59TH YEAR. NO. 23385

LONDON, ONTARIO, TUESDAY EVENING, JULY 11, 1922

PRICE, THREE CENTS

LONDON TO BUILD $400,000 SEWAGE PLANT

SHOWS INCOME TAX OF CITY IN WARD 2 SOARS

Commissioner Stephen Grant, Obeying Council Order, Refuses Statement to Press.

TOTAL GAIN IS $375,207

City Income Increase Remarkable as Federal Returns Show Falling Off.

Despite the fact that federal income tax returns for London show a decided falling off in assessment this year, the annual report of Assessment Commissioner Stephen Grant on Ward 2, issued Tuesday, shows a gain of $46,578 on income assessment for that section of the city.

The total gain of assessment in that ward this year is $375,207.

Acting under instructions from No. 1 committee of the city council, Mr. Grant has refused to issue the press a copy of the statement, but nevertheless, the statement was obtained Tuesday from a source outside the assessment department.

It shows that the highest increase in assessment in the ward was on buildings, the latest valuation surpassing that of 1921 by $145,832. Land values followed a close second in boosted assessment, the gain over last year being $141,304.

Richter System Initiated. These two increases are attributed in part to improvements, carried out in certain portions of the ward, but chiefly to the fact that the Richter system of assessment, which boosts values of land and buildings, has been initiated in London west this year.

Business assessment in Ward 2 jumped $41,492 this year, and the total assessment for the above area, which 1922 taxes will be paid is $552,524.

Increase in income assessment is due to the fact that several ratepayers employed in Ward 2, but residing in the annexed district, have had their names transferred to the roll in order that they may be assessed the full rate for income tax, a fixed rate, which is effective for the annexed district.

This step has been taken by civic officials in order to increase the revenue for London.

1,945 Children in Ward. According to the statement, there are 1,945 children between the ages of 5 and 21 years in Ward Two, which is an increase of 37 over 1921. There are 1,336 children in that section of the city between the ages of 5 and 16 years, which is 32 more than last year.

There are 890 children in Ward Two between the ages of 5 and 14 years, of which number 187 attend public school, while 123 are listed as separate school attendants.

The total population of the ward is 10,187, which shows an increase of 215 in the last twelve months. Of this number, 536 pay statute labor tax, and 3,253 are listed as entitled to vote at election to the legislative assembly. In 1921, 2,696 were listed.

A copy of the comparative statement for Ward Two has been mailed to every member of the city council, and it will be considered at the next meeting of No. 1 committee.

OPERATE BUFFALO CARS UNDER GUARD OF POLICE

Buffalo, July 11.—The International Railway Company resumed operations today on one city car line with wire-screened cars under police protection. The 90 were mostly for homes, and some of the permits was for a greater value than $25,000. The total value represented by the 90 is $250,000.

WILL SUPPRESS STRIKE TROUBLE

Snipers Fire On Troops At Chicago and Alton Shops.

Washington, July 11.—The government stood ready today to take a direct hand in the suppression of all disorders arising from the strike of shopmen which interfered with transportation of mails or movement of interstate commerce. Appointment of a number of United States deputy marshals at points in the Middle West, where disorders have occurred already has been authorized by Attorney-General Daugherty, and in disclosing this in a statement yesterday after conferring with President Harding, the attorney-general declared this policy would be continued "wherever justified and required."

SNIPERS FIRE ON SENTRY. Bloomington, Ill., July 11.—More than 300 shots exchanged by state guardsmen and snipers marked the first night's control of the Chicago and Alton shops by troops. Two men hidden in a gully north of the shops fired twice at sentries shortly before 3 a.m. Three hundred rounds from automatic rifles were poured down on the strikers.

GET FOREST FIRES UNDER CONTROL

Vancouver, B. C., July 11.—The forest fire situation in the British Columbia mainland was reported much improved last night, with no new fire reported, and a general note of optimism in the reports from fire areas. The strenuous backfiring and slashing is beginning to take effect in different fire-ridden areas of the province where considerable damage has been done in the last few weeks, and much anxiety created in the teeth of changing winds and with forests dry as tinder.

Insures City Against Collapse

BELL REVEALS MOVE TO AVERT LIABILITY SUITS

Policy "a Blanket One Covering Citizens Only in Case of Accident."

DOUBT CITY HALL SAFETY

Building Inspector Questions Certain Portions of Civic Structure.

Fearing a repetition of the city hall disaster of several years ago, when scores of citizens were killed or injured by a collapsing floor, the city has taken out an insurance policy to partially protect ratepayers in case of another accident at the city hall.

This announcement was made to The Advertiser Tuesday by City Treasurer James Bell, who refused, however, to divulge the amount of the policy.

Mr. Bell explained that the policy is a blanket one, and partially protects the city from liability in case of accident at the city hall.

"A feature of the policy is the fact that it covers injury to or death of ratepayers only, and does not include city hall employees in any of its clauses.

"This insurance policy has been taken out to protect dependents of ratepayers who may be injured or killed in an accident at the city hall," said the city treasurer. "It does not entirely cover all the liability in case of a big accident injuring many people, but it would not let the city in for much damages, even in a case like that. It is a policy for a large amount."

Mr. Bell stated further that in any case of accident, no matter how grave occurring at the city hall, wherein the city is made liable for damages brought in suit by any ratepayer, the policy protects the municipality.

Will Avoid Liability. Asked for the reason that the policy was written Mr. Bell explained: "You know that the building inspector has questioned the safety of certain portions of the city hall, and I guess they wanted to avoid liability in case of accident. We do not want the city to be sued for hundreds of thousands of dollars in case there is a repetition of the famous city hall disaster.

"This policy covers citizens only, and does not protect the city in case of accident to civic employees," concluded the city treasurer. "It is a new thing around here, and I think it is a good move in the interests of the city."

NOTED CORNET SOLOIST, FOOT GUARDS' BAND, DIES

Ottawa, July 11.—At one time said to be the greatest cornet soloist in New York City, Thomas Bryant, of the Governor-General's Foot Guards Band, is dead here. Bryant went to the United States from London, England, half a century ago, and after much success in New York was brought here to help build up the now famous Guards' Band. He was 73 years old, and leaves no known relatives.

Sweltering London Sighs For Cooling Breezes

FOR the last two or three days London has been feeling symptoms of a hot weather, with indications that the "dog days" are setting in. Hot and irritable citizens dream of the country and the lake-side, the shade of cool, leafy-topped beeches, beneath which breezes are always blowing. And contrast them with the waves of heat rising from the sun-baked pavements, where there is no relief from the blazing heat till night falls, with its accompanying terror of mosquitoes.

Sounds Death Knell Of Dakin Street Site

TAKE OPTION ON OTHER LAND

SOUNDING the death-knell of the Dakin street property as a suitable site for a public school, members of No. 2 committee of the board of education, as anticipated by The Advertiser on Saturday last, in special session Tuesday morning directed W. A. Tanner, secretary, to secure Tuesday afternoon a 30-day option upon other land, 2½ acres in area, in Southeast London, to be used for that purpose.

It was further resolved that at the next regular session of the board of education, July 20, notice of motion will be given that at the following regular meeting the entire question of a new school to relieve the congestion at the Chesley avenue and Ealing schools, will be reopened for consideration.

The committee roughly estimates that the cost of the new structure, an 8-room building, will be in the neighborhood of $100,000. It will be so constructed that it can be added to as occasion demands until a 17-room school is completed.

Sequel to Fight. This action follows as the result of the persistent opposition registered for months past by Mayor Cameron Wilson and members of the city council, against the property now owned by the school trustees at the corner of Dakin and Price streets.

It is understood that the land now under contemplation for purchase, will exceed the cost of the Dakin location by $8,000.

"From a civic point of view this is the best site of course," commented Trustee A. E. Silverwood. "There are objections to the Dakin street site."

"Yes, I was never stuck on the latter," said Trustee Rice, chairman. "The main thing is that the city council will be satisfied," suggested Trustee Silverwood.

NEW CITY WELL NEARS COMPLETION

Drillers Confident of Success As Operations Reach 90-Foot Level.

Two million more gallons of fresh water daily, calculated to suit London's wants for many years, are already in sight for the residents of that city.

Expert drillers, employed by the Ohio Well Digging Company of Massillon, Ohio, whose activities in this district were commenced last summer, have sunk their new well in southeast London to the required distance of 90 feet, and Tuesday morning commenced to place the casing in the lower section of the well. This work will occupy but a few days time, as the last 20 feet of the well have yet to be safe-guarded in this manner against any possible cave-in.

In two weeks time at the most, the waterworks officials feel that the well will be ready for the installation of the big pumps, brought to the city by the Beck wells for the initial trial.

That the new enterprise will measure up to expectations has been the frank opinion of the well drillers and the commissioners ever since the commencement of the work, and as the work progressed their hopes rose as every shovelful of earth was removed from the well.

During the past two weeks or more the diggers have experienced water in abundance and the force with which the same shoots up from the interior of the earth indicates, they say, that there is certainly a veritable underground river beneath the city, as has long been claimed by experts.

SHE GOT BLACK EYE AND ONE SUIT IN SIX YEARS

Detroit, July 11.—The further Anna Casey went with her husband Joseph the worse things became, according to the story she told Judge Arthur Webster today about her six years of married life.

In Schenectady, N. Y., he slammed a book at her. In South Bend, Ind., he blacked one of her eyes, and in Detroit he choked her, she declared. When her six years of thrilling matrimony, he bought her one suit, she declared, adding that she paid for it, however.

She was given a decree.

TRUSTEE SMITH SIGNS TEACHERS' SALARY CHECKS

Thomas Rowe Says Newspaper Hubbub Over Pay Unwarranted.

CITIZENS OUT $211.50

To Consider Future Procedure in Case of Teachers Presiding at Examinations.

Declaring the alleged refusal of Chairman Edwin Smith, of the board of education, to sign pay sheets for substitute school teachers who took the place of regulars presiding at departmental examinations to be "a tempest in a teapot," Trustee Thomas Rowe moved at a meeting of No. 1 committee of the board of education Monday afternoon that the substitutes' salaries be paid. W. A. Tanner, secretary of the board of education, announced that Chairman Smith signed the pay sheets for these substitutes Monday afternoon, as exclusively announced in The Advertiser. The salaries due these substitutes were not really earned until Friday last, and as Secretary W. A. Tanner explained, that it is usual for two weeks to elapse before payment is made to teachers, Trustee Rowe declared the hubbub raised because the salary was not forthcoming to be quite probable.

A motion for Germany's cash payments for the remainder of this year was brought in circles close to the reparations commission to be quite probable as a result of a conference this forenoon between Dr. Fischer, chairman of the German war debts commission, and all the members of the commission in hurriedly called informal sessions.

The letter, asking for the moratorium, which Dr. Fischer and Herr Schroeder, under secretary for finance, who is with the war debt commission, will likely be acted upon by the commission without waiting to refer the matter to the various governments.

CITY PLANS CAMP AT WONDERLAND

Will Provide Accommodation and Conveniences for Auto Tourists.

A civic camp for tourist will be established and supervised by the public utilities commission, A. O. Hunt, assistant general manager, announced Tuesday morning, explaining that the proposal would be definitely considered by the commissioners in special session this week.

A suitable plot of ground at Wonderland, between Woodland Cemetery and the pump house, has been chosen, and the commission will furnish running water, light, etc., in order that everything will be rendered as convenient as possible for those who desire to stop over night in the London district.

A civic employee will be placed on duty, who will record the names of the campers, their homes and license numbers, and who will be responsible generally for the property and effects of the commission.

The need for supervised camping space in this vicinity has long been felt, and this summer the influx of visitors, particularly from distant parts of the United States, is becoming more and more noticeable. Rarely a night passes, the local park authorities state, but that one or two or even more tourists stay at Queen's Park. Only Monday night did a party with camping equipment appeal to Mr. Hunt for directions, and he sent them to Wonderland.

The new camp is considered an ideal site, and is situated next to the residence of George Graham, park superintendent.

SHOE FIRM MAY MEET OBLIGATIONS

Montreal, July 11.—The development of the last few days indicate the possibility of a settlement with the creditors and bondholders of Ames Holden-McCreedy Limited.

The committee of bond holders have been in negotiation with the principal creditors, and as a result of the progress made it is stated that there is now a much better chance of some general plan being worked out. The plan that has practically been decided upon will require a substantial cash payment to creditors, and negotiations are now under way to see just how this money can be raised.

Ringling Circus Locates at Carling Heights

THE giant Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey circus, which comes to London Wednesday, has chosen as its location Carling Heights, military grounds.

For the convenience of the public, a location within walking distance of a great part of the city, and within easy reach by street cars, was selected.

Oxford, North Belt and Normal cars each go to within a short distance of the circus grounds.

CANADIANS IN U. S. ATTACKED

Beaten Up by American Soldiers When Motoring to Buffalo.

Woman and Two-Year-Old Child Kicked in Fracas On Border.

Special to London Advertiser. Toronto, July 11.—Four Toronto motorists, while on a week-end trip to Buffalo were attacked and beaten by a party of American soldiers.

The four tourists—John Beatty, R. Bagnall, Miss Hyslop and Beatty's widowed sister, Mrs. A. Stafford, were driving from that city to the border in company with a young American, Tom Hutchinson, when the trouble arose.

Mrs. Stafford, who is still suffering from bruises, though the affair took place several days ago, today gave a graphic description of the way their quiet motor party was set upon by the American soldiers.

"We were driving along," she said, "when a car full of uniformed men cut in front of us and came to a dead stop. My brother jammed on his brakes, but we collided just the same and our car was badly damaged. Then one of the men from the car in front got out and came back. He looked at our Ontario license plate and then turned to Mr. Bagnall and asked where we came from."

"Canada," was the reply.

Demand Right in U. S. "Then what right have you to be in our country?" the fellow asked. "As much right as you have."

"At this, the soldier, who was a big, hulking chap, and who later said that he was the champion boxer of his regiment, struck Mr. Bagnall on the jaw as hard as he could. When Mr. Bagnall attempted to protect himself, the whole seven of them

Attendants Of Harems Go Out On Strike

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 11.—Constantinople's harem attendants have gone on strike for more money and shorter hours. Many of the capital's finest harems have been left unguarded, and their owners are trying desperately to find suitable substitutes for the strikers. Numbers of Russian refugees have volunteered their services, but it was found that they were not adapted to the position.

The striking attendants insist that their "twenty-four-hour day" and the unceasing vigil they are required to keep on the women of the harems, justify better remuneration, especially during the present hard times.

MUST REPLACE PRESENT PLANT IN 12 MONTHS

Ontario Board of Health To Act If Council Does Not "Scrap" Menace.

BRAZIER ADMITS PERIL

Mayor Wilson Declares As Last Resource Condemnation Can Be Invited.

Unless the city of London constructs a new sewage disposal plant, or takes steps to replace the present dilapidated plant within the next twelve months, the Ontario board of health will take steps to compel the city council to do so, on the grounds that the present plant is a menace to the health of the community.

The estimated cost of the new disposal plant is $400,000.

This fact was reluctantly admitted by City Engineer Brazier Tuesday, following the charge made by Ald. J. T. May, that the sewage disposal plant situated west of the coves is inadequate.

When the matter was first mentioned to the engineer by The Advertiser, he declined to discuss it.

"I am getting awfully deaf at times," he replied, when a reporter asked him about the condition of the present sewage disposal plant.

"We hope to have a new plant next year," said Mr. Brazier, "which will discharge the effluent into the river at least as clear as the water in which it flows."

"Is it not that way now?" he was asked.

System Inadequate. "If it was now what would be the object of putting in a new plant?" countered Mr. Brazier. "There is no question of the present sewage disposal plant being inadequate. It is merely an excuse. We are working on plans for a new plant, but have held up construction for latest improvements in sewage disposal which are now coming out. If the present plant was satisfactory, we would not be worrying."

"What if the people vote it down?" "It is not necessary to have a vote of the people. The provincial board of health can order us to construct a new plant by condemning the present one as a nuisance. It is a long while since the government has inspected this plant. The new one when erected will be on the same site as the present plant."

Mayor Wilson Agrees. Mayor Cameron Wilson shares the opinion of City Engineer H. A. Brazier on the action which will be taken by the provincial board of health. In fact, he declares that strenuous opposition is registered against a new plant in 1923 the city council can invite the provincial board of health to condemn the old system as a nuisance, and thereby compel the city to issue debentures for a new plant.

In the opinion of civic officials conversant with the matter London will, in all probability, have construction of a new sewage disposal plant under construction west of the city in 1923. If, however, steps are not taken next year to provide better facilities for disposal of the city's sewage, they unanimously agree that the Ontario board of health will step in and demand that such action be taken.

WELL, THERE IS NO LAW AGAINST TRYING AGAIN!

BY CABR. WHEN a man has asked a woman to marry him and has been refused, shall he ask her again? That seems a question which only the man can answer, as none but he can rightly understand the case; still, there are men who seek women's advice on the subject.

In the first place, then, it is of the utmost importance that he should be certain of his own wishes in the matter; whether he is truly in love or merely swept along by a passing fancy; whether the woman who has said "No" is so desirable in his eyes that he cannot be happy until he gets her.

This phase of the question is not easy to answer. Men, as well as women, often mistake a fleeting infatuation for an abiding love. Every woman by whom a man is strongly attracted is, for the moment, to him the one woman in all the world, but time passes, the slide of the magic lantern in his heart is filled with another image, then another, and he is equally sure that each in turn is loved with the one love of his life.

Instead of being reprehensible, is a merciful provision of Providence. Constancy, when it serves no good purpose, ceases to be a virtue and becomes a misfortune, if not a vice.

No statistics have been compiled on the subject, but observation and evidence go to prove that the average man marries about the fifth or sixth girl with whom he falls in love.

There have been three or four young women, each of whom, for a longer or shorter period, he regarded as the paragon of her sex, but he has got over his infatuation and has married another, and probably congratulates himself on his enterprise. Also it is probably an equally good thing for the three or four girls whom he did not marry.

That point settled, the manner of the refusal should again, in the reception thereof. Any man with a fair share of common sense ought to know whether he is snubbed or not; whether his suit is peremptorily declined or merely tentatively put aside.

According to the novels of the day, the indefinite form of proposal seems to be in favor. This is unfair to both, but especially to the woman. If a man is in earnest he should make a woman understand clearly that he is asking her to be his wife. She cannot very well urge him to be explicit, and while a well-bred woman might justly lose her lover an unscrupulous one might capture a man who had no intention of asking her to marry him.

It is a part of discretion, therefore, for every man to make himself perfectly clear when proposing marriage. If she refuses him with equal lucidity—well, there is no law against trying again.

TOWNSHIP ASKS REPEAL OF ACT

Council Feels Adolescent Measure Will Impose Hardship on Taxpayers.

To Investigate Petition For Sewer On Huron and Richmond Streets.

London Township council met in the town hall, St. John, Monday, July 3, 1922. Those present were E. Douglas, reeve; W. J. Fuller and A. C. Hodgins, first and second deputy reeves respectively, and John Marshall and Austin Winter, councillors.

The council accepted the offer of the London city council of a map of the urban zone, and E. Douglas, reeve, was appointed representative from the council to confer with the town planning commission of the city regarding the highway developments and sub-divisions within the urban zone.

F. E. Stockwell was granted permission by the council to run a water main along that portion of Broughdale avenue through the Stockwell estate, providing said work was done subject to the approval of Ward Commissioner Fuller.

A petition for a sewer on Huron street, from Waterloo to Colborne streets, was referred to Deputy Reeve Fuller with power.

Engineer Farncomb was instructed to give the necessary levels, etc., to Messrs. Kelly and Crowley in order that they may proceed with the Ox Bow drain contract.

Memorialize Government.

A memorial was sent to the Ontario Legislature requesting the repeal of the adolescent school attendance act, on the ground that it fully or even partially enforced it will impose upon the taxpayers of the municipalities of Ontario, both rural and urban, excessive burdens for new school construction and maintenance at a time when financial conditions generally, and especially the necessity of meeting the obligations incurred by the war, necessitate the strictest economy in all governmental affairs.

Authority was given for the rebuilding of two culverts, and payment of several small accounts for St. George's, St. David's, St. Lawrence's and St. Patrick's Wards was authorized.

ED. SMITH SIGNS TEACHERS' CHECKS

coming Saturday to be unwarranted.

However, the board of education will consider future procedure in the case of regular teachers who reside at departmental examinations, and for whom substitute teachers must be engaged to teach school while they reside. As the regulars receive nine dollars per day for residing at the above examinations, it is likely that the board will rule that in future years the teachers pay their own substitutes, thus eliminating dual salaries for this period.

When Senior School Inspector V. K. Greer explained at the meeting Monday afternoon that substitutes are paid by the board of education, just as in London, Trustee Rowe commented as follows: "I am inclined to think it is a tempest in a tea pot. If any correction should be made it is up to the department of education."

Citizens Are Out.

"We are $211.50 out, and the citizens must pay it," came back Trustee Edwin Smith.

"That wouldn't make good reading in the paper," replied Trustee Rowe, with a smile.

"I followed the same course this year as in other years," explained Inspector Greer, with reference to 4% per annum, payable half yearly, on savings deposits.

In the Huron & Erie "Special Interest" Savings Department this good rate is obtainable upon savings balances of $1,000 or more on application to the manager.

Echo In New Victoria School Rooms Annoying To Teachers and Scholars

There is an echo heard over in the new Victoria public school, South London, which has a somewhat disturbing effect upon the work of the teachers, seemingly.

As the opinion is divided among the school trustees and officials as to the precise cause of the same, it has been decided to seek expert advice upon the problem, and a report employment of presiding teachers at departmental examinations. The nine dollars per day paid presiding officers comes from the students' fees. In a few odd cases there were substitutes procured for regular teachers who were presiding at the examinations. The cost of these substitute teachers came to $211.50.

"In another year it will be easier as London south high school teachers can alternate with central collegiate teachers in presiding at this examination, and no regular public school teachers would be necessary," continued the inspector.

"I received information that regular teachers presiding at examinations used to pay their substitutes," said Edwin Smith.

"They never did in my time," replied Inspector Greer.

Deduct From Salaries.

Edwin Smith then moved that the substitutes be paid, and that their salaries be deducted from the September accounts of regular teachers whose places they took.

"This has been going on for years," protested A. N. Udy, chairman of the committee.

"No it has not," retorted Chairman Smith. Dr. Shaw told me when he was on the board that how he was paid.

"It is possible that Dr. Shaw is right," said Trustee Rowe, "but I was on the board then and have no recollection of it. It is unfortunate that a definite understanding was not reached before this service was given by the teachers."

"It has never come to the surface before," said Chairman Udy.

Wait Another Year.

"Wait until another year," advised Trustee Wright, "and give the regular teachers to understand that they must pay substitutes."

Inspector Greer then explained that the board of education received $200 from the department of education for paper on which the students wrote in examinations.

"Then the city is making enough profit on the deal to almost pay the substitutes," said Trustee Udy.

"It is too late now," said Trustee Rowe. "These substitutes went to work in good faith. I would not hesitate to make a ruling before the examinations. I move that we pay the substitute teachers and refer the policy to the board of education. It is a shame to keep them waiting, as a lot of them want to go on their holidays. It is a hardship to them. We have got to pay them anyway."

The latter motion carried.

A communication was received from the Collingwood board of education asking that the London board urge that the view of the enforcement of a moratorium thereafter open for the time being. Under this arrangement the question of the moratorium would be decided later upon fuller consideration, and in view of what may happen in Germany in the next few weeks.

No Other Way.

It is understood that the majority of the committee sees no other way out of the present crisis, and is therefore prepared to vote a temporary moratorium, particularly because there is general realization that no loan to Germany is immediately possible, and that relief for present conditions must come quickly.

Dr. Fischer told the commission that Germany had succeeded in getting together sufficient foreign exchange to make the payment of 50,000,000 gold marks, due July 15, but whether this payment will be exacted has not yet been decided.

Speculate On Changes In Railways Executive

Believed That Presidents and Vice-Presidents of Government System Will Retire.

Ottawa, July 11.—With the reconstruction of the board of directors of the Grand Trunk Railway impending there is an abounding speculation as to the changes in the high-up positions.

While lacking any official confirmation, it is strongly rumored that there will be an entirely new deal and that President Hanna and Vice-President Mitchell of the Canadian National Railway and President Kelly and Vice-President Scott of the Grand Trunk will all retire.

This is reason to believe by way of neutralizing the rivalry between Toronto and Montreal, Ottawa will be the executive headquarters of the system with "grand divisions" centered at Montreal, Winnipeg and Moncton.

ENDS STORY OF MERCHANTS' BANK

Montreal, July 11.—The last trace of the defunct Merchants Bank of Canada disappeared today when the re-adjustment of salaries went into effect. Rumors were current in the city that some big cuts had been made in the salary list, amounting in some cases to as high as $5,000 a year, but inquiries at the Bank of Montreal failed to get any confirmation of this.

"There has merely been effected an adjustment of salaries, so as to bring the former Merchants Bank staff on the same footing as the existing staff of the Bank of Montreal," declared one of the chief officials of the latter bank this morning.

CANADIANS IN U. S. ATTACKED

attacked him and dragged him off the road to a field, where they proceeded to beat him. My brother then went to his aid, and they turned on him, leaving Mr. Bagnall free to go.

"My brother then ran to take shelter in a little fruit store, whose owner had held the door open. Four of them followed him, and they started to scuffle on the veranda. As one of the soldiers came up he kicked the little 2-year-old child of the storekeeper out of his way, and when the mother of the child attempted to protect it he kicked her. The father then joined in the struggle, and was bruised about the face, and had his shoulder dislocated.

Threatens To Shoot.

"Meanwhile, my brother had thrown one of the men over the railing and was about to do the same with a second, when the latter drew a revolver and said 'I will shoot you.' I rushed and grabbed his arm, giving my brother a chance to escape. The soldier dragged me all round the house before I would let go, and then fired two shots at a passing auto, thinking that the men were in it.

"On hearing that the police were coming, the men made off down a side road. Two of the state police chased them and came up with them when they had a blowout. They then attacked the police, and it was necessary for the officers to use their batons to subdue them."

The men all belonged to the 74th Regiment, six privates and a sergeant, and they are to come up for trial in Buffalo shortly.

into the gully. At daylight the place was searched, but no trace of the snipers was found.

Shooting was resumed at 7:15 this morning, when snipers fired on a sentry at the northeast edge of the shop yards. No one was wounded on the soldiers' side during the night. It was unofficially reported to the guard camp this morning that two more companies of troops would arrive today. It is also understood that non-union workers will arrive from Chicago to-day.

Arrangements have been made to meet their train with two companies of troops to escort them to work.

Ninety-four non-union workmen arrived this morning. They were escorted by the troops, and a gun was found sticking out of one man's sock. It was confiscated.

Col. Culbertson has issued orders that all workmen going into the shops be searched for weapons and liquor.

Crowds of strike sympathizers began crowding around the shops this morning, and at 10 o'clock orders were issued to get up machine guns covering every entrance.

FAKE ANTIQUES POUR INTO U. S.

Many Gullible Bootleggers Spend Fortunes To Get Fooled In Europe.

PHILADELPHIA, July 10.—Putting something over on the bootlegger seems to be a new industry in Europe. The newly rich families whose wealth was made possible by Mr. Volstead, have gone to Europe to find a place to spend some of their wealth and antique dealers, among others, are making sure that the old adage, "Easy come, easy go," holds true.

New furniture is converted into antique with a few shots from a shotgun loaded with mustard seed. Sometimes tapestries of recent date travel back several centuries in a hurry with the aid of sandpaper and dirt. A hammer often is used to add a few hundred years' wear to articles of metal and the newly rich, in expert in everything except hoodwinking Uncle Sam's dry sleuths, is an easy victim.

Genuine antiques are admitted to the country duty free. Just to make sure that the law isn't evaded, A. A. Jordan has been appraising all antiques coming through the customs house here for years. Of late he has been getting a lot of thousands of dollars' worth of antiques have been held up for duty because they aren't antiques.

They can't fool Jordan, especially on tapestries. The law provides that antiques must be 100 years old to be duty free.

"Tapestries of seventeenth century design," he said, "dyed with aniline dyes, usually prove fakes. Because the color dyes were not discovered until 1845."

"We recently received word that the Egyptians are planting new furniture and pieces of antiques in the ground and then later leading excavating parties to the spot and unearthing the furniture under the guise that it has been buried for centuries."

"Of course, there are many genuine antiques being sold in Europe, owing to the heavy tax upon land owners of the aristocracy and because so many war profiteers and bootleggers have amassed so much money that they are looking for new realms in which to spend it."

"Most of the antiques come principally from England. Italy produces the poorest quality of antiques and furniture. In the first place, the Italian government will not allow any genuine antiques to be exported, because they keep it all for their museums."

"Collectors in London are the most active in selling imitation antiques. They have shops where they are manufactured and then they 'plant' them in the country. In obscure shops throughout the empire."

"During the period following the war the percentage of antiques shipped here as genuine articles, but later proved to be fakes, reached 75 per cent. Since then the financial depression has caused a slump in the business and only the bootlegger with his piles of money can afford to buy these fake antiques."

SAYS GERMANY MUST BE GIVEN BREATHING SPACE

International Banker Declares That Financial World In Accord on Proposed Loan.

New York, July 11.—Despite alarming reports from Berlin and other European capitals, international bankers here express confidence that a great international loan will be launched for Germany's financial rehabilitation, Wall Street Journal says. The paper quotes one international banker as saying: "It cannot be too emphatically stated that there is no lack of accord between bankers in France, Germany or anywhere as to what is necessary. The banking world is of one mind that Germany must be given breathing space, and that international credit in her favor must be arranged in the nature of a first mortgage, removed from any danger of being overshadowed by reparation payments." The name of the banker making this statement is not given.

BREWING PRODUCTS JUMP NINE MILLION IN VALUE

Ottawa, July 11.—An increase of $9,528,555 is reported in the value of brewery products in 1920, over the preceding year. The total value of beer, ale, stout and porter was reported at $19,122,837 in 1919, and at $28,588,822 in 1920, an increase of $9,465,985. The total value of all products increased from $20,169,074 in 1919 to $29,698,559 in 1920.

Ottawa, July 11.—(Canadian Press).—A reorganization of the permanent force, involving a reduction of 450 officers and men, is now proceeding, as a result of the action of Parliament at its last session in reducing the militia estimates. The strength of the force was put at about 3,800 during the discussion of the militia estimates.

This reorganization affects the permanent force throughout the military districts, and the figures given above include the reductions made in the Royal Canadian Garrison Artillery at Quebec, and those made at Kingston, which have already been reported.

Welland, July 11.—A coroner's jury, which investigated the death of a 9-year-old boy on a swing bridge south of Welland on the Welland ship canal, two weeks ago, recommended last night that the government place men on both ends of bridges on the canal, to prevent similar accidents in the future.

Steve Yero, 9 years old, was playing on the concrete abutment of the bridge and was crushed to death between that and the swinging bridge. No one actually saw the fatal accident.

MARKS ANNIVERSARY OF ONTARIO'S BIG BUSH FIRE

Toronto, July 11.—Today marks the anniversary of the worst disaster that ever came to the great hinterland of Ontario. It was on the morning of July 11, 1911, that the Northern evergreen forests, overhated by many days of scorching heat, burst into flames which, driven by a wind of unusually high velocity, swept like the crack of doom over miles of territory, sweeping before it forest, mines and settler's homes by the hundred.

PLAN NEW REAL ESTATE BYLAW

Members of No. 2 Committee Propose Regulating Opening of Surveys.

Mayor Alleges Lots Sold Without Conveniences of Any Kind.

Regulations which will prevent the opening of real estate surveys in this city, unless the property to be offered for sale is provided with water, sewer, sidewalk and sewer facilities, along with graded roads, will in all probability be recommended by No. 2 committee of the city council which meets Tuesday night.

Mayor Cameron Wilson, who sponsors a bylaw to this effect, has pointed out that plans of surveys in London have been accepted when the lots sold had no water or sewer connections, and after the survey has been all sold the newcomers clamor for sidewalks and similar local improvements, while sections of vacant land more centrally located in the city are allowed to go unpopulated.

If the bylaw is put through by the city no surveys will be allowed to be registered unless provided with the facilities laid down by the city council. The members of No. 2 committee will discuss it Tuesday night.

Another question to be discussed is the bylaw regulating erection of gasoline service tanks in the city, and the proposed collection of a rental of $25 per year for every such station erected on city boulevards. This bylaw will likely be referred to the council by committee.

The communication of the London Life Insurance Company regarding its proposed new office buildings, to be erected on Dufferin avenue, opposite Victoria Park, will come in for consideration at the meeting, and the committee will confer with the company as to the type of office buildings planned for this residential district.

Among the deputations which will wait on No. 2 committee Tuesday night will include Front street ratepayers, desirous of hearing the report of City Engineer H. A. Brazier on the cost of a breakwater to protect their property. It is expected that this report will be presented at the session, and upon it the future action of Front street residents who demand protection from flooding.

MANY LONDONERS GOING TO EUROPE THIS SUMMER

H. J. McCallum, C. P. R. Ticket Agent, States That Majority Will Return in September.

Quite a few Londoners will spend the summer months in Europe this year, according to H. J. McCallum, ticket agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway in this city. Mr. McCallum stated that the majority going abroad leave Canada during June and July and return in September at the earliest. It is the custom, he said, to visit the British Isles first and from there go to the Continent.

Not many of London's foreign population, however, are going abroad this year, the prevailing business condition and the chaotic state of some of the smaller countries of Europe being given as the reason.

"The foreign element of the country is moving very little," Mr. McCallum declared.

Lake passenger traffic is good this year, and the C. P. R. steamers, he stated, and some weeks the bookings are filled far in advance. Two of the great lake steamers, the Assiniboia and the Keewatin, ply between Port McNicholl and Port Arthur, while the Manitoba runs from Owen Sound to Port Arthur.

IN QUANDARY OVER DEMENTED WOMAN

Sanitary Inspector Hesitates to Take Action On Account of Family.

Confronted with the case of a demented woman, residing on York street, who refuses to remove her clothes on retiring and who has not taken off her shoes for more than two months, Sanitary Inspector Richard Sanders is in a quandary. The inspector desires to have the woman admitted to the Ontario Hospital, but having regard for her family does not wish to employ any violence or call in the assistance of the police.

On visiting the home of this unfortunate citizen Tuesday, the inspector discovered her lying on the lawn, talking to her son. The latter, whom the inspector describes as a bright young boy, was about to go for a swim.

To Mr. Sanders' astonishment, his mother admonished the lad not to take his cap off while in swimming because "you might get your head wet."

"This is a sad case," said Inspector Sanders Tuesday, "and I have postponed action as long as possible. The woman is very insanitary, and the doctors attending her have pronounced her case as one for the Ontario Hospital. I am puzzled as to how to get her there without violence, as I must consider her family."

"According to the law I can take two police constables to the house and have her removed to the Ontario Hospital, but I hate to do this."

A prominent London physician recently endeavored to take an insane patient to the Ontario Hospital himself, but before he accomplished his mission the patient smashed every window in his auto, and otherwise damaged the machine.

EXPECT 12,000 TO CELEBRATE

Orangemen Will Commemorate Battle of Boyne in St. Thomas.

What is expected to be one of the largest Orange celebrations in this district will be held in St. Thomas Wednesday, July 12, where preparations are being made to accommodate between 12,000 and 15,000 people from all parts of Western Ontario. Everything is in readiness, it was stated Tuesday morning, and the weather is the only thing that can hinder the extensive program to be carried out at Pinfaro Park.

Joe Carson, county master, declared that if the day is fine the delegation from this city to the grand Orange celebration in the Railroad City would reach 2,000, and that at least five bands from London would take part in the parade.

The London Orange brass band will have the honor of leading the parade in St. Thomas, and Hackett's pipe and drum band, and McDonald's pipe and drum band, all of this city, will take prominent parts in the celebration.

Wear Full Regalia.

All the members of the ten city Orange lodges, and the True Blue Lodges, will assemble at the Orange Hall, Market Lane, at 9:30 Wednesday morning, and will wear full regalia. The delegation will make the trip on a L. and P. S. special train to leave at 10:20.

An elaborate program of sports and novelty events has been arranged for the afternoon at St. Thomas. Features of the day will be a baseball game, a lacrosse match, a football game and a band competition. In the evening dancing will hold sway.

Premier Drury was invited to attend the monster celebration, and he replied that if it was at all possible he would attend the annual demonstration. Other prominent speakers are H. C. Hocken, M.P., of Toronto, and E. T. Essery, K.C., of London.

County Marshals Supervise.
The Orange lodges from this city will be in charge of A. Niven, master of ceremonies; Joe Carson, county master, and C. O. Smith, secretary.

In St. Thomas the lodges of that city will be in charge of the parade, with each county marshal supervising his own lodges.

Mr. Carson stated this morning that although the parade would not probably be as large as was held in London last year.

Sunday night the Orangemen of the district around Grampian held a church parade to the Methodist church in that village. Rev. W. Hunter preached in his sermon outlining briefly the history of Orangeism, and pointed out the important part holidays play in the lives of all cases of people.

RAILMEN NOT TO ACCEPT WAGE CUT

London Brotherhood of Railway Employees Claims Reduction is Unfair.

Contending that the proposed wage cut, ranging from two to five cents an hour, in view of the present living conditions, is decidedly unfair, more than 150 members of the Brotherhood of Railway Employees of this city, in regular session Monday night, decided that they would not accept any reduction in wages proposed by the railways.

Considerable dissatisfaction was manifested by the employees when a communication was read from W. D. Cobb, vice-president of the Grand Trunk Railway Company, informing the union that the cuts would be enforced in the various departments on July 16.

As local officials received this communication on June 23, and according to the schedule that the men are working under the new clauses states that before any agreement can be changed or broken to any extent 30 days' notice must be given. The employees hold that Mr. Cobb's notice in giving them only 17 days' notice is by no means fair, and so will not abide by it.

The Brotherhood of Railway Employees held other meetings of a similar nature throughout the entire railway system Monday night and local officials are of the opinion that the feeling of the workers is the same over all the country.

Within a short time the result of the vote in each division will be sent to General Chairman James McGuire in Ottawa, who will act upon the information received, and open negotiations with railway executive officials in Montreal.

The proposed reduction by Mr. Cobb would mean a decrease of two cents an hour for stationary firemen and others, three cents for clerks, and for freight handlers and truckers, and for a certain class of round-house laborers which are included in the B. of R. E., the reduction would mean five cents an hour.

A year ago the Brotherhood of Railway Employees received a similar cut, and as the cost of living has not decreased to an extent warranting another reduction, the men decided to oppose any further reduction in wages.

Toronto Star Plays Hope of U. S. Fans That Dempsey Fight Will In Canada

Toronto, July 11.—The Toronto Star, in an editorial today, says: Dispatches from the United States indicate that fight fans are hopeful of having Dempsey fight the negro, Wills, in either Windsor or Montreal.

Canada's gambling laws, race tracks and rum-running have brought us into disrepute when the pugilists of the adjacent republic look to us to welcome prize fights.

Ontario will not have the Dempsey-Wills fight. There is no room for doubt on that point. And no other province, with the possible exception of Quebec, would welcome the attraction.

TRUSTEE RECALLS BEING MEMBER OF COMMISSION

Others Also Remember Being Present at Civic Body Luncheon 62 Days Ago.

"It was 62 days ago today," remarked a member of No. 2 committee of the board of education Tuesday morning.

"Oh, you mean the last session of the civic commission," rejoined Trustee Edwin Smith, chairman.

"Yes, I remember now; we all gathered at Smallman's for luncheon."

"And we all paid our own checks," the chairman added, as an afterthought, "did we not?"

"Yes, we did," responded other members of the commission who were present when the commission in question, headed by Mayor Cameron Wilson, received under advisement such items as the collegiate, technical and public school debenture requests.

Nothing of these has since been heard of, and Tuesday morning Trustee Bryden Campbell essayed the remark: "I think I am a member of that commission, come to think of it."

the board, assured the committee that no opposition would be forthcoming from the city council or Mayor Wilson respecting a debenture issue for this purpose.

Hunt Accommodations.
In the meanwhile Trustee A. A. Rice and Senior School Inspector V. K. Greer will continue their efforts to secure adequate accommodation to care for the increased attendance in the district affected.

Inspector Greer reports that the annex to the Ealing public school will be placed in use again, to house 35 or 40 pupils in September next. Negotiations are in progress between the school authorities and the managers of the Hamilton Road Presbyterian Church, relative to the rental of the basement of that edifice, which will house 60 children.

The latter meet in session Tuesday night. Inspector Greer reported, when the question will be discussed, although Dr. Copeland, representing the church officials, has assured that nothing will stand in the way of an amicable understanding. The trustees emphasize the point, however, that this accommodation will be for a year only, by which time a new school must be provided.

Warns Committee.
Discussing the request for new flooring in the Empress avenue public school, West London, Inspector Greer warned the committee that a new school for that section of the community would be imperative within the next five years.

"The situation regarding classroom accommodation is becoming more and more difficult," the inspector declared. "The Tecumseh avenue and Boyle Memorial schools will be unable to care for further additional pupils after 1923, while this year we are opening the last spare room in the Ryerson school, while the other rooms are already crowded in certain instances beyond capacity."

It was decided to recommend to the board that the floor of the Empress avenue school be repaired. "It is very insanitary," Inspector Greer explained. "You can see through the cracks, and there is no cellar beneath certain rooms."

GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEE DISAPPEARS FROM FALLS

Niagara Falls, July 11.—"Good-bye, all you people," were the farewell words spoken to his wife and family by William H. Race, war veteran and superintendent of the government employment bureau here when he left his home at 8 o'clock on Monday morning, July 3, and has not been heard from since.

Although the provincial police have scoured the country and aid has been given in the search by leading citizens, not a clue can be found of the government employee who so mysteriously disappeared.

Goldberg Says He Gave Two Men Auto Lift, But No Bottle Of Whiskey

Evidence of special O. T. A. enforcement officers from Toronto to the effect that they had given Charles Cox money for a bottle of whiskey on July 4, and that Nathan Goldberg had delivered it, resulted in Cox being fined $500 and costs, and Goldberg being assessed $200 and costs in police court Tuesday morning.

Cox was convicted Monday afternoon, but the penalty was not imposed in his case until Goldberg had been tried Tuesday morning. Originally both Cox and Goldberg were charged with keeping liquor for sale contrary to section 40 of the O. T. A., but after Cox had been convicted the prosecution changed the charge against Goldberg to having liquor in a place other than a private dwelling contrary to section 41 of the act, as it has been a matter of principle in the London court the two persons are not convicted of the same charge when only one bottle is involved.

According to Special Officer Simmons, he and a London man named Reidy, got into a car at the corner of Bathurst and Clarence streets on July 4, after Reidy had stopped the car. Goldberg, he stated, was driving near the corner of Bathurst and Talbot, he testified. Goldberg handed him the bottle of liquor. Special Officer White said he saw the three men drive past the corner of Richmond and Bathurst. He identified Goldberg as the driver.

Goldberg stated he was a shoe-maker residing at 124 Clarence street. He admitted driving the two men from Bathurst and Clarence to Dundas and Talbot, but denied giving them the bottle, stating he only gave them a lift. Reidy, he said, resided at 455 Talbot street.

Judgment will be given in the case of Sadie Skindin, who is charged with selling, on Friday morning.

WILL ASK ACTION ABOUT COLLEGIATE

Trustees To Appeal To City Council On School Affairs.

Content to await no longer the pleasure of Mayor Cameron Wilson's civic commission, Trustee A. E. Silverwood, chairman of No. 3 committee of the board of education, will ask, at a special meeting of that body Friday afternoon next, that the members of the city council render immediate and definite action relative to the Central Collegiate Institute situation.

"We'll likely meet again Friday," the chairman explained Tuesday morning, "when we will move to clear up these matters pertaining to the Collegiate Institute. We'll appeal to the city council for some action. We don't have to appeal to the civic commission. We should certainly have had some action before this."

Trustee Silverwood points out that in May last the members of the board approved of the request from his committee of a further debenture issue of $17,000 to liquidate the debt incurred by the construction and equipment of the school in question.

"We have heard nothing since this request went to the civic commission," the chairman points out. "We'll have to have an accounting in a few days. However, I understand that the Kingston Construction is back at work completing their tasks, and the school will soon be ready for formal acceptance by the board. We'll need the money then."

While it was reported several weeks ago that the various sub-contractors employed by the Kingston company had not been paid, the chairman states that while he is not acquainted with the facts of the case, it is purely a matter between themselves.

Pay Sheets for Examining Teachers Now in Hands of City Treasurer

CITY TREASURER JAMES BELL has received the widely advertised pay sheets for substitute public school teachers who taught while "regulars" presided at departmental examinations here, and which Chairman Edwin Smith is alleged to have refused to sign.

Despite the fact that a London paper declared the exclusive statement of the Adviser that Chairman Smith would sign authority for payment of these substitute teachers Monday afternoon, was "without foundation," Trustee Smith affixed his name to the pay sheets Monday and the city treasurer is "paying out," Tuesday.

MINISTERIAL WORKERS TAKE SUMMER VACATION

London Clergymen Snatch Respite From Arduous Duties of Past Season.

Various organizations in connection with the church life of the city are taking advantage of the summer holidays to gain respite after the amount of work accomplished throughout the season and to prepare plans for next winter's work.

The work of the Ministerial Alliance is in abeyance. A number of ministers are out of the city on vacation, and the recent meeting, at which election of officers took place, was the last until next September.

No meetings of the presbytery will be called unless a member of the court receives a call which demands attention, in which event special notices will be sent out.

Following the mass meeting of the Western Ontario Brotherhood Presbyterian held in King Street Presbyterian Church recently the executive of the organizations met and made tentative plans for the annual meeting, which will be held in London in the fall.

Denominational organizations are holding no meetings until the fall, but plans for a year's work even more extensive than that covered last year are under consideration.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY.

When John Carr was charged in police court Tuesday morning with stealing a watch from Albert Newman he pleaded not guilty. His case was adjourned until Thursday.

PARENTS MAY BE SUPERVISORS

Board Provides for Supervision of School Yards Used As Playgrounds.

Trustee Deplores Complaints of Misbehavior On Part of Children.

Citizens who reside in the neighborhood of public schools, if they so choose, may band themselves together and supervise the playgrounds of these institutions during the summer months in order that the children of their districts may have a place of recreation during the evening.

This is the latest ruling of No. 2 committee of the board of trustees who state that the regulation denying the use of school yards is being rigidly enforced following the numerous complaints from citizens as to the noise and other alleged misbehavior on the part of the children gathered there nightly.

Other communications have been received from interested ratepayers, however, who hold that the trustees action is nothing less than "high-handed" and by no means admirable, as it does, the children of a place to play.

School Inspector V. K. Greer expresses the opinion that it seems too bad that the grounds should be closed in the holidays, but realizes that supervision is necessary.

The trustees express willingness to re-open the yards directly some perceived from interested ratepayers the responsibility. It is reported that certain parents have already agreed to do this, and Trustee Silverwood suggests that 30 persons in one district might easily arrange for a night each during the month.

Trustee Edwin Smith incidentally deplores the fact that so many complaints emanate from the Lorne Avenue School district.

CLAIMS DRINKER OF BEER EMPLOYED BY CITY POLICE

The officer who drank a bottle of home brew beer at the home of Bridget Cummings, 60 years old, and left 25 cents on the table, later laying information against her for selling liquor illegally, which resulted in her being fined $400 and costs in police court Monday, was not a special O. T. A. enforcement officer, but was in the employ of the London police department, it was declared today.

Canada's Loss.

AT a recent session of representatives of Canadian universities in convention at Winnipeg, one problem up for discussion was that of providing means to prevent the exodus of Canada's college graduates to foreign countries, and particularly to the United States.

It was the unanimous opinion of every educationalist present that the departure of these young men for foreign fields of endeavor meant a distinct loss to Canada, and a gain to the community selected as their respective goal.

Tempting offers of high salaries were quoted as one main reason why these graduates were lured away from their native land, while in some instances splendid facilities for research work were pointed out as the cause of the exodus.

The educationalists admitted that any brilliant results produced by the research of Canadians abroad brought fame equally to the country of their adoption and themselves.

An instance, which brings this admission right home to Londoners is the research work conducted at the Mayo clinic, Rochester, Minn., by Dr. LEONARD ROWNTREE, a South London boy, which brought added fame to the Minnesota clinic and equal publicity to "The Rowntree Test," now used daily in every hospital on this continent.

Dr. ROWNTREE is associated with the Mayo clinic, the fact that he is a Canadian being known to few excepting his intimate friends in Minnesota.

No solution to the emigration of Canada's young university graduates was offered at the convention, each educationalist present taking the problem home for consideration.

Last week the announcement that five members of the 1922 graduation class at Western University Medical School have been appointed to the faculty of their alma mater. These young doctors will be presented with ample opportunity for conducting research work in their chosen profession during the period that they are retained on the faculty at Western.

Any discoveries or improved methods of medical treatment made or devised by these young physicians will reflect credit upon themselves, in which their common alma mater will share.

By obtaining the services of these young men five university graduates have been kept in Canada, or better still, are retained right here in London. All of which goes to indicate that perhaps the authorities of Western University Medical School have done their part in solving the problem now confronting Canada's leading educationalists.

Busy Bees!

SEE the pretty yellow posies spotting the lawns of the residences of London's citizens. See the busy bees flitting from flower to flower gathering nature's offering of nectar. Contentedly they murmur as they sip the sweetness of the blossoms and then speed away to store it for future use. We admire the bees and wonder at their tireless energy. If only humans were as industrious!

But here's another creature on the lawn. He's much bigger than a honey bee; bigger even than a bumble bee. Look, he smokes a pipe. He, too, flits, albeit rather clumsily, from flower to flower, partaking of nature's spring bounty like the bees. But, alas, each yellow posy he visits disappears on the instant. He leaves nothing for his colleagues, the bustling bees. And unlike a bee which carries sacks on its legs, this clumsy creature carries a market basket on his arm, into which the goodness of the yellow blossoms disappears.

Industrious bees; industrious man. Happily for them dandelions flourish by the myriads. Let the bees stock their hives with honey from the yellow store houses on the big lawn and let the man take away his basket laden to overflowing with blossoms plucked in their heyday; there will be plenty left to propagate next season's greens.

We know the motive that inspires the bees to fly from one yellow colony to another. But the man—that, mayhap, is another story.

A World of Barter.

ONE eminent Englishman has his own ideas about trading with Russia and is doing it in his own way. Yet not his own method entirely. He has taken a leaf from the record of the Hudson Bay Company. He is a trader. He has established a number of stores or posts. He has stocked them with the staple wares most desired by the Russians and he exchanges them for such articles as the Russian peasants can produce.

They are bringing out some of their ancient gold and some remarkable lace. They are finding articles of value that they did not know they had. This trader is extending his operations into other lands. What he gathers in Russia he exchanges for something else in Albania. He expects to girdle the globe. He says he can do business without much money and grow immensely wealthy while about it.

People want money mainly because they wish to buy something with it. If a man wants a saxophone and can get it by trading the old lawn mower for it he feels better than if he had had to work five days in order to get money enough to buy the jazz horn.

The exchange idea is the one that makes the world go 'round. This Englishman says he can barter the needs of the north against the desires of the south, and keep a regular caravan of merchandise in motion. He can trade the ice of Greenland against the gumdrops of the tropics.

It is in the matter of exchange that the joy of merchandising lies. Think of the joyous adventures that daily befall SOLOMON LEVINSKY, the peddler. There is a chance for a bargain at every door. Think of the ecstasy that comes when he has successfully negotiated the transfer of a nutmeg grater in exchange for an oil painting by LYDIA PINKHAM. There lies the relish of trade.

Look at the opportunities for barter offered in the advertising columns of the modern newspaper. When a man can swap something he doesn't want for something he wants but never expected to get at least two souls have been made happy.

LITTLE 'TISERS

A butcher is a claimant of the throne of the late Prince of Monaco. He ought to be an expert at fleecing the lambs that flock to his resort.

MARY ELLEN MACDONALD, the "heroine" of the Antigonish spook mystery, is going on the stage. Little Mary will now be more interested than ever in waiting for the ghost to walk.

A seasonable subject for debate is suggested by a Toronto paper: "Is it better to take summer holidays now and feel fit for the rest of the season, or to take them later and feel fit for fall and winter?" The man who goes early can spend the remainder of the summer telling about the fish he caught, but the man who waits can have months of anticipation regarding the fish he has yet to catch.

LEARN A WORD EVERY DAY

TODAY'S word is ESOTERIC. It's pronounced es-o-ter-ik, with the accent on the third syllable. Both e's and the i are short; the o is as the o in obey.

It means—intended for, and understood only by the initiated. It comes from a Greek word meaning "inner."

It's used like this—"Admittance could not be gained without knowledge of the esoteric phrase."

DR. BISHOP'S ADVICE

BEWARE CARBON GAS

YOU often read of someone being "knocked out" or killed by the fumes of an automobile in a closed garage. Such poisoning is called carbon monoxide poisoning. This sort of poisoning is one of the most frequent of industrial accidents. Nor is it always caused by the exhaust fumes of automobiles. Look out for the building having a leaky furnace or chimney or a gas stove without flue connection, such as tenement, tailor shop or boarding house. This warning will bear repeating:

READ YOUR CHARACTER

By Digby Phillips.

NO. 263—Selling the Thin Roman Nose.

In the preceding article it was shown that the way to sell to the man with the broad Roman nose is to show him a profit, to make your appeal in money values.

But how would you go about selling the chap with one of those thin Roman noses?

Well, as in the other case, you have to show him a profit. But not exactly the same kind. It may well be a money profit. The motive to buy may well be the same, but the motive back of the motive to buy will not.

Where the broad aquiline nose indicates the desire for profit more for the profit's sake, more for the principle of taking a profit and being successful, the thin aquiline nose indicates the profit more for the sake of power or power-building.

The thin aquiline nose indicates the man who lives to dominate. Try to twist your selling appeal around so as to show him the possibilities in it of increasing his power or domination, either over individuals or over a situation.

But don't make the mistake of instructing him. Rather, explain in such a way that he can draw the conclusions you want him to. For you must remember that with this spirit which is typical of him there goes a very active pride. He wants to dominate others, but he will rebel at any attempt you may make to dominate him into the purchase of your goods. True, he loves to argue and pit his will against another, but if you must argue with him, do so on something other than your proposition.

LENIN. By M. A. Landau-Aldanov.

Authorized translation from the French. New York: E. P. Dutton & Co., Publishers.

WHEN an attempt was made on the life of Nicholas Lenin, the Bolshevik premier, in 1918, a prominent professor of the Moscow University was taken from his home by a number of Red Guards, put into an automobile and driven at great speed through the streets of Moscow.

Finally he was brought to the room where Lenin lay wounded. The Bolshevik premier was perfectly calm when the physician arrived and while the operation was being performed. He remarked, with a wave of the hand:

"Now, I am just like a seagull that is shot down."

The operation was successful. Some of the bullets that penetrated Lenin's body were extracted. The physician visited the patient regularly at the Kremlin. Food was very scarce in those days in Moscow, and as winter was setting in the fuel crisis also grew acute. The professor and his wife were forced to exert all their ingenuity to procure sufficient food for themselves and wood to keep them from freezing.

One night the home of the professor was raided by Red Guards, and most of his belongings were seized. The professor continued to treat the premier to teach at the university, while contriving primitive ways and means to keep from starving and freezing.

One day Lenin remarked to the physician who saved his life:

"I understand that they have raided your house and taken your things away."

The professor said that his information was correct.

Lenin merely smiled and shrugged his shoulders as he added:

"Those scoundrels!"

He made no other comment, and never referred to this incident again.

When the professor visited Lenin for the last time and told him that he no longer required any medical attention, Lenin took a roll of banknotes from his pocket and offered it to the professor.

The professor declined, saying:

"Vladimir Ilyich, I cannot take any money from you." Then he added significantly, "I want to thank you for having recovered."

This incident is characteristic of the man at the helm in Russia since the overthrow of Kerensky.

It shows his calmness, his cynicism, his indifference, and his ingratitude even to the man who saved his life.

Mr. Landau-Aldanov, a Russian Socialist, has written a book on Lenin, analyzing Lenin the man, and Lenin the social philosopher and revolutionist.

In his preface the author says:

No man, not even Peter the Great, has had more influence on the destiny of my country than Lenin. No man, not even Nicholas II, has done it more harm.

Russia has given the world great geniuses and profound thinkers. In their effect on the western world not one of them has had an influence at all comparable to that of this doctrinaire, who is, perhaps, not even very intelligent. For this disconcerting situation to become a fact two world calamities were necessary—the war and the social revolution. They paved the way for the destroyers—the Ludendorfs and the Lenins.

While destroying some of the actions invented by Lenin's admirers to glorify him, Landau-Aldanov also disposes of the slander against Lenin that he was a paid agent of the Germans. He declares this rumor was absolutely false. He says that while Lenin did more for Germany by signing the Brest-Litovsk peace treaty than all the German agents put together, he never served Germany for the sake of serving Germany. He says that Lenin had always lived frugally, and that people who have known him intimately cannot point to a single indulgence to a single extravagance, habitual to him. He calls him "the Bolshevik who remained poor," and who is generally admired for his scrupulous honesty. He adds, however, that Socialists who have always been the first to recognize his personal disinterestedness are almost unanimously against him. Lenin would stop at nothing if he considered it beneficial to the revolution. The author then points out that if the German archives contained any documents that could compromise Lenin in this direction the German Socialists would not have spared their most dangerous adversary.

Being consistent. He attacked Kerensky for applying the death penalty at the front to maintain discipline, and yet several months later thousands of people were put to death under the Lenin regime.

Another peculiarity about Lenin is that while he is known to be absolutely honest himself he has often surrounded himself with the worst characters. The author mentions the case of Malinovsky, a member of the Bolshevik party and Lenin's intimate friend, who was at the same time connected with the Czar's secret police department, even while he was a member of the Duma representing the Social Democrats.

POWERS UNITE TO DEAL WITH RUSSIAN ISSUE

European Delegates Will Maintain Solid Front At Hague Conference.

ADOPT NO DEFINITE PLAN

Soviet Ready To Make Concessions For New Railroad Lines.

THE HAGUE, July 10.—The European delegates, under instructions from their governments, decided this afternoon to adopt a united front on all questions before the Russian conference, more particularly, on the treatment of confiscated property.

No definite line of action has been agreed upon; this includes the putting of specific questions to the Russian delegates relative to the restitution of property, on which their attitude is declared to be unsatisfactory. Upon the answers depend whether the conference can continue.

France's delegates say there is no question of their withdrawing for the present. Sir Philip Lloyd George, head of the British delegation, said tonight:

"We must bring about a settlement, or failing that, must obtain a complete exposition of the facts as to why a settlement is impossible. Obviously we cannot continue indefinitely, and there are issues on property on which we cannot procrastinate."

Russia is ready to grant concessions for new railroad lines and 4,000,000 hectares of land (9,850,000 acres) for agriculture, it was announced by the Russian delegates.

This statement apparently was drawn out by the declarations in this morning's Paris newspapers that the withdrawal of the French representatives from The Hague conference today was probable, owing to the attitude of the Russians, and that instructions sent to the French delegates yesterday by Premier Poincaré supported this assertion.

There was no need of any definite instructions from Paris if the French delegates at The Hague should find their presence there no longer useful, said the foreign office announcement.

FRENCH EXPERTS INSTRUCTED.

PARIS, July 10.—The French experts at The Hague are at complete liberty to return to Paris at any time they are convinced they are no longer able to do useful work there, it was announced at the foreign office today, but they have not yet informed the government that they had given up hope of co-operative work with the commissions dealing with the Russian problem.

PLAN TO INSTRUCT FARM EMIGRANTS

LONDON, July 10.—(By Canadian Press Cable).—Sir Arthur Griffith Boscawen, minister of agriculture, stated in the House of Commons Monday afternoon that the government in co-operation with the government in its operation of testing the suitability of prospective emigrants to the overseas dominions means for short courses giving rudimentary agricultural instructions were now being considered.

Princess Mary is expected to give two formal receptions in the course of the present season.

Aged Peer Insists Cattle Embargo Bans Disease Epidemic in Britain

LONDON, July 10.—Determined to take no second place, the House of Lords will stage a full-dress debate on the cattle embargo on Wednesday, thus forestalling the House of Commons by a fortnight.

Viscount Chaplin, aged ex-minister of agriculture, will open the debate with what the Times calls a curious worded motion in favor of continuance of the embargo. He attributes the agitation to Lord Beaverbrook and others by name. Specifically, he repeats the suggestion that disease is importable from or through Canada.

The Marquis of Lincolnshire, another ex-minister of agriculture, will take up the challenge and is to move an amendment demanding fulfillment of the pledge of 1917. Lord Lincolnshire, although himself a farmer, will deliberately avoid the issue as to whether the embargo is good, bad or indifferent for British farming interests.

MOTORIST KILLED WHEN C. P. R. TRAIN STRIKES CAR

TORONTO, July 10.—Darrell Gregg was instantly killed, and Edward Moncino was fatally injured, when a Canadian Pacific Railway express train crashed into an automobile at a level crossing in Mount Dennis this afternoon. The car was hurled 100 feet, and Gregg was thrown 50 feet farther.

Moncino, the driver of the car, was rushed in an ambulance to the Western Hospital, but died shortly after being admitted.

Gregg was an employee of the Canadian Kodak Company's works, and was to have been married in three weeks. He was on his way from the factory when the accident happened. He had arranged with Moncino, a jitney driver, to meet him an hour before the regular time to go home.

Duke of Leinster Plans Race Across Atlantic.

LONDON, July 10.—The Duke of Leinster, who last week won a $15,000 bet by driving an automobile from London to Aberdeen in 14 1/2 hours, hopes to attempt a great transatlantic race, under novel conditions.

When questioned on the subject the duke replied: "My next wager has nothing to do with road motoring, and is not for money—something better. Details are not yet settled, but you may soon hear of a race across the Atlantic, not by air, but single-handed by sea, in a ketch."

CLAIMS LENINE SCORNS TO REST

German Specialist Fears Russian Premier's Stand Will Cost Him Life.

Bolshevik Leader Unable To Concentrate Mentally Without Headaches.

BERLIN, July 10.—An authentic, non-sensational, but by no means optimistic, report on the condition of Premier Lenine of Russia was given by Prof. Klemperer, German specialist, upon his return today from the second consultation on Lenine's case in Moscow.

The physician denied reports that Lenine was suffering the consequences of an old personal disease, progressive paralysis, tuberculosis of the spinal marrow, effects of wounds, etc., but phrased his diagnosis in scarcely encouraging words by saying the reports that the Russian premier's condition was hopeless, "were exaggerated."

The specialist declares there was a chance of his recovery if he took several months of absolute rest, but Lenine refused to do this, saying it was impossible to abandon work entirely even for a prescribed time. His ailment, in simple words, is due to overwork and nervous exhaustion caused by his unremitting activities in the last 30 years, complicated by recent intestinal poisoning.

He is fully conscious and able to walk and converse intelligently, but unable to read or concentrate mentally without immediately succumbing to severe headaches. Doctors, therefore, have forbidden him to read or talk through the telephone and

ALLOW TEACHERS TO BOB THEIR HAIR

Toronto Trustees Refuse To Take Action Against Women.

TORONTO, June 10. — Toronto school teachers may bob their hair if they choose to wear it that way. Toronto trustees are not so hard up for something to worry about that they want to get excited about how a school ma'am wears her locks.

Other cities may agitate themselves over the bobbed hair style, may threaten to fire teachers and nurses from their positions for adopting the new fashion, but Toronto—never. Nothing doing. The trustees refuse to bite.

"It's a matter of personal liberty," opined Trustee John Wanless today that a girl wear her hair in the way that best becomes her. Let her dress well too. I like to see a teacher neat in her attire, and as for her hands and hair and shoes. She is an example to the children. Let every girl teacher be a lady."

Trustee McClelland, with Solomon wisdom, refrained from expressing any opinion on bobbed hair. But he did say this: "I believe that our teachers are too sane and sensible to go to extremes. We have very few that might be called flappers." He did not think the board would excite itself over the issue.

However, the fact is that quite a number of the teachers have already bobbed their hair. They are mostly of the younger girls. They deem it their right to do so. And officers of the teachers' associations are inclined to back them up.

"It's a clean and cool way to wear the hair," said Charles E. Fraser, principal of Manning Avenue School and president of the Toronto Teachers' Council. "It may look rather new to us, but so did the short skirts at one time, and nobody worries over them now. The bobbed hair cut seems to be sanitary and comfortable in summer. So long as a girl is modest and decent in her dress there's no need to interfere with her. There are some men who would give 5 cents to a preacher to save souls, $5 to a doctor to save bodies, and $50 to a lawyer to have their own way. It's the same way with some official bodies that strain at the gnat and swallow a camel. They do some foolish things in the United States and this row about the way the girls cut their hair seems to be one of them."

LONDON GIRL VISITS THEATRE IN SHANGHAI

Sees China's Leading Actor, With $300 Hair-Dressing Play.

WOMEN BEJEWELLED

Whole Audience Sits and Eats Joyously All Through Performance.

Did you ever picture the Chinese theatre in its own country as a place attended by beautifully-gowned, perfectly-groomed and wonderfully-coiffed Chinese women, ablaze with jewels?

Did you ever in your wildest dreams imagine any one cheerfully paying $300 a day for hair-dressing?

These are things which a brilliantly-gifted young Canadian-American writer, who has been visiting in Shanghai, China, for several months, Miss Betty D. Thornley of New York, tells about in a letter received Monday by her mother, Mrs. May R. Thornley of this city. The Saturday before writing she had the privilege of attending the leading theatre of Shanghai, when the most noted actor of China, Mei Lan Fan, was playing thanks to the hospitality of a box offered by the rich patient of a clever young Chinese woman doctor, Dr. Phoebe Stone, with whom she has become acquainted during her stay.

In the course of her interesting and amusing description of the theatre, Miss Thornley says: "I hardly think the opera of New York would show any more diamonds than that Shanghai audience. The women positively glittered. Most of them wear orchids in their hair, not arranged in half-moon shape on little silver frames. These orchids are cream-colored, and smell rather like Easter lilies. They look beautiful against the silky, sleek black hair that has taken some poor anah two hours to do.

"By the way, speaking of hair 'do's', it costs Mei Lan Fan $300 to have his done every night."

He was recently offered a fabulous sum to go to America, but he thinks we are a barbarous people, and he couldn't get all the comforts of a home, so he won't accept.

His headquarters is Peking, but he also plays in Shanghai and Canton every year, and the people bow down before him, so why should he worry about foreigners? He takes women's parts, and is supposed to be perfectly lovely, and he certainly seemed so to me, only that, to the western mind, there is something upsetting in a pretty man."

Continuing, Miss Thornley tells of his exquisitely graceful dancing and his singing in a high, falsetto voice, like a bird call. "His wife," she adds, "is wildly jealous of his being looked at by other ladies, and has recently taken on the job of doing his $300 hair."

He is 29, I wonder what he'll do when he grows up. He is an old woman! However, it may not matter after all. Half the actors wear masks. There were six of the most ferocious, ugly fairies from hell, as the Chinese ladies next me called them. Mei Lan Fan was a fairy from heaven, she said.

With regard to the Chinese theatre, "The performance begins at 9 and ends at 1 o'clock. Generally there are three plays the same night. We did not arrive until 10:30 o'clock, and stayed until the conclusion. "Every box in the theatre has a sort of shelf running along in front of it, and in the little tables are placed a tea pot and cup, fruit cakes and melon seeds. The whole audience sits and eats joyously all through the performance. The actors don't mind, though, and every time one of them gets thirsty a stage hand brings him a cup of tea. He pauses, drinks it calmly, and goes on with his part.

"The Chinese stage is certainly strange to our eyes. All the action takes place on a huge rug in the centre. To the left sits the orchestra. Beside and across from it are chairs and benches, where the real enthusiasts pay $5 to be very uncomfortable during the evening. They can hear every word which anybody else can, owing to the orchestra and the restauranty goings-on."

That Acrobatic Hero!

The scene shifters stay on the stage at the back all the time. When the hero and robber band go into the latter's castle the scene shifter just sets up a silk curtain and two poles, and the crowd walks through it. When the hero climbs over the city wall at night they bring out the most ornamental tea table and two chairs, one of which goes beside the table and one on top. The hero hops up, stands on his head on the highest chair, turns a graceful somersault, dropping on the other side. The audience understands perfectly he has climbed the wall.

"When the crowd of warriors gallop in on their horses the actors prance in on their own feet, each carrying a most decorative wand with bunches of horse hair on it. The emperor's horse, stealing of which by the robbers forms the whole base of one play, is represented by extra long wand, with extra beautiful bunches of horse hair and a scarlet ribbon.

When the warriors were supposed to travel on wheelbarrows (the popular means of conveyance) the warriors walked in, preceded by coolies in black, each carrying two yellow flags, held horizontally. On each flag was a conventionalized wheel drawn in red. Really, it is all most interesting, even if you cannot get the whole."

Miss Thornley expects to sail for Canada on Saturday, July 15, and will pay a visit to her mother in London before returning to work in New York. She will be here the latter part of August.

A charming feature of the afternoon was the presentation of a life membership certificate to Mrs. Shosenberg, who has been treasurer of the circle for the past eight years.

The presentation was made by Miss Cameron, and in a short address Mrs. N. S. McKechnie expressed the regret of the circle upon losing such a valuable member.

FIRE DESTROYS STORES OF PULP AT QUEBEC MILL

Loss Estimated at $1,000,000 in Chicoutimi Blaze.

CHICOUTIMI, Que., July 10.—Fire, which raged all Saturday morning and until late Sunday night and smouldered until late today, has destroyed a huge store of "mechanical pulp" in the yards of the Chicoutimi Pulp Company, Port Alfred, entailing a loss estimated by officials of the company at $1,000,000.

Forty thousand tons of pulp were destroyed. The loss is fully covered by insurance. The fire was discovered at 10:30 Saturday morning, and a strong wind fanned the flames until there was no hope of extinguishing them. Staff fight saved the sawmill belonging to the company, as well as a warehouse holding some 8,000 tons of sulphite pulp. The destroyed plant had a large producing capacity, an average of 900 tons of pulp being prepared there daily.

FOREST FIRES IN WEST STILL RAGE

In the Terrace Lake area there are many fires, but these are not serious, and are under control, according to Mr. Manning.

WANT HENSTOLAY 365 EGGS YEARLY

OTTAWA, July 10.—A Canadian hen which will lay 365 eggs per year is the aim which Dr. J. S. Grisdale, deputy minister of agriculture, placed before a largely-attended poultrymen's meeting here Saturday.

Already Canada had produced hens which could lay 325 eggs in the twelve months' period, he pointed out. Dr. Grisdale declared that housewives were becoming more and more discriminating in buying eggs, hence the need for better grading laws, which would shortly be enacted.

SCARAMOUCHE

by Rafael Sabatini

ONE morning in August the academy in the Rue du Hasard was invaded by Le Chapelier accompanied by a man of remarkable appearance, whose herculean stature and disfigured countenance seemed vaguely familiar to Andre.

Le Chapelier, whose manner was very grave, named him to Andre as M. Danton, a brother-in-law, President of the Cordeliers, of whom you will have heard.

Of course, Andre-Louis had heard of him. Who had not, by then? Le Chapelier proceeded. "It is open war between the Third Estate and the Privileged."

"Was it every anything else?"

"Perhaps not; but it has assumed a new character. You'll have heard of the duel between Lameth and the Duc de Castries?"

"A trifling affair."

"In its results. But it might have been far other. Mirabeau is challenged and insulted now at every sitting. But he goes his way, coldly, bloodlessly, wisely. Others are not so circumspect; they meet insult with insult, blow with blow, and blood is being shed in private duels. The thing is reduced by these swordsmen of nobility to a system."

Andre-Louis nodded. He was thinking of Philippe de Vilmoren. "Yes," he said, "it is an old trick of theirs. It is so simple and direct—like themselves. I wonder only that they didn't hit upon this system sooner."

"But they mean to make up for lost time—sacred name!" cried Danton. "Challenges are flying right and left between these bully-swordsmen, these spadassinoids, and poor devils of the robe who have never learnt to fence anything but a quill. It's just—murder."

Said Danton: "Between us we must resolve the riddle of how to extinguish M. de La Tour d'Azyr and his friends."

"Who?"

"Sharp as a pistol-shot came that question, as Danton was turning away. The tone of it brought him up short. He turned again. Le Chapelier was with him.

"I said M. de La Tour d'Azyr."

"And it is La Tour d'Azyr you desire me to kill?" asked Andre-Louis very slowly, after the manner of one whose thoughts are meanwhile pondering the subject.

"That's it," said Danton. "And a Canoe, a Head of Hair and Two Girls."

A man took two girls on the river in a canoe. Pretty girls, both of them; yet all the while the man's eyes lingered

On only one of them, On the one with the lovely hair.

There is something about a head of rich, radiant hair

That makes a man—yes, And another woman—look twice. Presently the pretty girl said to the prettier girl

With the lovely hair: "How ever do you keep your hair so wonderful and fluffy?"

With a soft laugh came the reply: "Oh, I see you have never used Dr. Du-Maurier's Hair Tonic.

Or you would not ask that question."

That Was Two Summers Ago. A few days ago both girls were married—

A double affair, you know— Both looked exquisitely pretty, and both HAD LOVELY HAIR.

not a job for a prentice hand, I can assure you."

"Ah, but this alters things," said Andre-Louis, thinking aloud. "It offers a great temptation."

Le Chapelier and Danton exchanged glances, then watched him, waiting, what time he considered.

He turned to them again, and they saw that he was very pale, that his great dark eyes glowed oddly.

"There will probably be some difficulty in finding a suppliant for this poor Lagron," he said. "Our fellow-countrymen will be none so eager to offer themselves to the swords of Privilege."

"True enough," said Le Chapelier gloomily; and then, as if suddenly leaping to the thing in Andre-Louis' mind: "Andre," he cried, "Would you . . . ?"

"It is what I was considering. It would give me a legitimate place in the Assembly. If your Tour d'Azyr chooses to seek me out then, why, their blood be upon their own heads. I shall certainly do nothing to discourage them." He smiled curiously.

"I am just a rascal who tries to be honest—Scaramouche always, in fact; a creature for sophistries."

CHAPTER VI

AFTER an absence of rather more than a week, M. le Marquis de La Tour d'Azyr was back in his place on the Cote Droit of the National Assembly.

"M. Andre-Louis Moreau, deputy suppliant, vice Emmanuel Lagron, deceased, for Andens in the Department of the Loire."

M. de La Tour d'Azyr shook himself out of the gloomy abstraction in which he had sat. The successor of the deputy he had slain must, in any event, be an object of grim interest to him. That interest was heightened when he heard him named, when, looking across, he recognized indeed in this Andre-Louis Moreau the young scoundrel who was continually crossing his path, continually exerting against him a deep-moving, sinister influence to make him regret that he should have spared his life that day at Gavrilac two years ago.

He looked at the young man in wonder rather than in anger, and looking at him he was filled by a vague, almost a premonitory, uneasiness.

At the very outset, the presence which in itself he conceived to be a challenge was to demonstrate itself for this in no equivocal terms.

"I come before you," Andre-Louis began, "as a deputy-suppliant to fill the place of one who was murdered some three weeks ago."

It was a challenging opening that instantly provoked an indignant outcry from the Blacks. Andre-Louis paused, and looked at them, smiling a little, a singularly self-confident young man.

The gentleman of the Right, M. le President, do not appear to like my words. But that is not surprising. The gentlemen of the Right notoriously do not like the truth."

This time there was uproar. The members of the Left roared with laughter, those of the Right thundered menacingly.

Above the general din came the voice of La Tour d'Azyr, who had half-risen from his seat: "Mountebank! This is not the theater!"

"No, monsieur, it is becoming a hunting-ground for bully-swordsmen," was the answer, and the uproar grew.

Gradually the uproar wore itself out, and diminished so that at last the President could make himself heard. Leaning forward, he gravely addressed the young man in the tribune:

"Monsieur, if you wish to be heard, let me beg of you not to be provocative in your language. And then to the others: 'Messieurs, if we are to proceed, I beg that you will restrain your feelings until the deputy-sup-pleant has concluded his discourse."

"I shall endeavor to obey, M. le President, leaving provocation to the gentlemen of the Right. But it was necessary that I should refer to the distinguished deputy whose place I come so unworthily to fill, and it was unavoidable that I should refer to the event which has procured us this sad necessity. The deputy Lagron possessed what his opponents would call a dangerous gift of eloquence."

La Tour d'Azyr writhed at the well-known phrase—his own phrase—the phrase that he had used to explain his action in the matter of Philippe de Vilmoren, the phrase that from time to time had been cast in his teeth with such vindictive menace.

Solemnly he proceeded: "You all know how Lagron died. I trust, for the sake of those who might attempt it, that the means taken to impose sentence upon that eloquent voice will not be taken to impose silence upon mine."

There was a faint murmur of applause from the Left, a splutter of contemptuous laughter from the Right.

"Rhodomont!" a voice called to him.

He looked in the direction of that voice, proceeding from the group of spadassins amid the Blacks. Inaudibly his lips answered:

"No, my friend—Scaramouche; Scaramouche, the subtle, dangerous fellow who goes tortuously to his ends." Aloud, he resumed: "M. le President, there are some who want, it seems, not laws, but blood; I solemnly warn them that this blood will end by choking them."

Again in that phrase there was something that stirred a memory in La Tour d'Azyr. He turned in the fresh uproar to speak to his cousin Chabrilane who sat beside him.

"A daring rogue, this bastard of Gavrilac," said he.

Chabrilane looked at him with gleaming eyes, his face white with anger.

"Let him talk himself out. I don't think he will be heard again after today. Leave this to me."

Hardly could La Tour have told why, but he sank back in his seat with a sense of relief.

Meanwhile, leaving now the subject of the death of Lagron, the deputy-suppliant was speaking upon the question under debate. His speech on the subject was very brief—that being the pretext and not the purpose for which he had ascended the tribune.

When later he was leaving the hall at the end of the sitting, with Le Chapelier at his side, he found himself densely surrounded by deputies as by a body-guard. Most of them were Bretons, who aimed at poisoning him from the provocations which his own provocative words in the Assembly could not fail to bring down upon his head.

Emerging now into the open, under the great awning, those in front of him dispersed a little, and there was a moment as he reached the limit of the awning when his front was entirely uncovered. Outside the rain was falling heavily, churning the ground into thick mud.

The watchful Chabrilane had seen his chance. Rudely, violently, he thrust Andre-Louis back, as if to make room for himself under the shelter.

Forecasts Styles Fall and Winter Will Bring

BEGIN now to get ready for your fall and winter personality.

Since gowns no longer fit the body, they simply must fit the mind. There must be a secret agreement somewhere.

Your mental attitude will determine whether you are in harmony with your clothes or if you are striking discords.

Clothes for this winter are rich, elegant and regal. To wear them properly you must look as if you felt that way, no matter what sylvan-like proportions the family wallet may have attained.

The best anti-flapper propaganda I know of is being sent over now from Paris in the form of exquisitely feminine gowns, the very latest work in beauty and luxury.

I saw some of the new Adair creations being unwrapped. Let me assure you that the talk about the longer skirt is not mere idle gossip. Afternoon and evening gowns are down very near the ankles.

The fashionable hemline, however, is broken by draperies and loose panels.

Materials are very rich. Velvet was once quite splendid enough without trimming, now it is embroidered and beaded in the most gorgeous colors.

The silhouette remains practically the same. The waistline is low. While the general straight-line policy is followed, it allows all sorts of variation.

Fronts and backs are usually plain, save for embroidery or beading, but nearly every frock has a side trimming of some sort.

The sleeveless frock is still fashionable, but is no longer in an undisputed position. There are close-fitting elbow sleeves on some frocks, and gracefully draped effects on others.

Many frocks are carried out entirely in one tone. Unrelieved red, yellow, green or flame color is most striking. Black gowns are apt to be relieved by touches of gorgeous color.

If, by any chance, you are dieting, keep up the good work. The fewer excess pounds, you have now, the less work is ahead of you.

Meatless Platter Dinner

ONE peck spinach
12 new carrots
6 hard cooked eggs
2 cups white sauce
½ cup grated cheese

Wash and cook the spinach in just enough water to keep it from burning. Add to it one-eighth teaspoon baking soda. 2 teaspoons salt. Cook from 20 to 30 minutes, drain, chop and season with butter, salt and pepper. Pack into a pan or bowl, and keep hot over water until ready to serve.

Scrape the carrots. Wash and cook in a very little water until tender, adding one teaspoon salt. When carrots are tender there should not be more than a tablespoon of water in the kettle. Add two tablespoons sugar and two tablespoons butter and cook in this syrup until slightly browned.

Cook the eggs in hot water, which does not boil, 40 minutes, shell and keep hot.

Make the white sauce, using three tablespoons butter, four tablespoons flour, one-half teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper and two cups milk. Cook until smooth and thick, add cheese and cook until cheese has melted.

On a large platter, in the center turn out the spinach. Pour around the sauce, at regular spaces place the eggs, and in between the eggs place two carrots which have been left whole. Serve some spinach, one egg, two carrots and sauce to each person. French fried potatoes are a good accompaniment. This recipe will serve five.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

How Phil Frog Stole Doctor's Pullers

[By Olive Roberts Barton.]

He grabbed them in his mouth and made a big dive into Ripple Creek.

"OW, OH, OUCH," Marty Mink was yelling when Dr. Snuffles and the Twins knocked on his front door. "Doctor? C-c-come on in."

The three of them walked into Marty's muddle halfway. Marty, you know, lives on the bank of Ripple Creek, or rather in it.

Before Nancy had time to close the door, Phil Frog put his toe in the crack.

"Hey!" he cried. "You don't mind if I come, too, do you?"

"What do you want to come for, Phil?" asked Nick. "Of course, you're safe as long as Marty has a fish-bone in his throat because he can't eat anything."

"But he hasn't had a meal for hours and hours, and the minute Dr. Snuffles pulls out the fishbone Marty will begin to look for something to eat. And he likes frogs better than anything."

Phil grinned.

"Yes, that's so," he agreed. "But I'm curious. I'd like to see how you pull out fish-bones."

"Well, come along, then," said Nick.

"Ow, oh, ouch," moaned Marty. Dr. Snuffles took out his pincers and was just going to pull out the bone when Phil gave a quick jump with his strong hind legs and knocked the pullers out of the fairman's hand, grabbed them in his mouth, and made a big dive into Ripple Creek.

"I'm not going to run any risk of Mr. Mint choking on a frog bone, anyway," grinned Phil.

LIMIT DUCK BAG TO 25 EACH DAY

Revisions To Game Laws
Affect Limit of Bass and Trout Takings.

According to revisions made in the Ontario game and fishery laws up to June 22, the bag limits now permit the hunter to kill only 25 ducks per day with a limit to 200 per season. Since duck with duck hunting often goes in streaks this new provision will affect many duck hunters who while not securing the allowed amount per season will not be permitted by law to kill any more than 25 per day. Ten ruffed grouse are allowed during the season. A revision has been made regarding the bagging limit which provides that eight grouse and small mouth bass may be taken in one day and must be not less than ten inches in length. No more than ten pounds of speckled and brown trout may be taken and no greater number than 20, though such number weigh less than ten pounds. Such fish must be more than seven inches in length.

Following are other provisions:

"City of White Tops" Brings Joy To London Tomorrow

A CITY with a city comes to London tomorrow for a one-day stop—a city which has a population of some 1,500 people, more than 700 horses, caravans of camels, herds of elephants, families of giraffes and countless other specimens of wild animal life.

It will come to London upon its own four special trains of 100 double-length cars, all loaded to the very brim.

This "City of White Tops," which flits about the country, has its own postmaster, garage, physician, lawyer, drug store, detectives, barber shop, wheelwright and blacksmith shops, and all the other things that go with a well-regulated community.

It is an itinerant affair that for the greater part of a season visits a new town each day and detains, erects its canvas city, delights multitudes, and then entrains and skips away to other towns and cities, there to repeat the operation.

Reference is, of course, made to the combined Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey circus, which will tomorrow keep open house in London, with performances at 2 and 5 p.m., doors being opened at 1 and 7 p.m. It will be the show's first visit here since the world's two greatest circuses were combined into one gigantic exhibition.

Largest Circus Ever.

It is a far cry back to the circuses of boyhood days from this super-circus formed through the present coalition, and while statistics don't mean much, it is enough to say that this enormous amusement enterprise is altogether the largest circus ever devised.

Many a staid citizen is already turning back the pages of memory to a long ago boyhood, when the circus was the biggest thing in life, and the privilege of carrying water to the large and apparently hollow elephants was an honor not lightly to be thrust aside.

The coming of the circus reminds many an oldster of the hard, dressing in the semi-darkness—the tip-toeing down the front stairs, and the run to the railroad yards, where the red and yellow trains were "spotted" when the circus came to town. In those days the circus carried, perhaps, a half dozen mangy elephants; tomorrow's circus brings over thirty of the bulky creatures, with all else in like proportion.

"Bigness" is the keynote throughout. Thirty tents of varying size are erected to house the enterprise, the biggest of these, the main tent, or "big top," seating 15,000 people. The increased size of this circus has meant the elimination of the street parade, every ounce of horse and man power now being required to get the circus installed and ready for its two daily performances.

First Visit in Nine Years.

This being the first visit in some nine years practically all of the show will be new to local patrons. First and foremost come the trained and animal acts presented within three enormous steel arenas. These include two groups of Polar bears; two of lions; one of leopards; one of tigers and black panthers, and one of huge Siberian tigers. These will be presented by their European trainers, including two women—Mabel Stark, a Canadian girl, who puts the panthers and tigers through their paces, while Olga Bondi, a pretty Swedish girl, makes answerable to her slightest command and wish a group of little leopards.

John Acce, Rudolph Mayer and Manuel Herzog, accounted Europe's foremost horse trainers, will introduce not less than 100 superbly trained stallions, whose performance constitute one of the gems of the entire program.

Other animal numbers include bears who ride bikes and skid around on roller skates as capably as any

FINES TWO FOR SELLING LIQUOR

Magistrate Graydon Imposes
$500 Penalties On London Citizens.

Case Against Nathan Goldberg Adjourned Until Tuesday Morning.

Two Londoners, Mrs. Arthur Taylor and Fred Maul, were fined $500 and costs each by Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon in police court Monday afternoon on charges of selling liquor illegally, after the magistrate had heard evidence presented by three special O. T. A. enforcement officers who are operating in this district.

Grant Fielding, William White and William Simons, the officers from Toronto, told of visiting Mrs. Taylor's home on Central avenue two weeks ago Sunday and buying six drinks for $5.

According to Mrs. Taylor and two men, W. J. Wilson and Leslie Harrison, who were at the house waiting for her husband to come home the three officers came to the door and were refused admission. Both men stated they knew Simons to see him, but were not positive as to the identity of the other two officers.

Mrs. Taylor claimed she told the three strangers that she did not keep liquor at the house.

Fred Maul was boarding at 235 Clarence street when White, Simons and other men arrived to buy drinks. He admitted he received $3 from them, but declared he did not serve drinks. This, however, did not save him, for a $500 fine was imposed.

A second charge which had been laid against him was withdrawn when a conviction was registered.

Officers obtained the name of the proprietor of the house, Austin Melkie, in police court, and it is probable a charge will be laid against him also.

The case against Nathan Goldberg, who is also charged with selling liquor, was adjourned until Tuesday morning, as the case against Charles Cox, which was heard early in the afternoon, is said to be closely allied with the one against Goldberg.

Judgment in the case of Sade Sig-kind, who was also charged with being a bootlegger, and who has been convicted twice previously, once in 1917, and once in 1918, will be given Tuesday morning.

Cruelty to animals' cases featured the Monday afternoon sitting of the county court, presided over by Magistrate Hawkshaw. Gordon Wade of London was fined $5 and costs for allowing one of his horses to be used for hauling gravel while it had a sore on its neck.

George Tustin, humane society officer, laid the information.

H. B. Wheeler of London was charged with a breach of the criminal code similar to that of Wade. Insufficient evidence was produced, however, to show that the horse was not in a condition fit to be worked, and so the case was dismissed.

N. Weekes appeared for the defendant, W. B. Henderson of Judd & Henderson prosecuted.

George Hicks of Lambeth was the third to appear, charged with cruelty to animals. Like the other two cases, a horse with a sore on its neck was the cause of the accused's appearance. A conviction was registered, and a fine of $5 and costs imposed.

Melville McDougal of Broughdale appeared charged with carrying weapons without a permit. No evidence was adduced to show that the weapon had been carried recently by McDougal, as required for a conviction in the law on the matter, and McDougal was dismissed. His revolver, however, which is a large one of Belgian make and a souvenir of the war, was confiscated until a permit could be secured.

Magistrate Hawkshaw, in rendering his decision, said that the carrying of such a weapon might be all right in Texas, but it was hardly proper in Broughdale. The information in the case was laid by Provincial Officer E. Palmer.

H. B. Kallister of Manor Park was charged with shooting domestic pigeons. When the case was about to begin it was brought to the attention of the magistrate that in such charges the information had to be laid by the owner of the pigeons. There being no owner on hand the case was dropped.

out of $8,725,055 of claims filed against German debtors by Canadian creditors, only $364,488 have been admitted by the German government.

So great has become the difficulty in getting action by Germany that the deputy custodian of enemy property in Canada, Thomas Mulvey, K.C., is proceeding to England to expedite the settlement of claims. Mr. Mulvey is being accompanied by O. M. Biggar, K.C., who has been appointed an officer for the purpose by order-in-council. DRIVER OF BUS STRICKEN, BUT AVERTS CATASTROPHE

Welland Man Suffers Stroke—Stops Car Before Becoming Unconscious.

WELLAND, July 10.—A catastrophe was averted by some providential warning and the presence of mind and devotion to duty of Robert Phillips, driver of the Welland-Port Colborne bus, of which P. S. Peacock of this city is the proprietor. The bus left Port Colborne this morning. When nearing Ramsey's Bend the two passengers in the bus noticed the driver appeared to be in some difficulty and was shutting off his engine and applying the brakes. This done, he pitched forward upon the wheel as the car came to a standstill.

The passengers found him unconscious. H. R. Hadden, passing in his car, stopped to investigate, and then drove the bus into the city, where Phillips was taken to the residence of Mr. Peacock, and medical aid summoned. The physician pronounced it a stroke, and the unfortunate man was later removed to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Charles Brown.

DELAY PASSING OF TARIFF MEASURE

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 10.—(By Canadian Press.)—Evidence is increasing daily that the tariff bill will be delayed after the November election. Senate Republicans, who talked frankly about the difficulties of the bill, today said that it was doubtful whether it could be passed before October, and that they were apprehensive of the political results for the Republican party if the measure were permitted to go into effect before the elections.

CAR TURNS OVER, MUD SAVES BABY

Son of William Duff Buried in Ditch in Lambton Wreck.

Special to London Advertiser.
PORT LAMBERTON, July 10.—What is considered a miraculous escape from death or serious injury was experienced on Friday by William Duff of Beecher and his little son Joe.

While driving his car on the Lambton line Mr. Duff's attention was attracted when his 2-year-old son leaped out and called his father's attention to another car coming. When reaching out to prevent the boy from falling from the car, he gave the steering wheel a turn, sending the car over a nine-foot embankment into soft mud at the bottom of the ditch.

Mr. Duff crawled from underneath the car and found his son deeply embedded in the mud, with only his face visible.

The little fellow was extricated from his perilous position and removed to the home of John Harley, where it was found that he was not seriously hurt, having only a few minor bruises on his body.

Mr. Duff was out considerably with glass from the windshield, which was demolished as the car turned completely over, smashing the top.

TERRIFIC WINDSTORM STRIKES SARNIA DISTRICT

Smashes Plate Glass Window in Cafe and Carries Away
Signboards.

Special to London Advertiser.
SARNIA, July 10.—A violent wind and rainstorm struck the city and district at 7 o'clock Monday evening, springing up with great suddenness from the west. The wind assumed almost hurricane proportions for a few minutes, the first gust blowing out the plate glass window of the Patricia Cafe on Front street, and playing havoc with signboards.

Out on the St. Clair River ferries pitched and tossed in the squall, which disappeared almost as rapidly as it came up. There was probably more rain in ten minutes this evening than in the previous five weeks in Lambton County, and it never came at a more badly-needed time. No reports of any damage at country points have been received. The windstorm was followed by an electrical disturbance.

WOODSTOCK G.W.V.A.

Special to London Advertiser.

WOODSTOCK, July 10.—At the meeting of the city council held Monday night it was decided to hold over the proposed grant of $300 to the G. W. V. A. for further consideration.

At a meeting of the finance committee held last Friday it had been recommended that this grant be made, but since then conflicting reports have been received from members of the organization, and it was decided to investigate the matter further before taking definite action.

A large deputation of ratepayers was on hand complaining about water flooding their cellars every time a storm came along, and the board of works was instructed to give the complaint immediate attention.

The question of the erection of a gasolene tank for the storage of gasolene was given some discussion. Ald. Murray, chairman of a special committee appointed to confer with the manufacturers who had objected to the erection of such tanks by the Pure Gasolene Company of Toronto, reported that the fire marshal's department had been notified that tanks were to be placed underground, and that ended the complaint. The suggestion of the fire marshal that Woodstock pass a bylaw dealing with the storage of gasolene was not accepted, it being felt wiser to wait for provincial legislation on the matter.

The council adjourned for their summer vacation, and will not meet again for two months, unless for special purposes.

Doctors Report Condition of Samuel Fischman Considerably Improved.

Special to London Advertiser.

KITCHENER, July 10.—Samuel Fischman, the 11-year-old son of Max Fischman, who was killed Sunday afternoon when his motor car went into the ditch on the Bridgeport road, just outside of Bridgeport, is still living and showing signs of recovery.

His condition as reported at the Kitchener-Waterloo Hospital late Monday afternoon was favorable. The boy's skull was severely fractured, but it was possible, by a surgical operation, to relieve the pressure on the brain. The father was buried with the rites of the Jewish Church, to which he belonged, Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

The funeral was held at Schreier's undertaking rooms, and burial was made at the Jewish Cemetery here. The obsequies were attended by a delegation of Kitchener and Waterloo manufacturers, and also by a number of allied trades, with which Mr. Fischman was connected.

GRAND GRANT TO FEDERAL AND COMMERCIAL SMALL DEMAND FOR RASPBERRIES

Black Variety Sells Best at 20 to 25 Cents Per Box.

Special to London Advertiser.

Tuesday was the big day for black raspberries on the local market. The demand for this variety was very great, and the price was accordingly high.

Black raspberries brought the same price but the demand was not very great, as the largest quantities will be offered next week.

Other varieties were slow, the price of cherries remaining practically the same. Black currants sold at 25c, while the red variety went at 12 to 15c per box.

Gooseberries are selling at two boxes for 25c.

Raspberries were steady, with the demand good, but no change in prices.

The demand for hays was very slow today, but the new product was offered for sale, it brought $12 to $15 per ton.

Oats were in good demand, but none offered.

One load of wheat brought $1.35 per bushel.

Word has been received that a good shipment of hogs will be brought to the city tomorrow, and the price is expected to jump to $14 per cwt.

BEGINS APPEAL AGAINST G. T. R. BOARD DECISION

Shareholders Make Protest Against Stock Valuation Before Privy Council.

LITTLE INTEREST SHOWN

Counsel For Company Claim Arbitration Body Did Not Hear Evidence.

LONDON, July 10.—(By Canadian Press Cable).—Small as is the accommodation for the general public, the privy council chamber was not unduly taxed today for the opening of the appeal by the shareholders of the Grand Trunk Railway against the decision of the arbitration board regarding the value of the preference and common stocks of the railway upon its acquisition by the Canadian government.

The appeal was heard by Lord Birkenhead, the lord chancellor, and Lords Shaw, Cave, Parmoor and Carson. There was a big array of counsel led by Sir John Simon representing the company, and A. C. Clauson, K.C., assisted by E. L. Newcombe, K.C., deputy minister of justice, and W. N. Tilley, K.C., on behalf of the Canadian government.

The general audience included Sir A. W. Smithers, chairman of the Grand Trunk Railway.

At the opening of the proceedings Lord Carson mentioned that he had some interest in the common stock of the company, but a representative of the Dominion government said: "We withdraw any conceivable objection to your lordships' participation."

Gives Long Arguments.
With careful deliberation, but characteristic fluency, Sir John Simon then began the long argument on behalf of the company, their lordships diligently following his direction to passages in evidence and the judgments in connection with the arbitration. The proceedings, as is usual in the privy council, were carried on in semi-conversational style between their lordships and counsel, their remarks being almost inaudible to the others in the chamber.

Sir John Simon's first point, which seemed to arouse their lordships' special attention, was that 1,700 miles of the Grand Trunk Railway lay in the United States, with 67 per cent of the revenue governed by what might be called the American system, which was important in considering the judgment of William Howard Taft, the company's representative on the arbitration board.

Counsel for the railway proceeded to urge that the majority of the tribunal went wrong in matters of law, firstly, holding a certain class of evidence inadmissible. He said that the judgment of Sir Walter Cassels, the arbitrator, was based upon much of material which was never admitted as evidence before the board of arbitration. In fact, said Sir John, when referred to before the tribunal it was declared not to be evidence at all.

Refuses Evidence.
Counsel for the company submitted that Sir Thomas White, the other member of the arbitration board, took the view that certain evidence was inadmissible because the railway was being acquired as a going concern, and there was no evidence of the Grand Trunk directors contemplating ever disposing of the line in any other way. Therefore, evidence concerning what any portion might be worth on any other basis was inadmissible.

Sir John said: "What I would submit is that there is a minimum value below which you cannot go. Even assuming the Grand Trunk had no dividend prospects, yet there might be portions of property which it would be possible to sell."

Lord Shaw suggested that if any railway came into receiver's hands the assets of the company should be sold as a going concern, and the value of the property should be fixed on that basis.

Sir John Simon submitted that it was fundamentally wrong to assert that shares, even in a concern with no prospect of making a profit, were worth nothing, for the company's assets, nevertheless, might be exceedingly valuable.

Consider Earnings.
Later Lord Shaw remarked that Sir Thomas White, in his judgment, seemed to have considered the question of potential earnings and yet would not allow the subject of capital value to enter in. His lordship expressed himself as a little puzzled on this point.

Sir John Simon said Sir Thomas appeared to hold the view that it was established that the owners really contemplated selling, he refused to consider what the railway could sell for.

For a couple of hours their lordships listened to Sir John Simon reading the judgment of Mr. Taft, making running comments thereon. When counsel came to discuss the Drayton report of 1917, he admitted frankly, "at that time the Grand Trunk interests were best served by inducing the Canadian government to believe that the company was on the point of insolvency. The company went to the government in the character of a pauper to get assistance."

Sir John's complaint, however, was that while this matter was ruled out before the arbitrators a great portion of the judgment given by Sir Walter Cassels was based expressly upon it.

Lord Carson remarked that in an arbitration of this kind strict rules of evidence were not always applied, the arbitrators being given a certain amount of liberty, such as a consideration of reports issued some time previously.

Sir John Simon will continue his argument tomorrow.

Greeks To Besiege Constantinople King Decides Ordering Martial Law

LONDON, July 10.—Decision to march the Greek army on Constantinople has been made by the Greek council, consisting of King Constantine, Gen. Hadjianestis, commander-in-chief of the Greek army in Asia Minor, and M. Stergiadis, Greek high commissioner in Smyrna, according to information received today by the Daily Mail's Athens correspondent. It was also decided, the correspondent learns, to proclaim martial law in Greece within ten days, and to remobilize all the young classes now exempt, this being expected to produce 100,000 more men for the army.

The correspondent says further that he is informed a secret concentration of troops in Thrace has been in progress for some time with the object of advancing on Constantinople from the European side, and that 70,000 Greeks in Constantinople are ready to act in support of the Greek army.

Clauson, K.C., assisted by E. L. Newcombe, K.C., deputy minister of justice, and W. N. Tilley, K.C., on behalf of the Canadian government.

PRISONERS IN IRISH BARRACKS GAIN LIBERTY

Dail Eireann Member Among Those Successful in Making Escape.

AWAIT DE VALERA'S MOVE

Republican Chieftain Fails To Appear At Funeral of Cathal Brugha.

DUBLIN, July 10.—Robert C. Barton, one of the members of the Dail Eireann, who signed the Anglo-Irish treaty and then opposed it, Joseph McDonagh and a dozen other prisoners who were taken in the Dublin fighting last week have escaped from the Portobello barracks, according to the newspaper Free State. Barton and McDonagh, the paper says, were to have been released this week.

IRREGULARS WITHDRAWN.
DUBLIN, July 10.—Irregulars last night attacked two national barracks in Carrick-on-Shannon from the Roscommon hills surrounding the town, but the garrisons returned the fire and irregulars withdrew hurriedly after an hour. When the national troops scoured the hills later no trace of the irregulars was found.

DE VALERA IN DUBLIN.
The suggestion that Eamon De Valera might make a dramatic appearance at the funeral of Cathal Brugha did not materialize. The Republican chieftain, however, is believed to be in Dublin.

While the body of Brugha lay in the mortuary chapel at Mater Hospital, six young women wearing uniforms and carrying rifles acted as a guard of honor.

MOVE HEADQUARTERS.
BELFAST, July 10.—The bridge at Dunlough, County Lough, has again been blown up, together with four others, thus severing rail communication between Dublin and Belfast. All trains between the two cities have been cancelled, and those which had already started recalled.

Telephonic communication between Belfast and Dublin was restored today for the first time since the southern government delivered its ultimatum, prior to the attack on the republicans in the Four Courts.

One hundred ordinary prisoners have been removed from Mountjoy Prison, Dublin, to Dundalk, to make room for republican prisoners, according to advices received here.

The Sinn Fein flag, with a black cross, in memory of Cathal Brugha, is flying from the Anne street barracks, in Dundalk, occupied by the Republicans.

Transfer Headquarters.
The Republican army has apparently transferred its headquarters from Malloy to Limerick, as Sunday night's official statement was issued from the latter place.

The statement, dealing with the general situation, claims that the whole of the south, west, and midlands stands firm for the Republic, although it admits that Kilkenny City, Thurles, Maryborough, Keshmash and Shannon Bridge are held by the Free Staters. It also concedes that the Republicans have evacuated Sligo, which the National forces now occupy, and says fighting is in progress in the surrounding area.

As regards Limerick City, normal conditions have been practically restored, most of the commandeered buildings being evacuated and the troops withdrawn for duty elsewhere.

PROFITS FROM LIQUOR SALE IN QUEBEC SHOW INCREASE
MONTREAL, July 10.—Patrons of the Quebec Liquor Commission stores, whose banks have been literally reinforced by visiting tourists from the great Volstead desert of the United States and Ontario, have guaranteed a provincial treasury surplus this year which will smash all previous records.

According to Premier Taschereau, the former record surplus of approximately $1,250,000 will be dwarfed by this year's figure. The former mark did not include profits from the government sale of liquor, and as these have been estimated at approximately $5,000,000, the size of the provincial credit balance may be easily gauged. Of this $5,000,000, some $3,000,000 has already been appropriated for extraordinary provincial development, $1,000,000 has been allotted to education, another $1,000,000 to good roads, and a third $1,000,000 to reduce the provincial debt.

Choose Your Preserving Utensils Carefully

MANY women enjoy great success with their preserving year after year for the simple reason that they use the best enameled ware that money can buy. They use either Diamond Ware or Pearl Ware. The porcelain-like surface of either of these wares keeps as clean as a glass jar. Acidic fruit juices cannot affect their non-metallic surface. Ensure success in your preserving by using

SMP Diamond or Pearl WARE

"A Face of Porcelain and a Heart of Steel"

The hardest cooking or preserving leaves it as easy to clean as china. It cannot absorb grease or odors. And it will mean much lower cooking fuel bills, because it cooks food far faster than all-metal utensils.

Do you know that the Diamond Ware or Pearl Ware pot or pan that cost $1.50 last year can now be bought for 90 cents? Ask your regular hardware merchant.

Diamond Ware is sky blue and white outside, all white inside, with three coats of enamel fused on shapes of steel. Pearl Ware is pearly grey inside and out and has two coats of special SMP enamel fused on steel shapes. Either will suit you admirably.

Paroled Men Prove Appreciation by Few Violations Reported To Board.

Employers in Province Are Thanked For Success Co-operation Made Possible.

Economic conditions have made the work of parole unusually difficult for the last twelve months, says the report of the Ontario Board of Parole for the year ending October 31, 1921.

Employment is essential to parole. The conditions have prevented the parole of a few whose parole was authorized, but it is a gratifying fact that employers have been so willing to co-operate in the re-establishment of offenders that in nearly every case where it was decided to give an offender his opportunity, work was forthcoming.

That this was appreciated by the paroled men is proved by the fact that out of 229 whose parole was authorized, of the 221 whose parole became actually effective, less than 20 broke parole. This shows a success of 92 per cent, which in this most difficult year is a much more favorable result than was expected.

706 Cases Investigated.
Seven hundred and six cases were in all investigated and considered. In 206 of these cases it was decided to take no action. The number recommended to the governor-general for clemency under the ticket-of-leave act was 101. The parole of 229 was authorized. The remainder were deferred for further consideration.

The increase in the number of paroled men is due to the increase in the number of indeterminate sentences given by the judges and magistrates of the province, which, says the report, is in accordance with the best modern practice in dealing with criminals.

"The question has been raised in some quarters," proceeds the report, "as to the justice of paroling men who have offended against the law to take employment when so many men, who have never been before the courts, are out of work. It is urged that if there is any work available for a paroled man, that work could be done by others who had the greater right to it."

"The board feels that there is much in this contention, and it has endeavored to place no parole man where the work could be done by a free man, unless the circumstances clearly justified it. Sometimes employers are willing to take a man because he is a prisoner whose reformation they believe in, and they desire to assist. In a number of cases, the conditions of the family are such that if the offender were not placed on parole, so that he might support his family, the latter would be dependent upon the public, and in many cases the effect on the children's future would be exceedingly injurious. It is not a wise step, too, to parole men who have gone wrong, if thereby they will almost assuredly be placed on their feet and become an asset to the community."

Find 15 Gallons of Wine
in Reformer's Cellar.

DETROIT, July 10.—When Michigan troops Monday resumed their down-river cleanup activities, begun Sunday, they called at the home of several agitators for reform in Lincoln Park.

In the home of Ira Griffin who, with his wife, has been an earnest member of the Lincoln Park Betterment Association, they found fifteen gallons of home-made dandelion wine in the cellar. Ten gallons of it were destroyed, the remainder kept as evidence.

Griffin admitted he had made the wine. Mrs. Griffin attributed the troops' visit to spite work.

It was the urgent plea of the association, among other things, which resulted in the cleanup.
