London, February 2.

OPENING OF PARLIAMENT.

From the circumstance of His Majesty not proceeding to open the Parliament, the attendance was not so numerous as on many occasions. Yet, there were numbers of persons in attendance. Shortly before two o'clock the gallery and the doors of the house were opened, and soon after the Commissioners appeared and took their seats.

The Commons having been summoned to attend in the House of Peers, the Lord Chancellor read His Majesty's Speech, as follows:—

My Lords and Gentlemen,

We are commanded by His Majesty to acquaint you, that His Majesty continues to receive from all Foreign Powers the strongest assurances of their friendly disposition, and His Majesty trusts that the experience of the blessings which peace confers upon nations, will tend to confirm and secure the present tranquillity.

His Majesty laments that the civil contest which has agitated the Spanish monarchy, has not yet been brought to a close; but His Majesty has continued to afford to the Queen of Spain that aid which, by the treaty of Quadruple Alliance of 1834, His Majesty engaged to give, if it should become necessary, and His Majesty rejoices that his co-operating force has rendered useful assistance to the troops of her Catholic Majesty.

Even a late happened in Portugal, which for a time threatened to disturb the internal peace of that country. His Majesty ordered in consequence a temporary augmentation of his Naval force in the Tagus, for the more effectual protection of the persons and property of his subjects resident in Lisbon; and the Admiral commanding His Majesty's squadron was authorized in case of need, to afford protection to the persons of the Queen of Portugal, without, however, interfering in these constitutional questions which divide the conflicting parties.

His Majesty has directed the reports of the Commissioners appointed to inquire into the state of the Province of Lower Canada to be laid before you, and has ordered you to call your attention to that important subject.

We have also in charge to recommend, for your serious deliberation those petitions which have been submitted to you, for the improvement of the law and of the administration of justice; assuring you that His Majesty's anxiety for the speedy amendment of these objects remains undiminished.

We are enjoined to convey to you His Majesty's desire, that you should consult upon such further measures as may give increased stability to the established Church, and promote concord and good will.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons. The estimate of the year 1837 has been prepared with every desire to meet the exigencies of the public service in the spirit of a wise economy. His Majesty has directed them to be laid before you without delay. The increase of the Revenue has led to more than justified the expectations created by the reports of former years.

His Majesty recommends an early renewal of your inquiries into the operation of the Act permitting the establishment of Joint Stock Banks. The best security against the mismanagement of Banking affairs, must ever be found in the capacity and integrity of those who are entrusted with the administration of them, and in the caution and the prudence of the public; and no legislative regulation should be omitted, which can increase and ensure the stability of establishments, upon which commercial credit so much depends.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

His Majesty has more especially commanded us to bring under your notice the state of Ireland, and the wisdom of adopting such measures as may improve the condition of that part of the United Kingdom. His Majesty recommends to your early consideration the present composition of the Municipal Corporations of that country, the laws which regulate the collection of Tithes, and the difficult but pressing question of establishing a more legal provision for the poor, guarded by prudent regulations, and by such precautions against abuse as your experience and knowledge of the subject enable you to suggest.

His Majesty commits these great interests into your hands, in the confidence that you will be able to frame laws in accordance with the wishes of His Majesty and the expectations of his people. His Majesty is persuaded that this hope will be fulfilled; you will not only contribute to the welfare of Ireland, but strengthen the law and Constitution of these realms, by securing their benefits to all classes of His Majesty's Subjects.

COLONIAL.

The Report of the Committee of the House of Assembly on the Public Accounts will be found on the second page. By that document it appears that the Revenue last year amounted to the respectable sum of £11,513 10s 9d 4c. The payments made at the Treasury during the same period are stated at £26,692 4s. 8d. 4c., which sum includes part of the expenditure for the year 1835, the Warrants for which were not paid until last year. The Warrants issued last year, and not yet paid amount to £5,094 1s. 9d. 4c., thus making the total expenditure for the year £13,776 6s. 6d., but this as before stated, includes several appropriations made in 1835, but not paid until last year. The balance of the debt now due by the country is stated at £11,583 19s. 3d. 4c., or about one year's revenue. — Charlotte Town Gazette.

COMMUNICATIONS.

"HIGHWAYS AND BYEWAYS."

To the Editor of the Standard.

Sir,—This is a subject as intimately connected with the welfare of the Province as any that has been taken into consideration. The utility of good roads is denied by no one, and such of our Representatives as can make a speech are sure to figure conspicuously in our Hall of Legislation where the roads are mentioned. Large sums of money have from time to time been granted, and an immense value of labour has been expended for the benefit of the roads, amounting in the aggregate to at least £500,000, since the Province was organized. Why then have we so few good roads? Sir, I will tell you,—the road making throughout the Province has, with a very few exceptions, been conducted hitherto, without either science or system, or even a common sense. Many lines of road have been marked out at random, opened and improved without proper exploration, and afterwards partially or totally abandoned. Hundreds of miles of road, in various parts of the Province have thus been thrown away, and on many of the lines now occupied, travelling is dangerous and disagreeable, and the passing of loaded teams impossible. Among the abandoned roads connected with Charlotte, I may mention that from Fredericton to Saint Andrews, is abandoned with elevations, which like Donnybrook, soon brought a man from running to walking, and from walking to clambering upon his hands and knees. The entire of the Great Road from St. Andrews to St. John, has also, I believe, been changed since it was first opened. There never was the least necessity for thus wasting the public money. If the present line, last mentioned, be a good one, it need not be changed; but if it be not, it should be carefully explored in the first instance to find it, and if it has been marked out and opened, vast sums of money would have been saved, which have since been completely thrown away.

The late Honorable R. Simonds opened and completed the New Brunswick upon scientific and correct principles, and it is strange that with such an instance of success, a book should remain almost unread and its useful knowledge be permitted to remain nearly dormant. During the late Session, an attempt was made to introduce something like a system into our Road Department, and hopes are entertained, that the pernicious habit of opening roads at random, and afterwards throwing them away, will soon be abandoned. Any one who will read Mr. Simonds's Book, or who will, indeed, consider the subject at all, will see at once that the true secret is, careful and repeated exploration in the first instance. The best possible line can as well be found in the first place as at some subsequent period; and it should be carefully marked out before a single tree is taken up. A fair line of road would thus in every instance be opened, and the expenditure of the labour and money forever after be confined to that identical line.

This system was fully discussed last Session and is more deeply discussed upon, which will account for what you in a late number of your journal consider altogether unaccountable, with regard to the road from Fredericton to St. Andrews. That line lay as a dead letter on the Statute Book for some time, crushed under the deadly remembrance of immense sums previously expended on the abandoned road. In 1835 the sum of £200 was granted and expended between Hanwell and Fredericton. In 1836 the sum of £800 was laid out between Hanwell and Brockway's. A great deal of labour has been done with these sums, but the road is not properly laid out! The greater part of the distance between Fredericton and Hanwell runs in a direct line, over hills and ravines as they happen to be in the way. Between Hanwell and Brockway's it is much better, and passes through an extensive tract of excellent land; still, there are three or four difficult elevations which ought to be avoided. From the bridge near Brockway's, to the bridge at the R. Big Dam, and thence to Waweg, the line has not yet been marked out. The sum of £250 is therefore suggested to delay the expense of this important service, and to mark out the necessary alterations between Fredericton and Brockway's, and so it is hoped, that this year a permanent foundation will be laid for the entire line of this road, and the redemption of the pledge which has been made for a large grant next year, will depend very much upon the confidence which the House may repose in the person who may explore and lay it out.

As there is often a good deal of dissatisfaction about the road grants, I shall, for a very brief statement of the proceedings as far as they are connected with the County of Charlotte. On the first day of the Session, the road Committee, consisting of a member for each County was appointed; they named £23,000 for the roads throughout the Province, and not to exceed £30,000. The sum of £14,000 was intended for the Great Roads £4,000 for the Bye Roads, and £10,000 was passed as likely to be required for the exploration, and laying out of new lines which it was understood would be reported by a committee of internal improvements. Of the £10,000 for the Bye Roads, Charlotte obtained £550, for the St. John's Road, and $900, from St. Andrews to St. Stephens; also £250, for exploring and laying out from Brockway's to Waweg, these ample sums would convince some reasonable people, that the interests of the County are not overlooked. The members for Charlotte met and endeavored to decide the 1550, in the most impartial manner among the several Parishes, agreeably with their respective and relative wants. An immense bundle of letters and Petitions was produced on the occasion, and on reading them, they proved to be mostly from St. George, St. Patrick, St. Andrew, and the Islands. The applications from the other Parishes were mere memorandums of Highways. The amount to each Parish being agreed upon, was very easily distributed where there was only a note from the Commissioners; but in cases where applications were numerous and conflicting, the distribution was a matter of some difficulty—I shall take St. Patrick for instance—A. B. C. Commissioners for that parish. A and B united in requesting that the money should be nearly all laid out on the main parish road running on the eastern side of the river. B and C united in recommending a number of grants for branch roads, and C alone recommended one grant. In addition to these, there were Petitions numerous signed by the inhabitants calling loudly for money, where it had not been recommended by any Commissioner. Some of these Petitions were addressed to the Governor alone, some to all the County members, and some to one member only, and the aggregate amount was nearly three times the Parochial allowance. Here was a medley which required the skill of the members, Legislative Council and all, and no doubt the distribution has disappointed many of the Petitioners. The sum of £550, thus distributed was handed to the Chairman of the Committee of Supply, and entered and passed accordingly.

The report of the Committee of internal improvements was afterwards considered, upon which it was expected that £600, would have been granted. In this report, there were lines particularly connected with Charlotte, viz. a line from St. David to Woodstock, a line from Brockway's to St. Stephens, and a line from Orr's in the parish of St. Andrew, to Pleasant Ridge in St. George. On this report being taken up, the House showed a strong disposition to abandon it altogether. The Woodstock line, however, was with much difficulty retained, and £200, granted for exploring and marking it out, though some of the members endeavored to pass it off with £30, only.

Hoping that my brief detail of the most prominent proceedings of the late Session may have afforded a little information to the readers of your paper in the remote parts of the County, I shall, without further ceremony, close this correspondence.

Charlotte County, March 16, 1837.

FOR THE STANDARD.

MR. EDITOR,

Now that the Session is over people have time to look after what concerns them in the appropriations, by the House of Assembly and I must say I think this County has got a miserable share of the spoils. The bye-road sums I do not refer to, for except the parish of St. Andrews, the rest are pretty fair, but the great Roads appear to be nearly overlooked. From St. Andrews to Connick's to 1500, which will do to patch up this wretched line for another Season, and add to the waste that time will shew has been made when the true course has been explored. An equal sum has been given from Connick's to St. Stephens; if the greater part of this was spent in exploring a good line it might be well laid out; but if they go to cut and shew level and there they may as well follow the example of many before them and keep it in their pockets.

The £200, for exploring from Magalloway to Waweg is a poor concern, for I see a door is opened to take what the Commissioner likes out of it for pointing out alterations all the way from Fredericton to Brockway's and after the extravagant tricks played on that line already, I have little hopes of much good from this grant. Really, Sir, it would appear that the road from here to Head Quarters is an object of terror to some people. It is several years since I heard of its being fixed by an act of Assembly, yet still we find them only giving a small sum of money to explore it in part.

Some may say that there is more use for the road to St. John from here, and that large sums are given for it; but when we remember the case of going by the Steamer in summer, and that the present road is good enough for sleighs in winter, I think there should be some consideration for the travel to Fredericton and that people should not be sent round more than twice the distance that the direct road would take them.

There is another line that every body is disappointed in not getting a handsome sum to explore if not to make, and that is the road through this County to Woodstock, what will £200 do? I cannot guess what our worthy member, Mr. Brown, could be thinking of, particularly as to this one, and you may be sure, Sir, that the public expects him to answer for himself about it. This is not my opinion only, for you will hear the fault found everywhere. Perhaps the certainty of the Rail Road coming down that way might have swayed with him, but great doubts are now held by this, since he did not contradict one word of the nonsense and abuse that Mr. Clinch spoke about it. If ever any elector gives his vote for Mr. Clinch again, that carries a straw for the good of the County, he ought to be flogged; but let that stand over for another day.

What is the use of the best wilderness lands in the world without roads through them and to the great towns on every side of them? Let them answer whose duty it is by every means to procure a road forward them.

Yours,

PLAINWAYS.

An insulting article, calculated to promote animosities between one part of our community and another, under the form of an advertisement, signed Michael Dunn, got inadvertently admission into our last week's paper. Its purport was calculated not only to wound the feelings of a professional gentleman who has long maintained a respectable standing in Society and an irreproachable character, but it tended to cast a shade of disrespect on a class of our fellow Christians, whose exertions, under the difficulties of the times, were directed to the improvement and extension of their sacred edifice; where it would be well for people to repair, and exhibit lessons of charity and benevolence. We are sorry that in the instance alluded to by escaping our notice, the article in question should have got publicity.

Mr. Pierce, the Editor of the Gleaner, has been entertained on his return to Miramichi at a supper by an amateur musical Society. A subsequent meeting of Magistrates and Gentlemen invited him to a public dinner, which he modestly declined; determined however to pay a compliment to the Editor for his staunch advocacy of their views, they have raised an ample subscription to import a press to be presented to him with a suitable inscription. This appropriate gift is equally worthy of the donors and the Gentlemen who has proved himself so capable of applying it to their interests.
