SERIOUS CHARGES AGAINST TORONTO ALDERMEN--DOUGHTY LOSES APPOINTMENT

CORRUPTION IN CITY COUNCIL
ALLEGED AFFIDAVIT FILED
DOUGHTY WAS NO APPOINTED

Ald. Meredith Says Charges Against Him Are "Poppycock," and Makes Charge Against Ald. Maguire, Who Says He Will Take Action—An Investigation Is Probable.

DOUGHTY'S NAME REJECTED
BY TWELVE VOTES TO TEN

Yesterday's meeting of the city council was the most sensational of the year. Charges and counter-charges of corruption in connection with council's efforts to appoint a fire commissioner flew around the chamber with rapidity, bringing certain of the aldermen into the limelight in a way that they could not have expected or imagined.

The nominee of the board of control for fire commissioner, Charles J. Doughty, failed to get the appointment by a vote of 10 to 12, and the name expected to be nominated at the meeting that of the resigned alderman, David Spence, got no mention whatever.

The excitement began when Ald. Roden got to his feet and declared that he thought it was very indecent on the part of members of council who had an interest in the fire department, as applicants for the commissioner's office, to vote against the nominee of the board of control.

"I was astonished to see that some aldermen vote for personal interests. They should have left the room when the vote was being taken," said he.

At this point he produced an affidavit wherein it was stated that a certain alderman had refused to vote for Col. Langton unless he was promised the position which Col. Langton held with the Sterling Trust Co.

Later on it came out that Ald. Meredith was the man referred to in the affidavit, and when the opportunity came he absolutely denied the charge, and had in his pocket an affidavit to refute the charge.

"There has been a dastardly attempt to coerce me to vote for this nomination (Doughty) of the board of control," declared Ald. Meredith, who voted against Col. Langton on every occasion that the name came up. He continued: "A caretaker of a public school spoke to me asking me to vote for Doughty. Dr. Steele called up my house and spoke to several members of my family, and I feel that he wanted to ask me to vote for Doughty. Dr. Struthers, who until recently was chief of the medical staff of the board of education called me up and tried to coerce me to vote for Doughty, even going so far as to say that the influence he could wield would prevent me from being elected on January 1. I told Dr. Struthers I would not vote for Doughty."

"Ald. Roden called me up and asked me to go to his house at 127 Dunn avenue, saying he had a serious matter for me to consider. I went not knowing what I was to receive. When I got there I was assured that there was no one there but Ald. Roden, and myself, and that the matter was confidential. I was then shown the affidavit already referred to. It was signed by George A. Hodgson, son of the chairman of the board of education. There seems to be a network of some in receipt of salaries from the board of education, and those intimately associated to coerce your humble servant on this occasion."

The alderman continued: "This damnable statement purporting to say that I had made a proposal to George A. Hodgson, at a ball game, that if he, Mr. Hodgson, would get me, O'Connell Langton's position at $2500 a year, I would vote for Colonel Langton. It is all poppycock. I told Ald. Roden then that it was absolutely false."

STATEMENTS MADE IN COUNCIL
ABOUT DOUGHTY--AND OTHERS

Mayor Church: We have taken everything away from the fire department except fire-fighting; there is nothing for a commissioner to do but go out and see a fire and put it out. I am still in favor of promotion. Mr. Doughty is not the man for the job, his past training hasn't fitted him for it. He is only a plumber, but every plumber is called a sanitary engineer these days. His connection with the board of education is no recommendation. Dr. Hastings says we haven't got a modern school as regards heating and ventilation. Doughty retired from one party and went over to the other because he thought he could get the fire commissioner's job. The watchword should be hands off the fire department from ward politics or any other kind of politics. Both Mr. Spence and Mr. Foster turned over the other way on account of influence. I would not say sinister influences, but sinister influences have been at work to force this appointment.

Ald. Ramsden: Surely the board is not sincere. They think Doughty is worth $1000 less than Langton, they're going down hill instead of up. Surely this is not the big man they have got after six months' search. It has been said time and again that the department is politically rotten and we are asked to appoint a man that until recently has been a political boss and is considered a boss today. A man said to me: "For God's sake don't elect Doughty chief; he is not fit for the job."

Ald. Veomans: Doughty sees that the specifications of the board of education are lived up to, and that the citizens get value for every dollar expended. The new plumbing appliances installed under Mr. Doughty are a monument to him and will stand comparison with any schools in the world.

Ald. Roden: I consider it indecent for a member of this council who is interested in the fire department to vote against the nominee of the board of control. I was astonished to find some aldermen voting to further their personal interests. Have an affidavit made out by a responsible citizen charging that a certain alderman refused to vote for Col. Langton unless he was promised the position which Langton held at the Sterling Trust Company.

Controlled Thompson: I have picked on Doughty by the process of elimination, and discarded his name as a fire commissioner because council and we must have a commissioner.

Controlled Spence: I think a young man 47 years of age, of good ability, and not one word said against his ability.

by those who oppose his appointment, should make a good commissioner. Judge Winchester thought him good enough to make a report regarding the heating and ventilation in the schools.

Ald. Meredith: There has been a dastardly attempt to coerce me to vote for this nomination. The charge that I could get his position is all poppycock. It is absolutely false. There seems to be a network of some drawing salaries from the board of education and those intimately associated with it to coerce your humble servant into voting for this nomination. This same George A. Hodgson that signed the affidavit told me that Ald. Maguire had said that if he could make $100 out of the deal he would try to put through the annexation of a certain property. Last Tuesday Mr. Hodgson said: "We have fixed Ald. Ball; don't you go back on us, now that Ald. Ball is going to vote for Doughty. The mayor will vote with us, and that will give us one of a majority." I call this black mail.

Ald. Cameron: A man that would try to ride two stools and fall between them has not brains enough to be head of the department. I admit to Ald. Spence, plumbers; they are the political pipe-layers. They can heat anything from the start to the finish.

Ald. Ball: The man who said Ball isn't the kind of man that can be fixed.

Ald. Roden: We can't have implications against this council without having them cleared up. I admit to Ald. Spence for resigning when his name was before us as an applicant for the fire commissioner's job.

Ald. McBride: How can you make a promotion from among men that eat, swim and drink together? There isn't a man around this board that hasn't been looking for political influence at election time. Aldermen have been taken into back offices and dined and wineed and coerced in every way to vote for Col. Langton.

Ald. Singer: The phrase, "politically rotten" has become a classic, and Doughty is not the man for the job if for no other reason than that the department is in this condition.

Ald. Wickert: I am more ashamed than ever of this council.

The World last night received the following telegram from Ald. Maguire:

Windsor, Ont., Aug. 23. Advised by my partner over phone tonight re Ald. Meredith's statement made in council today. Absolutely false. Never discussed Cadaval's annexation with anyone. Will take action on my return to city end of week. Maguire.

Special Cable to The Toronto World. PARIS, Aug. 23.—Artillery duels continue an outstanding feature of the fighting on the western front, with grenades and bombs used at scattered points in trench to trench encounters, but with signs of general offensive lacking.

On Sunday night 22 French airmen bombed stations at Lens, Henin-Lietard and Loos, as well as the railway line from Lille to Douai. It was reported that the raid was successful. U. S. WANTS ALL
ARABIC FACTS
BEFORE ACTING

As Soon as They Are Ascertained, Something Will Be Done.

STRAIN GROWS HOURLY
Arguments Neither Will Be Invited Nor Encouraged From Germany.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—Four days have passed since a German submarine sank the White Star liner Arabic with the loss of two American lives, and the American Government still is without the detailed and official information necessary to shape its course.

The only notable development today was a break in the official silence which has surrounded the White House. Secretary Tumulty after conferring with President Wilson issued this statement: "As soon as all the facts regarding the Arabic are ascertained our course of action will be determined."

Secretary Lansing declared that all the information so far in the hands of the state department was fragmentary, and that details still were being sought. Ambassador Page at London, who had forwarded by mail a statement to the state department, was instructed to send immediately a summary of the facts to the state department.

While the situation still was a waiting one, official quarters reflected the strain which grows hourly as news comes from the German Government. No Excuses Wanted. In the opinion of state department officials, it is not necessary to ask Germany for an excuse for the conduct of the Arabic, but the commander who sank the Arabic.

It is assumed that unless Germany wishes to make an outright issue with the United States, some explanation will be volunteered. Acting with that thought, Ambassador Gerard was instructed today to report whether he had received a report from the German Government on the sinking of the Arabic. He was not, however, instructed to ask for one.

EVIDENCE CLEAR

Theory That Mine May Have Sunk Arabic is Manifestly Absurd.

CAPT. FINCH EMPHATIC
Wanton Attack by German Submarine Has Been Fully Established.

LONDON, Aug. 23, 11:52 p.m.—Official and unofficial statements were made today bearing upon the precise status of the steamer Arabic at the time she was sunk, the purpose being to show definitely that she was an unoffending merchantman proceeding on her course and that without question she was struck by a torpedo fired by a German submarine. The latter point became increasingly important owing to cable reports from the United States stating that some Berlin officials maintained that since there was no proof that anyone aboard the Arabic saw the submarine the sinking might have been the result of striking a mine.

The foreign office issued a brief statement, summing up the facts within its knowledge, without disclosing all the details in its possession. The statement said definitely that the Arabic was sunk by a German submarine without "wringing and without any attempt on the part of the steamer to attack the underwater craft or to escape. The announcement also declares the Arabic was unarmed and was proceeding to a neutral port, and therefore carrying no contraband. This is considered a summing up of the British official view of the essential facts, and as showing the culpability of the German submarine in sinking the ship.

Capt. Finch Positive. Capt. William Finch of the sunken White Star liner Arabic tonight gave the Associated Press a statement. "There is not the slightest doubt that the Arabic was sunk by a torpedo," said Capt. Finch. "Neither is there the slightest doubt that it was fired at the Arabic deliberately. It is (Continued on Page 2, Column 4.)

Russians Lose Last of Westernmost Fortresses After Prolonged Siege.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—The German naval reverses in the Gulf of Riga and the Baltic Sea, the German success in occupying the fortress of Ossowetz and a British naval bombardment of the German naval base at Zeebrugge were outstanding features of the war news today.

The definiteness of the official Russian report on the sinking of the German battle cruiser Moltke, two other cruisers and eight torpedo boats has sent a wave of enthusiasm throughout the country and dispelled the depression over the Russian retreat on land. Aside from the loss of the German ships, the naval engagement is regarded chiefly important for the strategic effect upon the land operations in the German sweep eastward toward Petrograd, which military observers now consider as having been checked and possibly irreparably defeated.

The War of the Great Emancipation

We already speak of this war as the war of all history; it may become to be better known as the war of the great emancipation of the little nations—for that is what seems to be the striking feature now developing all along the line. The first act in the war was the attack on Little Serbia by Austria; next the invasion of Little Belgium and Luxembourg by Germany and thereupon the declaration of England that she joined in the war to preserve the neutrality of the territory, not only of Belgium, but also of Holland and Switzerland. Soon after talk began to concentrate on the removal of all the unfair laws on the Jewish race, especially in Russia, and the prospect of the restoration of the holy land to the Jews as a home centre hereafter. And now people are talking of the restoration of the Poles as an independent nation under the wing of Russia, and of the Finlanders and of the Ruthenians, and of other people that have been divided among the Russians, Austrians and Prussians; and of the Little Balkan nations who are seeking their full independence and are probably getting ready to come into the fight—Bulgarians, Rumanians, Serbians, Montenegrins, Albanians; not to mention the Greeks, who have already attained their independence and are looking towards greater expansion. The hope is also that the Armenians will be freed from the tyranny of the Turks; even Ireland will certainly strengthen her claim for home rule largely on what she has done in this war. The whole reason of the war as far as Turkey is concerned is to do away with the tyranny and oppression imposed by the Ottoman Empire on the peoples who have come under it. And this does not complete the list for the Hungarians and Czechs have to have an adjustment of their nationalities as against Austria. And this idea of the emancipation of not only the nations mentioned, but of others, seems to be the dominating feature of the war, or of equal importance with the maintenance of the liberties of democracies that centre about England, France and the United States, not to mention the modern liberties of the Italians.

Somehow the war seems to be going better these days and people are looking with growing confidence toward the occurrence of great events in other directions. It may be by an extensive drive against the Germans on the western lines, the forcing of the Dardanelles, with a rush into Turkey by way of Bulgaria and headed by the little nations who are her neighbors, and a big invasion of equal importance with the allies are doing the declaration of war on us by our former ally. The innumerable attacks of the Italian army have nowhere attained their object. Now as before our troops are maintaining their positions on or near our frontiers.

When and where Kitchener's drive is undertaken, we do not know; but the indications are favorable for a strong movement against the entrenched Germans in France and Belgium. Russia for some weeks back has had the look of being smashed by the German advance into her territory; nevertheless, things look as if the worst had been reached just as the advance into France was turned in the early stages of the war. And the success of the Russian fleet in the Baltic last week gives a new ray of hope in that quarter of the conflict.

Another development in the campaign in the interest of the allies is the publication in American papers, and probably the early action of the American Government, exposing the treacherous and unwholesome conduct of German agents in the United States to promote sedition of one kind and another there, to buy up American newspapers to advocate the cause of Germany, to weaken the hands of President Wilson and his government in upholding international law and the rights of neutrals against illegal attack. Something in the way of a great surprise is evidently due from Washington under the direction of President Wilson, and day now in regard to these things which have taken place in the United States throughout the course of the war; and this may have a surprising effect on the situation.

There are also surprising stories coming from Germany as to the change in public sentiment, inasmuch as they are reporting the sinking of Hate, are admitting that financial disaster is near at hand, and that the time has come for them to repudiate any intention on their part to continue in possession of any territory of a neighbor that they may have seized for the moment—in fact, the Germans are being forced to revise their whole list of reasons given for precipitating the war.

Also does it become clearer every day how sound the moral arguments and the international arguments are which have been put forward by the allies in defence of their acts. What the allies are doing will stand the criticism of public opinion of today, and will certainly pass the censorship of history, as compared with the insolence, barbarity and bad faith of Prussian culture as voiced by the Kaiser, his immediate associates and his apologists at large.

The next few weeks may see, crowding close on the other, of events more than fatal to the Germanic peoples, who have attempted to defy the world and civilization. Germany has become so entangled and involved that it is impossible for any ordinary mind or mass of minds to think of any kind of triumph coming to so base a cause.

SERIOUS CHARGES MADE IN COUNCIL

Ald. Roden Introduces Affidavit Against Ald. Meredith, Who Makes Reply.

DOUGHTY NOT IN FAVOR

Lost Appointment as Fire Commissioner by Vote of Ten to Twelve.

will give a majority of one in favor of Doughty.

Called it Blackmail.

"Blackmail" was the term in which Ald. Meredith described the whole proceedings. "If the City of Toronto is going to have a fire commissioner, the board of education must keep their noses out of it. Mr. Hodgson has no power to fix anybody in this position."

Ald. Meredith explained that he had no intention of bringing the matter up but it was forced on him by Ald. Roden, who used the term "some alderman" when laying the affidavit on the table. "Ald. Roden is not good enough to be an alderman," Ald. Meredith said to his house and refused the affidavit, just as he has refused it now.

Mr. Steele handed a note to Ald. Walton in which he referred to the statement made by Ald. Meredith. "I have never spoken of the alderman as 'Doughty,'" he said in the note.

In a lengthy speech Mayor Church declared himself as still in favor of promotion, and of appointing Acting Chief Smith. He had a budget of information taken from the report of the school investigation before Judge Winchester to show why Doughty should not be appointed, or for that matter why any member of the staff of the building department of the board of education should not be appointed.

He moved that the recommendation of the board of control be struck out, declaring that "first we must work to force this appointment on council. I wouldn't say sinister intentions, but I have never seen such a lobby at the city hall," said he.

Going Down Hill.

Ald. Ramsden was for striking out the recommendation that Doughty be appointed, and sending it back for reconsideration. "Surely this board is not serious," said he. "First we think that Doughty is worth $1000 less than Langton. They are going down hill instead of up. Surely this is not the big man they are looking for in this matter. God pity our simplicity, but the big man they are looking for is less than they are at the present time."

It has been said time and again that the department is "politically rotten" to the core, and by whom do you expect us to reorganize the department? The man that is on the board of education and is in the ward of Conservative association? He was a political boss until very recently, and he is now a political boss in the ward. I say ward one is lined up in this matter. God pity our simplicity, but the big man they are looking for is less than they are at the present time."

Ald. Ramsden continued: "The other night I was called on the telephone by a man who said he was a member of the board of control. He said that he was a member of the board of control, and he was expected to be a member of the board of control."

Elimination Process.

Controller Thompson picked on Doughty as a winner by the process of "elimination." He had gone over the qualifications of the other applicants, and had discarded the fire-fighters, because council wanted a commissioner. "If we wanted a fire-fighter, we would get him from our own department," he declared.

Controller Spence did not consider being a politician a serious drawback. "Any man who is a politician, or has less interest in politics," said he. He considered that Mr. Doughty's qualifications especially fitted him for the position, and even went so far as to refer to his nine years' service in the Queen's Own Rifles.

Ald. Cameron was decidedly against the nominee on account of his political credentials from ward one. In referring to Mr. Doughty's methods in the last provincial campaign he said: "He tried to ride two stools and feel between them, and a man that would do that will not be enough brains to be head of our fire department."

"Commend me to a man who is a plumber," continued the alderman, "then we are the politicians, and I can beat anything from the start to the finish. I am surprised at Controller Thompson eliminating the fire-fighters when choosing a commissioner. A fire commissioner should be a fire-fighter, but let him deny that he knows anything about a fire and Controller Thompson would nominate him as a commissioner. I am told by a gentleman who should know, that there is now better order and better discipline maintained in the department than there was six months ago."

Investigations in Order.

The fireworks started in again when Ald. Ball got the floor. "We started in with an investigation and I will end with one," he declared. "But this time it will be an investigation of the council and not of the man who has been mentioned, the one that will most court it will be myself. It has been said that Ball was fixed. It is true they have tried to compel Ball to vote against what his conscience dictated, but the man who said that Ball was fixed stated that he had been invited to attend a caucus, but refused to attend."

A friend asked me to vote for Langton, but I told him I would not after voting against him twice, and a man that would do that had no right at the city council. There is to be an investigation. I want to see present and tell my story in regard to Col. Langton."

Ald. Roden then threw some light on the affidavit which had been sprung on him. "I did not desire to besmirch Ald. Meredith," said he, "but I thought it was my duty to see that the affidavit was brought before council. He then moved that the affidavit be read, and he was up to that time and then he was under cover, but the motion was lost."

WHAT CITY COUNCIL DID

Refused to make Charles J. Doughty fire commissioner, by a vote of 10 to 12.

Adopted bylaws to provide for the issue of debentures to the extent of $10,000 for the purchase of a site and erection of an administration building for the board of education.

Approved the appointment of Sgt. Major George Christian at $135 per month to assist the mayor in connection with military matters.

Decided to give a civic address to His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught on the occasion of his visit to the Exhibition on Sept. 10 and 11.

Approved the payment to D. D. Reid of $938 for land expropriated in connection with Duplex avenue extension.

Changed the name of Park place to Indian Valley crescent.

and the mayor pocketed the document." He continued: "The gentleman who made the affidavit is a responsible man and some weight must be given to it. I thought that Ald. Meredith had violated his oath and I asked him to my house because I thought that as a young man his reputation might be hurt by such a thing becoming public. I thought he might resign. We cannot have implications made against members of council without having them cleared up. I admire Ald. Doughty, but when we do find them we should clear them out, and for that reason I have handed on this affidavit. I don't think such a thing should be made public. I do believe it should be made public."

Ald. Roden had nothing against Doughty, but still favored promotion. He said: "I admire Ald. Doughty, but when we do find them we should clear them out, and for that reason I have handed on this affidavit. I don't think such a thing should be made public. I do believe it should be made public."

NEW CORPS GAVE THIRTEEN HUNDRED

Hundred and Ninth Regiment Has Made Good Showing Since December.

RECRUITS STILL COMING

Highland Battalion Nearly Completed—Meeting Today on City Hall Steps.

For the new 92nd Highlanders Overseas Regiment Toronto is supplying a total of 903 men and up to last night approximately 750 had already been sworn in. Upwards of 40 of these joined the battalion yesterday. The Toronto Recruiting Depot, at the armories, started on its second week's work yesterday. Although figures showing the results of Monday's examining and attesting were not available it was stated that the day's work had been very satisfactory.

The fact that over a thousand men were signed on last week at the depot should not be argued as a reason for letting up on the recruiting campaign. It must be taken into consideration that a certain proportion of the 1,000 recruits had been on the pay roll of some of the regiments; that some had been officially examined and tested by that office.

The recruiting depot at the armories reported last night a total of 1564 overseas recruits as now in training in Toronto, made up of the various city regiments as follows: G.B.C., 46; 1st M.H., 158; 2nd Q.O.R., 129; 10th R.G., 125; 12th Yorks, 135; 36th Peel, 174; 48th Highlanders, for 92nd batt., 702; 109th Regt., 15 and 9th battery C.F.A., 75.

109th Regiment Parade.

A fine parade was held by the 109th Regiment last night, there being 436 members in line, also 76 boys of the 1st cadet corps. The regiment is now equipped with brown leather leggings which were recently decided upon by the militia department. All the regiments in Canada are to have these leather leggings. The 109th is the first Toronto battalion to be furnished with them.

After drill at Bayside Park, the 109th, headed by its brass and bugle bands paraded back to the Pearl street armories by way of Yonge, College and University avenues. Major Dinick, commanding officer, addressed the men after their march-out, and told them they could do their duty by being on parade every Monday night. He pointed out that the regiment had already contributed 1300 for overseas service. In view of the fact that the 109th only dates from December 24 last, this showing is remarkable.

Capt. Rogers of the 35th Overseas Battalion was at the Pearl street armories last night and secured a number of men for the 35th.

Noon Recruiting Meeting.

Under the auspices of the Citizens Recruiting League a recruiting mass meeting will be held at 12 o'clock noon today in front of the city hall. Mayor Church will preside, and the speakers will be His Grace Archbishop Neill, McNeill, Very Rev. Dean Harris, Sir John Gibson, J. B. Clarke, K.C. and Controller O'Neill. At 1:30 the Highlanders band will begin to play, parading the streets in the vicinity before the meeting.

The Toronto Home Guards will parade tonight at the Pearl street armories. A band is being formed by the Home Official Soldiers.

Official European war ribbons are now worn in Toronto by men who have seen service at the front in France. The ribbons are made of narrow stripes of the colors of the allies. A few of the soldiers back from the front, including Pte. Thomas Norris of the 2nd Division, are wearing Distinguished Conduct Medals. Pte. Norris is a Q.O.R. man and is now in the recruiting work of the regiment.

Almost a thousand men have now been recruited for the 92nd Highlanders Overseas Battalion. In Toronto the 92nd Highlanders have over 700 men for the 92nd, and in Hamilton the 91st Highlanders have obtained 238 recruits for the unit.

Lieut.-Col. George T. Chisholm said yesterday that he expected to have all the men of the "92nd" in uniform before they start for the Niagara camp. "We shall wear the same uniform which the 15th Battalion is using, and it will be the same as that of the Davidson tartan and khaki tunics. Instead of red stockings, however, we are to have blue ones."

For Recruiting Camp.

Mayor Church said yesterday that he expected to have all the men of the "92nd" in uniform before they start for the Niagara camp. "We shall wear the same uniform which the 15th Battalion is using, and it will be the same as that of the Davidson tartan and khaki tunics. Instead of red stockings, however, we are to have blue ones."

As a result of a number of requests from the soldiers, Mayor Church is trying to arrange to have every man at Niagara camp allowed to visit the Exhibition.

Word was received yesterday from the Eaton Machine Gun Battery, which left Niagara Camp for Toronto, that the battery is being reorganized. The battery is being reorganized with Major F. L. Knight, commander of the first brigade, and Capt. Eric Osborne as adjutant. The second brigade has Major P. Murdoch as commander, and Capt. J. James as adjutant. There is also a No. 1 train, under Capt. J. Flin, and No. 2 train, under Capt. C. E. Burden.

Engagements Cancelled.

Organizer Roberts of the Speakers' Patriotic League stated yesterday that the case of Professor F. V. Rothdorf from an affidavit charging German citizenship, which was filed in court, will be handled with happy results to all concerned. He expressed the earnest hope that this would be done.

MANY FARMERS ERECT STEEL TRUSS BARN.

Many farmers throughout Ontario have erected fine steel truss barns this year and have mowed away their crops at less expense and with greater ease than in former years. The steel truss barn has no cross timbers, which does away with lifting loads to the roof before swinging in over the mow and at the same time allows of one-third more storage space.

One of these steel truss barns, size 36 ft. x 56 ft., will be shown, equipped with all sanitary steel table and barn fittings, at the Toronto Exhibition, just east of the poultry building. Farmers will do well to pay a visit to this barn.

BERLIN REGRETS SINKING DANISH STEAMER BETTY

Claims Submarine Captain Assumed Ship Was Going to Join British Fleet.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—A despatch to Britain's Telegram Co. from Copenhagen says: "The German Government has expressed regret for the torpedoing and sinking in the North Sea on May 26 of the Danish steamer Betty, and announced its willingness to pay compensation for the loss of the steamer."

It is claimed by Germany that the submarine commander failed to see the mark denoting Danish nationality on the steamer, and assumed from the route the vessel was taking that it was going to join the British fleet as an auxiliary cruiser."

STEAM WAS CURTAIN FOR PAGEANT STAGE

"Behind Scenes" Hid From Spectators Gaze by Clouds of Vapor.

At the Lexington, Mass., pageant, held recently in commemoration of the centenary of peace with Great Britain, a steam curtain was employed to screen the outdoor stage from the audience. This novel plan was adopted because of the impracticability of using a cloth curtain.

A perforated steam pipe was laid for a distance of some 1500 feet across the front of the stage. Rows of colored electric lamps were placed parallel with it. When steam was forced into the pipe and turned allowed to escape from it thru the small holes, clouds of vapor lifted from the field, forming a dense curtain of fog. By lighting the colored lamps, the rays were reflected with very pleasing effects. This means was used to shield the performers before the pageant started and also during the intervals when the scenes were changed.

UNITED STATES FACING COTTON ISSUE CALMLY

McAdoo Says Thirty Million Dollars is Available to Relieve Growers.

PLEA FOR CO-OPERATION

Action of Allied Powers is Accepted With Good Grace.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—Treasury officials tonight made public an announcement by Secretary McAdoo that, in view of the action of the allies putting cotton on the contraband list, he would, if it became necessary, deposit $30,000,000 or more in gold in the federal reserve banks at Atlanta, Dallas and Richmond for the purpose of enabling the reserve banks to rediscount loans on cotton secured by warehouse receipts made by producers in official close of a day of speculation in official cotton. It was explained that, if it appeared that the object could be accomplished with greater efficiency thereby, the deposits would be made directly with national banks agreeing to lend the money on cotton at a rate not to exceed 6 per cent.

Secretary McAdoo authorized the announcement from his summer home at North Haven, Me. It came at the close of a day of speculation in official cotton circles as to the nature of steps which the entente powers have indicated they will take to uphold the cotton market in the face of their contraband order.

"To protect producers. In the exercise of the discretion given to him by law," read the treasury statement, "Secretary McAdoo said that the government will for the time being be content to meet the needs of the cotton producer in the federal reserve banks; that such action is justified by the unusual situation respecting cotton caused by the European war; that he considers it his duty to use every means in his power to help the cotton producer of the south in the circumstances; that it is a matter of economic importance to the entire nation that those who have produced the cotton crop shall have a fair opportunity to dispose of it gradually and in an orderly manner so they may not be forced, thru inability to market their cotton gradually, to sell it at sacrifice prices."

No Cause For Alarm.

The secretary said that one of his chief objects was to create a basis for such enlarged credit in the south that the banks will have ample resources to extend to producers such accommodations that they will be able to carry cotton in warehouses for a reasonable length of time until it can be marketed advantageously.

The secretary declared he believed that there was no occasion for alarm about the future of cotton and that if the banks and merchants would cooperate with each other and with the cotton producers of the south, in a spirit of patriotism and mutual regard for their own welfare, the situation could be handled with happy results to all concerned. He expressed the earnest hope that this would be done.

HAVE GOOD CHANCE OF MAKING ARREST

Detectives on Trail of Burglars Who Entered Chapman's Store.

The police believe they have a good chance to get the burglars who entered the jewelry store of Chapman Bros. on Yonge street, Saturday evening, and made away with $5,000 worth of diamonds, insofar as penetrating the bonds of the safe is concerned police officers are confident.

The concrete reinforcement in the wall, thru which the thieves had to chisel, was the greatest barrier and he drove quickly to the hotel and asked the proprietor for accommodation. According to Smith's evidence yesterday, Draper brusquely told him he had no accommodation for him. Smith then went to the hotel and asked for a room for the night, and he had no room to spare.

William Conkin was arrested in connection with alleged Board Bill.

Was Driving Near Todmorden When Overcome—Case Adjudged.

Because he is said to have refused accommodation to a girl who had been taken ill while driving, E. W. Draper, proprietor of the Todmorden Hotel, was called upon by the Ontario License Commissioners yesterday afternoon for an explanation.

R. H. Smith, Toronto, the first witness, told the members that a week ago Saturday afternoon he was out driving with a party of ladies, one of whom became ill a few miles from Todmorden, and he drove quickly to the hotel and asked the proprietor for accommodation. According to Smith's evidence yesterday, Draper brusquely told him he had no accommodation for him. Smith then went to the hotel and asked for a room for the night, and he had no room to spare.

In his own defence, Draper denied having been discourteous to the party. He said the members of the party had accommodation because part of the building was being renovated, and he had no room to spare.

The board adjourned until next Monday, when more evidence will be secured.

Child Died from Burns.

The second death within three days, caused by an attempt to pour kerosene into a range, occurred at the Sick Children's Hospital yesterday afternoon, when Evelyn Bassard, aged 12, of 50 Dundas street, died as a result of burns sustained in that way Saturday.

NEWS OF SPECIAL INTEREST TO WOMEN

CHIC VELVET TAM IS NOW THE "RAGE"

A Smart Headpiece for Immediate Wear is This Latest Favorite.

WINGS AND TASSELS

Are Employed for Trimming, as Well as Pretty Corded Ribbons.

Universally becoming is the simple tam, which for this reason and others equally acceptable has taken the fashion world by storm. It is worn without prejudice by willing devotees who are given free choice of color, material and style.

At present the black tam is in the lead, with a cool little model in white silk as a close second. Combinations of these are, of course, looked upon with favor. One particularly stunning chapeau of this variety is shown by an exclusive local establishment. The band, which fits about the head closely, is of rich black velvet with under-irradiation of the same. The top of the crown is white grosgrain silk corded in sections, and the only ornament is a handsome white wing placed at a jaunty angle on the right side.

An extremely attractive little tam for the youthful devotee is a simple model all black, fairly large, and loosely shrouded. Simplicity is the keynote, the only trimming being a band of white ribbon, about half an inch wide tied about the head.

Many models in colored and patterned silks are to be seen with tassels as the chief ornamentation.

HIGH NECKWEAR AGAIN DECREED

A Renewed Effort to Establish Favor of "Chokers" is Made.

NEWEST VAGARIES

Include Smart Designs, Military Modes and Pretty Use of Buttons.

There is something undeniably modish and distinctive in the "choker" collar. Summer devotees courageously defied fashion when an attempt was made to introduce throat-swallowing fineries right in the midst of warm, sunny days, but it is altogether likely that opposition will fade in a very few weeks, and a general clamor for high, close neckwear results.

Just when cool, autumn days are approaching seems an opportune time to make the second attack.

Combinations of the ever-favored "black and white" are displayed in a number of stunning new types of the "choker." A collar which is strikingly military in aspect, is in creamy white batiste, buttoned beneath the chin with one large pearl stud. Pointed turn-over tabs and smartly pointed jabot ends, cleverly placed, are edged with one-inch motté ribbon.

The demand for hemstitching is evidenced in another style of collar, in which dainty white organdie is combined with soft bias-cut satin. The satin constitutes the collar band above which flares the circular organdie section. Pleated front sections have an applied band of the satin.

Still another modish design introduces a vestee arrangement which is particularly attractive when worn with the tailored suit. A broad, flat bow at the fastening and a double row of tiny carved jet buttons lend a very attractive note.

For indoor wear are models of finest chiffon cut circular, pointed, or in some cases, and held up about the throat with the assistance of dainty ribbon straps. To the rather sombre but quaint one-piece frock with panels and fitted sleeves, is imparted a dainty charm by one or another of these filmy concoctions—accessories to which all fashion dictators are attaching considerable importance this season.

Algonquin Provincial Park

Just the out-of-the-way sort of place is Algonquin Provincial Park, less than 200 miles north of Toronto, for a perfect holiday. Two thousand feet above the level of the sea, the highest point in Ontario, the air is rare and pure. Splendid fishing canoeing and boating. Good hotel accommodation at the Highland Inn, also at the log cabin camp hotels in Smoke Lake and Island Lakes. There is no small slice of the Dominion that has effected the transformation, from a desolate and uninviting wilderness to a place where the boys of the province and efficiency have won the praise of military experts, and who fill the town. On Saturday afternoons and Sundays Folkestone is more Canadian than many places in the Dominion. True, it is a khaki resort, but the real Canadian spirit, effervescent and infectious, giving to this delightful place a glow such as it has never hitherto experienced.

SECOND DIVISION AT SHORNCLIFFE

Canadians Have Made Folkestone an Exceedingly Popular Resort.

MAPLE LEAF DOES IT

Khaki Clad Soldiers Give Real Spirit to Watering Places.

LONDON, Aug. 24.—Many English watering-places may be dull when compared with their gaiety in normal times, but Folkestone and other popular resorts around Shorncliffe, where the 2nd Canadian Division is stationed, are enjoying remarkable vitality. Instead of being wrapt in gloom they are blooming. When the secret of the new and exhilarating life a native replied "Tis the Maple Leaf that does it."

Perhaps it is out of appreciation of this source of prosperity that the band on the Folkestone Parade includes in its program the airs "The Maple Leaf For Ever" and "O Canada." What the musician would term as the "tempo" is at times a little languid; but the Canadian delight in these friendly efforts to make him feel at home, altho there must be fewer opportunities than there have been lately for the use of umbrellas and raincoats before the illusion can be complete.

No one desires to say an unkind word concerning English weather in general, or that Folkestone in particular. It is August, and doubtless there will be sunshine later on; but during the past few weeks there has been some rain. However, we have it on the authority of a local historian that "it is a peculiarity of Folkestone that it seldom rains for a whole day, and we are also assured that owing to the sandy nature of the soil, a few hours will remove all traces even of a heavy downpour. So nobody worries."

The Canadian Spirit

Sufficient to say that rain or shine the watering-places around Shorncliffe "have a smile" just now, and this applies particularly to Folkestone. How could it be otherwise when thousands of Canadians nearly fill the town? On Saturday afternoons and Sundays Folkestone is more Canadian than many places in the Dominion. True, it is a khaki resort, but the real Canadian spirit, effervescent and infectious, giving to this delightful place a glow such as it has never hitherto experienced.

True, it is a khaki resort, but the real Canadian spirit, effervescent and infectious, giving to this delightful place a glow such as it has never hitherto experienced.

A Popular Resort

Folkestone has a magnificent front, and the Leas, situated along the edge of the cliff, from 100 to 150 feet above the sea, is a popular resort. It consists of extensive lawns and asphalt paths, with large houses at the rear, and here Canadians love to sit in the sun, listening to the music and watching the shipping up and down the English Channel, and the going and coming of boats crossing to and from France. The wide range of coast line, the sea views possible from such an elevated position, the paths along the cliff, make this part of Folkestone a popular resort, and on Saturday and Sunday evenings there is probably no province of the Dominion which is not represented in the promenade.

Saturday and Sunday over, the troops enter camp on military training, for which Shorncliffe has long been recognized as an ideal spot. The local historian points with pride to what is known as "Caesar's Camp," and to other traces of the Roman invasion that exist in the districts. These links with the remote past are of great interest, and have their value as sources of attraction. But at the present moment it is the Canadian "invasion" that absorbs attention, and it is impossible to overstate the seriousness with which the troops from the Dominion have undertaken their military training.

In valleys and on mountainous hills, in darkness and in daylight, they fulfil their duties with a full appreciation of the task that is before them. While they are not lacking gaiety in the hours of recreation, nothing but praise is heard concerning the enthusiasm of the second division for their work.

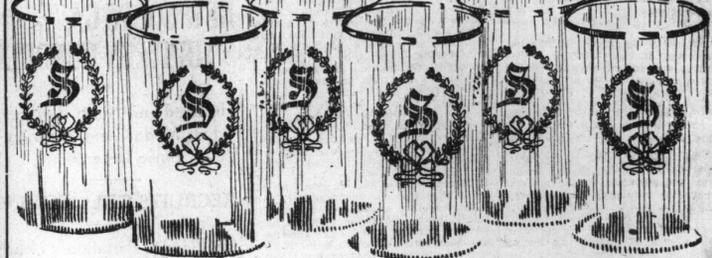

The result is that since their stay at Shorncliffe they have gained remarkably in military experience, and to use the words of an officer "they are in the pink of condition."

Walking on the roads which wind among the encampments the pedestrian will frequently meet large numbers of Canadian troops moving with evincing steps towards some manoeuvring ground. He is impressed, as were those who witnessed the review of the forces a few days ago, by the splendid calibre of the men. He is interested in the equipment, and not least in the magnificent horses used for transport work, many from

We regret the disappointment to our readers who are anxious to obtain one of these very handsome sets, but trust they will bear with us, as the failure to make delivery is with the factory.

most popular resorts with the Canadians

Hythe is one of what are known as the Cinque Ports, which at one time were deemed as the five most important ports on the southern coast of France. They are under the government of a lord warden, and it may be added that they are supposed to have been incorporated previous to the conquest, by Edward the Confessor. But the jurisdiction of the lord warden has been curtailed until the office has become a mere honorary dignity, without emoluments, saving the right to live in Walmer Castle.

When the June Bride Buys Things Her Friends Forget

By WINIFRED BLACK
Copyright, 1915, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

I SAW her yesterday, in the basement of the big department store—the June Bride. I knew her for what she was the minute I looked at her, and so did the tired, worried-looking clerk at the dishpan counter, and so did the girl who sold her the newest kind of soapdish for the bathroom, and so did the middle-aged woman with the wistful eyes at the skillet end of the counter—and so did the manager of the department. And everybody took an interest in her and in the things she wanted to buy.

The tired clerk dived under and reached over and hunted through—to get just exactly the very latest affair in dish drawers.

The soapdish girl fairly twittered in her eager efforts to find just exactly the right dish.

And, as for skillets—if there's a sample of a skillet on earth that that woman with the wistful eyes didn't haul out and talk over and criticize and explain—then that sample wasn't in that basement and probably never will be.

The department manager hovered in the background like a beneficent spirit in a rather shiny frock coat and a pair of black trousers that might be a little better creased—I'm afraid they don't pay such big salaries as they might wish to—in the basement.

And when he couldn't stand it another minute he came and asked the Bride if she had seen the new linoleum that was really beautiful for small kitchens, and he told about his kitchen at home and how pretty it looked since they'd put the new linoleum in it—and there was talk concerning gas stoves and whether it was better to use the blue flame for the coffee in the morning or the white one—and when she fluttered away to the elevator, for the drapery department, the basement seemed somehow empty and forlorn.

The Wondrous Change.

"I hope they'll be happy," said the woman with the wistful eyes, with a half sigh.

The tired clerk nodded grimly—but there was something kindly in his face as he answered, "Maybe she will—you can't never tell."

The girl with the soap dishes flushed and smiled, and I saw her look shyly at a simple little ring on her rough little hand—and the manager of the department saw it, too, and he smiled and spoke kindly to her—and all at once everything blurred for me—for, for some unaccountable reason, my eyes were full of sudden tears.

That June Bride—bless her heart—how young she was and how hopeful and how confident and how secure—what did she care about the war in Europe?

What was it to her that the day was warm and that she had a long way to walk—wasn't he going to come home at dusk—and wouldn't she be ready to meet him at the door of their little flat—with all the glory of the earth shining in her eyes?

I wonder who he was—the husband of the June Bride—bless his heart, too—the June Bridegroom.

There's a new look of responsibility on his face—a new pride in the swing of his shoulders, a new courage in the way he carries his head—she loves him, the sweetest girl in the world—she believes in him—the most charming woman who ever lived. She trusts him—and depends on him—how could he ever dream of falling her for one moment?

And only just a few weeks ago he was nothing but a boy with a boy's careless selfishness and a boy's heedless ways—and she's made a man of him—already—the June Bride—and he's made a woman of her—the June Bridegroom.

May Love Guide

Just a girl the other day. Just a foolish, inexperienced, light-hearted, light-headed girl—and now she's a woman with a woman's love and a woman's faith and a woman's fidelity—all at once, the miracle has happened—the old, old miracle that is always new.

I suppose the girl's mother is wondering how on earth the June Bridegroom is going to eat the fearful things that the June Bride will cook for him, and there isn't a doubt in the world that the Bridegroom's father is still puzzled to see what on earth a sweet girl like that can see in such a young, heedless rascal as that son of his.

And nobody sees and nobody realizes—and nobody understands—but the June Bride and the man she loves—the June Bridegroom and the woman he bears in his heart.

Isn't the same world to them, any more. It never will be the same world again—for the power and the glory of Love is shining into their lives like a lamp in a darkened room—and, after all, they see as no one without that light can ever see.

For, when it's all said and done—there's only one thing in the world that's worth the trouble of living—me and you—we can laugh about it, we can sneer at it as much as we please—but here he comes again, singing down the moonlit road—Young Love, with a crown of roses, Young Love with the merry laugh, Young Love with the sweet, sweet sigh—and when he arrives, there's nothing else in all the world—but him.

Be kind to the June Bride, Love, be gentle with her—she is so young and so brave.

Be good to the June Bridegroom, oh God of wondrous power, he's young, too, and hopeful and full of courage—stay with them to the very end of the road, won't you Love? They will sing along the roughest path—if they only have you for company—and are—together.

WHERE THE MOTHER-IN-LAW CARRIES THE BRIDE HOME.

IN British East Africa, in Sarariland, there are all manner of odd customs that the dusky natives practice, but one that I saw struck me as particularly funny. It happened at a native wedding.

Out in the bush near a village we had pitched our camp and were resting

Off to the New Home.

It was the bridesmaid's duty, we learned, to help the mother-in-law chase the bride all over the mountain and when she was caught to follow after in a procession that was conspicuous for noise. It was the bride who cried the loudest, however, for her mother-in-law was carrying her to her son's house, as is the custom.

"She only fooling," said our servant, "she very much pleased all the time."

IN TOW

By Michelson

YOU will see this situation repeated many times this summer, and, really, it sometimes looks very funny. Then, again, the young man has the skill to make his part look quite clever. If they also serve who only stand and wait, maybe they also capture who know how to pretend to be led. Certainly being in tow sometimes seems to be very pleasant if we may judge by the attitudes of the victim. The biggest joke of all is to discover that the victim really is doing the DRIVING.

Cupid MAY have something to do with this. He never tells.

PETER'S ADVENTURES IN MATRIMONY

By LEONA DALRYMPLE
Author of the new novel, "Diane of the Green Van," awarded a prize of $10,000 by Ida M. Tarbell and S. S. McClure as judges.

In the Farm House.

AFTER Brink had taken his pill, he, too, came in, and while Mary and Mrs. Brink were off upstairs combing their hair into some semblance of respectability, Brink and I, too, dried our wet clothes.

He was very wet about the feet, and growled a great deal about it. LEONA DALRYMPLE about it. His shoes had been new, he said, and wet feet always did for him, any way.

"Wet feet," I said curiously, "are not good for any one. They're no better for me than they are for you, and they're no better for our wives. Here, stick your shoes in the oven."

"It will dry them out of shape," he protested.

I said nothing at all. I merely put my own shoes in the oven and let him do whatever he chose. He was too perverse to bother with. Presently with a sniff, he put his own shoes into the oven, and as his clothes dried his good humor returned.

Brink Shows Shame.

"Let's ask that woman to get us some breakfast," he said.

"It's already been done," I told him. "I supposed you'd be much too ill to eat."

"I feel very much better now. My, though, I did suffer coming across that lake."

Shame was beginning to assert itself now. No man likes to feel that he's shown a yellow streak.

"And then," he went on with some anxiety, "how are we to get to the train from here?"

"Mary attended to that," I told him. "She telephoned. There's a stage or something that conveys passengers from the boarding house to the station."

"What time will the stage be here?"

"Not until 11."

"Good heavens!" Brink stared. "It's barely 7."

"It's the best we can do. Breakfast will be ready in a little while. After that, if you feel like it, you can get a room and sleep until the stage comes."

"I think I will. I'm not myself even yet."

We breakfasted heartily in the owner's private dining room, a country breakfast that filled the damp morning air with satisfying aromas. I remember we

Preparing for the "Vacation for Two."

THE train was late, and it was past 10 o'clock when I stole up the steps of our house and quietly slipped the key in the lock, preparing to give the grand surprise to Bob. I had carefully painted a picture of our flat in my mind's eye before I arrived.

I expected the most—piles of newspapers scattered through all the rooms, unwashed dishes stacked four feet high on the kitchen table, cigar or cigarette ashes everywhere, for, of course, Bob would have entertained some friends. And, of course, poor Bob would be sitting lonesomely in the living room after having partaken of his bachelor restaurant dinner. I quite choked up when I thought how pale and tired he might look, and here was I blooming after my selfish little vacation.

But when I opened the door I nearly fell over in my amazement. The house was exactly as I had left it. There wasn't anything that appeared to be touched—from teaspoons to chairs, and there was a thin layer of dust on the furniture, which proved that no suddenly hired cleaning woman had come in to straighten up. Three days' mail, unopened, had accumulated. There wasn't a sign of Bob anywhere.

It was too late to telephone him at the office, and at 8 and 9 o'clock passed and no Bob appeared, I felt that the joke of my "surprise" was on me. Where had he been those days?

It was 10 o'clock when I was about falling to sleep over the story I tried to read that I heard Bob's step on the stairs. In a minute in breezed Bob—a very much tanned and blooming Bob.

"Well, well, when did you arrive, Missy?" he asked when we had finally finished telling each other that we had spent the lonesome week that had been ever.

"I think I'd better do some investigating first," I said sternly. "Where have you been? I have occult methods

Secrets of Health and Happiness

Man's Organs and Tissues Actually Survive Death

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSBERG
A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins University)

MAN is an animal of a threefold nature, that is, of vegetative, sensual and intelligent parts. Brute creatures to a degree lack the last, and the plant kingdom, so far as we know, has only the first.

When a surgeon takes a layer of living skin from a man and grafts it over the seared and scarred flesh of a burned child; when he transplants a bone from the leg of a sheep to a man's shin, he takes a living, vegetative part of one and makes it fuse and grow into the other.

Five years ago Prof. Ross G. Harrison of Yale University completed a long series of researches which showed that fragments of tissues removed from frogs and tadpoles could live, grow, increase and multiply even when separated from the parent creature—providing a bit of lymph or other nourishment was around it.

Pieces of muscles and skin were then taken by Dr. Harrison and placed in a mixture of clotted lymph and blood serum. These, too, grew and developed just as if they were still attached to the living body. Even a rudimentary "nervous system" came into being in the coagulated lymph.

Hearts That Lived.

To say that this discovery of Prof. Harrison startled the scientific, philologist and medical world is to put the matter mildly.

Physiologists began at once to decry Dr. Harrison's observations, with the amazing consequences of being completely refuted. Dr. Minot, Dr. Alexis Carrel, Dr. R. Legendre and Dr. Lewis, to extend them visibly and tangibly, to extend them visibly as far back as 1887. Drs. Renard and Loye had observed the heart of a dog, a cat's still longer, and a turtle's heart to live and throbbled eight days after its removal, while the elements and units—"cells"—of the embryonic chicken heart, planted in a suitable material, beat and grew for nearly a year, and still thriving and growing almost 20 years after it was cultivated by Dr. Alexis Carrel of the Rockefeller Institute of Medical Research, winner of the Nobel prize in medicine in 1931.

Twenty-four years ago an obscure physiologist, Dr. Arnould, noted that a heart, discarded from a rabbit about to be cooked, when dipped several times into the clear serum from the clotted blood, began again to beat. It was reported by all physicians in 1881 to try successfully the same feat with the heart of an executed criminal.

Some Amazing Experiments.

Physiologists have adopted a simple expedient to keep the hearts of animals alive for experimental purposes. One chicken, rabbit or bird removed from the animal used on the dinner table of his friends, was kept alive and throbbing by being placed in a solution of diluted milk, salt, water and similar fluids were passed into the heart, and they could thus be kept alive and throbbing for several days. When the hearts used for these experiments were taken from animals glutinously eaten by students of the anatomy, the little ground left for them to object.

"Bits of muscle tissues, kept in a warm water bath, will survive for a long time even out of reach of nourishment. When they are planted, as Dr. Alexis Carrel does, upon painless soil, they grow, increase, branch out, and contract for months and months as only a muscle can."

It was in 1906 that Dr. Carrel put much of his laboratory knowledge to practical account by grafting fragments of arteries or veins of animals similar to those from which they were removed. In 1907 the largest artery of a cat was split, and the jugular vein of a dog, seven days in a refrigerator, as well as an artery 30 days old, were attached to it. The animal was soon well and lively, a testimony to his skill and ingenuity.

Two years later this indomitable surgeon extirpated a dog's kidney, put it on ice for almost an hour, then sewed it back into place. Subsequently the round kidney was removed, never to be restored, and the dog remained alive and well thereafter.

Answers to Health Questions.

A. B. C.—Q—My hair is thin and comes out easily. What remedy would you suggest?

2—What will lighten the hair and still not injure it?

A—1—Apply with friction to the scalp twice each morning: Fluid extract of pilocarpine, 1 dram; tincture of capsicum, 1 ounce; tincture of cantharides, 1/2 dram; coconut oil and distilled water enough to make 4 ounces.

2—Peroxide is what women generally use. Apply it until the desired shade is obtained.

T. G. E.—Q—Every morning I awake with an odorous breath and a bad taste in my mouth. What would you suggest?

2—I am knock-kneed. Can you suggest a remedy other than an operation? I am 22 years old.

A—1—Take one teaspoonful of charcoal before each meal and 10 grains of bismuth after. Eat plenty of green vegetables, spinach, carrots, plainly boiled onions, watercress, lettuce, young peas, corn, and other fresh vegetables with salad oil, brown bread, bran crackers, clear soups, such as beef, mutton, chicken, oyster and clam, all kinds of fish, fresh meats, poultry, game, stewed prunes, stewed figs, baked sour apples, dried fruits, grapes, oranges, plums, puddings, bananas, plums, gingerbread, honey and cereals. Drink three quarts of distilled water daily, two glasses half an hour before each meal. Be outdoors in the sunlight as much as you possibly can, and sleep 10 hours in the 24. Take several hours' active exercise daily, and join a gymnasium if it is convenient.

2—There is no remedy for knock-knees other than an operation for one who has reached maturity.

Dr. Hirsberg will answer questions for readers of this paper on medical, hygienic and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. He cannot always undertake to prescribe or offer advice for individual cases. Ledger was nicely bowled by Jones for 4. F. Joy text followed, but he only had a short stay, being finely caught by Matson at point before he scored. A. Holliday next came in and he and Priestly made things lively for a time. Holliday made 15 and T. Priestly 12. J. W. Priestly treated the operators to a fine innings, being the last man out, for 37. Yorkshire being all out for 90. Jones and Lambert opened the innings for the Saints, Jones being run out when he had made 5. P. Lambert was the only player to make double-figures. ### CATTLE MARKET OPENS UNSTEADY

Condition Did Not Improve and Bulk Sold Before Noon.

IN UNFINISHED STATE.

Puzzle to Know Why Stock is Sent in Before Ready.

The receipts of live stock at the Union Stock Yards for Monday's market numbered 288 cars, comprising 3094 cattle, 91 calves, 1269 hogs, 1066 sheep and lambs, and 2448 horses for the British and French armies.

The cattle market opened slow and unsteady and did not improve, the bulk being unsold at noon. For the most part the butcher cattle were half finished and should have been kept on the grass for six weeks longer. It is hard to understand why this is not done with so much good pasture in the country. The large number of cattle and the preponderance of unfinished and common varieties caused the price to drop. In the afternoon the market closed unsteady for all classes of butcher cattle, a good many remaining unsold. Choice heavy butchers alone held steady with last week up to $8.55 for the load, weighing 1425 lbs., the rest being at lower and lower prices in some cases earlier prices are reported.

Stockers and feeders look to have another active week in sight. There were not many of this class present yesterday, and the trading was soon over. Shippers of these cattle will find a good market awaiting them.

Milkers and springers steady and unchanged from last week.

Lambs were about steady, the bulk selling at $9.10 with $9.25 for the tops. Sheep were active and strong. Yearling cubs strong, choice calves selling once more up to $11.

Most of the hogs were bought in the country for delivery here, about 300 being on sale at yesterday's market. Prices unchanged from last week.
