His Connection with the 13th Middleser Volunteers - A Jolly Good Fellow with Characteristic Irish Wit.

DUBLIN, May 3-The grand jury has returned true bills against P. J. Tynan, No. 1, John Walsh and P. J. Sheridan for murder, and against Fitzharris, the car-driver, known as Skin the Goat, as accessory after the fact. It is understood that the government will demand the extradition of Walsh, Sheridan and Tynan from the United

Following is a speaking likeness of The Mysterious Number. I

"Although P. J. Tynan, the notorious Number One of the Dublin Invincible Society, has made good his escape to America, the detectives in London continue their inquiries in respect to the man and his associates. Many of the members of the 13th Middlesex volunteers, of which Tynan was and still is a member, have been asked for information in respect to him neading in and still is a member, have been asked for information in respect to him, resulting in many interesting particulars being made known. It appears that Tynan joined the corps early in 1882, and attended the review at Portsmouth on the Easter Monday following. He was not smart at his drill, and required more tuition than the average volunteer recruit. Still he made better practice at the butts, and took a small prize for shooting in the recruit series. On and speedily won the good opinion of both officers and men. His stories of his adven-tures in America and Africa were fold with a racy humor which always secured him an appreciative sudience. He occasionally spoke of trips to Ireland, but never touched on the present theme. Though at the present time the greatest disgust is felt in the corps at such a character having been associated with them, none are more astounded at the revelations concerning Tynan than the men themselves. The object of the con-spirator in allying himself with a volunteer other movements or to obtain military training is unknown, but in any case i could not have been to sow sedition among the members of his corps, as beside the high cal questions.

"As matters now stand, Tynan is still s member of the 13th Middlesex; but no doubt his name will soon be expused from the roll of the regiment. It has also transpired that Tynan, even when in the presented that Tynan are the tynan that the tynan the tynan that the tynan the tynan that the tynan the tynan that the tynan t ence of Irishmen, rarely indulged in the ex-pression of extreme views. On the contrary, he often denounced home rule with hearty vigor, condemned Mr. Parnell and his party, and fiercely assailed the conduct of those agitators who lived out of Ireland's troubles. Then his cleverness was shown in his advo eacy of perfectly constitutional methods of actiation. Tynan lived in London, at 4 agtiation. Tynan lived in London, at 4 Merrow villas, Avondale road, Peckham Rye, just six doors from Frank Byrne's, with whose family he was, it is stated, on terms of great intimacy."

NEW YORK, May 3 .- The Express says the papers necessary to secure the extra-dition of Tynan, No. 1, have been here two weeks. Diligent search for Sheridan and Walsh, indicted in Dublin, was made today, but neither could be found. The Irish circles here are considerably excited by the news. It is said should the British government cause their arrest a vigorous fight for their release would be made in the courts here by their friends. Nobody seems to know anything in regard to Tynan's movements.

Washington, May 3.—The department has received no information (except turough the press) of the Dublin indictment of Ty-nan, Walsh and Sheridan for murder, and there is no truth in the London rumor that the United States government has consented to extradite them. It has been ascertained at the state department that no demand has been received for the extradition of any of the persons referred to in the cable despatch as having been connected with the murders of Bailey and Kenny. Neither Sheridan nor the others can be extradited until they have had a hearing before a United States judge or commissioner, and been held invaded British territory, capturing Bam-for trial, and the facts certified to the state apartment. DETROIT, May 3-At Battle Creek last night, the corener's jury in the Chicago and Grand Trunk railway disaster returned the following verdict after four days investigation : "That said collision was caused by an extra freight train under charge of Conductor Beebe, running into the rear of passenger train No. 6, called the Pacific express, and telescoping two rear Pullman cars on said passenger train; that said passenger train was then standing on the track at the place of the accident, where it had been stopped Notwithstanding this the Chinamen rushed backward and forward on the vessel until it was necessary to knock consideration. air brakes with the engine, and that the bursting of the said hose caused the automatic brake to stop the train. The jury further find that the flagman from the approaching train, who went back to stop the approaching train, did not go back as fast as he had time to, and consequently did not give notice to the approaching freight train as soon as he might have done; and that the said flagman was delinquent in the discharge of his duties in that respect. The jury further find that the conductor of the passenger train did not exercise proper dilagence in making sure that his flagman was going back in a proper manner and to the proper distance, and the jury find that at the time of the accident the freight train was running at a higher rate of speed on the down grade east of the place of the accident than was prudent."

It was not decided whether any criminal prosecutions will be brought. The railroad authorities will investigate the matter further.

HAMILTON TO THE PORE.

When The World makes a mistake, it i not afraid to acknowledge it. It appears that we were mistaken yesterday in saying that Hamilton had been trapped and gobbled up by the Grand Trunk, in the matter of the H. & N. W. railway board election on Tuesday. We have it on quite sufficient authority that, so far from this being the case, the controlling majority in both the Northern and the Hamilton and Northwestern directorates, and in the executive mmittee for the joint government of the two roads, is safe and sound for independence. There will be no surrender, but Trunk and the Canadian Pacific will be maintained. We are glad to know that first reports were wrong in this instance, and that the strength of the two cities combined is likely to suffice for keeping in their platform than the open and organized opposition of the hotel men. THE GROWING TEMPERANCE SENTIMENT. The spread of temperance is noted in England, the United States, and Canada. The movement has two sides to it : the law regulating the traffic is being made more stringent, and the people are bec ming more abstemious. As the London Standard expresses it, " for the first time in the history of this country, intoxication, irrespective of the social level on which it may be seen, carries with it a lasting stigma. The whole tendency of the day," it alds, "is opposed to excessive drinking."

The house of commons last week gave a majority in favor of Sir Wilfred Lawson's field mice. Other farmers are also sufferers. local option resolution; and that is a very significant step. It furnishes another proof of the increased favor in which the temperance movement is held in England, where once the few temperance agitators were treated with ridicule in all classes. Now, everything English, and no greater perverter however, even actual teetotalers begin to be of the truth wherever British action or Brinumerous among the most intelligent men, and in the more cultivated society the quantity of wine and spirituous liquors used has much decreased as compared with the to be sent to special addresses—each can

The dude of whom so much is said the e days, is a very abstemious person. But men of more virile ambitions are not less abstemious about the use of alcoholic beverages in these days-men of leisure, men of business, professional men, and workingmen we are glad to say. As it is in England, so it it is here. Drunkenness is not regarded as the pardonable offence it was once held to be. It degrades a man and casts doubt on his trustworthiness both socially and in a busi-

Two or three charges in the indictment he regards as curious things on which to base an ecclesi astical trial to-day. Concerning the doctrine of the person of Christ heresy will have to be read into his printed language. He contends that he has violated none of the doctrines of his church, and would not await a trial if he thought he was untrue. He says the affirmation by the church of the opposite of the views he has taken will put it back at least a generation. Dr Newten says the charges were brought under the impression that in his condemnation what is known as the broad church schoo might be blocked, "which is very much the old story of King Canute and the sea."

It was bad taste for the Mail to soil its columns with an unmerited and untrue personaliattack on the founder and first manager the paper. The writer of this was of the little band who in the dark days of trial and overthrow fought under Mr. Patteson. At the cost of ruin to himself the present postmaster stood by his chief when others were for dropping him. Sir John Macdonald's organ must have blushed to be made the vehicle of the spiteful tirade which yesterday disgraced it and its new which yesterday disgraced it and its new owners.

They were dark days those when the national policy was in its infancy as a party issue, and when shouters for Sir John and the N. P. were not as numerous as they have since become. When the present owners of the Mail took possession, the hardest part of the fight tor the man and for the policy was already over. All they had to do was to come in on the top of the tide, which had turned before Mr. Patreson voluntarily put into their hands the wespon to rule. And were it possible to organize the house of representatives in systematical form, such a conglomeration, instead of producing agreement in views, sentiment, and interest, would be more likely to become an arbitrary, corrupt and imperious as the present dominion government, using its power to oppress the people by lawful authority, in an unlawful manner, imposing burdens and hardships on those under its control, which the purposes of government do not require except for legalized robbery.

Your correspondent further avers that the grit leaders are inferior to the tories in political energy and capacity. It is quite true that they have suffered ther energy to lie ininactive rather than call into existence a system of political jugglery, such as the double-shuffly trick, the Pacific scandal debauch, with all its collateral connection, the glistening gerrymandering outrage, which the chieftain utilized to ride into power over the carcasses of reformers, and the iniquitous infringement on the rights of provinces. Such unscrupulous acts detereven though the agitation the matter is sure

With our politicians, it is six of one and half a dozen of the other; but we must remember that from the ignorance, vices and factionsness of the people, politicians cannot act right and succeed. Instead of denouncing them so much, let us keep denouncing and exposing the chief source of our political evils and the perpatrators of them—the party organs. Especially those them—the party organs. Especially those in our own city, and particularly that ribald rabid, venal, reactionary, anti-constitu-tional, ultramontane and disreputable sheet the Mail. Let us also give our politicians of all stripes to understand, once for all, that no more truckling to Romanism or to Frenchism, nor playing into the hands of either, much less submitting to their impudent demands, will be tolerated. Above all things let us support the independent press, and encourage it to speak out boldly and fearlessly on all subjects. In its growth and prosperity lies our only hope of permanent political improvement and social welfare.

There is now a chance, one that might not again occur for years, to get up an agitation that will sweep away separate echools, the last relies of state churchism; relieve ourselves from helping to maintain the prelates, priests, religious bodies and proselytiging institutions for the church of Rome; prevent the threatened bankruptcy of Quebec, and rescue our co-religionists and countrymen there from their galling position and the intolerable burdens imposed on them to support the hosts of Romish drones and parasites, who live on the fat of the land and have impoverished the people of all greeds and classes.

I have tried so many chings for catarrh, suffered so much and for so many years, that it is hard for me to realize that I am really better.

I consider that mine was a very had case;it was aggravated and chronic, involving the throat as well as the nasal passages, and I thought I would require the three treatments but feel fully cured by the two sent me and I am thankful that I was ever induced to send to you.

You are at liberty to use this letter stating that I have been cured at two treatments, and I shall gladly recommend your remedy to some of my friends, who are sufferers.

Yours with many thanks, REV. E. B. STEVENSON

The will of the Rev. Dr. Pusey has been proved by Mrs. Maria Amelia Brine, his daughter, the value of the personal estate exceeding $80,000. The testator states that, having made a provision for his daughter Mary on her marriage, he gives all his property to his son Philip Edward. The son died in his life time, and a bachelor; the property therefore ces to his daughter, Mrs. Brine, as his only next of kin. He wills that his two books on the theology of Germany should not be republished, nor any dills that his two books on the through of Germany should not be republished, nor any of his corrections of the English translations of the Hebrew scriptures, or his notes thereon, "seeing that in maturer years I saw reason to withdraw many of the corrections I made when young."

PORTIAND, Me., May 3—The Sarnla left about o'clock this afternoon, with the Canadian Lacrosec team and its friends on boatd. A number of gentlemen interested in athieties in this city saw them off and gave a hearty cheer, while the ladies waved their handkereniefe, as the steamship left her moorings. The boys won golden opinions from every one while here, and had become such favorites in so short a time that we were really sorry to see that depart. The result of their price visit will probably be the formation of a strong lacroseculum in this city. The Toronto contingent bid me send their parting salute to Mr. E. S. Cox and all their friends, and to advise them to look to The World for a record of their doings.

The Prince Arthur's Landing Herald of April 25 says that during the past winter the Section B company got out over a mil lion dollars' worth of lumber in the dispured territory, for railway building purposes. They took out over 1,750,000 ties alone. But the company got no license from or paid the Ontario government any money, and the latter have instructed their inspector of lumber at the landing, Wm. Margach, to seize all the ties and lumber in auestion. Mr. Margach took the train as far as Savanne, from which place he will has been out, posting up notices that anyone the materials will be arrested and dealt with as a person would be for stealing. His instructions are very emphatic, and he says that he intends carrying them out to the letter.

A Torontonian's Terrible Suffering.

Chas. Parker, a member of the Northwest mounted police stationed at Macleod, started from Stand Off for the St. Mary's river with despatches during the late storm. After travelling some distance he became snow-blind and lost his way, and had been All honor to her, be she crooked or straight out five days and nights without anything to eat, when he was found by the stage driver en route to Macleod. Parker said at one time he felt so desperate that if he had a piece of paper and a pencil to explain his action he would have shot himself. His first thought on 7 eturning to consciou was his duty woodering how he could get the despatches which he had saved to their destination. Constable Parker is from To rento, and is a son of the auditor of the Credit Valley railway. The second and concluding session of the union convened in the lecture room of the church at 9 o'clock yesterday morning, the president Rev. Dr Ciarke of Montreal, in the chair. The first order of business was a paper on "Home Evangelization; Its methods, its missionaries, and its friends," by Rev. Dr. Davidson of Tiverton, The debate on this paper, which was spirited, was led by Mr. Thos. Lailey of this city. Rev. R. S. MacAithur, D. D., of New York followed with an interesting lecture on "The pastor and the church." He strongly recommended the support of denominational journals, the moral standing of ministers, and closed with a nice reference of ministers, and closed with a nice reference of ministers, and closed with a nice reference of ministers, and closed with a nice reference. naminational journals, the moral standing of ministers, and closed with a nice reference considering that the pavilion is not a theatre the stage effects were very well managed. served in the ample dining-room of the college. The collation was all the more enjyable from the fact that a bery of pretty young ladies of the leading baptist families of the city waitel on the tables and saw that no one wanted for anything. Dr. Castle presided at the luncheon. He announced amid great applause that the board of trustees had seen their way clear to appear that strengen a fourth professor. Mr. McMaster himself was present, and sat to the right of the chairman.

Convocation at Jarvis Street Church. The next and last thing in order was the second annual convocation of the college at Jarvis street church last night. The edifics was crowded. A very good program of music and addresses were presented. The music was under the direction of Mr. W. Horatio Clarke.

The graduating class, which consisted of three, Rev. David Dack of Toronto, Rev. F. P. S. Lamb of Montreal, and Rev. A. E. de St. Dalmas of Toronto, all delivered addresses, which were well received. Dr. Castle afterwards called them up to the latform, presented their diplomas and addressed them on the sacred trust which had just been reposed in them.
