Brockville Business College

W. H. SHAW, Pres. W. T. ROGERS, Prin.

We have just published what we think is the finest Business College Catalogue that has ever been put out. It gives a full, perfect and excellent description of the work we are doing.

There's one here for you all ready for your name and address. Better send for it, hadn't you?

Local and General

—Horsemen should have their route bills printed at the Reporter Office.

—Have you seen the new spring clothing being shown at Kendrick's.

Although the Athens Baptist circuit is comparatively limited, yet during the pastorate of Rev. L. M. Weeks about $600 was paid on mortgage debt and improvements and 45 members were added to the church.

Mrs. Anson Cole, whose deceased husband was a member of the Independent Order of Foresters, has received a cheque for $1,000 in payment for the amount of insurance carried by him in the order.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Latimer are now occupying their Main street property. The work of reconstructing the building is well advanced and it is planned so as to provide a comfortable and commodious residence as well as a good business stand.

—The Evans Vacuum Cap for promoting the growth of hair, advertised in this issue of the Reporter, has a scientific basis that will commend it to the public generally. Full information may be had by addressing the makers or better still, a test may be made without risk or forfeiture.

In justice to the road commissioners (re the "Canadian Band" letter in this issue), we wish to remark that we have of late observed topographical surveys being made by those in authority of a nature to inspire the hope that mental preparations to commence to begin to start to get ready to drain the pond are now in progress.

† Thos. Bolton, a patient in the Eastern Hospital, made his escape Friday morning about four o'clock. Bolton, who was a farmer residing above Lyn, had been in the institution for some months and is said by the doctors to be harmless. His escape was made by sawing the bars of his window, and the manner in which the work was carried out shows it was more than the work of one night.

Mr. A. A. Ayer, president of Montreal Produce Association, has just returned from England and reports cheese as being sold retail there at less than wholesale price. This unheard of condition mixes up the situation so that it is hard to predict what the price will be when a sane basis is reached, but he does not expect to see it drop below 10c here in the near future.

† It is stated that coal has been discovered near Billings Bridge. A farmer was digging a well a mile or two from the village and was using dynamite for the excavating. The discovery was then made that when a charge had been exploded coal was blow out along with the rock. A barrel full had been taken out in this way and those who have examined the mineral state that it appears to be hard coal of good quality.

In connection with many other local option municipalities, the village of Winchester goes "dry" to-day. Mr. Wallace of the Commercial Hotel and Mr. Barrigar, proprietor of the livery and bus business there, will continue their business as usual. Mr. Wallace announces that, notwithstanding the withdrawal of the liquor license, he will supply travellers with the best of accommodation and attention at the old rate of $1.00 per day.

The Premier of Ontario is evidently a believer in methods of the "good old days," as witness the following extract from Legislative proceedings: Allan Strudholme enquired whether there was not already a law to prevent children going to school without shoes or stockings. "I remember," replied Mr. Whitney, "when children went to school without either shoes or stockings, and I think the results will compare favorably with those obtained under the present methods of the present day."

The success of Sherring at Athens and the wonderful performances of Longboat have done more good for track athletics and distance running in Canada than any other known events. All over the country the harrier fever is growing, and embryo runners are training in the corner lots and country roads. Last summer several young Athenians did some long distance sprinting on the track here, and it is possible that, following Brockville's example, a harriers club may be formed here this season.

—The best values to be found in Athens in Lace Curtains is at Kendrick's.

Cedar Park hotel, Charleston Lake is being opened this week.

It is expected that the three minstrel shows will net the Brockville Rowing Club nearly $800.

Salmon fishing has begun at Charleston Lake.

Among the visitors to Brockville on Tuesday were Messrs. L. N. Phelps and Omer Brown of Delta, R. J. Green of Oak Leaf, Dr. G. S. McGhie of Elgin, Dr. H. Moore of Athens, and James Sexton of Plum Hollow.

The regular meeting of the village council will be held on Monday evening next at which, we presume, the assessor will present his roll for acceptance. It should be possible at the court of revision for the citizens and their representatives, the councillors, to effect such an adjustment of appeals as will obviate the calling in of the roll by all interested might help promote that very desirable end. The roll may be seen at the clerk's office.

The Smith's Falls Record announces the marriage on Tuesday in Bothwell of Miss Zilla Crate and Mr. William J. Stinson of the C.P.R. staff, and, in conclusion, says: "The bride has been for some time on the staff of the A. B. Scott Co., and among the many presents which she received was a handsome mantel clock from her associates there as a mark of the esteem in which she is held by them. The groom has lived in Smith's Falls for some years and enjoys the respect of all who know him. The young couple will take up their residence on their return in their own home on John street east."

† Vincent Muchmore, a little Gananoque boy of eight years, died in the Hotel Dieu, at Kingston, Saturday afternoon, as a result of one of his legs becoming tangled up in the hind wheel of a delivery wagon upon which he was riding Thursday. The bone in the leg was broken two or three places above the knee, amputation being found necessary, but the little fellow could not withstand the shock. The boy was the only son of the late Edward Muchmore, and a peculiar coincidence in connection with the present death is that the father met a violent end through being run over by a G.T.R. passenger train near the station here six years ago this month.

The Bells

At a big guarantee, the management of the Brockville Opera House have succeeded in securing the celebrated actor, Mr. Thomas Shea, supported by a strong company in a brilliant scenic production of Sir Henry Irving's greatest success "The Bells."

In order to give patrons an opportunity to witness this high class dramatic event, arrangements have been made to run a special train from all stations on Thursday evening, May 2nd, returning after performance.

Leaving Athens

On Sunday evening a large congregation assembled in the Baptist church to hear the Rev. L. M. Weeks, B.D., deliver the final discourse of his pastorate in Athens. The announcement of his intention to leave Athens was received with sincere regret by the people of the village generally, for in his pastoral work and in the social relations of himself and his estimable family ties have been formed that it will not be easy to sever. The large congregation included representative members from all the sister churches, who entered heartily into the services. An inspiring choral service was rendered, which closed with a duet by Miss Rena and Miss Iva Dunham, in which their voices blended very sweetly.

Before the sermon, Rev. Mr. Weeks expressed in feeling terms the gratitude of himself and family for the many kindnesses they had received in Athens, and gave the assurance that these would always remain a pleasant memory. His text was Heb. 13: 8— "Jesus Christ the same yesterday, and to day and forever." The subject was very ably presented under two heads—the unchangeableness of Christ and the universality of Christ—and the illustration and exemplification, the close reasoning and logical deduction of the discourse were followed with close attention.

LESSON VIII.—MAY 26, 1907.

Childhood and Education of Moses—Exod. 2: 1-15.

Commentary.—I. Moses' birth and infancy (vs. 1-5). 1. A man—His name was Abraham and his wife's name was Sarah (Exod. 6: 20; Num. 26: 59). House of Levi—Thus Moses' parents were both of the tribe of Levi. "As a new life was to be given and a new priesthood formed, God chose a religious family out of which the lawgiver and the high priest were both to spring."

2. A son—There were two children older than Moses, Miriam (15, 20) who was probably from eight to ten years older, and Aaron (7, 7) who was three years older (7, 7). Goodly child—"The text simply says that he was good, which signifies that he was not only a perfect, well-formed child, but that he was very beautiful. This very circumstance was wisely ordained by the kind providence of God to be one means of his preservation. Scarcely anything interests the heart more than the sight of a lovely babe in distress. His beauty would induce even his parents to doubt their exertions to save him, and was probably the sole motive which led the Egyptian princess to take such particular care of him, and to educate him as her son, which in all likelihood she would not have done had he been only an ordinary child." Hid him—"That is, kept him hidden in the house. A small covered box or basket. She prepared it for purpose. Of bulrushes—The papyrus plant, a thick, strong and tough reed, which sometimes reaches a height of from ten to fifteen feet. "The Egyptian paper was made from its pith; our work paper is derived from the word 'papyrus.' The rush itself was used for various purposes, among others for boat building, as it appears from the monuments. It would be a very good material to use for the purpose to which Joseph applied it." Pulpit Com. Sime.—The mud of the Nile, which, when hardened, is very tenacious. Pitch—"Mineral tar. Boats of this description are seen daily floating on the surface of the river, with no other caulking than Nile mud (vs. 15, 2), and are perfectly water-tight unless the caulking is forced off by stormy weather." Flax—"A general term for sea or river weed. The spot is traditionally said to be the Isle of Rhoda, near Old Cairo."

4. His sister—Miriam. It appears that Moses had only one sister (Num. 26, 59). Afar off—So as not to show her anxiety. To wit—"To know." R. V. It was her duty to see whether Pharaoh's daughter found him, and whether he was in danger from any cause. "No tale of romance ever described a plot more skillfully laid or more full of interest in the development. The expedient of the ark, the slime and pitch, the choice of the time and place, the appeal to the sensibilities of the female breast, the stationing of the sister as a watch of the proceedings, her timely suggestion of a nurse, and the engagement of the mother herself, all bespeak a more than ordinary measure of ingenuity as well as intense solicitude on the part of the parents. But the origin of the scheme was most probably suggested to the suggestion, as its success was due to an overruling providence."—J., F. & B. 5. Daughter of Pharaoh—It has been estimated that she was about sixteen years of age at this time, and that Moses was born in the third year of the reign of Amenhotep II. To bathe (R. V.)—The women of Egypt are now kept jealously secluded in harems, and it is not customary for them to bathe in the Nile. But it has been shown that the women of ancient Egypt were quite unsecluded, and had liberties such as women in Christian lands do now, and bathing in the river was a common practise with them at that time. "At the river—"The water was there fenced off as a protection from the crocodiles, and the princess had an esplanade reserved for her own use, the road to which seems to have been known to Joseph. Walked along—Hence the discovery of the ark was not made by them, but by the prince's servant, a providential circumstance as it led her to a personal interest in the babe.—Johnson. Sent her handmaid (R. V.)—Her immediate attendant. 6. Saw the child—As soon as she saw the child she knew that it was one of the Hebrew children, for only a Hebrew mother would have need to hide her child in this manner. The babe wept—could not but fall to make the impression here mentioned. It may have been conjectured that the cruel edict of the Egyptian king did not continue long in force. See chap. 1: 22. Had compassion—"Thus the babe found a protector in the very family of the king who had slain his father. There was a great love and pity shown by this young woman, very few of those who are kings' daughters would thus stoop to show pity on the child of a slave. 7. His sister Miriam had drawn near enough to see and hear everything. No doubt the child had been carefully instructed by her mother. But God's hand was directing matters, and to him, rather than to any human wisdom, must the praise be given. 8. Moses' training (vs. 9, 10, 9). Nurse it—"By thus taking the child the nurse became from time to time in some sense the recognized servant of the princess. But otherwise how would she enjoy so satisfactory a life as her babe thus before her? They wages—"She took the child. No doubt this God-fearing mother trained her child very carefully. Children should be very thankful when they have Christian parents who bring them up in a knowledge and fear of God. 10. Two Pharaoh's daughter—"Though it must have been nearly as severe a trial for Joseph to part with him the second time as the first, she was, doubtless, reconciled to it by her belief in his high destination, and as the future deliverer of Israel." He became her son—"By adoption; and the high rank afforded him advantages in education which, in the providence of God, were made subservient to far different purposes from what his royal patroness intended. We can obtain an idea of what his education was from Acts 7:22. "Being adopted into the royal family, he was no doubt received into the priestly caste, and knew all the secret learning of the Egyptian priests. His experience of the Egyptian life must have been wide." But Moses had not only a moral and an intellectual training, but, according to Josephus, he had also a practical preparation for the great work that was before him. Called his name—"What name he had from his parents we know not; but whatever it might have been it was ever after lost in the name given to him by the Princess of Egypt. III. Moses slays the Egyptian (vs. 11-15). When Moses was about forty years old there came a great crisis in his life, about which we learn in Heb. 11: 24, 27. We are not told what was the occasion of his decision to abandon the Egyptian court at this time; but it is clear that God was leading him to forsake the idolatrous and immoral influences with which he was surrounded. Because of his rash act Moses was obliged to flee for his life, and he went to the borders of the Midianites, in the southeastern part of Arabia, where there was a well for the watering of flocks. While Moses was sitting by the well the seven daughters of Jethro (also called Jethro) came to water their father's flocks. They had filled the troughs with water when some rude shepherds came and drove them away. At this Moses came to the rescue and made the shepherds stand aside while he watered the flocks. The result of this action was that he entered the service of Jethro, and married his daughter Zipporah.

IV. Moses' mother. I. Faith-filled—"By faith Moses, when he was come to years, refused to be called the son of Pharaoh's daughter" (Heb. 11, 24). Was it not because this godly mother (v. 1), during those months while her baby lay so close to her heart (v. 2), and during those three months while he was "hid" in her home (v. 3), sent constantly up to the throne a prayer for her little one? When Bishop Simpson was a young man he went to his mother and said with reluctance and diffidence, "Mother, I feel impressed that I ought to preach the gospel." She threw her arms about his neck and answered, "My boy, I prayed for that before you were born." "By faith Moses, when he was born, was hid three months of his parents...and they were not afraid of the King's commandment" (Heb. 11, 23). Josephed was not he was anxious at the approach of the strange footstep, or at the sound of an unwelcome voice. Fear is not faith. She took every precaution, she told no one of the advent of the baby boy, she never exposed him to the public gaze, she washed the infant's cry before it left his lips, but she was "not afraid." And her talent for commanding men that when he was only 19 years old he found himself master of one of the largest sailing vessels that plied between the East Indies and Great Britain. Later on he sailed between China and San Francisco, and the year 1875 found him at work as a drayman in San Francisco. Labor disputes followed, and in the turbulence that followed Kearney rose naturally to be the leader of the employees.

II. Faithful—"The maid went and called the child's mother, and the woman took the child and nursed it" (vs. 8, 9). Here is a hint that God means that the baby's mother shall be the baby's nurse. There is not a spot on earth nearer to heaven than a child's cradle. There is no mission on earth more sacred than the care of a little child. No duties that are God-given ever lead a mother to neglect her child. Above all others, to the little ones home should be the place of careful training, love, prayer and blessing. 2. Reward—"Her baby was laid back in her mother arms, money was provided for the household necessities, the boy grew to be one of the great ones of earth and heaven (Rev. 15, 3), and Josephed found a place among the heroes of faith (Heb. 11, 23). "Mother," said a little boy, "when you get old and want some one to read to you, I'll pay you off." The child's mother read to him a great deal, especially on the Lord's day. His own efforts were so slow, he seemed to appreciate how good his mother was to him and that some time in the future he might return her kindness. "I'll pay you off, mother," he cried with childish satisfaction. Little one, do you know the only way in which you can ever pay off mother? By loving Jesus and doing his will and preparing for heaven, just as little Moses did.

III. Moses' sister, Miriam was patient and loving (v. 4), willing and faithful (vs. 7, 8). Thus she was a link between baby Moses and his Egyptian home. Thus the identity of Moses and the knowledge of the brotherhood of Aaron became possible, which was of great importance in the later history of both. The life of Caroline Herschel tells how large a place a sister may fill. From dusk to dawn the great astronomer would stand at the telescope narrating the wonders he saw. All through the winter's night his faithful sister wrote down his observations and sometimes the ink froze in her pen. She spent many hours of the day making the necessary calculations. For nearly forty years Herschel and his wonderful sister worked thus together. His many and marvelous discoveries could never have been made but for her ministering presence.

III. Moses' protector. God is ever on the side of the children. He planned a way of safety for the babe which would never have occurred to human sagacity; not by miraculous agencies, but by the simple, natural instrumentalities of His providence. God delights to use the weak and foolish things of this world (1 Cor. 1, 27). He used a baby's beauty (v. 2), a woman's faith (v. 3), a tiny ark (v. 3), a sister's love (v. 4), a woman's heart (v. 5), a baby's tears (v. 6), the cruel king's own daughter (v. 9). "Nurse it for me," the princess said, and those words gift the babe about with safety. "Every soldier in the land grasped his weapon now for his defence. All the wealth of Egypt ministered to his wants. All the might of Pharaoh availed for his protection. The poor child of the Hebrews was the son of Pharaoh's daughter." God's love is over all. God's love is with all.

FOUGHT TO THE BITTER END. Man Dragged From Cell to Scaffold and Hanged. Gantersville, Ala., April 29.—Bob Watts (white) was hanged for murder here to-day, under tragic circumstances. He had become possessed of a knife, and resisted to the end. Ammonia was thrown into his cell and he was thus overcome and dragged to the scaffold by force, coughing and moaning piteously.

LEADER OF SAND LOT RIOTS DEAD IN FRISCO.

Dennis Kearney Passes Away From Old Age—Organizer of Workingmen's Party.

San Francisco, April 29.—Dennis Kearney, the labor agitator, who achieved notoriety late in the seventies when the so-called "Sand lot riots" took place, died of old age at his home in Alameda last night. Dennis Kearney once came pretty near being the political boss of San Francisco. He it was who, at the time of the "Sand lot riots," led a mob of workingmen to burn the homes of wealthy San Franciscans on Nob Hill. For many years he was a power in San Francisco politics and his word was law with thousands of workingmen. Kearney was born in County Cork, Ireland, and came to New York when he was only 11 years old. At an early age he went to sea and displayed such a talent for commanding men that when he was only 19 years old he found himself master of one of the largest sailing vessels that plied between the East Indies and Great Britain. Later on he sailed between China and San Francisco, and the year 1875 found him at work as a drayman in San Francisco. Labor disputes followed, and in the turbulence that followed Kearney rose naturally to be the leader of the employees.

YOUNG BLIZZARD RAGING IN WEST.

Chicago Having a Time With the Snow and Cold—Fruit Crop Hard Hit by the Frost.

Chicago, Ill., April 29.—Chicago was in the grip of a second April blizzard to-day that made it one of the coldest places in the country. Snow that fell all day was followed by ice and freezing temperature to-night. Throughout the entire northern tier of States the reign of boreas is supreme and the biting teeth of the wind are felt as far south as Ohio and even into Northern Texas. From every section of that district reports are to the effect that fruit has been ruined. Spring plowing has been retarded and as a result several millions of dollars in loss to farmers, stock growers and fruit raisers is anticipated. Lake shipping has also been interfered with. Snow in Northern Kansas and Northern Missouri and freezing weather extended from the Nebraska-Iowa State lines south into the Panhandle of Texas as reported with predictions of cold weather. There was a fall of between two and three inches of snow at Dresden in the northwestern corner of Kansas, a light fall at Concordia, Kan., and an inch at Marysville, Mo. The temperature at Kansas City this morning reached 39 degrees. In Chicago the temperature is almost unprecedented. On April 25 last year, a thermometer registered 80 degrees at noon, the lowest point being at 6 o'clock in the morning. To-day the highest point reached was 44 degrees at 12 o'clock. Since that time the tube employed, gradually, the mercury scaling down to almost freezing at noon. The snow that fell during the day registered nearly half an inch, the greatest fall for the season in years.

APPEAL TO CARNEGIE.

TORONTO UNIVERSITY WANTS RETIRING ALLOWANCES. Toronto, April 29.—Dr. Maurice Hutcheon acting president of Toronto University has submitted a memorandum to the trustees of the Carnegie foundation for the advancement of teaching, asking for an appreciation of the utter inadequacy of the provisions for retirement in the university in Toronto, and in view of that the trustees will include this university among the beneficiaries of the fund administered by them. The appeal is made relative to the system of retiring allowances made to professors and faculties under the scheme of Mr. Carnegie.

Will Anti-Friction Axles Ever Come Into General Use?

The public have for some time been looking for an axle that will do the same work on carriages and wagons that the ball-bearing does on the bicycle. On this subject a prominent authority says: For years mechanics and engineers have ceaselessly lent their energies to design and develop an anti-friction axle that would be cheap and durable as well as easy-running. There have been many flat failures and partial successes. One thing at least has been demonstrated clearly, and it is that where weight has to be carried, a sufficient bearing surface must be provided, and as only the minimum bearing surface can be obtained in a ball-bearing the future axle must be of the roller type. There is no doubt but that it is merely a matter of time when some clever mechanic will produce an anti-friction roller bearing axle that will have the necessary bearing surface, simplicity of construction and durability. When such an axle comes on the market, at a price that the general public can afford to buy, it will not be possible to sell a vehicle with the plain axle any more than it is possible to-day to sell a bicycle without the ball-bearing.

BLOWN TO PIECES.

WAS WARNING DYNAMITE—HORSE AND COW ALSO KILLED. Rochester, N. Y., April 29.—Samuel Johnson, aged 53, of Millville, was killed by an explosion of dynamite to-day, his body being blown to pieces. Johnson had been employed blowing up stumps and rocks for various farmers. This morning he was in a barn warning dynamite for the day's work, when a terrific explosion, which was plainly heard in Medina, occurred, wrecking the barn and setting it on fire. A horse and a cow were blown through the side of the barn and killed. Johnson's body was badly burned in the fire, which destroyed the barn. He leaves a wife and daughter in Lockport.

Flour Prices.

Flour—Manitoba patent, $3.85, track; Toronto; Ontario, 90 per cent, patent, $2.67 bid for export; Manitoba patent, special brands, $4.50; strong bakers', $4. Toronto Live Stock Market. Receipts of live stock at the city market since Tuesday were 96 car loads, as reported by the railways, composed of 1,574 cattle, 1,47 hogs, 113 sheep and lambs, with 500 calves and 1 horse. The quality of fat cattle was fairly good. Trade was much the same as on Tuesday, the market being inclined to be slow, and had it not been that there were several buyers from outside points it would have been much worse, owing to the large supply of cattle succeeding the large run on Tuesday. Exporters—Only a few lots of exporters were on sale, and these sold from $4.90 to $5.25 per cwt. Export bulls sold from $3.75 to $4.25. Butchers—George Rowntree, who bought 325 butchers' cattle for the Harris Abattoir Company on Wednesday and Thursday, quoted prices as follows: Loads of good to choice cattle, at $4.70 to $4.90; fair to good, $4.40 to $4.65; good cows, $4 to $4.50; medium cows, $3.50 to $3.80; common cows, $2.75 to $3.20 per cwt. Feeders and Stockers—Mr. Marby, who bought about 100 feeders to-day, reports prices as follows: Steers, 1,100 to 1,200 lbs., each, at $2.50 to $4.75; steers, 1,000 to 1,050 lbs., each, at $2.50 to $4.50; steers, 800 to 900 lbs., each, at $3.00 to $4.50; stockers, 50 to 700 lbs., each, at $2.50 to $3 per cwt. Milch Cows—There was a fair trade in milkers and springers at prices ranging from $30 to $55 each, the bulk selling at $40 to $50 each. Not many cows sold over $35. Veal Calves—Prices were easy, owing to large receipts. Prices ranged from $3 to $6, with a few new milk fed at $6.50 per cwt. The bulk sold from $4 to $5.50 per cwt. Sheep and Lambs—Receipts were light, and prices firm. Export sheep, $5 to $5 per cwt.; yearling lambs, $6.50 to $8 per cwt.; spring lambs sold at $4 to $6.50 each.

Two Strangers Disfigured the Famous City Temple in London.

London, April 29.—Passers-by were astonished this morning to see the word "Ichabod" (the glory is departed from here) in glaring letters, 18 inches high, on the front of the City Temple. It had evidently been written by a skilled hand, as the letters were perfectly formed and spaced. Persons not aware of the significance of the word thought that it was merely a new decoration and passed on. Eventually a new beneficiary curious found the Temple caretaker and enquired why the word was on the portico. The caretaker, who until then was not aware of its presence, promptly obtained a ladder and washed the letters off. A subsequent investigation revealed that two well dressed men, with a long ladder, had inscribed the word early in the morning. Nobody interfered with them, it being assumed that they were orthodox Christians, who, saddened by Dr. Campbell's heresy, conceived it to be their duty to fulfil the invocation of the late pastor of the church. Dr. Parker, who on a memorable occasion declaimed from the pulpit of the Temple: "Should it ever come to pass that the great public teacher, and the great restorer of truths of Christ's death and resurrection be denied by the future occupier of the pulpit, or should the fact of His gracious Godhead and Divinity be questioned, may the word Ichabod be written over the doors of the City Temple!"

WAS WARMING DYNAMITE—HORSE AND COW ALSO KILLED.

Rochester, N. Y., April 29.—Samuel Johnson, aged 53, of Millville, was killed by an explosion of dynamite to-day, his body being blown to pieces. Johnson had been employed blowing up stumps and rocks for various farmers. This morning he was in a barn warning dynamite for the day's work, when a terrific explosion, which was plainly heard in Medina, occurred, wrecking the barn and setting it on fire. A horse and a cow were blown through the side of the barn and killed. Johnson's body was badly burned in the fire, which destroyed the barn. He leaves a wife and daughter in Lockport.

Do Your Children Cough in the Night?

What mother's or father's heart has not leaped into their throat when they have been suddenly awakened in the night by that hard and prolonged, or that smothering, choking, croupy cough, that belokens the most serious results unless relieved at once? What shall I do? is the first thought, and without an effective and reliable remedy at hand the child may suffer or die before relief can be given.

FISHERIES QUESTION.

NEWFOUNDLAND'S PREMIER TRYING TO SETTLE MATTER. St. John's, Nfld., April 29.—The Colonial Government officials here say that Sir Robert Bond's conference in London on Wednesday with Lord Elgin regarding the American fisheries question was only the first of a series of discussions adjustment of the entire matter. Premier Bond is in telegraphic communication with his Minister, who will consider whatever proposals are made to him and suggests such amendments as seem desirable. The officials here expect that the negotiations will be protracted and that a solution of the question will be difficult on account of the firm stand taken by Newfoundland and the conciliatory attitude of the British Cabinet towards the United States.

EPITAPH ON HER BEARD.

Housewife Becomes Frightened and Leaves Home. Waterbury, Conn., April 29.—Mrs. Isabel Bronson, widow of the Ranson place, South Kent, Monday, leaving for her husband a cheerful heartstone, no light, an abandoned cat, and this note: "Ben—You will find us down at Pettibon's from now until I get shelter." Mrs. Bronson baked scones, using an old brick oven. The loaves were flat and nearly twenty inches long. Embossed on the bottom of each she found: "May she rest in peace." "Died May 1, in her thirtieth year." Mrs. Bronson thought fate had decreed she must die. Neighbors have broken the news that an old tombstone was doing duty in the oven, but Mrs. Bronson will not return, despite her husband's pleadings.

A Magistrate Investigates Zam-Buk

SAYS IS A WONDERFUL HEALER AND DOES MORE THAN IS CLAIMED FOR IT.

Probably no household remedy in existence has won such glowing tributes from people in high places as has Zam-Buk. Mr. Roger F. Perry, Justice of the Peace for British Columbia, recently tested this famous balm, and this is what he says of it: "The Pavilion, Goldfields, B. C. "Gentlemen,—After a very fair trial I have proved Zam-Buk eminently satisfactory. In my case it has cured a skin rash of five years' standing which no doctor had been able to do any good for. "I would certainly encourage any person to keep Zam-Buk in their home. It truly does even more than you claim for it. For my own part I would not now be without it in the house. Yours very truly, (Signed) "Roger F. Perry, Justice of the Peace for B. C." Zam-Buk differs from ordinary salves and embrocations, for while these mostly contain animal oils and fat, Zam-Buk is purely herbarial. It cures and heals rashes, festering sores, ulcers, eruptions, boils, eczema, chafing sores, etc. In the household it is the handiest possible remedy for burns, scalds, children's injuries. It instantly cleanses any wound to which it is applied, prevents festering inflammation or blood poison. It cures piles, varicose ulcers and fistula. All spruigists and stores sell at 50 cents a box, or from the Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price, 6 boxes for $2.50. TRIAL FOR LIFE

CHAPTER XXV.
Cassinove was about to reply, but was interrupted by the hasty and agitated arrival of the family physician, and the return of the footman accompanied by the Bow street officers.

The circumstances of the discovery of the dreadful tragedy were required and detailed. The butler being the spokesman of the assembled household, related that they had been roused from their sleep by cries of murder that were soon smothered and drowned; that they had hurried in alarm to Sir Vincent's chamber, whence the cries proceeded, and where they found their master wounded and dying, yet clutching with his dying hand the collar of Ferdinand Cassinove, who stood over him, reeking with dagger blood, and accusing with his dying lips the same Ferdinand Cassinove of his murder.

The coroner was then summoned and, accompanied by two magistrates, he hastened to the scene of the tragedy. After the most careful investigation of the circumstances, and a thorough sifting of the evidence, they brought in their verdict.

"Sir Vincent Lester came to his death on the morning of the first of October, between two and three o'clock by a wound inflicted with a dagger, in the left ventricle of the heart, by the hands of Ferdinand Cassinove." And Ferdinand Cassinove was fully committed to Newgate upon the charge of wilful murder.

A feeling of delicacy toward Laura Elmer, who had not been present at the coroner's inquest, restrained him from asking to see her before he was taken away.

soothed and comforted them in the best manner she could, and left them quiet, in the care of their good nurse, Rachel.

Next, she went into the library, and wrote letters to Mr. Ruthven Lester, who was then at Bath, and to other near friends of the family, telling them merely of the sudden death of the baronet, and suggesting the need of their immediate presence in the house.

Miss Elmer, now that she had done all that she was able to do for the assistance of the distressed family, and much also that others in the excitement of the day were not likely to do, felt constrained to do under the circumstances, and if there is anything else in which I can be of use, I hope you will let me know.

"Certainly, Miss Elmer; you are exceedingly kind and disinterested in the assistance you have given to this afflicted family, especially when your private griefs and anxieties must have pressed heavily upon your mind and heart," said the doctor, kindly.

At this first word of sympathy Laura's fine eyes filled with tears.

this much injured young man, and afterward I can set you down at your lodgings," said the venerable physician, as, with an encouraging pressure of her hand, he left Laura Elmer.

Miss Elmer dispatched the note that she had been writing to the family solicitor, and then repaired to her chamber packed and sent off her boxes, with a brief note, to Mrs. Russell, saying only that she would be with her later in the afternoon.

Miss Elmer considerably refrained from trying the spirits of the distressed children, by taking a formal leave of them, and contented herself by leaving with the nurse an affectionate message for the little girls.

Punctually at 4 o'clock the doctor's carriage was at the door, and Laura, accompanied by her kind old friend, departed for that old abode of sin and sorrow, Newgate.

A half-hour's ride brought them to the gloomy prison.

Dr. Clark took Miss Elmer first into the apartments of the governor, to whom he made some communication apart to secure the protegee civility and attention in her future visits to the prison.

Then, attended by an officer, they went to the cell in which Ferdinand Cassinove was confined.

"Met me! how can I help you?" exclaimed the landlady, in consternation, clasping and wringing her pale fingers.

"I will explain. Upon the first meeting of Mrs. Ravenscroft and this unknown girl, your children, who were near at hand, recognized the man, and called your own attention to him. You can tell us who he is."

"Oh, it would avail you little to know! He is one with whom I was intimate when I saw him for an instant that day in the park. I have not seen him since. I do not know where he is. I have not even the least knowledge whether he is in or out of England. I know no more of him, so help me Heaven."

"Mrs. Russell," continued Laura, without for an instant withdrawing her wailing gaze, "you may believe to be a widow—are you still?"

"In fate; but not in fact." "This man, then, was your husband?" "Yes, yes!" "He left you?" "He was obliged to do it."

"He was a fugitive from justice?" "Yes, yes! Oh, it is very cruel to say so!" "No, it is only just. His name, then, is Russell?" "Oh, no!" "What! Then you do not go by his name?"

"No, no! I would not, after—after he fled!" "Why not?" "It would have ruined me! I took my maiden name, and moved into another neighborhood, where I was not known. I dressed in widow's weeds, because it seemed more quiet and respectable for a lone young mother struggling through the world! God forgive me, I did not mean to act a falsehood!"

WOMAN'S TRIALS

Can Be Banned by the Rich, Red Blood Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Actually Make.

The health and happiness of growing girls and women of mature years depends upon the blood supply. There is a crisis in the life of every woman when there are distressing headaches and backaches; when life seems a burden and when some women seem threatened with even the loss of their reason. It is at this period that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills prove a blessing to women. Every dose increases the richness and the redness of the blood supply, and this new blood strengthens the organs, enables them to throw off from the head and backaches and backaches and dizziness and secret pains that have made life a burden. There are thousands and thousands of growing girls and women in Canada who owe their health and happiness to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. At James McPherson, of Sugar Camp, Ont., is one of these. She says: "I was badly run down, felt very weak and had no appetite. I suffered from headaches and backaches and a feeling of weakness. I could scarcely drag myself about and felt that my condition was growing worse. I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and got a dozen boxes, but before they were all used I had fully regained my health, and was able to do my household work without the least fatigue. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been a great blessing to me."

Another reason for close planting is that the crowns of the trees may come together within a reasonable time. It is a good principle to lay down that the distance between the trees should be such that the crowns can come together in at least six to eight years if in less time so much the better. The good results of this meeting of the crowns of the trees, both to the soil and to the growth in height of the trees, have already been noticed in these columns.

In regions where cultivation is necessary—as in the prairie country—for the first few years after planting, close planting shortens the time during which it is necessary to cultivate the plantation. Where a plantation has been planted with the trees four feet apart, each way, in the Provinces of Manitoba and Saskatchewan, at least, it is found that three years' cultivation will suffice; if the trees were put six feet apart each way, cultivation would be necessary for twice the time, or longer.

BRITAIN IN THE SOUDAN.

Few persons grasp the magnitude of the work that Great Britain has accomplished in Egypt and the Sudan. The work of bringing order out of chaos and making fertile the desert places has cost blood and money, but the mother of civilization owes no hint that she regrets the outlay. Lord Cromer's report recently issued shows the record of progress in the Sudan is almost equal to that which has been made in Egypt, in spite of the difficulties caused by the size of the country, and the lack of means of communication. The distance from Wady Halfa to Khartoum is 1,200 miles to the crow flies, and from the borders of Darfur to the Abyssinian frontier is a distance of nearly 1,000 miles. The Province of Kordofan alone, governed by some thirty British and Egyptian officials, covers an area greater than the whole of France, and yet the only present danger to travelers in any part of the country comes from wild beasts, so effective has been British efforts to restore order and safety.

The growth of revenue has exceeded all expectations. From $255,000 in the year that followed Omdurman it has risen to $2,800,000 for 1904—exceeding all estimates. The deficit shrunk that year to $205,000. This result is all the more gratifying in view of the adopted policy of low taxation. Equally satisfactory is the increase of child population and the almost entire suppression of the slave trade. The system of loans undertaken is working well, and has advanced with which to buy cattle or to construct water wheels are frequent, and last year the area of land under cultivation increased by 102,378 acres, of which 54,558 are artificially irrigated. Schools are being established, and increasing numbers the local authorities are expressing a willingness to pay rates for educational purposes. There is, wisely, no compulsion; it is the British plan to train the people to see the benefits of such expenditure, and thus gain their support and confidence. From a land of poverty the Sudan is growing into a country of great and increasing productivity, and the peace and security of person and property guaranteed by British rule make the people glad that the day of the Mahdis is past. In other words the British flag flies over a free people and the rights of the humblest are protected. That is why British occupation is popular in the Sudan.

Inanity. It has commonly been said that lunacy was increasing in the modern world. Put Mr. Noel Humphreys in his paper read before the Statistical Society proclaims the theory that lunacy is not increasing at all. According to his ingenious statement the apparent increase is due not to the growth of lunacy, but to the growth of the care of lunacy. To put the matter shortly, he holds that it is not so much that there are more madmen, but that there are more mad doctors.

Substantially his case appears very sound. There can be little doubt that lunatic men are now put in asylums who in previous ages have been allowed to wander in the meadows or to play about the streets. There can be little doubt that many men are now called insane who in other times would merely have been called wildcats, and it is possible that many are now called madmen who in other times would merely have been called saints.

The only question is whether this selective harvest of all the lunatic alive is as great an improvement as it looks. There can be no doubt that the wise men have egged from all the ends of the earth to capture the village idiot, who once danced and laughed upon the green, now without having bricks thrown at him—London Nation.

His Great Embarrassment. Senator Enrique Crowl, the new Mexican Ambassador, said at a dinner in Washington, apropos of unpleasant truths: "Why should we ever tell them? They are always unnecessary, and how they would!" "I have heard of an American countess or duchess—I forget which—who said to her noble husband fondly: 'You were embarrassed when you proposed to me, Percival, were you not?'" "Yes," the man answered, "I owed $200,000."

MOTHERS FEEL SAFE

Mothers who have used Baby's Own Tablets for their little ones, and who are safe with the Tablets at hand, for they are a never failing cure for all the minor ills of babyhood and childhood. Mrs. Urian Crossman, New Hamburg, Ont., says: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets with marked success, and I always feel that my little one is safe under the guarantee of a Government analyst to contain neither opiates nor any other poisonous drugs. They always do good—they can't possibly do harm. For sale at druggists or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont."

The Glasgow Boy Was Not Slow. A Yankee tourist on a visit to Glasgow, on emerging from the railway station, was accosted by a lad with a familiar shout of "Carry your bag, sir?" The gentleman handed the boy the bag, and requested to be shown through Glasgow. Crossing George Square, they came opposite to Sir Walter Scott's monument, and the boy said, proudly: "That is one of the largest monuments in Scotland."

A Suffragette Passive Resister. A crowd of more than 5,000 people witnessed the sale at Market Cross, Edinburgh, of certain furniture, the property of Lady Steel, wife of the late Sir James Steel, former Lord Provost of the city. Lady Steel refused to pay house and property tax as a protest against women not having the vote. The amount of the tax was £15 9s., and the first article put up, a handsome oak sideboard, realized nearly double that amount.—London Graphic.

FOREST PLANTING.

CLOSE SPACING PRODUCES BETTER TREES THAN WIDE SPACING. The closeness of trees planted and the small size of the trees planted are points about forestry tree planting that are usually very striking to a man used to planting trees for an orchard or for ornamental purposes. A forester, in his planting of trees, usually puts his trees in 1200 feet apart each way. Distances less or greater than this have their advocates, but the spacing given above is the one generally used nowadays.

For special purposes other distances may be employed. In planting out maples for a sugar-bush, for instance, the distances would be considerably greater than those mentioned, but in this case the plantation would approach the character of an orchard, rather than that of a woodlot, where timber is the thing most desired.

One reason for this close planting is that better timber will be produced by thus crowding the trees. The tree will grow taller and straighter, as will be found generally in a thick wood as compared with a more open one. The dead branches will fall off better (in other words, the tree will prune itself better), and so the timber will be freer from knots.

Another reason for close planting is that the crowns of the trees may come together within a reasonable time. It is a good principle to lay down that the distance between the trees should be such that the crowns can come together in at least six to eight years if in less time so much the better. The good results of this meeting of the crowns of the trees, both to the soil and to the growth in height of the trees, have already been noticed in these columns.

Wheat and Clover

According to reports, the cold weather of the past few weeks has been very hard on wheat. It is stated that in some cases where the prospects of a bumper harvest looked bright in the spring, it has almost been destroyed. The warm weather in March caused wheat to grow rapidly, and within a few days the fields were green. The frost returned and the tops of the grain withered, and it is feared that it has been killed.

Reports from various parts of Ontario state that clover suffered a great deal from the cold. Like the wheat it commenced to grow with the warm weather in March, and had just reached its tender stage, when the cold weather returned and damaged it.

REMARKABLE INVENTION FOR THE CULTURE OF HAIR

THE EVANS VACUUM CAP is a practical invention constructed on scientific and hygienic principles by the simple means of which a free and normal circulation is restored throughout the scalp.

60 DAYS' FREE TRIAL! The Company's Guarantee

An EVANS VACUUM CAP will be sent you for sixty days' free trial. If you do not see a gradual development of a new growth of hair, and are not convinced that the Cap will completely restore your hair, you are at liberty to return the Cap with no expense whatever to yourself.

The eminent Dr. I. N. LOVE, in his address to the Medical Board on the subject of Alopecia (loss of hair) stated that if a means could be devised to bring nutrition to the hair follicles (hair roots) without resorting to any irritating process, the problem of hair-growth would be solved.

It has several times been suggested that the A.H.S. hold an old boys' reunion. It would be interesting, and would no doubt bring to our village many to whom the oldest of us would have to be introduced.

Blind Students Successful

A Main Street Crevasse
Dear Mr. Editor,—Knowing as I do full well the burden which lies upon the individual rate-payer of this village, who withal enjoys the exceptional educational advantages procured thereby, I would not be over critical of the wretched condition of our streets, due to neglected sidewalks and ungraded roadways, but I do think steps might be taken to prevent bog holes on Main street becoming a nuisance to health.

Pathetic Ballad
Father, dear father, come home with me now, for ma has some carpets to beat; She's got all the furniture out in the yard, from the front door clean out to the street. The stove must come down and be put in the shed, and the yard must be cleared of some grass, for it's time to clean house and old nick's to pay—and the front windows need some new glass.

A Razorless Shave
The burning of ashes is nothing to the latest discovery. There is consternation among the barbers of England over the invention of a Londoner named Witherington. They charge the kiss with spreading grippe, scarlet fever, measles, mumps, whooping cough, typhoid fever, diphtheria, erysipelas, meningitis, tuberculosis, and many infectious skin diseases.

"HINGE-STAYS" MAKE DILLON TWICE AS STRONG
Short, stiff, hard, steel wire stays make "hinge-like" joints at every lateral wire on the Dillon fence. These "hinge-stays" give our fence a greater degree of elasticity—enable it to withstand greater strain. They set like, and really are, hinges—make our fence swing or spring back into shape after receiving a heavy blow, or the unusual pressure caused by a furious bull or other animal endeavoring to push his way through to freedom. Catalogue tells more about this "twice as strong" fence.

BENEATH AN APPLE TREE

(By A. K. T.)

About this time of the year the farmer is with us. He wants help and can't get it. This is not surprising to the initiated. They know the farmer wants help, they also know he doesn't care about paying for it.

A year ago I was seeking health. A doctor and $25 worth of patent medicines failed to help me. I turned to nature. I hired with a farmer. The wages were not terrific, but I was glad to think of the health which would soon be mine.

Together we have away in a mud-colored buggy, and I felt proud to think I was a son of the soil.

It is unpleasant to read disheartening things and particularly unpleasant to write them—about yourself. Therefore, we will skip all that relate to early experiences. Indeed, I should gladly have left the farm forever had I not fallen in love.

I firmly believe anything unusual attracts a woman. To that peculiarity I attribute my woman's success with Emily. I also am inclined to think a man is more likely to fall in love when alone. Be these things as they may, a month found Emily and I each with a tender spot for the other.

Emily was pretty and she grew to care for me. After various sorts of eye language and doing all sorts of little odd jobs for her in the kitchen and garden, we entered the more advanced period, when dishes began to appear for my especial delight and, finally, Emily thought to make me candy twice a week.

Emily was not a wonderful cook. Mentally I had determined a girl would do the cooking when we were married. When Emily made candy I used to eat a little and pronounce it excellent. The rest I took out with me and pitched it into an old apple tree.

Naturally I liked her to make me candy. It was nice to get it from her hands and she was always so pretty when she gave it to me. There was a fly in the ointment, however. Emily was proud, and she was sensitive. This might be in some women, but it proved fatal in one case.

It happened like this. One evening Emily and I strolled under the old apple tree. It may have been we were thinking of the song. Anyway, we were both undoubtedly in a highly romantic condition.

After indulging in a few passages common to lovers, we were getting right up to the point where I resolved to ask her to make me happy. Emily had made fifteen pounds of butter that day, and probably she was tired, for she suggested we should sit down. Love made me blind to the fact she was a white dress, and also to the place where she had elected to sit. Down she sat and turned with some words of love and a delightful little smile. It was the last time I ever saw her smile and it only lasted a moment. It changed suddenly to a look of disgust, as she found a piece of candy sticking to her hand.

My blood nearly froze, but I now think the situation could have been averted then with presence of mind. However, I lack that quality.

"Wherever did it come from?" she asked, in unassuming dismay. The open air treatment hadn't improved the candy at all.

Before I could explain she had discovered another, equally viscous piece on her dress.

"Why, Willie," she cried, "there is more of it. Isn't it odd?" She picked it off as best she could and looked up appealingly to me.

"I must have dropped it," I said, and she looked me square in the face. She detected guilt in my eyes.

"You brute!" she said. "Oh, how could you?"

With that she jumped up, and, burying her face in her hands, ran for the kitchen. I had nothing to say, and no time, anyway. The last thing I noticed was a considerable piece glued to her dress. Other pieces turned up on my trousers and elbow.

That night I perspired in my efforts to manufacture an explanation. I might better have slept, for nothing at all suitable came into my unfruitful brain. As usual, I was up with the sun, but my heart was heavy. I knew Emily moderately well, and felt sure our romance was in the last chapter.

I was right. Breakfast over, the old man (who seemed to have been pleased at the course of things) was taking right along) rose early from the table. I had peeped at Emily several times and she may have peeped at me, but not simultaneously. Her poor eyes were small and very red. I think the old man had guessed we had indulged in a lover's tiff and had purposely left the room to bring us face to face.

No sooner had the door closed behind him, and his heavy footsteps died away in the outer kitchen, than Emily raised her proud little head and fixed her tear-stained eyes on me.

"Go," she commanded.

I wish I had obeyed. Alas! Pity for her had roused my love seven fold. I did not take her broad hint. Instead, I got up, determined to take her in my arms and kiss away our little cloud.

That settled it. Emily is essentially a woman, and I may have frightened her. She uttered a dreadful and surprising scream. Things moved quickly after that.

Probably the old fellow had lingered in the back kitchen to catch some of our words of reconciliation. Perhaps he wanted to see just how we stood to one another. With two thunderous footsteps on the tiles he reached the door and burst it open.

"Git!" he shouted, and made straight for me. I did not attempt explanations. The Philistines were upon me and I took the short route for the front door. The irony of fate led me under the old apple tree, but I was going too quickly to realize the fact. I did not make a step until the door of the old farm was far behind.

You can see that my sudden exit precluded any possibility of wages coming my way. I don't think I shall go back for them. Possibly Emily has long since repeated that heartrending scream. I don't know.

There is a moral in this, and you should note it. This is it: Don't deceive your best girl. If she gives you made candies, tell her your interior is out of order. If she's a decent girl, she won't press you.

And, girls, believe me; a man doesn't specially care about unlimited candy. If you must feed him, buy it at some good store. It may save you from the fate of my dear Emily.

Minard's Liniment used by Physicians. An Improvement in Texas.

They go at the thing in very simple fashion in Texas. There is a 2-cent-a-mile bill before the Legislature there, and the railroad men with an offer to spend $15,000,000 in extensions and improvements within the next fourteen months if the bill is defeated. If the bill passes the project will be indefinitely postponed. The sense in this way of meeting objectionable legislation. It is open, fair and above board.

Ask for Minard's and take no other.

STORY OF THE TOOTHBRUSH. Once Regarded as a Luxury Fit Only for Women's Use.

Colonial diaries and letters make it plain that our unfortunate ancestors suffered much from jumping toothaches, swollen faces and the early loss by forcible extraction of teeth which at a later period might have been saved to render their owners many years of further service. No wonder, since the care of the teeth was little understood and that little often but negligently practiced.

Toothpicks were known, the toothbrush was not, although rough substitutes were employed, made of flattened sticks, split and pounded at one end to a stiff, fibrous fringe. Toothbrushes when first introduced were regarded as by no means important accessories to the toilet, but rather as minor luxuries and suitable for women only.

The diary of a London merchant trading to the colonies has this entry: "Bought a toothbrush for my wife, which, used together with salt water, very strong, and washes from herbs, she is told will keep her teeth from falling out or getting hollow. The salt and herbs may well prove strengthening to her gums, which are tender, but for the brush. It seems but a silly toy, hardly likely to wear the worth of its price and scarce clean save when new. But she must have it, being a new thing late from France."—Youth's Companion.

Keep Minard's Liniment in the house.

Fear'd to Disturb Her.

In the village of Polton a woman fell into a trance. After the Politevan custom, she was wrapped in a sheet and carried to the cemetery, but as the procession was passing through a narrow road a thorn of the wayside pierced the sheet, wounding her so that the blood flowed, and she awoke. Fourteen years later the woman really died, and again was borne toward the grave. As the procession passed through the narrow road the husband cried, "Not so near the hedge, friends! Not so near the hedge!"

"Why?"

"Because it only comes once a week."

The Baby Said "Goo."

A woman, carrying a baby in her arms, boarded a car at Colfax and Broadway the other day and took a seat in the front end. When the conductor came for her fare the woman put a nickel in the baby's hand and said: "Give it to de conductor, sweetness."

The baby said "Goo!" and waved its arms.

"Hand de conductor de money, peaches," said the woman.

Another "Goo" from the baby. "Diddy is a bad child," said the woman. "Dive de conductor de nickel."

The conductor was becoming slightly exasperated. "Goo, Goo," said the baby.

The woman caught the baby's wrist and the conductor held out his hand for the fare. "Goo," said the baby. Then the nickel fell to the floor. The woman picked it up again and put it in the baby's hand again.

This time the baby waved its arms and then put the nickel in its mouth. "Fare," please, said the conductor. The woman tried to get the nickel, but

BETTER THAN SPANKING.

Spanking does not cure children of bad temper. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box W. 8, Windsor, Ont., will send free to any mother her successful home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money but write her to-day if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child, the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urticaria difficulties by day or night.

J. J. Hill's Brother. (Toronto Saturday Night.)

Alexander Hill, of Speedside, near Rockwood, Ont., is a brother of J. J. Hill, the railroad king. Alex. Hill is two years younger than his famous brother, but has never distinguished himself. For twenty-five years he taught in the public schools, and now works as a fine farmer. He resembles J. J. in one respect at least, he is eccentric in the matter of dress. At Rockwood resides an uncle of J. J. Hill—Uncle John. He lives in a cottage that was the public school where the future railway engineer began his studies. This uncle is frankly proud of "Jim," but is still more proud of his own sons who have prospered in the west as grain-growers. Uncle John is a man of sense. When Paul Lutzke interviewed him with a view of writing a magazine article, the old man said: "After all, money isn't everything, and after you get so much, you might as well have stacks of pig iron for all the additional good you get out of piling it up. This is a truth that needs a little preaching in this generation on this continent."

YOUR SUMMER OUTING. If you are fond of fishing, canoeing, camping or the study of wild animals look up the Algonquin National Park of Ontario for your summer outing. A fish and game preserve of 2,000,000 acres interspersed with 1,200 lakes and rivers is awaiting you, offering all the attractions of nature in its most magnificent canoe trips. Altitude 2,000 feet above sea level. Pure and exhilarating atmosphere. The view of writing a magazine article, the old man said: "After all, money isn't everything, and after you get so much, you might as well have stacks of pig iron for all the additional good you get out of piling it up. This is a truth that needs a little preaching in this generation on this continent."

ON HANDLING CHILDREN.

Children should be handled as little as possible. When they get bigger they won't stand for it, preferring to handle themselves. The handling of children has now been reduced to a science, of which there are three distinct branches, viz: Wandering, joggling and chucking.

To handle children properly, first fondle. To fondle, encircle the child twice with both arms and press tightly against the breast or some other part of the anatomy. Continue until the child shows signs of suffocation. Then joggle. To joggle, face the child, leaning, press the thumbs firmly into the child's trunk midway between the ribs and the stomach and the elbow ribs, with the fingers deeply imbedded in the small of the back. Then shake the child vigorously up and down and sideways, until the child froths at the mouth. Then chuck.

To chuck, extend the fingers of the right hand and strike the child sharply on the face, preferably under the chin. This may be done with perfect safety to very young children, as they can neither strike back nor, having no teeth, bite the tongue. Continue until the child temporizes and grows red in the face. Then fondle as above and repeat ad libitum.

This rule is for your own children or vice versa. For the children of others or vice versa, add fifty per cent.—Ellie O. Jones in the April Bohemian.

FLAT FOOT.

A Painful Affliction Remedied Only by Wearing a Support.

Flat foot is a very common affliction. It is also one which is frequently overlooked by physicians, says the Medical Brief.

The patient complains of pain in the heel, the ankle, the knee, the hip, the foot, great toe, the muscles of the calf, the knee or even the hip. The busy practitioner notes these symptoms in a hurried, casual way, attributes them to rheumatism, prescribes salicylates and what not, and another flat footed individual plods his weary way.

Increased deformity is added to that may have been merely foot strain in the first place. A curable case has become well-nigh incurable, and the medical profession is again justly liable to well-deserved censure.

Any factor which tends to diminish the muscular power of the foot may cause flat foot. A great increase in the weight borne by the foot may cause it.

This increase in weight may be actual, such as occurs in people who put on a great deal of fat, or it may be relative, such as occurs in athletes, jumpers especially. But by far the most common cause is a cramping of the foot, brought about by improper shoes.

For treatment of this condition mechanical support to the deformed foot is practically all that is necessary. This mechanical support is best afforded by means of the footplate made from highly tempered steel and moulded upon a plaster cast of the foot.

The footplate should be worn as long as it is required, but no longer. Additional wearing of the plate beyond the time necessary, as indicated by the symptoms, is simply an additional cause of harm. With the footplate a shoe should be worn fitting the normal contour of the foot.

Diabolical Cruelty. (Cleveland Leader.)

"The meanest fiend I ever knew," said a member of the Century Club, "was a fellow who used to belong to it. He used to bore us for hours telling of the smart sayings of his children. It was something fierce. Finally he left town and we discovered that he had no children—he was an old bachelor. He'd been springing that line of stuff for years just to watch us writhe."

Bathers Grown More Wary. (Washington Star.)

"There is as much watering railway stocks as ever," remarked the financier.

"Yes," answered Dustin Stacks, "but it's a little harder to convince the small investors that the water's fine and they ought to come out."

That Was Too Much. (Scottish American.)

It is told of a Jura Highlander who had been drafted into the Glasgow police force, and had got his instructions about not allowing people obstructing the traffic, that he accosted a knot of young men, who had gathered on the pavement, with the words, 'my lads, if you'll be going to stand here you'll have to be moving on.' The young men began to chaff him, and very speedily roused the policeman. This is one of the largest cities in the town of Glasgow.

"But why?" demanded one of the young men. "Isn't this a free country?"

"This is not a country at all, you pig sheep's head," retorted the enraged policeman. "This is one of the largest cities in the town of Glasgow."

Not a Matter for Experiment. A young man who had inherited a large fortune from a rich but very economical relative decided to live on a scale commensurate with his greatly increased income, and was making arrangements to build a fine mansion, buy an automobile and invest in other expensive luxuries, when an elderly friend who had always been one of his advisers undertook to remonstrate with him.

"What's this I hear about your squandering the money your uncle left you, Harry?" said the elderly friend.

"I am not going to squander it," he answered, "but I'm going to get some good out of it."

"It's enough to make him turn over in his grave. Didn't your uncle prove in his own case that a man could live on a personal expenditure of less than one thousand dollars a year?"

"Yes."

"Well, he proved it so thoroughly that I accept it as demonstrated. What is the use of my continuing the experiment?" Youth's Companion.

A Pure Mongrel.

The Princess de Montgion, whose collies were a feature of the winter's kennel shows, was explaining to a young woman journalist her method of breeding dogs.

"But you," the princess said, "are somewhat ignorant of dog breeding, are you not?"

"I am," the interviewer confessed.

"You are like," said the princess, "that amusing Mark Twain, who bought in the west a 'genuine Mexican pig' thinking the phrase meant 'thoroughbred Arabian,' or something of that sort. You are like a young friend of mine who said one evening to her husband:

"Oh, Jack, I have such a surprise for you! Look at this perfectly sweet little dog I bought this morning. Only $25, and the man guaranteed him to be a pure mongrel!"

Saloon License as an Asset. (Philadelphia Ledger.)

Under the existing law a license to sell liquor in London is regarded as a vested right of which the holder can not be deprived without compensation unless he has violated some penal statute. Many of the London licensees are of very ancient date and they have given value to the premises. The new statute permits the authorities to reduce the number of inns where they are no longer necessary, but whenever a license is extinguished the licensee, the brewers and the owners of the premises are awarded a certain amount by way of damages. The list of houses that have ceased to be licensed shows that many of the resorts are of no great present value, but the aggregate compensation allowed is considerable. The damage awards are collected equally from the innkeepers who are allowed to retain their licenses.

Minard's Liniment Co., Limited. Yarmouth, N. S.

Gentlemen,—In January last, Francis Leclair, one of the men employed by me, working in the lumber woods, had a tree fall on him, crushing him fearfully. He was, when found, lying on a sled and taken home, where grave fears were entertained for his recovery, his hips being badly bruised and his body turned black from his ribs to his feet.

We used MINARD'S LINIMENT on him freely to deaden the pain and with the use of three bottles he was completely cured and able to return to his work. SAUVEUR DUVAL. Elgin Road, L'Islet Co., Que.

Toronto's Dialect. (W. Gabriel in Toronto Saturday Night.)

The dialect of Toronto talk sounds more curious to the ear of a Cockney or true Londoner, and native of our English home-countries, than to north-countrymen, because many words are couched as in our more northern dialects, such as "waa-ah" instead of "what" and "do-an" instead of "do it." The introduction of superfluous vowels, as in "aagun" for "again" (again), and "the-ere" for "there," and so on, is a free rolling of the letter "r," and a nasal twang that I, as a stranger, should roughly place "American" did not notice that Mr. Dixon in his article on "Nova Scotia" says the Nova Scotians rather irreverently term "the Ontario twang." All these peculiarities of speech taken together form what I should call for want of a better term, "Torontoese."

FORMER SWEETHEART MURDERS OLD LOVE.

Jilted Young Woman Shoots and Kills Him on His Wedding Day.

Oil City, Pa., April 29.—Thaddeus Stevens Ross, of this city, was shot dead here to-day by Miss Belle Stroup, of Bradford. The woman, after killing Ross, turned the revolver on herself and sent a bullet through her heart. The murder and suicide occurred in the office of Dr. George W. Magee, while the physician was at lunch. Ross was shot in the head, the neck and the heart as he sat in a rocking chair.

Ross was to have been married to-night to Miss Dorothea Sampson, of this city. He was dining at home at noon to-day and discussing his coming wedding, when he was called to the telephone by his father, who said that a woman was enquiring for Thad. After answering the call, young Ross picked up his hat and, saying that he had to go to the physician's office for a few minutes, left the house.

There were no witnesses to the shooting.

Miss Stroup was an old sweetheart of Ross and no motive except jealousy is known for her act. She was of a well-known Bradford family.

Ross, the murdered man, was a clerk in the local postoffice. He was 35 years old. His fiancée, Miss Sampson, is the daughter of wealthy parents and prominent in Oil City society. She is prosecuted by the shock and under a physician's care.

Miss Stroup arrived at noon from Bradford, where she had been working in a hospital, and went to the office of Dr. Magee. Finding no one in the office she called Ross on the telephone and asked him to come to the office and see her.

When Dr. Magee returned from lunch and opened the door he found the dead bodies. That of Ross was in a chair in a corner of the office. His head was lying back on the chair and blood was streaming from a bullet wound in his neck. His forehead was burned with powder, where a bullet had entered his brain. Another ball had pierced his heart.

Miss Stroup's body was lying a few feet away face downward, and it partly blocked the office door. Blood was flowing from a wound in her left side.

Ross had seated himself in a large chair and apparently while talking to the girl, had thrust both hands into his trousers' pockets.

The girl wore long black kid gloves, but before doing the shooting she had slipped both her hands from them and they hung loose from her bloody wrists. It is thought she walked over to the chair in which Ross was seated, and concealing the revolver with her dress, fired the first shot at his heart. Apparently he never moved, for the position of his body was a natural one when it was found.

that the lungs of a coal miner are jet black, and the surgeon's knife grates on the particles of coal dust as he cuts. With a weak glass, he says, the black dust can be seen in the lungs of the average resident here, and the lungs themselves are blue-black. Men who have lived here but a short time have lungs mottled with pink and black. In spite of that fact the lungs are not weakened perceptibly, Dr. Schildecker says.

Jamestown Tercentennial Exposition Opens to-day—Buildings Not Yet Completed—Fleets of Foreign Nations Assembled in Hampton Roads.

Norfolk, Va., April 29.—The day before the opening of Jamestown Tercentennial Exposition on Hampton Roads finds the management of the big enterprise straining every nerve to put the grounds and buildings in presentable shape for the inaugural ceremonies.

The feature of the opening day will be the naval regatta on Hampton Roads. President Roosevelt, on board the yacht Mayflower, will review the ships of the British and American squadrons. The regatta will be witnessed by thousands of persons from the shores. Pleasure crafts and excursion steamers by the score will furnish the anchorage grounds of the fleet, and a water show is expected to surpass anything ever seen in the country.

The management expects to have the exposition completed by May 15th. The British and American squadrons arrived at Hampton Roads to-day, and joined the American, German and Argentine representatives, which have already arrived. Sailors were exchanged and the British and Austrian ships took up the anchorage in the roads which had been assigned to them.

WYCLIFFE COLLEGE.

BUILDING TO BE ENLARGED—CLOSING EXERCISES LAST NIGHT.

Toronto, April 29.—The closing exercises in connection with Wycliffe College were held in the Convocation Hall last night, with a large attendance. Diplomas were awarded to fifteen graduates, who were presented to the president by Rev. Dr. Gody. The report of Principal O'Meara was very gratifying, showing that the college was quite incapable of accommodating the students that were seeking admission, but that arrangements had been made to permit of a much more satisfactory condition. The meeting opened with an address from Mr. N. W. Hoyle, K. C., LL.D., president of the corporation. Never in the history of Canada, who were such need for a college like Wycliffe. While there was not the same bitterness that formerly existed between different creeds there was still great necessity for teachers of the Protestant evangelical truths. The new theology was leading away many people to the Lord Jesus Christ that were blasphemous in the extreme. Wycliffe stood for respect and reverence for God's word and loyalty to the personality and finished work of Jesus Christ.

Rev. Canon O'Meara said there were at present 75 students at the college. The college societies had been doing good work, and in athletics a splendid step forward had been taken. Before the diplomas were awarded a medal was presented to Mr. T. H. Perry, the winner of the oratorical contest, and W. Ellis was presented with the colors, awarded the athlete securing the greatest number of points in the three years' course.

BROCKVILLE GIRL MISSING.

Strange Disappearance of Miss Eva Hagerty From Philadelphia Hospital.

Philadelphia, April 29.—Friends of Miss Eva Hagerty, one of the prettiest nurses in the Women's Hospital, are greatly worried over her disappearance from the hospital early yesterday morning. Not a trace of the young woman can be found anywhere.

Two weeks ago Miss Hagerty, who had come here from Brockville, Canada, was taken ill. She had been on probation as a nurse in the hospital.

She was given the best of care and her condition was not considered dangerous, but it was thought best to notify her relatives in Brockville.

Mrs. C. Y. Brown, sister, was to have arrived to-day to take the nurse back to Canada. The last seen of Miss Hagerty was yesterday morning, when she was noticed gathering up her clothing and going into the hallway. The nurse who saw her doing this thought nothing of it until later when a general alarm was sent out.

THEIR LUNGS ARE BLACK.

Pittsburgers' Breathing Apparatus Permeated With Coal Dust.

New York, April 29.—The Herald has received the following despatch from Pittsburg: The lungs of the average Pittsburger are about the color of blue-black ink after it has dried on a blotter, while his more fortunate neighbors living in the clean country districts can boast of nice pink breathing apparatus, according to physicians here.

Dr. C. B. Schildecker, who performs most of the autopsies at the morgue, is authority for the statement, and has been examining the lungs of all classes for several years. He declares

DR. FALCONER TO BE PRESIDENT

OF TORONTO UNIVERSITY IF HE ACCEPTS POSITION.

Was the Choice of Entire Board—Short Sketch of His Career—Number of Appointments Were Made Among the Teaching Staff.

Toronto despatch: Robert A. Falconer, M. A., B. D., LL.D., Litt.D., of Halifax, has been selected by the Board of Governors for the Presidency of the University of Toronto. At the regular meeting of the board yesterday afternoon it was unanimously decided to offer him the position. A cablegram was sent to Dr. Falconer at Naples, where he is this week on his way to Greece. It is expected that he will at once return to Halifax in order to meet the Board of Trustees of Pine Hill College, of which he is Principal, after which he will formally announce his decision in the matter of the Toronto affair. It is believed that he will accept the appointment at an early date.

Who He Is.

Dr. Falconer is a Canadian. He was born in Prince Edward Island forty years ago. His father is the Rev. Alex. Falconer, D. D., of Pictou, N. S.; who a year ago was Moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada. In early life Dr. Falconer spent several years in Trinidad, West Indies, and at that time won the Gilchrist scholarship.

Dr. Falconer was educated at Queen's Royal College, Trinidad. While there he passed the Cambridge local examination with first-class honors, in some subjects being bracketed equal with the first in the entire list. He also passed the London matriculation, receiving the Gilchrist scholarship, equivalent to £100 for three years, and at the same time he held the colonial scholarship of £150 for the same period.

Later he studied at the University of Edinburgh, and passed for his degree of Master of Arts with honors in classics. He subsequently obtained from that university the degrees of B. D. and D. Litt. He also won a B. A. from London University, with honors in classics and philosophy. Three seasons were also spent in study at the University of Leipzig, Berlin and Marburg.

Dr. Falconer has received the honorary degree of LL.D. from the University of Fredericton and from St. Francis Xavier University.

With Halifax Presbyterian College.

After completing his studies in Britain and Germany, Mr. Falconer returned to Nova Scotia, and in 1892 was appointed lecturer in Greek classics in the Presbyterian College, Halifax, and in 1895 was appointed professor. On the retirement of Principal Pollock he was unanimously appointed to the Principalship of the college. Under his guidance and leadership the college has grown in influence and power. He has also been active in the affairs of Dalhousie University, and has lectured and conducted classes there. It is known that he has been agreed upon by the Governors of Dalhousie for the Presidency in succession to President Forrest, who desires to retire.

Some Appointments Made.

A number of appointments were made at the meeting of the Board of Governors yesterday: Professor J. C. McLeeman, who has been associate professor of physics, was appointed to be professor of physics.

Mr. W. J. London, who has been associate professor of physics, was transferred to the department of mathematics, with the title of associate professor of mathematics.

Mr. W. H. Clawson was appointed for one year lecturer in English.

Dr. James W. Barton was appointed to the office of physical director of the University, combining the three duties of Secretary, Director of the gymnasium, and director in charge of physical examination.

IRISH DEVOLUTION BILL DOES NOT PLEASE LEADER REDMOND.

Will Not Reject What Has Been Offered, But Will Fight for More—Stormy Conferences Between Government and Nationalist Party—Measure to be Introduced on May 7.

London, April 29.—Discussions are still going on between the Government and John Redmond, Chairman of the Irish Parliamentary party in the House of Commons, respecting the Irish bill which will be introduced in the House on May 7. There are wide differences of opinion between the Government officials and the Irish Nationalists on the terms of the measure is not denied, but they have agreed that the bill shall be introduced on the date determined upon by Chief Secretary for Ireland Birrell, and what the Nationalists are unable to get from the Government they will endeavor to obtain by amendments which will be prepared during the debate upon the bill.

Some of the members of the Cabinet who favor home rule were willing to concede many of the demands of the Irish party, but the majority favored a measure far short of what Mr. Redmond and his followers asked. There have been many conferences upon the subject, some of which were stormy, and for a time it was feared that the in-

A LIFE SENTENCE.

PEOPLE OF ONTARIO SHOULD COME TO MRS. PERKINS' RELIEF.

Toronto Mail and Empire:—As Mrs. Perkins was proved not guilty of the killing of her husband she did not suffer capital punishment or the entire loss of her liberty. But because she was accused, she had to undergo several months' imprisonment, and to bear defence costs amounting to three or four thousand dollars. For her this heavy fine is a life penalty. She will be working with her needle all her days to make up the money thus sunk in a fight for her life against the "theory" of a detective, and against the pitiless officers and resources of the Crown. Robbed of her husband who cherished and supported her, deprived of his small estate, which she had done her part to gather and conserve, she is left to make her own way in the world after an ordeal that, if it does not shorten her years, has left upon her name a stigma that no innocents can wipe out. So she limps out of the iron clutch of the law, crushed and all but broken. What quarrel have the people of Ontario with this woman? What terrible thing has she done that she should thus suffer? The prejudice that exists against her in her own home was plainly shown at the trial, more plainly perhaps than any other single fact. Is that a reason why her life should be put in peril, and a staggering fine be placed upon her shoulders?

If there was a mystery in Henry Perkins' death, it may never be solved. If he was murdered, his murderer may never be known. Only one person has been proved guilty of his death, and that person is his wife. Nothing that can be done now that will fully atone for the tragic blunder of her trial, but it should be in the power of the people of Ontario to lift from her life the weight of a blighting debt. So much reparation is due to her, and no less should be made without delay. Nor is it a day too soon to give trial judges the power to order the expenses of defence in criminal trials to be borne by the prosecution, as in civil cases. Should such a reform spring from the trial of Mrs. Perkins the case would have at least one associated incident upon which the mind of a just man could dwell without alarm, and without disgust.

THE LORD'S DAY ACT.

AN ORGANIZATION THAT SEEKS TO MAKE HOLES IN IT.

The movement to form what is denominated a "Canadian Rational Sunday League" is evidently going on, as the following circular, with blank for membership application, is being sent out from the secretary's office, 133 Bay street, Toronto.

CANADIAN RATIONAL SUNDAY LEAGUE.

The formation of this League has been forced upon us by the tyrannical Sunday laws recently enacted at Ottawa. This legislation was secured by professional agitators in the name of religion, and under sanction of this iniquitous law a religious persecution has commenced. Those who do not agree with the Lord's Day Alliance are to be converted to their views by fines and imprisonment. Like St. Paul before his conversion, who said "and being exceeding mad against them I persecuted them even unto strange cities." How accurately this represents the attitude of the well known agitators of the Lord's Day Alliance, who travel from one city to another, instituting legal proceedings, taking up collections and stirring up strife!

DOCTORS' FEES.

WHAT THE MEDICAL WITNESSES IN PERKINS CASE WILL GET.

A Cayuga despatch: Yesterday Mrs. Perkins, who was acquitted on Tuesday night of the charge of murder, was engaged in household duties at her brother's home in the, and later in the day was seen working at the churn.

It is said that the trial will cost the Province and county $3,000, exclusive of Mr. Arnold's fees as Crown prosecutor. Each of the jury receives $31; the 14 special constables run from $22 to $28. The 52 Crown witnesses receive payments from as low as $5 up to the $231.55 for Dr. A. Jukes Johnson. The other medical experts will be paid as follows: Dr. Arral, Cayuga, $80; Dr. Kerr, Dunnville, $151.50; Dr. Bauer, Hamilton, $152.50; Dr. Edgar, Hamilton, $37.50; Dr. Ellis, Toronto, $57.50; Dr. Snyder, Cayuga, $28; Dr. Bruce Smith, Toronto, $163.10; being a total for the Crown medical experts of $898.65. The cost to Mrs. Perkins is perhaps as heavy, $3,000 being the figure said to have been received by Mr. E. F. B. Johnston to conduct the defence upon.

A SECOND SUEZ CANAL.

Project Backed by British Capital Assumes Form.

New York, April 29.—The Herald correspondent at Berlin has sent the following cable despatch: I am assured to-night by a prominent British resident of Constantinople in intimate touch with palace circles that the project for the construction of a second Suez Canal, supported solely by British capital in British hands, has passed beyond the stage of mere speculation and has now entered upon a definite form. A concession is only a matter of a few weeks. Concern and anxiety are manifested here in view of the fact that the Bagdad Railway, which was intended by the German authorities to sap British influence in Asia Minor and as a menace to India, is now relegated, so far as its importance is concerned, to a secondary place. This move on the part of Great Britain is here considered a checkmate to German Asiatic ambitions.

Young Prospector Killed at Railway Station at Haileybury.

A Haileybury, Ont., despatch: F. J. Neff, from Detroit, was instantly killed here to-day while trying to board a northbound freight train. His feet caught in a wire and he fell under the wheels, which completely severed the head from the body. The accident happened immediately in front of the ticket-office windows and the station platform was crowded at the time.

The victim was formerly employed as an operator by the Grand Trunk Railway. He had come up here prospecting, having purchased a minor's license this morning. He was only about 28 years old.

BROKEN RAIL STATISTICS.

New York Railroad Commissioner Makes Investigation.

Albany, N. Y., April 29.—Broken rails removed from the tracks of the railroads of New York State during the three months of January, February and March just past were manyfold more than in the corresponding three months of either of the past two years, according to a bulletin issued to-night by the State Railroad Commission.

The board has found that during the three months ending March 31, 1907, there was a total of 3,014 breakages on the principal steam lines of the State; during the corresponding three months of 1906 there was a total of 825, and during the corresponding three months of 1905 there was a total of 1,331.

One of the commission tables analyzes the totals as to weight of the rails, and appears to show that, while the breakage in 1906 and 1907 was chiefly in the 80-pound rails, the largest number in the quarter just passed was in the 100-pound rails.

The other table analyzes the figures as to date when the removed rails were rolled, and apparently shows heaviest breakage totals in rails rolled since 1899, and especially in those rolled in 1904, 1905 and 1906.

This table shows also that some rails are in use, and especially on branch lines, which were manufactured as long ago as 1872.

SOLD PAPERS ON TRAIN.

Interesting Lord's Day Violation Case at Guelph.

Guelph, April 29.—Newsboy Battye, of the Canada Railway News Company, appeared to-day before Police Magistrate Saunders, charged with a violation of the Lord's Day Act in that he sold a number of copies of the Sunday World while the westbound Grand Trunk train was passing through Guelph on Sunday, the 14th inst.

The police testified that these papers were sold on the train to citizens of Guelph, who boarded the train, got the paper, and then left it.

The facts were admitted. Mr. Haveron, K. C., for the defence, contended that under the Lord's Day Act the railways run passenger trains, and that the supplying of newspapers came within the exception to the act in the same way as meals and light confections supplied on the train. The news agent could not distinguish between passengers and those who entered the train for the purpose of obtaining papers. He admitted foreign papers could not be supplied.

After argument the Magistrate considered the case of sufficient importance to reserve it for the opinion of the Court of Appeal. County Crown Attorney Peterson did not oppose this method of disposing of the case.

ABANDONED HIS CASE.

Winnipeg Lawyer Objects to Reproof by Judge.

Winnipeg, April 29.—The prosecution of the members of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange on the charge of conspiring to restrain trade was interrupted in a sensational manner to-day, when R. A. Bonner, counsel for the prosecution, refused to longer conduct the case, because the Bench had reproofed him severely for his methods of attempting to procure evidence through brow-beating and abusing witnesses.

It is the first time in the history of the Courts of this Province that counsel has refused to conduct a case for which he had accepted a retainer. It is most embarrassing to the prosecution, the case being most technical. The Crown asked three weeks enlargement, but the Judge refused to grant more than ten days.

The Law Society is holding a meeting to consider the action of Mr. Bonner, and it is understood he is liable to severe penalties.

ANARCHISTS IN BELGIUM.

Four Armed Men Arrested at Church Near Brussels.

Brussels, April 29.—An Anarchist, armed with a dagger, a loaded revolver and other weapons, was arrested to-day in a church which Prince Albert of Belgium, nephew of King Leopold, and heir presumptive to the throne, was about to visit. One of the attendants of the church accidentally discovered the man hidden in a confessional box, locked the door and called the police. Later three other Anarchists, similarly armed, were arrested in the vicinity of the church. Two of the latter admitted that they were French Anarchists.

The church which the Prince intended to visit was the Hal Church, or Church of Our Lady and St. Martin, near Brussels, celebrated on account of an image of the Virgin, which is said to work miracles. This image, which is of black wood, is visited by crowds of people and has received offerings of great value from Kings and Emperors.

THEIR LUNGS ARE BLACK.

Pittsburgers' Breathing Apparatus Permeated With Coal Dust.

New York, April 29.—The Herald has received the following despatch from Pittsburg: The lungs of the average Pittsburger are about the color of blue-black ink after it has dried on a blotter, while his more fortunate neighbors living in the clean country districts can boast of nice pink breathing apparatus, according to physicians here.

Dr. C. B. Schildecker, who performs most of the autopsies at the morgue, is authority for the statement, and has been examining the lungs of all classes for several years. He declares

Visions of reduced coal bills by burning ashes with a mixture of coal, dampened with a solution of salt water and oxalic acid, have been exhibiting the people of Ontario. The so-called discovery was made by a cobbler at Alton, Pa., but it now transpires that there is nothing in it.

It is expected that the population of Ontario will be depleted during the coming summer by fully twenty thousand people. Most of them men going to the Far West to take up land or get work on the railways. Already many thousands have gone, and it is estimated by the officials in charge of the traffic that by the end of April fully ten thousand will have gone to Winnipeg and other western points. There is abundant work, and the wages offered are quite sufficient to make life on an Ontario farm as a hired man unattractive.
