IS THE UNITED STATES AFRAID TO RAISE THE SUNKEN MAINE?

Governor Magoon Says People of Cuba Believe Uncle Sam Fears the Truth Which Would be Revealed by Examination of the Hull

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 25.—Governor Magoon, of the Provisional Government of Cuba, in his annual report to the Secretary of War made public today, brings to the attention the wreck of the United States battleship Maine in Havana harbor, and recommends that the government take immediate steps to accomplish its removal without further delay.

"The wreck of the Maine continues to lie in the mud and waters of Havana harbor. The sunken battleship is a serious menace to the shipping of the harbor as it occupies a portion of the best anchorage. The obstruction has increased annually during the past ten years by causing a shoal. The moderate tides prevailing in the harbor are hardly sufficient to prevent a gradual filling up and this shoal seriously interferes with the action of the tides and, therefore, the entire harbor is rapidly filling. It will be necessary, in a short time, to begin dredging in order to provide proper anchorage for the large amount of shipping now entering the harbor unless the wreck is removed. The anchorage is also restricted by the wreck which shoals for ships are obliged to anchor at sufficient distances to prevent grounding in case they strain on their cables.

"Even more important than this obstruction to navigation is the fact that this wreck, although it contains the bodies of sixty-three American seamen, or what is left of them, is apparently abandoned and forgotten by the government and people of the United States. Thousands of Americans and other thousands of other nationalities annually enter the harbor of Havana, and probably not one omits to express regret and censure for the deplorable spectacle. It has become a national reproach and an international scandal. The neglect to remove the wreck is attributed by many, especially the large Spanish contingent in Cuba, to the fear that its removal will disclose the fallacy of the popular belief that the Maine was destroyed by a torpedo or mine instead of an interior explosion, and generally does this opinion prevail that I believe the Cuban government has entered the harbor of Havana with the wreck as an obstruction to navigation of its coastal waters and destroying it, however, would be to attempt to remove it, and preserve the wreck as a whole instead of breaking it up and removing it in the more expeditious manner.

"The correspondence on file in the Department of State and the Navy Department at Washington shows that a belief prevails in those departments that it is necessary to secure, by a treaty or otherwise, the consent of the Republic of Cuba to the authorities of the United States entering the harbor of Havana and proceeding with the work of removal; this permission, if necessary, can be easily secured, and the Cuban government would gladly afford assistance in its power to accomplish the desired result, not only because of the injury to the harbor facilities, but also because of the prompting of patriotic sentiment. I earnestly recommend that the United States government take immediate steps to accomplish the removal without immediate delay."

FREDERICTON, N. B., Jan. 25.—The marriage is announced of Dr. Frank D. Phinney, of Cincinnati, Ohio, to Miss Florence Voorhees, daughter of the late Rev. W. B. Voorhees, of New York. The ceremony took place at the Bay Ridge Reformed church, Brooklyn, on Thursday last. Dr. Phinney, who is having a very successful career as an eye, nose and throat specialist, is the only son of J. D. Phinney, K. C., of this city, is a graduate in arts of the U. N. B. (1885). His father, who was present at the wedding, returned home Saturday night.

WILBER WRIGHT TALKS ON THE FUTURE OF THE AEROPLANE

Mrs. O'Byrne Making an Air-ship Flight with Wilbur Wright

PARIS, Jan. 25.—Having carried off the Michelin Cup for the longest flight of the year, Mr. Wilbur Wright has said good-bye to the camp at Anvers, France, and goes to Pau, the capital of Basses-Pyrenees with his aeroplane.

Mr. Wright told the interviewers that by means of the new motor which M. Leon Bellec is making for him he hoped to make trips lasting four hours, covering from 125 to 155 miles. Mr. Wright said that he was convinced that the aeroplane would become a common means of conveyance in the future, but considered that many years would be required to develop it for the practical use of the mass of mankind. Of course, long voyages would be made much earlier by experts and sportsmen.

It is thought possible that Capt. Sealby and the brave men who risked their lives with him in an effort to bring into port the sinking Republic, might have gone on board the destroyer Seneca and been taken to New York. At daylight today the fog in Menemsha Blight was very thick, but as the wind had shifted to the northwest every effort was made to board the Greaham for news.

It was evident from the time of the accident, 7:30 p. m. Sunday night, and taking into account the probable distance which the Republic was towed and the speed of the Greaham in running into Gay Head, that the Republic sank in about thirty fathoms of water, ten or twenty miles a little north of the Nantucket lightship and about 40 miles directly south of Nantucket Island. It was expected that the position of the Greaham would definitely report the position of the Republic but it is undoubtedly true that she lies in at least 25 or 30 fathoms of water and probably a total loss.

THE BALTIC ARRIVES. NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—The White Star liner Baltic, bearing 1,650 passengers from the steamships Republic and Florida, which were wrecked Saturday, was anchored off the entrance to the harbor early today, waiting for the fog to lift to make her way into port. With the captain and crew of the steamship Republic, who remained with the stricken vessel until she sank last night, safe on the revenue cutter Greaham, anchored off Bineyard Haven, Mass., the last chapter of the sea drama of Saturday, which cost six lives, was thus drawn to a close.

SIX DEAD AND TWO HURT. There was a heavy fog down the bay this morning, and all vessels stopped their way with caution. For this reason it seemed probable that the Baltic would be late in coming up to her pier. Whether the crew of the Republic would be transferred to the Derelict destroyer Seneca or whether they would land near Vineyard Haven was not known, although it was thought that they would come to New York on the Seneca. The six dead and two injured make apparently the sum total of casualties, but the report that she has sunk with much loss, it is doubtful whether the Florida in her crippled condition, with her progress impeded by the fog, will be able to reach port.

QUARANTINE, R. I., Jan. 25.—As the White Star liner Baltic lay at anchor in the darkness, three miles east of the Ambrose Channel Lightship this morning, seemingly at rest after her exertions of Saturday when the transfer of passengers from the two stricken vessels lasted for twelve hours, the Associated Press tug crept alongside her great hull and through megaphones hurled halloo repeatedly up her precipitous sides. Although lights twinkled in the saloon on the bridge and at her masthead, there was no answer to the shouts until two figures dimly outlined made their appearance on deck, through whom the Associated Press obtained the first direct version of the disaster. The spokesman was H. J. Hoover, of Spokane, Wash., accompanied by his wife, who was planning an extended automobile trip abroad and was outward bound when the ship was rammed by the Florida, during the fog of Saturday morning. Capt. Ransom, of the Baltic, said that the Florida was following him under convoy of the Allan Line New York. He said that the condition of the Republic was far salvager and she had no perceptible list when he left her, not knowing that she had sunk last night.

WALKED FROM MONCTON; FAILED TO FIND WORK. Last night was a fairly cold one and shortly after one o'clock this morning Policeman John Merrick, while patrolling Paradise Row, came across John Tomiak, aged nineteen years, and a native of Poland. Tomiak could talk but very little English, but he was able to inform the policeman that he had walked to the city from Moncton, and was without food or money. He arrived in the city at ten o'clock yesterday morning and had been walking about the streets last night to keep warm, but when found he was very cold, as he was poorly clad and had no overcoat. When brought before the police magistrate this morning he had not much to say, and was told to get out of court and find work or else get out of the city. The magistrate said there were too many tramps being dumped on the city, and the municipality was not going to keep them.

PERSONAL. Judge Carleton is in the city today. Robert Reid returned to the city on the Boston train today. Stanley E. Elkin came in on the Boston express at noon.

Mr. Harry Johnston and Mr. and Mrs. Brittain and family wish to thank their many friends for their kindness and sympathy in their recent bereavement.

NORTH END CHARACTER HAD HIS NERVE WITH HIM. Stole a Buck-saw From a Member of the Police Force—Now Busy Dodging Retribution.

A well known North end character is busy dodging the police these days. It is said that he has been guilty of more than one act that might have led to his arrest but he capped the climax last week by the theft of a buck-saw. To steal the implement that enables a member of the police force in weather like this is a sufficiently heinous crime, but when the victim of the outrage is a member of the police force, the doom of the hardy criminal is sure in sight. A few days ago the man went to the residence of Thos. Burchill, the caretaker of the police lock-ups and asked for the buck-saw, saying that Mr. Burchill had sent him for it. The saw was secured and promptly pawned and now Nonesis camps on the trail of the man who did the deed. A day or two after the occurrence Mr. Burchill caught sight of the man going into a bar room. He followed him and was met with a polite request to have a drink. He explained that he was pining for a buck-saw more than for a drink and asked for the return of the missing tool. The man denied that he was the person who got the saw and offered to go to the house to see if he could be identified. As soon as he got outside of the door however he changed his mind and taking to his heels made good his escape.

STREETS ARE NOT SAFE FOR THIS PARTICULAR CITIZEN. A buck-saw comes back the streets are not safe for this particular citizen.

SIX YEAR OLD CHILD IN JAIL WITH MOTHER. One of Minnie Burns' Brood Accompanies Her on a Two Months Holiday.

Minnie Nairn, a colored woman, who in police circles, is better known as Minnie Burns, was charged with hitting Gilbert Lauckner, a 17 year old boy, on the head with a flat iron. The boy, who is also colored, is said to be the woman's son and during a of anger in her Carmarthen street house Saturday night she cut his head with the iron. The youth was held as a witness and the woman's six year old daughter in the guard room, and there being no place for the little colored girl to go, she was allowed to accompany her mother to jail. This is not the first time that Mabel has been with her mother while doing a term in jail.

THINK THEY HAVE CAUGHT THE WEST SIDE TERROR. Fred Bonnell, Under Arrest for Lurking, May be the Man Who Has Insulted Women and Girls.

Fred Bonnell is a 38 year old chap who has a wife and six children living near Long Reach, in Kings county. He was this morning remanded to jail on the charge of lying and lurking and has a good chance of not enjoying much liberty for the next six months, as it is hinted that he has done time for failing to look after those depending on him. He has been the terror on the West Side to High School girls, whom he has stalked, followed and kept watch over but he has been quiet enough not to make any remarks to the girls. A stop was put to all of Bonnell's contemptible actions by C. P. R. Detective J. A. Walsh who finding the man loafing in the gear shanty in No. 3 warehouse, placed him under arrest on the charge of lying and lurking and not giving a satisfactory account of himself. When brought before the police magistrate this morning the prisoner pleaded not guilty, and said he was a member of the Old Ship Laborers' Union and that he had five dollars for a membership ticket, and when in the C. P. R. sheds he was looking for work. He said in answer to cross examination by the magistrate, that he had been to see his wife and six children once since last fall and they seemed to be looking well. They got along even if he had not sent anything to their support. He could only tell of working part of one night this winter on a steamer, but said that since October he had managed to earn enough to buy a ticket in the union which cost five dollars. Detective Walsh informed the court that the defendant had been loafing about the sheds all winter, and had been warned away on several occasions. When arrested he claimed that he had a right to remain about the sheds. Policeman Hughes, of the West Side, was called and gave evidence that the defendant had been pointed out to the police as a man who made it a practice to cross the ferry on the four o'clock trip when the high school girls were returning home and that he would not only walk alongside of them but would watch them go home and stand on the corners for some time watching their houses. Other reports were received that he resembles the man who has been acting very indecently in the West end during the fall. When approached and spoken to by the policeman regarding actions towards the girls, Bonnell told the officer that he had done nothing wrong and continuing said, "The girls are all my friends and I can walk alongside any of them, and as long as I don't say anything to them nothing can be done to me."

THE ARREST OF BONNELL MAY BE THE RESULT, as an officer says, of riding Carlsson of a person who has been a terror to the women and girls who have been out after dark.

Bonnell was remanded until either this afternoon or tomorrow morning and told he was liable to a term of six months.

WOULD REMODEL THE CITY HALL BUILDING. Safety Board Will Consider Plan to Install Elevator and Add Another Story—Other Business.

Plans for extended accommodation at City Hall will be considered at the meeting of the Safety Board this evening. At the last meeting the chairman, Ald. Vanwart, and Director Wisely were appointed a committee to look for a suitable building which might be purchased for use as a city hall in place of the present structure. Their search has been unsuccessful as the only building which they could find which would be anything like what they wanted is the Masonic Hall and this would not be much better than the present building. As the result of their investigation they will recommend that a passenger elevator be placed in the City Hall and a new story be added to the building. By utilizing the present top flat also considerable additional room would be secured and the building would serve the city's needs for some years to come. Other business to come before the board will include the consideration of the annual report of the chief of police and the chief of the fire department referred to the committee from the last council meeting. They will also have for discussion the proposal to increase the salaries of the employees of the departments under their control.

REPROACH TO BOTH BODIES
"The Ministry of Healing"
Declares Christian Science is Lost to Both Church and Medical Profession

In St. Mary's Church last evening the Rev. Dr. Raymond delivered the first of a series of sermons on "The Ministry of Healing" to a large and deeply interested congregation. Speaking from the text, Matt. x. 7, the preacher said that it was recorded of the Founder of Christianity that "He went about doing good," not only teaching by word and example, but healing all manner of sickness and disease among the people. To his apostles he committed the ministry of healing. They were not only to preach the gospel but to heal the sick. The time was when in the church the priest was the physician of the body as well as of the soul. This we have now outlived although the splendid results which today have attended the labors of medical missionaries in non-Christian lands and of Dr. Grenfell on the shores of Labrador prove that under certain conditions the Christian teacher may still with great advantage be the physician of the body as well as of the soul. At all events there is no reason why religion and medicine may not walk hand in hand for the well-being of suffering humanity. Proceeding with his discourse Dr. Raymond briefly discussed Christian Science and similar cults of healing. These had suddenly sprung into being and their adherents were numbered by tens of thousands. The existence of these cults was a reproach equally to the medical profession and to the church. This will be interspersed with Scottish songs. A silver collection will be taken, and a large number should be in attendance. A grand sacred concert will be given tomorrow evening. Those participating will include Miss Drake, Miss Cheyne, Miss Seaton, Miss Cahern, Miss Thompson, Mrs. Tutts, Mrs. MacNeill, Miss Edwards and Messrs. Bryden, Brown, Kingsmill, Cairns, Cooper, Fisher, Harrison, McGowan and Stokes.

FIRST PROTEST UP UNDER THE NEW ACT
The Carleton County election case was again before Mr. Justice McLeod on Saturday afternoon, on the return of a summons taken out on behalf of the respondent, George W. Upham, calling upon the petitioner to show cause why he should not furnish particulars of bribery and treating complained of in the petition. Hon. W. P. Jones, K. C., for Mr. Upham, contended that full particulars of the persons bribing and those bribed, the amount handed over and the persons treated and treated, should be presented. A. B. Connell, K. C., for the petitioner, W. J. Owens, argued that only the names of those bribed need be furnished, and after hearing authorities read his honor so decided. Mr. Connell, in the course of his argument, said that this was the first election protest to come up under the present act, drawn by the Hon. G. G. Blair, and suggested that the order should not be more comprehensive than required by the authorities for it might become a precedent.

TO BUILD FIRE-PROOF STAIRS
Montreal Firm to Begin Work at Hospital Today
As an extra precaution against fire the commissioners of the General Public Hospital have decided to install fireproof stairways in the building. From the first to the third landing all the stairways will be of steel and slate making them absolutely fireproof. Sheron & Co. of Montreal have the contract for the work, which will cost in the vicinity of $2,250. Mr. Sheron is in the city and starts today at the work. A gang of about fifteen men will assist him in the installation of the stairways. The work, according to the contract, is to be done in a week, and Mr. Sheron intends to push the job forward as rapidly as possible. It will take the hospital authorities about three days after that to have the building ready again. While the work is being carried on the patients will be removed to the first and second landings. During the days that the new stairways are being built the hospital will be admitted to the hospital. When the work is completed notice will be given and the doors thrown open again for visitors.

A programme of songs, readings and speeches is being arranged and the evening promises to be both profitably and delightfully spent.

CONSERVATIVE COUNCIL SNUBS PREMIER HAZEN
DALHOUSIE, Jan. 23.—Premier Hazen will receive no comfort from his municipal friends in Westigoche, as the council adjourned today sine die without even mentioning the road act. This action on the part of a body that criticized the road law of 1901 shows the great reaction among the people against the Hazen government. Added to the mismanagement of road matters are the dismissal of competent officers in Westigoche recently because they were Liberals. The County Council stands twelve Conservatives and two Liberals.

McDade led on the first string with 91. The scores are as follows:

ESKIMO LAD TO STUDY,

THEN HUNT FOR POLE

Brought From Greenland by Peary in '06. He Will Now Enter College.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Mons. Wallace, the 18 year old Eskimo youth, whom Commander Peary brought to this city from Greenland on his return twelve years ago, has decided to postpone his return to the frozen north.

Instead he will enter the preparatory department of Manhattan College and go later on polar expeditions and to explore the great unknown interior of Greenland, his native country.

A short while ago Wallace aroused general sympathy by appealing to Peary to take him back to his people and away from a civilization with which he was not in tune.

His decision to enter college in February was taken upon the advice of Harry V. Radford, an explorer, to whom Wallace recently told his ambitions to find the north pole.

VERMONT PEOPLE PANIC STRICKEN

Violent Electrical Storm Thought Mountain Was in Eruption—Great Damage Done

CLAREMONT, N. H., Jan. 24.—The inhabitants of Claremont and the surrounding towns within a radius of more than ten miles were thoroughly frightened by a severe electrical thunderstorm tonight during which the accompanying lightning did extensive damage. Some of the nervous and highly strung residents thought for a time that Mount Ascutney Mountain, just over the Vermont line was in eruption and hid in closets and other places. The prisoners in the Vermont state prison at Windsor, fearfully gripped the bars of their cells or covered behind the frail beds, clamoring for release. Children in attendance at religious services scattered out of their meeting-places and there was a general disorder everywhere during the greater part of the two hours duration of the storm.

OVERCOME BY GAS IN CABIN

Three Men Meet Death While Asleep in Cabin of Barge Boston

VINEYARD HAVEN, Mass., Jan. 23.—Two members of the crew of the barge Boston are dead and Captain Stearns, who was on duty, is lying in the Marine Hospital with no hopes offered for his recovery, as the result of being overcome by coal gas in his little cabin last night. The accident was not discovered until this afternoon when the captain of the barge, George King, of Perth Amboy, N. J., became suspicious of the deserted appearance of the Boston and made an investigation. As he pushed open the door of the Boston's cabin he was met by the strong odor of coal gas. Waiting for an instant to allow some ventilation in the room he went in and found Captain King unconscious in one bunk, while in the other bunk were the bodies of Ichabod D. Bagnell, of Plymouth, Mass., aged 17 years, and another member of the crew familiarly known as French Charlie, whose real name is not known.

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS.

Captain King failed to regain consciousness upon being removed to the deck and the captain of the Barge called for assistance and had the skipper removed to the Marine Hospital where it was said tonight that he was not likely to recover.

Capital Street Lights Are Out Report That Lord Northcote is Coming is Not Credited

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 24.—A storm of rain and sleet which began throughout the Ottawa Valley yesterday afternoon and lasted during the night, worked havoc with telephone and telegraph wires throughout the district and the whole repair staff of the companies have been busy all day putting up miles of wire brought down by the weight of frozen sleet.

The Canadian Associated Press dispatch of last week stating that Lord Northcote, ex-governor general of Australia, is to succeed Earl Grey as governor general of Canada, is not given much credence by members of the government here. Lord Northcote is a Unionist and it is considered the present Liberal government in Britain would be more likely to select for so important a position as governor general in Canada a peer who was in sympathy with the Liberal rather than the Unionist policy. The Canadian government is usually consulted before the appointment of a governor general is made, and so far no name has been suggested as probable successor to the present governor general, whose term expires in October next.

The headline feature at the Nickel this week is petite Alice Earle, of New York, hospital-vocalist, whose programme of songs, harp solos and recitations commence at 4 o'clock this afternoon and are brought on at 7.30, 8.30 and 9.30 in the evening. Miss Earle will be heard in the following numbers today:

CLEVER HARPIET AT NICKEL TODAY.

Some (Harp Accompaniment) "That's What the Rose Said to Me," Miss Edyth Forrest, of New York, the soprano, will be heard in Ernest R. Ball's latest success, "I'd Live or I Would Die for You," a lovely ballad. Mr. DonWill Calvert will sing a charming number, "My Dear Old Lady," and the orchestra has numerous new selections. In the picture line the Nickel has something extra fine, including: Andalusia in Spain, The Jester, a magnificent Pathé creation. Mr. Jones at the Reception, School Days and Servants or Masters; the latter comedies. In view of the strong drawing power of these features the advice to be early is particularly good.

SIX NEW FEATURES AT "STAR" TONIGHT.

The new Star Theatre, in Union Hall, North End, has more first class films for its patrons tonight and tomorrow, the chief of which is a Visit to Campagna in France, one of the loveliest scenes of all Europe. The other pictures are: Who Stole My Bisk, The Poor Singer, The Doctor's Wife and Honest Love Triumphs. Miss Von Brander has as a new song which will increase her popularity undoubtedly Saturday this cosy clean theatre enjoyed immense patronage.

THE UNIQUE.

The Unique comes to the front again with another big feature picture, which will undoubtedly be fully as interesting as the two offered during the past week. "The Bride of Lammermoor" is a tragedy of Bonnie Scotland, and as such is sure to meet with popular approval. Very briefly the pictures tell the following story: A young girl is being urged by her father to marry a duke, she refuses and makes a rendezvous with her lover, and together they plight their troth. The girl turning meets the duke face to face, who follows her to the house and reports to the father. The two lay a trap for the unsuspecting girl, by dispatching a note signaling the lover's name. The developments result in one of the best of picture stories, and most intensely dramatic. "Painting" a pathetic story of an artist, and one thousand feet of laughs wrapped up in a whole reel description of "The New Stenographer," which will be heard again and Tuesday evening, Miss Brewer has recovered and will be heard again.

WEARING BLACK.

While styles in clothing come and go at the dictate of fashion, the habit of wearing black upon the death of a friend or relative seems to continue without losing its hold or much of its popularity. The habit is deeply ingrained in the people of this and other countries notwithstanding the fact that there is much that is constantly urged against it.

By Helicon he sat and fished— Or was it Paranaeus? However that may be, fished And hoped to catch Pegasus.

Another objection, although a minor one, is the expense incurred. It does not seem reasonable that, if the bread winner of a family is taken away, the widow who may already be burdened with debts for doctors' bills and un-undertaker's expenses, should be forced immediately to add further to her burden the cost of a new wardrobe for herself and her children.

VENTILATE THE CHURCHES. While the ministers of the city are devoting their time to the best methods of fighting tuberculosis they will undoubtedly learn more about the value of fresh air to both the sick and the well. One of the first remedies insisted on in modern treatment of consumption is a plentiful supply of fresh air in the sleeping room of the patient.

churches, or other public buildings either are ventilated as thoroughly as they should be. This is especially true in winter and on a winter Sunday when the furnace has been going steadily to keep up the temperature and a large congregation has met at morning service, and the auditorium has been used again in the afternoon, it is not surprising that by the time the evening service begins the atmosphere is bad enough to put anyone to sleep as quickly as an anesthetic. Both the health and the comfort of the public would benefit by a more liberal ventilation of all auditoriums.

THE SONG OF REVOLT.

How dear to my heart is the old-fashioned night-shirt. When fond recollection presents it to view! The frock-coat effects in the good old long white shirt. And the ease and comfort that in it I know. It lay o'er my bed with my slippers beside it. Inviting sweet dreams from fatigue to beguile.

THE POST AND THE ORACLE. By Helicon he sat and fished— Or was it Paranaeus? However that may be, fished And hoped to catch Pegasus.

LEVENOL. A poet's sometimes such a rus He sees no virtue in Bacchus.

POTENTIAL. The country parson was condoling with the bereft widow. "Alas!" he continued earnestly, "I cannot tell you how pained I was to learn that your husband had gone to heaven. We were bosom friends, but we shall never meet again."

OUT OF THE MOUTHS OF BABES. "Oh, mamma," said little Lola, "I've got an awful pain. Won't you please give me some of that medicine with sugar in it? Quick, mamma, before the pain goes away."

BROOKLYN GIRL GETS HER SECOND DIVORCE. Mrs. Roberta G. Hill Gets Separation From English Captain.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Mrs. Roberta G. Corwin Hill, the "belle of Sheephead Bay," has been granted a divorce from Captain Arthur Hill, of the British army.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Jan. 25.—A pair of surgeon's forceps, accidentally sewed up in the abdomen after an operation eleven years ago, caused the death of Miss Mary J. Donovan, of this city, on Wednesday. The operation in which the mistake occurred was performed by a surgeon who was a high repute, who has since died. The facts of the case were ascertained only a few days ago, following an X-ray examination made on the advice of a physician.

HIS KERCHEFS FOUND IN GO-RESPONDENT'S BED

Maid Testifies, Also, That She Saw Captain Stirling in Mrs. Atherton's Room.

EDINBURGH, Scotland, Jan. 24.—Mrs. Mabel Louise Atherton, correspondent in the divorce suit of Mrs. Clara Elizabeth Stirling, formerly Miss Taylor, of Newark, N. J., created a sensation when she appeared at trial today. The escapades of Mrs. Atherton, who has furnished gossip for years, was the subject of the testimony.

Mrs. Atherton wore a startling hot-trotter dress, with a bodice buttoned like a lancer's jacket, and a large picture hat. She seemed unmoved by the disclosures made in the evidence, chatting gaily with Captain Stirling.

Theresa Dagnone, a French woman, formerly Mrs. Atherton's maid, told the court she slept in a room above that occupied by Mrs. Atherton. Several times she heard a man's voice in the room, and on two occasions she found one of Captain Stirling's bandkerchiefs under Mrs. Atherton's pillow.

Stirling denied that he had ever paid any marked attention to Mrs. Atherton. He said he had never miscondemned himself with her. He had remonstrated with his wife about the attentions Lord Northland paid her. She was defiant. He wrote to Lord Northland, asking him not to see Mrs. Stirling again.

Mrs. Stirling has admitted that she loves Lord Northland.

ENGLAND'S KING TO VISIT THE KAISER

Elaborate Preparations in Berlin to Accord British Sovereign a Royal Reception.

BERLIN, Jan. 23.—King Edward and Queen Alexandra, will, according to present arrangements, arrive in Berlin for their state visit to the emperor and empress on February 9.

The date is provisional, but, if changed to suit the convenience of the king it has been decided that the visit will take place during February.

Elaborate preparations will be made to give the king and queen a magnificent reception. The emperor will direct in outline a programme, which will be given in honor of the exalted visitors.

The king and queen, according to present arrangements, will take up their residence in a suite of apartments on the first floor of the imperial palace, situated in the centre of Berlin. It is not yet known whether they will remain in Berlin during the whole period of their visit, which is expected to extend over five or six days, or whether, after the formal court functions have been concluded, a move will be made to Potsdam, where the imperial and royal hotels and guests may enjoy another company in more privacy.

The programme of festivities will include one or two great gala performances at the Opera House, and probably another gala performance at the Royal Playhouse. Both these theatres are the emperor's private property.

It is understood there will be no great review of troops, owing to the belief prevalent in the German court that magnificent military pageants on the approved Prussian pattern bore King Edward.

When the king and queen arrive they will make the traditional formal state entry into the capital, entering the inner city through the Brandenburg gate, where they will be welcomed by the burgomaster, aldermen and city councillors, bareheaded and wearing their chains of office. The burgomaster will present an address welcoming the king and the queen in the name of the municipality, and the king will reply briefly, speaking in German.

Strenuous efforts will be made to make the British royal visit a great success in every respect. It is noteworthy, for instance, that the extensive influence of the press department of the German Foreign Office will be exercised to produce a large number of extremely friendly comments on the exchange of courtesies between the British and German courts.

MAN OF BRAINS IS TRICKED BY WOMAN

The Most Learned Egyptologist in Europe Deceived in Alleged Old-Time Relics.

PARIS, Jan. 23.—A quiet-looking, unobtrusive little French woman has succeeded in deceiving one of the most learned Egyptologists in Europe, Commissioner Capard, of the Royal Museums, Belgium, by selling him two scarabs with alleged ancient Egyptian inscriptions, for some $300.

Inscriptions which seemed to settle the much debated question whether the ancient Egyptians had circumnavigated Africa. They related the audience given by King Necho to the chief of the Phoenician sailors on their return from the journey.

There was great competition for the stones, which, according to his widow, were found among the belongings of the late M. Bouriant, director of the French School of History at Cairo, though the International Congress at Berlin last August declared that they were frauds.

The true history has just been disclosed by a Paris engraver, M. Baubien, who stated that he had engraved the stones from designs supplied by the late director's son. When they were submitted to him he recognized his work, though the stones had been artfully aged. Mme. Bouriant and her son have confessed the fraud, and are being prosecuted in Belgium.

BIG HAUL OF THIEVES ON PARIS STREET

Bag Containing Securities of Over $200,000 Stolen From Seat of Van.

PARIS, Jan. 23.—A bag containing between $200,000 and $250,000 worth of securities was stolen yesterday in Rue de la Chaussee d'Antin. It is customary for bankers in that neighborhood to dispatch several times a week to their provincial correspondents packets of securities. These remittances are often of considerable value, and of being sent through the post, are forwarded as railway parcels. The office of the Eastern Railway Company at 7 Rue de la Chaussee d'Antin, handles the greater part of this class of parcels.

Yesterday the employees of several financial establishments deposited parcels at the office. The securities were contained in linen envelopes, which were sealed and classified in large bundles, the whole being tied up in an oil-skin bag. The parcels were placed in the van, and the assistant called to him to help close the door of the van. Colliet shut the door, throwing his water-pipe over the back before leaving the driver's seat. When he returned to the box-seat a few minutes later the parcels were still there but the bag of securities had disappeared.

Active search is being made for the thief, but there is no clue. The stolen securities are listed in duplicate, and their distinguishing numbers are known. Negotiation of them will, therefore, be difficult.

"SOCIAL WHIRL" With Insomnia and Collapse.

It seems difficult for some of us to be good all of the time, but it pays, after all. I was a model school teacher, on a vacation, may be dropping into excess in the way of overeating, late hours and the like. There was scarcely an evening when I did not drink strong coffee and afterwards spend hours awake.

"Finally the break-down came and I have spent hundreds of dollars and almost two years of suffering trying to mend it.

"Every doctor I had insisted on my giving up coffee. I tried Postum, but prepared, at first, as it ought to be, and I did not care for it. Since getting it right I have found it wonderfully beneficial.

"The benefits derived from Postum the past year have been gradual but sure. The effect on my stomach was immediate. It was the only thing that kept the white of egg that did not disappear.

"There is no doubt that coffee is injurious to many even in small quantities. To one who will make the total, there is no doubt that Postum is decidedly beneficial and a delicious drink if made according to directions on package.

THE GROWING INDEPENDENCE OF WOMEN.

"Is the growing independence of women a good thing?" This was the subject chosen for a recent sermon by Rev. R. J. Hutchison of the Unitarian church, Toronto. The whole Mr. Hutchison favored the view that events are taking toward the independence of the weaker sex, but was quite free in admitting that while it might be beneficial in the end, it would have its disadvantages.

"The craving for independence is not confined to the human race, but is instinct of all humanity, a deep need of the human constitution and an outgrowth of the spirit that moves from the lower animals," he said. "If men were to see this they would be more hopeful. It is impossible for any man saturated with democratic and humanitarian feeling to survey woman's status without a blush of shame."

"Until recently woman has never been regarded as the equal or companion of her husband. She has been subordinate, his plaything, or his drudge. She has been hunted and captured by man as an animal, been bought and sold as an animal, been bargained for to arrange large estates. Among the barbarians and savages she has always been a prey to the hunt and to amuse himself fighting her. She has always been the quarry who were the slaves to do his work and move his goods from place to place.

"It is not long since the door of educational opportunity was opened to her. Even in the highest and noblest families, women were denied the wider branches of knowledge. In government woman has been denied the right to help make the laws under which she and her children must live.

"It was once even doubted whether woman had a soul. This gradually gave way, and there came a time when women were allowed to have divine services behind screens. The term 'Our Father,' as used in the Lord's prayer, seems to me to echo the cry of the woman. There are some sects that appreciate this, and say when praying, 'Our Father and Mother.' So long as women are weak and men will exploit and abuse them, and so long as this is the case men will perform all possible religious duties, but without spirituality just the same.

"The feeling of equality between man and wife will create a greater companionship. It will curb his tyrannical tendencies, refine him, and develop in him a new range of moral sentiment towards humanity as a whole. It will develop new wealth of personality, and every great man has had something of the woman in his nature, and every woman has had something of the man in her nature."

"The growing independence of woman is a good thing? Yes, I say it is. All the purposes of the movement are not good. In every revolution we find that all is not good. By reason of the teachings of Christ Europe was held back for years by the tyrannical methods employed by the church—yet today the world is improved by the Nazarine teachings.

"The growing independence of woman is not a new thing. It has been since man existed. Since the time when man's imagination lifted him out of the animal condition and caused him to go far wide over the earth. It is just the latest phase of the struggle for personal liberty. We have examples of a similar nature all down through history, such as the Magna Charta, and that latest move, the electing of fifty Labor members to the House of Commons. We believe in woman's large independence, and the ultimate good results on the whole of the entire movement, in spite of the disadvantages that flow from it.

"Woman's growing independence is a good thing for the woman herself. It will give her more power, opportunity and chances of learning. It may destroy some of the qualities that have been associated with woman as the gentler sex. There was a time when woman was described as like unto the vine that clings to the mighty oak, but that idea is becoming less favored every day. It might destroy some of the qualities that have been associated with woman, that have arisen out of her weakness and helplessness. Chivalry has been a protection to the few, but not to the majority. Her further independence will protect her from men who have no chivalry. She will no longer have to marry for support. It will also extend her views so that she may be always in touch with the subjects that interest the welfare of her country, and in that way hold the respect and affection of her children. The greater wealth of personality—in spite of the losses which a larger independence may entail—will make life for women more rich in spiritual wealth than it has ever been before.

"The uplift of woman depends upon the emancipation of woman. The rising up of the masses of men is what makes the instrument of tyranny from the hand of the tyrant. So long as women are weak and men will exploit and abuse them, and so long as this is the case men will perform all possible religious duties, but without spirituality just the same.

"The feeling of equality between man and wife will create a greater companionship. It will curb his tyrannical tendencies, refine him, and develop in him a new range of moral sentiment towards humanity as a whole. It will develop new wealth of personality, and every great man has had something of the woman in his nature, and every woman has had something of the man in her nature."

"The growing independence of woman is a good thing? Yes, I say it is. All the purposes of the movement are not good. In every revolution we find that all is not good. By reason of the teachings of Christ Europe was held

WHO VOTED FAMOUS "BORDEN" TELEGRAM?

VICTORIA, B. C., Jan. 24.—The statement of Mr. Borden in the House on Friday he never sent the famous "Am in favor of total exclusion of Asiatics" to the Colonist here during the last campaign is the biggest sensation since election. Mr. Templeman's paper last evening reproduced a facsimile of the telegram which the Colonist printed during the campaign with Borden's name attached, and which he now says was a forgery. An explanation of the Colonist was eagerly awaited this morning, but that paper contented itself with the following remarks: "The Colonist is not responsible for the statement made by R. L. Borden in the house of commons, to the effect that a dispatch which appeared in the Colonist previous to the election, and purporting to be signed by him, had not been sent by him. We are bound to accept Mr. Borden's statement, and we express our great regret at having attributed any sentiments to him which he did not express. In printing the dispatch referred to the Colonist acted in perfect good faith."

"The dispatch in question was the last straw in the anti-oriental feature of the last political campaign and going as it did to the furthest lengths ever asked by the most rabid exclusionist easily made enough votes to turn the election. The Times claims that Borden's admission in the House that he never sent the telegram had altered the course of the election, and that his knowledge did not come in time to be put right before the actual vote was taken.

RIVER WATER POISONS 2000 IN ONE TOWN

Unfiltered Supply Threatens Bellevue, Below Pittsburg, With Epidemic.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 23.—According to an estimate made today by a chemist representing the state Board of Health and the local health authorities, there are 2,000 persons ill in Bellevue, a suburb, as a result of drinking raw river water furnished by a water company last Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Almost the entire population of Bellevue is suffering from a nauseating illness, which may develop into an epidemic of typhoid fever.

Charges, which have not been denied, are to the effect that the water company's filter apparatus failed during the latter part of last week, and in an endeavor to maintain the supply the raw river water was pumped through the pipes without warning. By Sunday a large number of persons had become ill, and the Bellevue health authorities called on the state and Pittsburg for help.

The situation is responsible for orders issued by the state health authorities to Pittsburg, which is above Bellevue, to install a new system of sewage disposal. This work will cost Pittsburg between $15,000,000 and $20,000,000.

"CAN I GET WELL?" If Your Trouble comes from the Kidneys, or from Kidney Poisons in the Blood, YES! And if you have been ailing a long time don't lose your courage. It takes a little time—takes some constipation longer than others. But Doan's Kidney Pills will gradually drain the poisons out of your system; the pain in your back will stop; the sediment in the urine will cease; there will be no rheumatic pains; you will feel freer and brighter, and when the kidneys are well you will be well.

There is no way of getting the kidney poisons out of the system except through the kidneys, and no medicine so effective in taking them out as Doan's Kidney Pills. Mr. W. Perkins, South Maitland, N.S., writes: "I feel it my duty to let you know of the great cure I have obtained by using Doan's Kidney Pills. For six months I could not obtain a good night's rest, had to get up four or five times to urinate, and the urine was very thick and red. I commenced using Doan's Kidney Pills and in a very short time I was right and as well as ever. I am very thankful to the T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont. In ordering specify 'Doan's.'"

CAN MAKE DIAMONDS, IS CHEMIST'S CLAIM

Formula for Their Manufacture to be Submitted the French Academy of Sciences.

PARIS, Jan. 23.—At one of the approaching sessions of the Academy of Sciences a communication will be read from a French chemist, referred to as M. H., containing a formula for the manufacture of artificial diamonds. The secret of making those stones has been committed to writing, and is now deposited in a sealed envelope which has been confided to the secretary of the academy.

It appears that the chemist's interesting discovery was accidental. The diamonds manufactured by him were submitted to minute examination by Professor Lacroix and M. Leon Mauguere, a member of the French Institute, and were declared to be in every respect identical with veritable diamonds. M. Mauguere burned twenty-one of H.'s diamonds in order to ascertain whether they were composed of pure carbon and Professor Lacroix had a half a dozen more placed at his disposal.

The diamonds were diminutive, but the smallest was larger than any obtained by the late M. Henri Moissan in his electric furnace. M. Mauguere is of opinion that the diamonds which he has made are entirely different from that of Moissan, a costly one, and doubts whether it could be made to pay. The chemist, however, has been furnished by a group of financiers with sufficient capital to continue his experiments.

PERSIANS REJECT SHAH'S PROPOSALS

Constitution Which He is Willing to Give Them is But Mere Caricature.

BERLIN, Jan. 23.—The Shah has agreed to grant a caricatured form of constitutional government to his people, according to a telegram from the Tehran correspondent of the Frankfurter Zeitung. He first demands that all fugitives from his displeasure shall immediately leave the Persian kingdom, whether they fled a fortnight ago, and then lays down the following constitutional restrictions:

Parliament is to continue to exist, but half the deputies shall be nominated by the crown and the other half by popular suffrage. Guarantees of personal and religious liberty granted by the former constitution are cancelled, and all political associations are prohibited.

Further, newspapers are to be subjected to censorship, the sittings of Parliament are to be secret, and the army is to be placed under the absolute control of the Shah. The constitutional party has rejected these proposals and decided to organize the rebellion which is now existing throughout the country.

Reuter's Tehran correspondent reports that there was fighting throughout Sunday at Isfahan and that Bakhtiari captured the arsenal. The Bakhtiari chief proclaimed himself governor. The tribesmen are well disposed towards Europeans.

Isfahan, which was formerly the capital of Persia, is in the heart of the empire, about 220 miles south of Tehran. It has a population of 80,000 and is the second largest trading center in the country.

Tehran, which is the most important trade center, is also in a state of anarchy. Revolt has indeed spread throughout Persia.

AFTER VON BUELOW.

New Chancellor Crisis is Threatened in Germany.

BERLIN, Jan. 23.—A new chancellor crisis is threatened, if it has not already begun, following the dissatisfaction among the government proposals to meet the budget deficit. Chancellor Von Buelow, addressing the Prussian Diet on Tuesday, insisted upon the necessity for increasing the legacy duties. He immediately aroused the opposition of the so-called Patriotic Parties, which form the "Bloc," on which the administration relies in the Reichstag, and embracing the Conservatives, Agrarians, National Liberals and some other factions. The hottest antagonism that far comes from the Conservatives and Agrarians, who are raising the deprecatory cry of class legislation. At an important meeting at Dantzig, attended by prominent Conservatives, there was the plainest speaking against the Chancellor. Herr Von Oederberg, one of the leaders, was loudly applauded for declaring that there is no budget deficit, but that the administration relies in the Reichstag, and embracing the Conservatives and Agrarians, who are raising the deprecatory cry of class legislation. At an important meeting at Dantzig, attended by prominent Conservatives, there was the plainest speaking against the Chancellor. Herr Von Oederberg, one of the leaders, was loudly applauded for declaring that there is no budget deficit, but that the administration relies in the Reichstag, and embracing the Conservatives and Agrarians, who are raising the deprecatory cry of class legislation.

On the proposal of the chairman it was resolved not to send the customary telegram of allegiance to the Chancellor because his policy was contrary to Conservative principles.

A HOME TRADER. A surgeon in a Western town, engaged to perform an operation of minor character upon a somewhat unsophisticated patient, asked him if he were willing to have only a local anesthetic.

"Sure," replied the other; "I believe in patronizing home industry whenever you can."

And he meant it.

THE TRAPDOOR SPIDER.

Architect and Engineer—Lives in a Cement House Constructed in the Attic

(New York Bureau) POINT LOMA, San Diego, Cal., Jan. 24.—If slightly acquainted with the ways of a trapdoor spider you are reminded of that little insect every time you watch the men at work building caissons for a foundation for a new steel-ribbed sky-scraper.

One thing more. The door has a hinge, and it is a spring type of hinge. When the spider wishes to forage he opens the door of his house wide open, and it remains open. The spring hinge in some manner is set with a hair trigger. And there is a reason.

The spider while peering upon the face and from the attic, almost as hard as sandstone itself, into which to sink his own home, for his caisson is built in the ground six or eight inches below the surface.

With infinite patience, grain by grain, he removes the sun-baked adobe making an opening in the surface about the size of a silver dollar, and burrowing almost straight downwards, until at six, seven or eight inches down he ceases his work.

The opening made in the earth the spider uses as a means of escape, and when the rain comes even the dry adobe tries to drink in the water that is on the surrounding land thence.

What kind of cement and how it is mixed the writer does not know, but quite as impervious to moisture as any cement ever laid by the hand of man. This is plastered on with the greatest care and more smoothly than if laid on with a brush.

And when the job is done his house is waterproofed beyond question. When the cement dries cracks and joints are grouted to have been well considered, for not a crack shows anywhere in the walls. There is no seepage, no swelling, no receding of the structure.

The plastering done, the house walls are now to be tapestried, to be made into a coating of downy substance is laid on, something similar to the material that makes up the hair of a cat, but of a much finer, smoother texture.

This is laid on with the greatest care and precision, and when done it is a job well done, so much so that one might well envy the spider family in its fresh snug home.

The main structure completed and furnished, now comes the most important part, the building of the trapdoor. Here is displayed the ingenuity, skill and foresight of the trapdoor spider.

Water, air and dust must be kept out, and as the door is even with the ground surface and to all intents and purposes an invisible runner who at the facilities of the spider are taxed to the utmost.

The fit of the door must be so perfect as to exclude the air quite as perfectly as a pressed can of fruit or a housewife has put up. The shoulder of the caisson is so perfectly rounded that when the trap door fits in and rests upon the curved shoulder the paked eye fails to detect the least crevice upon the closest inspection.

The sharp knife-blade finds no lodgment in the crevice. No bill of a road runner or a sickle bill through can make any headway in prying open that vault cover, even if the spider home is detected, which is not often the case. The trapdoor must be strong enough to resist the tapping of an inquisitive rod runner who at times tests the engineering of the spider to the utmost.

Again the trapdoor is even with and a part of the earth and must bear the weight of anything, animal or human, makes no impression upon this entrance to the spider's domain. The inside of the door is rounded like the end of an egg, the strongest construction known.

The query now comes up as to how the spider gets in and out. The door is hard-worked hard to equal, for it is a spring-biased door working as a shutter on a camera. The spring tension, while amply strong to secure the door in place, quickly and easily responds to any outward pressure from inside.

The care with which the door is made to conform to the surrounding surface is wonderful. The door is undoubtedly made up as to the outside surface and not from a solid disc of adobe. Bit by bit it must have been put together, held by the underlying cement, and when all done the finished caisson upon the surface as admirably arranged as to rival the art of any copyist who ever forced a Rembrandt or Van Dyck.

If the adobe adjacent shows small deposits of moss the cover of the caisson is in no particular difference. It would seem that the feeling of safety prompted the spider to exert his utmost ingenuity when attempting the entrance of the trapdoor to the earthy surroundings.

As a copyist of nature the trapdoor spider is not far from the mark. The texture of the surrounding sun-baked earth is simulated. And when this last finishing touch is put on the job is done and well done.

One thing more. The door has a hinge, and it is a spring type of hinge. When the spider wishes to forage he opens the door of his house wide open, and it remains open. The spring hinge in some manner is set with a hair trigger. And there is a reason.

The spider while peering upon the face and from the attic, almost as hard as sandstone itself, into which to sink his own home, for his caisson is built in the ground six or eight inches below the surface.

With infinite patience, grain by grain, he removes the sun-baked adobe making an opening in the surface about the size of a silver dollar, and burrowing almost straight downwards, until at six, seven or eight inches down he ceases his work.

The opening made in the earth the spider uses as a means of escape, and when the rain comes even the dry adobe tries to drink in the water that is on the surrounding land thence.

What kind of cement and how it is mixed the writer does not know, but quite as impervious to moisture as any cement ever laid by the hand of man. This is plastered on with the greatest care and more smoothly than if laid on with a brush.

And when the job is done his house is waterproofed beyond question. When the cement dries cracks and joints are grouted to have been well considered, for not a crack shows anywhere in the walls. There is no seepage, no swelling, no receding of the structure.

The plastering done, the house walls are now to be tapestried, to be made into a coating of downy substance is laid on, something similar to the material that makes up the hair of a cat, but of a much finer, smoother texture.

This is laid on with the greatest care and precision, and when done it is a job well done, so much so that one might well envy the spider family in its fresh snug home.

The main structure completed and furnished, now comes the most important part, the building of the trapdoor. Here is displayed the ingenuity, skill and foresight of the trapdoor spider.

Water, air and dust must be kept out, and as the door is even with the ground surface and to all intents and purposes an invisible runner who at the facilities of the spider are taxed to the utmost.

The fit of the door must be so perfect as to exclude the air quite as perfectly as a pressed can of fruit or a housewife has put up. The shoulder of the caisson is so perfectly rounded that when the trap door fits in and rests upon the curved shoulder the paked eye fails to detect the least crevice upon the closest inspection.

The sharp knife-blade finds no lodgment in the crevice. No bill of a road runner or a sickle bill through can make any headway in prying open that vault cover, even if the spider home is detected, which is not often the case. The trapdoor must be strong enough to resist the tapping of an inquisitive rod runner who at times tests the engineering of the spider to the utmost.

Again the trapdoor is even with and a part of the earth and must bear the weight of anything, animal or human, makes no impression upon this entrance to the spider's domain. The inside of the door is rounded like the end of an egg, the strongest construction known.

YOUNG GIRL ASSAULTED AND MURDERED IN OHIO

Fifth Crime of This Nature Alarms the People of Dayton—Police are in the Dark.

DAYTON, Ohio, Jan. 23.—Although two arrests were made today, the police practically admit that very little progress has been made toward solving the mystery surrounding the assault upon and murder of Mary Fuchsner, a fifteen year old girl, whose body was found in a shed near here late last night.

The girl left her home on 3rd Avenue about 6:30 o'clock last evening to take money to a bank to be deposited for her step-father, Chas. Gessert. The officers believe the girl did not go down town but was attacked in the immediate vicinity of her home. There was evidence of a struggle which covered a distance of nearly a hundred yards and ended in a vacant lot. The body was found in a shed on this lot, which is owned by Gratton Kennedy, who whose every fraction of a second counts. When a long-legged-footed road runner spies him he must not tarry on his way. Through the thick end of the chaparral he takes his flight the better to impede or delay pursuit, and when the goal is reached like the flash of an electric spark he has descended into his caisson, the door instantly slipping and the spider is gone. It is the time that tries us all.

The road runner has seen his rear, and at once sounds the ground with his sharp bill to break in and seize his prey. But it is of no use. The firm tough adobe resists the repeated blows of the heavy bill of the bird and he goes to other pastures giving the spider a new lease of life.

Not content with all his provisions for safety, the spider must, like the hero of old, thrust his arm through the door fastened in lieu of a bar and hold his castle entrance against intrusion. Nests discovered and pried open with difficulty by a knife blade have disclosed the fact that the spider has thrust his arm or leg through slots in the door and wall and that the log has actually been torn loose from his body in the forcible opening of the door.

It is impossible in a short sketch to do justice to the most wonderful nature's engineer. Could one spare the time it would repay a day spent with camera and tripod, and the ingress of the little insect and studying its habits of life. As a caisson builder, an engineer of the first class, and the trapdoor spider is commended.

THE ITALIAN OCEAN LINER SINKS AFTER COLLISION

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—The palatial ocean steamer Republic of the White Star Line, which was in collision with the Italian liner Florida in a fog early Saturday morning off Nantucket, Mass., went down at last at half-past eight o'clock tonight. No one was lost. Her passengers, some of many hours before, are on the steamer Baltic, which was off Sandy Hook late tonight, making for this port.

The first wireless messages which ran into the Republic in the dense fog of Nantucket, Mass., early Saturday morning, gave her death blow. She was slowly steaming towards New York, conveyed by the American liner New York. Her passengers are also on the Baltic, having been transferred in the early hours of the morning along with those of the Republic. She was equipped with two screws, giving her a speed of about 14 knots. She was fitted with a single funnel and with four masts. She had accommodations for 260 persons in her first cabin, 280 in the second cabin, while her stowage would hold several hundred passengers.

The hull of the Republic was extraordinarily strong and was of the double bottom type. Her motive power was furnished by two sets of quadruple expansion engines, while she was also equipped with the auxiliary power machinery for the operation of her refrigerating, electric lighting and pumping systems. The interior fittings of the steamer, while rich and ornate, were in good taste. The main dining saloon was located in a steel house on the awning deck, and the same house contained the greater portion of the first class staterooms. The second class staterooms were located on the deck below, while the steerage quarters were situated on the upper deck at the extreme after end of the steamer.

On her last trip to New York the Republic brought the first refugees from the Sicilian earthquake to land on American shores. Today's collision is the second in a little less than two years. On February 15, 1907, the Republic collided in the Bay of Naples with the Italian liner Campania. At that time the Republic had on board 311 saloon passengers, none of whom was injured.

All this time La Lorraine was in wireless communication with the Republic. She was ordered to the aid of her sister-ship. Finally, as night was falling, the Baltic flashed a message to the Frenchman that she was engaged passenger of the stricken ship were safe aboard the Italian liner Florida. This coupled with a request from the Baltic, to follow the Florida into New York, sent La Lorraine on her belated homeward trip.

SHOWED SIGNS OF STRAIN. Captain Tournier, who plainly showed signs of the strain and his long vigil, told the story of the last night. He said that he had been on duty for a long time, and that he had been very tired. He said that he had been very tired, and that he had been very tired.

TWO KILLED

BOSTON, Jan. 24.—The two Russian bandits who yesterday terrorized London in an attempt at highway robbery, when two persons were killed and twenty injured, are believed to be a portion of the gang of yegmen who terrorized this vicinity last summer, and who were captured by the police. The two bandits were identified as Paul Heford of Riga, a sailor, is Chris Zeltou, the leader of the local yeggs. Zeltou is believed to have been the leader of the Jamaica Plain, Woburn and Methuen bandits, and he was traced as far as Baltimore, where he shipped as a sailor. He is known to have followed the sea previously to his outbreaks on Massachusetts soil. The methods employed by the London pair and the type of arms they used, with their attempts to escape and attempt to make a dash for it, are identical with those of the Massachusetts outlaws.

tinger Vineyard Sound. Although the Howard was but a short distance from the place where the masts were sticking out of the water the dense fog prevented the discernment of any possible distinguishing marks.

VINEYARD HAVEN, Mass., Jan. 24.—The life savers at the Gay Head station, which is located but a short distance from the supposed scene of the sinking of the three-masted schooner reported to have been seen by the officers of the Howard, which arrived in Boston tonight, stated that they had not sighted the masts, nor did they have any information of the sinking of any schooner at the entrance to Vineyard Sound. It was explained, however, that the usually clear view across the Sound to Cuttyhunk has been obscured for the past few days by fog.

Shipping men here were unable to recall any three-master not reported which might have figured in a sinking. They thought it possible that the schooner was sunk in collision with another vessel and that her crew had possibly been taken off.

POLITICAL MORALISTS AND MORAL POLITICIANS

A. H. Patterson presided at the Thorne lodge meeting yesterday afternoon. The special music consisted of two mixed quartets.

Rev. C. W. Squires addressed the meeting. In opening he dealt with moral politicians and political moralists. The former indicated those who had placed moral issues before mere politics and the moral politician whose office is subservient to their morality.

The political moralist is one who places his attitude on moral questions as a shield. He must hold office at any cost. He does not pronounce on moral issues for fear of the majority of public sentiment, but if he finds that support of a moral question will hold him in power with the people then he will look for his support. This man fears publicity on such occasions.

All moral reforms thrive in the open sunlight of public discussion. If unwholly deeds are to be undertaken, secrecy is always maintained. Thus if an employer of a bank for instance, is conducting his work in an honest upright way, he is glad to have his books inspected. On the other hand if he is dishonest and cheating his employer he had a dread of inspection or publicity.

The great temperance movement has been kept in the light and publicity has gained for it the place it now holds.

The business of the temperance people is to keep the question alive in the public mind. The temperance people must work disinterestedly, prayerfully, earnestly and continuously. The time has arrived when this question must be decided one way or the other. The speaker closed an earnest address with a call for stronger efforts in the movement.

DREAMS OF EASTPORT AS TERMINUS OF THE C.P.R.

Correspondent Quotes a "Gentleman Who is in a Position to Know."

The Eastport correspondent of the Bangor Commercial has unburdened his soul of the following dream:—"A gentleman who visited Eastport recently, stated without equivocation or hesitation, that some day in the near future the Canadian Pacific railway would have a deep water terminus at Kendal's head and that the city of Eastport would become one of the most important ports on the Atlantic end of this great transcontinental road. The gentleman referred to rarely if ever indulges in hot air and from his intimate knowledge of what is going on in railroad and building his opinion is worthy of acceptance. He may be a little previous in his prophecy but he is honest in his conviction that a great future as a railway terminus is ahead of Eastport and that one of the factors in bringing this thing to pass will be the great Canadian road usually designated as the "C. P."

The gentleman, who has had a hand in building railroads all over the country, says that the C. P. R. will some day be running along the river passing through Chatham, Red Beach and Robinson, the route most people believe should have been followed by the builders of the Washington County, then through Perry and across to Eastport Island. The line, it is presumed, will come from Mattawan-keg through the Whitecat region where surveys have been made during the past year, and will be primarily a freight road.

The gentleman pointed out the advantages offered as a terminus at the head of Kendal's Bay and declared that with an all the year round harbor where there was plenty of water and lots of room for vessels to manoeuvre there is no reason why the city of Eastport should not become an important railway terminal before the passage of many years.

It is a well known fact that the C. P. R. people are not wholly satisfied with St. John as a winter terminus and that for some reason the much exploited harbor of L'Etang does not appear to be the good thing it is claimed, hence the statement made by the gentleman before quoted may result in an increase of knowledge of what is going to happen in railway circles in the near future."

CURLERS ARE PLANNING FOR A BUSY WEEK

All Three Clubs Will Have Matches With Home and Outside Teams.

This promises to be a busy week for the local curlers, and providing the ice remains in good condition, some fast matches will be seen. Of course, the big match of the week will be the Thistle-St. Andrews contest, which will probably come off on Saturday. A special meeting of the Thistles is called for this evening at 7.30 o'clock. It is expected that ships will be elected to play the St. Andrews and Carleton. Hampton is expected to play the locals during the week.

The second round in the Likely trophy will also be played tonight at the Thistles rink.

The St. Andrews club will hold their regular meeting tomorrow evening. It is expected that the lady curlers will meet the Hampton team this afternoon while the St. Andrews men and Hampton will clash tonight.

The club is also looking forward to matches with Fredrickton and St. Stephen besides the Thistles and Carleton.

The Carleton club held a meeting in the rink on Saturday night.

Skips were elected to play the St. Andrews, Thistle, St. Stephen, Monton, Sackville and Amherst rinks, rinks each will be played with the two local clubs.

USED A DOLLAR BILL TO LIGHT A LAMP

The plumbers have been having their findings during the past few days and many strange stories they can tell of actual experience. A somewhat unique escapade was the lot of two men from a North End store, last week. Awakened and routed out of their warm beds at 3 o'clock in the morning by the impertinence of an excited house owner they hurried through the streets to find a bad leak in a supply main and a cellar flooded with water. After shutting off the flow they began making repairs. Each carried a lamp and one of these lamps was accidentally extinguished. The plumber having no matches to relight it called for his mate, who came with a lighted lamp. Now to relight the other lamp at once was necessary and neither had matches no dry paper or wood seemed available. One man drew a dollar bill from his pocket and lighting it, used it to light the other lamp which he calmly passed to his mate. How would you like to be a plumber and have money to burn?

A VALUABLE IDEA.

A highly esteemed correspondent who however, fails to make known his identity, has sent to the Star office the following thoughtful communication dealing with a higher sphere: "The great change that has taken place in the through incarnation of the so-called dead. Signed Carnation." There cannot be any reasonable doubt of this and the fact that it has not previously been noted is a sad reflection on the trend of later day thought. Any further expressions on this or other subjects of such live interest will be cheerfully printed by the Star, for journalists today is in need of something more than the cut and dried recital of commonplace happenings.

A PLATE YOU CAN EAT WITH HELD IN POSITION BY OUR NEWLY IMPROVED QUADRUPLE ATTACHMENT.

People don't want artificial teeth to carry around in their pockets nor keep at home in their bureau drawer so they will know where to find them when the door bell rings, they want teeth for service.

If you have a plate that no dentist has been able to make fit, why not try us; we have satisfied thousands and why not you?

Our teeth are so natural in size, shape, color and the expression, they afford to the features as to defy detection. EVEN BY A DENTIST unless closely examined.

Our new attachment holds them as solid almost as though they were riveted in the mouth. DON'T MAKE THE MISTAKE OF GIVING YOUR ORDER FOR A SET OF TEETH BEFORE SEEING US.
