THE SECRET

BY GISELA DITTRICK BRITT.

There was a quick step in the hall. Mollie looked inquiringly across her silver basket at Jack. The girl in pink sat up erect and hastily smoothed her tumbled locks. Then the door opened and Townsend peeped in.

"Thought you people would be taking an inventory—comparing the ravages. That was an awfully jolly little dinner, Mrs. Clavin." He followed her cheery voice into the pretty room. "I saw the lights were still on, so I didn't ring up the footman. Can't tell how much I enjoyed it. Four o'clock, Tuesday, Miss Van Alen. Good night, again."

The door had almost closed behind him when Mollie (Clavin) sprang forward, the silver dropping with a crash into the basket.

"Oh, Mr. Townsend, come back!" Her soft, southern voice had in it a note of distress. "Come right back this minute!"

He turned his six feet three quickly about, and looked down at her expectantly as she stood in the doorway. She smiled up, and the flash on the fair, laughing face deepened a bit as she went on her pretty, impulsive way.

"Don't you know, foolish man, that you must not go off that way! It's such bad luck to come back! Come right in here and turn around three times. One—two—three—that's it. Now, sit down!" She gave the great coat a gentle little push toward the sleepy-hollow chair. He went down; she breathed a sigh of relief. "There, you can go now." She held the door lavishly open.

He sat quite still in the big, comfortable chair and looked sternly at the other man, who was leaning negligently against the piano.

"Take her back south, Jack, burn the commonwealth fide out. We, with witches up here."

She made a little moue, and the other man shrugged his shoulders.

"I used to be a believer in heredity. I'm not now. I give you my word, Townsend, she has sensible ancestors. I know two of them—and look at her," he pointed scornfully at the dainty figure in the pale blue crepe. "Stepped in superstition! Wears a fistic of some sort round her neck, and has for her high priestess the wrinkled, blackest old—"

A blue cloud swept across the room, a soft hand covered his lips and a voice was raised in indignant protest.

"It isn't! It's only my—rabbit foot. And you shan't make fun of dear old Aunt Liza. And who was it that wouldn't pull with the variety crew last year because they had lost their mascot? And—"

"And who was it—?" The girl in pink had risen and was pointing an accusing finger at the man in the great coat, "that only last week, at Bobby Fair's mess, wouldn't sit down until figure in the pale blue was brought in—because there were—thirteen!"

He gave one look at Jack; then, without a word, the two men bolted, pursued by little, delicious, mocking gibes.

Mollie turned suddenly and looked searchingly at the girl who had thrown herself down upon the rug. "Elizabeth Van Alen, I believe I'll tell you something. The strangest thing!" She came slowly toward the fire.

THE MORNING-GLORY HAT.

The shape of this morning-glory hat is one which is becoming to a great majority of womanhood. The brim, though quite wide in front, turns up at the edge so that it is really quite narrow at this point, and in the back the high crown slopes so gradually into the brim that one cannot see where the crown ends and the brim begins. This hat is a moue of the silk cord and a velvet roll. Soft loops of grey louisiana ribbon encircle the crown, against which are banded the glorious colored velvet blossoms in all the shades of their natural beauty, from a soft pink to a rich purple. And intermingled with these glories, twice the size of the largest natural flower, are a few soft green leaves and tiny tendrils. Sometimes the wreath encircles the hat completely, being equally as full in the back as front, but the effect is prettier when it diminishes to but a single flower at each end.

GOOD BLOOD FOR BAD

That is What Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People Always Give—They Never Fail.

Good blood is the one thing necessary for perfect health. If the blood in good disease cannot exist—if it is bad disease is bound to appear. There are dozens of maladies caused by bad blood. Among them are anemia, rheumatism, heart palpitation, headache, backache, indigestion and the special ailments of women and growing girls. If you suffer from any of these troubles, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will cure you—because they make new, red, health-giving blood. They succeed where doctors sometimes fail. In proof of this, Mrs. Sarah Jane Duco, Des Moines, Iowa, says: "In 1903 I became weak and sickly. I was all run down; I found housework a burden—sometimes I could not do it at all; the least effort made me tired. I consulted a doctor who told me to eat more, but that did not help me and I gradually grew worse; even my friends began to despair. Four different doctors told me my case was hopeless. My suffering was intense. Some- times I was in despair and decided that it was useless to spend any more money on doctors. One day my husband gave me a bottle of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. After a few weeks' use of the Pills I was convinced that I had found the right medicine. I took twelve boxes and they completely cured me, and I am now in excellent health. I gladly recommend them to all sufferers, for they cured me where doctors had failed and my friends were expecting death to end my suffering."

Unless the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People" is printed on the wrapper around each box don't be a fraud intended to deceive you and may do you harm. If your medicine dealer has not got the genuine Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People they will be sent to you direct at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

SHE KILLED HIM.

"I promised my husband on his death-bed not to marry again. I wouldn't have done that if I had been in your place. Ah, but then, he wouldn't have died."—Frigidite Blatter.

THE FEDERAL PARLIAMENT

Report of the G.T.P. Commissioners Submitted Yesterday
---Line is Shorter Than Estimated.

Ottawa, Nov. 29.—The house met for a few minutes today and after some formalities in the way of presenting reports and petitions, adjourned until Monday, when the debate on the address will begin.

The national transcontinental commissioners report for the nine-months fiscal period was presented to the house today. The total expenditure was $5,537,867, of which the purchasing department expended $2,248,880 for supplies.

Guy C. Dunn, engineer of division A, expresses the opinion that the route selected for the construction is making good between Quebec and Moncton by one hour and all freight delivery by two hours, when compared with the other route.

A. E. Housat, engineer of division B, which extends from the New Brunswick boundary to Weymouth, 400 miles, reports that construction is making good progress. At the end of March the contractors had 3,297 men at work.

A. J. Molloy, district C, reports good progress with the surveys as far as the Garmou River.

S. R. Foulis, district D, states that surveys were nearly completed. Two of his staff were killed.

Major A. E. Hodgins, until recently in charge of district F, says that work was delayed by the scarcity of labor but that the subletting of McArthur's contract has had beneficial results. He states that there has been considerable trouble with illicit liquor sellers and that there were seventeen men killed and twenty-six injured, due to the carelessness of the men themselves in handling dynamite, "and to some extent on account of liquor in the camp."

Hugh D. Lumsden, chief engineer, lays stress upon the difficulty of obtaining ties in northwestern Ontario and Manitoba, and lays the blame upon "the action of the Ontario government in declining to issue permits to cut ties."

He estimates the total distance of the N. T. R. from Moncton to St. John, Chrysothom at 453 miles, as against 488 by the Intercolonial and the through distance from Moncton to Winnipeg at 1,818 miles, as against 1,890 miles originally estimated.

The expenses at headquarters in Ottawa totalled $168,181.

The total expenditure from September, 1904, to March 31, 1907, was $5,148,284. Of the $2,248,880 expended on supplies, all was spent in Canada except $1,833 for goods from Great Britain and $444 for purchases from the United States.

Ralph Smith has given notice of a resolution declaring that "in the opinion of this house steps should be taken to restrict the influx of Oriental immigrants to Canada and inasmuch as the policy of the government concerning Chinese immigration has proved entirely satisfactory, a definite policy should be immediately adopted in operation looking to the accomplishment of equally satisfactory results with regard to the other Oriental immigrants."

Col. Worthington asks for the production of correspondence that has taken place between the government and the Ross Rifle Company.

PROHIBITION COMMISSION

It Had a Session in Fredericton Yesterday and Heard Several Witnesses.

Fredericton, N. B., Nov. 29.—The prohibition commission composed of A. O. Skinner, Rev. Thomas Marshall and W. D. Carter with Secretary John B. Jones, arrived from Newcastle today and registered at the Queen Hotel. They are here to inquire into the working of the Beer act and the afternoon interview a number of leading temperance workers at the hotel. Among those who testified were Rev. Dr. McLeod, Rev. J. C. Berry, John J. Weddall and Scott Act Inspector Colter. These gentlemen are all believers in the Beer act but believe that a prohibitory law enacted by the legislature would be more effective.

PANIC BOOMS MATCH TRADE

(N. Y. World.)

"Financial panics are profitable for one American industry," remarked the cigar dealer. The match factories are working overtime to supply the demand. In times of trouble the average citizen doubles his consumption of matches.

"Did you ever watch a New Yorker strike a light? When he has money in his pocket and no worries he uses only one match, striking it carefully and deliberately. But these days he is doubly nervous, his mind is distracted and his movements uncertain. He breaks the first match, lets the second go out and requires at least a third to obtain the required light."

THE BOARD OF TRADE

The St. John Board of Trade has rendered the city notable service in past years, and is capable of being made a much more effective agency to promote the industrial and commercial interests of the city. In the long struggle for the recognition of this port as the chief winter freight port of Canada the board, through its publications and the addresses delivered by its representatives, the resolutions adopted and the representations made in Ottawa and elsewhere, has rendered the city the highest service. The present board has but now issued an illustrated book on St. John as a centre for manufacturing which ought to produce good results. However much the average citizen may cavil at the talkers of the board their are also workers.

The board is now about to begin a new year. Those members who are advanced in years feel that there should be an infusion of younger blood into the active working body of the board. To those younger men the future of the city means more than it could possibly mean to men whose years of vigorous activity are past. The appeal is to personal interest as well as to the public spirit of the younger business men. They should respond without hesitation. The board has a large membership, but its active working membership has never been large except at times which called for universal effort. Perhaps this will always be the case, to some extent, but there should be enough clever business men in the prime of life sufficiently interested in the general welfare of St. John to make a strong working force and not only continue but enlarge the usefulness of the board of trade. It is therefore urged in the strongest manner that on Monday afternoon the members assemble in numbers that will crowd the rooms and launch the board upon its new year with a vigor and earnestness of purpose not excelled in its history.

QUITE THE OTHER WAY

For the sake of accuracy it seems necessary to comment upon a statement in today's Sun. The Sun says:

"George W. Fowler spoke at London-derry in the Conservative interests Wednesday evening. On Thursday London-derry gave a Liberal majority of 178. In the last general election it gave a Conservative majority of 88. Enough said."

The facts of the case are that Mr. Fowler spoke only in Truro and Acadia Mines. He spoke twice in Truro and once at Acadia Mines. In Truro the Conservative majority was increased from 44 to 74, and in Acadia Mines from 91 to 128. Mr. Fowler, no doubt, would not claim that his address was what he did not elect the Liberal candidate. And he did not speak at all in London-derry. It is as well to tell the truth about these matters.

REVIEW AND PROSPECT

There was inspiration for the sons of Scotland in the addresses delivered last evening at the St. Andrew's Society banquet. There is inspiration in noble traditions and in a history that reveals lofty purpose, strength of character, and splendid achievement. This heritage the Scot may claim, and he does well to rejoice in the possession, whether his home be still in the land of his fathers or in some far distant corner of the world. But, as Dr. Campbell pointed out last evening, more is needed. It is not enough to dwell upon past achievement. The Scot in Canada would fall far short of his duty if all the traditions, all the high inspirations, all the force of character, all the wisdom born of experience, and all the strength developed in centuries of toil and effort, were not transmuted in the first decade of this new century, and this first-half century of the life of a new commonwealth, into a driving force to impel the nation forward to the accomplishment of its high destiny. Many races mingle here, and each contributes an impulse to the national purpose and life. There is room for boundless energy and the nourishment of the most lofty aspirations. Canada calls to her sons and opens for them the door of opportunity, revealing to them a prospect such as never warmed the blood or stirred the ambition of the children of any other land. Literally "the hero of all the ages, in the foremost files of time" the Canadian, if he be true, may with confidence look forward to time when these northern hills and vales and plains shall be trodden by the strongest race of men the world has known,—the product of that blending of strong races now in process over half of this vast continent.

ward to time when these northern hills and vales and plains shall be trodden by the strongest race of men the world has known,—the product of that blending of strong races now in process over half of this vast continent.

The announcement that Ald. Baxter will assist the recorder as junior counsel in the pending waterworks litigation is heard with general satisfaction. It is most important that the city's interests be looked after in the most thorough manner by lawyers familiar with the whole matter in dispute. It was the desire of his colleagues that Ald. Baxter assume the task with the recorder. There was the objection that as an alderman he could not accept pay from the city for legal services. He has removed this difficulty by offering his services without charge, adding this work to his regular duties as a member of the council.

Speaking in Montreal this week Rev. J. W. Dawson, the evangelist, said:—"The great mass of the people in every country are the uneducated workers—and they are not confined to laborers and artisans. There are ministers fighting their way on $600 and $700 a year, and school teachers are abominably paid in Canada. One of the greatest scandals in the whole country is the beggarly way in which the teaching profession is paid."

If ten years ago some hopeful citizen had risen to remark that in 1907 a steamer bound for Liverpool would carry from St. John over thirteen hundred and the passengers from western Canada and the United States he would doubtless have been regarded with some commiseration, as a gentleman who had taken leave of his senses. But he would have been right.

Complaint is made that quite a number of persons in this city are in the habit of stealing coal from railway cars, and that boys who do it have no difficulty in finding purchasers of the coal, who ask no questions. It is unnecessary to point out the cumulative moral effect upon the community of this small species of dishonesty.

Dun and Bradstreet's weekly reports indicate a return of confidence in financial circles in the United States. One reason is, unfortunately, that many industries are curtailing their output and this throws many people out of employment.

Whatever reorganization takes place at City Hall must be of the kind that would be made by a business firm which sought to increase the efficiency of its staff and the economical as well as progressive administration of its affairs.

Two more boys staggering along the street late yesterday afternoon, under the influence of liquor, were evidence that the liquor law is grossly violated by somebody.

A PULPWOOD TRAIN

The Miramichi Pulp & Paper Co. has chartered a special train for hauling pulpwood and it went on the road this week. It makes one trip a day from Gloucester Junction to Chatham, and brings about 140 cords a day. It carries a loading crew of thirty men, so that the wood can be picked up anywhere on the main line and loaded quickly. About 17,000 cords will be gathered in along the line. The company has a camp of its own at Beaver Brook, with forty men, getting out wood, and has contractors operating for it along the line.

HIDE PRICES LOWER

MONTREAL, Nov. 29.—Hide prices have scored another decline of 1c per lb., and dealers believe there will be another decline next week of another cent, as supplies are steadily increasing, and there is no improvement in the demand from tanners. The market for lambskins has also been weaker and prices 10c per skin lower at 80 to 85c.

In calculating the feeling is about steady owing to the small receipts, and dealers are still paying 10c for No. 1 and 8c for No. 2 for city, and 1c less for country. A short session of the treasury board was held yesterday afternoon to hear the recorder on the question of taking legal action against David Connell in connection with the affairs in the chamberlain's office. No decision was arrived at as the city's legal adviser had not completed his researches. Nothing will likely be decided until after the meeting of the common council on Monday. The majority of the members of the treasury board are said to be of the opinion that the matter will be dropped.

IN LIGHTER VEIN IMPERTINENT QUERY. "The wages of sin is death," quoted the moralizer. "Suppose," rejoined the demoralizer, "that sinners would strike for higher wages and work for 24 hours a day, increase, what would their wages then be?"

INHERITED. Mrs. Biggs—There goes Mrs. Uppoon. Hasn't she a graceful carriage? Mrs. Diggs—Yes. Takes it after her grandfather, I suppose. Mrs. Biggs—Was his carriage graceful. Mrs. Diggs—Absolutely perfect, they tell me. He used to cry a hod.

A BEAUTIFUL CASE. "Do you think my case is bad, Doctor?" asked the nervous patient. "Bad!" exclaimed the enthusiastic young physician. "Why, it's beautiful, sir; beautiful. There are no less than a dozen complications."

A UNIONIST. "Young man," hailed the walking delegate, "do you believe in unions?" "You let I do," replied the young man in the black suit and white tie. "Glad to hear it. On your way to work, I suppose?" "No, on my way to get married."

NO AUTHORITY. "There are some verses I wrote," said the innocent young man laying the paper on the editor's desk; "you may give me just what you think they are worth." "But I have not the authority to give you what they deserve," replied the man with the pen. "Remember, I am an editor, not a magistrate."

EVERYBODY BUT FATHER. Town Visitor (to small applicant for a holiday)—"What is your father?" Small Applicant—"E's my father." T. V.—"Yes, but what is he?" S. A.—"Oh! E's me stepfather." T. V.—"Yes, yes. But what does he do? Does he sweep chimneys, or drive buses, or what?" S. A. (with dawning light of comprehension)—"O-w! No, e ain't done nothin' since we've 'em."

MARY'S QUESTION. Some little while ago a popular writer visited a jail in order to take notes for a magazine article on prison life. On returning home he described the horrors he had seen, and his description made a deep impression on the mind of his little daughter, Mary. The writer and his offspring, a week later, were in a train together, when stopped at a station near a gloomy building. A man asked: "What place is that?" "The county jail," another answered promptly. Whereupon Mary embraced her father and around the suspicions of the other occupants of the carriage by asking in a loud shrill voice: "Is that the jail you were in, father?"

SAY THAT PARTRIDGE ISLAND WATER SUPPLY IS EXCELLENT

What a Times Man Learned From a Visit to the Island Yesterday.

A visit to Partridge Island yesterday by a Times man for the purpose of investigating reports with reference to a leak in the fresh water pipe from the city and also the statement that the salt water going through the pipes had made the water unfit for drinking purposes, found that there was not the slightest foundation for the story, on the contrary the quality, quantity and volume of the water supply was never better. The water after having been pumped to the island, was found to be none too gentle siphons, was well repaid for the trip as he found, on examination, a work in connection with the pipe, which was done by the city, and the Island, that few people have the slightest conception of; a task in fact fraught with the greatest difficulty. When it is explained that in one place alone pipe is laid in water at a depth of 40 feet some idea is obtained.

In the case of this fact, however, the water in the pipes last year froze solid at that depth. Everything in this regard has now been fixed and as to the Island has a beautiful supply. The Times man had the system explained to him by Contractor John Kane. Mr. Kane said the work has to be done at a depth of 40 feet, on account of vessels anchoring over the pipe line had broken out again and finally of their being put in final shape Saturday. Without understanding the stupendous work of repairing, and the difficulty encountered, one would naturally think that the work was done with a very long period. It can be better understood when it is explained that the work has to be done at the extreme depth mentioned, 40 feet. Operations were not commenced until June last as the time of year when the water became frozen in February last, would not allow of doing anything at that time. As a consequence water had to be brought out by the tug boat Neptune and placed in tanks from which it was pumped by an overground pipe to tanks on the roof of the large building.

Diver Leahy's explanation of the methods of repairing thoroughly satisfied the Times man of the extreme difficulty encountered. It was found by the diver that some eight or more joints were started. It was explained that two sews are anchored on the pipe line each of which by strong lines takes hold of the parted sections. What is known as a cut joint is used in joining the sections and the sews hold the ends of the pipe in the diver's duty to bring the ends together and make the connection. With the sew bobbing up and down in the water it can easily be imagined what trouble the man under water has to bring the portions of the pipe which are continually dodging each other, so to speak, together. As the weather has been so stormy there were many days that it was utterly impossible to work at all. When the weather was favorable work could only be done at certain times of tide. If one joint was made a day it was extremely good work. When connections were effected there was yet the difficulty of welding so that it would be perfectly tight and it must be borne in mind that this work is done under many feet of water. Diver Leahy further explained that the job was made harder from the fact that the water was very muddy on account of the large amount of water coming out of the harbor from the river. It was consequently like working in the dark and while the work was fixed about six weeks ago, there was a further break on account of a schooner's anchor fouling the pipe. The vessel was unable to get under way and had to slip it. It was later got up by the diver who found it caught under the pipe. The man on the Island cannot understand why vessels anchor over this pipe line as it is indicated from the end of the breakwater where the line is located. They further were at a loss to understand how the report regarding salt-water could have originated.

The repairs were being made when water was brought from the city by tug boat. Of course salt water got into the pipes and connections were being made; but as soon as the water was turned on, what salt there was there was soon forced out. This fact was borne out by the Times man who tasted the water from a hydrant and found it all that could be desired. A test was made at the first hydrant on the high ground just above the wharf and a pressure of 72 pounds was attained. It was also told that a hose with a nozzle attached to it was used to throw water over the top of the detention hospital which is about 25 or 30 feet in height. Going through the detention hospital the Times man found that there was a splendid pressure in the faucets. He also found that the force was sufficient strength to fill the hot water boiler used in connection with the heating on the top story, without the aid of pumps.

The force was also of sufficient strength to carry the water to the tank on the roof. Various other hydrants were tested, all showing 72 to 80 pounds pressure. Mr. Kane and his staff afforded every opportunity and his showing of results was argument in itself. It was the explanation of the entire work in bringing fresh water from Spruce Lake in a pipe under water to the Island that was probably of the greatest interest. The pipe was landed on Partridge Island in February, 1906 and the system on the Island completed in March of the same year. To lay 3500 feet of pipe under a great depth of water is what it was found necessary to do; and that this has been accomplished in such a highly successful manner speaks volumes. And it must be taken into consideration that the connecting of each joint was done under water. The pipe was carried by the city to the City line, west side, and it was from there to dig along the beach about 500 feet at a depth of six feet. Then it was dredged out to the end of the beach at a distance of twenty-two hundred feet, at a depth of 312 feet. This work was started September 4th of 1906. From the end of the breakwater it was found necessary to dig through rock to shore. This was no small job, and it became more tedious when shore was reached, as the excavations had to be kept pumped out. In laying the pipe a steam saw is used, and 40 men in all are required to do the laying. The pipe, which is made of galvanized wrought iron, a half inch in thickness, is in 18 feet lengths. On the rear of the saw is a derrick or hoist, over this a line is trailed and by means of a derrick, joint by joint is lowered to the diver, who, at the bottom, has the appliances for joining. At the end of the day, or should the weather become stormy, the place is marked by a buoy when work is stopped. After landing the water carried all over the island. In this 1400 feet of pipe was used. The buildings the water was carried to are the two detention hospitals, main hospital, doctor's house, two reserve smallpox hospitals and the whistle house at the end of the island. There are also 12 or 14 hydrants. Mr. Kane does not expect that there will be any difficulty with freezing this winter, as it is the intention to let the water run somewhat.

THOUSANDS OF WOMEN TORTURED BY BLINDING HEADACHES

Who Could Be Well and Happy and Free of Pain

Headaches simply mean poisoned blood. The human body is constantly decaying and being renewed. Dead matter is absorbed by the blood, and should be taken from the blood by the kidneys, bowels and skin and passed out of the system. If one of these organs does not act properly, the blood becomes impure—if two fail, death is certain.

When there are constant headaches, it is always found that the bowels are irregular, the kidneys weak, or the skin sluggish, pale or sallow. The waste is left in the blood—carried to the brain—and irritates the nerves. To treat headaches with cocaine, morphia, phlogistic and the host of "headache powders" is useless. They relieve for the moment, but they clog the system and do harm. They never reach the seat of the trouble, they cannot purify the blood.

"Fruit-a-tives" completely cure Headaches, they stimulate the liver and make the bowels move regularly. They regulate the kidneys. They induce healthy skin action. Thus all the waste matter—body poisons—are taken out of the blood and there is nothing to cause headaches. "Fruit-a-tives" are the only remedy that really cures.

"Fruit-a-tives" are fresh fruit juices—in which the medicinal action is greatly increased by the special way in which they are combined. 50c. a box; 6 boxes for $2.50. At all druggists' or sent on request. Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

REST ROOM FOR GIRLS

New and Worthy Enterprise Recently Undertaken by the W. C. T. U.

The latest and undoubtedly one of the most important enterprises undertaken by the members of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union is the rest room for girls, which, about a month ago, was opened in the building on Germain street at present occupied by the union.

The rest room, which is situated directly over the restaurant, is a large, cheery apartment, comfortably furnished, and well heated. There is a good supply of magazines and books and probably some games will be added before long. Miss Alice Robertson, who is in charge, is very enthusiastic over the work entrusted to her, but expresses regret that the attendance thus far has not been as good as she had expected. This, she believes is due to the fact that the rest room is not generally known, for the newspapers do not, as a rule, reach those who would be likely to take advantage of the privileges offered by it, and those who have made are not always careful to tell them that such a place has been provided.

Then again, Miss Robertson adds, some of the girls themselves do not seem to know the purpose of the rest room, many of them having gotten the mistaken idea that it is intended for rescue work of some kind, while, as a matter of fact it is nothing of the sort, but simply a place where girls can go and spend a pleasant hour or two, make appointments with their girl friends, or perhaps drop in for a while after attending one of the moving picture shows. It is a place, too, where girls can bring their sewing or crocheting, and Robertson will always be ready and willing to assist or advise them in any way possible.

Some of the girls who have visited the rest room are delighted with it and express the hope that it will be kept up. One girl, in fact, told Miss Robertson that after receiving invitation cards were placed in her hands she would take them from door to door, in order to help on the work. During the winter probably one night in the week will be devoted to special entertainment of some sort. The entrance to the rest room is on the upper side of Germain street, just between the W. C. T. U. dining room and Leif Wilson's tailor shop, up one flight to the first landing, and turn to the left. On the door are the letters W. C. T. U.

PROHIBITION IN THE STATES

One-third of the People Under That Law—Statement by Nerve Specialist.

"One third of the American people," says Collier's Weekly, "are living under prohibition. After a long period of stagnation of retreating the anti-alcohol forces seem at last to have found their way to victory. They take state prohibition when it comes in the course of nature, but they are pushing it forward through local action." Maine, Georgia, North Dakota, Kansas, Oklahoma and Alabama have adopted state prohibition. In Mississippi, Tennessee, and North Carolina prohibition is almost complete, and it predominates in New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Virginia, West Virginia, Florida, Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, Iowa, Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas and Nebraska.

The following is a series of statements made by a nerve specialist, Frederick Peterson, M. D., professor of psychiatry at Columbia University, expert of the New York Neurological Society, and author of Mental Diseases:— Alcohol is a poison. It is claimed by some that alcohol is a food. If so it is poisoned food.

The regular use of alcohol even in moderation often leads to chronic alcoholism. One is poisoned less rapidly by the use of alcohol than by drinking wines, gin, whiskey and brandy.

Alcohol is one of the most common causes of insanity, epilepsy, paralysis, diseases of the liver and stomach, dropsy and tuberculosis. A child who drinks poisons the children born to them, so that many die in infancy, while others grow up as idiots or epileptics.

A BAD BRUISE Often causes a good deal of trouble. The best cure is a prompt application of Nerviline, which instantly stops the pain, removes all blackness and discoloration. Nerviline is antiseptic—prevents blood poisoning. No liniment so strong, so penetrating, so swift to do its work as Nerviline. You miss a lot of comfort by not using Polson's Nerviline. For nearly fifty years it has been the standard family remedy of Canada.

HAMPTON AND SCOTT ACT Lakeside Road, Hampton Village, Nov. 29, 1907. Editor Times:— Sir:—I really feel ashamed to write so often, but when men won't bear the brunt and burden of the fight, then we women just must. You know that most women are blamed for having too much to say, but, Mr. Editor, I will be so brief that if you did not know my sex you would hardly guess. I have quite given up all hope of ever seeing Inspector Cusick here again. Thus far Scott Act has been an expensive thing for Kings County, as our debt through it is something over $10,000—while I think it is inspectors should be police officers, keen and alert.

I have hard work at times to control my feelings, when I hear people say that the station is just as bad as the Village, and they don't see why I should be so hard on it, possibly they are correct in what they say, nevertheless it is on the Village that I make my attack, largely, perhaps, because it has always been my home—but more particularly because I am informed that no man in it who knows the paths need go without a drink on Sunday morning. NORMA.

Toronto, Nov. 29.—L. Armstrong, a student at Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, fell out of a window early last from the ground yesterday. He alighted head first on a horse and escaped without serious injury, although he was unconscious for a while. The last will and testament of the late John D. Kelly, of Fairville, was admitted to probate this morning, and letters testamentary granted to Anna Maude Kelly, the executrix named in the will. The estate values at $1,900 personal property. Barnhill Ewing and Sanford, proctors.

Dr. Campbell then passed on to speak at some length on the love of country, the Scotchman's heritage, the welcome to Canada, faith in God, and then referred to Robert Burns and Sir Walter Scott.

School Banks.

Pittsburg, like New York, has become known far and wide as one of the spots where millions seem to spring up in a night, and apart from the money making chances of the two towns, there is a significant factor to be found in the savings department that permeates the public schools of both. In these two cities, more than any others—through school savings banks are scattered through over twenty states—this wonderful system of educating the child mind to thrift. It is inevitable that this training should have had its influence on the hundreds of thousands of children who have learned the science of thrift when their minds were in a plastic state. This thrift is more to the point than the greatest of "ologies" or "isms."

The foreign system of school savings banks was introduced very humbly into the United States in 1886. Today the system extends through 1029 schools located in 114 different towns in the United States and Canada, having nearly $20,000,000 that has been deposited in the premises of its small depositories. Hundreds of millions have been saved in the school bank system since its inception—and not one hint of graft or embezzlement therefrom. It is no negligible factor even now in the world of finance, while its moral and ethical influence can hardly be estimated in cold type.

J. H. Thiry, a Belgian immigrant, is the father of the American system. The young immigrant prospered and became one of the school commissioners in Long Island city, N. Y., where his thirty Belgian soul resulted at the vast sum that young schoolchildren spent so lavishly. He noticed that American children have more pocket money than leads in other lands, yet have not the same saving instinct. He, therefore, introduced the school bank system from abroad, and it was immediately successful. This system introduced 22 years ago, remains unchanged today.

Every schoolteacher, whose school adopts the system, becomes officially a branch bank, conducted under the supervision of the school principal. On Monday mornings the teacher calls the roll, asking each pupil if he or she has any money to deposit. If the child says "yes," he hands in a certain amount, and the sum is added opposite the child's name. A "ten-penny" nail means that one thousand nails weigh 10 pounds. The word "penny" in this case is a corruption of pound.

Handmade Pillow Covers.

By BEATRICE CAREY.

There was when the small dainty little pillow, covered with a sheer muslin or linen slip, and possibly with a faint tint of pink or blue, given by the inner slip cover, was used as a decorative touch. But within the last few years there has been quite a fad for "baby pillows" to be used as a decorative touch, but also by the older sisters and their mothers.

The old fashioned hot pillow, made in full size and stuffed to overflowing with feathers is now seldom seen in up-to-date bedrooms, and in a woman's room, in nine times out of ten you will find a dainty "baby pillow" placed on top of the roll or bolster.

The usual size of these pillows is eight by eight inches, although as is shown by a study of the drawing, various other sizes and shapes are in vogue.

Such pillows are also liked for the boudoir, or on divans and easy chairs, the fancy shapes and larger sizes usually being selected. For sleeping pillows, however, the square or oblong pillow of the size given, in fourteen by eighteen, or in twelve by fourteen size is needed. These sizes being generally kept in stock in the uncovered pillows in the shops. They cost from twenty-five cents to a dollar and a quarter according to the quality of down used for filling them. Very pretty little slip covers of sheer lawn, mull or handkerchief linen can also be bought ready made to fit either of these sizes, but the clever needleworker usually prefers to make her own slips, which is of course a decided saving of expense. A very clever plan is to use large linen handkerchiefs to make the covers, the hem stitching about the hem making a very nice finish. A monogram or the initials of the name in block or Old English letters looks very smart embroidered across the upper left hand corner and a dainty little design in all white embroidery or lace insertion can be added if the cover is to be especially elaborate. The square pillow shown in the sketch was made of two handkerchiefs, in large men's size, with a conventional ring design worked in each corner in white embroidery cotton. The edge was finished by a ruffled edge, and narrow ruffled lace. The heart shaped pillow was made with a lining cover of rose pink India silk, with tiny flowers and leaves worked in various pink and pale greens. This style is also charming in pale blue forget-me-nots, with a pale blue silk lining. The oblong pillow is another odd shape, this model also being finished by a ruffle, which is, however, only put on across the ends. In the square shaped pillows intended for use on the bed, the linen covers are generally made with a lapped opening all the way across the middle of the under side of the cover, this opening buttoning with three pearl buttons and buttonholes worked under a fly. The covers are easily adjusted, and it makes a better finish than would the opening at one end.

Ceilings and Cornices in House Decorating.

The inexperienced home maker is often at a loss to know how to improve a room which is to be re-decorated and "done over" but house decoration has taken such strides during the past few years, that very clever changes can be made in a room, without a great expenditure and with most successful results.

For instance, the effect of a heavily beamed ceiling can be obtained by anyone through a clever use of artificial beams and rafters, which, being made of wood, take wood stains perfectly. These artificial wood trim are really skeleton beams, so wrought that they have the effect of the hand-hewn beams of primitive times, but so light that they can be easily fastened to the ceiling. For a living room, dining room or hall these beamed ceilings are very handsome, and though when solidly made are very expensive, can be reproduced perfectly by the contrivance of this sort at a slight expense.

If a room is to be remodelled and another style of wall decoration is decided upon, it is often difficult to carry it out because the ceiling comes to a sharp right angle with the side wall. To remedy this fault a very inexpensive substitute for the plaster cove is a wire cloth that comes in widths from six inches up to thirty six inches. With it may be made either little covers or broad sweeps of coving. It is tacked to the ceiling and then bent to the wall in the required curve, and consists of wire net and cheese cloth covered with paper. At the point where it meets the ceiling and side wall it can be sanded paped down to join both surfaces smoothly, or the edges on both ceiling and wall can be finished with a little decorative beading. The cove can then be covered with paper or painted. This imitation cove is not expensive, costing from nine cents a foot up to about twenty-five cents a foot for the thirty six inch width—of course not including the labor involved.

These coves are generally used when the ceiling decoration is to extend down onto the side wall the frieze or the top border of the side wall extends up in a graceful curve to the ceiling.

Electricity and Its Manifestations.

Whether in city or country nowadays, every person comes in intimate contact with electrical devices—and he often comes in contact with "live" wires, too, so ubiquitous is this powerful "juice." Of the actual form of electricity, little is actually known even yet by scientists, and it is still greater in ignorance of the servant that carries him to work, lights his street, carries his voice, etc.

Electricity may be defined as a powerful physical agent that manifests itself in attractions, repulsions, heat, light, communications of matter, decomposition and other physical happenings. As to the exact nature, there are many theories and fluid, but so were heat and light in former times.

According to effects, electricity may be divided into two classes, the static or stored—which may be discharged from a thunder cloud or a Leyden jar; and the current or dynamic, which flows constantly between two poles on a wire circuit. Electricity, according to sources, is divided into three kinds, viz., frictional electricity, which is produced by rubbing; magneto electricity, produced by modern dynamos;

Inexpensive Gowns for Indoor Wear.

By DOROTHY DALE

The simple gowns for home wear, here illustrated, are all very easy of construction, but are excellent examples of good taste in indoor frocks for informal wear. It is really more economical in the long run and is certainly in much better taste to have one or two such frocks made each season; frocks which are rather unpretentious in style but suitable and appropriate, than to try to wear out one's half worn waste and gowns about the house.

No many women make this mistake and it should be remembered that to be really well gowned and well groomed, perfect neatness and freshness of apparel is necessary, and no matter how handsome a frock is, if it is not perfectly fresh looking, a good appearance is not to be expected.

Sometimes a dreary gown which has been partly worn, can be remodeled dyed or changed in style to be suitable for house wear, but as a rule it is much more advisable to buy material and have it made especially for such use. Even very inexpensive fabrics can be used, if the color is good; plain material such as a stripe or dot very simple design such as a stripe or dot being preferable to figured fabrics. Wool materials are usually selected for cold weather wear, the sheer voiles, soft silk cashmires, all wool challis, barges, poplins and light weight cloths all being desirable. Washable flannel is also very attractive, but it only looks well in the best qualities and therefore is by no means cheap. The double width cloths are a good choice and are inexpensive and smart little frocks are made of all wool challis, in plain tones. For instance one little dress recently seen was of plain dark blue challis, made with a detachable yoke and undersleeves of fine allover embroidered net. Narrow tucks and half inch wide flat braid in a mixture of black and dark blue trimmed the bodice of the gown, the skirt being untrimmed, except for stitched plaits about the hips. A great many of the newest home gowns are made with the skirts in sweep length, especially for older women, but the comfortable short skirt, made just long enough to escape the ground, is also still much in evidence.

Another very effective model is shown among the sketches, in the group drawing showing two figures. This gown was of amythyst cloth, and was designed for a woman of middle age. The bodice was laid in plaits which were stitched to yoke depth, and had a sort of waist coat effect of the same cloth in front. Stitched straps were also used as trimming, and covered buttons of the cloth. The sleeves were in three-quarter length, and the yoke was of mull and Irish lace. The skirt was long and trailing and was laid in small plaits about the hips, and finished about the bottom by a deep hem.

The costume pictured in the one column cut was of surah silk, the bodice made with a rounded "form" outlining the yoke, which was finished on either edge with thin strappings of taffeta. The form in the model was hand embroidered in silk to match the material, the design being carried out very effectively after the style of Wallachian work, which is done almost entirely in button-hole stitch. The two little frocks for small girls pictured will almost explain themselves after a study of the drawing. The flannel in light blue, the scallops about the yoke and on the cuffs being done in embroidery silk to match. There was also a simple design in eyelet-hole embroidery as trimming. The arrangement of the box plaits and the straw belt was also good. The "gumpe" was of tucked lawn and lace.

The little girl's coat pictured in one of the small cuts was of serge trimmed with the yoke or gumpe, the scallops about the yoke and collar. A little soutache braiding or plaid silk could be substituted for the embroidery if desired. For morning wear a great many of the frocks seen for indoor wear both for children and for older people are made of material which is washable, so that if light colors are deemed more becoming, light blues, grays, etc., can be used, the gown being so trimmed that it can be washed. The manufacturers have turned out this season some very good looking materials that will stand the test of soap and water successfully, among them being the new washable poplins, wash flannels and the all wool challis. Such gowns are made with the yoke or gumpe and the undersleeves detachable, or finished so that they can be neatly hooked or buttoned into place.

A HOME OF COMFORT

Designed by Chas. S. Sedgwick, Architect, Minneapolis

There are certain features in the well arranged home that the essential for the comfort and convenience of those who are to live in it.

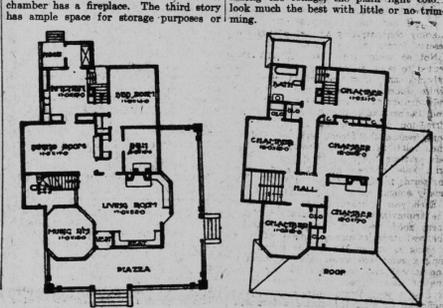

The house that we are considering is simple in treatment, not over large but embracing all the necessary belongings to a complete home. The vestibule entrance in the centre opens into a large spacious living room with fireplace and a projected bay window. The latter has a glazed door opening on to a large piazza that extends across the front and on one side. At the left of the vestibule entrance and opening into the living room is a music room that may also be appropriately used for a reception room. From the rear of the living room is a door connecting with a private hall way, this opens into a very convenient and well located den; here are also a fireplace and book-shelves, also ample space for desk and lounge. At the rear of this hall is a family bedroom and two ample closets. At the left of the living room is an ample stairway leading to the second-story and beneath the same is a stairway leading down to a large amusement room under the front portion of the house, making a splendid play room for children or billiard room. Back of the stairs is a convenient toilet room. The dining room opens off from the living room with sliding doors and back entrance, rear porch and room for a refrigerator, also rear stairs with basement entrance.

The second floor is comprised of five large chambers, each one provided with an ample clothes closet. The main front chamber has a fireplace. The third story has ample space for storage purposes or can be finished for servant's room.

The finish of the first floor is of hardwood and of the second story pine. The general size is 28 ft. 6 in. by 43 ft. 6 in. The estimated cost, exclusive of plumbing and plumbing is $8,000.

The corner of this house is designed to be covered with narrow siding, mitred at the outer angles. The most noticeable feature of the exterior is the very broad bay window with rock faced stone, giving a very rugged and substantial appearance. The roof is medium high pitch with a curve sweep at the eaves and wide projection to the cornice, giving a fine shadow effect. The house has a broad liberal appearance and is very complete in all its appointments.

If the roof is covered with black slate the side walls will look well in a light bluish gray tone with white for cornices, columns and casings or a very light cream color would look exceedingly well with the dark slate roof. If the roof is shingled, it will look well in dark green stain and the walls and casings all painted white with green blinds on the outside in case that blinds are used. The painting of the exterior of any home depends largely upon its location and general surroundings. As a rule, for the best effect, the house with very light trimmings always looks well when the house stands in the open with very little foliage about it, and dark colors look especially well at the sea shore but if the house sets well back among the foliage, the plain light color, look much the best with little or no staining.

For The Thanksgiving Table.

By SARA CRANFORD.

Thanksgiving is in most families as much a day of reunion for the different branches of the family as it is Christmas, and generally the Thanksgiving dinner is a most important function. Of course, the table decorations can be as elaborate as good taste will allow, but even a very simple table decoration can be made very effective if the plan of treatment is well thought out.

Either fruit or flowers or both may be used as a centerpiece, a very pretty table scheme, however, which is especially appropriate to the day, being here described. First cover the table with a fine damask cloth, placing a handsome lace or embroidered centerpiece in the center. On this place a high dish filled with very handsome bunches of grapes, the dish being either of glass or silver. If the dish is in the shape of a basket, with a handle, such as a silver cake basket, all talk of silver. Yellow tulle may be tied to the handle in a pretty bow, twining the tulle about the standard of the basket and about the edge; on this placing fine fruit of various kinds and ferns.

If artificial light is to be used have yellow paper or chrysanthemum shades over the candles which are placed in the sticks or branched candelabra of silver or glass.

For place cards, very pretty designs can be purchased in the stationary and talent stores, but if one has any talent in colors, small turkeys with bright red tops, small turkeys with bright red tops, and a few dried reeds for the Thanksgiving season are here given:

Southern Gumbo.—Put a tablespoonful of lard in a porcelain-lined boiler; also an onion and fry it in the lard. When the onion is a nice brown add one quart of sliced okra and fry until the okra will not separate from the spoon. Stir constantly. Pour half a gallon of hot water in the boiler and let it boil down to a quart. Soak three large tomatoes, peel them, cut into small pieces and put in the soup. Next sprinkle with salt, pepper and flour the wings, back, feet and neck of a chicken and fry them a light brown. Lift them from the frying pan with a fork and put them into the gumbo half an hour before serving.

Curled Celery.—Cut stalks of white, thick celery into two-inch lengths. With a sharp knife make parallel cuts on each end, then cut at right angles. Throw into a pan of ice water for a couple of hours to curl. Drain, shake dry and arrange on a low dish.

Simple and Digestible Cabbage Salad.—Crisp the cabbage in ice water then shave or chop fine and dress to taste with salt, pepper, olive oil and lemon juice.

Cheese Crisps to Eat with the Salad.—Butter salted wafers, ever so lightly, then spread with a mixture of grated cheese, a speck of mustard and a dash of tobacco sauce; toast in the oven and serve hot.

Dry Philadelphia Stuffing for Roast Turkey.—This best of dressings is never heavy and soggy, as wet stuffings are apt to be, but when served falls apart like well-cooked rice. To make it use one and a half quarts of stale bread finely crumbled. Season with two even teaspoonfuls of salt, a heaping teaspoonful of pepper, two teaspoonfuls each summer savory and minced parsley and a teaspoonful sage. A little minced onion or onion juice may be used if preferred. Rub half of a cup of butter through the breadcrumbs, and if made the day before using, as it should be, cover with a napkin wrung out of cold water to keep it fresh until the next day. This dressing becomes sufficiently moist with the juices of the turkey while it is roasting.

White Frozen Plum Pudding is made one cupful of sugar and one cupful of water, cooked until it thickens, then poured slowly over the whites of three eggs and beaten until stiff; when this is beaten thoroughly and is cold add one pint of whipped cream, one teaspoonful of vanilla and one-half cupful each of seeded raisins and currants, English walnuts and almonds and candied cherries. The currants and raisins should be plumped in boiling water. Four this mixture at once into a mold, cover with paraffin paper, and the cover, seal with lard around the edge, to prevent salt water from creeping in, pack in ice and rock salt, and leave it three or four hours to ripen, then remove from the mold, place it on a cut-plaid round dish and garnish with holly. If a round bomb mold is used, it will look quite like a snowball, especially if the fruit is kept well toward the center.

Serve with a sauce made of bananas, as follows: Boil one cupful of granulated sugar with two water until it thickens, pour this into the well-beaten yolks of two eggs and the mashed pulp of six ripe bananas and enough lemon juice to give flavor. This sauce may be used hot and passed after the plum pudding has been cut and served, or it may be served cold, but is better hot.

Minced—Stone and cut up 3 pounds of raisins, well wash and dry 3 pounds of currants; peel, core and chop finely 2 pounds of apples; chop very small 2 1/2 pounds of sweet, shred and chop up 7 ounces of citron, 2 ounces of candied lemon peel and 3 ounces of sweet almond; 3 pounds of sugar, the juice and grate of three lemons, one nutmeg, a handful of bread crumbs, and half a pint each of brandy and port wine. Mix these all well together, adding in at the last the brandy and port wine. Put all into a stone jar and cover down tightly.

Simple and Digestible Cabbage Salad.—Crisp the cabbage in ice water then shave or chop fine and dress to taste with salt, pepper, olive oil and lemon juice.

Cheese Crisps to Eat with the Salad.—Butter salted wafers, ever so lightly, then spread with a mixture of grated cheese, a speck of mustard and a dash of tobacco sauce; toast in the oven and serve hot.

Dry Philadelphia Stuffing for Roast Turkey.—This best of dressings is never heavy and soggy, as wet stuffings are apt to be, but when served falls apart like well-cooked rice. To make it use one and a half quarts of stale bread finely crumbled. Season with two even teaspoonfuls of salt, a heaping teaspoonful of pepper, two teaspoonfuls each summer savory and minced parsley and a teaspoonful sage. A little minced onion or onion juice may be in the score of her adversary, the game resulting 5-0. Yale had always looked forward to the annual game with West Point as the best practice game on her schedule...

As the football season of 1907 approaches, it is difficult to find a more interesting and exciting sport...

Not so many years ago Harvard contented to take up the University of Pennsylvania and after several struggles...

Even ranking in social importance, with that between Yale and Harvard, since the latter game is purely a contest for supremacy...

After the Penn-Indian game the stock of the Redskins, whose coaches had been all but crowded out of our map...

The game played on November 2 resulted in a glorious victory for Princeton and upset the calculations of all who had figured on the outcome of the game...

and as well. The consensus of opinion among the experts is that Yale will break even in this dual struggle, losing to Princeton and winning from Harvard...

Each year a schedule was arranged by the triumvirate best calculated to give them good, fast practice preparatory to the real struggles among themselves...

Football has undergone a marvelous change within the past year or two, and to this more than anything else the smaller college teams owe their success this year...

When the eleven lined up this year it was to find that in nearly every team they lacked they found foes worthy of their steel...

The game put up by the Carlisle Indians proved a veritable revelation to all who witnessed it and caused cold chills to chase up and down the spines of the coaches of the various big colleges...

To a Yale player belongs the credit of having developed the Redskin team. Warner is the coach employed at Carlisle this year and never in football history has a team made such rapid strides as this in a single year...

From now on Princeton will concentrate all her energies on the Yale game, while the sons of Eli will not only have to prepare for the struggle with the Tigers, but will have to build up her fences in such a manner as to be prepared to drub Harvard...

ALD. BAXTER WILL AID THE RECORDER

He Gives His Services Gratuitously as Junior Counsel in Money Suit.

At a special meeting of the water and sewerage board yesterday afternoon, an offer from Ald. Baxter to act gratuitously as junior counsel to the recorder in the suit which B. Mooney & Sons are bringing against the city, was accepted. It was announced that McArthur & McVey had made a draft on the city for $10,000 part of their claim for the return of 10 per cent held by the city on a section two of the water extension. It was decided to notify the contractors that under a section of the contract the city was empowered to retain the money against possible claims on section 2 by Mooney & Sons.

R. G. Murray was heard with reference to his claim as a riparian owner at Loch Lomond. It was decided that H. G. Hunter should take levels in the locality to ascertain if the rise in the water was due to the dam at Lake Robertson. Ald. Frink occupied the chair and Ald. McDonald, Kelley, Sprout, Pickett, McGowan, Lantain, Bullock, Christie and Baxter were present with P. A. Harbour the consulting engineer, Mr. Ilfuter, the director and common clerk.

ACADIA'S PRESIDENT

Rev. Dr. Hutchinson Talks of the Progress of the Wolfville Institution.

Rev. Dr. William B. Hutchinson, president of Acadia College, Wolfville, is in the city, the guest of R. G. Halcy. Speaking of the work at the educational institution of which he is the head, he told that the fund for the science building, which was started about four years ago, by a contribution of $20,000 from John B. Rockefeller was very nearly completed, the end of December probably seeing its close. The amount is $230,000. The outlook for the university was never brighter. His visit here was largely for the purpose of getting acquainted with the people of St. John as many students attend the college from here than from any other outside of Wolfville.

On Monday evening a reception in Dr. Hutchinson's honor will be held in German street Baptist church at which members of the congregation and Baptist pastors and their wives will meet Acadia's president.

Tomorrow he will preach in some of the city Baptist churches.

THE EVERY DAY CLUB

W. M. Campbell Will Address the Sunday Afternoon Meeting, and J. Harry King in the Evening.

W. M. Campbell will be the speaker at the temperance meeting in the Every Day Club hall tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. There will be an excellent musical programme. Men are specially invited.

At 8.30 in the evening there will begin a meeting at which there will be music by well known vocalists and an address on temperance by J. Harry King.

On Wednesday evening next the Rev. Charles F. Keane will address a men's meeting in the club rooms on Life in the Slums of London. Mr. Keane was formerly a co-worker with Rt. Hon. John Burns, the English labor leader, and also did mission work in East London slums. He was also a missionary among criminals and was spiritual adviser at no less than twenty-eight executions. His theory of London slum life is absorbingly interesting.

ST. JOHN AND THE M. P. A. A.

The St. John Sun is to be commended for its attitude towards the M. P. A. A. athletes form themselves into an amateur association. Years ago when St. John A. A. were in existence the sister city were as strong English labor leaders and did mission work in East London slums. He was also a missionary among criminals and was spiritual adviser at no less than twenty-eight executions. His theory of London slum life is absorbingly interesting.

It is a pity that the Recorder is able to use a St. John paper as a weapon in defence of the M. P. A. A. when we have so many instances of the inability of that association to govern sports under their control.

The Recorder might be enlightened on this question of New Brunswick union. While the fight between the A. P. A. and C. A. A. U. forms a reason for the moment who is not advisable to form an N. B. union, the feeling of the M. P. A. A. clubs here is that where professionalism is flourishing under the eyes of the M. P. A. A. they will not support themselves against a composite N. B.-N.S.-P.E.I. team, this from the hockey standpoint at least. And the way things are run, or rather running themselves, one looks to see an all-Canada combination here.

There is no reason why there should not be as to this city's interest in M. P. A. A. affairs, as has been told many times, our experience in connection with the Montreal investigation, not to say Bryce's case, makes it impossible to see these things, however, were not within the time of the Sun man.
