UNITED FRUIT CO'S OF NOVA SCOTIA

Hold Annual Meeting—Reports Show Successful Year—Officers Re-elected

The tenth annual meeting of the United Fruit Companies of Nova Scotia was held at Kentville on Tuesday. Delegates were present from all of the forty-nine subsidiary companies making up the United Company. Altogether there were about 300 in attendance. President F. W. Bishop was in the chair and beside him was the vice-president, Ernest Johnson. Unusual interest seemed to be manifested in the early reports, as nearly every branch of operations proved very successful. Better results may have been expected as regards the marketing of potatoes and in placing of fruit in the Western Provinces. The large potato crop here and elsewhere effected the farmers and high freight rates made it difficult to compete with Ontario and British Columbia in the Prairie Provinces. The United Companies now number forty-nine, there being an unusual increase in new companies during the year. Seven co-operative companies applied for and were granted stock, becoming members of the shareholding concern.

President Bishop gave his annual report reviewing the year's business, its successes and shortcomings. Where conditions were adverse he drew particular attention to the more satisfactory business conducted in Great Britain with the firm of J. and H. Goldwin, Manchester, and the placing through that port of over twenty-five per cent. of all apples exported. He reminded the apple-growers present that the Annapolis Valley was without doubt the most desirable apple district in Canada and the acquiring of large orchard areas by foreign capital and speculators is an index to that fact and should increase the faith of all fruit growers in the future of the industry.

N. A. Osborne, of Waterville, called attention to the pre-cooling of fruit as mentioned in the president's report, and he spoke of this new operation for use at Waterville when the fruit season opened in August. General Manager A. E. McMahon said the companies had no responsibility financially for the pre-cooling station to be constructed. Two thirds of the cost was being paid by the Federal and the balance by the Provincial Government. He considered that cold store was a necessity of the fruit crop and must be established right in the valley where the warehouses were. The pre-cooling experiment would no doubt do much in helping to market the softer fruit.

General Manager McMahon presented his annual report. He dealt with market conditions, shipments made, transportation, etc. As regards the latter, he stated that the Furness Withy Company had during the last year provided the best transportation that the companies had ever enjoyed during any season since incorporation. The companies exported the large quantity of 527,397 barrels, nearly half of the apples exported and over one quarter of all fruit grown. Better packing had been maintained and only six per cent. of all fruit exported was reported as slacks. The United Fruit Companies brand is now well established on the export market and is in good demand.

Professor Blair was called upon to give his report on fruit conditions as he found them while in England attending the Imperial Fruit Show, and he most satisfactorily dealt with the following six subjects:

1st. Whether Nova Scotian apples as at present packed are likely, in the future, to return profitable prices to the growers.

2nd. The possible effect of the English apple grower as a competitor with our growers in the British markets.

3rd. Whether any of the English varieties of apples, particularly those of more recent introduction, are likely to be of value for planting in Nova Scotia in order to meet the English competition.

4th. Whether more attention should be given to the box apple trade.

5th. Whether improvement in methods of marketing and distribution may be brought about.

6th. Whether additional information likely to prove of value to growers could be secured above what we now have.

Professor Blair gave a further report on the Imperial Apple Show held in London, England, October 26 to November 4, 1921. There was a competition between British fruit grown there and our fruit picked many weeks earlier and transported 2,500 miles. The exhibit of fruit was a most important one and highly profitable as an advertising medium for our fruit.

President Bishop stated the United Fruit Companies was greatly indebted to Professor Blair for the information he had given. It was of a very important and of practical value to all. The reports on motion were adopted, coupled with a vote of thanks to Professor Blair. The reports were quite fully discussed and

GREENWICH ITEMS

Rev. F. J. Armitage, Windsor, it is announced, will occupy the pulpit in the church here next Sunday afternoon and the many friends of Mr. Armitage will be glad to hear him preach again. He will soon be taking up work in a new field of labour. When a former pastor, he made many true friends here, not only by the church but through his interest in our people as a community, organizing the Community League, etc.

Mr. George Rackham, Amherst, known to a number here, and brother of another former pastor, Rev. Harry Rackham, was ordained to the ministry, at the recent Methodist Conference.

Mr. Edward Manning is another resident to have his home improved by a new coat of paint.

The much needed rain arrived on Thursday last and the crops, strawberries, etc., enjoyed it to the full.

Mr. Frederick Ford, one of our energetic farmers, was the first, we understand, to have strawberries for sale locally.

Mrs. John Fenwick, White Rock, has been the guest of Mrs. Andrew Fenwick, for a few days.

Mrs. Gammon, of Medford, is visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Harry Neary.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Borden entertained a number of relatives on Friday evening in honor of their guests from Massachusetts, who left the next morning for their homes, after a pleasant two weeks visit.

Miss Haley, Kindergarten teacher of Wolfville, visited her friend Miss Isabelle Hawley last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Bishop.

The news came by telephone last Sunday morning of the death that morning of little Florence Wellener, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Blake Wellener, Aylesford, former residents of this place.

The little girl was about four years old. Sympathy is extended to the parents in this their first sorrow and to Mrs. Eliza Wellener, grandmother, who is herself lying seriously ill at same home. Two automobile parties from here motored to Aylesford Sunday evening to call upon these friends.

Mr. Lewis Shaffner, Middleton, with a party of friends, spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Pearson, having motored through, finding the roads very good most of the way.

The school examination, held here last Friday afternoon was attended by a good number of ladies and enjoyed. After lessons and recitations, all gathered outside in the yard where they witnessed a programme of sports well carried off by the pupils, such as running, the bag race, potato race and others. One that caused a great deal of amusement was the suitcase race, for both boys and girls, dressing in original costumes, etc.

Mrs. Omar Pudsey left on the 10 o'clock train Tuesday morning for Aylesford, to attend the funeral of Mr. and Mrs. Blake Wellener's little daughter.

The question in frequent discussion during the past week here is, who put the wagon in a certain dooryard during one night?

ANNUAL MEETING OF WOLFFVILLE FRUIT CO.

The delegates elected to represent the company at the annual meeting of the United Fruit Cos. of Nova Scotia at Kentville on the 27th inst. were: F. E. Peck, F. B. Westcott and H. A. Peck.

CANADIAN BORN

We first saw light in Canada, the land beloved by God;
We are the pulse of Canada, its marrow and its blood;
And we the men of Canada, can face the world and brag
That we were born in Canada, beneath the British flag.

Few of us have the blood of Kings, few are of courtly birth,
But few are vagabonds or rogues of doubtful name and birth;
And all have one credential that entitles us to brag—
That we were born in Canada, beneath the British flag.

We've yet to make our money, we're yet to make our fame,
But we have gold and glory in our clear colonial name;
And every man a millionaire if only he can brag
That he was born in Canada, beneath the British flag.

No title and no crest is half so proudly worn
As that which we inherited as men Canadian born,
We count no man so noble as the one who makes the brag
That he was born in Canada, beneath the British flag.

The Dutch may have their Holland, the Spaniard have his Spain,
The Yankee to the south of us must south of us remain;
For not a man dare lift a hand against the men who brag
That they were born in Canada beneath the British flag.

FORMER WOLFFVILLE BOY MARRIED

During the War THE ACADIAN published several letters of one of our fellow-citizens, Corporal R. D. Boates, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Boates. It gives us great pleasure to be able to state that Corporal Boates has made another great advance and captured the objective in the form of a charming young lady from Liberal, Kansas. Like all good soldiers the happy young couple have not let the joys of matrimony interfere with duty and are tackling the job of harvesting a 900 acre field of wheat. They will spend their honeymoon at a more convenient season. In the meantime the following taken from a Kansas paper will be read with interest by many friends in this vicinity, who will join THE ACADIAN in very best wishes:

Trew-Boates
A quiet wedding ceremony was held at the home of Rev. Eli Walker in this city Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock when Miss Vivian Frances Trew, of Liberal, was united in marriage to Mr. Russell D. Boates, of Boston, Massachusetts, Rev. Walker performing the double ring ceremony. The only witnesses were Mr. F. D. Trew and Mr. T. J. Trew, brothers of the bride.

Mrs. Boates is the daughter of Mr. L. T. Trew, who for a number of years has been one of the prominent farmers in the community southeast of the city near Florida. She is a beautiful young lady with an attractive personality. Mr. Boates, who has recently been in Boston, Massachusetts, formerly resided at Stettler, Alberta, Canada, and it was there that the romance began when the lady who is now his wife, was visiting her sister. He served three years and eight months overseas with the Canadian army. The young couple will make their home near Porzan, Oklahoma. Mr. Boates is farming this season with T. J. Trew.

Show that your patriotism is of a practical character by remaining in town on Dominion Day and keeping to make the celebration a success.

DOMINION DAY CELEBRATION

To-morrow being a public holiday will be duly observed in Wolfville. The various places of business will be closed and the day will be devoted to outdoor amusements. As has been previously announced by THE ACADIAN the annual Interscholarship Athletic Meet will take place on the Campus at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m., in which Wolfville, Kentville, Canning and Hantsport schools will compete. The events for the day, a list of which appeared in this paper two weeks ago, have been arranged for boys and girls according to weight and classes, and it is expected will be keenly contested and very interesting. A base-ball game between the Kentville and Wolfville school teams has been arranged to take place at 10.30 o'clock. The Scout band will furnish music and refreshments will be served on the grounds. It is hoped that there may be a large number of visitors to town and all are invited to visit the Campus and encourage the young people in their laudable efforts to promote good sport.

The name required is not necessarily for publication but as an evidence of good faith on the part of the writer.

WOLFFVILLE GRADUATES AT NORMAL COLLEGE

The closing exercises of the Normal College at Truro were held on Thursday of last week. In his report of the year's work the principal, Dr. David Sloan, stated that the attendance had been the largest in the history of the institution, with the exception of one year, in which the total reached 388. This year's total was 355, all the classes being large except the junior class, which tends to grow smaller from year to year.

Among those receiving Superior First Rank Diplomas were the following seven students from Wolfville: Miriam G. Chisholm, B. A.; Margarita J. Cutten, B. A.; Margaret L. Ford, B. A.; Marion E. Grant, B. A.; Minta D. Hartfield, B. A.; Donald A. Grant, B. A., LL.B.; Harold M. Wilson, B. A.

Miss Margaret A. Woodworth, of Port Williams, received a First Rank diploma.

next week's strong group of entertainment may be, it is nevertheless true. But it could be still stronger. We might add that it is one of the finest motion pictures ever made by anyone. "Bob Hampton of Placer" is adapted from the Randall Parrish story of the same name. It presents on the screen an absorbing story of romance and adventure in the thrilling days of American frontier history, and as a gripping climax General Custer's famous last stand against Sitting Bull and his Indian herds is reproduced. The ride of the Ku Klux Klan in D. W. Griffith's masterful production, "The Birth of a Nation", carries no greater thrill than the savage charge of the Sioux against Custer and his gallant little band in "Bob Hampton of Placer".

And back of it all is a charming love story, and a roguish wail who will make you laugh and perhaps shed a tear. A splendid cast has been chosen by Marshall Neilan to interpret "Bob Hampton of Placer", which is a First National attraction. David Kirkwood has the title role. Featured players are Wesley Barry, Marjorie Daw, Pat O'Malley, Noah Beery and Dwight Crittenden, who portrays General Custer. You simply can't afford to miss this production. "Nuff said."

KENTVILLE DEFEATS WOLFFVILLE

Practice Game on Saturday Won by Visitors—Score 101 to 53

For the second time this season the local cricketers went down to defeat before the Kentville players last Saturday afternoon on the Campus. However the game was not as one-sided as the previous game, the final score being 101 to 53. The regular Wolfville team was not available and young players were given a chance. Wolfville was especially poor in its batting with the exception of Gerald Bauld, the captain. He was the fourth man to bat for his side and while he was hitting everything that came his way seven players batted and were retired. His final score was 26 (not out).

Wolfville was at bat first. Cox hit the first ball bowled to him into the air and was caught out by Miller. Copeland and Elliot Smith soon followed in his wake. Bauld then made his stand and if he had had proper support in the batting the score would have been higher. But after two boundaries by Spittal no scoring was done, with the exception of Bauld until LaValle hit two runs and Meckenson added five runs to the score. Wells then joined Bauld and they took a batting spree. Wells finally fell for eight runs after which Patriquin was called on an l.b.w.

Beauchamp was the star hitter for Kentville, having 29 counters to his credit. The first three wickets fell for four runs two being bowled out by Patriquin and one by Spittal. Beauchamp then made the high score of the game when he and Ferguson collected 40 runs. These two sluggers were finally bowled out by Bauld and Spittal. Miller, Fosberry and Doll were also high scorers having 15, 16 and 8 respectively.

WOMEN, HERE, THERE AND EVERYWHERE

The Problem of Women in China
 "I draw my opinions on this," said Mr. Elmslie, "from a recent number of the Chinese Report." It seems that in China not the least notable point about the whole dramatic and terrific movement is the renaissance and liberation of women in the nation's life. Women are going to take their share with the young Chinese in making a new China. The missionaries never thought of this when they started work. They organized their churches on Western lines. "When the Chinese look into Western churches they get the idea that it is a man's job to run them. If missionaries are not alert a tremendous opportunity may be lost in China. The womanhood of the nation will turn from a system that seems to offer them no call or place," Mr. Elmslie's address threw a searching new light on at least one phase of mission work.

Chinese College Girls
 The most picturesque school in Nan-king is Ginling college, a recently opened institution, operated by five boards presided over by a faculty of eight, and including eighteen girls. As this is only the second year of operation, eighteen is a goodly number. Last year there were hardly enough girls to go around. The college is housed for the present in a charming old "gung wwan" or official residence belonging to the estate of Li Hung Chang, and once occupied by one of his relatives. For Chinese women to come into such an inheritance, even by renting it, is enough to make anyone enthusiastic. Only two years of college work are done at present, but a year's work is being added over autumn, so that it will soon tax the eight teachers to keep the class work up to the high standard that has been decided upon.—Christian Herald.

Miss Ivy Williams
 For the first time in history, a woman is called to the English Bar. Miss Williams is the daughter of an Oxford Solicitor and a lecturer in law at the University.

Miss Hilda Johnstone, M. A. (Manchester), has been appointed as from January 1, 1922, to the University Chair of History tenable at Royal Holloway College. Miss Johnstone was educated at the Universities of Edinburgh and Manchester, and since 1913 has been Reader in History at King's College for Women. From 1916 to 1918 she was on the staff of the War Trade Intelligence Department. She is the author of numerous books and articles on mediæval and modern history.

FRIGHTENED!

"Every morning I woke up, I felt that something terrible was going to happen."
 Writes Mrs. M. and she goes on to say, "I wonder if any other woman ever had such fits of depression as I had for over a year. I was so utterly despondent that if it had not been for my children, I believe I would have put an end to my life. Every day and every night was a nightmare. I dreaded going to bed because I lay awake most of the night. When I did sleep, I had the most dreadful dreams. I couldn't eat. I was completely run down—nothing interested me, nothing appealed to me. I consulted several doctors. They prescribed different remedies to build me up but these preparations didn't do me any good. Doctors told me I had a nervous breakdown. I was tired all the time. I felt every day that my strength was gradually leaving me. The least little exertion left me thoroughly tired out. I knew I was gradually wasting away. I felt I was going to die and I was so thoroughly miserable that I did not care whether I lived or not. And then I heard about Carnol and what a fine tonic it was. At first I refused to take it as I was sure it wouldn't do me any good. Finally I did try it with the most wonderful results. I am well and happy every minute of the day now. I eat heartily and sleep soundly. My friends won't believe that Carnol alone has done this for me. I am never despondent now and every day is a day of joy. What Carnol has done for me it will do for you."
 Carnol is sold by your druggist and if you can conscientiously say, after you have tried it, that it hasn't done you any good, return the empty bottle and he will refund your money. 2-122

Mr. Justice Roach, of the old Bailey, London, is quoted recently as saying: "The Bench and Bar are gratefully helped in matters of sex by women on the jury. Their knowledge of the female mind is invaluable."
 The land which has Lady Rhondda in the Senate, Lady Astor and Mrs. Wintringham in the Commons, has been acquiring women in various useful positions for many years past. Great Britain knows how to lay aside custom and tradition when commonsense and experience require, and having once decided that women are persons, that women's mentality is as good as men's, Great Britain proceeds to use the feminine attributes in a sensible way.
 The W. C. T. U. has always held that women only should have charge of others of their own sex, when ill, when insane, when prisoners, etc., etc.

TIDY UP!

In addition to making the farm premises look untidy, there may be real damage lurking in the loose boards lying about the place. Often these boards have nails in them and if turned so the nails stick up, animals or persons may tramp on them injuring their feet. Children are especially endangered. Many cases of lockjaw and blood poisoning have been caused by treading on rusty nails. Better take a little time and pick up such boards, and while you are at it, gather up the other trash. It'll make the place look a lot better and perhaps you can use the material thus collected for fuel in the cook stove. Right now before busy work begins is a splendid time for this task.

GOLF AND ITS MINIMUM ESSENTIALS

Golf has been played for centuries and during this period men have discovered that certain methods of hitting the ball give the best results. When a person adopts these methods he is usually said to play to form.
 One of the chief temptations a beginner has to contend with is trying to imitate better players. This is a commendable ambition so long as the imitation is of important points. But more often it is the eccentric feature of the swing that is seized upon and copied. We are more apt to notice the difference in swings than we are the sameness. A good example of this is the opinion most people have of Geo. S. Lyons' swing. Everyone notices his sway, but very few notice his fine wrist action or the even balance of his body.
 When the beginner understands the fundamentals of the swing his next task will be to incorporate them into his swing in the most natural way possible. Because some stars in the golf firmament swing one way is not sufficient reason for the learner doing so, for the simple reason that no two human beings are built the same.
 One of the most important points in getting most out of the swing is that the club should be travelling at its maximum speed at the moment of impact with the ball. Some experts find that this can be accomplished in one way and others in different ways. For example at the top of the swings Vardon has a straight right leg, while that of Mitchell is bent. No one can say that one is right and the other wrong, for both methods give excellent results. The most one can say is that for Vardon the straight, right leg is correct, but not so for Mitchell. This detail of the swing is not an essential and in such matters the player must discover for himself which method gives the better results.
 It will follow as a consequence that within certain limits each player will be given the greatest latitude to develop his own natural style. All will not be reduced to a common type and it should not be possible to point to any player and say of him merely that he took lessons from so and so. "The highest art is to conceal art." The beginner cannot learn the principles of the game in a day. But with reasonable application (depending of course on himself) it should not require an interminable time to grasp the main points.

In practicing he should always know what he is trying to do. Whenever he is told to do something he should enquire the reason for it. If this rule is followed, progress will follow more quickly than if he practices blindly. This is the only intelligent way of learning the game, unless the player is fortunate enough to have played it from childhood, when nothing further than a good example is required.

SONGS OF SUMMER

By Bliss Carmen
 Soft is the wind over Grand Pre
 Stirring the heads of the grasses,
 Sweet is the breath of the orchards
 White with their apple blow.

There at their infinite business
 Of measuring time forever,
 Murmuring songs of the sea,
 The great tides come and go.

Over the dikes and the uplands
 Wander the great cloud shadows,
 Strange as the passing of sorrow,
 Solemn, impalpable, slow.

For spreading her old enchantment
 Of tender, ineffable wonder,
 Summer is there in the Northland,
 How should my heart not know!

When you see ash trays in the parlor,
 Hubby is boss.

Don't Take the Office With You

How often you may see among a lively company in a car, with a chattering group on the sands of the sea shore or among the breezy crowd at the tee, where the atmosphere simply shouts of vacation, the face of a man drawn, depressed, perplexed.

That's no aspect for such gatherings!

It betokens a condition bad for the man himself and one fatal to the enjoyment of the others.

The chances are ten to one that he is brooding over some possible sin of omission or of commission at "the office".

How simple the cure!

A Long Distance Telephone Call, a few words spoken and a few words heard over the wires and he will be as blithe as his neighbours.

It's uncertainty that is your great joy killer.

How's Business?

Advertising, backed up by the right spirit, the right goods and the right service, can rescue a sinking business and will make a prosperous business more masterful in its own community.

When John Wanamaker, the Prince of Merchants, began business, he resolved to force matters. He was not content to WAIT to be found out—he DETERMINED TO BE found out. In short, he advertised. He threw on his business, small as it was, the light of publicity, and the public of Philadelphia entered the shop on which the light shone.

In this community the public is entering those shops on which the light of advertising is falling.

WARM WEATHER DESSERTS

Heavy desserts are being eliminated from the family menu. Housekeepers are realizing that, although not an entirely superfluous course, as some people who have no sweet tooth would have us believe, the real purpose of the dessert is merely to put a period to the meal.

For this reason its preparation demands more than a passing thought. Its mission is two fold: It must be of such a nature that, for the time being, nothing is left to be desired. At the same time it must furnish the gastronomic motif which will stimulate the flagging appetite in order that in its turn the dessert may be relished.

It is particularly true in summer time, when dainty desserts that appeal to the eye will also tempt the appetite. A great many housekeepers have an expensive and troublesome dessert.

Frozen Dainties

On the contrary, almost all frozen mixtures are much cheaper than pies, puddings, and similar sweets; and with a modern freezer, of a size suited to the family needs, the freezing process is so simple that even the bugbear of extra work is removed. Indeed, if time enough for self freezing is allowed, no labor, save the packing down in ice and salt, is entailed.

The following frozen dainty will appeal to those who have an eye as well as a cultivated taste for food harmony:

Dry- whip a quart of thick sweet cream and add sugar to make quite sweet, as freezing extracts the sweetness as well as the flavor from any mixture. Chop a cupful of maraschino cherries very fine, then add them together with their liquor to the cream. Turn the mixture into a mold, cover closely and bind around the opening with a strip of buttered muslin to prevent any salt finding its way inside. Bury in crushed ice and salt for six hours. Dish for individual serving, masking each serving with whipped cream and garnishing it with split, blanched almonds.

Strawberry Ambrosia

This delicious beverage, which is as delectable to the eye as to the palate, is prepared by removing the milk from a large fresh coconut and placing it where it will become very cold. Press through a sieve a square of strawberries (reserving a few of the largest for decorative purposes). Add to these a small cup of sugar (confectioner's) and place directly on the ice.

At serving time add to the fruit the merest pinch of baking soda, one cup of stiffly whipped cream, the coconut milk, and sufficient iced milk to form three pints of liquid. Serve in a high glass pitcher in which has been placed a cup of shaved ice and pour into small spiral glasses, garnishing with large, luscious strawberries.

Rhubarb Lemonade

Cut into large pieces a bunch of rhubarb, and after covering with three pints of cold water cook for twenty minutes. Add in order mentioned one pound granulated sugar, $\frac{1}{2}$ shredded pineapple, one thinly sliced lime, $\frac{1}{2}$ glass orange juice, and one cup maraschino cherries. Stir the fruit puree until the sugar is entirely dissolved and when very cold pour in one pint of Vichy water. Serve from a high tankard into stemmed goblets that have been ornamented with slices of frosted limes, and accompany with long handled spoons so that the fruit may be eaten.

STRAWBERRIES

(Experimental Farms Note.)

With the strawberry season full upon him it is a good time now for the grower to note the adaptation of the variety or varieties he is growing to his conditions. Due consideration must be given to (1) yield, (2) size of fruit, (3) shipping ability, (4) quality and (5) any special feature. To select a variety solely on the merits of its yielding ability is poor practice. It must be a good shipper, palatable, of good size and if it can, in addition, be recommended to the consumer as an exceptionally good canning berry, so much the better.

The consumption of strawberries can be largely increased if growers will carefully select their varieties and give to the consuming public that which they require. The grower catering to a local market could overlook shipping ability somewhat and stress quality or size, or preferably both. For instance, Senator Dunlap is one of our best quality berries, but not a very good shipper for distant markets, whereas Glen Mary is a better shipper, but perhaps not quite so high in quality, although good enough in that respect. Portia, a new introduction of the Horticultural Division, Experimental Farm, has the serious fault of being imperfect in sex, but is an excellent shipper, high in quality and the best of canners, an excellent example of a berry suitable for the grower who can cater to a discriminating market, where the consumers appreciate a berry combining table and canning qualities. Not only do varieties differ in these respects, but also in their adaptability to soils and localities. On heavy land in a comparatively moist, cool climate the Senator Dunlap will do much better than on light soils in a hot and dry locality. In the latter case Parson Beauty or Pocomoke give better results, so that the successful grower must ever be on the lookout for newer sorts, which might possibly fit in to his market requirements or his soil requirements just a little better than the kinds he is growing.

WHAT ARE YOU WORTH?

An Exchange says: Here is the best thought we have run across today: "If you never break a promise, if you always pay the money you owe exactly on the day it is due, nobody will know but that you are worth a million. And you will be just as good a risk as a man worth a million, for all that he could do would be to pay promptly on the date due." That was written by Hamilton Fish.

Many of us get the idea that the man who does business in six or seven figures is not subject to the same rules as a man who writes a cheque in two figures. We also assume that it is easier for him to meet a bill for a $1,000,000 than for us to meet a bill for $10.00.

Yet the fact is that the man or business with a credit of a million dollars at the bank, builds up and maintains that credit in exactly the same way that a laborer builds up and maintains a credit for $20.00 at the corner grocery. Both meet their obligations when due, and within their respective limits; one man is as good as the other man.

To play square and without price, to win fairly and without deceit, to lose honorably and without bitterness—these are the things worth while in amateur sport.

In England it is customary for the vendor, when a loaf of bread is asked for, to weigh out the bread and then make up the deficiency in the loaf by giving the customer a slice off a second loaf.

DOMINION DAY

To-morrow we celebrate the fifty-fifth birthday of this Canada of ours. On July 1st, 1867, was consummated the union of the four provinces of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Quebec and Ontario into what is now known as the Dominion of Canada. This federation has been extended until it now embraces all of what was once British North America with the exception of the "ancient colony" of Newfoundland. The union was not brought about without strenuous opposition. Fortunately, however, this is now a thing of the past and the wisdom and foresight of those who conceived and carried out the undertaking is now recognized on every hand. Those were men of vision and though they now rest from their labors, their works follow them. Today the people of this country are proud to call themselves Canadians. Under the grand old Union Jack they possess all the rights and liberty of nationhood and are in every sense of the word a free people. Ours is a land of vast resources many of which are yet undeveloped, and the future has much in store for us if we are but true to the high ideals of those who in the long ago laid the foundations upon which we must build. Canada's wealth is great in forest and field, in mine and sea, and in industrial activity we are only beginning to come to our own. During the great war our sons covered themselves with glory in their devotion to king and country and Canada made a name for herself among the nations of the world. Let us then celebrate our anniversary with confidence and look to the future with courage. May the flags float proudly and joyfully and in all our celebrations may the spirit of patriotism find ample place.

SPOILING REAL SPORT

It is decidedly unlikely that the action of the federal parliament in voting five thousand dollars for the assistance of those who are conducting the international schooner race will be heard of with wild enthusiasm by the people of this section. True, the amount voted is a small one, yet large enough to be of real value if applied to some practical common-sense undertaking. This sum if properly expended in dredging Wolfville's harbor would have greatly improved our shipping facilities and benefitted a large number of people. A time when curtailment must be made in the necessary public works of the country is not a time for the expenditure of even five thousand dollars of public money on simple sport. But, worse than this, the granting of public money for such a purpose is calculated to defeat the end aimed at by the promoters of the race. One has only to give a little consideration to the matter to see that instead of the competition being confined to practical fishing vessels, which was the original intention, it is rapidly developing into a contest of vessels built especially for the purpose of racing. Any additional financial assistance will only tend to encouragement along this line. In order to be of any real value this race should be left in the hands of the fishermen and sailed by real fishing vessels and not by yachts camouflaged for the occasion.

Those who are so unfortunate as to be obliged to use the road between Grand Pre and Kentville these days pronounce it a masterpiece in the way of highwaymanship. It is described as a real hold-up from start to finish. While it is proverbially unfair to criticize unfinished work we cannot but wonder why it is necessary that Wolfville should be practically isolated, as it is, at this season of all others, with no likelihood of much change for weeks to come. There is certainly ample ground for the complaint which is heard on every hand.

THE CORNWALLIS POOR FARM

A representative of THE ACADIAN in company with Mr. H. Stairs, the agent of the Children's Aid Society of Kings County, had the privilege on Saturday evening last of a visit to the Cornwallis Poor Farm, which is located at Billtown. There were thirty inmates at the institution at the time of the visit—men, women and children, ranging in age from one hour to 104 years, and of all grades of mentality from normal downward were represented. The farm is apparently a productive one and is in a good state of cultivation. The orchard last year produced a thousand barrels of apples and will yield half that quantity this season. Mr. and Mrs. Slaughenwhite, who are in charge, are evidently doing all in their power to minister to the comfort of the inmates and to operate the farm as cheaply and profitably as possible. The former told THE ACADIAN that since he took charge seven years ago no outside help had been employed, all the work having been done outside of that performed by himself, by the inmates. During this time the farm produced all the supplies needed to provision the establishment.

COMING TO THE OPERA HOUSE

Ransack the libraries of the world, search the literatures of all the nations of the earth, and nowhere will you find the equal of Dumas' undying story of thrilling romance and stirring adventure. Nowhere will you find a tale with the vigor and sparkle of "The Three Musketeers". Here is a story that glows and sings and charms. A perfect pictorial reproduction of the spirit of the novel that will endure and endear for all time.

The Parrsboro Leader, which some months ago after a period of hibernation was revived under a new management, is displaying much enterprise and keen judgement. Many of THE ACADIAN'S "editorials" find a prominent place in The Leader week by week and our popular service, "Out in Front", is regularly featured in its columns. Notwithstanding that THE ACADIAN has so far received no credit for these articles we are pleased to know that they are deemed of sufficient merit to command a wider publicity. The Leader man evidently "knows a good thing when he sees it".

A LEAGUE OF NATIONS OFFICIAL

Sir Herbert Ames, director of the financial administration of the League of Nations Secretariat, who spoke at a luncheon in Toronto. He said of the League "It is merely a form of international relationship, through which a group of states hope and endeavor to lessen the possibilities of war by co-operation with each other.

We want Germany to come in when she is more ready to comply with the constitution, and the same applies to Russia".

ANOTHER HYDRO-ELECTRIC PLANT FOR THE VALLEY

Another link in the chain of Hydro-Electric Power plants in the Valley has just been forged by the villages of Cambridge and Waterville, they having completed the incorporation of a company, to be known as the Cambridge-Waterville Hydro-Electric Power Company, Limited, with a capital stock of $20,000.00, and the following officers: Alex. Durno, of Cambridge, President; J. G. Webster, Cambridge, Vice-Pres.; F. M. Chute, Waterville, Secretary-Treasurer.

The entire stock has been subscribed and contracts let, and work commenced on the dam at the head waters of Tupper Lake, on the top of the South Mountain, three miles south of Cambridge. There will be 3000 feet of wooden pipe, with a diameter of three feet, running from the foot of the dam, to the edge of the mountain, and then a sheer drop, via a similar pipe, 300 feet to the bottom, where it connects with the turbines in the power house. Contracts have also been let for the laying of eight miles of standard copper wire, which will deliver the power. The work is to be completed, and the company able to deliver power in ninety days.

SALMON IN THE GASPÉREAU

For the last few weeks salmon have been passing up the Gaspereau River and ascending the fish ladder at the Power Plant dam, their passing up the fish ladder often being witnessed by reliable citizens. Reliable people have seen a great lot of these salmon in the pond at this place, where they can be seen any bright, sunny day on the gravel beds at the head of the pond. The last few days these salmon have had a free run up river as all nets, fixtures and traps have been removed, fishery officers continually patrolling the river day and night. No fish have been interfered with at the fish-ways or dams. The Hunter mill pond being dry salmon do not go up the Mill Race, and the river is all clear of obstructions. This is the first time this has occurred in the memory of the oldest inhabitant.—Contributed.

The Middleton baseball team defeated the Windsor team at Windsor on Monday, the score being 6 to 0.

LIMITS TO TIRE PRESSURE

Tires are material things. They perform only according to mechanical and physical laws which determine their strength. They cannot call forth super efforts to meet emergencies. A tire is built with a certain amount of strength. If this strength is exceeded it will give way, no matter how much the motorist wishes that it might not.

A string that will hold a pound suspended in the air will not suspend two pounds or even a pound and one ounce. Tire men say that the laws that govern the loads, carrying capacity and ultimate service of tires are exactly the same as those that govern the strength of other material things.

The motorist may say: "I have overloaded and underinflated my tires and they have withstood it." They would be poor tires if they did not, as a certain margin of safety must be allowed.

The maximum loads specified by the engineers to be carried by different size tires are not the bursting loads under which the tires will deliver maximum and most satisfactory service.

The same is true of inflation pressures. Inflation specified by manufacturers are those below which the air pressure in a tire should not drop to insure maximum service.

It is poor policy to overload tires. It is an expensive practice.

BUTTONHOOK GOOD COTTER PIN PULLER

A very convenient cotter pin puller may be made by bending the end of a piece of three-eighth-inch rod into the shape of a button hook. On the other end a T-shaped handle is riveted. An additional convenience is to drill a piece of one-inch round stock and place it on the body of the puller for use as a sort of sliding hammer. A series of taps with this hammer on the end of the puller will loosen the recalcitrant cotter pin.

When buying a used car, be sure that all four wheels are the same size. In some early makes the front wheels were smaller than the rear wheels. This was objectionable for a number of reasons, one of which was the necessity of carrying two different sized spare tires.

TIRES TAKE UP MUCH OF CAR'S ENGINE ENERGY

When an automobile runs along a street under its ordinary load, its tires alone, even when in good condition, use energy equal to about four horsepower, or a large proportion of the power of the car. These startling figures have been announced by experts of the United States bureau of standards who have been testing tires in a special dynamo meter.

The average four inch tire will absorb approximately nine tenths of a horsepower when properly inflated and running under ordinary load at 25 miles per hour. It is advantageous to use cord tires, the experts have found, as a cord tire of the same size uses only six tenths of a horsepower. It has been demonstrated that 80 to 85 per cent. of the power loss is in the carcass or main part of the tire, that the tread contributes 10 to 15 per cent., and the tube is responsible for less than 5 per cent.

If tires are not properly inflated, the power loss is much greater.—Science Service.

AUTOMOBILISTS AND FOREST FIRES

In many parts of this continent it is found that automobile registrations and forest fires are increasing about proportionately. A great many people are touring about the country, seeking out places away from the railways and main highways and, unfortunately through carelessness with fire, some of them misuse and destroy the forests. There is no desire on the part of forest authorities to bar citizens from the forests, but there is no reason why forest fires should follow in the wake of the automobile. All that is needed is that every tourist who camps for the night or stops at noon to boil his kettle in the woods should personally see to it that his fire is dead out before he leaves it. Those who go into the woods for either business or pleasure see the value of the forests and should catch the enthusiasm for the conservation and proper utilization of this great Canadian resource.

This world that we're a-living in
Is mighty hard to beat;
You get a thorn with every rose—
But ain't the roses sweet?

Ask for Minard's and take no other.

AIR LEAK CAUSES ENGINE TO MISFIRE

Poor engine operation at low speeds is a common complaint, with the usual cause in the carburetion system. Often an air leak throws out carburetor adjustment so that an insufficient amount of fuel is fed. Wide spark plug gaps with a magneto having a weak magnet is a combination which may induce this same trouble. With a battery system in use the ignition may be neglected until the carburetion system has been attended to, and if this fails to locate the trouble the ignition should then be overhauled.

OILING - CLEANING - ADJUSTING

If an automobile is properly lubricated and minor adjustments made when the need demands them, it will be unnecessary to arrange for complete overhauling of the car, such as the taking apart, cleaning adjusting and replacing worn parts of every mechanical unit. Rattles or knocks develop, but will be discovered immediately as they occur if a weekly inspection is given by the owner, and should be attended to and remedied at once. When the car is very old and has reached its limit of service, general overhauling may be necessary, although even then there may be parts in fair condition.

CLEAR OIL PASSAGES

Oiling a car and filling grease cups when the oil grooves and grease ducts are closed will be of no use until every channel is thoroughly cleaned. Grease cups are installed at points where lubrication is necessary to prevent undue wear, and it is obvious that the oil and grease should reach the designated destinations.

USELESS LEAKS

Leaks around the car mean power wasted and lost. The leaks may be of water oil or fuel. There are dozens of joints in the engine, and each one may spring a leak under certain conditions. Good gasketing is the best insurance against this trouble. Frequently inspect the joints and, if not sure of the existence of a leak, squirt a little oil over the suspected spot, bubbles will tell the tale of the leak.

Even mules can't kick while they are pulling. Neither can they pull while they are kicking.

REGULAR INSPECTION NEEDED

Practically all motorists recognize the benefit of overhauling for the car. The elimination of carbon, the tightening up of the bearings, bolts and nuts, and the freshening effects of a coat of paint are not sufficient.

The battery requires more or less attention at all times of the year.

Corrosion may have taken place around the terminals. This should be carefully scraped off and vaseline spread over them to prevent further trouble.

The cradle in which the battery rests is frequently so badly corroded by acid that, figuratively speaking, the battery is only held by a thread. In fact batteries have been known to drop out on the road because the motorist had failed to examine his cradle.

The wisest course is to drive the car to the nearest service station either before or after you have completed the rest of the overhauling.

SWAT THE SMALL APPLE AND INCREASE PROFITS

Some Timely and Interesting Information on the Thinning of Your Apple Crop

By C. I. Lewis in American Fruit Grower

You would hunt for years for an investment that would pay you 500%, yet right in your own orchard, by the practice of good thinning, you have this very return easily within your reach.

If you were to visit a large train shed or wholesale warehouse filled with boxes or barrels of small apples, the appropriate sign to hang thereon would be "Not Wanted". The American people have been pretty well sold to the idea of the big, red apple. The west has made a feature of producing big red apples and packing them in boxes, but this year a large percentage of the crop ran to five tier fruit—that is, 175 or more specimens of fruit to a box. Some shipping points run as high as 75%, while others run as low as 20%, but a good average would probably be 40% of the entire crop.

There is a wide difference in price paid for large apples as compared with that paid for small apples. Let us take the price paid on the auction market this past year in New York City. We checked on ten cars and found that the average price paid for 3 1/2 tier containing from 64 to 88 apples to the box, was $2.64. For a 4 tier containing from 96 to 125 apples per box, $2.27. For 4 1/2 tier containing 138 to 163 apples to the box, $2.27. For 5 tier, containing 175 to 225 apples to the box, $1.90. Then, there was a differential of 37c between 3 1/2 and 4 tier—an additional 25c between the 4 1/2 tier and the 5 tier. This made a grand total of 76c in favor of the large size apples.

Size of Crop and Apples
The crop in the Pacific Northwest amounted to 44,000 cars, or approximately (based on a standard car of 76 boxes) a total of better than 33,000,000 boxes. According to our figures, about 14,000,000 boxes were 5 tier apples.

If we were conservative and allow only 25c difference between the big apples and the small ones we would find that $5,000,000.00 was lost this year in the Pacific Northwest in growing these apples. Ordinarily, a buyer will take about 10% of a car in 5 tier apples but he objects to any more than that. The five million dollars would have bought 10,000 small spray rigs, 5,000 large sprayers; 5,000 medium-priced automobiles; 1,000 fine packing and storage houses; 500 good community packing plants and 100 large storage plants. This money would also have built more storage facilities than can be found in any one valley in the Pacific Northwest.

We must not think, however, that the west is the principal section of the country where small apples are grown, because, everything being equal, the east seems to grow even a larger percentage, if one can judge in visiting the markets. With the large crop in sight this year, it would look as if it were an ideal time for us to take into account what conditions produce small apples. There are many factors such as the weather through the previous season—the amount of soil moisture, especially in the late summer and fall—the length of the growing season—the soil fertility—insufficient pruning—and last of all, not doing enough thinning. The cost is not a sufficient excuse for neglecting the thinning. An Oregon orchard of twenty acre; of twelve-year-old trees, producing this year 6,864 packed boxes of apples, had a thinning cost of $374.37, or an average of 5 2-3c a packed box. The thinning in the Wenatchee Valley will range from 2c to 8c per box, depending on conditions—probably 5c would be a fair average, and this is probably a very fair average for the entire Pacific Northwest. When one thinks of the tremendous gain in value, it is easily seen to be a paying investment.

Thinning can be done in two ways—by pruning off some of the wood and by hand thinning.

Thinning will increase the size of the fruit and reduce the percentage of culls which means an increasing percentage of the money-making grades. It will conserve the vigor of the tree and tend to make it an annual bearer. It will also help to control pests and diseases and reduce the windfalls—and there seems to be no loss in the ultimate quantity of fruit through thinning. The number of boxes or barrels produced would be about the same, and the difference would be in the size of the specimens. Thinning should be done as soon as the June drop is over. The sooner the fruit can be removed after that date, the more you will conserve the energies of the tree.

The small sized apples like the Jonathan, Winesap and Grimes, need very heavy thinning. They say eight inches is the proper distance between specimens but in some seasons with very heavy crops on the trees of questionable vigor, this would be leaving the fruit too close together. As the Winesap and Jonathan get older, they tend to produce smaller and smaller fruit and it is absolutely essential to give vigorous thinning if size is to be maintained. The Rome is demanded in large size. It is a nice baking apple and hotels and restaurants demand them large—so generous thinning must be given this variety. Some of the orchardists in Idaho are finding that where good thinning is given the Rome apple, it tends to become an annual bearer.

The King is a variety that must not be given heavy thinning as it tends to produce overgrown specimens and has an inclination to water core. Excessive thinning aggravates this condition.

The Baldwin and Spitz tend to bear every other year and during the heavy years can be given very generous thinning or the fruit will be small. The Spitz is a much lighter bearer than the Baldwin and consequently is not given as heavy thinning.

The Ben Davis and the Black Ben need to have plenty of color to sell well and they have a habit of bearing their fruit in clusters—quite often shaded by the leaves. They should be thinned down with a light crop—two to a cluster—and where the crop is heavy, should be thinned out to about seven inches apart.

Thinning Must Be Generous
The Yellow Newton will often set five specimens of fruit to a cluster. They must have very generous thinning. If unthinned, the fruit becomes very small, wormy and much of the fruit will be forced off because of the short stems. On light crops, two specimens may be left to clusters but ordinarily, we thin this variety down to about one specimen to a spur.

The big money in Delicious is on the 3 1/2 tier fruit. The price falls away very rapidly on the small sizes. To get such fruit, one must thin generously. The demand also is for high color on this variety—another need for careful thinning. The bearing habit of the Delicious is to produce on short spurs with from one to three apples in a place. This variety should be thinned down so that

In thinning apples, remember that the small apple, the malformed apple, the runt apple that you find in June will occupy the same relative position to the rest of the fruit in the fall, so it goes without saying that you should leave the finest specimens.

Space does not allow us to go into the question of thinning peaches and pears thoroughly, but these fruits need just as generous thinning as the apple. This is especially true of the peach. Without heavy thinning, large fruits cannot be produced. Where cherry trees tend to produce fruit which is too small, the best remedy seems to be to give a little more pruning to reduce the amount of bearing.

Man is a queer proposition remarks the Hanover Post. He will go clean through the roof if the central girl does not give him his number in half a second, and yet he will sit hour after hour in the boiling sun, with the mosquitoes eating him up, vainly hoping some nice little fish will come along and take a chance at his hook.

Self-control is a simple matter of looking the early strawberries over and then ordering a pound of prunes.

THIS WILL BE ANOTHER

Studebaker Year

Its the car everybody wants because it is the best.

The unusual popularity of STUDEBAKER CARS is attested by the fact that the corporation enjoyed the biggest business in its history in 1921.

Notwithstanding the fact that the total number of all automobiles sold (except Ford) was 40 per cent. less than in 1920, the total aggregate of sales for the Studebaker cars was 20 per cent. greater than in 1920—and in Canada 64 per cent. greater than in 1920.

A few days ago Wolfville had a brief visit from Dr. S. N. Bentley. In 1880 he graduated at Acadia, after which he took a medical course and went to Nebraska to practice his profession. In that State he has even since remained, and he called at Wolfville in this hurried visit to his native Province. The changes in our College town since he left here greatly impressed him, especially the absence of all the beloved professors who were on "The Hill" in his student days. Dr. Bentley was looking well, and the few old friends who took him by the hand after these many years were delighted to see him once more.

SUMMER SERVICE OF THE YAR-MOUTH LINE

The four trip schedule between Yarmouth and Boston will continue until Friday, June 30th. Commencing July 3rd, the service will be six trips weekly, leaving Yarmouth daily except Sundays, returning from Boston daily except Saturdays. The steamships PRINCE ARTHUR and PRINCE GEORGE are now in commission and present indications are such that there will be very heavy travel this summer to and from the Provinces. Recent inquiry at the Boston end shows very heavy bookings until the latter part of July.

THURSTON-HATHERLEY

RIVER HEBERT, June 26.—The River Hebert Baptist church was the scene of a wedding of exceptional social interest on June 24, at 10 a.m., when Frieda Ruth Hatherley, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. N. U. Hatherley, became the bride of Herbert Stanley Thurston, B. A., youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Thurston, of Sandford.

Rev. Herbert J. Blasse performed the ceremony. The church had been artistically decorated for the occasion with potted plants, ferns, white carnations and snowball by interested friends of the bride.

Given in marriage by her brother, Robert C. Hatherley, the bride wore a becoming suit of navy blue tricot with black, moire and dire ribbon hat, and carried a shower bouquet of white roses. She was unattended, except the little flower girl, Miss Greta Martin, a niece, who looked very dainty in pink organdie, carrying a basket of pink rosebuds, carnations, and Lily of the Valley. The wedding march was played by Miss Muriel Secord, of Amherst, and a solo, "Beloved, it is Morn", was rendered by Mrs. Herbert Blasse. Messrs. Ralph Lowe and William Rockwell, Jr., Acadia '23, acted as ushers. Following the ceremony a luncheon was served on the lawn at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. J. Martin, to relatives and intimate friends.

The bride is one of the most popular girls of the town, a teacher in one of the departments of the school for two years, and a graduate of the Newton Training School in 1920. The groom was Principal of the local school for one year and is a graduate of Acadia in the class of '22.

The wedding gifts were attractive and valuable. The bride was given a shower of linen by friends in Somerville, Mass., and the ladies of the home church selected gifts suitable for the living room furnishings, including an electric grill. The groom's gift to the bride was a substantial cheque, to the value of a pearl stone ring, to the organist and soloist, pearl lace pins, and to the bridesmaid, pearl pins. During the week the bride has been the guest of honor at several social functions.

The bride's going away suit was a stylish blue gray tweed worn with grey accessories. After a motor trip to New Brunswick and through the Annapolis Valley, the young couple will spend the summer months at the home of the groom's parents. In September they will return to Wolfville where the groom is House Master at the Acadia Collegiate Academy.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Thurston, parents of the groom, Sandford, N. S.; Miss Secord, of Amherst; Miss Helen Landels, Islay, Alberta; Mrs. Herbert D. Johnson, Wolfville, and Norman Clements, of Somerville, Mass.

There is a proposition on foot for holding a big interdenominational Sunday School picnic for Wolfville schools during the present season. A committee representing the different schools met at the Baptist church on Monday evening for the discussion of the matter and the advisability of such an undertaking was unanimously decided upon. Wednesday July 12th, was selected as the probable day for holding the picnic and a committee made up of one representative from each school was appointed to look into the matter fully and report on the necessary details, such as time and place, method of transportation, etc.

"That business is slowly but surely adjusting itself to the lower plane, is indicated in most advices being received. Although orders are smaller than would be wished, they are more numerous and there is plenty of evidence that trade is emerging from the period of depression," the weekly trade report of the Canadian Credit Men's Trust Association says.

CANARD NOTES

The marriage took place at Upper Canard Baptist church, on Wednesday the 14th, of Harriett Roberta, daughter of Mrs. George Brechin, Upper Canard, to Frederick Howe Morine, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Morine, of Church Street.

The bride, who was dressed in a gown of white satin, with conventional veil and orange blossoms, carried a bouquet of pink bridal roses. She was given away by her mother, who was dressed in duchess satin of dark taupe shade and hat to match.

The church was artistically decorated by the girl friends of the bride, there being two arches, one through which the bride and her mother passed, while the groom supported by William Brechin, as best man, entered through the other. They were then united in marriage by Rev. A. J. Prosser.

The bridesmaid, Miss Lillian Brechin, sister of the bride, was gowned in canary organdie. There were also two flower-girls, wearing dainty gowns of white organdie, with girdles of flowers, who scattered flowers in the path of the bridal party.

After receiving congratulations the happy couple were hurried away amid a shower of confetti and good wishes.

The church was filled to the doors with friends and relatives of the happy pair.

The presents were numerous and costly, showing the high esteem in which the couple were held.

Miss Evelyn Eaton, who has been nursing in Yarmouth, has returned to her home in Lower Canard.

The Canard Institute met at the home of Mrs. Leander Eaton on Friday last. Mrs. Lorne Rand, who was delegate at the convention in Truro, gave a splendid report. The Institute was asked to help the Canning people with the Bazaar given July 6th, 7th, 8th.

Mr. Leander Burbridge, of Lower Canard, left for Amherst on Saturday last.
