

AN UNGLORIOUS SESSION FOR THE OPPOSITION

Saw the Break up of the Party—Lost Ground from the Very Outset.

WHAT GOVERNMENT HAS ACCOMPLISHED.

Session Devoid of the Spectacular—Government Put Through Long List of Important Measures.

Special to The Standard
Ottawa, Ont., June 12.—The session of parliament which closed today had few features. It has been free from the spectacular and the picturesque, the reason for this being the weakness of the opposition which was manifest to a painful degree, painful in that it saw the complete break-up of a once great party.

The government reaffirmed its adherence to the trade policy which has guided the Conservative party since 1878. At the same time it was emphasized that the tariff was created for the people and in their interests would be revised from time to time as economic conditions demand. The tariff reductions brought down was consistent with that doctrine. The reductions on agricultural implements were of the farmer without transferring it to the shoulders of the manufacturer, while the steel and iron duties were upon a most solid basis without injury of hardship to the consumer. Other changes in customs schedules were of a minor character. They were made in view to the interests of all Canada and were not designed to benefit any special class or section of the country.

NEW FRENCH MINISTRY WAS SHORT-LIVED

Last Only a Day—Defeated Yesterday on its Declaration of Policy.

Paris, June 12.—Amid frantic applause by the members of the Chamber of Deputies today, the ministry of Alexandre Ribot, which was formed only yesterday, succeeded in passing its declaration of policy and then given a vote of lack of confidence. Premier Ribot and his ministers immediately picked up their portfolios and left the chamber to present their resignations to President Poincaré.

When the sitting of the chamber came to an end, two motions were before it—one approving the application of the three year military service law for the present, which was part of the premier's declaration of policy, and the other disapproving of the new cabinet on the ground that it was not representative of public opinion as indicated by the recent general election, in which the Socialists and others opposed to the military service law gained notable victories.

M. Ribot declared that he would not accept the second motion. This brought M. Jaures, the Socialist leader, to his feet with the question whether confidence in the ministry was involved on the priority of the two motions. He received an affirmative answer.

The division on the military service law showed a vote of 306 to 262 against it, and later a motion disapproving the cabinet, proposed by Deputy Albert Dalmeida and Louis Puegh was adopted by a vote of 374 to 187.

Following the defeat of the government it was rumored in the corridors of the Chamber of Deputies that M. Ribot would be asked again to try to form a new ministry.

The Grits Guilty of A Breach of Faith

Plotters Ignore Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Promise and Block Provision for Increased Senatorial Representation—Both Agreements Faithfully Adhered to by the Government.

Special to The Standard
Ottawa, June 12.—"A more deliberate and cynical breach of faith has seldom been witnessed in public life," was the way in which one of the cabinet ministers described tonight the action of the opposition in breaking the agreement which had been entered into between Premier Borden and Senator Loughes with Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Senator Bostock regarding the bill to increase the western representation in the senate.

The opposition always insisted that the latter question should be coupled with that of redistribution. A unanimous agreement for redistribution was arrived at between the two parties with respect to all of the 234 constituencies except one, and the question as to that one was by agreement left open for discussion in the House of Commons.

There was also a distinct agreement between Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Mr. Borden and the party leaders in the senate that the bills providing for increased representation in the senate and western provinces in the senate should be passed as a unit and that an amendment should be passed asking for an amendment to the British North America Act so as to provide for such increased representation.

Both agreements have been honorably carried out by the government in the strictest sense and with the most fidelity but the reverse has been the case with the opposition and the members of the government are exceedingly bitter over the matter to night. After procuring every possible concession and advantage by means of the agreement as to redistribution the Liberal leaders in the senate to repudiate the agreement for additional representation of the western provinces in the senate. This repudiation was carried out in the senate today by Senator Bostock, the Liberal leader, having a clause added to the bill to increase the western representation until after the dissolution of the present parliament. This killed the measure for this session.

SERVICE NEAR SPOT WHERE EMPRESS SANK

Mass to be Celebrated Aboard Vessel for Catholic Victims Imprisoned in Sunken Steamer.

Montreal, June 12.—The Norwegian collier Stordstad will probably be released from custody by the Admiralty Court some day next week on giving bonds in connection with the action for $2,000,000 damages taken against the Stordstad's owners by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company because of the sinking of the steamship Empress of Ireland. It is said the case will not be heard in the admiralty court until the official inquiry into the Empress disaster under the chairmanship of Lord Mersey is well advanced. The Stordstad will be taken to Quebec for repairs. The work of overhauling her will be done by G. T. Davis and Sons, Quebec, who have been awarded the contract.

A funeral service for the Catholic dead who are still imprisoned in the hull of the sunken Empress is being arranged at Rimouski. The services will be conducted from a boat chartered for the purpose.

DISAPPEARED FROM STEAMER, BELIEVED HE IS DROWNED

Sydney, N. S., June 12.—Chas. MacDonald, a young Baddeck man, employed at Hawkesbury, disappeared from the steamer Blue Hill while on the passage today from Baddeck to Grand Narrows and is believed to have fallen overboard and drowned. His friends at Baddeck say he was subject to fainting spells, and the theory is that he fell overboard in one of these. Search was made by the Blue Hill on her return trip but there was no sign of the missing man. He was on his way to Hawkesbury after spending a few days with relatives at Baddeck.

REDMOND AND COMMITTEE AT LOGGERS HEAD

Nationalist Leader Says Majority of Provisional Committee of Irish Volunteers Are Not Supporters of the Party.

London, June 12.—John Redmond, the Irish Nationalist leader today, declared war on the provisional committee of the Nationalist Volunteers, a majority of whom, he asserts, are not supporters of the Irish party.

Although the provisional committee at a meeting held in Dublin June tenth, verbally welcomed Mr. Redmond's cooperation in the Irish volunteer movement, but followed this up with a call to the volunteers in each county to elect a representative to serve on the committee, and this action the Irish leader interprets as a refusal of the committee to accept his proposal.

Pointing out that the committee originally was a self-constituted body, Mr. Redmond proceeds:

"I am informed on good authority that a majority of them are not supporters of the Irish party, while of the rank and file of the Irish volunteers at least ninety-five are supporters of the party and its policy. This is a condition of things which plainly cannot continue."

Declaring that the rank and file and the responsible leaders of the Irish people are entitled to demand some guarantee that an attempt shall not be made in the name of the Irish Volunteers to dictate the policy of the National party, Mr. Redmond finds the best guarantee of this to be the presence of the governing body of men of proved judgment and steadfastness, as suggested by him. He regrets that the committee "should so hastily have repudiated" his suggestion.

"It is of the most vital importance to the National cause," the Irish leader says, "that this matter should be settled in an amicable spirit, and unless the committee can see a way to reconsider their decision and adopt the proposal I have made I must appeal to all supporters of the Irish party in the volunteer movement to support the government of the volunteer movement which is possible to elect a governing body which shall have the full confidence of the country."

Today, the court, Mr. Justice White of the Appeal Division, and Chief Justice Landry and Mr. Justice Crockett, of the King's Bench Division, sitting, has been hearing the argument in the last case on the Chancery appeal docket—Turnbull-Head Estate Co. vs. Segre.

Sackville, N. B., June 12.—A telegram from Fall River, Mass., to Mr. Richard Barry, postmaster at Cape Tormentine, Thursday morning, says: "Your son Jack was drowned this morning from the schooner Hattie Read from Boston for New York. This means that a popular young Cape Tormentine boy familiarly known as Johnny Barry, has lost his life by drowning while working on the schooner Hattie Read on route from Boston to New York. The telegram does not state that the body of the unfortunate young man has been recovered, and Mr. Barry has wired for more particulars. The father is heartbroken over the sad tidings as this was his youngest son aged 21, who was very well thought of by all. The sympathy of the whole community is extended to him."

WESTMORLAND YOUNG WOMAN SUICIDES

Miss Pearl Johnson of Port Elgin Takes Fatal Dose of Carbolic Acid—Despondency Over Poor Health Only Reason Known for Deed.

Special to The Standard
Sackville, N. B., June 12.—A telephone message received here today from Port Elgin conveyed the sad news that Miss Pearl Johnson, a native of Port Elgin, committed suicide last night by drinking carbolic acid.

Miss Johnson was a daughter of Mr. James Johnson, harness maker of that town. Relatives and friends of the deceased girl cannot fathom reason for her rash deed other than that she had been in poor health for a few weeks past and probably became discouraged.

She was very popular among the younger generation of the town and much sympathy is expressed on all sides for her sorrowing parents. She was twenty years of age.

Miss Johnson has been working for some time past as a clerk in the boot and shoe factory owned by Mr. E. W. Head. She went home from work last night and although everything possible was done about half past ten o'clock she went to her room and shortly afterwards Mr. Read at whose home she was boarding, was startled by a scream. He went into her room and discovered her in a semi-conscious condition with a bottle of carbolic acid lying on the floor beside her. He immediately telephoned for her father and Dr. H. R. Carter who lives nearby, and although everything possible was done she died half an hour after midnight. She leaves to mourn her death besides her father and mother, two sisters, Miss Blanche and Miss Jennie, both at home. A letter addressed to her father was found beneath her pillow the contents of which are not made public.

GREECE WANTS MASTERY OF AEGEAN SEA

Anxious to Get Secure Foothold Before Turkey's New Dreadnoughts are Ready for Sea.

London, June 12.—The Daily Telegraph naval correspondent suggests that the real reason for the attitude of Greece against Turkey is a desire to secure mastery of the Aegean Sea before the new Turkish dreadnoughts building in England are ready for sea.

The Greek minister to Great Britain had an interview yesterday with Sir Edward Grey, the British Foreign Minister, to whom he explained the attitude of the Greek government.

The Daily Telegraph's Athens correspondent says the Greek minister in Constantinople has been instructed to demand the cessation of persecution of Greeks in Asia Minor and the reinstatement in their homes and on their properties of fifty thousand refugees who sought shelter from the Turks in Greek territory. A guarantee also is demanded, according to the correspondent, that these refugees be not again molested.

REDISTRIBUTION BILL GOES THROUGH.

Address to Imperial Parliament For Consent to Enlarge Senate, is Amended so as to Give P. E. I. Four Members in the Commons.

Ottawa, June 12.—Prorogation of parliament was successfully accomplished at four-thirty this afternoon, an hour and a half behind schedule time. The delay was caused by a temporary deadlock this morning over the senate's amendment to the bill providing for increased senatorial representation from the west. The Liberal majority in the senate carried an amendment declaring that the nine new senators to be appointed from the west should not be appointed until after the dissolution of the present parliament. The government leader, Hon. Mr. Loughes, intimated that this amendment would not be acceptable to the government, and that if it were insisted upon the government might refuse to pass the redistribution bill. The deadlock, however, was straightened out during the noon recess, but not before a precautionary postponement of prorogation had been made.

When the senate met again in the afternoon the Liberal majority sent back to the commons the bill providing for the increased senatorial representation, as amended. Senator Loughes announced that the government had decided to let the redistribution bill go through, despite the amendment to the other bill, and it was accordingly passed without debate. In the commons however, the senate's amendment was promptly rejected by the government and in consequence action with regard to the increase in senatorial representation must be deferred until next session.

Gov-General's Farewell
There was the usual ceremonial attendant upon the prorogation proceedings. His Royal Highness, the Duke of Connaught, was escorted from the galleries by galleons dragons with panache flying. He was received on Parliament Hill by the scarlet coated company of the governor-general's footguards, while the guns boomed from Nepean Point. In the senate chamber there was but a small attendance of members but the galleries were well filled with the society people of Ottawa. His Royal Highness gave assent to the legislation passed, totaling in all 186 bills, the tangible results of the session's labors. He received the farewell address of parliament.

"I desire to thank you, the members of the senate and of the house of commons of Canada in parliament assembled, for the very gracious address which you have presented to me on the occasion of my approaching departure from Canada.

"Most deeply do I appreciate the kindly sentiments expressed by the representatives of the Canadian people. They have touched me most deeply.

"During my three years of office it has been my earnest endeavor to be acquainted with the many problems affecting the welfare and progress of this great dominion. Nothing has struck me more than the energy and tenacity shown in all circumstances by its people, and I hope that a strong sense of duty will always pervade those to whom its destinies are entrusted.

"Of the loyalty and devotion to the King and to the Empire I have had many proofs, and I hope Canadians will always be true to themselves and to the great dominion with which I have my pride to be connected.

URGES CUBAN TRADE TREATY

R. G. Waite Believes it Opportunity for Big Import and Export Business—Sugar Refinery.

The Board of Trade has received an interesting letter from R. G. Waite, of Cuba, urging the inauguration of a movement to promote a trade treaty between Canada and Cuba. Mr. Waite, who says he is a native of New Brunswick and has spent years in Cuba, expresses the opinion that with a proper steamship service between Canada and Cuba and a trade treaty, supplemented by a little enterprise on the part of business men, a considerable trade could be worked up.

NERVOUS CHILDREN

The Trouble is Often Really St. Vitus Dance—Do Not Neglect It.

Many a child has been called awkward, has been punished in school for not keeping still or for dropping things when the trouble was really St. Vitus dance. This disease may appear at any age, but is most common between the ages of six and fifteen years. It is caused by thin blood which fails to carry sufficient nourishment to the nerves, and the child becomes restless and twitching of the muscles and jerking of the limbs and body follow. In severe cases the child is unable to hold his head up or feed itself. St. Vitus dance is cured by building up the blood. The most successful treatment is to remove the child from all mental excitement, school work and give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills renew the blood supply, soothe the nerves, and restore the child to perfect health. Here is proof of their power to cure. Mrs. Geo. A. MacDonald, Harrington, N.S., says: "My son was attacked by St. Vitus dance; at the outset his muscles would twitch and his step was weak and jerky. We called in a doctor who treated him, but notwithstanding he continued to grow worse and at last grew so bad that he could not hold a cup in his hand while his head constantly twitched, and his speech became rather indistinct. At this juncture I read in a paper the cure of a boy from similar trouble through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. We at once sent for a supply, and in a few weeks after he began his use there was considerable improvement, and it was not long after this before he was completely cured, and has never had a symptom of the trouble since. I am convinced that there is no medicine like Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for the cure of St. Vitus dance.

If your dealer does not keep Dr. Williams' Pink Pills you can get them by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

HOUSE PROGRESSES WITH THE USUAL CEREMONIES

Continued from page one. Premier Borden and his cabinet, briefly acknowledging his gratitude to parliament and to the Canadian people for their constant kindness and consideration during his tenure of the governor-general's office. At the opening of the final day's work of the session, the redistribution bill came up for concluding consideration which the house had discussed until three o'clock this morning. Mr. E. M. MacDonald of Pictou, moved an amendment providing four seats for Prince Edward Island instead of the three to which it is entitled according to population. The amendment provided for the larger representation by inserting a clause in the address to the imperial house petitioning for enabling legislation for enlargement of the senate. That clause states that Prince Edward Island shall never be represented in the Senate by more than it has in the senate, namely four. Premier Borden accepted the amendment and the amended bill was given third reading. A brief discussion then took place on the introduction by Hon. W. T. White of a measure for civil service superannuation. The bill was read a first time and stands over until next session. Speaker Sproule acquainted the house with the senate's refusal to drop its amendment limiting the powers sought by the postmaster-general in the postal bill in regard to the fixing of postal rates on newspapers. Hon. L. P. Pelletier laughed derisively. "The senate is telling us what to do," he said. "It is enough to make a horse laugh," was Mr. Pelletier's reply. Mr. Pugsley—"Is that why the hon. gentleman laughs?" The senate amendment was not con-

TWO PURCHASE FARMS IN NEW BRUNSWICK

One man from the island of Montreal and another from Ontario have taken up farms in New Brunswick during the week under the provisions of the Farm Settlement Act. Mr. Scarlett, who has been running a farm on the island of Montreal, has purchased a farm at Scott's Settlement, Kings County, and will occupy it at once. Mr. Scarlett had a lease of a fine farm near Montreal, but in spite of easy access to the markets of that city found that most of his profits were eaten up by rent and taxes. A. Morris, of St. George's Ontario, has also purchased a farm near Scott's Settlement. He left for his old home yesterday to bring his wife to this province. It is not often a man from Ontario comes here to take up a farm, or from the vicinity of Montreal either.

Though I had taken a lot of medicine of one kind and another, I could not get anything to help me until I used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. "When I began this treatment I could not rest, except by sitting upright, on account of the dreadful pains about the heart and the quick, food heating. Tires at One-Half The One-Time Price for Goodyears

In 1909, No-Rim-Cut tires sold at nearly twice the prices of today. Rubber cost has dropped since. But the great fact is that last year we made eleven times as many tires. In some single days we now build more than 10,000 motor tires at our Akron plant. Here in Canada the same proportionate increase in Goodyear output is shown. This great demand has cut factory cost immensely.

18 Higher Prices

Now 18 makes of tires made in Canada and the U. S. will cost you more than Goodyear prices—up to one-half more. And you are told, of course, that they are "quality tires."

This is Really the Quality Tire

Because of these features, No-Rim-Cut tires used to sell much higher than other standard tires. Because of these features, they have come to outsell any rival. They hold top place in Tiredom. And this matchless prestige, after all these years, marks them the quality tire. No tire is worth more than a Goodyear. In four ways—the four we mention—no tire is worth as much. Ask any user—he'll gladly confirm this.

All went well until the strong undertow swept both under the boat. Director Robert Day plunged in after them, and Irving Willett, the camera man, quit turning the crank to aid in the rescue. The scene had to be posed again, and the second time Uncle Tom made the rescue according to schedule.

STUPENDOUS CANADIAN HISTORICAL PICTURE

Scene from "Wolfe, or The Conquest of Quebec," to be an Extraordinary Pictorial Feature in one of St. John's Leading Houses Next Week.

AN INTENSE LOVE STORY AT THE GEM

The story of a binding love tie, broken only by death, is the feature offered for presentation at the Gem Theatre for the opening show next week, entitled "The Accusing Eye." It is a two-part production of unusual interest. A young man is engaged as secretary to an ambassador in an important post. Both are in love with the same girl, but the younger man, the secretary, is the winner of her hand, only to be disappointed at her untimely death, brought on largely by the situation caused by the cruelty of the ambassador towards her sweet heart. Then follow many exciting scenes, with the accusing eye of the secretary ever on the other man, and the final retribution.

Perhaps one of the most important offerings given at the Gem for some time is that to be presented by the Selig Co., in two parts on Wednesday and Thursday, a production of the well known story "The Cherry Pickers." This is, of course, the pet name of the 11th Hussars, a famous English regiment, in India, and the action of the piece takes place there with the flag of Britain in the foreground. Complications arise between the whites and the natives and war follows. Through the story runs a delightful vein, strongly tinged in romance, with an officer of the famous 11th and the daughter of his commanding officer as the principal characters. It is a very dainty offering, and one which should greatly please all patrons of the Gem.

At this show also will be given the regular news pictorial of the Selig-Hearst Company, with many of the latest news events presented on screen in motion. Scenes from the war zone in Mexico will be presented showing General Bell taking command of the troops. The mediators at Niagara discussing peace will also be seen, and amongst the other events in the film are "Launching the world's largest motor boat," "Scenes on the Colorado strike grounds," "Fashion Hints," "Cleaning a Mexican prison," and "Admiral May at Vera Cruz." The orchestra will have a fine new bill at each change of show, and on Friday and Saturday there will be a feature of special interest, to be announced later.

NEWSY NOTES FROM UNIQUE AND LYRIC

Picture lovers should be interested in the announcement that on Monday and Tuesday the Unique will present the first of The Adventures of a Diplomatic Free Lance, as taken from the stories now running in the Blue Book magazine. It is entitled "The Cat's Paw." Flora Badioe and Jas. Cruze play the leading roles.

Mabelle Godfrey of the Lyric, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Cole, returned to the city last Wednesday, after spending an enjoyable month with her father, Dr. Cole of Bridgewater.

Elmino Eddy, a man seventy years old, offering a rather startling acrobatic bouncing rope novelty, is the feature of the Lyric the first half of next week.

The Unique and Lyric most reluctantly say au revoir to Miss Le Roy, who closes her engagement at the Imperial this evening.

In the tenth chapter of Our Mutual Girl the Unique next Wednesday and Thursday, Margaret meets the White Sox and Giants and learns the Maxixe, the latest dance from Baldwin and Sloane, instructors to the "400."

Mrs. Belle Parker who has been taking Miss Godfrey's place at the Lyric during the latter's vacation will return to Amherst tomorrow. Mrs. Parker is a capable musician and was WARMLY GREETED DURING HER STAY BY MANY FRIENDS IN ST. JOHN.

Elmino Eddy is expected to create somewhat of a mild sensation during his engagement at the Lyric the first three days of next week.

Kieran Kelly is in the city looking after the interests of the Boston Opera stars.

The Beauty Film Co. will make their initial appearance at the Unique on Wednesday in a strong moral play, "Retribution."

Geo. Durgan, who was pianist at the Unique some time ago, has returned to his old position and is being warmly greeted by his many friends.

The Krusaders in songs and dances and music are booked at the Lyric the latter part of next week. One of the most pleasing specialties in their act is Mme. Krusader's rendering of the dainty love song "When Cupid Comes a Tapping."

A monster film production embodying sensation and sentiment entitled "The Pirates of Old," or "A Romance of the Sea," has been secured for presentation at the Unique Friday and Saturday of next week.

Lloyd and Churchill are delighting audiences at the Lyric with their clever character impersonations and excellent song numbers.

It is possible that the film production of "Nero" will be repeated at the Unique in the near future.

Pelham Lynton the English comedian is expected at the Lyric week of July 6th.

STRONG DRAMA FOR THE STAR

The Star has a special feature for the first of the week in the "Master of the Garden," the story is as follows:

Bessie Harrington, an innocent young girl, was born and raised in the country. She spends all her leisure hours under an immense oak tree. She grew to be a young lady, and learned to love Herbert Gray, the son of a neighboring estate owner, and still had the tendency to linger under this oak.

But little did she think that there could be any harm in the love, which she soon learned to be ashamed of. Bessie's parents, upon learning her secret, sent her from home and she was ostracized from society, while Herbert became a progressive young barrister.

She travelled the road which most unfortunate girls do; but there are many unfortunates who are good at heart.

Bessie had a chance to make retribution, and she did. A young girl who had been inveigled into the same gorgeous resort was found by Bessie, and she decided to help her.

It was found that the young girl was brought to the house by a millionaire, but when suit was brought against him, he tried to prove that it was a case of blackmailing by a mysterious "Woman in Black."

Shattered and despondent from her experience, now isolated even from her scarlet associates, she wanders into a church, where she ends her life

WOLFE, THE CONQUEROR OF QUEBEC

Stupendous Canadian Historical Subject in Five Parts.
 Said W. Stephen Bush, in reviewing this feature: "I sat enthralled by the spectacle. One again two great nations fought on land and water. Once again the daring souls of Wolfe and Montcalm were embodied on the bloody field of battle. Once again the fight raged about the gentle and beautiful falls of Montmorency. At times the realism was overpowering."

The bombardment of Quebec by the British fleet, the battle of Montmorency Falls and the deadly combat on the Plains of Abraham between the French and English, are a few of the awe-inspiring scenes.

THE DUGAL COMMISSION

A report which has gained some currency during the past few days is to the effect that one of the witnesses summoned to appear at the session of the Royal Commission to probe the Dugal charges, on Tuesday next, may not take the witness stand; that he has left the province and may not return for some time.

The report has reference to Mr. W. J. Berry, chief of the government sealers, who, being in poor health, has gone to consult a physician, and if it is deemed his condition is such as to warrant the treatment, may enter a sanatorium. This information was given to The Standard last evening by Mr. Berry's wife.

When the story was first given publicity it was as a mere statement of a report and was not commented upon. Since that time, however, some scandal mongers have been at work, and an editorial in the Telegraph of yesterday might be construed as inferring that Mr. Berry's departure was not altogether a surprise. The Telegraph said in part:

"It must be supposed in the premises that all of the requisite witnesses will not hesitate to respond to the summons of the commission. Should there be any exceptions, a most unfortunate public impression in regard to such exceptions would clearly be unavoidable. As to what course the commission would take under such circumstances, it is not our province to speculate, but it must be kept in mind that men who may have to do business with one of our provincial departments or another during the coming months or years should think it well to maintain a record for frankness and straightforward dealing at a time like this. Any other course would be likely to result in forfeiting public confidence, and that might lead to undesirable complications."

Also, in connection with the matter, it is to be regretted that Mr. P. J. Veniot, who has been credited with bringing close to Mr. Carvell and Mr. Carter in the preparation of the Dugal charges, found it necessary, the other night, to intimate to a Liberal gathering in the room of Moncton, that the Provincial Government was forced to have the matter dealt with by Royal Commission instead of by a Committee of the House, in which supporters of the Government would have been in the great majority.

It is just as well to have these matters cleared up before the taking of evidence commences. Any insinuation that the Government desires to suppress evidence, either by getting witnesses out of the way or by other means, is entirely without foundation. The Government is a unit in the desire that all the facts shall be brought out. If there had been any disposition to hide, or to take advantage of having the charges heard by a partisan body, it would have been easy to give to Mr. Dugal only what his backers instructed him to ask for—a committee of the House, composed of six supporters of the Government and one member of the Opposition. Such might have been regarded as proper Carvellian tactics, but it was not the course adopted by the Government.

Mr. Veniot or any other gentleman, takes it upon himself to declare that the proposal to refer to Royal Commission was not a Government proposal, of its own volition, he states what is not the fact, and if the Telegraph, or any other organ of the Pugsley-Carvell crowd, insinuates that Mr. Berry, or any other witness, may be absent from the sessions of the Commission with the sanction of members of the New Brunswick Government, such newspaper is guilty of misrepresentation.

The charges have been made; the Commission has been appointed to probe all matters involved has been set in motion. It is the desire and intention of the Government that this hearing shall be no whitewashing expedition and the very personnel of the Commission precludes the possibility of such a thing. If there has been guilt on the part of any one that must come out. The Government will be satisfied with nothing less. Insinuations that there is any disposition to hide, are worthy only of the men who make them.

REDISTRIBUTION.

By the grace of the Senate of Canada, the Redistribution Bill was permitted to go through unopposed and the members of the Red Chamber are entitled to that much credit. Aside from mere political grounds it is difficult to see what excuse the Laurier majority in the Senate could have invented for opposing the measure for, in point of fairness, it will stand up in comparison with the best efforts of previous governments confronted with the problem of providing adequate representation for this rapidly growing country. A last minute change in the measure retains to Prince Edward Island its present representation of four members. In all other cases the recommendation of the committee having the matter in hand was adopted. The new bill provides for a House of Commons of 235 members. This is an increase of 54 over the first parliament in 1867, and of 14 over the present or twelfth, parliament. While the changes have been dealt with at length, during the deliberations of the committee having the matter in charge, it may be of interest to briefly outline how the provinces will stand on the new basis. Ontario loses four seats, New Brunswick two, and Nova Scotia two. Quebec and Prince Edward Island are unchanged in their total, and the western provinces gain seats as follows: Manitoba and Alberta five each, Saskatchewan and British Columbia six each. The new House will be made up as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Province, Seats. Total 235.

One of the interesting changes made by the new bill is that which affects the island of Montreal, to all intents and purposes Greater Montreal, which will return more representatives to the next Parliament than the whole province of New Brunswick. This is remarkable evidence of the growth of Canada's greatest city where the representation has practically doubled in the last fifteen years. Of the changes in the province of New Brunswick, they represent the best solution of the problem. It was hoped that this province, in common with other of the Maritime Provinces, might have saved its representation, but the majority has decided otherwise. If the provinces of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia are not to keep pace with the West and consequently lose representation with every redistribution, the situation might afford a good argument for Maritime Union.

A HALIFAX OPINION.

The St. John Telegraph and Times, judging from their editorial utterances, are quite certain that the bulk of the winter port business next season will be handled through the port of Halifax, that the sister city will have the better end of it in reference to the mail contracts, and that Premier Borden and Hon. Mr. Hazen are keeping awake at nights trying to figure out ways and means to sidetrack St. John. That is the impression the Pugsley organs attempt to force upon their readers. If there were a shadow of ground for it we might expect to find the Halifax newspapers happily optimistic and when, on the contrary, they adopt a tone which indicates they believe Halifax is to be sacrificed for St. John it naturally causes ground for the suspicion that the attitude of the Telegraph and Times is due to other motives than concern for this port.

For instance, if the situation here is as gloomy as the Pugsley organs try to make out what interpretation is to be placed upon the following editorial taken from the Halifax Echo of Thursday evening?—

In the debate on the mail steamship question at Ottawa, the other day, Hon. J. D. Hazen, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, declared that, in the signing of all future contracts provision would be made for a division of the business between the ports of St. John and Halifax. And later on, in the same debate, Premier Borden announced that the choice of ports would be left to the contracting steamship companies. It is quite impossible to reconcile these two statements, unless indeed Messrs. Borden and Hazen are willing to admit, what is apparent to all who have followed the progress of the controversy to date, that "leaving the choice of ports to the contracting steamship companies," is precisely the same thing as insisting that St. John be given a portion of the business. But Messrs. Borden and Hazen have never admitted as much. On every possible occasion they have sought to create the impression that the mix up of last Winter was of the steamship companies' own making.

However, the declarations made in Parliament by the two members of the Government representing St. John and Halifax can only be regarded as clinching the contention that the Government is interfering in the mail service to the very great detriment of the port of Halifax. Mr. Hazen states that in future a division will be made in the mail business between the ports of Halifax and St. John. Premier Borden states that the choice of ports will be left to the contracting steamship companies. They are evidently in complete accord on the subject. What each means is that St. John is to be favored at the expense of Halifax.

There can be no other interpretation.

When the port of Halifax is used by the mail steamships an average saving of thirteen hours is effected. Manifestly, therefore, the interests of the entire Dominion as well as the interests of the people of this city demand that Halifax be specified in the mail contract as the superior port. Mr. Hazen ignores the just claims of Halifax when he argues that there should be a division of the business between the two ports, seeing that Halifax is the superior port. And Premier Borden ignores the just claims of Halifax when he argues that the choice of port should be left to the contracting parties, seeing that Halifax is the superior port. That Halifax is the superior port is a matter of record. Moreover, Premier Borden ignores the just claims of Halifax when he contends that the choice of port should be left to the steamship companies, aware as he must be, that such a policy merely opens the way to political jobbery of the worst sort.

The opinion of the Telegraph of Times upon the fears of the Halifax newspaper would be a most interesting contribution to the discussion over the winter mail service.

Diary of Events

HISTORIC DAYS IN CANADA

The first parliament of the United Province of Canada was formally opened seventy-three years ago today, June 13, by the Governor, Lord Sydenham. The session of the law makers was held in Kingston, which had been chosen by Lord Sydenham as his capital. Under the act for the Union of the Canadas the old Provinces of Upper and Lower Canada were each to have forty-two members in the legislative assembly. The Governor died from injuries received in an accidental fall from a horse soon after the meeting of the first parliament, and was succeeded by Sir Charles Bagenot, who retained Kingston as the capital. When Sir Charles died in 1842, Sir Charles Metcalfe became Governor, and he removed the capital to Montreal in 1844, under that provision of the Union Act by which the right to select the place and fix the time for holding "the first and every other session" of the Canadian Parliament was conferred on the Governor. The first House, which met in Kingston, was largely French and Radical in political affiliations, while the active conduct was by the Hon. W. H. Draper, was completely Tory, save for one Liberal member, the Hon. Robert Baldwin, French-Canadian, who without representation in the ministry, and this fact, together with the fact that all but one of the members of the council were Tories, naturally aroused the animosity of the new Assembly. Lord Sydenham, by the arts of diplomacy, postponed the pending storm, which broke during the administration of Sir Charles Bagenot. Following the conflict between the Hon. W. H. Draper and the Council, and the resignation of Baldwin, Sir Charles formed a new executive under the joint leadership of Robert Baldwin and L. H. Lafontaine. In this ministry, which was Liberal, the French-Canadians were fairly represented. When Sir Charles Metcalfe resumed the government and announced his policies, the Baldwin-Lafontaine government resigned, and Draper returned to power, while Kingston lost the capital.

THE HUMAN PROCESS C.N.

IRISH BARD 49 TODAY.

Ireland's sweetest singer, William Butler Yeats, who recently made a lecture tour of American and Canadian cities, will begin his fiftieth year today, having been born in Dublin on June 13, 1865. The Irishman poet, dramatist and theatrical manager comes of a distinguished family. His father, John Butler Yeats, achieved renown as an antiquator and painter of portraits. His grandfather, the Rev. William Butler Yeats, was a prominent Irish clergyman. His mother was the daughter of a Sir Charles Metcalfe, who was prominent in the early days of the government and announced his policies, the Baldwin-Lafontaine government resigned, and Draper returned to power, while Kingston lost the capital.

As a boy the future poet was devotedly fond of natural history, and was given to carrying insects and small animals around in his pockets. He was also very absent-minded, and left his strange pets in the most incongruous places at the most inopportune times. At the age of nine Yeats removed to London with his parents, but he usually spent his vacations in Ireland, and while still in his teens studied art at the Royal Dublin Society. He abandoned art for literature at twenty-one.

While he had previously contributed poems and articles to magazines and college publications, Mr. Yeats was said to have entered on his real literary career a quarter of a century ago, with the publication of his first volume of verse, "The Wanderings of Desdemona." This was followed by "The Windy Petal" and "The Secret of the Rose." He was also very fond of dealing with Irish myths, fables and legends.

In his younger days the Irish bard included a velvet-lined jacket, Windsor tie and tortoise-shell rimmed glasses, and wore his hair long. Latterly he has adopted a more conventional style of garb, but he still clings to the flowing tunic which has long been the mark of the poet and artist.

The poet has lately devoted much attention to the drama, and he is a joint director with Lady Gregory of the Abbey Theatre and his company of Irish players, who are well known in America through their productions of "The Playboy of the Western World" and other Irish dramas. "The outcome of the trip of the Irish players to this country two years ago was very good," said Mr. Yeats in an interview published in the New York Times a few months ago. "The Irish theatre, like the Irish politician, has to go to Irish-America for its real support. Everybody can say, 'Wait until you go to Irish-America, then you'll hear the truth about ourselves.' Well, we have been there, and, in spite of certain little occasions al tributes from certain quarters in words, we have survived, and have even made many friends. "The arrest of our players in Philadelphia did us an immense service in Dublin, because however unpopular the playwrights have been at times, the players have always been popular." In the opinion of the poet, "The world will have to go through a period of violent realism, of dragging into the light what is hidden, before it can return to a literature of beauty and peace." In speaking of a present dramatic tendency, the poet said: "The Greeks had no exaggerated morbidity of sex, because they were free to express all. They were the most healthy of all peoples. The man who is sex-mad is hateful to me, but he was created by the moralists."

PRICES ON WALL STREET ADVANCED

Demand Small But Market Showed Strength and Stocks Rose Slightly — Bonds Active.

New York, June 12.—Speculative conditions today favored traders on the long side of the stock market. Operations were on the same restricted scale as heretofore, but in spite of the slowness of demand the market moved upward. Quiet strength was apparent in almost every quarter. A few shares such as the Harriman Steel and Canadian Pacific, moved up a point or more. The average change, however, was small, and even the moderate gains at the day's high prices were cut down when the list eased off in the closing hours.

On the upturn the best inquiry was for the Transcontinental Railroad shares, on which traders took a bullish position owing to the passage by the senate of the Canal Tolls Repeal Bill. It was thought that the repeal of tolls on coastwise ships would strengthen the position of the railroad in competing with the water lines for transcontinental business. Another point counted in favor of the market was the decision of Gen. Carranza to send representatives to the mediation conference.

The street was indifferent as ever to the extraordinarily rapid movement of gold out of the country. The amount increased today to $2,000,000, bringing up the week's total to nearly $20,000,000. Exchange rates continued to show a high record since 1907 at 48.10. Money rates held firm, with higher quotations for long time loans. Indications were that the week's gold exports would result in a large cash loss by the banks. While the banks continued to gain from the interior these receipts were more than offset by the outflow, and known currency movements of the week pointed to a cash shrinkage of $5,000,000.

American stocks were dull in London, but foreign representatives took a position on the buying side here, displaying more interest in this market than for some time. London was credited with taking ten thousand shares.

In the bond market there was unusual activity in several issues, which commonly do not figure extensively in the dealings, such as Lake Shore debentures and St. Louis and San Francisco refunding bonds. Prices in the main were well sustained. Total sales, par value, $2,547,000.

RECENT ISSUES ON LONDON EXCHANGE

Fifty-four Thousand Pounds of Western Canada Land Co. on Deposit With Canadian Agency.

Montreal, Que., June 12.—Mr. D. Lorne McElbreen, president of Ames-Holden, said in connection with the declaration of the preferred dividend that it had been declared because of the promising outlook. So far this year orders had held up well with last year.

The prospects for a good crop were bright and by the time the next dividend comes, around in October, merchants all over the country would have discounted the more favorable conditions. They would have to order in volume as they were now high and dry of all goods.

An estimated profit of $275,000 for the past fiscal year would show the dividend earned by but a small margin.

LATE NEWS FROM THE COTTON MARKET

New York, June 12.—So far as today's trading can be considered as having been based on ordinary cotton market reasoning, prices have shown an advancing tendency. Special developments, however, have occurred lately of a character to cause nervousness and erratic fluctuations.

A WEAKER TONE IN WHEAT MARKET

Chicago, June 12.—Wheat—Extreme weakness finally developed in wheat following a fair showing of strength early. The failure of a small local bank has been made much of by bear speculators. In a situation so continuously bearish it may be beside the professional to speak of recoveries due yesterday at this level and after a week of weakness a fair change in the news would be material and perhaps of enough importance to check the decline and work some reaction.

LONDON'S IMPORTS TAKE BIG SLUMP

Decrease for Week of Two Millions of Pounds Below the Preceding Week — Monetary Conditions Satisfactory, However.

London, June 12.—Monetary conditions here are satisfactory, but trade evidently is declining. The imports for May, according to this week's Board of Trade statement, show a decrease of 2,176,278 pounds, while the exports decreased 1,807,282 pounds.

The stock markets are halting beneath the surface there is a much better sentiment over the United States. There are evidences of an informal understanding between Sir Edward Carson and the Unionist leaders with Mr. Asquith regarding the amending bill that the government is to introduce to the home rule bill.

BRIZILIAN SHOWS GAIN FOR THE WEEK

Montreal, June 12.—Brazilian Traction earnings for the week ending June 6th show gross income of $497,000 which compares with $450,000 in the corresponding period of 1913. The increase of $47,000 is the largest record since the third week of March.

REASON FOR AMES-HOLDEN DIVIDEND

Montreal, June 12.—Recent issue of premium Montreal a quarter. The local market is at discount: British Columbia, three-sixteenths; Dominion of Canada, a quarter; Edmonton, one-eighth; Nova Scotia, one-eighth; Vancouver, one and a half.

A circular was issued to the stockholders of the Western Canada Land Company by the directors today in which it was stated that $254,000 forming part of the assets of the company, were on deposit with the Canadian Agency which recently suspended. The circular says that as a result of the events that have happened the directors did not feel justified in placing any value on the securities held for the deposit. A. M. Grenfell was a director of the Western Canada Land Company, Limited.

DIFFERENT WAYS OF LOOKING AT IT

Part of Street Sees in Present Condition Bear Group, Intoxicated With Success — Others Take More Placid View.

Montreal, June 12.—The sad plight of the local market is evidently viewed through widely differing kinds of spectacles.

On the other hand there is a group of placid indifferent auditors who see only the natural liquidation which is bound to ensue in a time of such industrial unsettlement. They minimize the idea of a large bear account. Probably the truth is lurking somewhere midway between the two extremes.

REMITTANCES SLOW COMING TO HAND

Montreal, June 12.—The quantity of grain passing through this port to the European markets is still enormous.

DEAL GOES THROUGH AFTER TWO YEARS

Group Headed by Geo. J. Whalen and J. W. Surburg to Take Over Baker Tobacco Stores — The Dominion Loan.

London, June 12.—Commenting on the result of the Canadian government loan, the Financial News says: "The public will not lend to the Dominion at four per cent, when they can get 5 1/2 and 5 from great Canadian municipalities. Trustees, of course, have no option, but the general public has and knows it."

It is announced that after negotiations extending over two years, a deal is about to be completed where a group headed by Mr. George J. Whalen, president of the United Clear Stores Company, and Mr. J. W. Surburg, will take over the Baker tobacco stores, which supply the London retail trade, with Messrs. Salmon and Gluckstein, whose backer is the Imperial Tobacco Company.

TRADE BEGINNING TO IMPROVE

Montreal, June 12.—Bradstreet's report says: "The weather during the past week has been ideal for the farming community, the crops having shown wonderful growth during the past few days. This has stimulated trade conditions to some extent, and has put some confidence into those who have been more or less pessimistic as to the future. While there is no great snap to trade, there has been a steady movement, without any particular change to note from that of a week ago."

STILL SPECULATING OVER THAT DIVIDEND

Street Awaiting Some Definite News About Scotia Dividend—President Due Today.

Montreal, June 12.—Although the Scotia dividend is not payable until July 15 it is possible that the matter will be settled one way or the other very shortly.

Mr. R. E. Harris, K. C., the president, and Mr. Thomas Cantley, the general manager, who have been in New York for the past few days, are expected here tomorrow and there is a possibility that some statement may be forthcoming.

There has been no direct statement made as yet respecting what course will be pursued on the dividend, and the only indication of what may take place is that friends of the company, who are more or less interested in the market for the shares, do not feel quite so positive as they did a few days ago that the dividend will be forthcoming.

THE ADVENTURES OF KATHLYN

By HAROLD MAC GRATH.

Synopsis of Previous Chapters.

John Bruce, an American and fellow passenger on the boat which brought Kathlyn to Allaha, saves her life. The elephant which carries her from the scene of her trials becomes frightened and runs away, separating her from Bruce and the rest of the party.

After a ride filled with peril she takes refuge in a ruined temple. The holy men and villagers, believing her to be an ancient priestess, rise from the tomb, allow her to remain as the guardian of the sacred fire. But Kathlyn's haven is also the abode of a lion, and she is forced to flee from it, with the savage beast in pursuit. She escapes and finds a retreat in the jungle, only to fall into the hands of a band of slave traders, who bring her to Allaha to the public mart. She is sold to Umballah, who, finding her still unsuspecting, throws her into the dungeon with her father.

Bruce and his friends effect the release of Kathlyn and the colonel. Umballah's attempt to recapture them is unsuccessful, and the fugitives are given shelter in the palace of Bala Khan.

Supplied with camels and servants by that hospitable prince, they start on their journey to the coast. The party is overpowered and taken in custody by brigands. The leader, recognizing the colonel, dispatches Ramabal and Pundita to Allaha for ransom for the white king, his daughter, and Bruce. Umballah journeys to the lair of the bandits. The colonel is delivered to him and he orders that Kathlyn and Bruce be killed. But the brigands quarrel over the division of the money which Umballah has paid to obtain possession of the colonel, and during the confusion the prisoners escape and return to Allaha. Kathlyn, Bruce and Ramabal concert a plan to get the colonel out of Umballah's clutches.

CHAPTER XIV. THE GARDEN OF BRIDES.

Marvelous palanquins, in curtained howdahs, on the east, the south, and west. They came in from the four ends of the principality, their camels, in splendid bullock carts. Many a ruffian resolved itself into new-bought finery, upon the vague chance of getting it back with compound interest.

What was most unusual, they came without pedigree or dowry, this being Ramabal's idea; though, in truth, Umballah objected at first to the lack of dowry. He had expected to inherit this dowry. He gave way to Ramabal because he did not care to have Ramabal suspect what his inner thoughts were. Let the fool Ramabal pick out his chestnuts for him, Umballah laughed in his voluminous sleeve.

Some one of these matrimonially inclined hours the colonel would have to select; if he refused, then should Ramabal do the selecting. More, he would marry the fortunate women by proxy. There was no possible loophole for the colonel.

The populace was charmed, enchanted, as it always is over a new excitement. Much as they individually despised Umballah, collectively they admired his ingenuity in devising fresh amusements. Extra feast days came one after another. The oriental dislikes work; and any one who could invent means of avoiding it was worthy of gratitude. So then, the populace was all ears to what he said, agreeably. The bhaj and betel and toddy sellers did a fine business during the festival of Rama.

Upon the throne sat Col. Hare, gorgeously attired, but cold and stern of visage.

and Lal Singh moved, sounding the true sentiment of the people. They did not want white kings or white queens; they desired to be ruled by their kind, who would not start innovations but would let affairs drift on as they had done for centuries.

Nor was Bruce inactive. Many a time Umballah had stood within an arm's length of death; but always Bruce had resisted the impulse. It would be rank folly to upset Ramabal's plans, which were to culminate in Umballah's overthrow.

But upon a certain hour Ramabal came to Bruce, much alarmed. During his absence with Pundita at some palace affair his home had been entered, ransacked, and 10,000 rupees had been stolen. His real fortune, however, was hidden securely. The wonder at their eagerness in being swayed this way and that? But these men I refer to do not sit about in the hazzars with wooden bowls for coppers. It is said, however, that all curses die with their makers. It depends upon how old the Colonel Sahib's guru is. I know priests who are more than a hundred years old, and wrinkled like the hide of Hathl, the god of elephants.

"But a child could see through all this rignamrole."

"Can Bruce Sahib?" Again Ramabal smiled. "My people are sometimes children in that they need constant amusement. Have patience, my friend; for I understand. Do not love Pundita even as you love the Mensahib?"

"What do you mean?" demanded Bruce, roughly.

"I have eyes."

"Well, yes; it is true. Behind you are your people; behind us, nothing. That is why I am frantic. Umballah, whenever he finds himself checkmated, digs up what he assumes to be an unused law. There is none to contest it. I tell you, Ramabal, we must escape soon, or we never will. You suggested this impossible marriage. It is horrible!"

"But it hails Umballah; and he becomes careless. Beyond the north gate there are ever ready men and elephants. And when the moment arrives, think we shall fly, all of us. But, mysteriously, we may not have to fly. When Umballah learns that the Colonel Sahib will refuse to sign the necessary treasury release the soldiers will understand that once again they have been trifled with."

"We must wait. But it's mighty hard."

The garden of brides has already been described. But on this day when the ten veiled candidates sat in waiting there in the air, and there were roses climbing trellises, climbing over the marble walls, and the pomegranate blossoms set fire to it all. At the gate stood Ramabal, dressed accordingly to his station, and representing by proxy the king. Presently a splendid palanquin arrived, and within it a tardy candidate. She was laden with jewels, armlets, anklets, and head ornaments; pearls and uncut sapphires and rubies. Upon lifting her veil she revealed a beautiful high caste face. Ramabal bade her pass on. No sooner had she taken her place than still another palanquin was announced and this drawn by fat, sleek bullocks, all of a color.

Ramabal held up his hand. The bullock drivers stopped their charges and from the palanquin emerged a veiled woman. This was Kathlyn.

The selected candidates were now all present. As master of ceremonies, Ramabal conducted them in to the palace, thence into the throne room, gayly decorated for the occasion. In a balcony directly above the canopy of the throne, were musicians playing the mournful harmonies so dear to the oriental heart.

all was, and where would it lead finally?

"Take care!" whispered Kathlyn as she saw her father's fingers move nervously with suppressed longing to reach out and touch her.

The spectators of this little drama which was hidden from them evinced their approval by a murmuring which had something like applause in it. A queen was chosen! A real queen at last had been chosen! Ramabal had accomplished by diplomacy what yonder Durga Ram had failed to do by force. But Umballah secretly smiled as he sensed this undercurrent. Presently they should see.

The Colonel extended his hand and drew Kathlyn up beside him; and now for a moment the whole affair trembled in the balance; Kathlyn felt herself elephants about the palace this day. In one of the howdahs sat Bruce, armed; in the other, Pundita, trembling with dread. So many times had Shiva, that evil spawn, intervened that Pundita would not believe all was well till they had crossed the frontier.

"They will be coming soon, Sahib," said Ahmed. Bruce wiped the sweat from his palms and nodded.

Now, when Umballah and his captain of the guard departed with the betrothal chain they did not firmly close the outer door, which shut off the leopards from the main palace. The leopards were immediately freed and began their prowling through the corridors, snarling and growling as they scented the air through which the two men had just passed. One paused by the door, impatiently thrusting out a paw. The poor gave.

In the throne room the mockery of the betrothal was gone through, and then the calm Ramabal secretly signified that the hour for escape was at hand; for everywhere, now that the ceremony was done, vigilance would be lax.

Immediately the high priest announced that the successful candidate would be conducted to the palace zenana and confined there till the final ceremonies were over.

Umballah dreamed of what he had seen.

To Ramabal was given the exalted honor of conducting the king and his betrothed to their respective quarters. Once in the private passage-way to the harem, or zenana, Ramabal threw caution to the winds.

"We must go a roundabout way to the garden of brides, which will be deserted. Outside the gate Bruce Sahib and Ahmed and Lal Singh await with elephants. Once we can join them we are safe. And in a month's time I shall return."

Meanwhile one of the leopards rushed frantically into the throne room, exclaiming that the seven guardian leopards were at large. Even as he spoke one of the leopards appeared in the musician's balcony. The panic which followed was not to be described. A wild scramble ensued toward all exits. The fugitives entered the royal zenana. Kathlyn proceeded at once to the exit which led to the garden of brides. There she waited for her father and Ramabal, who had passed by the door of one of the zenana chambers. Between them and Kathlyn lay the plunge.

Ramabal addressed the lady of the zenana, telling her that if guards should come to state that Kathlyn was concealed in her own chamber. To this the young woman readily agreed.

Suddenly a leopard appeared behind the Colonel and Ramabal. Kathlyn, being first to discover the presence of the animal, cried out a warning.

"Fly, Ki! Save yourself! I am accursed!" called the Colonel.

Ramabal and the young woman at the chamber door hurriedly saw the Colonel into the chamber and shut the door. The Colonel struggled, but Ramabal held him tightly.

"We are unarmed, Sahib," he said, "and the Mensahib never loses her head."

"Ramabal, I tell you I shall die here. It is useless to attempt to aid me. I am accursed, accursed! Ki! Ki!"

The leopard stood undecided before the door which had closed in his face. Then he discovered Kathlyn, fumbling at the wicker door at the far side of the swimming pool. There was something upon which to wreak his temper, for all this unusual commotion and freedom had disturbed him greatly. Kathlyn opened the wicker door, closing it behind

Guards, armed with rifles, on Umballah's order, seek to slay the liberated leopards while the people look on in mute terror.

"The leopards were immediately freed and began their prowling through the corridors, snarling and growling."

There was merrymaking in the streets, day and night. The temples and mosques were filled to overflowing. Musicians with reeds and tom-toms paraded the bazaar. In nearly every square the Nautch girls danced, or the jungler plied his trade, or there was a mongoose-cobra fight (the cobra, of course, bereft of its fangs), and fakirs grew mango trees out of nothing. There was a flurry in the slave mart, too.

The troops swaggered about, overbearing. They were soon to get their pay. The gold and silver were rotting in the treasury. Why leave it there, since gold and silver were minted to be spent?

There were elephant fights in the reconstructed arena; tigers attacked wild boars, who fought with enormous, rascal-like tusks, as swift and deadly as any Malay kris. The half forgotten ceremony of feeding the wild pig before sundown each day was given life again. And drove after drove came in from the jungles for the grain, which was distributed from a platform. And wild peacocks followed the pigs. A wonderful sight it was to see several thousand pigs come trotting in, each drove headed by its fighting boar. When the old fellows met there was carnage; squealing and grunting, they fought. The peacocks shrilled and hopped from back to back for such grain as fell upon the bristly backs of the pigs. Here and there a white-peacock would be snared, or a boar whose tusks promised a battle royal with some leopard or tiger.

And through all this turmoil and clamor Ahmed real trouble was that these 10,000 rupees would practically undo much of what had been accomplished. He was certain that Umballah had instigated this theft, and that the money would be doled out to the soldiers. For upon their dissatisfaction rested his future.

"Take Bala Khan at his word," suggested Bruce, "and ask him for his 5,000 hillmen."

Ramabal smiled. "And have Bala Khan constitute himself the King of Allaha! No, Sahib; he is a good friend, but he is also a dangerous one. We must have patience."

"Patience!" exploded Bruce. "I have waited several years. Do you not see that when I strike I must succeed?"

"But these warnings to Umballah?"

"He is not molesting me, is he?" returned Ramabal calmly.

"Well, it is more than I could stand."

"Ah, you white people waste as much life and money by acting upon your impulses! Trust me; my way is best; and that is, for the present we must wait."

"God knows," sighed Bruce, "but I am beginning to believe in the Colonel's guru."

"Who can say? There are some in this land who possess mighty will, who can make man sleep by looking into his eyes, who can override and destroy weaker minds. I know; I have seen. You have heard of suspended animation? Well, I have seen examples of it; and so have my people. Can you possessed with a wild desire to laugh.

The chain of gold, representing the betrothal, was now ordered brought from the treasury.

The populace outside the palace having been acquainted with what was taking place, burst out into cheers.

The treasure room, guarded by leopards in charge of incorruptible keepers, was now approached by Umballah and his captain of the guard. Umballah presented his order on the treasury. The leopards were driven into their cages, and the magic door swung open. The two gasped for breath; for Umballah had never before looked within. Everywhere gold and gems; fabulous riches, enough to make a man ten times a king.

"Highness," whispered the captain, "there is enough riches here to purchase the whole of Hind!"

As he stared Umballah surrendered to a passing dream. Presently he shook himself, sought the chain for which he had come, and reluctantly stepped out into the corridor again. He would return soon to this door. But for that fool of a white man who had saved the king from the leopard, he would have opened this door long since. As he walked to the outer door he thought briefly of the beauty of Kathlyn. She was dead, and dead likewise was his passion for her.

Beyond the gate to the garden of brides Ahmed and Lal Singh waited with elephants. From here they would make the north gate, transfer to new elephants, and leave Allaha and its evil schemes behind. They created no suspicion. There were many her. Clear headed, as Ramabal had said, she recollected the palanquin which had been last to enter the garden of brides. She ran into the garden, flew to the palanquin just as she heard the leopard crash through the filmy wicker door. She reached and entered the palanquin not a moment too soon. She huddled down close to the floor. The leopard trotted round and round, snarling and sniffing. Presently he was joined by another. From afar she could hear shouting. She readily understood. Through some careless leopards of the treasury were at liberty, and that of her own and her father was in jeopardy. Just without the garden of brides was Bruce and help, and she dared not move!

Bruce, from his howdahs, heard the noise in the palace; female shrieks, commands, a shot from a musket. What in heaven's name had happened? Where was Kathlyn? Why did she not appear? He fingered his revolver. But Ahmed signaled to him not to stir. The knowledge of whatever had happened must be brought to them; on their lives they dared not go in search of it.

"This comes from your damnable oriental way of doing things. If I had had my way, Umballah would be dead and buried."

"All in good time, Sahib."

The elephants stirred restlessly, for they scented the cat whom they hated.

Within the palanquin Kathlyn dared scarcely breathe; for outside seven leopards prowled and sniffed and snarled!

WON GAME AND FIGHT.
 A team composed of members of the Bluebells and the Port Howe Stars went down to defeat before the Young Nationals in a fast game in the foundry yard last evening. It is expected that the umpire will strike several fines against players for disorderly actions on the diamond.
 The batteries were Murphy and Curran for the Young Nationals and Crain and Brown for the losers.

MARKSMEN RETURN FROM THE ISLAND

The members of the St. John City Rifle Association who attended the shoot in Charlottetown, returned on the Pacific express yesterday afternoon and while they didn't bring the cup home the marksmen were well satisfied with their shooting, taking the weather conditions into consideration. The fact that Major J. E. Frost was taken suddenly ill on the range and was hardly able to hold a rifle greatly handicapped the St. John team. Major Frost was unable to accompany the team home.
 The men who returned yesterday spoke in terms of the highest praise for the riflemen of Prince Edward Island and Nova Scotia, and said they were treated in the most courteous and hospitable manner. On Thursday, and after the close of the shoot, the visiting marksmen were entertained at a smoker in the Charlottetown armories by members of the Prince Edward Island Rifle Association.

WOODSTOCK AND ROCKLANDS PLAY TODAY

The semi-professional Woodstock team will be the attraction against the Rocklands on the North End grounds this afternoon and a fast game of ball may be expected. The Woodstock team is greatly strengthened since they last played here, when they won their two games. The Rocklands have strengthened up for this game and it is expected that Eddie Ramsay and Billy Riley will be seen on the team, playing in their old positions. The players in these teams are showing good, classy ball and the games are interesting. Next week the semi-professional league will be organized and the teams will have improved batteries and the games are expected to class with the ones that were played in the New Brunswick and Maine league last season.

News of the Churches

PRESBYTERIAN

Moosejaw, Col., of which Rev. A. Graham, formerly of St. John, N. B., is Principal, has just closed its first session and reports a very successful year.

Rev. Thomas Stewart, D.D., has been elected upon the work of Church Agent as successor to Rev. E. A. McCurdy, D.D., who filled the office for thirteen years.

Dr. J. H. MacVicar, of St. John, N. B., preached at his former congregation of Forest Park, Sabbath, June 7, as a commissioner to the general assembly which met in the neighboring town of Woodstock.

The new Hungarian Church in Sydney, Cape Breton, will be dedicated to the worship of God on Sabbath, June 14, by the Presbytery of Sydney. This gives visibility to the work being carried on among the foreign population in Sydney for some time under the direction of Assembly's Home Mission Board.

The call from St. John's Church, Moncton, to Rev. T. P. Drumm, of Campbellton, will be considered at a special meeting of the presbytery of St. John, on Saturday, June 13.

Rev. V. M. Farley, representative of the Maritime Home for Girls, preached last Sabbath in the Methodist and Presbyterian churches, Fredericton.

The annual meeting of the St. John Presbytery will be held in St. Paul's Church, Woodstock, on Saturday, June 13, at 10 o'clock in session. Opening on Wednesday evening, June 3, it closed on Wednesday evening, June 10.

The moderator, Dr. W. T. Herlihy, in his closing prayer declared that this assembly had made a record for the expedition with which the business had been dispatched. The number of commissioners in attendance was 462, and the several matters dealt with included both the routine and important as well as the important and far reaching.

May Elders be Moderators?—A Ruling An overture was presented to the assembly at an early stage of the proceedings, seeking a change in the traditional practice of the church that "ministers shall be moderators in several courts of the church."

"(1) Our Rule 52 reads: 'The minister is moderator of the session.' He is so in virtue of his ministerial character being placed by the church at large, through the action of the Presbytery, in charge of the congregation, the elders included, and authorized to administer the Word and sacraments. The elders are appointed by sessions and are associated with ministers in sessions for ruling only."

"(2) In sections 77, 99, 114 of our rules it is stated that the Moderator is 'a minister' in Presbyteries, Synods and General Assemblies; and it is so ordered because ministers and elders carry with them the same status as the higher courts, the same relative status that they held in the sessions. Some of the functions which Moderators of the higher courts have to discharge, ministers, alone are authorized to perform."

"Seeing, further, that our rule, in this matter is in accord with the general practice in Presbyterian churches and that it was one of the terms of agreement entered into by the United churches in 1875, that the government of this church shall be in accordance with the eastern section of the Presbyterian Church Government, our church courts are not free to depart from the constitutional rule on this point laid down in our 'Book of Rules and Forms of Procedure.'"

Commission on Religious Education. In 1912 the Assembly appointed a "Commission to make a thorough investigation and scientific survey of the conditions of religious education in the several provinces of the Dominion. The following recommendation was adopted at this assembly:

"That the Commission on Religious Education be merged with the Board of Sabbath Schools and Young People's Societies, that the board be enlarged by the addition of five members in order to continue the work begun by the commission of investigating the conditions of religious education; that the scope of the board be broadened to include the whole field of religious education in its relation to children and youth of the church; that in view of these wider interests, the board take into consideration the advisability of seeking a change of name to the 'Board of Religious Education.'"

Foreign Missions. Principal Candler and Rev. D. MacOdrum, joint conveners of the board, led in the discussion and speech-making on "Foreign Mission Night." They were followed by Rev. A. A. Scrimgeour of British Guiana, S. A. Fraser, of Trinidad, D. F. Smith of Central India, L. L. Young of Korea, A. W. Lechard, of Hohan, D. A. Macdonald, of South China, and Duncan MacLeod, of Formosa, and a thrilling story they had to tell of the work being undertaken and accomplished in the "regions beyond." The total contributions of the eastern section of the church to the cause of foreign missions during 1913 amounted to nearly $76,000. Of this $27,000 was expended on work in Korea, $14,000 in British Guiana, $25,250 in Trinidad and $3,600 in New Hebrides. There is a call for twenty five new missionaries in 1914.

Church Union. This was the topic of absorbing interest at the Assembly. For two days preceding the opening of the court, the committee sat and earnestly discussed the question from every point of view. The report of the committee was presented by the convener, Dr. W. J. Clarke of Westmount, and seconded by Principal McKay of Vancouver. The recommendation of the committee which was adopted by a vote of 266 to 109 is as follows:

"Your committee recommend to the General Assembly that the Union Committee be reappointed, all vacancies occurring in the membership being filled. That the Assembly respectfully invite the Methodist and Congregational churches to meet in joint committee in the Union Committee of this church to consider the amended basis appended to this report and prepare a basis of union that may be submitted to the Assembly in 1915. If approved by the Assembly of 1915 such basis of union, together with the statement presenting the views of both the minority and the majority within the church shall be sent down to presbyteries and also to sessions and congregations that the judgment of the whole church may be had, and that such issue as may seem wisest be given to the fact that has been the subject of negotiations for so many years; and further, that the General Assembly earnestly assure the other negotiating churches of their desire to reach the issue without any unnecessary delay."

To this resolution amendments recommending the discontinuance of negotiations were made and lost. It is interesting to observe that at no previous Assembly was so large a total vote cast on the union question. In the course of his presentation of the report, Dr. Clarke rather startled the Assembly by stating that he could name six members of the union committee who were anti-unionists when they came on the committee but have in the course of the discussion become believing unionists.

Dr. Grant still in office. The Assembly had its breath almost taken away when Dr. A. S. Grant handed in his resignation as general superintendent of home missions, chairman of the board of finance and other officials which he held by appointment of Assembly. A variety of causes led to this course. The task in itself was far too great for one man to perform; the response of the church in the way of finances and co-operation was not sufficient to enable him to follow out his progressive plan; and the unsettled state of the church as a whole pending the settlement of the church union question was also a factor in the situation.

But Dr. Grant had proved himself as a leader and the Assembly was not prepared to accept his resignation without a protest. A committee was appointed to look into the situation and confer with Dr. Grant. The issue was a happy one. The committee recommended that the Board of Home Missions and the Board of Social Service and Evangelism be amalgamated and that Dr. J. G. Shearer and Dr. Grant be appointed joint conveners. The assembly rose to its feet as one man in the adoption of this step and the question was carried without a dissenting voice. The Baptists of the Southern States are a great people, great in numbers, great in missionary endeavor, and great in brotherly kindness and missionary enthusiasm. At their recent Annual Convention they had the largest attendance in their history, a total enrollment of nearly 1500 before the opening of the Convention. Within the boundaries of this Southern Convention there were 2,522,433 white Baptists, having 24,171 churches, 16,288 Sunday Schools with 1,491,426 scholars. They gave for missions last year $1,626,355, and their total contributions amounted to $12,58,588. During the year they baptized 137,396 candidates. In foreign missions the Southern Baptists are deeply interested, and the Baptist Standard, (Texas) says: "Our missionaries report a year of startling success. The report shows 480 churches, 5,232 baptisms, 625 native workers, 9,276 students in our schools, including 240 in our theological seminaries and training schools. All these figures would be largely increased were the 2,089,960 colored Baptists of the South to be included, making in all 5,582,561 Baptists in the United States."

The First Church, Baltimore, Maryland, at a special and largely attended business meeting recently held, unanimously decided to discontinue the system of pew rentals. The action was taken on the joint recommendation of the board of deacons and the board of trustees. The unprecedented success that Dr. Robert Stuart MacArthur is having in his ministry at the First Church has caused him to decide and to announce to the congregation his purpose to accept definitely the permanent pastored of the church. Great congregations wait on his ministry, and the people are delighted that they are not to lose their distinguished pastor. Dr. MacArthur is a fine illustration of the fact that there is no dead line in the ministry. Perhaps he is wiser to say that Dr. MacArthur has drunk of the water of the fountain of perpetual youth.

- Two pairs from the Magic S. B. Fox Co., Ltd.
- One pair from the Riverside Fox Co., Ltd.

RANCH

A new ranch is now being built for these foxes after the most approved modern methods. Much has of late been learned in regard to the building of ranches and dens. Investors in this Company may rest assured that their foxes will have up-to-date and sanitary quarters.

Thomas Moyle will take care of the foxes. The well-known "peerless Co." which last year paid a dividend of 900 p. c. had its foxes under his care.

All expenses in regard to the ranching of the foxes and their young are assumed by Mr. Moyle for seven per cent. of each year's increase for a period of three years.

THE RUSSIAN GOVERNMENT FUR EXPERT HAS REPORTED

Vladimir Generossoff Visited Prince Edward Island Recently—A Translation of Part of His Report—Interesting Reading for Those Connected With Fox Industry.

Vladimir Generossoff, the Russian Commissioner, who some time ago visited Prince Edward Island to investigate the fox industry, has reported to his government and a translation of his report has been received in Charlottetown. It is pleasing to hear that his report is favorable and that he recommends the establishment of the industry in his country. Mr. Generossoff may be explained, is Secretary of the Russian Government Agricultural Agency in St. Louis, but it is his intention to return to Russia at an early date, as the work he has done abroad has earned him promotion. In his report Mr. Generossoff says in part:

During the fall of 1912 I made a trip to Prince Edward Island, for the purpose of investigating Silver Fox farms. The new fur industry transplanted to the island is about twenty-five years old. About the year 1900 several fox farmers succeeded in solving in some degree the problem of fox breeding by keeping the animals in semi-domesticated conditions, and the results of their experiments attracted wide attention in February 1914 the value of the fox ranches and breeders was estimated according to official data at about $15,000,000.00.

The natives of the said island own the honor of creating the new line of farm industry and the results are such that they will be of great value for Russian Northern territories. The possibility of breeding common and Polar foxes in captivity, and the commercial advantage of this industry is proved to Canadians on facts collected by a special investigation by Mr. J. Walter Jones, agent of the Canadian Government. Mr. Wesley Frost, American Consul on Prince Edward Island, and my personal impressions are, permit me to state, that the question of the possibility and profit of this new rural industry is fully solved.

Though the experience of Canadians is limited to the breeding of common and polar foxes, the results obtained are of more practical importance and wide application than appears at first. As to the principles of breeding wild fur-bearing animals, it is now widely known that a great natural resource has been discovered in the form of game fur-bearing animals which are diminishing in numbers everywhere with astonishing rapidity. The main cause of this sorrowful fact, I think, is fully explained by the words of Mr. Hornaday, director of the New York Zoological Garden, who writes: "No wild species of bird, reptile or fish can withstand exploitation for commercial purposes" (Our Vanishing Wild Life p. 83). In such a condition all prohibitive and protective measures, although necessary, are indeed only palliative and cannot successfully solve the problem of maintaining the supply. The final solution of the difficulty must be game and fur farming, etc., as measures directly intended to reestablish the balance of nature, upset by the destructive actions of mankind.

"The principle of breeding instead of the principle of trapping has been applied by the Canadians to the fur industry. The task was most difficult to successfully solve, but the results clearly show that their point of view was right. Upon most careful calculation in the last half of this decade the number of silver foxes annually born on Canadian ranches will surpass the number of such foxes trapped in the wild state, and in the next decade the annual crop on fox farms will surpass the present catch of Russian Sable. The common decline of trapping the fur-bearers and the success of the fox industry inspired Mr. J. Walter Jones to make the thesis. The capital now employed in hunting and trapping wild fur-bearing animals can in the case of several species be better employed in fur farming.

"As to the practical importance of the success of the Canadian fox industry it is necessary to have in view that the methods used in breeding foxes are applied now, by analogy with corresponding changes for breeding other fur-bearers, namely skunks, martens and minks, but the cheapness of their pelts is a great obstacle to their profitable raising. PERTINENT REMARKS ON THE FOX INDUSTRY

J. R. Barr, of Charlottetown, Has Collected the Opinions of Prominent People Concerning Fur Farming.

J. R. Barr, of Charlottetown, has gathered press comments on the fur farming industry and incorporated them in booklet form. In the preface of his booklet Mr. Barr says: "The wonderful success and expansion of the Prince Edward Island black fox topic for newspaper writers the world over."

"Some of the articles have been well written and fair statements of fact, others have been 'yellow journal screams' that produced more harm than good; the majority of effusions deserved a place near the pinnacle of the 'World's Pyramid of Folly' for they were written, evidently by men who have depended upon imagination for their facts."

I have reproduced in these few pages the essence of the most reliable and accurate statements made through the English speaking press. The quotations reflect the various opinions of the ablest writers throughout North America and the Kingdom, and should be interesting to the prospective investor, the breeder, ranchman, promoter and students of the modern art of fur farming.

The booklet is tastefully gotten up and is finely illustrated.

ization of fur sections such as exist abroad, but with this difference, namely, that these sections be under supervision of special Government establishments, (2), that the latter perform not only the commission operations, but the credit operations too, and be for the fur trade what the Government grain elevators and warehouses are for the grain trade.

11. At present the Canadian Silver Fox Industry is of a monopolistic character and speculative. The prices of breeders are, therefore on an extremely high level. With the development of fox farming the prices of silver fox furs and of breeders must go down, but the decline owing to the shortage of supply of valuable furs on the market, and the increasing difficulty of catching them, cannot reach such an extent as to make the fox farming unprofitable.
