Prisoners of War in Germany.

The following regulations, governing the regulating and despatch of parcels and money to Prisoners of War in Germany are published for the information of the public. The Newfoundland War Contingent Association is appointed by the Central Prisoners of War Committee to handle all matters appertaining to the forwarding of parcels and money to Newfoundland P. of W. in Germany.

The N. W. C. A. forward a regular supply from London to Germany as follows:—

- (a) Food. Three parcels per man per fortnight containing such things as tinned beef, tinned salmon, biscuits, milk, sugar, margarine, dripping, baked beans, carbolic soap, chocolate, cigarettes, tobacco, and a few toilet necessaries.
- (b) Clothing. The following outfit is sent periodically to N. C. O's and men in Germany by the Pay and Record Office: 1 great coat, 1 jacket, 1 pair trousers, 1 cap (the foregoing is a special uniform for P. of W.), 1 pair of drawers (woollen), 1 undervest (woollen), 2 towels, 3 handkerchiefs, 1 pr. boots.
- (c) Money.

It is unadvisable to send money, unless P. of W. ask for it. The amount which may be sent is Two Shillings per week for any one man. The Army Council have instructed the Central P. of W. Committee to the effect that they may not accept gifts of foodstuffs or clothing from members of the public, whether for despatch to a particular P. of W. or as a contribution to the general stock of the Association. This instruction has arisen through an arrangement with the German Authorities that all parcels forwarded should be packed and forwarded by the association. Relatives may rest assured that everything possible is being done in London for the comfort and welfare of Prisoners of War in Germany.

CHAPTER XIV.

"Oh, but I've broken it again," she says, serenely.
"Nonsense," says Hugh, almost pushing her toward Sir Archie, and the next moment he has the satisfaction of seeing her whirling round in the arms of the handsomest man and the best waltzer in the room. And his satisfaction, if it be satisfaction, does not stop there, for having granted the dance, Dulcie is powerless to refuse others, and for the rest of the evening Hugh stands by and plays the part of spectator, looking on with wistful misery at Dulcie radiant and happy, and forgetful of her good resolutions.

And while he walks about, talking with his lips, but with all his mind and heart centered on that tall, graceful figure fitting here and there, with radiant face and laughing eyes, he has the further satisfaction of hearing the by-no-means whispered comments of the other spectators.

It is, "Wonderfully pretty girl! Such freshness and spirit. Wonder where she comes from? Never heard of her before. Make a big sensation in town next season."

And then again he hears the rumor, whispered behind fans with significant smiles:

"Oh, a clear case! They say Sir Archie met her abroad somewhere. Well, it is a remarkably good match for an unknown girl. He is really smitten; he has danced with her three times."

Go where he will he hears Dulcie's name, and always coupled with Sir Archie's, and he longs, with all a strong, jealous man's impulsiveness, to cry aloud:

"You are all wrong. She is mine, not his! Mine! Mine!"
Not another chance does he have of speaking with her that night; until the guests depart she is in constant demand, and if she is not dancing she is surrounded by men eager to exchange a word with a girl who can be both beautiful and witty.

Dulcie makes many friends tonight, but she also makes many enemies; every plain girl in the room, and not a few of the presentable ones, envy her and hate her; and the little pale-faced, red-haired girl, with the green eyes, sits and smiles as if the whole thing were a comedy, and she were rejoicing in the triumph of her dearest friend.

Yes, it has been a triumph, and Dulcie's eyes sparkle with pardonable satisfaction as she stands before her glass and dots her simple jewelry. After all, she has been successful. Hugh has no cause, to be ashamed of her, and by the time he comes back he shall find out that she has won over Lady Falconer and Maud, and—and then, perhaps—and a bright blush creeps over her face at the thought—they can tell their secret and be happy ever afterward, like the fortunate hero and heroine in a fairy tale.

Late as is the hour when she falls asleep, she is awake at the first sound of the stable bell—wakes with a little heavy feeling at her heart that puzzles her for a moment until she remembers that Hugh is going away.

Then she dresses quickly, and, opening the door cautiously, creeps down-stairs and out on to the terrace bathed in the morning sunlight. A groom is walking the dog-cart up and down slowly, but she keeps out of his sight and waits, and presently Hugh's step is heard, and he comes round the corner. There is a slight shade of disappointment on his face, and she keeps back for a moment, enjoying the anticipation of his surprise, then she comes on tip-toe and puts her hand on his arm.

He turns, and his handsome face lights up with the look a woman loves to see on the face of her lover, and takes her in his arms.

"Dulcie!" he murmurs. "Is it really you? My child, why did you get up? You can scarcely have time to fall asleep!"

"I said I would see you off!" she says, nestling to him and keeping an eye on the back of the groom.
"Do you think I care about sleeping when you are going? Oh, Hugh, you won't be long away?"

"Trust me—no longer than I can help," he says. "How bright and fresh you look." He adds, with proud admiration, and he kisses her eyelids with infinite tenderness.

"A ball always does me good," she says, with a flush. "Hugh! that groom will see us in a moment."

BAD DREAMS ARE SYMPTOMS

Ill Health the Cause—Many Alarming Symptoms of Women's Ailments—How Cured.

Paterson, N. J.—"I thank you for the Lydia E. Pinkham remedies as they have made me feel happy and healthy. Some time ago I felt so run down, had pains in my back and side, was very irregular, tired, nervous, had such bad dreams, did not feel like eating and had short breath. I read your advertisement in the newspapers and decided to try a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It worked from the first bottle, so I took a second and a third, also a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Purifier, and now I am just as well as any other woman. I advise every woman, single or married, who is troubled with any of the above-mentioned ailments, to try your wonderful Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier and I am sure they will help her to get rid of her troubles."—Mrs. ELSIE J. VANDER SANDT, 7 Godwin Street, Paterson, N. J.

Women suffering with any form of female ills, or any symptoms that they do not understand, are invited to write the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. (confidential), and receive advice wholly free of cost.

"Who cares?" he says, defiantly; but she draws him out of sight.

"Dulcie, there must be no more concealment when I come back; it doesn't agree with me! I shall not be happy until I can call you my own in the eyes of the world!"

Her eyes drop.
"So you shall," she whispers, "when you come back. I mean to win all their hearts, Hugh. I mean to be the best of good girls while you are gone."

"Do you—do you really?" he says, with a little incredulous smile.

She nods eagerly, and her warm white hands creep round his neck.

"Yes, you shall see!"
"Very well," he says. "And if you are really good, what shall I bring you back as a reward?"

She laughs up at him.
"Bring me back yourself, Hugh," she responds. "That is the only thing I want in the wide world!"

His eyes flash with a joyous light.

"Really!" she replies, earnestly, and with a little sigh. "I shall count the minutes till you come back! I shall sit and mope like a sick parrot!"

She shakes her head with a conviction too strong for suppression.

"I think not," he says, with a smile.
"Not for long, Dulcie. Before the day has gone you will be laughing, and the merriest of them all, and Heaven forbid that it should be otherwise. Be as happy and merry as you can, darling; but—" he pauses.

"But what?" she asks, creeping a little closer.
"But don't flirt with Archie!" he says, with a little flush.

She pouts, and shakes her head impatiently.
"Is that all?" she says. "Give me something harder to do than that. Shall I tell you something, Hugh?"

He nods, caressing her hand.
"If you can't trust me, I will go upstairs and take to my bed until you come back."

He laughs.
"Don't do that," he says, "or I shall find my rose transformed into a lily, and I like roses best."

They stand for a moment in silence, in that exquisite silence which to lovers, heart to heart, is more eloquent than any language, then the stable clock strikes and Hugh starts.

"Good-bye, Dulcie! good-bye, my queen! Be as wild as you like, do what you will, but be happy. Good-bye!" And with a long, lingering kiss he leaves her.

With moist eyes and an aching void in her heart Dulcie watches the dog-cart rolling down the drive, then she turns, and at the same moment a face, pale and drawn with suppressed passion, disappears from one of the upper windows, from which a pair of green eyes have been watching the farewell of the two lovers.

If Hugh and Dulcie had been a little less engrossed, and chanced to look up, they would have seen a strange sight—no less than the face of Lucy Fairfax, without its sweet and sympathetic smile.

CHAPTER XV.

"The question is," says Sir Archie, "who will take the parts?" and he looks around the room from face to face with his eager blue eyes until they reach Dulcie's countenance and rest there.

Three days have passed since the dog-cart whirled Hugh toward the station, and Dulcie crept back to her room feeling bereaved and desolate. Three days which may be divided out in something like this fashion: On the first she fulfilled her threat, and moped, dreamy-eyed and silent, thinking of the absent one, musing on his handsome face and kindly gray eyes, and going over all the small, tender speeches made by the deep, musical voice. During that day she avoided Sir Archie when she could, and snubbed him unmercifully when she could not. Moreover, she was particularly attentive to Lady Falconer, and begged Maud to "try her once more" with the antimacassar. On the second she roused sufficiently to take an interest in life, and laughed twice at Archie's "nonsense." On the third day she had contradicted Lady Falconer at breakfast; had tempted Edie into a romp in the garden, without her hat, and gone the round of the stables with Archie for guide, and enjoyed herself very much, though her heart ached round the black charger, and ached longingly as she would her thought of its absent master.

And now, on the evening of the third day, she is sitting with the rest in the drawing-room, listening to a daring proposal of Sir Archie's—listening with a keen sense of delight and enjoyment.

The party is rather larger than when Hugh left, for some fresh guests have arrived. Young Lord Hartfield, who, being one of the most rascally young men about town, is smitten with Maud's quiet primness; a Captain Gordon, an old friend of Hugh's; and the Reverend Bartholomew Blinn, a budding curate. These are the additions; the subtraction is supplied by the departure of Mrs. Fernor, who has departed for Caroline Street, leaving much good advice for Dulcie, and taking her distinct promise to behave herself with the most praiseworthy decorum.

It is the first parting that has occurred between them for years, and Dulcie's eyes were very dim when the train left the station, and the timid, nervous face at the carriage window was lost to her sight; but she is comforted with the reflection that Aunt Fernor has been pining for Caroline Street and that the good old lady is heartily glad to exchange the splendor of Holme Castle for the modest little parlor, with the copper teakettle on the hob and the cat on the hearth-rug.

"It is very nice and—and proper for you, dear," she had said, as Dulcie clung to her hand, utterly regardless of the impatient guard who blew his whistle and "ramped" up and down the platform. "It is quite right that you should stay and get accustomed to it all, because you will, I hope, be permanently an occupant of the Castle—in fact, its mistress; but I felt rather out of place; I'm too old for such grandeur, and I was rather in the way, my dear."

And as Dulcie, blushing and tearful, did not deny either statement, Aunt Fernor leaned forward and whispered:

"I'm not blind, my dear; I have seen how things are going, and I'm very glad. Be a good girl, dear, and don't flirt with Sir Archie!"

Like Hugh, this was her last word; and Dulcie, as she sits and listens to Sir Archie's proposal, and feels his eyes upon her, remembers the warning, and makes a resolution.

For the proposal is no other than that they should have some amateur theatricals. For the last three days, as if the skies were mourning Hugh's departure, it has rained, not "cats and dogs," as Sir Archie says, but "cows and elephants;" and the house full of young people have been driven to the verge of desperation.

LONDON, Oct. 16. According to news from Berlin, in a despatch received by wireless press, Germany is expected shortly to declare Cuba as war zones.

HAIK'S REPORT.

LONDON, Oct. 16. Marshal Haig's report from the front to-night says: Our patrolling parties were active during the day on the front, and brought in a few prisoners. There was considerable activity on both sides. As the weather cleared, much of the counter battery work was done by us. A small party of British troops entered the trenches last night in the neighborhood of Roux and inflicted damage on the garrison. Another night raid, in which we secured prisoners, was carried out by us this morning. A strong hostile party, which attempted to reach our trench to the south, were repulsed with loss by our machine gun fire. During Monday morning a successful artillery work was accomplished by our airplanes. Photos were taken and the enemy was harassed by machine guns at low altitudes. In the course of the day two tons of bombs were dropped by us on a large German communication dump near Courtrai and hostile billets and hutments were destroyed. A number of bombs were dropped by night also on various targets in the enemy's forward line. In an air fight three German planes were brought down and two were down out of control. Three are missing.

FRENCH OFFICIAL.

PARIS, Oct. 16 (Official). The Alsace front after lively bombardment the Germans launched several surprise attacks on our positions south of Courtrai. The enemy succeeded in gaining a footing in one of our advanced posts from which we immediately ejected him. He then attempted south of Ailles like-minded. Artillery fighting was continued in a very spirited fashion throughout the day in the region of the front.

BRITISH RAID.

LONDON, Oct. 16. In the west of Bullecourt early this morning British troops carried out a successful raid, says to-day's official announcement. The enemy's lines showed considerable activity during the night in the neighborhood of the Ypres-Staden railway.

WAR REVIEW.

Presently there has been no cessation in the hurried programme of the Germans to seize the Russian coast of Oesel, at the head of the Gulf of Finland; but although they have now taken the greater portion of the island, the aid they expected from their fleet in putting down Russian opposition in adjacent waters is meeting with considerable resistance from Russian troops. The Russians are distinguished by their naval vessels and a general engagement with the fleet, fearing that the superiority of the Germans would result in loss of them which would leave open a pathway through the Gulf of Finland up to Petrograd; but in a small way with torpedo craft and possibly aircraft carriers the Russians have two German torpedo boats and two others to the north of the island, while the Russians have lost a torpedo boat. The Germans, which were

SMALL BOATS SHELLED.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16. Small boats from a British steamer recently attacked by two submarines were mercilessly shelled by one of the U-boats. Two men were killed and seven wounded. The State Department was advised to-day by Consular despatches that one other man was killed before the crew abandoned the steamer which carried a number of Americans. The date and place of the attack was not disclosed.

WARNING WAS NOT HEEDED.

PETROGRAD, Oct. 16. The landing of German troops on Oesel Island could have been averted only by risking battle under unfavorable circumstances, which would have resulted in opening the Gulf of Finland to the enemy, says Admiral Vordeist, Minister of Marine. The blow is a hard one to the Russian fleet, which apparently was not in a position to hinder the Germans. Since March 2nd, said the Admiral, I have several times drawn attention to the possibility of such a blow and discussed it with Kerensky, but no one paid any attention to the warning. Political differences have been given first place in the minds of the people. The German naval power is four times greater than that of the Russian, the Admiral said. The naval force, in the cause of the country, did everything possible to prevent the landing of the Germans. He sees no immediate danger of the German intention to enter the Gulf of Finland. He expressed the belief that owing to the lateness of the season, the German operations will be localized.

BULGARIA.

LONDON, Oct. 16. The Times, in an article headed "Bulgarian War Weariness," says: "The Radoslavoff Government is extremely unpopular. The Premier and his friends could not hold thirty of the two hundred and forty-five seats in the Sobranje if the election took place now. Bulgaria is beginning to see that Germany cannot win, and therefore Bulgaria cannot keep Macedonia and Dobruja. To profound misgivings and dissatisfaction with the Radoslavoff policy there is the added exasperation of notorious corruption. Many persons in Bulgaria believe that Radoslavoff and Teucheff, the Finance Minister, made large fortunes out of the war. They have, it is supposed, taken their price from Germany. The Sobranje meets on Monday and it seems likely Radoslavoff will be defeated and will resign."

DESTROY ENEMY SUBS.

PARIS, Oct. 16. French warships destroyed two Teuton submarines in the western Mediterranean in the last week of September.

IN THE EARLY DAYS OF THE WAR.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16. Insults and physical torture inflicted upon helpless English men and women by their German captors in German East Africa in the early days of the war, form the subject of a special British parliamentary paper, copies of which have just reached this country. This report, embracing sworn testimony of many missionaries and native teachers, will form part of the terrible indictment against German officials, which it is expected will be brought up at the final reckoning at the end of the war. The affidavits are by British civilians, mostly missionaries, men and women who were engaged in church work among the natives, who under all rules of warfare were privileged to quit German territory in safety upon 24 hours' notice after the outbreak of war. Permission to leave was refused on the ground of "military exigencies" and the unfortunate civilians were kept as prisoners. The testimony says they were confined in crowded quarters with insufficient food, much of that unfit for consumption, and forced to do all sorts of exhausting labor, so that some were permanently injured in health. Every effort was made to degrade the prisoners in the eyes of the natives. The men were obliged to act as laborers for native masons and to perform many degrading tasks. The women are declared to have been obliged to witness the bathing of German soldiers and submit to insults and abuse from native guards and German civilians.

PREMIER PAINLEVE'S REPORT.

PARIS, Oct. 16. Premier Painleve communicated to the Cabinet to-day the result of the inquiry he made into the charge against Louis I. Malvin, former Minister of the Interior, accused by Leon Daudet of having betrayed secrets to Germany. The Premier said his inquiry had showed that the accusations, whether of communicating military or diplomatic documents to the enemy, or of complicity in military disturbances, were quite unfounded.

KERENSKY RECOVERED.

PETROGRAD, Oct. 16. Premier Kerensky has recovered sufficiently from his recent indisposition to travel. He will return to Petrograd on Wednesday and open the Council of the Russian Republic on Thursday.

CONGRESS MEMBERS ON A VISIT.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16. Members of Congress travelling in unofficial capacity but carrying special passports arranged for by the State Department, are on their way to Europe to visit the war fronts and fraternize with parliamentary representatives of the Allies. In the party are Representatives Dale of Vermont, Taylor and Timberlake of Colorado, Hicks of New York, Johnson, Dill and Liller of Washington, Goodwin of Arkansas, Stephens of Nebraska, and Parker of New Jersey, former Representative Stout of Montana, and Ross L. Hammond, a Freemont editor. The visit is the development of recent cabled personal invitations of representative members of the British and French Parliamentary bodies of Allied Governments through personal conferences at British, French and Italian capitals. President Wilson did not favor Congress officially accepting the invitation at this time and neither House took any action, but ten members arranged their trips informally. Other representatives are expected to follow soon. While this is not an official communication, Representative Dale wrote his constituents in explanation of the trip: "It is certified by the Secretary of State and the Speaker of the House as one that goes in the interest of our country and the relations between it and the Governments of Allied nations. The members of the party are armed with letters of introduction to Ambassador Sharp at Paris, to General Pershing and others. They will visit England, Belgium, France, Italy and Switzerland. They hope to be back in Washington in time for the opening of Congress in December."

GERMAN ALIENS CAPTURED.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16. Two German aliens who escaped in a boat from the detention camp on Angel Island in San Francisco Bay to-day, were captured within a few hours after their disappearance. The men who were officers of seized merchant ships were returned to Angel Island. They were Capt. Brauch and Lorenzo Lan, engineer.

THE GERMAN EMPEROR AT CONSTANTINOPLE.

LONDON, Oct. 16. The German Emperor arrived at Constantinople to-day, according to a Reuter despatch received by way of Amsterdam. He was met at the station by the Sultan, the Imperial Prince, the Grand Vizier, Ministers, Senators, Deputies and other prominent personages, including the German Admiral, Von Koch. The Emperor's reception was imposing, Turkish girls offering flowers. The Emperor drove with the Sultan and Enver Pasha, Minister of War, to Yildiz Kiosk, where he reviewed the guard of honor. An Exchange Telegraph despatch says that after two days' visit to Constantinople the Emperor will inspect the defences in the Dardanelles.

PROHIBITION RETURNS FAVORABLE.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Oct. 16. Returns from more than two-thirds of the State on the election of Constitutional Prohibition, held in Iowa yesterday indicates that the amendment forbidding the manufacture or sale of liquor was adopted by a majority of about ten thousand. Prohibition by statute prevails in Iowa at present.

CATTLE YARDS DESTROYED.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 16. More than half the Kansas City stock yards, the second largest in the country, was destroyed by fire early to-day. Several thousand head of cattle were destroyed, some estimates running as high as ten thousand. The origin of the fire is unknown.

THE COST OF WAR.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16. The Associated Press carries the following: The war is costing the belligerent nations of the world at the rate of $160,000,000 a day, or $6,500,000 an hour, and the United States is paying at least one-quarter of this staggering sum, according to estimates made to-day by the Mechanics and Metal National Bank of New York.

REPORT ENCOURAGING.

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 16. An encouraging report as to military factories in the interior of Russia, comes from the Commission headed by General Gromov, of the Russian Army, and an English General, which has just finished a tour of inspection of all the factories newly erected or under erection for the manufacture of airplanes, arms and ammunition. The Associated Press correspondent talked at the Russian Legation with a man who had participated in the tour of inspection, and who accompanied the two Generals to Stockholm. He reports Russia's new factories, the erection of which became necessary through the diminution of supplies from other countries, were found to be the most modernly equipped and efficient factories of their kind in the world. The experience of their Allies according to his account has been drawn on in full measure by the Russians, and the lessons learned have been taken advantage of to such an extent that the examining Generals were surprised at what they found. The new plants include a great airplane factory now nearing completion, a large machine gun factory already working at full capacity, and artillery factories at various places. A further encouraging feature noted by the visitors was that at all factories where the electrical and mechanical side predominates over purely manual labor, the capacity of the output has diminished only negligibly despite anarchic conditions prevailing throughout the country. The capacity of the new railway, it appears, has been greatly increased, but there is still a sad shortage of rolling stock. This will be somewhat alleviated by transfer from the Archangel line when that port becomes ice-bound.

WORTH TAKING NOTE OF.

TORONTO, Oct. 16. No coal dealer will be allowed to make a profit of more than fifty cents a ton after to-morrow, when the order in council recommended by the conference presided over by Fuel Controller McGrath at Montreal, yesterday, was issued. The regulations will apply all over the Dominion. Allowance for operating expenses and all overhead charges will be made, so that dealers would get a net profit of 50 cents a ton. There will be severe penalties for infringement of the regulations.

THE WAR.

Some sudden and great change seems to be impending over the war. We spoke some days ago of the sense that is general that something bigger than usual is afoot, and it is natural that the outstanding event of recent days, the occupation of Oesel by the Germans, should be taken by most observers as the first manifestation of it and as indicating its nature. The theory is now set forth that Germany, faced with the approaching prospect of having Belgium, or the greater part of it, wrested from her by force, is seeking to obtain compensation in the only other quarter where there is any chance of getting it, and seeking to obtain it before the loss accrues. In other words, a dagger at Russia's throat in substitution for the far advanced shield covering Germany's heart.

The theory is most plausible, though we need not share the Manchester Guardian's certainty that it is true. It is difficult to find another hypothesis that will sufficiently explain the Baltic expedition, undertaken too late in the year to win for Germany any immediate advantage worth while. On the other hand it grows clearer daily that she will soon have to relinquish her present line in Belgium: no disguise is made of the purpose of the Allies, once sufficient advance has been made in the Ypres region, to carry out a tremendous attack upon the line thence to Ostend, simultaneously by land and on sea. Germany knows her inability to withstand such an attack, but she hopes to hold it off for the winter at least. In the meantime the acquisition of a position constituting a serious threat to the Russian right flank would be all to the good, and might prove of distinct service, so far as Russia is concerned, in the negotiations for peace which everyone agrees that Germany will initiate soon and in earnest.

Touching which latter, Athens seems to be convinced that peace is imminent. If it were talking of peace offers, we might be inclined to believe it. There will be offers enough before the real peace comes, and that will come only when Germany has been defeated beyond possibility of recovery. There can be no doubt that the Emperor's visit to Sofia and Constantinople is a prelude to the real peace negotiations which the Central Powers will soon set in motion, the communication to his humble vassals by the All Highest himself of his all highest intentions. It is unlikely that it is connected with fresh military developments. The world to-day is waiting for two things—a great Allied victory in Flanders and, whether before or after it, a statement of terms by the enemy which will be a much longer step towards peace than any which they have yet taken.

Cheery Letter From Prisoner of War.

Private Peter Barron, of "Ours," a prisoner of war in Giessen, Germany, writing home to his wife under date of Sept. 27th, says:

"I received your kind and welcome letter and glad to know that you and the children are in the best of health. I'm glad you received my photo that I sent you. Dear wife, don't be downhearted about me. I am making things as happy as I can. We have a sing-song now and then. I am getting plenty to eat in the parcels that I get from England. We are having good weather here at present. My best love to all.—Peter."

Death of Well-Known Missionary.

The R. C. community will learn with profound regret of the death of that eminent Missionary, Rev. Father Robert, of the Paulist Order. The sad event occurred in New Jersey, on Oct. 6th. Deceased had reached an advanced age and was over a half century a priesthood. He was well known in St. John's, as he has here two years ago with three other members of the same order and conducted a Mission at the Cathedral and St. Patrick's Church. The late Father Robert was one of the ablest and most powerful pulpit orators ever heard here.

Diamonds of Lusitania are Found in Sea.

When the Lusitania was torpedoed by a German submarine off the coast of Ireland, with the loss of 1,100 lives, it carried with it, among other rich freight, a consignment of diamonds in transit from New York to London, upon which the Union Insurance Company of Bangor, Maine, carried a risk of $13,000. The company promptly paid the claim and entered the $13,000 in its account. But, it now appears, long after the great disaster the insurance company received a London draft for the full amount of its risk, with the information that the diamonds had been recovered.

An Irish fisherman, upon hauling his trawls, found that he had hooked the most valuable fish of his career—a small package which bore plainly enough the address of a firm of London jewelers, and which upon examination, was found to contain diamonds—the gems upon which the Bangor Insurance Company, among others, carried risks. The fisherman got his due amount of salvage and the diamond merchants were glad to return the insurance money.

The puzzle is: Having presumably been locked in the purser's safe, how did the diamond packet get loose so that it came up on the fisherman's trawl?—Montreal Star.

Recruiting at Grand Falls.

Grand Falls, Oct. 16th, 1917. Grand Falls is determined to keep to the front regarding recruits. A big recruiting meeting was held here on Friday night, the chair being occupied by Magistrate Fitzgerald. The speakers were Capt. Goodyear, Lieut. Thistle and Rev. Fr. Finn. And those holding back, after listening to the appeals of these gentlemen are not fit to be called Britons. We are sending out twenty-six by to-morrow's express, others to follow Sunday night. The conscripts not yet, but will follow later.

Schr. Abandoned

Off Groais Island—Anxiety for Three Members of Crew.

Minister of Marine and Fisheries Stone received the accompanying message to-day from Conche:—"Schooner Elizabeth Pritchard sprung a leak, broke stern post and wooden ends on the 11th ult., and put back to land in a sinking condition on the 14th ult., and made Groais Island twelve miles off; tried to get to land and failed; abandoned ship; mate and two seamen in jolly boat, self and two seamen in life boat, lost sight of jolly boat; expect they will make land about St. Julien's; self picked up by Capt. Sheridan's schooner Saffren four miles off Groais Island; set ship adrift before leaving so as to be out of way of navigation."

At the Crescent.

The Crescent Picture Palace presents an all feature programme to-day. "The Double Cross" is a great society drama, produced as an Essay super-feature in two reels with Elizabeth Burbridge. "The Fight for Paradise Valley" is a sensational adventure of the "Girl film Frisco" series featuring Marin Sars and Fred Broadman. "A Woman for a Day," and "Shorty" are two splendid comedies. Professor McCarthy plays a new class musical programme. Don't miss seeing this big mid-week show.

Hr. Grace Notes.

Much sympathy is felt for Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Martin in the death, last week, of two of their children, Mr. Geo. Davis of Kitchen's Hill also lost a little girl last week by bronchitis.

Capt. W. H. Ellis, of Plymouth, England, was in town for a day last week. His friends were pleased to see him. Mr. Ellis and his good wife (nee Miss M. Thomey, of Harbor Grace), are greatly interested in any of our Newfoundland boys on the other side, and are always pleased to welcome them.

Rev. T. H. James occupied the pulpit of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church yesterday morning and delivered a very fine sermon.

Married on Thursday evening, by Rev. T. H. James, D.D., Mr. Wm. Simmonds, son of Capt. Hugh Simmonds, of this town, to Miss Mildred Dean, daughter of Mr. A. E. Dean, of Sydney, N.S.

Capt. Charles Webber of the schr. Mildred is in town on a short visit to his mother and also to his many friends.

The good ladies of the W. F. A. are just now busily engaged in making up packages of comforts for our boys serving on the other side. They ask all their friends to remember our soldiers, and send along a package of candy, cigarettes, etc., to the Town Hall on Wednesday and thus help them (the ladies) in their noble work of helping and encouraging the brave boys who are so nobly doing their best in the cause of freedom and right. ### Trial of Private John Parker.

Private John Parker, who was arrested on Sunday, August 26th, on a charge of manslaughter, came up for trial before a special jury at the Supreme Court this morning.

Hon. Justice Johnson presided and the following jurors were sworn:—Randell Jeans, Thos. Harris, John Chislett, Thos. Flynn, John Williams, Robert Forbes, Geo. Butterworth, John Deer, J. B. Giles, Ellis Watson, Thos. Fitzpatrick, Frederick Collier.

After the jurors were sworn the Clerk of the Court read to them the charge, wherein it was stated that "on the afternoon of Sunday, August 26th, the accused did unlawfully kill Ethel and Douglas Chafe (mother and son) at the Goulds in the District of St. John's West."

Included in the number of visitors to the court were several clergymen and about twenty returned soldiers. Mr. McNelly, Crown Prosecutor, addressed the jury and in brief gave an outline of the evidence given at the inquiry, which would be submitted in due course for their approval.

The first witness to be called was Mr. Frank Morris, K. C., Magistrate of the Central District Court, who conducted the inquiry. He identified several articles that were put in as evidence in relation to the motor bridge, including a portion of Doyle's Bridge supposed to have been broken by the car owned and driven by the accused, also the hub and tire of the broken wheel and a bottle half filled with spirituous liquor that was taken from the car.

Mr. F. H. Balfour, Surveyor of the Department of Agriculture and Mines, who, acting on instructions from the Crown, proceeded to the scene of the tragedy took observations and drew plans of the surrounding country. He was examined by Mr. McNelly, who requested that the plans in question be shown the jury. On being cross-examined by Mr. W. J. Higgins, Mr. Balfour described Doyle's Bridge (which figures largely in the evidence) as being of a peculiar shape, being about two feet wider at the southern end than at the northern, while the structure was built in the shape of an obtuse angle. At this point of evidence Mr. McNelly protested to the bench on the manner in which the lawyer for the defence asked certain questions of the witness, and quoted the following from a well known legal authority: "that he is not allowed to put into the witness's mouth the very words he wishes to echo back again."

A window in Edward Chafe's house from which Miss Chafe saw the car come round the curve was also described in the plan, this piece of evidence being largely dwelt upon by Mr. Higgins.

Mr. F. W. Bradshaw, Commission Merchant, was the next witness. On the evening of the tragedy he left town in Mr. Bennett's car, at about 5 o'clock and reached the scene a few minutes after the accident, where he saw Mrs. Chafe lying on the ground but still alive. He saw the motor car on the side of the road and one of the wheels broken and detached from the car. He also took observations and found that the car appeared to have left the road at a point 15 yards from where the accident happened and proceeded to a point 25 yards further on. He discovered some broken glass (pieces of the headlight) on the road, but with the exception of the broken wheel the machine apparently was undamaged. He spoke to Private Parker who was sitting in the front left seat of a Ford car. The words he used were, "Hard luck, Jack," to which he received no reply. When asked as to Parker's condition he told the Court that the accused presented in his features a sort of dazed expression, one that would be expected on such an occasion. He was not prepared to say if the accused was under the influence of liquor. He could not say definitely as to what angle the car left the road, but he took particular notice of the inside of the drain which rose to a considerable extent above the level of the road. The drain was about 18 inches wide, with an average depth of about 12 to 14 inches, all of which are points of great importance in connection with the case.

Mr. J. C. Parsons, photographer, who was also instructed by the Crown to proceed to the scene of the tragedy and take photographs of the surroundings, was examined and the photos taken were put in evidence. The Court adjourned for recess at 1 p.m., till 2.30 o'clock when the further hearing of evidence is being taken.

Married in Brooklyn.

St. Matthew's Church, Utica Ave., Brooklyn, New York, was the scene of a military wedding on Sept. 27th, when Miss Estelle Tremblait, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Tremblait, of this city, was united in the bonds of holy matrimony to Mr. Edward James Riley, N.C.O. of the 23rd Infantry of Brooklyn, N.Y., son of John Elsworth and the late Katherine Riley, of Bergen Street, Brooklyn, New York. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Fr. Sullivan, the church was beautifully decorated for the occasion, and the bride, who was handsomely attired, was attended by her affectionate friend, Miss Marion Kennedy, while the groom was supported by Corporal Frank McNamara, of the 23rd Infantry of Brooklyn. Following the ceremony the happy couple motored to the residence of the groom's parents where a sumptuous repast was partaken of. Many were the messages of congratulations from friends far and near; the presents were costly and numerous showing the high esteem in which the young couple were held—Com.

GERMANY'S LOST COMMERCE.

NEW YORK, To-day. What a different world of trade this will be after the war was pictured at the Southern Commercial Congress here to-night by Secretary Redfield in an address telling of the cutting of the threads of Germany's foreign commerce by her own acts, and of the awakening of America and the Allies to the danger of having their industries dependent upon foreign and possibly upon unfriendly sources of supply. "When peace shall come and her merchants take up the task of restoring Germany's ruined commerce, they will find that it is a strange world which they seek to re-enter," said the Secretary. "There will be difficulties in the path of future peaceful penetration of which they seem not to dream. Commercial righteousness, like its military namesake, will have passed away. It will hardly be said again to any Secretary of Commerce of the United States that the German dye stuff Verein, will not permit the establishment of American dye stuff industries. The monopolies on which German foreign commerce in large part seemed to rest secure have passed away. Our friends beyond the sea and we ourselves have learned the danger of having our industries wholly dependent on foreign sources of supply which may become unfriendly. It is pitiful to read extracts from the German press which seem to show that they expect to take up the task of rebuilding their commerce where they laid it down. They reckon the world's demand for potash as a purely German asset. It was so but is no longer. They were the world's source for dyestuffs. That opportunity has gone. It was they to whom the world looked for optical glass; we don't look there now. They were the source of supply of chemical porcelain, which we make to-day as well as they. When our sons have fought and died together with those of Britain, France, Italy, Russia, our other honored friends, things cannot be as they were before that happened; each knows the other better than he did. Old lines of separation have gone. Our vision is enlarged. Applied to commerce this means that we understand other people and their needs better and know better what we may be able to supply to them. Our men with vision are reaching out into all lands. We are in the family whether we will or not, and in my earnest belief we shall draw richly from the family intercourse. We were those who looked upon the peaceful contests of commerce as an economic war. We should hardly feel we could speak with freedom in this presence of the coming days, when normal commercial intercourse throughout the world shall replace the present restricted conditions for we recognize as a matter of course an opportunity and duty they are not slow to see, and upon which they rightly act—that the nations associated with us in this war are preparing for their proper share of the world's business when the war shall close. Believing as we do, however, that Commerce is not war but mutual intercourse to mutual gain, we look without fear and with strong approval upon every effort of our friends to renew their commercial and industrial activities in the happier days that are coming."

RUSSIAN AND GERMAN MOSQUITO FLEETS ENGAGE.

PETROGRAD, To-day. To-day's statement follows:—On the northwestern and Rumanian fronts there have been fatalities and scouting operations. Caucasus fronts.—There is nothing to report. Baltic.—On Sunday at four o'clock p.m. our patrol squadron off Soela Sound, consisting of four torpedo boats and two gun boats, were shelled by German dreadnoughts. The torpedo boat Brom was severely damaged. Following this, 12, and afterwards more, German torpedo boats of the newest type forced a way into Soela Sound under cover of a German battleship. Our patrol squadron accepted battle. The gunboat Khrabry was struck twice. The torpedo boat Brom was under violent fire. Other torpedo boats covered them, energetically engaging the enemy. The enemy's fire was principally directed on the Khrabry and Brom. All the guns of the latter vessel were put out of action; she was also set fire and a big wave cut the hausers with which the Khrabry was towing her. The Khrabry approached the Brom and once more tried to take her in tow, but without success, and the Brom sank. The majority of the crew were saved by the Khrabry. Simultaneously one of the enemy torpedo boats was sunk by the fire of the Khrabry and others. Our warships then appearing on the scene the enemy turned back. The rest of our warships were only slightly damaged.

CABINET CONGRATULATES HAIG.

LONDON, To-day. Premier Lloyd George sent the following message yesterday to Haig: "The War Cabinet desires to congratulate you and the troops under your command upon the achievement of the British armies in Flanders in the great battle which has been raging since July 31st. You and your men have continued to drive the enemy back with such skill, courage and pertinacity as have commanded the great admiration of the peoples of the British Empire and filled the enemy with alarm. I am personally glad to be the means of transmitting this message to you and your gallant troops, and I desire to take this opportunity of renewing my assurance of confidence in your leadership and in the devotion of those whom you command."

AMSTERDAM, To-day. The Zutphen Courant says that Germany has informed Holland that she will cease the transportation of sand and gravel by way of Holland, if Great Britain forces Holland to make such a demand of Germany.

SOMETHING DOING IN THE EAST.

AMSTERDAM, To-day. The Westzeitung suggests that the visit to Sofia of the German Emperor has as its object to encourage a Bulgarian attack on General Sarraff's forces with Saloniki as the reward in the event of success. The paper adds that a declaration of war by Greece against Bulgaria is to be expected at an early date.

GRAIN ELEVATOR DESTROYED.

NEW YORK, To-day. The grain elevator of J. W. Estegor and Son, Brooklyn, containing a large store of grain was destroyed by fire last night. The loss is $200,000.

GERMANY MAY BE ABANDONING BELGIUM.

LONDON, To-day. Hindenburg's new Russian drive has given rise to a suggestion that his idea may be to create a proper atmosphere in Germany for the abandonment of the present lines before Ypres to straighten the lines based on Ostend or Zeebrugge. Of such a contingency the Manchester Guardian says: "Supposing Germany decided to create a new Belgium on the shores of the Gulf of Finland, threatening Petrograd, and is prepared to that end to sacrifice the other Belgium or a great deal of it, which is getting rather too hot to hold, what effect would this change have on the strategy and politics of the West? We do not say it is certain that this is Germany's plan, but it is one of those possibilities which ought not to take us by surprise should it come.

FAMINE AND DESPAIR PAINTED BY GERMAN REFUGEE.

CHICAGO, To-day. That the German navy is full of spirit of revolt is a statement contained in a cable despatch to Chicago Daily News from Edward Price Bells, its London correspondent. The assertion is made by Peder Pedersen Dahlgaard, who was sailor on the German battleship Kaiser, at Kiel, until last June, but who escaped and has just arrived in England. There is serious unrest in the German navy, said Dahlgaard to the correspondent. It arises from the belief of the sailors that Germany has lost the war and that further fighting is a crime against the German people. I do not think this feeling prevails to the same extent in the army but it is by no means unknown there. Riots in the German navy began months ago. In April I heard of an outbreak on the Koening A. Albert. The sailors on the ship are said to have seized a watchman and tied him to an anchor and sunk him. Two hundred and fifty of the men were sent to prison in Cologne. Similar actions were planned on other ships. No civilized Government besides that of Germany ever imposed such discipline upon men as German Naval Commanders impose. Officers beat the sailors sometimes out of pure savagery and think it perfectly right to call them dogs and spit in their faces. I have heard officers say that the Allies need not fight another battle in order to beat Germany. All they had to do, these officers said, was to hold fast and wait another six months when famine would force Germany to surrender.

RECORD WHEAT CROP OF INDIA.

WASHINGTON, To-day. A record crop of wheat in India was reported yesterday in a despatch to the department of agriculture.

RELATED COMPUNCTION.

ZURICH, To-day. That Great Britain's decision to bombard German cities and towns in reprisal for the air raids on London and other cities and towns is having an effect in southern Germany is indicated by the Muenchener Post, which says that air attacks on open towns have proved, quite apart from moral estimates, that this mode of warfare will be the means of stiffening rather than of breaking the determination of the people. The newspaper says: "This applies to all belligerents and it would be a matter for rejoicing if all of them would agree no longer to make this fearful mode of warfare a catastrophe still more horrible through the slaughter of defenceless persons."

SO MUCH THE BETTER.

AMSTERDAM, To-day. Several Vienna papers express the opinion that the recent statements of Lloyd George, Asquith and Ribot will cause the cessation of any peace action on the part of the Central Powers. It declares that by refusing the peace proposals of the Central Powers, those circumstances have arisen which Count Cernin, Austro-Hungary's Foreign Minister, has mentioned as justifying a revision of the Central Powers' war aims.

BOMB SHELTERS FOR LONDON.

LONDON, To-day. London bomb proof shelters are being card indexed in preparation for further German raids. Sufficient tunnels, arches, crypts, basements and substantial buildings have been indexed to accommodate one million persons. In making this announcement to-day Sir George Cave, Home Secretary, declared that an advisory board of prominent surveyors will be appointed soon to make a canvass of bomb proof shelters in London. He said the Government had decided to make it a regulation under the Defence of the Realm Act to require everyone possessing a bomb proof shelter to place it at the disposal of the public. The decision of the educational authorities to close all schools in London during the last week in October is perhaps the most interesting of many steps being taken in anticipation of a recurrence of the German raids as soon as the moon is up again. Air raid shelter placards are being distributed throughout the city. Many substantial forms of relief for air raid victims and their relatives are announced as a result of the conference of the Mayors of the various London boroughs.

FRENCH SENATE RESUMES PUBLIC BUSINESS.

PARIS, To-day. The Deputies after a secret session last night resumed its public sessions, closing the secret debate on a statement concerning Alsace Lorraine made in the Chamber last Friday by Foreign Minister Ribot by voting to pass to the next business. The motion was carried by 313 to 0, the Socialists refusing to vote.

ATHENS EXPECTS PEACE SOON. ATHENS, To-day. In well informed diplomatic circles here it is considered that peace is imminent. Despite the secrecy observed in Germany regarding the subjects discussed at the Council held in Berlin immediately before the German Emperor's departure for Bulgaria and those discussed in Sofia and Constantinople between the Allied monarchs, authentic information has been received here to the effect that new and less irrecconcilable peace proposals are to be expected from Germany in this coming week.

NOTHING TO REPORT.

LONDON, To-day. Field Marshal Haig in his report to the War Office to-day says: "There is nothing of special interest to report."

AERIAL ACTIVITY.

LONDON, To-day. The British Admiralty says: "Naval aircraft dropped many tons of bombs on the Bruges docks on Monday night. On Tuesday one of our fighting pilots brought down a double seater enemy machine in the vicinity of Searon; the observer fell out and the machine turned over and fell in flames. All our machines returned."

The Present British Offensive.

(From the Cleveland Plain Dealer.) To drive the Germans out of Belgium is not the declared aim of the present British offensive. It is probable that the heavy blows being delivered east of Ypres will even cause the invaders to relinquish their coast defences to the north of the city of Lille to the south. Both these results are sought by the British, but probably the winter is too near at hand to permit attainment this year. What Haig is now doing is a labor of preparation. He is preparing a favorable position from which the Allied armies, largely augmented by the American forces, can begin the task of Belgium reconquest next spring. If any considerable part of the reconquest is accomplished this fall it will be a gain beyond present expectation. If Haig had two or three months of fighting weather ahead of him it would be reasonable to expect a considerable German retreat similar to the Somme retreat of last spring. Inasmuch as the British believe they are only paving the way for next year's serious work the earnestness of their present effort is highly praiseworthy. They are fighting gallantly, and could scarcely work more effectively were they bent on the immediate recovery of Belgium. It is clearly recognized that the British now are accepting the larger burden of offensive work on the western front. France's armies are firmly holding their share of the line, but the British, who were later on the field and have suffered less severely, are generously seeking to give their old ally an opportunity for recuperation while at the same time making ready for the coming of their new ally. Next year it will be the American privilege to show practical appreciation of this spirit of co-operation. What the British are now doing for the French the Americans will then do in some measure for the British.

For Stricter Censorship

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—The censorship of movie picture shows in this city is not strict enough, and if the governing bodies of the Island do not take the interest in the welfare and morals of this generation, then the future men and women will be a lot of criminals of the worst description. I do not have religious services on children on Sunday, one day of the week and have their minds corrupted six afternoons and nights the week. As a previous writer in the News has stated, a child's impressions are like wax. I can remember things said to me as a child which I will retain until I go to the grave and probably thereafter, who knows. The founder of Christianity has stated in a clarion voice, "It would be better that a millstone had been hanged about his neck and he cast into the sea than that he should offend one of these little ones."

It is impossible but that offence will come, but woe unto him through whom they come. You, Mr. Editor, are correct re Prohibition Act. As constituted now it's a farce; it's a get-rich-quick method for some. I am in a position to see who frequents the place and to observe the tactics displayed by certain bums to get their bottles filled. I have a camera and I have got you Steve. Would you like to see your phiz; if so let it be on the roll of honor as your country needs you now. Yours, WATCHMAN.

Sunset Soap Dyes have come to stay evidently. There are reasons for this. In the first place, the goods are washed and dyed by one operation; secondly, these dyes will color cotton, wool, and silk goods, or a mixture of any or all of these, equally well; thirdly, they give fast and brilliant colors that do not wash out, fade or crack. Price 15 cts a pkg.

Try Babykin Talcum Powder next time. You will find that it is very grateful and pleasant to the person most concerned—the baby; and you will be delighted with its results on the child's skin. Price 25c. a tin.

That Little Sarcastic Smile.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

"There's nothing in the world my husband ever says to me," a wife once told me, "that I mind so much as a little sarcastic smile that he sometimes smiles."
 Do you recognize that smile—husbands and wives.
 I fancy a great many of you will for it is a smile between husbands and wives.
 It is a little fleeting contraction of the lips gone almost as soon as it comes. One of those smiles that doesn't touch the eyes at all. The person who smiles it is not always conscious that he is smiling at all. He just thinks a thought and that thought reflects on his lips.
 He had been smiling that way all the time.
 I once knew a husband who rebuked his wife for smiling that way when she was miffed with him, and behold she had long been secretly enraged at that very habit in him. (An interesting and suggestive thought for the husband or wife who reads this and says "Isn't that just like Mabel?" or "I've seen Henry smile that way hundreds of times.")
 I have often tried to analyze the rago such a smile arouses in me.
 In the first place it is such a superior smile. It seems to say, "There are lots of things I could say to you if you were capable of understanding, but you are not."
 You Feel You Are Fighting Ghosts.
 And then it's such a baffling smile. If they only said something you could answer them but you can't answer a thought. You have a baffled, ghost-fighting feeling.

 And of course the worst thing about it is the infinite possibilities behind it. It might mean so many things and you probably imagine far more disagreeable things than it really does mean.
 Sarcasm is always disagreeable but particularly so when it mixes itself up with smiles.
 Sarcastic Smiles Much Worse Than Frowns.
 Anything lovely in itself distorted from its natural use is more ugly than an ugly thing. A maniac's laugh is more hideous than his shriek. A depraved woman (I'm not sure that women are really any better than men but they somehow seem to stand for goodness in our minds) is the most desolate thing in the world. And a sarcastic smile is a great deal worse than a frown.
 You will probably never realize how hideous a thing your own sarcastic smile is because that isn't the kind of a face we make when we look into mirrors. But the next time you see someone else smile that way remember that you look just as hideous as they and guard your lips. Or better still your heart.

Billiards is played by poking ivory balls around on a table and trying to make them connect with one eye screwed into an agonizing squint. There is only one kind of physical exercise which calls more muscles of the body into play than billiards, and that is sawing wood, but owing to the scarcity of cord wood men are driven to playing billiards. Most men would prefer to saw a cord of wood before breakfast and their wives would prefer to have them, but our standing timber is too precious to be thus wasted.
 While science helps a man to play billiards, it is not positively necessary. A rangy, muscular player who has horseshoes bulging out of both hip pockets and enjoys a stand-in with Providence is more dangerous to meet than a fat man who is on roller skates for the first time. Thousands of men are playing billiards every day, when they ought to be shooting craps for a living.
 Billiards is like the patent medicine which is 92 per cent. alcohol—it is all right except when used as a beverage. The man who learns how to gallop around a billiard table for an hour and then remembers that he has a business to look after will have something to leave his family besides sad regrets and a mortgaged future.

Your Boys and Girls.

This diet for baby, for the latter part of the second year, may give some aid to inexperienced mothers: 6.30 to 7 a.m., ten ounces of warm milk. 9 a.m.—Orange, peach or prune juice, two or three ounces in one ounce of water. 10 a.m.—Rolled oats cooked three hours, two or three tablespoons served with thin cream and toast or zwieback, and a cup of warm milk. 2 p.m.—Rice thoroughly boiled, with two ounces of beef juice and a slice of dry toast. For dessert, the pulp of prunes may be given cooked without sugar until very soft. Steam them to remove the skins.
 On another day the following may be given: Chicken or mutton broth with boiled rice and some bits of soft wheat or rye bread or a twenty-four hour old zwieback. For dessert give the soft part of a baked apple. Give water, but no milk, at this meal. On another day codded eggs may replace the meat broth. Some dietitians advise fresh vegetables thoroughly boiled and mashed.
 If olive oil is to be heated for any reason use only the best quality.
 Lettuce leaves not sufficiently attractive for salads can be used as pot-herbs.

There was a time when billiards was looked upon by the clergy as a snare of the devil.
 There was a time when billiards was looked upon by the clergy as a snare of the devil, but since it has been introduced to the Y. M. C. A.'s and the parlors of the church it is considered no more harmful than the annual raffle for the pipe-organ fund. Some mothers and fathers go so far as to say that they would rather have their boys play billiards in the church than in some basement pool hall with a blind pig in connection, thus establishing proof of the doctrine of total depravity. If every church in the country had a billiard room for its boys, presided over by one of the brethren who at some time or other was a fourteen-carat boy himself, there would be fewer poker games running at full blast in the lumber yards and along the river banks of our small towns.

FREE INSTRUCTIONS.

I'm rather tired—say, aren't you?—of folks who tell me what to do. They used to bore me in the past before we heard the war trump's blast; they told me how I should behave, where I should spend, where I should save, what I should eat, what I should wear, how long I ought to have my hair. Since war has come it's getting worse; advisers have become a curse. If I don't do just what they say, and by their blue prints go my way, if I don't spend where they elect, and help a cause they deem correct, I should be backed against a wall and punctured by a rifle ball. I am a traitor, punk and fool, if I don't heed them when they howl. I should be fried in rancid lard if I don't come to their back yard, and have them tell me what to do, what paths to walk, what regs to chew. Now, I'm a patriotic man; I want to help the best I can; I want to chip in, left and right, to help our armies win the fight; but all these bluffing, noisy men should leave to me the how and when. I'll gladly dig my final wheel, when comes the courteous appeal. But I am growing tired—aren't you?—of all the loud, abusive crew.

All three Colleges have given freely of their brightest and best students to the cause of Empire. This afternoon's game promises to be an exciting one.

Society Wedding

SOLEMNIZED TO-DAY AT C. OF E. CATHEDRAL — RECEPTION AT GOVERNMENT HOUSE IN HONOR OF EVENT.

A brilliant and most attractive society wedding took place at the C. of E. Cathedral at 2.30 o'clock this afternoon when Mr. Llewellyn A. Field Jones and Miss Mabel LeMessurier were made husband and wife. Assembled in the sacred and spacious edifice to witness the ceremony was a large concourse of friends and admirers of the contracting parties, who are prominent and esteemed personages in the community.

The bridegroom is the son of our revered and venerable Lord Bishop of Newfoundland. He holds the high and responsible position of District Administrator of British East Africa and came here on a visit a short time ago to his father, whose health was then greatly impaired, but has since, we are pleased to be able to mention, improved somewhat. Mr. Jones is a Newfoundlander, a gentleman of marked refinement, and possesses a most striking and engaging personality.

The bride is the highly respected daughter of H. W. LeMessurier, Esq., C.M.G., Deputy Minister of Customs and Food Controller, and Mrs. LeMessurier. In society circles Miss LeMessurier was best noted for her zealous and tireless efforts in connection with work and movements of a charitable, philanthropic and patriotic character. Being a lady of exceptional theatrical ability, she gave willingly of her time and talent towards the success of our local dramatic performances. She was an active member of St. Margaret's Guild and for many years prominently identified with the Cowan Mission, and many of her kindly visits and generous ministrations are still fresh in the memories of some of the poor and afflicted. She was a most energetic member of various committees in connection with war work, notably a district visitor to our soldiers, whose interest she always had at heart. She was also known to have a literary taste of rare excellence, as she founded, edited and published several issues of the "Distaff", one of our most popular magazines, and as a result of which she was instrumental in having augmented materially from time to time the funds of the Women's Patriotic Association.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was charmingly attired in white satin with veil, and wore a wreath of orange blossoms. She was attended by Miss Nora Randall as bridesmaid, who was prettily costumed in old rose and mole, and as flower girls by the Misses Daphne and Diana, the winsome twin daughters of their Excellencies Sir Walter and Lady Davidson. The groom was supported by Capt. C. Riley, M.C., Private Secretary and A.D.C. to the Governor. Precisely at the hour appointed the bride entered the church leaning on the arm of her father, while the full choir sang the hymn "The voice that breathed o'er Eden." The marriage ceremony was then performed by the Bishop-Elect Rev. Canon White, Rector of the Cathedral, assisted by Rev. Mr. Moulton of St. Thomas's, after which the bride and groom left the altar to proceed to the Vestry as Organist A. Stafford played the bridal march. At the Vestry the roll was signed and the happy couple received the heartiest congratulations of their friends. Meanwhile Mr. Fred. J. Cornick, soloist of the choir, sang in fine voice the solo "In native worth." On their return from the Vestry and while leaving the church Organist Stafford rendered Mendelssohn's Wedding March.

Following the marriage ceremony the bridal party drove to Government House where a reception was, by special request of His Excellency the Governor and Lady Davidson, tendered in honor of the wedding, a large gathering of guests being present, including His Lordship Bishop Jones. The health of the bride and groom was enthusiastically proposed both by His Excellency and His Lordship and eloquently responded to by the groom. At the conclusion of the reception the bride and groom, amid showers of confetti and good wishes, motored to Toppal to spend their honeymoon. The bride's travelling costume was navy blue. From there they will leave en route to Nairobi, British East Africa, where they will make their future home. As an evidence of their popularity, numerous valuable and useful presents were received, including several substantial cheques. The Telegram extends its felicitations to Mr. and Mrs. Jones and trust that they will spend many years of conjugal happiness.

HAS SAW BAYONET. — Through the kindness of Rev. T. Nangle, C. F., Mr. Levi Chase received from his son, 2nd Lieut. Chase, a desperate looking weapon in the shape of a saw-bayonet, which was captured from a German in a recent engagement. The brutal instrument of war was manufactured last year and bears the inscription: "Berlin, 1916."

Pains Over Left Kidney

Warned This Captain That the Kidneys Were Responsible for His Pains and Aches—Freed of Pain and Suffering by a Well-Known Medicine.

Hereford, Que., October 17th.—Captain Peabody is well known all through this section, and his cure by use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills has aroused great interest in this great medicine.

The Captain had been suffering for a long time, and could never get any treatment to afford lasting relief until he began using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Captain A. Peabody, Hereford, Que., writes:—"For years I suffered from indigestion, rheumatism and neuralgia. Lightning-like pains would shoot all through my body, and I also had severe pains over my left kidney and through the hips. I doctored for years and tried all kinds of remedies, but the only result was money spent without relief. At last I read in Dr. Chase's Almanac of his Kidney-Liver Pills and decided to try them. One box made such a change that I sent for five more. Before I had finished them the pains in my kidneys and hips had disappeared, and I was clear of those sharp, shooting pains through the body. I still take these Pills occasionally to keep my bowels regular, and without them, as I have them to thank for my cure."

"I can also speak highly of Dr. Chase's Catarrh Powder and Linseed and Turpentine. The former cured me of catarrh in the head, which caused frequent headaches. I am completely cured of this now, and breathe freely as when a boy. The Linseed and Turpentine proved of great benefit for a bad cough which bothered me continually for three winters. Last winter I took one bottle of the Linseed and Turpentine, and have not been bothered with a cough since."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, all dealers or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Don't be talked into accepting anything said to be just as good. Imitations and substitutes only disappoint.

Full House Taken by a "Pair of Sixes"

Gladys Klark Co., Again Win Out at the Opera House, Company Increasing in Popularity.

In the Opera House last night, the Gladys Klark Company, put up a "Pair of Sixes" to a "Full House," and strange to say the later was captured by the former. A "Pair of Sixes" is a most laughable comedy or rather series of most comical situations, the plot being as intricate as it is humorous.

The Company in their clever work of unravelling the plot were greeted with hearty applause and laughter. Miss Gladys Klark, Edith Bryan, Corina Carpenter and Messrs. Waldon and McManus took the principal parts most acceptably.

The Company is steadily increasing in popularity and to-night another crowded house is looked for, when that engaging drama "Common Clay" will be presented. Come early and avoid the rush. This afternoon the matinee will be "The Woman he Married."—P.E.I. paper.

GOOD MEAT FOR SOLDIERS AND SAILORS.

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.
The American Meat Packers' Association in convention here to-day, adopted a resolution pledging that soldiers and sailors fighting for the flag shall have the best meat produced in this or any other country. The packers pledge cheerful co-operation with the Government in all its efforts.

POSTPONEMENT.

PETROGRAD, Oct. 16.
The Provisional Government has postponed the opening of Parliament from Oct. 16 to Oct. 20.

AEROPLANE ACTIVITY.

LONDON, Oct. 16 (Official).
A considerable number of patrols were carried out yesterday by naval craft, in the course of which several enemy airplane formations were encountered. Two enemy machines were driven down; one of ours is missing.

BRITISH CASUALTIES.

LONDON, Oct. 16.
British casualties reported in the last week amounted to 14,098.

FRENCH OFFICIAL.

PARIS, Oct. 16 (Official).
On the Aisne front the artillery fighting was less intense. We made two successful attacks on the German lines, one east of Rheims, the other in the Argonne, in the region of Bouraillie. Our detachments destroyed numerous shelters and brought back prisoners. On the left bank of the Meuse we repulsed a German attack north of Hill 304. On the right bank of the river the artillery fighting was especially severe in the sector north of Courleres Wood. Elsewhere the night was calm. German aviators dropped bombs last night in the region of Dunkirk. There was no victims and no material damage was caused.

Here and There.

POLICE CHANGES.—Constable Parsons, formerly of the West End Station, leaves by the next trip of the Prospero for St. Anthony replacing Constable Blundon, who has been transferred to the city.

Just Arrived—Nyal's Face Cream at Stafford's Drug Stores, Duckworth St. and Theatre Hill.

WITH UNCLE SAM'S FORCES.—Mr. Michael Kelly, of the Customs' Long Room, received word from his son, Charles, at New York, stating that he had joined the United States Overseas forces and was then in training. Before leaving here a few years ago the young soldier was employed as a jeweller with Mr. A. McNamara. Another brother—John—is with "Ours."

New Skin Remedy.

Since the old-fashioned theory of curing eczema through the blood has been given up by scientists, many different salves have been tried for skin diseases. But it has been found that these salves only clog the pores and cannot penetrate to the inner skin below the epidermis where the eczema germs are lodged.

This—the quality of penetrating—partially explains the tremendous success of the wonderful new liquid eczema remedy, the D. D. D. Prescription.

D. D. D. is now recognized as the only absolutely reliable eczema remedy, for it penetrates the pores, washes away the disease germs and leaves the skin as clear and healthy as that of a child.

This scientific antiseptic wash has been found to be especially effective in all forms of Eczema, Bad Leg, Ulcers, Pimples, Ringworm, Sores and Rashes, Salt Rheum and all other skin diseases. One bottle will prove it to you.

Don't delay; get a bottle of D. D. D. Prescription to-day. Sold Everywhere. Recommended by T. McMurdo & Co., A. W. Kennedy, M. Connors, Peter O'Mara.

OUR CHALLENGE ENVELOPE at $2.30, $2.50, $2.70, are, we believe, the best envelope value in town to-day.
THE CHALLENGE comes in 3 sizes—small, medium and large; the small at $2.30, medium at $2.50 and the large at $2.70. The CHALLENGE is a good, strong, oblong, commercial envelope, good enough for your own use, and a splendid one for retail. We have sold over a million of them in the last 12 months.

Our APEX Envelope at $2.50 and $2.70 is the same shape as the Challenge, but it is a better grade envelope, with a very smooth surface and well finished. It is an ideal envelope for retail purposes. We have over half a million of these two grades in stock.

Our No. 6662 BARONIAL is a good, smooth-finish, strong, square envelope. We have it in cream and in white at $2.50 per thousand, and at this price it is worth while seeing. If you use or sell square envelopes.

Some persons prefer a Colored Envelope. If you are one of these persons we can give them to you in red, yellow, green or pink; good large size well finished commercial envelopes, something distinctive for you at $3.00 per thousand, and extremely good value, and when printed look most attractive.

We are also selling a cheap Manila Envelope, if you are interested in getting them cheap for ordinary use. We have all sizes in Pay and Coin Envelopes; we have all sizes in White and Cream Foolscap Envelopes; we have all sizes in Linen Lined Envelopes; we have all sizes in Square Envelopes; we have all sizes in thin
Opaque Envelopes for foreign correspondence; in fact we have more envelopes than you have seen at any one time at any one store. The qualities are good and the prices are right.
If you buy your Envelopes at Dicks &
Co. Ltd., you get just what you need, and you get them at the right price.
