and not some form of the metallic variety, I always prescribe Nuxated Iron in its original packages. Nuxated Iron will increase the strength and endurance of weak, nervous, run-down folks in two weeks' time in many instances."

Manufacturers' Note: Nuxated Iron recommended above by Dr. Sullivan can be obtained from any good druggist with or without a physician's prescription on an absolute manufacturers' guarantee of success or money refunded.

HENSALL FARMER HURT WHEN LOAD UPSETS

HENSALL, Jan. 13.—On Saturday afternoon as Mr. and Mrs. John Mousso, of the township of Hay, were driving into Hensall the horse began to kick furiously, badly damaging the cutter, but Mr. Mousso managed to hold it from getting away, and fortunately neither of them were injured.

In the same afternoon, but towards evening Robert McArthur, one of the pioneer retired farmers of this section, was delivering a load of hay when in turning in at the premises the load upset, the hay going in one direction while Mr. McArthur was thrown or jumped the opposite side, but unfortunately suffered painful injuries, his nose being nearly completely severed, besides deep cuts on other parts of the face by falling on the runner or sharp part of the overturned sleigh.

SANTAL CAPSULES MIDY — CATARRH of the BLADDER relieved in 24 HOURS. Each Capsule bears the name MIDY. Beware of counterfeits

Dandruff Soon Ruins the Hair

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails. —Advt.

TEDDY'S LAST EDITORIAL ON WORLD LEAGUE

Regrets That Wilson Has Not Been Concise.

"POLICE" BAD COUNTRIES

Let Civilized Europe and Asia Control Neighbors and U. S. Guide Mexico.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 13.—An article on the league of nations, the last contribution that Col. Theodore Roosevelt prepared for the Kansas City Star, appeared in that newspaper today. The editorial was dictated Friday, January 3, and the former president's secretary expected to take the typed copy to her chief for correction on the following Monday. Instead, she was notified early that morning of his death. The article in part follows:

"It is, of course, a serious misfortune that our people are not getting a clear idea of what is happening on the other side. For the moment the point as to which we are foggy is the league of nations. We all of us earnestly desire such a league, only we wish to be sure that it will help, and not hinder, the cause of world peace and justice.

Danger of Failure.

"There is not a young man in this country who has fought, or an old man who has seen those dear to him fight, who does not wish to minimize the chance of future wars. But there is not a man of sense who does not know that in any such movement if too much is attempted the result is either failure or worse than failure. . . .

"Mr. Wilson's recent utterances give us absolutely no clew as to whether he really intends that this moment we shall admit Russia, Germany—with which, incidentally, we are still waging war—Turkey, China and Mexico, into the league on a full equality with ourselves.

How About Present League?

"Would it not be well to begin with the league which we actually have in existence, the league of the Allies who have fought through this great war? Let us at the peace table see that real justice is done as among these Allies, and that while the sternest reparation is demanded from our foes for such horrors as those committed in Belgium, northern France, Armenia, and the sinking of the Lusitania, nothing should be done in the spirit of mere vengeance. Then let us agree to extend the privileges of the league, as rapidly as their conduct warrants it, to other nations, doubtless discriminating between those who would have a guiding part in the league and the weak nations who would be entitled to the privileges of membership, but who would not be entitled to a guiding voice in the councils. Let each nation reserve to itself and for its own decision, and let it clearly set forth, questions which are non-justiciable.

Universal Training.

"Let nothing be done that will interfere with our preparing for our own defence by introducing a system of universal obligatory military training modelled on the Swiss plan.

"Finally, make it perfectly clear that we do not intend to take a position of an International Meddlesome Matty. The American people do not wish to go into an overseas war unless for a very great cause, and where the issue is absolutely plain. . . . Let civilized Europe and Asia introduce some kind of police system in the weak and disorderly countries at their thresholds. But let the United States treat Mexico as our Balkan peninsula, and refuse to allow European or Asiatic powers to interfere on this continent in any way that implies permanent or semi-permanent possession. Every one of our allies will with delight grant this request if President Wilson chooses to make it, and it will be a great misfortune if it is not made.

"I believe that such an effort made moderately and sanely, but sincerely and with utter scorn for words that are not made good by deeds, will be productive of real and lasting international good."

CAPACITY AUDIENCE HEARS DETAILS OF INGERSOLL BYLAW

Overwhelming Vote For Two New Industries Expected.

INGERSOLL, Jan. 13.—A monster mass meeting of ratepayers was held in the town hall tonight in connection with the bylaw which will be voted on Friday of this week for the securing of two new industries. The meeting was undoubtedly the most enthusiastic of any that has been held. At the close all stood, signifying their support to the bylaw. Mayor Buchanan presided, and gave an address in which he elaborated on the reasons why Ingersoll should avail herself of the opportunity to secure the proposed industries which are to occupy parts of the large Noxon plant.

Among the some twenty or thirty speakers were T. E. Bissell of Elora and H. S. Wallow of Port Hope, representing the two manufacturing concerns interested in the bylaws. J. A. Coulter of the John Morrow Company, who has taken an active part in connection with the Port Hope File Works also gave an address. The other speakers were representatives of the various elements of the town and there was absolute unity. At the close of the meeting large committees were formed and a great campaign will be conducted to roll up an overwhelming majority for the bylaws.

THAMESFORD IMPERIAL OFFICER ENDS FURLOUGH

THAMESFORD, Jan. 13.—Lieut. Robert Wallace, M.C., left on Sunday afternoon to return to England, after spending a three months' furlough with his mother, Mrs. Alex. Wallace. Lieut. Wallace belongs to the Imperials.

William Weir died at his home in Kintore early today. He was a son of the late John Weir, and Mrs. Weir of this village. He moved to Kintore about three years ago. The family have all suffered from influenza, and Mr. Weir was a victim of the disease. A younger brother, George Weir, died at Fort William last September.

YOUNG HUSBAND DEAD, WIFE SERIOUSLY ILL

THEDFORD, Jan. 13.—H. Glenn, one of the Bank of Commerce staff, passed away on Sunday. He was only sick about a week with an attack of influenza. His body was taken to Hensall, where his mother resides, on Monday for interment. He was married just a few months ago to Miss Leich of Alma Craig, and she is very low with influenza.

OFFICIAL REPORT OF TROOP TRAIN WRECK PRAISES SOLDIERS

Capt. H. B. Lumsden Tells of Heroic Rescue Work.

SOME AWFUL SUFFERING

Two Men Pinned Under Coach in Ice-Covered Lake For Half an Hour.

OTTAWA, Jan. 13.—The militia department has received a report from Capt. H. B. Lumsden, the officer in charge of the troop train which was wrecked near Edmundston, N. B., when three men were killed and a number wounded. After describing the shock due to the derailment of the last six cars on the train, Capt. Lumsden said:

"I found that the last six cars of the train, including the tourist, commissary and four colonist cars, had been badly derailed. The colonist cars had partly telescoped and would have fallen over but for the rock cutting which held them up. About 250 yards further up the line one of the colonist cars had left the rails and gone over about a 28-foot embankment, turning on its side with its trucks on top of it.

Car Practically Submerged.

"Only about two feet of the car was showing above water, the car having, of course, broken through the ice, which was about a foot thick. The bank was so steep, at this point that it was impossible for a man to climb up without help so I got all the men available to join hands and make several lines down the bank to help the men up after they got out of the car. All the men who could extricate themselves from the car crawled out through the windows.

A Terrible Situation.

"There were two men pinned between the car and the bank with only their heads above water for over half an hour, but thanks to the splendid work of some of the N.C.O.'s and men they were finally freed. I might specially mention Sergt. J. Callaghan, Sergt. Mackie and Pte. J. H. White, for their coolness displayed and their untiring efforts. The three men who were killed had been in one of the last four colonist cars, Corp. Smith being partly thrown out of the window and his head crushed between the car and the rock cutting. I think Corp. Stagg and Lance-Corp. Johnson met their deaths between the cars when they telescoped.

"Too much praise cannot be given to the N.C.O's and men on the ill-fated train for the cool and orderly way they carried on. Not a man got excited, nor was there any screaming or yelling heard, as I have seen reported in the papers."

$25.00 FOR A LETTER

CAN YOU WRITE ONE?

Thirteen Prizes To Be Awarded in a Letter-Writing Competition.

Some years ago the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, of Brockville, Ont., offered a series of prizes to residents of Ontario for the best letters describing cures wrought by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Hundreds of letters were submitted in this competition, and yet there must have been thousands of other users of the pills who did not avail themselves of the opportunity to win a prize. To all these another letter-writing competition is offered. Thousands of cures through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have never been reported. These will furnish the material for the letter to be written in this contest. There is no demand upon the imagination; every letter must deal with facts, and facts only.

THE PRIZES:

The Dr. Williams Medicine Company, of Brockville, Ont., will award a prize of $25.00 for the best letter received on or before the 20th day of February, 1919, from residents of Ontario, on the subject: "Why I Recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills." A prize of $10.00 will be awarded for the best letter received; a prize of $5.00 for the third best letter, and ten prizes of $2.00 each for the next best ten letters.

THE CONDITIONS.

The cure or benefit from the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills described in the letter may be in the writer's own case, or one that has come under his or her personal observation.

More than one cure may be described in the letter, but every statement must be literally and absolutely true.

Every letter must be signed by the full name and correct address of the person sending it. If it describes the cure of some other person than the writer of the letter, it must also be signed by the person whose cure is described, as a guarantee of the truth of the statement made.

The writer of each letter must state the name and date of the paper in which he or she saw this announcement.

Fine writing will not win the prize, unless you have a good case to describe. The strength of the recommendation, and not the style of the letter, will be the basis of the award.

It is understood that The Dr. Williams Medicine Company shall have the right to publish any letter entered in this contest, if they desire to do so, whether it wins a prize or not.

The contest will close on February 20, 1919, and the prizes will be awarded as soon as possible thereafter. Do not delay. If you know of a cure write your letter NOW. Observe the above conditions carefully or your letter may be thrown out.

Address all letters as follows:

Ottawa Has Not Received Reports From Officials.

ONE CHARGE IS SERIOUS

Medical Officer Accused of Being Intoxicated—Not a Military Man.

OTTAWA, Jan. 13.—No report has yet been received by the militia department from its officials at St. John, N. B., with regard to complaints of conditions aboard the steamer Scandinavian.

It is considered improbable that an investigation will be held on similar lines to that which has just been concluded into the Northland complaints.

The charge that one of the medical officers on board the vessel was intoxicated is a grave one, but the militia authorities drew attention to the fact that the officer mentioned is not a military man, but belongs to the ship. A telegram is being sent to the Canadian Pacific Railway, owners of the vessel, requesting that an investigation be made into the charge of intoxication immediately before the ship leaves port.

Cleveland Bandits Make Great Haul in Cleveland City

Bag Containing $7,000 to $8,000 Is Snatched on Downtown Street.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 13.—Three bandits this afternoon held up the superintendent and cashier of the National Biscuit Company, seized a bag containing between $7,000 and $8,000, and escaped. The officials were in a company wagon bound for a bank to deposit the money, when they were held up in the heart of the down-town section.

SIR WILLIAM PETERSON COMPLETELY PARALYZED

Taking Nourishment and Conscious, But In Critical State.

MONTREAL, Jan. 13.—Sir William Peterson, principal of McGill University, who suffered a stroke yesterday at the Harry Lauder meeting in Emmanuel Church, is reported to have passed a good day today, but is still in a very serious condition. Dr. MacCallum's report is as follows:

"Sir William has had a good day, and his general condition is better. He is, however, completely paralyzed, and it is impossible to tell from day to day in such a case, how it may turn. He is taking nourishment and is conscious, having been so from the first; but is still in a very serious condition."

Five Breakfasts on Five Kinds of Stoves

WEATHER.
Lower Lakes and Georgian Bay: Fresh, west and northwest winds; mostly fair and stationary, and little lower temperatures; local snow flurries.

At a test made by the University of Ohio, a breakfast for six persons was cooked by natural gas at a cost of four-tenths of a cent. The rate for the gas was 40 cents per thousand cubic feet. The same test was made, cooking with coal, coal oil, gasoline and electricity. At the price at which these other fuels are sold in Kent, Essex and Lambton counties, the difference in the cost of fuel would be as follows:

	Quantity of Fuel Used.	Cost in Cts. of Fuel
Natural Gas at 60c a 1000 cubic feet	10 cu. ft.	.6
Coal at $10 a ton	10 lb.—1 oz.	5.3
Coal Oil at 25c	1 lb.—1.5 oz.	3.8
Gasoline at 36c a gallon	.14 oz.	3.9
Electricity at 2c	1 K.W. hr.	2.

The breakfast consisted of stewed rhubarb, rolled oats, bacon and eggs, toast and coffee. According to these figures the breakfast cooked by 60-cent gas cost one-third as much as it would have done if cooked by 2-cent electricity.

Although natural gas is cheap, do not waste it, the supply is not everlasting.

Soldiers Home — THE SALVATION ARMY — Coming Campaign

The Mighty Task Ahead!

An Insight into the Salvation Army's Relief Work amongst Soldiers' Families

APPROXIMATELY 300,000 Canadian soldiers will arrive home within the next twelve months. Home! To some that word means joyful compensation for all they have gone through. To others, home will mean simply hardships in a new form—struggles to keep a roof overhead; to find a job; leaving a sick wife in bed, children unattended, while the daily bread is earned!

The Government is putting in operation its plans for repatriation, with pensions and employment bureaus, but notwithstanding all this and the work of other organizations, many practical problems remain to be coped with, calling for IMMEDIATE relief.

If YOU hear no cry for help, it is because help from the Salvation Army is never far away.

The Emergency Receiving Homes

Here are a soldier's wife and three children passing through the city. The train is delayed. The connection is missed. Where shall they go, for it is after midnight and zero weather. Imagine those children! The Salvation Army officer sees the distress, conducts them to the Emergency Receiving Home where a very small and plain but well-warmed suite of rooms with two beds is available for a few hours.

Such cases are typical, inasmuch as they call for IMMEDIATE action. People cannot be left to suffer while we investigate WHY these conditions occur. The Emergency Receiving Homes will be located in nearly all the larger centres of population, where the greatest distress usually occurs.

Maternity Homes

What chance has the wife of a discharged, jobless soldier to pay for maternity care, properly nourish her new baby, and care for her other children, if she has to be on her feet and working again in three days?

What a God-send for her to be taken to a Salvation Army Maternity Home, with its own graduate nurses, operating rooms, staff of physicians, day and night nursery accommodation. Would you withhold help for such a cause?

Soldiers' Families Home Visitation

Few people realize the distress that goes on in their own city. A soldier at the front received word from the Salvation Army that his wife had died, and that, as no one had appeared to take care of the six children, the Salvation Army would look after them until his return. A few days later the father was killed. The children are safe!

As far as it is humanly possible, the Salvation Army endeavors to keep the family unit intact. If the mother is sick, someone is needed to nurse her, look after the children, scrub floors, perhaps provide the very food that is eaten. No one is more willing to render these services than the Salvation Army visitor.

FIRST TO SERVE---LAST TO APPEAL

Because of its world record in peace and war, the Salvation Army enjoys the implicit confidence of the entire community. Government officials, business men, the returned soldiers, the working classes, and the churches of all denominations will unite for the success of this campaign.

Your individual co-operation is asked on behalf of the Salvation Army. No man, woman or child in this country is willing to see one soldier or his family denied the bodily and spiritual comforts the Salvation Army can furnish.

ALLIES AGREE ON RENEWAL TERMS OF THE ARMISTICE

First Actual Sitting of Conference On January 18.

DISCUSSED PROCEDURE

Proceedings at Monday's Conference Were Conducted in English.

PARIS, Jan. 13.—The supreme war council reassembled at the French foreign office at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. President Wilson and French, British, Italian and Japanese delegates were present. It was the first time that the Japanese delegates had attended.

The first business before the supreme council was the new terms for the extension of the German armistice. The terms had been formally drawn up at a meeting this morning of military, naval, economic and financial experts of the Allies, and the United States. The morning meeting, which was presided over by Marshal Foch, reached a complete agreement on the new armistice terms.

Those in Attendance.

Those present included Premier Lloyd George and Foreign Minister Balfour for England; President Wilson, Secretary of State Lansing, General Bliss and Herbert C. Hoover for the United States; Premier Clemenceau, Foreign Minister Pichon, Finance Minister Klotz, Minister of Commerce Clementel, Minister of Reconstruction Loucheur, Marshal Foch, Major-General Weigand and Admiral De Bon, for France; Foreign Minister Sonnino, for Italy; Viscount Chinda and Ambassador Matsui for Japan.

All the members of the Versailles war council also attended, including General Sir Henry Wilson, the British member.

Official Statement.

An official communication issued after the adjournment of the supreme war council today says:

"The meeting reached an agreement as to the terms on which the armistice is to be renewed on January 17. These included naval clauses, financial clauses, conditions of supply and provision for the restitution of material and machinery stolen from France and Belgium by the Germans.

"The meeting also continued its discussion of procedure. It was agreed to hold the next meeting of the next meeting of the supreme war council on Wednesday, at 10:30, and that the first full session of the peace conference will take place on Saturday, January 18, at 2:30 p.m. at the foreign office."

Question of Representation.

At 5 o'clock Marshal Foch and Gen. Weygand, M. Klotz and the various military experts filed out of the conference room, while the members of the inter-Allied supreme war council settled down to a discussion of the diplomatic questions involved in the conference program, the first subject taken up being the representation of the nations at the peace conference.

The session of the war council closed about 6:50 o'clock.

It is still unsettled what nations will be represented at the inter-Allied conference, or the number of delegates which will be allotted to each. It has developed, however, that China will not be represented by Japan, but will have her own delegation.

Efforts of the French press to bring to the fore the question of the status of Entente and American troops in Russia, and the advisability of sending such troops into Poland to check the Bolshevik advance, it is understood, have been without success so far.

United States Will Not Budge.

The United States, it is said, will not consent to accept in principle or as a military policy the task of using American forces in Poland at all, or in Russia in larger numbers than already are there.

The supreme council of the peace congress at yesterday's session took up the question of procedure for the coming congress' sessions. The discussion dwelt largely upon the number of delegates to represent each power. The proposal in the French program, fixing the numbers variously at five, three, two and one representatives, according to the part played by the nation in the war, brought forth certain objections, and the council adjourned without ratifying it.

The proceedings yesterday were for the most part in English, which is spoken by Premier Clemenceau of France, Premier Orlando of Italy, and Stephen Pichon, the French foreign minister.

CARSON HAS MADE ANOTHER SACRIFICE OF PERSONAL AIMS

Would Be Lord Chancellor But For Irish Issue.

MILNER A GOOD CHOICE?

London Post Declares That Premiers of Dominions Will Welcome Him.

LONDON, Jan. 13.—(By the Canadian Associated Press.)—Friends of Sir Edward Carson, says the Yorkshire Post, see in the promotion of Sir F. E. Smith, now Lord Birkenhead, to the office of lord chancellor, another big sacrifice by the Ulster leader of personal interest for the sake of the Irish Union. Sir Edward Carson was not without ambition or the wool sack, but could not make any advances in that direction until the Irish question was settled. Considering Lord Birkenhead's comparative youth, 46, Sir Edward's chances of the wool sack now seem extremely remote.

Another change, continues the Post, "which has been much discussed is Lord Milner's transfer to the colonial office, where Walter Long made himself extremely popular by exceptionally assiduous personal attention to the details of its administration. Lord Milner will be particularly acceptable to the premiers of the dominions on account of his well-known sympathy for the closer union of the empire. Some critics say he will not be welcomed by South Africans. This is a mistake. The premiers of the dominions are now less dependent upon the colonial office in imperial affairs than before they were granted the right of direct communication with the prime ministers.

LETTERS MAY NOW BE SENT TO CIVILIANS IN THE HOLY LAND

OTTAWA, Jan. 13.—Information has been received from the general postoffice, London, England, that registered and unregistered letters and postcards fully prepaid, may be forwarded to civilian populations of those portions of Palestine and Syria occupied by the British forces. The correspondence must be solely of a private or domestic character. Remittances may be forwarded to these destinations by means of postoffice money orders, and information on this subject may be obtained from the postmasters of any accounting postoffices. There is no postal service at present to these destinations for printed material or periodicals.

LADY BORDEN SUGGESTS A "SILVER SHOWER" OR FURS FOR PRINCESS PAT

Writes To Wives of Lieutenant-Governors Proposing a National Wedding Gift "Distinctly Canadian."

OTTAWA, Jan. 13. — In a letter which she has addressed to the wife of the lieutenant-governor in each province, Lady Borden suggests a national wedding gift to Princess Patricia of Connaught.

"It should, I think," Lady Borden remarks, "be distinctly Canadian, and furs have been suggested as appropriate."

The letter reads:

"The announcement of the engagement of Her Royal Highness Princess Patricia of Connaught, has been received with much pleasure and satisfaction throughout the Dominion. During the period of her residence in Canada her royal highness, by her charm of manner, and her kindly and unaffected interest in their welfare, became greatly endeared to our people, and it would seem most fitting that they should, upon the occasion of her marriage, be afforded the opportunity of offering a national wedding gift as a testimonial of their appreciation and regard.

"It would seem to me that this might take the form of a 'silver shower,' made up of contributions from all who may wish to take part, in sums from the smallest up, so that the participation may be as widespread as possible, and from all classes of the community. Donations would, of course, be entirely voluntary and spontaneous. The arrangements for the shower would, I think, be most appropriately made through the wives of the lieutenant-governors of the several provinces, who would exercise their own judgment and discretion, as to the best mode of drawing the matter to the attention of the public within their respective provinces.

"I suggest that the list might be left open for a period not longer than one month from a date to be fixed later, after definite information is at hand as to the date of the wedding. I shall be most grateful if you will kindly write me expressing your views as to the proposal which I have outlined, also any suggestions which you may be good enough to make as to the form which the gift should take. It should, I think, be distinctively Canadian, and furs have been suggested as appropriate."

OTTAWA CONFIRMS THAT NEARLY 50,000 WOMEN ARE COMING

These Are War Brides Who Never Saw Canada.

TO TAX TRANSPORTATION

Plans Adopted To Refund the Fares Paid Personally by Several Thousand.

[Canadian Press.]

OTTAWA, Jan. 13.—Approximately 50,000 dependents of Canadian soldiers overseas are in the British Isles at the present time in addition to some 22,000 already returned to Canada, according to official estimates here.

Under the Government's policy as announced today, these 50,000 will be brought to the Dominion at public expense. The number includes wives, children, and other dependents of all officers, non-commissioned officers and men of the Canadian Expeditionary Force still serving overseas. In addition to this number, other dependents to the number of possibly several thousand who have come to Canada since the signing of the armistice on November 11 last, and who have paid their own ocean and railway fares, will have the money expended refunded by the Government, the new regulations being retroactive to that date.

Most of Them War Brides.

Although full particulars are as yet unavailable, it is established that by far the greater majority of the 50,000 dependents still to come to Canada are the wives of Canadian fighters, married in Great Britain since the outbreak of the war, many of whom will see the shores of the Dominion for the first time when they come with their soldier husbands between now and the end of August, when it is hoped by the Government that overseas demobilization will have been completed. On arrival at the port of debarkation facilities will be provided for men and their dependents to travel on civilian trains instead of the regular troop trains, and every means taken to provide for their comfort until their final destinations are reached.

Do Not Crowd Halifax.

In connection with the arrival of returning soldiers, the militia department again expresses the hope that relatives in Canada refrain from going to Halifax, St. John or other points of debarkation to meet ships in order that unnecessary confusion and congestion may be avoided.

Every effort is being made by the militia department and the overseas ministry to speed up the demobilization of Canada's army to the highest degree consistent with the supply of ocean tonnage, railway transportation and prevailing domestic conditions here With the coming of spring, and the opening up of the St. Lawrence River, it is planned to increase the number of homecoming soldiers to some 45,000 monthly.

Unnatural Father Draws Sentence for Ill-Treating Son

WINDSOR, Jan. 13.—Because he cruelly beat and ill-treated his 13-year-old son, Arthur Roy of Maidstone, was sentenced to the Ontario Reformatory for six months in police court here today.

The complaint was made by Inspector Hackney of the Children's Aid Society, who charged that Roy beat his son with a stove-pipe, cut his face and blacked his eyes. The father's excuse was that the boy knocked down the pipe. Mrs. Roy told the court her husband made her and the boy work in the fields and do most of the work on the farm.

GODERICH'S MAYOR HAS FINE PROGRAM FOR YEAR'S WORK

Cater To Tourists, He Urges City Council.

POULTRY SHOW STARTS

Fine Exhibits Are Already in Place For Huron Association's Event.

GODERICH, Jan. 13.—The inaugural meeting of the new town council was held this morning at 11 o'clock in the council chambers all the members being present. Some of the ministers of the town responded to the mayor's invitation and were present. Mayor Wigle called upon Dr. Rutledge to open the meeting with prayer. The mayor in a neat speech outlined a progressive plan for the year. Among the measures the council should consider, he said, were a definite plan of sewer construction and the sewer on Hincks street and Huron road should be constructed as soon as possible. He declared that the council should give its attention to the auto tourist trade by having improvements for the convenience and pleasure of those who come by auto at the Harbor Park. Goderich, he said, is one of the prettiest places in Ontario, and has many historic spots of great interest. These spots should be marked and a booklet dealing with the prettiest drives and places of interest should be printed and distributed. The council should see that the Government made needed improvements to the harbor, and they should also make a determined effort to get a passenger boat service for Goderich. They should also consult the railways for a more efficient train service. The questions of a market for the town; a standard weigh scales; the liquidation of the $20,000 floating debt and permanent street improvement on the west and east streets should be seriously considered. The returned soldiers should be looked after and a club room should be provided for them. A suitable memorial for the soldiers and the completion of the honor roll should be questions to occupy the attention of the council.

Huron Poultry Show.

The annual poultry show of the Huron County Poultry Association will be held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week in the town hall. Most of the exhibits have already arrived and some fine birds are to be seen.

A big feature of this year's show is an exhibit put on by the experimental farm, Ottawa, showing model poultry houses and other poultry appliances. Poultry experts from the Dominion department of agriculture will have charge of this exhibit and will give demonstrations of the various appliances. Demonstrations will also be given in killing and plucking, and the scientific marketing of poultry products. There will be no extra charge for these exhibits and demonstrations.

PROVINCIAL POLICE TAKE CHARGE OF GUELPH MURDER

No Arrests Have As Yet Been Made.

GUELPH, Jan. 13.—There are no new developments in the Tedesco murder case today, and no arrests had been made up to this evening. Acting on the instructions of Col. MacDonald, county crown attorney, Detective Miller of the provincial force, arrived in the city this morning, and he has taken charge of the case, to be assisted by the local police. The latter are busy today securing the names of those who know anything about the case, and they will be asked to give evidence at the inquest which will be held on Wednesday afternoon.

This afternoon a postmorten examination of the body of Tedesco was made in order to determine the cause of death, and a report will be presented at the inquest. So far it is understood that the police have not fastened suspicions on anybody nor have they any arrests in view, but are working quietly on the case.

In looking for a motive for the crime the police recall the fact that some time last summer a fight took place on Beverly street, opposite the Malleable iron works, in which Tedesco participated. Shortly after this fight Tedesco received a blackhand letter, threatening him, and from this time on Tedesco and his father, both of whom worked at the Stove Foundry, are said to have lived in fear of their lives.

Canada claims 28 as natives, United Kingdom 27, England having 12, Scotland 10 and Ireland the rest. Eight of the English batch were born in or near London.

EASTERN LIBERALS DEMAND DOWNWARD TARIFF REVISION

Resolution Outlines Commodities That Should Be Admitted Free of Duty.

FAITHFUL TO LAURIER

Demand That Investigation Be Made of Expenditures for Commissions.

OTTAWA, Jan. 13.—As a preliminary to the general convention of Eastern Ontario Liberals, which will be held at St. Patrick's Hall here tomorrow afternoon and evening, a committee composed of two delegates from each of the twenty-three constituencies of the district passed tonight a series of nine resolutions embodying the various principles agreed upon. These resolutions were originally drafted by a subcommittee of the committee in charge of the arrangements for the holding of the convention, and the report of this sub-committee which also drafted the constitution of the association, was submitted a few days ago to a committee composed of the Liberal candidates of Eastern Ontario and others. At the meeting of these, which was fully attended, the resolutions were revised, and in their revised form, were submitted to the delegates committee, a motion finally revised, and adopted.

Through its first resolution "unfaltering confidence" is placed in Sir Wilfrid Laurier as the leader of the Liberal party of Canada.

Tariff Resolution.

The tariff resolution which is the most extensive of all, recapitulates the stand of the Liberal party on the tariff since the resolution of the national convention of 1893, outlines the reductions, and the articles placed on the free list from 1896 till 1911, sets forth Liberal resolutions since that date and reiterates tariff reform demands moved in the House and incorporated in Sir Wilfrid Laurier's manifesto of 1917.

The resolution continues:

"Whereas on May 23, 1917, the Liberal Opposition, in the House of Commons, moved a resolution embodying practically all the proposals for tariff reduction previously made by them in Parliament; and,

"Whereas, the said omnibus resolution of May 23, 1917, was also opposed and defeated by the Borden Administration; now, therefore, be it

Repeal the Increases.

"Resolved, that in the opinion of this association, not only should the said tariff increases of 7½ per cent and 5 per cent be immediately repealed, but that there should also be an immediate downward revision of the tariff in accordance with the above omnibus resolution, in these terms:

"1. That wheat, wheat flour and all other products of wheat be placed upon the free list.

"2. That farm implements and machinery, farm tractors, mining, flour and saw mill machinery and repairs for same, rough and partly dressed lumber, illuminating, lubricating and fuel oils, cement and fertilizers be added to the free list.

Free Trade In Cattle.

"3. That staple foods and food products (other than wheat flour), domestic animals and food therefor, be admitted into Canada free of duty when coming from, and being the product of, any country admitting like Canadian articles into such country free of duty.

"4.—That substantial reductions be made in the general tariff on all articles imported into Canada, excepting luxuries.

"5.—That the British preference be increased to 50 per cent of the general tariff."

The committee is further of the opinion that "one of the most pressing needs of the hour is the restoration to the Canadian people, of a public press free from the interests and the smothering control of a Prussian paternalism."

The committee objects to the overriding of the rights of Parliament in legislating by order-in-council."

The last resolution deals with expenditure in connection with the appointments of commissions etc., and with the prices paid for rails, and ship plates and believes that a thorough and searching investigation into all Government expenditures should be made by a parliamentary committee.

Other resolutions dealt with reconstruction and aid for soldiers and sailors. They were similar to those passed at the meeting of Western Ontario Liberal in November last.

Demobilizing Canada's Army

THE actual work of bringing back our soldiers to Canada and getting them out of khaki is in the hands of the Department of Militia and Defence. Complete plans have been made and machinery organized to handle the work. Every detail has been considered. The plan is harmonious and will work smoothly. It is described here. Notice how every contingency has been considered. How the soldier is cared for at every step. How everything is done for his comfort and to inform his waiting relatives and friends.

From France to England.

Peace is not yet signed. The victorious Canadian Corps is still a fighting unit. But as fast as the situation permits the Canadian Corps in France will be returned to Canada by units allotted, as far as possible, to the areas from which they came. These units will be reconstructed so as to include only men desirous of returning to the area to which the unit has been allotted.

The remainder of the Canadian forces overseas will be returned in drafts of 500 men for each area. Married men first, according to length of service. Then single men, according to length of service.

Preparing to Leave England.

Canada has been divided into 22 dispersal areas for demobilization, with a dispersal station for each.

1. The province of Prince Edward Island—Charlottetown.
2. The province of Nova Scotia—Halifax.
3. One half of New Brunswick—Moncton.
4. One half of New Brunswick—St. John.
5. The north country of Quebec down to Three Rivers—Quebec.
6. The remainder of Quebec—Montreal.
7. The Ottawa Valley and Ontario down to the Thousand Islands—Ottawa.
8. The Kingston district west to Oshawa and north to the Madawaska River—Kingston.
9. The Toronto district north to the French River and the north mining country—Toronto.
10. The Niagara Peninsula—Hamilton.
11. Southern Ontario—London.
12. From White River to the Lake of the Woods—Port Arthur.
13. All of Manitoba except the Brandon territory—Winnipeg.
14. The Brandon territory—Brandon.
15. Southern Saskatchewan—Regina.
16. Northern Saskatchewan—Saskatoon.
17. Southern Alberta—Medicine Hat.
18. From Calgary north to Nordeg—Calgary.
19. Northern Alberta—Edmonton.
20. All of British Columbia except 21 and 22—Vancouver.
21. Vancouver Island and the immediate mainland—Victoria.
22. Cariboo, Kootenay and Gale—Revelstoke.

Each soldier overseas chooses the dispersal area in Canada to which he wishes to go.

A report of the number of men for each dispersal area is cabled to Militia Headquarters.

As fast as they can be absorbed by the dispersal areas—a cable is sent to England for drafts.

Prior to sailing, a cable is sent from England stating how many men are coming and giving their occupations.

In this way arrangements are made to handle the men, to care for them, and to find employment for them.

Before a man leaves England he is medically examined, his discharge papers and other documents are made out. All delay in Canada over these details is avoided.

On the Ship.

The transport staff check the medical and pay documents. The Y.M.C.A. provides recreation and entertainment. Twenty-four hours before arrival in Canada a wireless is sent to the port giving details of any men who are sick and in need of hospital care, and general information that will ensure speedy transport from boat to train.

Wounded Men.

Wounded men are brought back on hospital ships in the care of Army Medical Corps. They are taken on hospital trains to the various military hospitals and are in charge of the military authorities until medical treatment is complete.

In Port.

Halifax and St. John, are the ports of disembarkation in winter. Quebec and Montreal will also be used in summer. Immediately upon arrival of troops, the officer commanding wires a list to the Soldiers' Aid Commission in each province who notify the men's relatives. He also wires the Dispersal Station to prepare to handle a certain number of men. A third wire is sent to the general officer commanding each military district, through whom the dispersal station is again notified. This gives the dispersal station a double check.

Various voluntary organizations and the citizens of Halifax, St. John, Quebec and Montreal all give soldiers every assistance. Canteens and club rooms are open. Coffee and cigarettes are provided. Telegrams are sent for the men.

A permanent transportation committee of railroad experts, representing the C.P.R., the G.T.R., and the Canadian National Railways, arrange for special trains to meet every transport.

On the Train.

Troop trains consist of colonist, tourist, commissariat, standard sleeping and dining cars. A Y.M.C.A. representative is on every train.

Should a stop-over or delay become unavoidable, the men are provided for. Barracks and an ample food supply are available at the following divisional points: Halifax, Amherst, St. John, Mount Joli, Levis, Megantic, Quebec, Montreal, Cochrane, North Bay, Port Arthur, Winnipeg, Brandon, Regina, Calgary, Edmonton, Revelstoke, Vancouver.

At the Dispersal Station.

The principal city in each area is the dispersal station. When the troop train pulls in, the relatives and friends of the men have been notified and are on hand. Voluntary organizations have motor cars at the station. Municipal reception committees are also on hand.

In each city the military have provided every accommodation for men staying overnight—barracks, rations. Out-of-town men who are given overnight leave and do not wish to remain in barracks can find the best of accommodation at hostels provided by voluntary organizations.

The Discharge.

Men taken sick en route are immediately received by the District Depot for medical treatment and receive pay as part of that unit.

All other men are paraded at the dispersal station. The offices here are so arranged that each man can pass quickly from one to the other and get away in the shortest time.

First comes the ordnance office. Here the men turn in their equipment, except steel helmets and clothing, which they are allowed to keep.

Next is the office of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment. Here each man is given advice and information on the many questions relating to his return to civil life—employment, housing, vocational training, medical treatment.

Men who are unfit for their former employment are taken on the strength of the Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment for vocational training. They are paid during this period and their dependents receive separation allowance.

Third is the paymaster's office. Here the men receive their back pay, clothing allowance of $35.00 and first month's War Service Gratuity.

Finally the officer commanding issues each man his discharge certificate, and in the same office is a railway ticket agent who gives each man a ticket to his home town. The man is now a civilian.

Here also is an information and complaint office. All complaints are dealt with and information given by an officer specially chosen for that purpose.

The dispersal station will supply quarters and meals for men until train time.

The Government's care for the soldier does not end when he passes through the dispersal station. The important work of other departments will be covered in reports immediately following this.

CHRISTMAS MAIL LOST IN NORTH SEA?

MAY LOWER TORONTO TAXES.

TORONTO, Jan. 13.—"Peace, retrenchment and reforms," are the keynote of Mayor Church's policy for 1919, as developed in his inaugural address given at the city council's meeting today. After four years of war, said Mayor Church, the city's credit never stood higher, and her bonds never sold better. A lower tax rate than last year is "confidently expected" if all but "reasonable public works are left in abeyance."

THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

DAILY IT BECOMES clearer that the original views of the Allied governments and peoples on a league of nations must be considerably modified. We started off with a somewhat vague idea of an international combination of little and big nations that would pool arms, resources and influences for the health and happiness of the whole. Even the late enemy was to have an equal part with others in this, as Mr. Wilson originally interpreted the idea. Now it would appear as if this most desirable Utopia will only be reached after prolonged striving, the supreme result of a slow growth and expansion that may contain many painful experiences. The world is being rudely aroused from its dream of a new earth of perfect peace and brotherly love born full grown from the convulsion. Instead of an earthly paradise we are in for an exceedingly earthly problem of how to harmonize the myriad racial antagonisms, prejudices, ambitions that have been let loose. A large section of Europe and Asia will have to be put to school and educated to the point where it can be accepted into a world federation. Also there will be some reformatory work to be done and not a little punishment to be administered. Bulgaria, Germany and Turkey cannot be admitted to the fullest membership of a league of nations at once. There must be some expiation for their monumental sins against the rest of the world. Besides these nations are still too closely associated with the old order of things. They would be perilous partners. And until Russia finds herself, gets her social structure based on something sane and solid, she would hamper and handicap the progress of any world-combination of nations of which she was a member.

It will require a strong hand to keep order, to regulate the lawless and to act as guide out of the welter of confusion and chaos. A modified balance of power seems to be the only safe and sane policy at present. General Smuts and the late Theodore Roosevelt, two of the clearest visioned minds of the day, simultaneously have strongly advocated this idea. In his last article on current events Roosevelt called on the Allied alliance to hold to its dominating position firmly and with justice, compelling obedience where there was tendency to tumble the world into fresh disorders and strife. Smuts would have the unstable nations and those that have sinned admitted to this balance of power as rapidly as they acquired the right by stable government or honest acceptance of the doctrine of world democracy. Criminals must be reformed and children matured before they can take a place at the council table. It is exactly the same with the nations. A league of peoples that will embrace all races must be a gradual growth. Until all are fit for it a powerful grip must be kept on international affairs. That seems to be the task for the Allied alliance for some time to come.

SETTLERS FOR ONTARIO.

PLENTY of indications are to be found for the belief that many Britishers will emigrate to Canada as soon as possible after they have been discharged from the army. The difficulty, in all probability, will be to control the rush of men and women until troops have been returned to this country, and the greatest of care will have to be exercised to prevent a congestion of immigrants for whom employment has not been secured. The difficulties of securing repatriation for the soldiers will be serious, but not insurmountable, for their is every indication that the people of Canada will continue to enjoy their share of prosperity and to enter an era of expansion undreamed of before.

But one of the chief needs of the country at the present time is for farm laborers. The shortage of help on the farms of Ontario has been one of the chief contributing factors in the enormous increases in the prices of produce. A straw which may be taken as showing the way the immigration wind will blow has been received by S. Frank Glass, M. P. for East Middlesex. It comes from an English soldier who wishes to come to Canada. He received in 1914 one of the attractive pamphlets issued by the Greater Middlesex Association telling of the advantages of this part of the country and inviting British people to get in touch with the officers of the organization. The war took all such things as immigration propaganda and disposed of them for four years, but the seed was not sown in vain. Sixty thousands of these pamphlets reached some British "prospect" and from time to time inquiries will be received.

Middlesex and all the other nearby counties not only have need of experienced farm labor, but in almost every county thousands of unproductive and fertile acres are to be found which will not be cultivated until the country is more populous.

The Middlesex county council at its meeting this month might devote some consideration to the outlook for immigration to this county, and other county councils should bear in mind the importance of some real colonization policy for the whole province. The thousands of men who have gone from the old banner province to the west have never been replaced. The Ontario Government has never made known the advantages of the settled counties. It has done its best to attract men to the northern sweeps of uncleared land, but it has not yet learned its lesson of opportunity from the success which attended the coming of a number of American farmers into the lower counties of the peninsula. They sold farms in Indiana and Iowa to buy cheaper land in Essex and Kent, and while their actual records have been lost sight of in the war's absorption, it is known that many of them were making good just before the battle clamor commenced.

The Ontario Government should also recognize that the first attempt at colonization of a private company was regarded as a swindle by those British people who were set down in lowlying marsh lands of Kent County, their places surrounded by water in flood time, and the only prospects for crops in the possibility of importing alligators and starting in the valise business.

But a colonization policy in which high standards and programs are established, and which will bring the agricultural opportunities of the province to the front, is one of the questions toward which Hon. Mr. Henry should give some attention.

GREENLAND FOR CANADA.

ONE OF THE RESULTS of world reconstruction may be the passing of Greenland from Denmark to Canada. In return for North Schleswig, which Denmark greatly desires it is said, Copenhagen would gladly turn Greenland over to the Allies. This because of its position would mean that Canada would have control of the land which we lightly associate with Doc Cook, polar bears, icebergs and blonde Eskimo. This island continent, however, despite its forbidding climate, possesses considerable promise of commercial development. Large deposits of iron, copper and coal have been located. Remoteness and severity of the weather have prevented the development of these rich fields, but the rapidly-approaching aerial age will bring all this natural wealth within easy reach. Even now in the haphazard way which prevails the exports amount to a quarter million annually. Glaciers are not the only thing made in Iceland. Cryolite, which goes to the making of soda and aluminum, is supplied the world in large quantities, where some recently established canneries will soon be turning out large amounts of haddock and cod. The interior lives up to the "Greenlands icy mountains" of the missionary hymn, but along the coasts there is a habitable area of nearly fifty thousand square miles in which there are already 175 settlements. Canada might do much worse than take over Greenland. And if the deal is made, haven't we an ideal administrator for it in Stefasson, arctic conqueror?

PROSPECT OF ELECTION.

HON. J. A. CALDER of the Dominion Government has stated that an election will not be held until all of the Canadian troops have been returned to Canada. The inference is that an election will be held as soon as possible after the return of the soldiers.

If Mr. Calder's forecast is to be relied upon, it means that the Government will go to the country soon after next August. Because a Government statement issued from Ottawa has made it clear that the soldiers should be returned to Canada by the end of August.

Lloyd George did not wait for the return of the soldiers before asking for a renewed expression of confidence. As soon as possible after the signing of the armistice he went to the country. Many of the soldiers did not vote and many complained that it was no time to hold an election.

Canadians will agree that it will be better to await the return of the soldiers before attempting to take another vote. The last one was farcical enough, with all manner of deceit practised upon the men in England and France and their wives at home. Threats were used, furloughs were promised and the whole official machinery of government turned over to the work of herding out the military vote.

Canada needs an election as soon as possible. It must be secured as a safety valve for the country's emotions. Let the soldiers get their feet on Canadian soil, and judge their servants with full information and the issues clearly before them.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

It looks now as if the league of nations would be divided into majors and minors.

Do you remeber when you used to work yourself into a bloody sweat playing ping-pong? Neither do we.

One Parisian journal wants the peace conference held on the Eiffel Tower. That would make of it a Tower of Babel.

A Vancouver doctor has been heavily fined for illegally issuing thousands of whiskey prescriptions. No doubt he has been cured of curing thirsts.

Spartacans Kill White Flag Bearers.—Headline. Naturally anything white would act like a red rag to a Bolshevik. It's too suggestive of purity and decency.

While we are sending food to Russia it might be well to slip in some tooth brushes, collars, safety razors and bath tubs. Food and cleanliness will finish that Lenine gang quicker than anything else. Russian Bolshevism thrives on dirt, disease and hunger.

THE OFFICE BOY IN LOVE.

[Detroit News.]

This was left in a typewriter by one of the office boys when he hurried out:

Hello Alice.

I thought I would write you a few lines, and ask why you didn't meet me. I know you went with frank, because I waited for you and you didn't show up so I knew you went with him. Well its like this: I was suppose to meet you last wed. and you didn't show up. And this friday you didn't show up. SO if somebody is better than me alwrite and good: But when you aint got knowbody to go zzzz out with zzzz than you go with me zzzz. Now if I aint good enought to go out with zzzz when I make a date with you than I aint good enought to zzzz go out with you ATALL.

Alice, where were't thou and frank, where wert thou, and, furthermore, Alice, where is your office boy at, or where does he stand, if at all?

AGGRESSION.

[Washington Star.]

"When the Germans approach the Belgians," said Col. House, at a luncheon, "when the Germans talk about guarantees against Belgian aggression, I am strongly reminded of little Willie.

"Little Willie ran howling with rage to his mamma.

"'That goat butted me!' he roared. 'The bad goat butted me in the stomach!'

"'Are you sure you weren't teasing it?' his mamma asked.

"'No, no!' wailed Willie. 'What would I tease it for? I was only just carvin' my name on its back with my new penknife.'"

LITERAL.

The new parson went to call on Aunt Minnie, dear and charming old lady, aged 93. Said he: "My dear friend, I find myself much impressed with your placid outlook, after a life so long that it would have bowed most of us half to the ground. Tell me, will you not, what it is that has supported and renewed you through all these years; what it is that has been your standby and comfort, what your sustenance and source of strength? Tell me, won't you?"

"Victuals," said the dear old lady, charmingly.

GETTING ACQUAINTED.

[Montreal Herald.]

Harry Lauder dropped a bit of profound wisdom last night, when he said: "The more we know of each other, the better we get to like one another." This would serve as a good motto for the two dominant races in Canada.

WHY THE EDITOR LEFT TOWN.

(Youth's Companion.)

It was because the following items appeared in his paper:

"Mrs. Thomas W. Johnson read an article for the women's club entitled, 'Personal Devils.' Seventeen were present."

"Mr. John Crouse shipped a carload of hogs to Kansas City one day last week. Three of his neighbors went in with him to make up the load."

THAT RUMANIAN LOAN.

[Montreal Gazette.]

A report from Ottawa says there is no truth behind a rumor that the government of Canada was to create a credit of $25,000,000 in favor of Rumania for the purpose of supplying the country with foodstuffs, agricultural implements and other materials. It is presumed that there will not at any future time be truth behind any such statement. Canada has assumed heavy liabilities and is paying heavy taxes on account of the war. These should not be added to in efforts to finance the selfish second-rate powers of Europe.

BY MOTHER SHIPTON.

(New York Herald.)

Some years ago there was considerable discussion over the prophecies of Mother Shipton, made in the eighteenth century. Some regarded them as amazingly true, while others poo-poohed and argued that, like all prophecies, they were only true in a broad, general way, and constituted merely good guesswork. In this connection, however, it is of interest to quote four lines from a prophecy contained in Mother Shipton's book, which was made in 1710. Just how it "fits" the stirring events of this time the reader can judge:

"When pictures look alive, with movement free,
When ships like fishes swim below the sea,
When men, outstripping birds, can scour the sky,
Then half this world, deep-drenched in blood, will die."

CANADA'S PENSION BILL.

[Vancouver Sun.]

Premier Borden is quoted as the authority for the statement that Canada's pension bill is to reach its maximum in about five years, "after which it will gradually but steadily decline." The premier may have said it and may even conceivably believe it but, if so, he is like the widower who remarried—he is another illustration of the triumph of hope over experience.

In the United States the pension bill kept growing for nearly a generation. This was partly because the original scale was too low, and partly also because many men who had served in the civil war developed ailments as they advanced in years. There was in addition an element of deliberate fraud, though this was not so large as has often been supposed.

Canada is bound to feel the effects of all these causes. The best way to keep our pension system on a proper basis is to give the administration board some discretion as to the amounts to be paid in particular cases. This plan would have a reasonable chance of securing fair play for everybody,—a result which cannot be obtained by leaving every member of parliament to be pestered by constituents who think themselves entitled to increased allowances.

A Boom For Canada.

(Boston Herald.)

Canada seems due for a boom now that the war is over. Scenes upon the docks at Liverpool are described as reminiscent of the immigration rush of the years before 1914. A new steamship of the Canadian Pacific line, on her first voyage across the ocean, was filled to her capacity with passengers, mostly returning soldiers and their wives and many of these latter, the advance guard of 50,000 soon to go to Canada, have never seen the Dominion, having married in England. It is said that members of the Canadian expeditionary forces are marrying English girls at the rate of a thousand a month. Before the war began, Herr Ballin, the great German shipmaster, was much disturbed when the Canadian Pacific started a direct line from Trieste to Canada. Backed by the Government, the German lines forthwith organized a huge campaign through the press of Austria to kill the new enterprise of a dangerous rival, and spent large sums in propaganda. As a matter of fact, the Canadian Pacific service to Austria had to be discontinued. Time brought its revenge, however, for the Canadian railway has since taken over two steamships which English firms were building for Herr Ballin, the orders having been placed before hostilities began.

THE SHINING WAY.

By S. B. Hackley.

Roxana Cullom, an alert little gray-haired woman, paused when she came to the "big road" at the foot of the mountain, and set down the little basket of fried chicken and biscuits she was taking to a sick neighbor. Though it was a long way she had come from the hidden Cullom stronghold at the top of the mountain she had not stopped to rest, but to think over things.

Today was Wednesday, and Monday she had let the children set as the day when she would be married the second time—and without love—without love!

She untied the strings of her black alpaca sunbonnet and threw them back. Things were closing in on her; she felt as if she were smothering.

Back in '65, when young Isaac Cullom brought her to his new home here in the wildest part of the county, he had set out great orchards with an eye to making "moonshine." And Isaac had made a success of his venture. No revenue officer—nobody foreign to the neighborhood—would ever have dreamed of fields and orchards lying behind that forest of hemlock and oak, poplar and chestnut.

At Isaac's death his son Sheridan fell heir to his orchards and his calling, but Sheridan could not make the liquor as Isaac had made it, try as he might. A year after Isaac's death, however, Sheridan learned that Simon Cone was an expert distiller and persuaded him to stay with him. Sheridan paid good wages and gave Simon every consideration.

When he chose, he slept late in the mornings and his breakfasts were kept warm for him. Roxana, Sheridan's mother, did most of the cooking, and before many months Simon began to turn admiring eyes on the spry little woman who cooked better than anybody he had ever known.

Sheridan and his wife, Dorcas, were much pleased. If Simon married mother his stay with them would be certain—permanent. Their persuasion and Simon's urging were too much for Roxana. She promised to marry him.

That morning Dorcas had made her try on the dark blue poplin dress they had bought for her. Roxana had suggested that the color was unsuitable for a woman in her sixty-fifth year.

"Black is all right to mourn a husband in," Dorcas had insisted, "but not to wed one in, mother!"

To mourn a husband! And she—she had not mourned Isaac.

"I'm bound to you and I'll stay with you and do my duty by you as long as I have to," she told him in the first year of their marriage, "but don't expect love from a woman who married through a lie!"

The year before Herndon Heriot, the young man she loved had gone away to the war.

"I wisht I could read and write, Roxie, darlin'," he told her at parting, "so's I could write to you while I'm away; but I can't, and I wouldn't trust nobody to do it for me; but you be waitin' and ready to marry me when I come home—Roxie—you be ready!"

But that winter when Isaac Cullom told her of reading in the papers of Hern's marriage she believed him, and stung with the insult she believed Hern had put upon her, she married Isaac hastily.

Then, one day in May, when she went out to gather the white azaleas Herns always loved, the boy himself came up behind her.

He was gaunt and pale—the left sleeve of his blue army coat hung limp from the elbow, but he was smiling.

"I've come back to marry you, Roxie!"

"Don't tech me—don't kiss me, Hern!" She pushed him back from her. "I'm another man's wife! Isaac Cullom told me you were married. I—I believed him, Hern!"

He listened to her story, his face whiter than the azalea blooms she had let fall.

"I never grieved for my arm," he told her. "I jest laid there in the hospital and tried to get well quick—I knowed you'd love me jest as much with one arm as two—and, soon's they let me, I came to find you. Your ma said you was out here. She never told me——" He turned away and pressed his uninjured right arm across his face. "O, Roxie—Roxie"—slow, desolate sobs shook him—"I can't hardly bear it."

Then he'd gone, and she had never seen him again. The child, Sheridan, had made life with Isaac endurable; the child she had wanted to call "Herndon," but had not dared.

"I've promised Simon and the children—but I married once without love and I can't bear to do it ag'in!" thought Roxana. "I may be up in years, but my heart—my heart ain't old!"

She rose, her small features working. The emotion of a lifetime pressed upon her.

"Life'd a been so fair if I'd loved my man!" she murmured. "I wish somebody would tell me now not to go agin my heart! I wish there was somebody!"

Her faded cheek crimsoned suddenly. There was Hern! Hern lived twenty miles away—alone—and he was not married. She set her lips and deliberately turned her face away from Keturah Placer's. The October air was like honey; Roxana's feet felt like wings. For hours she walked before she stopped, and ate a lunch from the basket she had started to take to a sick friend.

"I don't want folks asking questions," she told herself cheerfully at dusk as she made for her weary body a couch in a big dry stack of straw some distance off the road; "it's clean and I ain't afraid!"

By noon the next day she reached the mining town near which Heriot lived.

"Hern's at home," a friendly mountaineer told her, as he pointed the way to her. "He gits a sizable pension and he's well fixed, but he says he gits mighty lonesome sometimes, livin' by hisse'f!"

It was mid-afternoon before Roxana stood before the whitewashed picket fence in front of a big log house fringed by a glory of pink and yellow dahlias. A man coming out of the "bee-yard" where were rows on rows of hives, opened the gate hospitably.

"Won't you come in, lady?"

"I don't know as I ought!" she stammered. "I just wanted to—to ask you if you think it's right for a woman to marry when she don't love a man—I mean them that ain't young in years?"

"That ain't never right, ma'am," he answered in polite wonderment, "for any age." Then he knew her. "Why—why, Roxie, who's a-wantin' you to do that foolish thing?"

"I ran off," she confessed later. "I didn't have anybody to side with me when it come to me yesterday morning I couldn't marry Simon, and I—I remembered you always sided with me, Hern! I jest couldn't marry the second time without love!"

Heriot looked into her troubled face and the smoldering fires of youth blazed up in his heart. His eyes kindled, his rugged features lighted.

"Meanin' you been a-lovin' a cripple all them years, Roxie? I've been lonesome a heap, but the rest of the way'd be mighty bright and shinin' if I thought you'd marry a second time fer—fer love!"

Roxana reached out her trembling hands and took his one hand in them. Life was very fair and beautiful!

SPLINTER CAUSED BLOOD-POISONING

From just such simple injuries, serious cases of blood-poisoning sometimes develop. Mrs. Helm of Tidnish River (R.R. No. 1), N.S., ran a splinter into her hand, and as she could not get it all out, the place became very sore and festered. Finally, despite all her efforts, blood-poisoning set in.

Writing about it Mrs. Helm says: "The pain I suffered was at times intense, and although I tried remedy after remedy, it got no better and eventually turned to blood-poisoning. I had suffered for several months, when one day I saw Zam-Buk advertised, and decided to give it a week's fair trial. By the end of that time my hand was so much better that I was able to extract the splinter. I continued using Zam-Buk. Gradually the poison was all drawn out, the pain was ended, the swelling disappeared, and finally the sore place was entirely healed."

The above case is typical of scores: Keep Zam-Buk handy in your home, and by applying it immediately an injury is sustained, prevent any possibility of festering or blood-poisoning. You will find Zam-Buk equally good, too, for all skin troubles, eczema, boils, pimples, ulcers, abscesses, running sores, bad legs, piles, cuts and burns. All dealers or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto. 50c box, 3 for $1.25.

GIRLS! TRY IT! HAVE THICK, WAVY, BEAUTIFUL HAIR

Every particle of dandruff disappears and hair stops coming out.

Draw a moist cloth through hair and double its beauty at once.

Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a "Danderine hair cleanse." Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

Besides beautifying the hair at once, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it, surely invest a few cents in a bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter, and just try it.

Save your hair! Beautify it! You will say this was the best money you ever spent.

Get the Habit of Drinking Hot Water Before Breakfast

Says we can't look or feel right with the system full of poisons.

Millions of folks bathe internally now instead of loading their system with drugs. "What's an inside bath?" you say. Well, it is guaranteed to perform miracles, if you could believe these hot water enthusiasts.

There are vast numbers of men and women who, immediately upon arising in the morning, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This is a very excellent health measures. It is intended to flush the stomach, liver, kidneys and the thirty feet of intestines of the previous day's waste, sour bile and indigestible material left over in the body which, if not eliminated every day, become food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels, the quick result is poisons and toxins, which are then absorbed into the blood, causing headache, bilious attacks, foul breath, bad taste, colds, stomach trouble, kidney misery, sleeplessness, impure blood, and all sorts of ailments.

People who feel good one day and badly the next, but who simply cannot get feeling right, are urged to obtain a quarter-pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a real crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

Teaching the World to Dance

Dancing is the freest expression of the joyous spirit of youth. Children, as soon as they have become sure of their little legs, begin to dance naturally to express the utter exuberance of their spirits. The wild and more or less studied dance of the naughty child appears in strong contrast to the utter abandon of the child who dances in pure ecstasy, because the sun is shining and the flowers are all about him. So, too, the most primitive of races express their feelings in dancing. And for many years the simple peasant-folk of Europe, unconstrained, danced away the hours in the even time, expressing the national spirit in their folk dances.

It would seem then, as if dancing were the natural expression of the human spirit, which exists just as long as the cold, proud practical world will let it. The child begins to become conscious of the non-dancing world about him and ceases to dance. The nation grows up, or the peasant folk becomes super-educated, and dancing ceases to be a spontaneous expression, and becomes a conventional two-step or waltz.

The dances introduced during the past few years have allowed more scope for abandon than the stilted two-step and waltz of the last generation and the stiffer "Lancers" and "Sir Roger de Coverly" of the days of our grandmothers. These modern dances were a move in the right direction, but were formed along the wrong lines. The movements tended to be wholly sensuous and passionate, and that was where the danger lay. If they were not perfectly done, they were ugly, and it is a fortunate thing indeed, that they are fast losing their popularity.

But must we to go back to the old formal dances of the past—dances which are mere movements giving no expression of the personality who executes them? Dancing should be free, joyous, the outcome of utter abandonment to the feeling of the moment. Why cannot we learn to dance as the children dance, or as the care-free peasants of the quaint old countries of Europe?

Perhaps the greatest difficulty is that we live so little out of doors in this country. We live in conventional houses or conventional offices all day long, and the result is that our dancing also becomes conventional. We crowd into a large bare room and jig around, and imagine that we are dancing. Nerve specialists who have made a study of the shell-shocked men overseas, say that one of the most effective cures is dancing—even the stilted conventional dancing of the ball room. How much more effective, then, would be the utter abandon of real dancing! Our nerve-racked souls, hedged in by the walls of modern social and business life, would expand under the influence of a new era of freedom in dancing.

Who will be the pioneer to lead the feet of the nation into paths strewn with flowers and happiness and health? Who will come to the rescue of a generation, which already tense with the strain of the modern business world, was plunged into a still tenser war only to emerge in the face of a trying epidemic? Who will teach the world how to dance?

The youth of today needs dancing so badly to keep him young, and to take away from his face those weary lines, the product of too strenuous an existence, who will give to him freedom, but freedom without license? Who will teach him how to dance, and make the world become young again?

CYNTHIA GREY'S MAIL-BOX

Send It Along.

Dear Miss Grey,—Having seen in your column of the boy who wanted coupons to get the bicycle, I am sending 120. I hope these will help him to get it.

I am just going to ask you one question this time: Can you tell me if there is a Girl Hospital in London or Toronto? If you know the address I will send a stamped envelope.

Ans.—Very well, Smiles, send along your envelope. I have a Toronto address here for you. The coupons will be forwarded with pleasure. Many thanks for such a package.

She Will Correspond.

Dear Miss Grey,—I saw in the paper where Maid of the Mist wanted some one to correspond with her. Well, I am not a valentine, but my birthday is in February, and I am 15, too, so maybe I will do. Please send me her address, also, if you have a copy of "Fair Charlotte" would you please send it to me? I remain

CAREFUL MAT.

Ans.—The address has been forwarded, but I shall have to refer your song request to readers.

A Cornstarch Cake.

Snowdrop asks for the foot pattern and in return gives this recipe for a cornstarch cake:

Cornstarch Cake—One cup of flour, 1 cup of cornstarch, 1 cup of sugar, 1-2 cup of butter, whites of four eggs, 1-2 cup of sweet milk, 1 teaspoonful of cream of tartar, and 1-2 teaspoonful soda.

Needs It, Too.

Dear Miss Grey,—I see by the paper where a reader sent Mrs. All Trades a pattern for a baby creeper. I would very much like to get it. Would you be kind enough, Mrs. All Trades, to cut a pattern off and send it to Miss Grey? (I am inclosing an envelope.) I have the words of "A Dying Nun," wanted by a reader, but have not the music, nor would send it, wishing you the compliments of the season.

BONIBELL.

Ans.—Referred to Mrs. All Trades. Thanks, Bonibell, same to yourself.

Stain on Table.

Dear Miss Grey,—We have a small table (oak) which was stained and waxed but never varnished. A black mark, much like an ink stain has gotten on it, caused by having watered a plant on it. Could you or any of the readers tell me how to remove the stain without injury to the table?

2. We moved a short time ago and could you tell me if it would be necessary to notify anyone of the change of address in regard to the registration cards we received last June, if so, whom and what is his address. Hoping to see my letter in print soon, I am

A LAUREL.

Ans.—Scarcely think the stain can be removed without injuring the finish. You might remove it with salts of lemon or oxalic acid and then give the table a good coat of varnish. It would first be necessary to remove the wax I suppose.

2. Not necessary.

An Old Song Wanted.

Dear Miss Grey,—Could any of the readers loan me words and music of the old song, "Mother"? One of the verses runs thus:

"Home is not home if mother's not there,
Angels have taken her out of our care;
Empty's her room and vacant's her chair,
She has gone to that land so beautiful and fair."

Thanking you in advance,

A CONSTANT READER.

Ans.—If anyone can supply this I shall gladly notify Constant Reader.

Good for Children.

Dear Miss Grey,—This is the first letter I have written to your Page. I am 13 years old, and go to public school. I am in the Fourth Book. Mother wants the stocking-foot pattern. I have inclosed a stamped envelope for it. Here is a good cake for children who have cold dinners. It is called lunch cake. One cup or brown sugar, half-cup of butter, well-beaten egg, one cup of sour milk, one cup of raisins, one teaspoon of cinnamon, half-teaspoon each of cloves and nutmeg, pinch of salt, one and a half cups of flour, one teaspoon of baking soda.

DADDY'S GIRL.

Ans.—I am sure most of the school children will agree with you about that being a good cake for lunch. And perhaps "daddy" himself does not mind a piece now and then, eh? A pattern has been mailed in your envelope.

"Donta" Sends Thanks.

Dear Miss Grey,—Here I am again, bothering you for those recitations "Irene" sent in for me. Thanks, "Irene," you are very kind.

I have two readings or recitations if anybody wants them. They are welcome to them. The names are "Reverie in Church" and "An Aspiring Dish-washer."

I am 14 years old and weigh 105 pounds. Do you think I am heavy for my age? Well, I must close for now.

DONTA.

Ans.—The readings have been sent to you, "Donta." You are a fair weight for your years, but not alarmingly heavy.

"Third Cousin," Please Note.

Dear Miss Grey,—Will "Third Cousin to Old St. Nicholas," who sent in the recipe for rheumatism kindly let me know through your columns (or otherwise) how much cayenne to what quantity of kerosene should be mixed, and how it should be heated? I should be very glad to have the proper recipe.

E. C. B.

Ans.—Referred to "Third Cousin," who will, I hope, note the request above. I have "E. C. B.'s" address if "Third Cousin" wishes to write personally.

A Round Doily.

Dear Miss Grey,—We noticed that "Tired of Darning" desired a pattern for a crocheted round doily. We are inclosing the pattern for a very pretty doily, and hope she will like it.

Miss Grey, do you know where one could obtain a copy of "Heart Songs," which was given with Advertiser coupons a few years ago?

TWEEDLEDUM AND TWEEDLEDEE.

Ans.—Very kind of you, fat twins, to send the instructions, which I have remailed to "Tired of Darning." You are in error regarding the song book, as The Advertiser has never had such a volume as a premium.

That Daisy Yoke.

Dear Miss Grey,—Have you room for me? I have written "After the Ball" for someone. I have forgotten just who wanted it, but will you kindly pass it on to her? I noticed "A Loving Sister" wanted a lace pattern, so I am sending one, and I hope she will like it. Now, Miss Grey, would it be too much trouble if were to ask for the daisy yoke pattern when someone. I would just love to get it.

MUTT'S COUSIN.

Ans.—Such a demand there is for a daisy yoke pattern. If one does come to hand I shall be very much perplexed deciding who should have it first. Your song copy and lace have been forwarded. Re your postscript, a post card inquiry to any of the London music stores will elicit the information.

For "Grace Darling."

A letter from "B. V." to Grace Darling" has been forwarded.

"Blue Eyes'" Story.

"Blue Eyes"—Your ms. should be typed, if possible; otherwise, write very plainly with ink on plain, thin paper, use good sized sheets, leave wide margin, and write on one side only of each sheet. Number the pages carefully at the top, and join them with a patent clip. Fold flat and mail in a long envelope. A slip bearing name and address and stamps for return postage in case of rejection should be attached to the ms. Two newspaper syndicates who buy short stories are the Frank A. Munsey Company and the McClure Newspaper Syndicate, both of New York City.

Money Acknowledged.

Miss Grey acknowledges with thanks the following money received for "Contented" during the past fortnight: C. G., $1; Lover of Babies, $1; Little Nobody, 25c; Careful Mat, 25c; J. K. T., $2; Mrs. A. C., 25c; Kintorian, $1; O. S., 25c; Jean, $1; A., $1; Mrs. R. 50c.

The Foot Pattern.

Copies of the stocking-foot pattern are sent to "Santa Claus" (many thanks, "Santa," for those kind wishes); "Midget"; "Mrs. C.," Sarnia; "One in Need"; "Pansy"; Interested Column Reader," and many others.

From "Strawberry."

The address of "Grace Darling" has been sent to "Strawberry," who wants to correspond.

Sent Over 100 Boxes.

Dear Miss Grey,—Perhaps you will remember me before as "Jewel," when I came a-begging for lonelies' names. Well, we've had good luck with our society, and have sent over 100 boxes overseas, and those lonelies' names you sent me were very welcome. We have heard from nearly all of them that received their boxes, but we are still working for the brave boys. We're glad the war's over and the boys are coming back. I do hope the country will show how they have appreciated the boys' grent service.

Begins to look like the new year has brought Jack Frost, and, I hope, a few sleigh rides.

JEWEL.

Ans.—I think that your society should be commended for its good work. How nice that you received so many acknowledgments of the boxes sent. Perhaps even yet the weatherman may favor you with a few merry rides.

Daily Bible Question Club

SUGGESTIVE QUESTIONS ON THE UNIFORM LESSON FOR SUNDAY, JANUARY 19, 1919.

ONE GOLDEN TEXT SUGGESTION.

By Rev. T. S. Linscott, D.D.

The Passover.—Exodus xi:1, xii:36.

QUESTIONS FOR TODAY.

4. Verses 4-8.—What was the nature of the last plague that God threatened Pharaoh to bring on Egypt to compel him to let the Israelites go?

5. Verses 9, 10.—What is the process through which God, by his law, hardens every rebellious sinner's heart?

6. Chap. xii: 1-3.—HOW DOES GOD TODAY CONVEY HIS MESSAGES TO THE PEOPLE OTHER THAN THROUGH THE BIBLE? (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by members of the club).

Golden Text.—Our passover also hath been sacrificed, even Christ.—1 Cor. v: 7.

SIN IN A CHURCH IS CONTAGIOUS.

The Corinthian church, to whom Paul addressed the words of our text, were communing with a man who was living in sin, and Paul advised them to excommunicate him, fearing that a bad man in the church would have the same effect upon the members of the church as a gangrened arm would have physically upon the rest of the body; the arm must be amputated to save the man's life, and hence Paul wanted the Corinthian church to expel the immoral member from their communion. It is an unusual thing to hear of any person being expelled from any of the churches today. Immorality, in members of the church is not looked upon with the same grave concern as it used to be in Paul's day, and in the memories of some now living. This may be one reason why the church is not more successful in fighting sin and wordliness.

Jimmy Coon and His Friends

The Adventures of the Little People of the Great Forest.

NO BEAVERS ARE CAUGHT.

The Country Boy set his steel trap in a splendid place at Mirror Pond. And he grinned as he stuck up a stick over his trap with some nice bait, so that the Beavers, in trying to eat the bait, would get caught in his steel trap.

The trap was covered cleverly by the green, wet moss. And then the Country Boy returned to his camp and said to the men, "I'll get a Beaver tonight, for I'm sure I set my trap in just the very spot to fool the Beavers."

Now, the Country Boy could scarcely sleep that night; and when he did sleep, he dreamed of selling very many beautiful Beaver skins, and getting lots and lots of money.

He awoke very early next morning, dressed quickly, and ran most of the way to Mirror Pond. When he got near the dam, he was panting for breath, but he could see that his trap was sprung! And he was awfully excited, because he could see something brown in his trap!

He ran to the trap to get his Beaver. And what do you suppose he found? He found the tail-feathers of a foolish Duck! He was terribly disappointed. You see, a Wild Duck had been swimming around Mirror Pond in the night and he smelled that bait, and had hopped out on the dam to eat the bait. And when he was reaching up to get the bait, his tail caught in the trap and sprung the strong, steel jaws!

And Mr. Foolish Duck lost his pretty tail-feathers in the trap. Now, all the Beavers had seen and heard the Country Boy setting his trap; and they had laughed and laughed. And Father Beaver had said to his children, "Now, whenever you see any two-legged creature like that Boy around the dam, you be careful—for he's sure to be up to some mischief, with his traps."

The Country Boy was very set in his ways, so he set his trap in the same place for that night and then returned to camp with the tail feathers of the Duck.

When he showed the men the feathers, they laughed very long and hard, saying, "My Boy, you'll have to become very clever before you can catch those smart Beavers. You must not expect to make any money selling the tail-feathers of Ducks! Why, if you go on this way you'll turn all those pretty creatures on Mirror Pond into Bob-Tailed Ducks."

And all the lumbermen laughed and laughed at the Boy Trapper. But he said, "I'll catch a Beaver tonight, I'm sure—even if I did get fooled last night. I don't think those Beavers are any smarter than I am!"

Tomorrow—The Boy Trapper is Disappointed.

When he did sleep, he dreamed of selling very many beautiful Beaver skins, and getting lots and lots of money.

COLD FEET

are responsible for the majority of colds. You cannot always avoid these winter evils, but you can, by using Peps, stop the colds and chest troubles they cause. Peps contain absolutely no harmful drugs and can be taken with perfect safety by elderly people and young children.

As soon as dissolved in the mouth, Peps liberate a pleasant, yet highly medicinal vapor, which mingles with the breath, and is carried to the remotest parts of the nasal passages, breathing tubes and lungs. These fumes destroy all the germs of cold, influenza and bronchitis which otherwise would develop in consequence of the body's vitality and power of resistance having become lowered. Peps strengthen the delicate membranes and make your throat and breathing passages 'cold proof.' By being prepared with Peps you can save yourself a great deal of suffering and expense, as well as time and inconvenience.

Mothers should always keep a supply of Peps on hand for children's coughs and colds which should be treated immediately, as neglected colds in childhood often lay the foundations of weak constitutions. Get a box to-day. It will certainly repay you for the small expenditure—50c box, all dealers.

PEPS

Where a cold has been allowed to develop, Peps will be found equally effective. Also for coughs, bronchitis, sore throat, laryngitis and asthma.

THIN PEOPLE SHOULD TAKE PHOSPHATE

Nothing Like Plain Bitro-Phosphate To Put on Firm, Healthy Flesh and to Increase Strength, Vigor and Nerve Force.

Judging from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing arms, neck and bust, and replacing ugly hollows and angles by the soft curved lines of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness.

Thinness and weakness are usually due to starved nerves. Our bodies need more phosphate than is contained in modern foods. Physicians claim there is nothing that will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known among druggists as bitro-phosphate, which is inexpensive and is sold by most all druggists under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body cells with the necessary phosphoric food elements, bitro-phosphate quickly produces a welcome transformation in the appearance; the increase in weight frequently being astonishing.

This increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Nervousness, sleeplessness and lack of energy, which nearly always accompany excessive thinness, soon disappear, dull eyes become bright, and pale cheeks glow with the bloom of perfect health.

CAUTION.—Although bitro-phosphate is unsurpassed for relieving nervousness, sleeplessness and general weakness, it should not, owing to its remarkable flesh-growing properties, be used by anyone who does not desire to put on flesh.—Advt.

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia To Overcome Trouble Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion.

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating, are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis, accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloat right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation, and there is no sourness or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people, who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.—Advt.

London and Paris Junior Teams Play Here Tonight

Visitors Will Bring Strong Te am, and a Fast Exhibition of Hockey Is Expected—Youngsters in Good Condition —Allen Kinder of Preston Will Handle Game.

The local junior O. H. A. team will meet the Paris youngsters at the Jubilee Rink at 8:15 o'clock tonight. This will be one of the fastest junior games staged in this city this year, as the Paris kids are fast and gave Woodstock a hard fight last Friday night.

The London boys are in first-class condition for the match, and are confident of victory, although they expect to play for the honors.

Young Norman, the latest addition to the junior line-up, will altogether likely appear on the ice tonight. He played as a substitute last Friday night with the intermediate, but this will be the first chance for the local spectators to see him with the kids.

Allen Kinder of Preston will referee the game.

The Paris aggregation is made up of a fast bunch of fellows, who have been showing up wonderfully during the past week.

If the London boys put over a win tonight it is a sure bet that they will give the Woodstock six a hard run for group honors.

Gillies and McIntyre will play defence, and a great deal of responsibility rests upon their shoulders.

The probable line-up for tonight:

London.	Position.	Paris.
Hynd	Goal	Paine
Gillies	Defence	Paine
McIntyre	Defence	Sugrue
Cline	Centre	Hilborn
Logan	Wing	Gill
Burgess	Wing	Carrush

BASEBALL CONFERENCE AT NEW YORK TODAY

Minors To Make Determined Effort To Change Draft Rule.

New York, Jan. 14.—A meeting of the new International League officials and another of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, at which the question of obtaining for the minor leagues relief from the present draft regulations was considered, ushered in here today the most important week of baseball conferences held in many years. Some minor league officials intimated that unless the demands of the minors were granted they would break with the major organizations.

Since the national agreement was signed years ago, the major leagues have enjoyed the privilege of drafting players from the smaller organizations. This practice, minor league officials maintained, was unfair in that when one of the small clubs developed good players, they were taken by the major circuits at the end of the season.

While minor league officials admitted that the major leagues have shown a conciliatory attitude toward the demands of the minors, no major league official would discuss the requests. The minor league committee is to present its case to joint committees of the National and American leagues and the national committee, probably on next Friday.

ANOTHER FOR BRANDON.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Minor league club-owners and managers are expected to make a determined effort to obtain relief from the present draft regulations at a series of baseball meetings which will begin here tomorrow, according to statements by officials arriving today.

Several informal conferences were held this afternoon, at which the matter was discussed from every angle and it was the general opinion that a new agreement must be reached with the major leagues, if the minors are to share in the baseball prosperity of the future.

The draft and optional rules between the two divisions of organized baseball will be considered at two meetings tomorrow, which will usher in the most important week of baseball conferences in many years. The new International League will convene in the forenoon and, after a short session adjourn to attend a later joint session with the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues.

CANUCK TURFMAN TO LEAD LIST OF OWNERS

New York, Jan. 14.—From the present outlook, J. K. L. Ross, the Canadian owner, is going to enjoy a most prosperous year in racing. This sportsman succeeded in topping the list of winning owners last season, and this year his stable looks far stronger than it did twelve months ago.

Now that it has been definitely decided to allow geldings to race for the Kentucky Derby, this year, Commander Ross appears to have that important event at his mercy with Billy Kelly. For the Preakness he has War Pennant, War Marvel and Sir Barton. For the Kentucky Oaks, Commander Ross has an able representative in Silk Maid. If she is sent to the post for that event there is hardly a doubt that she will be a strong favorite. The Metropolitan Handicap, he has the speedy Motor Cop, which should be hard to beat, and for the Suburban, Brooklyn and other famous handicaps over longer distances, Commander Ross had Cudgel, which is now rated as the champion of the older division.

ST. PATRICKS WIN FROM NEWMAN HALL

Tom Munro of London Handles Senior O. H. A. Game at Queen City.

TOSONTO, Jan. 13.—St. Patricks tonight defeated Newman Hall in the senior O. H. A. game by the score of 8 to 5 and incidentally broke their losing streak which had extended into two seasons. The Green Shirts played clever hockey from the start and fully deserved their victory. At one time in the third period they were leading by 8 to 2, but Newman Hall then notched three goals.

The game was keenly contested and the rather large crowd in attendance was given much to enthuse over. All the members of the winning team made a favorable impression and should give Kitchener a merry argument when they meet on Friday night. The team has improved wonderfully in the last week and the players are all ready to go the route. The lineup:

St. Patricks.		Newman Hall.

TILLSONBURG PLAYS TIE WITH GLENCOE

First Match Ended by Score of 5 to 5—Contest To Be Played Off Friday.

TILLSONBURG, Jan. 13.—The local O. H. A. session opened here tonight with the before-the-war crowd on hand and the fans went home highly elated at the wonderful showing made by the local kids against the Glencoe six, who went into the semi-finals last year. From the drop of the puck to the final the game was hotly contested and very even with the Tillsonburg kids pushing hard in the first period, which ended one all. The second period opened with a shout and was very tight to the finish ending 2 to 1 favor Tillsonburg. In the third period the visitors came back with a rush and before the bell called the final time the visitors had scored 4, and the home team 3, leaving the score 5 all for the game. As goals count in the round the tie was not played off tonight.

Peardin, the kid player, in goal was a wonder and through him the visitors saved a much larger score being piled up against them. The local management is more than pleased with the showing made tonight and will give the contenders a tussle for group honors. It is likely that a return game will be played in St. Thomas Friday night as the Glencoe Rink is not available. It was the cleanest game staged in years, not a man going to the penalty box. The lineup:

Tillsonburg.	Position.	Glencoe.
Banker	Goal	Peardin
J. Carroll	L. Defence	Dably
F. Carroll	R. Defence	Hamilton
Cornell	Centre	Weaver
Walker	R. Wing	Wall
Climie	L. Wing	Payne

Referee—J. Stevenson, Glencoe.
Timekeepers—Dr. Taylor, R. Harris.

LINDSAY BOYS DEFEATED BY PETERBORO TEAM

LINDSAY, Jan. 13.—Lack of condition caused the downfall of the Lindsay intermediate team tonight, Peterboro winning 12 to 5.

The score indicates the play, the visitors sticking it over in the first period, scoring 4 to 1. The play was fast at times and also rough. Referee Marsh allowing a lot of leniency for the visitors. Halpin and Jackson were fast, and for the home team Wettlauffer, Lipnett and Richman, while Evans, for Peterboro, was also good. The visitors fagged at the close, but managed to keep up occasional fast team-plays.

MOUNT FOREST JUNIORS WIN FROM WINGHAM SIX

WINGHAM, Jan. 13.—Results of the junior Northern hockey game played here tonight between Mount Forest and Wingham ended with a score of 12 to 6 in favor of Mount Forest.

ST. THOMAS BONSPIEL.

ST. THOMAS, Jan. 13.—Owing to the thaw of last night and today there were no sports at the local rink tonight. The regular bonspiel was cancelled and a hockey match between the members of the Talbot Club and a picked team also had to be postponed. They will be staged in the rink as soon as the ice is fit.

FIRST GAME TONIGHT.

LUCKNOW, Jan. 13.—The first Northern League hockey game of the season will be played here on Tuesday night, with Listowel as the visiting team. A good game is looked for, as Listowel has a fast team, and the local boys are out to win, if possible.

GUELPH, Jan. 13.—By a score of 4 to 2, the Guelph Intermediate O. H. A. hockey team defeated the O. A. C. team at the latter's rink tonight. Public School Hockey League Opens Thursday Afternoon

Schedules and Rules Drawn Up — First Game Will Be Played Between St. George's and Victoria Schools — Two Matches Will Be Staged Each Afternoon—Colored Sashes For Players.

Weather permitting, the Public School Hockey League, consisting of sixteen teams, will open the season Thursday afternoon on the hockey rink in Victoria Park at 4:30 o'clock, when the youngsters from St. George's and Victoria Schools will play. At 5:30 the same afternoon Lord Roberts and Chesley Avenue Schools will lock horns.

Two games will be played every school day in the week, Saturday being left free in order that any postponed games may be played then. The league was divided into four groups of four teams, and the winners of Groups 1 and 2 will play off to decide who will stack up against the winners of Groups 3 and 4 in the finals, which will probably be played at the Jubilee Rink. The total number of goals will count in the group play-offs.

Major Eric Reid, D. S. O., president of the London Hockey Club, and Purdom E. Love drew up the schedule which was submitted to Dr. Frank Bryant, principal of the Lord Roberts School, who was appointed by the public school principals to look after their interest. At a meeting held yesterday afternoon Dr. Bryant was appointed president of the executive, Mr. Love, secretary, and Major Reid treasurer of the league.

The schools were divided into the following groups:

Group 1.—Victoria, St. George, Lorne and Aberdeen.

Group 2.—Chesley, Lord Roberts, Alexandra and Talbot.

Group 3. — Empress, Pottersburg, Boyle and Tecumseh.

Group 4.—Wortley, Riverview, Rectory and Tecumseh.

In case the opening games will not be able to be staged Thursday, they will be postponed till later on, and the Friday games will be held on the scheduled dates.

The league will be governed by the following rules:

1.—Games will consist of two periods of 20 minutes each.

2.—A team will consist of six men, with two men extra as substitutes, who may replace any player at any time during the game provided the puck is not in play.

3.—The referee will have full charge of the games and will keep time.

4.—There shall be one umpire at each goal, provided by the contesting teams who shall inform the referee when the puck has been put into the goal from the front. The referee may overrule these umpires and may remove either whenever he sees fit.

5.—Each team will supply one man as penalty timekeeper.

6.—Offsides will be as defined in Rule 11, O. H. A. rule book.

7.—The puck may be stopped with the hand but not carried or held.

8.—No player shall raise his stick above the shoulder or throw it along the ice. Charging, tripping, cross-checking or pushing shall not be allowed. The referee must rule off the ice any player who indulges in the above tactics.

9.—The goalkeeper must not during the play, lie, sit or kneel on the ice.

The Blue Labels took three games in a row from the Irish Rangers in the City Bowling League at the National alleys Monday evening. When the scores were counted up it was a great surprise to the spectators to find that the tail-enders came out on top. The pin-boys bet their spare coppers on the men from the Emerald Isle, and to their sorrow they lost their small change.

When it came to knocking 'em down you have to hand it to the cigarmakers, even if they are at the bottom of the league. These five bowlers will be heard from later on in the season, and it looks as if they will make the other teams step some to keep in time.

R. Ferris of the Blue Labels was high man of the evening, having 540 points.

The Nationals and W. O. R. tenpin men meet tonight.

INTER-SCHOLASTIC LEAGUE WILL OPEN NEXT FRIDAY

INGERSOLL, Jan. 13.—The Western Ontario interscholastic hockey series opens Friday with Ingersoll Collegiate Institute team at Tillsonburg in the senior series, and Ingersoll C. I. at Simcoe H. S. in the junior series.

It was published in Saturday's paper that the interscholastic series was opened, but this was an error.

The Ingersoll junior team won the championship of the junior series last year, and they have a strong line-up again this season.

TILLSONBURG HOCKEY CLUB HAVING LOTS OF TROUBLE

It is doubtful if any O. H. A. hockey aggregation is enjoying as many troubles as the Tillsonburg six. With the revival of hockey the local team was assumed of grouping with Ingersoll, London and St. Thomas, but London and St. Thomas strongly objected for some reason yet unknown, and consequently not wishing to disappoint local fans they decided to play Glencoe in a double schedule at a big financial loss. On Friday evening F. T. N. Dunn wired the local secretary that St. Thomas had defaulted, and asked if Tillsonburg would step in and play the remaining dates, and agreed to go ahead, but alas on Saturday morning another wire came that London again strongly objected and St. Thomas waited to withdraw the default and play the rest of the games. It is to be hoped that St. Thomas will have to abide by O. H. A. rules, the same as Tillsonburg submitted to them, and regulation 9 says, "A club defaulting any match in the series shall be debarred from further competition in the series, etc." Now Tillsonburg fans would like to know who is to blame for this condition of affairs.

RULES FOR "Y" HOCKEY LEAGUES ARE DRAFTED

Junior and Senior Boys Will Play Hockey Games at Victoria Park.

Two hockey leagues have been formed by the local Y. M. C. A. One league will be known as the Tuxis or senior league, while the other will be the Trail Rangers' junior group.

The schedule will be drawn up on Friday, when team entries will close. The games will be played at Victoria Park Rink.

The following are the rules for the two leagues:

A player in the Tuxis League must have been 18 years or under on January 1, 1919.

For Trail Rangers' five of the players of the team must have been 14 years or under January 1, 1919. The two other players on the team must not have been older than 15 years on January 1, 1919.

For groups organized before December 15, each player must have attended five regular Tuxis meetings or five regular Trail Rangers' meetings, which were held on Sunday afternoons between September 1, 1918, and January 1, 1919.

Each player must have attended 75 per cent of the meetings of the Trail Rangers or Tuxis boys, from October 1 until the end of the playing season.

An entry form to certify to the age of the player must be given to David Allen, secretary of the league, before the first game. If any doubt be expressed by opposing teams as to the age of the player he must produce a birth certificate.

Eleven-man hockey will be played. Any team not able to play through lack of players must default the game.

An entry fee of $1.00 will be charged for each team entering the league. This money will be used for purchasing trophies.

ROYAL BANK WILL HELP TO BRING MORE FOREIGN TRADE TO CANADA

Sir Herbert Holt, President, Pays Graceful Tribute to Valor of Canadian Soldiers—Edson L. Pease, Vice-President and Managing Director, Deals With the Policy of the Bank in Foreign Fields and Announces Important Extensions—C. E. Neill, General Manager, Refers to Features of Growth and Expansion of Past Year.

Montreal, Jan. 13.—The Annual Meeting of the Royal Bank of Canada was marked by announcements of the greatest importance to the extension of the foreign trade of the Dominion.

For the past few years it has been evident that just as soon as the war was over Canada would have to go energetically after foreign trade in order that the industries of the country might continue to maintain as large a percentage as possible of the increased production obtained during the war period. In addition, this foreign trade would be a vital factor in the maintenance of a favorable trade balance.

Sir Herbert Holt, the President, referred particularly to the remarkable achievements of Canadian industries during the war period. Sir Herbert expressed confidence that the Trade Mission established in London would be able to secure for Canada a share proportionate to the sacrifices made in the business arising out of the reconstruction work in the devastated countries. Arrangements would no doubt be made for an equitable distribution of orders in Canada and these will require financial support from all the banks similar to that accorded to munition and other war contracts. Some little time must elapse before trade projects can bear fruit and factories be refitted. To provide for the consequent period of unemployment the Government has announced its intention of proceeding with public works, which it is to be hoped will be confined to improving our waterways, port facilities and public roads, and in addition, has offered loans for housing purposes through the provincial authorities.

Sir Herbert paid a striking tribute to the valor and achievements of Canada's soldiers and urged that gratitude for their heroic service should be shown in tangible form. The country is their debtor. Satisfactory employment should be found for every returning soldier who is fit to work, and relief extended to the maimed and crippled. In the Bank, unless there is some good reason to the contrary, every officer who enlisted and who applies for reinstatement within a reasonable time after his return, will be re-engaged on the salary to which he would have been entitled had he continued in the service, subject to reasonable adjustments where necessary.

Sir Herbert, referring to the more important developments within the country, said:

"The Business Profits War Tax Act ceased to apply on the 31st of December, 1918, except in the case of any company or person who had failed to make returns. The Minister of Finance wisely has made the provisions of this act practically co-terminus with the period of earning of large profits incidental to special business during the war. If labor is to be given its full opportunity, the capital which finds employment for it must not be hampered."

Dealing with the growth and expansion of the Royal Bank, Sir Herbert said:

"In July last we consummated the purchase of the assets of the Northern Crown Bank, which aggregated $27,819,291. After closing 14 offices, at points where we already had branches, we secured through this amalgamation 76 branches in Manitoba and the Northwest, excellently located, and 20 in Ontario. In this, as in previous amalgamations, you will see that our position was very definitely strengthened in a particular district. With the Union Bank of Halifax we improved our connection in the Maritime Provinces with the Quebec Bank in the Province of Quebec, and with the Traders' Bank of Canada in the Province of Ontario."

Necessity of Securing Foreign Trade.

Mr. Edson L. Pease, Managing Director, dealt particularly with the urgent need that existed for Canada to go after foreign trade and insisted that extension of export trade was vital to the commercial self-preservation and future economic welfare of the country. Only by creating a large favorable balance of trade, he said, could we hope to meet the interest on our foreign debt. Canadian banks could effectively aid export trade by establishing branches in foreign countries and supplying information to the Canadian exporter. British banks existed in almost every foreign country and had proved a powerful factor in the development of Great Britain's world-wide trade. The Royal Bank, with its complete organization, had already helped the Dominion materially, but it was the intention of the Directors to pursue a policy that would mean greater business to the country. On this account Mr. Pease took occasion to refer more particularly to the Royal Banks' operations in foreign fields and the policy of the Bank in that direction. Mr. Pease said in part:

"In June last we established a branch in Barcelona, Spain, in order to participate in the large trade between that country and her former colonies, where we have many branches, and I am pleased to say the results have greatly exceeded our expectations.

"We are now preparing to open in Paris, France, in order to secure a share of the commerce which is expected to develop with Canada in the rehabilitation of Northern France and Belgium.

"With a view to the extension of Canada's foreign trade and encouraged by our past success in this field of banking for which we are well equipped, we have decided after long consideration and carefully studying the situation, to open three additional branches in South America, Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, Buenos Ayres, Argentine and Montevideo, Uruguay. Members of the staff for these branches have already been selected and are about to leave for South America."

In establishing in foreign countries for the purpose of fostering Canadian trade it does not follow that Canadian deposits would be diverted to foreign fields—the experience of this Bank has proved the contrary. Our foreign deposits have always exceeded our foreign commercial loans, as the Government returns show. The present excess is over $15,000,000. We have now had twenty years' experience of banking in Cuba, the West Indies and Central and South America. During this period our losses have been infinitesimal, much under the percentage incurred in Canada, because the business represents chiefly the movement of staples, accommodation paper being inconsiderable. That Canada's trade is benefited by these branches is shown by the numerous business inquiries we receive. At the same time it cannot be said that we have neglected home interests. The number of our branches in Canada exceeds that of any other bank."

Growth of Past Year.

Mr. C. E. Neill, General Manager of the Bank, in reviewing the financial report, pointed out that the statement submitted was the best that had ever been laid before he shareholders of the Bank. He drew attention to the fact that the total assets were now $427,512,982.91, the increase for the year being over $90,000,000, and the growth in deposits not less than $80,000,000; that the substantial expansion in current loans indicated the Bank was doing its share in taking care of the commercial requirements of the country. Mr. Neill further stated:

"The liquid position of the Bank is more favorable than it was last year, the percentage of liquid assets to liabilities to the public having increased from 53.9 per cent to 56.59 per cent. From the standpoint of cash reserves, we are also stronger, the percentage of cash to liabilities to the public being 17.13 per cent, as against 16.36 per cent the previous year.

"The substantial growth in the Bank's assets has resulted in a pronounced increase in earnings. Net profits for the year were $2,809,846.24, being 10.19 per cent on the combined capital and reserve, as compared with $2,327,979.51, 8.82 per cent on capital and reserve the previous year. The marked growth in the Bank's general business is due to the activities in all branches of trade and increased value of agricultural production.

"We must now grapple with the problems of a period of deflation and reconstruction and we do so with the strong conviction that no serious difficulty will be encountered in surmounting them."

Election of Directors.

Prior to the election of the board of directors for the ensuing year a motion was adopted to increase the number of directors from 20 to 22, by the election of two representatives of the Northern Crown Bank, recently absorbed by the Royal. The subsequent election added the names of Capt. William Robinson, Winnipeg, formerly president of the Northern Crown, and A. McTavish Campbell, Winnipeg, as directors of the absorbed bank.

The board of directors stands as follows for the ensuing year: Sir Herbert Holt, president; E. L. Pease, vice-president, and managing director; E. F. B. Johnston, K. C., second vice-president; C. E. Neill, general manager; James Redmond, G. R. Crowe, D. K. Elliott, Hon. W. H. Thorne, Hugh Paton, Wm. Robertson, A. J. Brown, K.C., W. J. Sheppard, C. S. Wilcox, A. E. Dyment, Sir Mortimer B. Davis, G. H. Duggan, C. C. Blackadar, John T. Ross, R. MacD. Paterson, G. G. Stuart, K.C., Capt. Wm. Robinson, and A. McTavish Campbell.

PROCEEDINGS STARTED TO HAVE ELECTION OF MAYOR GAHAGAN, WOODSTOCK, DECLARED INVALID

Irregularities Are Charged—Allegation Made That Some Property-Owners Voted Twice For Mayor—Defeated Candidates Say They Are Not Behind Action.

WOODSTOCK, Jan. 13.—Rumors have been current for the past few days that action would be taken to upset the election of Mayor Gahagan. Nothing definite, however, was known until today, when Homer B. Neeley, barrister, sent the following communication to the city council:

"I am instructed by an elector of the city of Woodstock to commence proceedings to have the election for the office of mayor, held on the 6th day of January, 1919, declared invalid. There appears to have been grave irregularities in the said election."

At the municipal elections A. J. Gahagan was elected mayor over W. D. Hobson and Clifford Kemp by a majority of 23. It has been hinted that the irregularities referred to consist of electors casting more than one ballot for mayor. An elector has the privilege of voting for aldermen in the different wards in which he may have property, but for the mayoralty he has but one vote, and that in the ward in which he lives. It is said that some electors when they went to vote for aldermen were handed mayoralty ballots, and in some cases used them. The two defeated candidates, Clifford Kemp and W. D. Hobson, deny that they have taken any action to have Mayor Gahagan unseated.

BACK FROM FRANCE.

Two well-known local boys returned from overseas yesterday in the persons of Lieut. Willard R. Sandercock and Lieut. Chas. R. Shoebotham. The former enlisted with the A. M. C. at Calgary in 1915. In France he served with the 39th Battery. Lieut. Shoebotham went overseas with the Mounted Rifles from Hamilton in 1917. He was severely wounded the latter part of last summer.

Rev. Mr. Janes has had sucessful pastorates at Kitchener and Ingersoll, where he has spent four years. The possibility of his accepting the local pastorate is regarded here by prominent Baptists as quite probable.

S. A. HOSTEL FILLED TO OVERFLOWING WITH SOLDIERS ON MONDAY

The Salvation Army Hostel was filled to overflowing last night with soldiers. All the bedrooms were filled, and instead of turning the men away, Adjutant John Sharp allowed the men to sleep on chairs, couches and tables. A few of the men were obliged to sleep on the floor. This is the second time the overcrowding has occurred, the first time being on New Year's Night. On both occasions it has occurred when troop trains arrived with large numbers of returned men who have to stay over night before they can get a train home.

SECRETARY SWAMPED BY PROTESTS AGAINST GRATUITY PROVISIONS

Secretary J. W. Cuniffe of the G. W. V. A. stated to The Advertiser today that he is being swamped with letters from all over the surrounding country places protesting strongly against the latest issue of the war gratuity, which says that men discharged before November 11 and who have not served in the actual theatre of war, are not entitled to the gratuity. A meeting of the G. W. V. A. is to be held on Saturday night in the Masonic Hall to pass a resolution protesting against the way the gratuity has been arranged, and it is to be sent direct to Ottawa.

CANADIANS TREATING GERMAN WOMEN WITH THE UTMOST COURTESY

London Woman Deluged With Mail From Husband After Long Silence.

No mail for two months from her American husband, who is serving with the Canadian forces in Germany, then a deluge, of which one item was 65 postcards! This was the experience which yesterday befell a young London woman, who has taken up her residence with relatives here in the absence of her husband.

A letter states that the unit to which he is attached crossed the Rhine on December 13, at 1:30 o'clock. Commenting upon the conduct of the German people towards the Canadian soldiers, he writes that very little feeling of resentment is shown. The Germans, however, do not like to salute the British officers. The treatment by the Canadians of the German women, he adds, is as courteous and chivalrous as it would be of the women in Canada. Among the curios sent home is an iron cross.

RUMOR OF BIG DEFICIT STIRS AGRIC. LEADERS AND PROBE IS ORDERED

WINDSOR, Jan. 13.—A special meeting of the directors of the Windsor and North Essex Agricultural Association has been called for Friday of this week to investigate a rumor of a deficit of several thousand dollars in the society's finances. Last fall's exhibition was the most successful in the history of the organization, and just how the deficit has been created is somewhat of a mystery.

FOOD IS GREATEST WEAPON TO COMBAT BOLSHEVIK MENACE

President Wilson Urges Congress To Appropriate $100,000,000 for Relief.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—In a message today solemnly urging Congress to appropriate the $100,000,000 requested for European food relief, President Wilson said Bolshevism, steadily advancing westward, could not be stopped by force, but could be stopped by food. Food relief, he said, was the key to the whole European situation and to the solutions of peace.

The Allied statesmen urged concerted action as a means of stemming the tide of famine and unrest.

A message from Henry White, member of the American peace delegation, to the state department, said "the startling westward advance of Bolshevism" dominated the entire European situation above all else, and that it was of the utmost importance that the shippers' request be granted at once.

"Bolshevism," Mr. White said, "now completely controls Russia and Poland and is spreading through Germany," and apparently the only effective barrier is food relief. He added that it was impossible to inaugurate the peace conference under proper auspices without previous adequate provision to cope with this situation.

Companions Tried To Rescue Him, But Failed.

WINDSOR, Jan. 13.—While skating on Lake St. Clair near the village of Puce yesterday afternoon, Peter Major, 21 years of age, fell into an air hole in the ice and was drowned, despite the frantic efforts of companions to save him. The body was found an hour later in an open space of water a short distance from the scene of the accident.

WATFORD, Jan. 13. — Sam Burchell broke his arm Saturday afternoon while trying to crank his car. The starter failed to work, so he tried to use the hand crank, which resulted in the accident.

Tecumseh Chapter, I. O. D. E., has decided to send 100 pairs of socks to the Siberian relief fund. They are planning a rummage sale and concert for next month.

Little Marie McMames, aged 4, daughter of Mr. and Mars. J. McMames, Main street, died on Sunday evening from acute stomach trouble. The funeral service was held this morning in the Catholic Church.

The funeral of Gordon Edgar was held on Sunday afternoon from his late residence in Brooke. He contracted influenza a short time ago and afterwards spinal meningitis, to which he succumbed.

J. E. CARTER CHOSEN GUELPH'S MAYOR ON FIRST BALLOT CAST

Soldiers' Memorial and Winter Fair To Be Considered.

GUELPH, Jan. 13.—J. E. Carter is mayor of Guelph for 1919. He was elected at the inaugural meeting of the city council held at 11 o'clock this morning. The meeting was quiet. The mayor-elect was chosen on the first vote. There were three other nominations for the position, Ald. Westoby, Ald. Newstead and Ald. Howard. The latter, however, withdrew at once.

In accordance with the rules laid down by the city clerk governing the election, an open vote was taken. Mr. Carter received ten votes, which was sufficient to insure his election. No further vote was taken.

The new mayor attended the meeting, and a committee to select the standing committees was appointed, after devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. Mr. Konkle.

At the regular meeting of the council held this evening Mayor Carter appointed a special committee to take up the matter of a soldiers' memorial, and also one respecting the Winter Fair. The finance committee and the chairman of the various standing committees of the council comprise another special committee to consider the organization of the various departments under the control of the council, and make such recommendations as they deem to be in the best interests of the city.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

THE LOCAL MARKET

There was only a small attendance at the local market today. One load of oats was sold for $2.20 per cwt. Hay is steady, and straw is brisk. The hog market is so unsettled at the Toronto market that it is impossible to state what prices will prevail here, as the London market quotes the same prices as the Toronto markets. It is not expected that there will be very large markets before Easter, as the farmers have been cleared out of the majority of their products. No other changes are reported.

Chicago, Jan. 14.—Storage butter and eggs are scarce here, but fresh butter and fresh eggs are in good supply and are to be had today at a drop in prices from recent high figures, according to dealers in the products. Butter in storage is under 5,000,000 pounds, as against a usual supply of 50,000,000 pounds, it was stated, and eggs have fallen to 50,000 cases, as against a normal supply of 250,000 to 300,000 cases.

"The situation simply is that only a few have storage butter or eggs, and knowing they cannot get them again they won't sell," said Edward Davis, president of the Chicago Butter and Egg Board. "Those who have them are saving them for their favorite customers, and won't sell outside their own trade. The shortage in storage butter is the result of the Government taking over 60 per cent of the stocks for the army, and the storage egg situation is much the same. Favorable weather has resulted in a good supply of both fresh butter and eggs. The result has been a break in prices."

Chicago, Jan. 14.—Removal of the embargo on freight shipments to New York stimulated demand for board of trade commodities at the opening today, corn and oats both advancing. WALL STREET.

New York, Jan. 14.—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Special issues again furnished the only features of interest at the listless opening of today's stock market, standard shares receiving little or no attention. The firmer tone was mainly due to shippings and oils at gains of one to three points for Marine preferred, United Fruit, Texas Company, and Mexican Petroleum. United States Steel opened unchanged, but soon rose a small fraction, the preferred stock also hardening. French Government bonds rallied from yesterday's setback, but Liberty Bonds were irregular.

Noon.—Oils and shippings enhanced their gains very materially in the first hour, the advance also taking in sugars, rubbers, fertilizers and distilling issues. Rails soon threw off their lethargy, some of the better known coalers and grangers gaining a point. There was a hurried covering movement in United States Steel, but the list reacted one to two points before noon, when Bethlehem Steel developed marked heaviness. Liberty Bonds were again inclined to yield, the second fours repeating their low record of 92.10.

TRANSATLANTIC AIRPLANE TRIP COMING IN MAY

Gen. Brancker, Master-General of British Air Ministry, Prophesies.

BRITAIN BUILDS AIRSHIPS

Flights Across Ocean With Passengers Predicted For Near Future.

LONDON, Jan. 13.—British Wireless Service.—Gen. Brancker, who is giving up his post as master-general of personnel in the air ministry, to devote his time to commercial aviation, in an interview with the Daily Express today asserted that a flight across the Atlantic Ocean probably would be accomplished in May. He added that the trip was feasible at the present moment, as there were three or four types of airplanes available which were capable of making the flight.

The Evening News today says that it has been officially informed that the British admiralty is embarking on a big program of airship construction. Airships are being built with a gas capacity of 2,500,000 cubic feet. The aircraft will have a large lifting capacity, and will be able to make between 60 and 70 miles an hour, and carry crews of 25 men.

Still larger airships are projected, and flights with passengers are predicted for the near future.

The newspaper says that a regular airship mail service between England and the United States during the summer of 1920 is regarded as certain by airship builders.

BRANTFORD CASE BEFORE DOMINION RAILWAY BOARD

Application To Turn Traffic To L. E. and N. Is Dismissed.

TORONTO, Jan. 13.—The Dominion railway board began sessions here today.

The commission heard the application of the Brighton Board of Trade and Dominion Canners in favor of better interswitching facilities on three lines of railway serving Brighton, and the case was laid over till tomorrow.

Mr. Sewell, asking that traffic at Brantford now being handled by the T., H. and B. Railway be turned over to the Lake Erie and Northern Railway, to better serve the public interest, argued that the clause as it stands did not protect a small line like the T., H. and B. The Canadian Pacific had all the advantages.

General Manager F. F., Backus of the T., H. and B., said his company had spent $650,000 on sidings and tracks at Brantford, and that the Canadian Pacific Railway was having the use of them without paying. The Canadian Pacific wanted to retain the right to use the T., H. and B. terminals at Hamilton. The application was dismissed after discussion. The clause remains and the companies will have to come to a decision between themselves as to the amount to be paid for the use of tracks.

U. S. SUPREME COURT FAVORS CASE OF D. U. R.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Federal court decrees upholding an ordinance fixing the rate of street car fares in Detroit and dismissing proceedings brought by the Detroit United Railway to restrain its enforcement, were set aside today by the supreme court, which held that the company was entitled to a reasonable return on its investment. The case was remanded for further proceedings.

GOLD SETTLEMENT FUND IS MOOTED TO STABILIZE EXCHANGE

Deposit Several Hundred Millions in Trust.

SETTLE BY BOOKKEEPING

Apply U. S. Federal Reserve System To International Trading.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Establishment of a gold settlement fund of several hundred million dollars to facilitate foreign exchange transactions and eliminate the necessity of shipping quantities of gold between countries, is under discussion among financial advisers of the different governments and may be planned at the forthcoming peace conference.

The purposes of the fund, which probably would be deposited in trust with the Bank of England, would be to form the basis for credit transactions between nations in the same way by which the American Federal system's gold settlement fund now constitutes the basis for transfers of credit among reserve banks, making it unnecessary to transfer gold within the country.

Exchange balances between countries, instead of being settled by actually shipping gold, as would be done in normal times, would be arranged by simple book transactions, with the earmarked gold as guarantee.

Allied financiers propose tentatively that a half billion dollars be the maximum size of the fund at first, and that neutral countries be admitted if they choose to participate. Eventually this might become an international gold policy, guaranteeing exchange clearings between countries.

Secrets of Health and Happiness

What Simple Exercises Will Do As Real "Flesh Reducers"

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG,
A. B., M. A., M. D., (Johns Hopkins University.)

DR. HIRSHBERG

That excess flesh under your chin and back of your neck has no business there. Work it off by exercise and massage. The very form of exercise to rid yourself of this superfluity is to do away with the comfort of the pillow. Sleep with your head and feet on a level. This will stretch the muscles in the back of the neck and cause them to become firmer and more solid.

Form the habit of standing erect. This also stretches the muscles and helps to remove bulkiness. Stand in a very upright position, rapidly stretch your arms outward and backward on a level with your shoulders and you will bring into play the muscles of the sides of the neck and aid in their firmness and reduction.

Practice looking at the stars. Stretch just as hard as you can, and in the meantime, if it is convenient, rub your palm firmly up and down the neck below the chin. You do not necessarily have to use cream every time you practice this massage, for the mere rubbing itself will do much good. Before bedtime, however, spend a few moments before your mirror in the act of applying a good massage cream to your neck. Rub until the cream disappears, and until your neck feels somewhat tired, for until a pleasant weariness is brought about you are not through with the process.

Reducing Your Hips.

It is very essential to have a pretty neck, for time in some instances leaves its footprints upon it very early, and soon mars the general good looks. After you have paid particular heed to that portion of your anatomy, upon further critical examination of yourself you may find that there is an objectionable bulkiness to your hips.

Large hips are unsightly. They throw your figure quite out of proportion and so ruin your chance for gracefulness. Exercises to make them normal may be taken, just as with your neck. Lie flat on the the floor or upon a hard mattress, palms planted downward, straight at the sides. Hold the knees up for a few minutes and the heels close to the body. Then with a quick, sudden movement thrust the legs back straight and flat, point the toes downward, and stretch just as hard as you can. By this means there is not a muscle from the knees to the tip of your toes that is not brought into play. The entire spinal column also gets its full shares of exercise.

For Your Waistline.

One moment; however, for you are not quite through. Draw up again slowly and breathe deeply while you count seven. Hold till you count seven more. Now you may thrust down again while you breathe out quickly through your mouth. Rest until you count four, then repeat the process.

After a little while lie down again flat on the back. Keep the heels and balls of your feet together, arms at the sides, palms down, and breathe slowly on seven counts. Now lift the middle of your trunk at the waistline from the bed while you keep your shoulders perfectly quiet. Use the muscles of the hips for this movement, and raise up by their aid only, holding every other part of the body still. This makes you appear as though someone from behind were giving you support at the waistline.

Breathe in deeply on seven counts as you come up, and breathe out on as many counts as you allow yourself slowly to resume your lying position. Now breathe again on seven counts as you lift the lower part of your trunk in quick succession, about four or five moves to a single breath.

By this means you have brought into play practically every muscle and those of the spine and hips in particular. Such exercise every day, with walks in the open air and frequent deep breaths will soon reduce superfluous flesh and add much grace to your posture. You will thus have no need of "flesh reducers," but can accomplish the desired results by an easy, natural method.

Tomorrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 15.

The stellar positions for this day point to rather successful and prosperous conditions, with something of a surprising nature, or an advantage, arising from some subtle or singular source. The Neptune vibration is strong and favorably so, bringing benefit, possibly through dreams, premonitions or psychic visions, and these prognostics should be confidently followed. Jupiter, too, is powerful, under the lunar conjunction, making it a safe time for investment, speculation or other financial venture. There is the prospect of some slight annoyance or disappointment, under a weak Saturn transit, but this influence is negligible, as is an adverse Uranian position advising against journeys, changes or removals. Benefits should arise through negotiations with combinations, associations, secret orders or intrigues under the dominant Neptune ray.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a prosperous year with financial gain. They may speculate, but should not travel. A child born on this day will be kind, generous, philanthropic and popular. It will be generally successful.

Good Night Stories

By Blanche Seivert

HOW DAVID VISITED MR. ORIOLE'S HOUSE.

One day as David played in his yard he saw a beautiful bird flitting among the branches of the elm tree.

"Oh, you pretty fellow!" exclaimed David. "What's your name?"

"Mr. Oriole, if you please," twittered the bird, scratching his black shiny head with his claw and smoothing out his orange vest with his beak. "But don't detain me, for I'm expecting Mrs. Oriole some time today. Did you see our new home I built in your elm tree?"

David shook his head, and then Mr. Oriole flew down beside David.

"Hop upon my wings and I'll take you up there," chirped Mr. Oriole and suddenly David found that the fairies had made him so very tiny that Mr. Oriole looked a great deal larger than he did.

David jumped upon Mr. Oriole's pretty wings, and up into the elm tree they flew.

"What's that?" asked David, pointing to a long bag swinging back and forth in the gentle breeze.

"Well, of all things!" laughed Mr. Oriole. "Don't you know a bird's house when you see one? That's my nest."

"But where did you get the things with which to build it?" asked David. And then he exclaimed, "Why, you've used pieces of mamma's yarns!"

Mr. Oriole with David on His Wings Flew to the Ground.

"Sure," chirped Mr. Oriole. "I pick up the pieces of string and all the bits of silk thread and yarn I can find. Mrs. Oriole likes the gay colors. Out in the fields I gather shreds of bark and milkweed stalks. These I weave into a little bag-like nest. Why, don't you know I'm the weaver of Birdville?"

"Well, I never knew they had such things as weavers in Birdville," laughed David. "But your nest is cunning."

"Oh, yes," replied Oriole. "Nearly every bird has a trade. Some are carpenters, others as masons, some weavers and others tailors and basket makers. Sometimes while Mrs. Oriole is setting, I'll take you around to call on some of our feathered friends."

"That would be splendid!" exclaimed David. "But tell me why you have this flap over the top of your nest?"

"To keep out the hawks," replied Mr. Oriole.

Then there was a flash of orange in the air and Mrs. Oriole alighted on the branch beside David. She inspected the new nest and with chirps of approval and bits of song, she settled down in the soft cradle that swayed in the breeze.

Mr. Oriole with David on his wings flew to the ground.

"Now I must hunt food for my lady, for I know she must be hungry," chirped Mr. Oriole, and promising to return and visit David again, he flew away.

Not long afterward David saw him enter the elm tree with a fat worm for Mrs. Oriole.

"I hope he'll take me to call on the other birds," laughed David, and he ran into the house to tell his mamma what he had seen.

MY SOLDIER HUSBAND

ADELE GARRISON'S CONTINUATION OF

REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

How Kenneth Stockbridge "Played a Part" and Madge Followed His Lead.

I waited in nervous apprehension for Maj. Grantland's answer to Mrs. Stockbridge's invitation to drive in her car while Adams put in the new tire.

If he accepted it meant, of course, that I should have to accompany him, and I dreaded inexpressibly any further conversation with the woman whose absurd jealousy of her husband showed in every line of her face, every inflection of her voice. If this ridiculous obsession of hers betrayed itself at the mere sight of her husband being introduced to a young woman, what, I asked myself, would be her course of action when she should find out that I was to be her husband's assistant in the high school.

Playing the Game.

But either Major Grantland understood, as the blind sometimes do, that there was something strained in the mental atmosphere, or else his distaste for meeting and talking to strangers prompted his answer. At any rate, his reply lifted a weight from my spirits.

"Thank you. You are very kind, but it really will not be worth while to trouble you. Adams is a wizard at this sort of thing. It will be no time at all until he will be ready for us to go on. And I shall enjoy sitting on the grass by the roadside."

I'm afraid I was staring rather curiously at Mrs. Stockbridge while Major Grantland was speaking. She was looking at him, thus giving me an opportunity for studying her unobserved. And I saw by the expression on her face that, though she was gazing at the wounded officer, she was giving him only the most superficial attention. Her brain was busy with turning over and over some question that had just occurred to her.

"Oh, of course, just as you prefer," she said hurriedly as Major Grantland finished speaking. Then she turned to her husband peremptorily. "Kenneth!" she exclaimed sharply, and I distinctly saw him wince with humiliation at her manner of speaking. "Didn't I see the name Graham on the list of appointments for the high school next year?"

Her eyes, her voice were full of suspicion. I waited miserably, wondering if Kenneth Stockbridge could extricate himself and me from this absurd and humiliating situation. I didn't see how he could possibly convince her that she was making a mistake, yet there was something about this Peter Pan of a man, whose flaming, boyish spirit even maiming and disfigurement could not quench, that made me believe in his ability to do almost anything.

My belief was justified, for the next moment there appeared on Kenneth Stockbridge's face the most guileless expression imaginable. It held dawning recognition and comprehension, and I would have defied the most sceptical person in the world to have doubted the sincerity of his voice as he answered.

"Graham?" he repeated. "Why, of course! The new first assistant is a Mrs. Graham. You remember, dear, I spoke of her very high recommendations from the agency from which your father secured her. But I do not recall that her address was a Long Island one. Pardon me," he turned to me with a courteous smile. "Is it possible that you are the Mrs. Graham who is to be the new first assistant in the Bayview high school?"

Two Parts Well Acted.

For a moment all the ghosts of my Puritan ancestors jogged my elbow. Then I ruthlessly brushed them away to make room for a malicious little devil of thwarting the mean suspicions of that chortled gleefully at the prospect of thwarting the mean suspicions of Kenneth Stockbridge's jealous wife.

In my turn, I registered astonishment, but I crunched my words in frigid accents.

"I have recently signed a contract to teach in the Bayview high school, certainly, but—"

My lifted eyebrows finished the almost insolence of my manner. If I had said flatly, "What business is that of yours?" I couldn't have conveyed my meaning any clearer.

A spark of mischievous apprehension, almost instantaneously quenched, appeared far back in the eyes of Kenneth Stockbridge. When he spoke, however, his tone was reprovingly dignified, as befitted a principal whose subordinate had been rude.

"Then I am to be your principal," he said quietly.

"Oh!" I said with an attempt at being surprised and disconcerted, which I hoped was plausible. I hastily looked away from him toward his wife, wondering whether her suspicious soul would accept the explanation we had staged for her benefit.

But, to my surprise, the jealousy had faded from her face. In its place there had come another expression, a more womanly one, although her dark eyebrows were drawn in an angry frown. With a little thrill of amazement I realized that she had ranged herself upon her husband's side in resentment at what she thought was insolence to him on my part, and that for the time her jealous obsession had taken second place.

LONDON APPLICATION BEFORE RAILWAY BD.; DECISION DEFERRED

Case Concerns Possible Extension of Express Delivery Zones.

TORONTO, Jan. 13.—At the afternoon session of the Dominion Railway Board, T. G. Meredith, K. C., argued the case of the city of London industrial Bureau, London Board of Trade and the City of London, for an order directing the express companies to extend their delivery limits within the city of London.

In response the express companies suggested that free deliveries should be maintained in proportion of population to area and that when a rate had been established in a town or city that rate should apply only in that town or city and not to the surrounding region.

No decision was given.

WOMEN'S MUSIC CLUB BRINGS ANDRE SARTO FOR ITS NEXT CONCERT

The Women's Music Club is affording the members a number of treats this season of an exceptionally high order. Monday afternoon, a meeting of the executive was held to arrange for the appearance under the auspices of the club in this city on Tuesday evening, January 28, in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium of Andre Sarte, the famous baritone, late of the Metropolitan Opera Company, New York, where he sang opposite roles to Caruso. He is being assisted in his recital here by George C. Carrie, tenor, and the first part of the program will include a number of duets from the first act of Faust, sung by Sarto with Mr. Carrie. In the second part the artist will give numbers from oratorios, arias and a group of old English songs.

Arrangements also were made yesterday to bring Katherine Hale (Mrs. John Garvin), the well-known Canadian writer, art and literary critic, lecturer and singer, to give a lecture recital on Canadian music and literature on the evening of March 13. Katherine Hale has that date open when the subject for the regular recital is Colonial and American Music. Other plans will give way for the visiting artiste. Mrs. Harris Elliot and Miss Eggleston are arranging the recital for that date.

The sum of $35 was voted to paint the walls and ceiling of the ward of the Byron Sanatorium, furnished by the Woman's Music Club, owing to the fact the glare of the white walls is hard on the eyes of the patients.

COMMITTEE FAVORS CONSIDERABLE RISE IN JANITORS' WAGES

Recommends Increase For Superintendent of Works, Too.

Salary increases for the public school janitors, and John Clements, superintendent of works, and his assistant, John Hutchinson, occupied the attention of Chairman James Gray and other members of No. 2 committee of the Board of Education at its first regular meeting of the year yesterday afternoon.

John Clements, who had not sent in an application for an increase, but who had asked for one for his assistant, was given $200 a year increase, making his salary now $1,400. The members of the committee were unanimously of the opinion that he is well worth the salary granted. His assistant will be given 38 cents an hour instead 33 cents, which he now receives. He was recommended for an increase by Superintendent of Works Clements. All the janitors were granted a 10 per cent increase on their present salaries. The increases as granted will add about $1,700 to the salary list this year, providing the board gives its assent to the recommendation of the committee.

Wide Difference.

At present the janitors are getting all the way from $16.88 a month to $110 a month, according to the size of the schools. During the summer months the lowest salary was $11.88. The janitors of four of the smaller schools receive $5 a month less during the summer months than in the winter. It was pointed out that several of the janitors receiving the smaller wages are able to work at other occupations as well as taking care of the schools. In the larger schools the janitors hire assistants, whom they have to pay out of their own pockets. Up to one year ago the salaries of the janitors were based on the following schedule: A minimum for an eight-roomed school of $600, with $50 extra for each room above the eight. Last year this was increased to $660 and $55, respectively.

Discussion on Amount.

The janitors had sent a request to the committee for an increase, pleading the high cost of living. Considerable discussion arose as to the amount of the increase.

Pencils were busy for half an hour. T. Coleridge, A. A. Langford and E. Smith, were each working out a separate solution. E. Smith finally presenting a motion giving the 10 per cent increase. J. S. Barnard, a specialist on the board in Latin, could think of no parallel cases in Caesar, and left the problem largely to the mathematical members. He questioned whether the 10 per cent increase was sufficient for those receiving the smaller salaries. On his motion, the increases were given J. Clements and his assistant.

Mrs. A. T. Edwards pointed out that in considering the question they alluded to extra work during the winter months, but did not consider the fact that during the summer the janitors had it easier. It was stated that they had no holidays, as during the two months when the schools are closed they do all their spring cleaning and look after the grounds as well. She agreed that they deserved an increase in salary, however.

Several accounts were passed by the committee.

K. OF C. CATHOLIC ARMY HUTS OPENING CLUBHOUSE IN CITY

Spending Part of Money Raised in Scheme.

A soldiers' clubhouse, on the lines of the Red Triangle soldiers' clubhouses, will be opened in the city in the course of the next two or three weeks in connection with the Knights of Columbus Catholic army huts. By request of the repatriation board, a part of the fund collected in the campaign of some months ago for Catholic army huts overseas is being devoted to the opening of clubhouses in military dispersal centres. F. J. Schenck, commissioner for Ontario of the Knights of Columbus army huts, was in the city over the week-end, and during his visit here organized a general committee, with subcommittees, to make all necessary arrangements. The personnel of the committee is as follows: Patron, Bishop M. F. Fallon; honorary president, Philip Pocock; president, Lieut.-Col. W. G. Coles; treasurer, Major T. J. Murphy; secretary, E. V. Hessian. The board of governors includes Rev. A. J. Brennan, who has recently been appointed at the request of the military authorities to look after the Roman Catholic soldiers returning to this district during the demobilization period; E. M. Burns, J. F. Nolan, J. J. Gallaghan, John Givins, Frank Smith, M. F. Forristal.

The conveners of committees are: Entertainment, B. C. McCann; employment, Lieut.-Col. W. G. Coles; publicity, Rev. Father Foley; hospital, Dr. W. J. Tillmann; house, S. B. Pocock; reception, Arthur J. Hayes.

The clubhouse will be opened as soon as a suitable building can be found and the necessary changes made and furnishings completed. Rooming accommodation and meals will be available in the clubhouse, and with the exception of these, everything is free, including entertainment.

Similar clubhouses are being opened in 24 places in Canada, from Halifax to Victoria, and of these six are in Ontario, Ottawa, Kingston, Toronto, Hamilton, London and Port Arthur. The general headquarters are in Montreal, with Lieut.-Col. Clarence F. Smith as comptroller.

"The Knights of Columbus Army Huts" is a separate organization from the Knights of Columbus, and the huts are open to everyone, irrespective of religion, race, color or anything else.

David Wark Griffith never "shoots over their heads"—and he does not aim at the lowbrows, either. Throngs went to the Majestic yesterday to submit themselves again to the spell he weaves about his people, the charm of love and youth and the eternal triumph of happy fate. How many of them wanted an answer to "The Greatest Thing in Life?" Did they not know? Hasn't the old story been told so often that it is almost a bromide, or does it never grow old? It doesn't grow old in the Griffith way of telling, for Griffith is the poet as well as the dramatist of the screen, and the classic simplicity of his productions is like the simplicity of a figure wrought in marble so perfectly as to enrapture the soul of a peasant or a prince. His plays are as perfectly formed and as plain as a rose: his people are not the mummers, but the sad or happy folk of everyday life. Beauty is a girl; man is a youth; and humor is a smiling fellow-nature made to brighten the earth; and pathos is the baby child or the aged.

The Griffith Touch.

One comes to analyze a Griffith picture and finds often a plot that could be played by the acrobatic or hysterical school in a very ordinary way. They would get the effects of big situations by straining for them and making a horrible mess of it. Griffith seems to project his understanding of his craft and of his public into all his materials. His characters are subtle for those who wish to catch the finer shades; for those who look not so deeply they are romantic and heroic figures. He projects the face of Lillian Gish on the screen in a sort of blur. Someone thinks the picture is out of focus and says so, but is it not possible to think that here is something new in photography and to remember that just at the moment there is pathos in the story, and that she looks as though she were seen through tears? A dull red vista of French peasant women plowing in the fields strikes the eye with all the tremendous force of "The Angelus" or "The Man With the Hoe," and one suddenly remembers that this which might have enthralled even Millet was full of moving figures and sinking sun and floating clouds. It lived.

A Piece of Stagecraft.

When it comes to stagecraft what more wonderful bit of drama than this: The girl is in an underground dugout in a village held by Germans. The father has been struck down, and she is told to use a concealed telephone to inform the French of German troop movements. The wire runs from the village to the French lines, and she establishes connection. At the other end of the line a shell explodes, and the French soldier is struck down. Americans come into the trench and as the French soldier dies he hands the receiver to the lover of the girl, who she does not know is in France. He seizes the instrument and hears her voice. The Germans discover the trick and break into the dugout in the village, but in the end the girl is rescued by the American boy. (Don't chafe because the hero is a Yankee. Wasn't his last a Canadian?)

The cast is made up of three Griffith leaders. They seem to have been made for his plays and for his ways. Lillian Gish, the wistful bride of "Hearts of the World," is the keynote of the piece. She has never done finer acting. The moods of love and death and mirth and war fall over her. She is a spirit of brave womanhood, humanly interesting and bewitchingly personal in every action.

A Blase Character.

Robert Harron has a difficult part. He is the blase, sneering snob who hates everyone but himself—and Lillian. War tears off his husk of selfishness. A great negro and a great white man open to him the door to brotherhood by their unselfishness. Harron is the fiery knight aroused when manhood awakens, and his interpretation is perfect.

David Butler — always remembered as the lover of the Little Disturber—is again the bluff and buoyant "second man." A wonderful piece of character work.

Settings, detail, war thunders and barrages, over the tops and incidentals are all Griffith. One of the best he has ever done and will fill houses by lip to lip transmission, once its charm and human courage have become known. Music is a Griffith selection and admirably handled by the Majestic Concert Orchestra.

Owing to a wreck near Buffalo the vaudeville act was not shown yesterday. But eleven reels of Griffith, Burton Homes, a Gaumont weekly and a good comedy did not leave much room for anything else.

It might be remarked incidentally that the Griffith picture is so new that it takes cognizance of the abdication of the kaiser. And a picture like this is not made in a week.

Royal Bank Announces Most Comprehensive Plan of Extension That Has Yet Been Made by Any of the Larger Canadian Banks.

Branches Will Be Established at Rio de Janiero, Brazil, Buenos Ayres, Argentine, Montevideo, Uruguay and Paris, France.

Montreal, Jan. 13.—As a result of the vital importance to Canada that the foreign trade of the country should be extended to the greatest possible extent, the Royal Bank of Canada today made the most important announcement of plans for new branches that has yet been made by any of the larger Canadian banks. The Royal Bank has had twenty years' experience in the foreign fields of Cuba, West Indies and Central and South America. On this account it is especially equipped to handle foreign business and to help attract more of it to Canada. Following on a careful investigation extending over the past couple of years, the Royal Bank now announces that it will help to direct a larger amount of South American trade to the Dominion by the immediate establishment of important branches at Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, Buenos Ayres, Argentine and Montevideo, Uruguay.

As is well known in Canadian banking circles no Canadian capital has been required for the extension in foreign countries by the Royal as the foreign deposits at every point have always greatly exceeded the foreign commercial loans.

In addition, the Royal has concluded arrangements to open a branch at Paris, France, in order to secure for Canada a share of the commerce which is expected to develop as a result of the rehabilitation of Northern France and Belgium.

The Royal now has the largest number of branches in Canada of any Canadian bank.

WELL BABY CLINIC, BEGINNING A SERIES, PROVES BIG SUCCESS

26 Youngsters Brought For Examination.

TWO DOCTORS ATTEND

One Thing Lacking Is Blankets To Keep Them Warm.

The first of the regular "well baby clinics," to be a feature hereafter of child welfare work in the city was held on Monday afternoon, beginning at 3 o'clock in Talbot Street School, the rush of babies recalling the palmy days of the child welfare exhibit a year ago.

When Dr. W. J. Tillman arrived at the school shortly after 3:30 o'clock to perform the duties of medical man in the case, for a second time in his life he felt closely related to the old woman who lived in a shoe, who had so many children she didn't know what to do. The other time was when he reached the Y. M. C. A. building on the opening morning of the exhibit a year ago to find something like fifty babies to be examined before noon. Yesterday there were 26 cherubs who had been undressed, weighed and charted by Miss Bertha Smith, child welfare nurse, assisted by Mrs. G. Wilson, who had wide experience a year ago, and Mrs. Jones, also of the Graduate Nurses' Chapter of the I. O. D. E. Miss G. Bapty, kindergarten supervisor at the Talbot Street School was a valuable aide. Principal W. H. Liddicoat doing all in his power to make the wheels move smoothly.

Sent Out S. O. S.

What could one lone doctor do with such a lot of babies? Exactly what he did a year ago—sent out an S.O.S. which speedily brought Dr. Lindsay to the scene. Under the circumstances two doctors were considerably better than one, but it kept them hustling to get through between 5 and 6 o'clock.

A number of mothers had the satisfaction of being told their little ones were in practically perfect condition physically, and that they would not need to bring them back to be weighed and examined again for six months. It was a significant fact that nearly all these "sound physically" children had been at the well baby clinic a year ago, and mothers had evidently greatly profited by the advice given them.

In some cases instructions were given that the little ones should have medical attention for diseased tonsils or other ailments. Mothers were advised to take their babies to their family physicians, or, if unable to afford this, to the out-patient clinic at Victoria hospital. In several cases advice was given re correcting the diet or sleeping habits to improve the health of babies. In these cases the instruction was added to bring the child back each week until the condition proves satisfactory.

Two More This Week.

Wednesday, the first weekly clinic at Chesley avenue school, will be held in charge of Dr. Lindsay, and on Friday at Riverview school, presided over by Dr. J. L. Ferguson.

So far as Talbot street school district is concerned, it is felt that the well baby clinic is an assured success and will be appreciated by parents, and responsible for saving many lives or setting baby feet in ways of better health.

One thing needful for these clinics which was sadly lacking yesterday was a sufficient number of baby blankets to wrap the babies in while they are waiting their turn to be examined.

Blankets! Blankets! Who has got old blankets to spare to be cut up into baby blankets to be used for the well baby clinics?

"Don't all speak at once, but do come forward with them as soon as possible," is the earnest appeal of Miss Smith and the executive of the Child Welfare Association. The blankets or bits of blankets large enough to be made into baby blankets may be left at the Child Welfare headquarters office any day, in the Western Fair office, Dominion Savings and Investment Society Company Building.
