STEWART'S FANCY BAKERY.

The Wedding Cake in the Marriage Ceremony occupies a central and altogether unique position and is rightly considered indispensable to the success of the function. It is peculiarly the Bride's Cake, and is an obect of thoughtful care and concern. It must not be only ample in quantity and of the best quality, but also from an artistic point of view, worthy the occasion.

STEWART'S FANCY BAKERY do not hesitate to claim for their Wedding Cakes a position unequalled for quality, artistic finish and good value. The materials used are the finest, and the workmanship is such as ensures complete satisfaction.

She prevailed at length, but it was after a long struggle. Hettie promised to make her home with Sir Arthur and her sister; and Leah knew that she would keep her word.

It was arranged that they should go rst to London, where a fitting trouseau and mourning could be provided; and the two sisters left Southwood with their hearts full of love for each

CHAPTER XLI.

There was a long animated discusion between the general and Hettle. She was so firmly resolved not to renquish her name, and Sir Arthur was so fully determined that the name of Ray should never be heard in his house. It was Leah who decided the that, if she lived in her uncle's house if she accepted a fortune at his hands,

And the general, looking at the fair face, wondered whether, if Hettie had come to him first, he would have loved her best, at present he thought that he thought that he should never in this world care for any one as he did for his beautiful Leah. They had been two days in London and had been so incessantly occupied that there had been but few oppo

The general was strictly just Leah was his helress; for her there were rare jewels, Indian spoils, all that was ost costly and magnificent. For Hettie there was position, and there was luxury, but her fortune would by no means be so extensive. Sir Arthur had on made up his mind as to what he would be able to give Hettie for her dower; and the interest on it was to be her own, to spend as she liked. All these arrangements were made in letail during their stay in London. I was evident to all who knew them at the general did not intend t o sisters to be on equal footing. Leah as to be mistress and heiress; Hel-s, the newcomer, was to be subor-nate to her. It was evident to all hat he loved Leah best.

When King Charles Signed the Charter.

May 2nd, 1670, King Charles the ingerford, Sir John Griffiths, Sir Philip Cartaret, James Hayes, John Kirke, Francis Wellington, William ettyman, John Fenn and John Port

This "Company of Adventurers" was given by the Royal Charter sole right to establish settlements and carry on trade within this huge territory. They were also authorized to erect forts and to build ships of war for protection against the French, who were then at was with England.

The territory granted to the Hudson's Bay Company was a vast tract of unexplored wilderness as extensive as the whole of Europe. This rich "El-dorado," abounding in fur, timber and mineral, was explored in part some two years previously by two adven-Grosseillers, who had interested Prince Rupert, Lord Carvan and John Hayes in the wealth of fur which abounded in this region.

These three distinguished patrons were instrumental in fitting out an expedition to the shores of Hudson Bay. On June 3rd, 1668, the good ship Nonsuch, of fifty tons burthen, under the command of Captain Gillam, set sail from Wapping on the River Thames with a small crew of hardy amen bound on a voyage of unknown

On board this small craft went Grosseiliers as leader of the expedi-tion. After many buffetings by frequent torms, the little Nonsuch arrived a the mouth of a river flowing into Hudson Bay, now known as Rupert's River. At its mouth a fort was hastli built of rough hewn logs and christe

HIS DIARY.

May 18th.—Up betimes and wear no outer coat, being a fine, warm day, I meet Mr. Warren and have discourse with him of the Companies Act which he and Mr. Higgins did but yesterday defend in the Parliament. Mr. Conroy tells me how there is little of news to be had about the railway and it is. he says, true that many engineers did not come to their work. I to wait on the Prime Minister and learn how he will take the railway for the Government if it be that the Reids will not operate. How he may do this I know not, seeing how I think he must have Legislative authority for it. To the Board of Trade, where divers members did join in a discourse on the Companies Act, and many think how it was a bad thing. I did take out my new motor coach in the afternoon and did have a lesson in the driving of it, but came nigh to hitting an electric coach and did suffer with my nerves.. I meet Mr. Hartnett and Mr. Paterson at the Tobacco Factory, and they show me the working of it, which did interest me greatly. Out at night and did adjourn to the Blue Puttee where I meet Mr. Pill, that is the Government Auditor at the Railway, and he a right jovial gentleman, whose acquaintance it did please me much to make.

Betty Donn Sings in Oriental Costume.

UNIQUE NOVELTY AT THE CRES-CENT TO-NIGHT.

Miss Betty Donn, the dainty Soprano at the Crescent, will treat the patrons of this theatre to-night to a unique vocal novelty. Miss Donn will sing "Lullaby" from the famous Musical Comedy "East is West," and will also sing "Buddha" and will appear in Oriental costume. These are Miss Donn's most popular numbers, which she previously rendered whilst performing in Musical Comedy.

Charless Ray in "Nineteen And Phyllis" will be the photoplay attraction. In this production the star appears as a nineteen-year-old lad and opposite him in the leading role is demure Clara Horton, who is herself only sixteen years old. Others prominent in the cast are George Nichols, Cora Drew, Frank Norcross, Lincoln Steadman and DeWitt C. Jennings. The story tells of a man who only earned $18 a week but still he had a girl, a dress suit, a $500 dollar engagement ring and a fat rival. All on $18? It can't be done? Watch Charlie do it

Old Pink McGill would be a peach if he'd forget his ills, and cease to murmur and to reach for Dr. Fantod's pills, and fire the druggist and the leech who fill him up with squills. For he's a man of many gifts, well versed in ancient lore, and wise to all the noble shifts of bards and seers of yore; but as he is he merely lifts a bottle from the floor. Oh, he could tell us splendid tales of lonely ships and seas, of pawing steeds and armored males whose banners rode the breeze, but as he is he only wails of spasms n the knees. He shows a most indecent haste when there's new dope to try; and he is taking pills that taste like hen's nests in July; and so a good man goes to waste—and this is why I cry.

Monte Carlo this year.

Not the least inexplicable of these strange faiths is the belief voiced by a Russian at Deauville that eating almosts for dinner is the secret of good luck at the tables.

The black cat superstition is almost invariably in evidence. At Monte Carlo this season a man and woman appeared at the tables every night, and while the man played the woman remained seated nursing a black cat. The man at first won considerably; but later his luck changed, and with luck.

The black changed in the woman he disappeared. But the casino.

Amethyst tie-pins are popular at Deauville this year because of their alleged luck-bringing virtues.

To play with the third and fourth fingers of the left hand crossed incessantly is another device practiced by one woman. She could give no reason for her faith, except that such manipulation of the fingers brought but later his luck changed, and with luck.

from the warrior's tomb contained 13 skeletons. These bodies had been laid away at different times and covered with ashes and sweepings from the loors of the village. Twelve of the burials, those of nine children and three aged persons being merely wrapped in matting with occasionally a far or cup eside the skull.

'The 13th, however, was one of the nost extraordinary which has come to light in the whole ruin. The remains were those of an old woman who had been wrapped and bound and placed in one corner of the room. A stout splinter from a broken ceiling timber had been hewn to a point, then driven through the pelvis and well into the earth below. This shrunken body thus impaled presented a spectacle so grue some that at sight of it even the most hardened excavator shruddered. "Of course, a doubt will always exist as to how the stake happened to be where it was found. It may have been driven after the body was covered and hidden from view by some one who had orn that the blows of his stone hamner beat the head off the stake to a oulp before the point would sink to the esired depth. But it is equally prob ble that an old crone who had fallen to high disfavor in the village, per aps a witch, was so subjected to this rticular cruel form of execution and orture."-New York Times.
