China Did Not Understand.

China does not understand the Japanese sincerity and argument. Despite Japan's peaceful persuasion for over three months and our explanations that Japan is actuated by an earnest desire to secure a peaceful settlement and that we desired to restore Kiao Chau to China, subject to some fair conditions, not only has she failed to reciprocate our sentiment of accommodation and conciliation, but she gave it no favorable consideration and she demanded unconditional restoration of Kiao Chou and also compensation by Japan for unavoidbattles in Shan Tung Still Hopes For Peace.

Forty Five More Survivors Reported At Queenstown, But These May Be Included in Previous Estimate— Little Hope of Further Escapes.

The Horror Summarized

The latest available information indicates that about two-thirds of the persons on board the Lusitania lost their lives. The number of passengers is giv en by the Cunard steamship representatives in New York, as 1,254, and of the crew as 665, a total of 1,919. The number of survivors now accounted for is 703. This indicates a death list of 1,216.

Hopes that the list of persons saved may be materially increased were dashed by an announcement from the British admiralty that all but one of the rescue fleet that put out from Queenstown had report ed, and that there was little pros-pect of news of further survivors. Nevertheless, inquiries are being made all along the coast in the hope that other rescues may have been made by small craft which put in at isolated points. Of the 290 first-class passengers it is now believed only 76 were saved. No word has been received of Alfred Gwynne Vanderbitt, Charles Frohman and other prominent men who were aboard. The story of the Lusitania came in slowly, owing partly to the confusion prevailing at Queenstown, where most of the survivors were landed. No Information was avail able as to how many of the Americans on the Lusitania had gone Stories told by survivors seemed to confirm the earlier report that the Lusitania had been struck by two torpedoes. Ambassador Gerard at Berlin was directed to make inquiries of the German Government concerning the sinking of the Lusitania. While the situation is regarded at Washington as a serious one, on account of loss of American lives, it is expected the Government will await the receipt of official information from Germany before deciding upon further steps.

[Canadian Press.] London, May 8-2:15 p.m.-"The press bureau is informed by the admiralty that no more reports regarding the Lusitania have been received, and that the number of survivors already given may be regarded as approximately correct.

'Inquiries are being made along the coast, but there is little hope of news of further survivors." This statement was given out by the admiralty today.

An admiralty statement given out in London shortly before 6 o'clock this morning placed the number of Lusitania survivors at 658.

At 1:50 p.m. there was received in London a report from Ireland to the effect that 45 more survivors had been brought into Queenstown.

If these 45 persons were not included in the total of 658 announced by the admiralty, the total of recorded survivors up to the present time is therefore 703. The best available information sets forth that the Lusitania had on board 1,251 passengers and a crew of 816. This gives a total of 2,067 souls on board the liner when she was torpedoed. The known survivors being 703, the list of dead would

London, May 8 .- Fifteen hundred persons lost their lives, the British admiralty estimates, when the Cunard liner Lusitania was torpedoed yesterday afternoon off Old Head, Kinsale, on the Irish coast.

The known survivors number only 658, while there were 2,160 souls aboard the great liner when she was attacked. Of those who were saved, 595 were landed at Queenstown, and 11 at Kinsale, while 52 others are reported to be aboard a steamer. All but one of the rescue fleet of torpedo-boats, tugs and trawlers which went out from Queens town have reported. There is a slender hope that fishing boats may have rescued a few more.

In addition to the living brought ashore, the bodies of 45 who died of injuries or were drowned have been landed at Queenstown. Five more are at Kinsale, and it has been reported that an armed trawler, accompanied by two fishing boats, has picked up 100 others. 137 Americans Lost.

The work of compiling a list of those TWO LONDONERS saved is progressing slowly, because of the indescribable confusion at Queenstown, but apparently few first-cabin passengers are among the survivors. The United States consul at that port can account for only 51 Americans saved out of 188 who were aboard. His roll does not include the names of Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, Charles Frohman, Elbert Hubbard, Augustus Miles Forman the author, or Charles Klein, the playwright.

HOW YOU MAY REDUCE YOUR WEIGHT

Overstoutness is a very unwelcome condition especially in the present day, when slender figures are so fashio when stender rightes are so fashionable, and every reader of this paper has noticed the tendency of some people to put on an excessive amount of fat If you happen to be one of those whose weight is more than it should be, don't try to starve yourself, eat all you want, but go to your druggist and get oil of orilene in capsule form and take one with each meal. one with each meal.

Oil of orilene increases the oxygencarrying power of the blood and dissolves the fatty tissue, in many cases at nearly the rate of one pound per day. Be sure to get oil of orilene in day. Be sure to get oil of orilene in capsule form. It is sold only in original sealed packages. Any good druggist has it, or a large size box will be sent on receipt of $1.00. Address D. J. Little Drug Company. Box 1240, Montreal, Canada.

ALL PRAISE THE CREW

Rescued Men and Women Haunt Docks, Watching in Vain For Loved Ones.

[Canadian Press.] May various craft that yesterday afternoon went out from here to the scene of the Lusitania disaster returned to Queenstown last night and early this morning. All of them brought survivors in more or less numbers. No trace has been found here of either Alfred C. Vanderbilt or Charles Frohman. The latest rescue boats to arrive are bringing mostly bodies of dead picked up from the water at the scene of the disaster. The dead now here number 124, and many of them are women. The naval and military authorities of Queenstown are rendering every assistance possible in the removal of the dead and in assisting the injured to hospitals. The manager of the Cunard Line has taken ample hotel accommodation, as well as rooms in lodging houses, and here the survivors are being Never Before Such a Scene. Queenstown has never witnessed such a scene before. The dead are being conveyed to morgues and undertaking establishments. numbers of motor cars have been brought into service to take the injured to hospitals. The less seriously injured are being helped ashore by sailors and soldiers. Both men and women rescued, if they are able to walk, refuse to remain in their hotels. They haunt the docks, waiting and watching for friends and relatives. Many of the survivors are still bewildered from their terrible experiences and their accounts of the sinking of the Lusitania are not entirely clear. It is to be noted, however, that one and all unite in eulogizing the manner in which the ship's officers behaved. Lifeboats Useless.

Five minutes after th was hit with the second torpedo amidships she had listed to such an extent that the lifeboats on one side could not be launched at all. The work of getting as many people as possible, for the most part women and children, into the only hoats that could be got clear was at once undertaken by the aptain, officers and men of the Lusitania and was performed eficiently and with heroism. The scene as the big liner went down is described by the survivors beyond words. Battling for life, the passengers called to relatives and friends or bade each other good-bye.

Only Floating Bodies. The small boats who had got sway from the side of the liner picked up a good many survivors. who with lifebelts or clinging to wreckage, were floating on the surface of the water. But soon the were crowded. These poats were in turn picked up by rescuing steamers coming at full speed from shore points, but in many cases four and more hours he scene. In many cases the only work left for the rescue workers to do was to collect from the wate the floating bodies of the dead. Several passengers aboard trawlers severely injured.

Since the introduction of Parisian Sage into Canada druggists in every town are recommending Parisian Sagebecause they know that it will do exactly what the makers say it will do.

Besides being a hair grower and beautifier, Parisian Sage is rigidly guaranteed to stop itching scalp, to stop hair from falling, and to banish every trace of dandruff, or money back. Parisian Sage causes the hair to grow strong, vigorous and lustrous because it kills the dandruff germs that infest the hair roots, which is the basis of all scalp and hair discases and also because it furnishes natural nourishment to the weakened and run down hair tubes. Parisian Sage is sold by druggists everywhere for only

DEFEAT, SAYS BERLIN.

BERLIN, May 7 .- The German ofcial statement today said: "The battles to the south of Szadow and east of Roscinie ended in a decided = tefeat for the Russians, who suffered leavy losses. In prisoners alone, they lost 1,500, and are in full retreat. "South of Katwarya, south of Augus owo, and west of Przasnysz, part of the attacks were repulsed by us with sanguinary losses. In these battles the Russians lost, altogether, 520 prisoners.

"In the southeastern theatre: "The battles on the right bank of the ower Dunaiec ended vesterday in complete success for the allied troops. The enemy is engaged in the quickest possible retreat towards the east. Only a small division of the enemy on the Vistula still holds out.

"Further to the south we advanced on the right bank of the Wisloka River n the direction of Wislok and across the Jasliska. Marly times, parts of the right wing of the army under Gen. Von Mackenzen came in touch with the Russian column coming from the Carpathian front, west of Lupknow Pass. The Russians are hastily retreating efore the closely-following Austro-German troops. With every step for-ward, our booty increases."

CORK, Ireland, May 8 .- 5:45 a.m.-Indications that German submarines were seeking the Lusitania were afforded Thursday afternoon by the reported presence of a submersible in Dunmanus Bay, an inlet on the south coast of Ireland next to Bantry Bay, County Cork, and 80 miles west of Queenstown. The submarine approached the coast after having manoeuvred on the surface for some time then dived and disappeared.

CHARLES FROHMAN GONE? QUEENSTOWN, May 8 .- 4:36 a.m.-Every effort to find Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt and Charles Frohman among the survivors of the Lusitania landed here has failed. Officials of the Cunard Line are attempting to prepare a list of the saved, but their task has been rendered extremely difficult by the indescribable confusion which prevails. names of those landed at Kinsale and Clonakilty are not yet available here. Four torpedoes were fired at the Lusitania, but two of them missed. The steamer was flying the British flag. There appears to be a large proportion of the ship's crew among the survivors landed here. I tried a good many Officials Will Seek Facts Bedoctors, but they did me no good; in fact one doctor gave me up to die. I heard about Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and I thought I would give them a trial, and after using a couple boxes I saw that I was improving. I kept on using them for quite a long time. I am 83 years old and my heart does not bother me at all. "I am raising a little girl who was never very strong, and the doctor said that she had palpitation of the heart, so I started to give them to her. She is now 12 years old and they are doing her more good than I can possibly tell you. I would advise anyone who has a weak heart to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, as they have done wonders for us."

Germany's attack was on American citizens, and that it was premeditated is singularly attested by the German warnings to American passengers that preceded the sailing of the Lusitania. .

The Advertiser does not believe that Canada wishes to see the Americans "company's" sake. But it is difficult to understand how our great neighbor can preserve her self-respect before the world and fail to take drastic action. That the sentiment of the republic will be stirred as never before during the present war is undoubted. This is the gravest crisis of the several President Woodrow Wilson has had to face. The sinking of the American ship Guiflight was, perhaps, a direct cause for action, but the sinking of the Lusitania brings home the enormity of the German methods in a manner designed to cause a demand for retribution from all corners of the country.

DR. CAMERON WILSON TOLD TO BE READY FOR SPECIAL MISSION

Letter Home Apparently Forecasts Move to Front for Big Fight.

Capt. Dr. J. Cameron Wilson, who left Canada with the No. 2 Canadian Army Medical Corps, and who was chosen with 19 others to go to France with the British expeditionary force, has been transferred again to his original unit, and is now at Le Treport, in France. In a letter to his mother in the city he stated that he had just received orders to hold himself readiness to proceed at 30 minutes' notice on a "special mission." Of what that mission is he gives no hint, but Mrs. Wilson supposes that the order presages a movement right up to the front of the battle line. It possibly indicates that a big battle was in progress or imminent at the time he wrote and that medical units were being moved up to the front in view of the probability of large casualties.

6th Field Battery, with which he had been identified for some time prior to the outbreak of the war, was one of the first men to enlist for active service. When the local battery was split up after it reached Salisbury Plain he was attached to No. 12 Battery, 3rd Brigade. In a letter received by Mrs. Mercer a short time ago he was still a member of this battery. In the letter he stated that he had gone through some bad engagements, but hoped he would come out safely and be able to see their baby which has been born since he left for the front.

NINTH EPISODE. Kidnapped CHAPTER I

From his concealment amid the shrubas the brilliantly-lighted limousine, with its gay party of five, swept down the until they almost cut into his wrists. drive of the Villard home. His eyes were burning, he was breathing heavily. and his fingers were curved like claws, for in a moment more he intended to grapple by the throat the black-Vanlovely runaway bride.

At that instant three shadowy figures sprang also from amid the shrubbery, two men and a woman. There was no outcry and scarcely any struggle. Ned Warner found himself suddenly seized from behind, a rough sleeve across his mouth, his arms pinioned. He was liftd bodily and thrown as Gilbert Blye, with the grace and gallantry only possible to a polished man of the world, assisted the radiant June Warner from his luxurious limousine.

The deserted groom, his head still held in a vise-like grip and his mouth stop-ped, saw his bride enter the house, surrounded by the gay group, the darkly-handsome Blye on one side and the white-mustached Orin Cunningham on

The collie moved precisely that same amount. Villard did not twitch a muscle from that time on, except to speak.

"Call off the dog!" he ordered. "Watch him, Bouncer," said June uletly. June rose from the chair into which she had limply sunk, but a cold anger had come to replace her weakness. She walked from the room and, going to the house 'phone in the hall, called to the kitchen.

THE PICKFORD FAMILY IN THE MOVIES

Little Mary's Not the Only Pickford in the Spotlight now; There's Lottie and Jack. Sister and Brother of the Famed Star of the Photoplay---Fat. Jovial John Bunny: More About Him, His Inimitable Face ... An Epitaph in Verse, to the Once World Popular "Heavy" Man.

Three Pickfords In Pictures Now

nores and the Jeffersons are to the stage the Pickford family bids fair become in the photoplay. Mary Pickford has been the particular sar of the screen almost ever since there was a screen. And that doesn't mean such a very time, either, because Miss Pickford is just 21 years old. However she started in when she was 15 years old. Not so many days ago a picture was exhibited Washington featuring a Lottie Pickford, and people were inform ed that Lottie was Mary's sister. A little later there came a picture with Jack Pickford, who was presented as Mary's brother,

Now that all the Pickford family has been placed before the public, stars are to be made of them-at least a star is now being made of Lottie, who has had quite as long a stage and motion picture experi ence as Mary. Lottie Pickford's star has heretofore been a bit eclipsed by the work of her older sister. But she is coming into her own as a real leading lady. She has been satisfied to wait. She has never been a bit jealous of Mary, she declares. Her style is entirely different than her famous sister's, she declares. As the star in "The Diamond in the Sky," the new American serial film-novel. Miss Pickford is to have the opportunity to create a big part. It was that that drew the attention of the editors of the Photoplay Magazine to her and in the June number of that periodical she tells a great about herself, and, incidentally, about the family. Among things she relates: Daddy died when Jack was little baby. Mary and I were not much more, as Jack is only two years younger than I; my debut on the stage was made at the age of three years. Of course, I could tell you all about it, and what my ons were, except that I don't remember a thing; I do know, however, that mamma had no cinch making both ends meet and keeping three youngsters in clothing that would meet the approval

Anthony Comstock.
"Mary's story has been published lots of times, and mine is about the same. Usually when Mary had a good part, I understudied her both ways from Little

Olcott for three years, and I had my first chance as understudy for in 'The Fatal Wedding,' and made good. I had a dandy part in last year with Mr. playing Sheliah in Ragged Robin,' and at that time I got perfectly splendid notices, quite eclipsing Mary. I only mention that because I really thad it on her then. "I went into pictures at the same time Mary did, about six years ago. My first part was that of the Cardinal's page in "The Cardinal's Snuff Box." It was with the Biograph Company, and I felt very proud because I appeared through. out the thousand feet of it. Since that time I have been with the Independents, Pathe, Vitagraph, Kalem and Famous Players, but I do not believe I will ever enjoy anything so much as those first child parts. "Last January I came out to California with Mary and the Famous Players, I like the work in Los Angeles, but I know there was no change of getting very far with that company so long as they were featuring Mary, One Pickford at

TRIP ALMOST AT AN END WHEN TERRIFIC CRASH COMES AND SHIP'S SIDE TORN OPEN

[Canadian Press.]

LONDON, May 8.-The Cunard Liner Lusitania. which sailed out of New York last Saturday with more than 2,000 souls aboard, lies at the bottom of the ocean off the Irish coast. She was sunk by a German submarine which sent two torpedoes crashing into her side, while the passengers, seemingly confident that the great swift vessel could elude the German under-water craft, were having luncheon. How many of the Lusitania's passengers and crew were rescued cannot be told at present, but the official statements from the British admiralty up to midnight accounted for not more than five hundred or six hundred.

A ship's steward, who landed with others at Queenstown, gave it as his opinion that 900 persons were lost DIE AFTER RESCUE.

There were dead and wounded among those brought ashore: some since have died. But not a name of rescued or lost, of dead, or injured, has yet been listed. The Lusitania was steaming along about ten miles off Old Head. Kinsale, on the last leg of her voyage to Liverpool, when about 2 o'clock in the afternoon a submarine suddenly appeared, and so far as all reports go, fired two torpedoes without warning at the steamer. One struck her near the bows, and the other in the engine room. The powerful agents of destruction tore through the vessel's side, causing terrific explosions. Almost immediately great volumes of water poured through the openings and the Lusitania listed.

Boats, which were already swung out on the davits. were dropped overboard, and were speedily filled with passengers who had been appalled by the desperate attack. A wireless call for help was sent out, and immediately rescue boats of all kinds were sent out, both from the neighboring points along the coast and Queenstown.

GONE IN FIFTEEN MINUTES. But within fifteen minutes, as one survivor estimated, and certainly within half an hour, the Lusitania had disappeared. Where Great Britain's fastest merchant vessel went down-Old Head Kinsale-is a landmark that has brought joy to many travellers, as it has always stood as the sign from shore that the perils of the voyage across the Atlantic were at an end. The line, whose boast has been that it has never lost a passenger in the Atlantic service, has now lost the ship that dodged the lurking enemy off Nantucket light the day after war was declared, and later startled the world by flying the stars

The British admiralty is discouraging the publication of surmises and guesses regarding the dead and injured. Even before the crude details are known, the British press is asking editorially what the United States will say to this event and how she will hold Germany to the "strict accountability" mentioned in perilous diplomatic correspondence.

SIX HUNDRED LANDED.

LONDON, May 8.—1:05 a.m.—The admiralty states that between 500 and 600 survivors from the Lusitania have now beend landed, many of them hospital cases. Several have died. Some also have been landed at Kinsale, the number not having yet been received. No names have yet been received.

In the Spring Most People Need a Tonic Medicine.

One of the surest signs that the blood is out of order is the pimples, unsightly eruptions and eczema that come frequently with the change from winter to spring. These prove that the long indoor life of winter has had its effect upon the blood, and that a onic medicine is needed to put it right. Indeed there are few people who do not need a tonic at this season. Bad blood does not merely show what worse treatment can she reserve itself in disfiguring eruptions. VESSELS BRING IN OVER 100 BODIES

[Special Cable to The Advertiser.] Heron and two trawlers returned to with more than a hundred bodies. of whom the majority were women. All are being taken to the temporary mergue in the town hall as fast as recovered, and the admiralty has ordered that every effort be made to secure all victims.

The scenes on the quay here as survivers arrived were pitiful in extreme. Women wet and bedraggled, their faces lined with terror from the experience that they had been through, were clinging to men, many of whom wore shirts and trousers. Many still had their lifebelts encircling their bodies. Nearly all were without shoes. Little children clung to their parents and cried bitterly. Two little tots helped ashore an elderly lady who had been a long time in the water, and who collapsed on the pier.

American Consul at Queenstown Reduces Previous Estimate.

Washington, May 8 .- A dispatch received at the state department early today from Consul Lauriat at Queenstown put the number of rescued of all nationalities from the Lusitania disaster at 634. An earlier dispatch from him said 700. The consul's latest message added the names of four Americans saved to those mentioned in his previous dispatch, making a total of 51 Americans saved. Few others were rescued, he said.

Burn Oil Alone.

One of the most striking characterisics of the modern British destroyers is that they burn oil alone in their furnaces. There is no exhausting work for the stokers; all that has to be done is to adjust the valves controlling the influx of oil under the pressure of air. In the German boats there are almost invariably three sets of boilers, two coal fired and one oil fired, so that the advantages of liquid fuel are not secured. Apparently every precaution had been aken against a surprise attack by a submarine. Lookouts were on the aler constantly as the giant steamship peeded toward the Irish coast. Diffiulty was experienced in launching the boats because of the list of the Lusiania almost immediately after she was torpedoed. Several of the frail craft widently cansized as they were launch-

The lookouts sighted the periscope of a submarine a thousand yards away, and the next instant they saw the trail left by a torpedo as it flashed on its course. Then came a terrific crash as the missile pierced the liner's side, followed almost immediately by another which littered the decks with wreckage. The course of the liner was at once turned towards shore. Four torpedoes apparently were fired at the Lusttania, but only two of them found their mark.

pedoes themselves, and the explosions they caused, must have been terribly heavy. The tragic freight of bodies taken to Queenstown bears evidence of the havoc wrought. Many of those taken ashore were seriously injured, and more than a score died after they were removed to Cork and Queenstown hospitals. A long line of stretcher-bearers marched from the piers as tugs and trawlers arrived. The people of the Irish city opened their homes to those who had been saved, and ever thing possible is being done for their omfort.

Probably no event of the war has aused such intense excitement in London as the sinking of the Lusitania. Enormous crowds surrounged the offices f the Cunard Line all night, anxiously scanning the bulletins received from Queenstown. The company announced that an accurate list of survivors would be compiled as speedily at possible, but that the immediate needs of those saved The press of London expresses in-

New St. James' Sunday School Scene of Performance. On Thursday evening, May 6, a most uccessful concert was given in New t. James' Sunday School in aid of the Belgian babies' fund, under the management of Mrs. Grant-Harris. The crowded state of the hall was decidedly contional one. vincing proof of the sympathy and willngness to help the brothers and sisters of Belgium on the part of residents in the north end, and, judging from the hearty applause given to the various numbers, the audience much appreciated he efforts of the talented artists who Committee Will Co-operate With Other gave their services to the program. The feature of the evening were the three groups of piano solos given by Thomas Mitcheltree, which were most artistically rendered, drawing forth repeated applause. The violin duet, Symphony, by ada who will be present at the opening ried out so successfully last fall. We Moret, played by Mrs. Grant-Harris and of the London and Port Stanley elec-Mr. Thompson, delighted the audience, as also did the violin solo by F. Thompson. The patriotic note was struck by the song, "England," sung with telling effect by Miss Straitch, and Miss Featherston's fine soprano voice was heard to advantage in the song, "Spring," by Lynes. The ensemble of six violins rendered Gounod's Ave Maria, and Handel's Largo, with sympathetic and delicate an advertising way. expression. The humorous recitations by Bert Hanna were amusing and entertaining, and were followed by selections from Rudard Kipling by V. Their Good Work Resulted in Camp Remaining in This City.

Had Not Board Acted Quickly Camp Would Have Gone To Guelph.

Quick action of the board of trade mbers, which resulted in the mobil cation camp remaining here, and an dditional body of soldiers to be brough to London from Guelph, came in for un tinted praise at the annual meeting of the board of trade last night.

Ex-Mayor C. M. R. Graham advised that the board assume further liability for the cost and establishment of facilities for the soldiers at camp in this city, not with the idea of selfish gain only, but to show that London is patriotic enough to do all in her power to help the men who are going to the fight Camp Matter Reviewed

The newly-elected president, T. W. McFarland, reviewed the camp matter in detail. He said: "In preparing the necessary documents describing the land in question in the proper legal way, the knowledges the assistance of Controller P. Moore; also J. M. Moore, architect, who prepared the plans of the property for the camp." The committee have up to the present paid $900 or $1,000 in carrying out the instructions of the executive of the board A number of prominent United States to secure the land in London for the camp. Of this sum, $500 has already been subscribed by citizens who would benefit directly by the camp. The president declared that undoubtedly, without the quick action of the board members, the camp would have been lost to

Motion of Thanks Voted. A motion of thanks was voted to the men who had been responsible for the camp remaining in London, and Gen. Sam Hughes will be asked to explain just what he wants in regard to the camp, so that London may comply with any demand in reason. The report of the president read: "In consequence of the united effort of the board, Mayor H. A. Stevenson, Frank Glass, M. P. and Controller J. P. Duty of Those at Home. "We who stay at home through force of circumstances have a duty to perform for our country and Empire. We must give liberally of our substance to aid the dependants of those who have gone to the front to fight our battles. London has done well already the welcoming and entertaining of in this respect in the campaign which the board of trade inaugurated and carsucceeded in raising upwards of $130,000 were captained exclusively by members of the board of trade, and the teams were almost entirely from our ranks.'

City Forging Ahead. Thanks to the rich agricultural dis trict in which London is situated, and to the stability of the institutions in London, the city is suffering less than any city in Canada, it was stated. This emphasized by the bank clearings, which were only 5.4 per cent less than in 1913, which was the high water mark year for London. Customs returns showed only a slight decrease, while building permits actually increased by eeting in the city hall last night, $47,815. Population also shows a steady growth, estimated now at 56,358.

"The last ten years have been a period of construction; our railroads cross the continent three times; and pany, of Toronto, for $12,965, the lowest we can look forward to a period of production. 'Increased production' should be our slogan; increased production of W. McCracken, contractor, of this city, shops, purchasing of 'Made in Canada' who made an estimate at $5,583.40. The goods. To overcome the discrepancy of the $150,000,000 each year. Canada must pay on her borrowings for interest we must export more than we import. Our people must be educated to buy goods made in Canada, as therein lies the solution of Canada's financial problem."
Reference was made to four members of the board who have died during the past year-John Marr, F. J. Hammond E. Rechnitzer, and John Labatt. The membership of the board is 345.

Honor Soldier-Members. Members of the board who have en listed for overseas service were made honorary members of the board, and will be notified of this. They are Lieut.-Col. H. C. Board of Control Has Cut $50,000 From Draft Estimates to Date.

Midnight hydro is still being burned by the board of control in order to reduce the city tax rate. Approximately $50,000 has been cut from the draft estimates to date. That much more will have to come off before the mill rate is down to the 28 that has been decided on as the 1915 standard.

From present indications there will not be a special meeting of the council on Monday evening to officially strike the rate. The controllers have still considerably more work to do before the estimates are in shape for presentation to the council.

Some material reductions in the board of education appropriation are slated to be made. The board has a meeting on Monday afternoon to go over the situa-tion with the controllers.
