Canada Emulated.

Whatever Sir Charles Tupper may have learned during his residence and experiences in London as Canadian commissioner, it is painfully evident that he is yet as deficient as ever in the essential quality of diplomacy, while whatever of his objectionable qualities he has rid himself of, he still retains all of his old-time presumption.

The proposed treaty, between Her Majesty's government and France, in the interest of Canada, was one in the negotiation of which Sir Charles should have been particularly careful, for the reason that the mother country, while she was fully secured in a position amongst the most favored nations under the new French tariff of last year, had permitted the Dominion to be discriminated against. The boasted equality of Britain for the interests of her colonies seemed to count for nothing in connection with that most important change in the fiscal policy of France - the country which, next to Great Britain itself, was the best market for the lumber products of Quebec and the maritime provinces, to say nothing of the immense trade of the Dominion with its canned food products. The fact that Canada had, thus, been left to look out for itself, and that the policy of Great Britain had been entirely in keeping with its traditions in such matters, ought to have put Sir Charles Tupper on his guard against the left-handed assistance which he was to expect from British sources in his endeavor, under instruction from the government at Ottawa, to improve Canada's position. It seems, however, that in carrying on negotiations with the view of placing Canada on the footing of a favored nation, he permitted the French negotiators to circumvent him in a way that demonstrates his unfitness for first-class diplomatic service, as well as his blundering presumption in exceeding the authority which he was clothed by the instructions of the government at Ottawa. Not content with practically giving France its own reciprocal terms in articles specified, he, with the assistance of Lord Dufferin, the present British ambassador in Paris, agreed to a clause placing that country on an equal footing with any nation with which Canada might in future make a treaty of preferential trade. It will be remembered that Sir Charles is the leading Canadian public man in the impracticable scheme of Imperial federation, and this clause is doubtless designed to make it impossible that Canada shall have the fullest reciprocity with the United States, which we all so earnestly desire - for under any trade compact between the United States and Canada would, as a matter of right, be shared in by France also. The effect of such an arrangement would be to paralyze Canada in its efforts to obtain reciprocity with our neighbors on this continent, and it seems to have been entered upon by Sir Charles Tupper in the interest of himself and his Imperial Federation associates.

The next move appears to be his practical closing of the matter in some way, without the sanction of the Canadian government. This he had no authority whatever to do, and while the Ottawa Ministry seems to be blame for neglecting to instruct him by cable that the draft treaty was objectionable, Sir Charles made a cardinal blunder in not awaiting such instructions before committing this country to such a one-sided arrangement. Between the two - Sir Charles Tupper and the government - Canada is made a laughing-stock amongst the nations.

The work of Sir Charles Tupper in England has not been, at any time, commensurate with the cost of maintaining him there, and he appears to have fully embraced his first opportunity for making a colossal blunder. Minister Foster, whose ready tongue has taken the place of the will of Sir Charles in the House of Commons, is also in a very questionable position, from which the task of extricating himself is yet before him. The situation is a humiliating one for Canada, and those responsible for creating it should be held to the strictest account by parliament and the country at large.

About Public Printing.

The righteous soul of the St. John Sun is much moved, according to the New Brunswick Auditor-General's report, by about twenty individuals, firms and incorporated companies who have been paid an aggregate of $12,492.09 for printing, lithographing, advertising, etc., during 1892, for the government at Fredericton. The same paper, however, views with perfect equanimity the fact that the Dominion auditor-general's report shows that the Sun publishing company, alone, was paid $13,870.05 for printing and advertising for a similar period, chiefly for the Intercolonial Railway. The printers of the province have long realized that the Sun and Moncton Times are permitted by the Dominion government to monopolize the patronage in their business which should, in all fairness, be more evenly distributed. The Dominion auditor-general has complained of the fact that the bills for work done in the Sun office is not permitted to go through his office for audit, and the reason may be assumed to be because the prices charged would not be passed by that official. Under these circumstances it might be expected that the Sun, in its usual fair dealing with the local government, would have the prudence to stop short of the printing accounts.

There was considerable excitement at a late monthly of St. George's Society, Toronto, owing to a motion being introduced to request Mr. Goldwin Smith to resign because of his sanction principles. After a good deal of heated discussion a com-

Woman's Rights - by a Woman.

At the present time, Woman's Rights is a subject which is looming up on the political horizon all over our land. Already, the suffrage has been granted for municipal and school elections in a good many parts of the Dominion; and this comes to give our earnest attention, and most careful thought to the subject, in order that we may know what Woman's Rights really are.

There are those who say that the time has fully come, when woman's slavery should be over, and that she should be free to come forward and take her rightful place in the economy of the nation. In the past, we all know, her place was that of slave of man; she was his inferior, socially, morally, and intellectually, and treated little if any better than his favored animals. Now, a new and glorious day has dawned. The partial failures in securing all rights, but prove the greatness of the desired reform, for every one admits that all great reforms have been growths.

But, we ask, in what is this glorious future promised for women to consist? Are we met with the question, "Do you never feel your whole soul in revolt at the injustice being done to women on every hand, as well in the high places of the land, as among the unlearned and illiterate?" After a hard struggle, by doors of the universities were opened to women to take the higher education necessary to fit her for the learned professions. And what then? When she has attained to the very highest rank as a student, she goes forth and is commanded only about 75% of the wages that her fellow students of the male sex receive. Is this not injustice?

To this we may say, that the majority of the men who have spent their time, energy and money in taking up higher education are but preparing themselves to battle with the world, and wrest from it a livelihood - not only for themselves but for wives - possibly, some of these very young ladies who have felt themselves so injured. The very name husband or house-hold implies the idea of the breadwinner. One does not expect to find the man at home caring for the house and babies, while the woman is out earning the wherewithal.

But, it is objected, these women are able to earn their living, and they are the assistance of the men. They do not need to marry to get a home. They are quite able to provide homes for themselves, and that too without the care and responsibility entailed on them of having husbands and children. But are the minority reported statistics there are 700,000 more women than men in the world, but while, as a number, this sounds large, it is comparatively small when we consider the total population, amounting to nearly 1,500,000, or less than one in every 2,000 persons, the number of infants and widows, and persons who, for various causes would not marry - such as inmates of nurseries, and sisterhoods.

Our game fisheries of the summer are the salmon and trout which last until 15th August and 15th September respectively. The St. John's river is also plentiful. The fish are taken in the month of June. At Indiantown and the Ox Bow the run is generally on from the 1st to the 15th of June. The fishing is free to all comers and there is room for dozens of anglers at each place. The trout are a sure crop every season and run all the way up to five pounds. They are in prime condition, being just in from the salt water, are taken with the fly and are the gamiest of their kind. In the fishing at Indiantown more or less salmon are taken. In mixed, in an experience of eighteen years, we have never known them to fail to be mixed up and taken with the sea trout, so it will for anglers' gear to be equal to the emergency.

One year at Indiantown the writer varied his experience by killing an eight pound fish at the mouth of Indiantown brook with a red fly.

The fish are taken in the month of June. At Indiantown and the Ox Bow the run is generally on from the 1st to the 15th of June. The fishing is free to all comers and there is room for dozens of anglers at each place. The trout are a sure crop every season and run all the way up to five pounds. They are in prime condition, being just in from the salt water, are taken with the fly and are the gamiest of their kind. In the fishing at Indiantown more or less salmon are taken. In mixed, in an experience of eighteen years, we have never known them to fail to be mixed up and taken with the sea trout, so it will for anglers' gear to be equal to the emergency.

Our game fisheries of the summer are the salmon and trout which last until 15th August and 15th September respectively. The St. John's river is also plentiful. landed. Baird, Robinson, Dunn, McLeod, Wells, Ferris, O'Brien, (Charters) - 24. Nags - Messrs. Pannoy, Charlton, Powell, Shaw, Smith, (St. John), Alward, Gouin, Howe, Poirer, Pitts, Allan Parry, Hill, etc.

Mr. Tweedie has introduced a bill to facilitate lumber-driving. Its object is to protect the rights of individuals or companies who may, under authority of the government, improve streams by clearing them of rocks or creating dams, sluices or other works to render them navigable.

ASSEMBLY NOTES. THE LUMBER BOARD. Mr. Pitts of Fredericton posed as the most vigorous of "public opinion" in St. John's and it was the custom here to say that there was a good deal of "chatter" about the management of the lumber industry and he found fault with the fact that the amount received for last year was less than that for 1891.

THE CASE OF REV. MR. MCLEOD. An attempt has been made to create a prejudice against the government in St. John's by the Rev. Joseph McLeod. He did not select a chaplain of the house. In the first place, every new house chooses its chaplain, and because the three or four houses immediately preceding elected Mr. McLeod, it did not follow that the present one should do so.

STATISTICAL. Messrs. Hill, Dunn, Sewright and McLeod are the only bankers in the house and rumor says they are confirmed ones. By comparison the members stand as follows: Farmers..... 11 Merchants..... 7 Lumbermen..... 5 Shipbuilders..... 2 Doctors..... 1 Officers..... 1 Baker..... 1 Banker..... 1 Manufacturer..... 1

THE ONLY DIVISION. Circumstances favored the opposition in the question on Dr. Atkinson's petition. It was before the house for decision. Mr. Hill, who is an able liberal, took the ground that any man who was privileged to speak to the legislature in any matter should be permitted to do so without being required to make a deposit to cover the cost of the work he might have done, in the event of his having no case. That secured Mr. Hill's support of the government side in the question. There, Mr. Dibbles, whose name was attacked, had in a spirit of fairness withdrawn and said he would refrain from voting. Hon. Mr. Connel also refrained from voting for the government side.

PERSONAL - Mr. E. K. Fisher of St. John, representing the Vacuum Oil Company, is visiting his North Shore connections. Miss Mr. Snowball is a passenger from Liverpool to New York on the Teutonic, which left Liverpool yesterday. CLASS DANCE - Last Thursday morning three of Mr. D. P. George's wife were holding fast with their hands on a siding of the Canada Eastern Railway, in Fredericton, pushed one of them partially upon the main line, so that when the regular train was backed up there was a rear collision, in which a passenger car and the flat car were damaged and both derailed, the passenger car being forced through a fence and the switch and track considerably damaged. Mr. George will, therefore, have quite a bill to pay for his men's carelessness.

A FURIOUS WILD GEESE were reported at Tabularia on Friday last. It passed away to the south. Tuesday's Southwest wind brought flocks along in the neighborhood, and also in Westmorland, but they did not come to stay.

THEY DON'T LIKE MUD - The Transcript notes that a flock of wild geese passed over Chatham on Wednesday last. It was a "southerly" and it is assumed that the fact in question "the disappearance of ice in the Petitioners' river." We believe Mr. Nelson has not yet returned from his habit of referring to the frozen mud in the "dog's den," as it is, in much the same way as the cheap boarding house keeps account themselves to say "do you take room?" when they are about to be kicked milk act with the new boarder. The wardens may put up with the imposition but the Monoculous can't fool the wild geese.

CLAIMS - Those who are partial to claim or soap, shavers, linches, etc. will find the article in the Transcript. The friends of Scott Fairley, Esq., are glad to see him back home again. Mr. Fairley is looking well and seems to have enjoyed his cruise.
