NEW HOTEL BOOMS REAL ESTATE Engineers Begin Today On Survey of Port Talbot Property

VALUE OF PROPERTY GOES UP

King and Wellington Streets Location Sold For $25,600.
INCREASE SHOWN
Transfers Number Nine More Than in September, 1924.

In anticipation of the new hotel being erected at Dundas and Wellington street, property has boomed in the vicinity, several real estate deals having already been completed, while several more are in process of being concluded.

Abraham Silverstein of Detroit has purchased the northwest corner of King and Wellington streets for $25,600, the assessed value of which is $12,100. The property is 87 by 100 feet, and was sold by the Reliance Realty company.

Mayor Wenig also purchased property in the hotel area last month. He bought the Westlake studio property on Dundas street, near Waterloo, for $21,630. It occupies 28 feet of space and is assessed for $15,000. The store was sold by the National Trust company.

Real estate transfers for the month of September as recorded at the city hall total 123, the selling price being $42,127. This is nine more transfers than in September, 1924, when the selling price was $33,500. The increase in real estate activity is bringing values, London property is bringing values, a sure gauge of prosperity.

One of the largest transfers was that of J. C. Beemer to J. B. and Alex. McFarland of Innisburgh, who purchased 90 by 100 feet of space from Mr. Beemer on Queen's avenue, near Talbot, for $4,000.

A store on Dundas street, east of Adelaide, was sold by Frank G. Moore to Fred G. McTavish for $19,940, while Charles Kane bought property on Prince of George street from Charles Lee for $20,000.

Charles Thomas bought a house on Bridport street from Ben Brick for $12,000 and in turn sold Mr. Brick a house on Gerard street for $6,000. Harry Morgan sold a house on Talbot street to Robert S. P. Jones for $2,500. Major Albert Murphy purchased a dwelling on Huron street from E. J. Taylor for $3,000.

Another transfer was made by the London and Western Trusts company, which sold a house on Hill street to City Trust collector E. S. Houghton for $6,000.

Associated Press Despatch.
Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 7.—A bright sun shone down from clear skies on this battleground for the opening clash of the world's series today between Washington and Pittsburgh, champions of the American and National League.

It gave every prospect of being an ideal day, brisk and snappy.
Every evidence of a record crowd for Forbes Field was at hand, even at noon, two hours before the game starting time. At that hour the glistening pineboard stands in left center and the concrete bleacher section off the left field foul line, both were filled to capacity.

There were close to 10,000 in these cheaper priced sections with streams of customers also trekking early to the reserved sections of the double-decked grandstand.

Between 45,000 and 50,000 altogether likely to crowd the capacity of the park. Many of the "early birds" had stood in line in order to make sure of their places. They were a tired looking, sleepless lot, but they hadn't lost any of their enthusiasm.

They were kept in good humor by a band, parked in the shade of the center field fence, and the comedy antics of Nick Altrock and Al Schacht,
the travelling clowns of the Washington outfit.

The crowd roared as Altrock and Schacht put on a football pantomime with an orange balloon as a substitute for the piskin.

Washington's star pitcher, Walter Johnson, in a gray-clad squad was the first to trot out of the dugout for practice. They were greeted by a cheer, but the outburst was mild in comparison to the noise that welcomed the Pirates, snappily attired in new white uniforms, embellished with an emblem signifying their pennant victory in the National League's golden jubilee campaign.

Lee Meadows of the Pirates and Walter Johnson of the Senators, rival pitchers, were put under wraps while their mates indulged in warming-up drill. Tom Sheehan, reserve right-hander, took the hill for batting practice of the buccaners.

Johnson and Babe Adams, pitching coach of the Pittsburgh victors, were photographed together as they shook hands. Johnson posed afterward with Meadows, his prospective rival for the duel.

COASTAL BOAT GOES TO AID OF STEAMER

St. John's, Nfld., Oct. 7.—The steamer Ellerdale, reported in a sinking condition off the northeast coast of Newfoundland yesterday, was reached by the coastal boat Prospero at 11 o'clock last night and arrived at St. Anthony with deck awash, at 4 o'clock this morning. She is now resting on the mud in the harbor.
The Ellerdale struck in the straits of Belle Isle last night, but was later received.

DENIES STALLINGS WILL MANAGE CHICAGO CUBS

Chicago, Oct. 7.—President William Veeck of the Chicago Cubs has denied that George Stallings, manager of the Rochester Internationals, would be incoming manager of the Chicago team, as indicated in reports from New York. On the heels of the denial came a rumor from Atlanta that Bert Niehauff, manager of the traders, has been offered the Cub plottings now held by George Gibson.

MIDDLESEX MOTORISTS FACE PROSPECT OF SNOWY ROADS

County Will Not Keep Roads or Highways Open This Winter.
COST IS TOO GREAT

No effort will be made by the county of Middlesex to keep provincial and county roads open for vehicular traffic, other than snow
this winter, according to County Engineer Charles Talbot.

The expenditure involved would reach great proportions if the scheme were made general, and it is very doubtful if the taxpayers would stand for it, the county engineer thinks.

The farmer can use his sleigh whenever necessary, pointed out Talbot, and to spend great sums for the convenience of a few motorists would not be justifiable.

Last year the same policy prevailed. For a great part of the winter the roads were tied up as far as the motorists were concerned. The provincial highway to Lambeth was kept open part of the time through the efforts of residents of that village.

Manitoulin Hit By Water Steal

The Chicago water steal has caused an unhappy condition in the Manitoulin district, according to word received here today.

The whole water level is lower than it has been for many years.
Wells are going dry in many sections. Farmers who have in the past enjoyed a never-failing water supply from wells have now to draw water long distances to carry out their operations.

BURGLARS ROB HOMES IN LONDON

Two Residences in South End of the City Are Entered.
DIAMOND IS STOLEN

Thief Uses Key To Enter Homes While Owners Are Absent.

In two London South burglaries last night a diamond ring, valued at more than $100, was stolen from the home of R. S. Smith, 15 Tecumseh avenue, and a loaded revolver was taken from the home of Gordon Lamb, 61 Stanley street.

Police believe both thefts were committed by the same person. The front doors of the homes were opened with a skeleton key during the owners absence.

The Smith residence was broken into between 8 and 10 o'clock at night, according to members of the family, who were out during that time. They returned to find the front door ajar.

Returning to his home at midnight, Gordon Lamb discovered that his house had been burglarized in the same manner. Only a loaded revolver of an old manufacture was taken, however. Although the house was used, and thoroughly searched other articles of jewelry were overlooked.

Detectives visited both homes last night and again this morning.

CITY TAXES ARE $38.31 PER CAPITA

London Spends $2,956,113
During Current Year, the Clerk Estimates.

City taxation for every man, woman and child in the city has been estimated by City Clerk Baker at $38.31 per person, according to the statement issued today, and which will be sent to all ratepayers before the December civic elections. It is estimated that the city will spend before the year is over some $2,956,113.36, less any surpluses that may accrue during the year.

There are increases in the cost of general government, police and fire protection, highways, education and charities. On the other hand there are substantial decreases in the cost of health and sanitation, recreation and what is known as "war purposes."

A general government increase of $134,163.90 is brought about mainly by the overdraft of 1924, some $24,749, recouped by the loss of expected taxes in the Annex as a result to a court decision.

Honor Roll of Best Pupils Will Be in The Advertiser

How Public, Separate and Secondary School Examination Results Are To Be Published in Future—Agreement Made With School Officials.

An honor roll of public school and separate school pupils, consisting of the four students securing the highest final examination standing in each class in the city will be published in The Advertiser next June as a record of the year's school work.

As the result of a recent agreement between board of education members, secondary, public and separate school officials, and representatives of London newspapers a definite plan will now be followed in the publication of examination results. This plan is outlined below for the convenience of pupils, parents, teachers and the public in general.

In future The Advertiser will publish the following results:

PUBLIC AND SEPARATE SCHOOLS.
1. Complete entrance examination results, about July 10.
2. City honor roll, composed of the names of the first four pupils in the final examinations in each class in the city, to be ready in June.

SECONDARY SCHOOLS.
1. Complete final departmental results, from both colleges and technical high school, in August.
2. Final results of technical high school examinations, in June.
3. Honor roll, from both colleges and technical high school, consisting of those students who secure honor standing in five or more subjects, to be published twice yearly at the Christmas and at the Easter examinations.

Now is the time to begin work for a place on these honor rolls. The pupils whose names will appear as leading their classes will be the pupils who prepare now and work faithfully throughout the year with that object in view.

BUSINESS OPTIMISM GROWING

Clifford Gray, London Businessman, Finds Country in Healthy Mood.
UNUSUAL PROGRESS

Past Three Years Sees Business Growth and Return to Cheerfulness.

Business conditions throughout the country are in such a healthy state of progress at the present time that fears for the economic stability of the country are groundless. This is the opinion of Clifford Gray, manager of the London Heinzman Company, after studying business advancement in Western Ontario and other districts for the past six months.

"During the past year particularly, general trade seems to have made unusual progress," Mr. Gray remarked. "Uncertainty has been displaced by a progressive optimism in the minds of the people. Especially is this manifest in the rural districts. From personal observations, I believe that the spirit of confidence in the future of Canada, strengthened in the last three years, is far greater today than at any other period in recent times."

During the past several weeks Mr. Gray has visited several widely separated points in Western Ontario and everywhere he has noted wholesome prosperity and sane conditions in the rural districts.

He quoted reports from his own firm's trade in pianos, radio and phonographs in farming districts, as an indication of the steady advancement of business. In September, the Heinzman company here enjoyed the most prosperous month in the history of the store, he stated.

Little hope held for mining peace in the anthracite fields of Pennsylvania is seen here in a statement issued by the Scranton chamber of commerce, after a conference between its members and representatives of the mine owners. Scranton, Pa., Oct. 7.—Little hope of an early resumption of mining in the anthracite fields of Pennsylvania is seen here in a statement issued by the Scranton chamber of commerce, after a conference between its members and representatives of the mine owners. At the conclusion of the conference the chamber announced that "the anthracite suspension situation had been canvassed from every angle without arriving at any definite basis."

While the hotel will not be completed until the fall of 1927 the landscape gardening will be at once begun. The plans call for a polo ground, an aviation field and golf courses. A E. Farncomb, D.L.S., Ontario, land surveyor and civil engineer, and others, will have charge of laying out a considerable amount of the work.

Extensive improvements will be made in the harbor. The portion of the work will be started this year. Arrangements are being made to provide for the berthing of pleasure yachts and other vessels up to 14 feet draft, says Mr. Williams.

The construction of jetties and the improving of the beach properties will start early.

Mr. Williams, who was born and raised in London, is enthusiastic about the project. He said today that the completion of the Port Talbot program would bring the cream of the United States visitors London way.

MAITLAND STREET BOY IS INJURED BY MOTOR

Ernest Ford, Four Years of Age, Removed to Home
After Accident.

While playing in the street in front of his home at 337 Maitland street this morning, Ernest Ford, 4 years old, was struck and injured by a motor car driven by O. Q. Bates, 21 Hume street.

The boy was removed to his home. He was attended by Dr. Routledge. He is not seriously injured, according to his physician.

Mr. Bates, who reported the accident at police station, stated that he was travelling south on Maitland street. The accident occurred near the corner of York. Ford was playing in the street with a number of other boys.

There was no official of the war board in Detroit to give out the necessary certificate and the fliers decided to take a chance. They hopped off and headed for Port Talbot. Knowing they would have to refuel on this side, they had a barrel of gasoline delivered to a convenient spot.

All went well. They came over and took the pictures. They landed and took on a supply of fuel. They returned to the United States. But Ottawa heard about it.

The federal government took the matter up with Frank B. Kellogg, secretary of state at Washington. The Canadian requirements were outlined.

Washington at once got in touch with Governor Groesbeck of Michigan, who had the fliers appear before him. They were reprimanded for breaking regulations.

DECORATION COST TO TOTAL $17,000

Improvements and Alterations Proceeding Rapidly in the Wortley Road Church.

Improvements and alterations at the Wortley road Baptist church are proceeding satisfactorily, according to the statement of Rev. R. J. Murphy, M.A., pastor, this morning. The new organ, manufactured by the Woodstock Pipe Organ Company, has been installed at a cost of $3,000, while the alterations in the choir loft and in the pulpit have just been completed. Services are being held in the basement while the redecoration of the auditorium is being completed.

In about three weeks time, when the new portion of the church building is completed, it is planned to hold a week of special services, beginning on a Sunday and continuing nightly, with each organization in the congregation having charge of one service.

EASTERNERS SEEK WESTERN CATTLE

More Than Dozen Middlesex Farmers Going to Prairie Sales Area.

More than a dozen Middlesex farmers have already signified to the department of agriculture in London their intention of going to the western provinces toward the end of this month to buy cattle as stockers. A great number of these sales are held there annually and many eastern farmers take advantage of them to secure cattle to be fattened for the home markets.

If the eastern farmer so desires, the department of agriculture will pay his railroad fare to the west, thereby placing him on a par with the western farmer as to cost. All that is necessary is that the farmer purchase a certain number of cattle. While only a dozen have made application for this fare, it is expected that many more will do so before the time expires.

Grant Refunded To Federation

Some time ago the provincial government put off the grant of the Home and School Federation, and as it was needed by the organization a deputation was formed to go to Toronto to look into the matter.

The deputation, including Mrs. R. S. McLaughlin of Oshawa, Mrs. Charles Turner, London, and John McLaughlin, Toronto, waited on Premier Ferguson this week to have the grant refunded. The deputation was very successful in having the matter straightened out.

Rev. B. H. Robinson Will Take Up New Post On Monday.

Rev. Burton H. Robinson, M.A., assistant pastor of Metropolitan church, has been appointed by the Middlesex United church presbytery to give religious instruction at the London normal school as the representative of the United church of Canada in this district. He will begin this work Monday.

Mr. Robinson, who recently came to the city from Leamington, while pastor of Robinson Memorial Methodist church, north London, three or four years ago, lectured in history of philosophy at the University of Western Ontario and is thus well qualified for the position to which he has been appointed.

Under the old regime the Presbyterian and Methodist churches each had a representative to teach the students belonging to those two denominations, which two incidentally took in the large majority of young men and women attending the normal school. Rev. T. A. Symington, M.A., formerly pastor of Knox Presbyterian church, now of Camrose, Alta., was the representative of the Presbyterian church for the past seven years, receiving assistance occasionally from Rev. F. W. K. Harris, B.A., formerly director of religious education at St. Andrew's Presbyterian church. The work for the Methodist church was divided between Rev. L. W. Reid, formerly of Hale street, and Rev. E. W. Jewitt, B.A., formerly assistant pastor of First Methodist, now of Sarnia.

While the students at the Normal school are required to take an examination at the conclusion of the course of lectures for the degree of Bachelor of Education, there is no remuneration made to the minister appointed as lecturer.

AMUNDSEN'S BOAT BACK FROM FROZEN NORTH

Associated Press Despatch. Seattle, Oct. 6.—Raoul Amundsen's exploration schooner Maud, which sailed from Seattle, June 3, 1922, with high hopes of drifting in Arctic ice across the North Pole, returned last night, a long career of adventure over perhaps forever. The Maud was ordered into port here by Amundsen to be sold and the crew of seven are to be dispersed. They had little to say of their three years amid the perils of the devastating ice packs.

MOTHERS' CLUB HAS MANY PLANS

Rectory Members Hear Mrs. Turner—Are Arranging Membership Drive.

An inspiring message was brought last evening to the members of the Rectory mothers' club by Mrs. Charles Turner, president of the London Union mothers' club, who addressed the mothers on "Democracy in the Home."

The speaker encouraged the members to be loyal to the officers and back them in all they did. They were also to be true to them. Her topic, which meant individual thinking or freedom of thinking, gave Mrs. Turner an opportunity to emphasize very strongly the necessity of mothers to use their franchise whenever called upon to do so.

During the business part of the meeting Mrs. Hogarth was appointed club representative to the child welfare. Plans were also made to hold a Halloween taffy sale on Friday, Oct. 30, at the school, at 3 o'clock. It was also decided that the next meeting, on Nov. 10, would take the form of a hard-time party.

The meeting-night of the club has been changed from the first Tuesday of the month to the second Tuesday. Through this change it will be possible for more members to be present at the meetings.

A membership drive is to be held during the coming year. Slides were chosen last evening and the captains appointed were Mrs. William Sherrett, the president, who presided over the meeting, and Mrs. P. Carswell. At the end of the term the losing team is to tender a banquet to the winners.

Following the business session a program was enjoyed. It included a piano and violin duet by the Misses Louise Cunningham and Ruth Erdman, a solo by Mrs. Walker, and a reading by Miss Petrie. At its conclusion a social half-hour was enjoyed, during which light refreshments were served under the comenship of Mrs. North and Mrs. Amy.

AD CLUB COMMENDS COMMISSION'S STAND

Resents Presence of Cards and Posters on Poles in City.

The Advertising and Sales club of London is strongly opposed to the placarding of electric light, telephone and other poles with bills and posters and has addressed the following letter to E. V. Buchanan, public utility commissioner, endorsing the stand of that body on the question.

"We commend your action in giving the public notice through the press of the pasting or tacking of posters on the public utilities commission's poles will not be tolerated in the future."

In last night's Free Press the mayor was reported to have said that this matter was too small a thing to be considered by the council. I am sure very few people will agree with him. London cannot boast of a large population, nevertheless we can mention with pardonable pride that we have the exception of clean and attractive streets. Throughout the city there are legitimate channels for advertising maintained by individuals and concerns who contribute toward the upkeep of the city. Regular advertisers and individuals who sensationally advertise should be compelled to patronize these regular channels. The sooner people know that posters cannot be pasted all over electric light or telephone poles, the better it will be for the appearance of our city.

It is the hope of the members of this club that the public utilities commission will enforce the law in this respect."

F. W. GILMOUR TO BE INDUCTED

Service Will Be Held in Elmwood Avenue Church Tomorrow.

Rev. F. W. Gilmour, B.A., Atwood, will be officially inducted as pastor of the Elmwood Avenue Presbyterian church tomorrow night at 8 p.m. Arrangements for the service, which will be held in the church home, Elmwood Avenue, have been completed by the London Presbytery, as follows: Rev. Jas. MacKay, B.D., New St. James church, moderator of presbytery, will preside; Rev. Walter Moffat, Fingal, will preach; Rev. James Hagen, Fingal, will address the minister; Rev. C. G. Graham, Mount Brydges, will address the people.

Peculiarly enough Mr. Gilmour is the first man called by the Elmwood Avenue congregation, nor is the first call to the church, he having declined an invitation to become minister of Knox Presbyterian church, Ingersoll, several weeks ago.

Mr. Gilmour, who was one of the leaders in the anti-union campaign in Western Ontario, is the second minister to come to London since the general reorganization rendered necessary by church union, the first being Rev. E. O'Neil, B.A., Hamilton, who came as a Methodist minister on the Mersea circuit, to become pastor of Chalmers Presbyterian church. Mr. Gilmour is regarded by the resident Presbyterian members of the city as a strong addition to their numbers.

TECH. WILL GIVE 3 NEW COURSES

Further Extension in Curriculum Announced by Principal H. B. Beal.

Following out its progressive policy of expanding the courses offered within the institution, Principal H. B. Beal of the London commercial and technical high school, announced today extensions to instruction to be given in at least three of the school's departments this fall.

Mr. Beal intimated that Dr. Stone, who has charge of the local industrial laboratory for a number of years, has secured as instructor for the added department of industrial chemistry, by reason of Mr. Stone's position he will be able to make the work of the department intensely interesting and practical.

Speech pointing has been added this year to the department in show card work, while the draughting department has been extended to take in working models in sheet metal.

The night classes at the technical school are fast filling up, but an opportunity will be afforded every evening this week to complete the enrollment of all those who wish to take any of the classes provided.

POLICE COURT FIGURES DEFEND MODERN YOUTH

have set an enviable example had not been for one blight—a boy of 17 years who claimed to have become intoxicated through drinking hard liquor. But his misadventure in the competition of ages was offset by a man of more than 70 years who drank an excessive amount of moonshine beverage and should have known better, he himself admitted.

Men between the ages of 40 and 50 years are the heaviest consumers of liquor, the statistics show. An average of all drunks is 42. Only the one boy of a teen age was found to have become under the influence of liquor in the city within the past six months. Only three young men in their early twenties were convicted. But from 25 years onward the number begins to swell reaching a peak at 42.

Forties Head List. Twenty-two men between the ages of 20 and 30 appeared in court and paid fines for drunkenness. The list for the forties becomes larger. Twenty-seven were convicted. Their average age was 42. The number of men between the ages of 40 and 50 years is reached and then there is a gradual rally round the water wagon. The age of 70 is practically one for reprobates. Only five of 68, 69 and 70 fell from the straight and narrow to succumb to drunkenness.

The clean living of the youth of today is also emphasized in the number of convictions of driving motor cars while under the influence of liquor. The average age is about 35. Only two young men of ten or more years were sent to jail for this offense were less than 25 years old.

C.N.R. Vice-President Looks For Big Influx of Settlers

W. D. Robb De-lares Canada's Abundant Crops Mean Return of Good Times.

OUTLINES POLICY

Company Aims To Encourage Mixed Farming in the West.

Prosperity is the greatest inducement a nation can offer to prospective settlers. The abundant crops harvested in Canada this fall have heralded the return of dominion wide good times and will affect the influx of desirable citizens toward the farming lands of this country. Such was the optimistic message given out this morning by W. D. Robb, vice-president of the Canadian National Railways who passed through the city at 11 o'clock en route to Chicago.

In an interview with an Advertiser reporter Mr. Robb outlined the immigration policies of the Canadian National Railways for the coming year.

There is a three-fold purpose in the program, he said, in bringing out steady flow of desirable settlers for the land; to encourage mixed farming in the prairie provinces and to carry out the minimum number of actians.

Want Better Farms. "The Canadian National Railways is concentrating on more and better farms, operated by farmers in the West," said Mr. Robb. "Special interest is being taken in producing better live stock. This is particularly true of the hog. Along the western lines prizes for boys and girls who have raised a better brand of hog have resulted in a finer type of bacon coming in to the eastern markets and an hitherto unknown prosperity to many farmers."

Returning to the immigration policies the official said that as far as possible the Canadian National would bring out citizens of the United Kingdom. Holland would supply some thirty farmers. He had visited that country last year and found that expansion there to a greater degree would be next to impossible. Intensive farming was being practiced there and the fields were overcrowded. It was only reasonable to expect that numbers of Hollanders could continue to take up land here.

Inducements to Settlers. The officers of the Canadian National Railways in the United States reported that a large number of settlers would continue to seek farms in the west. Last year 20,000 crossed into Canada to go on the land.

Mr. Robb did not feel that Canada would draw many new citizens from central Europe for the present. Much of the land that was left barren during the war and post war difficulties had been thrown open to the farmers who were quickly getting back to the production stage in their own districts.

Concerning the immigration of artisans the vice-president said that they would continue to be encouraged to come to Canada but inducements would be offered only to the settler at present.

POTTERSBURO CHURCH TO MARK ANNIVERSARY

Rev. A. S. Grant To Be Special Speaker at St. George's.

St. George's Presbyterian church, Pottersburg, will hold its 25th anniversary on Sunday, October 18, when Rev. A. S. Grant, D.D., Toronto, general secretary of the Presbyterian church, as the special speaker. The anniversary services, which will continue on Monday with an old-fashioned tea meeting, will mark also the 14th year Rev. John Hosie, B.A., has been pastor of the congregation.

Mr. Grant, who was financial superintendent of the former Presbyterian church, though retired for a number of years, is given credit for organizing the new Presbyterian church in a prompt and efficient manner. Dr. Grant was the first Presbyterian missionary to go into the Yukon in the days of the initial gold rush to that country and was later for many years superintendent of missions for the Presbyterian church in Canada.

Members of the congregation who have been named to take charge of the special services are the following: Mrs. Stanley Adams, general convener; Mrs. A. Leigh and Miss Eva Clarke, decorations; Mrs. A. McDonald, Mrs. T. McDonald, Mrs. Hunter, Mrs. T. Weir, Mrs. G. Wallace, Miss Margery Buchanan and Mrs. S. C. Harding, tea meeting; Miss Helen Angus, organist, program convener.

Mrs. John Isaacs, the latest living member of the congregation, health permitting, will be in attendance at the tea meeting.

TO CALL TENDERS FOR NEW SCHOOL

Architect Submits Plans For New Collegiate in East End.

Instructions will likely be given at the regular meeting of the board of education tomorrow afternoon for tenders to be called for the new east London collegiate institute. It is understood that L. E. Carrothers, architect, has completed the plans for the perpetual of the trustees and that the next step in building the new collegiate may now be taken.

The building committee for the collegiate will probably bring in a recommendation as to tenders in the week-end of the bureau's residence on the property purchased by the board from the Ontario government at the corner of Dundas street and Highway Avenue, twenty or more acres in extent.

Other than these two items little else than routine business is expected to come before the board. Trustee Rev. R. D. Mess, M.L., will not likely be able to attend the meeting, owing to illness.

ADJOURNMENT MADE IN DIAMOND RING CASE

Court's Entire Morning Taken Up in Hearing the Evidence.

Adjournment was made at noon today in the case of Thomas Wilson, who is seeking to recover a diamond ring worth $1,600, from Thomas Fox, ex-pawnbroker of this city. The case consumed the whole of the court's time this morning, and adjournment was granted to permit the plaintiff to secure additional evidence.

The plaintiff is seeking to recover a ring which he pawned with the defendant, and for which he alleges he repaid the amount in full. A sharp difference in the evidence given by the two sides was commented on by the judge.

"I'm a Britisher and have no preference for any particular religion. I always swear on the Bible," said Mr. Fox, when the clerk was going to administer the Jewish form of oath.

DIPHTHERIA CASES NUMBER ONLY TWO

Three Released From Hospital Tuesday, Reports London M. O. H.

There are but two cases of diphtheria in London at the present time, Dr. W. H. Downham, M.O.H., stated today.

"Three cases were released from hospital yesterday," said Dr. Downham. "The city has had few cases of serious diseases this year. There are a few cases of whooping cough, but nothing to worry about."

"We have only one case of mumps at present. From the latter part of 1924 to May, 1925, there were 1,445 cases of mumps, so you can realize that there certainly isn't an epidemic right now."

GOLDSTEIN ALLOWED OUT ON CASH BAIL OF $500

Daniel Goldstein, 45 years old, was allowed to free on cash bail of $500 by Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon last night, to appear in court tomorrow on two charges of O. T. A. breach.

He was arrested yesterday following a raid at his home, 25 Clarence street, by Inspector Thos. Lucas, Sgt. James Oakley, Constables Morley Leach and Coxworth. A gallon of alcohol, found by the police, was seized. Goldstein faces charges of illegal purchase of liquor and keeping liquor for sale.

Horse Is Stolen While Owner Goes In House For Lantern

While the driver was in the house procuring a lantern to put in the barn, a valuable mare worth $250, is believed to have been stolen from the side of a Colborne street house last Saturday evening. The mare, chestnut with gray markings, was the property of an Ilderton woman.

The owner had driven into town to the house of a friend. Driving up to the side of the house, she unhitched the horse and went in to get a lantern. She was barely absent five minutes when she returned and the horse had disappeared. High Constable Wharton is working on the case, but no trace has yet been found of the animal.

GASOLINE COACH ON FASTER TIME

Half Hour Clipped From the Woodstock-St. Thomas Schedule.

Special To The Advertiser. Woodstock, Oct. 6.—A new schedule, which goes into effect today, cuts down by 30 minutes the running time of the gasoline coach which has been operating along the C. P. R. line to St. Thomas, the car service is undoubtedly proving of great value to these places, as it puts them directly on a line with Chicago, Toronto and Montreal.

The operation of this car, which was originally held in the light of an experiment, has proven extremely satisfactory. Commenting on it this morning, Mayor E. A. Rea said that it provides extra connections between Woodstock and St. Thomas, the car service is undoubtedly proving of great value to these places, as it puts them directly on a line with Chicago, Toronto and Montreal. The fact that travellers are now able to get in and out of these towns in a day is a factor that will make for increased trade throughout the territory, and as a matter of fact the benefits are already being felt. In the summer, however, he added, the service would be even more valuable, as it would give it to St. Thomas with services to Port Stanley.

H. N. Nerry, president of the board of trade, who has worked with officers of the Canadian Pacific to a large extent in an endeavor to have the old service improved, said that it is a longed-for realization of a long-felt desire on the part of the various communities affected for a more ready means of communication. The merchants in Woodstock, he said, should benefit materially, and he hopes that in the near future the company will see its way clear to include more stops along the line, when the advantage would be to all towns through which the car passes.

Ingersoll is perhaps as well accommodated now as it has hoped to be. This town is not only placed on the main line of the Canadian Pacific, but the improvement in service, according to R. B. Hutts, manager of the Borden Milk Products Company, is of such a nature as to be quite in keeping with the popular demand for economy in railroad operation. Large numbers of business men have already made use of the gasoline coach, and Mr. Hutts agrees with Mayor Scott, who was also interviewed this morning, in that the traffic between Ingersoll and Woodstock and Ingersoll and St. Thomas may be developed to such an extent that the company may be petitioned to add an additional car.

Kitten Is Born With Eye Open

Proud motherhood is often demonstrated by the lower animals as well as human beings. A cat, which was a general favorite in a certain London household, presented that household with a large family of kittens. There was nothing unusual about one of the furry babies, which was born with one eye open. Mother cat was so proud of this fact that, having coaxed the members of the household out to the barn, she proceeded to impress upon them the fact that her baby was already able to gaze upon the world. It was indeed, she purred, who could be born without the usual handicap of blindness.

FORD CITY MINISTER CALLED TO ST. JOHNS

Rev. S. E. McKegney Will Take Over Duties in Six Weeks.

Rev. S. E. McKegney, B.A., M.C., St. Aidan's Anglican church, Ford City, has been appointed by Rev. David Williams, D.D., bishop of Huron, as rector of St. John's church, London township, the appointment to take effect six weeks hence.

Mr. McKegney's appointment was made to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Rev. William Lowe, who is leaving superannuated after a successful ministry in the Anglican church extending over a period of upwards of 40 years.

Prior to going to Ford City two or three years ago Mr. McKegney was rector of the St. Paul's Anglican church, Clinton, which appointment he received upon his return from overseas service as a chaplain during which time he received the military cross for distinguished valor on the field.

Mr. McKegney was honored in conducting special services in one of the largest Anglican cathedrals in Montreal this past summer.

News Briefs

Canadian Press Despatch. Halifax, N.S., Oct. 7.—That the frozen expanses confined within the bounds of the Arctic Circle are, figuratively speaking, being brought nearer to civilization through the medium of northern expeditions, and that the vast mineral wealth of that far-off country will in the not far distant future be placed at the disposal of governmental and private interests in the United States and Canada, were two statements made here yesterday by Commander E. F. MacDonald of the United States expedition ship Peary, one of the units of the MacMillan expedition, which arrived at Halifax today, and will join off Halifax harbor today, the chief of the expedition, Donald B. MacMillan, on the schooner Bowdoin, on route from Sydney, N.S., to Wiscasset, Maine. Both

MAY USE MORGAN LOAN TO HALT SPECULATION

French Government Greatly Alarmed at Depreciation of Franc.

Associated Press Despatch. Paris, Oct. 7.—A warning that the French government may use the second Morgan loan of $100,000,000 to halt speculation in the franc was issued today from the ministry of finance, where it was declared that the present depreciation in the franc, if continued, would break "that equilibrium which is the normal development of commerce and industry."

The fall of the franc, the ministry's statement says, is due entirely to speculation following the failure of the French and U. S. debt funding commissions to come to a definite agreement.

PLANES USED TO KILL BORER IN SOUTHERN SUGAR FIELDS

Arctic Will Yield Great Wealth, Predicts Commander MacDonald

Canadian Press Despatch. Halifax, N.S., Oct. 7.—That the frozen expanses confined within the bounds of the Arctic Circle are, figuratively speaking, being brought nearer to civilization through the medium of northern expeditions, and that the vast mineral wealth of that far-off country will in the not far distant future be placed at the disposal of governmental and private interests in the United States and Canada, were two statements made here yesterday by Commander E. F. MacDonald of the United States expedition ship Peary, one of the units of the MacMillan expedition, which arrived at Halifax today, and will join off Halifax harbor today, the chief of the expedition, Donald B. MacMillan, on the schooner Bowdoin, on route from Sydney, N.S., to Wiscasset, Maine. Both

BISHOP WILL SPEAK AT MONTREAL SERVICE

Special Message Is Sent Out to Each Minister.

Rev. David Williams, D.D., D.C., bishop of Huron, is in Montreal today as a speaker at special services being conducted there by Dr. Farthing, bishop of Montreal in observance of the 1,600th anniversary of the Nicene conference.

In calling the conference on behalf of the Orthodox Eastern church and the church of England in Canada, the bishop of Montreal sent out an invitation to all the clergymen of the two churches, included in which was the following significant paragraph, which speaks for itself: "At a time when the duty of our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ, is being questioned by many, which is causing a great deal of anxious thought to those whose faith is unsettled, this commemoration of Nicene may be made most hopeful. I would urge each minister to do all in his power to enable his people to understand more fully the great faith of Christ for which our creed stands."

Bishop Williams will return to the city the latter part of the week.

CONDITION UNCHANGED.

No change was apparent today in the condition of County Judge Judd, who is seriously ill at his home here.

BAPTISTS WILL MEET IN HAMILTON

Convention To Be Held During the Week Commencing October 16.

The Ontario and Quebec Baptist convention will be held this year in Stanley Avenue Baptist church, Hamilton, beginning Friday, Oct. 16, and continuing for one week. Rev. Bowley Green, D.D., formerly of Talbot street church, London, elected vice-president of the association at its meeting here last year, will have charge of a special religious service on Saturday afternoon, delivering an address on the subject, "The Baptist Message of the Present Day."

The convention was fixed at Hamilton with the purpose of settling finally the question of transferring McMaster University, from Toronto to the Ambitious City, and it is possible that something may be carried out in this connection.

Discussion of fundamentalism as against modernism is not expected to thrust itself upon the convention as the subject will likely be confined to the pre-convention of the Baptist Bible Union of North America, called by Rev. T. T. Shields, D.D., Toronto, president, for Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 14 and 15. Rev. A. Reilly, D.D., well known United States preacher, will be the chief speaker at this pre-convention.

Albert Matthews, Toronto, Liberal candidate in one of the Queen City ridings in the present federal campaign, is the present president of the association. Dr. Green feels that the honor of the presidency should go to older men in the organization and consequently may not allow his name to stand for that high office.

ELLIOTT OPENS FIGHT IN WEST MIDDLESEX

Personalities Absent. Liberal Nominee Lauds King's Policies.

McCOIG SPEAKS

Kent Senator Assists When Opening Gun Fired at Mount Brydges.

J. C. ELLIOTT, K.C.,
Liberal standard-bearer for West Middlesex, who opened his speaking campaign last night at an enthusiastic meeting in Mount Brydges.
Senator A. B. McCoig of Kent also delivered a fighting campaign speech.

Special to The Advertiser
by a Staff Reporter.
Mount Brydges, Oct. 6.—Despite the bad weather, the Caradoc township hall here was well filled tonight, when a meeting in the interests of J. C. Elliott, K.C., Liberal candidate in West Middlesex, was held. The speakers were Senator A. B. McCoig of Chatham and the candidate, and their declarations of Liberal policy and their accounts of the accomplishments of the King government were warmly received and repeatedly applauded. Edward Bond was chairman. Besides a large turnout of the people of the village there was a great number of farmers present from the surrounding country. In neither the address of Mr. Elliott or that of Senator McCoig was there any of the gloomy utterances which have characterized addresses from Conservative speakers.

Mr. Elliott set an example which might well be followed when he paid a tribute to both his opponents as men of high standing. He talked policies and principles throughout his address, and gave past governments, regardless of their political complexion, credit for what they had accomplished. Senator McCoig, by a simple recitation of the expansion of factory plants in Chatham, refuted beyond any hope of denial the Conservative claims of industrial and business depression. He showed also that the King tariff reductions had helped the farmer by reducing the cost of certain agricultural implements, and had not hindered the factories making them because they were all working full time.

Prejudice Missing.
Mr. Elliott's address was a moderate review of affairs without partisan prejudice or appeals to emotion. He simply set his own record and the record of the present government before the electors, and his clear, concise argument won the approval of the audience. He pointed out that his forebears had settled in this portion of the country in 1824, and that the Elliotts had lived in the vicinity ever since.

"I want to pay a tribute to both my opponents," he said. "Both are men who have enjoyed the confidence of their townships. I entertain the best feelings towards both of them, and I regret that on October 29 that they shall both be defeated when this riding sends a man to the support of Mr. King, who will be the prime minister for the next five years."

Mr. Elliott told how in 1919, after a canvass of the riding, he had declined to run for the legislature, as he had found that many of his old friends were favorable to the U.
O. movement, then starting. However, in this contest a number, who had not been with him in that contest, had asked him to run for the Commons. "I have received encouragement from every section and I have had nothing but splendid courtesy from every one since I became a candidate." Modestly, Mr. Elliott reviewed some of his work in the legislature, taking some credit for assisting in securing the vote for women and in other legislation, which it was now agreed had been for the benefit of the people.

Getting into the larger affairs of a national nature, Mr. Elliott said that no prime minister in Canada had ever faced a harder task than
Mr. King. The debt in 1911 of $225-000,000 had grown until in 1921 it was $2,500,000,000. No loyal citizen, he continued, regretted the debt necessary because of the war. However, the debt was a serious burden even for a population of 9,000,000. He pointed out that the first duty of a government was to pay fixed charges. Over these they had no control. They had also to pay the interest on the debt before reducing the principal. "I feel that the people of Canada may well be proud of the way in which the government has handled the situation. Since Confederation there have only been ten budgets in which there were surpluses, and two of these have been in 1921 under the King government. It has shown a proper appraisal of the situation, in excess of which he could be made without impairing the efficiency of government."

Sought Aid for Farms.

Reverting to 1911, Mr. Elliott said that the Liberals had gone out of power seeking what was one of the greatest things that could have been secured for Canadian farmers, namely the market of the United States for their products. He pointed out that there was a great deal of similarity between the policy of Mr.
King today and the policy of Sir Wilfrid Laurier in 1896, which made the country so prosperous. He further pointed out that the objections made by the Conservatives in 1896 to the Laurier policy were identical with those being made today by Mr. Meighen. The cries of ruin were made then, and yet Canada had never had a more prosperous time than that which followed.
Mr. Elliott said the King government had succeeded in removing the embargo on cattle going to Britain, and had, by their action, increased the price of cattle to the Canadian farmer by one and a half cents a pound and more. "I think that action one of the best things the government did for the farmers of Canada," he declared. The government had also sought to reduce the cost of transporting cattle to Britain,

but the unfortunate death of Sir William Peterson who had signed the contract for carrying cattle at a much cheaper rate than the figure set by the Atlantic combine of ship owners had died. However, the work of getting a fair rate would be pressed. Some years ago, Mr. Elliott explained, bullocks were taken to London for about $20 a head. Now, it was more than double that price.

Flays Senate.

Another obstruction in the way of the King government had been a hostile senate. It had shown its hand in the Home Bank depositors' reimbursement legislation. Mr. Elliott declared that he did not, in principle, believe in a government reimbursing bank depositors who had lost money unless the government was responsible for the bank's failure. But in the case of the Home Bank there were certain people in the government before Mr. King's who knew that the bank was shaky back as far as 1917.
"It was their duty to have warned the depositors. They said they were afraid they would create a panic.
The panic then could not have been half as bad as it was when it did happen. Because of the knowledge of previous governments, the King administration felt obligated to relieve the depositors on account of honor. It was the first time a government had ever assisted bank de-positors who had lost."

There has been a lot of rumors and some deliberate statements that the government never intended to pay the depositors, and that the whole thing was a frame-up with the senate. Do you believe that the senate Tory majority would frame anything to help the Liberals? Mr.
Elliott felt that the present system of helping Home Bank depositors was unfair. It was the design of the senate in changing the bill to embarass the government," he declared.
He also pointed out that it was quite impossible for the government to have put the reimbursement of the depositors through in the supplementary estimates, as every estimate had to be based upon an act of parliament, and all acts had to be dealt with by the senate. The senate, in any event, could have destroyed the effect of the government legislation.
Mr. Elliott pointed out that Mr.
King was the only leader who had pledged senate reform and had pledged all new senators to support reform policies which would be advocated. This was necessary, as the senate, of necessity, according to the constitution, had to pass on an act reforming itself.

Should Support King.

Making an appeal to his electors,
Mr. Elliott said that there was no doubt at all that Mr. King would be returned, and that it would be better for West Middlesex to send a man rather than one who supported him half the time and the other parties
the other half. "I do believe that it is the duty of every citizen to support the government now, and I think that in the best interests of the country that Mr. King should be given a clear majority," he said.

Senator McCoig paid a tribute to the service Mr. Elliott had already given his province and his county in the legislature. Canadian ridings had sent many men to Parliament who were really of no very great service, because they did not understand the problems coming before the house.
No one would deny that Mr. Elliott had a thorough grasp of affairs. He was a man who could give service to his county and to the dominion, as he was recognized as a man of ability from one end of Ontario to the other.
Senator McCoig reminded the audience that times had greatly changed with the Conservative party. None of the great leaders of the Conservative administration of 1911 were candidates on behalf of Mr. Meighen.
"If he were called upon to form a government tomorrow, he could not fill his cabinet with men of experience in public affairs, and I wish to say, with all due respect to Mr.
Meighen, that he is making a mistake when he says that Canada is going backward. I think other cities are much the same as Chatham, and it shows conclusively that Ontario is going ahead. There is a wagon factory in Chatham, and now after tariff reduction, it is running full time and turning out more wagons than it ever did, and the demand is ahead of the turnout. When Mr.
Meighen quit power, a farm wagon cost $144. When Mr. King dissolved parliament, that same type of wagon cost $115, which was a saving of $30
to every farmer who bought one.
Give the producers of this country their implements at a price equivalent to what they sell their products for, and this will be a prosperous country."

McCoig on Tariff.

Senator McCoig said there should be a tariff fair to the west and east as it was to Ontario. Plants were being enlarged in Chatham, he said, and the chairman of the Kent Conservative association, Charles Austin, was building a big addition to his store the very day that Mr. Meighen was in that part of the province predicting blue ruin for Canadian business.
Senator McCoig again declared that if Mr. King brought in a measure to reform the senate and bring it nearer to the people, that he would support such a measure. "We can't get that senate reform from Mr.
Meighen. Mr. Meighen says it is a joke. The senate does need reform, and Mr. King is the only leader who has said that he will reform it."

Senator McCoig gave the meeting a message from Hon. Geo. P. Graham that Essex would send three Liberals to help Mr. Elliott at Ottawa. West Middlesex in the past had been represented by men who had gained high places in politics, and he thought by sending Mr. Elliott to the house of commons they would be repeating history in that regard.

The Disease, But Not the Cure.

Sir Henry Drayton, speaking at Milverton, undertook to suggest a plan whereby consumers would not be exploited under a protective tariff. A reference to this part of his address says:

"Recognizing the force of an argument that protected industries may take advantage of the tariff for price-fixing, Sir Henry proposes to make it unprofitable for any greedy manufacturer to exploit the tariff. This can be done, and will be done by the simple, cheap and effective process of taking from the offending manufacturer the profits resulting from tariff exploitation with resultant unfair prices."

How would that work out in actual practice? A manufacturer would be given a high protective tariff—sixty per cent is being mentioned in some quarters now as a desirable figure. Behind that wall he would turn out his product, knowing that there would be no competition in the home market from outside. As Sir Henry suggests, he might use the opportunity which this situation offers to charge too high a price to the consumer. That would mean in the first place a direct tax on the purchaser. After this had gone on for some time there would be a complaint made that this manufacturer was charging too high a price. This, in turn, would call for an investigation by the government, and an elaborate inquiry would be held calling for the production of evidence in the way of cost sheets, sales records, etc. For the sake of argument, let us take the most hopeful view of Sir Henry's plan, and presume that the finding was that too high a price had been charged. What next?

His own explanation is that he "would take from the offending manufacturer the profits resulting from tariff exploitation with resultant unfair prices."

That means that the consumer would have paid what Sir Henry terms "unfair prices" for some time, and afterward the government would step in and take this money for its own purposes. So the consumer would be no better off, the only difference being that instead of the manufacturer keeping it all the government would get part of it. It would still be a direct tax on the consumer.

That would be one step in the transaction, and would logically have to be followed by another, because it would be necessary to determine what a fair price for the manufactured article would be. That would lead directly to the establishment of a price-fixing board, where an outside body would have power to come to a manufacturing plant and determine the figure at which it could sell its goods. There is nothing suppositious about this—it is the inevitable complement of the other step if the established wrong is to be righted. How many manufacturers would be willing to submit to this form of industrial control? It would move in defiance to such world-wide influences as supply and demand; it would ignore the ability or the inability of people to pay. In short it would seek to do something that has never been accomplished, because price-fixing by an outside body is not only impossible but it is economically undesirable.

Sir Henry Drayton's argument serves to set forth in contrast the Liberal and Conservative positions. The Conservatives, according to his admission, would place a tariff so high that there might be abuses of it; after these abuses had been paid for by the consumer Sir Henry would seek to work out a cure, and at the same time retain the surplus that the consumer had paid in. The Liberals believe it is better for the consumers to be protected by a moderate tariff where these abuses cannot take place, and yet one under which industry has a fair chance to compete for the home market and the markets of the world.

Selling Civic Debentures.

The city treasurer was given authority at the last council meeting to borrow $673,000 on short loans, to meet other loans of a similar nature. It might be easy to come to the conclusion that finances were in a bad way when such an amount had to be borrowed, but the borrowing of that sum is evidence that finances are in good shape. In order to get clearly in mind why the loan is necessary the reasons for it must be stated. London has from time to time issued debentures, some for the electrification of the L. & P. S., the securing of city hall and Federal square property and many other purposes. When the issue was authorized the city treasurer has several times considered the money market too high, and this was particularly noticeable during and immediately after the war, some provincial issues having sold at over 6 per cent.

As soon as a bylaw is passed authorizing a debenture, the city must prepare at once to set aside sinking fund to provide for its retirement. The law does not say the bonds must be sold, and it is City Treasurer Bell's careful handling of the funds that has made money for London by this option. Instead of selling bonds running for twenty years at 6 per cent, he used them as security to get a loan at a lower rate for a short term. In one instance $560,000 was secured from a United States house at 4.40 per cent. If necessary this method is repeated until he considers that the money market is in shape to take up some of the debentures at a rate that will give the city its money at the lowest possible interest rate.

Here is a concrete case of one issue of $300,000 issued at 6 per cent, but not sold until it was possible to secure money at 5½ per cent. That meant the saving of three-quarters of one per cent on $300,000, which at simple interest is $2,250 per year, and not compounded amounts to $45,000 during the twenty years the debenture had to run.

The securing of these short loans is also a business that calls for an acquaintance with sources of supply. They are secured largely from companies that have large seasonal payments to make. A firm knows, for instance, that in September or March it has big commitments to meet for raw material or other obligations. It provides this money as it goes along, but rather than let it draw ordinary deposit rates it will allow a municipality to use it on the security of its debentures until the firm requires it. It represents a profit for the firm and a saving in interest rates for the municipality. This borrowing, in the case of London, is repeated until the city treasurer is satisfied that the time is ripe to dispose of debentures at a figure favorable to the city.

London is fortunate in having a treasurer who is a keen student of investments and money market conditions.

Mean Politics.

The Free Press published an unconfirmed yarn from Toronto concerning Hon. Vincent Massey's resignation from the presidency of the Massey-Harris Company because the story gave the Free Press the chance it wanted to try to discredit the entrance of Mr. Massey into public life. A heading across the page of the evening edition read "Resignation of Vincent Massey Forced." Over his picture was another "Forced to Resign." The story itself said "the shareholders of the Massey-Harris Company are exceedingly happy this morning."

Mr. Massey, whose statements have been particularly frank concerning his entrance into public life, answers this report:

"Before I accepted the prime minister's invitation to join his cabinet I received the unanimous consent of my board of directors in the Massey-Harris Company, and since then I have received no intimation from them that would lead me to believe that they have changed their mind in any sense."

Mr. Massey's course seems to have been fair throughout. As the president of the Massey-Harris Company he owed consideration to the men with whom he was associated in the conduct of that business. Before he gave his answer to Premier King about entering his cabinet he told his board of directors what he had in mind, and he received the unanimous consent of that body to go ahead and place his services at the disposal of the public. The whole transaction was as it should have been.

Mr. Massey resigned from the presidency of the Massey-Harris Company, from the directorate of the Bank of Commerce and the Mutual Life Insurance Company, because he was convinced that in that way he could the better bring an unbiased judgment to bear on all public matters. Each resignation he wrote cost him money, and Canada can find room in the field of public service for qualified men who are willing to do the same thing.

Yet all the Free Press sees in the incident is an opportunity to follow Hon. Arthur Meighen whose attempt to pooh-hoo Mr. Massey caused the independent Ottawa Citizen to say that the Conservative leader was directing the path of ward heelers to mean politics.

The Barber Shop

We use to gossip there a spell, it was a goodly place to go, but now there's silence in the tent, ten maidens waitin' in a row.

In spite of many things I hear and evidence that's plain to see, there's no denyin' of the truth this world ain't what it used to be.

In days what's gone to come no more I sauntered to the barber shop, and chatted there a spell each day if I had hair to prune or not. 'Twas there we passed the time of day and tossed a little scandal too, 'twas there we went to rest our shins and hear what other fellows knew.

And when I had some work for them they laid me lengthwise in a chair, or sat me upright like they should to mow the surplus from my hair. And all the time some other chaps was greetin' others that come in, meanwhile the barber mowed away and sliced the fringe from off my chin.

But nowadays I never go until my wife she says to me, if I don't get my whiskers trimmed they'll bounce upon my crippled knee.

For when I enter in the place ten damself be a-sittin' there, all waitin' on the barber man to carve small sections from their hair. The barber jokes no more with me, nor teases scandal in my ear, and as I think of days that was it seems to me astoundin' queer.

I think the barber's wrong myself in puttin' on his Sunday face, and actin' uppish in his way because there's women in the place. I bet ten cents they'd grin themselves and come to like the chatter too, if folks goin' in the barber shop would talk like what they used to do.—ARK.

Mayor Rumball is daily receiving applications for relief of one kind or another. The fall migration appears to be on and needy ones are on the road to see their friends. The Home-Coming

(By Canadian Press)

OTTAWA, Sept. 23.—Immigration to Canada for the first four months of the fiscal year ended July 31 amounted to a total of 40,608, of which 19,217 were British, 6,874 from the United States, and 14,517 from other countries. In the same period 12,170 Canadians who had been absent in the United States for one month or over returned to Canada with the intention of making their permanent residence in this country. If the returned Canadians are added to the general immigration the total for the four months is 52,778. Immigration for the month of July consisted of 3,123 British, 1,567 from United States, and 3,469 from other countries.

The total number of Canadians who have returned from the United States since April 1, 1924, after settling in that country for six months or longer, and now with the intention of remaining permanently in Canada, is 55,945.

FOR ONCE IT'S RIGHT.

(From the London Free Press)

R. T. HON. MACKENZIE KING may be the leader of the Liberal party, but it would take more than a microscope to discover the fact in the Toronto Globe.

EXACTLY THE SITUATION.

(From the Globe and Mail)

ACCORDING to a Winnipeg report, ship owners have advanced grain rates from Vancouver to Liverpool, by way of the Panama canal, by $12.1 a ton. So the farmers of Alberta are going to be no better off because of the reduction in railway rates through the Rockies, and the railways will be so much poorer.—Orilla Packet.

This is precisely the situation that the King government has been trying to remedy, with no assistance, but instead bitter criticism and obstruction, from Mr. Meighen and his followers. The Conservative party apparently is willing to allow the Canadian farmers and other producers to be robbed by high ocean freight rates without turning a hand to help them.

SUTHERLAND HURLS PERSONAL ATTACK

Claims S. Oxford Liberal Nominee Follows Different Policies.

Special to The Advertiser.
Woodstock, Oct. 6.—Making a strong attack on the Liberal candidate, James W. Innes Donald Sutherland, M. P., for South Oxford, entered into his election campaign in earnest at a meeting held last night at Swaburg. The Liberal candidate was formerly a prominent member of the U. F. O., and almost secured the U. F. O. nomination in the last provincial election, and Mr. Sutherland strongly attacked him on the ground that he was sitting on two horses at one time and was trying to follow two different policies. Another feature of Mr. Sutherland's address was a strong criticism of the Hon. Duncan Marshall, who, he said, had been entrusted with the task of rounding up the Progressives into the Liberal camp in the same way as he had betrayed the Patrons of Industry over 25 years ago. Mr. Sutherland also claimed that the adoption of the Australian trade treaty would mean the death-blow to the dairy industry of Oxford county.

Taxicab Company Seeks $240 Fare

Driver, Thought Slain, Visited Goderich Girl.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Windsor, Oct. 6.—A Windsor taxicab company today sought to collect a $240 taxi bill from one of its own drivers.

Eugene Duquet, 22, of Montmorency street, Windsor, is the driver. He left the taxicab garage at noon Friday, and, after being thought slain, returned suddenly today with the explanation that he had taken four passengers on a long tip.

"Where is the fare?" the company officials asked. "The bill is just $240."

Duquet later told the police that he drove to Goderich to "kiss his girl," whom he had not seen for two months.

DOPE FIEND SENTENCED AND FINED TWO HUNDRED

Canadian Press Despatch.
St. Catharines, Oct. 6.—Jeremiah Herrington, a circus ticket seller, who told Magistrate Campbell his daily portion of dope was 20 grams of morphine, was sentenced to 18 months imprisonment and ordered to pay a fine of $200 and costs today. DEER HUNTING TIME NOW.

Up in the North Woods the boys are already bringing in their game. In the district north of the main line of the Canadian National Railways, between Quebec and Winnipeg, the moose and deer season opened Sept. 15 and will continue until Nov. 15. Throughout this district, which covers millions of acres, big game is always very plentiful, and every hunter who goes north is almost sure of bringing back his full complement.

South of this line to the French and Mattawa rivers the open season for deer and moose is from Oct. 25 to Nov. 30, both dates inclusive, while in the territory yet further south, i.e., south of the French, Pickering and Mattawa rivers, the open season is from Nov. 5 to 20.

The district adjacent to the French, Pickering and Mattawa rivers is easy of access, and is one of the famous and popular hunting grounds of Ontario. Keen, dyed-in-the-wool hunters go up to this country of trail, river and lake every year, and are always successful.

There can be no better vacation than one spent in these northern Ontario woods. Clean your gun, assemble your kit, and get ready for a real he-man holiday. Any Canadian National Railways agent will gladly supply you with full hunting information and particulars of special and regular train service.

Printed leaflet with details of this service and general information of interest to hunters may be had on application.—Advt. xt-021

W. M. S. OF KINTORE TAKES SERVICE

Miss McVicar of India Gives Inspiring Address on Her Work.

Thamesford, Oct. 6.—The W. M. S. of the Presbyterian United church, Kintore, held its annual thank-offering service at the regular hour on Sunday morning. Mrs. H. McDonald, president of the society, occupied the pulpit, and was assisted by the vice-president, Mrs. Calvin Mackay, who read the Scripture lesson. Mrs. Chalmers led in prayer.

The service was opened with the hearty singing of the hymn, "Praise ye the Lord," by the large congregation. After the choir had rendered effectively "Your Mission," Miss McVicar of London, now home on furlough from Central India, in a most rousing and impressive address told of the customs of India and her work there. The beautiful remarks Miss McVicar begged her listeners to transport themselves to India, and think of what would take their attention first.

"Would it be the scenery, the fine buildings, of the people of that land who are so dear to me and my fellow-missionaries there? The beautiful sights of India fade away when one thinks of some of the strange and terrible customs of that land—the feeding of opium to tiny babies to keep them quiet; child marriage; and the reverence paid to sacred animals."

The speaker went on to tell of the eagerness with which the people of India received the gospel.

"Much more could be done," she said, "if there were more funds to send more workers out. Many are waiting to be sent." Her description of the work done by the missionaries in healing the sick, teaching and evangelizing was most interesting. She stated that many a church service was being held under a tree—a church preferred by God himself.

In closing, Miss McVicar told of the glorious privilege it was to carry the gospel, but she added, those at home shared the great privilege in that they were partners with the missionaries, and could also help them with their prayers.

WOMEN URGE FRANCHISE BE GIVEN WITH CEREMONY

Would Have Special Day To Mark Conferring of the Ballot.

COUNCIL OF WOMEN

Important matters will come up for discussion at the annual meeting of the provincial council of women, which will be held in Toronto at Hygeia hall on December 4. This announcement was made locally yesterday afternoon by Mrs. John Rose, president of the local council of women, into whose hands the agenda has been placed. Mrs. Rose expects to go to Toronto for the sessions, which will be attended by other local delegates.

Of most current interest is the resolution concerning the franchise. In this, the statement is made that the franchise is not being exercised frequently enough by women. To remedy this evil, the resolution suggests that the government adopt an interesting plan.

The plan is to the effect that a ceremony be made of the conferring of the franchise, both to native-born when they attain their majority, and to new citizens as they become naturalized and ready for the franchise. It further recommends that a special day be set aside for this ceremony, with the suggestion that Dominion Day would be eminently suitable.

About Women's Work. A plea that women be permitted legitimate work outside the home, is made in another resolution. This is really an endorsement of action taken at the quinquennial of the international council of women, and declares against any limitation of work outside the home of married women, apart from provisions for maternity.

Still another resolution reaffirms the belief in the platform adopted by the national council of women regarding the prohibition of the sale of intoxicants.

Amend Wills Act? There is a resolution which asks the government to amend the wills act, so as to ensure that a man shall leave his wife and children as well as his property as if he died intestate.

provided for as if he died intestate. The speaker asks that the upkeep and education of this man's children be the first charge upon the estate until those children are 21 years of age. A last resolution asks the children of the country be taught the principles of the League of Nations in the preservation of peace in the world. These resolutions are to come before the council for sanction at the annual meeting. The premier and his cabinet will receive delegations from the provincial council at 3 o'clock on the afternoon of Dec. 4.

PRESBYTERIAN WOMEN DO EXCELLENT SUPPLY WORK

The women of the W. M. S. of the Continuing Presbyterian church in the London presbytery, have been doing some excellent work during the past few months, and proof of their efforts was shown recently, when they sent supplies valued at over $300 and over $200 in cash to the boys' school home at New Liskeard.

A bale of articles for India is also a part of the work of the women of the W. M. S. is being sent to the mission field in that country by Rev. Mr. Travener of Embury was the speaker and the Maple Leaf quartet of Galt assisted in the music.

CONTRAST MADE BY DAINY FRONTS

Women Can Have Choice of Two Types of Evening Frocks.

By AILEEN LAMONT. Special to The Advertiser. Copyright.

New York, Oct. 6.—"Making a front" is a specialty of modern dress designers. In more ways than one, the flaring, tunic effects of metal cloth, now so popular, lose half their effectiveness unless a contrast is afforded by collar, banding and front ornamentation in plain materials.

The collars and the strip of material down the front of the gold frocks frequently are of plain black satin, while the hands at the bottom are of dark fur. One striking model, however, has a white pleated jabot almost covering the front from bust to waist.

A choice of two types exists in evening frocks at present. Either they should be heavy and swinging, or fluffy and floating. The former type is represented by velvet and fur with sufficient embroidery to offer an individual touch. The latter type is expressed frequently in mousseline de soie or tulle combined with lace.

Many of the frocks of light material are trimmed with flower designs. Like the little boy who had one dress with two names, women now may have one evening cape with two colors. The velvet capes which are tailored about the shoulders with as much care as suits, frequently are made of reversible material so that they will match at least two frocks.

Can She Be Happy With a Husband Who Doesn't Swim or Dance?—Shall the Family Goat Marry?

Dear Miss Dix—I am a modern girl, very much in love with a young man who wants to marry me. He is a splendid fellow, but he cares for neither swimming nor dancing, and I care for nothing else. Also, this young man refuses to eat canned food and I can't cook. The only things I really know how to do are to swim and dance. Do you think I shall be happy married to this man who refuses to learn how to either dance or swim when I love them so?

JENNY.

Answer:

I don't know whether you would be happy with the young man or not, but I am very certain that the young man will be miserable if he marries you. A flibberty, flibberty little girl who has no higher ideal in life than to spend it in swimming and dancing will make the sort of a wife who causes her husband to curse the day he married her.

There is nothing to be said against swimming and dancing in themselves. They are innocent and healthful diversions when indulged in occasionally. But marriage isn't a swimming tank, and any girl who swims with no other notion in her pretty little head than just amusing herself, and who looks for nothing in her husband except a playfellow, is bound to bring disaster upon them both.

Marriage means the beginning of the real business of life for a girl, as well as it does for a man. It means that she should settle down and get her share of the responsibilities of her youth. She has had her carefree girlhood, but the time has come for her to roll up her sleeves and go to work in earnest, and to help her husband build up his fortune. She has taken upon her husband the responsibilities of wifehood, and it is her duty to devote herself to the career she has chosen so as to make a good job of it.

And believe me, Jenny, to make a good wife will take all of the time and energy and intelligence you have, because wifehood and motherhood are the most complicated professions on earth and require the widest knowledge, the most skill and the greatest tact and diplomacy. For a good wife has to know a little of everything and be a jack of all trades, and expert at every one of them.

And also believe me, Jenny, that by the time you have been married six months, it won't make a particle of difference to you whether your husband swims like a fish, or not. The thing that you will be interested in then will be whether he can make money or not, and what chances he has of advancing in his career. The position he has in the world will be his mind and his heart that will be important to you, not his feet.

As for the young man's refusal to eat out of a can, he is quite right, and if he has a grain of sense he will refuse to marry you until you have qualified as a first-class cook.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I am a woman of 30, madly in love with a man of my own age, but we cannot marry, as I have to support my mother and three sisters. My mother is only middle-aged, strong and able to work, but she is not willing to do it. My sisters, aged 16, 18 and 20, are clever and could get good jobs, but they prefer to spend their time dancing and running around with boys. What shall I do? TROUBLED MARY.

Answer:

The answer to your problem is easy. Get off with your young man and get married, and leave your family flat. They will all go to work when they have nobody to depend upon but themselves, and they will be happier and better in every way for being made to support themselves. The most idiotic thing that any human being ever does is to consent to being made the family goat. There is no virtue in it. There is no sense in it. It is just silly sentimentality and weakness that makes us let other people sacrifice us to their selfishness, and we are fools to do it.

When we make the lazy work and support themselves, we do them the greatest possible kindness. When we make the parasites brace up and stand on their own feet, we have made them a greater gift than a million dollars would be. We make gratters instead of permitting them to sponge on us, we turn them into independent human beings instead of making beggars of them. And when we give in and sacrifice ourselves to those who would make martyrs of us, we simply encourage their vices. That is why the family goat gets more kicks than pats on the head, and it is what he or she deserves.

So don't think you are being selfish in taking your own happiness and leaving your family to shift for themselves. You are doing them a far better turn than you are by supporting them in idleness.

W. A. ANNUAL HELD AT CRONYN HALL

New Deaconess Appointed—Thanksgiving Banquet Opens Social Season.

Mrs. James G. Boucher was again elected to the presidency of the women's association of St. Paul's Cathedral at the annual meeting, held on Monday night in Cronyn hall. Mrs. Norman Tucker is the honorary president, and the members of the executive include: Vice-president, Mrs. F. W. Farncombe; secretary, Mrs. T. H. Carling; treasurer, Mrs. W. J. Ashplant; committees, Miss Shaw-Wood, convener sick-visiting; Mrs. Charles Bicknell, convener of newcomers; committee, Mrs. F. W. McFarland and Mrs. Lionel Elliott, social; Mrs. Harris Elliott, deaconess, and Mrs. Arthur Gleason, convener of the Sunday afternoon teas, arranged for the welcoming of the young people of the congregation and the newcomers. Ad- ditional members of the executive named last night are Mrs. David Williams, Mrs. Lightbourne, Mrs. J. Harley Brown, Mrs. Berkeley Chawick, Mrs. J. A. Gunn, Mrs. Macfie, Miss Matthews, Miss Lella Peters, Mrs. F. W. Raymond and Mrs. E. R. Seabrooke.

New Deaconess. Dean L. N. Tucker announced the appointment of a new deaconess, Miss Shree, who comes to the duty from Edmonton very soon to assume her new duties. Dean Tucker also congratulated the association on the achievements of the past year in the general work of the church.

The association's activities begin with a thanksgiving banquet to be held some time in November. This will be an outstanding event, and will be arranged by the social committee, with Mrs. Ashplant as ticket convener, and Mrs. Harry T. Dickinson as program convener. The program will be of unusual merit, and it is probable that it will include a short play produced by Stanley Meredith.

Splendid Year. The treasurer showed a splendid financial year. A $1,000 bond was purchased and there is a gratifying balance in the treasury. The association has assisted in various church undertakings, has contributed to the deaconess' fund and has made important donations. During the year a number of small benefit entertainments are to be arranged, taking the place of the annual bazaar, which has been cancelled. The present objective of the association is the flooring of the aisles of the cathedral.

A social hour followed, when refreshments were served by the retiring members of the executive. It was also an occasion for the older members of the organization to meet a number of newcomers.

HADASSAH CHAPTER.

The Hadassah chapter members are holding their first meeting of the fall this evening at the Horton street synagogue. At this session the program for the winter will be drafted. A special event is being planned for Dec. 15, in commemoration of the feast of Chanuka, and it is also hoped that Mrs. Seigel of Toronto will be able to come to the city some time this month to address an open meeting.

After all else failed, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN brought sure relief from constipation

Thousands have cleansed their systems of constipation's poisons.

Constipation exacts a telling price. Its hideous poisons lead to over forty devastating diseases. But let Mrs. Rensch tell her story:

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is the very best I ever used for chronic constipation. I have used all kinds of medicine and nothing helped me like ALL-BRAN. It has such a nice flavor and it is cheaper than paying out hundreds of dollars seeking relief.

Yours truly,

Mrs. A. P. Rensch.

Don't neglect constipation. Drive its terrible poisons out of your system.

An Adventure of the Great Lakes

By HAROLD TITUS

INSTALMENT 4.

Three years passed. The warden, a grizzled, gray-eyed, heavy-jawed man, looked over his shoulder from a list of names he held and addressed his deputy.

"How's that young sailor, Garrison?"

"O. K. Darned good sort."

The deputy removed his cigar. "He's been here three years without a mark against him. Willing, clean, good worker. Too. Never seems to want to do anything to do with anybody."

Some of the guards think he's batty because when he's outside in the yard he always stays by himself. He'll sit or stand alone by the hour, scowling. Seems like no was trying to remember something. Funny case, anyhow. Can't help thinking that maybe they slipped up on the man, but the evidence sure was against him."

"Yeah. Prosecution's case was fireproof. Shift him around a little. Put him on a truck. Saw him walking alone the other day myself. He did seem trying to remember. But he's all right in the head. Maybe a little change'll help him."

And that was the beginning of the process by which Carl Garrison, in his prison uniform of dark blue, was allowed to ride on a prison motor truck, out through a gate in the walls and into Marquette with a load of freight on that fair August morning, his first excursion beyond the shadow of the penitentiary in three long years.

For those three years he had been buried alive with memories; memories which were at his command and other memories which persisted in eluding him, sinking back into some unfathomable corner of his brain, hiding there, tantalizing him with their hidden presence.

For those three years he had tried to remember, but the shadow of bits across his work bench by day and across his cot by night was no help. The very fact of imprisonment seemed to be a killing handicap to his effort to remember, to dig deep into his brain and make it yield the explanation of the plight in which he found himself.

There was no person or influence to aid him in the struggle either. His attorney had come twice after his commitment and then the lawyer moved into southern Michigan and after that there was none to visit him. Garrison had no family. His sailor friends were scattered and his friends among landmen were not in the state that had deprived him of his liberty. Now and then a letter trickled in at first, but these communications were few and he did not answer them. The story of the case that had been made out against him sounded convincing, and he feared that those who took enough interest to write were doing so out of loyal sympathy, and not because they believed in his innocence.

Innocent he was. Never had he doubted that for an instant; he needed no psychiatrist to convince him of his blamelessness. He had never had an impulse to steal; never had his temper been murderous. He knew that his mind had betrayed him, but he was certain that in his nature was no buried black streak which could have forced him to theft and killing even though his brain might have ceased functioning for a long period.

And it had not been long, that blank space in his memory, that he had more and more certain of that. Seconds, only, it had endured. Bewildered, fuddled seconds ending in a crash. That crash had come to memory within recent months. He recalled it now; a sound like his brain exploding, with that face leering at him, that mocking, partially revealed face that would not come out of the fog for identification.

Being alone with torture like that was a terrible experience. It was terrible for a man whose home had been those rolling inland seas to be confined in the realm of the silent citizen, with functions behind stone walls, with guards and cage doors to keep it there. A terrible thing for a man who was born and schooled to command free men to be commanded by men whose duty it is to command society's outcasts.

And now as they trundled along on their way back to the prison, with white-decked Superior tumbling in toward them beneath a brisk northerly breeze, it seemed more terrible than ever, because out there was where he should be; there was peace and a fitting environment in which to remember. Occasionally he had heard the roar of surf which penetrated the heavy prison walls. The surge had made him restive, had increased the galling of his imprisonment, but that disturbance was nothing compared to seeing that restless water.

The lake called Carl Garrison; it mocked him with its vivid colorings and the free, supple action of its swells. The spurs of spume, out yonder where the breakwater thwarted seas were like beckoning fingers, tantalizing him. "Come out! Come out!" they seemed to say. "We are your friends, we waters. Out here you can rest and remember. Come on! Come with us!"

Oh, he was no resigned prisoner, and now that he had looked again on free water his cell at night would suffocate him, choke out his life!

He stood leaning against the rack which was staked to the body of the truck, one arm thrown along the top of the driver's cab to steady himself. On the other side was another prisoner. On the seat beside the truck who drove was a third in prisoner's garb.

The guard, leaning against the end gate, whistled lightly through his teeth and nursed the rifle against his breast, staring with vacant eyes over Lake Superior, the lake that mocked Carl Garrison. Yes, the guard could look on the water idly and be unimpressed.

The truck swung to the far right of the smooth roadway and Garrison looked ahead at the change. A small, lean car, stripped of fenders, windshield and top, was hurtling toward them. Two lads were on the low seat, one grasping the wheel with his face thrust to one side as he peered ahead at the ribbon of road which his machine devoured so readily. The other was talking to him, mouth close to his companion's cheek and his fair hair rippled in the rush of the wind.

"Too fast," Garrison heard the truck driver growl as he edged still farther to the right. "Too damn fast!"

His ejaculation, almost in grime at being right, had scarcely time to leave his lips before the impact.

The light car, swinging to the left to avoid a newly repaired spot, was brought back with a spin of the steering wheel. The front tires gripped at a treacherous gravel and it flew from them like foam from a speeding ship's bow. One of the machine's rear wheels lifted from the road and it launched itself straight at the radiator of the heavy truck.

"There!"

The driver's word was still echoing in Garrison's ears when his head stopped ringing, so it could not have been spoken so long before. He was in the brush at the roadside, flat on his back, gasping for breath. The crash had sent him clear of the truck, clear of the highway, and put him down with a sprawling flop. He lay there retching for some minutes. Gradually his breath returned and the agony in his middle eased. He felt weak from the shock the fall had given him and lay still while the worst of the pain ebbed from his body.

The brakes of another automobile squealed as the car came to a stop. Voices were lifted in sharp exclamations.

"How'd it happen?" someone asked, loudly.

"Don't! Oh, don't! My leg's broken!"

That was a boyish voice, and Garrison reasoned it must be one of the lads who had been in the speeding car.

A new voice:

"No, no. Let me alone. I'll be all right in a minute."

Another:

"Lord, man, you'll have to stop that bleeding. Your scalp's laid open!"

Saunt of feet. A low moan.

"Serves you right, breakin' your leg. Lucky it wasn't your neck. Say, you'll have to get the guard back here. He looks like he was in a bad way."

That was the voice of the truck driver and he went on to say more as another car came to a stop and fresh voices joined the confusion.

Garrison looked up to the clear sky through the green leaves of bushes into which he had fallen. He was impelled to go to the aid of those who had been hurt, but a great listlessness had followed the regaining of his breath and he felt that he would be unable to lift a pound, let alone successfully help carry an injured man.

"Get a doctor, won't you?" the boy moaned. "Don't touch—please don't!"

"We'll have to, son. It's quicker to run you into town than to bring a doctor out. You'll have to be moved some time. Here! Two more of you. Take him easy, now!"

The lads' protests became merely moans and sharp cries.

Garrison sat up. That change in position brought his eyes into the thinning tops of branches and he could see what was going on out there. A half dozen civilians were with the prisoners. One of the trucks was leaning against the wrecked truck, holding a blood-stained handkerchief to his head and a thin trickle of crimson ran down his cheek. The prisoner driver and another convict were helping three of the civilians carry the injured boy to a large touring car. Others were bending over some figure that lay flat. Two more stood about, ready to help, but finding nothing to do for the moment.

The wind rustled the leaves about Garrison, and to his ears, excluding for the instant all other sounds, came the wash of surf, a ponderous beating, steady and solid, like the heavy tread of an advancing fate. . . . His lake, calling to him to be at peace. His lake!

Carl sank back on one elbow, breath quick, a hot thrill singing through his brain. His throat went at all. After taking Carter's Little Liver Pills for a while the trouble started to disappear. I also noticed my face had better color and was clearer, my eyes brighter, my appetite more hearty and I had no constipation. Now I can see that bad breath comes from the stomach, and it's temporary. Wondered Why

Breath Was so Bad

Brooklyn. Miss Rose Dittmar writes: "Even though I brush my teeth and use a mouth wash, my friends turned away when I talked and I wondered why my breath was so offensive, while people less careful were not troubled at all. After taking Carter's Little Liver Pills for a while the trouble started to disappear. I also noticed my face had better color and was clearer, my eyes brighter, my appetite more hearty and I had no constipation. Now I can see that bad breath comes from the stomach, and it's temporary. WILL NOT JOIN SOVIET LABOR

President Green of A. F. of L.
Announces Policy of Organization.

Associated Press Despatch.
Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 7.—Amid scenes of great enthusiasm President William Green, of the American federation of labor, this afternoon announced that American labor would never affiliate with the Russian labor movement, "that stands for a philosophy of overthrowing the government." His statement was made in response to a hope expressed earlier by Arthur A. Purcell, member of the British parliament, that America would establish close relations with the Russian labor movement.
The fraternal greetings of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada were conveyed to the convention
today by Donald Dear, a delegate from the dominion. In the address, Mr. Dear told of labor legislation impending and in force in Canada.

RUSSIANS ACCLAIM RETURN OF LIQUOR

Gallon Tins and Tea Kettles
Are Used by Thirsty Muscovites.

Associated Press Despatch.
Moscow, Oct. 7.—For three days
the Russian people have been celebrating with unabated rejoicing and conviviality the country's return to alcohol. After 11 years of partial prohibition, Russia let down the restrictions on strong liquors on Sunday last.
In Moscow yesterday nearly 100,000
quarts of the new 40 per cent vodka was sold and a correspondingly heavy sale was reported throughout Russia. From early in the morning lines of eager Russians, four deep, extending for a whole city block, waited patiently for the wine shops for their share of the popular beverage. Some of them carried gallon tins, basins, water pails and even tea kettles.

CITY TAXES REACH $38.31 PER CAPITA

It increased about $14,477.18," reads
the clerk's report. "The increase was brought about mainly by an increase of $500 in police office, $1,000 in juvenile court, $12,000 for increase in fire department staff and motoriza-tion, $1,500 in town planning costs, and $2,500 in street lighting. The revenue received was about $600 less.
The increase was reduced by economy wherever possible."
"The proposed expenditure for health and sanitation decreased $17,- 050.07. The decrease was brought about by plumbing and ambulance fees nearly $4,000, bacteria beds reduction $1,000, bacteria beds reduction $4,000, and debt charges $16,000."
"The proposed expenditure for highways increased $32,311.71. This increase was brought about by provincial highways $16,610, street repairs $15,000, suburban and country $4,000. This was a decrease of cost for snow removal of about $8,500."
"The proposed expenditure for education is $18,571.58. This increase is due to an increase of $5,000,
the public schools $10,000, the technical school $8,000 and the separate schools $2,000. There was a decrease in University payments of about $8,000."
"The proposed expenditure for charities and correction increased $28,403.75. This increase is due to an increase of $600 in industrial school costs, hospital $7,000, city general relief $2,000, unemployment relief $20,- 000, with a reduction in Byron Sanatorium costs of $1,500 and mothers' allowance of $1,000."

FAIRLY LONG SESSION OF COUNCIL IS LIKELY

City Fathers Will Consider the Street Railway Bylaw Tonight.

In anticipation of a fairly long session, the city council will get underway at 7:30 tonight to discuss its favorite topic, the London Street Railway and bylaw 916 which governs the agreement between the city and the street railway company.
It is still an open question as to whether the press will be allowed to listen in on the explanations and intricacies of the bylaw as expounded to a respectful council by City Solicitor T. G. Meredith. There is still a feeling in some quarters that the city solicitor would be moved to a franker speech if the newspaper men were absent.
On the other hand, the mayor and Alderman Douglas see no reason why the press should not receive just as much information on the by-law as the aldermen themselves and they will oppose any exclusion of reporters.

Turk Students Score England

Associated Press Despatch.
Constantinople, Oct. 7.—The second anniversary of the arrival of Mustafa Kemal Pasha's forces in Constantinople was observed today as a public holiday.
Groups of students paraded the streets and staged acrobatic performances before the British embassy shouting: "We want Mosul!" and "Down with England!" No other incidents were reported.

TRIANGLE FIGHTS TORIES' ONLY HOPE

United Canada Aim of Liberals, Premier Tells North Battleford.

North Battleford, Sask., Oct. 7.— Urgently pleading for Liberal support from the west, Premier King last night again pressed his cause in Saskatchewan.
"I hold out my hand in fellowship from the east," he exclaimed, "and I ask you to clasp it. I plead with you for a larger voice from the west in the government of our dominion, because I want to see a united Canada."
On his way to Edmonton, Mr. King spoke from the rear of his car at three different points. He declared that the only chance Conservatives had of getting elected in the west was through three-cornered fights.
And he declared that if the situation
were reversed, if the Progressives had candidates running throughout the dominion, he would be the first man to want to get out rather than that Conservatives should get into power.

The government needed western support, he said, because the west represented more distinctly than any other part of the dominion the great basic industry of agriculture.
"It," declared the prime minister,
"is a strong following from Western Canada that will help us to work together unitedly, we will complete the Hudson Bay railway." He thought the line should have been completed before.

HE'S A REAL MARQUIS, BUT "HANK" TO YANKS

"Mr." Gloria Swanson Says
Title Goes Back to Eighteenth Century.

Associated Press Despatch.
Paris, Oct. 7.—Marquis Henri de la Folais de la Couraye, Gloria Swan-son's husband, when told yesterday that his title was questioned in the United States, said laughingly:
"After all, I suppose we are all descended from Adam."
"My title actually is Marquis de la Couraye, conferred by Queen Maria Casimira of Poland, in 1707, on my fifth great-grandfather, then named Baron de la Folais, at the time he was ambassador at Rome."
"This should be my entire name—
James Henry le Bailly de la Folais.
Marquis de la Couraye." As a matter of fact I am generally called
"Hank" in the United States."

Ford Plans New Plane

Careful Experiments on New Machine Are Being Made.

Associated Press Despatch.
Detroit, Oct. 7.—Graphically illustrating his idea of the value of aircraft with a job of his hand and the words "zip—and you are there," Henry Ford described work being done in his laboratory toward developing an aero-plane for common use. His laboratories at Dearborn, Ford said, are already developing a motor of this type of aeroplane. It will be an eight-cylinder, air-cooled, X-type motor, developing 700 horsepower and weighing about two pounds to the horsepower.
It will have, he said, all of the economical characteristics of automobile motors.
The motor, as designed and now in process of construction, will have accessible and interchangeable parts and no adjustments, he continued. If a part wears out it can be thrown away
and another one put in.
The manufacturer said the new motor would be tested out in a plane within a short time.

Ideal Weather For the Opening

Associated Press Despatch.
Pittsburg, Oct. 7.—Clear, snappy weather with the sun peeking through an early morning mist, greeted baseball fans as they rose this morning and cast an anxious glance skyward to determine the fate in store for the opening game of the world series.
The weather forecast had called for showers and colder but this morning indications were that the day would remain clear.

FORMER AYLMER WOMAN SUCCUMBS IN MONTANA

Special to The Advertiser.
Aylmer, Oct. 6.—A telegram was received here yesterday announcing the death of Jennie, wife of J. W.
McKenney, at Billings, Montana.
Death was the result of a stroke on Saturday last, from which she never rallied. She was formerly Jennie Love of Aylmer, and is survived by her husband, a son of R. C. McKenney, of Aylmer; one sister, Miss Grace
Love, of Walkerville, and one brother, George Love, manager of the Royal bank, Springfield. Miss Charlotte
Walker of Aylmer is an aunt.
The funeral was held at Billings on Monday, Oct. 5. Mr. McKenney is in a very critical condition, not having recovered from an operation performed last spring, and he is still in bed.

SYRIAN CAVALRYMEN SUPPRESS UPRISING

Beirut, Syria, Oct. 7.—A Syrian cavalry squadron has put down what is described as a local uprising at Hama, killing or wounding thirty of the rebels.
The crowd, which included many Bedouins, menaced the public buildings, disarmed the local police and are reported to have set fire to the palace before the cavalry arrived.

"Canada, Canada, land of the beaver,
Labour and skill have their triumph to-day;
Oh! may the joy of it flow like a river,
Wider and deeper as time flies away.
Bells, chime out merrily,
Trumpets, call cheerily,
Science and industry laugh and are gay."
—John Reade.

It was a magnificent Canada that John Reade pictured when he wrote his celebrated Ode to Dominion Day,—a Canada that was in a very real sense the land of the beaver,—a Canada that was abundantly prosperous under the dominating influences of science and industry!

But his prayer that her progress might flow uninterrupted like a river has not been altogether fulfilled. For the past few years the picture of Canada as he painted her has been turned towards the wall.

Under the withering policy of cancelled protection, Canadian science has become little more than a handmaiden to the United States, Canadian industry has languished and contracted, and the Canadian beaver finds a shadow on its right to pose as our national emblem!

The Exodus of People to the United States

The cream of our youth, fresh from schools and colleges where they have been trained in the arts and sciences, are leaving the homes that have raised them, are forsaking the country that has educated them, and are throwing in their lot with Canada's greatest rival.

Native-born scientists, writers, artists and musicians of exceptional ability all too frequently drift away from Canada to the United States, where careers of wider scope attract them, and where more money is to be made by the exercise of their talents. Many of our ablest business executives are similarly lost to us because of the tempting offers they receive from across the border.

Canada educates these young men and young women at the public expense—brings along a new lot of them every year—for what? For Uncle Sam to take his pick! And the irony of it is that when he gets them, he frequently employs them at tasks that result in loss of business, loss of employment, to people in the country of their birth!

Economic laws do not work one way for one country, and another way for another!
Repeat the cause, and inevitably you repeat the effect!

No country in the world is more blessed than Canada with the things necessary for rapid and sustained progress. All she needs is men and money to develop her resources. And these she can get if she goes after them properly!

Being still what is commonly known as a pioneer country, Canada should be attracting population from lands that are more congested. But at present she isn't! And the reason she isn't, is that she is doing nothing to assure the prospective immigrant a steady job at good wages!

You Cannot Make Bricks Without Straw

Canada cannot hope to attract immigrants so long as her own people are leaving her in thousands, and going to the United States!

She cannot possibly compete for immigration with the United States so long as her manufacturers are denied the protection that would enable them to pay United States wages, and still hold their own against importations from low-wage countries!

By steadily lowering her tariffs, Canada has been forcing her manufacturers into a position where they are between the devil and the deep blue sea! They must pay substantially United States wages or lose their skilled help. Yet when they do, without a tariff like that of the United States to protect them, they cannot control their home market against European goods that have been produced by cheap labor!

If Canada wants immigrants, it must have healthy industries. And if it is to have healthy industries, it must protect them!

The Exodus of Material to the United States

But it is not alone of people that the United States has been bleeding us. It has tapped our storehouse of raw material as well, and is slowly but surely depleting it.

Canada is foolishly selling her forest products as raw materials, when she might be selling a much larger proportion of them as paper, or as highly finished articles of wood.

Canada is foolishly letting United States millers take her hard wheat, that makes the best flour in the world, and grind it into flour to supply foreign markets, when she might be supplying those markets herself.

Canada is foolishly inviting United States manufacturers to help themselves to her ores, so that they can make them into metal products to sell back to her, when she might be making them into metal products herself, and forcing the United States consumer to buy from her.

But by Using Good Seed You Can Grow Fine Wheat

Canada should aim to use not only her own resources, but the raw materials available from other countries, to build up healthy industries for herself.

The United States has managed to build up huge paper, nickel and asbestos industries on the basis of raw material largely supplied by Canada.

The United States produces no raw silk, no raw rubber, and very little raw sugar of its own, yet to-day it possesses the world's greatest industries in those lines.

Such industries have been a big factor in swelling that country's population, and adding to its prosperity. If Canada were to develop similar industries in the same way that the United States has developed them, there is no reason why she could not swell her population and add to her prosperity in proportionate degree!

Bank Clerks.

Associated Press Despatch.
Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 7.—The American Federation of Labor was in session less than two hours yesterday, transacting routine business, receiving seventeen resolutions of varied character, and listening to an address by Fritz Tarnow, of Berlin, spokesman for a delegation of fifteen German trade unionists now in America investigating industrial conditions.
Among the resolutions were those opposing military training camps and any effort to foster militarism, urging union-labelled wallpaper, and favoring the organization of bank

All resolutions were referred to

PREMIER BRUCE FOR AUSTRALIAN DEFENCE

Announce Proposal of Government For National Defence
If Returned To Power.

Associated Press Despatch.
London, Oct. 6.—Great interest is being shown here in military circles at Premier Bruce's cabled announcement of the proposals of his government, if returned to power, for Australian national defence. The naval program, including cruiser, and submarine construction has been outlined before but the military program, providing for the formation of Cadros, amounting to an army corps, with auxiliary forces and two divisions of cavalry is new. The five infantry divisions proposed with their complement of artillery and air services and the cavalry, would give Australia a standing army equal to the entire Australian force under arms at the armistice.

BRITISH AUTOMOBILE INDUSTRY BOOMING

Prosperity Follows Reimposition of McKenna Duties on U. S. Cars.

Associated Press Despatch.
London, Oct. 7.—In these times when so much doleful news with regard to the state of British industry is appearing in the newspapers,
it is refreshing to find that the Daily Mail has discovered at least two prosperous centers in the country—Coventry and Leicester. Coventry is described by the Mail as the busiest place in the United Kingdom. The motor car factories there are working at the highest pressure, and the Mail attributes this happy state of affairs largely to the re-imposition of the McKenna duties. The factories in Leicester are working overtime and the export trade is good. The shoemaking industry, for which Leicester has long been famous, has also prospered.

SAYS HARRIS WILL TAKE ALL CHANCES

Foster Looks For Safety First Touch From Pirate Pilot.

Bucky Harris will be the chance-taker in this world series, says John B. Foster, the baseball expert, in analyzing the managerial tactics of Washington and Pittsburgh.

By JOHN B. FOSTER. Copyright, 1925.

Pittsburgh, Oct. 6.—With the smoke of the speed boys hovering over Forbes field for the opening game of the world series Wednesday, it seemed today that Meadows and Johnson would be the starting pitchers, two veteran pilots against each other to begin what promises to be one of the greatest baseball battles in history.

The left wing thinks Manager Bucky Harris should pitch Coveleskie in his first game here, yet if it is true that Coveleskie has an ailing back which doesn't come around as it should, Harris is almost forced to pitch Johnson, unless he wants to go in with Ferguson, and there isn't much prospect of that.

Same Tactics Likely. This series may not be played as differently from a manager's standpoint from that of 1924, except that this year the Washington boss is looked to be the big factor, whereas last year against the Giants Harris was the conservative.

Let Pitchers Stay. McKeech is a man who does a long way with his twirlers before he chances them.

Harris has his twirlers sized up so well that he shifts quicker than his rival.

In the play that won them this year's league championship, both managers were, early in the season, criticized for these traits, but the final count shows their tactics were right.

McKeech is wavering between Aldridge and Eddies for the opener, but it looks like Meadows. There is no doubt about that, well, he is likely to come back and pitch splendidly, while if Meadows doesn't do it, well, he may be too abashed to let out in a second game, fearing he will get wild, and then his own team—not the other fellow.

How much of a chance McKeech will give Morrison is another question. Bill has not outlined any program for his pitchers, as has Harris, nor is he likely to do so.

Morrison couldn't shake this Washington team walk the plank straighter than a condemned pirate if he could start and finish a game exactly as he has started and finished some of his best games this year, but the thing is to get him so he is just right to do that.

South C. I. Strong for School Meet. South Collegiate athletes are rapidly rounding into form for the four-school track and field meet that will be held at the Queen's park oval on Saturday, and expect to go a long way in capturing the chief laurels of the day.

The season of 1925-26 has brought some changes to the teams, but these changes are not so pronounced as those of a year ago. Sinclair is the chief loss of the year, and his absence will be seriously felt, however, winning members are determined to put up a struggle that should make up for his loss. Those who are still on the team are all of high-class calibre. Riddell, Norris, Haslam, George, Franks, Dale, Scerston and Caughell will make up the senior team.

The intermediate have many new faces in their ranks. Five of last year's team are present, Jeffrey and Hancock being the only ones who have had any previous experience in this class. Rankin of last year's team is in Central, and several others are now seniors. The new material looks very promising, and will do them well in the making excellent material for the future.

The junior group is, as usual, an unknown quantity, and it will require competition to prove their worth. They are a very willing crowd, however, and will give their best to hold up their end of the team.

Tabloid Close-Ups of Men Who Bar Way of Senators

EARL SMITH.

Earl Smith, catcher, has been in the service of the Pittsburgh Pirates for a little more than one season, coming from the Braves. He gained prominence as a member of the New York Giants from 1919 to 1922, where he alternated behind the bat with Frank Snyder, and has participated in two world's series, both against the New York Yankees.

He has hit about .300 for the Pirates and appears to be satisfied with his new berth after having had differences with the New York and Boston managements in the past. Smith is of the rugged type, a constant talker on the field. He stands 5 feet, 10½ inches, and weighs 180 pounds.

GOOCH.

Johnny Gooch, born in Smyrna, Tenn., in 1899 is playing his fifth season behind the bat for Pittsburgh, having been purchased from Birmingham of the Southern association in September, 1921. Like Earl Smith, he is a rugged man, one who guards the plate in the old-fashioned way. Gooch stands 5 feet, 10½ inches, and weighs about 180. He bats either right or left handed.

MEADOWS.

H. Lee Meadows, Florida real estate operator, and the only bespectacled pitcher in the majors, is in his eleventh year of big league service, having played with three clubs in the National league. He was traded to Philadelphia by St. Louis, after four years there, in 1919, and the Pirates obtained him in 1923 along with Johnny Rawlings for Glazner and Tierney.

In ten years he won 129 games and lost 150, but this season he has been a strong member of the Pittsburgh staff, winning twice as many games as he has lost. This has been his best year in the majors. Meadows was born in Oxford, N. C., July 12, 1894. He is 6 feet tall and weighs 170 pounds.

KREMER.

Ray Kremer, one of the mainstays of the Pirates staff, although he has been in professional baseball since 1914, is only in his second year of major league work. He was obtained from Oakland of the Pacific Coast league in the 1923 season. In 1915, however, he was with the Giants for a time, but had no opportunity to play, and the next season appeared with Vancouver. From 1916 to 1923 he was with Oakland, his home city.

In his first year Kremer demonstrated his value by winning 18 and losing 10, and this year his average is better than .600. He is 29 years old, stands 6 feet, 1 inch, and weighs 190.

YDE.

Emil Yde (pronounced Eede) came into note last season as one of the game's greatest left handers when he won 16 games against 3 defeats, his first season in the majors. From 1914 his record is imposing with twice as many victories as defeats, and he is expected to carry the portside burden for McKeech in the world's series.

Yde, a 175-pound physical director, was born Jan. 28, 1901, at Great Lakes, Ill., and twenty years later played his first professional baseball with Cedar Rapids.

MORRISON.

John Dewey (Jughandle) Morrison of Pileville, Ky., is one of the veterans of the Pirates staff. He received his nickname locally from the numerous twists which he compels a baseball to make in reaching the batter. Morrison, now 29 years old, advanced to the majors through Madisonville, Anniston and Birmingham, Ala., arriving in the Pittsburgh camp in 1924. His record, including the season of 1924, showed 43 victories and 47 losses. In 977 innings 950 hits were made. He has been victorious in a majority of his games this season.

He is a right-hander, who stands almost six feet and weighs about 170 pounds.

McINNIS.

John Phelan (Stuffy) McInnis, 35 years old, and one of the most famous players on the Pirates roster, is very likely to see much service at shortstop in the world's series. Only he and Eddie Collins, the Chicago manager, survive one of history's greatest infelds, the old Philadelphia American 8100, a combination, which also included Jack Barry and Frank Baker.

McInnis, a native of Gloucester, Mass., appeared in the professional ranks with New Bedford and Haverhill of the old New England league in 1908. The next year found him in Philadelphia, and for nine years he remained there, successful as Harry Davis. In 1918, his usefulness considered at an end, Stuffy was traded to the Red Sox, but while there he made one of the game's greatest marks, one error being charged against him in an entire season.

salary matters and was dropped, to be signed by Pittsburgh.

GRANTHAM.

George Farley Grantham, first baseman, is one of the players obtained from Chicago last winter in a deal which brought along Vic Aldridge and Bert Niehaus for Rabbit Maranville, Charley Grimm and Wilbur Cooper. In Chicago he was a second baseman, but McKeech transformed him into a first sacker when Niehaus proved a bust. In 100 games he has batted .320, and is considered one of the most dangerous hitters in the Pirates cast.

Grantham played with the Cubs three years, and in 1924 batted .316. His earlier experience was with Tacoma in 1920-1921 and Omaha of the Western league in 1922.

He is a native of Galena, Kas., and is 25 years old. He is 5 feet 10 inches tall, weighs 155, and is one of the fastest men in the game.

ALDRIDGE.

Vic Aldridge, a big right-hander, has been a successful pitcher throughout his major league career. In three years with the Chicago Cubs he won 47 games and lost 36. He had a trial in 1917 and 1918 with the same club, winning six and losing the same in the first year and losing one in his second season before being sent to Los Angeles.

The Pirates obtained him in the trade of last November, and his percentage of victory this year is 50. He was born in Indian Springs, Ind., Oct. 25, 1894.

MOORE.

Eddie Moore, native Kentuckian, came to the Pirates in 1923 from Atlanta and was used at shortstop in six games, and the following year he was a utility player, ranging from second to third and the outfield. His hitting makes him a worthy member of any club. In 1924 he batted .359, and so far this season has attained an average of .320.

Eddie had been playing second, but when Rawlings made a remarkable showing in the New York series, which really decided the pennant, he went to right field. He is 24 years old and has been in the majors since 1914, and so far this season has attained an average of .320.

WRIGHT.

Forest Glenn Wright, born in Archie, Mo., in 1902, has proved a sensation at shortstop since he entered the major league with Pittsburgh last year, coming from the Kansas City Blues. Today he is one of the club's most dependable hitters, with an average of .310. Last season, a recruit, he played in 153 games of the schedule, showing remarkable endurance for a first-year man, and he has been in his position throughout the 1925 schedule.

Wright started his baseball climb with independence of the Southwest, then went to Kansas City of the American Association for two years before coming to the Pirates. He is one of the tallest shortstops in baseball, standing 5 feet 11 inches and weighing about 170 pounds.

CAREY.

Max Carey, center-fielder and one of the leading base stealers of the day, is the true veteran of the Pirates. He came to them in 1918, after playing for Detroit in the world's series of 1909 and has been stationed in the outfield ever since. Two years with the South Bend team of the Central league were sufficient to prepare Carey for his major league service.

Carey has been a good hitter all his career, batting .325, coming in 1922, but he has been known for his remarkable speed on the bases. In fourteen years he has been credited with 632 thefts. In 1916 he stole 63 bases.

Max was born in Terre Haute, Ind., in 1890.

TRAYNOR.

Harold Joseph (Pie) Traynor has been the regular third baseman of the Pittsburgh Pirates for three years and today is considered one of the best men at his position in the National game. He is a 25-year-old six-footer, native of Framingham, Mass., weighing 170 pounds, something far out of the ordinary for a third baseman.

He entered baseball, after a remarkable athletic career in high school, joining Portsmouth of the Virginia league in 1920 and in the same year found his way to the Pirates, but after performing in seventeen games he was released to Birmingham. The next year saw his return and he played seven games at short and third base. He became the regular in 1922. In 1923, Traynor hit .338, almost .300 in 1924, and this season is well within the select circle as a batsman.

Baseball experts regard Traynor as one of the greatest guardians of the base in history, his adept hands covering everything between the pitching box and the bag he plays.

CUYLER.

Hazen S. (Kiki or Cuy-Cuy) Cuyler has given the Pittsburgh Pirates much of the attacking power that finally, after 16 years, has brought them their National league pennant. In his third year of service with them he is leading the regulars in hitting with an average of .360. Last season, in his first full schedule, he registered .354.

Cuyler started with Bay City in 1920, and the same year was obtained by Pittsburgh, but he remained on the bench, and 1921 found him back in Bay City. In 1922 he was with Charleston, S. C., and in 1923 with Nashville, where Pittsburgh obtained him again and played him in eleven games.

A man weighing nearly 180 pounds and having exceptional speed on the bases and his throwing arm is mighty, in the defense he is known as a "ball hawk".

Cuyler was born in Harrisville, Mich., Aug. 30, 1899.

BARNHART.

Clyde L. Barnhart of Buck Valley, Pa., in his sixth year with the Pirates, three as utility man, one as third baseman, and two as regular outfielder, is one of the club's leading hitters.

He signed with Pittsburgh as a free agent in 1920, and later was released to Birmingham, only to be recalled on Aug. 15. In 1915 and for two years thereafter he was with the Frederick team in the Blue Ridge league, then with Media for a season, and in 1918 and 1919 he played independent ball in Pennsylvania and in New York state. On three occasions since coming to the Pirates Barnhart has been well over the .300 mark in hitting.

BIGBEE.

Carson Lee Bigbee is in his tenth year for Pittsburgh.

Bigbee came out of the University of Oregon in 1915, and the following year joined Portland of the Pacific Coast league, but was released to Tacoma before the season started. On July 28 of the same year he was sold to Pittsburgh for $4,000, and has been with the Pirates since that time. He had a big batting year in 1922, having participated in less than half of the team's games.

With the exception of Rawlings, Pittsburgh will have the identical lineup which carried the club to the pennant.

and in 1923 he was a single percentage point from the .300 hitters. Last season, in 89 games, he hit for .262, but has fallen this season to about .235, having participated in less than half of the team's games.

SMOKY CITY JAMMED WITH FANS TENSELY A WAITING INITIAL TILT

Manager Harris Puts Joe Harris In Place of Sam Rice, For Added Punch.

SWITCH SENATORS Johnson's Selection Sends Odds Up To 7 to 5 For First Game.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 6.—A battle that promises to add a spectacular chapter to the history of baseball's championship conflicts starts tomorrow with the Washington Senators, champions of 1924, defending their laurels against the onslaughts of Pittsburgh's new National league titleholders, a fighting array which hopes to regain the glory that was this city's 16 years ago.

Unless all signs fail it will be a closely waged struggle with Washington's great defensive club, led by Bucky Harris and Walter Johnson, pitting its experience and steadiness against the hotly inspired and brilliant attack of Bill McKeech's Pirate crew.

Johnson, dramatic pitching figure of the world's champions, will pick up for the Senators where he left off victoriously in the final game of last season's battle with the Giants. His opponent in all probability will be Lee Meadows, veteran bespectacled right-hander and mainstay of the Pittsburgh staff. Both have been through many a big league struggle, though Meadows has had no world's series experience.

Central Figures.

They will be the central figures in the opening spectacle tomorrow at Forbes field, where a capacity crowd of 45,000, taking every available bit of seating space, is expected to provide an enthusiastic setting for the first world's series game here since 1904.

The official forecast is for a rainy, cold day, but hope was held out that it would clear sufficiently for Governor Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania to toss out the first ball promptly at 2 o'clock.

The eve of the big championship fight found Pittsburgh like a convention city, jammed and packed at every angle with enthusiasm rampant and the American flag flying high.

A consensus of expert opinion of the whole representation is, far, wide and numerous, favors Washington to retain its championship, but there is no lack of faith on the other hand in the ability of the Pirate offensive to break down the defensive bulwarks of its rivals.

At Full Strength.

Both teams will have their full strength upon the opening field of battle, but both will also face some handicaps, with Washington seemingly up against the severer difficulties.

Pittsburgh has lost her star utility infielder, Johnny Rawlings, who will follow the series on crutches from the grandstand, as a result of a broken ankle. Eddie Moore, who replaced Rawlings at second base, also will start under the handicap of an injured thumb on his throwing hand, but Washington has three semi-casualties among her stars, including Manager Harris himself. Shortstop Roger Peckinpaugh and Stanley Coveleskie, veteran right-handed twirler, counted upon to share the main burden with Johnson.

Stanley Harris will have his heaviest hitting array in action tomorrow to combat the Pirate attack. He decided to put Joe Harris, a strong stickler, in right field in place of Sam Rice, who followed over to center to relieve Earl McNeely, whose $50,000 bid won the last world's series, but whose stick work has fallen off considerably this season.

With the exception of Rawlings, Pittsburgh will have the identical lineup which carried the club to the pennant.

BUCKY CONFIDENT ON EVE OF BATTLE

Harris Sure Superior Hurling Staff Will Carry Senators Through.

By STANLEY HARRIS.

Pittsburg, Oct. 6.—I have no pitching worries as I contemplate the opening of the great struggle. I have contended that in this series practically all will depend upon the pitching, and I figure today that Washington has a great advantage over Pittsburgh in that department.

Despite all recent reports to the contrary, Washington's twirling staff is now in physical and mental trim. With Coveleskie fully recovered from his back ailment, with Johnson free of his fortnight's Charlie horse, and with Marberry sporting a normal arm instead of the kinked wing that has kept him on the bench for a month, our club need not worry about its slab department. Ferguson is in fine fettle, and the team's two left-handers, Reuther and Zachary, are equally fit. Everything appears rosy.

Johnson, of course, is my choice for the opening game. He is in better physical condition than he has been in three seasons, and he is better poled mentally than he was last year. Then he was handicapped by the realization that he was expected to uphold the faith in him of practically all the baseball world, and he did not pitch normally. He was still nervous when he faced the Giants a second time and took a second trouncing. But when he came back for a third shot he was himself and finished the final combat gloriously. Regardless of what may happen in the opening game, I expect Johnson to do a great deal of wonderful pitching in this series. Even though he should fall in his first endeavor, I look for him to make the National leaguers realize that he is one of the greatest mountaineers that ever graced the game.

Coveleskie also should prove a sensation. He has enjoyed a remarkable season. I am glad he is back in shape, and I will say frankly that his ailment had me greatly worried. If Covey needs another day to prepare himself, Washington has in Ferguson a right-hander who is sure to start Thursday. And don't think either Reuther or Zachary will be any easy marks for the Pirates, but the Washington club has a real pair of left-handers to throw into action.

Western will be up to practically full strength for Saturday's intercollegiate game with Toronto Varsity, while the juniors are in tip-top shape for their maiden game of the season with O. A. C. which will be the first part of a double bill. Mowry, the back division man, who was injured in practice Monday, will be in line for Saturday, according to Dr. Smith, while Olaf Johnson, who has been out of the game since he was hurt the first of the season, will not be ready for at least another week. The great showing at Western against the strong Hamilton Cubes last Saturday has heightened the optimism of the entire team, and Varsity will have to step to set the purple and white crew back. Last season Western came in from the purple and white crew bid air to make a much better showing. The whole difficulty of the past seasons of the past has been in their inability to hold the line. This has been overcome with a vengeance, and from line is now in a position to rub elbows with any intermediate squad in the country.

The back division is not to be beaten, either. Freddie Warren has been demonstrated his ability in punting, while Gordie Howell has the makings of the best drop-kicker in Canadian football. Kennedy is another member of the offensive, who is a slippery man to handle, and Mowry can hold his own. In all, the prospects for the season are brighter than ever, and Saturday should see the start of a great rugby year for the purple and white. The line-up for the game will be practically the same as in the tilt against Hamilton last Saturday. As yet the quality of the juniors are unknown, but Coach Pickley, who has grown for his abilities, and that should be enough to guarantee faith. Last night both teams went through their work-outs. Most of the work was in signals, and by Saturday both machines should be running smoothly. Bill Osborne is the captain of the team for this year, and Ken Lindsay is manager. They were named at a meeting held last night after the practice.

ADD NEW PLAYERS TO RUGBY SQUAD

Crucial Drill Given Line in Last Two Work-Outs.

Any overconfidence Coach Huestis' crew may have had last Saturday is going to be replaced with condition and stamina for Saturday's tilt down among the oil tanks—not to mention vast determination to wipe out the initial defeat. This has been apparent in the work-outs this week. Last week the team was shy on condition by at least one quarter. As a whole, they stood the gaff fairly well until the last quarter. Tipping out the lane of the last few minutes, the Londoners put up a remarkable battle in a game where defeated any thing. Coach Huestis is putting the line under the most severe test of the night. They are being taught to get their plays through with more precision on the offensive and a more cohesive defence, Saturday, but for nabbing of opposition plays, especially by Stritt on the front line and Somerville on the secondary defence, the Sarnians would have made larger gains. Huestis was more than pleased, however, with the spirit the line showed, and points to the fact that they did not give away any time except in front of trick formations. Trick formations won't be as effective against the defence this time out.

With Jerry Goodman back, the half line seems a more formidable scoring machine, either through switching or subbing. Westman turned out Monday night and so did Bram Churchill, who learned his football in Petrolia. Churchill should lend much more strength to the front wall, as he is experienced and robust. The night's workout was good, but not as well attended as it should have been, considering the task that confronts the team Saturday. Apparently some of the earnest candidates concluded last night that there'll be no fair weather stars tolerated. The good weather stars are being taught to get their plays through with more precision on the offensive and a more cohesive defence, Saturday, but for nabbing of opposition plays, especially by Stritt on the front line and Somerville on the secondary defence, the Sarnians would have made larger gains. Huestis was more than pleased, however, with the spirit the line showed, and points to the fact that they did not give away any time except in front of trick formations. Trick formations won't be as effective against the defence this time out.

Jeff Tesreau had three wild pitches in the Red Sox-Giants game of 1912.

The late Wild Bill Donovan hit three batsmen in the series of 1907 between the Tigers and Cubs.

Four pitchers have suffered five defeats in the baseball classics, Hank Mathewson, Rube Marquard and Joe Bush.

Manhattan holds the record for all-time world's series mound work—102 2-3 innings in four series.

Basil O'Meara of the Ottawa Journal says: "There is a wave of elation over Ottawa's victory over Winged Wheel on Saturday. Optimism is hoped will not turn to over-confidence. That is what beat Arconauts in Hamilton, Saturday, but the Double Blue won't have any swollen craniums to contend with next Saturday. Senators will meet Ireland, the most formidable team in the game, and they must meet them with a better brand of interference than was shown Saturday. This was the most glaring defect in the Ottawa play-off series, and it is admitted by Dave McCann, coach, and the Double Blue players as well as others. It is the part of constructive criticism to state that a tremendous amount of work in this department seems essential."

Montreal is now asking: "Were we pushed or did we fall?"

Mike Rodden will buy himself a brand new whip this week, and his scorching remarks should burn up the grass at Varsity stadium. Arzeo were all primed for the play-offs with Queens, and rumor states that players at the game were working out schemes to offset the Tricolor tacticians. It looked a cinch for the Double Blue and Queens such a stout adherent of Tigers as Paddy Jones of the Herald conceded the game to Arzeo.

Adams gained his honors when the Pirates conquered the Detroit Tigers in 1919. He is not a stars old. Coveleskie won three while pitching for Cleveland against Brooklyn in 1920, and Zerkow captured a double ax for Washington on the Giants last season.

But matching the record established by Christy (Big Six) Mathewson, pitching for the Boston Braves in 1905 against the Philadelphia Athletics, is another matter indeed, for the great Matty, now president of the Boston Braves, scored three shutouts that year.

Ed Reulbach of the Chicago Cubs allowed the "hitless wonders," the White Sox of 1906, only one hit.

There have been five two-hit games, pitched by Ed Walsh of the White Sox, Mordecai Brown of the Cubs, Eddie Plank of the Athletics, Bill James of the Braves, and Walter Johnson of the Yankees.

Chief Bender holds the mark for most victories—43. And the famous Athletics moundman of the past struck out 32 men in five series. But the famous Indian also tasted several defeats.

Former Local Boy May Appear In Big Pro Card Here Next Week

Attempt Being Made To Match Barnes With Syracuse Battler.

BRADY IN MAIN BOUT

There is every chance that Bud Barnes, former local amateur, who has been making great headway around Detroit in the professional ranks, will be on the main card of the big card being staged at the arena on Friday, Oct. 16. The Londoner would like a bout in his home town, and if Charlie Thompson, the Syracuse battler, who outpointed Johnny Horn here on the last card, can be secured, the bout will be cinched. Barnes has been having great success among the lightweights around Detroit. Frankie Ebor and Barnes fought to a draw last week, and Ebor, a much more experienced boy and acknowledged to be a good consistent performer, had a difficult time getting an even break, from all reports. This was Barnes' hardest test, and he came through in great style. He will be in a hard or harder if he can be induced to come back here again.

This will be the semi-final of a double bill to a card that is to be headed by Jimmy Brady, the Michigan ghost, and Charlie Miller of Toronto. Efforts to have Frankie Bull meet Brady here were floundered when the Toronto boy came to the conclusion that this bout would draw bigger somewhere else. Brady here several weeks ago was a hard heat, and he wanted a chance at Bull again. It seems that Bull and Brady had a very unsatisfactory fight at Niagara Falls, and Brady blamed Bull's tactics for the result.

Was To Retire. Brady at the time that he was going to retire after three more bouts. In 12 years of fighting, during which he had met all the lightweights of note, Brady had suffered but one knockout. That was last summer against Solly Seaman of New York, who got into the semi-finals in the lightweight elimination contests staged by the New York commission. Seaman was strongly fancied for the title that Jimmy Goodrich eventually carried off. Brady claims that it was the heat weather that beat him as much as Seaman. Three years ago he had suffered a heat stroke, and since then, hot weather had always bothered him.

Brady was disappointed when he found that Bull couldn't be induced to fight here, but still wanted to stay on the card. Charlie Miller, who was finished by the Toronto boy, was a hard heat, and he wanted a chance at Bull again. It seems that Bull and Brady had a very unsatisfactory fight at Niagara Falls, and Brady blamed Bull's tactics for the result.

not only wanted to meet Bull, but wanted easy before retiring that he had held the Canadian crown, and that is why in meeting Miller here, he thinks he'll be able to prove his right to a meeting with Bull again.

Resides Barnes, several other local fighters may be given bouts on the card.

Two New Fighters. Sgt. Tommy Wallace has had two likely-looking welter look him up in the last month. Both are anxious to break into the game. One of them, an Irishman, Roy McHugh by name, has had no great ring experience, but is a tough customer with a natural banking for the sport and a lot of ability. The other is Eddie Lattimer, who made quite a local reputation up around Ottawa in amateur tournaments.

Should the local fighters size up well, cards may be held at regular intervals throughout the winter. The return of Charlie Bear is expected to make up among the local boys, who would like to continue on their amateur experience by a dip into the moneyed ranks.

BRITISH PLANE ENTRANT CLAIMS SPEED RECORD

Associated Press Despatch.
Southampton, Eng., Oct. 6.—Before leaving for the Schneider cup races at Baltimore, Captain Henry Bland, one of the British entrants, in a secret trial with the super marine Napier S-4, attained a speed of 226.52 miles an hour, it is announced.

The International federation of Aeronautics verified the speed, which was said to constitute a world's seaplane record, although reports from the United States claim one of their ships has gone even faster.

The British fliers who will participate in the Schneider seaplane trophy cup races on Oct. 23 and 24, arrived in New York yesterday, bringing two seaplanes with them, one the S-4, a monoplane, which has been termed the "mystery ship" of the Royal air force.

TWO JOCKEYS ARE BARRED FROM MARYLAND TRACKS

Associated Press Despatch.
Baltimore, Md., Oct. 6.—The "state racing commission has barred from all Maryland tracks jockey Martin Schwartz and two others, accused of using an electric battery to spur a horse to greater speed on the Havre de Grace track last week.

Schwartz was charged with using the battery on Bill O'Flynn, owned by W. W. Lusk. Officials said the battery charged the jockey dropped the battery near the end of the race, and that it was used to give the horse a boost.

Applon, and Louis Schwartz, no relation. All denied the charges.

Tatra was named as 11 to 2 against Tonia, Maudie and Vionet are second choices at 100 to 1 against.

Your Grandparents relied on ENO

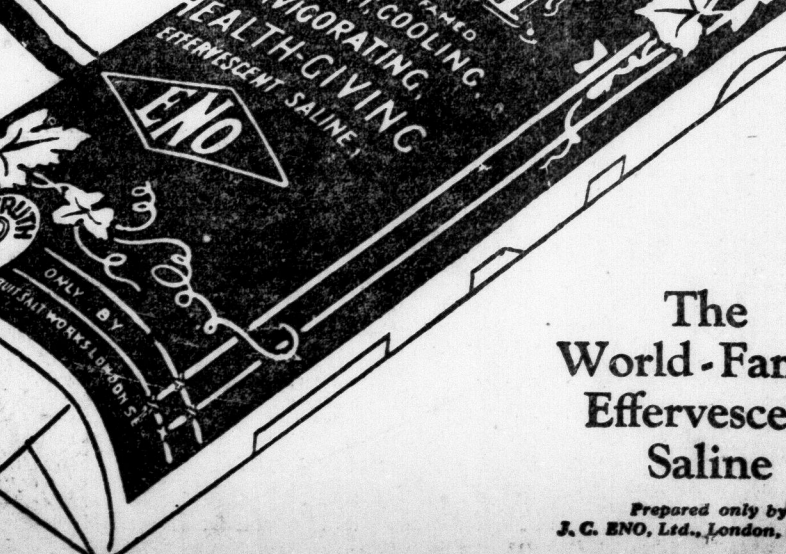

Years before the C.P.R. spanned Canada, ENO's "Fruit Salt" had found its way across the continent. As years have sped, its sterling merits have become more and more widely acknowledged. Now there is not a corner of the civilized world where the morning 'dash' of ENO is not part and parcel of life as it should be lived.

ENO excels because it is the one simple, pleasant and, above all, natural way to ensure internal cleanliness. You never wish you hadn't taken ENO, as perhaps you have wished with other laxatives. It doesn't do good to-day to leave you worse to-morrow.

It excels, too, because of its purity, its unchanging high quality, its freedom from purgative mineral salts and sugar and flavouring matter.

The rule of our grandparents ENO's "Fruit Salt" first thing every morning—is as sound to-day as ever it was.

Grid Gossip

Three pitchers this year have an opportunity to equal the world's series record of Jack Coombs, the mound marvel who came out of Colby College to aid materially in lifting Connie Mack's mighty Athletics to the highest place in baseball history last season. Two of them may surpass it.

Coombs participated in three world's series, two as a Mack moundman and one as a Brooklyn hurler, in the series of 1915 against the Boston Red Sox. He won five games and lost none to establish his record. Babe Adams of the Pittsburgh Pirates and Stanley Coveleskie of the Washington Senators each has won three games in a series without defeat, and Tom Zachary of the Senators two.

Adams gained his honors when the Pirates conquered the Detroit Tigers in 1919. He is not a stars old. Coveleskie won three while pitching for Cleveland against Brooklyn in 1920, and Zerkow captured a double ax for Washington on the Giants last season.

ESTATE OF CZAR HELD VALUELESS

Actual Proof of Death Is Demanded by American Courts.

Associated Press Despatch.
New York, Oct. 7.—The stories and rumors of the death of Czar Nicholas II of Russia and his family following the Russian revolution must be sifted until actual proof of death further than has been presented and the order of decease of the members of the family are produced, before local courts will take action regarding the personal estate of the late czar in this country.

Surrogate John F. O'Brien yesterday named these requirements when Prince Serge Georgievich Romanovsky, now a resident of New York, applied for letters of administration for credits held in the United States. The prince claims to be a blood cousin and nearest living kin of the Russian monarch.

The court required the order of death of members of the family, stating that upon the point whether the czar or the czarina died first would rest the order of precedence of the heirs of the estate. No value was placed upon the estate and this information also was required of Prince Serge.

A REAL HIT The Canadian Radio Receiver

Uses a device that enables anyone to cut out local or undesired stations at will. This device has been used in "The Canadian" for over TWO YEARS and is by no means new. This device can be purchased separately for use on other receivers.

"THE CANADIAN" is the only receiver you may purchase that uses the PUSH PULL type amplifier in an all-five-volt tube receiver. It is impossible to have this standard of tone quality without this device. Actual demonstration shows the big difference.

In one London home we have demonstrated against seven other makes—and "The Canadian" was bought. This should prompt you to at least hear this radio. "The NEW Canadian" an even better receiver—will be ready for inspection and demonstration by the first of the week—October 6. May we demonstrate for you? Any used receiver taken as part payment if desired. Call or write.

BAPTISTS AT AYLMER CELEBRATE JUBILEE

Special Music and Sermons Mark Anniversary of Congregation.

Special to The Advertiser.
Aylmer, Oct. 6.—The Aylmer Baptist church celebrated their 100th anniversary on Sunday. In the morning at 11 o'clock Pastor LaFlair gave a very instructive, inspiring and interesting sermon on "Remembering—Forgetting," and the special musical numbers were an anthem by the choir and a duet by Mr. Hambridge and Mr. Beebe. The service in the evening was almost entirely musical, and one of the best programs enjoyed in Aylmer in many months was presented by members of the choir. There were two anthems, Arm of the Lord, and The Lord Is My Light, in which the chorus of thirty-one voices sang very effectively and with much expression. The chorus, We Gather Together to Ask the Lord's Blessing, by male voices, was exceptionally good.

Other special numbers were solos, Still With Thee, by G. A. Beebe; soprano solo, Entreat Me, by G. A. Beebe; Miss LaFlair; When the Mists Have Cleared Away, A. Ray Lemon; Adore and Be Still, H. M. Hambridge; To a Mind Worn and Weary, James Barnum; a duet, Hope Beyond, by Mr. Lemon and Mr. Hambridge; male quartet number, Tell Some One, by Messrs. Millard Lemon, Smith, and Beebe. Miss Helen Barnum presided at the organ and her organ numbers added much to the program. Miss Barnum is a young musician of great ability, and her success is assured.

The pastor gave a short sermon, choosing as his subject, "The Changing Christ for a Changing World." The church was prettily decorated with numerous bouquet of flowers and a large offering was received during the day. E. H. Smith, the choir leader, has been congratulated on the splendid program presented.

UNITED CHURCH CHOIRS EXCHANGE SERVICES

St. Mary's, Oct. 6.—A very successful exchange of the choirs of the Trinity United church of Stratford and the St. Mary's United church took place on Sunday evening, the Stratford choir coming to St. Mary's 20 strong, under the leadership of Peter Wilson. A large congregation was in attendance, and greatly appreciated the splendid offering. Two anthems were given, The Song in the Night, and The Lord Is My Shepherd, the bass solo parts in the latter being taken by J. Hanley. A quartet, Misses Alice King and Florence Goetz, Frank Stalley and Peter Wilson, sang, and solos were also rendered by Miss Florence Ryegon and Peter Wilson.

The St. Mary's choir, under Professor W. H. Bishop, was well received in Stratford by a large congregation.

DOWLERS LIMITED MARKS EXPANSION

New Provincial Charter Permits Firm To Operate in Large Field.

Extensive changes have been granted by the provincial government in a charter, under which the firm of R. H. & J. Dowler, Limited, with head offices in London, is operating. The old name, which has been found cumbersome for advertising and other purposes, has been altered to the simpler form of "Dowlers, Limited."

The firm is now authorized to engage in practically any line of retail merchandizing. Speaking to The Advertiser last evening, R. H. Dowler, president, said that while no immediate expansion into other fields than that of clothing was contemplated, in the future such would undoubtedly be the case. The charter also authorizes the establishment of their own factories.

The change marks another step in the career of the Dowler brothers, who began with a single store in St. Thomas, but are now operating five stores in as many cities. They are now counted among the leading clothing men of the Dominion, and an even greater expansion is hoped for in the future.

DIRECT ENGINE LINE HARLAN-WINDSOR PLAN

Railway Officials Consider Running Engines Through From Harlan To Windsor.

Special to The Advertiser by a Staff Correspondent.

St. Thomas, Oct. 6.—It was learned in this city today that an important meeting was held at Buffalo last week of railroad officials to consider the advisability of running the engines through from Harlan to Windsor. Harlan is a railroad center outside of New York, where the through trains are taken over by the electric engines for passage through the metropolis.

In discussing the situation, prominent railroad men state that it will not vitally affect the local situation, except in the shops. Some of the repair work will no doubt be transferred to the terminals. The engine crews will be changed in this city, and much of the station work continued.

Court Rules Dog May Bite Once

Magistrate Claims Dog Entitled One Bite Before Vicious.

Canadian Press Despatch. Windsor, Oct. 6.—Acting on the assumption that "every dog has its day," Magistrate Gundy this morning ruled that a dog is entitled to one bite before entering the category of a vicious animal.

This decision was reached in the case of the police vs. Joseph Poonessa, who was accused of keeping a vicious dog, said animal having bitten an unidentified woman.

Mrs. Cromar and her 16-year-old daughter testified that Poonessa's place was overrun with canines that snapped and barked at passers-by. "The dog that bit one of my neighbors," Mrs. Cromar said, "snapped through the grass like a snake, and then jumped at me."

"Well, the woman who is said to have been bitten is not here, and I cannot make a conviction because, according to Canadian law, every dog is entitled to one bite before it can be considered vicious," was the court's ruling.

PROGRESSIVE AIDS SLOGGETT IN ELGIN CAMPAIGN MEETING

Low Tariff Supporters Enter Elgin Campaign at Iona Meeting.

FOLLOWING STRONG

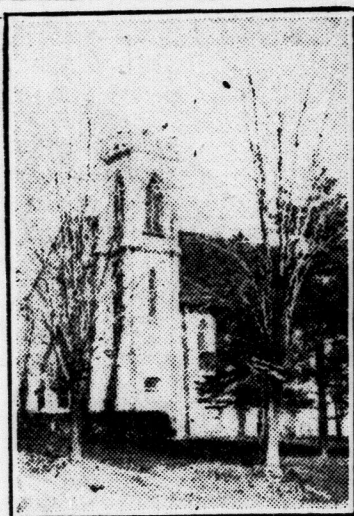

Special to The Advertiser.
St. Thomas, October 6.—"As believers in low tariff, I appeal to all Progressives to rally to the Liberal standard, forgetting party prejudices and taking the Liberal platform as the nearest approach to our own," said Mitchell Hepburn, Progressive, addressing a meeting in the Institute hall at Iona. This is Mr. Hepburn's first appearance on a Liberal platform, and his appearance caused no little surprise.

"If Mr. Sloggett is elected," said Mr. Hepburn, "we will feel sure that our representative goes free and clean, with no strings or promises to fulfill from his supporters, except as it concerns the general good of the country. There will be no Canadian Manufacturers' association funds backing our representative, and consequently no strings tying his hands."

The meeting was a success from every viewpoint. W. E. McPherson acted as chairman, while the speakers were Mr. McNabb, octogenarian, who gave a concise account of the conditions of the day, Mitchell Hepburn, one of the younger leaders in the Progressive field, who showed himself unusually familiar with the economic questions of the day, A. W. Baines, and the candidate, Mayor Sloggett.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Kingston, Oct. 6.—Meeting here today, the executive committee of the synod of the Anglican diocese of Ontario decided to accept the resignation of R. Rev. E. J. Bidwell, bishop of the diocese, when his lordship again insisted that his decision was final. The executive voted the bishop an honorarium equivalent to six months' stipend.

Bishop Bidwell, who has been the church of England head in the diocese, which comprises a large district in Eastern Ontario, for twelve years, offered his resignation following the announcement that his wife had been converted to the Roman Catholic faith.

When the meeting opened this morning the bishop handed a statement to the members, in which he again insisted that his resignation be accepted.

"I have come to the conclusion," said Bishop Bidwell in his statement, "that it is my duty to withdraw from my position as bishop of the diocese. I am fully aware that many, after the action of the house of bishops, will question this decision. Nevertheless, I am quite convinced that, in view of all circumstances, the future welfare of the church in this diocese, which is bound to be my main consideration, will be best assured by the action on which I have determined, and feel sure that my decision will not be misunderstood by the house of bishops. In order that I may have, as I am sure you would wish, ample time to secure some other suitable sphere of work, I propose to continue the administration of the diocese until next Easter, a period of six months, on the understanding that I am free to relinquish the position at any time before that date."

In accepting his resignation, the executive committee placed on record its deep appreciation of his lordship's twelve years of administration.

"While expressing feelings of sincere regret," the executive stated, "the committee finds itself obliged to submit, in view of the very deeply stirred state of feeling throughout the diocese, created by his wife's change of religious allegiance, that his lordship would seem to have chosen the wisest course."

GERMANY STALLS AT JOINING LEAGUE

Conditions May Prove Obstacles at Security Pact Meet in Locarno.

By PAUL SCOTT MOWBRER.
Special to The Advertiser and the Chicago Daily News. Copyright.
Locarno, Switzerland, Oct. 6.—Despite the secrecy of the negotiations, the following may be taken as probably an accurate summary of the situation at the security pact conference:

There are six documents on the agenda, namely the Rhine pact, four arbitration treaties between Germany on the one hand and France, Belgium, Czechoslovakia, and Poland on the other, and finally a treaty establishing the French guarantee of German-Czech and German-Polish arbitration treaties.

At the present moment all attention is centered on the Rhine pact, which consists of a preamble and eleven clauses. This pact concerns France, Belgium and Germany, with Great Britain as guarantor. If they finally accept the present draft of the text, the signatories will repudiate the idea of war and agree to respect the status quo of their common frontiers and demilitarized zone on the Rhineland.

Any signatory, who, in a breach of the arbitration agreements, resorts to war by violation of a frontier or by a menace of military concentration in the demilitarized zone, is declared the aggressor and others, including Great Britain, agree to combine against him. This is the essence of the pact. Other clauses provide that the pact shall in no respect be interpreted as modifying existing treaties or obligations of signatories under the League covenant and shall only take effect when Germany enters the League, when the four arbitration treaties are ratified and the French guarantee of the Czech and Polish treaties is accepted.

Regarding the main conditions of the pact there is practically no dispute, hence the effective expression of goodwill in which the conference thus far has abounded. Delegates and experts are still engaged in putting the finishing touches to non-controversial clauses. The difficulties will begin when they come to consider the clause foresees German entry into the League and the clause foresees French guarantee of the Czech and Polish treaties. The Germans seem ready to join the League, but only with various conditions and reservations. They are willing that the French and Belgian arbitration treaties shall cover all possible disputes, juridical, economic and political, but they wish to limit arbitration to non-political questions, and they declare firmly they will never accept that France shall guarantee these treaties as Great Britain is guaranteeing the Belgian and French.

It is in these questions, therefore, that the real danger lies. On them the conference will either succeed or fail.

TAKES ACTION TO GET PROPERTY

Efforts To Recover Value of House Furnishings and Farm Implements Made.

An action to recover the value of house furnishings and farm implements, alleged to have been misappropriated by the defendants, which was instituted by Mrs. Elsie Bellows, administratrix of the estate of the late Henry Bellows, against Edward Antes, was heard before Judge Talbot Macbeth in the county court yesterday. All the evidence was heard, and the counsel were ordered to cite the law before Judge Macbeth today.

The plaintiff alleges that, until her marriage a few years ago, her husband, Henry Bellows, resided with his mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Antes. He was the owner of the house furnishings and farm implements, she claims. Upon his marriage he moved to another farm, but never relinquished his title to the furniture and implements. The defendants claim that Mrs. Antes is the real owner of the articles in question.

A collie dog, three pounds of lard, a wash-basin, a half-dozen cups and saucers and a number of hay are among the articles in dispute.

We always knew that our medicine benefited most of the women who took it. But that only two out of 100 receive no benefit is most astonishing.

It proves that this medicine, made for women's ills by the most scientific process; from a combination of roots and herbs, does more good than any other medicine for the purpose. We have been making and improving this medicine for 50 years until it is now so perfect and well adapted to women's needs that it actually benefits 98 out of every 100 women who take it. It is sold in almost every country in the world—over 4,000,000 bottles each year.
