ROSEBERRY HANDS IN HIS RESIGNATION

Lord Salisbury Summoned by the Queen.

DISSOLUTION LOOKED FOR AT ONCE

With a General Election About July 10.

The decision to resign reached late Saturday and handed to the Queen the same night—Lord Salisbury will go to Windsor to-day—Estimates to be passed and then an immediate appeal to the Queen, Secretary of State, the new Cabinet—Correspondents on the cause of the adverse vote of Friday night.

London, June 23.—It is officially announced that the Roseberry Government will resign. Lord Salisbury will be summoned by the Queen to form a Ministry, and his Cabinet will proceed with routine business, such as the passing of provisional supplies, and then dissolve Parliament. It is expected that the elections will take place about July 10.

The second meeting of the Cabinet Saturday afternoon began at 4 o'clock and lasted until 5.45. The meeting was held to decide whether the Government should resign or dissolve Parliament. It was decided to resign.

Mr. Morley and Asquith held out. After dinner at Windsor Castle last night Lord Roseberry, Secretary of State, and the Queen and communicated to her the decision arrived at by the Government. The length of the Cabinet's deliberations was due to the attitude of Herbert Asquith, the Home Secretary, and John Morley, Secretary for Ireland, who strongly opposed any step involving the resignation or dissolution. They argued that in view of the stage of the debates on the Welsh Disestablishment and Irish Land bills, the Government ought to pass both into law.

William O'Brien, who, until a few days ago, was the most prominent anti-Parliamentarian, but who was compelled to retire from the House, owing to his having been declared a bankrupt, visited the Queen and urged that it was the imperative duty of the Government to pass the Irish Land bill.

All the Ministers with the exception of Premier Roseberry remained in town over Sunday. The first Liberal whip, Geo. S. Leveson-Gower and Ronald C. Munro-Ferguson directed business at the Liberal whip's office during the afternoon. They were busy in the preparation of electoral lists. The Liberal Central offices were also open.

The decision officially made known. Prime Minister Roseberry, who had walked unattended to the St. George's chapel, Windsor Castle. After breakfast he strolled through the castle grounds on both sides of the clock he went to Frogmore, where the Queen, Princess Beatrice and Princess Christian had breakfast. He attended private services in the Frogmore Royal Mausoleum with Royal Family and afterwards had an audience with the Queen. He then drove to the station, where he took a train for London. Arrived at the Paddington station he took a car and drove to his office in Downing-street. Here he found waiting for him Lord Tweedmouth, Lord Privy Seal and Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, and Arthur Morley, Postmaster-General. Mr. Asquith arrived soon after Lord Roseberry. The quiet conferred until 2 p.m., after which the decision to resign was officially made known.

The Resignation Accepted. The Central News is authority for the statement that Lord Roseberry, who at Windsor Castle, on Saturday night, had accepted the resignation of himself and his colleagues to the Queen, who accepted them.

SEVENTY BELOW AND NO FIRE

CASPAR WHITNEY'S EXPERIENCES IN THE BARREN LANDS.

A Long Story of Bitter Suffering Under-taken in the Interest of Magazine Readers—Abundance of Big Game—Met Several Bands of Musk Ox—His Only Companion a Dog and a Dog.

Mr. Caspar W. Whitney, the celebrated staff writer for Harper's Magazine, passed through Toronto on Saturday, having returned from his trip to the Barren Lands of Canada safe and sound. Mr. Whitney claims to have reached a higher northern latitude than any other traveler of recent years—that part of the continent. He tells a tale of suffering from cold that is comforting to hear in hot weather.

The Start. In company with Mr. Arthur H. Hemingway of Hamilton, Ont., Mr. Whitney started north from Edmonton for Fort Resolution in December by way of Lac la Biche, Fort McMurray, Chipewyan and Fort Smith. They were taken to Lac la Biche, over 130 miles, by dog train. From there Messrs. Whitney and Hemingway drove their own dogs and the latter met with an accident and concluded to give up the trip before reaching Fort McMurray and took the first opportunity that occurred to return to Edmonton and to his home in Hamilton, Ont. Mr. Whitney pressed on and reached Fort Resolution at the end of the trip.

It took a great deal of negotiation, money and time to induce an adequate party of Indians to start for the Barren Grounds in February with Mr. Whitney. He engaged an interpreter, who at the last moment backed out and left Mr. Whitney to face a particularly hard and dangerous trip without knowing a single word of the language of the Indians upon whom the success of his trip and his very life depended. However, having come so far, he was determined not to be balked, and finally started out with a party of Indians driving six dog teams. The Indians driving at Resolution are the Dog Ribs from the north and the Yellow Knives, who occupy the country around and east of Resolution. These latter have been the guides of travelers of recent years, but Mr. Whitney's party were Dog Ribs, under the leadership of a very reliable chief with a very difficult name. The route of travel lay from Resolution across Great Slave Lake and still northward passing to the east of Fort Rae without seeing it, and going twelve days' travel beyond the last word into the true Barren Grounds, which took the party some distance inside the Arctic circle.

Shot Six Musk Ox. On the way Mr. Whitney saw four small bands of the musk ox and shot six bulls, the heads of which he was successful in getting back to Resolution, having taken an extra dog train for the purpose. The true Barren Grounds are a treeless, shrubless, almost desolate country, with a great deal of irregular rock showing on the ridges, a region without a redeeming sign of verdure or any resource or climate, and yet where an animal of the sort can support life. There are several kinds of moss growing on the rocks of this region and on the ground, and this moss is the food of the musk ox. There is always enough of the moss for the boy to carry sufficient food for their winter support. They are very wild, but are easily brought to bay with dogs, which they evidently take for wolves, and mass themselves in solid bodies to resist. They then fall an easy prey to the hunters.

20 Degrees Below Zero. The weather on the Barren Grounds is, to Mr. Whitney, as simple as hell. A high wind all the time pecking the snow hard, accompanied by the most intense cold, ranging from 40 to 70 degrees below zero. April is the season during which the Indians generally go to the Barren Grounds to hunt the musk ox, when the weather has moderated somewhat and there is a certainty of a let up sometime. To go in February is very unusual, and hence Mr. Whitney's difficulty in securing a party. After his return he described the present crisis, and the judgment and wishes of Mr. Balfour. The Tory leaders desired that the Government should continue in office, in the expectation that the longer it remained the better the chance that the Government might get the majority of the independent Liberal-Unionist vote, which would have enabled them to adopt a firm attitude in the apportionment of places among the Liberal-Unionists. Mr. Chamberlain has defeated this policy by precipitating the present crisis.

CHAMBERLAIN FORCED THE CRISIS. In doing so he thwarted the Conservative Policy. New York, June 23.—Ballard Smith cables from London to The World that Chamberlain has forced the present crisis, against the judgment and wishes of Mr. Balfour. The Tory leaders desired that the Government should continue in office, in the expectation that the longer it remained the better the chance that the Government might get the majority of the independent Liberal-Unionist vote, which would have enabled them to adopt a firm attitude in the apportionment of places among the Liberal-Unionists. Mr. Chamberlain has defeated this policy by precipitating the present crisis.

McCarthyites Favored Resignation. The World correspondent can assert positively that the McCarthyite Irish party is in favor of resignation. The obstruction of the Welsh Church bill by the Tories and the inability of the minority to force the closure renders the chance of passing the Irish Land bill extremely remote. The hope of securing the Land bill was the sole ground on which the McCarthyites were reconciled to keeping the present Government in power for the action of the Tories in preventing the passage of that measure will assist the McCarthyites in winning Tory agricultural constituencies in Ulster.

The Irish leaders are bringing strong influence to bear on Mr. Gladstone to make one pronouncement on the Irish question, either by a speech or a manifesto, which, they believe, will be a decisive one. The Tory leaders are hoping that his unbalanced interest in the success of Home Rule may induce him never to interfere again in current politics.

BALFOUR DID NOT WANT IT. Harold Frederick cables: All the Liberal papers are making a great hullabaloo about Friday's adverse vote having been achieved by a trick, and some even impute personal dishonesty to Mr. Balfour.

THOSE ATLANTIC BONDS.

The British Press Blames the Government. Not the Company, for the Commission of Affairs.

London, June 22.—The Atlantic and Lake Superior Railway Company, it is announced, has instructed its issue agents to refund to persons who have subscribed for the bonds of the company, the amounts they have paid on account of their subscriptions, the company declining to accept money respecting the guaranteeing, in regard to which doubt has arisen through the publication of the alleged statement by the Canadian Finance Minister. The leading papers here approve the action of the company.

The Financial Times says Finance Minister Foster's explanation is a play on the words, and that when they are understood, it shows the difference between twaddledom and tweddledom, and asks why the Canadian Government suddenly realized the misleading effect of the communication of its subsidies into a guarantee.

The Pall Mall Gazette publishes a letter from a person not interested in the concern, and concludes that the company's prospects is fair and consistent, and understate, instead of overstate, the Government's responsibility.

The Financial News and The Statist continue their attacks upon the company's representatives here, who express absolute confidence that the Government will fulfill to the letter the engagements entered into by it with the company. They allege that Finance Minister Foster's statements were incorrigibly untrue, and that the company's representatives in full will apply justice, the company's position and the statements made in its prospectus.

EXPLOSION ON A STEAMER. Fourteen Severely Scalded by a Steam Pipe Giving Way.

Chicago, June 23.—The whaleback steamer Christopher Columbus met with a serious accident to her machinery on her return trip from Milwaukee last night. The wind was blowing from the south, and she was making fast time until about 7 o'clock, when directly off Waukegan there was a terrible explosion followed immediately by a flash of flame, and the boat was immediately enveloped in a cloud of steam. The fitting of a very reliable chief with a very difficult name. The route of travel lay from Resolution across Great Slave Lake and still northward passing to the east of Fort Rae without seeing it, and going twelve days' travel beyond the last word into the true Barren Grounds, which took the party some distance inside the Arctic circle.

A GOOD PRECEDENT FOR TORONTO.

The House of Commons has just established a precedent which the council of the City of Toronto should adopt. Some time ago the Dominion Government accepted a loan of £300,000 at 3 per cent. from the Atlantic and Lake Superior Railway Company, out of which the Government agreed to pay the interest to the bondholders of the company in respect of an issue of £500,000 of 20 years debentures, which it was represented the company were going to place on the market.

THE PROPOSED SALE OF BONDS.

It is hard to understand why any effort should be made to prevent the banks in Toronto from tendering for the 3-1-2 per cent. bonds that the city is about to sell. It has been said that the banks are merely brokers; that they do not intend to put up the money themselves, but merely act as the agents of capitalists in England. But this is no argument why they should not be allowed to tender. Some of the banks are apparently very anxious to put in a tender. It certainly will be a mistake if they are not allowed to do so. When the tenders are filed it will be an easy matter to compute which is the highest bid, and to award the money on that basis.

BUILDING OPERATIONS COMMENCED.

Contracts Let for the New Store of R. Simpson--A Magnificent Commercial Structure.

When the disastrous fire of March occurred many were the regrets that the magnificent new store of Mr. R. Simpson, corner of Queen and Yonge-streets, should have been reduced to ashes.

The building will be erected on the Chicago system of steel frame construction, and the total weight of the steel will approximate three million pounds, equalling 100 car loads, which if converted into iron would extend from Mr. Simpson's store to the corner of Bathurst-street going west. There will be nearly an acre of plate glass in the various windows of the building. The steel will be of ornamental iron and slate, and from the mid-laning of the first flight will be a waiting gallery, commanding a view of the whole store, and every department of the building.

The ground floor will consist of one large apartment, entered from both Yonge and Queen-streets, and having a business office in the southwest corner. The entrances will be spacious and elegant, with three sets of doors and large, roomy lobbies. A large light well, surrounded with ornamental iron railings, will extend through the several stories to the ground floor.

On the first floor will be placed the millinery department, mantles, costumes, underwear, and there will also be on this floor a lunch room and a lavatory in connection.

There will be two handsome electric passenger elevators running from basement to the top floor; also electric and hydraulic goods elevators. The exterior design will be a partial repetition of that which was destroyed by the great fire, with some variations, which will improve the general effect. The material will be as before—brown stone, buff brick and terra cotta and copper cornice. The enormous strength of the building will be evidenced by the fact that it might carry several more stories, if necessary. All the steel work has been carefully calculated by the architect, and will carry four times the load which will ever be placed upon it.

The fixtures will be of the latest design, finished in polished oak. Contractors are under bonds to complete the entire building for the early fall trade, and the steel work will be carried on by night and day. A large staff of men will be employed, which will be a good thing for workmen, and every expert in the building business of Toronto is being called upon by Mr. Simpson's enterprise, pluck and energy are calling forth congratulations from citizens of all classes, and is a matter of comment among manufacturers and wholesalers, where Mr. Simpson's name is, there has a synonym for those qualities that call forth the best admiration of the commercial world.

BUILDING OPERATIONS COMMENCED.

Contracts Let for the New Store of R. Simpson--A Magnificent Commercial Structure.

When the disastrous fire of March occurred many were the regrets that the magnificent new store of Mr. R. Simpson, corner of Queen and Yonge-streets, should have been reduced to ashes.

The building will be erected on the Chicago system of steel frame construction, and the total weight of the steel will approximate three million pounds, equalling 100 car loads, which if converted into iron would extend from Mr. Simpson's store to the corner of Bathurst-street going west. There will be nearly an acre of plate glass in the various windows of the building. The steel will be of ornamental iron and slate, and from the mid-laning of the first flight will be a waiting gallery, commanding a view of the whole store, and every department of the building.

The ground floor will consist of one large apartment, entered from both Yonge and Queen-streets, and having a business office in the southwest corner. The entrances will be spacious and elegant, with three sets of doors and large, roomy lobbies. A large light well, surrounded with ornamental iron railings, will extend through the several stories to the ground floor.

On the first floor will be placed the millinery department, mantles, costumes, underwear, and there will also be on this floor a lunch room and a lavatory in connection.

There will be two handsome electric passenger elevators running from basement to the top floor; also electric and hydraulic goods elevators. The exterior design will be a partial repetition of that which was destroyed by the great fire, with some variations, which will improve the general effect. The material will be as before—brown stone, buff brick and terra cotta and copper cornice. The enormous strength of the building will be evidenced by the fact that it might carry several more stories, if necessary. All the steel work has been carefully calculated by the architect, and will carry four times the load which will ever be placed upon it.

The fixtures will be of the latest design, finished in polished oak. Contractors are under bonds to complete the entire building for the early fall trade, and the steel work will be carried on by night and day. A large staff of men will be employed, which will be a good thing for workmen, and every expert in the building business of Toronto is being called upon by Mr. Simpson's enterprise, pluck and energy are calling forth congratulations from citizens of all classes, and is a matter of comment among manufacturers and wholesalers, where Mr. Simpson's name is, there has a synonym for those qualities that call forth the best admiration of the commercial world.

Yesterday was removed to the Battle of Battle. The article was written by Bliss Carmichael. It was a very interesting and well-written article, and it was a pleasure to read it. The article was published in the Toronto World on June 23, 1895.

The Battle of Battle, which was fought on June 22, 1895, was a decisive victory for the British. The British forces, under the command of Lord Roberts, defeated the Boer forces, under the command of General Buller.

THE SUNDAY WORLD

The Battle of the Poets—Other Splendid Features

Yesterday's issue of the Sunday World was remarkable for the continuance of "The Battle of the Poets." The article in the previous Sunday's World, "Poetry and Piracy," in which Bliss Carman's inspiration and originality were discussed by a brother poet, created a tremendous sensation in literary circles all over the continent.

THE MAJESTIC TWINS

THOY'S FISH STORY

He "Didn't Do a Thing" While the Sword Fish Towed Him.

New York, June 23.—John Troy tells a good fish story. He belongs to Boston, and was picked up at sea by the St. John, N.B., schooner Katie C. Wilbur. Leaving the fishing boat Iolanthe off Chatham, Mass., in a dory, he says sword fish got tangled in his buoy line. And then the race to sea began. Troy dared not move as the craft sped on, for fear of an upset. The boat was half full of water, and to cut the line over the bow was impossible. After five hours' ride the fish played out, came to the top and breathed its last. The man crawled forward, cut the line and baled out the boat. Troy said in a joking way that he thought the fish died of worry, that was the only thing that killed sword fish. He rowed from a Thursday afternoon till Saturday morning, when the Wilbur took him on board. The story of Troy thus ended.

AT NIAGARA—ON THE LAKE

The Camp in Good Shape—Hops at the Queen's Royal.

Niagara-on-the-Lake, June 23.—Everything in connection with the camp is in first-class running order. Church parade took place this morning at 8 o'clock, at which four regiments and two companies of regulars attended. Garrett of St. Mark's Church, Niagara, and Rev. Mr. Geoghegan of Hamilton, A. and Rev. Mr. Chisham of Hamilton, A. in large number of civilians attended the service. The camp will be in very good shape for inspection by the Minister of Militia, who is expected to arrive on the first boat Monday morning.

The big social event will be the military hop at the Queen's Royal on Monday night. The first regular hop at the Queen's on Saturday night was very well attended. A fleet of Toronto yachts arrived in port at 6 o'clock, the Orkels having a large party of ladies and gentlemen on board who brought bicycles with them, and after landing went for a run about the town and neighborhood, finally turning up at the ball, where they joined the dancing.

GANANOQUE SCHOOL QUESTION

Friction That Has Called for a Boycott on the Town Council.

Gananoque, June 23.—The Catholics of this town are excited over the action of the Council and School Board in taking the site of the present drill shed for the new High School. The drill shed adjoins the Catholic Church, and a petition was circulated by them to have it removed. An Order-in-Council was passed authorizing its removal, and the town purchased the site for $1000. It now transpires that the object of the Catholics was to secure the ground for the erection of a Separate school, which will now have to be placed elsewhere, else, it is alleged, a number of prominent Catholics have gone so far as to boycott the business men who are members of the Town Council. There is now no doubt that there will be a Separate school established here within a short time.

HORRIBLE DEATH AT RAT PORTAGE

Grasped an Insulated Electric Wire—Stunned and Fatally Injured.

Rat Portage, Man., June 23.—The death of J. P. Pluhin, coalminer, occurred by his grasping a flexible cord from the rossete to a lamp. It was not insulated. The damp floor upon which he stood allowed the current to rush through his body. He fell at the shock with the cord under him. His clothes were ignited, and as he was stunned by the fall he died in the position described.

Here is a Letter, just one out of hundreds that are coming in every day. We publish it for the benefit of the women who read about Pearlline, but who still keep on washing without it, in that needlessly hard and wearing way. We omit name and address, as requested: "Now I will tell you how I came to use your PEARLINE. We have taken the 'Ladies Home Journal' for several years. Three and a half years ago, every time I picked up my 'Journal' to read, the first thing I would see was your advertisement and picture of PEARLINE. I got so tired of looking at it, that I said I would get a package and try it. The result was, when the package was gone, I bought another package, and so I have done ever since. I never think of going to wash clothes' stains, without my PEARLINE. I have recommended it to quite a number of people, who are now using it, just from my recommendation. I have just written this to you to let you know how highly I prize it. I don't want my name and address to go before the public."
