CHILMAN IS CONVICTED, ACHESON ACQUITTED IN EXPRESS ROBBERY CASE

Judge Teetzel in Acquitting Latter of Theft Expressed Doubts of His Innocence—Chilman Held to Have Knowingly Received Stolen Money—Verdict Surprised Public.

JURY FOLLOWED JUDGE'S CHARGE

HAMILTON, Jan. 14.—(Special).—In the case of Joseph Acheson, we find him "not guilty." In the case of J. D. Chilman, we find him guilty on the third count of the indictment of receiving money knowing it to have been stolen.

Such was the verdict announced Saturday night by Foreman J. A. Morris of the jury which heard the evidence in the crown's omnibus case against the two men in connection with the mysterious theft of more than $8000 from the office of the Canadian Express Co. here last September.

The trial was begun early last Thursday afternoon and it was not until 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon that the verdict was given to the jury. The verdict was reached at 9:15 Saturday night, more than four hours being consumed by the jurors in their discussion of the problems presented by the case.

CHARGED AGAINST CHILMAN.

Justice Teetzel was very much pleased with the jury's finding, which he designated as a very intelligent verdict and entirely justified by the evidence. The judge's charge to the jury was strongly against Chilman, while in the case of Acheson, he was neutral.

Chilman heard the fateful decision apparent unmoved. Acheson, when told by the judge that he was discharged, left the dock and hurried from the courtroom alone with his ever-present smile somewhat broader than usual.

George Lynch-Staunton, K.C., who had charge of the defence, was not in the court room when the jury brought in its verdict. C. W. Bell, who had

Train Struck Wagon Six Lives Were Lost

Five Women and a Man, All Servants in Philadelphia Suburb, Victims of Level Crossing.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 14.—Six persons, five women and a man, were killed when an express train on the New York division of the Pennsylvania Railroad crashed into a light station wagon at the Linden-avenue grade crossing in Torresdale, a suburb, to-day. The dead are:

Charles Davidson, aged 50 years; Nellie O'Connor, aged 19 years; Bridget Malloy, aged 42; Agnes Garrity, aged 22; Rose Gallagher, aged 18 years; Mary Roddy, aged 20 years.

The dead women were all employed as servants in fashionable homes in Torresdale, and were being conveyed to church when the accident occurred. Davidson was driving the wagon. The Linden-avenue station is usually guarded by a watchman, but the regular man was on leave of absence and his substitute had not appeared, when the coach reached the crossing. Davidson waited for a freight train to pass and then drove directly in front of the approaching express.

The horses managed to clear the track, but the engine struck the wagon squarely on the side.

HEAD GASHED BY SKATE

While skating at the Maple Leaf Rink on Saturday night, Wilfred Adams, 613 Parliament-street, fell forward and cut his head on the skate of a young man just in front of him. He was attended to by Dr. Bateman and taken home. The gash required five stitches.

A Leader at the Princess

Mrs. Fiske, the leader of the American stage, opens her three days' engagement at the Princess to-night in "Mrs. Bumpstead-Leigh," a play that made New York laugh as that case-hardened metropolis had not laughed in years. It is out to do the same for Toronto. On Wednesday night Mrs. Fiske will give the first performance of her new play.

Askwith to Settle Strike

MANCHESTER, Eng., Jan. 14.—(Can. Press).—Sir George Askwith, representing the board of trade, who is engaged in an endeavor to bring about a settlement of the cotton dispute in Lancashire, allowed it to be known to-night that he has a new suggestion in connection with the lockout which he thinks will meet the views of both sides. He will present his plan when the conferences with the masters and the preparatory work resumed on Monday and there is a hopeful feeling that the men involved in the trouble, numbering practically $20,000, will return to their work at an early date.

MANCHU PRINCES GAVE UP REINS

Sure Cash Preferred to Uncertain Glory by Erstwhile Chinese Rulers—Outrages by Brigands.

PEKIN, Jan. 13.—(Can. Press).—The abdication of the emperor is expected to take place within three days, but events may occur to give the Manchus a new lease of life, as they often have in the past when matters seemed hopeless. Yuan Shi Kai's secretary makes no secret of the preparations, and in the afternoon, conferred for two hours with Hsu Shih Chang and Shih Shu, the throne's guardians, respecting the measures to be undertaken.

It is understood that plans are being arranged for the departure of the imperial family to Jehol. The imperial guard will undoubtedly accompany unless the flight from Peking is secret, which is not improbable, before the abdication proclamation appears. It is also stated that the Manchus have considered and have agreed to accept the terms offered by the Republicans some days ago—protection and respect such as would be accorded to a retired sovereign residing in China; the retention of the palace in Jehol or the summer palace near Peking, for the use of the emperor; the other members of the imperial family to retain their personal wealth and property; all the Manchus pensions to continue for a fixed term and the payment of a large annual pension to the court, said to be $10,000,000 taels (about $6,000,000).

A difficulty has arisen in that the Manchus are unable to obtain a guarantee from the future Republican government would not repudiate the pledges. Premier Yuan is still insisting upon a national assembly, from which the Republicans would endeavor to obtain assurance for the safety of the Manchus and their maintenance.

The Manchus recognize they cannot continue in power without further financial aid, sufficient for the support of the army, while it is probable that even after the last treasure chest was emptied the Republicans would still be powerful. As a consequence the Manchu princes have decided not to disengage themselves from a liberal pension. They realize that a liberal pension may not be offered if the struggle is continued and the Republicans incensed.

The diplomatic representatives held a conference to-day with Brig.-Gen. E. Cooper, the British commander at Tientsin, and discussed with him his ability to keep open the Peking-Chang Wang Railway. It is believed that possible trouble in Peking was also taken under consideration.

Powers Support Premier. It is understood that the leading powers are ready to support Yuan Shi Kai, believing that he is the one strong leader capable of grappling with the situation, especially in view of the divisions among the Republican leaders. Despatches received to-day from the provinces report many murders and the looting and burning of houses, hundreds of women are committing suicide, in fear of bandits who are committing all kinds of atrocious crimes. The armistice will expire Jan. 15, and is therefore expected that abdication will be completed before that date. The place at Jehol has been sufficiently restored to accommodate the imperial entourage.

President May Resign

NANKING, Jan. 14.—(Can. Press).—President Sun Yat Sen received the news of the pending abdication of the emperor quietly. He said that he was pleased to learn that the first step towards the pacification and reorganization of the country had been taken. He anticipated some delay in the re-adjustment of affairs, and added that it was quite possible that Yuan Shi Kai might be the president of the new republic. He adhered to his declaration that he would resign when the Manchu Government has been ousted and restored completely restored throughout the country.

The first stage would necessitate a general amnesty which order could be secure, and the Republicans were determined that the old regime of corruption must be abolished, and the people of the empire be enabled to earn the full reward of their labor.

Armistice Extended

LONDON, Jan. 14.—(Can. Press).—According to a Shanghai despatch the armistice has been extended for two weeks to give the Manchus an opportunity to abdicate.

SPANISH CABINET HAS RESIGNED

Difference With King Alfonso Over Treatment of Murderer Led to Downfall—Radicals Dexterous.

MADRID, Jan. 14.—(Can. Press).—The Spanish cabinet of which Jose Canalejas Mendes was premier, resigned to-day. The cabinet resigned as the result of a divergence of views with King Alfonso as to the advisability of commuting the death sentence of one of the rioters, who murdered a judge and wounded several court officials in the Town of Cullera, Province of Valencia, last September. The general strike at that time in Valencia and other provinces involved a plot to assassinate General Weyer.

The trial of the strikers has engrossed public attention to the exclusion of all else, thanks to the skilful campaign of the radicals, who seized upon the affair as a weapon to attack the government, in the same way as they utilized the refusal to relieve Francisco Ferrer, director of the modern school, who was executed in 1909, to bring about the downfall of the Manchu cabinet. Realizing that it was a serious crime and that the accused men were impossible objects of sympathy, the radicals raised a false issue, accusing the government of all sorts of tortures and cruelties towards the prisoners. Consequently the agitation spread with great rapidity and caused grave concern to Premier Canalejas.

At Critical Time. The ministerial crisis at the moment of the Franco-Spanish negotiations in Morocco is of exceptional gravity, and the king has lost no time in consulting with the leading statesmen, in turn conferring with General Montero Rios, president of the Cortes; Ex-Premier Moret Prendergast, and Ex-Premier Maura, all of whom agreed that the Liberals should remain in power. They urged the king to try to prevail upon Seno Canalejas to return. The reprieve of the rioter Chiquet has had an excellent effect throughout the country, which yesterday was aroused when it was learned that the king and his ministry had failed to reach an agreement on that question.

APPLYING EMERGENCY MAY HAVE TOPPLED CAR

Government Inspector at Inquest States That Flats Worn on Wheels Indicated That if the Car Had Run Free Around Curve Accident Might Not Have Occurred.

Had Motorman Moore not tried to bring his car to a sudden stop by applying the emergency brake, but let the wheels revolve instead of skidding as they went around the curve, it is possible that the car would not have toppled over.

This was the opinion of D. M. Metcalf, inspector of boilers and machinery for the Ontario Government, who made a close examination of the fatal car which met with disaster at the corner of King and St. Lawrence-sts., Christmas Eve. Mr. Metcalf was placed in the witness box at the fifth sitting of the jury at the morgue on Saturday night, and in giving his evidence said that each of the eight wheels had flats—that is, places on the tread and groove which had been worn smooth or flat by skidding. This, he said, was done by the car having slid along the rail previous to the examination.

On being questioned regarding the distance the car must have gone to make the flats, he answered about 90

A Toronto Coup in Montreal

Canadian Northern Get a High-class Terminal in the Metropolis by a Real Estate Deal of Great Magnitude.

MONTREAL, Jan. 14.—(Special).—The fact that the Canadian Northern Railway is about to start to sell part of its 5000 acres of city real estate back of the mountain spells that the greatest real estate and railway terminal proposition that has ever been attempted in Canada is now about to be rushed to a rapid and successful accomplishment. The Canadian Pacific and the Grand Trunk set back and said the Mackenzie & Mann outfit could never find the millions to get into the centre of Montreal, and therefore they would not be a big factor in the mighty traffic that is concentrating on the St. Lawrence at this port.

The two old companies have spent or are spending fifty millions each for terminals, and they are getting the benefit of the other millions spent by the government for docks, basins, harbors, car tracks, river improvements. For a third railway to get the benefit of this it had to get into Montreal, and it meant millions to get there. Mackenzie & Mann could never get the money—it would keep them ten years more busy in building their track across the continent.

And now they are getting into Montreal in a quick and big way and the money—many millions—found and beginning to flow in—faster it is believed than they can spend it.

What was the method? Some of them say that if the mountain could be tunneled from the back, a right of way could be secured into the heart of the city. If the land at the other end of the tunnel could be bought cheap and the land connected up with the heart of the city by a ten minutes electric car service, then the land so bought could, part of it, be sold for enough to pay for everything—tunnel, station, river terminals, freight sheds, etc., and all in better position and more central than either of the Canadian Pacific or Grand Trunk!

English Capitalists Eager. This has been done. English capitalists took up gladly a real estate deal with a share in the profits—in a great city where they looked askance at railway securities. They put up the money for the purchase of 5000 acres, the land was got, the subdivisions are now under way; and it is believed that land that was bought for $2000 an acre, will retail for $10,000 upward an acre. And be cleaned up within a year.

A lot of the land has already been sold in Toronto to western land men, who are used to this business, and they are to come right into Montreal and start working off the property. They hope to sell more than half of it to outside investors. The band is about to play and the sale begin. Col. Davidson of Toronto seems to be the man who put this new and modern method of selling land into the situation. Sir Thomas Shaughnessy is having the thrills of his life from up the way to Toronto.

SEIZED FURS AT TIMAGAMI

Contraband Material Worth Over $1,000 Was About to be Shipped to Toronto.

NORTH BAY, Ont., Jan. 14.—(Can. Press).—An important capture of contraband fur was effected this afternoon at Timagami, when skins to the value of over $1000 were confiscated and the dealer caught red-handed with the goods. The round-up was made by Chief Inspector Caudbeck of Cobalt and Provincial Constable Jerry LeFebvre, following up well grounded suspicions that Timagami was the centre of a thriving trade in illicit furs.

O. Parent, who lives at Timagami, was the man under suspicion, and a man was sent down to make a deal with him for furs if possible, under cover of being in the contraband business himself. Parent fell into the trap and had the furs at the station this afternoon to ship to Toronto, when Chief Caudbeck and Constable LeFebvre stepped on the train and gathered him in, furs and all, bringing the outfit to North Bay.

The skins captured included 61 beaver, 43 mink, 61 muskrat, 46 weasel, beaver, otter and skunk skins. Parent will come up for trial tomorrow morning before Magistrate Weegar and Game Warden Parks.

FIREMAN TOSSED OFF CAR TO ROAD

Samuel Ridout, Thrown in Collision With Trolley to Top of Vestibule, Drops Beneath Wheels—May Die

As the Wilton-avenue hose reel sped down Sackville-street on Saturday night to an east end fire it was struck by an eastbound King-street car. Fireman Samuel Ridout, 140 Victor-avenue, was hurled off the str and striking the roof of the front vestibule, was thrown against the rear wheel of the wagon; from there he rolled onto the roadway and only by very quick action was he able to save his left arm, which fell between the trucks and would have been severed within another second. Ridout was taken to his home in the ambulance, aka yesterday it was feared that his injuries would possibly prove fatal. The back of his head was badly cut, and his spine and internal organs injured.

Driver McDonald was also thrown to the ground. His arm was badly bruised. Dr. Kidd attended the two men before they were removed to their homes. Ridout was in a somewhat similar accident five or six years ago. The trolley's biggy, which he was driving, was struck by a street car, the chief thrown across in front of the car and on the devil strip, and Ridout on the road. Both were unhurt.

The fire was small. When the car struck the wagon it broke the cup off one of the wheels. The department hopes that the one who picked this cup up will return it. A cup was lost off one of the wagons from Lombard-street a few days ago. The firemen would like to see this returned also.

LET US DO BUSINESS.

Toronto has a lot of questions to settle. Some can be settled at once; others take time; others have to wait things got out of the way before they can be approached. And yet they must all be tackled.

The wise thing for our municipal powers is to push on, clearing the deck wherever it can be done. If a question can be settled settle it. There's the question of the annexation of North Toronto. A resolution of the Board of Control and of the Council finishes that for all time. It gets out of the way. No more tranches can be created. The question of a good road on Yonge-street follows. We begin to make progress in commencing the street car franchise (other than the Toronto Railway) now on our streets. We start at once to get two great new streets parallel of Yonge. The property taken in will certainly stand an assessment that will pay its way.

Have Mayor Geary and the Board of Control the initiative and the policy, the business capacity to handle this question at once and get it out of the way? That's a test of their capacity. We expect something from Controller McCarthy.

We have elected these men and they are under the paper and the policy, let us get these things off salary to do business. Let us get these things off the paper as fast as we can. And let us get some one thing off the paper every week.

Business, gentlemen, and as fast as you can handle it.

DROVERS AND PACKERS.

Drover and meat packers have agreed for years the paper and the policy, let us get these things off the paper as fast as we can. And let us get some one thing off the paper every week.

What is wanted at the drovers' meeting to-day is to get the issue down to the narrowest limits and then see if it can't be fixed up.

GRAND TRUNK RY TO INVADE BOSTON

Permission to Build Line to Worcester and to Own and Operate Steamers Also Sought—Canada Will Get Benefit of Freight Transportation From West.

BOSTON, Jan. 13.—(Can. Press).—The Grand Trunk Railway to-day petitioned the general court for authority to construct lines into Boston and Worcester, and to own and operate steamships within the jurisdiction of the commonwealth.

In a general way the road desires to connect into Boston by two routes. One is from Blackstone, Mass., on the line of the Southern New England Railroad, which the Grand Trunk has secured authority to build into Providence from Palmer, where connection is established with the Central Vermont, a Grand Trunk subsidiary. The other route to Boston desired is from Bellows Falls, Vt., on the line of the Central Vermont, across New Hampshire and thru Middlesex County in Massachusetts.

In addition the petition asks for authority to construct a line connecting the Southern New England road with Worcester by a branch line beginning at Douglas.

Accepted Invitation.

No details are given in the statement issued to-night by a representative of the Grand Trunk as to the terms through which it is proposed to run the new lines. The action is declared to be taken in response to the unanimous invitation extended to the Grand Trunk last year by the Massachusetts Legislature, by the municipal authorities of Boston and by a large number of commercial bodies and generally by the people of New England.

No authority has been obtained in New Hampshire for the building of the line thru that state and no proceedings to that end have been begun as yet.

Will Benefit Canada.

A Central Vermont official, discussing changes, especially the extension of the Central Vermont lines into New England manufacturing districts, said that the changes would be of great value to the Grand Trunk and Canada. The trend of traffic being largely east and west on this continent, it is evidently the desire of the Grand Trunk-Central Vermont management to capture as much of this trade as possible, and carry it thru Canada in all directions, and wearing out Canadian railroads, instead of allowing it to pass between the east and west thru the States.

A goodly percentage of the products of the mills of the east goes to the western states, while a great deal of western products goes to the New England states. It is stated that with its splendid double track line from the southern boundary of Quebec to Chicago, the Grand Trunk is physically able to handle considerably more traffic than it now receives, and these extensions and expansions in all directions are with a view to providing traffic for the entire system.

TORONTO'S ANCIENT LANDMARKS.

There are three physical landmarks that were on Toronto when it was founded by Governor Simcoe, and they are on hand today, and they influence the growth or check the growth of the metropolis more than anything else.

1. The one and only one crossing of the Don at the east end. Everything had to come down to the one street and the one point. The Bloor-street viaduct put a second and more central portal a mile and a quarter to the north and on the upper grade. That's good for 30,000 people more.

2. The fact that there was only a single similar entrance at the west, the bridge over the Humber at its mouth. The nearest bridge up is at Lambton. Toronto was another central portal a mile and a quarter to the north and on the upper grade. That's good for 30,000 people more. This is what Home Smith is groping after and he is on the right track. Perhaps he is after a fortune for his company at the same time. But is that a crime?

When these two portals are built and connected by a straight Humber and Danforth-avenue—Simcoe Road—Toronto will have a sudden and wonderful bursting of her bonds.

3. Hogg's Hollow and the other hollows that were south of it on Yonge-street. The Tanney Hollow, Galloway Hill, the Cemetery Hollow and Hogg's Hollow. When these hollows are filled in Toronto will break her bonds to the north. All is clear sailing after that for 30,000 more.

If you are talking about making Toronto a city of a million here are the three points where the jamba has to be broken.

And our Vice Yorkers haven't found it out. Is Mayor Geary a big enough man to see it? We hope he is.

End of Newmarket Canal

OTTAWA, Jan. 14.—(Special).—The order in council marking formal abandonment of the Newmarket Canal as a public work has not yet been passed by the government, but it is before council and will, without doubt, be put into effect.

The amount spent on the canal by the earlier government reached close on to the three-quarters of a million mark, despite repeated protests from the then opposition.

VINEGAR WORKS BURNED LOSS REACHES $20,000

Firemen Had Sharp Battle With Flames—Factory Likely to Be Rebuilt.

HAMILTON, Jan. 14.—(Special.)—Fire destroyed the plant and building of the Dominion Vinegar Works at 41 Stuart-street west Saturday afternoon. About $2000 of the stock was saved. The loss will be about $20,000. Insurance to the amount of only $8000 was carried on the business. P. H. Yepp, owner of the vinegar works, stated to-night that the plant would probably be rebuilt. The temporary use of the old customs house building has been secured, in which to carry on the business in the meantime. The cause of the fire is not known, but Mr. Yepp thinks it started from the furnace, as there was no other fire in the building. There was no one in the place when the fire started, and it was not discovered until three o'clock yesterday afternoon, at which time it was burning. The firemen had hard work in containing with the flames, and it was six o'clock before they were extinguished. Joseph Pecker, a fireman attached to the Bay-street station, fell thru one of the floors while fighting the fire and was badly shaken up, but not seriously injured.

Small Blazes. An overheated stove set fire to the frame house at 23 Chatham-street yesterday afternoon and did $200 damage. Another blaze at 117 King-street west at five p.m. Saturday, destroyed a valuable painting, and at 7:50 o'clock this morning the firemen were called to a small fire, which did little damage.

VADUCT AND BOARD OF CONTROL RECOUNT TO-DAY

At 10 a.m. to-day a recount of the vote on the Bloor-street viaduct by-law and the board of control contest will commence before Judge Winchester in the city hall. The final result will in all probability be known within two days. It will be remembered that the viaduct was only beaten by 59 votes, according to the official figures of the city clerk. The figures compiled unofficially at the night of the election, however, showed a large majority for the viaduct. It is scarcely likely that the recount will result in any change in the board of control contest. Ex-Controller Spence, who asked for the recount, was the fifth man in the race, being 226 votes behind Controller Church. Last year Mr. Spence obtained 280 more votes than Controller Church.

HE REUSED CHAMPAGNE.

At a dinner party the other evening a hostess was much surprised to notice that one of her guests, a well-known "bon vivant," refused champagne and asked if he might have a little red and Radnor. He explained, however, that he found that Radnor Water bottled so delicious with Canadian whiskey that he preferred it to any other beverage.

SLIPS INTO BOILING WATER

William Murphy, an employee of the Police Ice works, fell into the boiler while working in the Toronto Star Building on Saturday night. He was several feet above the boiler when he slipped and found it necessary to empty the water out of the boiler tank into a hole in the floor. A few minutes afterwards Murphy missed his footing and stepped into the boiling water. He was rescued in the city ambulance to his home.

PORTUGAL KING TO MISSIONARIES.

LISBON, Jan. 13.—(Can. Press.)—The government announces that the American, German and British missionaries will be allowed to remain in Portuguese East Africa. This decision was taken after conferences had been held with the diplomatic representatives of these three countries here. Portugal, however, has decided to establish its own missions in Africa, to counterbalance the influence of foreign missionaries.

LINER SHEATHED IN ICE.

HALIFAX, Jan. 14.—With her forward deck and hull covered with ice two feet thick, the Italian liner "Città di Genova" for Philadelphia via St. John's, Nfld., put in the port this morning. She was four days out on the route from St. John's, which should have been made in 48 hours.

WOMEN BOOBY TRAP IN SUNDAY SLIDING

All Records Broken at Hills Asserts Rev. C. O. Johnston, Yesterday—Minor Mishaps and Serious Injuries Spoil Pleasures of Many.

All records were broken at the High Park slides on Sunday afternoon, when 15,000 tobogganers were on hand to take advantage of the hills, which were never in better condition. All day long a procession of tobogganers could be seen shooting down the icy incline, and traveling across the slender pond. About three o'clock in the afternoon the crowd was at its largest. This meant fewer rides as every toboggan had to wait its turn, but in spite of the eagerness of the crowd the best of order prevailed. At night, as usual, the slides were lit up by the hydro lights and the white sweater and toque cap contingents were again on hand in record numbers. Six policemen were in charge at High Park, and the other slides had similar supervision.

Rev. C. O. Johnston began last night at West Queen-street Methodist Church, a series of sermons, to show the truth of Protestantism, and in the course of the evening he read the oath subscribed to the Jesuits read by him on the preceding Sunday night. Every pew was packed. Chairs were added around the altar, and the Rev. C. O. Johnston's text was: "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free" (St. John 8: 32). The world, he said, has always needed, and now needs, above everything else, the truth. In the false and misleading there is always disaster, however accommodating for the moment it may appear to be.

The greatest duty of the Christian church to-day is to Christianize Christianity. I do not say where the errors are, but I do say that whatever the truth is, the truth shall make you free and the truth shall set you free. We have been challenged to find and to show the truth, and I stand to do so, at whatever cost. I have no ill-will to any man of any creed, or church. They are my neighbors, my fellow citizens. But the truth is the truth, and I am bound to speak and not to keep silence. Much has been made of the fact that I did not hold in my hand the original when I read the Jesuit's oath last Sunday night. You do not suppose I would have read it without knowing the authority which was behind it? I will prove it true by the theologies of the Jesuits themselves, and will reproduce every single item of that oath as it is found in their theologies.

The Eucharistic Congress. "Last year there was a great gathering in Montreal changing Protestants, and exalting that which Protestants cannot accept, and daily offensive decried in the Protestant press. At that time men and women with wide open eyes protested with their hearts if not with their voices. I am a Protestant Methodist from scalp to heel" (Hear, hear, and hand-clapping). "I will prefer that you say amen to what I say without that kind of demonstration." Father Vaughan spoke of Montreal as the Rome of Canada, and of a soulless Protestantism, the congress went out on the platform, and Spain has been fighting, and as Mexico is beginning to fight for its liberty. Romanism makes the priest a church and the wifer a God.

Letter Offered $3000. "I have had sent to me a perfectly innocent oath as the oath of the Jesuits, but no man could out of his own heart have committed the treason and been charged up against them. They are long to answer in the press every challenge published in the newspapers, unless it is some of their own kind. I have received a letter offering $3000 and 30 questions to Roman Catholics offering $100 for proof of the truth of the oath of the Jesuits. I have paid attention to it. I do not seek to humiliate anyone, but I find that Jesuit theologians, Ballouin and Palmer, say this: 'Just cause ambiguity and equivocation are permissible under oath.' These words mean falsehood," you know, "remarked the preacher. "If that is the theology, if under oath such is permissible, how can I accept what a Jesuit says when not under oath?"

One word regarding the no temere decree. Years ago there came out from the Roman Catholic Church Rev. Father Chintony, one of the bravest men who ever breathed, and it was after 50 years of the knowledge of that church. They followed him with devotion. He was honorably married, he had children and he passed in eternity honored by all who knew him in Canada and Europe. "What he the temere done? Within the last month it has declared, thru one of its writers, that the daughter of Father Chintony is illegitimate." "As God Himself must die in Canada" (Anon.)

NEW ROTARY ENGINES INVENTED PERIODICALLY. Then Discarded as Impracticable—Prof. Angus on Production of Steam Power. R. W. Angus, professor of mechanical engineering at Toronto University, was the speaker at the regular weekly meeting of the Canadian Institute on Saturday night, and delivered an instructive and interesting address on "Steam Engines." Aided by lantern slides, Prof. Angus illustrated the progress of various inventions of steam engines from the Newcomen and Stevenson type of 1769, to the many varieties of reciprocating engines; the rotary engine and the more modern types of turbine engines. He spoke in rather discouraging terms of all types of rotary engines, with the exception of the Tesla type, he contended that the friction was so great as to cause rapid wearing of the parts and consequent escaping of steam and heavy expense. Of the Tesla type, he could say little, as that was a new invention, the proficiency of which was more or less unknown. The other rotary engines he thought would never have been invented had the prospective inventors considered it from a scientific standpoint; a curious fact, how-

THE T. EATON CO. LIMITED

Prof. H. C. Perrin The Music of Shakspeare

A brilliant lecture on the music of Shakspeare was given by Prof. Perrin of McGill University on Saturday afternoon in the physical building. Prof. Perrin supplied piano and vocal illustrations, singing in a charmingly sweet and natural voice. Prof. Perrin was going to speak on "The Language of Music," but the sleeping-car porter mistook his grip and he was unable to obtain duplicates of his material, and so he gave the Shakspeare lecture. President Falconer in introducing the lecturer spoke of the advantage McGill had over Toronto in possessing a chair of music. Prof. Perrin confined himself to Shakspeare and music in dealing with his subject. Few literary men had had sufficient knowledge of music and its historical development to deal with the subject adequately. Prof. Perrin had lived for a number of years at Coventry in the vicinity of Stratford-on-Avon, and thus had many opportunities to become familiar with the country. He was not a Baconian, he stated, and if there were any such present, he trusted they would excuse him if he held to the view that the plays were really Shakspeare's. Those familiar with Stratford must feel, he thought, that the river there had furnished the inspiration for a passage he read from "The Two Gentlemen of Verona." The centre of England was rich in folk lore, and Warwickshire must have been well acquainted with the series of miracle plays of the time. Music frequently furnishes subject for witticisms and supplies also many analogies. A student of music can find much musical information of an historical character in the plays. Royal Music-ans. Henry VIII was a good musician, and a Venetian ambassador described him as speaking five languages, played on nearly every instrument and was a capable composer. One of his anthems is still sung in the English cathedrals. One of his wives, Anne Boleyn, was a good musician, and a piece of her composition, a "Lament" still survives. Edward VI, according to his diary, was a musician, and both Queen Mary and Queen Elizabeth were musical. It was customary for a guest to take a part in singing after supper, and not to be able to do so was regarded as a mark of low breeding. Drayton, in the "Polyolbion," mentions the lute, the viol, the gamba, the cithern, the sackbut, the recorder, flute, pandora, gittern, kit, a pocket violin; the cornet, an early oboe; the pipe and tabor; and the fiddle. Many had sought to prove that Shakspeare had been a soldier, a musical practitioner, a Biblical scholar, a Puritan, and a Roman Catholic. Prof. Perrin thought he might claim him as a professional musician. His knowledge was certainly thoro, and it shows that he was a unique mind, not to be measured by ordinary standards. Viewed from a psychological standpoint, the student would find that he fully realized the influence of music upon the mind. A passage in the "Taming of the Shrew" showed the writer's skill in verbal puzzles. "I am the ground of all accord. A-re to plead Hortensius's passion. B-mi Blanca, take him for thy lord. C-f-a-u-t that loves with all affection. D-sol-re ote cliff, two notes have I. E-la-mi show pity, or I die. Shakspeare knew how to divide the two parts. Geometry, astronomy and arithmetic were reckoned with music in the hexachord of the Guido-ganot, which as the four physical sciences which a man had to know to be educated. He refers in "Pericles" to the Pythagorean theory of the harmony of the spheres. In "The Merchant of Venice" is another reference, "while this muddy vesture doth close it in we cannot bear it." Musical Dialog. In "Two Gentlemen of Verona," Julia and Luocetta carry on a dialog full of musical witticisms, and the tune, "Light o' Love" is mentioned. Instruments mentioned by Shakspeare are the lute, which was like the present mandolin, played with the fingers; the viol, with six strings, tuned in tenor, contralto or soprano, and with six strings to bow, more difficult than the violin; the virginal, which was played by a jack plucking the strings instead of striking them as in the piano; the recorder, notably in "Hamlet"; the drum and fife, used rather loosely as in the "Merchant of Venice," when pipe and tabor are intended; the "wry-necked fife," which refers to the player and not to the instrument. Prof. Perrin sang and played several of the airs mentioned by Shakspeare. "Light o' Love" dated from before 1670. The tune of "Greensleeves" is mentioned in "The Merry Wives of Windsor." Four popular tunes are alluded to in "Twelfth Night," "Peg o' Ramsey," which, with words from 1719, proved to be a seductive air, and "Three Merry Men," words from 1695; and "There Dwait, a Man in Babylon." "Do Me no Harm" is referred to in "The Winter's Tale." Words that appeared in 1675 were evidently intended for this time, and may have been the original ones. A pavan, "St. Thomas' Wake" by Dr. John Bull, published in 1611, was also played by Prof. Perrin. In "Twelfth Night" several other dances are mentioned, the galliard, the coranto and the jig. The galliard was the pavan played in three-time in the stead of four-time. One of the old dance tunes proved to be a very familiar church hymn tune, used on Palm Sunday. Early Song Books. The canary, the jig, and other dance-forms were illustrated. "Lady Cary's Dump," a slow and sad measure, not "a merry dump" as Shakspeare satirically says. John Playford's "Select Airs," published between 1668 and 1688, has 200 airs, but only two settings of songs found in Shakspeare. "Take, O Take Those Lips Away," by Dr. Wilson, was one of these, and "Where the Bee Sucks," the other. Arnone's setting of a century later to the same words was also sung. The "Willow Willow" song, whose words are used by Verdi and Rossini, was given in a setting of Shakspearian date. "Orpheus With His Lute," said to be by John Fletcher, the ascribed to Shakspeare, had been set at least 23 times, 14 times as a song. Prof. Perrin also spoke of the operas from Othello and Romeo alone inspired by the plays, and the incidental music written from time to time for the plays. In Henry IV, Part I, Act IV, Scene I, in "Pericles" and in "King Lear," Shakspeare gives his view of the effect of music. In the line "His jarring concord and his discord dulcet," Prof. Perrin thought he anticipated the modern tendency to relate chords together which were not harmoniously related. A vote of thanks was moved by Prof. Wright and Dr. Voet. The latter said that England, in Elizabeth's time, had Scotch Curlers Resting.

MONTREAL, Jan. 15.—The Scottish curlers spent the first quiet time this morning since they have been here, and most of them expressed "much thanks" for the respite. They got down to work again this afternoon when the Strathcona matches were played on the ice of the Caledonia Curling Club. This evening the visitors will be taken to see what some hockey enthusiasts told them would be a "real game," and that is the match between Ottawa and the Canadians at the arena.

Note and Comment

T. Rennie wins the single-rink championship for 1914, and this places Granites a tie with Queen City for the Canada Life Trophy at three wins each.

The final was a splendidly-played contest. The curling was well up to the standard of any final. Skip Armstrong and his men were terrific.

There was nothing spectacular in the sixteen ends. Both sides played the clear game, and not a stone was hogged during the contest.

But Skip Armstrong would not permit of any runaway race, and even the last head, when five down, he was building up nicely for the necessary shots.

A comparison of the records of the final competitors is interesting. The first time Parkdale to have a shade on the Granites, Armstrong had a fraction more points himself.

Table with 2 columns: Name, Points. Lists records for S. H. Armstrong and T. Rennie.

Table with 2 columns: Name, Points. Lists records for T. Rennie and S. H. Armstrong.

The record of winners shows that Tom Rennie's Granites are the first to repeat, and apart from this, not a player appears twice in the honor roll.

Following is the record: SINGLE-RINK RECORD. 1904-Granites, City.

1905-Granites, City. 1906-Queen City. 1907-Queen City.

1908-Granites, City. 1909-Granites, City. 1910-Granites, City.

The original single-rink trophy, the Walker Gold Vase, was won by the Canadians, they leading the final five times in nine years.

In 1905 there was no trophy, but the clubs curled all the final five times.

Tom Rennie's rink lost the opening game they played to Parkdale in the tankard primary, Wilson pulling them out.

Eatons Have Speed On Parkdale and Win in Good Style

WEST TORONTO, Jan. 14.-Over 1500 spectators watched the Senior O. H. A. game between Eatons and Parkdale at the Ravina rink on Saturday night.

Parkdale were unfortunate in having one of the best men off last night, Riddpath being on the sick list.

The first fifteen minutes of play was not a very exciting game, but the try to form an estimate of their opponents.

The second half saw a new sea of all thru. Both teams played their hardest, and the penalties were more numerous.

Referee-Allan Ringer, Preston. Goal umpires-Richardson and Lane.

The result of this game leaves rather a mix-up in the senior league. T. A. C. beat Eatons, Parkdale beat Stratford.

The Argonauts were considerably weakened by the absence of Murphy and Gordon, but, nevertheless, put up the gamest kind of a battle.

From O. H. A. Headquarters, The Whitty Juniors, who played home-and-home games with Oshawa in the O.H.A. series, and being exactly 50 goals behind, the scores having been 59 to 1 and 23 to 1, it has been decided to default the remaining two games with Oshawa.

It has been mutually arranged between Mitchell and Goderich to exchange dates of games scheduled for this week, owing to counter attractions, which would deprive gate receipts, which would now play in Goderich on the 15th, and the 19th.

Kingston Seniors Give Argonauts A Bad Beating

The Senior Kingston Frontenacs sprung quite a surprise on the hockey world on Saturday night, when they defeated the Argonauts at the Excelsior rink by 5-2.

While Jim Sutherland can always be depended upon to trot out a pretty fair team, no matter in which series, nobody for a minute thought he had a bunch of speed artists bottled up, as he trotted out on the College-street rink on Saturday.

The boys from the prison town started with the whistle and did not stop till they were told the game was over.

Business Men's League

The first series of the Business Men's League was finished at the Toronto Bowling Club Saturday night, when Woods-Norris (Limited) won two out of three games from A. T. Reid. Reid had a little improvement on their last performance, and will have to strengthen up if they intend to be in the running during the second series, which opens to-night. Jim Curry for Woods-Norris, was high roller for the night, with 511, and also showed such steady improvement that some of the cracks will have to look well after their pins during the coming series. After their pins during the night, Reid made "Pop" feel proud of him, especially in the last two games, when he had his spitter working, putting in counts around the 130 mark, and finishing second, Company, "Pop" was again the big noise, and, besides being a good second for three high games, with 512, featured the night's rolling with a 222 count in the middle game.

ABOUT THE HYDRO-ELECTRIC.

The Mail and Empire has taken to the dangerous course of arguing the question of the hydro-electric commission, and Sir James Whitney will spray to be delivered from such friends. The Mail and Empire, which was but a laggard in love for the system when Hon. Adam Beck and his friends were fighting for its life, now takes the view that as the government provides the money, the government should control the spending of it. We are not concerned to defend the ability and integrity of the government in such a matter. That question has never been raised. But the Mail and Empire either thru ignorance or policy is trying to whittle away the sole basis of the commission's existence.

The government distinctly declined to supply money for the municipalities for the purposes of the hydro-electric commission. What the government agreed to do was to lend the credit of the government on the security of the municipalities for the money required. But the money is a first charge on the municipalities, and it is on their undertaking to meet all the charges, and provide for the discharge of all the bonds that the government consented to act. The commission is therefore, a joint trustee for the municipalities and the government. It is just as well to bear this in mind before the vapourings of The Mail and Empire come to be accepted as gospel among the politicians.

The point has a bearing on Mr. Rowell's shift position. And now that The Star has committed Mr. Rowell and itself to their present position it will do no harm to remind them that Mr. MacKay's position is quite inconsistent with theirs. Mr. MacKay wanted the government to assume the responsibility and buy water powers and electrical development plants, and to distribute power at flat rates, and do all the other things a politician, as distinguished from a business man, might want to do with an eye to votes, and the most favored locally doctrine. Now are we to have two leaders in the Ontario opposition, one a flat rater, and the other not so flat, or has the flat rater given up his heresy and come into the fold? We may have to wait till the session opens, and perhaps the opposition has decided that if they cannot smite Sir James on one cheek with sufficient force they will try the other one at the same time and trust to catch him with a double punch.

We believe Sir James was more anxious to do justice to Hon. Adam Beck than he was to change the machinery of the commission. Sir James has made no statement yet and we are content to wait till he does. We believe it will be at least more logical, and consistent than anything The Mail and Empire or The Star has proposed by way of explanation. If Sir James' objective point was Hon. Adam Beck we feel sure that point will not be lost sight of, and if he satisfies public anticipation on this score the alleged retreat and change of front with which Mr. Rowell so easily consoles himself will be seen to be so much opposition stuff.

Perhaps Mr. Rowell can explain why he starts out on his political career by adopting the methods of a petty attorney before a not too intelligent jury. It will take bigger things than this to move the people of Ontario, and he has distinctly lost ground by such a resort by the amateur tactics of the back-benchers. He does not even appear to be aware that he was making an attack upon Hon. Adam Beck, the idol. It is not too much to say, of the people of Ontario. Mr. Rowell will not reach the heart of Ontario over Mr. Beck's body.

MAETERLINCK'S BLUE BIRD.

It is written in one of the great symbol mysteries that the kings of the earth should bring their glory into the great city, and a picture of the city in its desolation in spite of all its former greatness and wealth, and another picture of its majesty and beauty which it retained true and pure, are given, and of the perfection and magnificence of the last it is said that the kings of the earth should bring the glory and honor of the nations into it. And the first city was only regretted by the merchants because it bought no more of their merchandise, but the everlasting city was notable for quite other treasures.

The English-speaking people have a wonderful and magical city in their language. It is built up of all the precious stones of the earth, from the great continents, and the seven seas and the isles of the oceans. The treasures of the ages are stored in it, and the kings of the earth bring their honor and glory into it. If it might be written of it as of the city of light that there shall in no wise enter into it anything that defileth, or worketh abomination, or maketh a lie, then might it last forever.

These are by no means too extravagant thoughts to be suggested by the performances of "The Blue Bird" going on at present at the Royal Alexandra Theatre. Maurice Maeterlinck is one of the kings of the earth, and he has brought the honor and glory of his nation into the English tongue. Nourished in mysticism in the writings of Ruysbroeck he early joined the band of writers who are once again teaching the world that the soul is more than food and the body than raiment. Our own James Barrie has made many excursions into the wonderland of the imagination, and Maeterlinck has acknowledged the inspiration he found for the "Blue Bird" in the story of Peter Pan. There is more of the poet in Maeterlinck, and he has had the cooperation of a charming spirit in Madame Maeterlinck, whose assistance one can divine in many of the scenes of the exquisite play.

It is a pity every child in the city could not see it. It is a pity that every father and mother could not see it. Only fathers and mothers and children will really understand it. The other selfish people will keep wondering what it is all about. But even they must be impressed with the exquisite beauty of the spectacle, and the ingenuity of the staging, and the charm of the clever children who act, and the lovely music, and the sense of a larger life.

It is a quaint fancy to face with one, but there is more truth in it than most of us are willing to admit. The Allan Upward has argued a soul into the kinetic molecule, and the argument stands. But to see Dog and Cat and Bread and Milk and Fire and Water all in their proper character on the stage is something not to be forgotten. And what a wonderful scene it is in the graveyard, where the terror of the little girl is the terror of hundreds of thousands of little children all over the land. "I don't want to see the dead! I don't want to see them!" is the child's cry, and that of many an adult. And the climax is of infinite beauty, "where are the dead?" "There are no dead."

Another exquisite scene is that of the common joys—the happiness of Being Well, of Pure Air, of Loving Parents, of the Blue Sky and of Spring. And the four great joys follow, of Understanding, of Being Just, of Seeing What is Beautiful, of Love of Parents. Perhaps it is in the land of the unborn children and in the land of memory that the deepest pathos of the piece is manifest. The hearts that can withstand these appeals are indeed unbreakable. But the whole enchanting series of scenes cannot but move all who see them to a profounder sense of the beauty and wonder of life.

MAY YET SUCCEED.

"The Star finds it impossible to quote The World correctly." Not impossible, but difficult. Thus our sprightly contemporary. But with practice The Star should find it not so difficult to adhere to the formula familiar to those who take the oath in courts of law. After the recent election campaigns, it is no matter for surprise that The Star finds the habit of accuracy difficult, but if it is really in earnest, success is possible. The worse vice may be conquered.

SCIENTIFIC MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT.

Objection is taken in certain quarters to civic government by commission because it is opposed to the British representative system. Nothing has been offered in support of this very vague statement, which indeed for its publication presupposes a misunderstanding of what commission government really means. As the members of the commissions, as these exist in the United States, are elected directly by the people for limited terms, under charters that provide for the initiative, referendum and recall, it is plain that they are just as representative as city councils elected by the people for limited terms. Nor can a conference on the electors of the right to initiate legislation, to pass upon legislation or to remove unsatisfactory commissioners be properly held as derogatory from the representative system. All that it does is to extend the control of the citizens over their representatives and the measures they pass in that capacity or in other words to make civic government more democratic in its character.

Evidence accumulating that the cities of the United States, which have adopted commission government, are well satisfied with the results of their experiment. Mayor McBride of the City of Paterson, N.J., recently gave strong testimony to the advantages that have come to it since it changed to the commission form of government. At a recent meeting of the New Jersey gave it as his opinion that the country is entering upon an age of scientific efficiency and that this must be introduced into its systems of municipal government. His idea of the best form is a simplified government "wherein exists the concentration of authority and responsibility." That is the secret of successful business management and the running of the executive departments of a city is a business demanding an ability and experience at least equal to that required by the largest private concerns. Nothing detracts more from efficiency than division of responsibility, rendered all the more obnoxious and detrimental when responsibility is shared by a council elected by wards and anxious to use their influence to sustain their local popularity. The system repeatedly urged by The World is, we believe, that best adapted to Canadian conditions and to secure efficient municipal administration.

PRUDENT PREPARATION IN YEARS OF PROSPERITY

"In your prosperity to-day remember that lean years must come."—Monetary Times. The prudent man prepares for the lean years by husbanding his resources during the years of plenty. The easiest, simplest and safest way to do this is to deposit regularly such portion of your income as is not immediately required in a strong and elastic institution like the Canada Permanent, where it will be available when wanted, and in the meantime will be earning interest. Or, all your receipts may be deposited, and your payments made by cheque.

SHEEP INDUSTRY IN CANADA.

In July, 1910, the Dominion department of agriculture appointed Messrs. W. A. Dryden and W. T. Ritch, as special commissioners, to investigate the wool and mutton industries of Canada as compared with those of the United Kingdom and the United States. The investigation in Canada was made province by province, numerous farms were visited and direct information obtained thru small meetings arranged thru provincial officials in advance. Many useful suggestions were gathered in the United States, of which the most important appeared to be the comprehensive experiment undertaken in connection with the marketing of wool. About three months were spent in studying conditions and methods in Great Britain, particularly in the light of the possibility of establishing a permanent market there for surplus Canadian wool and mutton, in the event of a prospective advance in the production of these commodities in the Dominion.

The commissioners' report, just issued from the office of the veterinary director general of the live stock commissioner at Ottawa, is of a highly important and interesting character. It is believed to be by far the most exhaustive treatise which has yet appeared in Canada relative to the raising of sheep and the production of wool, and is of special value in view of the indifference manifested by too many Canadian farmers towards sheep raising. In the three final chapters of their report, the commissioners present a summary of the results of the whole investigation, and make many recommendations, which, if adopted, would, in their opinion, conduce to the encouragement and development of the sheep industry. The report is now available for distribution, and a copy may be obtained upon application to the live stock commissioner, department of agriculture, Ottawa.

ROYAL BANK OF CANADA.

As the result of its last year's trading, the net profits earned by the Royal Bank of Canada crossed the million dollar mark. After the usual deductions and necessary allowances, they reached $1,182,249, an increase of no less than $209,912 over those of the previous year and equal to 18.3 per cent. on the $6,200,000 of capital stock. This and the other details given in the forty-second annual statement, which appears elsewhere in this issue of The World, affords another indication of the remarkable character of the year 1911, as it has been disclosed in the reports of the larger banking institutions of the country.

The statement, published to-day, shows that the Royal Bank has experienced a wonderfully prosperous year. Deposits increased by upwards of $16,000,000, the total now standing at $88,294,000. Commercial loans amounted to $59,648,000, being 67.5 per cent. of the deposit. Evidence of the excellent and conservative management is afforded by the fact that the readily available assets amount to $47,738,000, or 54 per cent. of the total liabilities to the public, while the actual cash on hand, balances on deposit with other banks and call loans in New York and London, Eng., exceed 22 per cent. of the same liabilities. It is no less significant that the total assets increased from $62,510,000 to $110,528,000 during the year.

ANGLICANS BEGIN BIG MISSION CAMPAIGN

Local Clergy Yesterday Preached First of Series of Foreign Aid Sermons.

Toronto Anglican clergy yesterday began a series of three Sundays of missionary sermons in connection with the laymen's objective of $20,000 of missionary contributions to Toronto to the Church of England, in Canada, mission fund. Rev. Dr. Taylor, Y.M.C.A. secretary at Shanghai was the speaker at St. Paul's Church, Bloor-street, yesterday morning, in which he gave a vivid portrayal of the changes in China as certain to open up that empire in the near future, to missionaries, more than ever.

At St. Alban's Cathedral the preachers were, Rev. Canon McEwen and Rev. S. H. W. Hornbrook. John W. Woods of New York, general secretary of foreign missions of the Episcopal Church in the United States, and Dr. Taylor, Y.M.C.A. secretary, will be the chief speakers at the annual banquet of the Anglican Laymen at St. James' Cathedral Parish Hall next Thursday evening.

THE FARMER'S SON'S OPPORTUNITY.

One reason why so many boys leave the farm for the city is that of the income of the father to take the boy into his confidence and make clear to him that he is not merely a "helper of hands" on the farm, but that he is in full partnership with him and has a personal interest in the success of the work.

Those of us who were raised on the farm know of course, that it would be practically impossible for the father alone to demonstrate this to his son by a cash consideration, but if the father's disaffection are not to be planted, some greater consideration for the son's services will have to be made than that of merely board and clothing.

If, say, the son knew that he would receive even a small share of the proceeds from the sale of a pig, or a lamb, or a cow or a horse, to do with as he might like, to save or to spend, we believe, speaking from experience, that the arrangement would be mutually advantageous.

The son does not like to feel under the obligation of going to his father's farm, and he does not like to see some expenditure, and, besides, he should be in a position to lay up something for the "rainy day."

The needs of a quarter of a century ago are not the needs of the present day; nor did the boys of that time have the same facilities for investment as the boys now have at our door.

For example, a payment of $12-10, and continued until he is 50, will give him an annuity of $215.20 for life, if the annuity is continued until 60, he will receive $355.73, or over $120 a year more than he would receive at 60. The same annuity could be purchased for a boy under age at 10, and he would receive $100 more than he would receive at 60.

ONE WAY OF GETTING AROUND THE LAW.

Responding to the appeals of thousands of night workers who have to leave their homes at midnight, the council of Chicago passed an ordinance aimed particularly at the fruit pedlars, and decreed that they should not cry their wares anywhere within the city limits. Most of these pedlars, says Youth's Companion, are Greeks, and some of them paid no attention to the new regulation. Officers arrested several, and took them before the police courts, where they were either fined or reprimanded, and discharged on their parole.

A policeman in plain clothes, white stroiling along his beat one morning, heard a stentorian voice shouting "Banano-o-o!" He proceeded to investigate. A fruit-pedlar, driving thru an adjacent alley, was passing oranges and two to emit his cry. The policeman hastened across a vacant lot and intercepted him.

Pastor Russell's Sermon

MANILA, Jan. 14.—Gen. W. P. Hall, second in command of the U. S. Army and at one time military governor of the Philippines, is here in company with Pastor C. T. Russell, Prof. F. H. Robinson, Dr. L. W. Jones, Mr. J. T. D. Pyles, Mr. E. W. W. Kuehn and Mr. Maxwell, the special committee of foreign missions investigation, appointed by the International Bible Students Association. They were heartily welcomed and given every facility for noting civil and missionary activities amongst the Filipinos. Pastor Russell gave two addresses to-day to large audiences, chiefly non-Christians. He reported his address from the text, "Thy Kingdom come, Thy will be done on earth, as it is done in heaven." (Matt. vi. 10). He said:

Many of us have learned to appreciate a republican form of government, the very highest type of civil administration. I trust that I am not one whit behind the most patriotic of you in my appreciation of the great Government of the United States, which many of us believe is the noblest that has yet risen among men. Nevertheless, the bible teaches that Messiah's reign will be that of a monarchy, not only so, it will be a very exclusive and aristocratic monarchy. Additionally, it will be most autocratic—theocratic; the will of its subjects will not be consulted in the slightest particular.

At first, in alarm, we are ready to say, would not that be a most dangerous condition of things? Could any royal family, however noble and generous, be entrusted with such autocratic power without fear of its being misused for the enslavement of the people and for the aggrandizement of the rulers? Have we not learned this in the history of the past six thousand years?

Yes, yes, my dear friends: I heartily agree to all this, but when I shall describe to you the nature of the kingdom that is to be established and its personnel, all your fears will assuredly vanish.

Scripturally, it is described as the Fifth Universal Empire of earth. I remind you of the divinely inspired dream of King Nebuchadnezzar, as interpreted by the Prophet Daniel. The great image of Daniel ii. 31, was described as representing the four successive universal empires of earth—Babylon, Medo-Persia, Greece and Rome. No fifth universal empire has been possible; hence the failure of Napoleon and of papacy to accomplish their designs.

The pastor declared that the present governments of Europe represent the ten toes of Nebuchadnezzar's image, which are numbered from the feet. They will be smitten, in a great time of trouble, as outlined in this prophesy. The trouble will entirely sweep away all present human governments, on earth, the kingdom of Messiah, taking their place, will gradually, during a thousand years, fill the whole earth.

This in Nebuchadnezzar's vision, was pictured in the stone taken out of the mountain without hands, miraculously, which smote the image in its feet and then became, itself, a great mountain or kingdom, and filled the whole earth.

Anticipating thoughts in the minds of his hearers, Pastor Russell claimed that Christendom has been astray for some time on this point, that we have declared Christ's kingdom as already existing amongst men—quite contrary to the plain teaching of the bible. Unhappily we are called Christendom, which means Christ's kingdom. But alas! said the pastor, how untrue! The kingdom claim upon their souls is being reigning by the grace of God, yet the bible says that they are "kingdoms of this world," and that the great ruler is Satan, the prince of this world, and that he is the ruler of the children of disobedience, and these, numbering the children of obedience, the ruler of the world is accordingly contrary to divine order.

Nevertheless, the pastor claimed that the church is the kingdom of Messiah in an earthly state. It is the kingdom of heaven suffering violence, as Jesus said (Matt. xi. 12). The king suffered violence, His faithful apostles suffered violence, and all of His faithful followers since then have suffered violence. This lesson, to endure violence as good soldiers, is one of the tests of loyalty upon the called and chosen, who are proving faithful, may be some joint-heirs with Jesus in His Messianic kingdom.

As the glorified Jesus is to be the great king, the great priest and the great judge of the world during the thousand years of His glorious reign, so the elect church, gathered from every nation, people, kindred and tongue, are to be under-priests, under-kings, and subordinate judges. But the great work of Christ and the church will be one. The kingly office will be for the ruling, controlling and subduing, with authority and power, the priestly office will be exercised for the blessing, encouragement, instruction and support of all who will avail themselves of the glorious privileges of that time to become perfect men and to attain everlasting life—all that was lost in Eden and that was redeemed at Calvary.

Master's Chambers.

Before Cartwright, K.C. Master. Martin v. Clarke, H. J. Martin for plaintiff, J. Shilton for defendant. Motion by plaintiff for judgment under C.R. 60 on a covenant in a mortgage made on May 20, 1889.

Judgment: The release of which the defendant seeks, will be produced within a fortnight. If this is not done judgment should go unless defendant prefers to have the case go to trial in the usual way. This order for judgment only allowed on the ground of the long delay in bringing this action, and the total silence of the plaintiffs for so many years on the matter. Costs of the motion in the cause.

Judge's Chambers.

Before Middleton, J. Scott v. Eriton—D. O. Cameron for applicant. Motion by applicant for an order striking out jury notice. Judgment under C. R. 1822 no make an order for trial without a jury. Costs in cause.

Single Court.

Before Middleton, J. The Capital Manufacturing Co. v. Buffalo Specialty Co.—R. C. H. Caswell for defendant; R. V. Sinclair, K. L. for plaintiff. A motion by defendant for an order setting aside the order made by the local judge at Ottawa, purporting to restrain the defendants from doing business by writing to or otherwise notifying customers of the plaintiffs' sale of goods, known under the plaintiffs' registered trade mark as "Royal Gem" veneer constitutes an infringement of an alleged trade mark claimed by the defendants, and from threatening such customers of the plaintiffs with actions for damages for such alleged infringement. Judgment: This is a striking instance of the abuse of the power of the court to grant an interim injunction. An ex parte injunction was obtained from Judge McTavish, and a motion was made to continue it before the judge presiding at the Ottawa sittings, under section 91, O. J. This motion was dismissed because it was not within the section. On the same day another motion was made ex parte to Judge Gurnea, and a similar injunction was granted at Ottawa, who granted a precisely similar order on the same material restraining the same acts until Jan. 15. Consolidated rules 46, 35 et seq. apply.

The provisions of these rules are daily ignored in practice, but they still exist, and ought to be rigorously enforced. It has become a practice to apply ex parte injunctions in every case, and ex parte injunctions are often granted practically on propra, frequently to the great injury of the defendant. The fact that an injunction had already been obtained from one local judge completely exhausted the local jurisdiction. It is not contemplated that a local judge whose power to restrain is limited to eight days, should be able to restrain indefinitely by granting a series of eight-day injunctions. It is even more vicious when the plaintiff applies to a second local judge for his second ex parte injunction. Motion granted and injunction dissolved, with costs to the defendant.

Trial.

Before Latchford, J. Forbes v. Forbes—F. C. Kirby (Windsor) for claimants; F. G. McHugh (Windsor) for Forbes estate. This was an issue to try the question whether Ida Marney Forbes, Irene Forbes, Morrow Marney Forbes, Cavanagh and William Alexander Franklin Forbes, are the widow and children respectively of William Alexander Forbes, deceased. Judgment: I find that Ida Marney Forbes, as she is named in the claimants, is the widow of William Alexander Forbes, and that Irene Forbes Morrow, Marnie Forbes, Cavanagh and William Alexander Franklin Forbes, are his children. If necessary the proceedings may be amended by substituting for the name Ida Marney Forbes, the name Ida Marney Forbes Day. The claimants are entitled to their costs.

Why Sniffle and Sneeze With Catarrhal Cold?

By Breathing the Healing Vapor of Catarrhazone You Get Relief in Ten Minutes.

Every second person that you meet seems to have a sneeze and stuffed feeling in the forehead and nostrils. Cure promptly, say, in half an hour, with Catarrhazone. You inhale its balsamic vapor, and feel as if you were among the Norway pines. This is because Catarrhazone contains a healing medicine, light as pure air, which is breathed straight into the lungs and bronchial tubes. Away goes the cold, sneezing and catarrhal cough, bronchial irritation stops, in a short time you are cured of catarrh by a pleasant, simple remedy, free from sedatives and irritants.

That Catarrhazone is a swift, certain means of destroying colds and catarrh is proved by the following statement of Mr. Pulos, one of Brockville's best known merchants: "In the fall of 1903," writes Mr. Pulos, "under date of June 10th, I had a very severe cold which developed into Catarrh. At that time I was living in New York State and treated with four different physicians, who afforded me no relief. On coming to Brockville I was advised by a friend to try Catarrhazone. I bought the dollar outfit, and was gratified by the results. It was completely cured by Catarrhazone. A very severe cold which I checked a cold with unfailing results. It is the greatest medicine in existence, and I hope my testimony will be of some use to other fellow-sufferers." (Signed) George Pulos.

An ideal protection for the chest, lungs, nose and throat is the frequent use of Catarrhazone. Two months' treatment (the large size) costs $1.50. Medium size for a tall dealer, of the Catarrhazone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

Robbers Bold In Vancouver. Held Up Street-car, Rifled Passengers, Shot Conductor, and Escaped In Motor-car. VANCOUVER, B.C., Jan. 14.—(Can. Press.)—Two armed highwaymen held up a street car on Hastings-street in the east end of the city at 11 o'clock Saturday night. After securing all the valuables which the passengers had, and shooting Conductor William Barker, they escaped in an automobile which they had earlier in the evening stolen from G. E. Torrey, manager for Henry Birks & Co. This morning the automobile was found in perfect condition standing in the rear of the Campbell-street garage.

It is estimated that the hold-up men got $3000 in cash and jewelry. Conductor Barker refused to give up the money, and the robbers fired three shots, one striking him in the back of the head and rendering him unconscious. He was not seriously hurt. Barker's grocery store was held up Saturday evening and $60 taken. Two hold-up men were captured last week in the persons of Ralph Munger and J. Afford.

TORONTO'S BREAD LINE. The feeding of 314 hungry men is a huge task, but that is what is being done every Sunday morning by the good people of the Yonge-street Mission. Shivering in their poor thin garments, with blue, wax faces, they stood, a regiment of them, waiting to get in, but what a transformation after the good supply of coffee and roast beef sandwiches had gone to satisfy the hungry stomachs. The work was done and was replaced by the satisfied smile of the well fed man.

The mission is making a special appeal for the winter, and if there is anyone who has anything in that line, they could supply, a phone message to Main 246, or a postcard to Superintendent J. C. Davis, will receive prompt attention.

Careless Horse Deserts Cutter

And Starts on Pilgrimage to City, Via Railway Tracks—Train Scatters Vehicle—No Blood on Wheels.

The mystery of the sleigh, or who went driving on the G.T.R. tracks was a puzzle to the railway officials for some little time last evening. The mystery was as follows: While G.T.R. train No. 2, between Port Huron and Toronto, was travelling peacefully on its way to the east end of Toronto last evening, about 8 o'clock, it ran into some object on the cross roads in the vicinity of Mount Dennis. The train was stopped immediately and an examination being made it was found that a cutter had been run over and scattered to the four winds. A thorough search for the cutter was forthwith instituted, but they seemed to have been mysteriously spirited away as neither man, beast nor anything else could be found after an hour's hunt by the train crew.

It developed afterwards that a horse belonging to G. A. Connor of Mount Dennis had run away and taken the cutter with him, and on coming to the railway crossing had evidently mistaken the track on account of its roughness for one of the main line good roads, and had forthwith started for Toronto, but the cutter being of a different mind had decided to stay on the tracks, and trust to the gentleness of the railway engine to stop the frozened speed of the aforesaid horse.

Up to the present the horse has not been found and is, doubtless, still running and intent upon making his goal, viz., Toronto.

URGENT INDEPENDENCE AND IMPERIALISM

Dr. Stephen Leacock, Graduate of Toronto, Addresses Literary Society of University.

Dr. Stephen Leacock of McGill University gave a very interesting lecture on universities and citizenship before the University Literary Society, in the Convocation Hall, on Saturday evening last. President Falconer, in introducing Dr. Leacock, referred to him as a distinguished graduate of Toronto University.

"No student should be himself in any political party," said the doctor, "but should always seek a higher standpoint. Universities ought to shine in the life of Canada." The speaker dwelt very largely on the subject of imperialism and said that Canadians should always be prepared to take an important part in its upkeep.

TORONTO'S BREAD LINE. The feeding of 314 hungry men is a huge task, but that is what is being done every Sunday morning by the good people of the Yonge-street Mission. Shivering in their poor thin garments, with blue, wax faces, they stood, a regiment of them, waiting to get in, but what a transformation after the good supply of coffee and roast beef sandwiches had gone to satisfy the hungry stomachs. The work was done and was replaced by the satisfied smile of the well fed man.

The mission is making a special appeal for the winter, and if there is anyone who has anything in that line, they could supply, a phone message to Main 246, or a postcard to Superintendent J. C. Davis, will receive prompt attention.

Capers of Runaway Engines Almost Cause Wreck Horrors

Each Started in Mysterious Manner and Raced for Miles—Use of Telegraph in One Case and Pursuing Engine in the Other Saved Traveling Public.

ALBION, N.Y., Jan. 13.—(Can. Press.)—An engine running wild and a crowd of passenger train in its path was a situation that caused New York Central officials several minutes of keen anxiety to-night. Quick work on the telegraph wires prevented a disastrous wreck and resulted in the capture of the derelict after it had covered 15 miles on the main line.

How the engine happened to get away is a question for the railroad men. The crew left it standing on a siding when they went to supper. A few minutes later a towerman reported an engine on the main line without a hand at the throttle and increasing its speed every second. The next tower reported it going at 40 miles an hour. Immediately the wires became hot with plans to clear the track and capture the runaway. The passenger train was caught at Holley by a matter of seconds and sidetracked. A freight engine was detached and sent in pursuit from here.

The runaway was captured between Holley and Brockport, where it had slowed to a crawl and stopped because of loss of steam.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Can. Press.)—Traveling for 13 miles without a guiding hand, during which time it switched from one road to another, Northern Pacific engine No. 2347, came to a stop at Cedar Station without harm to itself or other trains.

The engine started in some manner unknown at Northern Junction, and running northward, hit the switch ten miles further, where it was thrown over to the Great Northern tracks, upon which it proceeded.

Soon after the runaway started another engine was manned and the chase began, but the pursuers kept to the Northern Pacific tracks, not thinking the engine could have changed roads. Shortly afterwards word was received that the engine had stopped at Cedar Station, three miles out on the Great Northern line.

Railway officials declare it extraordinary that there was no accident as the traffic on each line at that time of the day was unusually heavy.

APPLYING EMERGENCY BRAKES MAY HAVE TOPPLED CAR

and after the body of the car had been placed on the trucks again. Mr. Robinson asked the witness if the car would not have jumped the track had it really been traveling at 30 miles an hour. The witness hesitated about this and said that it was possible. The lawyer then cited the occurrence at McCaul and Queen-streets some years ago, when a car traveling at eight miles an hour not only left the tracks, but ran into Graham's store on the corner. "That is probable, but in this case the car stayed right on the tracks," said Mr. Mitchell. It is possible that the wheels struck on the tracks owing to the heavy weight in the body of the car.

Brake Possibly Deranged. Touching on the question of the air-brake, Mr. Mitchell said that it was possible that a scale from the connecting tubes had temporarily deranged the mechanism of the air-brake. The first witness of the evening, and on being cross-examined on switches, stops and the use of air brakes, seemed to be somewhat in doubt and hesitated considerably.

"Would you censure a man for not stopping at the white post opposite the King-street car stop?" asked the emergency if there was no danger ahead?" asked the crown.

After a series of questions it was discovered that if the air brakes failed, the motor men are expected to use the hand brake and resort to the emergency stop. It appears that the company do not encourage the use of the emergency if cars can be brought to a standstill with the hand brake.

Coroner Graham pointed out that when Motorman Moore passed the white post, he could not see the switch at King-street and therefore did not know whether there was danger ahead or not. On asking the witness if he would have the motorman apply the emergency stop and more arrow, he said that if he was running a car like that, he would let the air brake go and take the hand brake.

"Could you have stopped the car in that distance with the hand brake?" asked the coroner. "The hand brake would stop a car in three lengths, if only traveling at 5 1/2 miles an hour." Mr. Robinson cross-examined Mr. McCullough on the use of the emergency brake, and found that he brought the car to a standstill by that means. Go to a little further, Mr. McCullough said that Moore did exactly what he should have done himself under the circumstances.

Albert White, who was employed on the night of the accident at the corner of King and Lawrence, did not know about the switch in order that certain cars might go into the barn, had left the corner just a minute before the accident, and was at the east end of the barn when the fatal car, No. 1502, came down the grade. He said that it slackened its speed just before coming to the white post, and that it then took up more speed. He thought it was going at about ten miles an hour at River-st., and that it was only going twelve or fifteen miles when it reached the switch.

The case will be resumed on Tuesday and probably concluded at that sitting.

SWIFT CURRENT, Sask., Jan. 13.—(Can. Press.)—The body of Mrs. Garwood, a widow, living eight miles north, was found frozen to death two miles from town to-day by a farmer who was driving in. She left her Thursday afternoon to walk home before the blizzard started. She is aged 40 years, and leaves three children, the youngest being four years old.

The body of Thomas Robinson has been found on the road, 45 miles south of here. Mounted police have gone to investigate.

CALGARY, Alb., Jan. 13.—Stephen Pritt was found frozen to death about eight miles west of the city to-day. Downes, camp where the Associated Charities have a number of men at work.

Metropolitan Car, Follows Suit. The occupants of a Metropolitan car were given a rather severe shaking up on Saturday afternoon near the Myrtle street crossing, when the car suddenly decided to follow in the footsteps of its city brothers and left the track. No damage was done beyond the breaking of one of the telephone poles.

FIRE RAGES TURBO BLOCK OF HOUSES

Spread From 227 Jones Avenue to Adjoining Homes—Firemen Had to Rescue Three Residents From Upstairs Windows.

Fire, which at first appeared to be very dangerous, and which forced three people to leave the building by the upper windows, broke out just before 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon at 227 Jones-avenue and almost before it had been discovered spread to Nos. 226, 229 and 230 1-2.

The premises were owned by F. J. Kane, 27 Galt-avenue, and built on the tenement plan, the ground floor being occupied by a bank and three stores. The fire broke out at the rear of the stairs on the main floor of 227, and the flames spread rapidly upstairs and through the partitions into the adjoining store.

So dense was the smoke that two women and a man were unable to descend the stairs and had to await the arrival of the firemen, who assisted them to the sidewalk by means of ladders.

225 Jones-avenue was occupied by a Mr. Lambert, 227 by J. Morrison, 229 by P. R. Winstanley, and 230 1-2 by Mrs. J. McCall.

Morrison's home was damaged to the extent of $1200, and his household effects to about half that amount. The householders' loss is about $200 each.

YOUNG TEACHER ENDS LIFE. UXBIDGE, Jan. 14.—Miss Evelyn Baker, who until Christmas taught school at Leaskdale, was in Uxbridge Saturday night until about 10 o'clock, when she was driven to her home by a young man of the town. The family retired, and after they had been in their room for some time, Miss Baker was heard leaving her room and going downstairs. She was seen after she was found in the pantry taking something, but refused to state what it was.

She again went to her room, and in a short time was heard groaning. When found she was in convulsions, and although Dr. Mellor, who lives quite close, was immediately summoned, she died before the stomach pump could be used. An inquest will be held.

STANDS TRIAL FOR MURDER. PORT LAMBERTON, Jan. 13.—Stephen Keyosh was to-day committed by Magistrate T. F. Post to stand trial at the April sittings at Victoria on a charge of murder, arising out of the death of Adams John and C. Nahdoo on New Year's eve.

John and Nahdoo were killed at the latter's shack on Squirrel Island, one of the Valpoules, on Dec. 31. The body of Nahdoo has not been found, and a reward may be offered for his recovery.

Heroic Chief's Body Taken From Ruins

Was Terribly Crushed Under Debris—Financiers' Fund For Police and Firemen.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—(Can. Press.)—In the shadow of weakening walls that threatened each moment to totter and fall a squad of firemen worked for five hours this afternoon to wrest from the ruins of the Equitable building the body of Battalion Chief William Walsh, who met death in the fire of last Tuesday.

The coroner's physician believed that the chief had been asphyxiated as he groped thru the burning building, and that the debris which fell upon him crushed an already lifeless body.

worked hard for his clients in the belief that they were both innocent, and who confidently expected the acquittal of both Chilmann and Acheson, was keenly disappointed when the verdict adverse to Chilmann was rendered.

In discharging Acheson, Justice Teetzel said he agreed with the jury's decision. The prisoner was, nevertheless, still under grave suspicion, and this case should be a lesson to him.

Public interest in the trial of Chilmann and Acheson was very keen throughout the proceedings, and every day the prison was packed, while many were unable to gain admittance.

Delicate Fabric of Evidence. The defence put in most of the evidence yesterday in an effort to destroy the elaborate and delicate fabric of the crown's case against Chilmann and Acheson, which had been so carefully and so ingeniously woven from numerous thin shreds of circumstances in the business and private affairs of the accused.

The prosecution's theory was chiefly based upon the supposed facts that Chilmann and Acheson had both used more money than the crown could find they had received in their business.
