Von Hindenburg Still Far From Victory

Despite His Ten Armies, Russian Strength and Valor Compelled Attention to Humbler Task of Capturing Przemysl

London, June 5.—A Times despatch from Petrograd says:—The plan of General Von Hindenburg of crushing the Russians and compelling them to withdraw to the old borders, is still far from accomplished.

Ten Austro-German armies formerly arrayed on the huge front from the Pflers to Roumania, are now believed to be that of General Dankl from the Pflers, had to be removed and sent to the Italian border, compelling the Teutons to concentrate their chief defensive in the Nida Valley.

On the eastern flank of Hindenburg's force the armies of Generals Lindegen and Planzer sustained hard punishment at the hands of the Russians, and instead of turning the Russian flank, or invading Podolia, as fondly hoped, remained desperately battling on the Pruth and beyond Strzy.

Of five armies that were driven straight at the heart of the Russian position, one group, two armies under Mackensen, got across the San, another group, composed of three armies, struck south of Przemysl, but was unable to get beyond the line stretching toward the Danester marshes.

The strength and valor of the Russian resistance compelled the Teutons to devote all their energies to the humbler task of capturing Przemysl.

THE STREET CAR SERVICE OF NOW AND THE FUTURE

Whether the rails are of the T or groove type and whether they are laid in concrete or a softer bed of yielding earth, and whether there is a pavement between and for eighteen inches on each side of the rails—apart from all these questions which are agitating the minds of the city commissioners and other citizens, St. John is beginning to develop a car system in some measure commensurate with the needs of the population.

With the central portion looped and girded with main lines and extensions reaching Fairville and Seaside Park to the west in Coldbrook on the east it is now possible to enjoy a ride of five or six miles, to say nothing of four or five transfers, for a cost of only a few cents.

Other improvements and extensions already under way or planned for the one year of the year, and the new highways being across the falls is complete the car tracks will be laid across it and this will give direct connection between the city and West St. John and all the Lancaester district. When this is completed it is quite possible that the Fairville line will be extended further along the Manawagonish road to take advantage of the traffic that will await it there.

On the eastern side of the city the rails already run three miles out to Coldbrook and will soon be carried another mile into the Glen Falls property. Residents of that district have visions of the line being carried right up the Glen Valley to a point opposite Terryburn and then turning to come in Rotheray avenue, although this has not been promised by the company, just yet.

A large amount of work has been accomplished on the Little River extension around Courtyard Bay and when this is complete it will add two miles more of suburban line. As the growth of the city warrants the opening of new districts it would be possible to make this loop line running up the Little River valley and connecting with the other line at Coldbrook.

It is known that surveys have been made around the shore of the Kennebec and a practically level grade has been located along the river. When the time comes to carry out this project the access can be secured either by way of Millidgeville, which has long awaited street railway connections, or via the Charley field and across to the Sandy Point road, where another level route has been located. The expenditure of $100,000 offered by Miss Caroline Tucker to improve the addition to the Rockwood Park bequest by the late Colonel Tucker would add to the attractiveness of the latter project. Then there is all the rest of Rockwood Park, one of the prettiest spots in the province, which is right at the doors of the city, but which is inaccessible to the majority of the citizens on account of lack of transportation facilities. The street cars must go there some day, although there is no prospect of it at present.

Although the present service covers the central portion of the city pretty thoroughly and the company is beginning to develop the suburban districts some of these other projects are needed almost as much. That they would pay is indicated by the rapid development of the districts into which the lines have been extended and the eagerness with which the city people have taken advantage of the opportunity to build homes where they can get a little more land and fresh air than in the city.

Others have intimated their willingness to undertake some of this work if the present company will not and it is possible that when the war is over and financial conditions are better that there may be some interesting developments along this line. It is known that an outside group of capitalists have been showing great interest in the local situation, going so far as to spend a very considerable sum of money for the purpose of securing exact data on the local situation. What this will result in must be left to the future to show.

REV. C. G. PINCOMBE IS GIVEN COMMISSION.

Rev. C. G. Pincombe, pastor of the Main street United Baptist church, Marystown, has been granted a commission with the Canadian expeditionary forces and has reported at Halifax for duty.

He volunteered for active service soon after the outbreak of the war, but it was thought that his age would prevent him from being accepted. He is an imperial army veteran, having served in the Egyptian campaigns in 1882 and 1883 with Lord Kitchener. He held the position of staff sergeant major in many of the important mobilization centres in England, and at the time of the South African war he was a sergeant in the mobilization work at Malta.

Rev. Mr. Pincombe received word of his appointment on Thursday and had only a half hour in which to make train connections for Halifax. Owing to this short notice it is not known whether he will resign his pastorate at Marystown or will be given leave of absence until the end of the war.

KIND TO THE SOLDIERS. A member of the signalling corps of the 4th Mounted Rifles at Amherst, writing of the kindness of the town and country people to the soldiers, says: "Yesterday we met a very kind old country lady. She made a large pan of hot biscuits and sent them out to us (four of the signal corps) at six o'clock. She also sent a large pitcher of tea and four cups, and a large bottle of preserved cherries. The people are certainly very kind around here."

The purchase of an inferior Piano is an expense. The purchase of a Heintzman Piano is an investment—an investment for a lifetime—an investment from which the returns are sure.

The Heintzman Piano—Grand or Upright—is the Piano for everyone. The great artists use it because they can obtain the finest effects from it. The beginner uses it because its wonderful tone is a musical education in itself.

The main feature of the Heintzman Piano is its permanency, both in tone and construction. It is built to give an entire satisfaction years hence as the day it was finished.

ECONOMICAL PURCHASES

Dowling Brothers have been selling a large number of ladies' spring coats, suits and blouses at their new stand, 25 Brussels street, just around the corner from Union street. The demand is almost beyond the supply, but they are making every effort to meet it. The explanation of the situation is the low price. The low rent district certainly makes lower prices possible and pleasure purchasers immensely. This applies to every article in the store. Call on them and you'll be sure to your own satisfaction what your ready cash will do.

Chief of Police Simpson announced last evening that the sergeants will not be known as inspectors, as was announced in error. The force will be composed of a chief, an inspector, a detective, assistant detective, sergeants and patrolmen.

ORGANISE FOR WAR

There are only two classes of people in Germany. One class is engaged in fighting and the other in providing food supplies and munitions of war. This explains the fact that German armies are still vigorously on the offensive and much better supplied with guns and ammunition than the armies of the Allies.

Greater efforts must be put forth, Canada must send more men and Canadian factories must produce more munitions. To what extent has the government at Ottawa encouraged manufacturers to put in plant for making shells?

THE BUSINESS OUTLOOK. That business conditions in Canada are sound and that the outlook is favorable, is the view of more than ninety per cent. of over two thousand representative business men in all parts of Canada who have expressed their views in reply to an enquiry.

Those who read the report of the activities of the Playgrounds Association in this issue of the Times will realize that it touches the social life and welfare of the city at many points and is doing, to the limit of its resources, a most valuable work.

MY TIRED FEET ACHE FOR "TIZ" Let Your Sore, Swollen, Aching Feet Spread Out in a Bath of "TIZ"

FIELD COMFORTS The following extracts from a recent bulletin issued by the Canadian Red Cross Society are of special interest now that a Field Comforts Association has been organized in St. John.

People in Canada who have friends fighting at the front desire to augment their kits as furnished by the ordinance department. As this work cannot be done by the Red Cross Society, which works only for the sick and wounded, it became necessary to find a channel for gifts for the fighting men.

warehouse is used by the Red Cross and the National Service Committee, but necessarily the work is entirely separate, and while one class of articles goes to Dr. Hodgetts in London the other goes to Sir George Perley. Money as well as field comforts is contributed and now that so many Canadians are on the firing line the need for such supplies as are above indicated grows greater.

If tobacco is useful against the effects of German gas, the supply should be kept up on a most liberal scale. It is also the testimony of the soldiers that a smoke quiets the nerves after a racking night in the trenches.

The young men who stand on the sidewalks and sneer at men in uniform marching by should reflect that the latter are doing the one thing most needed just now, and that perhaps the critic himself is being criticized because he is not in uniform.

In the death of Bandmaster Horman St. John loses a musician who had done a great deal for band music, and the encouragement of a love of instrumental music among the young men of St. John. Marches of his composition are being played today by bands in the mother country as well as in Canada.

Beware of Ointments for Cataracts that Contain Mercury. It is necessary to utterly destroy the cause of an eye disease through the use of mercury.

SOCKS ALWAYS WELCOME One day recently Mrs. J. H. Golding, of Peel, Carleton County, received the following letter from Major Melville in acknowledgement of some socks sent to him for his men.

Let Your Sore, Swollen, Aching Feet Spread Out in a Bath of "TIZ"

Just take your shoes off and then put those weary, shoe-crinkled, aching, burning, corn-petred, bunion-tortured feet of yours in a "TIZ" bath. Your toes will wriggle with joy; they'll look up at you and almost talk and then they'll take another dive in that "TIZ" bath.

KNIGHTS HELP FILL SELF-DENIAL BOXES

An Incident of Very Enjoyable Smoker at Which New Members Are Entertained

While the Knights of Columbus last evening had recreation and enjoyment as their uppermost thought as they wended their way to their rooms in Coburg street, where a smoker and reunion was to be held, they did not allow anything to obtrude more charitable thoughts and as the result of little Belgian self-denial boxes being passed among them, a tidy sum was secured to be included in the receipts of the day. Everybody "dipped down" as members of the box, one to the other, and the results were most satisfactory.

reception for the new members, besides a reunion for all members. W. J. Mahoney, grand knight, presided, and under his direction, an entertaining program of songs, readings, speeches, and musical numbers was given in which those participating, included Frank Hazel, M. T. Morris, S. C. Hurley, Jas. Doherty, M. T. Delaney, W. M. Ryan, Rev. M. P. Howland and L. A. Conlon. Dr. W. P. Broderick and J. L. Mullahey acted as accompanists. Each number on the program was heartily received, and at the close refreshments added to the general enjoyment.

A Food That Relieves Constipation

If you suffer with constipation, or fermentation of food, ask your doctor if a food containing 20 per cent codonized Flaxseed, 80 per cent Whole Berries of Wheat, 85 per cent Whole Berries of Rye and 10 per cent Bran would help you. This is the formula of Dr. Jackson's "Roman Meal," the most nourishing food sold, which aids digestion and positively prevents constipation.

SUCCESSFUL HAT AND DRESS DESIGNING

St. John Girl's Work Receives Recognition in Boston and New York Papers

Harper's Bazaar for June contains a double page illustration of the hats designed and approved by Lady Duff Gordon by the students of the New York School of Fine and Applied Art.
These hats were exhibited in New York by Lady Duff Gordon and it is also understood were to be exhibited by her in London and Paris.
They were made up from American materials, and the designs and colorings supplied by the art students. One of the hats which attracted most attention in Lady Duff Gordon's exhibit was designed by Miss Hazel C. Gibbon. Some of last week's Sunday American newspapers also contained illustrations of dress designs which had been submitted by Miss Gibbon in a contest in New York intended to produce a dress suitable for wearing on all occasions. Miss Gibbon's design is published as one of the most suitable and probable prize winners.
Miss Gibbon, who has recently returned from New York to be congratulated by her friends on the success of her work.

A FINE COMPLEXION

May Be Had Through the Right Red Blood Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Actually Make

A girl's complexion is something more than a matter to concern her vanity. It is an indication of the state of her blood. A fallow in a girl would show a thinning of the blood. Parents should be watchful of their daughters' complexions and should see that the danger signs are corrected. When a girl's complexion becomes pale and sallow, it is useless and unattractive to her work or play, she needs Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, a tonic which directly and specifically corrects the condition from which she is suffering. A chemical analysis of the blood of such a girl would show it to be deficient in just the elements that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can supply. The pills restore the blood to its normal color and color to the cheeks. Miss Delina C. Robinson, E. E. I., is one of the thousands of women who have restored to health by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. "I was attacked with anemia, and was in such a miserable condition that I had to consult a doctor, and was unable to do my regular work for several months, but without getting better. I was growing thinner every day, and my appetite was poor. I could hardly sleep at night, but tossed restlessly and got up in the morning with a sick and anxious feeling. My day's matters before me. I was always bothered with headaches and pains in the neck and limbs. My appetite was poor and I frequently vomited what I did eat. My friends feared that I did not recover. I had then seen Dr. Williams' Pink Pills advertised and finally decided to try them. I used a box or six boxes for $20 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville (Ont.).
Best Yet in Fairville League.
What was generally accepted as the best contest thus far in the Fairville League was played last evening between the unbeaten Royals and the Courtenays, the score was tie at the end of five fast innings.
More than 200 people attended the match and the interest was keen throughout. During the close of the second inning Perry pulled out nicely from an acute situation when, with the bases full and only one man down, he struck out the two next batters who faced him. Craft, his catcher, a new man, handled the receiving department satisfactorily.
Fitzgerald for the Courtenays, was in good form and is a strength to the team. Unfortunately no record of strikeouts was kept.
Field work was, perhaps, about the average on the whole, though the Royals seemed a bit off in this respect. The game was marked by head work as much as brawn and the crowd were considerably disappointed when the game was called, many asking the umpire to allow another inning. It might be well to point out however, that Limpler McLean's word goes in every ball game and thus far the four teams have nothing to complain of.
The next conflict will be on Monday night, when the Courtenays will meet the Royals. The latter team are understood to have made some changes in their line-up and promise livelier doings as a consequence.
The batteries last evening were: Royals, Phil Perry and Craft; Courtenays, Fitzgerald and Joyce.

German Press Hard Again In West; Got Back Some Trenches Taken by British; May Be Break Soon With United States

London, June 4, 10.40 p.m.—With the fall of Przemyel, although this does not appear to be the limit of their efforts against the Russians in Galicia, the Germans have again turned their attention to the western front, and simultaneously in Flanders and the province of Artois, France, some official reports of their attacks on positions recently captured by the British and French.
They have succeeded in recovering some of the trenches taken by the British northeast of Givency, and have stormed the Chateau in the village of Hooge, part of which the British still hold, although for a time the British were compelled to evacuate the building, which they had captured Monday night.
The Germans also claim to be in possession of the sugar refinery at Souchez, the loss of which they have not previously acknowledged. While these in themselves are considered small matters in military circles here, they are believed to be the forerunners of a resumption of fighting on a larger scale.
For a time it has been reported that the French were slowly driving out the Germans from strong positions north of Arras and were, in the words of an officer just returned from the front, "punching a hole in the German line." To stop this movement, and also to relieve their troops who, according to the British accounts, were suffering very severely from British attacks and through their own counter-attacks, the Germans have despatched a lot of new troops to the Arras-Ypres line, and apparently are making an effort to take the initiative.
It is not believed here that any of these new detachments have been brought from the eastern front, as all accounts indicate that the Austrians and Germans are still vigorously attacking the Russians, who are falling back to positions between Przemyel and Lemberg. The Russians are endeavoring to hold the line formed roughly by the Lower San, the Wisnia and Dniester rivers, where there are strong natural positions which are covered partly by the great masses of the Dniester.
In Eastern Galicia the Russians claim successes. These, however, are denied by the Austrians.
There has been no change on the Austro-Italian frontier, where the Italians in minor engagements have captured a number of positions, but have not as yet come into contact with the main Austrian forces.
London, June 5, 2.51 a.m.—"The German newspapers," says the Exchange Telegraph's Amsterdam correspondent, "while admitting that the fall of Przemyel is a satisfactory achievement, warn the public against attaching exaggerated importance to it, declaring that this event is overshadowed in importance by the threatening situation created by the attitude of the United States, Roumania and Bulgaria." Private messages from Berlin are pessimistic, and a rupture counter-attacks, the Germans have despatched a lot of new troops to the Arras-Ypres line, and apparently are making an effort to take the initiative.
London, June 4.—An Amsterdam despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company reports a message from Berlin declaring that relations with the United States may be broken off within forty-eight hours.

Once a mother has used to banish all the simple ailments of little ones. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville (Ont.).

Magdore-McManus

In St. Michael's church, Montreal, at 6.30 o'clock on Wednesday morning took place the marriage of Miss Edith Katharine McManus, second daughter of Mrs. D. McManus, to D. J. Magdore, both of St. John. The church was decorated for the occasion with ferns and pink carnations. Rev. Father Luke Callaghan performed the ceremony.
The bride, who was given away by W. R. Cartier, looked charming in a gown of ivory satin with pearl trimmings. Her tulle veil was arranged with orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. She was attended as bridesmaid by Miss Marguerite Cartier, who wore pale blue crepe de chene with white leghorn hat to match, and carried pink roses. The best man was V. R. Conroy of St. John. After receiving breakfast at the residence of Mrs. W. R. Cartier, Mr. and Mrs. Magdore left for Toronto and Niagara Falls. Going away, the bride wore a Copenhagen blue suit and a white leghorn hat, trimmed with ostrich mount and French flowers. They will reside in St. John.

HE WAS DEAN OF BOSTON MERCHANTS

Sketch of B. F. Dutton Who Died Few Days Ago

A PRINCE OF BUSINESS

Knew How to Work Hard and to Rest When Time Came—His Career Makes Interesting and Profitable Reading

The death of Benjamin F. Dutton, president of the Houghton & Dutton Company, of Boston, and a pioneer in the department store business, came as a shock to his business associates and friends.

pany. He was the dean of Boston's great merchants.

Mr. Dutton is survived by his wife, two sons, Harry Dutton and George C. Dutton and five daughters, Mrs. J. C. Claus, Mrs. Peaslee, Mrs. Alfred Lounsbury, Mrs. Alexander McGregor and Mrs. L. C. Jones.

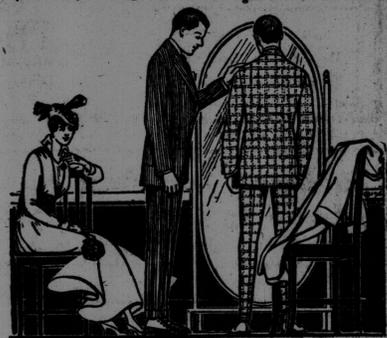

Benjamin Franklin Dutton was a man of great concentration of mind. In his hours or days of business he became so absorbed that nothing could tempt him to abandon the matter in hand, while if he was engaged in recreation he dismissed all else from his mind as thoroughly as recreation had been his only occupation and purpose in life—whether for the time being he was behind a favorite pair of horses, playing a lusty salmon in Canadian waters, winning the cup in a golf tournament at Pinehurst, N. C. or entertaining his friends with exquisite music at home.

This characteristic was well revealed in his own language a few years ago. "In regard to vacations, I hold that a man gains by taking plenty of rest and recreation. A man is fresher and gets a new idea often and quicker by being away for recreation. Flooding work doesn't always make success. A new idea, if it is a good one, does."

His Father a Country Merchant

Mr. Dutton was born at Hillsboro, N. H., Oct. 14, 1861, his parents being Ephraim, a country merchant, and Mrs. Phebe (Wilson) Dutton. He received the rudiments of his education in the common schools of his native town, and was then sent to Norwich, Vt., where he had the advantage of a private class under

STAGE SALARIES FAR AND NEAR

What They Get and What They Say They Get

GENERAL STAGE NOTES

"The Arrival of Kitty" Cancelled; Florence Reed to Rest; Douglas Fairbanks Back With Keith's

Speaking of stage salaries a writer in the New York "Mirror" says:—It would be a fine thing if salaries were as high as the public believes they are. Certain big salaries paid to deserving people have led the general public to conclude that all the people in the profession receive large salaries.

These figures are contrary to the general belief, but they are correct. A girl rehearsed for a long time with a musical show and had a rather prominent minor part. After devoting several weeks to the work there was a misunderstanding and she left and did not open. Her salary was $40 a week. A fellow who is quite attractive in big attractions receives but $30 a week. There are plenty of such instances.

Salaries with "road shows" are still less than the figures here given. The New York two-night stands seldom pay more than $100 to anyone but featured players. Chicago does not pay more than $100 to anyone, except in rare cases.

In the "little" one-night stand attractions, $40 is good money and $50 is big. The major portion of the people work for $30 or $35.

Vanderbilt pays the highest salaries. There is hardly a "single" on the big line who gets less than $100 a week. But lay-offs are frequent, and there are many expenses besides ten per cent commission, divided between the agency and artist's representative. Terms get from $175 up, and from $250 up. On medium time, singles get $75 up, teams $150 up and time $200. There is little difference in the low limit, but big time will go "up" a good deal further than medium time. When Marcus Low took the Sullivan-Cassidine Circuit, he took teams to as low as $125 a week, but it is now theatrical history that the bills were unsatisfactory.

It is true that headliners are often paid big money under the impression that they "draw" at the box office. Musical comedy favorites often get as high as $3,000 a week, although the number of the lucky ones is set at less than a score. Legitimate stars share in the profits to a reasonable salary.

Florence Reed has left the cast of "A Celebrated Case," in which she played the role of Valentine, and has gone to her summer home in Maine. Josephine Victor has succeeded Miss Reed in the play.

Douglas Fairbanks will return to the Keith houses in "A Regular Business Man" late this month. There is a lot of time that has not been played by this super-excellent sketch, which will be a Fairbanks head-winner for a long time to come.

Lady Constance Stewart-Richardson

will return to the States with a new Greek ballad dance, entitled "The Wilderness." The words are by Sturge Moore and the music by Gustave Ferreri. The production is on a magnificent scale. The idea is to revive the Greek ballad dances, using voices as extra instruments in the orchestration.

As an aftermath of the first announcement that Madame Trental had become involved in a chandeliers intrigue with Chas. Radolph Friml comes the announcement that Mrs. Matilda Friml has asked the arrest of her husband for his failure to pay alimony pending the decision of the divorce she has instituted, naming the singer as the co-respondent.

The engagement of "The Arrival of Kitty" at the Opera House has had to be cancelled owing to the illness of the leading lady. The Orpheum Stock Co. will open with an excellent repertoire of plays which should prove of popular interest.

When Sarah Bernhardt heard that Etie Jeanis had refrained from giving imitations of her this year, owing to her illness and recent operation, she sent a telegram to a friend, of which the following is a translation: "All my warmest thanks to charming Etie Jeanis. Tell her that I am well, and by all means let her continue to charm the public with her imitations of me. I shall play in London before sailing for America, and will thank her personally."

With liabilities amounting to $20,000 and no assets, Joseph L. Plunkett, theatrical manager formerly associated with the Liebler Company, has filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy. Theatrical ventures, which resulted disastrously, are given as the cause of the petition.

"LOTTERY OF LOVE" FINE OFFERING AT THE OPERA HOUSE NEXT WEEK

Augusta Daly's Famous Comedy Success by First Class Stock Company

A first class dramatic stock company is to be the attraction at the Opera House for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of the coming week, with a special matinee on Wednesday only.

They will present Augusta Daly's best and most famous comedy success, "The Lottery of Love," a play in which John Drew and Ada Rehan were first starred and which served them as a starring vehicle for two successive seasons. The attractions, styled the Orpheum Stock Company, is not the ordinary traveling stock company, but an organization of first class dramatic players who have been together for some time now presenting the best of rivalry plays in some of the Canadian cities.

The company is under the management of Charles Howson and is headed by Eleanor Flowers and Walter J. Connolly. Miss Flowers played the leading role in one of the Wm. A. Brady companies presenting "Bought and Paid For" last season; Mr. Connolly has been a prominent member in support of Southern and Julia Madowe for the last three years. Others in the company are Frank Bertrand, a member of the Southern-Madowe company for two years; Gwendolen Brook, who has been connected with the Orpheum Stock Company of Philadelphia for two seasons; Jean Archibald, who was with the stock company at Halifax during the last season; Hooper Toler, with Al E. Wilson on tour and at Halifax during the last season; and others of equal merit and standing in the dramatic profession.

As a play, "The Lottery of Love" needs no praising to those who keep posted on things theatrical—it has stood the test of time and is still a favorite. The company is using the original prompt book used by Mr. Daly and the production here will be complete in every detail. Seats are now on sale for all performances.

MORE STAGE STARS FOR FILM PLAYS

Cyril Maude, Jane Gray, Hale Hamilton and Others

NEW NOVELS TO BE FILMED

General Studio Notes; Theodore Roberts to Stay With Lasky; The World's Champion "Movie Fan"

Cyril Maude, an English actor who proved so successful in the States in "Grumpy" and "The Second in Command," has started for the Pacific Coast after signing a contract to make his motion picture debut in a feature staged by the Oliver Morosco Photoplay Company. No announcement has yet been made as to the vehicle chosen for Mr. Maude's first appearance, but rumor has it that "Grumpy" will probably be chosen.

The announcement that Cyril Maude had been secured by Morosco comes closely following the news that George Fawcett was to be presented in a Morosco feature. Mr. Maude was among the most successful of the English actors to visit these shores in recent years. His "Grumpy" took New York by storm and played all of last season on Broadway. This season Mr. Maude had a successful road tour which closed in Cincinnati to start his picture work.

Jane Gray and Hale Hamilton are the latest stars to sign up with Thomas Lince, of the N. Y. M. P. Co. Miss Gray has been a Broadway star for several seasons. Mr. Hamilton will be remembered as J. Rufus Wallingford, of George Coe's production of "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford." Both will be starred in Inceville in big multiple-reel subjects written especially for them.

Pathe has added to its list of popular novels which have been acquired for picture production, the latest being "The Picture of Dorian Gray," by Oscar Wilde; "Nedra," by John Barr McCutcheon, and "Conrad John," by Samuel Merwin and Henry Kitchell Webster.

All of these books have enjoyed such a wide vogue that the features made from them should attract much attention. Each picture will be presented by a stellar cast, the personnel of which will be announced later.

Theodore Roberts, seen in St. John this week in "The Girl of the Golden West," at the Imperial, one of America's foremost character actors, will continue his appearances on the screen, according to an announcement made by the Jesse Lasky Company. Mr. Roberts has had numerous offers to return to the legitimate stage, but he apparently is well satisfied with the screen and the roles given him in the Lasky presentations of Broadway successes.

In response to the demand for the appearance of "important stage comedians on the screen, the Famous Players Company has secured the exclusive motion picture services of Sam Bernard, reputed to be the highest salaried comedian on the stage today. This fact poses added interest because of the numerous efforts made by leading comedians for a long time past to induce talents to the screen. Mr. Bernard ignores these past proposals in the belief that screen comedies were as yet imperfect and he said that only a view of the recent Famous Players comedy features, notably the John Barrymore successes, such as "The Man from Mexico" and "A Moroko Subject" could be depicted on the screen with every artistic and comic advantage.

The Essanay Company has secured the motion picture rights to Costin Hamilton's play, "The Blindness of Virtue," and has started work on a feature adaptation of this piece which proved so successful on the stage under William Morosco's management. The screen production will be made in five reels with Edna Mayo in the leading role. Bryant Washburn will be seen in the opposite part. Rights to several other well-known plays and novels have recently been bought by Essanay for production on the V.L.-S.-E. programme.

NEWS FROM THE GEM

Chas. Chaplin Monday, Francis Bushman Wednesday, "The Submarine Spy" Today

Keen interest was evinced yesterday at the Gem Theatre in the showing of the timely subject "The Submarine Spy" as it pertained to events of war. It was the 18th installment in "The Perils of Pauline," will be repeated today and will be followed by the showing of "In the Grip of the Gollia," the 19th chapter next week. A feature which will be received with popular acclaim will be "The Tramp," a two reel Charles Chaplin comedy to be shown on Monday and Tuesday next. It is well known that those Chaplin comedies are. No more need be said.

The mid-week performance will be featured by a three part production, "The Return of Richard Neal," with Francis Bushman starring. It is the story of a girl under hypnotic influence, and shows how the spell was broken through psychological intervention. The drama is most fascinating. At each change of bill the usual brand of Gem comedies, snappy and bright, will be presented.

GREAT PARIS CREW RACE ON KENNEBECASIS IN WHICH GALLANT RENFORTH DIED

An Old Time Sporting Event Which Drew 20,000 People to River Banks—The Crews, the Race and the Tragedy—Other Happenings of the Day

The following account of the famous Paris crew race, which took place on Wednesday, August 23, 1871, on the Kennebecasis river for a stake bet of 500 pounds sterling, and the championship of the world, will be recalled by older citizens as the greatest sporting event they ever witnessed, and will also furnish interesting reading for thousands who have heard of the great race, but never read a detailed account of it.

THE RACE

The morning was lovely, the sun rose clear, and there was scarcely a breath of air to ruffle the waters or even stir the leaves. Many were astir at three o'clock. By four, the whole city was awake. From all quarters the great stream of heavy covered to the railway station, though there were currents to Indian town and over the Marsh Road.

By seven o'clock the people had gathered in dense masses along the river for at least a mile and a half above the starting point. They covered the slopes and high way in a dense mass, and on every elevated position or object that offered a good view they clustered like swarming bees. The railroad alone must have delivered 15,000 people in a couple of hours and not a few, owing to carriage, and unable to pay railroad fare, went on foot. At Indian town as early as four o'clock there was great activity.

Nearly every steamer owned about St. John was prepared to carry passengers the consequence was that none of them were overcrowded. Between five o'clock and five thirty they all got under way, and the scene presented by them and the innumerable river craft of all kinds, as they pushed up through the Narrows and into the bay, while the morning mists were yet rising from the water, was one of great loveliness.

The steamer soon take line and very little time is expended in getting a clear track. Shortly before seven o'clock the St. John boat was rowed down to the judges' post; the crew in splendid condition and spirits, going in another boat, their pink shirts hidden beneath their ordinary jackets, and by the hour sharp they were ready to enter upon their contest, which was to end so sadly for him. Whilst the St. John men are stripping off their jackets, let us glance at the crews.

The St. John crew are well known, not only in St. John but to the world. They are Robert Fulton, Elias Ross, George Price, age twenty-six, weight 160; Samuel Hutton, age twenty-six, weight 160; George Price, age thirty-four, weight 145. They were all men long of limb and swift in action, not perhaps so muscular as their English opponents, but with great nervous power—and any believer in psychic force might find them good subjects for the development of the theory. They began their career on our own harbor in 1869, soon beating everything that crossed them.

In 1867 they crossed the Atlantic to the Paris International regatta, where they won the two races in which they competed, and that, too, in spite of the disadvantages at which they were placed by an inferior boat. In 1868 they beat the wards, then claiming to be the champion crew of America, at Springfield, in a six mile race, although not making as good time as they had at home. At this time the St. John people were so elated that they presented the crew with a purse of $5,000. The crew has ever maintained its popularity in St. John, and this was evidenced by the willingness with which the St. John people last year staked their money at Lachine, when this same crew went there in September to row a match race with the Tyne crew, so called.

At that race Renforth, the present leader of the English crew, was the leader, although he has now another set of men with him. At Lachine the Paris crew met their first defeat. They and their friends were sure of victory. Their past successes had led to the belief that they were invincible, and there was a feeling among all parties that an Englishman was not a match for a colonist any way. The race was over a six mile course—three miles and back. From the very first the Tyne crew took the lead, and they won handsomely. A large sum of money—it was never known even approximately how much—changed hands on this contest. A challenge for another race followed almost immediately, the Paris crew and their friends feeling that they owed their defeat to circumstances, such as rough water, the absence of wash boards, rather than to any inferiority.

The present race is the result, but it is to be regretted that out of the four Englishmen who rowed at Lachine, only one, Renforth, returns to meet the Paris crew. After the Lachine race a disagreement arose between Renforth and his partners, and he was unable to keep his men together. His new crew, it is however supposed, of some of the very best men who ever pulled an oar on English or any other waters. Renforth is emphatically a waterman.

boat clearly led him two good lengths of the boat. Now, the struggle was over. At the close of a heavy spurt Renforth himself gradually fell backwards and downwards from his seat. Kelly reached out his hand, as if to save him, and at once the English boat turned shorewards. This unlocked for action strongly excited the whole mass. The steamers blew their whistles in token of victory. The masses surged backward and forward. And those near where the boat landed shouted out various cries, all indicative of their contempt for the crew that, as they supposed, had so gloriously deserted the race. Even at the judges' post there was great excitement, for there no one could tell what the trouble was, while all could see that something had gone wrong.

Soon enough, however, the intelligence spread that Renforth had a fit, and was bleeding from the mouth. Even then there were many who thought lightly of this. The St. John men kept steadily on their course, rounding the stake boat in eighteen minutes and two seconds, but they did not make as good time on the home stretch probably because the breeze had freshened and the water had got much rougher than it was at the start. They got home safely in 20 minutes 20 3-5 seconds, amid, of course, the shouts and cheers of the multitude, the screaming of steam whistles and every other demonstration of joy, while men wring each others hands and jumped about like mad men—even even aware that Renforth lay in his death agony but a short distance away.

When the English boat touched the shore it and its crew were hailed with shouts of derision and hisses, from the thoughtless multitude assembled in the vicinity. Under all the subsequent circumstances this is much to be regretted. Renforth had evidently been in great suffering, and after receiving a dose of cold water, rose up and stared around wildly, as if he had awoken from some unpleasant dream, and showed every sign of distress. He was carried by his companions and others to a coach and driven rapidly without covering or medical attendance to his quarters at the Clearmont House.

Here physicians were in immediate attendance upon him. Doctors Johnson, McEwen, Stevens, Bartheux and T. J. O. Earle did everything that the case appeared to demand. They bled the patient, but when they arrived the body was cold on the outside, the blood was driven inward, and not more than a gill of blood flowed from the open parts, and that little relief was afforded to the congested organs. While the physicians were endeavoring to afford relief the patient was breathing very hard, so much so that he articulated very little. In little more than half an hour he breathed his last. Just before his death he spoke to his companions, saying that his breath was leaving him, being conscious of approaching dissolution, and about the last words that he spoke contained the word "win," which was the only word that he distinctly caught. Death occurred at about ten minutes to nine o'clock. The cause of death was said to be congestion of the lungs, super-induced by over-exertion and nervous excitement. The post-mortem examination will make more definite revelations.

It was a heart-breaking sight to see that tall, thin frame lying stiff and dead, the pink-tinged froth oozing from the mouth, and to think that but two hours before it was in the full enjoyment of health and physical vigor. Around his bed stood his companions in his leaving him, being conscious of approaching dissolution, and about the last words that he spoke contained the word "win," which was the only word that he distinctly caught. Death occurred at about ten minutes to nine o'clock. The cause of death was said to be congestion of the lungs, super-induced by over-exertion and nervous excitement. The post-mortem examination will make more definite revelations.

Such a sudden and melancholy end to a man of such renown in his profession as Renforth was, caused of course, much speculation, some of which, others, others of drugging of one kind or another. Mr. Peary, a quiet, gentlemanly member of the Tyne crew, told the writer of this that he never saw Renforth in better spirits than just before the race this morning. He said that he and some of the quarters just before going out to the

But all his efforts were unsuccessful, for a few moments his boat seemed to gain on his opponent, then it dropped back, another effort and it caught up slowly, but the win, the dash, the life was all in the St. John boat. About Appleby's wharf, where probably about two-thirds of a mile had been rowed, and at the approach to which Renforth made his final struggle, the St. John taken place and a sad tragedy had resulted.

There were several disturbances on the road near Clearmont House between 10 and 11 o'clock. A young man named McClary, who appeared very anxious to fight early in the forenoon, was badly beaten. He had been fighting with a young man named Ring, and while standing against a fence was pummeled until he was insensible, when he was removed to McGowan's yard. There was a large scar made in his neck, and he bore other marks of serious ill-treatment. Medical aid was procured and he was brought to his senses.

The number of persons who arrived in this city yesterday and last night must have been enormously large. The steamers "New England" and "New Brunswick" were crowded, bringing upward of 1600 passengers. The two Prediction boats arrived early in the morning with great crowds, and the "Ida Whittier" with excursionists and accompanied by a brass band, arrived during the night, and took its position on the river very early. The "City of Saint John" brought from Annapolis a large number also.

As a matter of right, and not as a matter of appeal, that every one of its citizens should do his best, and he did not believe that there was any objection to it being made a legal right and duty.

CANADIAN LOBSTERS ALL THROUGH MONTH OF JUNE (Boston Globe, Thursday).

As a result of a new law passed by the Canadian government, the season for the shipment of live lobsters has been extended thirty days.

East End League
In the East End league last evening the Nationals defeated the Commercial, 7 to 2. The game was very interesting until the last of the fourth when the home team took a balloon ascension; error followed error and there was a rain of wild throws. When the team eventually steadied they again played well. Out of the nine batters on the Nationals' line-up, eight were left-handed, thus making it hard for a right hand pitcher. Bud Shepherd, a popular member of Mack's Musical Berne company, played right field for the Nationals and showed that he possesses baseball as well as theatrical ability. Minor Leagues in Distress.
It is predicted that the International League will not last another month, here the Philadelphia Ledger. In Newark, conflicting with the Federal League, the International League seems to be in a bad way. On last Saturday fewer than 200 people attended. In other places the grip has such a grip on the people that their clubs have not been able to draw at all. Other cities are complaining also, and there does not seem to be a chance for the league to keep its head above water.

In the West the American Association is running behind, but not so badly as the Western League.
The smaller leagues already are crying for help. The Georgia State League is about to close up. America has thrown up its franchise. The Nebraska state league, which has just started, is also thinking of playing independent of organized ball in order to get the support it needs to command the support of the public.

Question of the moment. Got your tax bill yet?

And another q. o. t. m.—"How'd you like it?"

The best way to speak of Przemysl is to say that the Austrians won a victory unpronounced.

In Our Letter Box.

To the Man in the Street:

Dear Sir—There is just one suggestion I would like to add to those advanced for Town Planning and Civic Improvement: Let there be Window-Washing Day, in addition to a Clean-Up Day, so that the windows in some houses and stores, may look more like windows than side streets where the watering cart pays no visit.

Yours,
I. V. SEENEM.

Grand Lake's On The Map!

The city still owes a debt to the rural parts. I. C. R. Pollockman Roberts said to City Detective Worell in police court yesterday, "You may be from Scotland Yard, but I'm from Grand Lake."

It seems hard to believe that the Kaiser wishes to entomb Holland in the war. He should know the force of the old song, "It takes the Dutch to beat the Dutch," and he has no Irishmen with him.

And if the Roumanians come in, they probably feel that they can put more Roum in Roumania by doing so.

Self-Denial Day.

Many a June bridegroom is glad he wasn't married on Thursday, as some of his friends might say he had given up too much.

"Severe earth tremors recorded at New York," says local headline. This was on the same day that Von Bernstorff was interviewing Wilson.

A Deep Study.

The Germans may now believe that there's more to this submarine warfare than appears on the surface. One of their transports in the Sea of Marmora was torpedoed this week.

Watford Waiting.

Indianian residents are still daily expecting to see men put to work with that extra $100 on Victoria Square. Meanwhile the cars are being fixed up with a choice assortment of decayed vegetables, over-ripe fruit, and other matters. A peddler of such refuse is contributing refuse to the "dump," that looked as though it had lain in his hands since last fall, thus varying the quota brought forth by spring.

Entomologists could secure some rare specimens on the "square," so-called.

FLOWERS IN WINDOWS OF BUSINESS HOUSES

Here is Suggestion For Beautifying of City

It is Likely To Be Taken Up For Discussion in Retail Merchants Association—Householders and All Might Co-operate

Here is an idea, new to St. John, which might be employed to add beauty and distinction to the city streets. It is a suggestion that business houses as well as householders, should use window displays of flowers to add to the attractiveness of the city's appearance.

In a city hewn out of solid rock, where each estate has been valuable to spare for garden plots, lawns or other signs of greenery in the streets, something else is needed to give place for the purpose of removing the bareness of the appearance of most of the city streets. If the residential sections had a little more grass these things might not be missed in the business section. As it is the central part of the city, and even some of the outlying districts, have a bleak appearance which does not impress strangers favorably.

A campaign for the beautifying of the city by the use of flowers grown in window boxes has been suggested in order to improve conditions. The suggestion is that every householder secure such boxes and use them on their window sills and that business houses co-operate and place the boxes in the upper windows of their buildings. The cost would be small, the amount of attention required insignificant, but the difference in the general appearance of the city would be marked. Not only would the gayly colored flowers add a bit of brightness to the city streets but they would give visitors the impression that this is a city with sufficient pride in itself to pay some attention to appearances.

The experiment has been tried in several cities in the United States with great success and there can be few cities in which such an undertaking would be more appreciated than in St. John.

N. C. Cameron, secretary of the Retail Merchants' Association, is an enthusiast on this subject and is now preparing boxes for the windows of his offices in Prince William street, partly for his own satisfaction and partly to show others what it would look like. Other members of the association are interested in the idea and it is probable that the matter will be up for discussion by the next meeting of the association next week.

Imagine looking up King street or Prince William street and seeing instead of the rows of plain brick and stone buildings with nothing to ornament them but the festoons or electric light and telephone wires, every building gay with flowering plants. It would make a difference, wouldn't it?

PATRIOTIC TEA AT STONEYCROFT

An Event of Next Week at the Popular Tea House Two Miles Beyond Robtsey

If one of the old time roysters of the pre-railway days, whose occasional habit it was to drive out to the Eleven Mile House for supper with some friends, were to come back and seek to live over again the old days, would find some changes. In the first place, he would probably go out in an automobile. Then he would not recognize his old haunts as he was whirled along the Marsh Road, past Glen Falls, Renforth, Riverside, and Prince Edward Falls, with the endless vista of summer cottages. And when he reached the Eleven Mile House, two miles beyond Robtsey, on the Hampton Road, he would find the ancient hostel of that name, known so well to all travelers of those days, converted into the Stoneycroft Tea House of today, serving refreshments to automobile parties, with none of the atmosphere of the days of old.

More than forty years ago the late D. Magee purchased what had been the Eleven Mile House, with its farms of over a hundred acres, and used it as a summer home. Members of the family now live there all the year round, and Harry Magee cultivates the farm, and is gradually establishing a fine hennery. Two years ago Harry Magee opened tea rooms in the spacious old house, and it has become well beloved of motorists and others who pass that way, and famous for its home-cooked and pleasant country atmosphere. The view from the grounds across the valley to Robtsey and the Kennebecasis is very fine, and there is a pleasant walk through the field and a large grove to the pretty lake nearby. It is the habit of those who know and appreciate the place to telephone ahead, and then motor out from the city for supper and return during the evening.

On Thursday evening of next week there will be a Patriotic Tea at Stoneycroft, the total proceeds to go for patriotic purposes. Some of their neighbors are assisting the Misses Magee, and a large attendance is expected, not only of people from Quispamsis and that section, but from Robtsey and the city. Many who have not been visitors in the past will no doubt take advantage of this opportunity for a delightful outing. Stoneycroft is close beside the road, with printed signs on either side. It is about one mile from Quispamsis station.

DRAFT FROM 28TH TO ENGLAND

A draft of one officer and between forty and fifty members of the 28th Field Battery is being organized to go to England as reinforcements. Major Randolph Crocker, the officer commanding the 28th Battery, called for volunteers, and practically every member of the battery at once offered. The dispatching of this draft will open up practically fifty vacancies in the 28th, and thus an opportunity will be given those on the waiting list who want to join the unit an opportunity to enlist.
