eye-witness thus describes the ambus-cade into which the detachment of the Fourth Bombay Rifles (consisting of 41 rifles, under Jemadar Radha Singh) fell on the Malkhanah road, near Camp Helished, East Africa, when a native officer and 27 non-commis-sioned officers and men were cut up:

We had reached the hollow beyond the old huts on the Handaruff road, and were moving with advanced guard about 50 yards in front of the main body, which was in two files, the rearguard being about 100 yards in rear.

The advanced guard had just emerged when a few of the enemy appeared close in their front. The moment they commenced to retire on the main body large bodies of the enemy sprang up in on us, separating the advanced and rear-guards from the main body. The rush on our right was immediately followed by an overwhelming rush on our left. Jemadar Radha Singh, who was just in front of the main body, had barely time to give the command

"ready" before he was struck down by five or six spears. The onslaught of the enemy was so sudden that is probable that some men were struck down before they could load their rifles. Those who could fire did so, and the bayonets as opportunity offered, and firing, retreated towards the dry bed of the lake in order to get clear of the jungle. When clear of the jungle we collected in small parties, and, firing on such parties of the enemy who attempted to pursue us, retired to-wards the camp. Some of the enemy twice attempted to pursue us in the open, but could not face our fire, and took refuge in the bush. They were not less than 400 strong, and must have lost more men than we, since at the first discharge of our rifles some twenty of them fell and several oth-

London, Oct. 4 .- The half-yearly report of the Grand Trunk Railway, just issued, shows the net traffic receipts vainly tried to escape from the palace, but was arrested by the dowager's peofor the six months to be £627,850 and the net revenue £730,672. As a matter of comparison for the same period in the previous year, the respective amounts were £559,923 and £654,395.

Adding a small balance of £15 to the surplus of the past half year leaves the total amount available for the purposes of dividend £106,667. The directors, on this favorable showing, recommended payment of the full half year's dividend on four per cent guaranteed stock, absorbing the sum of £104,395, leaving a balance of £2,-272 to add to the next half year's accounts. The passenger traffic, as compared with the same period in 1897, shows a decrease of £25,650, attributed to the cutting of rates, necessitated by the actions of competing roads. The mail service, freight, live stock and miscellaneous show, combined, an increase of £115,103. The number of passengers carried for the six months shows a falling off of 64,332, as compared with the first half year of 189%. The working expenses were £1,243,883, or 66.46 per cent; in the half year of 1897 they were £1,196,643, or 68.12 per cent. Liotard, who has just returned from the Congo, said that Major Marchand's mission had just crowned a work that had been pursued for eleven years. France was thereby able to assist in settling the Nile question. He instanced the neutrality of the Congo waterway, which had been regulated by the intervention of the powers, M. de Brazza proceeded to glorify the act of Berlin, which, he said, had in-augurated the principles of a new law founded on freedom of trade and free navigation of the great rivers of Africa. The speech is important, as it suggests that France will profess to 29 Men Surrounded by Rebels and Out open the door of the cage the bear be the champion of the open-door in Africa, as England has done in China. A semi-official statement issued by the Cologne Gazette denies the assertion made in French newspapers that the German minister of foreign affairs, Baron von Buelow, has been commanded by Emperor William to furnish the French Government with friendly explanations as to the role of Colonel Schwartzkoppen in the Dreyfus affair. COMMENT ON THE PLEBISCIT. The London Financial News says that the money expended in Canada on the prohibition plebiscit is like good

Cent on the Sick List.

Ponce, Porto Rico, Oct. 4 .- It is the well-grounded and almost unanimous opinion of the medical staff of the American army in Porto Rico that the condition of the volunteer forces here necessitates their removal north. Sickness is increasing, and has been increasing during the past three weeks, at an alarming rate. Today the sick report shows over 2,700 in hospitals or in quarters, out of a total com-mand of 10,000 men; that is, over 25 per cent of the troops are on the sick list. This, however, does not mean that there is an effective strength of 7,500 men. The soldiers discharged from the hospitals as fit for duty, in nine cases out of ten, are incapable of service. In the regular infantry regiments the sickness averages only about 10 per cent, while in the volun-

typhoid cases, which today reaches over 400. THE SPANIARDS GOING. The American commissioners to arrange for the evacuation of Porto Rico

Scene in Sanger's Circus Not on the Programme. Windsor, Oct. 4 .- The visit of Sanger's circus to Windsor on Saturday was attended by a serious accident to one of the attendants, John Jamieson, aged 20, got into the van occupied by the two performing bears, one being a polar and the other a sloth. He aroused the latter from sleep, and began to box with it. The animal squared up to him, but apparently did not relish a blow he got on the nose, and then set on the younth in earnest.

The bear got Jamieson on his back and began clawing at his head. Another attendant was quickly brought to the spot, and, seizing a board thrust it into the animal's mouth. Jamieson was thus liberated, but before he could snapped at his legs.

The injured man was removed to the infirmary, bleeding profusely from wounds on the head, back and shoulders, some of the wounds being sever-

Work of the Anglo-American Commission.

Quebec, Oct. 4.-It has been definitely settled that the Anglo-American com-mission will conclude its labors here on Friday, Oct. 14. The adjournment will last a month, when the negotiations will be resumed at Washington.

A United States commissioner, while speaking guardedly today, said the negotiations were proceeding more smoothly than he had anticipated. The future treaty now has actually passed the troublous stage. The same authority vouchsafed the information that a reciprocity schedule involving natural and manufactured products was clearly in sight.

Effort to Alter the Plan of the Victoria Hospital.

An Eleventh Hour Surprise Sprung Upon the Board.

Warm Words Indulged In All Around -Hospital Situation Remains Unchanged Other Matters of Interest Dealt With.

A sensation was sprung by Ald. Carrothers at last night's meeting of the city council shortly before adjournment. It related to hospital business, and led to an open breach between the chairman of the hospital building committee and the mayor. Some lively remarks passed. Voices were raised to a high pitch, and altogether the meeting was the most turbulent of the year. All the members were present.

The hospital business was first considered, when Ald. Carrothers read the building committee's report. No one moved its adoption.

Ald. Wilkey objected to anything being done, as he had not been notified of the committee meeting.

Warden Elson was present, and his suasive eloquence was again heard in explanation of the clause in the proposed agreement between the city and county, limiting the cost to be borne by the county to 75 cents per day.

Ald. Taylor wanted fuller information. He was not on the hospital committee, he explained, but doubted if he would be better informed, even if he that the city treasurer and creditors be requested to appear before the counwere a member. He therefore moved with regard to the city accepting $15,000 from the county under the terms offered by the committee of the county Ala. Winnett confidently assailed the wardern's statement as to the propor-tion to be paid by the county, but was obliged to back down before Mr. Elson's Socratic arguments.

Ald. Hunt moved an amendment to the 75-cent clause to provide an option of terminating the agreement on six months'- notice in event of the government grant being withdrawn, or if the cost should exceed 75 cents, the county to pay actual cost after such notice be given. Ald. McPhillips seconded. Ald. Taylor claimed this motion to be out of order. It was to shut off information, he said.

Ald. Winnett-Anything is quite in order when a certain few move it, but not if made by another few.

Ald. Hunt said he was trying to fawas lost on the following division: Yeas—Ald. McPhillips, Belton, Jolly, Stevely, Hunt, Wilkey, Gerry and the mayor-8. Nays-Ald. Taylor, O'Meara, Carrothers, Winnett, Graham, Cooper, Dreaney, Nutkins, McCallum and Greenlees-10.

Ald. Taylor's motion passed, and other business was proceeded with. But the hospital question had not been completely side-tracked. When the time for motions arrived,

Ald. Carrothers moved that the old contagious ward at the general hospital be not taken down; that the new dermen for the fifth ward to take its place be not built at strongly for the walk. present, and that the architect be no-tified to stop the work for future orders by the council. This, he said, would probably enable the committee to finish that portion of the hospital already begun for $70,000, and at the commodation for 20 years to come.

The mayor was prepared to meet you answer? the motion by a statement showing that the pavilion would cost $7,000, and that material had been delivered for its construction to the value of $2,654 03.
To leave out the new pavilion would greatly interfere with the arrangement of patients.

Ald. Carrothers-I now understand why the clerk of the works did not meet me here this afternoon to show his plans. Mr. Dodd told him Sat-urday night, he went on, that the work could be stopped, as not a bit of material was on the ground. Further, the engineer had told him the present work would not be taken off the contractors' hands. The terra cotta was fifth-class, and some of the plastering had to be pulled off.

Ald. McPhillips took Ald. Carrothers to task for bringing in his motion in lieved in paying a man for his labor, such a way. It was perfectly out of not for his name. The proper course was for it to be discussed in committee first.

Ald. Nutkins denied the statement that the terra cotta was inferior. Contractor Martyn had been unjustly dealt Ald. Gerry gets the lumber from you for the frames he makes. This caused quite a commotion.

Ald. Winnett claimed that he did not know where the lumber he sold was going. Ald. Cooper thought, in justice the citizens and to the contractors, the hospital should be finished.

Ald. Carrothers complained that his rights as chairman of the committee were interfered with by "that great I am."

The mayor askel who he referred

"It's you, I partly mean," answered Ald. Carrothers, and he berated the mayor because of his action at the time the contracts were let. The mayor referred to his exoneration, and a warm argument followed of the "You did! You didn't!" variety. Ald. Jolly was surprised at Ald.

Carrothers' action, and considered his motion out of order. He moved to refer the matter to the committee. Ald. McPhillips seconded. Carried.

Ald. Carrothers—I want the yeas and nays recorded. I challenge the right of certain members voting. All voted, however, the division be-

COMMITTEE REPORTS.

A recommendation by No. 3 committee that the Canadian Rubber Company's account be paid, a satisfactory guarantee having been furnished, was adopted. No. 2 committee had a difficult time getting the council's consent to the laying of the following: A mosaic stone walk in front of the properties of Messrs. His motion on the west side of Wellington street, from Queen's avenue north, the depth of Mr. W. J. Reid's lot, and an asphalt walk on the west side of Wellington street, between Central avenue and Pall Mall street. Ald. Dreaney said of the Dundas street walk it was in such bad hape some one would be hurt by it.

Ald. O'Meara said it meant an outlay equal to the cost of a plank walk, and it should be remembered that No. 2 committee had no funds. Ald. Taylor and Cooper agreed that the walk should not be laid. The al-dermen for the fifth ward held out

The mayor ruled that a two-thirds vote would be required unless notice of motion were given. The necessary vote was obtained and the work will be gone on with at once.

The finance committee's report was adopted. In consequence of a reference from the auditors, Ald. Douglass gave a full explanation of the peculiar check to Contractor Graham with which the names of Ald. Douglass and Engineer Graydon were connected. The explanation was entirely satisfactory, and on motion the alderman and engineer were unanimously exonerated from all blame in the matter.

DR. HUTCHINSON'S INCREASE. Ald. O'Meara pressed his motion that the salary of Medical Health Officer Ald. Wilkey said the place for these complaints to be made was in the committee.

not for his name. While Ald. O'Meara was speaking, several of the alderman left the room. He severely scored them for "sneaking out," and had them brought back.

Ald. Greenlees moved in amendment that the matter of the salary of Dr. Hutchinson be referred back to the board of health. That body was the most familiar with the health officer's duties, and therefore best able to deal with the question. The speaker considered the salary of $1,500 was not too nuch for a professional man. Ald. Graham seconded.

Ald. Taylor credited Ald. O'Meara with having some feeling in the matter, or he would not be following it up Aylmer on Saturday, and both were Ald. O'Meara quickly retorted that it cost the city something to have Ald. Taylor running around after Dr. Hut-Ald. Taylor-What to you mean, you

Ald. Cooper-Is the work on the hospital going on? Chairman Carrothers answered that the bricklayers, carpenters and painters were at work, but he believed it was not satisfactory.

Ald. McCallum asked of the chairman of the board of works if any action would be taken on a motion passed in the council some months ago concerning Mr. McFaulds' drain.

Ald. Douglass understood that typhoid fever had resulted from the condition of Carling's Creek. Did the board of health intend to have it cleaned? Ald. Taylor said no complaint had yet been made, but he promised the board would consider it. Ald. Jolly complained that a proper inspection of the streets was not maintained. He knew of several dangerous places which should be attended to. Ald. Carrothers said that the streets inspected very seldom.

Ald. McPhillips will move for a full statement of the council's present financial position. The electric lighting bylaw was read three times and passed. Adjourned at 11:15 p.m.

How many people wear black! On the street-on the cars-everywhere-the number is surprising. Some wear it through choice, the majority though, in the case of ladies, owing to the death of relatives.

When true, when pure, black is an admirable color, there's a genteel, a dignified elegance about it which arrests attention and commands respect.

In home-dyeing no color has been or is in as great demand, but not till the advent of the now justly celebrated

CANADIAN LEAGUE AVERAGES. Cal. Davis forwarded to The Advertiser on Monday the list of averages of the Canadian League players. They are compiled from official scores of games in his possession, and will be recorded as percentages in the omicial returns. Only players of ten games or more are included in the list. Where men have played in more than one position on the field, Mr. Davis has put them where they played most.

Some surprises occur in the compilation. Laroque comes second in batting with .338; Mohler, 8th; Hagerman, 11th; Smink, 12th; Meara, 14th; Keenan, 15th, and Carey 18th. Many supposed that Smink would head the Londons in Batting, but in the last dozen games his work with the stick was very poor. The home team have but three players in the .300 mark. Hamilton has five; Chatham three, and St. Thomas but two. The Railroad City has only two men in the first twenty-two players, and then four come in succession. The Londons are well up in the entire list. In fielding, the biggest surprise is Carey's average. He had more chances than any other fielder, becaue those in advance of him in put outs, played infield positions. Jones and Conklin, who have more chances, occupied infield positions in several games. average is an excellent one, considering Congalton's, as a comparison, who heads the fielders with .924. Carey's errors were nearly all made on the home grounds. Keenan leads the third basemen, having the smallest number of chances of the four players, as Rodden only played in 41 games to Keen-

Sheehan, who leads the shortstops with .910, fielded 78 more chances than Ward, and had but one more error. The averages will be of special interest to many readers, and are as follows:

to spare. When stumps were drawn on Saturday, the Britons needed 89 runs to win, with 6 wickets to fall. This they accomplished with ease. With the loss of only two more wickets they passed the Philadelphians' total of 290 for two innings, and closed the final bat with 161 for six wickets, or a total of 294 for one inning and six wickets. This gives Capt. Warner two victories over the gertlemen of Philadelphia and enables him to return to England without a defeat.

ATHLETICS.

N. Y. A. C. GAMES. New York, Oct. 1.—The annual fall athletic games of the N.Y.A.C. today at Traversis Island were brought to a successful issue in the presence of one of the largest and most select assemblages that has ever gathered round the verdant oval. The programme, which contained the names of some leading athletes in this country, was a varied one, and the games were interrational in character, inasmuch as several Canadians took part in them. Last week in Canada Blose beat Kraenzlein at the running jump, but today Kraenzlein won that event, with Bloss second, each clearing more than 23 feet. The Pennsylvania University man was in rare fettle, and he won the 120 yards won the half-mile run from scratch, ada last week, met his conqueror on 10 yards better terms today, and reversed the result of last week, winning by 12 yards, or two more than his allow ance. "This unhealthy action of my heart caused shortness of breath, weakness and debility. I tried many medicines and spent a great deal of money since I became aware of my condition, but could not get any help.

Last November, however, I read of a

Paine's Celery Compound Saves a Life After Failures With Other Medicines.

Mr. McMullin Says: "Paine's Celery Compound Worked Miracles for Me."

The Only Safe Medicine for Sick and Diseased People.

Wells & Richardson Co.: Gentlemen,-For over four years I have been in poor health, and received treatment from two doctors besides using seven kinds of patent medicines.
I also sent to New York and got a month's treatment of a special medicine, but no good results came from it. I was run down, suffered terribly, could not rest at night, and every morning had a severe pain in my back, dizziness in my head, and vomited bitter green matter, and had no appetite. I heard of Paine's Celery Compound and decided to give it a tral, and am happy to report that it worked wonders. The pains are all gone, and I rest well at night, my appetite is good, and my health is now splendid. Paine's Celery Compound has worked miracles for me. I recommend it to all sick people as the best medicine.

The Great White March.

It is a tribute to Lieut. Peary's modesty that he has not until now given the world a complete narrative of his heroic adventures in the polar regions-especially when he has shown that he can describe them so well. Meut. Peary may be called the pioneer of modern Arctic exploration. He has changed its character. He has placed it on a scientific basis, and has marked out lines of future progress which promise success if success is possible. He has made five expeditions to the frozen north, extending over 12 years, and with the accumulated experience of these he is attempting once more What men have tried in vain for four centuries-to reach the mystic pole.

Peary's book is one of absorbing interest and rare literary merit. It is full of vivid word-pictures. Of Greenland, the Arctic Sahara, he says in part:

"There, the accumulated snow precipitation of centuries, in a latitude and altitude where it is practically correct to say that it never rains and the snow does not melt even in the long summer day, has gradually filled all the valleys of the interior, until it has leveled them even with the mountain summits, and still piling higher centuries, has at last through the buried the highest of these mountain summits hundreds, and even thousands, of feet deep in snow and ice."

Peary, like Nansen and Jackson, holds the theory that Greenland is the open door through which the pole will be reached. It forms the nearest land to the pole, the distance between the pole and the extreme north of Greenland being estimated at 400 miles-a frozen sea. The Eskimos have their northernmost habitation there, and it is with their aid that Peary hopes to reach his goal. He does not believe in large parties. For his final stage he would have three conditions-the inland ice for a road, dogs for traction, and a party of two. In this way he made his long sledge journey in 1892. He claims to be the originator of the idea of utilizing the dogs themselves as dog food, and his experience proves that this enables the original load of provisions to last a much longer time. As an extreme resort the two men could subsist for four or five days on the flesh of the last dog, this dog having previously eaten all his comrades.

The trials and hardships of the traveler in the Arctic Circle are described with a realism which only experience could furnish. Such is the intensity of the light when the sun is shining on the white surface, that a man in midsummer, with no means of protecting end of a day as a blind kitten. The traveler upon the "Great Ice" must constantly wear goggles of heavilysmoked glass. Says Lieut. Peary:

"In clear weather, the traveler upon this white waste sees but the snow, the sky, the sun. In cloudy weather, even these disappear. Many a time I have found myself in such weather traveling in gray space, feeling the snow beneath my shoes, but unable to see it. No sun, no sky, no snow, no horizon-absolutely nothing that the eye could rest upon. Zenith and nadir alike, an intangible gray nothingness. My feet and snow shoes ere sharp and clear as silhouettes, nd I was sensible of contact with the now at every step, yet as far as my s gave me evidence to the contrary as walking upon nothing. The beneath my snow shoes was ly as light as the zenith. light which filled the sphere of n might come om below as well

The wind on the creat Ice" is never quiescent. Day and night, summer and winter, it is sweeping down with more or less velocity. Thus:

"During gentle breezes this drift is of almost impalpable fineness, and extends but a foot or two above the sur-As the wind increases in force the particles of snow become coarser and the depth of the current of flying snow increases until in the savage blizzards of the frozen Sahara this drift becomes a roaring, hissing, blinding, suffocating Niagara of snow."

A stirring passage is that which describes a nine days' march in the teeth of a head wind at an altitude of 6,000. Tired with the combat against the elements the party lay down behind 48 hours with the wind and snow driving in "one incessant sullen roar" above them. "Inen we crawled out shallow pit, covered it with a rubber with the sledges, threw our bags underneath and crawled after them."

does not regard the cold as more inimical to health to a man suitably clothed and well fed than an English winter. He passed two winters in Arctic gloom, during both of which that a man of sanguine temperament, with self-contained resources, feels it least, while on the other hand there are nervous temperaments upon bring complete and interal insanity. The return of the sun after the long arctic night inspires a glowing pas-

"It was now 11:45 a.m., and the southern sky was a mass of crimson, rose, purple and green clouds. There was one dazzling yellow spot where the sun was about to burst into view. fell upon the highest bluff of Northumberland Island west of us. A min- thrust arbitration down the throat of ute later Cape Robinson, to the north-west blazed with a crown of glory, and then the great yellow orb, for whose coming we had so longed, peered over the prelude to approaching strife coming we had so longed, peered over the ice-cap south of Whale Sound. In an instant the snow waves of the island ice about us danced a sea of sparkling, molten gold. Neither gold, nor fame, nor aught can purchase from me the supreme memory of that moment, when on the ice-cap, far above the earth, with the rustling of the Stars and Stripes in my ears, I laughed with the laughing waves of the great white sea, in greeting to the returning sun." "The Great White March" is the apt name he gives to the frozen expanse which lies between the north of Greenland and the pole. It is this unknown, mysterious sea of ice and snow which the discoverer of the pole must cross. Mr. Peary's crowning achievement so far is the crossing of the inland ice to northern shores of Greenland, where he looked out upon this "Great White March." His journey was full, terrible dangers from storms, hunger, cold, and, marvelous to relate, heat. In fact, the heat became so great that he had to take a snow bath to cool his blood. This was at the northern terminus of their journey; and here, too, they found an casis in the desert of snow. To quote again;

"During our traverse of this northern land, I found flowers of numerous varieties blooming in abundance, conspicuous among them, the ever present Arctic poppy. Snow-buntings, two or three sand-pipers, a single Greenland falcon, and a pair of ravens were observed. Two bumble-bees, several butterflies, and innumerable flies were also noted. Without making any search whatever, we saw about 20 musk-oxen along our route. We could have obtained all of them without the least difficulty, and as it was we killed two fine cows, a bull and a calf. The musk-oxen were shedding their long, fine wool, and the long hair on their hind quarters. We found the stomachs of the cows were filled full of

At this point the party turned south again through ice and snow and fog. Some interesting chapters are devoted to the Eskimos, their character and customs. They have no form of government; each family is independent and self-supporting. The wife; like an ordinary piece of personal property of the husband, may be sold, exchanged, loaned, or borrowed, as a sledge or a canoe. In their favor it must be said that the children and the aged and infirm are well taken care of, and parental affection is very strong. Lieut. Peary, in his present expedition, will camp on the old trail, thoroughly convinced that if the pole is to be reached, the final passage must be across the "Great White March," from Greenland. Will he cross the frozen gulf?

"Holy Russia."

It is difficult for western minds to understand the exact position of the Czar of all the Russias. To many of us he is merely a "war lord," an autocrat at the head of an army numbering a million of patient, obedient would be as helpless at the soldiers. This, however, is not the view of their emperor which bulks largest in the view of the Russian people. To thousands, nay millions, of his subjects, who have not been touched by the modern spirit, he is "The Little Father"-a sort of demigod, to be obeyed and in a measure worshipped. There are, of course, among the cultured classes, those who accept Madame Novikof's "Gospel of Autocracy," and, in a more refined way, cherish practically the same thing. To these people it is quite natural that the Czar should speak as an oracle on questions of peace and war to an attentive and wondering

The Czar is the head of the Church of Russia, as well as of the army, and his throne is the center of moral influence as well as of administrative power. In Russia the priest is called papa or pope, but the real pope is the Czar, and there is the ecclesiastical as well as civil council round the chair, and it may be that there is a power behind the throne. Protestants can understand the Pope, the acknowledged head of millions of Catholics, using his power in the interests of peace, and can regret that he has in that line attained such a small measure of success, but we do not so readily grasp the religious side of the Russian Emperor's position. To do this we must remember the half-barbarous condition sian Empire. The Russian people Daily Chronicle, of London, describing proper are essentially religious, and terrible condition of the Dukhoand semi-oriental nature of the Rustheir sledges and fell asleep. When have great faith in their divine mission; but millions of them have still snowed under, and there they lay for the low, poor life which came from they have been reduced systematically centuries of serfdom. They may call themselves citizens of "Holy Russia," but it cannot be said that their life during a lull in the storm and dug a is of the highest kind, or that holiness in this connection means spiritblanket, excavated our sledges and ual elevation or moral purity. Mosbags, weighted the blanket down cow, with its more than 400 churches and ecclesiastical buildings, is an Oriental city; but to the Russian patriot Strange as it may seem, Mr. Peary it is the heart of his holy country, while St. Petersburg is only the window by which Russia looks out upon

Europe. All this must be borne in mind when we consider the position of the Czar his wife was with him. During one of and the effect of his peace proclamathem his little girl was born. He says tion at home or abroad. All profess to be in favor of peace. Queen Vicfull of plans for the future, gifted toria is known to have exerted a consistent and powerful influence in that direction. Kaiser William loves peace so much that he is adding largely to which the stress of Arctic night would the already heavy burdens of his peoless boon. And now the successor of Peter the Great appears as the chief apostle of peace. This proclamation causes some to tremble lest the peace should soon be broken. Soon after the first international exhibition, which was to usher in an era of peace, fierce wars broke out. In our own day, the attempt of President Cleveland to

This, however, we must add, in a line with what has gone before-the people of the west take this proclamation on its own merit and mete out to it fair if severe criticism. To them it is not an ex-cathedra utterance, to be received in silence and wonder. The modern world must work out its problems in its own way. Papal utterances and imperial proclamations are factors in the situation, but not the final ruling powers. There may be much in democracy not very satisfactory, and parliamentarians may in some cases be in a bad way, but we cannot find refuge in any so-called "gospel of autocracy," but must continue the strife for the form of life which unites the purest form of social life with the highest measure of individual freedom. This will, in the end, we believe, bring the most lasting peace to the world.

The American war department will disinter the bodies of dead soldiers in Cuba and bring them home. The critics of the department will probably say that it is more solicitous for the dead than it was for the living.

Mr. John A. Ewan, the Toronto Globe's special correspondent in Cuba during the war, was tendered a banquet and presented with a gold watch on Saturday night by his friends. Many distinguished citizens of Toronto were present. Mr. Ewan was honored by all for voluntarily braving the hardships of the campaign, and his excellent journalistic work was deservedly praised. His letters were the best that Canadians had from the front. They are vivid pictures of the war, as seen by an impartial eye. Mr. Ewan did credit to himself and Canadian jour-

The caste of wealth will be easier crossed, hasty marriages will lessen, passion will take a secondary place, deliberation and the better qualities of a woman's love will have play in making homes as well as in blessing them, and virtuous womanhood will always be at a marriageable age when women propose.

LIGHT AND SHADE.

The Reason.

Poet-Why is it that you never print anything that I write? Editor-Well, I guess it must be because you never write anything that I print .- Life.

I'll never sink a Merrimac. I'll never do a thing For which my fellow-men will want To make the welkin ring,

So blithe the birds sang in the trees, The trees sang in the wind, I winged me with the morning breeze, And left care far behind,

But now both birds and trees are mute In the hot hush of noon; And I must up and on afoot, Or Care will catch me soon.

Terrible Speedily Cured By CUTICURA

My baby was about four weeks old when he began to suffer from that terrible disease, Eczema. I tried every remedy I thought would do him good. I even called in the doctor who told me it would wear away in time, but I used his medicine to no account. I did not know what to do with him. He cried all the time and his face was equal to a raw piece of meat, it was horrible, and looked as if there was never any skin on it. I had to carry him around on a pillow. I was fairly discouraged. I was then recommended to use CUTICURA REMEDIES. The first time I used them I could see the change. I used about half a box of CUTIOURA (ointment), and not one half cake of CUTICURA SOAP, and at the end of one short week my baby was entirely cured. There has never been a trace of it since, to-day his skin is as smooth and soft as a piece of silk. Mrs. J. C. FREESE, Feb. 21, '98. 360 Sc. 1st St., Brooklyn, E. D.

The relic-hunters ought to have been with Gen. Kitchener. There were specimens of every stage in the evolution of arms of precision, basket shields from Equatoria, Mogara drums from Bahr-el-Gazal, camel equipments by the hundred, sword bayonets from the Hicks expedition, flint-locks, a brass bell from the Khartoum Church, and an old Crusader pikeman's helmet.

The official announcement has been made that the Manitoba and Northwestern Railway has changed owners. The president of the new company is Mr. E. B. Osler, and the vice-president, Mr. W. Clouds of the Little Chaps Swarm Over Kansas, Driven Out of Colorado by the Fires.

INVASION of insects zW 6..6 6.... Wichita, Kan., Oct. 4.—Several hours before sunset last evening there began to arrive here, flying low over the city, a cloud of insects, comprising grass-hoppers, wasps, bald hornets, several varieties of butterflies and bald bees. They are drifting slowly with a light breeze towards the southeast, the lowest flying wasps and hornets clustering in great numbers about the peaks and spires of higher buildings. The clouds of winged creatures extending into the air to the limits of vision overhead was passing for hours. It is thought the insect visitation is due to the forest fires in Colorado, the insects, it is supposed, being driven from their haunts in advance of the flames.

THE CIGAR MEN

Meet in Conference at Toronto-Trade Injured by "Underground" Business.

Toronto, Oct. 4.-The second annual meeting of the Dominion Cigar Manufacturers' Association began at the board of trade this morning, with the president, J. Bruce Payne, in the chair. The first was the cancellation of the member ship in the association of the National Cigar Association, the latter having sent a letter repudiating any connec-

A letter was then read from the minister of inland revenue, in reply to a petition from the association stating that he was still of the mind that a rebate of the duty on cuttings, as requested by the association would not be in the public interest.

The president's address should have followed, but owing to the non-arrival of the London delegation was postponed till the afternoon, a paper on "The Inland Revenue System," by Mr. J. M. Fortier, Montreal, being substitut-

The president's address dealt with the work of the year and the reports of heavy smuggling of cigars and tobaccos from Havana and Porto Rico by way of Halifax. This smuggling, was said, has been so heavy as to seriously cut into the business, and at present "underground cigars" are the staple in the eastern provinces. operation with the government to stop the traffic was suggested. The meeting also declared in favor of an increase in the duty on imported cigars from $3 and 25 per cent to $4 50 and 25 per cent, the same as the American duty. Ever since the duty was raised from $2 to $3, cheap Manila and German cigars are being brought in. These sell at the place of production for about $10 a thousand, so that even with the present duty they can sell here for 10 cents each, and if they have the imported stamp the public purchase them under the impression that they are genuine Havana cigars. The Havana industry is growing rapidly in Canada; high wages are paid, and a good cigar is turned out. This matter will receive the chief attention of the executive during the year.

A notice of motion was given that the association will apply for incorporation.

CHAPTER XXXIL

Society's sympathies were once more aroused for the Earl of Lethrington. Wasevera man so unfortunate. It seemed fate. His first wife had been seized with brain fever at the wedding breakfast; and now, so brief a period after his second union, his new bride was prostrated by a low, dangerous fever.

The on dit went that the counters' maid, going to prepare her ladyship's toilet for dinner, had found the door locked. Retiring, she had waited, until, surprised at not being summoned, though the first bell had rung, she had ventured to knock.

Receiving no reply, she had grown alarmed, and dispatched my lord's valet to my lord with the intelligence. The earl, having first himself tested the maid's assertion, had ordered the door to be broken open, when Lady Lethrington had been discovered on the carpet in a dead faint, which, notwithstanding the medical aid and the restoratives applied, had lasted some hours, finally giving place to feverish exhaustion. Dr. Cullam stated that the signs were as those observed when the nervous system had received a very severe shock. The peril lay in the chance of the patient succumbing to this prostration for the lack of the physical power or inclination to cast it off. Every care must be taken; it was absolutely imperative that her ladyship should kept perfectly quiet. Even it would be best did the earl himself not visit her much, as she must on no account be allowed to talk, however she might

But the countess evidently had no such desire. She made no attempt to speak to anyone, not even her husband, whose visits generally were so very unfortunate as to be always when she was asleep.

"I cannot make it out," the nurse once remarked. "Her ladyship was awake not five minutes ago."

On one occasion, though at the risk of disturbing her, Gerard could not refrain from stooping, and imprinting a kiss on her forehead. He started back, fearing he had aroused her, so violent a vibration had ran through her frame.

To Lucille, that kiss had been like the contact of hot iron. She shrank from it in agony. This apparent lethargy, from which nothing seemed to rouse her, perplexed a physician Nevertheless La day was approaching nearer to conva-It was when she had almost reached that stage that she persisted in the nurse bringing pens, ink and paper, when she wrote as follows: 'Dearest Gerard,-However strange the contents of this letter may appear, bear with it. I entreat you, and grant me compliance. I am getting bettermuch better; but I must get well-quite well, and speedily. Your presence hinders this. It excites my brain. Will you, then, mind refraining from coming until I am stronger and able to up and speak to you? Ever yours, she pleaded, passionately. Sealing it, she ordered it to be given to the earl when he arose the next As may be concluded, he read it with wonderment. He recognized the possible wisdom of the request; but he could not under-stand the affection that imposed it. Yet he knew that Lucille loved him. Reperusing the note, after the fashion of a lover, he was also struck by its entire lack of those terms a fond wife is in the habit of using when addressing her husband.

wife. Gerard."

Somehow the letter chilled his heart; nevertheless, he obeyed it, feeling, as she said, the period of recovery might rest upon his acceding. So he wrote:
"My Darling,—All shall be as you wish, though the not seeing you is a deprivation I shall find it difficult to support. Yours devotedly, my sweet

Lucille shed bitter tears over that scrap of paper. Still, she knew she must be firm; that now it would be willful sin did she receive Gerard as her husband, even if she took his hand again before he knew all.

So she lay on her couch, slowly gaining strength for the trying confession that had to be made, while he, ill, rest-less, anxious, shut himself alone in his study, ignorant of the fearful blow

A week of this separation; then Lucille, convalescent, though not strong, determined to delay the moment no longer. Though she shrunk from it, the suspense was equally insupport-

Thus one morning, rising and being dressed, she passed into her boudoir, from whence she sent a message to the earl that she would be glad to see

He received the summons with de-light, and hastened to comply. As Lucille heard his approaching footsteps a deathly faintness seized her; she sank back in her chair, pallid to the lips. In her soft, white dressing-gown, and with her hair brushed smoothly from her brow, she looked like one prepared for the grave. Would she be able to go through with the trial awaiting her?

Eagerly extending her hand for a glass of restorative mixture she had had placed near, she drank some with avidity. The effect was magical to her nerves, nevertheless her appearance was such as to thoroughly alarm the earl as he entered.

"My dearest love!" he ejaculated, hastening forward. "Great heaven! they have deceived me! Each morning they said you were getting better. My poor Lucille.'

He would have stooped to kiss herto clasp her in his arms; but with a look of horror, a sharp cry of fear, she thrust him back with both her hands. "No, no," she exclaimed; "no, Gerard, never again. Ah! you do not know. Heaven help us two-may it pity you and forgive me!"

He drew back thunderstruck. "Luckle!" he cried, "what is this? You repel me thus—you, my wife!"
"No, no!" she ejaculated, wringing her hands in bitter agony. "Gerard, I must tell you all. I must-I must! I have brought vou here for the purpose; but oh, it is terrible!" Then, as he stood with perturbed amaze before her, his brows contracted with pain and dismay, dropping on her knees, burying her scarlet face in her hands, she continued: "Gerard, I have deceived you. With no evil intent, as heaven is my witness; but it is so. Punishment surely follows sin, and mine has come upon- me. Gerard, I have sinned, and made you sin, but in ignorance."

"Lucille!" he interrupted, passionately, "you are torturing me-maddening me! What is it you mean? I entreat you, speak!

"I will-I will!" sobbed the unhappy woman. "Gerard, for the love of heaven's charity, do not in your first anger curse me-it would be my death. Do not curse, for willfully I am not guilty. But—" she hesitated; her fearful revelation seemed to rend her graceful frame, as some fierce subterranean fire tortures the beautiful earth until it bursts forth, scattering desolation around.

The earl did not speak. What could he say? He felt stunned by this awful suspense, as he who waits the avalanche he may not escape. Then in low, broken accents, yet fearfully distinct to the listener, came the words:

"Before I met you-I-I had married another! I believed, I was assured, my husband was dead; but, heaven!—he lives! I saw him alive at Burlington House!"

Gerard uttered no word at first, only one loud, startled cry, as, reeling back from the speaker, he dropped, paralyzed, overwhelmed, into a chair. Lucille, too terrified to meet his gaze, sobbing, crouched lower, until her head rested on the floor.

A silence ensued, a silence during which the sensations of the husband and wife were such no pen could have described. Then the earl arose. He so staggered, however, that he had to grasp the chair for support. His haggard eyes were riveted on the woman at his feet, and when he spoke his tones were thick and indistinct, as if his tongue had lost the proper power of

"This is some horrible nightmare!" he exclaimed. "It must be. Lucille, as you value your honor and mine, confess it."

'Would that I could-would that I dared!" was the piteous moan.
"You cannot!" he cried; "then it is true. You wedded with me-you, the wife of another." "Not knowingly, but in ignorance," lieve that I thought him dead, that he had been drowned a rew months after our marriage. I saw in the paper that his ship was wrecked by a cyclone in the Indian Ocean, and that he was among those who perished. Gerard, once I had your love; it can, I am aware, be mine no longer. Still, you know my nature. Do not," she implorthink me less innocent than I am? pain must exceed yours, for what there is is mine. Rather would have died than brought shame on you. Economical Suggestions for Women and Girls.

The hat and bonnet, with its trimmings of feathers, mobons or velvet, the silk neck scarf and tie, the cape, jacket, blouse, waist, skirt, sash and stockings, are all outward articles of feminine attire costing considerable money, and demand close attention, so that daily neatness and good taste be maintained from day to day.

When articles of everyday wear such as we have mentioned become faded and dingy, they are usually cast aside by the inexperienced and careless, who forget that the garments are still whole and yet serviceable. A few economical suggestions at this time will be useful.

Thriftly, wise and economical women and girls know just what to do when confronted with such a problem. They have a full knowledge of what can be done with the wonderful Diamond Dyes, those marvelous money-savers, and they act accordingly. They use Fast Black Diamond Dyes prepared specially for feathers, which give a deep, rich and lasting black, making the feathers equal to new ones. Their gloves are quickly made new creations by the Diamond Dyes. The faded Jac-ket, cape, blouse, skirt and stockings are magically transformed to suit the taste of the wearer. Wise women know well that failures are impossible when the popular Diamond Dyes are used, as the manufacturers provide a special black dye for feathers, and special dyes for silk, wool, all cotton, and for every make of mixhealth and Beauty...

MR. SANIAL UN SOCIALISM

New York Labor Leader Addresses a London Audience.

"International Socialism" was the subject upon which Mr. Lucien Sanial, of New York, addressed about 150 ladies and gentlemen in the Music Hall last night, under the auspices of Section London of the Social Labor Party of Mr. Fred Darch presided, and in introducing the speaker, referred to the socialistic party in this city which, although having only cast 126 ballots at the last provincial election, would, he said, at the next election, be vastly more prominent. He introduced the speaker of the evening as the great representative of the American Social Labor Party, who in the mayoralty election in New York city in 1897 re ceived 14,469 votes.

Mr. Lucien Sanial began by commenting on the party's good beginning in this city, and contrasted it with Germany 30 years ago, when the first socialist votes were polled. There were only 62 then, but today there are 800,-000. In France, out of 29 seats, socialists carried 24. Belgium, a few years ago, was practically disfranchised, but last year 534,000 socialists wrung the reins of power from the tyrannical government of Beigium, and repealed the laws. The United States and Canada could not remain behind in the onward march. The speaker gave a lucid explanation of the trades policy and the social system, and the remedy for the existing wrongs. Under the old regime it was government of the law, by the law and for the law. The government at present was of capitalist, and by the capitalist, but the government under sosocialism would be by the people, of the people, and for the people. socialists' attitude on the labor question had caused the resignation of four of the recent prime ministers of the French Republic, and one of the presidents. He instanced the effective strike of the miners of Carmaux, France, as an example that before socialism could be effective, men must be united in a common cause for the good of all. He characterized the majority of labor unionists as men who were in it for all they could get out of it, and too often used the power the unions created to serve their own dirty political ends. At the close of his address several questions were asked, which the speaker answered in a very satisfactory manner.

During the evening Mrs. E. Weston recited "The Battle Hymn of Labor" in a most pleasing way, and F. J. Appleton made a brief speech, in which he stated that labor unions had outlived their day of usefulness.

LEPER MISSION. The October meeting of the leper mission was held in Somerset Hall Monday afternoon. Mrs. Robertson, the president, had charge of the meeting and gave an instructive and helpful Bible reading on the subject of God's love. An article from the pen of Miss Lila Watt, dealing with the work of the Canadian auxiliaries, was read by Miss Purdom, and contained many useful suggestions for future work, while at the same time giving a short sketch of past work. Miss Ethel Gunn very materially added to the enjoyment of the meeting by rendering most effectively the inspiring missionary solo, "Go Forth."

WEST LONDON E. L. One of the most interesting and largest meetings of the West London Methodist Church Young People's Society was held last night. A reception service and election of officers were two features of the evening's meeting. During the past year the league has lost many valuable workers, and thus it was a year of hard labor for the officers, who so faithfully rallied around our motto, "Look Up, Lift Up, for Christ and the Church." The meeting was opened by hymn and prayer, after which Miss Spence sang a solo in her usual pleasing manner. The pastor, Rev. A. G. Harris, gave an excellent address on "Our Pledges," to which seventeen new members signed their names. The following officers were elected for the next six months: Honorary president, Rev. A. G. Harris; president, Mr. Ed Wilkins; first vice-president, Miss Sharp; second vice, Miss Harris; third vice, Miss Spence; fourth vice, Miss A. Greenway; secretary, Mr.Percy Wilkins; treasurer, Miss Graham; organist, Miss Flo Ware. The new president was received with a warm welcome, to which he replied in a timely and good address on the new year's work. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered the retiring officers, and was acknowledged by the retiring president, Miss Flo Ware, who thanked the league for the good attention that was given to her in her labors.

A very pleasant and successful entertainment was held in the Beechwood school, school section No. 6, East Williams, on Fiday evening, Sept. 30. Duing the evening, the teacher, Mr. Hugh McGougan, was presented with a kindly-worded address and a Standard Dictionary, in two handsomely-bound volumes, the gift of his pupils. Mr. McGougan is leaving the school to attend the medical school in London.

Happy Social Evening at First Presby terian Church

The Rev. W. J. Clark was the guest of the evening last night at the First Presbyterian Church.

A very enjoyable reception and conversazione was given for him by the ladies of the congregation in the lecture room.

The opportunity of joining to welcome Mr. Clark was fully made use of. and a very large number were there to meet him and to testify their appreciation of his recent decision to decline the call to Erskine Church, Toronto, and to remain the pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. The hall was very tastefully decorated with flowers, set off by the national leaf in its most gorgeous autumnal tints.

During the evening speeches complimentary to Mr. Clark were made by Mr. Robert Reid. Mr. W. C. Ferguson and Mr. McLeay, the latter making a capital chairman. Mr. Clark responded in a vigorous and interesting speech, in which he held up the ideal relationship between pastor and people The following programme, under the direction of Mr. Barron, agreeably enlivened the proceedings, after which those present enjoyed the hearty hospitality for which the ladies of First Church are famous:

FORCIBLE ADDRESS

By Rev. Morgan Wood, in the First Congregational Church-"The Good Old Days, or the World on the

A fairly large audience assembled in the First Congregational Church last night to hear Rev. Morgan Wood, the noted Toronto divine, lecture on "The Good Old Days, or the World on the Move." The reverend gentleman's addresses always leave a favorable impression upon his hearers. His remarks are marked by earnestness and frequent outbursts of eloquence, calculated to carry conviction to the minds of his hearers. His flow of language, force of utterance, remain un-

Rev. Mr. Wood, in his graphic way, described both sides of the question as to whether the world was becoming worse or advancing. Pessimistic persons, speakers and press were throwing broadcast on all sides the statemen that the world was not as good as in the days of their forefathers a century ago. The matter with these persons was that they had a narrow horizon of observation. The speaker contended that the world had made its most rapid strides in the last century, especially in the last quarter, which he described as the golden quarter of advancement. A number of forcible illustrations were given, which showed clearly that the world was advancing, both in Christianity and scientific research. The march forward had been rapid and steady. The church was now stronger than at any previous period, and he

DR. CHASE MAKES A WONDERFUL CURE

Mrs. Knight, 17 Hanover Place, Toronto, makes the following statement :-

Y mother, Mrs. Wright, who lives at Norval, near Doncaster, suffered a summer and winter with Eczema in her feet. She could not walk, and very seldom got any sleep. It became so bad that she was perfectly raw from the toes to the knees. After trying every available remedy without receiving any benefit, and almost hopeless of relief, she was advised to try Dr. Chase's Ointment. She has altogether used 8 boxes since commencing, but with the happiest results, for she is now completely cured. There is but one scar on one of her feet, a memento of her fearful suffering condition. Any person desiring further testimony in this case is at liberty to communicate with Mrs. Wright at her address, Norval P.O. Mrs. Knight says after such a grand success, is it any wonder we recom Dr. Chase's Ointment?

The Secret

If other merchants had bought their Autumn Dress Goods and Millinery in September, when Mr. Kingsmill bought ours, instead of away back early in the summer, their styles would be three months newer than they are--but they didn't = and so their styles are no longer the proper styles.

believed the ministers were better equipped today than ever before. Much intellectual rubbish had been cleared away, and Christianity simplified. The church was a workshop, and the product therefrom was the making of human character. In closing, the speaker expressed a hope that the Congregational Church would wield a mighty influence before God, and that a great work would be accomplished. Everyone who was fortunate to hear the address pronounced it excellent. At the close Rev. Mr. Pedley heartly thanked Mr. Wood for rendering his services gratis to help along the

AUDITORS' REPORT

Laid Before the Water Commissioners -Receipts $33,000: Expenses $30,000.

The water commissioners met in egular session yesterday afternoon, and disposed of some small matters. On E. H. Cowen's application for a main on Wellington street, between Victoria and Regent streets, Engineer Moore reported that it would cost $650 to lay such main, and there were only two houses in the block, from which $12 a year in rates would be secured. The work will not be done unless the property owners contribute to the cost of construction, or pay an annual rental in addition to ordinary rates. On recommendation of Engineer Moore, Street Watering Contractor Morkin will have to pay one-third of the cost of repairing a hydrant which he is said to have broken.

Auditors Jewell and Cottrell presented their report for the quarter ending August 31. The receipts, which amounted to $33,337 36, included a balance of $4,044 75 in the Bank of Toronto; $16,656 25 for water rates, and $12,000 for debenture issue. The expenses amounted to $30,393 78, the cipal item being $997 47 for workshop, $1,375 80 for pumphouse maintenance. $2,901 34 for grounds and dam, $1,311 20 for meters and hydrants, $1,172 91 for lead pipe, $2,606 31 for spring extensions, $5,841 16 for building and repairs and $1,132 25 for salaries. balance to the credit of the board in Julia Arthur's Second Visit to London in "A Lady of Quality"-"A Bache lor's Honeymoon" for Thursday-"Uncle Dick's" Performance Last Evening.

MISS JULIA ARTHUR. The return of Miss Arthur to this city for a one-night's engagement next Monday night, Oct. 10, and her production of the magnificent stage masterpiece, "A Lady of Quality," will undoubtedly attract to the Opera House one of the largest audience it has ever held. Miss Arthur's appearance here will always be remembered. It is safe to say that the stage of the Opera House never held more beautiful scenic effects than she produced here. Miss Arthur is distinctly a Canadian actress. She comes supported by the same excellent company as supported her last year, with but two exceptions, and the performance will in every way be as magnificent as last year.

"A BACHELOR'S HONEYMOON." "A Bachelor's Honeymoon" is a three-act farce, written by John Stapleton. It has been played with great success in New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Washington, Pittsburg and San Francisco, and a few of the provincial cities. It began its second season a few weeks ago, and will come here and appear at the Grand on Thursday evening. This is the period for comedy. "A Bachelor's Honeymoon" is a vehicle of fun. There is a demand from all theatrical quarters and by all local managers for comedy, and who fully wish that comedy were in complete possession of the boards. Miss Villa McLeod will enact the part of Juno Joyce, an actress, and doubtless she will be an admirable successor to the late Berenice Wheeler, who lost her life on the La Burgogne a few weeks ago.

Sol Smith Russell made his annual appearance at the Grand last night. and was, of course, welcomed by a large audience-a rich tribute to Mr. Russell, considering the heat. The popular comedian noted this fact in his quaint little curtain speech, which his admirers demanded. The play, "Uncle Dick," is like all Mr. Russell's productions-sweet, wholesome, idvilic. It is, of course, written to fit Mr. Russell's peculiarities, but it will not rank with "The Poor Relation," "Peaceful Valley," or the other whimsical favorites which the public learned to love. Mr. Russell made the best of his role, and was perfectly sup-

CITY HALL NOTES

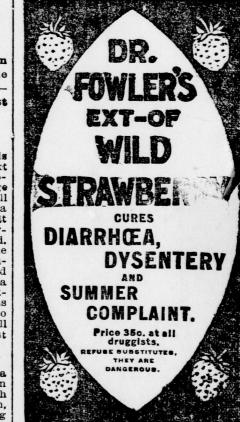

Contractors Harding & Leathorne have been anxious to begin work on the syphon section of the sewer system for the past two weeks, but have been delayed because Mr. John Taylor, the owner of some of the property between Evergreen avenue and the coves, has not yet turned his deed over to the city. The engineer was willing to proceed with the work without waiting for the deed, if Mr. Taylor would waive the right to consider such action an acceptance of the title, but Mr. Taylor refused to consent. The deed is not yet at hand, and two weeks of fine weather have passed by. How much longer the obstruction will exist is not known, and meanwhile the inconvenience to the contractors and engineers is annoying. War was openly declared between Ald. Carrothers and the mayor last night. The causus belli is not of recent origin, apparently. Ald. Carrothers' impeachment of the mayor at the council meeting revealed the part the latter's course at the time the contracts were let for the new hospital plays in the present conflict. The facts all came to light at the time, and the mayor was exonerated by the council. But it seems that Ald. Carrothers was not satisfied.

Building permits have been issued to John Clark, Euclid avenue, and E. J: Williams, 463 Simcoe street for additions to residences.

Work was begun yesterday leveling off South street, where the trunk sewer was laid. Later the street will be

A neighbor advised me to try Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, stating that his wife had used it for a throat trouble with the best results. Acting on this advice, I procured the medicine, and less than half a bottle cured me; I certainly believe it saved my life. was with reluctance that I consented to a trial, as I was reduced to such a state that I doubted the power of any remedy to do me good.
