The Institute has attempted to obtain the best original copy available for filming. Features of this copy which may be bibliographically unique, which may alter any of the images in the reproduction, or which may significantly change the usual method of filming, are checked below.

L'Institut a microfilmé le meilleur exemplaire qu'il lui a été possible de se procurer. Les détails de cet exemplaire qui sont peut-être uniques du point de vue bibliographique, qui peuvent modifier une image reproduite, ou qui peuvent exiger une modification dans la méthode normale de filmage sont indiqués ci-dessous.

The copy filmed here has been reproduced thanks to the generosity of:

Hamilton Public Library

The images appearing here are the best quality possible considering the condition and legibility of the original copy and in keeping with the filming contract specifications.

Original copies in printed paper covers are filmed beginning with the front cover and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression, or the back cover when appropriate. All other original copies are filmed beginning on the first page with a printed or illustrated impression, and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression.

The last recorded frame on each microfiche shell contain the symbol \rightarrow (meaning "CONTINUED"), or the symbol ∇ (meaning "END"), whichever applies.

Maps, plates, charts, etc., may be filmed at different reduction ratios. Those too large to be entirely included in one exposure are filmed beginning in the upper left hand corner, left to right and top to bottom, as many frames as required. The following diagrams illustrate the method:

L'exemplaire filmé fut reproduit grâce à la générosité de:

Hamilton Public Library

Les images suivantes ont été reproduites avec le plus grand soin, compte tenu de la condition et de la netteté de l'exemplaire filmé, et en conformité avec les conditions du contrat de filmage.

Les exemplaires originaux dont la couverture en papier est imprimée sont filmés en commençant par le premier plat et en terminant soit par la dernière page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration, soit par le second plat, selon le cas. Tous les autres exemplaires originaux sont filmés en commençant par la première page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration et en terminant par la dernière page qui comporte une telle empreinte.

Un des symboles suivants apparaîtra sur la dernière image de chaque microfiche, selon le cas: le symbole \rightarrow signifie "A SUIVRE", le symbole ∇ signifie "FIN".

Les cartes, planches, tableaux, etc., peuvent être filmés à des taux de réduction différents. Lorsque le document est trop grand pour être reproduit en un seul cliché, il est filmé à partir de l'angle supérieur gauche, de gauche à droite, et de haut en bas, en prenant le nombre d'images nécessaire. Les diagrammes suivants illustrent la méthode.

- 1 & 2.—Contain the days of the month and of the week.
- 3 & 4.—The rising and setting in mean time of the highest point, or of the upper limb of the Sun, corrected for refraction.
- 5.—Days length in hours and minutes.
- 6.—Equation of Time (or quantity by which the Sun is slow or fast of the clock at noon, apparent, not mean, time at Greenwich, or at a quarter before eight o'clock in the morning at Halifax.
- 7.—The Sun's declination for the same as the Equation, 6th col.
- 8.—The rising or setting of the Moon—the setting being given from the New to the Full Moon, and the rising from Full to New Moon.
- 9.—The place of the Moon in the Ecliptic.
- 10.—The time of the Moon's southing or passing the meridian. This column also gives the time of High Water at Parrsboro', Horton, Corwallis, Windsor, Truro, &c.
- 11.—Days increase or decrease in hours and minutes.

The top of the columns of each month gives the Moon's phases, or times of New and Full Moon, and of the first and last quarters, or two quadratures with the Sun.

These four columns are computed on the supposition, that the time of High Water on the days of New and Full Moon (L'establisement du port) is at Halifax 7h. 30m.—at Annapolis, and St. John, N. The column of the Moon's Southing gives the time of High Water

The age in which we live is so remarkable for important events, producing changes in modes of life, and forcing upon us an activity and enterprise unknown in former periods, that the best educated man among us feels the power of science pressing and urging him to a further accumulation of knowledge. It must be evident to every thinking and observing man, that a better and more general education is urgently necessary to keep pace and position with the improvements of the age. The greatest complaint among farmer's is, that they have no time to study—but what is the reason? Why cannot the farmer find time for mental improvement, as well as the mechanic?—the chief reason will be found that it is not considered necessary.—If knowledge is not necessary to the farmer, then certainly those who do nothing but consume the fruits of his toils, do not need it. The pleasure arising from the cultivation of our mental powers, would alone be a sufficient recompense for all our study and toil. Every faculty of our nature, when exercised in its legitimate sphere, is in itself, an inexhaustible source of enjoyment. Considered in a moral point of view, the neglect of mental culture cannot appear otherwise than as the basest ingratitude.

Farmers as a class are not sufficiently educated—they do not study to prepare themselves for their vocation and to become acquainted with all its details. Almost all their knowledge has been gained by practical experiment, which is a slow and tedious process.

We would recommend every farmer to take a good Agricultural Journal. Papers designed chiefly for those interested in farming pursuits, engaging as they do the best intellect and practical talent, must be a store-house of interesting and useful knowledge. Though the ignorant and penurious may spurn such means of gaining intelligence; yet, it is observable and encouraging, that among the more intelligent farmers, are always to be found the best patrons of agricultural papers. And where the land is in the highest state of cultivation, and the domestic arrangements are of the most agreeable character, you will discover intelligence to use and appreciate those publications which are designed to bring conveniences and improvements to their farms and dwellings. Go the country over and you will see that, in all the cases of failure in realising a fair profit from the farm, there has not been wanting the requisite capital, the energy, the bone and the muscle, so much as the desirable intelligence to give a right direction to their other powers. The maxim, "knowledge is power," is applicable to no case more than in that of farming. The reading of agricultural papers leads to the study of soils, and the nature of the plants which they produce; the adaptation of different manures to each—means to be employed that the harvest may realise your anticipations, the qualities of the different kinds of stock, the usefulness of new agricultural machines, and a variety of other subjects which require investigation, it will afford you instruction in all the different departments of your business, and prove a valuable guide to your progress. If the Legislature would pass a law, giving some good agricultural journal (The Cultivator for instance) to every farmer in the Province, and five shillings yearly to read it, and at the end of three years tax each one ten dollars, in nine cases out of ten the farmers would be largely the gainers—in the meantime let them plant one row more of corn, or potatoes, or something additional, to pay for a paper.

In connexion with wheat, oats and barley, clover and grass seed are usually sown—that is, the land is technically, scooled down. Grass succeeds better with barley than with the other grains. Oats, on most soils, are less favorable to grass than wheat and barley. Some soils are better adapted to one kind of grass and some to another. Timothy does not succeed on very loose, dry soils, but is adapted to those more moist and tenacious. Red clover does not do well on cold and wet lands, but will flourish in situations so dry that but few of the true grasses would be able to sustain themselves.

It should of course be the object of the farmer, to adapt the kind of plant to the nature of the soil. For pastures, there is a great advantage in having a variety of herbage plants, as the appetite and health of both cattle and sheep is known to be thereby promoted; and there is besides a benefit in having plants which, from ripening at various times, afford successively a fresh growth through a large portion of the season. For hay, also, a variety of plants is preferable, as the hay is thus rendered more palatable, and probably more wholesome, to stock of all kinds; but the kinds of grasses sown together should not ripen at different times, as recommended for pastures. To make hay of the best quality, all the herbage should be in nearly the same state of ripeness when cut. A very common mode is to mix the clover and grass seeds together and sow them after the grain has been sown and once harrowed, but the better mode is to mix the whole with the grain, sowing all together.

The column of the Moon's Southing gives the time of High Water

The Spring is a most important season to the farmer. In all cold climates, where the warm and growing season is short, much depends upon getting the crops in, in good season, and in good order. The land should be well tilled, and the surface well pulverised, so as to give the roots of the young plants a healthy and vigorous growth in the early part of the season. This enables them to stand either too much wet, or too much dry weather, and the attacks of worms much better, than if got in late in the season, or in bad order. The straw of grain sown early, is not so subject to rust or lodge, as that sown late; and grain which is forward, and ripens early, is usually much better and heavier than that which is late. gets his crops in well and in good season, is most sure of a good yield; besides, if he gets his spring's work done early, he will be most likely to do the whole work of the season in good time, and will have time to do it well; while, if he gets behind time in the spring, he will be most likely to get behind time through the whole season; and being drove with his work, will not be likely to do it well; and if he keeps an account of his outgoes and incomes, will be most likely to find his profits much less than they would have been, had his Spring's work been done in season. There are many other important matters to be looked to during the Spring. Do your old meadows need harrowing and manuring, and additional grass seed? If so, now is the time to attend to it. Have you a sufficient number of fruit trees, and of the different kinds best suited to the soil and climate? If not, this is the time to plant them. Have you a sufficiency of shade trees and shrubbery to make your situation pleasant? If not, now is the time to plant them.

The column of the Moon's Southing gives the time of High water

Farmers do not provide themselves, as they ought, with good gardens—the excuse is generally the same with them all, "they have no time to attend to such small matters"—and yet it may safely be asserted that an acre of ground appropriated to a good garden, will be more profitable to the farmer than any other ten acres of the farm. The interests of the farmer, the comforts of his family, the good condition and health of his whole household, require such a garden on every farm in the country. And it should be a garden, not a mere excuse for one, a mere weedy patch. It should be one, so managed and arranged, that every vegetable of a wholesome quality for human food should be raised in it, in perfection, and at the earliest season. After a winter's diet on solid and generally salt animal food, the human constitution requires the deterring operations of free vegetable and fruit diet; and as a general rule no one can dispense with it safely. Besides this the natural appetite calls for it, and there are few pleasures that may be so safely and even beneficially indulged in. In the latter part of winter and early spring, measures should be taken to secure early vegetables of all kinds: capable of early cultivation. Why may not every farmer have every kind of early vegetables on his table as early as any gardener can raise them? There is not a single reason why he should not, while there are a great many why he should. The gardener's have to incur a very considerable expense procuring lot manure for their hot-beds, while the farmer has it in his barn-yard. The gardener has everything to purchase, and draw a considerable distance, while the farmer has nothing to buy—the small quantity of lumber required is probably rotting on his premises.

The column of the Moon's Southing gives the time of High water

As in a moral point of view, it is useful to have "seasons of reflection," reviewing the wants of the past, and inferring their effects on the future—so in agriculture, it is useful to "compare notes," to interchange sentiments, and practices already realized, to "lay our plans," regulate our operations, and infer their results for the future. Now it is an axiom, which may be considered universal in all industrial pursuits, that whatever is done at all, should be "well done," and that in farming, whatever crops are raised, should be "good crops"—whatever animals are bred, should be "well bred"—whatever animals are fed, should be "well fed"—and whatever is seeded should be "fully seeded" Whether the cereal grains or grasses be sown, the ground should be fully occupied with the young plants. "He who sows sparingly, shall reap sparingly, and he who sows bountifully, shall reap bountifully," are declarations as true as they are ancient, and should be, especially in seed time, in every husbandman's mouth. Good land, in ordinary cultivation, is bound to be occupied, and if we do not occupy with good seed, nature will most assuredly occupy with weeds. There is surely something ennobling, morally elevating, in liberal, enlightened, and successful farming. If a man would succeed in cultivating the soil, he must not be niggardly, but must lay out freely for labour, for manure, for good and durable implements, convenient and permanent fixtures, and good and plentiful agricultural reading. It is important however to guard against extravagance and waste; as well as penuriousness; the most scrupulous and exact economy should pervade each department; nothing neglected or suffered to run to waste, — and a general appearance of order and harmony should give unity and beauty to the whole.

The column of the Moon's Southing gives the time of High Water

It is an old maxim that "turnips should be sown on the 25th July, let the weather be wet or dry." The common English flat turnip will usually do well, if sown on proper soil, any time from the 20th of July to the 10th of August—they may not yield so largely as when sown somewhat earlier, but the roots will be sweeter, and will keep better. The white turnip is not a very nutritive vegetable; but as it may be grown on lands from which a crop of hay or grain has been taken the same season—is a good fallow crop, leaving the ground in good condition; and is useful in feeding sheep, cows or young stock, in the early part of winter, it may be made a profitable crop in many instances. The grass or grain stubble may be plough ed in, and a dressing of fine manure, compost or ashes, spread and harrowed in. The seed may be sown with a seed-drill—the quantity varying from one pound to two pounds per acre. If the seed vegetates well, and the young plants are not attacked by insects, a pound to the acre will give a “good stand”—the rows being 20 inches apart,—but there is more certainty in the use of a greater quantity, and to guard against emergencies, it is better to use plenty of seed. After the plants have got well into “rough leaf,” and are secure from injury by the fly, they should be thinned to the distance of 6 to 8 inches in the rows; and the ground should be kept clean by the harrow, cultivator, and hoe. White Mustard sown with turnips, is considered one of the best means of protecting them from the fly, which devours the plant as soon as it makes its appearance above ground; and having a large tender seed leaf the insect is as fond of it as the turnip.

The column of the Moon's Southing gives the time of High Water

The haying season is a severe tax on the physical powers of the labourer—the employer should be careful not to place any obstacles in the way—a good and willing horse should never feel the lash; many a good team has been ruined by bad driving. If there be a sufficiency of hands to carry on the business, three or four should be put to the scythe. If they are honest men, they will make a fair day's work, whether they are paid by the day or the acre. It will, however, generally be found better for both parties to have the grass cut by the acre. Mowing by the day, especially when the weather is very warm, the scythes are apt to become so dull, that many a poor fellow has been nearly exhausted by his incessant whetting; but when mowing by the acre; the scythe almost invariably retains a sharper edge; and he who swings it shows no more sympathy or pity for the falling grass, or the grasshoppers perched upon it, than an energetic farmer, with a deadly weapon, would do in the midst of a patch of Canada thistles. The best time to cut grass for hay, is as near as possible to the time when it is in the fullest bloom. Of course, if it is cut when most of it is in this state, some may be a little past, and some may not have quite reached full bloom. There is some difference of opinion as to the stage grass should be in when it is cut, but we believe the experience of the best farmers is in agreement with the position above assumed. It may sometimes be expedient to cut grass before it has reached this state; particularly when it falls down, and is in danger of rotting—when this happens it should be cut whatever state it may be in, because if it remains on the ground it will spoil, and the fermentation which takes place will destroy the roots. Another great advantage in cutting grass before the seed forms, is, that the roots are not so much exhausted.

The column of the Moon's Southing gives the time of High Water

So much has been said and sung in praise of "a farmer's life," that apparently, no time or space has been spared to speak of the life led by his "better half." Our country is blessed with an abundant monthly harvest of leaves, containing valuable information in regard to the culture of almost all kinds of fruits and plants, and the appliances and means best adapted to the improvement and growth of the domestic animals—but these "lords of the soil," seem studiously to have forgotten that their houses, as well as their barns and pastures, contain live stock, to which a part of their attention should be given. The farmer's wife should be an independent, healthy, happy and cultivated woman—one on whose culture, both mental and physical, the agriculturist has bestowed at least as much thought as he has upon that of his swine or his turkeys—but is it so?—

at Windsor, Parrsboro', Horton, Cornwallis, Truro, &c.

When farmers will consider it proper for the females of their families, to join with them in forming and executing their plans for the improvement of the soil and of society—when they become aware of the fact that their wisest advisers and truest friends are to be found within the limits of their own households; and will invite their friends to their homes and there form their farmer's clubs, and arrange their plans and examine their prospects, they will discover that the female part of the community have a genius above being simply their maids-of-all-work, mere labour-saving machines, designed to cook potatoes, or mend stockings. A good housewife should not be a person of "one idea," but should be equally familiar with the flower garden and flour barrel; and though her lesson should be to lessen expense, yet the scent of a fine rose should not be less valued than a cent in the purse. She will doubtless prefer a yard of shrubbery to a yard of satin. If her husband is a skilful sower of grain, she is equally skilful as a sewer of garments; he keeps his hoes bright by use, she keeps the hose of the family in order.

The column of the Moon's Southing gives the time of High Water.

The season of the year has now arrived, when all the stock must depend wholly upon our care and feeding. Have you got more than you can winter well? If so, sell off until you are sure that you have no more than you can winter, so as to have them in good order in the spring. It is frequently the case that animals are too long neglected in the fall—the cold weather comes on, the ground freezes, and the snow falls, yet the sheep or cattle are allowed to run at large, shivering in the open air, and gleaning as they best can from the frozen earth, to satisfy their hunger. All animals, and man himself, feels the necessity of protection more on the first attack of frost, than after the system is accustomed to its action; and there is no time in the year when care and attention to stock is better rewarded than in the first setting in of winter. at Windsor, Parrsboro', Horton, Cornwallis, Truro, &c proper sheds or stables for stock of all kinds is indispensable, where the comfort of the animal and the profit of the breeder is at all consulted. All animals, whether old or young, should be kept in uniform good condition the year round. If they are suffered to run down during the winter, and come out poor in the spring, it takes two or three months to bring them up to the condition they were in the previous fall. One great office performed by food is to keep the animal warm, and where this is done by stabling or sheds, so much food may be spared. But food is not all that animals require—they may live with it, but this alone will not give them high health, or keep them in the sleek condition the farmer desires. How often do we see animals, during the winter, compelled to go without drink, or to obtain it encounter such obstacles as nothing but burning thirst could overcome—the exertion of wallowing through snow drifts, beset with dogs, and travelling perhaps a mile daily for a drink of water, will take off more flesh than an ordinary feed of hay can give, and at the end will make the beast poor.

The column of the Moon's Southing gives the time of High water

The season is now at hand when all out-door operations cease; in fact, the systematic farmer has closed his field labour for this year, except perhaps ditching, or the removal of stumps and stones. Now is the season to reflect, and establish a system for the coming year, and by a judicious arrangement of crops and field-work, have or cause each to follow in an order, admitting of no hurry or anxiety for its due and thorough accomplishment; this, generally may and can be done, and the man who omits it cannot run an equal race with his better informed and more careful neighbour. No excuse or apology can be found for the want of order; it does not require talent or skill, neither does it consume time; while its exercise causes every thing within its influence to be ready for action, agreeable to the eye, enduring in existence, and fitted to produce the required results without failure. 'Tis true, that system requires effort of mind, and so does every vocation whereto man is called, if he would perform his whole duty. Without system no man should enter upon a farmer's life; without system he cannot succeed; he may draw out a toilsome existence, but he cannot accumulate wealth and be truly prosperous, independent and happy, unless system guides every project, and order presides over every department of his farm. At this season of the year we are forcibly reminded of this truth; the neglected corn still standing on the field—the rich soil intended for spring crops, resting under a covering of weeds; the new grown wheat plant suffering already in stagnant waters for want of proper drains; the plough and the harrow, resting on a soft and muddy head land, there to remain exposed to the winter storms; and the fine woolled sheep hurrying over a long fed pasture, snatching a scanty meal.

The column of the Moon's Southing gives the time of High water

Winter is the time for farmers to think—spring, summer and fall to work; and the three latter seasons labour will be to little profit, if the time of the first shall have been misspent. All the plans of next season's operations should be laid and well considered during winter. All improvements, all designs for new operation; all the work to be done, should then be considered and prepared for; so that, when the time for work arrives he will have nothing to do but to "go ahead." Then he has no time to think; but if he has been wise during winter he will have no need of it. It is a pitiful sight to look at in the spring, when all nature is in an ecstasy of delight, to see a farmer flying about "like a hen with her head cut off," trying to do a thousand things at once, not knowing which to do first, running here and there in search of his rusty implements, some of which require repairs, some can't be found; the ploughing season passing away, the planting season rapidly advancing, and now prepared for anything. The present time is favorable for those who have a muck mine and are desirous to avail themselves of its benefits. The effects of decomposed muck are now so well understood, that there are very few farmers who are not desirous of laying in a good store of it for future use. No better raw material can be found for hogs to operate upon and convert into the best of manure. Make it a rule to hire a hand for a month in the fall—furnish him with a cart and yoke of oxen, and keep them all at work hauling muck. In this way you will have a large supply, and in the spring have a large quantity of excellent top-dressing for the land. You cannot invest the amount of the man's wages and service of cart and oxen in a more profitable way. Perhaps some of our readers who have never thought much of this plan may be induced to try it.

The Subscriber having been appointed Agent to the above Company for Halifax, is prepared to receive proposals for Fire and Life Insurance—on risks in Halifax, and any part of this Province. The large Capital, and high character and standing of the Company in England, enables the Agent to recommend this Company to the notice of the community, with the utmost confidence.

The Policies are under the Corporate Seal of the Company (a peculiar feature in this agency) and are signed by the Agent, under a special Power of Attorney, from three of the Directors. The Policies, and original Power of Attorney, will be exhibited, and every information given on application at the office of the Agency.

FIRE BRANCH.

Persons assured by this Company are not subject to any covenants or calls to make good losses which may happen to themselves or others, nor do they depend upon an uncertain fund or contribution, the Capital Stock of this Company being an unquestionable Security to the Assured in case of Loss or Damage by Fire.

The Company have already established and are now establishing Agents of the highest standing and position in various parts of the World where Insurances may be effected with considerable advantages which will be communicated on application to the Agent. The Company has every desire to establish as reasonable a Rate of charge as circumstances will admit of, in every case.

LIFE BRANCH.

In addition to the more customary methods of Insurance, the Company likewise Assures Lives on any of the following contingencies;—

For the term of One Year, Seven Years, or any other definite period.

For the whole continuance of Life,—The Premiums to cease after a limited number of Annual Payments.

For Two Joint Lives.—The sum Assured to be paid on the death of either.

On the longest of Two or Three Lives,—The sum Assured to be payable at the death of the last survivor, or,

On Survivorships.—To secure the payment of the Sum Assured, if a Life A die before another Life B.

For a Sum to be payable at age 60, or at death.

Premiums on Credit.—A portion of the Premiums may remain on Credit. Assurances may be effected in various ways, not enumerated, to meet the convenience of parties.

The important advantages afforded by the Company in the Life Branch will include the following, viz:—

The Guarantee of an ample Capital and Exemption of the Assured from Liability of Partnership. The Assured neither having to depend on an uncertain fund, nor being in any way accountable for the payment of Claims.

Moderate Premiums.—The Company, in determining its charges for Assurances, under the various contingencies, dependent on human life, has availed itself of the experience of the oldest and most prosperous London Offices, and of the recent investigations on the subject, made by the most competent Mathematicians and Actuaries. Its Tables of Premiums consequently avoid, on the one hand, an unnecessarily high rate of payment by the Assured, and on the other, the danger resulting from inadequate charges.

Large Participation of Profits by the Assured, amounting to Two-thirds of its net amount, which may be applied at the option of the party effecting the Assurance: 1st—By the immediate payment of the sum so apportioned;—2nd—By an equivalent reduction of the future Premiums;—or 3d—By an equivalent increase of the sum assured.

Small Charge for Management.—The Expenses of the Office being borne in due proportion by the two Branches.

Prompt Settlement of Claims.—All claims will be payable within three months after satisfactory proof of the death of the Life Assured. The Directors reserving to themselves the power to discharge any claim immediately on its being established.

Policies lapsed by non-payment of the Premium, may be renewed within three months, by paying the premium with a fine of 10s. per cent, on the production of evidence to the satisfaction of the Directors of the good state of health of the Life Assured.

The Company will always be prepared to Purchase the Policies of this Office at their equitable value, or will grant a New Policy in lieu thereof without any further payment of Premium, for a sum to be agreed on.

Assurances may be effected when needed with the utmost secrecy and despatch. No entrance Money, nor any charge except for the Policy Stamp.

Extra Premiums, suitable to Special Circumstances, will be accepted, to enable a party possessing a Policy on the Life of another to guard against the possibility of its being vitiated by the Life departing beyond limits, or by any other cause.

Thirty Days are allowed for the Payment of Premiums, after the day on which they respectively become due.

Commission to Solicitors bringing Insurance to this Company is allowed. Fees to Medical Referees are likewise granted by this Company.

Additional Advantages offered to Lives Assured with this Company at Halifax.

1.—RESIDENCE.—Persons Assured for the whole Term of Life will have permission, without the payment of extra Premium, to reside in any part of Europe; or, in any place in North America to the north of 38 degrees of North Latitude, but not to the westward of the Mississippi River.

II.—VOYAGE.—They will also, if not seafaring by profession, be allowed, without any extra charge,

To cross and re-cross the Atlantic Ocean, in steamers or first class sailing vessels;

To pass from any part of Europe to any other, or from any part of North America to another, within the limits above specified; also

To pass to and from, but not to reside in, any place which shall not be further south than 35 degrees of North Latitude, but not to the westward of the Mississippi River.

“Star Life Assurance Society.”

FOUNDED 1843.

CAPITAL £100,000 STERLING.

NOTICE.

THE SUBSCRIBER having been appointed Agent for the above named institution, hereby gives notice, that he is prepared to transact the business of the Halifax Agency at the Office of Bell & Black, Upper Water Street, and requests all Policy Holders to pay to him, the premiums—becoming due after this date.

The privileges offered to Assurers in the STAR LIFE Office, are highly advantageous. Ninety per cent, or ninety-ninths of the profits (ascertained every fifth year) are allocated to the holders of Policies; which may be applied in the reduction of the future annual premium, or be added to the sum insured, as a Bonus.

Thirty days are allowed for the payment of the premium from the date of its becoming due.

All claims are paid within fifty days of their being allowed by the Board, and disputed claims referred to arbitration.

The dividend declared in 1848 was 62 per cent. on the premium paid, the largest Bonus ever given by any Company having agencies in this Country.

This Society is chiefly but not exclusively devoted to the Assurance of the lives of members of the Wesleyan Methodist Societies, and of the hearers and friends of that connexion. Assurances however, have been, and may be effected upon all assurable lives. Nothing need be said upon the propriety of persons assuring their lives for the benefit of their families or friends, when so many proofs are furnished by the experience of every day life. The advantages of a Respectable Company, with a large Capital and dividing handsome profits, are too obvious to need any comment.

All necessary Blanks and Pamphlets and every information furnished gratis, by the Society's Agent or Medical Examiner.

TO THE NOVA SCOTIA PUBLIC.

INTRODUCTION

RUSSIA SALVE

Vegetable Ointment

THE great success that has attended the RUSSIA SALVE in Boston, U.S., and throughout the New England States, has induced the proprietors to introduce it to the Nova Scotia public,—believing as they do, that it is an article infinitely superior to anything hitherto presented in and adapted to the wants of this country, for the cure of the various complaints for which it is designed. As a healing remedy, its virtues are almost miraculous; and the good effects that are sure immediately to follow its application, have rendered the Russia Salve a reliable and truly beneficial remedy. For Cuts and Flesh Wounds, its healing power is wonderful; and when used in case of a severe Scald or Burn, it allays the irritation and smart as if by magic.

So great is the estimation in which this Salve is held throughout the New England States, that there is scarcely a workshop or family that have not a box or two constantly on hand, in case of accident. It has one merit above all other preparations of the kind, and that is—it does not smell the least disagreeable, or cause any one to suspect the presence of a sore of any kind. Besides, it is so clean in its application, that it will not soil the least thing.

The history of the introduction of the Russia Salve to the American public is not without its romance. It is a celebrated Russian preparation, and used principally in the army—and during the memorable campaigns of 1812, it was applied with wonderful success in thousands of cases—and particularly by an old soldier who had received a severe wound in action. Several years after, the old soldier emigrated to this country, and in gratitude for a debt of charity rendered him, he gave the secret of its preparation. It has been in use in the United States nearly thirty years, but confined exclusively to Massachusetts.

This Salve cures all kinds of Burns, Cancors, Felons, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Ring Worm, Bites, Bruises, Flesh Wounds, Chilblains, Piles, Erysipelas, Shingles, Chapped Hands, Sore Eyes, Itch, Scald Head, Nettle Rash, Cuts, Corns, Scalds, Sores of all kinds, Flea Bites, Whitlows, Warts, Wens, Sore Nipples, Stys, Fosteers, Ring Worms, Scurvy, Benions, Sore Lips, Frozen Limbs, Sore Ears, Ingrown Nails, Sprains, Fever Sores.

CAPITAL, £500,000 STERLING.

NOVA SCOTIA BRANCH.

HEAD OFFICE—No. 24 Hollis Street, Halifax, N. S.

THE COLONIAL LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY has been established for the purpose of extending to the Colonies of Great Britain, the full benefit of Life Assurance; and for the purpose of giving increased facilities to persons visiting or residing in Foreign countries. The Company is registered and empowered under the Act of Parliament 7 and 8 Vict., cap. 110.

The General Regulations and Conditions have been formed upon principles of fairness and liberality, so as to encourage Assurance among all classes of the community. The Rates in Nova Scotia are the same as in Great Britain, and formed on the most correct observations which exist as to the value of life.

The Assured have permission to pass and repass from this Province to any European Port, at all seasons of the year, and within any port of North America to the Northward of 38 degrees of North latitude, but not to the Westward of Mississippi River, and they may reside in any part within the above limits, WITHOUT EXTRA CHARGE.

Persons accepting Life Assurance Policies as a security for money advanced, generally run the risk of the party going beyond the limits of his Policy, and incurring a forfeiture. C. H. BELCHER,

HOLLIS (8) STREET,

Agent for "The Cultivator," and "Horticulturist."

THE CULTIVATOR, a monthly Journal of Agriculture, Horticulture, and Domestic Economy, illustrated with engravings of Farm Buildings, Domestic Animals, Agricultural Implements, &c. The Cultivator has been steadily pursuing its object,—“To IMPROVE THE SOIL AND THE MIND,” for a series of years, in which the agricultural aspect of our country has essentially changed.

Ever keeping the object for which it was established steadily in view, it will continue to elucidate and enforce the advantages of an IMPROVED SYSTEM OF HUSBANDRY, by explaining the principles on which it is founded, and by exhibiting the practice by which it can be carried into successful operation—to show the farmer that if he would thrive in his business, he must adopt a Rotation of Crops best calculated for his soils—to convince him of the value of Manure, and to point out the various ways in which its amount may be greatly increased, and to what crops and in what manner different substances may be most advantageously applied—to convince him that instead of rendering his lands poorer and his crops lighter, from year to year, he might and ought to pursue such a course as would increase the fertility of his farm and the amount of its products each succeeding year; thus rendering its cultivation far more profitable, as well as infinitely more satisfactory to an intelligent mind.

First Series—10 volumes, quarto—1834 to 1843.

New Series—8 volumes, octavo, now completed.

Any of the volumes, except the one for 1848, can be had separately.

THE HORTICULTURIST, and Journal of Rural Art and Rural Taste, devoted to Horticulture, Landscape Gardening, Rural Architecture, Botany, Pomology, Rural Economy, &c., published monthly in octavo form of 48 pages, each number accompanied by Engravings of Rural Cottages, and Villas, Farm Houses, Gates, Lodges, Ice Houses, Vineries, Flowering Shrubs, &c. 6 volumes of this work are now completed. A new volume (the 7th) commenced with the January number for 1852; and it will be the constant aim of the Editor and the Publisher, by every means in their power, to render it still more worthy, by every practical improvement, of the liberal patronage it is receiving.
