Deutschland Again Is In American Port

German Commercial Submarine Reaches New London Has Cargo of Chemicals and Drugs - Half Million Dollars Worth of Material Ready for Her To Take Back--Is Closely Guarded

New London, Conn., Nov. 1.—The German merchant submarine Deutschland arrived in the harbor here early this morning. Captain Koenig said the Deutschland left Bremen on October 10 and made the trip without special incident. The crew comprises twenty-five men. The Deutschland appeared in the outer harbor a little after midnight and proceeded to the dock of the Eastern Forwarding Company. She was said to have a large cargo of chemicals.

The Deutschland tied up at a berth prepared for her here, at 2.55 o'clock this morning. She entered the lower harbor a little after midnight, coming in by the race at the entrance into Long Island Sound.

A return cargo for the Deutschland, consisting mainly of crude rubber and surgical supplies, valued at more than $500,000, has been ready on the pier of the Eastern Forwarding Company for several weeks.

Guards from the crew of the Willahad and private detectives employed by the company keep all visitors at a distance. To prevent the submarine being reached by water from under the piers, the piling directly around the reserved space is heavily wired and the wires electrically connected with an alarm gong in the office of the company.

Capt. Koenig said that he had expected to leave Bremen on October 1, but that his boat was damaged in a collision and forced to put back for repairs which delayed her sailing for ten days.

Gave Up Expecting Bremen. For several weeks, the Eastern Forwarding Company, agents for her owners, had a tug each night of Montauk Point, ready to meet the long overdue Bremen, but the tug was withdrawn some time ago. It was evident that the company had some warning of the Deutschland's arrival, however, for a tug was engaged and Lloyd steamers accompanied by the health officer, steamed out to meet the submarine.

The North German Lloyd steamer Willahad, which had been at her dock here for some weeks awaiting the arrival of a German submarine freighter, let her searchlight play on the water, marking the path by which the Deutschland traveled to her wharf. The Deutschland carried clearance papers for Baltimore or any Atlantic port.

The boat was no sooner moored than she was screened from sight by a pontoon carrying a high fire crew. The quarters were awaiting them.

Captain Koenig said that, except for unusually rough weather, the trip across had been uneventful. The Deutschland's cargo is said to consist mainly of chemicals and medicines.

Washington, Nov. 1.—A board of war experts probably will be directed to inspect the submarine Deutschland at New London, to make certain that no secret equipment has been placed aboard the submarine during her stay in Germany, thus altering her status as a merchant carrier established to the satisfaction of the state department when she visited Baltimore some months ago.

MORE UNCOVERING OF CONDITIONS IN SOME CITY HOMES

Revelations Out of Police Court Case in Which Aged Woman's Premises Were Wrecked

The dark side of city life was revealed in the police court this morning. Four children representing three families, a boy of six, one of eight, one of ten and a girl twelve years old, had entered the premises of an aged and very poor woman who lives in Erin street, during her absence, and had broken open a trunk, scattered its contents over the floor, threw butter and oatmeal away, tore down curtains, threw the bed-dishes over the floor, poured oil in the stove and set a match to it, and in fact wrecked the premises.

The magistrate ordered the parents to pay $9 damages. In regard to the oldest child, a boy of six, the magistrate said, "The boy of six, one of eight, one of ten and a girl twelve years old, had entered the premises of an aged and very poor woman who lives in Erin street, during her absence, and had broken open a trunk, scattered its contents over the floor, threw butter and oatmeal away, tore down curtains, threw the bed-dishes over the floor, poured oil in the stove and set a match to it, and in fact wrecked the premises."

With regard to a family whose children appear in the case, their home is a shanty, all living in three rooms. The boy of ten has been only one week in school since the beginning of the term. When in court he was in rags and in his bare feet, his clothes pinned around him.

Another family involved consists of parents and six children, from one to ten years of age. The boy of ten has been only one week in school since the beginning of the term. When in court he was in rags and in his bare feet, his clothes pinned around him.

The child from the third family involved was a boy of six, and he broke open the trunk with an axe and also chopped up a lot of bread belonging to the old lady. He was not in court.

The police and Children's Aid society are co-operating to deal with these cases. From Monday evening at six till Tuesday morning at ten, eleven complaints regarding neglected children were reported to the secretary, Rev. W. R. Robinson, and these included some cases of absolute destitution.

On Tuesday Mr. Robinson and Dr. Melvin visited the home and had two crippled children removed to the hospital, and the mother and five other children will probably have to be taken to the Municipal home. The father in this case has a long jail record and never supported his family.

Tarrytown, N.Y., Nov. 1.—Wallace Frederick, 21, a cripple from a cradle, infantile paralysis since infancy, at 2 o'clock in the morning dragged himself to a fire alarm box and by giving the alarm was able to save six children in the apartment house in which he lived.

Freeland was aroused by smoke in his room and in his night clothes crawled downstairs and to the box. The fire was burning briskly when the firemen arrived, and the six children had to be carried out. The fire was soon under control.

Germans Repulsed at Saily-Saillisel — Enemy Driven Back Near Camperlung and Suffer Heavy Losses

Wholesale Murder. London, Nov. 1.—The Chronicle says: "Further details regarding the torpedoing of the Greek ship Angelika shows that another crime against the usages of civilized warfare must be added to the ghastly history of German submarine warfare. The vessel left Piræus at 7 o'clock in the evening, having on board 150 officers and men, who were going to Saloniki to join the national defense movement. After nightfall, the Angelika was sailing off Eleves with all her gunboats, but as she was sailing near the shore the captain had time to turn her head toward land and beach her, thus saving many lives."

It is believed fifty persons perished as the result of the explosion of the torpedo. Another Greek vessel came along, but the submarine did not stop to warn her not to go to the assistance of the Angelika under pain of being torpedoed. The lack of help resulted in the loss of lives which might have been saved."

Berlin, Nov. 1.—Thirty men were drowned when the Angelika was sunk. THE CASE OF THE ROWANMORE London, Oct. 31.—The British steamer Rowanmore from Baltimore for Liverpool, sunk last week by a submarine, attempted to escape from the attacking undersea boat, but the latter continued to shell the ship after she stopped, according to affidavits from members of the crew, procured by the American consul in Liverpool. The principal details of the sinking extracted from the affidavits are:

The Rowanmore stopped his engine, and hoisted signals that he intended to abandon the ship, but the submarine continued to shell her as the boats were being lowered and when they were in the water the occupants were drenched by spray from falling shells.

"Drastic Action" By U. S. Some Way Off

No Official Opinion Yet on Sinking of the Marina — American in Crew Sure Two Submarines Took Part

Washington, Nov. 1.—A week or more may elapse before the United States government can form an official opinion on the sinking of the British steamer Marina and Wovenmoo by German submarines. This became evident today. The American embassy at Berlin has been instructed to obtain informally and with all haste possible the German version of the attacks. The submarine did not return to their bases for several days, however, and transmission of the commanders' reports would require some time. Until these are available it was not believed the Washington government would take any drastic action.

ST. JOHN SOLDIER AND PET DOG WOUNDED ON THE SAME DAY

Pte Klonitsky Had Brindle Along With Him Through All Fighting—Now Near Home

Quebec, Nov. 1.—An amusing incident connected with the arrival of a party of convalescents here last night was the appearance of a brindle bull dog which comes back wounded. The dog was smuggled over the firing line by Private Klonitsky, of the 4th Battalion, first contingent, who enlisted at St. John, N. B., and brought his pet dog with him. He eluded the vigilance of the officers by putting the dog in his kit bag when leaving England for the front. The dog was wounded on the same day as the owner, May 24 last.

MAJORITY FOR THE ANTI'S SLIGHTLY REDUCED

Conscription Matter Causes a Stake-up in Australian Politics

Melbourne, Australia, Nov. 1.—The anti-conscription lead in the balloting on compulsory military service is only slightly reduced in the latest returns, which shows the following results: Against conscription, 966,000; for conscription, 888,000. It will be a close race time before the actual result is known.

The newspapers are discussing reconciliation of the conscriptionists and anti-conscriptionists and laborites but the future depends entirely upon the attitude of Premier Hughes. The political situation is tense.

At Sydney about twenty members of the state parliament have withdrawn their support of W. A. Holman, premier of New South Wales, and formed a new party while the minister for labor and industry, John Estell, has resigned his portfolio owing to differences over conscription. At Brisbane, Senator Bamford has been expelled from the labor movement because he supported conscription.

The resignations of Albert Gardiner, vice-president of the executive council; A. J. Russell, assistant minister of marine, and M. Higgs, minister of the treasury, have been accepted. It is said they had tendered their resignations, owing to their opposition to conscription.

LIEUTENANT BERTRAM SMITH HOME FROM WAR

Popular St. John Officer Had Been Struggling With Illness—Is Going Back

Lieutenant Bertram Smith, formerly of the staff of Macaulay Brothers, returned here, arrived in St. John on Monday evening, much to the surprise of many, as it was not until today that it became generally known that he was here.

Lieutenant Smith was overseas with the 50th Battalion when the outbreak broke up he was transferred to the 26th Nova Scotia Battalion as bombing officer which position he held until wounded in the right eye on July 19 last at St. Etol. He is home on a three months' leave, but does not intend to remain in Canada for that length of time as he expects to return to England where he will undergo an operation on his eye.

During his twelve months at the front he went through three of practically the heaviest engagements since the outbreak of the war, including the battle of Hooge, St. Etol and Hill 60. In the battle of the Hooge the Canadians suffered several thousand casualties, and it was at that time that the bombing officer, at least two Germans struck the fell. In that instance the bombing officer did great work, including the trenching and cleared them, also dug out the trenches and held them.

Lieutenant Smith is of the opinion that the morale of the Germans is broken in several instances, since the outbreak of the war, including the trenching and cleared them, also dug out the trenches and held them.

On Tuesday Mr. Robinson and Dr. Melvin visited the home and had two crippled children removed to the hospital, and the mother and five other children will probably have to be taken to the Municipal home. The father in this case has a long jail record and never supported his family.

J. HARVEY LACKIE KILLED IN ACTION

A despatch was received by Mrs. James H. Lackie of Upton, telling that her son J. Harvey Lackie had been killed in action on September 16, 1915.

Mr. Lackie is a member of the 26th Battalion and trained in St. John until he was wounded overseas in 1915, when unfortunately Harvey was on sick leave. But as soon as he could get the medical pass he again enlisted, this time with the 26th Regiments. When this battalion went to England Harvey was included in reinforcements sent to the front. So he was once more quite near the 26th, but had only one very short interview with his brother before the wounding of the latter.

GREEKS ARE WARRING AMONG THEMSELVES

New York, Nov. 1.—The Tribune's London correspondent cables that an encounter between Venizelist troops and Greek royalist forces yesterday at Guida, when several soldiers were wounded on both sides, has drawn fresh attention to the Greek situation.

The position of the Entente Powers is that they have no desire to precipitate anything approaching civil war in Greece, but they are willing to recognize the Venizelos government wherever it appears to be dominant. The likelihood remains that a repetition of this incident will stir up a conflagration at any moment and upset all the plans of the allies.

Han Brutality

The submarine then headed for the lifeboats, while one of its officers shouted "Get out of the way or we'll run you down!" and reversed the engines. The boats, passed them and then turned back, the commander calling out: "I am sorry for you, but you are very foolish. You will probably all drown."

The captain of the Rowanmore was ordered on board the submarine but declined to obey, although the command was thrice given, until a revolver was pointed at his head. After the captain had been taken on board, the submarine fired a torpedo at the Rowanmore, which sank. The submarine then submerged and was not seen again. About three hours later the crew was picked up. Two white Americans were on board. They were George Murphy, of 140 Jefferson avenue, Brooklyn, and Albert Sessler, of 42 Shawmut street, Boston. Five Filipinos were also on board.

POSITIVE AS TO TWO SUBMARINES

Cork, via London, Nov. 1.—Fifteen Americans who reached Cork Tuesday night with other members of the crew of the Marina, are today under the care of the American consul.

"I saw two submarines," said Robert Preston, one of the crew, "while I was getting into the boat of Mr. Smith, (the only surviving officer). The second explosion came after we were clear of the ship. The first torpedo struck the vessel a tremendous list. The second righted it and shook it from stem to stern and broke it so that it sank immediately."

"It is believed fifty persons perished as the result of the explosion of the torpedo. Another Greek vessel came along, but the submarine did not stop to warn her not to go to the assistance of the Angelika under pain of being torpedoed. The lack of help resulted in the loss of lives which might have been saved."

Ever thought of endowing your home?

It's very easy to do it.

Suppose—having purchased a house and effected a mortgage on it—you should die suddenly!

Wouldn't your wife and family have a hard time meeting the interest on the mortgage and discharging the principal sum when due?

Not so, however, if you were insured under an Imperial Endowment policy for the amount of the mortgage.

A small amount invested each year in such a policy will enable your heirs to pay the mortgage immediately after your death, even if it should occur next week.

On the other hand, if you should live until the policy matures you can pay off the indebtedness yourself out of the amount of the Endowment.

Have you a mortgage on your home? Then let us show you how you can make sure of its repayment whether you live or die.

Write today—tomorrow you may be uninsurable.

THE APPLE FAIR IS WELL OPENED

New Brunswick's third apple exhibition in St. Andrew's rink was formally opened to the public last evening and the attendance on the opening night was such as to justify the belief that the exhibition will be generously patronized during the next two days. Everything was in running order when the doors were thrown open at 8 o'clock. The exhibits were all in their place and they made a splendid display. On all sides and on tables reaching for the full length of the rink apples of all varieties and grades, all grown in the province of New Brunswick, were displayed and it was indeed a source of surprise to the many patrons to realize that they were all native produce.

Shortly after 8 o'clock, the programme arranged for the evening was put under way. Owing to the fact that the 160th band was unable to attend the band of the 180th Battalion was present and played several selections. The crowd then assembled around the platform and speeches preparatory to the opening of the exhibition were delivered by Mayor Hayes, Hon. J. A. Murray, C. W. Baxter, fruit commissioner for Quebec, and Senator Thorne.

H. H. Smith, president of the New Brunswick Fruit Growers' Association, was in the chair, the others on the platform being Hon. J. A. Murray, J. B. Daiget, secretary of agriculture; H. P. Timmerman, industrial commissioner for Quebec; Geo. A. Hazley, M. P.; J. W. Jos. Likely, Dr. D. Townsend, H. W. Woods, M. P.; W. W. Hubbard, Senator Thorne, Mayor Hayes, M. E. Armstrong, C. W. Baxter, fruit commissioner for Quebec, and S. L. Peppas.

Mayor's Welcome.

After a few graceful, introductory remarks, the chairman called upon Mayor Hayes. His worship, after expressing his pleasure at being present, made reference to the excellent display of provincial fruit which was to be seen on all sides and said that he was glad to see a hearty welcome to the interests responsible for the exhibition.

After a selection by the band, the chairman introduced the Hon. J. A. Murray. Mr. Murray said that he had not any set speech for the occasion. He referred to expressions of admiration and praise and heard on all sides from people who had visited the exhibition and had thus been able to see for themselves the possibilities of apple growing in New Brunswick.

Mr. Murray said that for more than a year the government has been trying to secure a competent man to take hold of the live stock and dairying branch of New Brunswick's agricultural life. It was very difficult to get such a man who could transmit to the farmers of this province the knowledge of proper methods, but he was glad to say that the government has secured the services of Professor Mitchell, Manitoba, for this purpose and he will emphasize the importance of that department as he believed it deserved to be emphasized.

C. W. Baxter, fruit commissioner for Quebec, was present owing to the absence of Commissioner Johnson, of Ontario who was to have spoken. Mr. Baxter delivered Mr. Johnson's message. He said that there was no reason why apples could not be grown in New Brunswick as well as in any other part of Canada, not only apples but soft fruits as well. At present the province is now growing sufficient fruit to provide for its own needs but, he added, if the people of New Brunswick enter into the fruit raising industry with the same spirit as has been shown in other parts of Canada, not only sufficient fruit could be raised here to supply the home market but also enough to make the province an important factor in the world's market.

Senator Thorne was next called on. He referred to the efforts made during the local exhibitions to have displays of New Brunswick grown fruit in order to stimulate the industry in New Brunswick. A few years ago, he said, one or two small tables would have been sufficient to hold all the fruit that was on exhibition which was a marked contrast with the enormous quantity and variety of fruit which is being shown in the rink today. He referred to the exploded theory that New Brunswick was not suited, climatically, for fruit raising and he gave great praise to the fruit growers for the development they have carried on during the past few years. Fruit raising has developed into a scientific pursuit and knowledge and experience is necessary for success in it. He also urged that the fruit growers' association interest themselves in the methods of marketing their fruit which is now necessary.

Hon. Mr. Murray again rose to make announcement of the good work being done by the Women's Institutes. There were many boxes of apples at the exhibition, he said, which are the property of the government of New Brunswick. After the exhibition, he added, this fruit would be shipped to London for distribution among the hospitals there, particular attention being paid to the hospitals in which are soldiers from this province.

THE COST OF LIVING

Ottawa, Oct. 31.—That any attempt to fix the values of food products by arbitration would result in innumerable complications, the effect of which would be a slowing up of the stream of food supplies being sent across the water to the allied countries, was the statement made tonight at a meeting of the Ontario Women's Institute, gathered in convention by the Hon. Martin Burrell, minister of agriculture. Mr. Burrell's address contained references to many important problems.

In dealing with the question of the high cost of living, he referred to cold storage plants as more beneficial to the country than injurious. He said they were being investigated at present by the government, and if it was found that unnecessary conditions existed tending to hoist food prices, the government would apply a remedy.

Ottawa, Oct. 31.—The labor department's October publication of the cost of living figures shows that the average weekly budget of a working man's family for staple foods, fuel, lighting and rent, had by the end of September risen to $15.01 as compared with $14.68 for August last, $18.07 for September of last year and $18 for September of 1911. Rent is the only item which shows any downward tendency. The average weekly cost of rent is now put at $4.08 as compared with $4.68 in September of 1914 and $4.75 in September 1918. Food

GOVERNMENT ACTION NEEDED

The Dominion government ought to take definite action to prevent the alarming increase in the cost of living. The people of England, who have to import such enormous quantities of food supplies, are more fortunate today in the matter of prices than are the people of Canada.

The British casualties in October were 119,549, compared with 127,045 in August. The total British casualties on the Somme have been 414,202. The daily average has been decreased since August. One news agency estimates British casualties since the war began to have been over 1,200,000.

THE PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN

Next Tuesday the people of the United States will choose a President. Whether Mr. Wilson will be re-elected, or Mr. Hughes will carry the country is a matter of so much doubt that neither side today is giving material odds in the betting.

The presidential campaign has been conducted with great vigor on both sides, and the outcome will be awaited with great interest in Canada, with special reference to its effect upon the trade relations of the two countries, and upon tariff discussion in this country, where the high protectionists are beginning to weigh the chances of a new propaganda.

The decision to have a series of meetings throughout the city to discuss the new assessment scheme, greatly to be commended. The citizens meet all too seldom to discuss civic affairs, which touch so closely the interests of all.

Recruiting in the city has been more brisk of late, but there is still great need of men to fill the ranks of the waiting battalions.

AN INDEPENDENT WITNESS

Just a few kind words from Saturday Night, Toronto, on the subject of recruiting and the recent letters exchanged by Sir Robert Borden and Sir Wilfrid Laurier:

The attempt on the part of Sir Robert Borden to hand a lemon to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in the shape of a seat on the National Service Board, has had little or no effect on the general situation. As often pointed out in these columns, the possibilities of any success crowning a movement of this sort, at this late date, are very doubtful indeed.

Subaltern Who is Only "Mister." Every man in the army, from the smallest drummer up, may describe himself on his visiting card (should he choose to sport one) according to his military rank, save and except the subaltern. The gallant subaltern is lieutenant only in official documents.

The commercial submarine Deutschland has again crossed the Atlantic, and arrived at an American port. The report that she had been destroyed was therefore unfounded, and Berlin reports that the U-58 has returned safely

LIGHTER VEIN.

Patron—"I say, waitress, is this peach or apple pie?" Waitress—"Can't you tell by the taste?" "No." "Then what difference does it make?"

Mother—"Why don't you yawn when he stays too long? He'll take the hint and go." Daughter—"I did, and he told me what beautiful teeth I had."

Charlie—"Your wife doesn't seem to improve in health." Harry—"No; as fast as she gains strength she uses it up telling people what is the matter with her."

"So your doctor has ordered you to give up smoking, drinking, and late hours. You'll have to change your entire mode of living, won't you?" "Not much, I won't, I'll change doctors."

Little Willie—"Pa, I'll be awfully glad when I get old enough to do as I please." Pa—"Naturally, my son; and when you reach that age it's nuts to do nothing you'll get married and not do it."

He—"There goes the honestest girl in the world." She—"How's that?" He—"She won't even take a kiss without returning it."

She Had No Appetite, and Her Complexion Was Pale and Sallow.

How many parents realize the strain which going to school means to the child who is naturally nervous and of delicate health? You see them come from the schools daily with pale faces, many wearing glasses, and looking tired and worn. At home they are irritable, do not sleep well at nights, and are upset by a little extra excitement.

N. H. S. Ladies' Association

Mrs. John A. McAvity the New President Annual Meeting Yesterday Afternoon

Mrs. John A. McAvity was elected president of the ladies' association of the Natural History Society at the annual meeting yesterday afternoon, succeeding Mrs. John V. Ellis. Encouraging reports were received, but the year was quieter than for some time, due largely to the concentration of effort for patriotic purposes. Committees were appointed to pursue an energetic campaign of education during the coming year. Two lecture courses, three invitation lectures, the first bird house competition held in New Brunswick were successfully carried through last year, besides various smaller undertakings. Reports were submitted by the recording secretary, Mrs. F. B. Cowgill, and the treasurer, Miss Grace W. Leavitt. During the past two years the association has given liberally of its means to assist in patriotic work, and as a result the finances are not in a very flourishing condition at present.

HALIFAX LIGHTED AGAIN

A modification of the military order forbidding lights in Halifax has been made public today. The general staff office for the district sent to the board of control an order permitting all street lights which are not visible from the sea to be turned on without restriction. Street lights which are visible from the sea may also be turned on provided they are shaded by black paint on the water side. Lights in dwellings and stores must be screened by blinds.

At a meeting of the board of control the questions of the extent of the city's responsibility for damage and injuries sustained by falls in the streets, and methods of dealing with shopkeepers who fail to comply with the lighting orders were referred to the solicitor for an opinion.

LONDON HOUSE DANIEL Head of King St.

Ian MacLaren's Pur— A casual reference to the meaning of the word "hurricane" recalls a story told of a literary dinner party of the nineties. Hall Caine had offered a reward to anybody who made a passable pun upon his name within five minutes. The various literary and journalistic celebrities cudgelled their brains but all to no purpose. At last the Manx novelist, watch in hand, had begun to say: "Time's up, gentlemen," when the late six months and Mr. Goodwin has cut the hair of the baby's father, grandfather, great-grandfather and great-great-grandfather.

Conciliation Act Got Body Blow in C.P.R. Negotiations

Labor Proves Its Dissatisfaction With the Measure by Preferring Dealing Directly With the Company, Instead of Accepting System Which Failed and Which Government Neglected to Improve

(Toronto Star) The settlement of the differences between the Canadian Pacific Railway Company and its conductors, trainmen and baggage men on the western lines without the invocation of the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act, is considered the most staggering blow that has been received since it was put in operation. The action of the employees in refusing to accept the intervention of the act is accepted as a notice to the government that the act must either be remodelled to satisfy the unions subject to its provisions, or it must be wiped off the statute book altogether.

Neither the railway brotherhoods nor the minister of labor could evade the meaning provisions of the act to meet the recent situation on the C. P. R. upon the technical pretences that owing to neither party to the dispute having accepted the board of 1914, they were free to either lock out or strike. The report of the deliberations of the Board of Conciliation and Investigation which was appointed in April, 1914, clearly states that following the representation of the award the representatives of the men and the company came together again to make an effort to reach a settlement of the dispute, but pending the negotiations the war broke out and by a mutual understanding the conditions of 1914 were allowed to remain in force for an indefinite period.

Men Had Lost Confidence in Act

Two years elapsed. Demands were made upon the company which were the subject of negotiation between representatives of the company and the employees. A settlement was difficult to reach. The employees became restless and their representatives were compelled to force the situation. The Industrial Disputes Act, with its opportunities for further investigation and conciliation, was available to either the company or the men. The company availed itself of the opportunity to invoke the provisions of the act and applied for a board. The minister of labor refused to grant the request of the company, because he knew that the men had decided that they would not consent to submit to the provisions of the act, and would defy the power of the possible to obtain the conditions they think they are entitled to under existing industrial conditions in Canada. Both the railway brotherhoods and the other organizations coming under the provisions of the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act have repeatedly demanded amendments to the act that would make it more effective in establishing just conditions in the industries of the country. This course was taken as the alternative to the straight demand for the repeal of the act. The desires of the labor organizations, however, have not been satisfied, and no serious effort has been made by the government to improve the act since they came into power. It was understood when the act was passed that its operations would disclose its weaknesses, and that amendments would be made from time to time to make it thoroughly efficient in protecting the interests of the public who depended upon public utilities, and also in maintaining the balance of equality between employer and employee.

Government Neglected to Improve Act

The refusal of the government to improve the act by amendments and the subsequent action taken through an order-in-council, extending the provisions of the unpopular act to the workers in municipal factories has culminated in the decision of all the trades subject to its provisions, that they will no longer be bound by such legislation. The Railway Brotherhoods have not officially demanded the repeal of the act, but dissatisfaction with the manner in which it has been enforced, and with the failure of the government to make the necessary amendments has been increasing. The majority of the Railway Brotherhoods were not enthusiastic in their support of the act at the time it was made law, but a number of favorable awards, particularly in the interests of the poorly-paid railway servants, tended to assuage the anger of those who did not like the legislation.

Others Will Ignore Act

These factors have contributed materially to the condition of affairs that led the Railway Brotherhoods to resort to the long established method of reaching a settlement with their employers. The indications are that the miners, employees connected with the means of communication and other trades amenable to the act, will follow the example set by the Railway Brotherhoods. This was clear

A GALLANT PIPER

The Scottish pipes played a historic part in the great advance of July 1 and among the many brave men who participated in the charge of the Royal Scots none was more notable than Pipe-Major David Anderson, who has been awarded the Croix de Guerre. He volunteered to lead the battalion into action, and reached almost the fourth line of the enemy's trenches before he was wounded. When he was no longer able to play he kept urging or encouraging the men with all the power of his voice.

Anderson, a stout young man of 26 years, and before joining in October, 1914, was a member of the Edinburgh city police force. His wife resides in Edinburgh.

In an interview the gallant piper was reluctant to say anything about his own achievement, but did speak with pride of the bravery of the men of his battalion. "I did not like to think of the boys going into action without the pipes," he related, "so I offered to lead them out. They were great, every one of them. I was proud to be with them. Before they got the word to go over the top they were waiting in the trenches as keen as could be. Cool was not the word for them. They were larking and joking, and some of them could hardly be kept from going out before the time. I stepped out ahead of them, and took them forward with a battle field march. When we got within charging distance of the Germans, I started up the regimental march 'Dunrobin's Drum.' "What was a miracle to me was that I had got so far without a bullet of any kind. I went with my boys right through the German trenches, and reached a point between their third and fourth lines, when I suddenly felt something get me in the right side. "I was not flustered at all. In fact, the coolness of everybody was one of the most surprising things that I saw. I stopped playing that minute, and I sat down to ease the wound, which was a gash made by a bullet. I had to lean forward in my sitting posture, and though I made another attempt to play the pipes I could not manage it, and I was right sorry. I remember that when I found I could not blow the pipes any longer I waved them above my head, and shouted to the boys to 'come on.'

ROSY CHEEKS

THE AMBITION OF EVERY WOMAN - PALE PEOPLE READ THIS.

Hollow cheeks with dark lines, sallow complexion—how a woman hates them. But rosy cheeks, clear skin, bright eyes—give them to a woman and she is happy.

In the blood is found the first sign of trouble. It grows thin and watery, its color fades, and increasing pallor and sallowness give the outward evidence of the change within.

Soon the nerves weaken, the heart easily tires and palpitates, strength declines. The delicate mechanism of the womanly functions is interfered with, and pleasures, activities and even duties are loaded down with the burden of declining health.

Why is it that women neglect the first warnings? Usually she waits till she is ready to drop—often then it is too late. These conditions are easily checked, easily cured at the beginning, even long established. Ferruzone will remove the cause and cure the trouble.

Ferruzone's action aids the three principal functions of the body—digestion, assimilation, elimination. By strengthening digestion it forms an abundance of rich, red blood—this is good food.

By perfecting assimilation, Ferruzone supplies nutrition—this gives strength, vim and vigor.

Elimination is assured because Ferruzone quickens the action of the liver, kidneys and bowels—this guarantees the general health of the system.

Ferruzone puts you on the right road—the one that leads to health. Not a man, woman or child needing blood, vigor, endurance—not a person who is weak, nervous or sickly, not a person in ill-health who won't receive immediate help from Ferruzone.

As a tonic and restorative, as a health-bringer and body-builder, Ferruzone is unrivalled. It cures because it feeds and nourishes, because it contains the elements that build up and strengthen. Try it yourself—sold everywhere in 50c boxes.

WILL YOU TAKE TWO AT OUR RISK?

So many customers who suffer from run-down nervous condition with its consequent ills of insomnia, indigestion and general debility, are greatly helped by Zocite—the nerve tonic, that we wish to have every ailing person in this town try this really honest tonic. It is not any other tonic. It combines the most precious of health-building substances, Glyceric Acid, and the most powerful of the human body in most assimilative form. By evidence at the recent congress of the Canadian Legislative Council, held in Toronto, when, by an overwhelming majority, the delegates would amend the act, the amendments suggested by the minister of labor, and not even the act drafted by their own solicitor.

FOOD SOURING IN STOMACH CAUSES INDIGESTION, GAS

'Pape's Diapiesin' Ends All Stomach Distress in Five Minutes

Wonder what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage—in you? We won't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate fermented into stubborn lumps; head dizzy and aches; hiccups and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapiesin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Not a man, woman or child needing blood, vigor, endurance—not a person who is weak, nervous or sickly, not a person in ill-health who won't receive immediate help from Ferruzone.

As a tonic and restorative, as a health-bringer and body-builder, Ferruzone is unrivalled. It cures because it feeds and nourishes, because it contains the elements that build up and strengthen. Try it yourself—sold everywhere in 50c boxes.

While I was lying in this place the second bullet went through my leg. In the excitement of the occasion Anderson lost his pipes, and he regrets their loss for they were pipes with a history. They had been taken with more than one molar expedition, including that of Scott to the Antarctic.

Recollections, however, brightened up the piper, and he laughed. "When I approached the German trenches," he said, "it was funny to see the Boches coming towards me and holding up their hands to me and I had nothing in my hands, of course, but my pipes."

CHILD GETS SICK CROSS, FEVERISH IF CONSTIPATED

"California Syrup of Figs" can't harm tender stomach or bowels.

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish; stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, mother! If covered, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation, poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

BLAMES PLOT ON THE REFUGEES

U. S. War Secretary Baker's Views

No Americans Implicated

Declines to Say Whether General Pershing Will Move Southward Into Mexico After Villa

Washington, Oct. 31.—The contention made last night by the war department that it had discovered a plot engineered on the American side of the Mexican boundary for an attack by Mexican bandits on American troops or some American town was reiterated by Secretary Baker on his return to Washington from Martinsburg, W. Va. Mr. Baker also corrected the impression created by his official statement that American politicians, anxious to create sentiment against President Wilson, were party to the plot. He said that there was no intention to make any such announcement, and he gave the following explanation:

"The Mexican opponents of the de facto government of Mexico would, of course, be glad to complicate the relations between the United States and Mexico and our information is that they think this is an appropriate time to do so. The statement made by the department ought to discourage any adventure on their part in this direction."

Secretary Baker and other officials declined to give any information in regard to the plot that contemplated a raid on a border town, or an attack on United States troops. They said that both the state and the war department have received information of the plot, and that the statement given out by the war department yesterday afternoon was intended to serve as a warning to the plotters, and thereby prevent them from carrying out their scheme.

At the state department, it was said that nothing more would be disclosed concerning the projected border raid until arrests were made. At both departments officials asserted that there was no intention to intimate even that American politicians were implicated in the plot. Those concerned in it, according to the explanation made, were groups of Mexicans most of them on the American side of the border, who were anxious to bring about the downfall of the Carranza government. No information had been obtained, it was said, that in any way tended to implicate Americans, and the statement issued by the war department last night, in which it was asserted that "enemies of the administration's policy toward Mexico" had arranged an attack "for the purpose of turning the tide of sentiment against the policy of the administration had adopted for the protection of the border," was not meant to indicate that Americans had a part in the conspiracy.

Newspaper correspondents flocked to the war department today to interview Secretary Baker about the discovery of the plan to raid the border. He said that just prior to the issuance of his statement of last night more definite information concerning the projected raid had been received. "Taken with the information we had at hand," he said, "that made it seem advisable for the department to put out the statement and give a warning."

Not For Political Effect

Mr. Baker declined to answer a question as to whether General Pershing, who had been notified by the war department of the expected attack, would move southward into Mexico after Villa. He also declined to say who were the political enemies of the Wilson administration implicated in the border plot, but he replied emphatically in the negative when he was asked whether they were Americans. "It is unthinkable," he added. To further questions, Mr. Baker explained that the persons concerned in the scheme to raid a border town or attack American troops were Mexican politicians, who were engaged in an agitation against the Carranza government. His statement, he said, was meant to implicate these Mexican politicians, and any sympathy shown the Villista movement from the American side of the line came from him. "I want to say," said Mr. Baker, "that my statement was not intended for political purposes or for political effect. If it serves notice on the lawless people in Mexico it will have fulfilled its purpose."

When Mr. Baker was asked why the statement did not say in plain English that it is intended to apply to Mexicans

Dog's Part in a German Ruse

A British officer, who has just returned from the front wounded, relates that a German soldier, employed a very ingenious method of surrendering a few days ago, on a part of the line some miles north of the Somme. The men in the British trenches noticed a terrier dog leave the German trenches and trot about in "No Man's Land." Directly afterwards a soldier came from the German trench and made towards the dog which was now much nearer to the British line than to the German. No sooner had the German secured the dog than he threw up his arms and made a dash for the British trenches. As soon as his comrades realized his intention they opened fire on him, but failed to hit him, and both soldier and dog reached the British trench unhurt. The dog has become quite a favorite in the British trenches, where he is making himself very useful in hunting rats.

THE SHIELDING SHADOW

AT UNIQUE THEATRE

Also Pathe News and George Ovey in Brilliant Comedy

The plot of the Pathe serial "The Shielding Shadow" takes a new turn in the fifth episode called "Through Bolted Doors" which will be shown for the last time at the Unique today. The theme is growing in interest weekly and this chapter presents some new complications which add to the attractiveness of the story.

The manner in which a written confession of One Lamp Louie is given to Leontine and the theft of that document by the writer himself makes one wonder all the more just what the end will be. Ravenger, the mysterious stranger, continues to be a conspicuous person, and the fact that a cuff link was found on the floor of the Hidden House after a rather exciting fight had taken place between the Shielding Shadow and the Blackspirators, which is missing from the cuff of Ravenger, leads the spectator to believe that Ravenger must be the Shielding Shadow. This is a question, however, which cannot be answered in the fifty chapter.

The comedy scene was well depicted and the costuming was indeed magnificent. The production continues on that standard of excellence which has characterized it from the beginning.

Some extremely interesting pictures of the western battle front were shown in the Pathe News, together with other treats which included scenes from New York, Chicago and other metropolitan centers.

The comedy element of the programme was ably looked after by the Cub comedians, headed by Mr. George Ovey and presented a farcical play of many mix-ups, entitled "Jerry and the Black-handlers." Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week Charlie Chaplin will be seen in the excruciatingly funny comedy "The Pawn Shop."

HOUSE of The GOLDEN WIDOWS

FLORENCE TURNER AT THE LYRIC THEATRE

Celebrated Story "Grim Justice"—Also Juggling, Nonsense and Pantomime

The masterpiece at the Lyric Theatre contains three factors which are decidedly necessary to make a picture production a success. First of all, the feature is an adaptation of the well known novel, being that of Rita's famous story "Grim Justice."

This has been one of the most successful efforts of this city and has been read by thousands. Secondly, one of the foremost stars appearing in photoplays was cast to interpret the leading feminine role, and that star happening to be Miss Florence Turner enhanced the value of the production an hundredfold, and in the third place the master director Mr. Larry Trimble, who has his credit many of the more outstanding successes in features, was engaged to produce "Grim Justice."

Aside from all this, the cast supporting Miss Turner is a representative one. George Moore plays the part of Grandfather Transon, a kindly old man who through his short-sighted provision for Chrystall's (Miss Turner) future life, innocently causes her much suffering. Miss Maude Williamson appears as the step-mother, a scheming vicious woman who makes Chrystall's existence unbearable. Major Winton Barnes, an English actor of some note is presented as Jude Transon, a brutish man with sufficient craftiness to conceal his real character when it suits his own ends, and Malcolm Cherry has been well cast as James Mithurst, a selfish sort of creature who never hesitates to sacrifice the rights and feelings of others to satisfy his own personal greed, while Henry Edwards makes a fine type of leading man.

The absorbing plot of this popular novel is excellently well connected, furnishing a type of strong convincing drama best suited to Florence Turner's wonderful and unusual scenes and is magnificently staged. Those who saw it at the Lyric Theatre were unanimous in voicing the opinion that it was a wonderful motion picture drama and in fact was one of the best seen at the Lyric in a long time. Pryor and Wilson in character comedies and mellow melodies are quite pleasing. New programme tomorrow.

May Re-Elect Herrmann

New York, Oct. 30.—In National League circles it was said yesterday that there was little or no encouragement for Barney Dreyfuss in his plan to depose Garry Herrmann as chairman of the National Commission. Dreyfuss, it is said, has not been in harmony with his fellow magnates for some time. The loss of Sisler, it is said, has caused his bitter opposition to Herrmann, but other National League magnates insist that the settlement of the Federal League war made it impossible for him to obtain the Browns' famous star. It was pointed out yesterday that inasmuch as Sisler had played a whole season with the Browns and was under a valid contract, Herrmann could not legally award him to Dreyfuss. It is the opinion of well posted baseball politicians that the National League as a whole will vote to return Herrmann to his present office.

Fight To the Death in Somme Mud

British Wounded in Front of Le Transloy Describe Bitter Clashes With Bavarians

(By Percival Gibbon in the New York Times.)

With the British Army on the Somme, Saturday, Oct. 28.—(Dispatch to the London Daily Chronicle).—There is no rest for the Fifteenth Bavarians. Today again for the sixth time since Monday they have to fight for that string of shell craters whose lips, crumbling together, make some sort of line which is what remains of Hazy trench. As related previously, this is the position opposite the British lines west of Les Boeufs. The lines have already been considerably straightened and simplified as a result of last week's fighting, and five times already they have been bombed and saponified and rough and tumbled out of it, and five times they have come desperately back.

Dead-end trench, a little to the north of Hazy, is also attacked, and already news has leaked out through the shell curtain that British troops have gained a footing in the northern end after a frightful struggle with that tenacious German ally, the mud of these fields. There was a trench between the British and Dreyfus. Rainy was the name of it on the trench map, but that troubles the British no longer. A constellation of machine guns lived there, and they, too, are troublesome no longer. Rainy trench throughout its 180 yards of length has ceased to exist and its wasp's nests have been gougled out of the ground by a week of cannonading. The men wounded in this week of white-hot fighting in the blasted fields between Les Boeufs and Le Trapsay speak chiefly of mud. They are to be found in the casualty clearing station behind the battle. Great tents lead one into other long, shadowy halls, where the wounded lie to each side. Such tents I have seen hundreds of times in Russia, but never such wounded. The Russian wounded man has always a childlike side of him, most developed when he brings his hurt back to be nursed. There it is: "Well, where have you got it?" "In the leg, sir, and, God help me, it hurts a lot."

But here: "Got a puncture, sir; machine gun bullet while we was going over the top. Yes, sir, rest was all I wanted. No; it don't hurt, nothin' to speak of." One of them showed his face, on which the mud's beard had grown like stiff fur and his teeth smiled through it. The nose of a shrapnel had taken him upon the forehead, curved his steel helmet, denting it and contusing his head, glancing thence and breaking his right arm. His tale was triumphant: "Yes, Zenith trench, sir, that was the name. We got in all right, and the Germans had just got their mail. We found it there. Letters they 'ad, an' papers. No, I don't know what was in the letters. Somebody took charge of them, all right. But the parcels, there was bread and tins and little bottles that long—he spanned five inches, with graphic, splay-fingered hand—run."

The grin again, and grins from neighboring patients. The shadows of the big marquee were aglow with grins. "Good run it was, too, sir," he added, sincerely. "Most of them spoke of the mud, which is the best ally to John Germany, the awful mud which is the fourth element of war, as some squarhead truly remarked. A child who lay between two men of war told me about that. He looked like a pretty girl, with high roses on his thin cheeks and his tumbled hair and his blankets drawn to his chin. He thrust them back to rise on his elbow and show himself, a bony boy of 19. "I was up to my waist when we started to go across," he said. "I'd never have got out at all but two chaps gave me a hand and just hauled me out of the mud, and then my rifle was clogged and wouldn't fire. I did not get five yards."

"Hereabouts were you hit?" I asked him. He smiled. Mark that; he smiled. "Neck, right arm, back and both legs," he replied, still smiling. He hesitated. "I've only been out six weeks," he added, like one who makes excuses. Then there was the mighty man with an accent as English as roast beef, who had, besides a bullet in the chest, a bayonet through his left upper arm. That was at the gun pits, when they fought man to man in front of Hazy trench, and man to man covered the ground with dead Germans and took the pits. It is from those pits as the British have developed them that they are today attacking Hazy."

"Big beggar he was," he reminded. "I seen him afterwards where he was lying on the ground. Red 'air 'e 'ad, too."

"Bayoneted you, did he? What did you do to him?" "Clouted 'im over the 'ead with the butt, and done 'im proper. Regular frightened me, it did, the way he went down on 'is back." The ward grinned. Each man there knew that feeling probably, the fear of seeing your man go down, the man that you have hurt. That is the way they were taught to feel when they fought honest fighters and the habit sticks.

BIBLE SOCIETY WORK
Meeting Last Evening in Carleton—Addresses by Rev. H. R. Boyer, and H. Miller of Korea

A meeting of the British and Foreign Bible Society branch was held last evening in St. George's church in West St. John. Rev. W. J. Morison presided, Rev. Dr. J. A. Morrison officiated at scripture reading, and Rev. G. F. Scovill led in prayer.

Rev. H. R. Boyer, secretary of the society for the maritime provinces and Newfoundland, delivered an address on the work. He said that a larger number of copies of the Scriptures had been circulated in the province this year than in any other period. There were in Canada at present a staff of seventy distributing Scriptures, and more than 400,000 copies were circulated last year. Throughout the world the society had distributed 11,000,000. Since the beginning of the war, 5,000,000 were given free to soldiers, sailors and those engaged in hospital relief work. He expressed appreciation for the hearty co-operation of the clergymen and laity of this city in Bible society work and for financial aid rendered.

Hugh Miller, superintendent of Bible society work in Korea, delivered an interesting address on "the transformation of Korea." His discourse dealt with the romance, revolution and revival of Korea, which had followed as a result of the annexation of that country by Japan in 1908. One of the evidences of this improvement was to be found in the agricultural development of the country. Experimental stations had been established in the peninsula, with the result that in six years the rice crop, which had been increased by 21,000,000 bushels, barley 8,500,000 bushels, wheat 2,500,000 bushels, soy beans 250,000 bushels. The total values of these increases represented $150,000,000, or one hundred per cent. increase in the first year of the new regime.

Another interesting fact mentioned was the practical attempt on the part of the new regime in reforesting the island with a result that during the same period no fewer than 700,000 acres of land had been planted with trees, which would eventually clothe the barren hills of Korea with as beautiful landscape as that already possessed by Japan.

He said that the general diffusion of the Bible was a most effective way to civilize and humanize the inhabitants. He told of the transformation going on in that land and quoted Prince Ito, the first resident general, as saying that it was much easier for him to introduce government reforms because the missionary had been in the country. Mr. Miller is touring Canada giving addresses. He will leave for Montreal this evening.

N. B. WOMEN'S INSTITUTES

Annual Session Opened Here This Morning

SOME 225 PRESENT

Miss Hazel E. Winter, Supervisor, Reviews the Work of the Year—Thrift in the Homes is Urged

The fourth annual convention of the New Brunswick Institutes was opened in the Germain street Baptist institute this morning with Miss Hazel E. Winter presiding. Registration was the first business and there were upwards of 225 names placed on the list, representing institutes all over the province.

Miss Winter introduced J. B. Daggert, agricultural secretary of the province, who gave an address. He heartily commended the work of Miss Winter during the year. The work of the Women's Institute, he said, was for human beings—little children, the feeding of families, the avoidance of waste in homes, housework systematically arranged, furnishing the homes, all of which pertained and intended to develop a higher standard for community life. She urged co-operative spirit with the Farmers' Institute. By it could be developed a rural social advancement, which would invite town improvement, social leagues, board of health, etc.

The work done during the last year brought forth the congratulations of the supervisor. The amount collected for material for soldiers in hospitals was $4,189.47. There was still on hand some $200 for patriotic purposes. Miss Winter said that the work of the institute was confined to the main object as most of the members, if not all, were members of some active patriotic society.

During the year seven new branches were opened and 200 members added to the list. The total number of paid members are 2,838; the number of regular meetings held 861; the total attendance at all meetings reached 12,975 and the number of papers read and delivered was 626.

Miss Winter touched upon the high cost of living and strongly urged thrift in the homes. She referred to the women's part in the building of the Empire, and in conclusion she said all should "always do what we can for home and country."

The meeting of the various branch reports commenced this morning and all were cheery and progressive.

This afternoon the delegates attended the meeting of various branch reports commenced this morning and all were cheery and progressive.

BOY HAS CLOSE CALL

Nine Year Old Harold Higgins Falls Overboard at Indianwewa

Harold Higgins, nine-year-old son of Reuben Higgins of Main street, narrowly escaped drowning this morning while playing at the foot of Indianwewa. He was endeavoring to move a log, which was floating a short distance from the wharf, and while passing from the tug to the wharf fell in. George Ewing, bookkeeper for D. D. Glasier & Son, heard the boy's cry and rushed to the wharf. He was in time to see him struggling to the surface and as he started to sink for the second time Mr. Ewing climbed down the facing of the wharf and happened along and assisted Mr. Ewing to lift the boy to a place of safety. He was almost unconscious when landed on the wharf, but was soon able to walk to his home.

JUDGMENT HERE IN FREDERICTON CASE

An important judgment was delivered by Chief Justice McLeod today in the case of John Palmer Company, Limited, vs. Palmer-McLeod Shoe Pack Company, Limited. His Honor deciding against the defendant company. This case was tried in Fredericton some time ago, and judgment was delivered here. An order was made that the defendant company be restrained from using the name "Palmer" as a trade mark or part of trade mark upon any of its shoe packs, moccasins, larrigans, or other oiled tanned footwear similar to those manufactured by the plaintiff company, and from publishing or advertising any statements alleging that the defendants are the exclusive owners of the processes of manufacture formerly owned by John Palmer, and from advertising their goods in any way as "Palmer's Shoe Packs" or "Palmer's Make of Goods." Leave was reserved to either party to apply for further directions. The defendants were ordered to pay costs.

At the trial, M. G. Teed, K.C., appeared for the plaintiff, and Peter J. Hughes for the defendant.

THE POLICE

"Inspector Wickham has severed his connections with the local forces," said Chief Simpson this morning. The chief clearly said this morning that he did not get the inspector's resignation a week ago, it reached him only yesterday.

Relative to a question as to who would be the next man for the position, the chief said he had not given it a thought yet.

Acting-Inspector Caples has been assisting in that capacity for some months and has done good work, although receiving only sergeant's pay. His friends are urging his claims to the position.
