Civic Sewer Construction Starts

VISIT TO CITY HALL

Deputation Calls on the Mayor,
Who Earns Cheers by the Announcement of Work.

Mayor Wenige, members of the city council, and employment office authorities have been prompt to deal effectively with the unemployment situation in this city.

A deputation of workers left the city hall this morning with words of praise for the authorities and hearty cheers for the mayor. Addressing the men from the city hall steps, the mayor announced that the city engineer had been authorized to commence the Wellington-High streets sewer job tomorrow morning.

The bylaw for this work passed the city council yesterday afternoon, providing for the construction of several miles of sewer, at a cost of about $300,000, upon the local improvement plan.

At 11 o'clock this morning, Mayor Wenige met in special session with City Engineer W. P. Near, and J. Spencer and Harry Wray, representatives of the government employment office. Arrangements for the registration of applicants were concluded.

Starts at Once.
Work will start tomorrow morning, the mayor informed the cheering men, while others will be added as the work progresses. It is anticipated that work will be found for many more than a hundred men.

None but bona fide citizens need apply, the mayor stated. The men today, and twelve months' residence constitutes citizenship. Married men will, of course, be given the preference, while single men will also be cared for. "We realize that they have to live the same as others," the mayor reminded.

His worship will further recommend at the session of the city council Tuesday that they increase their appropriation to the public utilities commission for lighting; the money to be used, however, for a tree-trimming program.

"I would advocate this for these reasons," he stated. "First, we must provide work; second, the trimming of trees will make better lighting possible."

Help Most Needed First.

At this morning's conference it was arranged that all applicants for work would have their cards checked by J. W. McCallum, relief inspector, who would determine the most needy cases in order that they should be given the preference.

It is proposed to divide the work, each man working a week in turn while the job lasts. The mayor pointed out to the men that this would better enable them to secure other temporary employment when they had their open week.

"The cost of this burden means an additional tax upon the ratepayers," the mayor explained to the deputation. "And we ask that you all pitch in and work your best at these jobs."

The men gave their assurance that the work would be done to the best of their ability, and they showed their appreciation of the program with three rousing cheers for Mayor Wenige.

Writes In Rain Gets Tonsillitis

Associated Press Despatch.
Gardone, Italy, Nov. 28.—Gabriel d'Annunzio, poet-soldier, is laid up with a severe attack of tonsillitis. His illness is due to exposure, he having insisted on remaining in his garden here to write a poem while rain was falling and a terrific wind blowing. Members of his household urged d'Annunzio to take shelter from the elements, but he replied: "I must hear the sound of the waves and the fall of the raindrops. To write, one must be next to nature."

DIG SCHOOL FOUNDATION BY THE DAY

Ald. Douglass Approves Plan
To Provide More Public
Employment.

OTHERS AGREE

Suggestion From Arthur Kennedy Wins Concurrence of Aldermen.

"Dig the foundation of the proposed new public school in West London, under the day labor scheme and so provide work for many of the present unemployed. And start the work at once."

This was the timely suggestion at the Ealing municipal mass meeting last night from Arthur Kennedy, candidate for the board of education.

And today it meets with the approval of Ald. Leonard Douglass, chairman of the board of works, and members of his committee.

"I certainly think it would be a good move," Ald. Douglass said. "The suggestion from Mr. Kennedy is an excellent and timely one. I would urge that the board of education authorities give the proposal their immediate and favorable consideration."

"Perhaps the most important issue at this moment is to provide work for such local men as are out of employment. The city council certainly did a good stroke of business yesterday when they passed the Wellington-High street sewer system. That should provide work for many, but another job, like the West London proposal, will certainly help the situation."

Ald. Douglass urges prompt consideration of this suggestion, as does Ald. Edmund Hayden, another member of the committee, who questions why the plan should not be feasible. He understands that other municipalities have adopted the plan with complete satisfaction. Members of the board of works urge the school trustees to co-operate with them in this suggestion.

"If it would save the citizens money and give work to the unemployed, I would hold up both my hands for the scheme," said A. N. Udy, chairman of the board. "Of course we won't know even an approximate cost until the tenders are in, but if the cost of doing the work by contract and doing it by day labor are practically the same, I would say let the work be done by day labor. It is more dignified to give work than charity, and no citizen would accept the latter if he could find work."

It was decided to refer the matter to the board of works, and the board of education will meet again tomorrow morning to consider the proposal.

Government Waives Right For 18 Months To Its Funds Deposited In Home Bank

Decision Is Made After Conference of Premier With the Liquidator.

SPEED UP DIVIDEND

Provincial Moneys Deposited in Defunct Institution Total Million and Half.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, Nov. 28.—Following a conference between Premier Ferguson, Attorney-General W. F. Nickle and G. T. Clarkson, liquidator of the Home Bank of Canada, the government decided to waive, for a period of 18 months its prior right to the full payment of $1,500,000 of provincial moneys on deposits with the bank.

"In order that the depositors, many of them being sorely in need of money, might receive the 25 per cent interim payment, the government has decided to waive its prior claim for eighteen months in order that the small depositors might receive some money almost immediately," stated the premier.

"This decision was reached by the government this morning, following a conference between Mr. Clarkson and myself."

The government is not waiving all claim to the money, but is allowing the liquidator a longer period in which to meet the government's demands.

Now that the government has decided to waive its prior right, it is stated, from other sources, that the payment of the 25 per cent dividend to the depositors will commence as speedily as possible.

The decision of the provincial government to waive its prior rights on Home Bank assets is hailed with satisfaction by Joseph Dambra, president of the London Home Bank Depositors' Association. This means that in order to pay depositors a 25 per cent dividend, the permanent liquidator will not have to borrow so much on Home Bank assets as was anticipated.

Dambra added that at the end of eighteen months each depositor will have a definite idea of how much is to be expected from the Home Bank. By that time the status of the companies owing to the defunct institution will be known and a reasonable estimate of the money available will, no doubt, be made public.

INSANITY PROBABLE DEFENCE IN SHOOTING

Not Likely That Clarence Topping Will Be Arraigned on Friday.

LAWYER ARRIVES

Condition of Viola McNaughton, Fighting For Life, Is Slightly More Serious.

Clarence Topping will likely not be arraigned in police court on a charge of murdering his sweetheart, Geraldine Durston, until after the inquest in the police station Friday night, it was announced this morning from the office of the crown attorney.

Topping is on remand in the county jail at the present time and was to have appeared in court on Friday morning.

Miss Viola McNaughton, who was shot through the chest in the same room at 318 York street where Miss Durston received the fatal bullets from Topping's revolver, is not quite so well as she was yesterday, according to Dr. Roy Kingswood of Victoria Hospital staff. The girl has a slight temperature, but physicians state they would not care to say she had developed pneumonia.

D. A. G. Swanson, eminent criminal lawyer of Oshawa, arrived in London this morning in response to a letter from Topping's father written on Monday.

Mr. Swanson paid a visit to the office of Crown Attorney J. C. Elliott and asked permission to interview his client at the jail. After a short conference with Mr. Elliott, Mr. Swanson was asked to return this afternoon and will likely be given permission to visit the young man who, Mr. Swanson paid a visit to the office of Crown Attorney J. ### MAYOR FAVORS POLICE STATION ON COUNTY PLOT

New Structure Adjoining Middlesex Buildings Is Newest Suggestion.

IDEAL LOCATION

When the opportune time comes and with the consent of the ratepayers and the county authorities, build the new police station next to the Middlesex County buildings, Mayor Wenige recommends today.

That would be the ideal location, he asserts, and suggests that the proceeds from the sale of the old police station and the old registry office, Carling and Talbot streets, would lessen considerably the additional financial burden to be incurred by the construction of the new building.

Mayor Seeks For Reasons For Strong Opposition To New City Hall Project

Questions Change of Front Shown by Local Newspaper and Social Politics.

SCORES DELAYS

Says Work on New City Hall Should Now Be Available for London's Unemployed.

Mayor Wenige wants to know has prompted the sudden change of heart by a local newspaper with respect to the new city hall bylaw.

At public mass meetings, His Worship is drawing attention to the fact that, while this publication about three months ago warmly commended the project, a change has been noted, and the proposal is now being opposed with equal vigor.

"Why this change of front," asks the mayor. "Conditions have not been altered to any degree in the last three months to prompt these tactics."

The mayor scores the opposition to the city hall bylaw from this and other well-known quarters. He senses the hand of the politicians behind the screen—those who would thwart the mandate of the people, who have voted twice to have the new hall constructed on the McCormick property, and twice not to build it on the present site—the Spencer Block.

"Only for this year's council, this work would have been under way," he declared. "And we would now have work available for scores of our unemployed. The people have to thank the certain members of the council for this, including five who consistently opposed the project throughout the year, and others who 'fopped over' at the last moment."

"The mandate of the people must be respected, despite the fact that it was not respected in other years, when you voted for the city hall. I do not know who the members of the council were in those days. Probably some of them are still in the council; likely, over in Ward 2."

BALDWIN'S SON ATTACKS THE PREMIER'S POLICIES

ADVOCATES CUT IN BIG SALARIES AT THE CITY HALL

Mel Cater, Candidate in Ward 3, Would Help Underpaid Worker.

CHANGE PAY METHOD

Mel Cater, chairman of the industrial area commission, and candidate for the city council from Ward 3, advocates the reduction of high salaries at the city hall.

Certain reductions could well be made, he is confident, in accordance with his address in the Ealing school house last night. He favors also the fullest consideration of the city hall wage and salary question at the earliest opportunity in the new year. An equalization of the salary roll is desirable, he submits.

Mr. Cater also questions the manner in which the city's outside workers receive their pay at the city hall. It is a "crying shame," he submits, that they should be compelled to stand out in front of the city hall in all sorts and conditions of weather to receive their weekly remuneration.

It is his contention that better provision could be made, and suggests that a member of the city hall staff be entrusted with the cash or checks and take them out on the job. In this manner there should be no loss of time for either the city or the employee.

Dr. Caven, who examined Mr. Daly at his home about ten days ago, said he did not care to comment on the matter, as he did not think it proper thing for a physician to discuss publicly what was the personal affair of a patient.

CLAIMS FATHER'S GOVERNMENT IS ONLY KILLING TIME

Oliver Baldwin Makes First Appearance in Support of Labor Candidate.

NOMINATIONS CLOSE

Associated Press Despatch.

London, Nov. 28.—Ignoring filial scruples, Premier Baldwin's eldest son, Oliver Baldwin, who professes Socialistic views, made his first platform appearance in Buckingham last night in support of the Labor candidate and denounced his father's government, asserting that it had done nothing but "twiddle its fingers."

There was nobody in the cabinet, declared the speaker to tell the members to "get on with their job."

This remark was particularly sharp slap at the prime minister, who is nominally responsible for keeping members of his cabinet at their duties.

Concluding his attack, Mr. Baldwin said: "Now the government is talking about protection. The only protection I want is protection against a government like that."

1,446 NOMINATIONS.

Associated Press Despatch.

London, Nov. 28.—Now that the nominations for Oxford University and the University of Wales have taken place the line of battle in the general election is completed. Two Conservatives and one Liberal have been nominated for Oxford University's two seats and a Liberal, an Independent Liberal and a third candidate who proclaims himself as an Independent Pacifist are in the field for the one seat of the University of Wales.

The total nominations, including 50 acclamations, number 1,446, comprised as follows: Conservatives 553, Liberals 437, Labor 434, Conservative Free Traders 7, Independents 17.

There are 268 triangular fights, 126 straight fights between Liberals and Conservatives, 53 between the Liberal and Labor parties and 103 between the Liberal and Conservative parties.

The Conservative free trade nominees appear to be somewhat on the horns of a dilemma, judging from the experience of Sir Edward Stockton, who sat for the Exchange division of Manchester as a Conservative in the last parliament and is one of the most prominent free trade Conservative candidates in this election. "My view is that we shall have to be very guarded indeed in any protective measure," he said at a meeting.

Pressed as to which way he would vote on the tariff question, he declared he would go with the government.

Another question to him was: "How can you justify your claim to be a sincere free trader when you have a fiscal wobbler like Lord Derby on your platform?"

Lord Derby, who was present, joined in the laughter which this question aroused.

Sir Edwin Stockton, however, contented himself with remarking that he had never known Lord Derby to wobble in anything.

CHESLEY AVENUE CLUB HEARS MAJOR BRADSHAW

"How the Juvenile Court Functions" was the subject of an exceedingly interesting and instructive talk given before the Chesley Avenue Mothers' Club last night by Major Bradshaw, probation officer.

The mothers were greatly impressed by the workings of the court, about which they had hitherto known very little. Special guests of the evening were the members of the St. Lawrence Mothers' Club, who furnished the rest of the program.

An invigorating beginning of the evening, conducted by the St. Lawrence Club, this was followed by vocal numbers by Mrs. Norton and Mrs. Flannigan; readings by Miss Burns, Miss Vining and Yake; instrumental duet by Mrs. Granger and Miss Yake. Mrs. Frank Mayne, the president, was in the chair.

It was decided to have an apron contest, in which each member is to make an apron with a pocket. A social evening will be held in January when the aprons will all be judged and displayed.

Kiwanians To Entertain At Big Black Face Fun Fest For Under-Privileged Boys

Club's Annual Minstrel Show To Be Better Than Ever.

AT GRAND DEC. 7 AND 8

Eight Representative Businessmen To Be Found "On the End" of Big Circle.

Once a year Londoners have the opportunity of enjoying a real old-fashioned minstrel show, one of those affairs when the end men are really funny and the singing is really good. This is when the Kiwanis Club puts on their annual burnt cork festival on behalf of the under-privileged boy.

As in other years the show is being prepared. There is no question of the fun to be obtained by attending it or of the good the money will accomplish, and the joys it will bring to these little chaps with so many shadows darkening their lives.

The Kiwanians who have arranged the show and those who revel in the Ford plant with musical walls and energetic steps ask the aid of all citizens in lifting some of these burdens from the small shoulders and they have no hesitation in looking forward to a real Christmas hamper for their proteges, with which to give London's underprivileged boys a happy and chummy sendoff into the new year.

So it is to enable the club to do more for these boys that this minstrel show is being prepared. There is no question of the fun to be obtained by attending it or of the good the money will accomplish, and the joys it will bring to these little chaps with so many shadows darkening their lives.

'UNKNOWN WOMAN' TAKEN FROM DITCH IS 'GINITIS' CASE

Under Influence of Liquor Hospital Doctors Know Her Well.

SENT HOME TODAY

The unknown woman found by E. Dinsmore last night on the Lambeth Highway, supposedly suffering from a fit, is now known, in fact, well known.

The woman was brought to Victoria Hospital last night by Mr. Dinsmore who had found her lying in a ditch. He thought she was probably suffering from hysteria and that her condition was serious. Hospital authorities know better, however, and immediately came to the conclusion that she had been imbibing too freely.

When she was laid on a bed and the odor of gin permeated the sick room, they knew that the so-called unknown had paid another visit to the hospital.

This is the third time she has been brought to the hospital in an inebriated condition, doctors said this morning, and she is becoming quite a familiar figure at that institution.

E. Dinsmore had been to St. Thomas in his taxi and was returning home at ten o'clock when he noticed a body lying in the ditch. He pulled up his car to find that the person was a woman. She appeared to be about 35 years of age, well dressed and suffering no injury.

Unable to get any explanation from her and not knowing where she resided, the taxi driver took her to the hospital. She was admitted in an unconscious state, but Mr. Dinsmore declared that during the journey she became hysterical.

Her name was learned this morning, and it is expected she will be able to return to her home today.

VOCATIONAL COMMITTEE.

RAILWAY AND COMMERCIAL POLLS TO OPEN THURSDAY

President of the Kiwanis Club.

"I have much pleasure in tendering to the A. J. Bevan Hay my hearty congratulations on the celebration of its birthday, and would take this opportunity of expressing appreciation of many years' standing."

"As a civic organ and an advertising medium, The Advertiser has been an asset to our city these sixty years, and has had much to do with our progress and development, and has become invaluable to the businessmen of London. Always broad and open minded in politics, fair and just in all civic affairs, and ever ready through its circulation to assist in charitable matters of the city and district, The Advertiser has made for itself a place in our business and in our homes, and I can wish nothing better for this splendid paper than they may continue to serve the public for many years to come."

"Again my most sincere congratulations and good wishes for the future."

"J. BEVAN HAY."

WAGE MATTER AGAIN CAUSES OPINION CLASH

Alderman McKay Differs With Engineer on Increases in Department.

TRAFFIC TO START

City hall salaries and who shall determine them, the city or the department heads, was once more featured in the deliberations of some of London's city fathers last night at a meeting of the board of works.

When the city engineer remarked on the salaries received by certain members of his staff and of increases which he thought should be made in certain cases, Alderman McKay asked if it were not the case that the proposed increases were asked for men with comparatively high salaries and suggested that other men with smaller salaries had been overlooked.

The city engineer differed on this and said: "It is better that the determination when arrangement of salaries should be left in the hands of departmental heads. If the committee controls the salaries of members of the staff it does not lead to discipline or satisfaction."

Mr. McKay, however, preferred that the committee should at least keep a fairly close eye on the salary question, and it was at last agreed that the whole question should go back to the council after the election. A bill rendered the city for $204.50 for the examination of the York street bridge after the accident in the spring was ordered to be paid. Mr. Near assured the members of the board that street railway traffic would be resumed on both tracks on Richmond street on Sunday.

JAPANESE FREIGHTER WILL BE TOTAL LOSS

Forty-Two Members of Crew Rescued From Vessel Off Alaskan Coast.

Associated Press Despatch.

Cordova, Alaska, Forty-two members of the crew of the Japanese freighter Shinkoku Maru, which was being pounded to pieces today by high waves on the northern shore of Montague Island, Prince William Sound, arrived here tonight on the tug Humacoma.

Purser Sazuki, who headed the party, declared that Capt. Salter, his two small sons and four other members of the crew would remain on the ship until the salvage boat arrived. A 30-mile gale yesterday lashed the north Pacific ocean forcing the Shinkoku, although disabled, to cut herself loose from the Humacoma.

The Shinkoku, according to statements of her condition sent today, will be a total loss.

The freighter was lying broadside on the rocks, and had a list of eight degrees. In all her compartments was ten feet of water.

BRITISH PAPERS SEIZURE OF RUM SHIP

ACTION OF U. S. CUTTER CAUSES STIR IN BRITAIN

London Morning Post "Cannot Believe" Hughes Approved "Glaring Infraction."

FRIENDSHIP STRAINED

London, Nov. 28.—The seizure of the British schooner, Tomako off the New Jersey coast is attracting considerable notice in the London press. The Morning Post thinks the incident was unfortunate and that the delay in connection with the British-American treaty in modifying the three-mile limit has been marked by the "illegal seizure of British vessels engaged in what may not be an honorable but certainly is not an illegal occupation."

Thus, linking the Tomako affair with the seizure of the British schooner, Island Home of Texas, this newspaper continues: "The action of the United States revenue cutter was most high-handed and unjustified, and has only too much in common with the fanaticism and fury which have accompanied the prohibition movement in the United States."

The Morning Post cannot believe that Secretary of State Hughes gave his approval to "this glaring infraction of international law." It seems to the commentator that "a new constitutional dilemma is rising in United States politics, for in addition to the ancient feud between the president and the senate there now seems to be developing a contest between the prohibition authorities and the state department."

Referring to the possibility that the new treaty may have to be withdrawn in consequence of such hostility and the ship liquor ruling of the supreme court, the newspaper says that in that case "it is quite clear Anglo-American friendship would again be subjected to a severe strain, and it is precisely this contingency which the British foreign office is anxious to avoid."

The Daily Mail expresses a different view. While disavowing the slightest sympathy with prohibition, this paper thinks "the activity of bootleggers using British bases for huge smuggling operations ought to be checked. If the hearty seafarers of Gloucester, Massachusetts, want to convey alcohol to the United States they should be required to do it under the United States flag from United States bases. Canada, points out the Daily Mail, has made an amicable arrangement with the United States to put down smuggling, and what Canada has done, Great Britain should be able to do."

The newspaper hopes ratification of the limit agreement will be pressed forward so as to guard off the grievance which tends to embitter relations between the United States and this country.

In 1912, taxation in London per head of population amounted to $13.37. This steadily arose until in 1923 it reached $35.16, not including local improvement charges. But the people of London are today buying water for what it cost them in 1878, and since 1912, the cost of hydro in London has been cut to one-quarter. Pockock was a member of the Public Utilities Commission that brought this about.

CANNOT DRAG SECRETS FROM WOMEN VOTERS

British Election Canvassers Are Finding It Difficult To Get Accurate Estimate.

DECLINE PLEDGES

Premier Baldwin Goes Tonight To Meet Radicals of Glasgow.

Associated Press Despatch. London, Nov. 28.—Election canvassers in Great Britain have found that a woman can keep a secret, after all. They are complaining that while it always has been, and still is, possible to draw from the men some idea of how they are to vote, it rarely is easy, and in most cases is impossible, to drag this secret from the women. Consequently, the canvassers cannot frame anything like a close estimate of the result of the polling on December 6. The women voters, the observers say, listen readily to the candidates, and are fond of asking questions, but they are far more reserved than the men in expressing their own opinions, and show no inclination to pledge themselves to support any party.

Commenting on this feature of the electoral campaign, The Daily Mail says that women, as a newcomer in politics, is less susceptible to party ties and traditions, and that it seems to be more concerned with the domestic and bread and butter side of things than is the man's.

Prime Minister Baldwin is going to Glasgow tonight to hear the Radicals in their den, but whether his speech will be listened to is doubtful. Many anti-Labor speakers are complaining that they cannot get a hearing, especially in constituencies where the Communist element is strong.

Referring to the possibility that the new treaty may have to be withdrawn in consequence of such hostility and the ship liquor ruling of the supreme court, the newspaper says that in that case "it is quite clear Anglo-American friendship would again be subjected to a severe strain, and it is precisely this contingency which the British foreign office is anxious to avoid."

SEE SPRINGBANK DAM AS BIG CIVIC ASSET

to-date piece of mechanism and solidity. It has been suggested that it be wired in such a manner as to throw off sufficient heat during the spring breakups to melt the ice coming down stream. This has been done successfully in other cities, and would do away with any possibility of the ice carrying away or jamming against the dam, causing a flood.

As far as West London is concerned, the dam is a point on which there will be no danger of a flood from water being raised by the dam.

If at any time the danger did occur the dam could be life-saving, and would do away with any possibility of the ice carrying away or jamming against the dam, causing a flood.

Permission for the erection of the dam must be secured from the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission, which by the water powers' act has the say as to what may be erected. The act does not prohibit the erection or extension of any plant or existing plants, dams, forays, etc., but does state that notice must be given and permission received.

Sewage Pollution. As far as the establishment of another power plant at Springbank is concerned, this is not prohibited, but the same conditions must be observed. The erection of such a plant, however, according to conservative estimates, would cost an additional $152,000. This would make the cost of any power generated here $32 per horsepower. The amount is placed at from 800 to 1,000-horsepower for four hours a day, seven months of the year. The utilities commission is at present using some 20,000 horsepower twelve months in the year, and paying $25 per horsepower for it from the provincial body.

The question of sewage disposal also enters into the question. It is pointed out that if London could be penalized for allowing the raw sewage to float down the river as it does, Owing to the shallowness of the stream, however, and the fact that the sun is looked on as a great purifier, there is practically no danger of infection. If, however, the river is deepened, the raw sewage would be reached and deadened by the sun, but will pollute the entire river.

IMMIGRATION POLICY CRITICIZED BY LABOR

Official Organ Says Return of British Harvesters Will Hinder Work.

Ottawa, Nov. 28.—The bringing of harvest laborers from Britain to Canada is criticized in the current issue of the Canadian Congress Journal, official organ of the British and Labor Congress of Canada.

"A large number of these disillusioned harvest laborers," says the journal, "have returned to the old land—wiser but poorer. For reasons, yet unexplained, many of them were unable to secure employment, and others were compelled to accept employment under promised wages and conditions."

"We are not in a position to say just how many of the harvest laborers returned," adds the Congress organ, "but this we do know—sufficient of them have done so to cause considerable public concern in the British press, which certainly will do future immigration work in Britain considerable harm, and has also given Canada much adverse publicity."

"An adoption of labor's immigration policy would minimize a recurrence. A continuance of the present policy is certainly not in the best interests of Canada nor of immigrants."

AGREE NOT TO WED FOR ONE YEAR

Associated Press Despatch. Southampton, England, Nov. 28.—Forty girls who sailed for New Zealand aboard the steamer Athene, made a promise, solemn and laughingly, according to temperance, that they would not become brides for at least 12 months.

They are going out in charge of a matron under the domestic help scheme, and the "No wedding" clause in their contract was necessary because of the rush of suitors these girls from the mother country are attracting. About half of the 2,500 girls sent to New Zealand, with a free passage and $10 pocket money—during the last three years have already been married and a large number of others are engaged.

McGILL TO TELL OF NEW ONTARIO'S DEVELOPMENT

Minister of Mines Visits City Thursday To Attend St. Patrick's Bazaar.

SPEAKS AT NOON

Hon. Charles McGill, minister of mines in the Ontario cabinet, will arrive in London on Thursday morning at 11:30, primarily to officiate in the evening at the St. Patrick's bazaar, which is to be held in St. Peter's Hall, but he will also deliver two addresses during the day. He has been asked to attend the Canadian Club luncheon at the Tecumseh House at noon and a dinner of the Conservative Club in the evening.

Members of the Canadian Club have made arrangements to meet the minister on the morning train. He will be taken to the Tecumseh House, and at 12:15 will give an address on "The Resources and Development of New Ontario." Mr. McGill is a fluent speaker, and his years of residence in the Sudbury district qualifies him to speak with authority on the subject he has chosen.

The Canadian Club has extended an invitation to members of the chamber of commerce to attend the luncheon.

The Conservative Club has taken advantage of Hon. Mr. McGill's visit to the city and has arranged the first of their regular monthly dinners to be held in the Indian Room of the Tecumseh House tomorrow, in order that the members might have an opportunity of meeting the minister of mines. Mr. McGill has been asked to give a short address at 6 o'clock.

Father Shelly, of St. Patrick's Church, one of the bazaar officers, is an intimate friend of Hon. Mr. McGill. The minister will be in attendance on the closing night of the fair.

SCHOOL LEGISLATORS DECIDE FOR SOCIAL

London East Collegiate To Hold Get-Together Entertainment Dec. 14.

After lengthy arguments and lengthy consideration, the bill authorizing the holding of a social evening by the students of the London East Collegiate Institute passed the legislature yesterday and was accepted by the students.

The get-together meeting will be held on the evening of Dec. 14, this being the last of the year.

The committee are as follows: Reception—Principals O'Neill, McCreary, Jack Bourke, Jean Johnston, Bernard Fitzmaurice, Erma McCune, Margaret Hider, William Wain (convenor), Doris Hider, William Wain, Gordon Purdy, Grace Wilson; dance—Miss Watson (convenor), Grace Wilkey, Campbell Edwards, Daisy Ponting, Waleale McCausland, Homer Nelson, Lillian Adams, Norma Taylor, Marlan Johnston; games—Miss Minihick (convenor), Margaret Talbot, Sadie Hider, Gordon, Jessie Walker, William Brooks, George Armstrong, Louis Goldenberg, and Angus Bouslog.

Principal O'Neill expressed himself as pleased with the way in which the students have taken hold of the idea of the social evening. He pointed out the idea of the legislature shows a marked improvement over the one of a few years ago, and the speeches before in every way and above all to love Jesus Christ, whose messages they learn there.

Mr. Rayner then asked if any comfort could be found in such time as this and declared that only in God's great redeeming love could such comfort be found. "For I am persuaded that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor height nor depth, nor any other creature shall be able to separate us from the love of God which is in Christ Jesus our Lord," he said.

"There are solace, comfort and hope of eternal life to be found in the love of God," he said, "and the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord, is the only love that can save us from the love of the flesh and we can leave her safe in the Good Shepherd's arms."

The speaker closed with a message of warning, "the tragedy reminds us that in the midst of life we are in death; then if we are wise we will prepare to meet our God."

Rev. Mr. Hider closed the service, after which the casket was opened and hundreds of sympathizing friends filed slowly by taking a last look at the face of the girl who was loved by all.

Mrs. Durston, the mother of the dead girl, who collapsed on Sunday morning, the shock to her system, the death and has been in the care of the trained nurse since, was able to be present at the private service in the home, but was not able to attend the service at the church. By a wonderful display of courage, however, she insisted on going to the cemetery, where from an automobile she witnessed the interment of her daughter's body.

The pallbearers were six young friends of the family: Russell Duncan, George Morris, Orville Jones, Clare Manders, Orville Saunders and William Kerr.

Among the out-of-town friends and relatives present at the funeral were Miss Bessie Frendley of London, Geraldine's closest friend, and W. Stacey of London; Mr. and Mrs. Crim and family, Mrs. H. Thomas, Mr. St. Clair and Fred Hawn, all of Sarnia; Mrs. Driesch and daughter of H. Driesch, Arthur Kerr of Windsor; J. Lawrence and Mrs. W. J. Johnson of Detroit, and Mrs. T. E. Newell of Stratford. The Andrews Wire Works Company, in whose employ the girls were while in Watford, closed both their Watford and Stratford plants for the afternoon. Practically all of the Watford staff and a large delegation from the Stratford plant were present at the funeral, while the Baptist Sunday school of Stratford, which the girls attended during the last two weeks of their life, had a large number of young ladies, headed by the teacher of the class the girls attended, who came in one way or another from the neighborhood communities, Arkona, Stratford and Warwick villages, among others.

The beautiful floral tributes were those from the Holcroft Hosiery, London; Mr. Remick and the girls of the Holcroft Remick department, London; Andrews Wire Works employees, Watford; Congregational and Methodist Sunday schools, Watford; Baptist Sunday school class, Watford; Miss Morton, Stratford Hospital, and many from relatives and friends.

Community Pays Tribute At 'Gerry' Durston's Funeral

Shooting Victim Is Laid to Rest From Parents' Home in Watford.

Rev. T. O. Rayner Protests the Ease of Purchasing Revolvers.

Special to The Advertiser.

Watford, Nov. 27.—Miss Geraldine Durston of this town, who was shot and killed by Clarence Topping in Los Angeles without a gun or revolver, was laid to rest this afternoon, her funeral being attended by a large crowd of mourners.

The whole community, a private service held at the home of the girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Durston, John street, was conducted by Rev. W. K. Hager, Rev. T. D. Rayner. The public service was held in the Methodist Church. As the funeral procession entered, the congregation remained standing.

Rev. W. K. Hager, E.A., pastor of the church, conducted the service, reading the scripture lessons and offering an earnest prayer for comfort. The choir sang softly the hymns "Jesus Lover of My Soul" and "Jesus Savior Pilot Me," and Mrs. James Brush of the Congregational Church sang "Does Jesus Care?" Mrs. Hicks presided at the organ. The address was given by Rev. T. D. Rayner, pastor of the Congregational Church, who preached on Sunday morning, "was present against the advice of his physician, and his voice broke as he began to speak of the dead girl.

In the course of his address Mr. Rayner said: "We have gathered today at this sad tragedy, a tragedy which has shaken our village, and has left us stunned by its terrible results. We are here to pay our last tribute of love to poor Geraldine and to express our deep sympathy to the bereaved parents. I feel that my first word should be one of protest. It is difficult for me to speak dispassionately of a girl whose death has so deeply affected the hearts of all who knew her. I am not here to utter a word against the foolish lad who committed the wicked deed. I pity him, and with all my heart I pity his stricken parents. I feel that my first word should be one of protest. ## URGENT CHANGING SUPERANNUATION AGE OF CLERGY

Committee Is Selected by Anglican Deanery To Make Investigations.

FAVOR REPRESENTATION

At the semi-annual business meeting of the deanery of the Anglican Church held last night at St. James' Church, it was decided that the proposal for changing the age limit for superannuation of Anglican clergymen from 70 years to 65, together with further changes in regard to superannuation be referred to a committee which will submit a report at the next deanery meeting. Considerable discussion over the change of age for superannuation arose at last night's meeting, and the deanery was on the point of moving that they concur with the proposal for the change when it was brought to their attention that the finances of the Anglican Church in this district might not permit the change as the number of superannuated clergy would be increased considerably.

The committee which will investigate into the matter is composed of Archdeacon Sage, Canon Gunne, Dean Tucker, Chris Hodgins, G. B. Drake and A. F. Nash.

A lengthy discussion followed on the church extension question. It was brought to the attention of several clergy that members of their parish had been solicited regarding the erection of a new church in Knollwood Park without their knowledge that such a movement was on foot. It was decided, however, to let the matter rest for a while until a committee investigated the condition which exists in Knollwood Park.

At the afternoon's meeting of the Deanery Chapter, Dean Tucker gave an address, in which he deplored the fact that the Anglican Church was not represented at the recent world missions conference held in this city. "I am sure the other churches would have been delighted to have representatives of the Anglican Church at the conference," declared the dean, "where the leading men of the community give addresses, we would benefit from their inspiration. I am so confident in the Church of England that I do not care where I stand or who I stand with. The Church of England has never suffered from such association."

Both Rev. Quintin Warner of Crown Memorial Church and Rev. Leslie Armitage of St. James' backed up the statements of Dean Tucker. They agreed that in no instance whatever had the Anglican Church suffered by such association. It was their opinion that the Church of England would have been winners all the way had they been represented at the world missions conference.

PLAINTIFF IS WINNER IN INSURANCE CASE

Decision Rendered in Test Suit Brought by Brantford Company.

Special to The Advertiser.

Brantford, Nov. 27.—Mr. Justice Masten has rendered his decision in the Brantford Shoe Company vs. Gore Fire Insurance Company in favor of the plaintiff. Judgment is for the full amount of the insurance, which totals $180,000. Over 20 other actions of a similar nature have been entered, and this judgment will apply in each case. The reconstruction of the factory has been held up pending the outcome of the case. The action against the Gore Company was made a test case. The defence alleged that the sprinkler system did not operate.

House Is Burned.
A house owned by Mr. Connell and situated in the county was completely destroyed by fire last night. The house, although completely furnished, was unoccupied, and the loss will be heavy. The firemen responded to the call, but the building was beyond saving.

Late Mrs. Geo. McLean.
The death occurred at the Brantford General Hospital today of Louise Bull, wife of Geo. McLean, 29 Murray street. She was a prominent worker in Wellington Methodist Church. Funeral Wednesday to Mount Hope Cemetery. Besides the husband, she is survived by three sons, Carl of Peterboro, Howard of Calgary and Ernest of Brantford.

Armenian Settlement.

Mr. Ahmen Amirkhanian, a leading Armenian lawyer of this city, has returned from Ottawa after an interview with Hon. J. A. Robb and others with reference to having a township set aside for incoming Armenians. Mr. Amirkhanian states that his proposals were favorably received. It is proposed to have a tract of land sufficient for about 100 fair-sized farms set aside in Northern Ontario for settlement by Armenians. Mr. Amirkhanian states that hundreds of thousands of Armenians are in an unsettled state in Europe. There only remain a few thousand in Turkey now, where formerly there were 2,000,000. Many of these are anxious to locate in this country, and all would have some capital. Doctors and other professional men are included in those anxious to settle here. It is not the desire to maintain Armenian ideals or customs in Canada, but to assimilate them into the habits and customs of their adopted land.

Kiwanis Officers.

At the regular meeting of the Brantford Kiwanis Club officers were elected: Jack Waddell, president; Rev. C. E. Jenkins, vice-president; Tom Minnes and D. T. Williamson, district trustees; executive committee, D. L. Adams, Ross Beckett, A. E. Day, W. J. Feldcamp, H. E. Gignac, D. Hutton, Ross McDonald and Art Percy.

Rev. J. Mill gave an interesting description of his experiences during a recent tour of the West, and spoke in glowing terms of the open-hearted hospitality he met. He gave a very vivid account of the Calgary stampede.

BOARDS OF TRADE WILL ASK CHANGE IN BUSINESS TAX

London Chamber of Commerce Prepares Resolution on Subject.

TRANSIENT TRADERS

Two resolutions have been added to those already passed by the London Chamber of Commerce for presentation to the annual meeting of the boards of trade of Western Ontario in St. Thomas tomorrow and Friday. One deals with revision of Ontario business tax and is an argument against the principles on which the present tax is based. It states in part:

The present business tax in Ontario is inequitable as between different classes of business, big business transacted in small premises being taxed less than small business in more costly premises; imposes an excessively heavy handicap in competition with similar business in Quebec and Manitoba, the tax on wholesale business, for example, being in Ontario five times greater than that permitted by the statutes of Manitoba and Quebec.

There is resolved that this annual meeting of the Western Ontario united boards of trade respectfully petition the government of the Province of Ontario to favorably consider the substitution of a more equitable method of assessing the business tax, to remove inequity as between different classes of business and encourage rather than deter improvement of business property, and as it is recognized that amendment of existing provisions cannot be enacted without careful and prolonged study, that the present provisions of the assessment act be amended at the next session of the provincial legislature by reduction of the assessable percentage in the case of merchandising, manufacturing and financial classes which are obviously transacting business at an unreasonably burdensome disadvantage in competition with similar business in other provinces.

Transient Traders.
The second resolution has to do with the transient traders' license. Several London merchants claim that the system in force today of handling the collection of this tax is unsatisfactory and discriminates unfairly against the permanent retailer in a city. This resolution states:

"Whereas, under the provisions of the Ontario assessment act, a business tax is assessable on a percentage of property valuation, and the assessment roll from which the business tax is collected is compiled in one year and is not handed to the collector for collection until the year following, permitting the sale of goods, wares or merchandise without payment of taxes for part of one year, if discontinued before the tax is collectable;

And whereas, the statutory provisions for licensing, regulating and governing transient traders permit persons or firms whose names appear on the assessment roll in respect to business transacted in one premises to sell goods, wares or merchandise for one year or less in other premises without payment of license fee or payment of business tax under the provisions of the assessment act; and whereas transient traders may sell goods, wares or merchandise and evade payment of the transient traders' license by having sale of goods carried on in the name of a person whose name appears on the assessment roll in respect to premises other than that in which sales are conducted;

MAYOR SCORES SPREAD FAKE YARNS

MAYOR WENIGE SCORES "WHISPERS OF DEATH" BROADCASTED IN CITY

Plays Opponents For Sending "Camouflage" Measure To the People—Will Not Resign If City Hall Bylaw Defeated—Pocock Presents Resume of Stewardship—Wenige Tells of "Big Craft."

CHALLENGES COUNCIL TO DISPUTE FACTS

"Whispers of death" as broadcast by the London Free Press were held up to scorn by Mayor Wenige last night, to the intense satisfaction and general approval of scores of ratepayers in attendance at ward three mass meetings at the Alexandra and Ealing schools. Addressing both gatherings, his worship dealt vigorously with the city hall bylaw, and flayed his opponents in the city council, who sent a "camouflaged" measure to the people. At the Alexandra school, Philip Pocock delivered another excellent account of his long stewardship on the public utilities commission. And his chief opponent since the campaign opened, D. J. Tallant, did not even appear to renew his spectacular challenges or issue others. Several candidates for the city council and the board of education delivered addresses in much the same strain as at former meetings in the same ward. Mayor Wenige did not mince matters last night, and his promise that in 1924, as in 1923, he would not "be a tool for any party or clique" was the signal for spontaneous applause. "If we accept the verdict of a certain local publication," he stated (referring to last night's edition of the

I have a mandate from the people of this city to serve them as mayor for 1924, and I would be a "piker" if I deserted them at that account.

"I am not going to resign. I am not like one member of your present council who said he would not sit in the council with me if I were elected." (Cheers.)

The mayor challenged any member of the city council to dispute any of the facts relative to the city hall question, presented by him since the campaign opened.

And he found occasion to point out that there was never such a thing as a "federal square."

"You have no record of it at the city hall," he asserted. "And I have searched the city hall records pretty thoroughly during 1923. Pizeonholes have been cleared out there that were never cleared out before in years. And there are certain things which I submit should be told you before the end of my term and you will have this information."

The electors roared with amusement when the mayor explained the "craft" charge projected into the arena by the London Free Press. The purchase of a dozen bicycle spokes from the Bicycle and Motor Sales Company.

Dollar's Worth.

"I sold them a dollar's worth of spokes for an old Red Bird that they had," he explained. "The police department made this purchase from me because these spokes would fit the old wheel. I thought would let you know about this, as you may have heard about the sort of 'grafter' and 'robber' the local paper in question would have you believe I was."

The mayor also took occasion to reply to the charge delivered at the Talbot street school by Jared Vinth, chairman of the public utilities commission that he was "autocratic" because he "held a club over the head of the commission until he received the pay-list."

"I had an order from twelve aldermen to get this list and I got it," he stated. "If that is autocracy, I would like to know what democracy is."

City in Ruins.

"Don't do any more business in the town, according to this paper in question. Just let everything go, and we'll be back again to the days of the log cabins and the ox cart. I say you can't grow by standing still. You go backward, as the others would pass you. But that is what they would have you do."

In his characteristic vigorous explanation of the city hall question, Mayor Wenige "put another over" on the Free Press—he denied an announcement expected from that journal tomorrow—another of those "tales heard on the street." He made it quite clear that he did not intend to resign if the people turn down the city hall bylaw.

"That question was asked me today," he stated. "But there is absolutely nothing to the rumor, not even contemplated such action."

ANDREW ROBSON

"The Advertiser has always been in my family and I personally, have taken it for a lifetime. I am therefore only too glad to join with thousands of others in wishing it a very bright future."

"Although it has just celebrated its diamond jubilee, as newspapers go, The Advertiser cannot be called old. It is rather in the prime of life when, mellowed by time and tolerant by experience, it is able to give greater service and inspire finer ideals than at any other period during its history."

"The fact that I have always taken The Advertiser is the best testimony I can give as to its worth. I congratulate and wish it every success."

"ANDREW ROBSON."

TWO ARE BURIED ALIVE AS SEWER SUDDENLY CAVES

Joseph Labieo and Andrew Criffo Victims of Montreal Accident.

CORPORATION WORKERS

Associated Press Despatch. Ottawa, Nov. 27. — Two corporation employees, Joseph Labieo, Seneca street, and Andrew Criffo, Booth street, were buried alive when a corporation sewer under construction on Monk street caved in near the corner of Meiguid avenue this afternoon. Both were dead when uncovered.

The sewer was being constructed by city forces under the direction of Foreman Andrew, and shortly after the men had resumed work in the afternoon a large section caved in, catching the two men. Andrew Criffo was first recovered, after twenty minutes of frantic work. He was taken to The Holiness Movement College, Labieo, however, died from the trench about fifteen minutes later. He had a fractured skull, and life was extinct.

Labieo was 25 years of age, and Criffo 35 years. Both were married, and each had one child. An inquest will be held.

ATTACKS APPEAL LEGALITY AND BOARD JURISDICTION

Special to The Advertiser.

Galt, Nov. 27.—When the court of revision on assessment reconvened this morning Thomas Urquhart of Toronto, acting in behalf of the assessment commissioner, discussed the legality of Alderman Willard's general appeal, contending that, in the printed form of appeal, was illegal, according to the act, and furthermore maintained that if the court upheld the general appeal it must of necessity consider one of the 7,000 appeals individually.

Further, he contended, the court was not properly constituted to hear such an appeal, since the assessments of all three members of the court had been appealed by Ald. Willard, and therefore they were interested parties and could not sit and hear the appeal.

Mothers Should Not Neglect Bronchitis In the Babies.

Mrs. E. Langdon, Kingston, Ont., writes: "My baby boy had bronchitis when he was two weeks old. He recovered from the attack, but took it again, several months later, and on account of the severity I was almost panic-stricken to know what to do for him. My mother advised me to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, as she had used it for several years with splendid results."

"I got a bottle, and after I had used it I could see a decided improvement in him. After several bottles he was completely well. My boy is now two years old, and he has never had an attack of bronchitis since."

"As a mother raising a family, I am very grateful to know that I have found a real remedy for bad colds and bronchitis, as it lifts care and anxiety from an anxious mother's shoulders."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is 35c a bottle; the large family size 60c. Put up only by the T. Milburn Company, Limited, Toronto, Ont.—Adv.

George F. Copeland also made his bow to the electors. He stated that he had been a teacher for 15 years and a principal for five years. He would make no promises regarding new buildings or anything else, but promised to safeguard the interests of the people.

Referring to secondary education, he stated that the board should have a definite understanding with Toronto, as it would be a mistake to go ahead without any knowledge of what was planned. The province did not want another fiasco like that of the adolescent act, which plunged the country into expenditures for new secondary schools. He mentioned the extensive building program carried out by the board since 1912 and said that the 17 years delay in supplying the schools had boosted costs.

Adam Palmer repeated his arguments of previous meetings relative to the increase in expenditure by the board which, according to him, the increase in attendance did not warrant. He promised economy with efficiency in every way possible.

MRS. J. G. RITCHIE HONORED. Special to The Advertiser. Camlachie, Nov. 27.—The members of the congregation of the Anglican Church gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Joynt on Friday evening to pay tribute to their daughter Lillian, now Mrs. J. G. Ritchie. For some twelve years Mrs. Ritchie has been a faithful member of the choir of Christ Church, and the members wished to manifest their appreciation of her services in a suitable way.

Rev. Peter, rector, read an appropriate address, and Miss Margaret Johnson, a member of the choir, presented her with a beautiful cut glass bowl.

DECLARES TARIFF MUST BE RAISED

Arthur F. Hatch States Number of Canadians Going To U. S. Disgraceful.

Canadian Press Despatch.

St. Catharines, Nov. 27.—If Canada's tariff on some classes of manufactured goods was not increased, more unemployment, more hardship and less profits for the farmers could be the only results, declared Col. A. F. Hatch of Hamilton, 1st vice-president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, in officially opening the second annual St. Catharines industrial exhibition here tonight. He thought it absolutely disgraceful that in 1921, 58,000 and so far in 1923, 108,000 males had left Canada for the United States to seek employment.

Mrs. Gordon Wright Is Honored By the W.C.T.U.

Local and County Unions Send Flowers to Home of National President, Just Back From Scotland.

Growing reports of work carried on at the Springbank camp this summer featured yesterday afternoon's meeting of the local branch of the W.C.T.U. The report of the treasurer, given by Miss Munsen, showed that the outlay for the camp had been $517.97, leaving a balance of $44.30 in the treasury. Mrs. Ida Harrison also gave a brief but interesting account of camp life.

The news of the return to the city of the national president, Mrs. Gordon Wright, after several weeks spent in Scotland, was received with enthusiasm by the members, who united with the county union in sending to her home a great armful of flowers. An interesting address of yesterday afternoon was that given by Miss Winifred Forsythe of Christodora House, New York, who is visiting her sister, Mrs. H. W. Paddell, president of the union. Miss Forsythe spoke of social service work in the great metropolis, giving special attention to work carried on in the camps.

Forty-Eight Tracts. New York, she said, was divided into forty-eight great tracts for the purpose of social service work, and Christodora House was situated in one of these. There were 260,000 people in the tract, in one block of which 600 people were living. Whole families, father, mother and children, were taken away to the fresh air camp, where many of them saw a real sunset and enjoyed family life for the first time in all their lives. So successful had been the work at Christodora House, an institution founded many years ago, that its tract had the lowest death rate of all forty-eight.

There were four cornerstones on which the settlement work was built—hardly practical efficiency, which included the teaching of a trade to every child; citizenship, which meant the teaching of the English language and the constitution of the country; and the right use of leisure.

Campaign For Temperance. The union is planning to work out a campaign in aid of the temperance cause in the province, but will do nothing in a practical way until after December 11, which has been set aside as a day of prayer in the cause of temperance.

Several appointments were made yesterday. The appropriation committee includes Mrs. J. Chapman, Mrs. R. E. Gregory, Mrs. William Lamb and the house committee, Mrs. Lyon, Mrs. Della Cottam and Miss Barker.

A new member was received into the union, Miss L. Proctor. The members heard with regret of the severe illness in Winnipeg of Mrs. Plewis, formerly of this city, and a member of the W. C. T. U. for thirty years.

The officers' quarters at the Armories presented an attractive scene yesterday at the tea hour, when the Seventh Regiment Chapter entertained at a shower in aid of the Variety Shop at the Streets of Wonderland Bazaar. The members of the Senator Coffey Chapter, who are co-operating with the Seventh Regiment Chapter in the Variety Shop, were special guests of the occasion.

Many lovely gifts were brought during the afternoon, including beautiful needlework, bead work, lamp shades, oil paintings, etc. Mrs. Shuttlesworth King, honorary regent of the chapter, was welcomed back after her absence in the Old Land. Mrs. F. H. Butler, the regent, presided over the teas.

One of the happiest and merriest dances of the season was that held by the Alert Club in the Winter Gardens last night, when 600 people danced far into the morning hours. Novelty dances were the order of the night, and were brought to a climax by the entirely new "dance of the millions," during which real German marks were thrown among the dancers. Those who were "whole bank away," declared one of the enthusiastic members of the committee after the rash deed had been committed, "were a cozy appearance to the hall. Ten prizes were offered for spotlight dances and serpentine dances, which were proudly borne away by many light-footed maidens. The committee in charge of the dance included Mr. George Gordon, Mr. Allan Kay, Mr. Lou Dambra and Mr. Eddie Buchner.

WEDDINGS

FLANNERY—FITZMAURICE.

St. Mary's Church was the scene of a pretty wedding this morning at 8:30 o'clock, when Marjorie Mary Fitzmaurice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Fitzmaurice, was married to Mr. Joseph P. Flannery, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Flannery. Rev. Dr. Flannery, brother of the groom, performed the ceremony.

As the first party entered the church, the wedding march was played by Miss Keating. The bride wore a graceful gown of white satin brocade, falling in drapery about her with a pearl ornament. Her veil of silk net was becomingly arranged with a bandeau of pearls and orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of white roses, with streamers, to which were attached lilies-of-the-valley.

Miss Marjorie Daly acted as bridesmaid, wearing a pretty frock of pink georgette trimmed with silver, and pink taffeta ribbons. Her hat was of silver, trimmed with pink flowers, and she carried an arm bouquet of sunset roses. Mr. Jack Orendorff acted as best man. Miss Alma Connors sang Ave Maria and Miss Dorothy Dodd also sang during the ceremony.

Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, on Ontario street. Mrs. Fitzmaurice wore a sand colored charmuse, with a hat to match and a corsage of white. Mrs. Flannery wore a black satin gown. The table was decorated with pink and white roses. Mr. and Mrs. Flannery left later on a honeymoon, the bride traveling in a brown chiffon velvet gown, with a brown and gold hat, trimmed with French flowers and a southern muskrat coat, the gift of the groom. Upon their return they will reside in London.

Among the guests, numbering 45, were many from out of town, including Miss Lilianess, Gases, Indigestion, and all such distress gone by morning. Most harmless laxative for Men, Women and Children—10¢ boxes, also 25¢ and 50¢ sizes. Any drug store.—Advt.

Three-Day Bazaar in Full Swing in St. Peter's Parish Hall.

Without a doubt the biggest bazaar held in London this year the three-day fair sponsored by the parishioners of St. Patrick's Church was officially opened in St. Peter's Parish Hall last night by Mayor Wenige.

The mayor complimented the ladies of the parish on the wonderful display of useful articles, and the artistic way in which the hall was decorated, and hoped that the fullest measure of success would be attained. The bazaar closes on Thursday.

Supper, served by the women under the general convenship of Mrs. Thomas McLaughlin, assisted by Mrs. McInnis and Mrs. J. Roach. From the time the supper hall opened till the "last call" throngs filed their way to the rows and rows of tables laden with good things to eat.

By 8 o'clock everything was in full swing, and the numerous booths were besieged with eager buyers. Everything from roasted peanuts to live animals was obtainable, while wheels of fortune hummed merrily.

The bazaar opened again at 10 o'clock this morning, and supper will be served tonight and on Thursday.

A LARGE number of women's ailments are not surgical ones. Serious displacements or radical changes have not yet taken place. A tiny part in a fine clock may become loose and cause the clock to gain or lose. If not attended to in time, the part may fall from its place and cause serious trouble. So it is with women's ailments, they start from simple causes; but if allowed to continue, produce serious conditions. When the warning symptoms are first noted, take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve the present troublesome ailment, and to prevent the development of serious trouble.

River Desert, Quebec—"I used to have a severe pain in my side. I would be unable to walk fast and could not stand for any length of time to do my ironing or washing but I would have to lie down to get relief from the pain. I had this for about two years, then a friend told me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as she had had good results. I certainly got good results from it too as the last time I had a sore side was last May and I have not had it since. I am also glad of having good nursing for my baby and I think it is your medicine that helped me in this way."—Mrs. L. V. BUDON, River Desert, Quebec.

Woodbridge, Ontario—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for female troubles. I would have headaches, backaches, pains between my shoulders and under my shoulder-blades and had feelings in the lower parts on each side, in the groins. I was sometimes unable to do my work and felt very badly. My mother-in-law told me about the Vegetable Compound and I got some right away. It has done me more good than any other medicine I ever took. You are quite welcome to use this letter as a testimonial if you think it will help some poor sufferer."—Mrs. EDGAR SIMMONS, Woodbridge, Ontario.

What Is Back of Your Milk Supply?

A constant, adequate supply of pure, fresh milk is vital to the welfare of every home and every community. For milk, so far as children are concerned at least, is the one food for which there is no substitute. A milk supply deficient either in quantity or quality is a direct menace to the most important thing in the world—the health and growth of the children. Theoretically all milk is Clean and Safe. But Nature when she made Milk took no heed of this rushing twentieth century. And man has had to find a way to safeguard Milk supplies just as he has had to find a way to protect drinking water. Such a safeguard is found in the plant and equipment of the modern city Milk dealer.

Silverwood's Milk

(—it's pasteurized)

We make it our business to get good Milk in the first place; and in the second place we make it our business to keep it good until it reaches your door. Back of every bottle of our Milk is an elaborate system of safeguards extending all the way to the farm. Not one thing is left to guesswork. We know our Milk is PURE—Because its production is carefully scrutinized. CLEAN—Because it is vigilantly guarded against dust and dirt.

SAFE—Because it's Perfectly Pasteurized (the only way of protecting Milk against infection that is at once Sure and Practical), bottled in sterilized bottles and sealed.

WHOLESALE—Because it is tested every day for richness. In other words, our plant represents an organization working practically 24 hours a day to protect the homes we serve. It represents a big outlay of money and brains. But it means MILK on which our customers can absolutely rely.

Have you such an assurance in the Milk you are buying? If not, may we not serve you, too?

Saleswoman a Big Factor
In Buying Right Clothes

American Woman Fails To Develop Personal Element Which Has Important Place in Paris.

By JULIA HOYT.

In my last article I said I would tell you a few of my theories on how the American woman should go about emancipating herself from the edict of the Parisian with regard to dress. I am now offering a few of them here for what they are worth. Many may differ with me.

I believe that the American saleswoman is something to be feared. She is unbecomingly unsuitable as the French vendeuse. Why, then, does one see her every day offering a short, stout woman a dress that should only be worn by a tall, slim girl?

In my opinion, it isn't her fault, but ours, for three reasons.

First, the saleswoman in America has discovered that the average buyer who admires something she shouldn't, doesn't want to be told that it is not the right choice. She much prefers to go happily on her way, believing she looks just as the lovely model who showed her the dress, or as the young, slim girl she perhaps sees in the same model on the street.

Second, the saleswoman has also discovered that the slogan, "Everybody's Wearing This," is the best seller possible. In other words, the average woman prefers to buy something she feels is popular, unbecomingly though it be, than something suitable to her looks, but perhaps not the popular choice. Since she has no desire to study her own individuality, naturally the saleswoman is not going to try to do it for her, and in consequence, perhaps not make a sale. We seem to have an unhappy predilection for looking just like everyone else. We seem to feel better, more at ease, when we know that we are wearing a color we have been told is smart this year or the exact silhouette that is said to be correct.

Interest Begets Interest.

The third reason I feel that the buyer is responsible for conventions, and not the saleswoman, is that we are apt not to interest or be interested in the people from whom we buy our dresses, hats, shoes, etc. This, I think, is a mistake for both sides, but particularly for ours. I happen to be very sensitive to personalities, and consequently whenever I go I try to find someone who is sympathetic and make a friend of her—someone who will then take an interest in me, and who I feel is my friend when I walk into the store. It may be the girl who sells me my hats, or the girl who sells me my perfume. It is all the same, and very important.

Whoever it may be, talk to her. Know her, and let her know you, and what you are like. What your tastes are, whether you work or keep house, and what are your requirements. She needs only a tiny bit of encouragement from you, and the best of her services, attention and imagination will be at your disposal.

A little thing happened to me this year in Indianapolis that I think proves this method must be a trifle unusual. I had been there nine weeks last year, and during that time had gone a few times to a certain counter in a department store. A day or two after my arriving in Indianapolis this year I went to the counter and found there the same girl as last year. I had chatted with her two or three times, but little though she would remember me. To my great pleasure, she immediately welcomed me back, said she was glad to see me, and even remembered the brand of article I had preferred the year before.

In Paris, the personal touch between seller and buyer is imperative. One gets very badly treated, indeed, if one treats the saleswoman as a figure or an automaton. Here the purchaser is sadly spoilt in that respect, I think.

It Counts More Than Money.

I must confess, however, that, unlike her American cousin, the French woman only takes that great interest after she has discovered two things: First, that you realize that she is a personality; second, that you are interested, and ready to give time and thought to your appearance.

In the opinion of the French woman, these two factors are much more important than the number or cost of the dresses you may buy. So my first idea is that we should begin by interesting the saleswoman in us and our personalities, and thus induce her to study each individual that walks into her store. But as I said (and will take up more fully), to do this we must first have distinct ideas ourselves of what we want and should have.

To Be Sick,
When You
Might Be Well,
Is Dishonest

Shows How Ill Health
May Be Just Plain
Stealing

Business Girls Rob Their Employers.
Wives Defraud Their Husbands—And Professional Invalids Graft on Their Families With Preventable Sickness.

Do you ever think that it is dishonest to be sick when you might be well? It is just plain stealing. And it is the most despicable form of petty larceny, because it is robbing those who love you, and trust you and who are defenseless against you. They cannot lock up their sympathies, their peace of mind, their personal service, their money, safely away from your pilfering.

Of course, there are many people who are really ill. Through no fault of their own, they are smitten down by some terrible disease, and they deserve all that we can give of pity and help as they go stumbling down the agonized way to the grave.

These words are not for them, but for that multitude of men and women with whom sickness is merely a graft, a camouflage for selfishness, and a blanket excuse with which they cover up all their sins of omission and commission, and that furnishes them a perfect alibi for doing everything they want to do, and leaving undone those things which they do not wish to do.

Ninety per cent of all the sickness in the world is voluntary, or at least, contributory negligence. People are sick because they are not willing to make the sacrifices to keep well.

And curiously enough, they justify themselves by claiming that their own health is a personal matter.

"If I make myself sick, I am the one who has to suffer," they say. If this were true, far be it from the balance of us to interfere with their pleasures. But it isn't true. No man or woman is sick to himself or herself alone. We have to listen to their groans. We have to minister to them. We have to do their work. We have to pay their doctor's bills. We have to put up with their irritability and unreason because sickness is supposed to give people carte blanche to do and say all the things that well people do not dare to do.

When ill health is an act of God, as shipping manifests say, and therefore beyond our control, it is one thing. When it is the result of weak, self-indulgence it is another thing. Our sympathies and our assistance go out to the victim of tuberculosis or cancer, but we have nothing but contempt for the glutton who keeps himself sick from overeating.

In every business house where women are employed there is such a large percentage of them absent from work on account of sickness, especially during the winter, that the question is often raised whether the delicate feminine constitution can stand the strain of commercial life. Stuff and nonsense! It is the way they dress and live.

They feel that they have a perfect right to risk bad colds and pneumonia by coming to work on rainy, sloppy, sleety days in paper-satin pumps and chiffon stockings, and with not enough clothes on to keep an icicle warm. They consider it their own affair if they prefer to spend their money on an imported hat instead of on nourishing food. They think they have come to the office with a nervous headache that makes them blind and stupid with pain, and that was brought on by too many nights of successive jazzing, that it is a matter between them and the aspirin bottle alone.

But it isn't. They are not giving their employers a square deal. They are not giving them the services they pay for. They are upsetting the routine of the office, laying the burden of their work on the shoulders of other people.

And look at the invalid wives you know! Dozens of them who have brought nervous prostration on themselves by overwork, or too many clubs and causes, or too much society. Don't we all know women who go on that every such debauch is going to end up in a spell of sickness that will call for doctors and trained nurses? Don't we know women who wear themselves to tatters over church fairs and club campaigns? Don't we know women who play bridge every day until they are so nervous that they become unbearable at home and whose husbands have to send them off to sanatoriums to get a little peace and rest themselves? We do.

And we marvel that these women never stop to consider how they are defrauding their families. They never consider what a wickedly dishonest thing it is to deprive a husband and children of a healthy, strong wife and mother, and give them a narcotic, irritable, cross, nerve-wrecked creature who makes their home about as cheerful as a graveyard, and in which they have always to walk softly and speak in whispers for fear of disturbing the lady who has just gone to bed with a neuralgia headache.

Then there is the large army of women who enjoy poor health, who are professional invalids for the simple reason that they are too lazy and indolent to make the effort to be well.

They are quitters who literally take life lying down. They cultivate small ailments. They acquire the sanatorium habit, and they expect to be pitied and babied instead of being ostracized as dishonest grafters, who snatch the very bread out of the mouths of their families to pay their unnecessary doctor's bills.

We all know dozens of these women who suffer from imaginary complaints, and we have seen many of them cured by their husband's death, when they had to quit being sick, and go to work and support themselves.

And that is why I say that it is dishonest to be sick when you might be well.

Danny and Nanny Have the Strangest Adventure Two Mice Ever Had

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Jenny Wren had so many questions at the tip of her sharp little tongue that Danny and Nanny thought they never would get a chance to ask questions themselves. They told Jenny all that had happened to them. They told her how the aeroplane or great man-bird, as they called it, had come to rest on the Green Meadows and had remained there so long that they had decided it never was going to fly again. They told how they had made their home in a little cupboard in it, and then how they had been made prisoners there by the man who always flew in the great man-bird. They told how each day, they had been carried up in the great man-bird, and how they had had no idea at all where they were being carried.

"Well," declared Jenny, "I don't know where you will be carried to, but I know where you have been brought to. You are already well on your way to the Sunny South. In fact, I suspect some people would call this the Sunny South. You have caught up with a lot of us who are traveling slowly. I saw Chippy the Chipping Sparrow only yesterday. And the day before I saw Redwing the Blackbird. My, won't they be surprised when I tell them that you are down here. I certainly shall tell them. I am sure to see them again. Listen! I think I hear Redwing now." Away flew Jenny Wren, and in a few minutes she was back with Redwing the Blackbird himself. Danny and Nanny had to tell their story all over again. Redwing on his part had news of a lot of old friends who had been neighbors of Danny and Nanny all summer. Meanwhile Jenny Wren had disappeared again. When she returned she brought with her Chippy the Chipping Sparrow and Sweetie the Field Sparrow. On more Danny and Nanny had to tell their story. How many more old friends Jenny

When might have found no one knows for the aviator suddenly appeared for an early start. In a short time Danny and Nanny were in the air again. Perhaps you can guess how excited they were. They knew now the amazing truth. They actually were on their way to the Sunny South. They were going to see that strange land where so many of their feathered friends had spent their winters. It was true. They couldn't doubt it. They were headed for the Sunny South, and they would actually see there before some of their friends who had started long ago.

Danny tingled all over with joy. This was a great adventure. It was the greatest adventure that ever had befallen two Meadow Mice. Nanny didn't feel quite so much joy. She was as eager as Danny to see the Sunny South and to learn what it was like. But she was already wondering if ever again they would see their loved Green Meadows and Farmer Brown's corn field.

Home Remedies of Our Ancestors

Almost every man and woman in America can remember the botanic recipes of our mothers and grandmothers for the treatment of diseases, and they were wonderfully dependable, too. Every fall there were stored away in the attic thoroughwort, pennyroyal, catnip, sage, wormwood, rue, etc., for treating ills of the family during the winter months that followed.

In 1873 Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was first prepared from one of these botanic recipes, and the demand for it has increased to such an extent that hundreds of tons of roots and herbs are now used annually in its preparation. It has recently been proved that 98 out of every 100 women who try it have been benefited by its use, which is a marvelous record for any medicine to hold—Advt.

Associated Press Despatch. London, Nov. 28.—Mrs. Enrico Caruso, formerly Miss Dorothy Park Benjamin of New York, and Captain Ernest Ingram of London were married this morning in Brompton Oratory. The ceremony was brief, the shortest possible one being employed. Some 500 persons were present in the oratory, but for the most part they were uninvited individuals indulging their curiosity.

The bride wore a dress of velvet with sable fur, and a velvet hat with birds of paradise on each side. Her jewels were pearls. She carried

Expect Between 35 and 40 Entries for First Boxing Card at Armories

Entries Slow, But Inquiries Point To Filled-Up Card For Garrison Show

Experience Last Year Shows
CLOSE NOVEMBER 3

Although the Garrison A. A. boxing committee had only one or two actual entries today, a little over a week away from their premiere card of Dec. 1th, the members were not a bit dismayed. Last season showed that boxing entries are always 11th hour affairs and inquiries regarding this show have been sufficiently numerous and wide-spread to be a barometer which has the indicator of the dial pointing to a jammed-up card.

Toronto and Hamilton clubs have made inquiries regarding the show but as the first card of the season is closed to Military District No. 1, these clubs have been notified to that effect but told that later on in the season, they'll be eligible.

Kitchener has never been represented here and neither has Guelph and both are sending men down here a week from Friday night. Guelph had a couple of 100 and 105-pound boys to enter in a paperweight division but the local committee has decided that flyweight will be the limit as far as the scales go. Guelph replied to this decision to the effect that these youngsters would be entered in the flyweight division which indicates how highly thought of these lads are.

St. Thomas, Stratford, Sarnia, Galt and Windsor will be the main sources of fistic talent for this show and in each place, unusual activities in the ring pastime points to new talent.

"At least 30 or 40 entries are expected in by the committee," stated Staff-Sgt. Burns, chairman today. "Last year, it was our experience that the entries never came in until the last moment. Entries close on Nov. 30 and the draw will be made over the week-end."

Efforts to land Cy Pook and Phipps the Sarnia man whose last meeting at St. Thomas had an unsatisfactory ending when Phipps was awarded the bout on a foul, haven't produced anything definite yet. The bout would jam a crowd in, either in Sarnia or St. Thomas but it is believed the two fighters would just as soon stage their mill in a neutral ring.

Gotham Thinks Giants Have Already Bought Hornsby

Those on Inside Declare Rickey, McGraw and Killifer Have Making of One of Biggest Deals in History.

Special to The Advertiser. New York, Nov. 28.—"Well, I see that Sunday afternoon came and went, and that Rogers Hornsby was not, as scheduled, traded by the Cardinals to the Cubs," smiled Jim Tierney in the offices of the Giants yesterday afternoon. Tierney, C. C. Stoneham, Magistrate McGuire—all did some quiet laughing up their sleeves. Apparently they knew something about this second sucker Hornsby. According to a story from the inside, Hornsby already has been traded to the Giants, and the completion of the deal waits on the return of John J. McGraw from Europe, and his acquiring Charley Hollocher from the Cubs to send him to St. Louis in the exchange.

Those on the inside declare that McGraw, Branch Rickey and Bill Killifer have in the making one of the biggest deals in the history of the National League. Just who will go from the Giants to the Cubs for Hollocher is not clear. It is known that Killifer is very anxious to get Billy Southworth, who came to the Giants recently in the trade for Dave Bancroft. However, Rickey is just as eager to get Southworth.

Both the Cardinals and the Cubs want pitchers, and while McGraw is rather short in that commodity himself, and hasn't got a good slinger to spare, he would make a sacrifice in that department. Killifer rather fancies Bill Ryan, and believes that he can make Rosy Bill win a lot more games than he has won for the Giants. McGraw, it is known, would not be averse to trading Ryan. In fact, there isn't a pitcher on his list, with the possible exception of Art Nehf, whom he would not throw into a bargain to get a man like Hornsby socking home runs into the left field stand at the Polo Grounds.

That McGraw practically has cornered Hornsby is known to Charley Ebbets and Barney Dreyfuss, both of whom made valiant bids for the star. This knowledge probably provoked their recent statements that under no circumstances would they do any trading with McGraw; and furthermore, that all the other clubs in the league ought to boycott the Giants in so far as making deals was concerned.

So the officials of the Giants sit and laugh up their sleeves these days, and have that knowing look whenever anybody says anything about Hornsby.

PROSPECTIVE ARGO LINEUP STRONG ONE

Management Has Line On Romeril and Box For Defence Positions.

Special to The Advertiser. Toronto, Nov. 27.—Many of the rail birds have been croaking that the Argonauts will be the weak sister in the O. H. A. senior race this season, but the double blue management thinks otherwise. If they get the players they are counting on, they will have a strong line-up. They expect Alex Romeril and Bill Box to be the regular defence pair, with Don Jeffrey, Jack Aggett, Frank Sullivan, Mose Lount, McCurry, Cawell and Stephenson as candidates for the forward line.

Coach Beattie Ramsay of Varsity is lining up quite a formidable squad of about 15 players from which to select his O. H. A. and intercollegiate senior teams. Among the good ones are: Goal, Sullivan and Thomson; defence, Harris and McLeod; forwards, Somerville, Hudson and Westman.

Sullivan and Thomson are both rattling good net guardians, and it will be hard to separate a team two. Purcell, last season with a team in

LLOYD YORK WINS HEXATHLON TRIAL

The opening hexathlon senior indoor event was held at the Y. M. C. A. last evening, Lloyd York winning the 60-yard potato race in 15.1-5 seconds. Heddon and Smith were the for second, doing the distance in 16 seconds, while Folkes and Davies were tie for third, making it in 16.1-5 seconds.

The wrestling and boxing classes of the Y. M. C. A. got under way last evening. Eight promising boxing aspirants were out and Walter Dutton, instructor, was impressed with the showing made by the boxers.

TILLSONBURG FANS SEE PROSPECT OF TWO TEAMS

Special to The Advertiser. Tillsonburg, Nov. 27.—Contrary to the opinion earlier in the season that Tillsonburg faced a hockey famine this winter, it now appears certain that the Pan-Dried Team will have teams in both the intermediate and Junior O. H. A. series.

O.R.F.U. Orders Sarnia-Dundas Game Played Here

Sarnia or Dundas Could Not Agree on Grounds For Playoff, So O.R.F.U. Took Situation in Hand.

Secretary Harry McKee of the O. R. F. U., by phone this morning, definitely stated that the Sarnia-Dundas intermediate final play-off had been ordered for London. Manager Bill Friend of the local rugby team has been put in charge of local arrangements.

It appears that neither Sarnia or Dundas could agree on grounds and the O. R. F. U. secretary thereupon decided that London was the logical place for a play-off game.

The fact of the play-off coming here will give London fans a chance to finish the rugby season in real style. There may be a slight feeling of sorrow that it's not a London team that's playing in the finals, but on the other hand, if there was, the game would not be played here, so it's as broad as it is long.

Dundas had offered Sarnia a hand-some guarantee to go to the Valley-town or to Hamilton, which would be enemy ground as far as Dundas is concerned, but Sarnia could not see the guarantee end of it in such a critical game.

LOCAL CLUB VOTES FOR LOWER ADMISSIONS

At Adjourned Mint Meeting Will Favor Split Schedule Too.

By FORD RUTHER. The adjourned annual meeting of the Michigan-Ontario Baseball League will be held in Chicago, commencing on Dec. 11. Many important items will be on the agenda of this meeting, but perhaps the two most important in so far as local fans are concerned, are the split season and the lowering of the admission prices. Both of these items will have the hearty support of the London directors.

There is no doubt whatever but that the split season will come into vogue again next year. It is absolutely the only way to carry on in a Class "B" organization as, invariably, interest lacks about mid-season with those teams that are not going any too good.

Commencing a new schedule about July 1 creates new enthusiasm not only in those cities who have teams in the second division, but in all cities of the circuit.

How many times have you noticed teams that were hopelessly outclassed during the first half of the season, who were so far behind during the first part of the season that they had no possible chance of winning the pennant, but who came back with a vengeance the last two months, like, how many times have you noticed a team that would go great guns during the first half of the season, only to blow up hopelessly during the last six weeks. With the split schedule in operation both such teams have a chance to get into the play-off.

The question of admission is, to the fan, at least, the most important one. If you all agree that the high price of admission that keeps professional baseball in operation. At the annual meeting last year, when it was decided by a vote of the directors to raise the admission price to 50 cents, the London directors objected very strenuously, holding out for a 40-cent admission.

If we have a number of the owners in the other cities of the circuit now realize that a 40-cent admission would be more paying in the long run, it is a possibility of such being carried to the annual meeting. At any rate it will have the support of the London Club.

M. A. A. PRESIDENT IS RESIGNING

Charles Cooper Withdraws Owing to Pressure of Business.

This morning, the resignation of President Charles Cooper was received at Manufacturers' A. A. A. headquarters. Pressure of business is given as the reason for Mr. Cooper's withdrawal from the organization, which has just got nicely started on the 40-cent admission.

The resignation will be discussed at a meeting to be held soon, probably Friday night.

The M. A. A. A. will also be asked by the L. A. A. A. to affiliate their girls' basketball teams with the latter. Members of the L. A. A. A. basketball committee will explain the objects of affiliation from the way in which it affects entry into the new Girls' Provincial Basketball Association down to city play-offs.

The formation of a girls' basketball sub-committee to arrange city play-off exhibition games with outside teams and play-offs in the provincial competition, is much needed in London. It will train organizers amongst the teams already playing, and insure many things that individual teams would hardly dare attempt.

Last Friday night's meeting resulted in the Ladies' Basketball League of London affiliating but as the Manufacturers' girls delegates could not affiliate without M. A. A. A. sanction this will be sought. The request for affiliation should have gone through the M. A. A. A. in the first place.

U. S. SPEED CHAMPIONSHIP TO BE HELD IN FEBRUARY

Associated Press Despatch. New York, Nov. 27.—The United States national amateur speed skating championship will be held at Saranac Lake, New York, Feb. 23, 14 and 15 and the international championship at Lake Placid, N.Y., Feb. 18, 19 and 20, according to an announcement tonight by Joseph K. Savage, president of the International Skating Union.

These dates were fixed so the participants in the Olympic skating events at Chamonix, in the French Alps beginning Jan. 25, will have time to return for the competition.

Harry Kasky, of Chicago, for the present national amateur titleholder, while the international king is Chas. Jewtraw, of Lake Placid.

QUEENS, CADETS FAVOR USING INTERFERENCE

Inter-Collegiate Rules Commission To Meet in Kingston December 15.

Associated Press Despatch. Kingston, Nov. 27.—A meeting of the intercollegiate rules commission has been called at the officers' mess, Royal Military College, on December 15. The rules will be considered very carefully. Although nothing official is being given out, it is understood that all the colleges in the union with one exception are satisfied that in future the games should be played under the rules which are in use this year. Queen's and the Cadets, of the Royal Military College, like the new interference rule.

The officials who will handle the intercollegiate games next season will be selected. It is understood that Col. C. F. Constantine, who acted as headsmen at all the intercollegiate games this year, will be re-appointed to that position.

Dozen Candidates Available For First Workout of Senior Cagers Tomorrow

Down the Line

With C. S. G. The directors of the arena are wreathed in smiles these days. Indications are that the $10,000 objective will be reached, thereby getting this obstacle out of the way and at the same time proving that the city's sporting spirit is going strong even when it touches the pocket.

The objective has not been reached, but it's within sight, and another hard day's canvassing should make a favorable report possible at tomorrow night's meeting.

So far, there is not a girls' athletic organization of Canada affiliated with any of the ruling bodies. An inquirer wrote to the National A. A. U. of C. to find out if any girls' organizations had availed themselves of the recognition given girls' athletics by the governing body of the Dominion, and the reply was that none of them had.

The letter advised that affiliation should be made with Ontario branches of the sports the girls' games were identified with.

Roland Todd has arrived in America seeking bouts and money and experience. He would like to meet Harry Greb first. If his wonderful defence will stand against the Windmill from Pittsburgh, Britain will have at last accomplished something fistic.

Toronto Globe: Kingston advises are to the effect that when the intercollegiate football rules committee meets at the Royal Military College next month no changes will be made in the code under which the college teams play the gridiron game. It is reported that all of the teams are satisfied with the interference rule as used during the season now about to close. It is pleasing to learn that somebody is satisfied with the rules. If even "the oldest inhabitant" can recall any other occasion on which anybody was satisfied with the football rules in any of the unions let him come forward now. Too much tinkering is just as not enough, but it is inconceivable that we have arrived at the stage of perfect football.

L. AND D. CAGE BODY HAS 17 LINED UP FOR STARTING TOOT

Growth in One Year Has Exceeded Officers' Anticipations.

The L. and D. Basketball Association will have at least 17 teams to put into action once the starting date has been decided upon. It marks real growth considering the fact that the organization has been in existence only one year.

An intermediate series has been added to the bill. The Anglican Basketball League will enter a team in this series. St. Paul's Etimare are already in and the Y. M. C. A. will fill in with a third team.

The senior and junior series are formed with Western U. and Y. M. C. A. opposed in each case. In the Midget Series the St. Thomas team will be given a bye. The rest of the teams here are: De La Salle, First Methodist, New St. James' Hornets, Y. M. C. A. Wingfoots.

C. A. C. Judeans, Comex and Y. M. C. A. make up what promises to be a tidy juvenile series.

The winners of all these series will be qualified to enter the O. B. A. playoffs. St. Thomas has basketball going great guns, and London teams with little expense will be able to have first round games against the Railroad City.

Differences of opinion exist over the starting dates. Some of the teams favor starting now, but the majority would leave off the opening games until the new year.

CORBETT DENNY.

who will be playing for Hamilton Tigers this winter in the N. H. L. ranks against his old partners on St. Patricks of Toronto. Denny made many friends while with St. Pat's and his speed and aggressiveness will strengthen Hamilton's attack. Last winter he played on the Pacific coast.

String of Exhibition Games With U. S. Teams Likely.

Candidates for London's Senior O. B. A. team will take to the court at the armories tomorrow night for their first workout of the season. At least a dozen of the city's best players will be in the first workout, and the city will be further scored for talent this week.

So far Windsor has made no move regarding a grouping, and neither has O. B. A. headquarters, but it is still regarded as likely that the teams may decide on getting a bye in the Provincial schedule and playing a string of independent teams from the States as calculated to give the teams more experience and at the same time give the fans more interest.

Among the candidates who will be out are three or four that have dashed in the senior game. The two Gillies were on the Garrison team, which played senior three years ago, and Goodman was on one of the senior squads at Hamilton one season. The committee is trying to get Bill Duffield to get back into the game. The big fellow would just about make the difference between a senior and intermediate calibre in the local squad if he got into condition and took the game seriously.

A coach will be appointed this week, and also a manager, and there are hooks out for several exhibition games with fast Yankee quintets around the Christmas week and the first of the year.

The players who will be out at tomorrow night's practice will be as follows: J. Goodman, J. Lightfoot, Johnston, Art Jackson, Frank Shaw, Art Gillies, Smith, D. E. Wanless, G. E. Douglas, Lawrence, Earl Balkwell. This list is not by any means complete, and four or five likely candidates will be corralled before the week is out.

The workout starts at 8 o'clock.

ARRANGE INTERCOLLEGIATE ICE DATES IN TEN DAYS

The entry of the University of Western Ontario into the intercollegiate hockey series has been accepted, according to information received by the heads of the physical education department.

The university has applied to the new London Arena Company to take care of the games, and arrangements for practice hours are also being made.

A meeting of the hockey committee of the intercollegiate series will be held during the next ten days for the purpose of drafting the schedule and making other necessary arrangements.

Young Mack Has Height and Reach-Margin On Pancho Villa

MACK APPEARS RIGHT OPPONENT TO MEET VILLA

Has Had But One Defeat in Forty-Three Fights.

WEIGHT ADVANTAGE

Special to The Advertiser. Toronto, Nov. 27.—The crookers are abroad. They are always busy. When Eddie Pinchot was selected to box Pancho Villa Dec. 5 the squawking yelled that at 118 pounds at 2 o'clock Pinchot would be about as dangerous as a white poodle. They were wrong. Donnie Mack, the Toronto bantam, or Howard Mayberry of Duluth, in there against the Filipino Fireball. Now that Mack has been selected, and a local boy is to get a chance that he richly deserves, some of these human bullfrogs are croaking that Mack is too young and inexperienced. Mack is 20 years of age, a national bantam, hard, rugged and durable. He has been fighting just as long as Villa and has height, reach and weight on the champion. He has only had one defeat in 43 bouts.

The same crowd of howlers said that Young Mack would be custard pie for Bobby Eber, the Canadian champion, when they met here two months ago. Mack fought Eber a sissy draw—in fact a lot of folks think Eber was lucky he did not lose his title. Mack, after three appearances in Montreal, made a big hit and was selected by Montreal promoters to box the world's bantam champion, Joe Lynch, and will box him there just as soon as Lynch can find an open date.

Mack may not beat Villa, but he will be in there fighting every inch of the journey, and if he goes down it will not be an "Annette Kellerman." He is not a "Young Kaiser," but a good honest little boxer and a thoroughbred Canadian of solid Scotch stock.

RUGBY ENTHUSIASM RUNS HIGH IN SARNIA

Trainload of Fans Will Accompany Intermediate Grid-players Saturday.

Special to The Advertiser. Sarnia, Nov. 27.—Sarnia's intermediates, standing on the threshold of provincial rugby fame, are anxiously awaiting definite word from headquarters as to the venue of the final tilt with Dundas. Never before were the chances of the Blue and White copping the intermediate honors so bright, and never before was local rugby enthusiasm higher. Wherever the game is played, a special trainload of fans is almost certain to accompany the team. If, as anticipated, the choice falls on London, then the Forest City will have an opportunity of seeing a real rugby crowd, for the locals will make sure that the side-lines are not a nightmare of empty space.

The Sarnia squad is working with renewed earnestness, and every indication points to a battle with the rugged Dundas dozen that will give the fans all the excitement they crave. Sarnia will, barring training accidents, be at full strength.

SEND THEM CANADIAN APPLES. When Christmas comes the question always arises what we can send to our friends "over home" that will not be too expensive, that will be appreciated and will savor of novelty. The answer this season is send them a sample of Canada's "Sun-kissed" apples. It will not only be patriotic, but they will be a treat. The express department of the Canadian National Railway has made effective a rate of $3 for a box of 50 pounds, and measuring not more than one foot and eight inches, to be shipped in cold storage from Canadian ports to any station on the railways of Great Britain and Ireland.

NAME NEW HEAD OF JOCKEY CLUB

W. G. Gooderham Fills Vacancy Made by Sir John Hendrie's Death.

PURSE TOTAL $254,352

Canadian Press Despatch. Toronto, Nov. 27.—The annual general meeting of the shareholders of the Ontario Jockey Club was held at the club's office here today, with the president, Col. William Hendrie, in the chair. After referring to the loss the club had sustained in the death of Sir John Hendrie, the chairman announced that the vacancy on the board had been filled by W. G. Gooderham, one of the oldest shareholders and a strong supporter of the club.

Reviewing the racing season at the club's course at Woodbine Park, Col. Hendrie said that of the $254,352 distributed in purses the two meetings, $67,800 had been set aside for Canadian-bred and Canadian-owned horses, and that the quality of the racing, both on the flat and cross-country, was excellent, and the attendance very satisfactory.

The efforts of the club to improve the standard of province-bred horses through the policy of placing thoroughbred stallions in the rural districts of Ontario, had met with greater success than had been expected. During the past season 578 had been so bred, and in order to give additional encouragement cash prizes will be offered in 1924 for the young stock by the breeders at the country fairs where these horses have been placed.

The following officers were elected for the year: President, Col. William Hendrie; vice-presidents, A. E. Dymont and Col. D. King Smith; directors, G. W. Beardmore, R. J. Christie, W. G. Gooderham, J. Kilgour and Edward F. Seagram.

"KID" SECURES SECRET LICENSE TO MARRY

George Lavigne, Former Lightweight Champ., Will Take Bride.

Associated Press Despatch. Detroit, Nov. 27.—A "suppressed" marriage license was issued Monday to George Lavigne, better known as "Kid" Lavigne, former lightweight champion of the world, or, more correctly speaking, clerks of the marriage license bureau obeyed his injunction to "keep it quiet."

"I'm afraid the folks will kid me about it," he said.

Efforts to learn the name of the bride of the 33-year-old former pugilist were unavailing. Lavigne was lightweight champion from March 11, 1896, when Jack McAuliffe relinquished his title. He lost it July 3, 1899, to Frank Erne, in Buffalo. Sport writers say he was the greatest fighter of his size the world ever produced.

WILL PLAY CHALLENGE MATCH IN BOSTON JAN. 10

Associated Press Despatch. New York, Nov. 27.—The challenge match for the world's 18.2 ballline billiard championship will be played in Mechanics' Hall, Boston, Jan. 10, 11 and 12, after the play-off for the title in Chicago Dec. 17, 18 and 19, officials in charge of arrangements announced tonight.

THE PANORAMA OF BASEBALL

A Pictorial History of the Growth of the Game.

The champions of 1869. They won 57 games and lost not one. These are the Cincinnati Red Stockings.

WHAT HARRY WRIGHT DID FOR BASEBALL

The name of Wright goes down significantly in the history of aerobics. More significantly, in another family of Wrights, it goes down and glorifies the annals of early American sport. Of English extraction, the Wright family began in this country with a famous cricketer, his two sons—Harry and George—bringing to baseball that spirit of team play known to cricket. George's son, Beale C. Wright, was a champion tennis player.

Harry Wright when he was with the Boston team in 1871.

Harry Wright, captain and c.f., is the middle one standing; George Wright, s.s., is between him, and the standing man on the reader's right. The

It was through the methods adopted by Harry Wright, when he organized the Cincinnati Red Stockings of 1869-70, that the crude game of baseball began to be revolutionized. He brought to it a more scientific meaning, because he insisted on the more articulate meaning of every position in the game—infield and outfield. It was a great temptation for the unprofessional player in early days to play for the benefit of his best girl looking on, and not for the ultimate victory of the club. It would have hurt a good batsman then to sacrifice a hit for the good of a run.

In other words, before Harry Wright, each player played for himself. Wright said to his men: Don't play for hits; play for scores. And this slogan was the reason for his invention—though he didn't know it at the time—of the sacrifice hit.

It was Harry Wright who, in 1867, faced boldly the rule that players were to receive "no pay." He went to Cincinnati with the idea of organizing an all-professional nine. He reached out not only for the best local talent but he held them from other places, thus establishing the custom of scouting. Baseball history shows that the great player came from unexpected corner. Anson, for example, held the distinction of being the first player born in the neighborhood of Marshalltown, Iowa, in 1852.

Wright gave his men the first distinctive uniforms. He signed up his brother—perhaps the best all-round player known to the game. In 1869, the Cincinnati had uninterrupted victory in their tour of the country, the first eastern tour of a western club. And they made money, which places Harry Wright as our first baseball magnate. Here is his first salary list, so often quoted:

Harry Wright, cf.	$1,200
George Wright, ss.	1,400
Asa Brainerd, p.	1,100
Waterman, 3b.	1,000
Sweasy, 2b.	800
Gould, 1b.	800
Allison, c.	800
Leonard, if.	800
Cal McVey, rf.	800
Hurley, utility	600

This is mere pocket money to the players of today.

The Red Stockings went down in defeat in 1870, June 14, when the Knickerbocker Club of New York, in a record time as an organizer, since the arena opened, and have had some stiff workouts. The attack, consisting of McCaffery, "Hooley," Smith and Harry Watson, is not only fast, but works well together.

Jack Cameron, the young goalkeeper, who made a fine name for himself last season, will be in the nets, and will have Beattie Ramsay and Dunc Munro in front of him.

REAL ICE BATTLE PROMISED FANS IN S.P.A. OPENER

Kitchener Seniors Promise Stiff Fight With Canadian Olympic Team.

SEVERAL NEWCOMERS

Special to The Advertiser. Toronto, Nov. 27.—Hockey fans are going to see a real game for the opening night at the Arena next Saturday, when the Canadian Olympic team meets Kitchener in the Sportsman's Patriotic Association senior series. The Kitchener team is determined to hang on to the silverware that it won last December when it defeated Varsity. Although most of last year's squad has disappeared the Kitchener management has had a smart bunch of youngsters working out at the Hamilton arena for the past two weeks.

The old veteran, George Hainsworth, will be missing, but there are two first-class net guardians battling it out for the position. They are Cluny Woods and Tommy Nimmo. Two junior stars, White and Gross, are trying out for defence, while Hemphill, who broke into senior company last year, is still available. Werner Schnarr will be at center, with Siebert and Tee Hillman on either side of him.

But they are meeting a team that works together like a well-oiled machine, and a team that on form should be able to defeat any sextet in Canada. The Olympic team is in fine condition, due to the splendid work of Coach Rankin and Acting Manager Peter Campbell. The players have been on the ice every day since the arena opened, and have had some stiff workouts. The attack, consisting of McCaffery, "Hooley," Smith and Harry Watson, is not only fast, but works well together. Jack Cameron, the young goalkeeper, who made a fine name for himself last season, will be in the nets, and will have Beattie Ramsay and Dunc Munro in front of him.

Firpo States Pep Increased

Associated Press Despatch. New York, Nov. 27.—Luis Angel Firpo expects to return to the United States next year with "600 per cent more pep," and capture "for his beloved country" the world's heavyweight championship he nearly toppled from Jack Dempsey's head last September at the Polo Grounds.

This declaration was continued today in a cablegram received by Tex Rickard from the Argentine heavyweight.

JARVIS IS WINNER AT WINTER FAIR

Solar Eclipse Takes First Prize in Novice Hunters' Class.

PERICLES SECOND

Canadian Press Despatch. Toronto, Nov. 27.—In the contest for middleweight novice hunters at the winter fair this afternoon Solar Eclipse, ridden by Sammy Jarvis, and owned by A. E. Jarvis, Toronto, took first prize. Second place went to Pericles, owned by Sir Clifford Stilton, and ridden by Jack Hamblin, while third honors were taken by Wisdom, owned by Master Howard Johnston, and ridden by Charlie Morris. Gold Leaf, from the Golden stock farm at Ottawa, looked like a contender until the last three jumps, where the crashes were so bad as to leave him out of the ribbons. Statesman of the Willowbrook Farm, London, ran clean until the two last jumps, then mused things up badly.

In the lightweight novice hunter class, performance at the hurdles was the least important part of it. Conformation, accounting for 60 per cent, put the cleanest jumper into third place. This was Bucephalus, ridden by Sergt-Major C. Lynn of Stanley Barracks, which was the only animal to make a clean showing at the jumps. This was Bucephalus, ridden by Sergt-Major C. Lynn of Stanley Barracks, which was the only animal to make a clean showing at the jumps.

Second honors went to another American entry, Cincinnati Kid, owned and exhibited in the ring by Mrs. Walter Hanley. A Toronto-owned horse bore off third honors, Miss Helen McGregor's Perfection winning this recognition from the judges.

The total of series now stands at 11 to 8 in favor of the American League, instead of 10 to 9, almost a tie, as the Nationals had hoped. To date the American League has won 56 series games to 53 for the Nationals, and there have been three ties. The Nationals have scored the most runs—360 to 357 for the Americans.

The most runs ever made in a seven-inning game was in 1910, when the Philadelphia Athletics made 35 off the Chicago Nationals. The low record was established by the Brooklyn Nationals in 1920—eight runs.

NINE MAJORS WILL TRAIN IN FLORIDA

Expect South Will Have Surfeit of Exhibition Games in Spring.

By JOHN B. FOSTER. Copyright.

New York, Nov. 27.—The Chicago White Sox have settled on Winter Haven, Fla., for their spring training camp. No doubt they picked that part of the country at the behest of the Giants, with whom they hook up for a spring tour.

But it isn't at all certain that that tour will be a howling success, for with so many teams heading out of Florida it will be some task to line up a tour that will be worth while. The south will be plastered to death with exhibition games. It was poor business policy for everybody to drop Texas.

The town of Sarasota, which has been mentioned as the possible training camp of the Giants, is below Bradenton on the Gulf Coast. Sarasota is hot early, and has plenty of inducements for fishermen and pleasure seekers, although it is not a resort in the sense of the big places on the east coast.

Nine majors are now booked for Florida, and the state will be playing baseball with oranges and grapefruit before the winter is over.

Baseball Madhouse.

The location of so many camps there already has converted Florida into a baseball madhouse, and the central and lower part of the state were crazy with excitement last spring and summer. The Florida League, which some thought would never be a success, is going well. The smaller towns are turning out fine crowds. A fan writes that every body knocks off work and plays ball on Saturday.

Only the Boston Americans and New York Americans have not announced their training choices. Now that Pittsburgh has vacated Hot Springs, Boston may settle there. If they do not, it will be the first time in many years that Hot Springs has not boasted a training camp.

American League Leads.

The Yankees did some more than throttle the Giants in the recent world series. They stopped a steady march toward victory that the National League had been making against its younger rival. The American League won four straight in 1915 to 1918 inclusive. The Nationals saw daylight in 1919, only to have the series smothered by the White Sox. The next three years were American League years.

The total of series now stands at 11 to 8 in favor of the American League, instead of 10 to 9, almost a tie, as the Nationals had hoped. To date the American League has won 56 series games to 53 for the Nationals, and there have been three ties. The Nationals have scored the most runs—360 to 357 for the Americans.

The most runs ever made in a seven-inning game was in 1910, when the Philadelphia Athletics made 35 off the Chicago Nationals. The low record was established by the Brooklyn Nationals in 1920—eight runs.

Directors of Maxwell and Studebaker Meet Separately— No Action Follows.

Associated Press Despatch.
New York, Nov. 27.—The reported merger of the Maxwell Motor Company with the Studebaker Corporation failed to materialize today, although directors of each met separately, presumably to discuss the proposal.

R. Erskine, president of the Studebaker Corporation, said there was nothing to give out on the meeting.
J. S. Bachle, a Maxwell director, also asserted the reported negotiations with the Studebaker

not been discussed. While the directors were in session on the 27th, a statement published which affirmed the "tentative basis of proposed combine" as an exchange of 100 shares of the common stock of the Maxwell Company for each three shares of Maxwell "A" stock, and $12 cash and one-half share of Studebaker common stock for each share of Maxwell "B" stock.

It was estimated the acquisition by Studebaker of all shares of the Maxwell Company would involve an outlay of about $1,000,000 cash and 100,000 shares of Studebaker common stock.

Spread Union of Churches Over the Whole Universe Is Message of Dr. Davies

Prominent Pastors Address
Large Gathering in St.
Andrew's Church.

GUNNE GIVES HISTORY

Dr. McKinnon Declares Chief
Argument is "We Need
Each Other."

In the enthusiasm and representative numbers of the congregation in St. Andrew's Church last night, there was exemplified the spirit which, after twenty years of preliminary negotiations, is leading three great denominations, Methodism, Presbyterianism and Congregationalism, into organic union with the other.

DR. HEINRICH ALBERT,

chosen by President Ebert to form a new government following the fall of Chancellor Stresemann, who had been deserted by the leading Reichstag members, who propose to form a coalition of their own.

manly. She does not render her account to Christ, and to him she must render an account. The church must be the bulwark of our threatened civilization, but how can she if divided into a thousand units?"

Dr. Gunne did not discuss the need for union so much as confining himself to the progress which had led up to the movement of the present day. By means of a chart he showed that the present Congregational Church is the result of two unions of three different bodies; the Methodist Church the result of seven unions of eighteen bodies; the Presbyterian Church the result of nine unions and three absorptions affecting 21 different bodies and that the United Church would be the result of 22 unions, of 41 different bodies.

Owes Something.
In reviewing the early history of the denominations in Canada, he made reference to the fact that the church owed something to the Church of Rome, through whose kindness and courtesy, he said, it was allowed the use of chapels and college buildings in which to hold the meetings in which the first steps were taken toward denominational union.

"I don't want to tread on controversial ground," Dr. Mackinnon said, "although I do know that there are some points which have given rise to controversy. One particular statement made by a section of the anti-unionists, however, is that they believe in union, and look forward to its achievement at some time, but at the present time they don't like the act. One lady who made this statement to me, afterward admitted that she had not read the act, and I think this applies in a great many cases. Of course, the act is drastic, but to use the words of an ex-premier of Nova Scotia, who has had twenty-seven years' experience in political life, no act can hope to be effective, unless it is drastic. It would be very easy to draft an act which would be indecisive and ambiguous, and to leave a legacy of litigation which would cost thousands of dollars to those who will follow us."

"The act as it stands at present will not cost the church a cent in litigation. And if it is drastic, it is also just. It does not interfere with the freedom of anyone. It leaves each person free to do as he chooses. Some say that they will preserve the Presbyterian Church by joining the Church of England. I will admit that I do not just understand how this will be done, but the mere fact that they propose to do this is an evidence of the fact that everyone is free to choose. With regard to the property, nothing will be joined to the United Church unless a majority of the congregation are in favor of it. And what law can we find more fair than that of the majority?"

Provides Fairly.

"The act provides fairly for the disposal of the general funds of the church by the most impartial commission you could find, and one which, moreover, must be approved by the chief justice of Canada."

To explain his point that a great number were more concerned with doctrines than with the disposal of the funds and properties. Dr. Mackinnon read certain portions of the act, referring particularly to the important place given to the Bible in the doctrine prescribed by the act, which refers to the Holy Scriptures as containing the only infallible rule of faith and life and as the sure witness to God.

He mentioned the important contribution from the Congregational Church which gives each congregation the privilege, if they so desire, of having a greater voice in the selection of their representatives.

"Some Presbyterians naturally feel strongly their ties to the old land and the old institutions," Dr. Mackinnon concluded. "It has been the unity of their religion which has made Scotchmen what they are. And with regard to Canada, only one peril threatens us, and that is disunion. Where it is possible, ought we not to unite, to throw off ancient prejudices and stand shoulder to shoulder? Let the dead past bury its dead. We live in the present, and Canada is before us. And for a cause equally as great as this, I am forced to become a unionist. It is because I love the Methodists. I believe there never was a finer figure crossed the stage of history than John Wesley. The Methodists came into union with a glorious heritage."

Compelling Speaker.

Dr. Davies has come to the Methodist Church in Canada from England within the past few years, and is now pastor of one of the large Toronto churches. He is a man slight in stature, but a speaker of compelling earnestness. The impression he made upon the audience of last evening had its plainly perceptible evidence in the fervor and sincerity with which the concluding hymn, "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," was sung.

He commenced his address with a reference to the fact that the church all over the world was being seized by the great and wonderful idea of union.

"Wherever you may go," he said, "you will find the tendency toward union, a fact which to me is tremendously significant."

"I cannot help feeling in the union movement there is a clear direction of the Divine life, which has embodied itself in the church. When I looked at England, Scotland, Wales, Australia, South Africa, the United States and Canada, I am persuaded the life of the church, which is Jesus Christ, is moving us forward to a higher plane of existence. May we not believe that our Lord is taking the reins in His own hands, and that He is co-ordinating His too-long divided armies into one great instrument in preparation for that great day of the Lord. It is a day which will surely come, and if we are not prepared for it, one which will in Christian hearts cause the pain and shame of lost opportunities."

Continuing from his pronouncement that the church needed union in order to act as the bulwark of civilization, Dr. Davies said: "The tendency today is not to dwell on past history or past institutions, but on the forces of the present, to consider what will solve the problems of the modern world. The church cannot escape the challenge. It is being asked, 'A society which is being torn asunder, can you offer any principles of reconciliation?' When you hear this challenge, do you not hear the prayer of the Master, 'That they be one, that the world may believe?' Two great tasks face the church, the cultivation of fellowship and the imperative need of Christ-living the social order."

"John Galsworthy has summed up these three things which are to solve the immediate need of bringing the nations together, in order to avoid utter chaos, and he mentions science, finance and the press. There is not a word of the church. The church is not being recognized. It is, I believe, as ineffective as it has been in a century. It has been presented as too much of an institution and too little of a modern inspiration. The world in its search for a new social order is impatient of anything which smacks of the old. The need of the world compels me to long for union. We have a society without Christ, we have religions without Christ. If Christ really belongs to the entire human race, ought we not all to come together in His name? Our one hold on reality in this strange world is Christ, and the hand of our brother, leading us out into something greater and better."

SIR ADAM DENIES HYDRO IN MARKET TO BUY COMPANY

Aroused At Chicago Official's
Reference To Ontario Commission.

GRIMSBY IS EXAMPLE

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, Nov. 27.—Sir Adam Beck, chairman of the Ontario Power commission, denied today the report that the commission had commenced negotiations to take over the Kaministiquia Power Company at Port William.

"It is not so," he declared emphatically. "The hydro has not made any overtures whatsoever in connection with the taking over of this plant."

In speaking of the application of the Twin Cities for more power, he explained that Port Arthur has already agreed to the commission's proposal, and will extend every co-operation to the commission.

"It is Port William which has been holding off," he said. Sir Adam Beck showed much indignation as he commented today on the Chicago drainage board chief's recent reference to the Ontario hydro commission's policy as being "kill-a-child policy," rather than kilowatt policy.

"Some more of that man's clever phrasing," declared Sir Adam with heat. "It isn't for purposes of drainage that Chicago is stealing water. It is for purposes of power."

"And look what they are doing to Ontario by taking more water than is due them," he continued. "Look at the situation in Grimsby. The water has shrunk below their intake pipes, and now they are up against it for drinking water. Whose fault is that? And Grimsby is not the only place, either."

"It is a straight business proposition with them—a matter of being too close-fisted to face the cost of putting in a decent disposal system of their own. What they are trying to do is bluff the public into thinking that it is a matter of life and death. But they are not going to be able to get away with it."

VACCINATE ALL CHILDREN IN PALMERSTON SCHOOLS

Special to The Advertiser.
Palmerston, Nov. 27.—At a special meeting of the Palmerston Board of Health, at which Dr. Fraser, district health officer, was present, it was decided to vaccinate all children attending school who have not been successfully vaccinated within the past seven years. Dr. Fraser stated that the smallpox plague had been prevalent too long in Palmerston, and with the cold weather coming something must be done to cope with the situation. While he admitted that any case brought so far to the attention of the provincial board of health has been slight, yet he said, the disease was generally more severe during the cold weather, and it must be met at once to stay its rampage. On his recommendation the board action was taken.

The body makes a fine fish meal. As a fertilizer, including the bones, it is superior to dogfish because in the shark carcasses there is only 2 per cent oil, while in the dogfish oil is so plentiful that it takes an expensive chemical process to separate it.

DO YOU WANT A NEW CITY HALL NEXT YEAR

You Want It At the Southeast Corner of Dundas and Wellington Streets
Four Times You Have Said Build It—

On Former Occasions There Were No Real Plans

—nothing really definite—but now you have a plan of the building.

You know where it is to be located.

You know approximately what it will cost.

PROPOSED NEW CITY HALL—A BUILDING TO BE PROUD OF.

Every Day of Delay Adds To the Cost

Property is lying idle that should be producing a revenue. Money is waiting for the purpose that should be circulating. While the bylaw provides for $500,000, there is no question but that possibly $200,000 of this will not be required.

It Will Be Built In 1924 If You Vote For the Bylaw

Mark Your Ballot
For a New City
Hall If You Want
It Built.

Voting on bylaw to provide for the issue of $500,000 debentures for the erection of the new City Hall, submitted by the Council of the City.

Canadian and American Delegates Agree To Maintain Strict Silence.

Canadian Press Despatch. Ottawa, Nov. 27.—An understanding has been reached between Canadian and American representatives at the anti-smuggling conference which opened here today, to maintain strict silence in regard to what transpires at the parleys.

This was indicated by the refusal of Judge Moss, head of the American delegation, and of R. Farrow, deputy minister of customs in the Canadian government, to discuss what was done at the preliminary session or to give any idea of the lines it is proposed to follow in dealing with the questions which will be raised by the United States representatives.

No hint was given as to the nature of the agenda submitted by the Americans. Canadian officials remained in conference after the United States delegates had departed.

Applicants are required for employment as Wireless Operators or instructors upon completion of Training.

Apply in writing to the undersigned for full particulars.

MANOR, HIGHLAND PARK DISCUSSES SEPARATION PLAN

Would Cut Loose From Westminster Township and Incorporate Village.

ELECT OWN COUNCIL

Manor and Highland Park, which comprise a thriving and growing community just south of the city and bordered by the Wharfedale road on the east, may soon become a village
by itself and cut loose from Westminster township entirely, it was made known yesterday.

At the present time the community
boasts a population of around 500, and although a village calls for a population of 750 it is pointed out that numerous villages have been incorporated by special legislation when their population was around 300.

Some time ago Reeve John Cousins and Councillor William Boler made a proposition to representative men of both Manor and Highland Park whereby Westminster would grant the village $1,000 with which to get started. Nothing was done at the time, but a move is now on foot to have Manor and Highland Park join up as a village and elect their own council and reeve. The people living there have been complaining that they are not receiving sufficient attention from the county council, and it is pointed out that by electing a council of their own they would have direct representation on the county council.

The addition of a new story on the Manor Park school, plus the employment of an additional school teacher, has raised taxes in Manor Park this year. The township rate remains the same, according to Assessor E. S. Hunt of Westminster.
Last year the school rate was 19 mills and this year it is 23, the assessor declared yesterday.

WAR MEMORIAL SHAFT FEATURE IMMORTALITY

Bronze and Marble Combined
in Impressive War
Tribute.

Special to The Advertiser.

Guelph, Nov. 27.—The assessors who have had in hand the task of selecting a war memorial, which it is proposed to erect in Trafalgar Square have selected the design made by Mr. Alfred Howell, principal of the Toronto Technical School.

The height of the memorial will be 30 feet, with a width at the base of 23 feet.

The shaft is surmounted by a group cut in stone, the subject being immortality. The figure of a soldier draped with a flag looks up to the figure above, who is inscribing the names of those who have attained immortality. This figure, in bronze is standing in front of a cross and with outstretched arms is clasping two swords. Each sword is adorned with a laurel wreath. At two sides of the memorial and cut into the stone, are flags upon which is laid a soldier's helmet, and the cross also appears at the back of the memorial.

Mr. Howell will supervise the construction of the memorial.

Emanuel Hahn of Toronto is awarded second prize of $300, and Gustav Hahn, Toronto, is awarded third prize of $200.

A bylaw is being submitted to the ratepayers on Monday next, asking their approval of the issuing of debentures to the amount of $25,000 to pay for this memorial.

COUNCIL PASSES BYLAW
TO BUILD NEW SEWER

Meeting Lasts Three Minutes—
Work Will Be Started
Thursday.

Work will be started on the Westminster street sanitary sewer on Thursday next, the council having passed the necessary bylaws last night at a special meeting, which lasted some three minutes and is supposed to constitute a record in this way for the London council. Engineer Near in a meeting of the board of works, held previously, intimated that if the bylaw was passed he could make a start on the work on Thursday.

Work on this sewer will provide a measure of relief for London's unemployed this winter. At the meeting of the board of works it was decided on the recommendation of the mayor that the unemployed should be given work on this sewer for a week at a time in preference to three days in each week, on the ground that this would make it easier for a man to get work for the time he was unemployed than if he were out of work every three days. Married men will be given priority in the allocation of work and time.

A further measure of relief work for London's out of work this winter will be undertaken by the public utilities commission. A letter was read to the board of works from E.
V. Buchanan, general manager of the commission, suggesting that London's trees should be trimmed this season.

GALT RESIDENT CRUSHED
TO DEATH UNDER IRON DISC

Canadian Press Despatch.

St. Catharines, Nov. 27.—George Fisher, aged 28 years, Galt, an employee of the Consolidated Rubber Company, Kitchener, was killed this afternoon at the plant of the Independent Rubber Company, Merri-ton. He was employed in removing and shipping machinery from the Merri-ton plant to Kitchener. He was pinned to the floor when an iron disc weighing over two tons slipped from its position. He died in a few minutes.

MANOR PARK VOTERS WILL USE SAME BOOTH

Councillors Pass Bylaw Appointing Officers For Coming Township Election.

A deputation of two from Manor
Park waited on the members of the Westminster Township Council at the council meeting in the county buildings yesterday afternoon, and asked that the polling booth in the park be changed from the residence of J. McLaren to the schoolhouse.

After due consideration however,
the councillors decided to leave the polling booth at the McLaren place.
It was pointed out by members of the council that Brick street and other voters would have to wade through mud to reach the schoolhouse, which is off the pavement.
They considered the old polling
booth as being fairly central and easy

of access to all voters. The deputation consisted of W. L. Wright, who has announced his intention of contesting for the position of councillor next year, and H. B. Wheeler.

The bylaw appointing deputy returning officers and poll clerks for the coming township elections was passed.

On motion of Deputy Reeve W. S.
Laidlaw and Councillor Wm. Boler,
Messrs. Angus Beattie and W. E.
Grieve will be paid $15 each for their work last summer in connection with hydro development in the township.

On motion of W. S. Laidlaw and Harvey Davis, Mr. Grieve will be paid
$12 for acting as thistle inspector during 1923.

In the absence of Clerk Riddell,
who is ill, E. S. Hunt of Lambeth, township assessor, took the minutes of the meeting.

Those present were Reeve John S.
Cousins, Deputy Reeve W. S. Laidlaw, Councillors Wm. Boler, James Johnston and Harvey Davis. Treasurer W. S. Laidlaw was also present.
