GRAND BRITAIN.

The domestic news is destitute of any feature of striking interest. The most remarkable thing in the country is the progress of the winter, towards which the weather has been unusually kind, and the effects are being made in other quarters to revise the trade in ribbons, by which the operations of the city live.

It is rumored again that the Vicarology is to be abolished in Ireland. So far at least as the Irish Government is concerned, it is not probable that it will be attended with greater success than the last effort.

The Board of Trade returns exhibit the commerce of the country in a highly favorable light. Our exports reach nearly seven millions per month, and this is a new phenomenon that has not been witnessed in any commercial year.

The interest which the House has excited two or three months back has revived during the last few days by a new proposition that has excited a good deal of attention throughout the country.

THE TRADE WITH CHINA.

Johns Hopkins, in a letter to the Rev. Dr. H. J. Rogers, informs him of the negotiation and publication of the treaty with China, and of the march of the army to Peking.

The following is a summary of the treaty with China, and of the march of the army to Peking. The treaty was signed at Beijing on the 26th of August, 1858.

Another despatch contains the interesting and detailed narrative of Mr. Parker during his captivity. Lord Elgin writes that he had the satisfaction of seeing the Chinese Government, Christian missionaries, and their dependants, which formerly belonged to the Christians, in the whole empire, would be restored to the Christians.

The remains of Dr. Norman, Anderson, and Bowley were recognized. Dr. Norman is believed to have been killed by an unexpected accident while on a reconnaissance party.

Newfoundland.

A letter dated Saint John's Jan. 8, 1861 says:—This country is in a most wretched state. The population of the island, exclusive of Bay St. George and the French Shore, is about 100,000, and the ordinary annual expenditure for provisions is $1,000,000.
