PRINCIPAL'S REPORT.

GENTLEMEN :

It is my privilege to present for your kind consideration the Tenth Annual Report of the above Institution, embracing the period from January, 1892, to January, 1893.

It is a sincere pleasure to be able to report favourably of the work of the past year. The conduct of the officers has been exemplary, and their sole desire has been to advance the interests of the Institution and to promote its objects in every way. Every effort has been made to make the Institution more widely known, to seek out children detained at home through the indifference of parents, and to induce them to take advantage of its privileges. The result of these efforts is seen in our present attendance, which is the largest in the history of the Institution. The general conduct of our pupils has been satisfactory, and I believe their attainments will compare favourably with the educational standing of any previous year.

Three boys, Frank L. Coates, of St. John, Fred. J. T. Boal, of Sussex, and John Long, of Hartland, have been removed. Two girls also have been removed: Elizabeth McLaughlin, of St. Stephen, and Lillie Whelpley, of St. John.

Two boys, Alfred Rowe Shaw and John Herbert Bryden, both of Woodstock, have been readmitted.

Four new boys, Collingwood Winter, of Jacquet River, Warren Allen, of Cape Tormentine, John Ernest Graham, of St. John, and David Clarence Marsh, of Bass River, have been admitted.

Four new girls, Martha Eva Dickie, of Black Point, Winnie

Ethel McFadden, of Grand Manan, Sarah Schofield B. Belyea, of Westfield, and Muriel Morrison, of Woodstock, have been admitted. The last of these ran away several times, and was therefore detained at home until she gets a little older.

The number of pupils in the house at the present time is therefore 31 — Fifteen boys and Sixteen girls.

The following Counties were represented during the year:— Kent County, seven pupils; Westmorland, seven pupils; St. John, six pupils; Charlotte, four pupils; Kings, four pupils; Carleton, four pupils; Restigouche, two pupils; and York, Albert, and Northumberland, one pupil each.

HEALTH.

Very little sickness occurred among the pupils during the year. Seven of them took whooping cough in the early part of the year, the most serious of these cases being that of Frederick Boal, of Sussex. He is not very strong, and his lungs are easily affected, thanks however to emulsions, and other tonics, combined with the Doctor's care and attention, all of them recovered their usual health.

This winter has been severe enough to test the capacity of the furnaces and hot air apparatus for heating the building, and with the exception of the boys' sitting room, which occupies a north-western position, the whole building has been very comfortable. To improve the temperature of the boys' sitting-room it was deemed advisable to give them a stove in addition, and the pipes were carried through to the school-room chimney.

CHANGE.

Mr. Demmons having expressed his preference for the teaching of hearing and speaking children, resigned his position with us in August last to take charge of one of the public schools at Avondale.

We are now seeking the services of a young man to fill the vacancy.

DELAY OF PARENTS.

It is one of the rules of the Institution that all pupils should return promptly at the beginning of every session, sickness being the only admissible cause for absence after the re-opening of school. I regret to state that there seems to be an indifference on the part of some parents as to their children's welfare and a non-appreciation of the value of education for them. They have managed to get through life without much education and think their children can do the same, totally oblivious or regardless of the fact that their children, being deaf, are in a much worse position than themselves.

And if education were utterly valueless, one would think they could appreciate a good comfortable home for their children, where they had good wholesome well cooked food, where they were kept clean, had clean beds, and their wants looked after in every way, yet several children were detained at home after the session had commenced with the paltry excuse that they did not want to go to school, and even this was not true, for I found that the contrary was the case when I sent one of the teachers for them and insisted on their returning with him. The children were actually delighted to get back to school, but did not look half so well as when they left us in the summer for the vacation, the lack of care and attention being very apparent.

I think it but right that as we use every endeavour to keep our pupils clean and tidy when at school, their parents should supplement our efforts by carrying out the same policy when they are at home. The habit of cleanliness is an important one, and merits the attention of every parent.

Another point, and equally important, is that parents should see that their children when away from the teacher's care are not allowed to run about the streets and take up with worthless companions, whose example may lead to bad habits, and render nugatory the teacher's best efforts in the direction of right.

A great responsibility rests on parents regarding the facilities they allow their children to obtain a proper school training, and I cannot emphasize too strongly the importance of sending them back to school at the commencement of the session.

The absence of several pupils interferes with the grading and advancement of the classes, is disheartening to the teacher, and it is neither fair to him nor to his pupils to expect good progress under such conditions.

As we have no compulsory law for the attendance of children at school in this Province, I can only urge the matter upon the atten-

INSTRUCTION.

A few words in reference to our method of instruction will probably be of sufficient interest to the parents of our pupils as to warrant their insertion here.

In the early days of the instruction of deaf mutes, the oral method, that is, teaching them to articulate spoken sounds, was the only one followed, and it is at the present day the only one pursued in Germany, and a few other European Countries. In the United States and Canada another and much superior method is very generally adopted. It is the method of using signs for ideas with the manual Alphabet, and while the oral system is limited in its application, and only of real and lasting benefit to a few, despite the extravagant claims brought forward by the zealous advocates of this system, the sign method is applicable to one and all, and its strongest opponents have not yet dared to assert that we cannot by its means reach the mind of any and every deaf mute child that may come under our charge, unless it be deficient in intellect, and bestow upon it the priceless gift of education.

The semi-mutes, that is, those who lost their hearing by disease or accident after they had learned to talk, usually retain some knowledge of speech, and can with advantage be taught by the oral method, and their powers of speech improved and strengthened. Children, however, who were born deaf have, of course, no remnant of vocal language, and time would be wasted on these by using the oral method in their education. The sign system here comes in as a friend in need, opens up communication with them almost spontaneously, mind acts upon mind, and the pleasure of the pupil in finding himself understood is almost equal to the pleasure of the teacher in unfolding thought in the virgin soil of an untutored intellect. I can quite understand and heartily sympathise with the desire of parents to have their children taught to speak, and where tangible results will follow and justify the expenditure of time and labour required, I think it should be done.

To carry out this idea and bring our Institution abreast with the times, it would be advisable to secure the services of a lady teacher from one of the schools in the States, where oral teaching is made a specialty, and let her devote most of her time to this department. I do not anticipate however the grand results which the pure oralists claim to have obtained; still, if one child only would benefit by the adoption of this plan, to this extent that it could communicate orally with the world at large, however poor the modulation of its voice might be, I should consider that the Province would be justified in going to the expense, which would be considerable, of securing the services of a specialist for this purpose.

No means should be left untried to restore our deaf mutes to society. Let us give them the best we have at our command, as their lives, with the very best that we can do for them, will always lack much of the profit and pleasure we ourselves derive from sermons, lectures, addresses, vocal and instrumental music, and the thousand pleasures we have when nature speaks to us in the voices of the storm, and we ask intuitively "What are the wild waves saying?" in the songs of her birds, the rippling of her brooks, the hum of insects, the rustling leaves of the forest, and the thousand sounds and whisperings which affect our souls with awe in her angry moods, and with a happy peaceful feeling when she smiles and bids the weary rest.

The most successful method, as I have before stated, of teaching deaf mutes, whether congenitally deaf or otherwise, is by the language of signs. The child comes to us not knowing anything, nor is he expected to know anything except what his sight has revealed to him. He has been deprived of the intercourse which his hearing playmates have enjoyed with their parents and school-fellows, and his mind remains untouched and untrained by the social amenities which have so large an influence in developing character and the intellectual faculties even in childhood and infancy. He cannot understand the language spoken around him and the few natural signs he makes merely express the simplest ideas. As soon, however, as he enters the schoolroom everything is changed. He is now with those who can adapt their teaching to his condition. His crude signs are intelligible, and he realizes at last the pleasure of being readily understood by those about him. He now takes delight in his lessons and in the conversation of his schoolmates, and soon takes an active interest in all that appertains to school life.

We use signs not as an end however, but as the readiest means by which thought can be interchanged, and by which the edifice of education may be built in the cultivation of the intellectual faculties. When our pupils have obtained the requisite knowledge and mastery of the English language, and can write it correctly, they have no further need of signs, as they have now a means of communication with the English speaking race and also with the world of literature in that language.

It will be inferred from these remarks that it is the duty of every Institution to be prepared to confer the greatest possible good upon each pupil committed to its care, by providing that instruction which will best meet his needs, and be of the greatest benefit to him when he leaves the Institution and has to depend on his own resources in the somewhat unequal struggle for a livelihood that lies before him.

INDUSTRIAL TRAINING.

The question "Shall we teach our pupils trades in addition to the intellectual education which they are already receiving?" is an important one, and one that deserves our special consideration.

There is no doubt that in the industrial and commercial world of the present day, greater demands are made upon the skill and capacity of the toilers for bread than formerly was the case. The professional avenues for preferment are crowded, and skilled artizans are needed in all branches of trade to compete successfully in the industrial walks of life. While the majority of schools prepare their pupils for a professional or literary career, very few take up the subject of industrial training. Even were it desirable, our pupils are so heavily handicapped by their deprivation that it would give rise to the most fallacious hopes were we to announce that we had the same curriculum and the same end in view. Some of our bright deaf mutes become fitted for a professional career as teachers, barristers, and even ordained ministers of religion; but in these cases the natural ability and length of training are exceptional. The few years that we are permitted to retain the majority of our pupils precludes the high standing which all teachers like to achieve. We can aim however to give them the best preparation possible, that they may fill with credit the positions they will probably occupy in life. It is the undoubted right of every child that he should have such an intellectual and industrial training as will enable him to earn an honest living, whatever that position in life may be, and especially is this the case with our pupils, who, without such training as we refer to, find it hard at the start to secure suitable employment. One or two employers of labor lately informed me that there would be no difficulty in obtaining employment for deaf mutes if they knew anything of the trade beforehand, as they generally made good and steady workmen, their attention not being taken from their work by the conversation going on around them, but it was almost impossible to get an employer to devote the time required to teach them the trade, as it had to be done principally by writing. Another difficulty was, that the amount they could earn for the first twelve or eighteen months was hardly sufficient to provide them with food and clothing. To give our pupils the best possible chance of making their way in the world, of becoming useful, responsible, self supporting and self respecting citizens, is to equip them for the battle of life by furnishing them with the technical knowledge of some suitable industry before they leave the institution, by means of which they may start on some basis of equality with the hundreds competing around them, and eventually obtain that reward which their ability, energy and perseverance may deserve.

Fifty-nine out of the eighty institutions in the United States teach one or more of the following industries: Art, Baking, Basket Making, Blacksmithing, Book-Binding, Broom Making, Cabinet Making, Carpentry, Chair Making, Cooking, Clay Modelling, Coopery, China Painting, Dress Making, Embroidery, Engineering, Farming, Floriculture, Gardening, Glazing, Housework, Knitting, Mattress Making, Millinery, Moulding, Machine Work, Painting, Plate Engraving, Photography, Plumbing, Pattern Making, Printing, Sewing, Shoe Making, Tailoring, Tool Making, Weaving, Wood Carving, Wood Engraving, Wood Turning, Wood Working, and the use of Tools.

All the Canadian Institutions, with the exception of our own, teach some of the most suitable to be self-supporting, and the advantage however one or both of them. A new building, of considerable size, is now being built, providing for the work of the deaf section of their native Province, and it is expected that they will return with increased numbers of citizens.

At the last session of the Counties of the Province, the number of deaf citizens, and this measure had repeatedly been anticipated by the public, and it was merely a matter of government, and several years ago.

It was a great pleasure to the Institution to have several projects of the next session of withdrawing from the Institution.

In Nova Scotia, in addition to the provision for each pupil in this Institution.

teach some trade. Perhaps tailoring and shoe making would be the most suitable for our pupils, but we could not expect either to be self-supporting for some time to come. The principal consideration however is, not whether it will be self sustaining, but whether the advantages which our boys would derive from a knowledge of one or both of these occupations, would justify their adoption. A new building would be required to be used as a workshop, and considerable outlay would have to be made in furnishing the building, providing tools and materials for work.

With adequate provision from our Legislature for carrying on the work of the Institution, which our pupils in conjunction with similar sections of humanity have a perfect right to expect from their native Province, these and other improvements can be carried out with pleasure and profit, and the outlay required will eventually return with interest in the shape of productive and law abiding citizens.

THE COUNTY GRANT.

At the last session of the House an Act was passed assessing the Counties of the Province at the rate of $60 per pupil, according to the number of pupils each county sent up for education. While this measure was a step in the right direction, and one which we had repeatedly urged in previous reports of the Institution, it was not anticipated by the management of the Institution, nor was it publicly announced at the time of the passing of the said Act that it was merely to replace and be a substitute for the usual annual government grant of $1500 which the Institution had received for several years previous to the passing of the Act.

It was a great surprise and disappointment to the officers of the Institution to find that the government grant had been withdrawn, and that we had now only the county grant to depend upon, and several projected improvements were of necessity abandoned until the next session of the House, when it is hoped that the question of withdrawing the above grant will be reconsidered in favour of the Institution.

In Nova Scotia the counties are assessed at $60 per pupil in addition to the government grant of $60 per pupil, making the total for each pupil $120 per annum. The average cost of maintenance in this Institution has been about $150 per capita, and this amount compares very favourably with the expenditure of other Institutions. In some Institutions it is considerably more, as in the Manitoba Institution, whose expenditure last year was $257 per pupil. In some of the State Institutions it was even higher than this. In the Ontario Institution it was rather less, viz., $146 per pupil. In this case they have nearly 300 pupils, and this large number tends to lessen the cost per capita.

Of the eighty Institutions in the United States, forty-eight are wholly supported by the State in which they are located. Fifteen are supported by the State, with the addition of payments by pupils. Ten only are supported by the State aided by voluntary contributions. The remaining seven are private or denominational schools.

The sum of $1,557,248 was expended by fifty of these Institutions for general support, and $261,517 in improvements on their buildings.

Two only of the Canadian Institutions are wholly supported by the Province, viz., the Ontario, and the Manitoba Institutions. The Provincial grant for these Institutions last year was $51,542, and $13,500 for improvements on buildings. The remaining five Canadian Institutions receive a grant from the Province, which has to be supplemented by voluntary contributions.

The example set by the United States in regard to the maintenance of her public educational Institutions is a noble one, and might be imitated with advantage even by Great Britain and other European Countries. In taking care of her deaf, and dumb, and blind, she occupies the proud position of being at the head of nations. She recognises the fact that they are children of the commonwealth, and have an inalienable right to the best training that can be given them, not as a charity, but because they form part and parcel of the great Republic, and as citizens it is their birthright. She believes that money expended in educating her children is not thrown away, but a sure investment which will bring in returns with interest in the near future.

Grant Act was passed at the last session of the House, I would take this opportunity of reminding them that there is still a debt of $4,000 remaining on the building, which we find hard to carry along with our limited funds and the increasing expenditure of the Institution. This should be cleared off as soon as possible, that we may be relieved of the burden, and the interest on which might with advantage be devoted to the furtherance of the objects of the Institution.

If public funds are lavished on public educational institutions there are few to complain, as the money is spent in a good cause, but if only the necessary adequate support be asked for such purposes, I feel assured that there is no Member of the House would raise his voice against, and take the position of an opponent to such a measure. I believe, and my belief is shared by many, not necessarily friends of any particular Institution, that Provincial Legislative support extended to Institutions that have for their object the elevation and bettering of the condition of its inhabitants, is not only a matter of right and of justice, but a wise and far-seeing policy, which if persistently adhered to and continually carried out must ultimately lead to the elevation of the Province itself.

The agricultural importation was a measure of this kind, and while the full results cannot be estimated, sufficient are already known to amply justify the expenditure.

Our public school system is one of which we have reason to be proud. Free education is extended to all, and where is the man that regrets this expenditure of public funds? It is a matter for rejoicing that in this particular, New Brunswick, if not ahead, can hold her own with other countries. Let the wealth and resources of the Province be returned to its people in useful and beneficial measures, helping where help is needed, encouraging industry, and offering incentives for honest labour, improving and extending their prospects, giving scope for energy, supplying what is lacking in the opening up of manufactures, raising their status by education, and the results of such policy will soon be apparent in the advancement and prosperity of our people.

I have much pleasure in also acknowledging the aid received from our numerous subscribers during the past year. Many friends in Prince Edward Island, Montreal, Quebec, and Maine, in addition to those in the Province itself, have contributed cheerfully, and added their kind wishes for the success of the Institution.

Dr. Brown's services have again been at the service of the Institution, and I return hearty thanks for his promptness in replying to our calls. His care and advice do much to relieve us of anxiety when we have sickness in the house. It is a matter for congratulation that we have so little sickness, and our exemption from contagious diseases is probably due to the healthy location of the Institution, its isolation from other dwellings, its large and lofty rooms, its sanitary arrangements, its cleanliness, and the clear, bracing air of Hawthorn Hill.

Our thanks are due to Mr. Geo. H. Davis for supplies of free medicines when prescribed. Dr. Torrens' services have also been called into requisition on several occasions, for which our thanks are also due. Mr. Jas. Hurley has repaired the children's boots free of charge during the past year, and this kindness is freely acknowledged.

We have received the following newspapers, etc., the Fredericton Farmer, Reporter, Richibucto Review, Kansas Star, Philanthropic Index and Review (Michigan), Deaf Mute Register (Rome, N. Y.), Deaf Mute Voice (Miss.), The Washington (Vancouver), The New Method (Illinois), Canadian Mute (Bellville, Ont.), Silent Echo (Winnipeg), Dr. Gordon's Notes and Observations on the Education of the Deaf, from the Volta Bureau, Washington, Minutes of Evidence before the Royal Commission, and other pamphlets by Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, and Annual Reports of Deaf Mute Institutions in Canada, United States, and the Old Country; all of which have been very welcome.

We are indebted to Mr. Max Liebich, Berthier, Quebec, for the Dominion Illustrated, Boys' Own Paper, Strand Magazine, Idler, and Illustrated London News (Christmas Number); to Dr. Holden, St. John, for six months numbers of the Illustrated News of the World; to Miss Jouett, Fredericton, for periodicals and clothing; to Miss Moffatt, Fredericton, Christmas book; to Hamm Bros., St. John, box of biscuits, and to Mr. Carnall, St. John, for a fine specimen of taxidermy.

The Christmas and New Year's holidays were again spent at the Institution, and if all children had as pleasant a time at this festive season as ours usually do, they would have little to complain of. The pupils look forward to having a good time at Christmas, and have never yet been disappointed. Last Christmas was no exception to the rule. The large front hall, dining and other rooms, were decorated very nicely with festoons of spruce and paper flowers, interspersed with mottoes indicative of the "glad tidings of great joy which shall be to all people." It was a labour of love to the children, and the care and taste shown in the display were exceedingly creditable to them. They did not forget to place a fine Christmas tree ready, and Santa Claus did not forget to give the finishing touch to their work by making it bloom and resplendent with Christmas fruit.

Those friends who like to see children happy would do well to pay us a visit on such an occasion. In this connection we would acknowledge with sincere thanks presents from Mr. E. H. Wilmot, our Secretary the Rev. Canon Roberts, Fredericton; Messrs. W. H. Thorne & Co., Wm. Kennedy, Young & Munro, Frances & Co., and other friends in St. John.

The morning of New Year's day being stormy, the children feared that the usual annual and always welcome visit of Mr. G. T. Whelpley would be indefinitely postponed. The afternoon cleared up, however, and their fears were set at rest by his safe arrival accompanied by his daughter, Miss May Whelpley, and also accompanied by numerous parcels of New Year's presents. Pleasant greetings and good wishes were exchanged on all sides, and three hearty cheers were given by the children on their kind visitors driving away.

In concluding this brief record of events connected with the Institution under our care, I would acknowledge the assistance rendered by you, gentlemen, members of the Managing Committee, by your confidence and co-operation in all that tended to the usefulness and advancement of the Institution. The uniform kindness and wise counsel I have from time to time received at your hands, merit my sincere thanks. The measure of success which has attended the operations of the Institution in the past may well be taken as a promise and augury of increased usefulness in the future, and while deeply thankful for the cordial aid and sympathy which an enlightened community has extended to the work, I would commend its highest interests and welfare to the care of the Most High, that His blessing may rest upon it and guide its destinies.

MEDICAL REPORT.

FREDERICTON, N. B.,
Feb. 21st, 1893.

To the Chairman and Directors of the Fredericton Deaf and Dumb Institution.

GENTLEMEN,

In submitting this my tenth annual report, it gives me much pleasure to state that very little sickness has occurred in the Institution during the past year.

In the early part of 1892 I attended seven pupils with whooping cough, all of whom recovered their usual health.

When we take into consideration the number of pupils who are accommodated in the Institution, it will be seen that the number of cases of severe illness have been few, and this immunity from disease is, I think, largely due to the excellent sanitary condition of the building, and to the care which is exercised in regard to diet, cleanliness, and clothing.

I am, gentlemen,

Very respectfully yours,

T. CLOWES BROWN, M. D.
