INSECT ADVENTURES.

(By J. HENRI FABRE.)
Translated by Alexander Teixeira de Mattos and Adapted for Young People by Louise S. Harbrouck.

Could any child fail to be interested in nature subjects if he had a chance to learn about them from Fabre, a scientist unequalled in his chosen field of insect life, and a master of the art of appealing to the youthful imagination? His profound knowledge is imparted in terms of fascinating adventure. "The caddis worm," "pirates,"
"the insect submarines," "the spider's telegraph wires" are introduced to the child reader. The life stories of the bee, the wasp, the spider, the fly are told with that whimsical imagery and fanciful twist which make them read like a fairy tale. The charm of the book is completed by the fascinating, quaint sketches, very French in style, which are profusely scattered through
it. Illustrated, $2.00.

"The Mystery of the Hasty Arrow," illustrated; cloth $1.50. Anna Katherine Green's new book
"Songs from a Young Man's Land,"
$1.50, by Sir Olive Phillips-Wolley.
These Poems pulse and throb with the new spirit of unity and solidarity that is vibrant throughout the flagging Empire to-day.

MOTHER OF FOUR CHILDREN

How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Kept Her Well and Strong.

Lincoln, Illinois.—"I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for ten years with good results and I have four healthy children. This summer I was in a very run down condition and the very hot weather seemed more than I could stand, but I commenced taking your Compound in June and from then until September 15th, when my last baby was born, I got along much better than I had before. My baby was a girl and weighed 14 pounds at birth, and I recovered very rapidly which I am sure was due to your medicine. I am well and strong now, nurse my baby and do all my work. I had the same good results with your medicine when needed before my other children came and they are all healthy. My mother has taken your medicine with equal satisfaction. She had her last child when nearly 44 years old, and feels confident she never could have carried him through without your help, as her health was very poor."—Mrs. T. F. Floyd, 1355 North Gulick Ave., Decatur, Ill.

Expectant mothers should profit by Mrs. Floyd's experience, and trust to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Free confidential advice had by addressing Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

The Sound of Wedding Bells

Won After Great Perseverance!

CHAPTER XXXI.

His handsome face, like one of De Vinci's pictures—his musical voice, always ready with some word of tenderness and love for her—his graceful, manly form, have told upon her, and she is—if not quite—very nearly in love with him. Then, say what one will, the past has a knack—a happy knack for most of us—of fading before a pleasant present, and Dulcie's past is beginning to grow dimmer.

It is true that there has been nothing to revive it; only once has she seen Hugh, the afternoon of the flower-show. Heaven knows how she would bear a meeting with him even now, and if that meeting should come, then will be the test of Archie's success, but up to now there has been no meeting, and his name and that of Holme Castle is never mentioned.

Archie has met him once or twice, but no words have passed between them. Both men have felt that it would be better that no words should be said.

Let the dead past bury its dead. And so daily he has been by her side, surrounding her with loving devotion and watching over her, and more than content as a reward with the revival of the old, happy look in her face.

Lord Edward comes home to lunch, testy and irritable as usual, and Archie is astutely maintains a profound silence until the cutlets and claret have been disposed of, then he gently approaches the subject.

At first the old gentleman declares that it is impossible.

"I hate the country," he says, "it's all nonsense about town being empty; how can a place be empty when there are three or four millions in it? Besides, what on earth will you do with yourselves?"

"Well," says Archie, "there's all sorts of things. And then there's the race, you know."

"Confound the race!" retorts the old man, but with a smile. "You waste too much money on those horses of yours. Why don't you go in for yachting?"

"I've got a yacht," says Archie. "Yes, a cockleshell of a thing, not worth the name of a boat," grumbles the old salt. "Races—stuff and nonsense! Better go in for sailing. Besides, you'll break your neck one of these days. It's dangerous work."

"I have heard—somewhere—of people being drowned," says Archie.

His lordship laughs. "And there's another thing," says Archie, "I think Dulcie wants a change."

"Eh!" he exclaims, wheeling round with a sudden and ludicrous anxiety. "Don't you feel well, my dear?"

Dulcie laughs. "Of course she'll say she is," breaks in Archie, quickly. "They always do. Don't you see she's quite pale?"

"No, I don't," retorts Lord Edward; then he breaks into a boisterous laugh. "There, that will do! It's a conspiracy, I see. And, of course, you are in it, my lady."

"I haven't said a word," remarks her ladyship.

"Of course not, which makes it all the more conclusive that you are with 'em. Very well, I'd better give in, I suppose, or I shall know no peace till I do. But I should like to know how I'm going to get my whist lawn at Armfield."

"We'll play with you every night," says Archie.

"No, you don't!" exclaims the old gentleman, with comic alarm. "I'd rather you didn't. Oh, Lor', fancy playing whist with you three, my lady half asleep, and you two spooning all the while! No. But there, I must haul down my colors, I suppose. But you are not really ill, my dear, are you?" and he pats Dulcie's cheek.

"Not in the very least," responds Dulcie, "and we won't go if you don't like."

"But you like, don't you?" he says, with a laugh that shakes the decanters. "And that's enough for me. Yes, we'll go; but mind, I'm always in a dreadful temper when I'm in the country;" and he goes out shaking his head and growling like an amiable bear.

"We've conquered!" laughs Sir Archie.

"Yes," says Dulcie; then, rather thoughtfully, "but is there any danger in this racing?"

"Not the slightest," he responds, confidently. "The uncle doesn't know a horse from a pump-handle, and always looks upon it as a wild and dangerous animal."

CHAPTER XXXII.

Armfield is not an estate; it is not even a place; it is simply a cottage-orney, situated in one of the midland valleys, but is, so Dulcie declares, one of the loveliest spots in the world.

"How you can be in London all the summer, or the best part of it, when you have a place like this to come to, I cannot understand!" she exclaims, on the second morning after their arrival, as she stands on the flight of rustic steps that leads down to the lawn, and shading her eyes, gazes over the valley, with its wealth of trees, all brown and golden with their autumnal tints, and follows the slow flight of the silver river, as it threads its way down to the sea.

When the Kidneys Fail.

Poisons Remain in the Blood, Which Cause Pains and Aches—Read Here of the Surest Way of Settling the Kidneys Right.

Brookville, Ont., November 23rd.—If you have headaches, backaches and rheumatic pains you have reason to suspect the kidneys. Pain is caused by poisons in the blood, and poisons only remain in the blood when the kidneys are defective and fail to do their work.

This Brookville lady has reported her case because she believes that a great many people are suffering as she did without knowing the cause or cure.

Mrs. Frank Noyes, 9 Stuart street, Brookville, Ont., writes: "For years I was afflicted with kidney complaint. I became very nervous, was easily worried and had frequent headaches and neuralgic pains, especially through the back. I had indigestion, poor circulation of the blood and often was bothered with weak spells. I commenced using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and had only taken two boxes when I felt greatly relieved. I continued the treatment, however, until I was completely cured. In all I took about ten boxes, and have not been troubled in this way since. I highly recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and I think also that the Plasters and Ointment 'can't be equalled.'"

Here is another letter to show how rheumatic pains disappear when the action of the kidneys is awakened by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills:

Mr. John May, Walkerton, Ont., writes: "I was troubled with rheumatism in my legs and I became so lame that I could scarcely get around. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills were recommended to me, and I commenced using them. After I had been taking them for awhile I was delighted to find that my rheumatism had left me, and to-day I am as sound as a bell, able to get around and attend to business. I have made use of Dr. Chase's medicines in many ways for the last forty years, and cannot speak too well of their good qualities."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, all dealers or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. You cannot expect such results from substitutes. Insist on getting the genuine.

"It is pretty," assents Lady Brookley.

"If I was mistress of a spot like this I would never leave it," says Dulcie, enthusiastically.

Lady Brookley laughs and looks up at the lovely face, all glowing with rapt enjoyment.

"Why, my dear," she says, "pretty as it is, it is not a patch upon the Grange, Archie's place in the north, and you will be mistress of that, you know."

Dulcie's eyes droop, and she turns her face away slightly.

"And he has half a dozen places in the country, some of which he has not been near for years. You must look them all up, and choose the prettiest; I've no doubt he will be quite content to remain there all the year round, if you will keep him company."

Dulcie is silent, and the old lady goes on, musingly:

"Really, dear, I think you are a very lucky girl."

"I know it," murmurs Dulcie, just letting her hand fall on the old lady's shoulder.

"Some women are content with getting a husband like Archie without having his love, but you are—My dear, I have been some time in this strange world, but I have never met with a man who loved a girl so entirely and passionately as the poor boy loves you."

"Why do you say 'poor'?" murmurs Dulcie.

The old lady suppresses a sigh. "Did I say 'poor'?" Well, I scarcely meant to commiserate him, but I was thinking—no, I won't go on."

"Do, please!" says Dulcie, in a low voice.

"Well, I was thinking how hard it would go with him if—if you failed to return this great love of his. There, don't speak! I am not blaming you, my child! Heaven forbid; but sometimes, mind, only sometimes, I have a cold kind of dread that, after all, you may find that you have to receive all, and have nothing to give."

A faint kind of shudder runs through Dulcie's frame.

"Don't say that," she says, quickly. "It—it is not true! I—hush! here he comes," she breaks off, as Archie comes out of the house toward them.

He is dressed in flannels, a straw hat is stuck on the back of his head, and he looks the beau-ideal of a painter's type of handsome manhood—like some old Grecian god masquerading in boating attire.

kisses the old lady's forehead. "Good-morning, Dulcie." And he takes her hand, but he does not kiss her, dearly as he longs to, for in his chivalrous heart he declines to take advantage of his position. She is a goddess to him, not to be approached with a light embrace, but to be worshipped from afar, until she herself shall permit closer communion.

"How did you get here?" asks Lady Brookley.

"I rowed up the river," he says. "I have got good news for you."

"Yes?" says Dulcie, turning to him, and noting, half unconsciously, how well the white flannels harmonize with the golden hair and fair face.

"Yes; I've just seen the Cricket, and I never saw him in better form. Given a fair sky—he's awfully shy of a heavy course—and we are bound to win."

Lady Brookley shrugs her shoulders.

"You are infatuated with that race, my dear," she says. But Dulcie's eyes sparkle.

"Do you think so?" she says. He turns to her, grateful for her interest.

"I think so," he says. "There are very few horses that can beat the Cricket—given, as I say, a dry course. If there should be any heavy rain, and the turf should get wet, he will get nervous, and very possibly miss his jumps. Do you understand?"

"Yes, I think so," says Dulcie; "but—but I thought only jockeys rode in races."

He laughs and seats himself at her feet, taking off his straw hat, and running his white, strong hand through his hair.

"Yes; but this is what is called a gentleman's race, you know, and most of the riders ride their own horses, or get a friend to ride for them. By the way, Lord Hartfield is going to ride."

"Yes?" says Dulcie, with a sudden shock. The name recalls Holme Castle and that eventful night.

"Does he ride his own horse?" says Lady Brookley.

"No," says Archie. Then, after a pause, in a would-be careless tone, he adds: "No, he rides one of Sir Hugh Falconer's."

She must know it eventually, and he deems it best to tell her beforehand.

"Yes, and a very good horse, too," goes on Archie, hurriedly; "but I don't think—I scarcely think—so good as the Cricket. I saw him this morning."

"Who—Sir Hugh?" asks Lady Brookley.

"No," he replies, gravely, "the horse. But," he goes on, hurriedly, and not daring to glance up at the face which has grown suddenly pale—"but he looks to me rather too heavy. It will tell in his favor, perhaps, but I'm not afraid. Now," he continues, in a lighter tone, "if you were really very interested, you would ask me to take you to see the course—it is only three miles from here, you know."

"Take us," says Dulcie, simply.

"All right," he says. "We'll go over. Shall we walk?"

"Yes, and the carriage can follow and take us up, or me, at any rate," says Lady Brookley. "You two young people can walk both ways, I've no doubt."

The Pattern includes coat and cap. It is cut in 4 sizes: 1, 2, 3 and 4 years. Size 2 requires 2 yards of 36-inch material for the coat, and 3/4 yard for the cap.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps.

A POPULAR STYLE.

1973—Dress for Misses and Small Women.

This style may be made with the sleeve in wrist or elbow length. The pocket is unique in its shaping. This dress is easy to develop and nice for serge or gabardine, velvet or satin. Braid or embroidery will form a suitable trimming. The Pattern is cut in 2 sizes: 16, 18 and 20 years. It requires 5 1/2 yards of 44-inch material for an 18-year size. The skirt portion measures 2 1/2 yards at the lower edge.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps.

Hats are made of panne velvet. A green velvet tailored suit is braided with gray. New evening dresses end in long, very narrow trains. Gray organdie makes a charming collar on navy serge.

Getting Busy When the War Ends.

Some Trades in Which There Will Be Plenty to do When Peace Comes at Last.

Some folk's seem to dread the end of the war, because they fear an aftermath of dire distress.
No one can foretell what will happen when peace is declared, but there is a general opinion that some of the subsequent years will be lean. Nevertheless, some workmen will be in for a grand time, because some trades must necessarily have a run of prosperity when the nation once again settles down to the work-a-day duties of the world.

For example, the builders will be kept busy for a long time. Since the war, building operations have ceased, and it is now expected that there is a shortage of at least half a million houses, which must somehow, somewhere, and sometime be erected when men and money are again available for building. The Government already sees that the ordinary private builder will be unable to provide the housing accommodation that is wanted, and is now getting the local authorities to prepare municipal housebuilding schemes.

Shipbuilding, of course, will keep men busy, for the ships that have been sunk will have to be replaced, and hence all the branches connected with the shipbuilding industry can look forward to record after-the-war prosperity.

Neglected Through The War.

Motor engineers, too, will have a glorious time. Now, all the motor fins are on war work, the consequence being that they are unable to construct cars for commerce. Most of them are booking orders, with a promise of delivery in rotation. So the men who make motors can see plenty of overtime ahead.

Railways will provide ample employment, for work that ought to have been done, but has, since the war, been left undone. Permanent-way has been neglected, and will entail enormous work to get in proper order again. Rolling-stock has not only been depleted to provide engines and trucks for France, and the other theatres of war, but that which remains at home has been wearing out quicker by reason of excessive use, and much of it will have to be scrapped the moment it can be replaced with new.

Road menders will have work in plenty, for millions must be spent on road work and improvements when the war comes to its end. There has been nothing doing for the last two years in the way of road repairing, and many thoroughfares are not only bumpy, but so completely worn out that complete reconstruction will be imperative. Money has been saved by not maintaining the roads in prime condition, but the authorities will have to take it out of their coffers in due time and spend every penny of it.
The work of road construction and repair alone should provide occupation for thousands of men who never before worked upon the roads.

Woman's Natural Sphere.

Even the humble painter can look forward with hope for the end of the war. He will then have the time of his life. Everybody will want a painter. Hardly a house in the land has been painted since the war, and there should be enough work in this way to keep the painters merry and bright for years.

All these industries re-act on others. When one great industry is busy many subsidiary trades are prosperous, and it is apparent that whatever distress may follow the dawn of peace, there will be millions of working-men who will enter into a happy period of peace and plenty.

Tolstoi on the Kaiser.

London Daily Chronicle: Have you,
in your reading, come across Tol-stoy's opinion of the Kaiser. He called him a "narrow minded, ill-educated vain man, with the ideals of a German junker." Tolstoy continued:

When he says the army is to take the outlook may be had for the girls who, patriotically enough, have rushed into offices. They cannot hope for prosperity for ever. Their halcyon days will end with the war.
But, even they need never starve, for there are thousands of kitchens open to them if they will only recognise that the everyday work of a household is the natural calling for the feminine gender.—Answers.

Your Boys and Girls.

Many mothers are at a loss when they hear of a new baby in the neighbourhood, as to what to give for a little gift. Such a present need not cost much and will be surely greatly appreciated by the mother.

Here is a suggestion which may be welcomed. Procure a small, fine guest towel and work across one end in the centre the word Baby in pale blue or pink. The script letters, joined, are prettier than the printed ones. By placing the letters in the proper order to spell the word and connecting them with a pencil mark, one can easily join the letters together.
A professional stamper will stamp
the word for you if you do not care to go to the trouble of trying to connect them yourself. Fold the little towel so it will go in a large glove box and leave a square vacant space at one end. Now take a pink or blue barred Turkish washcloth and fold it in the square space. Tie about it crosswise an inch wide pink or blue ribbon with a pretty little full bow on per and tie it with a narrow ribbon

the same shade as that used inside the box.

CHILDREN NEED FOOD—NOT ALCOHOL!

How careless it is to accept alcoholic medicine for children when everybody knows that their whole health and growth depends upon correct nourishment. If your children are pale, listless, underweight or puny, they absolutely need the special, concentrated food that only gives, to improve their nutrition and repair waste caused by youthful activity. During school term all children should be given Scott's Emulsion because it benefits their blood, sharpens their appetite and rebuilds their strength by sheer force of its great nourishing power.

Child's Welfare.

After the regular routine business of the Council had been disposed of at last night's meeting the Mayor referred to the appeal made to the Government by Lady Davidson for the establishment of a Maternity Home of which nothing of a practical nature has since been done.

The Mayor's address is as follows:

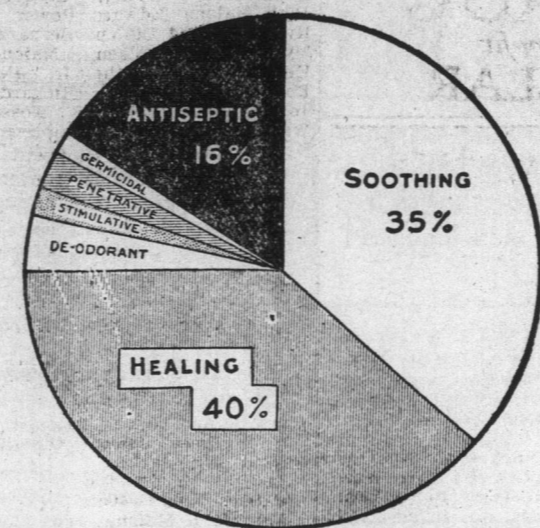

"Following upon the Child Welfare Exhibition, it will be remembered that Lady Davidson made an appeal to the Government for the establishment of a Maternity Home to which would be attached nurses trained in community work. Nothing has been heard from the Government in respect to this matter. While I am fully aware of the importance of this larger project and in full sympathy with it, I was convinced that the quickest remedy that could be found for the high rate of infantile mortality in St. John's would be by the employment of community nurses, to visit, advise, and assist so far as possible, mothers in the care of their children. The Municipal Council is not empowered to deal with the matter, but it occurred to me that the Health Officer, Dr. Brehm, could do so with the Government's assent. I therefore asked him to make the suggestion to the Government that one nurse trained in community work should be employed, and told him that if necessary I would undertake to find the salary required. He readily agreed to the proposition, and yesterday I was informed by the Hon. Colonial Secretary, Hon. R. A. Squires, who has taken great interest in the matter, that the Government had authorized the employment of a community nurse, and would pay one-half of her salary if the Municipal Council would assume the other half. I pointed out to Mr. Squires that the Municipal Council was not at present authorized to expend money for this purpose, and power to do so would have to be given it, which he said could be arranged.

I have no doubt, gentlemen, that you realize as fully as I do the importance of securing the services of a nurse trained in this class of work. In Canada, the Victorian Order of Nurses supplies to cities requiring and paying for the same, nurses who have been trained by this Society, and in a large number of cities avail themselves of this means of securing properly trained women. In most of the progressive cities in the States the community nurse is a thoroughly established public officer, and on every side I read of the excellent work which they are able to accomplish. I do not suppose that one woman will be able to do very much at first, and it is my idea that having secured a thoroughly trained and experienced woman, perhaps two or three of our local nurses could work with her and receive a training in this class of work. As to the cost, I shall have much pleasure in donating to the City the remaining portion of my salary as Mayor until the end of my term, June 30th next, which amounts to $500.00, and will be sufficient to pay one-half of the salary for one year. This will obviate any difficulty the Council will have in assuming a liability without the authority of the Legislature until such time as authority can be obtained. Another matter which I asked Dr. Brehm to bring before the Executive, is the regulation of the milk supply. This he has done, but I understand from Mr. Squires that it has not yet been dealt with. Dr. Brehm brought this matter before the Municipal Council ten years ago, and submitted a number of excellent regulations, but the Council did not see its way to enforce them, and as a matter of fact I don't think they had power to do so. Had it been done, I am convinced that the lives of hundreds of infants would have been saved. Miss Hudson had an analysis made of the causes of death per month for 1916, and Dr. Brehm has kindly brought it up to date for me. Intestinal troubles caused the death of 37 infants in 1916 and 47 in 1917 to end of October. Nearly all these deaths occurred in the months of August and September and October, and the chief cause was undoubtedly impure milk. Everywhere a pure milk supply is looked upon as the first necessity in the protection of child life. In many cities it is illegal to sell any but pasteurized milk, and municipal pasteurizing stations and shops have been established in order to supply the same. In the end it may be found advisable for us to adopt the same procedure, but in the meanwhile Dr. Brehm's suggested regulations are absolutely necessary for the improvement of the milk supply."

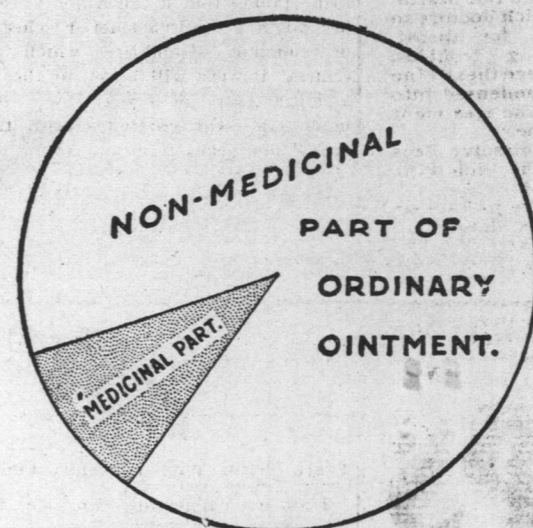

Councillor Tait agreed with the position taken by the Mayor. His experience was that the mothers didn't know how to feed their children and should be taught how to do so. Councillors Brownrigg said that deaths were due not through use of milk, but through the want of it.

THE SECRET OF ZAM-BUK'S POWER

The above diagram shows the proportions of the various medicinal qualities contained in Zam-Buk—which is all medicine.

This diagram represents a type of ordinary ointment, which contains only a small proportion of medicine.

The secret of Zam-Buk's power lies in the fact that it is all medicine. Ordinary ointments contain about 5% medicine and the balance animal fat. Seven important qualities combine to make Zam-Buk a unique balm.

- 1st. The Healing quality—which you will see from the diagram predominates. By comparing the diagrams you will see that one box of Zam-Buk contains more healing power than a great many boxes of ordinary ointment.
- 2nd. The Soothing power of Zam-Buk is very great. Almost immediately it is applied it ends the pain and irritation of a wound or sore. It then draws out the inflammation and reduces the swelling.
- 3rd. The Antiseptic power of Zam-Buk is three times as great as is commonly met with. This is the quality that prevents the growth of injurious microbes, and thus prevents festering.
- 4th. Zam-Buk is Germicidal. That is, it is capable of destroying all germs in a wound or sore, while its antiseptic power prevents their spreading. These two qualities, combined, make Zam-Buk a certain preventive of blood-poisoning.
- 5th. The power of Penetration which Zam-Buk possesses is extraordinary. This quality makes it invaluable in the case of deep-seated troubles, such as rheumatism and sciatica, and also for chronic skin diseases. Zam-Buk gets to the "root" of the trouble.
- 6th. The Stimulative quality of Zam-Buk is very important, as it enables the balm to act as a tonic on the surrounding tissues and hastens the healing process.
- 7th. As a Deodorant Zam-Buk is unequalled for discharging sores, bad legs, ulcers, wet eczema, etc.

It is obvious that in buying Zam-Buk you get the best possible return for your money, which is always—and particularly at the present time—a matter of great consideration to a good housekeeper. All dealers or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto. 50c box, 3 for $1.25.

Five Roses Flour

Not Bleached Not Blended

Why don't some flours behave? Why don't they keep good? Because they contain too much of the branny particles, too much of the inferior portions of the wheat—may be little pieces of the oily germ. They act on one another—that's why some flours "work" in the sack. FIVE ROSES is the purest extract of Manitoba spring wheat berries. Free from branny particles and such like. It will keep sound, and sweet longer than necessary. Keep it in a dry place, and when needed you find it even healthier, sounder, fresher, drier than the day you bought it. Buy lots of FIVE ROSES. It keeps.

CARE OF THE HAIR.

Many young women find themselves at thirty, often even earlier, with locks distressingly dull or thin and, notwithstanding the large number of pomades, washes and cosmetics which are nowadays devised and compounded, many women are distressed to find their hair thinning even when they reach but twenty years of age.

The variation one sees in the quantity, quality and color of the hair is largely owing to the health of each individual. Persons of nervous and debilitated temperaments usually have less abundant and less glossy hair than those of more robust and sanguine dispositions.

Mental trouble, worry and late hours, with an insufficient amount of sleep, will frequently cause the hair to fall out and disorders affecting the circulation and nerves are also frequent causes of this.

It is a great mistake to wash one's hair too frequently. Such a practice tends to make it both dry and brittle. However, it must be remembered that cleanliness goes far toward keeping the hair and scalp in a healthful state. To use cold water with the intention of strengthening and cleaning the hair is a mistake, for there is scarcely anything more likely to cause it to become thin and turn gray and dull than the frequent use of cold water.

There are many good preparations on the market for cleansing the scalp and hair, but should one wish to prepare it themselves this is one of my favorites for oily hair. In hot water dissolve a mild soap to which add a pinch of pulverized borax and a few drops of pure ammonia. After washing the hair it should always be carefully dried with a flannel towel, but not with a fluffy towel, as the fluff is apt to come off and become entangled in the hair.

Hundreds of Germans

Suprender Voluntarily on "Republic" Password.

Washington, Nov. 15.—With "Republic" as their password, hundreds of German troops are surrendering voluntarily on the Western front, the American Government is semi-officially informed.

These surrenders are the result of the French Government's "follow up" campaign since President Wilson's democratic appeals were showered over the German lines from Allied aeroplanes.

Those surrendering do so with the understanding that they are to be permitted to work for a German republic.

"The advocates of a republic of Germany," said a report to the American Government, "who are conducting a brilliant campaign from the security of a neutral State, are distributing among German homes and through the German armies this important information:

"Let republic be your password. "To the comrades on the West front: We have secured the issue of the following general order to the French army—whoever surrenders himself and gives the password "Republic" will not be treated as an enemy prisoner of war. If he desires, he will be permitted to work with us and with our countrymen in the same cause, for the freedom of Germany."

Brick red is a new color for the warm winter coat.

"A PINE FOREST IN EVERY HOME"

That is what the Pepsin ment amounts to. It is not necessary to go to the Mountains to breathe the life-giving Pine air which doctors highly recommend for the bronchial and lung troubles. With the aid of science these vapors have been condensed in tablet form so that the treatment can be taken at home.

All you do is to dissolve in the mouth. The rich vapors are then set free, breathed down all the minute passages to the lungs, destroying all harmful germs and soothing and healing the inflamed membranes.

Peps are unequalled for colds, bronchitis, asthma, throat, laryngitis, hoarseness.

The Allies' Strongest Weapon

HOW TO BRING GERMAN SUBMISSION.

By G. HOLT THOMAS, who has How the Allies by a Thorough Economic Boycott Might Bring War Quickly to an End.

There is one strong weapon we have not yet used against Germany.

Why not? Why do we not immediately make the fullest use of our "economic" power to bring Germany to her knees?

Just think for one moment of the nations which constitute the Allies—France, Russia, Italy, Japan, Portugal, Roumania, Serbia, Montenegro, Brazil, China, Great Britain, Australia, Canada, South Africa, and our many Colonies, to which we have added the United States, and the Argentine.

What, we may well ask, can these fortunate people "pitted against" a collection of nations going to the future, if we say, and send to that none of us, under any circumstances whatever, will have dealings with them for a definite number of years to come?

No military defeat could compare with such an overwhelming disaster. Every port closed, and their shipping; no products admitted to what practically amounts to the rest of the world, and the materials obtainable at all points are falling to think of, and, finally, we defeat the Germans in the contemplation of such a fate, which is well within our power to carry out, makes one almost sorry for them.

But why should not we use a weapon we possess against the barbarous nation who, thinking us weak over the world, atoning for their atrocities, only by a rapid victory have broken every international law and every code of honour in order to attain that end?

To stop the war without being cured that for which we are fighting—the right to live in peace is unthinkable; every day, cost what it may, makes us more determined. Why should we continue it, except their cost and penalty, when we have such enormous economic power in our hands? Clearly we must go on until our terms are obtained, for there is not the slightest reason why

The Allies' Strongest Weapon.

HOW TO BRING GERMANY TO SUBMISSION.

By G. HOLT THOMAS, who Shows How the Allies by a Threat of Economic Boycott Might Bring the War Quickly to an End.

There is one strong weapon which we have not yet used against the enemy.

Why not? Why do we not immediately make the fullest use of our "economic" power to bring Germany to her knees?

Just think for one moment of the nations which constitute the Allies: France, Russia, Italy, Japan, Portugal, Roumania, Serbia, Montenegro, Brazil, China, Great Britain, Australia, Canada, South Africa, India and many Colonies, to which huge agglomerations of Powers, we now have added the United States, and perhaps, the Argentine.

What we may well ask is the unfortunate people pitted against such a collection of nations going to do in the future, if we say, and stick to it, that none of us, under any circumstances whatever, will have any dealings with them for a definite period of years to come?

No military defeat could possibly compare with such an overwhelming disaster. Every port closed against their shipping; no products of theirs admitted to what practically amounts to the rest of the world, and no raw materials obtainable at all. It is appalling to think of, and, bitterly as we detest the Germans to-day, the contemplation of such an idea, which is well within our power to carry out, makes one almost sorry for them.

But why should we not use any weapon we possess against the barbarous nation who, thinking to swoop over the world, atoning for their atrocities, only by a rapid victory, have broken every international law and every code of honour in trying to attain that end?

To stop the war without having secured that for which we are fighting—the right to live in peace—is unthinkable; every day, cost what it may, makes us more determined. But why should we continue it, except at their cost and penalty, when we have such enormous economic power to our hands? Clearly we must go on until our terms are obtained, but there is not the slightest reason why we should not plainly get out what the continuation will mean to our enemies.

If they could conquer us from a military point of view, it would be different, but they cannot beat the nations arrayed against them. We are bound to win in the end, and they know it; and, knowing it, it is my firm opinion that if the Allies were to lay down a well-considered schedule of economic disabilities which the Central Powers will have to bear—and bear, say, for a year for every month the war continues until they accept our peace terms in every detail—it would be a very short time before the finish came.

Economically we can do anything we think it wise to do. Germany was almost bankrupt, and my contention has always been, and I see no reason to change it, that the real reason of the war, was the fact that she had to disarm or fight. But the war has only to go on long enough to drag the Allies into an equally perilous position.

Peace Terms With a Penalty Clause. I am not suggesting for one moment ending the war except on our own terms, but I am suggesting that we should state those terms now, and that from this stage onwards every month of war should be at Germany's future cost.

I would do more than that; I would register the bill against her for every breach of inter-national law, whether by air, sea or land.

Germany coolly marks out a danger zone at sea and says that, from a certain date, she will sink every ship, belligerent or neutral, that ventures within that zone. What gross impertinence! Surely some response should have been made? And I cannot think of a stronger one, and one with a more far-reaching effect, than to reply: "Very good. Do it; but, remember this, for every ship you sink in contravention of international law, we shall definitely close an Allied port against your ships, your goods and every man of your nationality for a term of years. Not one of your trade will be permitted to travel in Allied countries without a permit and a passport. None of you will be allowed to do business of any sort with the Allies. We mean what we say. It is a sworn agreement of the Allies, and whether the war goes on for two years more or twenty, this will remain a part, and a part which nothing will deter us from carrying out, of the peace terms, whenever they may come."

Such a declaration would, in my opinion, have had a very definite result; but how much more now, when we can include America on our side?

It is no use saying we will simply boycott Germany. Rather the reverse. What I suggest is to lay down the terms on which we will not boycott her; to lay down the terms on which stand her last chance of a peace which will be a real finish to the war, and not a peace by which she is going to be punished in another way for years to come, a peace under which the State will become impoverished, her manufacturers bankrupt, her workmen fighting for existence.

That is the condition which we have the power to enforce the day peace from a military point of view is made, and if we declare it now the German people will know that, for every month of war—a war of their own making—a year of servitude will result.

It is the one weapon we possess that Germany does not. This fact alone proves that we should use it. We can do perfectly well without her. If she in turn announced that she would boycott the Allies we should laugh at her threats.

We do not need Germany. The Allied countries can supply all the raw materials they require, and our exports to Germany, which never consisted of anything she could make herself, will be compensated for by the world's markets which were formerly almost a German monopoly.

But does Germany need us? Yes. Where is she going to get her cotton, minerals, rubber and other raw material? Where is she going to sell her products? Presumably to the Turks or Bulgars. It is certain that she could no longer exist as a European Power.

It is appalling to think of the power possessed by the Allies practically to crush Germany out of existence. From a military point of view it is not easy; from a commercial point of view it is easy, when we have won, as we are going to win.

But why not cut short that period by telling her NOW what our programme is if our peace terms, which must be carefully set out, are not accepted by a certain date in the near future?

Acids in Stomach Sour the Food and Cause Indigestion

"Pape's Diapepsin" fixes sour, gassy, upset stomachs in five minutes.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach, headache, you can surely get relief in five minutes. Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula, plainly printed on these fifty-cent boxes of Pape's Diapepsin; then you will understand why dyspeptic troubles of all kinds must go, and why it relieves sour, out-of-order stomachs or indigestions in five minutes. "Pape's Diapepsin" is harmless; tastes like candy, though each dose will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite; but what will please you best is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for biliousness or constipation.

This city will have many "Pape's Diapepsin" cranks as some people will be sure to get, but be enthusiastic about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever take it for indigestion, gases, heartburn, nervousness, or any stomach misery. Get some now, this minute, and rid yourself of stomach misery and indigestion in five minutes.

Official Visit to Jensen Camp.

Presentation to Miss Dave, Wednesday afternoon the Pensions and Disabilities Board and the Jensen Camp Committee paid an official visit to Jensen Camp. Included in the latter were Mrs. John Browning, Mrs. Paterson, Mrs. J. A. Hill, Mrs. C. P. Ayre, Miss Shea and Mrs. G. Green. Mr. Reuben Horwood, Chairman of the Jensen Camp Committee, extended a welcome to those present and announced certain new rules in connection with the camp. He urged upon the inmates the necessity of co-operation with the management and also the importance of unity and obedience. A further object of the gathering, said Mr. Horwood, was to help to certain new rules in connection with the camp. A further object of the gathering, said Mr. Horwood, was to help to certain new rules in connection with the camp. He urged upon the inmates the necessity of co-operation with the management and also the importance of unity and obedience.

My Dear Miss Dave.—It affords me much pleasure to express on behalf of the Jensen Camp Committee their appreciation of the services so willingly rendered by you, as Matron of the Institution during the past few months. Only those who have been in close contact with the camp can realize the conditions under which you were called upon to work, and they know the work could only have been done by one having a high ideal of duty. The committee feel your efforts meet recognition, and they desire to place on record their appreciation of your services.

At the last meeting of the committee it was proposed by Mrs. Browning, seconded by Mrs. Paterson, and carried with hearty unanimity, that the management acknowledge your services by a letter of appreciation, and a cheque which they trust you will be able to use in some manner which will remind you of a time well and nobly spent in a good cause. On behalf of the committee I wish to thank you for your services, and express the wish that you will attain further success in your profession.

I am, yours truly,
Hon. Sec. Jensen Camp Committee,
R. A. TEMPLETON.
Miss Dave made a suitable reply and expressed the hope that the consideration shown her by all connected with the camp would be extended to her successor.

NOVEMBER WINDS.

November winds are sad and bleak, November winds are cold; they make our knees of the clothes. I kick them off at frightful cost; there comes a north wind bold; my whiskers gleam with ice and frost. I've caught a beastly cold. Asthmatic breaths I now must draw, like other careless boobies; the surgeon comes with knife and saw, to carve my bronchial tubes. The doctor comes with dope and pills, and plasters for my chest; the druggist coo'es, with leg-long bills, until I cannot rest. I hate the bleak November day, I hate the rain and sleet; I wish the year could be all May, the month that's safe and sane. When winter's tempests blow I laugh, and summer hits the spot; November, though, is half and half—it's six hours ahead what weather he may meet; perhaps the sun will paint things red, there may be snow and sleet. The minister clock is striking five, and I lie down to doze, the night is mild, the sleeping's fine, so I kick off the clothes. I kick them off at frightful cost; there comes a north wind bold; my whiskers gleam with ice and frost. I've caught a beastly cold. Asthmatic breaths I now must draw, like other careless boobies; the surgeon comes with knife and saw, to carve my bronchial tubes. Forging Ahead.

Exactly what the position is on the new front before Cambrai, it is not easy to see, mostly for the reason that the drive is still progressing and is changing. But it is fairly clear that the British are not allowing the brilliant and largely unexpected success of the first stages of the attack to entice them out of the methodical and deliberate manner of progress which alone can make secure and lasting gains they have won. After two days of hot and furious onslaught, cavalry, tanks and infantry co-operating with wonderful effectiveness, they have turned to the consolidation of the positions won, a work less spectacular but far more valuable than the stretching out after further gains which cannot be held. Of these latter the village of Fontaine is probably an instance: its loss to a German counter attack means nothing, merely that the advance had gone too far at that point to be sustained. The important facts to be noted are the capture of Maroilles, a fine preliminary to that of Cambrai itself, and the consolidation of the positions won. We are told that the essential railway communications have been pushed right up to the front with splendid speed, so that the front itself has moved solidly forward and should be impregnable. It is not likely, however, that it will be put to the test of that quality, for it will surely forge ahead again as soon as the requisite preparations are made behind it. We may say that the first stage of the offensive is over, a brilliant success, and that the second will follow very soon. We can await developments with confidence: they would not ring the bells of London over a trifle.

At least three great fronts have now assumed a close interrelation, those in Flanders, before Cambrai and in Italy. We should be able to note a reaction on each of them, as the battle progresses on the others, favourable to the Allies. If the Germans succeed in staying this last advance before it compels a large retirement—and they will have their hands full—we may look confidently for a vigorous continuation of the Flanders operations. Similarly both offensives will certainly affect the Italian front considerably. It is clear that the great British and French reinforcements have not yet been thrown into the scale there, but must be on their way to the fighting by this. The enemy will yet have cause to rue this adventure. The boomarang may not have reached its furthest flight, but it will soon turn and descend upon the heads of those that hurled it.

For the moment, however, we can continue to fix our attention upon the Cambrai area. The blow that has been dealt there has been too great and has already achieved results too large to permit the idea that it will not be repeated and pushed right home to the utmost limit. Already the movement extends sideways as well as forward. The time has come, we believe, when the very strength and rigidity of the German line will prove its undoing. It will not bend readily; it must either hold or break. Which it is to be the next few days will show.

Captain Arthur Batson, M.C.

Some time ago we announced that Lieut. Arthur Batson, Newfoundland-lander with the Canadians, had been awarded the Military Cross. We are now pleased to state that he has received a bar to the Cross for further gallantry and been promoted to the rank of Captain. Seaman Dropped Dead.

Matthew Delaney, a 60-year-old seaman of the s.s. Portia, died suddenly at the railway station yesterday afternoon immediately after the arrival of the express on which he came as a passenger from Curling, where he was landed a few days ago from his ship. Deceased did not show signs of falling health during the run across country. He was attended in his dying moments by Rev. Fr. Pippy and Dr. Anderson. He was 60 years old and is survived by a widow, to whom much sympathy will go out.

Vessels in Distress.

Minister of Marine Stone received word last evening that a vessel, apparently a barque, was drifting in Conception Bay in the direction of the North Shore, that she was flying distress signals and was in great danger of striking the land. No particulars could be ascertained in reply to a message sent by Mr. Stone owing to telegraphic trouble, but it was later learned that the vessel was owned by Duff & Sons of Carbonara and had safely sheltered at Bay de Verde out of the storm that was then raging. At 11 o'clock this forenoon the Minister of Marine was apprised that a schooner was off Cape Spear with her mainsail up, flying at half mast. Mr. Stone communicated with the Tug Co. and the D. P. Ingraham, was sent to the assistance of the distressed vessel.

Editor Makes 86 Miles Per Hour.

Ralph Mulford who holds the world's speed record, while at Winston Salem, N.C., recently gave Buck Campbell, automobile Editor of the Journal a whiz across country at terrific speed, and Mr. Campbell not having enough breath to talk about it, sat down to write the following graphic story which was printed in the Journal:

"Ralph Mulford who is a full of the world's Record as a speedster in the ranks of Democrats, suggested that I take a little jaunt with him last night 'just to see how nice she runs.' Although my heart, pumped almost stopped at the thought of riding with the speed king, I said 'I'm game.' We boarded the powerful 'Super-Six' and we topped out at the garage. 'Which way shall we go?' asked Mr. Mulford. I suggested that we go toward Hanes, and after telling him the topography of the country the best of my ability, we started. Nothing happened until after we had crossed the overhead bridge on the Post Road. Croaching lower in his seat and taking a firmer grip on the big steering wheel, Mr. Mulford cut loose. Faster and faster sped the car, the speedometer registered 40 miles, 45 miles, 50 miles, and on the 'Super-Six' speed, steadily gaining at every revolution of the wheels, steadfast and unswerving the car travelled on—around the sharp curve at Clemmons, down and across the river; once more on fairly level road, the car reached the maximum speed of this run—46 a fraction miles an hour. Faster than the fastest trains, speedier than the flight of the fastest animal, swifter than the flight of the swiftest bird, the car moved. Under the perfect control of the driver the car was brought to a stop.

"How was that?" asked Mr. Mulford, with a smile, 'fast enough for you?' Several minutes later when I had regained control of my speech and heart, I agreed that it was a huge sufficiency, and that I wouldn't mind if he would let me walk back. There was nothing doing, however, so we came back at a moderate speed, 60 miles, thereby being able to observe the moonlit scenery.

Missing Since October.

The many friends of Mr. Spracklin, Reid Nfld. Co.'s agent at North Sydney, will be sorry to learn that he has just received a message from Ottawa stating his son Wilcox, with the Royal Canadian Regiment, has been missing since Oct. 31st. Wilcox is a Newfoundland-lander, having been at Whitbourne, and has been at the front since March last.

TO-NIGHT! TO-NIGHT!!

C.C.C. Band Dance begins at 9 o'clock sharp. The music will be better than usual, and the programme will contain 5 or 6 square and 8 round dances of the Band's best selections. Therefore don't lose the last C.C.C. Dance until the end of December!

A Child Hates Oil,

Calomel, Pills For Liver and Bowels

Give "California Syrup of Figs" cross, sick, feverish, constipated.

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "doses" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well founded. Their bodies little "insides" are injured by them. If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it, that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given to-day saves a sick child to-morrow. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeiters sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

High and Low.

An American and an Irish soldier were having a little fibbing match. "Do you know," said the American, "that the ceiling in my house is so high that you have to go up in a balloon to whitewash it." "Well," said the Irishman, determined not to be outdone, "my ceiling is so low at home that we can never have anything but flat fish for dinner!"—Answers.

A Big Headstart.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

In a certain little magazine in which I would be an actual writer, I have written about my difficulties and their successes, there was an article some weeks ago by a man who writes articles and essays of various sorts. He told how he went about it. Instead of writing an article of haphazard thoughts on a subject which happened to come to his attention and which he thought might be interesting, he bought the various magazines and studied them. He found out exactly what sort of material each magazine was using, how long an article would use, what style of writing they liked—the flippant, the serious, the technical, the popular. And then he went to work. Was it any wonder he succeeded? He knew just what he was trying to do.

There is an enormous competition among writers.

He had the enormous competition which any writer always has to face (fifteen thousand manuscripts a year pass through a certain magazine office and fifty are accepted) but he gave himself a big head start.

I would back him against a man with more writing ability and without his system, his sense of direction, so to speak.

I think a lack of that sense of direction is one of the reasons so many of us do not attain the measure of success and happiness we feel ourselves capable of.

BALBOA.

Balboa was a prominent, red-haired Spaniard who made a living by discovering places which were not on any map. Several hundred years ago our maps were practically useless to the tourist who wanted to make a trip around the world. They did not show the automobile roads or the best hotels and could not be relied upon for any length of time, for no sooner would somebody issue a new map than it would be out of date. A couple of salt-water oceans that had been overlooked. As a result, nearly all of the map-makers of that period died in extreme poverty, with a puzzled and chagrined look.

Walking out in it up to his chin in a dark blue flannel shirt.

Balboa was a very successful discoverer. Everything he ever discovered remained where he found it. His greatest and most unexpected discovery was the Pacific Ocean, which he seized in the name of Spain by walking out in it up to his chin in a dark blue flannel shirt. For a long time after this thoughtful act on the part of Balboa Spain treated the Pacific Ocean as if it were her meat, but for several years past she has been paraded in both ships and has not been able to get out much.

thirty years of age he owed everybody in Spain who had anything in the bank. He was a heavy borrower, and the noise of his promissory notes falling due with melancholy cadence kept him awake at night. In the effort to recoup his fortunes, he decided to discover something that could be turned into ready money. Scrutinizing himself in a kerosene barrel he found an expedition as a stowaway and soon after, by sheer industry and a few well-chosen homilies, became the leader of an intrepid band of pigeon-toed Spaniards who were willing to discover anything that would cure the complicated form of grip then popular.

Soon after discovering the Pacific Balboa got married and made several other discoveries that he was not looking for. His father-in-law was also a trained discoverer, but he had not been doing much business and decided that he therefore ordered Balboa to be put to death, despite the fact that Balboa was only forty-two years old and belonged to the same lodge. After being perforated with several soft-nosed Spanish bullets, Balboa decided that resistance would be idle and died like a hero in the same shirt he left Spain in. Balboa was a noble character, and his memory will remain green long after the name of his unfeeling father-in-law has been forgotten.

You Who Can Go, Shall this be said of you?

The following message came over the lines Wednesday: "New York, Nov. 21.—Ninety-five per cent. of the men in the United States are loyal and are willing if necessary to give their lives for this country. Thomas W. Gregory, United States Attorney-General, declared in an address at a dinner of the Lincoln Memorial University here to-night. Concerning the other five per cent. he said, God have mercy on them, for they can expect no mercy from this outraged nation. He characterized the slackers and pacifists as moral and physical degenerates, who believe nothing is worth fighting for, but he added, they will be compelled to pay the price of their idleness. He, who holds a dollar or his personal welfare, superior to the welfare of those who are fighting our fight, he said, shoots them in the back and is a traitor."

This was spoken in America, but it could have been spoken here in Newfoundland also. These words apply to YOU, Newfoundlanders, who can go and do not. Will you have it said of you that you are moral and physical degenerates? That you are traitors? That you shoot in the back the brave boys who have gone and are fighting your battle? There is only one way to avoid it, and it is for you to take it. Take it NOW while there is time.

A Faithful Servant.

READY TO WORK NIGHT OR DAY. Gas is your ever ready helper right in your home—no begging for delivery, no delays in getting it. One gets so used to it that one is apt to forget how helpful it is. Take a little trouble. Study its uses: get to understand how to obtain every particle of help you can from it.

Remember that for Light, Heat or Cooking it has no equal. If you have any little difficulties with it, bring them to the Gas Office. Our advice and help will be most readily given.

(From the Boston Transcript.)

Let us hope that General Allenby's impetus in the Palestine campaign is so great that he will be able to rush past Hebron without fighting a battle there. Hebron is too ancient and sacred a spot to be profaned with horrible ruck of a modern battle. It was built, the Bible says, "before Zaan in Egypt." Beside it, Jerusalem is an upstart. Already immemorably ancient in David's time, Hebron was his capital for seven years while he was King of Judah only; but when he became King of all Israel, he established Jerusalem as his capital, as we set up Washington when we found that New York would not suit all the people. But what memories have already clustered about Hebron, to cluster there still! It was there that Abraham went to mourn for Sarah, and there, in the cave of Macpelah, that he buried her. It was there that Abraham laid his own bones, and there where Isaac and Jacob slept by his side. The mosque of El Haram, which still stands, is supposed to cover and still to guard the bones, or what remains of them, of these patriarchs—of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, and of Sarah, Rebekah and Leah. It was at Hebron that David wrote his psalm, "The Lord is my rock and my fortress and my deliverer"—an immortal chant which inspired another great song, "Rock of Ages, cleft for me." Every hill about Hebron is sacred. On the other end of the line on which the Turks are said to have made their stand, in a vale near Shoko, Biblical students have located the scene of the combat between David and Goliath. Bet Gibrin, the right of the Turkish line, is the ancient Gath, which was the resistance of Goliath, as Hebron was so long the resistance of David. Here are marvelous caverns, in which the fleeing people, children of Abraham who have never left his ancient home, may take refuge—caverns whose carvings and decorations are of unfathomable antiquity. No region except Jerusalem is more sacred to the Jew, none save Mecca more sacred to the Muslim. To every Oriental the land is holy, and to every Christian it should have been hallowed by the blood of the Crusaders, which watered every mile of it.

Flank Hebron and the Cave of Macpelah, General Allenby, and pass by on the seaward side!

Rev. Dr. Bond Lectures on China.

Last night at Canon Wood Hall, Rev. Dr. Bond, Pastor of Cochrane St. Church, treated the members of Llewellyn Club to a most interesting lecture on "Two Thousand Miles Up the Yangts River." Rev. Dr. Jones, who presided, felt the presence of Dr. Bond was an expression in a way of the unity existing between the churches and was happy to have been able to allow the Cochrane St. congregation the use of Canon Wood Hall when their church had been destroyed by fire. Rev. Doctor Bond expressed pleasure at being asked to address the Club, and his appreciation of the services rendered when his church had been burnt. He favored the use of the lantern at the gatherings of such organizations and he hoped some generous member of the parish would donate one to Llewellyn Club. On Oct. 28th, ten years ago, he started from Yanchow for the heart of China, not on an official visit, though the party he accompanied was comprised of missionaries, some of whom had been recently married. He felt more or less a guardian and seized the opportunity to get up the Yangts with them. He thought at the time he knew something about China, but later realized his knowledge was very limited indeed. He returned with the conviction that it is perhaps the greatest country of the future. Its area is equal to that of the United States, Mexico and part of Central America and its many differences in climate make wonderfully for the production of practically every kind of food, and commodities used in the making of clothing, which is largely cotton. China is the oldest nation in the world and existed as one before even the Greek and Roman empires. When the latter were in their infancy the Chinese were studying the stars and dressed in silks and satins. They invented the mariner's compass, gunpowder, printing with moveable types and paper. The only ones ahead of them in the latter business were the wasps. For centuries China has been a nation of farmers and their work as such is wonderful. Its area as large as Prince Edward Island in some cases supported as many as five million people. They illustrate the survival of the fittest, and can do almost anything. In British Columbia they are mostly market gardeners, and here we know them chiefly as laundrymen. They were not such at home but in this land find it an easy and paying business. That is a great thing that will save western civilization from the overspread of them is the spread of the Gospel among them. Another thing is the fact that they are not a warlike people so that there is no fear of the Yellow Peril. His first stop on the journey was Shanghai and then Hong Kong which he found to be a remarkable city in many ways. Owing to the abundance and cheapness of labour, the pig iron manufactured there, according to Schaw, the great American steel magnate, can be imported and sold in San Francisco more cheaply than if produced in Pittsburg. Excellent workmen in Hong Kong earn about 25 cents a day. China is immensely wealthy as a mineral and food producing country, and he believed the revolution its people may bring about in years to come will be in sympathy with industry. Here the

of his 2,000 mile journey and in most instructive manner explained the views used to illustrate his discourse and which were made from snapshots taken by himself. These included pictures of the river scenery, possibly the most charming in the world; pagodas which are associated with many superstitions, the Chinese having a remarkable dread of spirits; arches of sandstone on the Great East Road which serve as a memorial to widows who have been virtuous and not married a second time; farming, of which the people know absolutely everything as the result of its practice for centuries; wonderfully built bridges; the trackers who halt the boats such as he travelled by; rapids of the river; Chendu, his destination; the Canadian Press building where the composers set up matter in four languages, and English though they cannot read a word of it; schools for children, principally girls, who are cast off by their parents as of no value; rice fields and the manner of their cultivation; salt wells over 2,000 feet deep; the sacred temple on the top of a mountain 11,000 feet high; idols erected to Buddha; congregations in the churches; fishermen who use cormorants to catch the fish; the streets in Chendu which was a city when the Lord was born; groups of the missionaries working in the country and of his own party, besides many others. Many incidents in connection with the persons and places shown were related most entertainingly by H. Y. Mott, in a witty speech, proposed a vote of thanks to the reverend lecturer and also to Mr. L. Curtis, who manipulated the lantern, which was seconded by Mr. F. Stirling and accorded by acclamation. The singing of the National Anthem brought one of the most enjoyable evenings yet afforded Llewellyn Club to a close. (Daily News).

Lemons Beautify! Make Quarter Pint of Lotion, Cheap

Here is told how to prepare an inexpensive lemon lotion which can be used to bring back to any skin the sweet freshness, softness, whiteness and beauty.

The Juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white makes a whole quarter pint of the most remarkable lemon skin beautifier that about the cost one must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold creams. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan, and in the facial skin softener, smoothen and beautifier.

Just try it. Get three ounces of orchard white at any pharmacy and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands, and see for yourself.

Italian theatre between the Brenta and Piave Rivers where the armies of the Teuton Allies, greatly superior in number, are striving to break through the billy country to the Venetian plains. Hand to hand encounters are of frequent occurrence and in them the Italians seemingly are holding their own and inflicting severe losses on the invaders. West of the upper reaches of the Piave, where the enemy is endeavouring to gain the valley leading into Venetia, the Berlin War Office claims the capture of Montebelluna and Monte Spinciccia, but according to the Rome War Office, except on the former position where a few advanced Italian lines were reached the enemy everywhere has been repulsed. Along the Piave southward to the Adriatic no important engagements have taken place.

SUCCESSFUL CONSOLIDATION OF GAINS.

LONDON, To-day. A British official issued this evening announced the successful consolidation of all the captured area in the region of Cambrai, except the village of Fontaine Notre Dame, which has been retaken by the enemy in a counter attack. Text:—On the southern battle front the day was spent in consolidating the gains over which our troops advanced during the last two days. This has been successfully carried out, except at Fontaine Notre Dame, where the enemy has retaken by a counter attack. Much credit is due to the transportation service for the rapidity with which the concentration for the operations of the last few days was effected. Roads and railways, both broad gauge and light have been developed and since the advance extended in a manner which has contributed largely to the success of our preparation and subsequent operations. On the northern battlefront artillery activity was intense in the neighborhood of Passchendaele, but no infantry action was developed by either side.

BRITISH SUCCESS GROWS HOURLY

BRITISH HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE.—We have not yet reached the limit of our victory. The success grows hourly. The loss of prisoners is approaching nine thousand. Great stretches of new country and fresh villages are being captured. Besides increasing in depth the wedge is spreading at the base. The weather continues most unfavourable, a heavy mist preventing all airplane observation. Nevertheless the air men continue to fly over the battle ground, penetrating far into the enemy territory at the level of the prisoner. The latest village captured is Cantoning and the troops are now in the neighborhood of Bourbon and Moerua, while fighting is progressing in the direction of Rumilly. The enemy attempted only a few small counter attacks between Rumilly and Noyelles with troops hurried up from the prisoner. All were easily repulsed. At Cantoning and beyond Mesnières we have broken into sections of the last line of defence and now hold the important line with the famous tunnel, where the counter attacks have been heavy and pressed with grating determination. Our casualties are almost incredibly small. The troops are most cheerful and are roaming over the new and unexplored country where villages have not been destroyed and tiled fields abound.

WAR REVIEW.

The British are carrying forward successfully their manoeuvre, which apparently has as its objective the encirclement and capture of the important railway junction of Cambrai in northern France. For 3 days the forces of Gen. Byng have been strictly keeping to their task of smashing in German positions in this region, and now, having driven the enemy from all his fortified strongholds, are battling with him in the open, with the monstrous tanks and dashing cavalry everywhere opening the way for onslaughts by the infantry. Already the British have describes an arc from the west to the south arm of Cambrai with the lower limit resting near Fontaine Notre Dame, two or three-quarter miles southwest of the much sought town. Although the stroke of General Byng was delivered over a front of thirty-two miles from a front of a half mile and in the driving of it numerous towns and villages have fallen into the hands of the British, many of them having been destroyed by the surprised Germans, who fled in confusion. Already the British have captured the entire region, including Cambrai itself, and clearing out the enemy from the district of Notre Dame. In addition to heavy losses in men killed or wounded, more than 3,000 Germans had been made prisoners, up to noon to-day. The British casualties are declared to be much less than the number of prisoners taken by General Byng's men. To the south of Juvincourt in the Aisne region, where the French troops took several positions from the Germans on Wednesday, a counter attack which cost the enemy serious losses has been effectually blocked and General Pétain's troops are still holding their advantage. South of St. Quentin the French again have raided the enemy positions at several points, destroying them and taking prisoners. Sanguinary battles are progressing in the

RECORD CROSS-COUNTRY FLIGHT

LONDON, To-day. The Admiralty announces that a successful air attack in the vicinity of Constantinople has been full accomplished by a large British bombing aeroplane which flew from England to a British base in the Mediterranean in a series of eight flights. The stopping places included Lyons and Rome, and the total distance covered was nearly two thousand miles. The machine was actually in the air thirty-one hours. This is believed to be a world's record for a cross-country journey and for weight carried. During some parts of the flight strong winds and heavy rain storms were experienced, and there was one stretch of two hundred miles over mountainous country where it would be impossible for any machine to land.

THE RUSSIAN FARCE.

PETROGRAD, Nov. 22. (British Admiralty per Wireless Press)—Nikolai Lenin and Ensign Krylenko, Commander-in-Chief of the new People's Commissaries of War, have issued a proclamation to the Army and Navy. The proclamation says that on Tuesday General Dukhonin was ordered to offer an armistice to all nations, Allied and hostile. The message was received at headquarters on Wednesday and General Dukhonin was instructed to keep the People's Commissaries continually informed as to the progress of the four parlers and only to sign an agreement for armistice after sanction by the Commissaries had been received. He received no answer from Dukhonin by Wednesday evening. Dukhonin was asked the reason for his delay. He attempted many times to evade answer to the orders, which a categorical order was sent instructing him to offer immediately and formally an armistice for the purpose of commencing peace parlers. He refused to obey. General Dukhonin has been informed that he has been deposed from his functions for disobeying the Government and for conduct which is bringing unheard of sufferings to all the working masses and to all the country. He has been ordered to continue his duties until the new Commander-in-Chief, or any other person authorized by him, arrives to take command. Ensign Krylenko has been appointed the new Commander-in-Chief. The proclamation urges the soldiers not to allow revolutionary Generals to destroy the great work of peace. It says they must guard them well so that the Lynch Law cannot be used against them and so that Generals can't evade imminent justice. The proclamation adds that the soldiers must observe the strongest revolutionary and military discipline. Regiments on frontal positions must elect immediate plenipotentiaries to begin peace parlers, and on the progress of these they must inform commissaries by all possible means. Only the Council of Commissaries has the right to sign a final agreement for an armistice.

STILL PENETRATING.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—The six-mile wedge driven into the German defences in the British offensive on the Arras-St. Quentin front is penetrating still deeper and spreading out. Reuter's correspondent at British headquarters in France telegraphs: "On some stretches of the front the British troops have broken into the enemy's main defence line. All German counter attacks have been repulsed."

MAJOR STATEMENT.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—British casualties in the advance toward Cambrai are reported to be very considerably less than the number of prisoners taken. It was announced by Major General Maurice to-day. The British said General Maurice, had advanced to a depth of six and a half miles at the farthest point on a front of 100 miles, which was a record advance in twenty-four hours on the Western front and was further than the progress made during the three months' fighting at Ypres. The victory at Cambrai, General Maurice continued, was a direct result of the fighting at Ypres, and therefore the men who fought at Ypres deserved equal credit for the Cambrai success. The Italian situation was more satisfactory than a week ago, but it was premature to say Venice was safe. General Maurice announced that operations in Palestine and Jordan were continuing with complete success. British troops were still six miles distant from Jerusalem. Fighting was going on in the hills of Judea and it would be unwise to make any anticipatory statement regarding the fall of the city.

THE PRESENT BATTLE.

British Army Headquarters in France, Nov. 22.—The present battle more than any other in the western theatre has taken on the character of fighting as in other wars when men struggled in the open and cavalry made thrilling charges against enemy guns. Many military critics have long contended that cavalry was a thing of the past, but the mounted men have refuted this claim. Field Marshal Haig has clung to his horse troops throughout the weary months of trench fighting. He believed that some day he would have a chance to use them and his judgment has been vindicated. The Hindenburg lines on the Cambrai front were the strongest the Germans had laid out in the west. British tanks have never been called upon for such extensive work before. They did in a few hours what the artillery would have required days to accomplish. The correspondent to-day inspected the main Hindenburg line near Havrincourt and saw the amazing work done by the iron monsters. The conditions of the German trenches showed plainly that the occupants had abandoned them in a hurry. All sorts of equipment and personal belongings were strewn on the ground. The Germans had attempted very few counter attacks. Thus far all of them have been smashed. The latest counter thrust reported was made last night near Demicourt and this was dealt with promptly. The Germans ran from Ribecourt with the British close at their heels. This town lay in a mass of ruins, partly on account of shell fire and partly from lack of repairs. The occupation of Maroing and Mesnières was a great stroke for the British, as it gave the much needed crossings for the Escaut River and Canal, which formed a natural barrier to their advance from this direction. Cavalry, infantry and tanks were poured immediately across these passages and proceeded to work northward.

FONTAINE NOTRE DAME.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—Fontaine Notre Dame, captured by the British, is two and three-quarter miles southwest of Cambrai on the main road between Bapaume and Cambrai.

LONDON ENTHUSIASTIC.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—The bells of London will probably peal to-day for Byng's victory, and if the proposal is adopted it will be the first time since the war began that the bells have rung for any rejoicing. The Times says it has questioned the authorities concerning the proposed ringing and had found all favorable. The Bishop of London highly approved of the idea and already has notified the clergy of the diocese. The Lord Mayor is equally enthusiastic. The Minister of War favored the idea, though he suggested it would be better to await detailed official statements with a tally of prisoners and guns. His statement, however, apparently was made before Field Marshal Haig's night communique was received and it seems certain that London will get a rousing bell chorus to-day. The provinces doubtless will follow the capital's example. The City of London will celebrate Field Marshal Haig's victory in France at noon to-morrow when the bells in all city churches will be rung and flags will be flown and buildings dressed with bunting.

FRENCH HOLD THEIR GROUND.

PARIS, Nov. 22.—The Germans last night made counter attacks on the Aisne front in an endeavor to capture the ground won by the French in yesterday's offensive. The war office announces the enemy was repulsed with heavy losses.

THE ITALIAN BATTLE.

Italian Army Headquarters, Nov. 22.—The battle in the mountainous region in the north between the Piave and Brenta Rivers is nearing its culmination. It centres a struggle of attrition and has become a struggle of endurance. It is now clear that notwithstanding the great number of troops employed by the enemy and his advantage of terrain, he is able to advance very slowly, now that he is not being assisted by the element of surprise, by treason and circumstances, which favored him at first. Even if the Italians should be obliged to abandon the Piave River line, they may be expected to fall back more slowly and offer still more tenacious opposition.

ON THE ITALIAN FRONT.

Italian Army Headquarters, Nov. 22.—(By the Associated Press.)—An officer accompanied by a civilian observer has just arrived here from the northern fighting front, where they have been watching operations just west of the point where the enemy's mass attacks were reaching their maximum intensity to-day. The centre of this section is along the Brenta River leading to the large city of Bassano and thence widening, fan shaped, into the Venetian Plains. The observers were so close to the fighting line that their army automobile narrowly escaped falling into the hands of the enemy. The fighting ground gave evidence of the intensity of the struggle during the past few days. Positions and trenches lately occupied by the Austrians were strewn with dead bodies which lay half covered with snow, as it was impossible to bury the slain because of the rapid shifting of both lines. The most desperate fighting was around Monte Melata where the Italians held one side of the eminence and the Austro-Germans the other. The enemy's object was to advance through the two valleys of Frenzol and Valsaga, which open directly into Bassano and the plains. The statement of this design is not based on conjecture but is disclosed in its full details in the Austrian plan of attack taken from bodies of Austrian officers left on the field. These plans give precise directions of hour and minute at which the advance along these valleys to Bassano shall be carried out, as the enemy believed no doubt existed of his successful advance.

SATURDAY'S NAVAL ENGAGEMENT.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—The British Admiralty has issued a report dealing with the engagement Saturday off Heligoland Bight between British and German naval forces. statement says the British force sighted shortly before eight o'clock in the morning four light cruisers, accompanied by destroyers and mine sweepers or patrol vessels. The latter made off to the northeast, a destroyer sinking one by gun fire. A number of survivors were rescued. The enemy light cruisers and destroyers turned off toward Heligoland and were pursued by British advance forces through the mine fields. A running engagement occurred under heavy smoke screen until enemy battleships and battle cruisers were sighted. The advance forces then broke off the engagement and turned back to meet their supports outside the mine fields. The enemy did not follow our vessels outside the mine fields. Our vessels report that during the action they scored a number of hits on the enemy. One light cruiser was seen to be on fire. Heavy explosion was observed on another, while she was engaged behind enemy damaged when the action was broken off. The destruction of the ships was prevented by the presence of the enemy's large vessels and the proximity to Heligoland. The damage to our vessels was slight. Some casualties were caused to officers and men in exposed positions.

NO RUSSIAN MILITARY COMMENTATION ISSUED.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—No Russian military communication was issued to-day. A Petrograd message received by the British Admiralty by wireless press says: "A political communique states that by order of the All Russian Workmen's and Soldiers' Congress the Council of the people's commissaries has assumed power with obligation to offer all the peoples and their respective Governments an immediate armistice on all fronts with the purpose of opening Four Parties immediately for the conclusion of a democratic peace, when the power of the Council is firmly established throughout the country. The Council will without delay make formal offer of an armistice to all belligerents enemy and ally. A draft message to this effect has been sent to all the peoples' commissaries for foreign affairs and to all the plenipotentiaries and representatives of allied nations in Petrograd. The Council also has sent orders to the citizen commander in chief that after receiving the present message he shall approach the commanding authorities of the enemy armies with an offer of the cessation of all hostile activities for the purpose of opening Peace Parties, and that he shall first keep the Council constantly informed by direct wire of Peace Parties with the enemy armies, and second that he shall sign preliminary acts only after approval by Commissaries Council. The communique is signed by Quilant Lenine, President of Commissaries Council; Trotsky, Commissary of Foreign Affairs; Grylenko, Commissary of War; Benish Bryvitch, Chairman of Council and Gorbounoff, Secretary.

THE RUSSIAN SITUATION.

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 22.—No matter how dark the situation in Russia is to-day, and it is dark indeed, it must not be forgotten that Russia is a country of unlimited possibilities, said Dr. David Soskies, confidential secretary to A. F. Kerensky, the deposed Russian Premier, and his right hand man, to an Associated Press correspondent to-day. "The Bolsheviks were in control of Petrograd and many other places when I left the capital on Friday," continued Dr. Soskies, "but they can't maintain power. I consider four weeks the utmost length of time they can last. They have no support except that which they have won by false promises. They are to-day saying to their adherents, 'We have given you peace and land.' A decree was issued on Friday declaring that all the factories and workshops is now the property of the workmen." The future Government, Dr. Soskies believes, will be a homogenous, all socialist Government. In regard to whether the future Government in Russia will be forced to conclude peace, Dr. Soskies expressed the opinion that it would be the case. But, he continued, the future Government will have as one of the planks of its platform the demand that the Allies again state their war aims and thus cut the ground from under the foot of the German militarists. Before the present trouble began the Government had worked out a scheme for working a volunteer army. The next government will carry out this plan and will have the cordial help of Britain and America. This army will probably not be capable of a great offensive often, but it will suffice for defensive purposes. Dr. Soskies attributed the final downfall of Kerensky to what he alluded to as misdirected humanitarianism of railway employees. Kerensky, he said, was advancing from Gatchina with loyal troops and fighting had already begun when all the Russian Unions of the Railway Servants issued an order to maintain strict neutrality, by refusing to move trains carrying soldiers or munitions for either side. The result of this was disastrous to the Kerensky forces all of whose supplies came from the front a hundred miles away, whereas the Bolsheviks had enormous stocks in Petrograd, only a few miles in their rear. Their troops covered the distance on foot, their munitions could be transported by wagons. Dr. Soskies said there were rumors that German officers were on the Bolshevik staff. He instanced as evidence of German activities the discovery in the possession of one sailor in Heligoland of 4,000,000 Finnish marks, of 10,000,000 marks in the possession of another.

Dr. Soskies declined to say where Kerensky is at present.

NOTHING DOING.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—The official wireless message from Petrograd announced that no headquarters statement had been issued to-day.

AMERICAN MISSION IN PARIS.

PARIS, Nov. 22.—Col. House and the members of the American Mission which he heads, arrived in Paris to-night.

CONSCRIPTION.

SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 22.—Since the announcement of the Conscription referendum recruiting has been brisker. Hon. Mr. Cook, Minister of the Navy, announced that the Government will resign if the referendum is defeated.

ITALY ON RATIONS.

ROME, Nov. 22.—The Government has issued a new decree limiting the amount of bread for each person to one half pound per day. Horses will be searched for hidden supplies of food and flour, and those guilty of holding excessive quantities will be punished severely. One of the causes of the scarcity and high prices of food has been the buying up of large quantities by over-cautious and greedy consumers.

LOST IN COLLISION.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Vice-Admiral Sims advised the Navy Department to-day that the destroyer Chauncy, sunk Monday morning with the loss of 21 lives, was rammed by the transport Ross. The men lost were drowned when the destroyer partly submerged immediately after she was struck. Both ships were running without lights, and the transport crushed into the Chauncy near her fourth funnel.

TAKING NO CHANCES.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Although steps have been taken to hold up certain shipments to Russia, till the situation there clears, the War Trade Board to-day officially denied that no supplies would be permitted to go from the United States to Russia, and announced that "a cargo is now moving." Large consignments are on the way to Russia, but it is understood that before they are delivered the United States Government will satisfy itself that they are not likely to fall into the hands of any Russian faction opposed to the prosecution of the war.

PROPAGANDISTS IN PETROGRAD.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Ambassador Francis, at Petrograd, reported that German propagandists are now carrying on almost openly their activities to keep affairs unsettled in the Russian capital. The Ambassador's message, dated Nov. 20th, said all Americans in Petrograd and Moscow were safe and those at Moscow had declared to remain. Eighty Americans left Petrograd on a special train for the Swedish frontier.

REVOLUTION COLLAPSED.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Guayaquil revolution, which broke out last week, has collapsed. The leaders have been arrested.

ELECTIONS POSTPONED.

PARIS, Nov. 22.—The committee on universal suffrage in the Chamber of Deputies, to-day rejected by a large majority the proposal to hold elections normally due in 1918, because of the impossibility of taking votes of prisoners of war and the difficulty of balloting among the soldiers at the front. Elections under this decision will be postponed till 1920 and no special elections are to be held to fill vacancies to which there are 48 in the Chamber.

PUNISHED FOR DISLOYALTY.

OSAKES, Minn., Nov. 22.—Because of an alleged disloyal remark, E. H. Stratomeyer, naturalized American of German extraction, was given a coat of tar and feathers last night. Stratomeyer told the authorities he didn't recognize any of his assailants.

MOVES FOR OWN TRIAL.

PARIS, Nov. 22.—Louis J. Malvy, former Minister of Interior introduced in the Chamber of Deputies to-day a bill proposing that the Chamber name a committee of 33 members with a view to sending M. Malvy before the high court on a charge of treason.

RUSSIAN PEACE IDEA.

PETROGRAD, Nov. 22.—The formal offer of an armistice to all belligerents which the Council of Peoples' Commissaries of All Russian Workmen's and Soldiers' Congress purposes to make shortly is not intended to forecast any effort towards a separate peace. On the contrary it is declared definitely here, that not only is a separate peace not desired, but that the rejection by Germany of armistice proposed even if it should be acceptable to the Allies would mean the continuation of the war by the new revolutionary army with vigor against German imperialism until the German people inspired by the Russian democratic ideas overthrow their rulers and demand peace.

FRENCH SHIPPING LOSSES.

PARIS, Nov. 22.—One French ship of more than 1,600 tons and two fishing ships were sunk by submarines or mines last week. One ship was attacked unsuccessfully.

Council Meeting.

At last night's meeting of the City Council, Mr. J. J. Duff, 75 LeMarchant Road, complained that after each rainfall his kitchen was flooded owing to the poor system of drainage in Gear Street to take off water flowing from Fitzpatrick's field. The Solicitor will report.

Gibbs and Barron, for Frederick Fitzpatrick, offered as a compromise without admitting any liability, $2,000 toward laying out Franklin Avenue, the cash to be paid immediately if accepted.

On motion of Councillors Brownrigg and Vinnicombe the offer was accepted.

The Council's Solicitor reported on the claim of Antonio Michael for two hundred and fifty dollars for alleged damage to goods by water; also a claim for damages caused by "blow outs" in pipe made by the U. S. P. Co. and on the legal right to remove property owned by Newman's estate, Water Street West.

The Solicitor reported that there was no liability for the former two claims, but that the Newman case was for the Court to decide.

Councillor Vinnicombe complained of the flooding of W. H. Parsons cellar, at the foot of Prescott Street, with water and mud through negligence of Council employees. Referred to Engineer.

Councillor Brownrigg asked that the question of an improved telephone system be taken up immediately and earnestly and enthusiastically gone into for the sake of public decency.

The Mayor said the Board of Trade had taken the matter up time and again, but that the apathy of the Government was responsible for nothing being done.

The meeting adjourned, after some minor matters were dealt with.

Poultry Exhibition.

All yesterday the poultry exhibition at the British Hall was largely attended. The vegetable display was augmented by additional exhibits from Mr. L. Anthony, of Upper Gullies, including carrots of over a pound weight each. The children of the Church of England Orphanage accompanied by their guardians, witnessed the show during the afternoon and were especially delighted with the trained dog, guinea pigs and tame rabbits. The exhibition closes to-night when the presentation of prizes takes place.

It Didn't Work.

A city teamster tried to "get ahead" of an American yesterday, but failed. The visitor engaged the teamster to haul a trunk from a centrally located residence to the Railway Station. "Two dollars is the price," said the teamster, grunting as he was removing the luggage and giving the impression that it weighed a ton. The stranger thought this an exorbitant rate, even though it is war time, told the teamster his services were no longer required and wisely communicated with another teamster, who did the job for half the amount asked for by the other.

What the World Did Without.

London Daily News: Still, man (and woman, too) can live at a pinch without tea, and, indeed, without an astonishing number of things. Consider this account of the privations of "our rude forefathers" in Syngue's "Short History of Social Life in England": They lived without sugar till the thirteenth century, without coal till the fourteenth, without butter on their bread till the fifteenth, without tobacco and potatoes till the sixteenth, without tea, coffee and soap till the seventeenth, without umbrellas, lamps and puddings till the eighteenth, without trains, telegrams, gas, matches, and chloroform till the nineteenth.

Enemy Concentrating on line.

Washington, D.C., November 16.—The tremendous falling off in the submarine bag has strengthened a belief here which has been growing for some time in military circles that Germany has concentrated all her energies on the production of aircraft through fear of what might be accomplished by the American Aerial fleet next spring. There has been a rumor here that at the time Congress appropriated nearly three-quarters of a billion dollars for aircraft, Germany ceased submarine construction and turned every energy which could be so diverted into the production of fighting aircraft so that she would not have her armies entirely blinded when the full force of the American aerial attack should be made.

FLOUR SHIPMENTS.—So far this week upwards of ten thousand barrels of flour have reached town and one consignment of twenty-five thousand barrels is expected here shortly.

HOW TO MAKE Boys' PANTS Last!

Some joker or wiseacre has said, "Make the coat and vest first." The wise mother knows it is no joke to get Boys Pants to last, and in fact it is practically an impossibility, as Boys will be boys now, as always, in any pair of Trousers.

We are showing this week a pretty range of

BOYS' PANTS.

We do not guarantee that they will last any longer than any other Boys' Pants, as we do not feel we could be responsible for these garments for any healthy boy. But these goods are very difficult to get and we want to tell the boy's mother

WE HAVE THEM!

Sizes run from fours to tens, and in one range made of English Woollen Tweeds the price of size 4 is $1.45, rising 5c. extra for each size larger. We have other qualities of course. And right here we want to say with a pair of English Tweed Trousers at $2.25 or $2.50 pair. You cannot better these values.

We Can Supply the Boy's Dad

We are also showing a splendid range of Men's Winter OVERCOATS.

These are of the latest cut, double breasted, belted, and newest style collar, and are very reasonably priced.

FISHERMEN!

Fishermen of late have been complaining of sore and tired feet, besides suffering from Rheumatism, etc., brought on by wearing Rubber Boots. Scores of Fishermen have been telling us of how they suffered the past summer when fishing in the hot sun, their feet having burned and blistered in the Rubber Boots which they wore, and later when the burning ceased their feet were wet with cold perspiration.

Fishermen! Get a pair of SMALLWOOD'S GOOD LEATHER BOOTS. They will keep your feet warm and dry.

You may say, "Leather boots have gone up in price." Quite so, but Rubber Boots have gone up also. We will guarantee that a pair of our Boots will outwear any two pair of rubber boots on the market. Wellington Boots, Napoleon Boots, High and Low Boots, Men's, Boys' and Youths' Bellows Tongue Boots.

YOU CAN FIT UP
a better average as regards health by wearing good

Wool Underwear
in the cold weather. You cannot do better than striking out for

Stanfield's UNSHRINKABLE WARM WOOL UNDERWEAR.

And you can get it best by hitting up BLAIR'S. If your present Underwear is only worn a bit, then don't take chances but replace it immediately, as our prices are low now, and later it will cost you more.

If you leave it till next winter, outside of possible doctor's bills, it will cost more than half as much again.

You may think it funny for us to be saying this, but we are figuring on buying next winter's Underwear now. It is only by very advanced buying these times we can give you good prices. Of Underwear selling now, some we had in stock or bought over a year ago.

WE ARE LOOKING AFTER YOUR INTERESTS AND OUR PRICES ARE LOW.

BE IN TIME FOR

Christmas.

Don't Forget Your Boy Who is Fighting for You.

You are in perplexing circumstances when you want to know what to send him. We will help you out. He needs something to break the strain always on his nerves. He wants to be taken away from his surroundings for a time, even if it is only his mind.

WE SUGGEST A BOOK.

You think, Oh what is a Book? When he is finished with it will be no good to him. But send him cigarettes and cigars which give only about five minutes enjoyment to him while a book, long after he has read it, lingers in his memory. And even after he has finished it it can be passed from one another in the trenches.

We have the largest collection of Books.

We will save you all the trouble sending it. Write your letter at home at our store.

We will supply writing materials and a place for you to write in quietness.

We will mail it for you. We will try and help you choose your selection. Call at
