SENSATIONAL STATEMENTS IN POLICE CHIEF HEARING

Commissioner McLellan Makes Main Speech Before Legislature Committee

Serious Matters Spoken of and Draw Remarks From Premier Flemming—Bill Now in Hands of Law Committee—Other St. John Legislation

(Special to Times) Frederick, N. B., Feb. 23—The question of who shall appoint the chief of police, the city of St. John or the government, held the attention of the law committee in the legislature this morning, and the interest was so great that the assembly chamber was used for the hearing.

Affidavit of Douglas McArthur, which stated that Commissioner McLellan had said in conversation with him that, as he had not succeeded in getting the evidence from him, who was a former chairman of the safety board, that he wished, he would not report until he had found somebody who would give it.

Before closing Mr. Mullin dealt with the laws in force relating to the police force and also read some letters from other cities showing that the police were more or less controlled by governments.

Mr. McLellan First Speaker The bill was supported first by Commissioner McLellan, who made a lengthy and vigorous speech based upon his experience with the head of the police department and the investigation he had held into the service. He dealt rather with the abuses that had crept into the force because the city had no control over the head of the department.

Other St. John Bills The bill giving power to the city of St. John to enact its own by-laws was presented to the committee and explained by Recorder Baxter. The committee referred the bill to the favorable consideration of the house.

Financing of Valley Railway Affected by Tight Market Negotiations for Additional Bond Issue Said to Have Been Dropped—Price of the First

Frederick, N. B., Feb. 28—A rumor is current here that the tightness of the money market is somewhat embarrassing to those who are financing the Valley Railway. The bonds guaranteed by the province did not bring as much as was expected. The price was 95 3/4 and by the time the expenses are paid the company will be lucky to have $85 for every $100. The difference between that figure and part of the whole guarantee of about $5,000,000 amounts to the tidy profit of $300,000.

How Sleep May Be Induced

EVERY woman searching for health and beauty should take to heart the old saying that "one hour of sleep before midnight is worth three after." Unfortunately, very few women in these days of hurry and flurry, not only do not get this so-called beauty sleep, but frequently resist the nighting, prying for the sleep that comes not. The inevitable result of this is that the nerves become disordered, the digestive organs, the eyes dull and the complexion cloudy.

Sleep is one of the strongest foundations of health. It is essential to beauty, so a little attention to the pros and cons will prove well worth your while.

If you wish sleep to woo your eyelids, then never go to bed hungry, as an empty stomach means a restless night. Do not infer from this that you are to forego heavy meals and strong black coffee before drawing on your bewitching bed cap, as such a meal would keep your eyes wide open. No, instead of meat and coffee, take a glass of hot milk and consume it leisurely just before you turn out the lights. If you crave something a wee bit more substantial, then nibble a lettuce sandwich or a crisp hamlet.

To get the best results from the above treatment, it would be well to sponge the body off with hot water just before drinking the warm milk.

This efficient remedy for sleeplessness is well worth the trying, simple trouble it is. In this connection it is worth bearing in mind that costly treatments are not always the most effective.

Then She Understood
They had inserted a want ad calling the attention of the room hunters to two rooms in an elegantly appointed flat. The usual hen-baiting phrase, "gentlemen preferred," had been added merely to give the "gentlemen" first call for the rooms. Along about 6.18 p. m. the telephone bell began to ring, and kept a-jingle for two hours. Peculiarly enough every voice that answered the advertisement was flattered with the tongue of Kaiser Wilhelm. "You have got a room for rent, yes?" "Der rooms vot you haf are near der German house, sut!" the second voice piped.

"How close is it far from der Monument?" the third voice inquired.

All evening long there was a German accent to the telephone, and the woman with rooms to rent became bewildered.

"Have all of the Germans in Indianapolis been fired from their homes?" she asked herself. "I've done nothing but answer German calls tonight."

"Better look at the advertisement and see what it says," one of the other roomers suggested. She did. The ad said: "Germania preferred."—Indianapolis News.

TRAINING A MAID FOR HOUSEWORK

(Copyright, 1913, McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

The housemaid of the past are up in arms for their rights and the housemistresses of the land have difficulty in maintaining them. In several cities—Cleveland for one—housemaids' unions are forming with the object of educating maids to do their work scientifically. In many cities there are women's clubs and organizations the purpose of which is to initiate housewives into the scientific side of housekeeping and to look into the relation of mistress and maid.

Ignorance—sometimes of the part of the maid, sometimes on the part of both—is doubtless at the bottom of the trouble. Education is the one means to solve the problem, and every effort made to further this sort of education is a move in the right direction.

Many maids who enter service as general houseworkers are spoiled in the first month in their position through ignorance or laziness on the part of their employers. Habits are easily formed and broken with difficulty, and if a mistress lets certain duties go undone just because her new maid is "green" she will have difficulty later on.

When a woman hires an inexperienced maid she should begin with the maid and feel that she is willing to spend time, patience and consideration in the new maid's training.

UNDERSTAND EACH OTHER.
Next she should come to an understanding with the girl about wages—make a definite proposition for a certain wage, with regular increases at stated times until a maximum wage is reached.

The mistress should then map out plan of the duties the maid is expected to perform. Honesty concerning hours of work, number in family and frequency of guests is a good policy. If a maid is told that unexpected company to dinner is unusual, that luncheon must sometimes be served at twelve, sometimes at halfpast one and that in a few weeks some cousin or aunt or grandmother is coming to spend the rest of the winter she generally accepts the facts as stated with much better grace than she would accept the visiting relative, the shifting luncheon hours and the unexpected company without previous warning.

A new maid should never be taken on schedule. For instance, when there is illness and the house is turned topsy-turvy for the accommodation of patient and nurses; if it is housecleaning time, or if there is a holiday crowd of children home from school and visitors on hand. Proper training of a maid at such times is impossible.

MAKING A LIST OF DUTIES.
It is a good plan for the housewife to give the new maid a list of the duties she is to perform. If the maid objects to their number and character perhaps a little consultation about them will bring about an understanding satisfactory to both.

A general housework maid is supposed to care for fires, piazzas and sidewalk; sweep, scrub, clean windows and best rug; keep kitchen and dining room and parlors in order, clean the silver, do plain cooking, and if the laundry work is not heavy do that. Nowadays, however, it is always necessary to come to an understanding about the branch of the work. If the laundry work is heavy and a laundress is employed the general maid is generally required to launder certain articles, such as table linen, dish towels and her own clothes.

Aside from these duties the general housemaid's duties differ. She is generally willing to wait on the table, and some general housemaids take pride in their ability to do really good waiting. She is generally asked to make the beds and keep all the rooms dust free. But in many cases where only one maid is kept the women of the family willingly do the bedroom work and parlor dusting to relieve the maid.

A maid should never be asked to beat heavy rugs or carpets. They do not need beating every week, but when they do a strong man should be hired to take care of them. Once in a while, too, if it can be afforded, a man should be hired for half a day to clean the cellar or attic, scour outside window sills, give the piazzas an extra scrubbing and do other things to rest and relieve the maid.

General housework maids usually are willing to wear a costume. Light, cotton frocks for morning should always be worn. For afternoon and evening, if the maid does not care to wear the conventional afternoon maid's frock of black, with white cap, collar, cuffs and apron, she can wear a blue or pink chambray dress with a white apron. Fresh white aprons should be a part of every houseworker's equipment, whether the worker is employer or employe.

There is no possible justification for the hope that a maid will be contented even if her work is not too hard, if she is kept as an attractively furnished as possible. A kitchen with buff or green patterned curtains, a comfortable chair or two, white curtains at the windows and a few rag rugs to match the wall is no more expensive and no harder to take care of than one of surpassing ugliness. If the maid likes flowers, a potful geranium or primrose on the window sill will give much pleasure, and certainly will not inconvenience any member of the household.

The maid's bedroom should have light, washable walls, a clean and comfortable white iron bed, some sort of a chest of drawers and a good mirror, rug on the floor, wash curtains at the windows, a good picture or so on the walls, some place for her to hang her clothes, a well equipped washstand, and a comfortable chair.

Absolute order and cleanliness should be maintained by the maid both in her own room and in the kitchen. Her room should be under regular inspection by the mistress of the house, and she should not resent any reminder that her room is untidy or unclean. It is the housekeeper's duty and privilege to insist that all bedrooms are kept in order.

HOURS OF WORK.
One of the housemaid's unions limits the working hours of housemaids to seven hours a week, and no work after eight o'clock in the evening. These hours are reasonable. Every normal woman ought to be able to get through the work of the day with sufficient expedition to allow her to rest for an hour or so every afternoon. The eight o'clock evening limit to work might be difficult to arrange for in some cases, but if both mistress and maid are sensible, the matter can be finished with her evening's work within half an hour after the family finishes dinner.

If the dinner hour is late the maid should eat her own dinner before she serves the family; she can generally manage to eat in the kitchen in order by the time dinner is cooked, and she can get many of the dishes out of the way in the moments when her services are not required in the dining room. Out of consideration to the maid the mistress should not call her to the dining room after the dessert is passed; and the family should adjourn to the living or drawing room for all after dinner conversation.

Sandwiches left over from an afternoon tea or reception need not be looked upon as just so much waste material. The careful housewife utilizes them in many ways.

Ham sandwiches can be transformed into a breakfast dish simply by toasting them to a golden brown and pouring over them a cream sauce into which have been stirred minced ham and parsley. Where a more hearty breakfast dish is desired allow one poached egg to two small sandwiches, arranging the eggs on the toast before covering with the cream sauce.

For luncheon cheese sandwiches may be utilized in a similar fashion, mixing chopped hard cooked egg and grated cheese with the white sauce. Or place the toasted cheese sandwiches around the edge of a baking dish, fill with cooked macaroni and sprinkle with cheese.

Try toasting chicken sandwiches and covering with a white sauce mixed with fresh chopped mushrooms and shreds of green pepper. If there is any cold chicken at hand, either fried or canned, some small pieces will prove a desirable addition to the sauce. A little chicken soup used in making the white sauce will result in a richer dish with added flavor of the chicken.

Where asparagus, spinach or stewed celery is to be served toasted sandwiches are excellent used as a garnish. Chicken combined particularly well with these vegetables and ham and tongue are almost as good.

Plain bread and butter sandwiches are easily utilized. They are good dipped in this batter and fried like French toast or they may be used for the lining of a pudding dish, with a filling of canned or fresh fruit. When baked, the bread and butter sandwiches will be crisp and deliciously flavored with the fruit.

Sweet sandwiches of marmalade, preserved fruit or jelly are best used as a simple, sweet course at luncheon or dinner. Saute them in a little butter, dry on blotting paper and serve crisp and hot with coffee, tea or chocolate.

PRECEPTS OF A PRESIDENT.
The words which John Adams wrote to his wife years before he knew he would some day be the second president of the United States and that the son to which he referred would also some day be president, are good watchwords for any parent.

"The education of our children," he wrote, "is never out of my mind. Train them to virtue. Habituate them to industry, activity and spirit. Make them consider every vice as shameful and unmanly."

A novel scheme of preventing drunkenness has been devised by the police of Copenhagen. When a weary one is found he is taken home in a cab, the fare being charged to the publican who supplied the liquor.

FAMILY COUGH SYRUP

Cures Any Cough in Five Hours

NEW PRESCRIPTION HERE

Here is given the most effective cough prescription known to the medical world. It is a mild laxative, too, and this is what the body needs when suffering with cough and cold on the lungs. A cough or cold indicates poisons in the system, causing inflammation and congestion. Nearly all cough syrups relieve, but make the troubles worse by their constipating effects. This prescription not only relieves quickly but it cures any cough that is curable. Get one-half ounce fluid wild cherry bark, one ounce compound essence cardui and three ounces syrup white pine compound. Mix in bottle. Take for acute cough or bronchitis twenty drops every half hour for four hours. Then one-half to one teaspoonful three or four times daily. Give children less according to age. A few hours' treatment will cure and heal the throat and lungs of all but consumption. Cut this out and give it to some friends who may need it to be saved from an early death by consumption.

Be wiser than other people if you can, but do not tell them so.

Thorough Examinations

A satisfactory pair of glasses consists of a great deal more than two lenses with a metal mounting. But for this skill to be of value its work must be based on a careful examination of your eyes. The examinations we make are most thorough and exact, and every pair of glasses we supply is fully guaranteed.

BIRTHDAYS OF NOTABILITIES

FEBRUARY TWENTY-EIGHTH.

The Right Rev. T. J. Dowling, Bishop of Hamilton, celebrates his seventy-third birthday today. Born in Limerick, Ireland, he came to Canada as a boy and was ordained a priest in 1864. For twenty-two years he was stationed as parish priest at Paris, Ont. In 1887 he was raised to the bishopric of Peterboro, being transferred to Hamilton two years later.

Dr. Wilfred Grenfell, of Labrador fame, was also born on February 28. His native place was Parquette, Quebec, England, and the year of his birth was 1865. He graduated in medicine at Oxford in 1889 and the following year accepted the office of superintendent of the Mission to Deep Sea Fishermen. In 1892 he first sailed for Labrador, and his work on that coast has since become familiar to all men. He has received many honors and has written numerous books on his experience.

The Hon. W. C. Stannum, justice judge of the Supreme Court of Alberta since 1910, was born at Tara, Ont., on February 28, 1865. He is an honor graduate of the University of Toronto, following which he became principal of the Lethbridge schools. He took up the study of law and was called to the bar in 1890, since when he has practiced his profession in Lethbridge. He has sat in the provincial legislature, but was defeated in an attempt to enter the House of Commons.

Lighter vein could afford it. "My dear, my salary has been raised." "Good. Now I can start in being extravagant."

Cruel to be kind. "What makes you carry that horrible shriek machine for an automobile signal?" "For humane reasons," replied Mr. Clougher. "I can paralyze a person with fear if he will keep still and I can run to one side of him."

Model husband. "Is he really a good husband to her?" "Really—he lets her read the sporting page first—Puck."

For hoarseness. Father was examining the mechanism of an auto "hooker" that was out of order. "What are you going to do with it?" asked Benjamin, aged nine years. "I think I'll try pouring a little oil in it," replied the father. "Oh—nothing!" exclaimed Benjamin, "what that thing needs is cough syrup."—Youngstown Telegram.

Why waste words? "Hello! Is that you, John?" "Yes."

"Did you go to the store and order the things I spoke about when you left this morning?" "Why, to tell you the truth, Maria—"

Unconventionalities. "Squibbly, some of your friends say you're not as big a fool as you look, but you are." "If you'll glance at that dollar watch of yours, Mr. Lingerling, you will find it's about the same size."

Up and down. "That would be great at home when the baby is possible," remarked Mr. Youngblood, as he watched the ship's heaving deck. "What's that?" "That deck; a regular self-walking floor."—Exchange.

Reversing things. Hewitt—What do you think of this nutcracker business? Jewett—If it is carried to its logical conclusion it will result in woman putting her money in her husband's name.—Judge's Library.

As one who knows. Fig—Does your grocer sell his apples by the barrel? Fogg—Well, they come in barrels, but what he sells them in is the top layer.—Boston Transcript.

WHERE RUINED BUSINESS MEN FIND A HOME

(London Tit-Bits) Gratitude, as well as benevolence, has played an important part in the founding of our many charitable institutions. In the history of homes for the poor and distressed are to be found a number of splendid examples of men and women who, actuated by their gratitude for some good fortune which has befallen them, decide to share their wealth in perpetuity with their less fortunate brothers and sisters by founding a home for their benefit.

In the annals of charity, however, it is doubtful if there is a more romantic story than that concerning the foundation of Morden's College near Greenwich, which has lately been advertising for "gentlemen" in reduced circumstances desirous of becoming inmates of the college home. The latter has accommodation for forty-nine inmates, who must be men of good character, either widowers or unmarried, and not under sixty years of age, who shall have been either merchants or manufacturers or have been engaged as principals in some wholesale trade or business for not less than ten years, and who, from misfortune or accident, have become reduced in circumstances. Morden's College was established by Sir John Morden, Bart., who died in 1708, and who founded the college eight years before his death. He himself was a merchant, who, through singular circumstances, thought himself a ruined man.

Sir John, after living for a number of years in Turkey, amassed a considerable fortune, and, deciding to return to London, placed the whole of his merchandise on three ships, but, like the missing vessels of Antonio in "The Merchant of Venice," they did not turn up, and after a time were given up as lost. The consequence was that the once wealthy merchant was reduced to great poverty, and it was only by acting as agent for certain tradesmen that he was able to earn a livelihood.

For ten years Sir John thus struggled on, and then, to his great amazement, one day came the news that his long-lost ships had arrived in port. In the joy of the moment he vowed to build an asylum for decayed merchants.

He purchased from the crown the manor of Old Court, Greenwich, and on what was known as the Great Stone Field he erected a college from designs by Sir Christopher Wren. The original college consisted of a chapel in the centre and apartments for twelve residents, who dined together in a common room. Since those days, however, it has been considerably altered, and, as already mentioned, there is now accommodation for forty-five inmates who not only are provided with separate sets of apartments, with furniture, but also with a common room, and, in addition, an allowance of £100 annually, with an extra £25 for personal laundry. In addition to the resident inmates, it might be mentioned that the trustees of the college pay to 125 out-pensioners sums of £20 each, and six positions of £20 each annually to the widows of decayed merchants.

Altogether the founding of the college cost Sir John £100,000, and for a couple of centuries "poor, honest and discreet" merchants who have lost their estates by accidents, dangers, and perils of the sea, or by any other accidents, ways, or means, in their honest endeavor to get their living by way of merchandise, to quote the original wording of the deeds of the endowment, have been thus cared for by the munificent bequest of the generous-hearted Sir John Morden.

The vitality and endurance of the average Chinese are remarkable. I doubt if there exists a nation anywhere better qualified to illustrate the "survival of the fittest." From a physical point of view the body of the Chinese is a perfect specimen of human anatomy. I have seen this class of natives work like pack horses carrying heavy loads upon their shoulders, and like horses pulling heavy loads along the thoroughfares of the city and countryside. They even take the place of horses at the plow. Among no class of people have I ever observed an exhibition of more wonderful powers of endurance.

The native on live in the torrid zone, in the temperate zone or in frigid Northern Manchuria. He can bear hunger, thirst or exhaustion. Yet there seems to be a cold-blooded paradox about the Chinese who are sick and falling. Little can be learned at a statistical way regarding this phase of Chinese health. The medical dispensaries and hospitals which I visited revealed the widest range of diseases, both medical and surgical cases, which had been turned over in despair to the medical skill of the "foreign devils."

Infant mortality is enormously high and while the average native birth rate is unknown, yet the Chinese women are very prolific. In many instances the Chinese possess several wives. Frequently I have observed old people engaged in heavy labor either in the fields or transporting freight and baggage in the Chinese cities. Eventually, with such a strong and vigorous heredity back of the prospective generation of Mongolians, and with the present advanced sanitary methods of modern science pushing in among the native people the Chinese race will become an increasingly wonderful, strong and vigorous nation.—Kansas City Star.

GREAT SUCCESS OF SPENCER CONCERT

Very Large Audience in Opera House in Tribute to Poet—Excellent Programme Keenly Enjoyed

Great interest was shown in the Longfellow evening at the Opera House last night for the benefit of the aged St. John post, H. L. Spencer. The concert was under the auspices of the Women's Canadian Club, of which Mrs. E. A. Smith is president. The evening's programme was made up of addresses on the poet Longfellow, by Mrs. Smith, musical selections of a very high order, and several very striking tableaux.

All the contributors were local people and their work was highly praised. Only in the case of an attraction at the theatre that is unique to the people come in such large numbers, the Opera House being crowded. The attention and hearty appreciation of the audience was much in evidence during the entire evening, and the programme, though long, was interesting from start to finish.

His Worship Mayor Frink presided and in opening the concert briefly referred to the object of the evening's entertainment. He told of the long and honorable association of Mr. Spencer with the press of the city, and spoke feelingly of the necessities that compelled the present assistance. Mrs. E. A. Smith was then introduced by his worship and opened the entertainment with two selections from Mr. Spencer's poems, which were heartily applauded by the audience. Mrs. Smith who had thoroughly mastered her subject, described in detail many of Longfellow's works, reading portions of them in a strikingly dramatic manner. She spoke of his visits abroad and their result on his work, and mentioned specifically many of the associations around which Longfellow had woven his poems.

OUR BORROWING IN AN OLD COUNTRY

Twenty Millions in Two Weeks For Canadian Issues

Views of the Economist

"Greater the London Discrimination Better For Canada as a Borrower"—Close Inspection of Land Proponents in Dominion

(Times Special Correspondence.)

London, Feb. 27.—Canadian issues put on the market during the last two weeks amounted to nearly twenty million dollars and issued for several millions more are to be made in the near future.

A brief examination of investment conditions will be interesting as showing the enormous extent to which the energies of issuing houses have been taken up with Canadian securities since the beginning of the year.

According to Lord Faber more than 200,000,000 were found for new companies during January, as against $110,000,000 during January last year.

Only $24,000,000 of this amount were placed in this country; nearly $185,000,000 went to Canada.

That shows at once the attraction of Canada to the British investor.

It is a natural thing that is remembered that, as a result of home currency depreciation this year, money is becoming dearer.

Lord Faber complained of this neglect and urged that the government should be urged to moderate in Canadian investments.

As an illustration of the position, he mentioned that a certain bank had to collect a bill of $2,000 from a Canadian corporation, and the bill came back unpaid with a request that it should be presented when the corporation had obtained the proceeds of a loan from England.

Certainly the long proffered advice of financial writers on this side to the effect that the dominion must slow up for a time or supply the money that is not wanted by investors, though at least two of the recent issues had a dismal reception.

In addition to public issues, some Canadian manufacturers who require a moderate amount of capital to extend their plant have been endeavoring personally to get it, and speaking generally when they have a good prospect of success in securing the money they require.

On the other hand London is full of Canadian speculators and company promoters who are offering as agents for land companies in Canada, and it is not too much to say that it is obvious some of them must be unsatisfied.

Probably in no previous year we had so large a number of "private" class loans for money, that are confined to London.

In the large provincial cities are to be found branch offices, and where there is no direct representation usually a firm of looking agents and others who have associations with Canada and are acting as agents for land companies in Canada.

Never were Canadian demands for money so large, and never were they so closely scrutinized.

Views of the Economist

Canadian papers have recently complained of the Canadian industrialists do not obtain sufficient support on this side of the Atlantic.

In the absence of a comprehensive reply to this complaint is given by "The Economist," which gives the following information as to the position in Canada.

"The better the country and the greater the resources, the more the industrialists are in the piling up of liabilities. The more London discriminates as a lender, the more the industrialists are in the piling up of liabilities."

It finds the reason of the reception given to Canadian industrialists in the industrialists have been estimated at about one-fifth. Canada has had its slump in the past, though it is not the memory of these things that is the cause of the present. It is the cause of the present in the low average quality of the investments which have been made in Canada.

"Some of them, of course, have been proved a failure. If a failure the bondholders lose everything; if it is a success the paper capital becomes of substantial value—'heads I win, tails you lose' argument."

As to Land

The movement in Canadian land is generally conceded to be much reduced. This is to be expected. There have been so many allegations of sharp practice (to use a mild term for the "tricks" and equivalent names which have been used) that the effect is being severely felt by Canadian realty men.

Probably they are all suffering for the want of a few; that they would do so was pointed out many months ago, as inevitable. Extracts from Canadian papers like "Saturday Night" exposing land "swindlers" are copied and reprinted in the natural result that real estate operations are regarded with suspicion.

Instead of purchasing land in London there is a disposition on the part of fairly large purchasers to go to Canada to examine for themselves, and this is a point of view which has been made in London and find that they are not "Paradise" but will be further trouble which will react on the Canadian real estate business generally and will increase the present depression.

RACES WERE GOOD; A LARGE NUMBER THERE

One of the most successful series of races ever held in the city was that of last night in Victoria Park. The principal attraction was "Bobby" McLean, of Chicago, world's champion, and although he was beaten in most of the events by the local stakers, he was never in a color race before. Perhaps the best event of the evening was the match race between McLean and Hilton Belyea. The distance was one mile, and although McLean had the advantage for the first half, Belyea gradually reduced the lead and crossed the line to win. The time was 2:46, only four seconds slower than the rink record.

In the open mile race McLean made the race all the way, but at the last spurt Garnet, who was following McLean closely, passed the champion and won by a very small margin.

All the other events were closely contested. The prompt manner in which they were run off was the cause of favorable comment among the 2,000 spectators.

The winners in the different events and bets were as follows:

220 yards open—First heat: Harrington, let; Logan, 2nd; time, 22 sec. Second heat: Coleman, let; Thorne, 2nd; time, 21 sec. Third heat: McLean, let; Garnet, 2nd; time, 21 sec. The final of the 220 was won by Thorne in 21 seconds, with Coleman second. McLean did not get away at the start and remained out of the event.

Boys, under 12 years (half mile)—Final, Colwell, let; Costello, 2nd. Time, 1 min. 49 sec.

440 yards open—First heat, Bell, let; Merritt, 2nd; time, 41 sec. Second heat: McLean, let; Harrington, 2nd; time, 48 sec. Third heat: Garnet, let; Coleman, 2nd; time, 44 sec.

The final in the 440 was won by Bell in 42:55 sec., with Garnet second. McLean fell at the start.

Snow shoe race—Hanson, let; Kylin, 2nd; time, 1 min. 17 sec.

Boys, under 10 years (one half mile)—Boyer, let; Bridges, 2nd; time, 1 min. 38:15 sec.

880 yards open—First heat: Donovan, let; Harrington, 2nd; time, 1 min. 33:35 sec. Second heat: McLean, let; Thorne, 2nd; time, 1 min. 29 sec. Third heat: Tracy, let; Bell, 2nd; time, 1 min. 34 sec. The final in the 880 yards was won by Tracy in 1 min. 31 sec., with Thorne second.

The half-mile race for boys under 18 was won by Gorman in 1 min. 37:15 sec. Alberta stops crawling for drink, builds up the system, steadies the nerves. It is guaranteed to cure or benefit or money refunded after trial.

NOVA SCOTIA REVENUE FROM MINES $790,280

Largest in History of Province—Nearly All Was From Coal

(Halifax Chronicle.)

The report of the department of mines was laid on the table of the house of assembly yesterday afternoon. This report as presented by Hon. E. N. Armstrong, commissioner of works and mines was unusually encouraging and satisfactory, particularly in view of the fact that the mines office received during the last fiscal year a larger revenue from the mines of the province than ever before in its history.

The amount was $791,388.63, of which $783,162.75 was the royalty on coal.

The report covers a wide range of mining operations, there being no less than nineteen different minerals detailed in the report.

The table of mining operations is a fair index of the variety of mining operations the report covers, including production, revenue, machinery installation, accidents, mining examinations, tables of production and sales, labor, sales to the United States, and comparative statements of yearly production.

The mineral production for the year ended September 30th, 1912, were as follows:

Table of mineral production for 1912 including Coal raised (gross tons), Pig iron made (net tons), Steel ingots made (net tons), Limestone quarried (net tons), Coke made (net tons), Gypsum quarried (net tons), Building stones quarried (net tons), Minerals (net tons), Iron ore (net tons), Drain pipe and tile made (feet), Grindstones quarried (net tons), Gold bearing ore mined (feet), Gold produced (ounces), Manganese ore (net tons), Antimony concentrates (net tons), Molybdenum, Tungsten concentrates (net tons), Sulphate of Ammonia (gross tons), Bayley.

NAVY VOTE IN HOUSE WAS A POPULAR MINORITY OF 2,000

Ottawa, Feb. 28.—Though the navy bill is regarded as a parliamentary majority of thirty it was in a popular minority of 2,000. The 114 men who voted for the second reading of the bill represented 2,000 fewer electors than the eighty-four members who voted against the second reading.

This is regarded as remarkable in view of the fact that one man who voted with the government represents two riders. This is Sir Rodolph Forget. The Liberals represent the big ridings.

BRITISH NOTE GOES TO KNOX'S SUCCESSOR

Washington, Feb. 28.—The rejoinder of the British government to the last American note regarding the Panama Canal zone tolls question was delivered today to Secretary Knox by Ambassador Bryce. Though naturally of great interest to Secretary Knox, he will make no effort to consider it, but will allow the negotiator on the American side to be continued by his successor in office.

SON-IN-LAW OF GOVERNOR WOOD IS NEW PAPER'S MANAGING DIRECTOR

The Montreal Star states that it is definitely stated that Mr. E. Nichols, president and editor of the Winnipeg Telegram, is to head the new Montreal morning daily, which is to be launched in a few months, and to have as his managing director, Mr. Nichols will be president and managing director of the company, which is organized for the purpose of publishing a morning paper in Montreal.

Mr. Nichols will be president and managing director of the company, which is organized for the purpose of publishing a morning paper in Montreal.

Rumor has connected the name of Lord Northcliffe, owner of the London Times, and London Daily Mail, with the enterprise, but this is denied by responsible parties. It is further stated that the new paper has no political connections, and will be conducted on strictly independent lines.

Mr. Nichols is well known in the east, where he received his journalistic training first as parliamentary correspondent of the Toronto Telegram, and later as managing editor of the Toronto World. Seven years ago he resigned the managing editorship of the World to identify himself with the Canadian Press, Limited, and as President of the Western Association Press, two powerful news organizations, which provide the Canadian link in the world-wide chain of the Associated Press news service.

It is not generally known that Mr. Nichols is a half-brother of Hon. T. White, minister of finance, and son-in-law of Hon. Joseph Wood, lieutenant-governor of New Brunswick.

DISASTERS BREED PATENTS

Inventors Get Busy Following Every Great Calamity

It is announced that a Swabian man has patented an unbreakable ship with a chain of airtight compartments surrounding the hull above the water line. Experiments with a model showed that the tanks kept it afloat even when the whole hull was filled with water.

It is a well-known fact that at the patent office that every great disaster, such as the Titanic wreck, causes a sharp increase in the number of new inventions.

During the last few weeks several new bullet-proof shields have been patented. One of these is a shield made of a material which is not so brittle as steel, and which is not so heavy as iron.

Some little time ago there were no fewer than three successive cases of persons falling out of moving trains. The result was that a young "inventor" of Colma received the sum of $12,500 from the Great Central Railway for an ingenious lock for carriage doors.

Every one will remember the dreadful submarine disaster of July, 1900, when the C-11 was struck by the steamer Edgemoor, and sank with all hands, except a few who managed to spring out, and were picked up by C-12.

It is not generally known that the invention of the life-saving helmet which is now provided for the use of all sub-marine divers, was the result of a young inventor, who was confined to London.

The apparatus, which weighs six pounds, consists of an airtight helmet, which when moistened, gives off pure oxygen. The arrangement can be used on a submarine, and is comfortable for an hour—Pearson's Weekly.

LIBERALS CALL FOR ELECTION AS BORDEN SPEAKS ON NAVY

(Special to Times.)

Ottawa, Feb. 28.—In his speech last night on the naval policy, Sir Wilfrid Laurier called for an election as Borden speaks on the navy policy.

"Our ship today steadily holds the same course it has always held and the port which it is directed on the present occasion is in parliament, but we are not now in a position to be taken in by the Liberal Liberal chattering greeted Sir Wilfrid Laurier's speech with a cheer.

Premier Borden in opening said Sir Wilfrid Laurier's speech was a masterpiece of demagoguery. He demanded more strongly from men who had once been in parliament, but were now now than from Liberals who had seats. "I believe many gentlemen opposed would be exceedingly distressed if they anticipated that there might be an election."

Liberal shouts, "Try it, try it."

Mr. Borden—"My friends, I raised the same shout before September 21st."

"Election, election," came the unanimous shout from the Liberal side.

Washington, Feb. 28.—Congress has taken up the question of woman's suffrage by the designation of a sub-committee, headed by Representative Hobson to report on the score whether it would be best to leave the question of equal suffrage in the election of president and vice-president to a constitutional amendment, or to the action of separate states.

Had Pimples on Face And Back Was Literally Covered With Them.

Burdock Blood Bitters is without a doubt, the very best medicine for this purpose.

This old and reliable remedy has been used for over thirty-five years, and has a reputation unequalled by any other for purifying the blood.

Mr. Peter La Pierre, Assistant Postmaster, Touchwood Hills, Sask., writes: "The last time I was very much troubled with pimples on my face and back. My back was literally covered with them, and I could not be on it at night, they were so painful. One day my doctor advised me to use Burdock Blood Bitters, so I got two bottles, and before I had taken all the first one, the pimples had nearly disappeared, and now I am completely cured."

BATTLEFIELD BRAVERY

An Instance of British Courage in the Face of Lamentable Danger

Perhaps few stories of battles as thoroughly illustrative of British courage in the face of real danger as the little incident of a reconnaissance before the battle of Ulundi, of which Lord William Berosford was the hero.

Lord William Berosford was almost led into a terrible trap and discovered the danger only in time. They turned to retreat and the Zulus poured in a volley which brought down the gray horse of a mounted infantryman. His rider fell headfirst, and the rest thought both man and horse were killed at first, but the former struggled to his feet, with his face covered with blood and dazed with his fall.

Lord William Berosford, seeing what had happened, pulled up, and in the face of advancing hosts of yelling savages with in easy range, quietly trotted back and told the man to mount behind him.

With a cool courage scarcely second to Lord William's, the man refused, noble fellow that he was, preferring the certain sacrifice of his own life to the probability of destroying his preserved.

The reply was admirable, both man and horse were almost within range of the assegais, and Lord William said: "Get up or I'll punch your head."

The man obeyed and recuser and recuser escaped—Pearson's Weekly.

HOW CHARINA OF FASHION GETS HER DRESS IDEAS

Madame Paquin of Paris, who has been called the "Carina of Fashion," and recently was decorated with the Cross of the Legion of Honor, explains how her dresses are designed.

"When I see a sunset, with its beautiful blendings of color, I often get inspiration that helps me to evolve new combinations. When I am traveling or walking in the street inspiration may come and I find a stuff that I like, I pin it on a mannequin to see how it looks, in that case inspiration comes from the material."

"Light from the stained glass windows of our churches or shadow effects given by the sun, the moon, the stars, and I take them before allowing them to die. When I go to the races I rarely come away with a new idea."

"Sometimes I have thought out five or six new dresses in a day, but in poetry, the poetry that does not move me every day, inspiration is not always at my beck and call, sometimes an idea is half formed and I cannot complete it until another time. My work so resembles the painter's, that preliminary sketches are never without value."

"My decoration is a victory for me, because I am the first woman dressmaker to have received the Legion of Honor."

QUIBBLY SLEPPED OFF

The Quibness man was sitting in his office when a suspicious-looking person came in with a leather-bag in his hand. If you coming at one to the point, "I will drop this on the floor." The business man was told, "What is it?" he asked, "Dynamite," was the brief reply. "What will it do if you drop it?" "Blow you up," "Drop it," was the instant command. "My wife told me when I left home this morning to be sure and order a bag of dynamite for my office, and I've forgotten it. I reckon it will just take just as much dynamite as you have there to prepare me for the explosion, and I'll be there when she sees me. He threw himself back in his chair and waited for the explosion, but it didn't come. "I'm a married man myself," said the dynamiter, and quietly slipped out.

Investment News

An investment for the man with a hundred or two

If the man who has "a bit put away in the bank" will only read the rest of today's "Investment News" he will learn how he may safely invest his hundred or two and get over twice the interest return that he does now.

The Trinidad Electric Company is a Halifax corporation owning and operating the electric light and railway plant in Port of Spain, Trinidad.

Port of Spain is a prosperous and growing city, somewhat larger than Halifax. The company has a modern plant there and enjoys a steadily increasing business.

The par value of the stock is $4.90 per share, with a dividend of 5 per cent, which have been paid continuously for the past seven years. We offer it now at 75 per cent, of par ($3.68 per share), which makes the handsome yield of 6.6 p. c.

Because of the low denomination of the shares, the small investor can buy a block of thirty or fifty shares without trying up more than his "hundred or two." And the high yield at today's price makes this an attractive investment.

Adventures in Home Economy

If you are a woman of moderate means and if you feel a bit discouraged when you find your furniture and draperies becoming shabby you should be cheered by the knowledge that chintz is enjoying an extraordinary vogue. If you cannot afford to recover chairs and sofas with the lively brocades and the rich velours then turn to the chintzes, which invite you to try an excursion in economy that should bring joy to every member of your family—unless you are not wise in selecting colors and patterns.

printed a conventional design of golden browns and blues, or of greens in several shades, is preferred. At a distance the effect of brocade is given by the richness of the coloring, and it will be discovered that the price is not less than that asked for a brocade, since $2.00 a yard is considered too expensive for the needs of the American millionaire whose country house will be a marvel of old English, or Renaissance ideas applied to new New World demands.

After admiring the costly cotton fabrics the housewife may find exactly what she wants at a reasonable figure. The domestic chintzes vary from 25 cents a yard to $1.00, or even more, but it is possible to obtain something quite satisfactory for less than 50 cents.

Having chosen the chintz the next consideration to quality and price is quantity. Chintz should be used as sparingly as possible. If a sofa is to be upholstered then it is wise to cover only one or two chairs, or to select the cushions that belong to the raffish rockers. These, with the curtains, will give the character to the room that is to be transformed, and plan lines of color the dominant colors should be employed wherever it is easy to break what threatens to be monotonous.

Before making any changes in a room it is well to study its possibilities for improvement. It has been said by a well-known writer that all persons can be classified in two ways—according to their likes and dislikes of color, and according to their likes and dislikes of orderliness. The housewife has no difficulty in assigning members of her family to their proper place, so far as their inclination to aid in keeping things in their proper places is concerned, but there is a tendency to ignore the color preferences of the men, who usually permit their wives and sisters to dictate concerning interior decoration. It is a fact, however, that women are apt to insist on color harmonies that are entirely foreign to the tastes of their husbands, who prefer harmonies of contrast.

OLD CHAIRS HAVE POSIBILITIES. It is always economical to obtain the greatest degree of comfort for the least possible outlay, and when it comes to making old furniture masquerade as new the old chairs that are favorites have a chance to remain in their accustomed places. With new chintz covers they will be doubly welcome to all and the first care should be to choose colors that will not soil too easily, but that does not mean that beauty should be sacrificed or that anything like cold or dull hues need be selected. With the thought of pleasing the men as well as the women of the family due consideration should be given to the value of contrast and to the proper placing of the dark pieces of furniture so that the room will not have a mottled or piebald appearance, so easy for it to acquire when chintzes are used.

But chintzes are not for drawing rooms. That objection naturally will arise inasmuch as it has been so long associated with bedrooms. The new patterns are so varied that there is something for every part of the house. In the severely conventional designs and low tones of color they have the richness of velours and can be employed so cleverly in drawing rooms and living rooms that they will not be recognized as cotton fabrics. It should hardly be necessary to remind women that the use of chintz implies plain walls unbroken by wall paper designs. It is well to have one of the dominant colors of the chintz repeated on the walls and in rug or carpet. For instance, the fawn and blue combinations will assure a beautiful restful room.

The cost of doing over a room in chintz may be exceedingly small, for the clever

Spring Flowers in the House

Every one likes flowers in the house at Christmas time and takes them for granted at Easter, but the time when they are essential to contentedness is when the birds are beginning to fly northward and the trees are beginning to bud. Bulbs planted in the house now ought to produce blossoms by the middle of April if they are carefully selected and faithfully tended.

WHAT'LL STOP SOUR STOMACH?

They Act Quick and Relief is Almost Immediate.

There are some things so exactly right that to mention them brings calm and repose. And to use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets gives the stomach just that kind of lift that makes you check up one hundred per cent to the good. Particularly is this true with those who suffer with sour stomach. You feel so mean that you actually hate yourself. And yet in a few minutes these tablets sweeten the stomach, arrest unnatural fermentation, start a powerful digestive action and prevent the formation of gas.

Real, live, progressive people want to be around where the activities of life embrace whatever circumstances dictate. If a house party serves a Welsh rarebit go to it. It isn't the easiest thing in the world to digest, 'tis true, but what of it? Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will take care of you, keep your stomach in control and your dreams won't see an army of hobgoblins playing hob with your nerves. Many physicians regularly prescribe Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets for the stomach disorders of patients who are ill with some constitutional malady. They do so for the reason that these tablets are not a patent medicine and their composition is known and recognized as the most approved and most powerful of all digestants.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold and recommended by all druggists at 50c a box.

Her Husband's Principle

At a meeting of a women's suffrage organization in Kansas City, Kan., it was suggested that the members talk to their servants and other women workers with a view to forming an estimate as to the strength of suffrage sentiment in that particular locality. One member who has employed the same washerwoman for the last six years reported that she put the question to this worthy lady: "Are you in favor of votes for women?" The washerwoman replied: "I leave all that to my husband." "If you don't pay any attention to politics," the suffrage woman asked. "Well, how does your husband stand on woman suffrage?" "He don't stand at all. He believes in women staying at home and minding their own business." "How many families do you wash for?" "Six." "And what does your husband do?" "He ain't doing anything right now—unless he fumes something this morning."—Kansas City Star.

Spring Flowers in the House

Water culture is perhaps the most attractive way of growing bulbs, for the whole root and stem development may be watched as it takes place. The water should be soft, rain water preferably, and a piece of charcoal should be placed in the bottom of the glass dish which holds it. Stems or sand should be used to hold the bulb away from the bottom of the dish. The water should be kept just touching the bottom of the bulb.

DO NOT CROWD BULBS.

Bulbs should never be crowded in the planting and they should be carefully placed below the surface of the earth. The tops of narcissus bulbs should just touch the surface; hyacinths and crocuses should be placed half an inch below the surface and other bulbs should be planted according to their size, the smaller bulbs nearer the surface. Five or six tulips or narcissus bulbs can be planted in a space ten or twelve inches square, and two narcissus or hyacinth bulbs can be planted in an equal space.

Although bulbs should always be kept cool, they should never be subjected to a draught or sudden shock of cold air, as this blights their growth. They should at all times be moist and at flowering time should be plentifully supplied with water.

Bulbs require watchful care if they are to be grown successfully, but one spike of narcissus or one small crocus blossom repays all the trouble caused by a dozen pots and glasses and bowls and boxes of soil.

There are thousands willing to do great things for one willing to do a small thing.

(Times Special Correspondence.) London, Feb. 16.—England has discovered that among the 60,000 tramps that adorn her countryside are some sure-enough aristocrats who, patriots believe, would take a lot of beating.

England, in fact, claims to have evolved the super-tramp; a hobo who is shaved and manicured as carefully as a West End "cut," and whose dandyism lacks nothing but spats and a crease down his trousers.

One such Beau Brummel of the trampish class had capital consisted of one cent—based against the dockwall of a London police court in an attitude of Piccadilly grace the other day, and smiled languidly while a police-sergeant recited from his note-book as follows: "I found upon the prisoner, Your Worship, the following articles: "Razor in case, leather-backed shaving mirror, shaving-brush (badger hair), table of Windsor Soap, bone nail-brush, case of needles, spoon of cotton, thimble, table knife, dessert spoon."

Referring to this case, a Scotland Yard inspector with whom the writer talked, declared that searching an English tramp was "like dipping into a lucky bag," and instanced a woman named Willis who was arrested for vagrancy a short time ago. To the outward eye, she simply was a homeless woman, without money, food or property, but examination revealed a leather belt under her waist to which were attached, with a neat row of hooks, an equipment of knives and forks, a collapsible frying pan, changes of clothing, needlework, a purse containing $8.50 and a bag of food.

CLIMAX OF THE MEXICAN REVOLUTION; THE KILLING OF MADERO

NOVELTIES SEEN IN THE SHOPS

Velvet ribbon a quarter of an inch wide with rhinestones fastened at half inch lengths is now sold by the yard. With this ribbon and one of the large rhinestone ornaments sold for corsage decoration it is possible to fasten elaborate rhinestone trimmings with little effort. The design seen on an imported black net dress could easily be copied. This design showed the rhinestones stood out from the black of the dress like a long necklace with a bow-knot pendant.

Silk artificial flowers for wear at the belt have centres of rhinestones. The green leaves of these flower sprays are covered with shimmering silver net which in artificial light sparkles almost as much as the rhinestones.

A rhinestone bird whose tail is a stiff spray of white maroon is an attractive hair ornament.

Maroon is enjoying well deserved popularity. Not only does it appear alone and in combination with fur, velvet, chiffon and silk for muffs and neckpieces of various sorts and as a trimming for gowns of every material and style, but it has entered the realm of bodice clothes. Negligees of chiffon, crepe de chine and other soft fabrics are edged and lined with bands of it; bodice caps show bands and tufts of the same trimming and silk bedroom slippers are finished at the ankle with thick, soft white maroon.

A bodice cap that is especially attractive because of the strong contrast between the materials of which it is made, is of the thinnest sort of pink maline, frilled about the edge with a two inch ruffle. A band of emine covers the joining of the fur to the cap and a jaunty tuft of the fur is fastened at the side.

The liking for real lace is evidenced even on the simplest clothes for children. Baby frocks grace small frocks of fine muslin which are otherwise trimmed only with hand run bows. Real Valenciennes is used in combination with hand embroidery on the daintiest of little dresses and dainty and tulle lace appear on children's frocks, coats and caps.

Colored beads are used for embroidering heavy, dark colored silks. For instance, the girdle or belt of a gown of heavy gray silk is embroidered in gray, bright blue, bottle green, yellow and cerise beads.

"Pape's Diapennin" Stops Fermentation and Makes Your Stomach Feel Fine in Five Minutes

Wonder what upset your stomach—what portion of the food did the damage do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if you are sour, and what you just ate has fermented into starchy lumps; your head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Diapennin and in five minutes you truly will wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapennin occasionally keeps their digestive system regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebelling, if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapennin which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful! It digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.

A NEW OVERSHOE IS NEEDED

Now that the slipper and the pump are worn on all occasions the necessity of a new sort of overshoe that will solve an ever present problem for the benefit of the flat dweller, is more and more felt in the evenings on street cars or in other public conveyances.

It is a great nuisance to wear those old-fashioned, heavy, clumsy, and often very costly shoes that are so difficult to get on and off, and which are so apt to be soiled by the mud and dirt of the streets.

The shoe that is needed is a close fitting, well made overshoe with a thin rubber sole and a thin upper lining, an overshoe that can be worn with an afternoon reception gown without attracting attention to itself. It should not be difficult for the shoemaker to produce this longed for device for the comfort of the thousands of women who attend all sorts of entertainments where elaborate costumes is required, women who can afford to dress well and yet, perform, must deny themselves the luxury of carriage or taxicab.

The overshoe for the relief of those who have no motor cars should have a pointed toe and should be made to fit over high heels; it should button or fasten easily and it should be comfortable. It should not be too warm and it should be above all things, of good shape. The manufacturer who invents it will be sure of a fortune if he can protect his patent.

A WEAK, ACHING BACK Caused Her Much Misery.

Kept Her From Sleeping Nights.

Weak back is caused by weak kidneys, and on the first approach or evidence of kidney trouble Doan's Kidney Pills should be used, and serious trouble avoided.

Doan's Kidney Pills go right to the seat of the trouble, cure the weak aching back, and prevent any further complications arising.

Mrs. W. R. Hodge, Fielding, Sask., writes—"A few lines highly recommending Doan's Kidney Pills. For this last year I have been troubled very much with a weak aching back, and a weak aching back which caused me much misery, for I could not work and had no ambition for anything. My kidneys were very badly out of order, and kept me from sleeping at nights. I tried many kinds of pills and medicines, but it seemed almost in vain. I began to give up in despair of ever being well and strong again, when a kind neighbor advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills, which I did, and am thankful for the relief I obtained from them, for now I am never troubled with a sore back or sick headache. I will always say Doan's Kidney Pills for mine and can highly recommend them to any sufferer."

"MY CLUB" IN METROPOLIS

London Has Many for Those Who Can Afford

OLDEST STARTED IN 1698

Garick, Founded for Actors, Now Bars Them Out—Royal Automobile is Largest and Army & Navy and Carlton Most Expensive

(London Express)

The blackballing of Baron de Forest at the Reform Club draws attention to the fact that Radicals are very badly off for London clubs as compared with the Conservatives and Unionists. Since the home rule split in 1886, the Reform has very largely lost its political character, and many more men become members for the sake of the admirable chief and the excellent wine cellar than from any devotion to the principles of Gladstone and Bright. The Devonshire, also nominally Liberal, is even more non-political in character, and need not be a Liberal to be eligible. You simply say you are a "reformer," and you go—provided you are a member of the Reform's was for generations a Liberal club, but it is no longer associated with any party, though many of its members are frequent attendants.

The National Liberal Club is practically the only exclusively Radical club in the West End (and its membership has been lessened by a certain number of Tories who find its library useful), with the City Liberal and the New Reform as chapels of ease.

The strictly political movement clubs are the Carlton, the Junior Carlton, the Constitutional, the Junior Constitutional, the Conservative, the Junior Conservative and the City Carlton.

The Carlton is the official Conservative club, and Conservative M. P.s and peers are elected if they so desire. Ordinary candidates for the Carlton have to be put up for membership when they are born, in order to reach election at twenty-eight. Gentlemen of middle age have no chance. But a few are carefully selected, each by the committee, without having to undergo the long waiting term.

London's Oldest Club

The oldest club in London is White's. It was originally established in 1680 as White's Chocolate House, and it was for generations the Tory headquarters. The Cocoa Tree was founded in 1746, Roodle's in 1782, Beaufort's in 1784, Arthur's in 1786, the Guards' in 1813, the United Service in 1816, the Travellers' in 1818, the Union in 1822, the Athenaeum in 1824, the Oriental in 1824, the Oxford and Cambridge in 1830, the Carlton in 1832, the Reform in 1837, the Saville and the St. James's in 1837.

The oldest ladies' club is the Alexandra, founded in 1841. The Lyceum was established twenty years later. The Albermarle and the Seaside are the most successful clubs with both men and women members.

The Athenaeum was founded by Sir Walter Scott and Thomas Moore "for the association of individuals known for their eminence in any class of the fine arts, and noblemen and gentlemen of high social position." It is one of the oldest and most distinguished of its members is the perpetual president of the bonhomie St. Joseph Conyssa Carr.

Only men professionally engaged in "art, science, literature, music, drama, and politics" are eligible for election to the Saville, and among the other literary and artistic clubs are the Saville, the Arts and the University. There are seven service clubs in London and four clubs connected with the universities. The Oxford and Cambridge in Pall Mall is distinguished by the possession of an almost unrivalled wine-cellar.

The Parked (founded in 1815) is the M. C. C. of all card games, establishing rules and settling custom. In recent times a horde of bridge clubs have come into being, most of them open to ladies, and "mixed" in more sense than one.

Travelers and Diplomats

A candidate for the Travelers' must have "traveled out of the British Isles for a distance of at least 500 miles from London in a direct line." The St. James' is the diplomats' club, and there are special clubs for mountaineers, Scotchmen, retired Anglo-Indians, lady doctors, Protestants, teetotalers, variety performers and bookmakers.

The Royal Automobile Club is the largest and best equipped club in London. The National Liberal and the Constitutional have over 6,000 members. The Beefeater is one of the smallest and most difficult to enter. The Athenaeum, the Carlton, the Guards' Turf, and the Beefeater admit no visitors within their portals.

Baron de Forest will be able to forget his disappointment at not being elected to the Reform in democratic gossip at the National Liberal or aristocratic association at the Marlborough, and the chancellor will still have the Athenaeum and the National Liberal.

The most expensive London clubs are the Army and Navy and the Carlton, of which the entrance fees are forty guineas and the subscriptions ten guineas. The entrance fees of other West End clubs vary from ten guineas to fifty, but the ordinary subscription is ten guineas.

Clubs began with the meeting of a few men of like tastes at a tavern in drink talk. Sir Walter Raleigh was the member of such a club called the Friday Street, which met at the Mermaid Tavern, and among his fellows were Shakespeare, Beaumont, Fletcher, and Donne. The Literary Club of which Joshua Reynolds and Doctor Johnson were the leading members, was on almost the same lines as its seventeenth century prototype, and the tradition is carried on today, by dozens of dining clubs, of which Ye Sette of Odd Volumes is perhaps the most individual and distinctive.

LOTS OF BEAUTIFUL, GLOSSY HAIR, NO DANDRUFF--25 CENT "DANDERINE"

Hair Coming Out?—If Dry, Brittle, Thin or Your Scalp Itches and is Full of Dandruff—Use "Danderine"

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you cannot find a single trace of Dandruff or a loose or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you will actually see new hair, fine and downy at first—yet—really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine will immediately double the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove to yourself tonight—now—that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured—by careless treatment—that all—your surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.

A GIVE AWAY

Mistress—"Oh, and Elias—that gentleman that called this afternoon—was it about one of my charities?"
Elias—"No, m'm. From that second-hand dealer's where you sent those old clothes of master's, to say will you fetch 'em away or shall they burn 'em, 'cause they aren't doing anything in patch-work quilts!"—London Opinion.

HE WAS THE LIMIT

Wife (at breakfast table)—You are without exception, the most obstinate, ill-tempered man I ever saw.
Husband—Why, my dear! What is the matter?
Wife (breaking down)—Just because the coffee happens to be vile for once you declare it is all right.—Pun.

NOT NECESSARY, BUT CUSTOMARY

"Doctor, is it absolutely necessary to operate on me?"
"No; but it's—customary"—Tatler.

NEVER HAD A CHANCE

"What's the matter. Can't you skate without tumbling down?"
"I haven't had a chance to find out yet."—New York World.

SPORT NEWS OF A DAY, HOME AND ABROAD

HOCKEY: Rothesay Defeated. The Fredericton High School hockey team defeated the Rothesay College team 8 to 3 in the Intercollegiate League in Fredericton last night. Sydney Champions. The Sydney hockey team defeated the Vancouver Vics. at Moncton last night 7 to 3 and are therefore champions of the M. H. A. for the season. Plan Long Trip. The Allstar Winnipeg team intend making a trip through Canada and the United States. BASKETBALL: Y. M. C. A. Winners. The Y. M. C. A. junior basketball team defeated the St. Andrew's church junior team 25 to 19 in their game of basketball last night. BOWLING: In the City Bowling League game on Black's alley last night the Market Men took four points from the Wanderers. The total pinfall was 1291 to 1207. J. McDevitt led for the winners with an average of 91 and Belyea for the losers with 84. BASEBALL: Carrigan Happy to be With Red Sox. Bill Carrigan signed a one year's contract with the Boston Americans this week at an increased salary and on terms entirely satisfactory to both Carrigan and the club. Manager Jake Stahl was particularly eager to have Carrigan back and satisfied, for he said the influence of the Maine boy on the other players, together with his aggressive qualities when things were not going altogether satisfactorily, were of incalculable value to the club. Carrigan is in splendid condition. He is five pounds lighter than he ever has been at this time of the year since he began playing professional baseball. He was to leave on Thursday for Hot Springs. He had expected to have "Heinie" Tinker as company on the trip, but the latter notified him he would not be able to get away before Monday. Cy Seymour Signs. President Gaffney of the Boston National League Club notified Secretary Herman Nickerson this week in a telegram from New York that he had signed Cy Seymour, outfielder who was with the Giants a few years ago and who played with Newark in the International League last season, batting for 306 and fielding for 384. Tinker Wants Catchers. Manager Tinker of the Cincinnati Reds is in a tight fix for catchers. He cannot induce John Kling to sign a contract and Long Lary Moran was sold to the Cardinals months ago. Tinker cannot suggest a deal for Archer of the Cubs that Murphy or Evers will listen to. The Reds, therefore, must depend almost entirely on Tom Clarke, who is a New Yorker, and Severid, a colt of some promise, though lacking in experience. Tinker says he will keep trying to land some first class catcher, even if he does not get the right one until midseason. He would jump at a chance to get Otto Miller of the Brooklyn, who is holding out. A Great Battery. Ed Walsh's regular catcher this year will be young Schalk, who was purchased by the White Sox from Milwaukee last summer for $10,000. Schalk caught brilliantly for the Sox on their last Eastern trip. In one game his remarkable throwing caught him these napping twice. Schalk handled Walsh so cleverly in the post-season series with the Cubs in Chicago that Comiskey said he would like to have Schalk. He is like a stone wall and also hit the ball for big results. Nobody was better pleased than Ed Walsh himself. He fairly beamed at Schalk handled the hot shot and the wicked spitters without turning a hair. After the White Sox had beaten the Cubs Walsh said to Comiskey: "I want you to let Schalk catch all the games I pitch next season. He's a wonder now, but he'll be even better as he gains experience." So the young $10,000 backstop will be Walsh's regular side partner in future and Comiskey says they will form the greatest battery in the game. Word From Chance. The first positive information from Bermuda regarding the physical condition of Frank Chance, manager of the New York Americans is received in New York. In spite of the extremely warm weather at Bermuda, Chance has been free from headaches and his legs are as strong as ever after a long lay-off. He has been working with Hartell every day and his heavy batting indicates the old skill and ginger. He has put his training rules into effect already, and has put the ban on pastry, coffee and liquor. For breakfast the cook will provide the players with strobe, chops, eggs, toast and weak tea. Lunch will consist of soup and cold meat. At six o'clock the menu will have roast beef, chicken, steaks, vegetables and rice pudding or custard. Chance has framed a bedtime rule for eleven o'clock which he intends to enforce all year. He is enthusiastic over the grounds, which are large enough for two teams, and predicts that the New Yorks will arrive home in the best possible trim. Ladies' Tailoring. sprint races. Postle agreed originally to race three events, at fifty, sixty and seventy-five yards. The first two he won after a great tussle, but forfeited the seventy-five yards owing to a leg strain. Some days previous to these races, Walker beat Postle easily at 100 yards in 9.54 seconds. Postle is generally considered better at distances shorter than 100 yards, although he is said to run that distance in Australia in 9.12 seconds. That would be a world's record but for the fact that the track had a drop of six feet.

Promoters Could Arrange Good Tourny For The 158 Pounders

While promoters about the country are arranging tournaments for heavy weights, bantams, light weights and welter weights, why not start one for the near champions in the middle weight division? There are a number of good middle weights, who are just a little shy of being considered championship possibilities, but who would make matters very interesting for the stars, and they would make an interesting tourny of their own. While Eddie McGoorty, Billy Papke, Frank Klaus, Jimmy Clabby and Mike Gibbons, figure among the stars of that division, there are such men as Jack Dillon, who might be classed with this list, and also Buck Cross of Pittsburg, while the lesser lights bring out such men as Tommy Gavigan of Cleveland, Gus Christie of Milwaukee, George Chip of Pittsburg, Kid Wagner of Wilkes Barre, Pa., Jack McCarron, the $50,000 star of Jack O'Brien's stable, Frank Mantell, Tom McCarthy of Omaha, and George Brown of Chicago. Gavigan, Christie, Wagner, and McCarthy are just coming to the front and they will be heard from in the next year. Just now some of them appear out of the running, but it must be borne in mind that all the champions will some day be world's champion, but who at this time may be counted as a joke. No one ever considered Johnny Kilbane of championship calibre when he started out, nor did any one ever pick Jim Jeffries as a candidate for the heavy weight title when he first appeared as sparring partner for Jim Corbett. It is the raw recruit who makes the champion and there are some mighty good recruits among that middle weight crowd. A tourny for the real 158 pounders would be interesting indeed and might bring out some real surprises for the future.

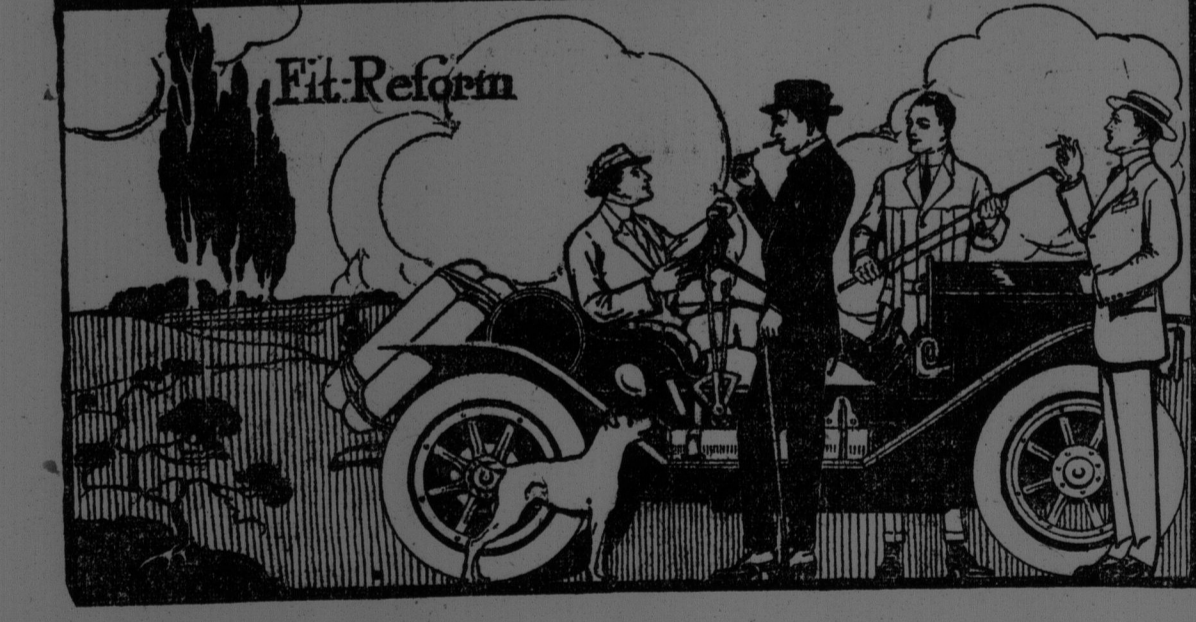

RECALLS FIGHT OF SULLIVAN AND PADDY RYAN

That's where John L. Sullivan knocked out Paddy Ryan, Feb. 7, 1882, and became the champion of America. Such was the remark made to me by Frank Stuard of Gulfport, Miss., as therolley car stopped in front of Forest Park three miles east of Gulfport, a few weeks ago," writes H. P. Edwards in the Boston Globe. "Highly here, back of those two big trees, is the exact spot where they battled," continued Mr. Stuard, who was an eyewitness of one of the most famous ring battles ever staged in this country, and who is now a millionaire insurance exporter. "It does not look much as it did thirty-one years ago. Now there are but a few old shacks to mark where once stood Barnes' Hotel, one of the best hotels along the Gulf Coast. Where Ryan and Sullivan fought there was a beautiful lawn. Now it is grown up with weeds as the hotel burned eight or ten years ago and the property has been unaccounted for. "Yes, I saw the fight," continued Stuard. "I was a youngster of thirteen. Sullivan was working at the West End in New Orleans. Every one thought the battle was to take place in New Orleans, and the sports assembled there as it was really the greatest prize fight that had been arranged in America up to that time. Ryan, you know, was the champion. He had licked Joe Goss in an eighty-seven round fight in West Virginia, two years before. But lots of the sports thought that the "Boston Boy" as Sullivan was called, would win. Sullivan was decided upon secretly at the last moment. I remember my father calling me at six o'clock that morning and telling me the six o'clock train was bringing the sports by the thousands from New Orleans—that the fight was going to be fought in front of Barnes' Hotel, where Ryan had trained. Of course, I did not lose any time in eating my breakfast and getting over to the beach. "Mississippi City never had the crowd before since that it had that day. The weather was warm for February, and pretty soon the sports began to suffer for water. Some of them grabbed their seats as they were afraid to leave their seats fearing that someone else would grab them while they were gone. Some of them did, and lost their seats. "One man, however, was a wise guy. He yelled to me to bring him a drink of water. I obeyed, and he handed me a quarter that gave me an idea. There were hundreds of empty beer bottles around the arena. I got a basket full of them, filled them with water and sold them to the thirsty sports. That was the first money I ever earned, and it was no small sum either, that is, to me. "It was about noon when Sullivan and Ryan entered the ring. By that time I had climbed into the saddle of a man's horse and then into the branches of a larger tree. Thus, I was right over the two fighters. Sullivan was the finest specimen of physical manhood that day that I ever saw. What a model for a statue he would have made! Well, Ryan never had a chance with Sullivan. John L. finally landed eight handers on the jaw and put Ryan away in the ninth round. The crowd then hustled back to New Orleans and the lawn looked like a dress ground—the day after. But I was $30 richer."

Let every woman dare to be herself, develop her own individuality, not blindly copy some other woman whom, it may be, her husband happens to admire. Let her think for herself, act for herself, and express her own candid opinion. LEONARD WILL BE MANAGER OF MARATHONS

Progress in Organizing League is Being Made — A Letter From P. J. Duggan

L. J. Leonard, formerly manager of the Lynn baseball team, will be the manager of the Marathon baseball team for the coming season. The new manager arrived in the city yesterday and will at once begin to get things in shape for the season. In conversation with a Times reporter this morning Mr. Leonard said that it was his desire to run the league under organized ball this season, and that in all probability this idea would be carried out.

As far as is known, the league will be composed of teams from Fredericton, Woodstock, St. Stephen and Calais, and the Maritimes. It is just possible that Baggar may be asked to come into the league. Mr. Leonard will leave this evening for Fredericton to talk matters over with the Fredericton management, and probably will return to the city tomorrow. It is the intention to have the league start this season on or about May 24. It is altogether likely that several of the players who were with the Greys last season will revert to the city to don the uniform again this year.

The Fredericton Gleaser says: P. J. Duggan, former manager of the Fredericton Pets, champions of the New Brunswick & Maine League and the Maritime Provinces, a guest with the Providence Grays on their training trip. In a letter to J. J. McCaffrey, the co-manager writes that he is to leave with the Providence club about March 12 for the training grounds, but says that he will nevertheless always have the Fredericton club and its success in his mind. "With good old Bob Ganley at the helm and most of the Pets back again, Fredericton will have another winner," writes Pat.

Just to show that he is interested in the welfare of the Fredericton Club, P. J. also informed Mr. McCaffrey that he had lined out for some promising material for the local club for this season. He spoke particularly of a young player named Flynn, who was with the Jersey City club of the International League and also in the New York State League last season and wants to get up here to a cooler climate for this season.

The letter corroborated the word which had already reached here that Larry Coffey was looking forward to playing in Fredericton for another season, and said that "Dodo" Fitzgerald would like to return to Fredericton for another season under the watchful eye of Bob Ganley in the event of his not holding his job with the Providence club who have secured two or three seasoned catchers from the Detroit Club, which is under the same control. Another interesting bit of news which "P. J." hid for the fans was that Stanley Bates, the young southpaw who made so many friends in Fredericton when he was with the Pets, has decided to accept Manager John J. McGraw's invitation and will report to the New York Giants at the Polo Grounds, on April 10.

LONDON TELLS OF BEING BEATEN IN BRUSSELS STREET

Hearing in Case of Colored Man is Taken up—Fines For Fighting

The story of how William London was held up and beaten in Brussels street on Tuesday night last, was related in the police court this morning. The court room was crowded with interested spectators. London was on the stand, the only witness called this morning. He showed many signs of having been used pretty roughly, his face being badly discolored and bruised. Part of his evidence was to the effect that he had not been robbed of $25 as was previously said, as he had only $6 in his pocket on that night. After hearing the evidence, His Honor remained the prisoners until Tuesday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

London in his evidence said that on Tuesday evening he was walking down Brussels street, when he met the two prisoners, Walter Jones and Ernest Bushan, in company with a colored woman. He said that Bushan spoke to him. The witness said he had been drinking on that day, and that he was under the influence of liquor when the assault took place. "The two men," continued the witness, "took hold of me and walked me down Brussels street, and then to a house in Brunswick street. When we went in, the woman who had previously been with the prisoners in Brussels street, was there. I tried to get out, but the two men stood in front of the door. I eventually got out of the house, but the two men followed me. I started up Brussels street, and it was then that I was struck and knocked down. Bushan struck me first. When I was down they kicked me until I became unconscious. On regaining consciousness I was over in my brother's house in Metalf street. I later went to the hospital for treatment.

On cross-examination he said that he had spent some money during the day for liquor, and that he would not positively swear that either of the two prisoners had kicked him. He told the court that he could produce witnesses who saw the two men assaulting him, so the hearing was therefore adjourned. E. S. Ritchie appeared for the prisoners. William Smith and Frederick Keefe were each fined $20 or two months in jail for fighting in Brussels street last night, by Magistrate Ritchie in the police court this morning. Thomas Edwards, charged with wandering about the streets and not giving a satisfactory account of himself, was fined $8 or two months in jail. The fine was allowed to stand on condition that he leave town. William Sleet, charged with using profane language, forfeited an $8 deposit by not appearing. One prisoner charged with drunkenness was fined $8 or thirty days in jail.
