JAPAN ACCEPTS FOUR POWER TREATY PLAN

TWO MEMBERS LONDON RIDING ARE PREDICTED

Layout of Subdivisions Following Increase Makes Division of City Easy.

CHANGE LOCAL SYSTEM Fifth Ward May Be Added or Return to Electing Aldermen at Large.

Political leaders in London predict that before another federal and provincial election comes around there will be a redistribution of seats, and that London will have two instead of one member in each House.

This fact has been kept in mind in the rearrangement of the subdivisions of the city, the number of which on account of the size of some of them, it has been found necessary to increase from 77 to 99.

There is also the question of representation from a municipal point of view, on account of the material difference in the size and population of the wards.

In the rearrangement of the new subdivisions, in so far as they would involve a redistribution for federal or provincial purposes, Dundas, running east and west, and Wellington, running north and south, have been made dividing lines.

Divide by Wards.
If London is to have two seats in the Commons and in the legislature, it would seem that the division of the city would be on the present ward lines. Just how this would be worked out would remain for the politicians to decide.

Large ward 4 and small 2 might be coupled, and medium 1 and 3. Yet for political purposes there may be another arrangement. For instance, 1 and 2 might give promise of an almost sure Liberal seat, while 3 and 4 might be expected to go Conservative. With 1 and 3 on the south together, and 2 and 4 on the north, there would be two real battlegrounds, with either party having a good chance.

As for the municipal council, there are those who see the time near at hand when there must be some changes adopted, and there seems to be two alternatives, either to make a fifth ward east of Adelaide street, or go back to the system of election of aldermen at large.

Back to Ward System.
From 1901 to 1916, the aldermen of the city were elected at large. This was not a complaint about this system, despite the fact that most of the aldermen were from ward four, according to the city clerk.

However, there were those on the council who desired the ward system. They presented the matter to the council in a motion and back the city went to the wards.

The difference in the number of voters in each ward can perhaps be best shown by the majority votes cast in the recent contest. Ward one, London street, east 2,692; Ward two, which includes Dundas, 1,931; Ward 3, east of Wellington and south of Dundas, 2,167; Ward four, north of Dundas, east of Wellington, 3,277.

Advocate Change.
Thus it will be seen that Ward two, with less than 2,000 votes cast, has three aldermen to represent it, just the same as Ward 4, with over 3,000 voters. Population figures show that Wards 3 and 4 are considerably larger than the other wards because of the large annexed area to the east.

During the municipal election contest, Ald. Frank Harley, of the majority candidate, advocated a return to the system of electing aldermen at large, contending that the present ward system made far too much "ward grabbing."

The bylaw changing the city subdivisions, was before the council Wednesday night. It was read twice and then laid over, as Mayor Little expressed a desire to look over the new map.

GRAND RAPIDS BANDITS KILL OFFICER IN ESCAPE

Grand Rapids, Mich., Dec. 8.—Four of the six bandits who robbed a branch of the Grand Rapids Savings Bank of $14,000 yesterday, shot and killed one police officer and seriously wounded another last night, when the officers broke into a house on the outskirts of the city in which the bandits were hiding.

Following the shooting, police reserves were hurried to the house with orders to storm it, but the bandits, accompanied by a woman, had escaped in an automobile before they arrived. Part of the loot, which consisted of currency and bonds, was abandoned when the bandits left the house.

Aid of state troopers and police of all surrounding cities and towns has been enlisted in the search for the bandits, who are reported to have abandoned their automobile outside the city and boarded an inter-urban train.

Object to Form of British Oath of Allegiance

MEMBERS OF DAIL CABINET DISSATISFIED

De Valera's Continued Silence Interpreted as Opposition to Proposal.

The Republican Organizations Protest Against What They Term a "Surrender."

Dublin, Dec. 8.—The agreement with Great Britain for a settlement of Ireland's affairs and the establishment of the Irish Free State was taken up for consideration by the cabinet of the Dail Eireann, at a specially called meeting here today. Great interest was manifested in the session and a large crowd of enthusiasts gathered at the Mansion House.

After a comparatively brief session, the cabinet adjourned for lunch, planning another session to be held later in the day. No statement was forthcoming as to the cabinet's proceedings.

Split Is Predicted.
Talk of a possible split in the Dail and the resignations of some of the cabinet over the terms of the agreement have been predicted among the leading members of the cabinet are known to object to the form of the oath of allegiance, and to the terms of the agreement. Some of the leading members of the cabinet are known to object to the form of the oath of allegiance, and to the terms of the agreement. Some of the leading members of the cabinet are known to object to the form of the oath of allegiance, and to the terms of the agreement.

Ulster's Attitude Awaited.
All this interest in the agreement is necessarily as foreshadowing rejection of the agreement by the Dail Eireann. No body doubts that there will be strong republican opposition in the Dail, and the terms of the agreement are expected to be rejected. It is thought, however, that the Ulster unionists will not enter the parliament of the Irish free state at its inception, but will wait to see what the Dail has to say.

Logue Approves of New Peace Terms

Belfast, Dec. 8.—Cardinal Logue, primate of Ireland, today has thought the Irish peace terms very satisfactory. He added: "I would like to see unity, and no division of the country, so that all could pull together for the good of Ireland. I would like to see the people of Ireland living in peace and harmony with each other." The cardinal expressed the fear that the expense of the new government will weigh heavily on the people of six counties. Replying to a query as to whether he thought it wise for Ulster to retain their own parliament, he said: "I think it would be a blessing if we could all pull together and give up the old bitter cries. It is satisfactory to be given a parliament of our own, any way, it prevents us from being fleeced by England and paying her far beyond our taxable capacity."

Sees Menace in Irish Republican Opposition

London, England, Dec. 8.—Lord Londonderry, the leader in the Irish senate, is quoted in a dispatch to the Times as saying: "The end of the year, the department expect to commence issuing series of bulletins relating to sex, religion and nationality. Agricultural statistics will also commence to appear in January."

Urged for Cabinet.

W. G. RAYMOND.

LOCAL civil servants were circulating a petition Thursday morning asking that W. G. Raymond, former postmaster at Brantford, who was elected to parliament on Dec. 6, should be the next postmaster-general for Canada.

Even Grand Trunk Trains Run On Schedule Time Under "Liberal Rule"

FOUR travelers were coming on the "mixed" Wednesday night—said mixed being a train that runs between Brantford and London, the mixture consisting of freight cars, cow pulmans and a passenger coach.

Once in a great while it is St. Mary's Junction before the train from Stratford to London reaches there, in which case they get right on through to London—otherwise they wait for a couple of hours.

Luck was with the mixed on Wednesday night, and as the passengers scrambled off the train, the mixture consisting of freight cars, cow pulmans and a passenger coach.

That's a pretty lucky stab—just saves me two hours of good time.

"Lucky, nothing," was the comeback of his neighbor, "that's Liberal rule for you."

CENSUS WORKERS RECEIVE SALARIES

All But 200 of 1,200 Enumerators Employed Have Received Final Payment.

Ottawa, Dec. 8.—(Canadian Press)—All but 200 of the 12,000 enumerators engaged on the Canadian census have now received full payment for their work. The totals for the provinces of Quebec, Ontario, Saskatchewan and British Columbia have yet to be announced, but the figures are almost all in. In the Yukon, too, where the census has been completed by the R. C. master, has accepted an invitation to be present, and address the brethren.

The ceremony will be held in the auditorium of the temple, which is being specially fitted up for the occasion. The lodge will install their officers as follows: St. John's, No. 20; St. George's, No. 42; Kilwinning, No. 64; Tuscan, No. 195; St. John's, No. 209a; Corinthian, No. 520; King Solomon's, No. 378; Union, No. 539; and Acadia, No. 539.

STEVENS CALLED TO OTTAWA BY MEIGHEN

Vancouver, B. C., Dec. 8.—Hon. H. H. Stevens, minister of trade and commerce, who was re-elected member for Vancouver Center, yesterday, left for Ottawa last night in response to a telegram from Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, requesting his presence in the capital.

Automobile Dealers Report Business Booming.

IN a report given to Wilfrid Hodgins, president of the Automobile Dealers' Association, Saturday last, the automobile dealers say that they have had more sales of automobiles, particularly used cars, in the week ending Dec. 3, than any other week in the year, with the exception of one or two weeks in the spring, which is generally conceded by the dealers to be the time of heaviest sales.

WANT RAYMOND FOR HEAD OF POSTAL DEPT.

London Civil Servants Sign Petition To Be Sent to Liberal Leader.

POINTS OUT ABILITY

Brantford Member's Experience Makes Him Especially Fitted for Job.

That W. G. Raymond, formerly postmaster at Brantford, but since the federal polling on Dec. 6 member of parliament for that city, should be the next postmaster-general in Mackenzie King's cabinet, is the general opinion of London's civil servants.

Believing that their expression to this effect might be kindly and considered by the Liberal leader, the railway mail clerks, the postal clerks and all others employed in the local departments are signing a petition that will be sent to Mr. King. Circulated Thursday morning, the document has already been signed by many names, and from present indications it would appear that the civil servants, irrespective of politics or other affiliations, are of the belief that the new member for Brantford is the man for the postmaster-general's position in the cabinet.

Petitions were mailed on Thursday to Chatham, St. Thomas, Stratford, Windsor, Woodstock, Ingersoll, and, in fact, every center of Western Ontario. London will be the receiving point, however, for the petitions, when completed. All will be returned here and forwarded to Ottawa.

Following is the petition:

London, Canada, Dec. 7, 1921.
The Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Prime Minister, Elect, Ottawa, Ont.
Sir,—We, the undersigned members of the civil service, postoffice employees, railway mail clerks, and others, in the best interest of the postal service to have as postmaster-general one who not only possesses exceptional ability to entitle him to consideration as a cabinet minister, but one who has had experience in the postal work, and we are vitally interested, therefore, pray that in the forming of your cabinet you will give serious consideration to the peculiar fitness of Mr. W. G. Raymond, M. P. for Brantford, Ontario. Mr. Raymond has been postmaster of Brantford for twenty-three years and is a practical postoffice man, and his work there has been one of the highest order; he is a very able speaker and possesses a brilliant personality, and we believe him to be exceptionally fitted for the position of postmaster-general.

We are, Sir, Your obedient servants.

WELL-KNOWN LONDON MEN SERIOUSLY ILL

The condition of Dr. Harry Abbott, of 227 Queen's avenue, is considered serious. He has been in hospital for three weeks. He is in Victoria Hospital.

Another well-known Londoner, Hubert Ashplant, is also seriously ill. He has been confined to his home at 40 King street, for the past six weeks. The physician in attendance on Mr. Ashplant reported that he was resting easily Thursday, and that his condition is very favorable.

CITY MASONS TO INSTALL OFFICERS DECEMBER 27

The installation of officers of the nine Masonic lodges of London will be held the 27th of December. Most Worshipful Brother D. M. McPherson, past grand master, has accepted an invitation to be present, and address the brethren.

The ceremony will be held in the auditorium of the temple, which is being specially fitted up for the occasion. The lodge will install their officers as follows: St. John's, No. 20; St. George's, No. 42; Kilwinning, No. 64; Tuscan, No. 195; St. John's, No. 209a; Corinthian, No. 520; King Solomon's, No. 378; Union, No. 539; and Acadia, No. 539.

Members of Sunken Submarine Escape Through Torpedo Tubes

New York, Dec. 8.—Fifty-one members of the crew of the submarine S-18, who escaped through torpedo tubes after their craft had made a nose dive off Bridgeport Harbor yesterday, and stuck to the bottom, told a remarkable story of rescue on their arrival today at the New York navy yard.

According to a report made to the commandant, they lightened one end of the submarine until it appeared above the surface and then sat perched on this pinnacle for more than ten hours, until after darkness had fallen.

The submarine left Bridgeport on a trial trip. About a mile off the entrance

New Prima Donna Makes Sensation

MARIE JERITZ.

"THE greatest individual success since Emma Calve's debut," said the critics of Marie Jeritz, soprano, after she sang for the first time at the Metropolitan Opera House, New York. She was the star of the Vienna Opera until brought to New York. Unlike most of her contemporaries, this prima donna is slim.

Hon. Mackenzie King Conveys His Appreciation to Liberal Candidate.

Charles Ross Somerville, who was defeated in the city at the recent federal election, received a message of deep appreciation of the magnificent fight that was waged by himself and the followers of the Liberal standard in London.

Ottawa, Dec. 7, 1921.
C. R. Somerville, London:
I cannot too sincerely express my appreciation of the splendid efforts by yourself and others of the Liberal party to carry the constituency in our interests, nor how deeply I regret that London is not today numbered among the ridings which will be represented on the government side at the opening of the new house.

The party will generally appreciate the adverse circumstances with which the Liberals of London were obliged to contend and will honor you and them more because of the valiant fight made in your constituency on behalf of Liberal principles and policies.

I hope to have an early opportunity of reviewing the whole situation with you. Meanwhile, please accept, on behalf of the party and myself, personally, this expression of thanks for your splendid part in the campaign just concluded.

W. L. MACKENZIE KING.

BERT BROOKER WILL ADDRESS CITY AD. CLUB

Bertram Brooker, business manager of the London Free Press, and formerly of the Winnipeg Free Press, will speak to the members of the London Advertising and Sales Club Thursday night at the McGray dining-room at 5 o'clock. He will talk on "The Retailer's Selling Problems in 1922."

Mr. Brooker is one of Canada's best-known authorities on advertising, and has made a thorough study of the economic problems of the country at the present time; therefore the members of the club are assured an enlightening and interesting address.

CROWN CLOSES CASE IN TRIAL OF BRAMMER

Ex-Constable Charged With Liquor Theft May Hear Verdict Thursday Night.

GARAGE MAN TESTIFIES

S. H. Rowed Claims Defendant Wanted to Borrow Truck.

The trial of Roy Brammer, ex-police constable of London, and Fred Mason, charged with stealing eight cases of whiskey and $150 from Hubert McCaffery, a farmer of Biddulph Township, on the night of May 19 last, which commenced Wednesday morning before Judge Judd, was speeded up considerably at Thursday morning's session, and there is now a likelihood that the two men will know the verdicts in their cases this evening.

Joseph McCaffery, a brother of Hubert, who was on the stand most of Wednesday afternoon, was grilled for a further 30 minutes Thursday morning by J. M. McEvoy, K. C., and Albert Judd, counsel for the prisoners.

"When they threatened to shoot me, I would know them again," said McCaffery, when asked how he positively identified the men who had entered the house and demanded the whiskey, posing as officers of the law.

"I am sure of the men and the car they had," declared the witness, when asked by Mr. Judd to tell all he knew. He was sure that Mason wore a dark peaked cap. He could not tell the counsel the color of Mason's eyes.

"My learned friends have been examining you for some time, can you tell me the color of their eyes?" questioned Crown Attorney J. B. McKillop.

"No," was the reply.

"Of course you couldn't," declared the crown.

"It is not fair of you to make any comment," said Judge Judd.

"My learned friends have been doing cards for all on the table. This now

SUPPOSE NOBODY CARED! ON CHRISTMAS MORN

"SANTA CLAUS forgot to come last year." This is the heart-breaking cry which comes out of the letter of a wee 9-year-old girl. And can such an appeal reach the heart of even the hardest reader without melting it to utter sympathy and filling it with a longing to help make Santa Claus come this year for that little girl?

Little 9-year-old lassie, Santa Claus didn't really forget you at all last year. It was only that some people who should have remembered you, forgot all about you, and stopped Santa Claus before he came to your small stocking.

Santa Claus never forgets anybody, but sometimes his big, warm heart is sad because people won't let him get around to everybody.

A splendid way to help old Santa Claus this year is a subscription to the "Goodfellows' Christmas Cheer Fund." The treasurer of that fund is doing all he can to help. Why not you, too?

Here is the little letter:

"Dear Santa Claus,—I am writing a little note to ask you if you will come to see us this Christmas, as you forgot to come last year. I am a little girl 9 years old. I have two brothers and one little sister. My little baby brother is just six weeks old, and he needs a nice warm coat. My other brother is 7 years old, and he wants a coat, too. My little sister is 5 years old.

"My mamma has been in the hospital a lot, and it costs so much money that daddy cannot buy much for us. I have heard you are good to little boys and girls and to those who are poor. So I thought I would write and ask you to come to our house. I do hope you won't forget. We would like some toys, but, Dear Santa, some warm clothes would be better. If you can bring some, we would be so happy.

"Good-bye for tonight, Dear Old Santa. Please try to come. Good night. God bless you.

"FROM ONE OF YOUR LITTLE GIRLS."

LEGISLATURE MAY MEET IN FEBRUARY

TORONTO, Dec. 7.—Premier Drury declined today to comment on the showing of Progressive candidates in Ontario in the Dominion election, beyond remarking that he was "feeling quite cheerful."

He said that the Ontario government would bring on the by-elections to fill the vacancies in North Oxford, Russell and Kingston as soon as possible. The two former seats were made vacant by the deaths of Liberal members and the latter by the resignation of Bracken. He said he would enter the federal contest.

Hon. Mr. Drury said the by-elections should be held by Jan. 20, and that the legislature would probably meet in the first week in February.

EXPLAIN CAUSE OF STANSELL'S WIN IN E. ELGIN

Judge Colter's Popularity Claimed Responsible for Progressive's Downfall.

MADE GOOD SHOWING

ST. THOMAS, Dec. 7.—Inroads into the ranks of the U. F. O. by Judge C. W. Colter, Liberal candidate in the three-cornered contest, was given today as a reason for the downfall of S. S. McDermid, the Progressive candidate, as well as the unexpected good showing of John L. Stansell, the winning candidate, made in Bayham.

Judge Colter won many votes in Malahide, South Dorchester and Springfield, which a year ago in the by-election went to McDermid. Bayham, the home of Mr. Stansell, gave a majority to McDermid last year, but unexpectedly came to the Conservative candidate's support on Tuesday. Mr. Stansell also made big gains in Aylmer.

The voting in the various subdivisions was as follows:

Ratepayers Will Decide Whether Aldermen Shall Be Paid.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
ST. THOMAS, Dec. 7.—A referendum of the ratepayers on the question of paying city aldermen for their services will be taken at the January municipal elections if the purpose of a resolution introduced by Alderman Thomas H. Cook and adopted by the council at this afternoon's meeting is carried out.

The question will be submitted on three points: First, would it increase public interest in the selection of aldermen to give them a salary; secondly, would it improve the quality of service, and in the third place, would it develop a greater responsibility on the part of the aldermen?

TORY PAPER HAS SPLEEN OUT ON BEATEN LEADER

Montreal Star Says He Refused to Co-Operate With Empire.

TOO MUCH SOCIALISM

Old Political Leaders Would Scorn State Ownership Ideas.

MONTREAL, Dec. 7.—The Conservative press has been much worried in its endeavor to find excuses for defeat. The Gazette, which predicted a government triumph, now concedes it was taken for granted by those in the inner ring of Conservatism that the government would go down. The Star turns and rends the party for its departure from Conservative traditions, especially in the matter of railroad nationalization.

The Star asks: "What has happened? Why have its latest leaders so signally lost the confidence of the country? These are questions which the genuine friends of all essential Conservative principles should today solemnly ask themselves, and as solemnly seek an answer. The Canadian people have not turned away from even a hybrid variation of the good old Conservative party without some compelling reason or reasons, and it is high time that the men who still venerate the names of Macdonald and Cartier, of Tupper and Thompson, of a long and honorable roll of leaders who maintained the same principles and fought under the same banners, should look facts frankly in the face and search fearlessly for the fundamental errors which caused yesterday's debacle.

Socialism Creeps In.

"They have not far to seek. They have, indeed, been already pointed by those of us who still cherish the teachings, the traditions and the patriotic impulses of the fathers. To begin with, the men who call themselves 'Conservative' when the term meant something definite, would never have dreamed of falling a victim to that discredited and ruinous fantasy of the most demerited form of socialism, viz., government ownership of railways. Imagine Sir John Macdonald confronted with the proposal that he should import this already-failed experiment, this discarded from a dozen countries, bitten by the enemies of socialism into the Dominion of Canada. Imagine with what scorn he would have rejected it.

"That was Conservatism. That was the battle for the safe and sane, the intelligently progressive, to which the people of Canada rallied again and again. But when this citadel of sound economics was abandoned by the new leaders of the old parties how could those to whom Conservative principles were cherished realities possibly escape that discouragement and disaffection whose final effects were registered yesterday? Any effort to graft one of the shallowest and most completely exploded outputs of radicalism on the ramparts, onto the stout old trunk of settled Conservatism, was bound to be a dismal failure, politically. Sir James Whitney and Sir William Hearst tried it in Ontario. And the triumphant farmers came in. Mr. Meighen and his colleagues have tried it at Ottawa, and now the Liberals and the Farmers fling them into third place."

The Star Raps Them.

The Star also accuses the premier of departing from Sir John Macdonald's fixed Conservative principle of close co-operation with the British Empire, and instances Mr. Meighen's embarrassment of the British government by his refusal to accept the British, Australian and South African policy, regarding the Japanese Alliance, which

"DANDERINE"

Grows Thick, Heavy Hair

35-cent Bottle Ends all Dandruff, Stops Hair Coming Out

Ten minutes after using Danderine you cannot find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair, and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp. Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them, helping the hair to grow long, strong and luxuriant. One application of Danderine makes thin, lifeless, colorless hair look youthfully bright, lustrous and just twice as abundant.

WAITING FOR THE CHOW RIOT

Compliments Certainly Were Due This Man

THE win of W. G. Raymond in Brantford was the first Liberal victory to reach The Advertiser office on election night.

A short wire, so short that it carried only one word, "Congratulations," was immediately sent to Brantford.

Here's the reply:

Brantford, Dec. 7.

London Advertiser:

Grateful for congratulations, and for your valued assistance, which contributed much to the splendid result.

ELECTION REVIVES TARIFF QUESTIONS

Results in Much Speculation by United States Politicians.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—There is much speculation today among members of Congress as to the possible effect of the elections on tariff relations between the United States and Canada.

Expedient interest is being taken in the situation by members of the house ways and means committee, which has jurisdiction over tariff matters. Despite the fact that Premier Meighen, who openly advocated high tariff for Canada, had been defeated, some authorities in certain circles express the view it would be difficult to revise reciprocity or bring about mutually low tariffs.

Representative W. R. Green of the house ways and means committee said the real difficulty would be "to find a place to start." He said with United States farmers and manufacturers both insisting on high tariffs, he did not see how reciprocity could be revived.

Others take the view that if the Harding administration is given the broad powers it seeks in handling tariffs, the new government in Canada will be able to achieve much in keeping down tariff barriers by negotiating with the president.

SETTLERS SEEK HAVEN IN CANADA

OTTAWA, Dec. 7.—A movement of settlers from the British Isles to Canada, limited only by Canada's ability to absorb them, is predicted by W. J. Black, deputy minister of the department of immigration and colonization, who has just returned from six weeks spent in the British Isles and Europe in connection with immigration matters.

Mr. Black's investigations covered, besides principal points in Great Britain, such centres of Antwerp, Brussels, The Hague and Warsaw.

"The British people recognize that they face a problem of over-population," said Mr. Black, upon his arrival here. "The amount of over-population in the British Isles is freely estimated at from ten to fifteen millions and the question of finding for these people a means of livelihood and independence in other countries, preferably within the British Empire, is one which is engaging the best British attention. Canada can be assured of hearty and effective co-operation in any policy which will help to meet this situation and at the same time insure to the incoming settlers possibilities of bettering his condition."

PRESIDENT TO STAY.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

BRANTFORD, Dec. 7.—Reports that President James F. Shute of the local G. W. V. A., who has held office successfully for two years, was about to resign could not be confirmed today.

Mr. Shute would not make any comment except that he would continue in office until after Christmas, as there is a special Christmas cheer campaign on.

CATARH MEANS IMPURE BLOOD

It is a Constitutional Disease.

When it affects the nose and throat and becomes chronic it weakens the delicate lung tissues, deranges the digestive organs, and may lead to consumption. It impairs the taste, smell and hearing.

Take Hood's Sarsaparilla, which by purifying the blood removes the cause of the disease, so troublesome at this time of year, and gives permanent relief.

"I had catarrh of the head and stomach, and dreadful ringing noises in my ears. I decided to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I have improved wonderfully, and I adopted Hood's Sarsaparilla as my family medicine." Mrs. M. Jenney Shaw, St. Johns, O.—Adv.

To Accord Foch Special Military Honors at Montreal.

MONTREAL, Dec. 7.—Special military honors, being as nearly as possible those paid to a field marshal of the British army, will be accorded to Marshal Foch on his arrival here Sunday, accompanied, it is expected, by General Pershing of the American expeditionary forces.

CABINET IDEAS ARE SPROUTING

Montreal Has a Number of Suggestions for Liberal Government.

GOVIN MUCH IN FAVOR

MONTREAL, Dec. 7.—Places in the coming Mackenzie King Government are conceded in speculation in the city to Sir Lomer Govin, who is talked of in connection with the public works department; Hon. Walter Mitchell, former minister of finance, and Joseph Archambault, for the speakership.

In connection with the lieutenant-governorship of the province, a position that will shortly be vacant, the name of Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux is freely mentioned.

Hon. Dr. Beland and Ernest Lapointe are both slated for cabinet positions. Hon. Jacques Bureau will probably accept a position on the bench, while A. R. McMaster may possibly be made solicitor-general.

IMPOSES LASHES TO CURB CRIME

WINNIPEG, Man., Dec. 7.—Magistrate Sir Hugh John Macdonald today made good his promise to suppress violent crime in Winnipeg with the last when he sentenced John Hildey to five years in the penitentiary and twenty lashes for robbery.

KING DINES WITH BYNG AT OTTAWA

OTTAWA, Ont., Dec. 7.—(By Canadian Press.)—Hon. Wm. L. Mackenzie King the new premier-elect, was tonight the guest at dinner of His Excellency Lord Byng, the governor-general. Before leaving for Rideau Hall, Mr. King announced that he would issue no further statement until he had learned the complete election returns.

BIND MAID WHILE LOOTING HOUSE

TORONTO, Dec. 7.—Laura Anderson, aged 27, a maid employed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Smith, 240 Sunnyside avenue, was seized by three men in Mr. Smith's home at 10 o'clock Monday morning and tied up and gagged. The men then robbed the house of $1,000 worth of jewelry. The girl was alone in the house when the robbers entered. Two men were arrested today in connection with the affair.

EXPECT PROGRESSIVE WIN IN "SAM HUGHES" RIDING"

LINDSAY, Ont., Dec. 7.—(By Canadian Press.)—Results of polling in out-lying subdivisions received late this afternoon, indicate that Victoria-Haliburton, represented in Parliament for many years by the late Sir Sam Hughes, has swung into the Progressive column.

The fight in this constituency has been particularly close between T. H. Stinson, Conservative, and J. J. Thurston, Progressive, latest reports giving the latter a majority of 94, with returns incomplete.

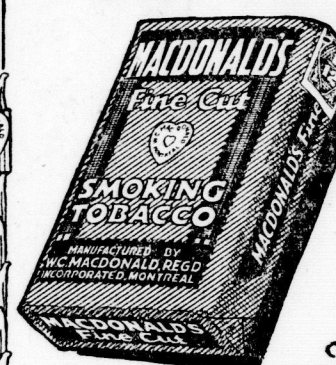

BURNED TO DEATH IN GAS EXPLOSION

TORONTO, Dec. 7.—Mrs. Frederick Stagg, 45 years of age, was burned to death today by the explosion of a can of gasoline while she was trying to kindle a fire in her home. Her mother, Mrs. Jane Woodward, 68 years old, who was in the house at the time and attempted to smother the flames in Mrs. Stagg's clothing, was severely burned and was taken to a hospital. The damage to the house by fire was slight.

The Tobacco with a heart

A Job For Every Man Prosperity For All.

Progress is an essential condition of mankind's power over nature.

THE opportunity for advancement during the 20th Century in Science, Art, Industry, Commerce, Law and Learning, in relation to human welfare is peculiarly Canadian. The Dominion of Canada covers a vast area, and reliable research shows that our material resources are stupendous. While our population is comparatively a small one, the will to work and the power to achieve are characteristic of the spirit and training of the Canadian people. With this great heritage the people of Ontario should not be content to either tolerate or condone a condition whereby masses of our material resources are undeveloped and large numbers of our people are unemployed.

In the Great War, Canada won her nationhood by sacrifice and devotion, and now she must maintain it by work and wisdom. The vital need of the world today is the production, distribution and exchange of goods. To have fields, factories and workshops curtailing production, and workers in semi-idleness, is a condition unworthy of the statesmanship and common sense of the Canadian people.

Plan of Co-operation.

The Provincial Advisory Committee on Unemployment considered the industrial situation and endorses the following statement of proposals:—

- 1.—That Manufacturers should be asked to take a price for goods on hand equal to the cost of replacement having regard to decreased cost of raw material and of labor used in manufacture.
- 2.—That Wholesalers should be asked to sell goods on hand at replacement prices.
- 3.—That Retailers should be asked to sell at replacement prices.
- 4.—Knowing that the costs of building at the present time have been considerably reduced, those desiring to build should be encouraged to ask for new tenders on their proposed work; and that building contractors and builders supply people should make a special effort to reduce prices to a minimum in order to restore this important key industry.
- 5.—That Banks and financial institutions should be prepared to co-operate to the utmost with all productive enterprise by allowing all reasonable credits and by decreasing rates as rapidly as conditions may allow.
- 6.—That Farmers should be asked to maintain reasonable production, and in the event of a proportionate reduction being reached in other lines, should be prepared to make needed improvements and betterments.
- 7.—That Labor should be asked to take willingly a reduction in wages proportionate to progressive decrease in cost of living, in so far as such a reduction has not already taken place.

The above statement has been submitted to and endorsed by the following interests—manufacturers, wholesalers, retailers, building industries, agriculture, financial interests and the veterans.

The National Debt of Canada is considerably over two billion dollars, but our financial prestige must be maintained, our loans repaid, our power to attract capital unimpaired, our workers kept in steady and congenial employment, our duty to disabled soldiers and their dependents fulfilled.

To successfully accomplish these tasks the production, distribution and exchange of goods and performance of services must be kept at the highest point of efficiency, costs and profits consistent with safe business practices brought to the irreducible minimum,—waste eliminated,—co-operation between employers and employees encouraged.

Canada's basic industries, such as agriculture, lumbering, and mining produce quantities of grain, lumber and minerals far in excess of present Canadian requirements, and those industries, in conjunction with our manufacturing interests, should be encouraged to maintain their productivity and dispose of their goods in the markets of the world as well as in the home market.

Inflated prices and high wages should disappear. The task of promoting trade and reducing the volume of unemployment is a gigantic one, but the banker, builder, farmer, worker, manufacturer, wholesaler, retailer, the municipality and other interests can co-operate to stabilize industry and create employment.

Let each individual and every group of employers or employees resolve to assist in stimulating industry and commerce. Let unity prevail and conditions will improve. Ontario, the Bank of Canada, are the example.

YOU CAN HELP! WILL YOU?

In subsequent announcements, the case of the manufacturer, the wholesaler, the retailer, the construction industry, the banker, the farmer, and labor will be set forth, endeavoring to show what has been done and what it is necessary to do to bring about the most complete co-operation.

In Ontario.

Liberal gains were registered in several of the industrial centres of Ontario. In South Ontario the Liberals won, and that riding takes in Oshawa, one of the newest, fast-growing centres of the Dominion.

In Brantford, the outstanding factory town of Western Ontario, the verdict of the people was so outspoken that the whole campaign of closed-factory intimidation was given a complete knockout. If Brantford, interested to a man in the future of factories, can say by a majority bordering on 3,000 that it is willing to trust to a King-Fielding tariff, what answer can be made to offset that verdict?

In Windsor, one of the greatest industrial centres of Canada, W. C. Kennedy got a majority that says in letters a foot high that that community is not afraid of freak tariff arrangements.

To the north we have North Perth with the snug city of Stratford, a growing mechanical centre. It turns out an arrowed high protectionist, and intrists its representation to Dr. Rankin, a follower of Mackenzie King. A little further south in the same county is the town of St. Marys, also an industrial centre, interested in the manufacture of several lines of hardware and other specialties that come in competition with the products of the world. This district returns a Liberal now.

In Kent Premier Meighen made his last speech in Chatham in an effort to beat A. B. McCoig. Ken has in it the city of Chatham, an automobile centre, interested in tariff matters, and yet McCoig wins.

The industrial centres were not nearly as much afraid of the tariff bogey as the Meighen campaign painted.

Ontario gave its answer, and the American eagle has been tossed into the Tory backyard as played out, punctured and useless as an election scarecrow.

Campaign Funds.

How much money should a political candidate be called upon to spend during the course of his election? A Toronto story claims there is a sharp division of opinion on that matter in political circles there. Some of the Toronto candidates are reported as spending very large sums, while others refuse to loosen up with anything at all.

Why should any political candidate be asked to finance his campaign? Those who ask him to run, in support of certain principles, should make it their business to see that the necessary expenses of the campaign are met. The desirable condition would be to have the subscription list open for inspection, in case any person cared to investigate.

The idea of the secret campaign fund is wrong, and cannot be successfully defended from any point of view. Undoubtedly the weakest statement made on this matter during the entire campaign was the remark of Hon. Arthur Meighen, when on his western tour. He took the stand that if any person made a contribution to the campaign fund it was his own business, but he was at liberty to give out particulars if he so desired. It is hardly conceivable that Mr. Meighen would have made that explanation had he thought seriously of where it would lead if pursued to its logical conclusion.

For instance, a company having in mind a favor from a government, that in the end would be worth $100,000 to it, would probably be willing to spend $10,000 in a campaign fund. But where is it going to get its money's worth back?

The return is going to come from the people of the country, and that tremendously important fact entitles them to know that the company in question put up the $10,000 in the first place.

As long as there are elections there must be election funds, and as long as there are election funds there must be protection for the people in the way of publicity.

The question is old—it has been discussed from every angle—and no effective action has ever been taken to deal with it. Hon. Arthur Meighen's plea in the West that a man's contribution to the fund is his own business is an opinion that has been prevalent for years on both sides of politics, but it is so lamentably weak that it fails utterly to meet the needs of the case.

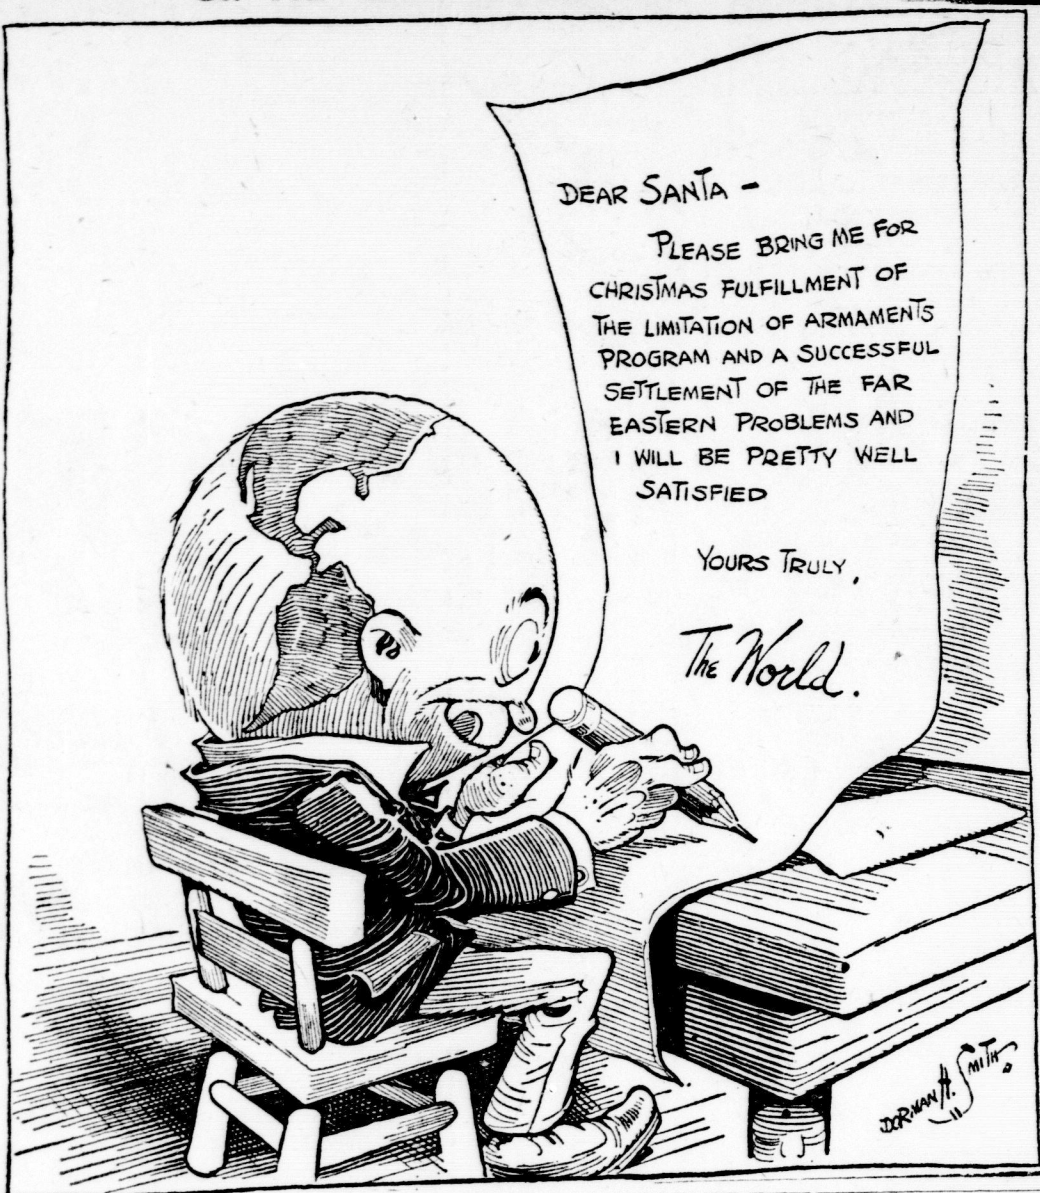

A Farmer's View.

HE is a young farmer, married, with a fine little family around him, and all he wants is fair treatment.

That, in a few words, is what The Advertiser gathered from a talk with a West Williams man, concerning the tendency of people to leave the farms and go to the cities. This particular farmer has always lived on the farm, and he knows the meaning of hard work and long hours.

Right now I would say that the greatest advantage of being on the farm is that one is certain of a living, and perhaps that is more than many people in the cities can boast. But there is something back of the unrest and the discontent. For our part—and by 'our' I mean the farmers in the district where I live—we are sick and tired of listening to people telling us that we are making money hand over fist because we happen to be able to drive a car to town, and find that it is a better and quicker way of getting there than hitching up an old horse and plodding along the seven miles to the town where we deal. During the last election Sir George Foster and several other speakers raised the question several times that farmers should have very little to say about the matter of income taxes or of tariffs, because the returns showed that we were paying very little as our share of the income tax. Many people will not believe what I am going to say, viz.: That farmers are not paying more income tax because they are not making enough money to be taxed on. Of course, there are some ways in which we have the advantage, and one of them is that we have to pay less for our living, because we get our stuff first-hand, but if the man in the city thinks this is a very great advantage, or if the politicians think there is room for piling away a nice pile for a rainy day, I can direct any and all of them to quote a few unworked acres right on our own concession, where they can start right in to prove their point.

This year the farmer in question claims he has lost on his stock. For some time past he has been trying to get his herd in good shape, improving the breed as rapidly as he could. When prices were high he kept right on trying to lay the foundation for a high-grade herd of cattle. Now that they are in fair shape he claims that he can neither afford to sell them nor to keep them. "Still," he stated in conclusion, "I am not leaving the farm. I have a health here, and that is a very great deal. We would like to get some means of getting a better understanding of what we are up against, so that there would be less of this loose talk about our making so much money that we can afford to drive a $400 car. From what I can learn, and from actual experience, I know there are plenty of people in the cities who have a pretty fair idea of our problems. But let me tell you, it really hurts to have some well-paid politician tearing the country telling the people that we should have nothing to say in matters of income and other forms of taxes simply because the great majority of farmers have not made incomes this year or last year that would place them inside of the income tax law."

The Yellow Rivals.

The Orient, roused from thousands of years of lethargy, rises to challenge the white man's supremacy in ruling the earth.

Japan was a backward, reclusive nation—isolated from the rest of the world—until 1854. It has taken Japan just 67 years to absorb the mechanics of white civilization. Her diplomats, wearing the white man's silk hats, make the Washington conference sit up and take notice.

A greater power—the Chinese giant—is awakening.

We of the year 1921 are too close to it to realize what is really going on—which is the rise of a great yellow rival to the white man's rule.

History, stripped of its details such as battles, travels in cycles. Each cycle is the rise and fall of a race.

Do you realize that the white race has held military rulership of the earth for only three centuries? Thirteen hundred years ago, the Arabs were the ruling power. Baghdad then was as big as modern Chicago.

Seven hundred years ago, Chinese armies destroyed Baghdad and conquered most of Europe.

The wheel has made nearly a complete revolution. The Orient again rises to challenge the white man. The challenge is economic, a matter of trade, rather than military force.

In competing with its new yellow rival, the white race will find that the Orient's chief weapons are hard work and cheap labor. Both of these result from over-population.

The Orient, too, has a different philosophy, which the white man must fathom.

The white man is philosophical. He watches the parade go by, and asks, "What is the meaning of this parade? Why does the elephant have four legs instead of six?"

The Orient is contemplative. He is a fatalist. He watches the parade, taking it as a matter of course, contemplating it without reasoning to a definite conclusion.

The white man has invented the quick-moving short story, to express his nervousness and craze for speed. The white man wants his theatrical productions logically developed and the story rounded out and ended in a short time. The Chinese play goes on for years, the performers each evening taking up the plot where it left off the night before.

Two definite philosophies, two different economic systems, clash as the yellow race wakens to challenge the white race.

There is room on earth for both. Dangerous friction can best be avoided by each striving to understand the other.

LITTLE 'TISERS

Arthur Meighen lost most of his cabinet, lost his position as premier, lost his seat in the house—in fact, he was a pretty much thoroughly-trimmed man.

Toronto Star, in election maps, makes Liberals white and Conservatives black. In London the thing was changed, and they made the Conservative White.

Mayor Church of Toronto is a member of his majesty's loyal opposition. He wasn't looking for this appointment, but the world's a powerful uncertain sort of a place.

An Ontario paper has one of these mystery ads, across which is a huge pair of scissors and the wording: "Watch this space daily." We wonder who's going to start a new paper in that town?

A West Lambton correspondent says the result proves that the men in the industries of Sarnia were told how they must vote. His version is that many men there had the splendid option of voting Conservative or getting out.

Now, just a minute, until we have a word with H. B. Morphy of North

HE who loves himself, not in idle vanity, but with a plenitude of knowledge, is the best equipped of all to love his neighbors.

—Samuel Pepys.

Perth. He informed the people of Listowel a few days ago that he would leave the country if KING were elected. We hope Mr. Morphy stays, for then the folks of North Perth will have the fun of licking him again if he runs for anything.

Victory comes as an empty thing to Hon. Hugh Guthrie in South Wellington. Hardly had he become well accustomed to his Conservative surroundings than the surroundings got all mused up by the electors at large. Sitting in the cold and dreary shades of opposition will enable the ex-minister of militia to get the viewpoint of the common people again.

Good soldier and good fighter that he is, Major Duncan Ross accepted the verdict of East Middlesex as a true soldier. His campaign, starting from nothing at all, and commenced after all the other candidates were in the field, was a straight, clean fight. It would be impossible to conceive of a candidate doing more or harder personal work than Major Duncan Ross.

Duncan C. Ross went down to defeat in West Middlesex. A survey of the riding leads to the belief that there was nothing wrong with the candidate of the Liberal party—but the vote was very much split with the three-cornered fight. The Progressive drew a large part of his support from the Liberal party. Duncan Ross served his riding faithfully and well, and will be heard from again.

What can be termed as probably the outstanding win of the election was that of W. G. Raymond in Brantford over W. F. Cockshutt. Mr. Raymond, in his appeal to the electors, published in The Advertiser, made the most constructive criticism of the Meighen administration that was published. The Brantford member is a student of history, Canadian and British, and he knows well how to apply that knowledge to present-day conditions in Canada. W. G. Raymond, we believe, will be the recognized historian of the Mackenzie King government.

READ YOUR CHARACTER

[By Digby Phillips.]

NO. 55—SHARP MOUTHS.

A sharp mouth is one which projects a bit, so that when viewed in profile it becomes an outstanding feature. It is due to the projection of the teeth and the conformation of the upper and lower jaws, and must not be confused with lips which stand out because of their thickness. In fact, such mouths are rarely accompanied by thick lips, and when they are the significance of them is largely modified.

The sharp mouth is sharp in the figurative, as well as the literal, sense. It denotes what might be termed a sharp disposition. In other words, a tendency to irritableness, though not necessarily a lack of sympathy and affection.

The irritableness, which, under certain circumstances, has a tendency to develop into downright cynicism, is the result of high-strung nerves, and a temperament inclined both to quick thought and quick action.

You must not expect much deliberation and calm judgment from persons with this type of mouth. Then hasty thoughts and actions are constantly leading them into hot water, but by that marvelous law of compensation, the very quickness of their mental processes enables them to scramble out of their difficulties often before any harm has been done. They will, for instance, often say unattractive things, but realize their mistakes and smooth them over before the significance of the original remarks sink into the slower wits of their hearers.

Fear of the Dentist

BY DR. R. H. BISHOP.

IT WAS not so many years ago that a visit to the dentist was indeed an occasion to be dreaded. Dentistry had not advanced to the painless methods of our present day.

It is, perhaps, for this reason that most people still dread to go to the dentist and accordingly postpone their visits until a painful toothache or ulcer compels them.

Even were the dentist's method as painful as of yore it would be extremely foolish to put off the visit until the last moment.

We know now that many diseases get their start from bad teeth. It is now an accepted fact that many cases of general systemic infections have their origin at the root of some infected tooth or from gums affected by pyorrhea, an inflammatory condition of the gums about the necks of the teeth which ultimately gives rise to a condition in which pus is present.

Estimates show that three-fourths of all cases of rheumatism have their origin from infected teeth or tonsils. Sometimes these infections are the real cause of heart, arterial and kidney disease.

A good dentist is always extremely careful properly to fill the canal left after he has killed a "nerve." He does this in order that the tooth will remain healthy and not menace the health of the others.

On the other hand, the germs or their poison may lodge in certain joints and cause stiffness and deformities known as rheumatism.

It is useless to treat such disease without first removing the first cause that is constantly furnishing more and more infection.

The best way to treat this condition is to prevent its possibility. This may easily be done by never allowing a tooth to become so decayed that it will ache. As a rule the only teeth in which it is necessary to kill a nerve are those that have ached.

The best thing to do in the case of bad teeth is to abolish that fear of the dentist and visit him before your teeth can have the chance to poison your whole system. It means less pain, too, in the end.

About Neighbors

BY DR. WM. E. BARTON.

IT is my impression that the war, to which it is just now fashionable to attribute everything wrong, did not do a little to make people less neighborly. They became less careful of social obligations.

They merged all their energies in war work and kindred activities. Social clubs and literary organizations were largely given up. Dress suits were packed away in the mothballs, and it seemed that fabric could not call them out into the realm of life. Weddings were hurried up and executed to the drumbeat.

A new vocabulary came into use. Rough language became more common; profanity appeared in respectable places. Old-fashioned neighborliness disappeared. We were all busy selling Victory bonds or rolling bandages.

But neighborliness is something too precious to spare out of life. A current magazine has a two-page article, a mere outline sketch of a suburban community into which a new family has come, and her neighbors "intend to call."

But perdition is paved with good intentions, one of which is the intention to call upon our new neighbors. Then a hearse is seen at the door, and the word percolates around that the mistress of the new home is dead.

"It is too bad," says her neighbor, "I am sure I should have liked her, and I intended to call." But it develops that it is not the mistress of the home who is dead, but her husband's mother who was visiting them.

And now that the new neighbor is no longer dead, the older residents "intend to call." Will they do it before the hearse comes around again?

The question "Who is my neighbor?" was asked in the New Testament by a man who was trying to evade a duty. He did not wish to be neighborly.

Neighbors are the best things we have except our religion and our families. Have you a new neighbor? Go in and be neighborly.

TO THE EDITOR

THE VOTERS' LIST.

Editor, Advertiser:

I note in your current issue of complaints re names being left off the city voters' list, and I see where some of the candidates have complained that the people voted for persons who were not in the running. And the city clerk says it is not his fault. Perhaps not, but if a few more cents were applied to a decent, respectable copy of the voters' list would have been prepared, and not the half printed, dog-eared copy that adorned the desk in the post-office. The voters' lists that were available to the public would in some cases need a lawyer to decipher. And bulky—you needed a suitcase to carry one about. It used to be one could tuck one in your pocket, but not so now. So much of the citizens' money is squandered on needless items it would not be a bad idea if our incoming city council would expend a few cents more and not let London's public printing be a laughing-stock from Hyde Park to Windsor. And if some of the work I have perused is a sample of Mr. Baker's stenographic plant he either needs a new operator or a proofreader. Thanking you for the use of your columns, I remain, yours respectfully,

A CITIZEN.

N. B.—If anyone can supply a copy of the 1921 voters' list, best send it to the London Historical Society. It is a work of ART, also a relic.

25 YEARS AGO TODAY

Here We Have Items of Local and District Interest, As Recorded in The Advertiser of 1896.

DECEMBER 8, 1891.

On Friday evening a very interesting debate took place in the Y. M. C. A. parlors at Piccola, under the auspices of the Current Topics Club. The subject was "Resolved That Capital Punishment Be Abolished." It was supported by Messrs. McNulty and J. Houston, the negative by Messrs. J. Barnes and H. McDowell. Messrs. A. I. Gurd, D. Sinclair and William Houston were the judges. At the conclusion of the debate the question was opened for general discussion led by Mr. Barbour, president of the club. Messrs. Pratt, Williamson, W. R. McDonald and A. T. Gurd, M. P. P., also spoke.

At the monthly meeting of the Chatham fire department, the following officers were elected for 1897: President, Chief Jacques; secretary, George Pritchard; treasurer, James W. Dege.

Mr. B. McFadden, the popular assistant in the office of Superintendent Jones of the G. T. R. here, left yesterday morning for Hamilton to assume his duties there.

No. 8 Club held its regular meeting in Dundas Centre Church last night. The meeting was in charge of No. 3 Seaton, and Mr. L. A. Keenleyside as third vice-president, presided. The program included the reading of the club paper by Mr. H. S. Dickson; essays by Mr. E. R. Dennis, Mr. L. A. Keenleyside, and Mr. H. McNaughton.

The Literary Society in connection with the Forest City Business and Shortland College held its first entertainment in the new rooms on Friday evening. Mr. E. J. Niles, the president, occupied the chair, after which he introduced the following program: Piano solo, Miss West; vocal solo, Miss Niles; recitation, Miss Windsor; piano duet, Messrs. Lotta Francis and Steele; speech, Mr. George Stinton; cornet solo, Mr.

St. George; recitation, Miss Horton; vocal solo, Miss Hodgkinson; vocal solo, Mr. R. Kippen; piano solo, Miss Horton; vocal solo, Miss Templeton; recitation, Miss McKerricher; piano duet, Messrs. Horton and Clement.

The regular monthly meeting of the London Dental Society was held Saturday evening at Dr. George C. Davis' parlors. In the absence of Dr. McDonald, president, Dr. H. R. Abbott occupied the chair. The following were present: Dr. Abbott; vice-president, Dr. Fred L. Wood; secretary-treasurer, Drs. Bentley, Davis, Swan, C. A. Abbott, Holmes, J. N. Wood, Woolverton, Rea and Harvey.

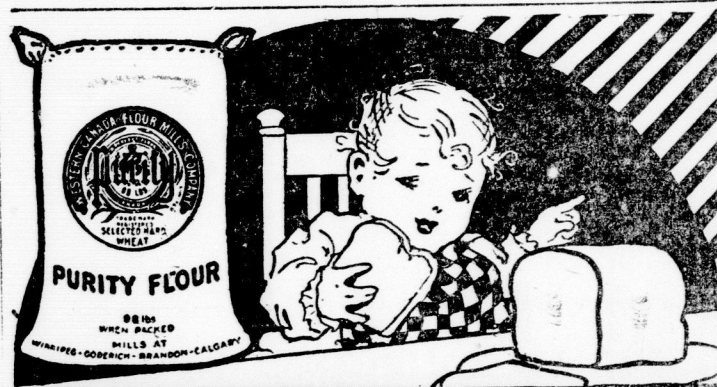

W. Sanders and C. Kerr of this city have been transferred to take the places of Brakenen, F. McDonald and A. M. Riley on the C. P. R. between St. Thomas and Woodstock.

DR. RANKIN, LIBERAL, SWEEPS NORTH PERTH

STRATFORD, Dec. 7.—The latest returns in North Perth give Dr. Rankin (Liberal), 648 majority over H. R. Morphy (Conservative), and 2,435 over W. A. Amos (Progressive). The totals, which are apparently correct, are: Rankin, 5,315; Morphy, 5,267; Amos, 3,840.

Mr. Amos did not hold the vote in city or county that he polled in 1919. In the country it was quite evident that he drew more support from Liberals than from Conservatives.

South Perth. In South Perth, while Mr. Forrester (Liberal) has a substantial majority, the exact figures are uncertain. Available returns give 365 over Steel, and 391 over Berry, but the Mitchell Liberal Association this afternoon claimed the majority was only 240.

Why Money Rates Play See-Saw

If you had $1,000 to loan and there were 100 people who wanted to borrow it, these people in their anxiety to secure the use of your money would bid against each other by offering you high rates of interest.

But if you wanted to borrow money and there were 100 people who wanted to loan it to you, you would secure it at a low rate of interest because these people would prefer to put their money to work at even a low rate of interest rather than to have it idle, earning nothing.

In each case the security behind the loan might be the same—yet the interest rate would vary greatly.

These extreme examples illustrate the ups and downs of money rates.

During the war the government had need of a great part of the wealth of the country. Individuals or corporations whose need of funds compelled them to compete with the government for money were obliged to pay a high price for the money they secured.

The needs for money since the war have also been great so that those who secure it are in effect still bidding against each other and paying a high price for the funds they obtain.

A common way for a corporation to borrow money is through the medium of a bond issue. The high rates paid during recent years have been all to the advantage of those who loan their money by purchasing bonds.

But less money is now being sought by borrowers than during the war and the months following the war. Supply is beginning to meet demand. Interest rates in some instances have already declined. They will in time decline still more. The opportunities to secure the highest rates in many years are passing. Some day 5 and 6 per cent will again seem high.

British Diplomacy Works In Open States This U.S. Writer

WASHINGTON, D.C., Dec. 7.—(By Ben Deacon, staff correspondent of the Canadian Press.)—The members of the Japanese delegation have prepared a lengthy report on the question of Japanese troops and police in China. They, according to information obtained today, are prepared to present a strong argument on the necessity for keeping their police troops in China. They will maintain that present conditions render it impossible to withdraw them.

A local paper this morning revives the "secret diplomacy" charge in connection with the Anglo-Japanese alliance. The writer complains of the reluctance of the United States delegation to discuss the arrangements. He declares "an agreement of sorts" has undoubtedly been drawn up and scores the United States delegates for their secrecy in regard to it.

FINED $1,500 FOR BREACH OF O. T. A.

Louis Stander, coal merchant and police court interpreter, was found guilty by Magistrate Massie of O. T. A. of selling liquor. He was fined $1,500 and one month in jail.

Police court was held in the county court house for the first time in history. Magistrate Massie has jurisdiction over five counties in the handling of O. T. A. cases, and the chief witnesses in the case against Stander were spotters from Attorney-General Raney's department. Magistrate Massie, in summing up the case, said: "A woman or a widow who sells a bottle of whiskey is fined $500, but here is a man who, the defence says, does not need to do this business. He has been an inspector and acted in several official capacities, including interpreter for the police court. And he should know the law. Therefore, I will impose a fine of $1,500 and costs and one month in jail. In default of payment of this fine an additional six months shall be added to the one already given."

Sarnia Liberals Call Meeting to Aid Defeated Candidate.

SARNIA, Dec. 7.—Tonight's official count of the West Lambton federal election vote gave R. V. Lesueur, Conservative, a majority of 978 votes over P. F. Pardee, Liberal, and a majority of 1,478 over R. J. White, U. F. O. R. V. Lesueur is the first Conservative to be elected in West Lambton to the federal house since confederation, and in a statement made today he stated that he was highly satisfied with the local election result.

Gareth Hughes Amusing as "Little Eva" in New Comedy

BY JAMES W. DEAN.
NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—"Uncle Tom's Cabin" is staged for a lively comedy situation in Gareth Hughes' latest vehicle, "Little Eva Ascends."
Hughes in the film is forced by his mother to don a curly wig and play the part of Eva, even though he is wearing long trousers and is changing from tender to bawdy.

Gareth Hughes dressed as Little Eva of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" in his new movie.

The lad flees from his irate mother. And then he learns that his father is not dead, but owns a nearby ranch. The father gives the mother enough to buy the opera house back home and keeps the boys.

The first few reels of this film are dreary to the extreme. When you have about decided that there is no fun in it it speeds up, leaving a ripple of laughs in its wake.

THE ROYAL MOUNTED.
Many pictures have been based on the activities of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police. The parts of the policeman have always been played by actors. Lewis Stone in his picture probably has looked and acted like a member of the force.

Now Eugene O'Brien is going to be cast in a similar role. It is difficult to picture a man of O'Brien's appearance in such a rugged role. In the picturization of "Cameron of the Royal Mounted," Ralph Connor's story, real members of the force will be seen. It will be interesting to hold them up in comparison with the screen variety.

Dorchester Couple Celebrate Sixtieth Wedding Anniversary

DORCHESTER, Dec. 7.—Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Ruddick celebrated the sixtieth anniversary of their wedding on Monday, at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Angus Armour, "Craighaven Farm," North Dorchester.

Mr. and Mrs. Ruddick were both born in Scarborough, near the village of Agincourt. Mr. Ruddick's father was an Ulsterman, who came to Canada in 1820, and his mother was a Border El-cott of United Empire Loyalist stock. Mrs. Ruddick, whose maiden name was Moir, had Scotch parents. In 1844 Mr. Ruddick's father moved his family to North Oxford and settled on a farm on the third concession. Mrs. Ruddick came to the district later, just before her marriage in 1861.

Mr. and Mrs. Ruddick continued to live in the township until a few years ago, when they retired from active life to their present home in Dorchester.

Mr. Ruddick is one of the earliest of the pioneers in North Oxford now living. There are very few left of those first settlers, who, like Mr. Ruddick, have borne a part in the whole process of converting an almost solid bush country, without roads, into the prosperous district which North Oxford is today.

WOODSTOCK GETS READY FOR VOTE

Has to Elect Successor to Late John Calder.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
WOODSTOCK, Dec. 7.—North Oxford electors found themselves right back into politics today with the nominations held for the vacant seat in the Legislature held by the late John Calder. No surprises were sprung and the former nominees, W. W. Day, Liberal; D. M. Ross, U. F. O., and Homer

B. Neely, Independent Conservative, were officially placed in the race. Despite the fact that the electors have been entertained for the past six or seven weeks with political meetings at the rate of four a week, an audience of about 300 attended today's proceedings, and following the official business listened to addresses by the three candidates.

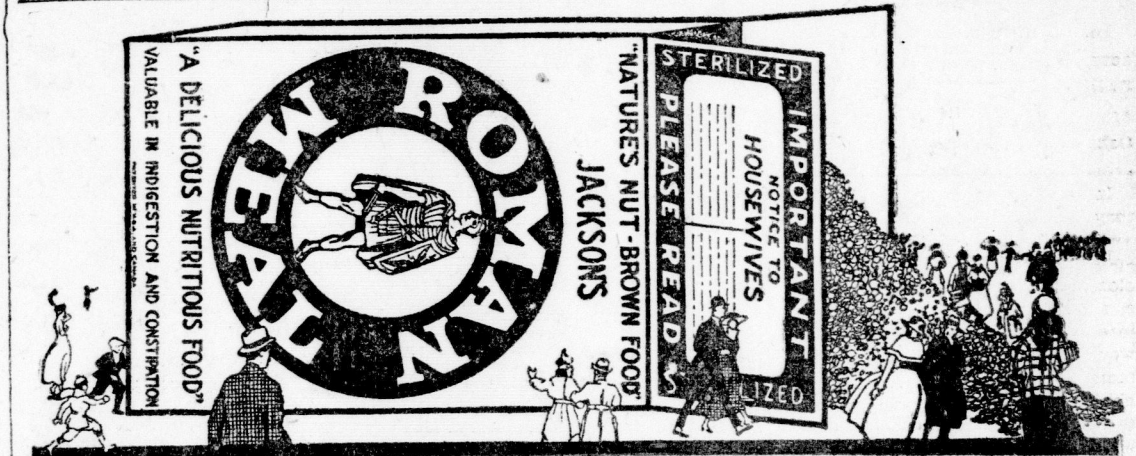

BEACHVILLE WOMAN DIES.
[Special to The Advertiser.]
INGERSOLL, Dec. 7.—The death occurred at Beachville of Mrs. Ann Jane Carroll, widow of William Carroll, who was in her 76th year, and was widely known in the district. She had resided in Beachville for ten years, and prior to settling there lived in North Oxford. She is survived by one daughter and two sons.

CONDUCTS INSPECTION OF STRATFORD CADETS

CANDY SALE BRINGS $175 TO ELGIN HOSPITAL FUND

ST. THOMAS, Dec. 7.—When 1,800 bags of candy were sold at the "Stop, Look and Listen" recently given in aid of the Elgin Memorial Hospital fund, the sum of $175 was realized, according to an announcement made today by Mrs. R. H. McConnell, convenor of the candy sale committee.

Children who participated in the "Land of Dreams" fantasy, were treated to candy, when 128 bags were distributed by the ladies.

SERIOUSLY HURT WHEN WAGON RUNS OVER BODY

HYDE PARK, Dec. 7.—Mr. Edwards, a farmer of lot 27, concession 7, London Township, was seriously injured Tuesday while driving a load of wheat to the Iderton elevator. He was walking beside the wagon when something caught his foot, and he fell directly in front of the wheels, which passed over his body. A neighbor very fortunately drove along and conveyed the injured man to his home, where Dr. Robson of Vanneck was quickly called.

According to the latest report Mr. Edwards was in a serious condition.

In all these forms of run-down condition

Wincarnis works wonders in quickly restoring to glorious health and strength. And yet the remarkable results of this world-famous tonic are easily understood when the reason why is explained.

In all the above forms of illness, weakness and general run-down conditions there is a shortage in the body of various mineral elements essential to the creation of vitality and the healthy functioning of the body, and therefore the thing to do is to quickly restore to the body these missing elements. Rest, food, fresh air and exercise would do this in time, but when the body is rendered so weak it is necessary to assist nature and supply the Iron and Manganese for enriching the blood; Phosphorus for Brain and Nerves; Calcium, Sodium and Potassium Phosphates for Bone and Tissue-Building.

Now Wincarnis contains all the above-mentioned mineral salts—contains them in scientific proportions and in their most readily assimilated form.

That is why Wincarnis is such a marvelous preparation, why it is a Tonic, Blood Builder and Nerve Food all in one life-giving medicine. That is why it is recommended by the Medical Profession.

GET HIGH PRICES FOR SHORTHORNS

Cattlemen at Guelph State Average Better Than $300.

GUELPH, Dec. 7.—In the first big Canadian sale of milking Shorthorns held in the Victoria Rink here today, approximately 40 head, mostly females, sold for an average of over $300.

Cows purchased by A. McLaren of Buckingham, Quebec, making an average of better than $500 apiece.

The consignors to the sale were N. G. Stoner of Theford, R. R. Wheaton of Thorndale, E. W. Carter of Iderton and W. E. Johns of Woodham.

There was a fair attendance and the bidding was brisk. The average price for the sale is good, considering the existing conditions of the market for pure-bred cattle, cattlemen say.

The top price, $725, was paid by Mr. McLaren for Gratina 5th, consigned by R. R. Wheaton. The average price for the females, irrespective of some younger stuff, was $354.

REVISION COURT BUSY

ST. THOMAS, Dec. 7.—Seventy-five applicants have appeared before the court of revision in an effort to have their names added to the municipal voters' list.

WAS TROUBLED WITH HER STOMACH FOR FIVE YEARS

Mrs. Samuel Ward, Millerville, Sask., writes: "I feel that I must write to you before another day passes. I am so happy and so grateful to your splendid medicine, Burdock Blood Bitters, for after an illness of five years I am better."

"I had stomach trouble so bad, I could not bear the smell or taste of food of any kind, and got so thin and weak I could not work. I had four doctors attend me, but they did me no good. I was in no pain, but felt so ill, at times, I thought I would die. In fact, all my friends were sure I could not live many weeks."

"This time last year I saw where a man was relieved of stomach trouble by Burdock Blood Bitters, so my husband got me two bottles, but I had no faith in it after all the different medicines I had taken. However, he insisted, and after the first two days I must say I began to feel better, and after the first bottle I felt so much better I went out a little every day, but could not go alone I was so weak, but I soon got so I could walk and eat, and have got quite stout."

"I am nearly seventy years of age, and I feel better than I have for years, and can now do all my housework."

"You may use this letter if you wish as it may be the means of making others as well and as happy as I am."

HIGH SCHOOL CLUB
HOLDS XMAS PARTYMix Business, Seriousness.
Mirth at December Meeting.

It was ninety-five young girls, students in the upper forms of the London Collegiate Institute, who heaped high the foy of the King Street Y. W. C. A. Lenmore, with hats and coats late Wednesday afternoon, when they gathered for the December meeting of their club, on this occasion a very grand Christmas party.

Christmas streamers in red and green and Christmas bells told the story of the approach of the festive season. After the tea party, the Christmas spirit found expression in a shower of donations for a family of seven adopted by the club for over Christmas, little Harriet Partridge, dressed as the Christmas spirit, receiving the gifts in a veritable Yuletide house, arranged in an alcove. Were girls always so clever, so self-possessed, merry and at the same time so serious?

It was the question raised by seniors who were privileged to participate in the party, to delight in the parliamentary manner in which the president, Miss Barbara Daly, conducted the business meeting, to revel in the humor and wit of "Club Chatter," the reborn official organ, to join in the sing-song led by Miss McManus, with Miss Poppy Kitchen at the piano, or to listen to the thoughtful and eloquent address on the advantages for a girl of a university education, presented by Miss Peggy Gemmell, B.A., only a very few years ago herself the president of the London Collegiate High School Girls' Club.

Develops Service Spirit.
"You know it is only the small and narrow soul that wants to live for itself. I cannot conceive of anyone having a university education and not wanting to serve her fellowmen," was the conclusion of Miss Gemmell, after she had dwelt convincingly upon the privilege of a university education, open now to all girls in this country.

Teaching first upon the cultural side of higher education, she emphasized the value of this in broadening the vision, enriching the interests for all of after life, whatever the vocation may be, succeeding in a profession or in business, but in the world, making a home. "Approach your university course in a humble spirit," she urged the ninety-five school girls. "Realize that it is a privilege to study with those who have prepared themselves for years by special research for the posts they hold. Through them you may company with the immortals."

Laughter was provoked by the distinction made by the young speaker between what she termed the "high school attitude" and the "university attitude." "In high school," she said, "you adopt the attitude of victim, and regard your teachers as task-masters. In the university the attitude should be one of recognition of privilege. Yet even a professor posted up a notice he would not meet his class at the usual time, 10 o'clock. To put the matter on a very material basis, suppose 500 eggs, would you feel pleased when leaving if the shopkeeper said he would take three back after you had paid for the full dozen?"

"Yet a university education is something you pay for, something for which you should want to get your money's worth."

Alluring pictures were presented of the joys of friendship, class fellowship and social life in a university. True to her alma mater, Miss Gemmell urged upon her school girl audience the desirability of attending a university in their home city of the size of the Western, with the fine advantages it offers in the way of courses, housing, and the pleasure of making a home. HAVE 80 NEW MEMBERS.

The Askin Street Mission Circle met at the home of Mrs. W. Scott, Elmwood avenue, on Tuesday evening, when the feature of the meeting was an interesting talk on her life in Japan, by the president, Mrs. B. Childs, dressed in a Japanese costume. A delightful program followed, in which those taking part were: Miss Frances Rogers,

Mrs. Bert Biggs, and Miss Maude Turner. The bible reading was given by Mrs. Wallace, and the study chapter by Mrs. Clarke. The result of the campaign for new members showed an increase of 80 members, and nine life members. At the close of the evening, refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Scott.

HELD SOCIAL EVENING.

A large number attended the chicken supper and social evening held in St. Michael's Parish Hall Wednesday evening. The tables were attractively decorated with ferns and green streamers. The many guests were welcomed by the convener, Mrs. J. Cushing, who was assisted by Mrs. Brennan, Mrs. Kiley, Mrs. McGinnis and Mrs. J. C. Bindner. During the evening a delightful program was given by members of the parish.

Need Leaders
For Guide Work

"What we need most in London, so far as girl guide work is concerned, is more leaders so far as I can see," said Miss Alice Lea of Toronto to the Advertiser Wednesday evening, after several days spent in the inspection of companies, and holding special classes for officers. "There are companies that have captains, but no lieutenants," she continued, "and I feel assured if the older girls only realized the delight and advantages of guide work there would be no lack of recruits for leadership."

"One of the finest things to me about the guide work, over which I have been an enthusiast for years, is the fact that it teaches the girl to play the game, to be absolutely square. The aim is to help girls become self-reliant, capable, efficient citizens. You can see what this means in the way of preparation for the thoughtful exercises of the franchise."

"A world of interest is opened up for the guide in her nature study, in her various tests. She can never fail to find interests in life."

"One thing that has especially pleased me here is the individual interest taken by the officers in the members of their companies. They know them by name, understand them individually in a manner that I have not met with in a larger city."

A special course for the citizenship badge is being taken by the officers in the classes which Miss Lea is conducting, the qualification for this including a knowledge of the constitution of municipal, provincial and federal government, of social service, and the ability to express this knowledge in a short speech.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN.

HOLIDAY MENUS

French Celebrate on New Year's Day.

THE French housewife, Christmas Day means a day of fasting rather than feasting and her big dinner is served New Year's. Christmas Eve is an All-Saints night and no meat is served.

But her dinner on New Year's Day! The French cook delights in the eye as well as the palate and no dish is sent to the table without its garnish and decoration. The capon wears a necklace of cranberries with a bunch of parsley tucked under his chin-like, while a huge lacy effect, cut from paper, fans out where his tail was.

The French dinner is served without butter. If braise is served it accompanies the first courses. This is a typical New Year's dinner translated into English:

Honeycomb Tripe Clear Bouillon
Salmon in Ramekins Capon
Browned Potatoes Cauliflower au Gratin
Lemon Ice Unsweetened Wafers
Romain Salad Plum Pudding Glace
Raisins Fresh Fruits Nuts
Cheese Maroon Glace
Black Coffee

The "hors d'oeuvre" is simple. The honeycomb tripe is in narrow strips, fried in butter and served on a thin piece of toast. The whole is served on a paper dolly on a small plate and garnished with parsley.

The fish course was chosen for its color. A choice cut of salmon is boiled. Season with salt and pepper and lemon juice. Put a small piece in a paper ramekin, add a ring of pickled beet and inside this put a slice of olive stuffed with almond. Serve on a paper dolly on a small plate with parsley.

The bouillon is served with tiny forcemeat balls.

Forecmeat Balls.
One-half pound lean veal, 2 tablespoons butter, ¼ cup cream, 1 egg, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1-16 teaspoon nutmeg, very narrow strips of lemon rind.

Chop meat very finely. Melt butter.

SOCIETY NEWS & INTEREST TO WOMEN

Personals

Mrs. J. W. Johnston, Hillsdale avenue, Toronto, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Reason, Elias street.

Mrs. J. S. Walker, Maple street, gave a small bridge on Tuesday evening in honor of her niece, Miss Walker.

Postponing the regular meeting from Tuesday evening, owing to the election, the Mothers' Club of Riverview school is giving a party on Thursday evening for the principal and teachers.

Mrs. Ida Harrison was a visitor in Hilderton on Wednesday, where she addressed the Methodist Women's Missionary Society on the Social Service work of the W. C. T. U. in London.

Mrs. Harris Elliott has returned home after a delightful visit in Ann Arbor, where she was the guest of Mrs. Walter Mower, formerly of London, and in Detroit with Mrs. Clarence Wilcox.

The Chanukah ball, under the auspices of the Hadassah Chapter, is an event of Tuesday evening, December 9, which a number of people are anticipating with pleasure.

Lieut. Harold J. Lawson, musketry officer of the 1st Hussars, is an officer from Toronto, after a two-months' course, attached to the Royal Canadian Dragoons, winning honors for his standing in the captain's examinations.

Mrs. Norman Jones, Quebec street, was the hostess of a delightful tea and recipe shower given Saturday last in honor of Miss Cora Patton, a bride-elect of this month. Mrs. Wilfred Keene presided at the pretty tea table decked with lovely flowers, and was assisted by Miss Marjorie Tolhurst and Miss Anne Spry.

Mrs. J. A. Spender, whose husband, the editor of the Westminster Gazette, addresses the Canadian Club here on Friday, arrived in the city the beginning of the week from Washington, D. C., and is the guest of Mrs. Reason, 622 Elias street. Mr. and Mrs. Spender are warm friends of Mrs. Reason's son, Col. Clifford H. Reason, whom they came to know well in war days in England and France.

Mrs. J. A. Spender, the brilliant and charming English visitor in the city this week, was the guest of honor at a dinner of twelve covers given on Tuesday evening by Dr. H. T. Reason and Mrs. Reason at their home on Central avenue. The table was beautifully adorned with pink roses. Mrs. Spender wore a handsome black gown, and the hostess a becoming gown of black Chantilly lace.

The Junior Bible Class of the Centennial Methodist Church spent a very pleasant evening at the home of Mrs. Nattrass. Mrs. Nattrass charmed her guests with the music of the Hawaiian guitar and pretty southern songs with ukulele accompaniment. Mr. McNab with mandolin; Mr. Mathews with violin; and Mrs. Nattrass at the piano rendered enjoyable numbers. A dainty supper was served.

The showers which have preceded the bazaar of Thursday of the Askin Street Ladies' Aid have succeeded in awakening great interest in the event. Mrs. Ronald Harris, president of the London branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society, officiated at the opening at 3 o'clock. Mrs. G. A. Young has charge of the tea room, in which a change has been rung in the color scheme for decoration by the choice of mauve and white as the keynote, carried out well in the costumes of the hostess and her assistants.

Mrs. A. B. Dobbyn was the hostess on Tuesday afternoon of the last of a series of fifteen shower teas given by members of the Ladies' Aid of Askin Street Methodist Church in preparation for the Christmas bazaar on Thursday. A story-writing and a guessing contest were features of the afternoon. Mrs. George A. Young winning the prize for the first and Mrs. E. McMurtry for the second. Miss Dobbyn delighted with recitations. The donations to the bazaar filled to overflowing a big basket decorated in red, white and blue. Delicious afternoon tea was served by the hostess.

Mrs. W. F. Babb received on Wednesday afternoon, welcoming many guests at her lovely home on Waterloo street. The house was gay with flowers, shaggy mums being artistically arranged throughout the rooms. Mrs. Babb made a charming hostess, gowning in black lace over satin, and wearing a corsage of Richmond roses. She was assisted by Mrs. Ross Johnson, in a brown velvet frock, trimmed with lace to match, and wearing Sweetheart roses. The tea table was very attractive, decked with yellow mums arranged in a silver basket, and yellow streamers radiating from candles to the ceiling. Tea was poured by Mrs. John Hunt and Mrs. A. J. Grant, while Mrs.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS.
"CROOKABONE"

[By Olive Roberts Barton.]

"I beg your pardon," she began again. "I didn't mean to keep you waiting."

Nancy sat in the middle of a queer circle, for all except Nick were ugly, misshapen gnomes of every age, that is, of every age over a hundred years. When a gnome is born, you know, he is already a hundred years old or so, of course, quite grown up. She couldn't help wishing that they wouldn't stare so, for they were peering at her with unblinking, grotesque eyes. "But then," she thought, "it is just what one may expect. No doubt they've had no bringing up at all, and have never been told that it is rude to stare at company." Self-invited company, to be sure, she and Nick were, but company, just the same.

The little gnome who had opened the gate nodded at her finally when he'd waited and waited, and Nancy, busy with her thoughts, hadn't said a word. "Why don't you begin?" he demanded. "Don't you know how to play 'truth'?" You told me you did in the passage. Nancy started, "Oh, yes," she was about to say, when Nick put a warning finger to his lips. She had almost said the forbidden word. "I beg your pardon," she began again. "I didn't mean to keep you waiting. How many questions may I ask?"

As many as you like," answered the gnome, whose name was Crookabone, "only you must stop when someone tells you an untruth. Then he must pay you a forfeit. I'll be judge later on and impose penalties for fibbing."

Nancy smiled approvingly. "I'm glad you think so much of truth telling," she said. "It's the most important thing in the world."

"Oh, as for that," answered Crookabone, "this isn't the world. This is Fairyland, and with us it is a matter of wits. We tell the truth without telling anything at all."

"What a queer speech!" thought Nancy. [To Be Continued.] Copyright, 1921.

Nancy and Dick, you know, are the little boy and girl in "The Adventures of the Twins," which has been appearing in The London Advertiser.

Their adventures have been printed in book form—five volumes. The Advertiser is going to give a set of the books to the little boy or girl who writes the best adventure for Nancy and Dick.

And there will be nine other prizes offered as well. For second prize a big golden-haired doll or the best-running sled that can be procured; for third prize, a fine sled or a beautiful doll; for fourth prize, a baseball glove or a doll's tea set; fifth prize, a two-pound box of chocolates; sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth and tenth prizes, through the courtesy of the management, two seats at Loew's Theatre for Friday night, Dec. 23.

Write an adventure of not more than 200 words, using but one side of the paper, and mail it to the "Fairy Queen," care of The London Advertiser, before Dec. 12. Put your age, name and address at the top of your story.

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

BY CYNTHIA GREY.

YOU have among your acquaintances—possibly you belong to this class yourself—people who annoy you on the telephone. They start in abruptly with what they have to say, without thinking of telling you who is speaking, or exchanging the usual salutations, which are just as necessary over the telephone as they are when meeting a person face to face. Don't you find these women very irritating?

I believe some of them use this abrupt manner, through a feeling of their own importance. Sometimes some of your friends call up and offer to send around their car, and say it in such a way, that although you would be delighted to go, you refuse. The little act of courtesy on their part is completely spoiled through lack of diplomacy.

Then we have those friends who habitually call at meal time, because they feel sure that they will find us at home. But this is decidedly bad form. It is a very good idea for the heads of the household to make a rule, not to be disturbed at meal time, as it is not very thoughtful to the family or guests to leave them while you carry on a conversation over the telephone.

THE THREE OF US.

Dear Miss Grey.—I am just a little boy, twelve years old, and would like to get the song of "Let the Rest of the World Go By." Please, will you send it to me? The song you asked for, Jim, is not in the Mail-Box, but maybe someone will send it in for you. I have forwarded your letters to Santa, and I hope he gets them in time. Thanks to the three of you for sending a mite for our hospital.

TORONTO LISTS LACKED NAMES

Blame Placed on Women Who Revised Voters' Lists.

DISSATISFACTION CAUSED

TORONTO, Dec. 7.—A great many names were left off the voters' lists in this city. Conservative as well as Liberal, and there is a good deal of dissatisfaction in consequence. Some of the blame is placed on the shoulders of women who had a hand in compiling and revising the voters' lists, and complaints are being made because experienced election workers were not put on this work.

Judge Emerson Coatsworth, chief electoral officer for Toronto and the York, said with regard to the matter today: "The haste with which the lists had to be prepared and printed is the only explanation that I can give. Printers' strike, or no strike, those lists had to be printed in the week which elapsed between the completion of the revision and election day."

The Joy of Living.

Standing in Last Parliament.

When Parliament dissolved there were in the House of Commons 120 Conservatives, 84 Liberals, 14 Progressives and 4 Independents. Three of these members were elected at recent by-elections—were unable actually to take their seats before prorogation. Seats vacant at dissolution numbered thirteen. Of the vacancies, three had been occasioned by the death of sitting members, four by resignation, four by appointment to the cabinet, one by appointment to the Senate, and one by appointment to the bench.

appears to have become evident to the majority of observers.

Raises Storm Protest.

Attention has been focussed on the question of undue secrecy during the past few days by the attitude of some of the delegations in regard to the Anglo-Japanese alliance problem. It has raised a storm of protest and criticism on the part of the United States correspondents, and this protest and criticism has been aimed at the members of their own delegation. Most of it has been expressed in the private conversation and gossip of the pressroom, though a certain amount of it has also found its way into print.

Some of the very men who in the opening days of the conference were writing solemn warnings about the "old school of diplomacy," with its "intrigue" and secret methods, which they feared was to be foisted upon the conference by Great Britain, have now turned a complete "about-face" and are industriously criticizing their own people, while frankly admitting that Great Britain may be acquitted of the dark and devious methods with which she was charged.

Finance Excites Doubt.

The very clarity and simplicity of the British objects led to a certain suspicious attitude on the part of members and camp followers of some of the other delegations in the early stages of the conference. There was an opinion that the British must be very subtle, that they were playing "a deep game." This atmosphere of doubt appears to have been completely dispelled for the present, at least.

The British policy in regard to publicity also has been clear and simple. The British spokesmen adhere very strongly to the practice of minding their own business, but in regard to their business they apparently divulge everything which may be given to the public without danger of embarrassing any of the other delegations or hampering any of the work of the conference.

British Give Out News.

The first word that the alliance was under discussion came from a British source. It was intimated that a proposal was under consideration for a triangular arrangement of arbitration agreements between the British, Japan and the United States. Later this plan was apparently broadened out over the work of the conference.

There is a general feeling that all of these subjects—the Chinese questions, the naval rivalry and the new "cooling-off" treaty—may all move along comparatively smoothly, but that they reach definite settlement until all are ready to be lumped into a final program of accomplishment.

Both Japanese and Chinese reflected optimism after the Shanghai negotiations tonight after another meeting, in which Japan offered to give up the public property in the leased territory of Kiaochow as another step toward meeting the Chinese position. In the committee of the whole of the nine nations a resolution was adopted during the day pledging respect for China's neutrality in future wars, and another restricting the use of foreign radio facilities on Chinese soil.

Indigestion or

Sour, Gassy

Stomach

"Pape's Diapiesin" gives

Relief in Five Minutes

"Pape's Diapiesin" relieves stomach distress in five minutes. You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one—or a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable; you mustn't injure it with drastic drugs.

Pape's Diapiesin is noted for its speed in giving relief, its harmlessness, its certain unfailing action in regulating sick, sour, gassy stomachs. Keep this perfect stomach doctor in your home—

keep it handy—get a large, sixty-cent case from any drug store, and then if you should eat something which doesn't agree with you, if what you eat lays like lead, ferments and causes gas, and causes headache, dizziness and nausea, remember as soon as Pape's Diapiesin comes in contact with the stomach all indigestion vanishes. It is the most effective remedy known—the certainty and ease with which it overcomes stomach and digestive disorders is a revelation to those who try it. b

MEIGHEN ATTENDS HIS FINAL DUTIES
Former Canadian Premier to Prepare Resignation Soon.

OTTAWA, Dec. 7.—(By Canadian Press.)—In spite of the fact that he was at his office until midnight receiving election returns, Premier Meighen arrived there in good time this morning. An atmosphere of quiet pervaded the place following the noise and bustle of last night, when messages announcing the defeat of the government were coming in constantly. Mr. Meighen spent practically the whole morning attending to his correspondence. He received a call from Sir Adam Beck, and at noon went to the office of his excellency the governor-general, where he remained for about half an hour. The premier had no announcement to make to the press. Asked whether he would wait until the official returns were in before submitting his resignation to the governor-general, he said that it would not be long before they were available. He stated that he would call some meetings of cabinet council shortly in order to clean up matters which required the attention of the present government. The majority of the ministers received the returns in their own constituencies, and it will probably be a day or two before they return to the capital.

98 MAKE TRIP OVER SHRINERS' BURNING SANDS
Include Hon. Peter Smith, Provincial Treasurer, in Their Number.
GIVEN PURSE OF GOLD

A. E. Somerville, Captain-General of Arab Patrol, Is Signally Honored.

With the Shriners from the surrounding district and Detroit, Buffalo, Chicago, and even as far as Indianapolis, attending, the annual fall ceremonial of the Mocha Temple, A. A. O. N. M. S., London, Ont., was held in London Wednesday afternoon. The guests were received with the heartiest cordiality by the London Shriners, the reception committee being in charge of W. W. Gammage, who, with the members of his committee, and assisted by the Arab Patrol, had provided for their welfare and entertainment. The ceremonial began with the business session in the morning, starting at 10:30 o'clock, when the business details and affairs for the year were disposed of. At this session the Temple voted $2,500 to endow a room in the War Memorial Children's Hospital, and $500 to children's aid organizations and other charities. One of the pleasant features of the day's proceedings was the presentation of a purse of gold to Captain-General A. E. Somerville of the Arab Patrol. In the afternoon the election of officers for 1922 was held. The following is the divan for the ensuing year: Illustrious potentate, J. F. Reid; chief rabbi, A. Carothers; assistant rabbi, Dr. J. A. Woodhouse; high priest, Jared Vining; oriental guide, A. J. Smith; treasurer, A. A. Campbell; recorder, W. H. Abbott; first ceremonial master, W. C. Forbes; second ceremonial master, T. M. Pawkes; marshal, C. Farquharson; captain of the guard, H. Hayman, and director, W. D. MacGregor. Ninety-eight candidates crossed the "hot sands," among whom was the Hon. Peter Smith, provincial treasurer for Ontario. The number of Shriners attending was estimated at 1,500. At the morning session the following were appointed representatives to the Imperial Council meeting to be held in San Francisco in June, 1922: J. F. Reid, W. H. Abbott, of London; Dr. J. A. Millard of Windsor, and R. H. Reid of Woodstock. During the afternoon the Mocha Temple Band, under the leadership of Roscoe Pococke, gave the following program: March, "Old Comrades," by
