WHERE DO PRIVATE DONATIONS TO BYRON SOLDIER PATIENTS GO? FEELERS DECLARE THEY DO NOT REACH THEM, ANYWAY

Societies Now Sending Gifts in Care of Byron Breeze Editor To Be Distributed—Ex-Superintendent Casts Doubt On Quality of Eggs Served To Returned Men.

Mute evidence that the patriotic societies throughout the country are becoming suspicious that their donations to the soldier patients of the Byron Breeze are not being used for their purpose lies in the fact that the Breeze, a paper published in the interest of the patients, in the form of five cases of fruit and pickles and a package of socks.

The shipment, accompanied by a letter from the Patriotic Society of Varna, took A. E. Pocock, editor of the paper, entirely by surprise. The letter, he stated, was from the contents of the package and was distributed among the boys of Huron County in the Sanatorium. Why the shipment was made in care of him puzzled Mr. Pocock until he learned that the society had been informed by the patients that they were receiving none of their donations.

Many Rumors. In an interview, Mr. Pocock stated that such rumors have been rampant for some time. Thousands of pounds of fruit and other delicacies, even graphophones, and in one case twelve barrels of apples, addressed to private individuals or groups of patients, were received at the Sanatorium and placed in the storehouse, but the soldier patients say nothing was received from them again except by accident.

Dr. J. H. Bell, late medical superintendent of the Sanatorium, has assured Mr. Pocock that many hundreds of dollars are donated to buy comforts and luxuries for the boys and that during his regime, he and Miss M. M. Jacobs, who was then matron, personally inspected the donations.

WAS MR. GIBBONS' VISIT UNEXPECTED?

There seems to be an inclination on the part of the Beck political faction to disclaim all credit for bringing Joseph Gibbons, the Toronto Street Railway man, to support Sir Adam. It would have it believed that Mr. Gibbons came uninvited.

MINISTERS WILL URGE PEOPLE TO VOTE ON ALL FOUR QUESTIONS

Sunday Promises To Be Day of Heavy Campaigning in Province.

BOTH SIDES CONFIDENT

Anti-Prohibition Speakers Will Address Several Meetings On The Sabbath.

Toronto, Oct. 18.—Sunday promises to be a day of vigorous campaigning throughout the province of Ontario, as the result of the very active part many church organizations are taking in the Ontario temperance act referendum, which will be a direct issue for the people to decide at the polling booths on Monday next, when they vote, at the same time, in the general elections for the Ontario Legislature. The church having adopted the referendum question as a moral issue, a large number of the church services will be along that line. In addition there will be many public meetings also advocating the four issues on the referendum ballot.

On the other hand, the anti-prohibition speakers, particularly the branches of the Citizens' Liberty League at various points, will also carry on their campaign, with several meetings tomorrow.

Both Sides Confident.

Both sides this morning express the greatest confidence in their prospects of success. In regard to the general elections, the campaign will be carried on all day, Sir William Hearst and H. H. Dewar, K. C., leader of the Opposition, will speak at the various meetings of the candidates at the various parties, to give their final arguments. In fact, there was no day of rest for the candidates.

U. F. O. prominent men expect to obtain the election of sufficient members to out the Conservative Government directly. They do hope for a combination of Opposition and independent vote that will make the Government's position in the House of Commons very difficult.

Monday is expected to be one of the busiest election days in the history of Ontario. With the referendum, the women's vote, the activities of the returned soldiers and farmers, and the anticipated that the election day of October 20, 1919, will be made a memorable one in the history of the province.

"YOU BEAT ME," BECK, HAGGARD, ADMITS TO SANATORIUM PATIENT

"Why Did You Spring It Before Election?" He Asks

Welch.

"Welch, you beat me," Haggard indeed was the look on the face of Sir Adam Beck as he rode to his auto from the east end half last night, after the political meeting, he made this admission to the little returned soldier who on the previous evening had been denied hearing on the floor of the Masonic hall.

"Why did you spring it just before the election?" he asked.

"Hydro! Hydro! Hydro!" jeered the crowd, for during the meeting, no matter what the subject he dealt with, Beck always came back to his pet word.

Labor tracts were spread about in the crowd, and even Sir Adam was handed one.

Very few people realized the great strain under which Pat Welch labored as he spoke at the meeting. He is a former patient at the Sanatorium, discharged as incurable, and has been in the hospital since March 2, but that length of time was sufficient for him to learn of various accidents at the meeting.

During the day he lost considerable sleep, and the time of the meeting he was very tired. As he arose to speak a friend sitting next to him, who was also a returned soldier, entered the argument, however, he fought with tenacity.

An Adams Express man, who was driving a Ford, noticed him and gave him a ride to the business district.

After Sir Adam had finished telling of his pet hobby, adjournment was declared in order. The faithful St. John's Free Presbyterian Church on Friday last left long before when some one shouted "What about singing 'God Save the King'?" Even then the speaker of the evening or the chairman, E. R. Dennis, could have saved the National Anthem, but no attempt was made.

BLAZE ON VENEZIA STARTED IN CARGO OF RUM AND SUGAR

Crew of Chicago Tells of the Rescue of Sailors From Lifeboats.

Newfoundland Fishing Banks, Oct. 18.—The steamer Venezia arrived this morning with the story of the rescue of the entire ship's company from the "unlucky thirteen" lifeboats, after the Venezia had been abandoned.

It took the Chicago's crew one hour and ten minutes after it reached the scene to effect the rescue of the Venezia's passengers from the lifeboats, in flames had taken refuge after the ship was abandoned.

By noon all survivors had been made comfortable, and given dinner on the Chicago. The Venezia's crew was taken to New York. The Chicago first helped the Venezia's wireless call for help when 80 miles away.

The 100 bags of mail on the Venezia were taken off and brought here on the Chicago. The Venezia's passenger list included 37 cabin, mostly French, and 18 steerage, mostly Syrians homeward bound. The Venezia was bound from Havana to St. Nazaire, when she met with disaster. The fire started in her forward hold, where the cargo consisted of rum and sugar. It spread over the entire vessel from there, and she was abandoned at 11:15 p.m. Capt. Boniface was the last man to leave the ship.

RUSSIAN RESS STUBBORNLY DEFENDING PETROGRAD CITY

General Yudenitch's Rapid Advance of the First Few Days Is Not Being Maintained—Denekine Reports Continued Success Along Dnieper River.

London, Oct. 18.—Forces of the soviet government of Russia are, according to latest advances, still desperately defending the city of Petrograd, toward which anti-Bolshevik troops have been advancing since October 11. Confirmation of dispatches telling of the fall of the former Russian capital has not been received in official quarters here.

Over the whole situation around Petrograd there is considerable obscurity, due to the conflicting and contradictory reports. There seems to be little doubt that the army commanded by General Yudenitch is within a comparatively short distance of the city, but the rapidity of its advance during the first few days of the campaign does not seem to have been maintained.

General Yudenitch, in his advance, has drawn his troops into a rough semi-circle from Kronshtadt Gorka, on the northwest of Tsarskoe Selo, which is almost due south of Petrograd.

Severe fighting continues. Further south, the Yudenitch army is said to have reached a point near the city of Luga, eighty miles distant from Petrograd. Reports have been received, however, that the advance has been held up along the line connecting Gatchina and Pskov, on which the situation is believed to be in progress.

General Denekine appears to be advancing his left flank along the Dnieper valley, taking Chernigov and Poltava, and capturing the city of Kiev, where his Cossacks may join Polish forces and present a compact front to the soviet armies. If this junction is made, the anti-Bolshevik line from Petrograd to Orel, south of Moscow, would resemble a great horse shoe, enclosing the Bolsheviki.

East of Orel and in the Don region, the Bolsheviki are reported to be retreating all along the front. Denekine has now crossed the Don over a heavy Russian force of 20,000 men, and Germano-Russian forces are said to be holding the line.

Can Postpone Old Age By Performing Delicate Operation

French Scientist Would Graft Interstitial Glands.

Paris, Oct. 18.—Dr. Serge Voronoff, who claims he can postpone old age by grafting interstitial glands, points out in an article in the Journal today that the internal secretion of glands such as the thyroid and suprarenals continues to live for three hours after the death of the body, and therefore advocates that the young and healthy persons killed in accidents should be rushed to special hospitals where patients are suffering from curable maladies, where they can be kept indefinitely.

"Unfortunately," writes Dr. Voronoff, "prejudice and law now prevent the use of such custom, and the bodies of our perishable bodies are consigned to the earth, where they slowly and uselessly are consumed."

DRUGS WILL NEVER REPLACE LIQUOR, SAYS LONDON PHYSICIAN

Dr. D. H. Arnott Denies Existence of "Govt. Figures" of Increase During O. T. A.

There is room for honest difference of opinion as to the need for continued enforcement of the Ontario Temperance act, but statements compiled and put out with the intention of deceiving the voters should not pass unchallenged.

Dr. Arnott, who has been in London since 1915, has been treated successfully in both hospitals in London, and he knows there are fewer looking for help now than was formerly the case.

Drug addiction is practiced in private by the sufferer, while socialistic characterizes drinking to excess. The two addictions are so entirely different that drugs never have and never will supplant or replace liquor.

No increase since O. T. A. In spite of statements to the contrary, we know there has been no increase in the normal number of drug addicts since the inception of the Ontario Temperance act. The only class in which there has been an increase is that of soldiers, who have received terrible wounds, needed prolonged use of narcotics to relieve their pain. Some of these have become addicted to drug addiction, but aside from that there have been fewer new drug addicts since 1915 than there were before the Ontario Temperance act came into force.

Denies Existence of Figures. To prove his statement on this point the Citizen's Liberty League quote what are said to be Government figures purporting to show an enormous increase in drug consumption in Canada since 1916. There are no government figures available which can show any increase in the consumption of drugs in Canada during that period.

There has been an increase in the amount of narcotic drugs handled by the trade since 1916, but this increase in the trade was not consumed in Canada, and the high officers of the Citizens' Liberty League know it.

Drugs Here for U.S. Prior to the passage of the Ontario Temperance act here, there was enacted in the United States the Harrison law, covering the whole of that country. It forbids the sale of narcotic drugs to addicts or others except upon the presentation of special order blanks issued by the government. These must be signed by a physician and each is numbered and traced. No one is permitted to show where every dose of narcotic goes. We have no such strict Tells How to Regain Perfect Health and Keep It by Bathing Internally.

Are you aware that nearly one million bright, intelligent people throughout Canada and the United States alone bathe internally instead of loading their systems with drugs? Why? Because it keeps them in better health in every way.

Internal bathing is the only sure means of keeping the intestines clean and free from accumulated waste matter which is sure to slowly poison the system and become food for the millions of bacteria which infest the system, thereby causing rheumatism, impure blood, indigestion, headaches and all the other ailments which are directly the result of constipation.

If you want to be healthy all the time we should strongly advise you to get a J. B. L. Cascade, which is the only perfect appliance ever devised for efficiently cleansing the colon and lower intestines. It is the invention of Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell of New York, who is a specialist on Internal Bathing. The J. B. L. Cascade is shown and explained at Standard Drug Company Limited, where you can receive an interesting booklet called "Why Man of Today is Only 50% Efficient." It will tell you facts about yourself that you probably never realized before. Or write Tyrrell's Hygienic Institute, 183 College street, Toronto.

Because of its perfect tone, the

Heintzman & Co. Art Piano

Grand or Upright

Has stood the test of the most exacting musical critics at home and abroad. It is what they say that is worth while telling:

"It afforded me the greatest pleasure to know that so fine an instrument as the Grand Piano of Heintzman & Co., used at my concert in the Armories, is manufactured in Canada."—Fol Piancon, the greatest French bassist.

"The tone is delightful, the elasticity of touch marvellous—every note ringing out in clear, pearly and limpid quality."—Edelstein.

"I found the tone massive in its sonority, and of very excellent quality, with a particularly limpid tone in its mezzo stints."—Edelstein.

"I don't hesitate to say that the Heintzman & Co. Piano surpassed in beauty of tone any piano I have used anywhere."—De Fuchmann.

Words equally as appreciative have come from Tetrassini, Calve, Nordica, Melba, the Cherniavsky brothers, and many others who have used and know this world-famed piano.

Nothing is ever withheld that can add to the completeness of this piano, whether in architectural construction, or in beauty, power, sweetness and perfect rounding out of tone, making it the choice of those who are satisfied only with the highest in a piano.

Caused from a cold when the Citizens' Liberty League said the increased amounts indicated increased consumption of narcotic drugs in Canada, they knew they were making a false statement, and they paid to publish this statement because they thought it thus deceptive as to the value of the Ontario Temperance act.

You know where this increased activity in the trade in narcotics in Canada leads to when you learn that on October 15, 1919, there was seized in Detroit at one place morphine and opium to the value of $40,000, which was intended to be distributed through illicit channels.

The trade in narcotic drugs has increased, but there has been a decrease in the amount of narcotic drugs consumed in Canada.

It Seems Sometimes as if You Would Fly Out of Your Skin.

Eczema or salt rheum not only itches, but it also burns, oozes, dries and scales over and over again. Sometimes it covers the whole body and causes intense suffering.

You have found that local applications have no lasting effect, and you want permanent relief.

Take Hood's Sarsaparilla, give it a good fair trial, because you must thoroughly purify your blood or the eruption will continue to annoy, perhaps agonize you. This great medicine has been successfully used in thousands of cases.

ANNOUNCE PLANS TO RECEIVE PRINCE AND DECORATE THE CITY

Civic Reception Committee To Meet Every Day To Finish Plans.

Executive members of the civic reception committee transacted a considerable amount of routine work at a meeting held yesterday afternoon in the city hall. Reports were made by the chairman in charge of the decoration, music, transportation, printing and various other departments of the program toward the final completion of the arrangements.

It was decided that the members of the executive should meet at 11 o'clock every morning, starting today, so that all the arrangements will be completed in time.

Upon the arrival of H. R. H. the Prince of Wales on Wednesday, October 22, the city council will be introduced to him first, then the representative citizens, and after that the military headquarters staff. Then will come the review of the guard of honor and the following events on the program.

Mayor C. R. Somerville stated that he expected to receive authority from the council to proclaim a half holiday on Wednesday afternoon, so that all business men and workers will have an opportunity of seeing the royal visitor. He thought Wednesday afternoon would be more preferable as a half holiday than the following morning, when the prince will be in the city at 2:30 o'clock. The decision concerning a holiday for the school children will be under the control of the board of education.

Complete arrangements are being made for the decoration of the city, and hundreds of splendid pictures of the prince will be distributed to the merchants and public buildings. To assist in the general work of decorating the city, the merchants and householders are requested to decorate

TWO BIG MEETINGS FOR LABOR TONIGHT

Real Labor Leader To Speak
For Dr. Stevenson.

What are expected to be two of the largest labor meetings ever held in London are scheduled for tonight in the interests of Dr. Hugh A. Stevenson, Labor candidate in the provincial elections.

The Labor men ascertained last night that the Orange Hall on Egerton street would not be half large enough to hold the crowds that wanted to hear Dr. Stevenson speak, and therefore a second meeting to be held on the market square was arranged.

Angus Sinclair, international vice-president of the Street Railwaymen's union, will be one of the principal speakers at both meetings. Mr. Sinclair will speak on the market square at 8 o'clock and will then proceed to the Orange Hall, where he will further address the men.

Mayor C. R. STREET RAILWAYMEN ISSUE DENIAL ABOUT J. GIBBON'S STATUS

Say Beck Man Not International Officer of Their Body.

BONA-FIDE OFFICIAL HERE

Magnus Sinclair, Actual International Vice-President, To Speak On Market Square.

An announcement by the London local union of street railway employees denying that J. Gibbons of Toronto, who has been speaking at meetings here is an international officer of their organization, and the news that Magnus Sinclair, actually international vice-president of that body, will speak here tonight, were outstanding developments in the political situation last night.

Local street railway employees resent the intrusion of Mr. Gibbons into the political situation last night. They resent the imputation that he is an international officer of their organization.

Those who are anxious to hear a bona-fide international vice-president of the union speak will have their opportunity tonight. Mr. Sinclair will speak at 8 p.m. on the Market Square and at 8:30 p.m. on the Market Square and at 8:30 p.m. on the Market Square and at 8:30 p.m. on the Market Square.

ODDFELLOWS TO CONFER DEGREE.—The first degree team of the London Oddfellows will visit Stratford, October 24, to confer the degree upon a large class of candidates.

WILL MEET PRINCE.—Lieut.-Col. Walter J. Brown, assistant adjutant-general, has been chosen to meet the Prince of Wales as the military representative when the royal visitor enters Military District No. 1, and he will be one of the prince's party during the greatest part of the visit.

ADVOCATES PENSION ADJUSTMENT.—Captain (Rev.) H. D. Peacock, former chaplain of the 32nd and 15th Battalions, is finishing a campaign at Ingersoll tonight, in which he has urged the great and immediate need for adjustment of the scale of pensions to widows and orphans and disabled soldiers. Capt. Peacock has spoken at political meetings in Windsor, Woodstock, Brantford and Tillsonburg advocating these reforms.

EVANGELISTIC MISSION.—London has secured an evangelist, Gypsy Smith of England, to conduct an evangelistic mission here from November 17 to November 30. Mr. Smith is giving two months to Canada. He has just completed a mission in Winnipeg and will visit Victoria and Vancouver before coming to London. In Winnipeg the largest building, holding about 5,000 was altogether too small to accommodate the crowds that wanted to hear the evangelist. Thousands were frequently unable to gain admission. Rev. W. H. Bennett will tell the story of the Winnipeg mission in St. Andrew's Church Sunday morning, and in First Methodist Church Sunday evening. The meetings in London will be held in the afternoon.

METHODISTS PLAN RALLY.—The Methodist Ministerial Association decided on Friday to hold a rousing inspirational meeting in the interests of the Methodist national campaign in First Methodist Church, on Wednesday, October 29, at 8 p.m. Rev. J. D. Simpson, son of Toronto, and another outside speaker will be present outlining this great movement and emphasizing the spiritual objectives involved. A united Methodist choir under the direction of A. D. Jordan will lead the song service. All the Methodist ministers of the city are being asked to organize every department of their churches to attend these meetings.

Many of our readers are under the impression that he is still holding that office. Thinking you in anticipation, I re-

HUNCH WAS WRONG.—Local police authorities received a "hunch" that a shipment of liquor from Montreal was due to arrive in London via Grand Trunk at 9:30 o'clock last evening, and as a result a number of policemen searched the dining car of the International Limited on its arrival. No whiskey was found.

VETERAN RESENTS HAVING TO SEEK HELP OF S. A. C. WITH ITS RED-TAPE WAYS

Says Gratuity Only Real Aid—Loan Plans No Good.

To the Editor of The Advertiser: A story appeared in a local paper a few days ago, telling about a man spending all his gratuity in the purchasing of a home, in order that his wife and four children might have a roof over their head, and after paying for the house nothing was left where-with to furnish it. The case was put in the hands of the soldiers' aid commission, and an appeal was sent out, begging furniture from the citizens of London to make the house habitable.

May I use some space of your valuable paper in which to state what I think of the treatment given to men on returning from overseas, where they fought for their country under awful hardships after having given up home, family and all the comforts of home life through the spirit of patriotism. Treatment that forces these circumstances on a man when he comes back to civilian life and tries to buy his family a home, buying because it was impossible to rent.

In many instances the Government's system of re-establishing soldiers into civilian life forces men to beg or others to beg for him. I know that in this city there is not one returned man wishing for charity, nor do they want aid when a lot of red tape must be gone through.

The soldiers' aid of this city is a good example of red tape. When a man goes to them for help, an investigation committee is sent to his home, and some of the most personal questions, and questions concerning his family affairs are asked. Most people would be assumed to ask such things, but shame seems to have left these people. Does anyone suppose that a soldier re-joining his home looked over and his wife asked insulting questions.

The soldiers' aid of this city is only a loan society, because a person receiving help must first sign an agreement to pay the money back and they even tell him when they want it. I wonder how they expect a man to pay money back during the winter when all his money must be used for living expenses.

The Government is proposing to establish still more aid commissions with a fund set aside for them to work with. Big salaries will be paid to the officials of these commissions, and many other expenses will attend them. We don't want this charity, much better would it be if the money would be used to pay cash gratuities.

If charity is the best the Government can give to the returned men, or if the Government won't take the responsibility to give us a square deal, I suggest that question be put to the people and let them decide whether a cash gratuity, the only thing that will do any good, be paid us or not.

NO REOPENING OF REGISTRATION LISTS

It was rumored this morning that Sir Adam Beck had received a telegram from Toronto which authorized the registration of returned soldiers on the voters' list today, so that they might cast a ballot in the coming election.

The Advertiser interviewed Judge Talbot Macbeth, the chairman of the voters' registration board, concerning the matter this morning, and he stated that nothing would be done.

The judge said he had not received any intimation from Sir Adam Beck regarding a session of the board.

VOTES FOR WOMEN

A Series of Articles on "The Advantage of Morning Shopping," by
P. W. READ
Advertising Manager of the Thomas Furniture Company.
Exclusively for The Advertiser.

They've been a long time coming, these votes for women, but, believe me, the method of obtaining a ballot in things political is effective.

To be sure, we've seen pictures of "votes for women" parades, heard of the lady who grasped the reins of a race horse in England, and the several who refused to eat—all "for the cause."

A less intentioned but manifold more responsible factor has labored for quietly that even its wonderful effect. Years ago both merchant and manufacturer discovered that women made up 50 per cent of the total purchases. They bought, or rather spent more money than men, and of course Messrs. Merchant and Manufacturer beamed upon Mrs. Miss and Baby Lady.

In the larger stores rest rooms, nurseries to mind babies of Mrs. Shopper, lunch rooms and what not were added in pleasing array; pretty pictures of pretty ladies sported in daily advertisements, and they purposely advertised all advertising to the women.

In short, day after day she was catered to, became a subtle power, one to be recognized, encountered with, accounted for and reckoned on.

When she looked for "what's on sale" excellent reputation. He was a married man and was earning $350 a month.

Women have learned that by shopping in the morning they have more time for women's meetings, W.C.T.U.'s, etc., which usually take place in the afternoon, and bless her heart, why shouldn't she attend meetings, why shouldn't she go to the polls and cast her ballot. Being particularly fortunate in a higher sense of intuition she is probably going to make a sensible vote, rather than her more logical reasoning mate. "You can't fool a woman," and the merchant and manufacturer must take account of the fact that women are now in the market for goods. A short time ago 500 ladies were asked 12 or 15 questions, and they were given prizes for the best answers, too.

Here's what most of them wanted—more competent persons answering telephone inquiries. They wanted that would be informants did not know what was on sale, causing delay, disappointment, and one "I like to read a picture ad," most ladies say. I'll tell you something of the pictures next week.

Value of the Experience.

Mr. Deane said he believed that the teachers-in-training would receive as much benefit from their experience gained by taking a public part in the program arranged by the society, as from any other department of their training.

It was a pleasure for him to recall society of one of the past sessions of the school in which over sixty per cent of the students took an active part in the activities during the school year. Concluding, he asked the students of the present session to try and come up to this standard, and hoped that they would be wise in the election of their officers.

OTTAWA, Oct. 17.—Canada having taken her place among the nations of the world, the importance of Canadian clubs in informing and educating the people on international and national affairs was pointed out by Hon. Newton Wesley Rowell at this morning's session of the Association of Canadian Clubs in the Chateau Laurier, when he welcomed and addressed delegates on behalf of the Government.

Mr. Rowell referred to the league of nations, and to the problems which Canada, no less than other nations, faced. Canada was now a man-sized nation, he said, and must in future take a man's part. He also referred to the large alien population and the obstacles it presented in national unity. Canadian citizens were not yet familiar with international affairs, and the Canadian Clubs throughout the Dominion could do much valuable work along that line.

The following resolution was passed by the meeting and will be conveyed to his royal highness the Prince of Wales: "The Association of Canadian Clubs assembled at the national capital beg to convey to your royal highness their

PAINFUL NEURALGIA
Is Caused by Thin, Watery Blood and Cured by Enriching the Blood.

Most people think of neuralgia as a pain in the head or in the face, but neuralgia may affect any nerve in the body. Different names are given to it when it affects certain nerves. Thus neuralgia of the sciatic nerve is called sciatica, but the character of the pain and the nature of the disease are the same. The cause being the same, the cure to be effective must be the same. The pain in neuralgia is caused by starved nerves. The blood which carries nourishment to the nerves has become thin and impure, and no longer does so, and the pain you feel is the cry of the nerves for their natural food. You may ease the pains of neuralgia with hot applications, but you can only cure the trouble by enriching and purifying the blood. For this purpose we know of no medicine that can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills actually make new, rich blood, and thus act as the most efficient of nerve tonics. If you are suffering from this most dreaded of troubles, or any form of nerve trouble, give these pills a fair trial, and see how speedily you will be restored to good health. You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, from the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

'VALLEY OF GIANTS' IS
STORY OF LOVE WITH THRILL AT MAJESTIC

Wallace Reid Stars in Gripping Drama of Out-of-Doors.

"The Valley of Giants," which was shown at the Majestic Theatre yesterday with continuous performances, will again be shown today. The picture starring Wallace Reid is a real love story with many thrills, an out-of-door romance with the man forced to fight for the fortunes of his blind father. True to the memory of his mother and attempts to win the love of a girl who now encourages, rebuffs. The story is written by Peter E. Kyle, than whom there are no better writers of romance and adventure, and played by a star and cast which assures a correct and pleasing interpretation. After gripping your seat for over an hour, wrapped in thrilling suspense and surrounded by an atmosphere of the great redwood forests which breed great men and great events, the spectator feels that he has been very close to the drama of nature. Among the extra added attractions is a screen magazine of famous film stars, showing many little interesting incidents in their private life and some delightful views of doings behind the scenes in the big California studios. Another special feature of the program is a special Christie comedy entitled "Blowdy Ann," featuring vivacious little Fay Tincher in a comedy of the wild west, and a school of nature dancing, a back-to-nature picture.

CHATHAM ARMORIES
AND THEATRE TOO
SMALL FOR BRACKIN

Dramatic Wind-Up To Campaign—Charges Conservative Not Sincere Prohibitionist.

CHATHAM, Oct. 17.—R. L. Brackin, Liberal candidate, concluded his city campaign tonight with a rally unprecedented in the history of West Kent politics. Before 8 o'clock hundreds were turned away from Griffin's Theatre. The armories were secured for an overflow meeting, but even this, the biggest auditorium in the city, could not accommodate the crowd. The candidate received an ovation at both meetings. He dwelt with the issues of the election in fighting speeches. He declared that Milton Shaw, the Harist candidate, was insincere on the temperance question. He charged that the latter's chief supporter, George Seelman, former member, had stated that in Merlin, the Harist candidate's home town, no scrutineer would be appointed who was opposed to liquor. He reminded his hearers that Milton Shaw, the new apostle of temperance, campaigned for G. V. Seelman against the speaker, when he ran for election on the abolition of the bar. A. L. McQuig, M. P., also spoke.

TESTIMONIALS FOR
CAPE CROKER INDIANS
RECORD ENLISTMENT

WIARTON, Oct. 17.—Soldiers' Day was observed yesterday at Cape Croker Reserve, by the Indians and 51 soldiers were presented with testimonials signed by Capt. Ross Garland, the Indian agent, and Charles James, chief of the reserve.

Every man who was physically fit, under and over age, enlisted, and went overseas from Cape Croker in 1915. The zeal which Father Cadot, the veteran priest of Cape Croker, evinced in patriotic work was partially responsible for this great enlistment, and yesterday he and Capt. Ross Garland presented the testimonials. Over 300 people were present and about 250 sat down to the banquet which was served in the hall.

After the banquet there was a dance for the young people, the Cape Croker orchestra supplying the music. Parties in cars motored there from the Peninsula, Wiarton and Owen Sound.

CRAIG VETERAN HOME. AILSA CRAIG, Oct. 17.—Pte. Chas. George, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben George of this place, has arrived home from overseas, after four years' service in England and France. His brother, Pte. Alf. George, who was killed in action in the 135th Battalion, arrived home a few months ago, and another brother, Pte. Philip George, was a member of the 149th Battalion. Word has been received here of the death of Daniel Dorman of this place at Grand Rapids, Mich., on Thursday, Mr. and Mrs. Dorman left here last week, and he underwent an operation in the hospital there, where his daughter is a trained nurse. Besides his wife he leaves a grown-up family of six daughter, Mrs. (Dr.) Wegner of Grand Rapids; Mrs. Penwarden, of St. Thomas; Mrs. J. Cameron, of Manito; Mrs. Alex. McMillan, West Williams; Mrs. Bert Munro, of this place, and Maude of Grand Rapids; also one son, Andrew, of McGillivray. Funeral arrangements have not been made yet, but the body will be brought here for burial.

Second Crop Tobacco.

DUART, Oct. 17.—Several tobacco fields from which the crop was harvested in September, have put on a second growth that promises, with two weeks' more favorable weather, to rival the first crop. The growers claim this is unprecedented, having never seen a second crop from the one planting. With the first crop curing in the barns, they lack space for a second crop.

FOR THOSE PESKY PIMPLES

There Are Handsome Complexions In Ailms. Every Village That Prove The Remarkable Value of Stuart's Calcin Wafers.

Nature decreed that every woman should have a clear, smooth, delicate skin. If it is blotched with pimples, blackheads and other such eruptions, it is simply an evidence that the skin lacks certain elements that promote and preserve skin health. The greatest of these is the wonderful calcium sulphide in Stuart's Calcium Wafers. Calcium is one of the natural constituents of the human body. Your skin requires it to be healthy. It invigorates the skin, dries out the pimples, boils and blotches, enables healthy skin of fine texture to form and become clear, pinkish and smooth. Stop using creams, lotions, powders and hives which merely hide for the moment. Get a box of Stuart's Calcium Wafers at any drug store today.

DO YOU

how last year we advised, even urged, everybody to buy their furs then, as the market conditions indicated higher prices coming?

Since then the prices of Raw Furs at all the big fur markets of the world have increased from 10% to 75%.

So firmly did we believe what we advised you, that last season we purchased direct from the Trappers from all parts of Canada large quantities of the best and most suitable raw furs we could obtain.

Then, do you remember how mild it was last winter?—how the war ceased?—and how terribly the "Flu" afflicted us?

All these unforeseen events tended to considerably reduce the sale of fur garments, though the sales of Hallam's Fur Garments showed a greater increase than ever last season.

Therefore, we have an extraordinary large stock of good raw furs at last season's prices.

We have made these up into the latest styles, and are able to offer them to you at than if they were made from Raw Fur skins bought at more recent prices.

25% to 50%
LOWER PRICES

In addition, by our policy of selling "direct from trapper to wearer" you save the middlemen's profits—high store rents, etc.

Further, by conducting the entire operations ourselves of turning the raw furs into complete garments, we are able to select and know the quality of every square inch of fur that goes to make up the famous guaranteed

We have found that at least 100 perfect hair cuts can be obtained from these blades by proper stropping.

NEW YORKERS FLY IN GIANT HANDLEY-PAGE

MINEOLA, L. I., N. Y., Oct. 17.—Either Chicago or Washington will be visited next week by the giant Handley-Page airplane "Atlantic," which, piloted by Vice-Admiral Mark Korr, of the British navy, arrived here last week from Parramore, N. C. It was announced tonight.

Carrying from ten to twelve specially-invited persons on each flight, the machine today took more than 60 persons, prominent New Yorkers, on short flights over Long Island.

VETERANS ASK COMRADES TO DEFEAT HEARST

Border Soldiers Make Appeal Following Premier's Refusal of Franchise.

WINDSOR, Oct. 17.—In accordance with a resolution adopted at a meeting of returned soldiers of Windsor, Walkerville and Ford commands, that they would appeal to their comrades all over the province to vote against the Government in the event of a refusal by provincial authorities to accord the franchise and to place on voters' lists the names of soldiers now either overseas, on the sea, or in hospitals, the veterans have sent out the following statement to all branch commands in Ontario:

"Comrades and dependents of comrades who have votes in Ontario: We were appointed as a committee by a mass meeting of returned men of the Border Cities on October 15 to take action in event of our comrades being refused by the Government their right to vote on this impending referendum and election. This refers to our comrades in hospitals and men on service and on the seas and overseas."

Appealed on September 9.
"The Government, after being appealed to on September 9 last, and several times since, have absolutely refused to grant this perfectly reasonable request to these comrades, so we appeal to you to support us under article 'E' of the aims and objects of the G. W. V. A. constitution. To guard carefully the good name, interests and the standing of our comrades still overseas, and to which they should be entitled to vote."

"We appeal to you not to support a Government who will not grant this legitimate right of franchise to those who have fought so nobly for right and justice."

"Comrades, united we stand, divided we fall. Forget party politics but support your own comrades."
Manifesto Signed.
The manifesto is signed by R. Harrison, W. Richards, William Weller, W. Downie, S. Lloyd and P. Hooking. The appeal, it is explained by the committee, is sent out as a result of a long telegram received this evening from Premier Hearst, informing the veterans that the Government had no authority to comply with their request relative to the placing of overseas men on the voters' lists, as the election act makes no provision for polling outside of Canada."

$2,750 In Cash PrizesA TEST OF SKILL AND ACCURACY*The Advertiser's Puzzle Contest

IF YOU CAN COUNT CORRECTLY, ONE OF THE MANY PRIZES MAY BE YOURS. NOTE THE DIVIDEND FEATURE AND SEND IN YOUR SOLUTION.

HOW TO ENTER

This contest is open to present bona fide residents of Ontario.

Anyone in this territory may enter the contest upon payment of not less than $2.00 or more than $12.48. This amount will be applied to subscription to The London Advertiser at regular subscription rates. It may be applied on either the morning or evening edition, or both.

You may submit just one solution or as many different ones as you wish. With each solution you must pay not less than $2.00 or more than $12.48. The total amount paid, whether you send one or more than one solution, will be applied to one continuous subscription, unless you otherwise direct. If you are already a subscriber the amount, or amounts, you pay will be applied to extending the time you are paid to. If you are a new subscriber the amount paid will be credited to you and your subscription started at once.

Present subscribers, wherever located, will continue to receive the paper through the same channels as now. Change whatsoever will be made in carriers where subscribers receive the paper through carrier service. All carriers will receive notice that the subscription has been paid and be instructed to collect the amount from The Advertiser office. The same will be done where the paper is being received through an authorized news-dealer.

If you send more than one solution one time send a separate blank with each one and state in each blank the amount you are paying with that solution.

This contest is open to both men and women. You may order the paper sent to someone else if you wish, names and addresses being subject to any changes that later may be desired.

DECIDING TIES

In the event of ties those tying will be required to solve a second puzzle in order to determine who shall receive the prize. This second puzzle, if one should be required, will be equally as attractive and practical as the first. Under this plan those who win will be assured of receiving the full value of their prize without having to divide them with other contestants. Should still further ties ensue, a third problem of the same order as the second will be submitted to those again tied to solve. This plan will be continued until all have been eliminated except the actual prize-winners. Should there be no ties on the first puzzle, only the one, of course, will be presented. In the event that a second puzzle is required, one week will be allowed in which to solve it. This will prevent the contest being prolonged for any unusual length of time.

On account of this contest all previous subscription offers are withdrawn. The following rates will prevail:

[COPYRIGHTED.]

THE PROBLEM

The problem is to count the circles. Every circle is complete, and intersects or touches one or more circles. There are no parts of circles, or shams or deceptions of any sort in the puzzle. In the event that no one counts the exact number, the prizes will be awarded for the nearest correct solutions. Accuracy and patience are the main requisites to arriving at the correct or nearest correct count. Those who display these qualifications to the best advantage will solve the puzzle best.

Important Features

The attention of contestants is called to two important features in connection with the prizes.

1. While the amount you pay for subscription to The Advertiser has no effect on your winning a prize, it does affect the value of the first five prizes should you win one of them. For instance, each of the first five prizes has a fixed value, to which is added from five to fifty times what the winners pay when they register their solutions. This is explained further in the prize list.

2. The first five prizes may also be won by subscribers. You will receive each L. your interesting five persons who are not now regular subscribers to become subscribers. You will receive twenty dollars for each one, whether you secure one or five. Each one of these new subscribers must pay not less than the minimum amount ($2) required of contestants. They may pay up to the maximum ($12.48) if they desire, and they may also become competitors for the prizes if they wish to submit one or more solutions of the puzzle. That is, they may enter the contest under the same conditions exactly as any other contestant, the payments they make entitling them to entry.

The name of each one of these new subscribers must be sent in on one of the accompanying blanks, whether he becomes a contestant or not. The fact that he was secured by you must also be indicated in the proper place provided in the blank, so you will receive credit. You may send in any of those five names whenever you wish, either when you send in your own solution or later. Just use one of the blanks for each one, and then there will be no mistake made in regard to your getting due credit.

THE MAIN POINT.

No voter should lose sight of the all-important fact that a "Yes" vote on the first question of the referendum means a vote for the wide-open bar and shop, just as they were prior to 1916, and that if the majority of the voters answer "Yes" to the first question, the other three questions on the referendum ballot will not be considered at all.

THE MAN FOR LONDON.

Dr. Hugh Stevenson, London's Labor candidate, has been going around doing good for so many years that his name has become a household word in this city. He has been a true and self-sacrificing friend of the suffering, and never has he refused the best and immediate services within his capacity, regardless of the lack of remuneration. Hundreds of poor patients, unable to pay for treatment, will testify to this. There are many "Dr. McClures" and Dr. Stevenson, is of the number. He has won a place close to the hearts of the people of London. Dr. Stevenson, in spite of his many medical activities, has found time to serve London well, as witness his three terms in the mayor's chair. As the city's chief executive he made an enviable record for economical and patriotic administration.

Sir Adam Beck's supporters dwell much on his knowledge of the electrical problems of the province as a reason why he should be elected, but the affairs of hydro would not suffer in the hands of Dr. Stevenson, as he is an expert on electrical subjects. And there are many other issues quite as important to the welfare of Ontario as hydro, as Dr. Stevenson points out, all of which will receive his attention. That is the duty of our representatives in the Legislature. On his fine record in the practice of his profession, his long and distinguished services to the municipality, his democratic platform and his executive abilities, Dr. Stevenson is entitled to the support of London's electors.

WESTERN UNIVERSITY'S ADVANCE.

The advances which all friends of Western University looked forward to as likely to come with the conclusion of the war period are being realized in a measure that must gratify the citizens of London generally. The decision of the board of governors to proceed immediately with the construction of the medical school and the whole-hearted way in which the chairman and members are proceeding to tackle the situation, shows that in the minds of London's leading businessmen there is no doubt of the value of the university to the city. There are other recent developments that show the forward movement that is under way. The increase of students in all departments this year, the large number of students taking the honor courses, the marked interest of the summer school students, and, as important as anything, the affiliation of the two big Roman Catholic colleges, L'Assomption of Sandwich and the Ursulines of Chatham, all these are indications of an assured future for Western.

The building of the new medical school will mean much to medical science in Western Ontario. The Western Medical College has ever been an influence maintaining high standards among the doctors of this city and district, and has made London known widely. Of late years, with a staff of full time men, the college has been able to do much for the men in practice. Special short courses have been provided where men could brush up on the latest developments in their field and become acquainted with the newer discoveries. There have been requests that special classes of this character might be held in Western Ontario centres where men, unable to leave their practice, might for a week at a time secure some of the advantages that are open to doctors in London. This new idea of extension work in medicine would appear to offer an opportunity for medical work that has not hitherto been developed in Canada.

The new medical building will mean more than ever emphasize the need of suitable provision for the arts department, which, like the medical department, has become so crowded with students this year that the authorities have been puzzled to know what to do. With foresight the governors some few years back purchased a site to the north of the city sufficiently large to meet university needs for all time to come, and on this site the first building will go up, probably next year. As time goes on other buildings will be needed to house special departments, and if a definite building plan is adopted at the beginning, there will yet be a group of college buildings to the north of the city that will be the pride of the community. The decision of the affiliated Roman Catholic colleges to proceed at once with the erection of two buildings, suggests the possibility of co-operation between the university board and the church authorities, in order that the new colleges may harmonize in architecture with the style to be adopted for university purposes.

Western University will do well to maintain its teaching staff to a standard of giving, as far as possible, that same individual attention to the student which has been a characteristic of the past when the classes were small. There is no large university in this country or the United States that is not striving to secure such conditions as have existed at Western—namely, small classes and attention by professors and lecturers to the needs of the individual students. With a growing attendance that necessarily means more instructors, nothing, perhaps, would bring greater returns in the end. How ever highly organized education may become, it must in the end depend for its results upon the personal contact that can be established between teacher and student, and no teacher can maintain proper relations with classes so large that he scarcely knows the students by name.

From the most completely material point of view, there are advantages to London from the growth and success of the university. Today there are hundreds of students coming to London each year to attend the Normal School, Collegiate Institute and University, and this number will grow year by year. With its complete educational advantages London will attract those who have children to educate, and who will balance this against other attractions that might be offered elsewhere. Upon the intellectual life of the city the influence of the university is felt, and will be felt more than any other agency, while the assistance which the university faculty can render the community in dealing with questions in which they are specialists is also an advantage not to be measured in any ordinary terms.

SAVINGS WILL SAVE NATION.

Canadians responded nobly to the numerous calls for money with which to win the war. They provided the money liberally and the war was won. But with the cessation of hostilities the money needs of the nation did not stop, too. At the present time Canada needs ready money as she never did before. Obligations incurred by the great conflict have to be met and must be attended to through the Victory Loan, 1919.

It is from the savings of the Canadian people that these obligations will be handled. Money must be lent to the nation in order that war debts can be disposed of. The people are called upon to advance the money. Their own best interests demands it, prosperity cannot last unless they do. Previous Victory Loans helped materially to win the war. The Victory Loan, 1919, is required to keep the war won. Dollars are decisive now. Canadians must finance their own country in order to prevent economic depression. They will become richer by doing so, and undoubtedly become much poorer should they neglect to do so.

The people of the cities and the people of the farms are equally concerned. They must unite in a great response to the call of the Victory Loan, 1919. Subscribers must include all classes of the community for mutual benefit. They will render a distinct national service while at the same time serving themselves in the best manner possible.

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP OR PUBLIC CONTROL.

An American journal points out that in Chicago, New York, and "literally thousands of people the country over"—not plutocrats, but persons belonging to the body of investors of moderate means, who absorb the great bulk of ordinary bond issues, are saying: "Never invest a dollar in a railroad or any other public utility." Leaving out real estate, they represented nearly one-third of the country's wealth.

These all have an important bearing on the taking over of the Canadian Northern and Grand Trunk by the Government. The Liberals in Parliament should oppose the proposition, because it will lose many millions, and tend to encourage graft and fraud of all kinds. It will cut the ties that bind Canada to Great Britain, and push Canada across the bar out into the open sea, sailing no one knows where.

The article referred to says: "Now rising costs of operation and refusal to permit increased fares have brought the companies so near to bankruptcy that profligate bonds, bearing the city's certificate that they were issued in accordance with the settlement, sell at 72 cents on the dollar; traction affairs were never more unsettled, and hundreds of Chicagoans are saying: 'Never invest in a public utility.'"

Exceptions must be noted. In many localities regulatory bodies have met the situation raised by higher costs with genuine conservatism. But in many others they have not, and the ill repute of public utility investments spreads. Electric railways of the country carried fourteen billion passengers in 1917. To a majority of city folk they are fairly a necessity of life. One mile of them out of eight thousand over, is now in the hands of receivers. This includes some of the most important mileage, as in New York city. That is not encouraging to investors.

Many regulatory bodies, like the Interstate Commerce Commission formerly, take the question to be whether a public service agency, under private ownership, can scrape through. If it can probably avoid actual bankruptcy they give no relief. But that is not the real question. Just adding actual insolvency does not at all meet the situation. If public service companies are put in a position where it is nip and tuck between solvency and insolvency, private capital will not go into them. The harm has been done. The public has a choice between two horses with which to do the day's work—public ownership or private ownership. For good reasons it chooses the private ownership horse, and then hamstringing it. Rejecting government ownership, the public must rely upon private capital for the maintenance and extension of these immensely important public services. If it does not make the conditions attractive to private capital it simply breaks the staff that it has chosen to walk with. Barely scraping through, just avoiding bankruptcy, will not answer. There must be better assurance than that.

This is the gist of the railroad problem: the country does not want government ownership. The only alternative is reliance on private capital. Unless railroad investments are made attractive to private capital the public simply hamstringing its horse. That is a bitter pill to our dinner-cost and patent-leather proletariat who do not want anything made attractive to private capital. But it is the cold and fundamental fact in the whole public utilities situation. Cant and demagoguery will do what they can to mislead; our saintly professional proletariat will obstruct as much as possible; some elected persons will have a haunting fear of being called friends of plutocracy; but if private capital is to be our instrument we must give it conditions in which it will function efficiently—not the mere breath of life, but assurance that legitimate bond interest will be paid—and a fair show to earn dividends that can increase as a reward of good management.

If we are not ready to meet that condition squarely and without shuffling, we may as well hand our utilities over to the joy-riding theorists.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Some of this futurist musings will be popular when it's a thing of the past.

As Mr. Ford considers the war news from Europe, he probably expects to see the boys back in the trenches by Christmas.

A GARDEN WALL.

[David Morton in the Bookman.]
The Roman wall was not all with great affairs. That knows no ruler's hands than clams. No louder blasts than blowing April air. Yet, with a grey solemnity it broods Above the wall where simple folk go past, And in its crannies keeps their transient moods, Holding their careless words unto the last.

The rains of summer, and the creeping vines That season after season cling in trust, And shivered poppies red as Roman wine— These things at last will haunt its crumbling dust— Not dreams of empires shattered where they lie, But children's laughter, birds, and bits of sky.

HOLDING THE REINS.

[The Khan.]
The night was clear, the sleighing good,
She snuggled close beneath the robe
To her fond lover's side.
The horse was spirited, and jumped
With frequent tugs at strains,
Until she impatiently said:
"Do let me hold the reins."

They're married now, perhaps because
She was so headstrong then.
She loves him well, and he loves her—
Well, it's the way of men.
And yet in all their sweet delight
One said thought makes him wince:
She held the reins that winter night—
She's held them ever since.

CANADIANS SAVED FRANCE.

It is a privilege to give the full report of Painlevé's speech before expressing an opinion. The speech is an answer to the accusation that Nivelle's offensive failed owing to political interference. The facts regarding the share of Field Marshal Haig and the British army are that a general conference of the military representatives of the Allies was held at French general headquarters in November, 1918, Marshal Joffre presiding, and that a plan of campaign for the spring of 1917 was agreed upon. Joffre was then replaced by Nivelle, who changed the plan materially. A conference held at Calais in February, 1917, of the French and British Governments, the British army was placed under the general direction of Nivelle as regards the situation of the front. The plan for the spring offensive, Sir Henry Wilson was appointed shortly after as a representative of the British army at Nivelle's headquarters to assist in obtaining unity of action.

Nivelle's plan was upset by Ludendorff's retreat to the Hindenburg line, but despite this Nivelle persisted in it. In accordance with Nivelle's plan, Haig fought the battle of Arras-Vimy on April 9, with Allied's 3rd Army and the Canadians under Byng, of Horne's 1st Army. The British more than carried out the part allotted the by Nivelle, but Nivelle's own offensive on the Meuse, which followed, was a failure. The heaviest loss and Haig was compelled to continue the battle of Arras in order to take the pressure off the French. After Arras, Haig resumed his independent direction of the British army and fought the battle of Messines and the Flanders offensive, which ended at Passchendaele in order to help the French recover from the disastrous results of Nivelle's failure.

BRIDGES UNDER WATER.

The method of building a subaqueous tunnel by constructing a steel or concrete tube in open air, and then sinking it into place is not unfamiliar. It works beautifully for narrow crossings where the water is not too deep. Mr. F. W. Fitzpatrick, who writes on the subject in the Popular Science Monthly (New York), insists that the plan is applicable also to long and deep tunnels, and he has submitted to the Channel Tunnel Commission a scheme for building that great project in the same way. This device is termed by Mr. Fitzpatrick a "subaqueous bridge." He says that it is really neither a tunnel nor a bridge, and yet it is a union of the two in a single structure—paradoxical as that may seem. Mr. Fitzpatrick tells us of several examples of river crossings in this country, on the Rhine, one in England and one in Russia, and he says that plans have been drawn up for many such. The scheme is no longer in the experimental stage. He goes on:

"Where there is very deep water, such as an ocean inlet, to cross a body 250 or more feet deep, of course the difficulties multiply. Long, spindle-legged concrete or stone arches or supporting piers have to be built unless the water is not too deep. In the latter case the approach grades are bored under the bottom, and in the former case the construction of such piers is a hundred feet or so high and all under water is an undertaking of considerable magnitude. The water in shallow water, this subaqueous bridge is ideal."

"One of the first projects of this kind seriously considered was the narrow crossing of the canal at Duluth."

"The canal at this point cuts a long strip of sandy shoal that would have been an admirable and much-needed freight terminal. But the authorities were frightened by its novelty."

"There is a crossing there now, an aerial bridge that took every bit of ingenuity I possessed to get approved by the war department, and that affords only a crossing for vehicles and pedestrians."

"The scheme is ideal for the crossing from San Francisco to Oakland, where in the seven miles of water there is no greater depth than 75 feet."

The writer's plans as he states them are for a concrete tube, made in sections, as we build concrete ships. Sections about 300 feet long are easily handled. They are square, large enough for a double track, provision being made for drain and ventilating pipes, electric wires, etc. Each section is a temporary bulkhead, and the water is launched as a ship. It is then towed to the point where it is to be sunk in a trench previously dredged or on piers built in place. To sink the section the bulkheads are raised and the water fills the tube, and it sinks, directed by divers, into its proper place. The ends are fastened to the other sections. When all the parts are in place the water is pumped out, the connections perfected, tracks laid, lights, ventilation and drainage installed. Then:

"Your 'subaqueous bridge' is complete and ready for operation—the cheapest and best water-crossing ever devised, one mile under water, and no storms like a bridge, not disturbed by currents or tides, not painfully bored underground. If the traffic becomes too great for two tracks, another double-track tube is laid alongside the first, and another and another as needed. The 'subaqueous bridge' can develop without in any way disturbing the first tube or its traffic."

"The joints in these tubes are so devised that when the two sections are put together the sealing into exact location is automatic. Tighten one line of bolts and the junction is as solid and water-tight as any part of the structure."

"At the ends of the tunnel or subaqueous bridge the approaches lead through open cuts or troughs exactly as one would expect for the regular bored tunnel under a waterway bottom."

"Some twenty years ago definite plans and estimates were made for four crossings, railway, street car and street traffic, near the Cortlandt street ferry line into New York. The crossings would have required nine mile anchorages, and was estimated to cost $3,000,000."

"Careful plans are being made at present for the Dover-Calais Channel crossing. What will be the cost? It is too early to state definitely, but we have gone far enough to be sure that the cost would not be in excess of 40 per cent of what a regular bored tunnel under the Channel would be."

"The tube idea was at first opposed by engineers. Now it is regarded as fundamentally correct. It was thus that the New York subway was built under the Harlem River."

"At a conference of railroad men before whom I was advocating this tube-crossing for a certain river here, the chief engineer of one of our greatest systems was loud in his approval. Finally, as a clincher, he suggested that the pier necessary to support the tube would have to be wonderfully strong, and that the load in the tube would be as great as to produce a sag in the middle of each section. It was only after much bantering on the part of his colleagues, and the illustration of trying to keep a closed glass tube down in a glass of water, that he dawned upon his expert mind that the pier were not for support, but for anchorage. The really troublesome problem would be to keep the tube down in place, and prevent it from floating up on its anchor pier."

PICNICS AND PATRIOTS.

By Constance Scudder.

The Fairfield family sat around the breakfast table. Mr. Fairfield was absorbed in a morning paper that bore the date of May 28, 1918. He spoke abruptly: "Mother, be sure and read the Watchman column today. That man hits the nail straight on the head every time. And, Carl, that thing of yours for Memorial Day will have to be called off. Seems there's been a notice in the papers that the committee of arrangements for the parade wants the loan of cars to carry the old vets. They need twenty. Memorial Day is two days off, and exactly four people have volunteered. Anyone who owns a car and can get by without offering it after reading that article belongs in the black column."

Carl waited dutifully until his father had finished, but not an instant longer. "But I don't get you, dad; I asked you a month ago for the car on that day and I've invited Grace Garfield to go with me and I'm to take four others. It's too late for me to back out now."

"Not another word, Carl," his father interrupted sternly; "you are to drive that car in the parade Thursday. The men in the factory have volunteered to work on the holiday to get out that rush war order and I can't do less. I'm late now, but I'll phone our names in before I leave."

The family kept quiet while Mr. Fairfield's voice sounded at the phone and until the front door shut behind him. Then Carl broke forth in that heart-breaking tone which only seventeen can assume. "Mother, I simply won't stand for it. We made all the arrangements a month ago for that picnic, and father promised them I could have the car. It isn't fair. There are plenty of other people who can lend their cars for the parade. And after I was lucky enough to get Grace Garfield, when four other fellows were after her."

"Here Jane Garfield, aged eight, interrupted. "I know Mary Garfield. She told me her sister was going to the picnic with my brother because he had such a swell car. She's awful cross. Always shows Mary out of the room when she has a fellow."

"Oh, plug up, will you, Jane? You make me tired, anyway. Mother, can't you make father see reason, somehow? I'd look a dud, now, wouldn't I, telling her I couldn't take her when the other fellows have gotten someone?"

Mrs. Fairfield looked perplexed. "You know your father's creed, Carl. Every man, woman and child must be 100 per cent patriotic if the war is to be ended this year. The Watchman preaches that in his column every morning, and father swears by him. Why don't you explain to Miss Garfield and ask her to go for a ride after the parade?"

That evening at the Fairfield dinner table Carl ate what was placed before him in sullen silence, taking no share in the conversation until Jane remarked, apropos of nothing: "Mary Garfield says her sister's awful mad at you, Carl—says you're an old stick-in-the-mud and haven't got any gumption, anyway, or you wouldn't let your father boss you around so."

Carl turned wrathful even upon his sister, muttering: "Just wait till I get you alone, smarty!"

Mr. Fairfield paused in his recital of how much work his men had turned out that day, to reprimand his small daughter, but there was a twinkle in his eye as he addressed his son: "Hard luck, Carl; your mother tells me you had captured the prettiest girl in the school for the picnic. Well, I had an eye for a pretty girl myself when I was young, with an appreciative glance at his wife, who at forty was still a handsome woman. "Swear a picnic of your own some day soon and you can have the car."

"Thank you, sir," answered the boy, but with the thought of his treatment at the hands of the fair Grace still rankling in his mind.

On Memorial Day, promptly at half-past six, we find the Fairfield family seated around the dinner table as usual at that hour. Carl looks very cheerful as he answers his father's questions about the parade and tells the names of the veterans he carried.

"Yes," pipes in the irrepressible Jane, "he wouldn't take me; said there wasn't room for anyone but veterans. What war was that girl in that you had with you, Carl?"

"I was going to tell about that when I got to it, you better-in," replied Carl in what he meant for a casual tone. "That was Natalie Burrows, old Mr. Burrows' grand-daughter. She came out of the house with him when I called for it. We made all the arrangements a month ago for that picnic, and father promised them I could have the car. It isn't fair. There are plenty of other people who can lend their cars for the parade. And after I was lucky enough to get Grace Garfield, when four other fellows were after her."

that Burrows girl bleaches her hair; says her sister told her so when she saw her in the car with you this afternoon."

What Carl replied to this we won't set down here, suffice it to say that his paternal parent reproved him as sternly as was consistent with his laughter.

A year has gone by; a year fruitful of many great events and changes in the big outside world. As we look in on the Fairfield family on a sunny morning toward the last of May in the year 1919, we find that the strained look has left Mr. Fairfield's face and that he eats his breakfast in a more leisurely manner. Mrs. Fairfield remains in a relieved tone that she is not due at the Red Cross rooms nor the canteen that day. Carl has improved in appearance. He holds himself better, is better set up—they have introduced military training into the school he attends.

"Father," he remarks, "I entered our car for the Memorial Day parade. Do you mind if I drive it? The parade is going to be a dandy this year. They're going to have the two regiments that are over to the front waiting to be mustered out, and all of the Forty-Ninth they can get hold of."

"Certainly you may, son. Mother is in it, too, and Jane marches with the Junior Red Cross. I'm going to sit in the window and watch it go by, since I missed it last year."

"Going to take old Mr. Burrows' asked Jane, with a grin. "Carl answers without any evasion. "Sure, and Natalie, too, if you want to know."

"Bring Natalie home to dinner with you, Carl," Mrs. Fairfield interposes; and the boy smiles his thanks at her. "True to her sex, Jane tries for the last word: "Mary Garfield says her sister says that Burrows girl is dead stuck on you; says it's only because our father has a lot of money." Jane paused to swallow what was in her mouth before continuing, but Carl burst in:

"Now you let up on that for good and all. Don't you ever mention that Garfield brat to me again, nor her made-up story of a sister, either—get me? Evidently Jane did, for she remarked weekly, "I'd rather have Natalie for a sister, anyway. She lets me stay when you try to drive me out of the room."

"You bet I'm not, father," the boy answered. "Picnics are all right in their place, but they don't belong to one day in the whole year given up to honoring our patriots."

The Fine Art of Blending Dress and Decoration to Best Effect

(By Mme. Frances, Famous Creator of Fashions, New York City.)

Jewels should be worn with originality and not merely as a display. The woman who is fortunate enough to possess rare jewels should make them count as a definite color feature of her costume and should govern the color choice of her gowns by her jewels.

She who may not choose her jewels from the coffers of a Maharajah should specialize on some one collection of jewels, say on bracelets, rather than on indiscriminate examples of the lapidary's art.

She should wear a color scheme in jewel's as in a frock. If sapphires are becoming and appeal to her she should feature only sapphires, preferably of one hue. The deep blue is the loveliest color of this stone and contrasts more strongly with diamonds, the usual complement for sapphires. A well-known jeweler recently designed the setting for a collection of sapphires. A large square stone was hung as a pendant on a platinum chain. To wear with this necklace a bracelet, consisting of three square sapphires surrounded by diamonds, was designed. On the same hand with this bracelet is worn a sapphire ring, while the ornaments for the other hand consist of one beautifully set diamond ring and a lattice bracelet of pearls with a diamond clasp. A string of pearls, instead of competing with the brilliancy of the sapphires on the neck, is wound round the arm as a bracelet. This armlet made from the pearl necklace carries a sapphire clasp, which brings the whole harmoniously together. The other blue stones. These jewels are in gold, because red and yellow should not be combined.

The deep purple tones of amethyst give lovely color notes with violet, mauve or hyacinth gowns. There is a legend concerning the amethyst which gave it its name. A beautiful nymph was beloved by Bacchus. In her effort to escape the imperious wooing of the god she was aided by her patron goddess and changed into an amethyst. Bacchus in memory of his vanished love became stowed on the stone the color of the purple wine he loved. The Greek word for amethyst, from which amethyst is derived, means "not drunken," and amethysts were worn by the ancient Greeks as a charm against intoxication.

Use of Semi-Precious Stones.

Precious stones should never be combined with semi-precious stones. Jade, lapis lazuli and coral depend largely on their setting and arrangement for loveliness and should be employed as color notes in a costume. As a rule these stones cannot be mixed. Turquoise should be set in gold and silver, and their setting should be especially artistic.

MOTHERS' CLUB TO HOLD AN INQUEST INTO PARTY HALLOWEEN

Object Is To Keep Children Off Streets and Prevent Rowdysm.

"Lost Opportunity!" was the subject of an inspiring address, delivered Thursday evening at the Chesley Avenue Mothers' Club, by the Rev. G. A. Leichter, the pastor of the "Trinity" church.

He knew what his past has been. You know what my future will be if the liquor is allowed to come back," He went on to say that since liquor had been prohibited he had made some headway at paying for his farm, and, "Gentlemen," said he, "some day I want to own this land, and so for the sake of humanity vote for temperance."

Surely the cry of the man who wishes to be a real man will reach our hearts.

He wondered if any of the American readers could tell me where I could obtain the book, entitled "The Art of Home Making." The author is Margaret Sangster. Also could you tell me the price of it? Wishing you page every success, I am as ever,

A Word to the Seafish.

Dear Miss Grey.—I certainly think a St. Thomas Mother is right. What will our country be like if the liquor comes back. Let us all remember the saying, "The hand that rocks the cradle rules the world." We have a chance to help now, so let us mark under "No" to every question, and do all that is in our power to get others to do the same. We have some selfish people in the world. They say, "It will never harm me, and let the other fellow look out for himself." Such selfish people never help the Lord Christ in their hearts, for Christ was always helping someone else, and we do not follow his example. Let none of his. Every one that votes for the liquor is just as responsible for the man who gets drunk as the man that gives him the liquor. Let each one that votes remember God watching us, and let us have to answer him some day which way we vote. It looks to me we have the greatest enemy to fight now. My son has just returned from overseas; he said if they get the liquor back, and they still have strikes, you don't

Another interesting talk was given by Mrs. J. B. McKillop, lady superintendent of St. John Nursing Division of this district, on the work of the Safety League. Following this up, the club decided to give a motion picture entertainment on first aid and safety league work the end of November.

Halloween Masquerade.

The club work for this month will include a masquerade social in the school on Halloween, the object of the club being to keep the children of the district off the streets that night and preventing rowdiness. The admittance ticket for each child to the masquerade will be an accompanying parent. The club has also decided to hold a rummage sale on November 6.

Last evening a fine musical program included the following numbers: an instrumental by Miss Mills, vocal solos by Mrs. H. Barrows, Miss Mary Collier and Miss Dorothy Dowell, D. Stearns.

This, Says McKone.

About 75 mothers were present at the opening meeting of the Victoria Mothers' Club, held in the school. Mrs. F. Hassel, the president, occupying the chair.

The Rev. N. S. McKeechie, B. A., gave an interesting address on Temperance and Mr. McKone explained the use of the ballot and how to mark it.

"There has been some confusion as to whether women have the right to vote in the coming parliamentary election as well as on the referendum," he said. "Every woman of over 21 years of age, whether married or single, if her name appears on the voter's list, has the right to vote on both," he declared.

A reading was given by Mrs. Wallace and a vocal solo by Miss Hedley, after which refreshments were served.

Stove Will Rust.

Dear Miss Grey,—Could some of our good readers give some information regarding what will keep a kitchen stove or range from rusting? Perhaps there is some preparation that would help. The young folks put blackening on it, but it just rusts beneath the polish. It sits between drafts.

Ans.—Referred to readers. Who can suggest a remedy for Old Subscriber's rusty stove?

Dear Miss Grey,—I am in favor of the Ontario temperance agent. I have not had much of an opportunity to help to fight down the liquor curse. Before now I have said "for the sake of our boys I will fight against the liquor," and doesn't it sound disgusting when you say "for the sake of humanity we will fight against the liquor"? I am glad to take this opportunity to tell you of a little incident that occurred in our neighborhood recently.

A group of men were standing and discussing the pros and cons of the liquor when one of them spoke up and said: "Men, you all know me. You

NEW METHOD OF REDUCING FAT

A news item from abroad informs us that the American method of producing a slim, trim figure is meeting with astonishing success. This system, which has made such a wonderful impression over there, must be the Marmola Prescription Tablets for reducing fat. It is safe to say that we are nothing better for this purpose in this country. Anything that will reduce the excess flesh two, three or four pounds a week, without injury to the stomach, the causing of wrinkles, the help of exercising or dieting, or interference with one's means is a magnificent and useful addition to civilization's necessities. Just such a catalogue of good results, however, follows the use of these pleasant, harmless and economical little fat reducers. We say economical because Marmola Prescription Tablets (made in accordance with the famous prescription) can be obtained of any druggist or the makers, the Marmola Company, 54 Woodward avenue, Detroit, Mich., for one dollar the large case, which is a decidedly economical price, considering the number of tablets each case contains. They are harmless.

Our Master Instrument

The Organola

THE test of the control Pipes of the Organola is a Band Record or a Quartette.

The ordinary talking machine will reproduce a record of band instruments or quartette as one co-ordinated sound and in doing so loses the beauty and character of the individual instruments or voices. The tone control pipes of the Organola are so tuned that each individual sound—instrumental or voice—is distinctly reproduced because the pipes embrace every note in the scale and vibrate in sympathy as their notes are given forth by the record which happens to be playing.

Our magnificent "Organola" model is the only phonograph equipped with a full set of tone control pipes. The aid of these pipes in the true and harmonious reproduction of tones has made the Organola the master instrument of the phonograph world and a triumph to the true lovers of music.

If you have not heard the "Organola" an artistic treat is awaiting you.

Hear it at our dealers, or write us.

If you don't change it, you'll feel uncomfortable all day fearing some one will notice the soiled cuff—

Unless you are lucky and are wearing a W. G. & R. shirt with Double Wear Cuffs. Then, all you have to do is to turn the cuff and it's as good as new.

These new Double Wear Cuffs are a convenience men have longed for. Now that they have been invented, men are taking to them enthusiastically.

Will Nuxated Iron Help Men of Today Gain Strength and Endurance Like Athletes of Old?

Physician Says "Yes"—Cites Case of

Jack Dempsey, Heavyweight Champion of the World
SUPERMAN OF THE AGE

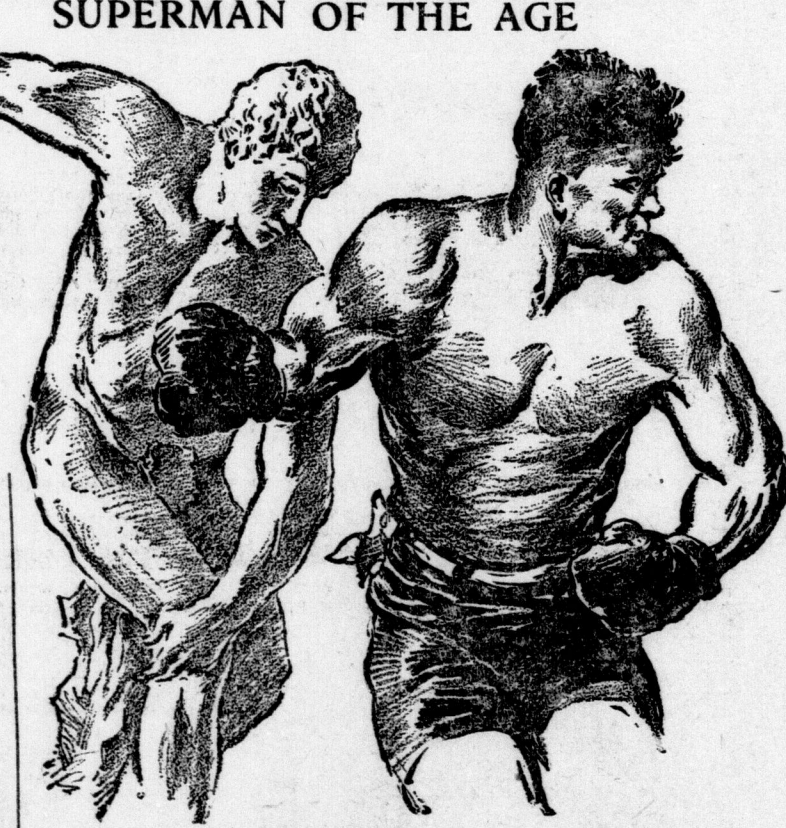

Who Used Nuxated Iron as a Part of the Training Which Gave Him Such Marvellous Physical Development That He Was Able to Whip the Mighty Jess Willard.

To every man who lacks physical strength and energy there comes a longing at times to possess the power and endurance of an athlete, yet they go on struggling through life weak, nervous and inefficient, when in reality their trouble may be nothing more than lack of sufficient iron in the blood.

Had they not kept their blood rich in iron the athletes of old might never have achieved such fame, is the opinion of Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital, who believes that modern men who are fagged out by worry, work and other strains might readily build up their strength, energy and endurance by increasing the supply of iron in their blood.

As an example of the superb physical condition that may be obtained by a man of today who follows proper methods of living and who keeps his blood filled with strength-giving iron, Dr. Sullivan cites the case of Jack Dempsey, who used Nuxated Iron as a part of the training which gave him such marvellous development that he is now recognized as the Superman of the Age, and perhaps the superior of any famous athlete of ancient times. Dr. Sullivan says: "In my opinion whoever added power behind my punch and helped me to accomplish what I did at Toledo. From the results in my own case, where the possession of super endurance is necessary, I feel that I am in a position to strongly recommend Nuxated Iron to every man and woman who wants to build greater strength, energy and power."

In commenting on the foregoing statement made by Dempsey, Dr. Sullivan says: "In my opinion whoever added power behind my punch and helped me to accomplish what I did at Toledo. From the results in my own case, where the possession of super endurance is necessary, I feel that I am in a position to strongly recommend Nuxated Iron to every man and woman who wants to build greater strength, energy and power."

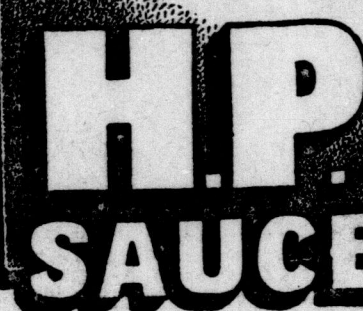

The coarse foods and rigorous methods of living practiced in ancient times made rich red blood for the men whose race of strength and endurance won fame for them through the ages. Today modern methods of cookery extract much of the natural iron from our foods, and this, coupled with the more rapid pace at which we live, make it necessary in our present age to supply the iron deficiency caused by taking some form of organic iron—Nuxated Iron—so as to build up a race of sturdy, red-blooded men.

more as did the athletes of old or because he knew the secret of great strength and endurance, which comes from having plenty of iron in the blood, while many another has gone down to inglorious defeat simply for lack of iron.

Manufacturers' Note.—Nuxated Iron which is prescribed and recommended above by physicians is not a secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists. Unlike the older inorganic iron products, it is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make them black nor upset the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. It is dispensed in city by Cairncross & Lawrence, Standard Drug Co., Taylor Drug Co., and all other druggists.

FINE DISPLAY OF 'MUMS' SHOWN ON LOCAL MARKET THIS MORNING

The tang of winter was in the air early this morning as housewives with baskets over their arms, hurried toward the market, smiling inwardly at the prospect of a speedily-made bargain with the half-chilled vendors, anxious to return to their warm firesides. Vegetables form the bulk of the wares at the present time, with quantities of cauliflowers, cabbage, celery, squash, etc., all selling fairly reasonably. Potatoes have not as yet made a very plentiful appearance, however.

A huge basket of curly-leaved endive attracted the attention of salad lovers, and what looked like three baskets of green apples turned out to be a single one of the finest quality ready for preserving, and only 75 cents a basket. Rogers grapes still prevail at 60 cents a basket, although the blue Concord are no longer on the market.

Perhaps the most attractive feature of all this morning were the huge wagons of shaggy 'mums', big, ragged, yellow ones, selling for $2 a dozen, and a white variety at $1.50. Small nosegays

G. W. V. A. FAILS TO GET LISTS REOPENED

Judge Says To Do So Is Illegal.

Hundreds of returned soldiers have made inquiries at the headquarters of the G. W. V. A. regarding the report emanating from Guelph three days ago that veterans could register up till Saturday.

Secretary J. W. Cunliffe of the Great War Veterans has been working continually since the announcement was made, to have a registration office opened in London for that purpose. He has been unsuccessful. The matter now rests with Judge T. Macleod, who refuses to take any action. He said this morning that he had received no orders, and would not do it until he had, and was not sure that he would do it then, because it would be entirely illegal. He said that any action could be contested if the soldiers were to register now. Many of the men desiring to register are men who have returned from overseas since the lists were closed. Several were left off because they were in hospitals, among them being Major R. Osborne.

The Conservative Club in St. Thomas informed the G. W. V. A. here that its lists had been opened in that city.

IN RESPONSE to an inquiry from the City of London Referendum Committee concerning the statements made by the Liberty League re an Anti-Tobacco campaign to be engineered by the Ontario W. C. T. U., the following letter has been received:

CAPT. HUGH MACFARLANE,
Secretary, Local Referendum Committee, London, Ont.
Dear Mr. Macfarlane:

In reply to your inquiry we beg to state that an Anti-Tobacco campaign has never been so much as suggested amongst us.

We do not know anything about that ten tons of Anti-Tobacco literature—no, nor one ton, nor a tenth of a ton. AND NEITHER DOES THE LIBERTY LEAGUE.

Away back in February, when the officers of the Ontario W. C. T. U. were meeting in Toronto, we were told that late in the Referendum campaign the liquor interests would spring this lie, in the hope that it would prove a red herring across the Prohibition trail. Recent liquor advertising proves the accuracy of this forecast.

The W. C. T. U. was instrumental in securing a Dominion law prohibiting the sale of cigarettes to minors under 16 years of age.

They have no apologies to offer for this. They believe that the fathers and mothers of Ontario approve that legislation.

The W. C. T. U. did not make any attempt to prevent the soldiers from receiving cigarettes. They did say to their own membership, "Send candy instead," and in response to this suggestion, tons upon tons of chocolates went into the trenches.

The W. C. T. U. also provided, through the Y. M. C. A., more than half of the money expended by that organization for free drinks in 1918.

The Anti-Cigarette League is an American institution which has no branches in Canada, as far as we know.

Regretting that we cannot reach all our officers in time to attach their names to this letter, and trusting that the vote on October 20th will abundantly testify to the determination of the Ontario electorate to retain the Ontario Temperance Act, we are, yours sincerely,

Row in Sarnia Foreign Colony Sends George Forran To Hospital.

(Special to The Advertiser.) SARNIA, Oct. 17.—Tonight a warrant was issued for the arrest of an Italian named Francisco Guigleno, who, it is alleged, is responsible for the stabbing of George Forran, 26, now in a serious condition in the local hospital.

Disappearing shortly after the fracas yesterday in which Forran received a nasty knife wound in the back, Guigleno is still at large. What happened that caused the stabbing is unknown beyond the fact that a number of foreigners in the colony were assembled in a room when an argument arose that ended when Forran sank to the floor with a wound in his back.

BIG INDUSTRIAL CONFERENCE TO GET NEW START

Adjourns Over Week-End Without Decision On Collective Bargaining.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 17.—Without reaching a decision on recognition of the right of workers to bargain collectively—an issue which has been the subject of two days of debate—the national industrial conference tonight closed the second week of its deliberations. Adjournment was taken until Monday, when there is every indication that the conference will make a new start, a definite program for procedure to that end being in process of formation.

Withdrawing the motion made yesterday to recommend the labor-public declaration on collective bargaining, the employers took the initiative today by offering a substitute resolution which would protect their right to deal or not to deal with minor groups of men who are not their employees.

Adjournment without a vote on the collective bargaining issue was opposed vigorously by the laborers. Mr. Gompers demanded that the conference remain in session "until the resolution is disposed of," and Daniel Tobin and W. G. Lee, the latter chief of the railway trainmen held up the spectre of numerous strikes and pending strikes, now in abeyance, pending the outcome of the conference, to induce the delegates to take immediate action.

Four members of the labor group, L. J. Shephard, John J. Donlin, T. A. Rickert and Joseph F. E. Valentine, voted with the majority of the employers and public groups for adjournment.

FOURTH ACTION ENTERED.—The fourth action to be tried on October 23 at the adjourned special sitting of the county court, has been entered in the court office. The claim made was for $102.50, by J. C. Patterson, of 359 Richmond street, is for the services rendered in the sale of certain property in Tavistock, Ontario County, and the defendant is D. A. Cattanch, of 92 Moore street, St. Thomas. The papers concerning the action reveal that Mr. Cattanch disputed the claim and through his solicitor, has entered a counter-claim for $500 damages for fraudulent misrepresentation.

OLD FOLKS' COUGHS, CATARRH, BRONCHITIS QUICKLY CURED

This Tells of a Method That Cures Without Using Drugs.

Elderly people take cold easily. Like young folks, they recover slowly. That is why so many people past middle life die of pneumonia. Cough Syrup seldom does much good because they upset digestion. A doctor knows that a much more effective treatment is "CATARRHOZONE," which heals and soothes the irritated surfaces of the throat.

In using Catarrhozone you do not take medicine into the stomach—you simply breathe into the throat, nose and lungs rich, pinely, balsamic vapors so full of healing power that cold, catarrh and bronchitis disappear almost instantly.

The germ-killing balsamic vapors mix with the breath descending through the throat, down the bronchial tubes, and finally reaches the deepest air cells in the lungs. All parts are soothed with rich, pure medicinal essences, whereas with syrup the affected parts could not be reached and harm would result through burning the stomach with drugs.

A Catarrhozone inhaler in your pocket or purse enables you to stop a cold with the first sneeze. Large size costs $1.00 and supplies treatment for two months, small size, 50c. Get all stores, drug stores and health stores, or The Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Canada.

The GIRL FROM OUTSIDE

Death had left her alone there—where the law of the range and claw prevailed. Her innocence was a bait to the human wolves until the five Wag boys made themselves her guardians. They lived by their wits, but their hearts were big and clean; and straight into each of them the little girl walked—to make them the purer and nobler. Laughter, and now and then a tear; Innocence of young girlhood and the hardened spirit of evil; the quick action of the outdoors; a wonderful love story; selfishness, utter and self-sacrifice that knows nothing too big to give; one of the cleanest characters of all fiction set among gamblers and robbers—every element that a pulsing photoplay should have will be found here. A picture without a star, but one that you will remember so long as the heavens are above. The management regards "The Girl From Outside"—made from the Rex Beach story "The Wag Lady"—as one of the few HUNDRED PER CENT pictures. It's big! It's genuine! It's different!

The adventures of five crooks, a drama of warm hearts and a frozen trail, in the land where only one kind of woman was known—such is Rex Beach's big picture, "The Girl from Outside," which heads the program of big attractions at the Majestic next playing Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

She was "The Girl from Outside."

WALLACE REID
"The Valley of the Giants"
At the Majestic again today only.

Harold Lloyd, the popular screen comedian, appearing at the Majestic on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, in "Soft Money."

Alone and friendless, she had come into the seething midst of an Alaskan mining town. Poverty and despair were slowly crushing her when she met the five "Wag" boys—each one a crime-hardened thief. They fought her battles and protected her from the vipers of the north who would despoil her. To them she was the revelation of a new species of womanhood—a pure, wholesome thing to be worshipped and protected. Then they all fell in love with her and found that she had given her heart to another man.

Rex Beach has woven a tale of tremendous power. The smashing climax in which the "Curly Kid" after a desperate gun fight, snatches papers which would incriminate the girl, and with his last ounce of strength, crawls to the fire, leaving a trail of blood along the floor, and thrusts the papers into the blaze with his dying efforts. The time the five crooks hold up the biggest dance hall in Nome to supply the girl with money to open her hotel, there are dozens of scenes, which will long remain in your memory with the impression of a great romantic tale of human emotions.

Among the extra attractions will be Harold Lloyd comedy, "Soft Money"; pictures of the Prince of Wales reviewing some of Canada's veterans, and of his journeying throughout Canada; wonderful scenes of far away savage lands in the interesting Chester Outing pictures.

ELSIE FERGUSON IN A PLAY OF LUXURY AT THE MAJESTIC

Luxury surrounded her, the wealth of Indian princes, great caravans brought to her gorgeous carpets from Persia, carvings from India, and ancient beautiful antiques from all over the world for her palace in the African jungle; gowns from Paris, New York millinery, every desire that a beautiful woman could wish was gratified, but happiness was not hers; such is the theme of "The Witness for the Defense," the big Artcraft special showing at the Majestic Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week.

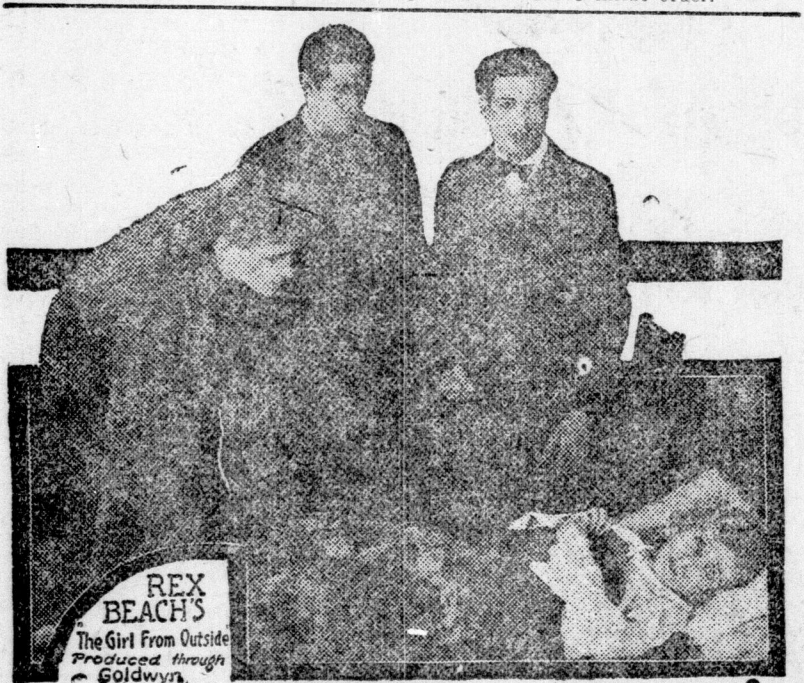

Of all her possessions, none were more precious than the one thing she could not have, happiness, and the love of a real man. She had been torn from the man she loved, sold to another, a beast in human form, a giant, a maniacal drunkard, who treated the natives like dogs, and his boughten wife as had. He had paid his price for her, he was bound to break her spirit as he had broken all others. Then fate freed her suddenly, but with less warning the law claimed her, and she was doomed to die for a crime which had brought happiness to hundreds of poor creatures. But then "The Witness for the Defense" appeared, the way was smoothed, and she was free. However, she found that even this man demanded his price, but his price was so different, honor, a good name, and the forgetfulness of the old horrors of life, and she learned to have a new faith in humanity, to become the charming, lovable woman she had been destined for, and they both walked hand in hand into a future of happiness.

Added Attractions
Two splendid attractions will be among the extra added features at the Majestic for the first half of the week. Mack Sennett's new comedy, "Uncle Tom Without the Cabin," featuring Ben Turpin as Uncle Tom, Marie Prevost as Elsie, and Charles Lyne as the manager of the show, who plays the part of Simon Legree.

Another feature which will prove very popular is a screen magazine, showing the life at home of many famous movie stars, their hobbies and habits, and with a number of interesting little peeks and back stage life in the great studios.

ATTRACTIONS SHOWING AT MAJESTIC SOON

Among the big attractions which are booked at the Majestic for this month and next will be Pauline Frederick's new picture, presenting her in a new role, and one especially charming, entitled "Dance of Love." Then there is that special adaptation of the famous novel of the days of '49, "The Westerners," and Madge Kennedy, that charming little beauty, is soon to appear in her new comedy, "Leave It to Susan." You remember seeing the great Paver-sham and Elliott road production last season, "Lord and Lady Bly," this play has been adapted into a big picture, with Tom Moore as the star and with an excellent cast. They say this is one of the best of the season, and it will be shown at the Majestic within a week or two. At least we have Geraldine Farrar and her famous handsome husband, Lou Tellegen, appearing together. The picture is entitled "The World and Its Woman," a story of the Russian revolution, with numerous big scenes, and hundreds of beautiful costumes and life of the old Russian nobility as it existed before the reign of the Red terror. And then there is Clara Kimball Young's coming big picture, "The Eyes of Youth," a dramatic production of the finest order.

A Film Production of Thrilling Adventures, Love and Beauty. Showing at the Majestic on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday Next.

A spectacular revelation of the Russian revolution showing at the Majestic soon.

ELSIE FERGUSON "THE WITNESS FOR THE DEFENSE"

All the luxury of India surrounded—she had everything her heart could desire—all except love. Then in the centre of the jungle a shot rang out—and she was free from the husband to whom she had been "sold"—free from him, but now a prisoner of the law. She sat in the courtroom with not one to aid her—the man she loved in far-away England. Then stepped forward one man to save her—led—and let her go free. But he claimed his reward, came with desire on his face—to find that Love sweeps away the past—that sometimes suffering has its reward in utter happiness.

This amazing story of human emotions by A. E. W. Mason, the famous English author, was the sensation of two continents as a stage production. On the screen it is given settings of a splendor that the stage can never equal. Elsie Ferguson does the most striking work of her career in "The Witness for the Defense."

COMING TO MAJESTIC SOON
Spectacular Story of Russian Revolution, "THE WORLD AND ITS WOMAN," WITH GERALDINE FARRAR AND LOU TELLEGEN.

THE JADE EARRINGS. By Izola Forrester.

They were curiously made, two pendant balls of delicate silver filigree, and within each a sphere of jade in deepest, purest sea green. Mrs. Lambert watched them with a certain fascination as they dangled from the ears of her caller. There was the same shade of green in Wanda's eyes, the same suggestion of finished craftsmanship in her entire make-up from her perfectly fitting walking boots to her straight, dark eyebrows, and smooth, glossy hair. She hardly caught what the girl was saying until she realized that Oliver was observing her amusedly.

"I never want to see the far east again. I feel as if I had had some awful overdose of one of their queer narcotics. We were in Siam for two months, and after that China, and then Japan. Oliver says he never knew before the happy, happy heathen could use so many lead pencils."

"Eighteen thousand in Seoul alone on one order," grinned Oliver. "I have no kick coming. It is just everybody who can run a successful honeymoon on a business basis."

"It was fearfully slow for me," Oliver said. "I hardly saw anything of you, you were chasing customers so."

"Until you struck Yokohama," Oliver put in meaningfully. "She keeled over one of the highest maddening in the province, sis. Regular princeling, educated at Harvard, flunked at Oxford; regular diplomatic chap, with the finest pearl and jade business in Southern China."

"He gave me my earrings," Wanda said, consciously blushing. "Don't you think they're pretty, Louise?"

"Exquisite, I was admiring them."

"I'm going to have them filed off of her ears," Oliver rose and crossed over to the willow chair in the sunlight, looking down at his bride critically. "Did you notice, Lou, Mong Soy, the fellow who was adjusting them in her ears himself, and there's a trick about the fastening. She hasn't been able to take them off ever since we sailed."

"And they hurt just a little bit," Wanda complained prettily. "He told me they would bring me luck. They're Chinese. They were made in Burma."

"Save for admiring the earrings, the matter slipped from Mrs. Lambert's mind completely in the weeks that followed. She only saw her brother and Wanda occasionally, as they lived in town at a hotel, where she and her country home out at sleepy little Snug Cove, on the North Shore. Then one morning about 4, the telephone rang sharply. It was Oliver's voice in quick distress.

"Wanda's been taken very ill. Can you drive right in, Lou? Looks like poisoning."

"From what?" she asked anxiously.

"Can you tell?"

"Not a sign of anything. She's not been ill since we saw you last—slow fever, listless, uneven respiration, everything, I'm worried sick over her. Hurry up."

He had two specialists working over Wanda when Mrs. Lambert arrived, finding a deep tremulous sigh every now and then, and evidently suffering. After a while, Wanda opened her eyes. Her hands lifted meekly, unsteadily to her ears.

"Take those things out," she whispered. "I know."

She slipped back into the drowsy state again, the words dying in a deep sigh. On the dressing table was a Louise lifted and without hesitation earlobe and began filing at the slender silver wire that held it.

Working resolutely, she succeeded in severing both and drew the wires taut. Through the inflamed purpling flesh, Oliver entered as she tossed the trinkets on the linen scarf, his eyes filled with apprehension.

"They can't detect a trace of anything," he began. "She's simply wasting time. What are you doing?"

In a glance he realized what she had done, and picked up the jade earrings. Examining them closely he gave a quick exclamation. The wires at one end branched into tiny, needle-pointed ends like antennae, and the larger wire which pierced the ear was hollow. As he held it a globe of moisture gathered, like steam on a glass.

"Look after Wanda," he said sternly. "I'm going to have this stuff analyzed. This seems to be one method the Orient has of showing its appreciation."

The door closed behind him and Wanda opened her eyes. A shiver of remorse passed over her as she saw the earrings on the stand beside the bed.

"It was my fault," she whispered, as Mrs. Lambert bent over her tenderly. "I love jewelry. I was nice to him, just so he would give me some of the beautiful things he had, and then he hated me when I told him I was leaving China for home. I never thought he would be so cruel. He seemed like one of his own queer little ivory images."

Her voice died away, as she slipped into a quiet, natural sleep. Oliver

SEVERAL ARMIES ARE ADVANCING ON PETROGRAD

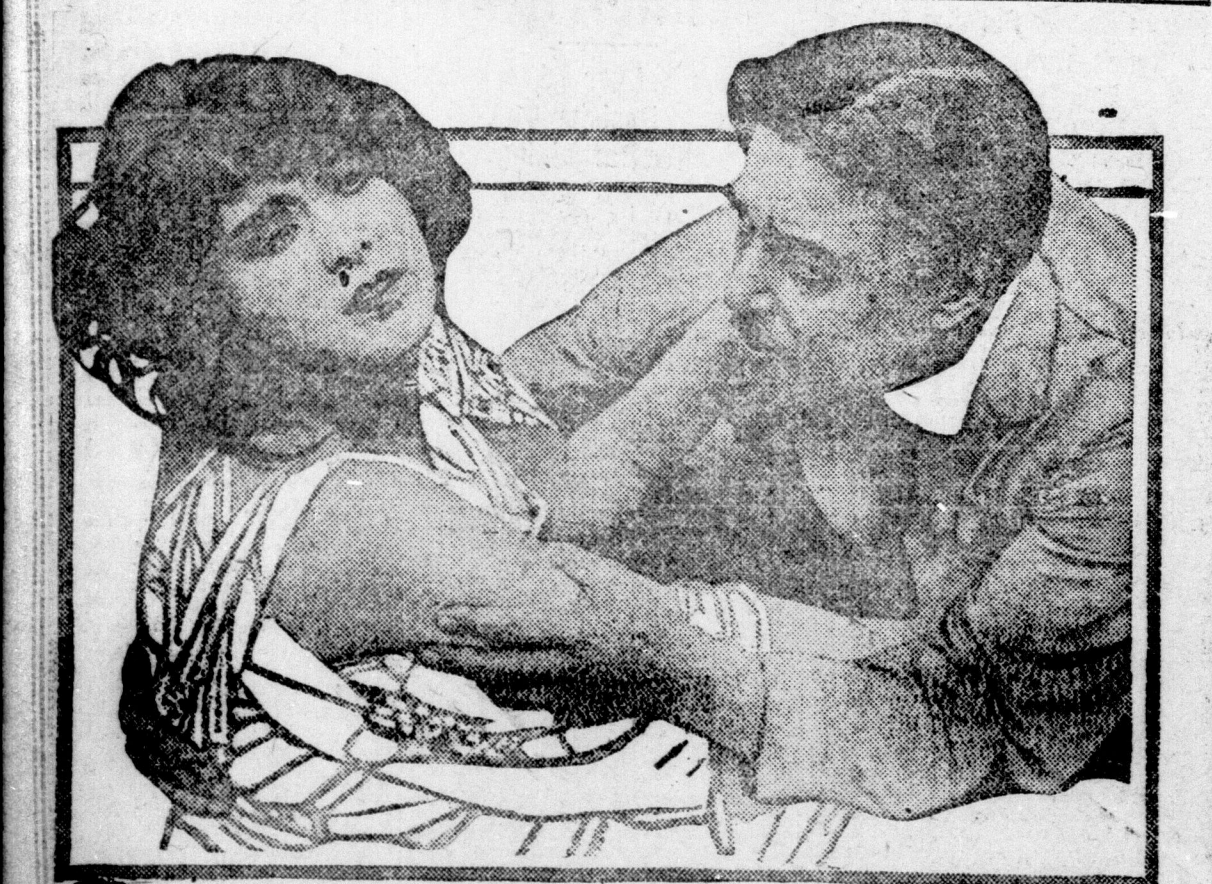

Stockholm, Oct. 16.—General Yudenitch, whose northwestern Russian army is marching on Petrograd, has been reinforced by troops commanded by Prince Peter Lieven and volunteers from Archangel, who form the vanguard of the advance on the former Russian capital, according to a Helsingfors dispatch to the Dagbladet.

A London dispatch received last Saturday stated that Prince Peter Lieven was superintending the co-ordination of forces commanded by Col. Hvaloff-Bernadot and Gen. von der Goltz, which have been fighting in and about Riga for several days.

Estonian forces are reported not to have advanced materially, but no further advances by the Russo-German troops along the southern coast of the Gulf of Finland have been made. The defeat of the Bolsheviks before Petrograd is said to have been due to a lack of discipline, as they have plenty of ammunition and guns. The Bolshevik front has been broken at several places and the Soviet reserves are insufficient to check the advance of the Yudenitch forces.

CONSTANCE TALMADGE AND HIGH CLASS VAUDEVILLE AT GRAND OPERA HOUSE FIRST HALF WEEK

At the Grand

Twice today, matinee, 2:30. Evening, 8:15—Bud Fisher's musical comedy, "Mutt and Jeff's Dream." Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, 8:15 and 7:30—Five sets of Keith vaudeville. Pernikoff and Rose Ballet. The Peticoat Man. Tip Top Four. George Yeoman and Lizzie. The Aeroplane Girls. Feature film, Constance Talmadge in "Romance and Arabella." Thursday, Friday and Saturday, evening 8:15, Saturday matinee, 2:30—The Acadian Club present the merry musical spectacle, "Queen Zephra." Coming week, November 3—D. W. Griffith's masterpiece, "Broken Blossoms."

Anyone who delights in comedy that is full of vivacity, life, love and spirit will be entertained to his heart's content by the new Select picture in which vivacious Constance Talmadge will be starred at the Grand Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The picture is "Romance and Arabella." It was a stage comedy by William Hurlbut, but if it was any better in that form than as a screen play, it must have been a world-beater. For it possesses every element of charm that a photoplay may possess—plot, characters, situations and humor.

It is, briefly, the tale of a very young widow, who is determined that her second marriage shall be the outcome of romance, and all that goes with it. Miss Talmadge has a most delightful part as Arabella. She throws herself with abandon into the role, which is one of many moods, to each of which the star leads herself with startling versatility.

Constance Talmadge has been called the girl of a thousand expressions because she possesses the ability to alter her expression and manner with such remarkable ease and adeptness.

VAUDEVILLE FEATURES ON GRAND PROGRAM MON., TUES. AND WED.

The Pernikoff and Rose Ballet of classic dancers will headline the vaudeville bill at the Grand Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. This is an unusually pretentious dance offering and being the first act of this nature to play here this season is certain of a warm reception.

The Tip Top Four, a quartet of young men with good voices, well trained, use both classical and popular numbers in their repertoire. They are particularly effective in their ensemble numbers.

A busy man's most valuable acquisition is his secretary. If you want to know how absolutely indispensable an amusements really is, see the marvelous assistance Lizzie is to George Yeoman. George and Lizzie will be seen in a typical topical act called, "Editor of the Assassinated Press."

Walter Baldwin, Geraldine Blair and Company, will offer a bright, snappy and lively one-act comedy play entitled, "The Peticoat Man."

The Aeroplane Girls in an up to the minute sensation will conclude the vaudeville program.

"QUEEN ZEPHRA," A MUSICAL SPECTACLE, LAST HALF OF WEEK

The presentation by the Acadian

Club of London of the merry musical spectacle, "Queen Zephra," at the Grand Opera House next Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings and Sunday matinee will unquestionably rank as one of the most outstanding events of the present theatrical season.

This gorgeous and beautifully staged production, which will be given under the direction of the Zephra Operatic Spectacle Company of Boston, was previous to the outbreak of the war, presented with phenomenal success in all the leading cities of Canada, the Eastern and Northwestern States, and its presentation in London will be almost immediately followed by a tour of the Southern States.

One hundred and fifty of London's best dramatic, vocal and dancing talent will be employed in the presentation of this mammoth stage spectacle, which promises to be one of the biggest and best in this line ever attempted in London.

In view of the fact that the Acadian Club will entertain free of charge, the patients of the military hospitals of London and Byron, the widows and children of men killed in service, and of their donations from the receipts of the engagement to other good causes, his royal highness, the Prince of Wales, in a letter to the club, has graciously extended his patronage to the production.

GRIFFITH'S NEWEST PRODUCTION SHOWING AT THE GRAND SOON

D. W. Griffith has produced a thing of rare and haunting charm in his latest picture, "Broken Blossoms," which will play a week's engagement at the Grand, commencing Monday, November 2. "Broken Blossoms" was the initial offering of Mr. Griffith's repertory season at the Geo. M. Cohan Theatre, New York City, at prices range as high as $3 a seat. If there are more to come like it, the devotees of the film have something to look forward to. For whatever that much-abused word, art, may have come to mean or come not to mean, by much application "Broken Blossoms" has certainly a strong claim on it in its prime significance. First, because of the delicate and directness with which the pathetic, horrible, exquisite story has been adapted for the screen; second, for the acting of Lillian Gish and Richard Barthelmess; third, for the photography, which has caught a beautiful effect throughout the whole piece.

MUTT AND JEFF AT GRAND AGAIN TODAY

No comic cartoons of recent times have made such a hit with the public as the creations of Bud Fisher's "Mutt and Jeff," and for that matter, their popularity is not confined to this country alone. The "long and short of it," as they are familiarly called, are known all over the world, even in those sections of the globe where English is not spoken. As real comedians the twain probably have no equals. Their very name seems to be the signal for uncontrollable mirth. "Mutt and Jeff's Dream" is the title of their latest hit said to be the best and funniest of all their "cut ups" being one big laugh from start to finish. They will be seen at the Grand twice today, matinee 2:30, and evening 8:15.

The cast includes a chorus of stunningly-nosed, pretty girls, who can both sing and dance, which helps to make this attraction the best popular-priced offering of the season.

Do You Remember The Old Corn Doctor?

He stood on the street, in the olden days, and offered a "magic corn cure." The same ingredients, harsh and inefficient, are sold in countless forms today.

But they did not end corns, and they do not now. Nor does padding, nor does paring—methods older still.

The One Right Way

Modern scientists in the Bauer & Black laboratories have evolved a perfect method and embodied it in Blue-jay.

In 48 hours, while the corn is forgotten, Blue-jay completely ends it, and forever. Hardly one corn in ten needs a second application.

The way is sure. It is easy, pleasant, scientific. Quit old-fashioned, meth-o-da. Tiy Blue-jay on one corn—tonight.

VENS AGAIN SPEAKS TO CROWD AT SARNIA

SARNIA, Oct. 17.—Rev. William Vens, prominent in the former Winnipeg strike, addressed a gathering in Victoria Park tonight, but his opening session failed to prove as big a magnet with counter attractions, as it was a few weeks ago when he drew thousands to the city streets. According to Sarnia Inspector Grosby, the quality of milk now being supplied to the customers by eleven vendors is the best it has been for several years. The producers are co-operating with the local board of health to keep up this high quality, following a conference held some time ago.

Doctor Tells How to Detect Harmful Effects of Tobacco

Try These SIMPLE TESTS

New York.—Doctor Connor, formerly of Johns Hopkins Hospital, says: "Many men who smoke, chew or sniff incessantly, and who are seemingly healthy, are suffering from progressive organic ailments. Thousands of them would never have been afflicted had it not been for the use of tobacco, and thousands would soon get well if they would only stop the use of tobacco. The chief habit-forming principle of tobacco is nicotine, a deadly poison, which is absorbed by the system slowly affects the nerves, membranes, tissues and vital organs of the body. The harmful effect of tobacco varies and depends on circumstances. One will be afflicted with general debility, others with catarrh of the throat, indigestion, constipation, extreme nervousness, sleeplessness, loss of memory, lack of will-power, mental confusion, etc. Others may suffer from heart disease, bronchial trouble, hardening of the arteries, tuberculosis, blindness, or even cancer of the common affliction known as tobacco heart. If you use tobacco in any form you can easily detect the harmful effects by making the following simple tests: Read aloud one full page from a book. If in the course of reading your voice becomes muffled, hoarse and indistinct, and you must frequently clear your throat, the chances are that your throat is affected by catarrh, and it may be the beginning of more serious trouble. Next, in the morning before taking your usual smoke walk up three flights of stairs at a regular pace, then stop. If you find that you are out of breath, your heart beat is forced, trembling or irregular, you may be a victim of functional or organic heart trouble. If you feel that you must smoke, chew or sniff to quiet your nerves you are a slave to the tobacco habit, and are positively poisoning yourself with the deadly drug, nicotine. In either case you have just two alternatives—keep on with the self-poisoning process, irrespective of the dangers, and suffer the consequences, or give up the habit and escape the danger. You can overcome the craving and stop the habit in a very short time by using the following inexpensive formula: Go to any drug store and ask for Nicotol tablets, take one tablet after each meal, and in a comparatively short time you will have no desire for tobacco, the craving will have left you. With the nicotine poison out of your system your general health will quickly improve.

Note.—When asked about Nicotol tablets one of our leading druggists said: "It is truly a wonderful remedy for the tobacco habit; away ahead of anything we have ever sold before. We are authorized by the manufacturer to refund the money to every dissatisfied customer, and we would not permit the use of our name unless the remedy possessed unusual merit." Nicotol tablets are sold in this city under an iron-clad money-back guarantee by all up-to-date druggists.

Veterans May Be Deprived of Vote After All

Depends On Local Registration Boards, Despite Hearst's Promise.

TORONTO, Oct. 17.—Despite the statement of Sir William Hearst, premier of Ontario, that the registration lists would be reopened if possible to permit the registration of lately returned soldiers, so that they could vote in the coming Ontario general elections and referendum, it appears that under the law the reopening of these lists depends upon the action of the voters' registration boards for each particular constituency.

"In cases where the voters' lists have already been distributed to deputy returning officers it will not be possible to carry on this extra registration," said an official of the Government today.

Allan Dymond, chief registration officer, has telegraphed to Judge Gunn of Ottawa, Judge MacBeth of London and other chairmen of boards, advising them of the situation in this regard, and suggesting that everything possible be done to have the lists reopened for soldiers' registration.

TORONTO, Oct. 17.—H. Hartley Dewart, K.C., M.P.P., Liberal leader in Ontario, has written to Sir Henry Drayton, minister of finance, expressing the hope that the Victory Loan of 1919 may be over-subscribed.

Mr. Dewart expresses the belief that the people of Canada will demonstrate

Labor Reaffirms its Demands for a Better Beer

OVER 900 delegates of Organized Labor, representing every section of industrial Canada, reaffirmed at the big convention in Hamilton three weeks ago, their demand for a better, more palatable, non-intoxicating Beer.

President Tom Moore reviewed in a most comprehensive manner the resolution for better Beer adopted at the previous Congress and the representations made to the Dominion and Provincial Governments for the non-intoxicating 2.50 per cent. (alcohol by weight) Beer of the Ballot. He said in part:—"On the 3rd of March, this year, at the request of representatives of a number of affiliated organizations I arranged an interview with the Dominion Cabinet, and attended with them to present the resolution passed at our last Convention, relating to the increase in the alcoholic strength of beer. This resolution had been endorsed by many hundreds of affiliated bodies throughout the Dominion, and these endorsements were presented to the Government."

The following statements by leaders of Organized Labor in Ontario, are at once a categorical refutation of false interviews credited to them and published in certain newspapers, and an indication of the practically unanimous stand of workmen in this Province:—

TOM MOORE,
President, Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

"Nearly 1500 of the organizations affiliated with the Trades and Labor Congress have passed resolutions in favor of the sale of light wines and beer. On this evidence and from my own personal observations I believe that the best aid would be given to true temperance by the granting of the above moderate request."

J. MUNROE,
President Ontario Provincial Council of Machinists, and President, Toronto District Labor Council.

"I would not favor return to conditions we had before the Ontario Temperance Act came into effect, but am with the fifteen hundred Labor organizations in Canada who favor the manufacture and sale of light Beer and Wine (The Beer of the Ballot) and believe best aid would be given true temperance by voting for legislation to this effect."

JOHN DOGGETT,
Secretary, Toronto Building Trades League.

"The present Prohibition Law on the statute books of Ontario is, in my opinion, class legislation. A law that is applied to operate against the workers and not against the wealthy is an unfair law and should be repealed by the votes of the people. I believe the workers who desire to have a glass of beer should have the opportunity of obtaining same."

JOHN NOBLE,
International Organizer, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

"In reference to statements appearing in many Toronto papers, I desire to emphatically deny having given such statements, or even having been interviewed in the matter. I voted for a Resolution in the American Federation of Labor Convention, held in Atlantic City in June last, for the right of the workers to have beer if they desired it. I contend that the worker should have this right."

HERBERT WRIGHT,
Business Agent, International Brotherhood of Boilermakers, Iron Shipbuilders, and Helpers of America, Local 128.

"In traveling around Ontario since the Ontario Temperance Act came into force, I am firmly convinced that the workers are only asking their rights when asking for a better beer. I personally believe that if the people could obtain a better beer there would be less dose in use in Ontario."

W. F. BUSH,
Organizer, United Garment Workers of America.

"The Labor movement has gone on record repeatedly in favor of a stronger beer and protesting against that right being taken away. Last Spring no less than 1500 labor organizations in Canada, voted in favor of a stronger beer. I think that in this question, as in the great majority of questions they have been called upon to decide, that they have been proven to be absolutely in the right. As the prohibitionists have not seen fit to compromise on a stronger beer, the way that the workers can teach THEM a lesson is to defeat them absolutely by voting 'Yes' four times."

JOHN SUTHERLAND,
Ex-President, Bricklayers' International Union No. 2.

"I have always been opposed to prohibition. After seeing three years of the Ontario Temperance Act in operation I am more than ever convinced that it is a direct attempt to take away the comfort and pleasure of the worker more than of the leisured or privileged class—and I will vote four times 'Yes.'"

JOHN T. VICK,
President of Industrial Banner.

"I am in favor of a better beer for the workers, with proper facilities for handling same. Knowing the workers as I do, there are times when a glass of beer would be beneficial."

JAS. T. GUNN,
Electrical Workers' Union.

"I am opposed to prohibition because I believe that the individual does not derive his rights from the State, but that the State is created to preserve the individual's right. "Prohibition is affirmed in general by those who have reasons to continue the exploitation of the masses. No thought is given to the matter as to the right or wrong of it, but it is urged—and it is urged in general—because of economic efficiency. In other words, because if enacted it will bring greater profits to the manufacturer, the financier, and the capitalist generally. Prohibitory legislation as to what one eats or drinks is the earmark of a servile State and therefore in antagonism to working-class interest."

J. A. YOUNG,
Secretary, Provincial Council of Machinists.

"I have no desire to see a return to the conditions that obtained previous to September 1916. At the same time I am far from satisfied with the measure of temperance now in effect in this Province. "I would favor a measure whereby it would be possible for a citizen to obtain a light, refreshing and palatable beer as well as wholesome, pure liquor for medicinal purposes and for use in his own home. I am therefore in favor of substantial amendments to the present Ontario Temperance Act."

JAMES J. RALPH,
Chairman, Ontario Executive, Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

"I desire to say that as Chairman of the Ontario Executive of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada I am following out the declared policy of the Trades Congress and the A. F. of L. in protesting against prohibitory legislation."

WILLIAM FORDHAM,
Supt. Labor Temple.

"This is to certify that I will personally vote four 'Yes's', regardless of what any paper says, in the coming Referendum."

THE RESOLUTION

"Resolution No. 31.—By John Young, Lodge No. 235, International Association of Machinists, Toronto: Whereas, the Ontario Executive of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada did on the 28th day of January last, wait upon the Premier of the Province of Ontario, the Hon. Sir William Hearst, and the members of his Government, and asked that a proper definition of an intoxicating liquor be made.

"And, whereas, the said Committee were able to show that a beverage containing up to 2.50 per cent. of alcohol by weight was a non-intoxicant, and were therefore justified in asking that beverages containing up to 2.50 per cent. of alcohol be allowed to be sold under the Ontario Temperance Act.

"And, whereas, at a convention of upwards of ten thousand labor men from all parts of the Province of Ontario, held in Toronto on Saturday, March 2nd, for the purpose of considering the question of Provincial and Dominion temperance legislation, a resolution was unanimously passed appointing a committee to go to Ottawa to wait on Sir Robert Borden and the members of his Government, and ask that a uniform definition of an intoxicating liquor be made for the whole Dominion, and that 2.50 per cent. of alcohol by weight be fixed as standard, and that it may be legal to manufacture and sell anywhere in Canada any beverage not exceeding 2.50 per cent. of alcohol by weight.

"And, whereas, at the annual conference of the representatives of the different International Trade Union Organizations held in Ottawa on Monday, the 15th of April last, for the purpose of considering legislative matters, the resolution above referred to passed by the labor men at the Convention in Toronto on the 2nd day of March last, was endorsed by the Conference, and a copy of the resolution handed by the Conference to the War Committee of the Government; and whereas, the working men of Canada have been asked by the Government to co-operate with them in increasing production, and the working men have expressed a willingness to do so, even to the extent of working longer hours.

"Now, therefore, be it resolved, that this Convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada endorses the action of its Ontario Executive and other resolutions as above referred to, and requests the Dominion and Provincial Governments to enact legislation whereby it may be legal to manufacture and sell anywhere in Canada any beverage not exceeding 2.50 per cent. of alcohol by weight."

JOHN FLETT'S WARNING

"The vested interests, the combines and the corporations are striving for the defeat of Adam Beck.

"The defeat of Beck would be to the downfall of Labor.

"It behooves the electors of London to BEWARE lest they play into the hands of the corporations."

You Union Men Know John Flett

Canadian Organizer for the American Federation of Labor

You men of the Federal Union, you of many trades whose unions he organized here.

John Flett, the strong, tried Labor man, knows from 20 years' experience as an organizer what Beck has done for the common people and why the vested interests have fought him nail and fang.

Let Beck Finish His Work!

Beck has been our bulwark in the battle against the "Bill and Dan" combinations, against the crooks and grafters, and vested interests that preyed upon the people unrestrained until he grew up---the people's champion. Beck's heavy guns are needed now.

Beck's Past Performances and What He Has in Hand

Before Beck gave us Hydro only 2,400 London homes could afford electric light. Today 14,000 people use "The People's Power" here.

This year Hydro's 177,000 lighting customers in Ontario were actually saved $16,512,875. That's why the corporationists are after him night and day. They want your savings to fatten their dividends, and without Beck they know they could fleece you unrestrained. Public works and buildings in London secured by Beck in recent years represent $3,000,000. No public man in Canada ever served his constituency so brilliantly, ceaselessly and unselfishly.

Beck's schemes will make London great in the next few years.

His farsighted policy has opened the way to a new union railway depot, in which the L. and P. S. R. will have rights---and to the elimination of level crossings, now that the fight for the nationalization of the Grand Trunk has been won.

Beck will make London the hub of the Hydro Radials system. His plans for the electrification of the London, Huron and Bruce and other G. T. R. branch lines will reap a harvest in prosperity in London.

BECK ALONE CAN DO IT. GET BEHIND HIM.

Beck encouraged and aided the unionization of L. and P. S. employees. He raised their pay 105 per cent, to the highest rates paid on any electric railway in Ontario. He gave them an eight-hour day. Beck is acclaimed for his fairness by 5,000 employees of the People's Power System. Welland Canal workers are now on strike for wages and conditions granted to the hydro force at Chippewa spontaneously by Beck. Beck fought shoulder to shoulder with labor at Guelph and Hamilton. London workers will stand by him now.

VOTE BECK

The People's Adam

FOR SIX YEARS HE HAS RUN THE L. AND P. S. R. FOR LONDON, AND HE HAS NEVER DRAWN A CENT FOR HIS SERVICES.

For twenty years he has served London with no financial reward other than the $800 a year salary when he held the mayor's chair.

AND HE GAVE MORE THAN THAT AWAY TO THOSE WHO NEVER APPEALED IN VAIN.

When the people of London were told that they must go to the river for drinking water and spend $440,000 for it Beck spent $106,000 of his own funds on Horton street wells system.

He delivered more than he promised, and he kept his promise to hand the system, complete and tested, over to the people at $98,000.

HE BORE THE $8,000 EXTRA COST OUT OF HIS OWN POCKET.

When the illness of a certain little girl revealed to him the hard path that beset the sufferer from tuberculosis he established at Byron, Canada's finest sanatorium for the free healing of consumptives.

AND OUT OF HIS OWN POCKET HE HAS GIVEN GENEROUSLY TO SUSTAIN THIS GREAT WORK.

HE HAS GIVEN MORE THAN ANY MAN IN LONDON to Red Cross Funds, Patriotic Funds and every campaign to aid the soldier, his wife, and his children.

HE SAVED CANADA HUGE SUMS on the purchase of remounts. He worked incessantly in war activities, entitled to the pay of his rank, but he never accepted a cent of it.

MY HEART AND MY HUSBAND

ADELE GARRISON'S NEW PHASE OF
REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

The Way Madge Began Her Confession to Dicky. thought, had pierced in an instant the sophistry with which I had invested my story. I made a desperate effort to salvage the real truth from the wreck of my tale.

"Really and truly, Dicky, there were two of whom she was unreasonably jealous. "And who was the other one?" he asked ironically, both his words and manner showing me plainly that there was no use in my trying to hide the fact that Miss Stockbridge had been insanely jealous of me.

"Alice Holcombe." "Come again, my dear?" he said. "When you're telling one why not add a good one? Now, if you'd said Miss Dean I might have believed you. There's a plump who might cause ructions in the calm bosom of the most placid wife."

"I could have bitten my tongue through with vexation at myself for letting the words slip, but his reference to Miss Dean, the involuntary admiration for the girl's beauty and vivacity which his words betrayed, pleased me to spend the action that she meant to take through the newspapers."

"Dicky sat up straight, swung his feet to the floor and rose to his full height upon them. "Damnation!" he said. "She meant naming you two as co-respondents, of course. The blasted she-devil! Well, it's a good thing she hasn't been so somebody did it for her before she had a chance to get in her fine Italian hand. Of course nobody with any sense would believe her ravings, but it would be mighty awkward just the same if the hint of such a thing got into the newspapers."

He began to stride up and down the room, his hands in his pockets. I was bewildered by the attitude he had taken, for I had expected reproval, invective, an intimation that somehow my own carelessness had caused the jealousy of my principal's wife. But instead he had become my champion, even the fact which otherwise I would have resented, that upon my revelation he had instantly left my vicinity, had no power to disturb me. He was so evidently turning over the problem my story had presented, examining it to see that no danger yet lurked anywhere for me.

Dicky All Tendency. "As if a sudden thought had struck him, he wheeled suddenly, came back to the bedside, burst out vehemently: "That was what you were waiting for that morning, for fear there was something in the papers about you and your friend?"

"Yes, Dicky," very meekly. "You poor little girl!" Dicky's voice was full of rough but beautiful tenderness. "No wonder you were yelping thanks all over the house! And then I had to give my celebrated imitation of a bull let loose in a china shop, just when you needed me most. But will you kindly tell me something?"

His arms were around me now. My "yes" was murmured against his shoulder. "Why in thunder didn't you tell me all this that morning? What's a husband, for I'd like to know, if not to handle a thing of this sort?"

I took my courage in both hands and spoke the truth: "I—I was afraid, Dicky, afraid you'd be so angry about it." He bent his face to mine. "I know," he said humbly. "I have treated you to some pretty bad exhibitions. But I don't believe I ever failed you if you came and asked me for help, did I?"

Long after Dicky slept I lay awake hugging to my heart the comforting comprehending assurance of approval which my husband had given me when I had told him of the trouble in connection with Miss Stockbridge's death. It had been a revelation to me of a trait in my husband's character for which I had credit, given him credit, for the terror with which the incidents following the death of my principal's wife had invested me had its roots in the ever-present question: "What would Dicky say if he knew?"

Now he knew, and instead of blaming me his only thought had been of how best to protect me from whatever my last waking thought was one of grateful happiness mingled with self-reproach at not having understood my husband better.

When I awoke the sun was streaming through the windows, and the room was filled with sounds of delighted baby chuckles. I rose on one elbow to see Dicky capering around the floor in his pyjamas, playing bear, elephant and other equally amusing roles for the benefit of his small son, who—adorable, flushed vision—was holding him self up by the bars of his crib and crowing with delight.

Welcoming Arms. "Morning, lady!" Dicky sprang to his feet, made me a sweeping bow. "We are now giving our celebrated impersonations, reasoned through several continents, of the leading wild and domestic animals. If I should see a particular specimen which you would like to see or hear, our only aim is to please. Your son's taste is somewhat varied, but he seems to like the dog's box-wagon, and the lion's roar, as well as anything."

The baby spied me at this juncture, and suddenly disdaining all other brandishments, put out his hands entreatingly and showed the tiny teeth of which we were all so foolishly proud in an entrancing, blinding grin. Dicky looked at him reproachfully.

"Can you beat it?" he demanded of the surrounding atmosphere. "Here I spend oodles of valuable time and talent in high-class entertainment for this young man's benefit, while you simply snore your head off, and then at your slightest look he hands me the icy mitt."

"Dicky!" I protested, half-laughing, half-indignant. "I don't snore! You know I don't. And please give me Junior right away or he'll cry."

"Pardon me, You're just a rapid breather. Is that it?" Dicky teased, but he swung Junior high in his arms and brought him mouching and crowing to me. I cuddled him closely, almost fiercely, for I have never gotten over the wonder of having his tender little body in my arms and spots over his head to Dicky.

"Have you kissed him yet for his birthday?" If you have, without waking me—

Dicky's Vow. "Do you think I don't value the safe position of my head where it rests at present on my shoulders?" Dicky retorted. "But I warn you, you're not going to have him first, either. We'll just perform that little ceremony together."

"One," we said simultaneously, then tenderness we each imprinted a kiss upon the rosy cheeks of our baby. He dropped to his knees by the bedside, and slipped an arm around my shoulder. "You're just kidding between us, looking up soberly as if he knew something special was on hand."

"Now, on that cheek, on this," I said, and then, with infinite care and with a remembrance of nursery lore I added smilingly, "And now one to grow up."

me, then bent down, putting both his strong arms around the baby and me. "It's rather adorable silliness, he said, tenderly. "At least, I don't in the least object to it, and I think I'm one of those most deeply interested. And just let me tell you something to remember. I'm about the happiest man in the world today, and it's all you and the little chap here. Please, and I'm going to take good care of you both, always!"

Be Constantly Remble
SUNDAY AND MONDAY,
OCTOBER 19-20.

Sunday holds little promise of being an important or satisfactory day, although the soundest astrological advice is to avoid all worldly activities and devote all efforts to spiritual or idealistic employments, as dangers threaten in worldly affairs. Avoid law and accident; see to the health. Those whose birthday it is should be cautious and careful in all affairs. A child born on this day will be impulsive, rash and headstrong.

Monday's sidereal influences are operating for fortune and happy circumstances along all lines of human interest. There will be quite a bit of business activity with transactions quickened under the Lunar sextile to Mercury and reaching a successful financial turn under the Lunar sextile to Jupiter. All affairs should feel the warmth and potency of Sol parallel Saturn. Social, domestic and affectional matters will benefit under the Lunar conjunction of Venus. Those whose birthday it is may look forward to a successful, prosperous and happy year. A child born on this day will be kind, affectionate, popular and clever.

Vote-and Vote "No!"
The Final Appeal of the Ontario Referendum Committee

1 Are you in favour of the repeal of the Ontario Temperance Act? YES NO X
2 Are you in favour of the sale of light beer containing not more than two and fifty-one one-hundredths per cent. alcohol weight measure through Government agencies and amendments to The Ontario Temperance Act to permit such sale? YES NO X
3 Are you in favour of the sale of light beer containing not more than two and fifty-one one-hundredths per cent. alcohol weight measure in standard hotels in local municipalities that by a majority vote favour such sale and amendments to The Ontario Temperance Act to permit such sale? YES NO X
4 Are you in favour of the sale of spirituous and malt liquors through Government agencies and amendments to The Ontario Temperance Act to permit such sale? YES NO X

THERE are two grave dangers facing the province.
One is, that men will neglect to vote through over-confidence.
The other is, that women, not being hitherto accustomed to voting and being unfamiliar with polling places, will hesitate to make use of their franchise.

To both men and women voters the Ontario Referendum Committee issues this final appeal.

Get Out and Vote!

OVER-CONFIDENCE spells defeat. Ontario men cannot afford to have the Ontario Temperance Act repealed or so weakened by the proposed amendments as to be worthless.

Don't take any chances. Vote for your boy's sake if for no other reason.

Don't let the issue go, by default. Get out and Vote, and see that every member of your family on the voters' list gets out to vote, too.

Women—the Issue Depends on You

WOMEN who have never voted in their lives before are voting in this Referendum.

The women of this province have it in their own hands to-day to save the Ontario Temperance Act. If the Act is spoiled or repealed it will be because the women of Ontario were reluctant to leave their homes to go to the polls and put in a vote against "booze," the destroyer of homes. The women of Ontario must Vote to save the Ontario Temperance Act, and vote No to every question.

Then your duty is done. If all the men and women in Ontario who favor prohibition do just that much, "the menace of drink" is lifted from Ontario forever.

Mark Four X's
(One after each question under the word No)

Cut out the sample ballot herewith and take it with you to the Polls. Make no other mark than four X's, or your ballot is spoiled. Be careful and fail not.

Eno's soon to be had in pre-war supply

THE unavoidable shortage of the raw products from which Eno's is made, plus the tremendous demands pouring into our factory from all parts of the globe, caused a shortage in our regular supplies for Canada—and for some months we were not able to ship to this country.

We regret the great inconvenience caused to the many adherents of Eno's, but announce that soon shipments of Eno's will be regular and plenty.

It was not only the actual famine in Eno's that caused inconvenience, but also the fact that many people were forced to try unsatisfactory substitutes.

There is not any substitute for Eno's. There are "salines" and "health salts" and "fruit salines" and other masqueraders, but there is only one genuine Fruit Salt. It was formulated fifty years ago by Mr. J. C. Eno, and has been the world's great aperient ever since.

You dealer can now supply you with Eno's—Buy a bottle to-day.

Middle Aged Women

Women should take warning from such symptoms as heat flashes, shortness of breath, excessive nervousness, irritability, and the blues—which indicate the approach of the inevitable "Change" that comes to all women nearing middle age. We have published volumes of proof that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the greatest aid women can have during this trying period.

Read About These Two Women:
Fremont, O.—"I was passing through the critical period of life, being forty-six years of age and had all the symptoms incident to that change—heat flashes, nervousness, and was in a general run-down condition, so it was hard for me to do my work. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me as the best remedy for my troubles, which it surely proved to be. I feel better and stronger in every way since taking it, and the annoying symptoms have disappeared."—Mrs. M. GORDON, 925 Napoleon St., Fremont, Ohio.

Urbana, Ill.—"During Change of Life, in addition to its annoying symptoms I had an attack of grippe which lasted all winter and left me in a weakened condition. I felt at times that I would never be well again. I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it did for women passing through the Change of Life, so I told my doctor I would try it. I soon began to gain in strength and the annoying symptoms disappeared and my Vegetable Compound has made me a well, strong woman so I do all my own housework. I cannot recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound too highly to women passing through the Change of Life."—Mrs. FRANK HENSON, 1316 South Orchard Street, Urbana, Ill.

New Victory Loan Greater Necessity Than During War

TORONTO, Oct. 17. — Sir Henry Drayton, minister of finance, addressed the Canadian Bankers' Association here tonight on the Victory Loan, saying: "You are commencing this month on this loan," he said, "and we hope we shall have a tremendous victory on November 15. We will then have re-established our financial position, and proved, beyond all question, Canada's power financially, as well as in all other directions."

Sir Edmund Walker declared that Canada's debt could only be carried by increased production, which would mean the extension of foreign markets. The need of the coming loan was greater, he said, than those raised during the war. "This loan is necessary if we expect to finish with credit the job we entered upon," he said.

Frank Ashplant Again President of London Curlers

At the annual meeting of the London Curling Club, held in the club-room at the rink last evening, President Frank Ashplant was re-elected to office for a second term. W. A. Casselman was again first vice; P. H. Hindmarsh, second vice; and Colin Currie, secretary-treasurer.

A number of committees were formed to look after the various interests of the club, and the reports of last season's committees were reported. The financial report was particularly pleasing to the large meeting of members.

No unusual feature for the winter's play was outlined. The usual weekly Monday night bonspiel will be a fixture with Thursday and Saturday matinees.

FACULTY OF WESTERN ENTERTAIN STUDENTS $ IN VARSITY HALLS

College Rooms Lively With Music, Frolics, Flowers, College Songs.

College songs, fun and frolic made the large classrooms of the Western University echo last night on the occasion of a reception given by the faculty and their wives to all the students attending the university.

Every room, hall, and corridor was decorated with the college colors, and flowers were banked in every nook, making a pretty background for the evening frocks of every hue worn by the young ladies, who made the evening pass all too quickly in dancing, cards and college games.

There being a large registration this year than in previous years, the buildings were crowded to capacity by the students and their many friends.

At 11, supper was served upstairs in the classrooms, and other available spaces. Mrs. C. C. Waller and Mrs. C. R. Somerville poured tea and coffee, the students themselves helping to serve the ices.

The Harold Skinner orchestra provided a delightful program of dance music. Three cheers were given the faculty by the students for a jolly good time.

Would You Like To Make Hundreds Perhaps Thousands, On $15 In Texas Oil?

READ:—HERE'S A CHANCE TO MAKE BIG MONEY ON A $15 INVESTMENT—OR TO LOSE BUT $15—YOU CAN'T LOSE MUCH IF YOU DO LOSE—YOU MAY MAKE HUNDREDS—OR EVEN THOUSANDS. GET THE FACTS—VERIFY THEM—SEE WHAT THE PRESS SAYS—NOTE THE MEN BACK OF THIS ENTERPRISE—THEN DECIDE YOURSELF.

4 RICH PROPERTIES IN TEXAS

The Safest Oil Speculation Today

All the oil enterprises that are today pouring forth such vast riches were at the start speculative. This is speculative. If this were not speculative—if oil were actually spouting from wells on this property today—you wouldn't have this opportunity—your money wouldn't be needed or accepted.

It has been proven many times, where one has lost a few dollars in one of these speculations that same person invested in another that made thousands.

Our chances for a big strike are as good as any and better than most. We all expect to strike it rich here. While there is every reason to believe your investment will yield enormous profits, we do not make any specific promises or guarantee to that effect, except we do guarantee every stockholder a good clean run for his money.

The men back of this enterprise are perfectly frank with you—not only because of the moral consideration, but because they believe it pays. Already the wisdom of this course has been amply demonstrated.

A Wonderful Chance To Win Big Or Lose Little

So far you will admit this proposition is different from the usual stock offer. It is clean, legitimate, fair and square—where all investors are treated alike—where we all win together—or, lose together—where there is a better than usual chance of making big money.

The Company's methods are open to the closest scrutiny. Its organization, its directors and officers may be thoroughly investigated. You may have whatever information you desire before you part with your $15. After remitting you will be given ten days in which to make any inquiry you like. Then, if you are not fully satisfied you have invested your money wisely, you can have your money back by asking for it.

The men behind this Company have put their capital into this enterprise. They are risking thousands. You are asked to risk $15.

What Others Have Done---You Can Do!

Your golden opportunity in the Texas Oil Fields has not flown. While thousands of investors have amassed fabulous fortunes in these wonderful fields, there still remains at least this ONE OPPORTUNITY for YOU. Are you going to let this slip past you? Or will you follow people in all walks of life who only had small amounts of money, but who are today enjoying the ease and satisfaction which comes with knowing that you backed your own judgment when it was right.

All Leases Paid For

Company owes nobody any money on bonds, mortgages, etc.—is bending all its energies toward the tapping of the gigantic oil pools and bringing oil out to their tanks to sell at enormous profits. Will you get your share?

Capital Stock $500,000

Stock Has Advanced 50%--- Going Still Higher Shortly

Our Holdings in This Rich Field Offer Choice Locations for Many Wells

Our leases are fully paid for and ample funds now in Texas banks for work in hand, and our leases offer choice locations for upwards of 60 wells. Our chances of striking a gusher are equal to any and better than most.

The Company's land shows all the surface indications of oil that these other fields ever had. Producing wells are being brought in nearer to our properties every day—wells are now drilling to north, east and south of us.

Many new locations are being made near our leases—drilling rigs are being rapidly moved in and constructed to begin operations at once. The activity in this section is increasing daily, and development is being rushed on a large scale. Any day word may reach us of the bringing in of these wells—a gusher—would mean thousands or perhaps millions of dollars in increased values of our leases and the stock of this Company.

These are some of the reasons—without going into geological or technical details—why the officers and directors of the Company have such faith in this property.

The Men Behind This Company

You are invited to "look up" this Company through any channel you may choose. The officers and directors, whose names follow, are all men of integrity and reliability. They are putting their own money, their time and faith in this enterprise with a determination to make it a big success. HARRY C. ALDRED, President, Universal Oil and Products Company, Buffalo, N. Y.; HARRY C. ALDRED, Vice-President, Real Estate & Oil, Buffalo, N. Y.; M. B. SHEPARD, Secretary and Treasurer.

15 Cents a Share Now, and Money Back in 10 Days if You Want It!

To enable the Company to finance drilling and to pay necessary overhead costs, this popular subscription plan has been adopted, and this most unusual offer is made to those who will act at once. If you will remit promptly you will pay but fifteen cents per share.

$15 will buy 100 shares—now. Send your money any convenient way—money order, check, bank draft or currency by registered letter—then look up the Company or directors or property, and if you are not perfectly satisfied, ask return of your money within ten days, and it will be forwarded to you at once.

Facts concerning this proposition have been told you in brief, without elaboration. What do you think about the prospects of making your $15 in this venture grow many fold? As good as it is, our chances may be gone forever. Only enough subscriptions accepted to finance the work. Number of shares to one person not limited to 100 shares.

Courage, initiative, ability to see and grasp opportunities—that's what makes your money make money for you. Make the most of your opportunities. This is within your reach. Decide now.

Buy Now—After Drilling Proceeds Further You'll Have to Pay More for This Stock

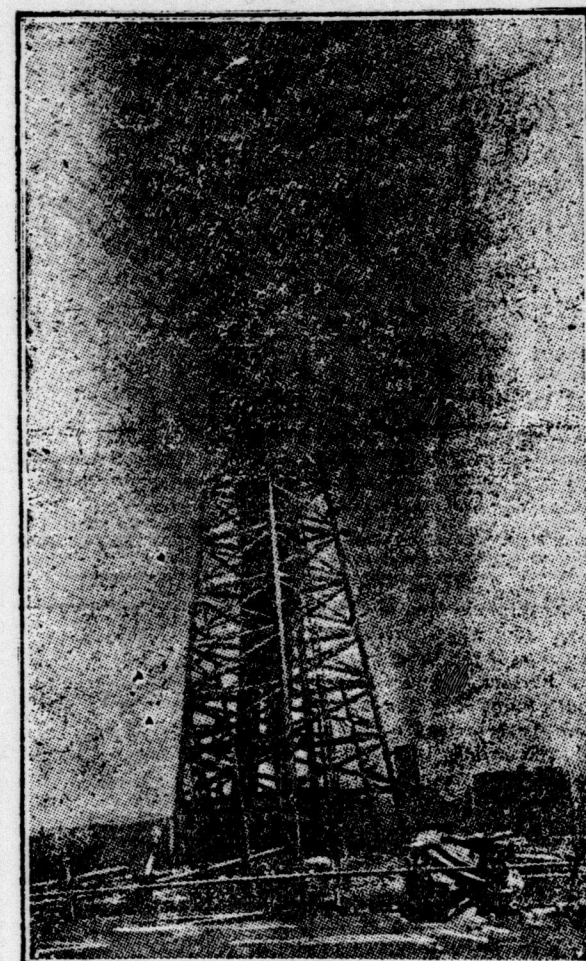

Please Note—The time to act if you act at all is At Once. We don't say this to hurry you—we simply state a fact. The drilling is started in a short time now should strike the oil sands; then our chances may be gone forever. Only enough subscriptions accepted to finance the work. Number of shares to one person not limited to 100 shares.

Courage, initiative, ability to see and grasp opportunities—that's what makes your money make money for you. Make the most of your opportunities. This is within your reach. Decide now.

If you prefer, you can buy $50, $100, $200 or $150 worth of this stock. (L.A.) Buffalo-Texas Oil Company, Dept. 145, 706 Brisbane Building, Buffalo, N. Y. Gentlemen,—I enclose $15 for 100 shares of Treasury Stock (full paid and non-assessable) of your Company. A TYPICAL "TEXAS GUSHER"

Texas, the World's Greatest Oil Pool

Texas is today attracting the attention of oil men and investors in every part of the United States. Hundreds of wells are producing oil—hundreds more are being drilled. Every week new wells extend the province. Every day new production is being brought in. Undreamed fortunes are being made.

Savings Multiply Through Investments

Mr. George M. Reynolds, president of Continental and Commercial Bank, Chicago, says truly:

"Nobody can make a fortune by saving money from a salary or from wages. I think I have never accomplished anything big in my life that my friends have not urged me to take a different course."

We get a start by saving—but we can multiply our savings only through investments.

Fortune knocks once at everybody's door. Those who grasp the opportunity when it is a great prosper. Those who haven't the foresight and courage to act when Fortune comes knocking are classed as "failures."

Invests $50 in Oil and Now Has Sum of $250,000

Wichita Falls, Sept. 19.—An interesting story comes from the Red River country of Texas, regarding Capt. Anderson, an officer of the British army, who hastened to America after the signing of the armistice as soon as he could secure his release. He had been reading of oil development in Oklahoma and Texas, and upon arrival in New York in May bought a ticket for Wichita Falls. Arriving there he had but $50 left. Part of this he used in an investment that proved profitable. The new money was turned back into other property. Capt. Anderson took an inventory the other day and announced that he had made about $250,000 out of the $50.

Make Your Money Earn Money

The man who tells you it is unwise to put money in savings in 4 or 5 per cent interest-bearing stocks and bonds—there is scarcely any risk in that plan, although they may decline in market value. He is satisfied with the income derived, and usually doesn't have to worry very much—but he certainly didn't make his pile by saving small sums, which only earned small rates of interest.

O. POSSUM'S WEDDING.
announcing the wedding of O. Possum and Lady Duck. As soon as Jerry the Jay heard it, he called it out from the tree tops and every forest dweller soon knew of the king's command.

On the morrow there came from every direction the great and the small of the forest. They formed a great aisle reaching from the king's throne to the home of Lady Duck. Everyone was dressed in their richest gowns. Not long after the crowd gathered. O. Possum and Lady Duck came forth in fine attire. O. Possum's white collar was the highest he could find and Lady Duck's veil was the finest one made. They marched smilingly down the aisle to the king's throne, followed by the three Fox children.

"Now, O. Possum," began the king, "do you promise to be good to Lady Duck and the three Fox children all the days of your life?"

"I do," answered O. Possum.

"And do you, Lady Duck," continued the king, "promise to obey your husband, and lay an egg for his breakfast every morning as long as you live?"

"I do," said Lady Duck.

"Then I, the king of the forest, pronounce you husband and wife."

There was great rejoicing and singing as each forest dweller in turn greeted the newly-married couple!

Long live the king.
Let us sing, let us sing,
Joy he does bring,
Let us sing, let us sing.

Through the forest, o'er the hill,
From the treetop and the fill,
Let us sing, let us sing,
Long live the king.

Tinker Bob was always mindful of the forest dwellers and whatever he knew to be for their good, he told them.

Of course, as in any community, there were some that would not even obey the danger signals. When they do not obey they have to suffer the punishment that always comes in one way or another.

out to find some berries," and Jerry the Jay flew away, heedless of what the king had said.

He found some berries at the edge of the forest, and began to eat his fill. But the other forest dwellers went to their homes. By and by the wind began to blow and the tree tops swayed back and forth, but Jerry kept on eating berries. Then when it began to rain, he thought he would go back to his home.

He spread his wings and raised into the air. But when he had reached the height of the trees he found the wind was raging and it blew him every way. Before he could get his balance he banged into the branches of a great tree and broke his wing. His flying was done. He fluttered to the ground and crawled under a great burdock leaf.

The rain came down in torrents and it was not long until poor Jerry the Jay stood in the water up nearly to his breast feathers. It was in these weary moments that he had time to think, and he wished that he had listened to the king.

After the storm was over and the forest dwellers came out to thank the king for protection, Jerry the Jay was not there. They began to search. Jerry Wren went from tree to tree calling at the top of his voice. After some search they saw him hopping along, dragging his broken wing.

"You should have listened," said Jerry Wren.

"I will listen the next time," said Jerry, hanging his head.

"Isn't it sad," said Tinker Bob, "that Jerry hanging his head."

"I'm not afraid anyway, so I'm going some must suffer punishment before they will obey."

Then they took him to the king's home and bandaged his wing.

WEIGHT OF FISH IN LOBSTER TINS MUST APPEAR ON LABEL

Bill Introduced To Eliminate Fourteen-Ounce Pound Tins.

OTTAWA, Oct. 17.—Hon. A. K. MacLean introduced a resolution during today's sitting of the House providing for an amendment to the meat and canned-goods act in its application to the canning of fish. He explained that the amendment had been introduced into the House at the last session and considered by a special prorogation. The statute at present provided that a pound tin of lobster should contain fourteen ounces of meat. This provision tended to give the impression to the public that it was being deceived because a pound tin contained only fourteen ounces of meat. Therefore, it was considered advisable to introduce this amendment, which provided that lobster should be packed in tins of three, six, nine, twelve and sixteen ounces, and that their labels should indicate the net minimum weight of the meat in the cans.

Hon. W. S. Fielding remarked that the important thing appeared to be to provide for cans being stamped with the weight of meat contained in them. He thought the amendment was in the right direction.

J. H. Sinclair asked the minister what was the legal weight of salmon in tins. Mr. MacLean said that he would endeavor to have that figure on second reading of the bill. The proposed amendments did not affect any other fish except lobster. Mr. Chubb asked if the can containing only twelve ounces of lobster meat would be the same size as the can which formerly contained sixteen ounces. Mr. MacLean replied that the true weight of contents must be stamped on the cans. The resolution carried and a bill based on the same was given first reading, and will come before the House at its next session for second reading.

STEEL STRIKERS SEEK TO ENJOIN OFFICIALS

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 17.—Representatives of the steel and iron workers' union filed a bill in equity in the Allegheny County court this afternoon against Mayor E. V. Babcock, director of public safety; C. B. Pritchard, superintendent of police; J. Aldridge, and other officials to restrain them from interfering with meetings of the strikers in the Pittsburgh district.

Plan Big Reception For Flying Parson at Roosevelt Field

MINEOLA, N. Y., Oct. 17.—Army officials at Roosevelt Field were tonight planning to give a rousing reception to Lieut. B. W. Maynard, who is leading an enormous crowd on his arrival here at the great transcontinental air race, and who is expected to reach here shortly after noon tomorrow.

Reports late today showed that Lieut. Maynard was making rapid time eastward, and had landed for the night at 5:10 p.m. in Cleveland.

GIVEN AN OVATION. ROCK ISLAND, Oct. 17.—Lieut. Maynard was given an ovation by an enormous crowd on his arrival here at 1:15 p.m. from Des Moines, Ia., having made the 135 miles trip in 33 minutes, breaking his record for the same leg of the journey on his trip west.

Varsity Students Give Lloyd George Novel Experience

British Premier Receives Doctor of Laws Degree at Sheffield.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—The students of Sheffield University created a novel experience for Mr. Lloyd George before he received the degree of doctor of laws from the university this afternoon. Eight of the students, attired in white smocks, surrounded him, placed him in a sedan chair swathed in the Union Jack, and carried him around the university grounds, and the corridors of various buildings of the institution. The procession was preceded by a rag-time band, and its progress aroused cheers from the enthusiastic crowd that witnessed it, and caused great amusement to the premier.

Mr. Lloyd George in dealing with the national expenditure said: "We must not allow ourselves to be persuaded by stunt money into the belief that the time is coming when a few years when expenditure will return to pre-war conditions."

Conciliatory Spirit Shown By Employers At Indust. Conference

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—With the introduction of a resolution by the capital group giving its views as to the right of collective bargaining, a spirit of conciliation was manifested today in the national industrial conference.

L. E. Sheppard, head of the Railway Conductors' Brotherhood, said he saw in the resolution a sincere effort at a closer co-operation between capital and labor in the meeting, and declared that in his opinion the gathering was "just getting down to business." Announcing that the impatience manifested by the labor group Thursday had now given way to a willingness to wait any reasonable length of time, Mr. Sheppard said his group saw every prospect of a harmonious adjustment of the differences existing between the right and left wings of the conference, as a result of the employers' resolution.

Clerks Take Place Of Longshoremen When Vets. Arrive

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Because of the longshoremen's strike every available clerk in the offices of the International Mercantile Marine was used today to take mail and baggage off the steamship Adriatic. The liner arrived from Southampton and Cherbourg with 2,158 passengers, mostly Canadians and Americans, who had been delayed in leaving England by strikes.

While many longshoremen have voted to discontinue their unauthorized strike, many thousands are still on strike, and the shipping congestion remains severe.

T. AND L. COUNCIL OF MONTREAL TO SUPPORT GOVT. IN G. T. R. MOVE. MONTREAL, Oct. 17.—In a session which lasted almost to midnight, and which was characterized by strong debating speeches of almost all the leaders of organized labor in Montreal, the trades and labor council decided last night to support the Federal Government in its move to acquire and operate the Grand Trunk Railway, to fight and prevent if possible the putting into force of the increased tramway fares, and also again expressed itself in favor of the 14-hour week for workers.

J. H. Sinclair, M. P., Asks the Government Where Money Is To Be Secured.

BILL IS READ AGAIN

Guysboro Members Points Out Inefficiency in Handling Intercolonial.

OTTAWA, Oct. 17.—Second reading of the bill to acquire the Grand Trunk Railway was taken up in the House this afternoon. Hon. J. D. Reid, minister of railways, referred to a request for definite figures made by Mr. McKenna last night, and said that he could not add anything to the statements already placed before the House in committee.

J. H. Sinclair of Guysboro opened the debate for the Opposition. He said the House should not have been asked to consider this legislation at the present stage of the legislature and in the present financial condition of the country. There was no reason why this bill should not have stood over until next session. If the Grand Trunk were going into liquidation, that was no good reason for going ahead with this bill at the present time. The House should have been given some information as to the physical condition of the road which it was proposed to purchase.

The Drayton-Acworth report said that an outlay of $51,000,000 was needed to put the road in good repair at that time. It would take even more money now to place it in good running condition. Bottom of the Box. Turning to the financial situation, Mr. Sinclair said that within two years of the present Government going into power they had reached the bottom of the "strong box."

Hon. Arthur Meighen retorted that in that year they had paid off a large amount of the national debt. Mr. Sinclair, continuing, said the former minister of finance had admitted that the national debt had increased to six times what it was before the war. The member for Guysboro asserted that at the present time Canada was losing $100,000 a day on the railway system at present being operated under Government control.

Mr. Sinclair was inclined to favor private ownership under public control. He objected to public ownership on the ground that, as a business proposition, it did not work out well and would not pay. In its operation of the Intercolonial, the Government, said Mr. Sinclair, showed lack of enterprise. Patronage and the purchase of constituencies with public money was as rampant as ever. Last year, he said, $12,000,000 had been provided for the building of branch lines of government railways, but every cent had been expended west of the Great Lakes. Mr. Sinclair said there had been carelessness in presenting the Government's case to the arbitrators on the Canadian Northern purchase, and he feared the same in regard to the Grand Trunk. There was approximately $400,000,000 of stock subject to arbitration.

$515 Carpet. Referring to the legislation before the House, Mr. Sinclair said he thought the minister of the interior was the real father of it, while the minister of immigration and colonization was the stop-father. He drew a picture of the latter minister entering his luxurious office in the morning, sinking his rubber heels in a carpet which cost the country $515 during war-time; hanging his gold-headed cane in the magnificent wardrobe which had cost the country $85; and seating himself in a comfortable chair which had cost $13.35, beside a table for which the country paid $189.75. Opening his mail, he threw the empty envelopes and waste paper in a basket costing $25.50, and when tired by his exertions stretched himself out to rest on a chesterfield for which the country had paid $511.50. All this money for office equipment was spent during war-time, declared Mr. Sinclair, and all the time the debt was steadily rising, yet the minister could join the others in sending forth the call to the people to "produce and save."

Sir Thomas White's motto delivered to the Presbyterian Synod very recently had been "hard work and the ten commandments." He spoke in favor of this legislation, but had not told the House where it was possible to get the money. There was not a dollar for the returned soldiers, he had stated, but apparently there were millions for the financial magnates in London. Well informed. H. H. Stevens, Vancouver, said Mr. Sinclair had offered a lot of destructive criticism, but no suggestions of a hopeful nature. He had referred to Sir Thomas White as the best informed man on Canada's financial condition, and Mr. Stevens pointed out that the former minister of finance was in favor of Canada taking over the Grand Trunk. Apparently Sir Thomas thought the country could be more than able to bear the initial loss. The Drayton-Acworth report, he also urged the acquisition of both C. N. R. and Grand Trunk Railways.

Mr. Sinclair had spoken of the amount laid out on railways in the west. Mr. Stevens said that some three hundred million dollars had been spent in eastern Canada, which was apparently being altogether overlooked. The principle of the present bill was whether or not this road should be taken over. Opposition members apparently wanted to judge public ownership by results on the Intercolonial Railway. Mr. Stevens remarked that the Intercolonial was not a system in itself. The Drayton-Acworth report had pointed out that, among other handicaps, the Intercolonial Railway was losing money because of the congestion at the Montreal terminals. The Intercolonial could not be said to be a fair test of government ownership.

Ideal System. Mr. Stevens described the system devised by the Government and put into operation in connection with the Canadian National Railways was an ideal system of government ownership. He emphasized that there were three transcontinental railways without adequate connections in the east. The Grand Trunk was without an outlet to the west. What more reasonable, then, than the two great systems being linked into one.

Mr. Stevens described Mr. Fielding as being in "velled opposition to public ownership. Mr. Fielding would limit public ownership to the Canadian Northern, the Grand Trunk Pacific and the Intercolonial Railway, two of which were the lame ducks of Canadian railways. That Mr. Stevens argued, would positively insure the utter failure of government railways in Canada. "One might be suspicious," he went on, "that behind Mr. Fielding's desire was the hope and wish that there should be a complete failure of government ownership in Canada."

The Opposition had opposed arbitration. In this, said Mr. Stevens, they were inconsistent. There was no ground for the insinuation that arbitration in the Canadian Northern Railway case was unfair. It had also been suggested that the Government might buy the stock on the open market. This was an impracticable plan. Mr. Stevens asked what would be the result in regard to speculation in the stock, of which there had already been complaints from Mr. Fielding.

If anyone were responsible for the complicated system of railway financing it was the Liberal Government which had introduced that system of guaranteeing bonds. The Liberals should now attempt to aid in solving the railway problem instead of hampering the Government at every turn.

O. Purseon Gloucester said the time for public ownership had passed without the people having taken advantage of it. If there were so many people in favor of taking over the railways, why not take over the Canadian Pacific as well, which was a good road. He argued that had reciprocity with the United States become law, they would be sufficient trade to keep the Grand Trunk from going into bankruptcy. As it was, farmers had let the present Government take over the Grand Trunk. Hon. Arthur Meighen replied that emigration of farmers from the United States had been increasing yearly until the war began.

Mr. Turgeon adjourned the debate. Hon. C. J. Doherty tabled the report of the convention between Great Britain and the United States for protection to the salmon fisheries of the Fraser River. Sir Douglas Hazen had been Canada's representative on the convention, and he adjourned at 6 o'clock until Monday.

HOPE OF AVERTING GREAT COAL STRIKE IS RATHER SLENDER

Both Sides Agree To Further Conference, But Attitude Remains Firm.

MEET NEXT TUESDAY

Full Scale Committees To Meet Secretary of Labor in Washington.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 17.—Failing after an all-day conference to avert a strike of nearly half a million bituminous coal miners, called for the very eve of winter, Secretary of Labor Wilson tonight invited miners and operators to send their full scale committees to Washington next Tuesday, when another effort to bring about peace in the industry will be made.

Both sides accepted the invitation. This did not offer any great hope, however, for representatives of the operators stood firm in their determination not to negotiate any demand for a six-hour day, and not to deal with the unions unless the strike, set for November 1, was called off. John L. Lewis, acting president of the United Mine Workers of America, whose word probably would swing the unions one way or the other, showed that he was laboring under a terrible strain when he left the three-cornered meeting. Speaking to a group of reporters he said he had told Secretary Wilson that the 32 members of his wage scale committee would be here Tuesday to meet an equal number from the other side, but that it would be useless to reconvene the joint inter-industry conference unless the operators change their stonewall attitude and indicated a willingness to frame another agreement.

Thomas T. Brewster, chairman of the coal operators of the central competitive coal fields, which embraces the states of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and western Pennsylvania, after sitting through the day at a table with Secretary Wilson and Mr. Lewis, hurried

DOCTOR TELLS HOW TO STRENGTHEN EYESIGHT 50 PER CENT IN ONE WEEK'S TIME IN MANY INSTANCES

A Free Prescription You Can Have Filled and Use at Home.

Philadelphia, Pa. Do you wear glasses? Are you a victim of eye strain or other eye weakness? If so, you will be glad to know that according to Dr. Lewis there is real hope for you. Many whose eyes were failing say they have had their eyes restored through the principle of this wonderful free prescription. One man says, after trying it: "I was almost blind; could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses and my eyes do not water any more. At night they would pain dreadfully; now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days everything seems clear. I can even read fine print without glasses." It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by following the simple rules here the prescription: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Drop one Bon-Opto tablet in a fourth of a glass of water and allow to dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eye two to four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation will quickly disappear. If your eyes are bothering you, even a little, take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time. Note: Another prominent physician to whom the above article was submitted, said: "Bon-Opto is a very remarkable remedy. Its constituent ingredients are well known to eminent eye specialists and widely prescribed by them. The manufacturer guarantees it to strengthen eyesight 50 per cent in one week's time in many instances or refund the money. It can be obtained from any good druggist and is one of the very good preparations I feel should be kept on hand for regular use in almost every family." It is sold in this city by the Standard Drug Company, W. T. Strong and others.

The Soul of a Vision

My part is ended. Other men,
And women, too, still play their part,
With courage resolute and dauntless heart.

My broken comrade—
Scared by scars that time can not efface,
Is not the jest of fortune; for his aid
A nation's mighty forces doth provide.

And those who live—
To carry on our story down the years,
Face not their "quiet days" in bitter pain;
(Forgotten, now they've stilled the nation's fears)
Dwarfed by the lust of pride and selfish gain.

My Canada—
Thou fair land for whom great love
Inspired my youth to ancient sacrifice;
Grant that our serried ranks in realms above
May witness bear thee, worthy of the Price.

To Pay Debts of Honour

To the Dead and to the richness of their dying, we must give pause, and in humility confess a debt beyond redemption.

Before the altar of their sacrifice, Canada is consecrated to make its dominion worthy. The Torch that illumines Victory so dearly bought, must burn eternally. Each year of peace must record an added lustre to our heritage.

But to those who have come back in suffering,
Canada owes a debt which money can, in part, repay.

It is a Debt of Honour. Canada was pledged to the end, that the wounded and the sick be adequately cared for, until they were fairly fitted for the competitive existence of civil life.

For this purpose, our medical services, and our vocational training schools must be maintained until the need for them is no more.

These, then, are some of the purposes for which the Victory Loan 1919 is being raised. Other purposes are told about in other announcements.

As you read them, the conviction will grow upon you of the absolute necessity for the

MEAT CAUSE OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts To Flush Kidneys if Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers.

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headaches, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.

Rowell Introduces A Bill To License Dry Importations

OTTAWA, Oct. 17.—Following the adoption of a resolution, Mr. Rowell introduced in the House this afternoon a bill to license import and exports of cocaine, opium and their preparations. The bill continues in effect orders-in-council passed in May last under the war measures act.

In recent years, Mr. Rowell said, cocaine and opium imported into Canada had shown a marked increase. In view of that situation, and in order to exercise greater control, the orders-in-council were passed. The increases in importation, however, did not necessarily mean an increase in consumption in Canada. The object of importation in Canada had been largely to get the drugs smuggled across the international border into the United States.

CREIGHTON HALE IN "THE 13TH CHAIR" AT PATRICIA THEATRE

Great Melodrama of Screen Has Mystified New York Audiences.

Today, Saturday Matinee 2:15. Tonight 7 and 9—Alice Joyce in "The Winchester Woman." Vaudeville feature, Marlette's Marionettes, presenting "Toss from Toyland." Special comedy, "His Vampy Ways." Mutt and Jeff in "Ollie's Well That Ends Well."

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday—Gladys Brockwell in "The Sneak." Vaudeville feature, Harry Brooks and Company, presenting the comedy playlet "The Old Minstrel Man." Special two-reel Century comedy. Screen Magazine.

Next Thursday, Friday and Saturday—Creighton Hale in "The 13th Chair." Vaudeville feature, "The Dixie Trio," comedy, singing and dancing. Special two-reel Keystone comedy, Mutt and Jeff cartoon.

Since Bayard Veiller began writing for the stage he has overthrown a number of traditions. It takes nerve to do that. Breaking precedent is a feat of a man's independence, especially in matters of the theatre. "Don't fool the audience," seemed to be Rule No. 1 in the Playhouse Unit, but Veiller smashed it when he wrote "The Thirteenth Chair," the melodrama that mystified New York audiences for a year, and which has just been adapted to the screen and directed by Leonore Perrett for Pathé.

So completely has Mr. Veiller covered up his tracks in "The Thirteenth Chair" that many an actor has been approached by mystified spectators who wished to pay for advance information as to who killed Spencer Lee. In every case, however, the usher preferred to keep the spectator guessing.

In adapting "The Thirteenth Chair" to the films it was easy for Leonore Perrett to follow the original and preserve the secret up to the final moment, but it was not so easy to do this in shaping the prologue, which was found necessary for a screen performance and which met with the hearty approval of Mr. Veiller.

"The Thirteenth Chair" has been booked for an engagement of three days, commencing on Thursday next, at the Patricia Theatre. Young's Devela and Creighton Hale are co-starred, supported by an excellent cast, including Marie Shorewell, Christine Mayo, Marc McDermitt, Walter Law, Suzanne Colbert and George Deneubourg.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

THE FARMERS' PLATFORM.

To the Editor of The Advertiser: In your editorial on the United Farmers of Ontario of your issue of October 11, I find you have taken your stand, as in the past, against the organized farmers.

You give us the credit of having a broad platform, but when you make the statement that no other meaning can be taken from their resolution to place independent farmer candidates in all rural constituencies than that we intend, if we secure control of the legislature, to place rural interests first and place all other interests secondary, you are construing a meaning that only one with a biased mind could conceive.

Do you not think that we as farmers do not recognize that the industrial life of a country is as vital to its existence as its agricultural life?

You state that the farmers desire the farmers to have an equal representation in the Legislature, but can you tell me what they desire, when, or at least the Grit and Tory party? Was it not at the same time the farmers' organization commenced placing their candidates in the field?

You admit that agriculture is the basic industry of the province. If you had been fair you would have shown how we are represented in the Legislature. Here are the figures: At present, 105 seats are occupied; 37 are held by representatives of the professions; 21 by merchants; 7 by agents; 1 undertaker; 14 manufacturers; 3 contractors; 2 publishers; 3 drovers; 1 auctioneer; 1 gentleman; 2 unclassified; and 16 agriculture. The rural districts have nearly 48 per cent of the population, and yet have only 15 per cent of the representatives.

We contend that our political activity is due to a laudable desire to be represented in the legislative halls and I think you must concede that the much that agriculture has better represented in the next Ontario Legislature than it has ever before, even if not a single U. F. O. member be elected.

Now, in closing allow me to point out a moral: That if you expect the farmers to be fair, why not play fair yourself?

I might draw your attention also to the fact that a few years ago the Winnipeg papers, or certain of them, printed some articles detrimental to the organized farmers of the West. The farmers immediately wrote to the editors of the papers that if those articles which were obnoxious were not withdrawn forthwith their subscriptions would be, and this had the desired effect. We expect our local papers to be as fair to us as the urban interests. That is our motto: A square deal for all and special privileges for none.

Yours truly,
F. E. ADAMS,
Vice-President West Middlesex U. F. O. Executive, Southwold, Ont.

Editor's Note.—The Advertiser has never and does not today "stand against the organized farmer." Quite the contrary is the case. During the fights over the issues of reciprocity and conscription, The Advertiser was for the farmer, organized or any other way, first, last and all the time. The writer of the above letter admits that The Advertiser has stated that the United Farmers' platform is an admirable one. In the editorial referred to, it was stated that the preamble drawn up at a recent meeting of the platform. Mr. Adams appears to hear out this view. It is pointed out that columns of this paper have been and are still open at any time to expressions of opinion by the United Farmers equally with any other organization, political or otherwise. Some of the strongest appeals have appeared in The Advertiser columns, notable amongst them a strong, clear statement of the United Farmers' point of view by Mr. Sam Disbrow, a leader in the organization. As to the threat in Mr. Adams' letter, The Advertiser cannot be coerced into a denial of an honest expression of opinion.

Dear Mr. Stewart:-

I was very much pleased with my trip to Windsor to inspect the Mausoleum in Windsor cemetery.

I do not see how it is possible to improve same. The massive granite walls impressed one that this building would be everlasting, if such a thing is possible.

I can heartily recommend your project in Woodland Cemetery to all citizens of London, and feel confident that those who do not secure space now will be sadly disappointed when the building is completed and there is none for sale.

The five crypts I have purchased I consider one of the best investments, if I might call it so, I have ever made.

Wishing you every success, I am

Yours very sincerely,

James Gray

Dear Mr. Stewart,-

I joined your party going to Windsor more or less of a skeptic in regard to Mausoleum burial.

However, after examining the wonderful building which you have so nearly completed in the Windsor Grove Cemetery and after you had explained same to me, I was thoroughly convinced that it was the most humane mode of burial.

This is further evidenced by the fact that on my return to this city, I purchased from you five crypts in the Mausoleum to be erected in Woodland Cemetery.

The building as proposed will be a credit to the City of London and from what I have seen, I can heartily recommend same to anyone who is interested in this mode of burial.

Yours truly,

Dear Mr. Stewart:-

I had the opportunity last week of visiting the Mausoleum you are erecting at Windsor. Needless to say that, as one of the possible custodians of the Mausoleum you propose erecting in Woodland Cemetery, I gave the building the most minute and thorough examination. Even in the smallest details it seems to be perfectly adapted to purposes of burial, and the massive granite walls, the flawless roof, the floors of reinforced concrete and the Crypts that are welded together into one complete whole make up a structure that is calculated to defy the ravages of time. Frankly I do not see how the building can be improved. Such a Mausoleum ought to supply a real need in this community and on its incomparable site in Woodland Cemetery it would be one of the features of the neighborhood of London.

I am, yours most truly

Dear Mr. Stewart:-

I feel rather guilty that I have delayed so long a reply to your esteemed favor of 17th instant. Meantime, it is very easy to express my admiration not merely for the manner in which you have handled your proposition, but for its beautiful materialization in the stately building that now stands so artistically in our cemetery. It takes no practical eye to instantly see the obviously eternal character of the most graceful structure you have given us. Material and building alike are of very best; and when you add to this construction of the highest class you can do no more.

As a place of burial the Mausoleum seems to provide immeasurable advance upon former methods. It eliminates the sordid, ghastly associations of the grave. In the case of the Mausoleum no such associations could ever enter the imagination even of the most delicately sensitive individual. The old horror of burial seems to have been annihilated scientifically; and, the fact that you have interested the very cream of our best and most thoughtful people, would indicate that there are others who, like myself, endorse the foregoing very sincere views.

With kind regards,
Yours faithfully,

W. G. Campbell

Why You Should Reserve Space Now

I want to impress upon the people of London that the Mausoleum is erected solely for those subscribing for space before the actual construction of the building is commenced, and this we must know before going ahead with the final detail plans. The space is getting scarcer each day in the size of building now contemplated, half of the crypts already being subscribed for.

No Money Required Until Building Is Started

After the building is completed it will be substantially endowed with perpetual funds placed in the hands of a trustee.
