

PROSPECTUS.

The die is cast! We have launched our barque! May our voyage be a successful one! We to-day present our first-born—the MORN-ING STAR—to the public. May they receive it with the good wishes for us that we have for them in making the offering.

THE MORNING STAR is destined to fill a long-vacant place in the city. Everybody here must know that the CAPITAL CITY OF THE PROVINCE should not be left to the tender mercies of two weeklies. These papers never could fill that void which we now propose to fill.

No doubt much is expected of us on our first appearance, some people expect to see us flaunt in silks, while others expect to see every "item" knock somebody down. They will be disappointed. Under the ragged coat often palpitate a noble heart—excuse our appearance if we look somewhat shabby at first—and we come not to knock down, but to build up. The easy way, like the old man who commenced pelting grass, we shall try, till a desperate case compels us to give harder knocks. It is only when badly angered we will bring a millstone on a mosquito's back. Some people—of course there are busy-bodies everywhere—are itching to know what the POLITICS OF THIS PAPER ARE. Our politics, dear friends, we create for ourselves. Rest assured our paper shall not, like a cur, creep, and lick and fawn, and wag its tail or its tongue, that dame Lucie may follow. No we shall set up no man as an idol; to none shall we "crook the pregnant hinges of the knee," from Sir John Macdonald to Mr. Fraser, from Mr. Fraser to nobody. We shall not shape our policy after a flock of clamorers, be they Government or Opposition, for when these fellows' stomachs are filled, they, as a rule, subside like gormandized gulls. Our policy shall be

A POLICY ON PRINCIPLE! And we don't care who upholds that policy, we are with them. But let nobody be deluded into believing that if we stick to our party when on the road of political rectitude, we are going to follow it into every dirty slough. No. When we approach a dirty neighborhood, we act the part of the coward and return to our own broad platform.

We shall not define just now what the particulars of our policy are, but suffice it to say, that as far as the Great Disposer has given us what He has not given many of our politicians, we shall use the same towards ameliorating the people's condition, towards battering down those walls that divide one paltry clique from the other, in trying to bring discordant elements into harmony, and in trying to rout once and for ever from the field those clamoring crows whose sole object is to fill themselves.

THE MORNING STAR we hope to make an EXCELLENT FAMILY NEWSPAPER. No slang or degrading literature shall find a place in its columns; no crew of rampant scribblers shall practice on its pages. It shall be devoted to choice literature, important and reliable information, and several departments we hope to make in time especially suited to

OUR YOUNG READERS. We shall have it circulated all over the Province, yes, beyond St.

Lawrence Gulf. In the woodman's hut and the farmer's cot it will be found, on summer evenings and winter nights, bringing mirth to the jocular and wholesome information to the inquiring. In the railway cars and on the steamboats, in the hamlet and in the town, the STAR will be found always full of matter to please the old or the young, the poet or the calculator. We hope to be able to afford little that the ignoramus will enjoy. Catering to this section of humanity, alas! is becoming the curse of the press, due in part to the ignorance of attaches in part to the greed and low taste of the managers.

We know pretty well what the public want and what is good for them. We shall give SPICED DISHES and varieties of food. We guarantee nothing that will take an emetic to work off, nor anything that will make a soporific. Others in the business can do that better than we.

We shall sound no notes on the Temperance or the Opium question, on Orange ascendancy or Fenian degeneracy—we weigh the two latter, observe—but should these questions at any time come up, did intimidators stand with pistols or pitchforks, money or "slobber," we shall

LAUNCH OUR BROADSIDES into the action and on the right side. During Exhibition week the MORNING STAR will be published daily—every morning—after which we shall issue a tri-weekly—always trying to keep up to the mark—on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday mornings. On Saturday evening we shall strike off the WEEKLY STAR, a large paper, containing considerable original matter. The latter paper will be excellently adapted for people living outside the city.

And now this part of the tale is told. We hope to be long in the field, and if ever we get into a contest, we hope to show our wounds on the front. If we go down, it will not be without a hard struggle. Gnats cannot affect us, nor sneering opposition take a feather out of us. The heart, strength and respectability of the community are on our side, and we cannot but win. We have full confidence in the public, and, to be candid, no small amount of confidence in ourselves.

We have been in the dark long, but this issue of the MORNING STAR—bright herald—announces approaching day. The dark shadows of night flee before its piercing twinkle, and a new flood of light bursts upon us. May it ever be a true light, shewing things as they are. May we ever stick fast to our motto.

Before our pen shall Error fly, And Truth the vacant place supply.

To Our Advertisers.

Almost every one who has handed us in an advertisement, the synonym or a favor, have requested the "head of the column." But, like Jack's monkeys, every head has a corresponding tail, and we could not give head to all. We just ask our readers to look down the columns. Won't that do?

We want boys with good lungs and plenty of cheek to sell the STAR, and we want people with a few cents about them to buy the STAR.

A VOYAGE IN THE AIR.

Professor King's Experience in a Thunder Storm, Described by Himself.

Seranton (Pa.) Free Press.
Aerial voyages, like affairs of life, are full of uncertainties. Whatever may be our anticipations the realization proves how powerless we are to shape our course or foretell the surprises in store for us; but in this very hidden mystery lies the fascination. Who will pretend to forecast the events of the coming voyage? Shall we soar through fleecy clouds bathed in sunset glow? and, if night belated, will kind Aurora drop a flaming curtain in the north to light us on our way? or shall our bark, on chilling equinoctial gale, be borne through dreary skies; or yet mid the lightning's glare and the thunder's roar be tossed? Who can tell? All is uncertainty, and we would not have it otherwise, for it is this characteristic which gives zest to balloon adventure. But while we cannot anticipate our next experience, let me speak of one that cannot fail to interest the reader.

The city of Burlington, Iowa, was the place of ascension; a day in the early part of August, 1875, the time. The balloon—which was capable of carrying three men—was inflated at the gas works, from which place it was towed by ropes a distance of two miles against a heavy wind. When the towing commenced the lower aperture of the balloon was closed to prevent the escape of gas; but on the way the wind shook the lashings off, causing a loss of about one-half the gas before reaching its destination. This seemed in the end to have proved a most fortunate occurrence. Half-past four, the hour for starting, had arrived; standing on a high cliff overlooking the Mississippi river stood the balloon, ready to be cast adrift. To the southeast, on the Illinois side of the river, there was just at that time approaching a terrible, ominous-looking thunder storm. No time was to be lost. So much gas had escaped that I had to go alone.

From the moment it left the ground the balloon was carried rapidly in the direction of the storm. It could have been landed on the prairie bottoms, but they were partly covered with water from a recent rise in the river, and besides, short, uneventful voyages are an abomination. As with two railroad trains approaching each other, so the space which lay between the balloon and the cloud was quickly annihilated. The ascent had been rapid, and, at the time, this seemed fortunate, for I had escaped that low, dusty, dark and ragged-looking front, which seemed to be seething with commotion, and by passing above it, had entered the cloud where it was much lighter in aspect, and where there seemed to be no commotion whatever. It was about seven minutes from the time of leaving the ground till the cloud was entered, when I was surrounded with a thick fog which was momentarily illuminated with flashes of lightning. The crowd who had witnessed the ascent as it appeared afterward were horror-stricken and gave me up for lost. Not so myself; believing that the balloon had cleared the dangerous portion of the storm, and that it would soon rise out of the cloud into clear sunshine, I was perfectly satisfied. But more vivid grew the flashes and louder pealed the thunder. I became anxious at last to reach the top, and just as it was evident that it was about to be accomplished, right down in front of me, and apparently not more than fifty miles distant, came a discharge of electricity. Almost in an instant I felt the car lifted, the gas in the balloon suddenly expanded to overflowing, projecting a volume of gas through the open mouth of the balloon down into the car. I held my breath while I quickly caught a rope hanging from the hoop overhead, and tied it around my waist, then seized the valve with one hand, and leaning as far as possible out of the car, in this way avoided suffocation. In the meantime the balloon was being hurled with inconceivable velocity through the cloud. I felt like one who dreams that he is falling from a great height. The tornado of wind sought to turn the balloon over and over, but the weight beneath counteracted this, and the consequence was that the car was swung aloft and back and forth at a terrible rate. Now all this was suddenly accomplished, and would have been as suddenly over, but before the car had time to stop oscillating another discharge of electricity would occur and the same thing recur again and again, and it seemed as though I should never escape. The valve had been open all the while, yet still with every recurrence of the storm's action, the balloon would be extended to its utmost. It was fortunate that the bag was not full at starting, for, though it was an unusually strong one, it would otherwise have been burst into shreds in the very first instance. At last relief came. The balloon was thrown with the same violence into the very midst of the condensed vapor, and the torrent that now fell upon the balloon was something tremendous. What with the great loss of gas and the added weight of water, I was soon extricated from the extremely unpleasant position. The lower part of the balloon in descending doubled up into the upper part (for there was but little gas left) and formed a sort of parachute. It sank gently enough through the clouds, and the only commotion was the falling rain, which was so heavy that the cloud seemed cut up by it into filaments.

Considerable time was occupied in falling—exactly how long I cannot tell—but at last I could hear the roar of the storm below. In looking down, the earth being nearest directly under the balloon, it is first sighted through what appears to be a round hole in the cloud. I knew there were dangers still threatening, and I kept a constant watch for the opening. At last it came right over the woods. It could not have been worse. My drag rope was out; I saw it touch the trees, and the next moment the car was flying through their tops and half a dozen trees were dashed through in less time than it would take to count twenty. The balloon was torn to ribbons. The netting caught among the branches and the car fell to within a foot of the ground, when I stepped out. Catching a piece of the torn balloon as it came floating down, I drew it over my head and shoulders and sat down upon a stump till the storm was over.

The Morning Star.

FREDERICTON, N. B., OCTOBER 11, 1878.

THE LOCAL GOVERNMENT.

The Local Government have, we learn, very good intentions. But we have also heard that the road to hell is paved with these—those unfulfilled. May the Local Government, we pray, be not on that road. But as the press is the political preacher, it is our right and our duty to see what road our leaders follow. Of the Government as it now stands we can say naught. What its policy is now, or will be in the future is as unknown to us as the policy of the Opposition. Would it be fair to say that neither these august divisions have any policy at all? But we have heard somewhere the Government have undertaken to probe the Chatham Branch business to the quick, laying a fair and square statement of facts before the house. If they do this, thus far are we with them. The investigation will have a good moral effect, but no other. We say no other, and repeat it. Supposing with the legal and intellectual acumen of Messrs. Adams and Wedderburn, Mr. Kelly will be found to have fraudulently made contracts, what then? Has he not already received what then would be the reward for his treachery? And would not the same be true of Young? Yes, the way we punish our political culprits is, give them a title and a salary for life. It is paying a premium for the commission of crime. Yet both Messrs. Adams and Wedderburn are doing the best and only thing possible. Remodel the whole ranch we say. This must be done by the inch.

PILE REMEDY!

ONE or two applications will give immediate relief. G. L. ATHERTON & CO.

It appears from late advices that the Mackenzie Government have at last thrown up the sponge. They die hard if we are to judge from the spasmodic paragraphs in the heart-broken Government organs. Immediately after the funeral obsequies are over Sir John A. Macdonald will receive the keys of the chest and proceed to form a new Government. Sir John is a brilliant statesman, amiable in every circle of life, but like the rest of us he likes prominence. Ambition it was that drove him to soil his hands with the Pacific Scandal. Yet with all his faults he is evidently preferable to his predecessor.

In a day or two we shall be able to lay a list of the portfolio receivers before our readers. The News has already given the list, but it was peeping through a millstone the editor saw it.

"THE STAR."—Mr. Collins's new daily paper at Fredericton is a novelty in Journalism, and is a far greater wonder than anything in the Exhibition—Globe.

Shortly after being delivered of this very truthful paragraph the Globe gives birth to the following:

CATTLE KILLED. The special train from St. John last night killed two horses.

This must have been a suggestion from Mr. Quinn to Mr. O'Brien. We did always think that cows, calves, and such "cattle" as write for the Globe came under the heading in capitals but we never thought horses did. The Globe would cut a lovely figure at a Literary Exhibition.

Gems from the Authors.

We to-day read Mr. Pope before our readers. We hope the name does not sound like the bete noir.

M. Pope in his day, no doubt, met plenty of such bladders as we run against every day—fellows who become infidels just because they have read a few lines of Tyndall or Huxley. He says:

"A little learning is a dangerous thing, Drink deep or taste not the Pierian spring."

This is good advice, and we might all take a dose of it.

But Pope detests those empty-headed fellows who must needs sport canes, eye-glasses or "gigs" when they have no brains to show off. He is death on their pride. He says:

"Of all the causes which conspire to blind Man's erring judgment or misguide his mind, What the weak head with strongest bias rules, Is pride, the never-failing vice of fools."

Yes, pride with these fellows is a crop that never fails.

He does not believe in the rule of multiplication as applied to words whether written or spoken. Glib-tongued people, as a rule, have empty heads. A hint that more than the strong sex might take. Listen to him:

"Words are like leaves, and where they most abound, Much fruit of sense beneath is rarely found."

He gives a good lesson to those who are always fault finding; to those who call our attention to every wrong side up. "Survey the whole nor seek slight faults to find."

We to bear for this issue. Are these lines disgusting?

A lady riding on a slow train handed the conductor a half-fare ticket for her boy. He looked at the youngster and said: "Rather a large boy for half fare." "Yes," replied the mother; "so he is now. It was all right, though, when I bought the ticket. But you see he's grown so much since we started."

An absent-minded professor ran against a cow. In the confusion of the moment he raised his hat and exclaimed: "I beg your pardon, madam." Soon after he stumbled against a lady on the street. In sudden recollection of his former mishap, he called out: "Is that you again, you brute?"

An optician's circular says, "The education of the eye is necessary even to self-support." That is, keep the pupil under the lash till it is able to say, "brows for myself."—Graphic.

The Atlantas left for home last night in the 9.30 special train. During the time they were in the city they made hosts of friends by their gentlemanly deportment. A safe journey home to them, and we hope they will have reason to speak favorably of their first visit to the "Celestial City."

YESTERDAY'S RACES.

From Our Special Reporter.

Variety is the spice of life. Enjoying the calm for a while we soon long for the howling of the tempest. Even the angry elements of the surging sea may become monotonous. Horse racing is no exception. Yesterday, though there were very many more people in town and on the grounds than on the preceding day, there was less excitement, indeed, laziness and indifference were the chief features. There were, as usual, a few quiet drunks but no disturbance occurred. The races did not come on as promptly as on Wednesday, each jockey considering it contributed a little to the dignity of himself and his horse to dance round a while. One would think that the preparations and the antics out from a Balaklava charge was to follow. Some of the horses were in first rate condition, others looked like their riders, as if they had been fasting for forty days and forty nights. [Our readers here will forgive us for stopping to suggest the necessity of having in larger letters on a larger blackboard the names of winners, time, etc., that persons at the lower end of the stand may be enabled to see without the aid of those pompous eye glasses.]

A RUNNING RACE
was first called, for a purse of $150, mile heats, best 3 in 5. For this there were three entries, viz.: Countess, Davy Williams and Kentucky Bill. Williams showed a poor bringing up by bolting off the track several times before the start. They were finally got off well together, Countess taking the lead followed closely by Williams and Kentucky Bill. Countess maintained her lead to the turn, where Kentucky Bill caught her, and a sharp race ensued, resulting in a victory for Kentucky Bill. At the last turn Williams, apparently not liking the company he was in, bolted and ran through the gate towards his stall, carrying his rider with him. He may have wanted oats.

In the second heat Kentucky Bill took the lead from the start, and led Countess all the way round, winning by about a length.
The third heat Countess turned the tables upon Bill, taking the lead at the start. She maintained it all the way round, although Kentucky Bill almost succeeded in passing her once or twice.
The fourth heat was also won by Countess, and as there was not time to run the last, night coming on, the remaining one will be run to-day.

The next called on was the race for the 2.40 horses, for which appeared Marquis of Lorne, Charley Slipp, French Sporter and Little Maid. Charley Slipp had the pole, French Sporter next, Little Maid next and Lorne the outside. After scoring four times they were sent off, Little Maid immediately taking the lead, followed close by French Sporter, Charley Slipp next and Lorne last. The Maid was never headed. Charley Slipp passed Sporter when about half way and got second place, Sporter next and Lorne last. Time 2.35.
In the second heat the Maid took the lead at the start and maintained it as before, Charley Slipp, French Sporter and Marquis making a close race up the home stretch for second place. Marquis gained it, however, but the judges put him back for running, which, indeed, he indulged in rather freely through all the heats; second place was given to Slipp and third to Sporter. Time 2.40.

In the third heat the maid again led, French Sporter second to the quarter, he was passed by Slipp, who maintained the place to the finish; Sporter third and Lorne last. Time, 2.36.

SUMMARY:

Little Maid	1	1	1
Charley Slipp	2	2	2
French Sporter	3	3	3
Marquis of Lorne	4	4	4

The next race was the free for all trot for a purse of $200. For this there were four entries, Frank Allison, Anodyne, Pocahontas and Nellie Thorne. The latter did not appear.
In the first heat Allison took the lead followed by Anodyne and Pocahontas in the order named. They went in this position almost to the last turn, where Anodyne passed Allison and led to the wire, Pocahontas third. Time, 2.36.
There was a great deal of delay in getting off this and the former heat. In this heat Frank Allison took the lead, but was passed about the half by Anodyne, who won without a break, Allison second, Pocahontas last. Time, 2.34.
The third heat was about the same as the former, Allison taking the lead at the start, but Anodyne was too much for him, winning the heat and race, Allison getting second place, Pocahontas third. Allison did a great deal of running in all the heats, and should certainly have been put back in the last heat. He gained every time he made a break. Time in his heat 2.33.

MISTAKEN—"JEST IN THAT WAY."
Mr. Marsh was slightly mistaken, so he swore in an awful gush of special constables. He anticipated an invasion, which, we believe, was never contemplated.

PRESENTATION.—During the concert last night the handsome silver pitcher, won by the 71st team on Wednesday, was presented to them by Lieut-Governor Chandler in a few well-chosen remarks.

IN THE COMPETITION.—Sgt. E. A. Smith made the remarkable score of 90 points out of a possible 105.

INFORMATION WANTED.—What about that bonnet hop in the palace to-night? Has the affair fallen through? Who is to run it, anyhow, and why don't they advertise? Send in word to the STAR forthwith.

WHEN? Complaints reach us of the delay on the part of the Board of Education in issuing license to candidates who attended the recent examination. Have the rigorous to suffer because of the unjust?

SCRABBLE.—You had to be smart to get a meal at the Queen or Barker yesterday. William assisted "friend Durham."

THE WIND TOO HIGH.—The boat race which was to have taken place yesterday, had to be postponed in consequence of the high wind.

PEOPLE IN TOWN.—It was almost impossible to get along the sidewalks yesterday so thronged were they. There will be as many in town to-morrow.

NOTICE TO CORRESPONDENTS.—We have on hand several communications from country contributors, which we are obliged to hold over for a day or two.

HIGH PERFUMERY.—Two young snobs of our Celestial City, who are very fond of sporting a covered carriage and a young lady apiece, yesterday took a drive towards Spring Hill. In the dusk of the evening a very pretty kitten was observed by the roadside, and the young lady expressing a desire for the same one of the gallants jumped out and took possession of the animal. He placed it under the seat, and the ladies began to stroke it. After a while the handkerchiefs of each was applied to the nose and things became pretty uncomfortable for the quartette. The carriage is now for sale at half-price, and the apparel of the young folks is laid by. It was only a skunk.

THE MOST WONDERFUL CLOCK IN EUROPE.
There is now on exhibition at No. 1,160 Broadway an exact counterpart in miniature of the celebrated great clock at Strasburg. This clock is the work of a journeyman watchmaker, who devoted seven years to its completion, and then, like Brown, he had got his head so "full of machine" that he had to be taken to a mad-house. It is one of the most interesting pieces of mechanism seen in this city for some time, interesting no less for its delicate and intricate combinations of mechanism than for the historical associations which cling around the world-famed time-piece of which it is so excellent a representation. It stands seven feet front, three feet six inches deep, and eleven feet high. Inside the clock-dial are four smaller dials, which indicate the month, day of the month day of the week, and phases of the moon. Underneath this is a globe, half of which is shown, which shows the movements of the earth, and has a dial illumined with the figures of the ancient zodiac. The top section is in the form of a gothic chapel, with a small door on either side under the spires, and a small door under the balcony in the center. At every half-hour the Disciples emerge from the light door in procession, and a door opens in front of the chapel, disclosing

There are also a number of other antique figures, one of which, a skeleton representing Death, which is only three inches in height, is, on the authority of Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes, anatomically correct.—Exchange.

YESTERDAY'S TELEGRAMS.
UNITED STATES.
Coal Mine Accident—Damage by Yesterday's Gale,
New York, Oct. 10.
Four miners were killed on Tuesday night in the Prospect shaft of the coal mine at Wilkesbarre, by explosion, caused by one of the miners carrying an open lamp.
The gale yesterday at Sackett's Harbor was the most severe ever known in the United States. The arsenal was badly damaged, as were many private buildings, some totally demolished. The shipping along the east end of Lake Ontario and on the St. Lawrence river suffered severely.
The Troubled East.
Progress of the Invading Army—Letter from the Ameer—The Cholera—Trouble between Turkey and Austria.
LONDON, Oct. 10.
The correspondent at Simla is informed that General Ross' column passed Ali Masjid and is advancing on Dacca, which will be captured Thursday at any cost. Such movement is regarded here as improbable.
A Calcutta despatch says it is rumored that a letter from the Ameer has arrived.
A Vienna despatch says as semi-official: "A correspondent states that the Porte spontaneously repudiated any intention of seeking Russian alliance."
There have been 692 deaths from cholera at Casablanca, Morocco, between Sept. 7th and 24th. The epidemic is now decreasing.
A Vienna special says it is to be feared that the Turkish note has seriously, if not irreparably compromised amicable relations between Austria and Turkey. Germany will formally notify the Porte that its note is an offence to the Powers.

England.
The Bank Failure.
New York, Oct. 10.
A Glasgow special says in commercial circles there is general uneasiness. Stocks are depressed owing to rumors in circulation with regard to one of the Lancashire banks, and impending failure of some local firms, to whom the broken Glasgow bank had made advances. It is understood that not only was the whole capital of the bank lost but four million pounds sterling besides. This deepens the feeling of horror and resentment against all connected with the institution, and has a very depressing effect on business.
