J. Hunter White asked Dr. Carman to give a ruling on section 173 as to make up of the annual district meeting. In electing laymen, he asked, was there to be a layman to represent a supernumerary as well as a minister or probationer in active work?

Dr. Carman thought the proper officers should settle these points at their proper time. Continued on page 3, fifth column.

MARCONI WIRELESS SYSTEM SHARPLY CRITICISED BY EMINENT ELECTRICIANS

Sir William Preece Says That There Is Not a System in Existence That Will Carry Fifty Miles Overland—Alexander Siemens Thinks That the Scheme Will Be All Right.

Montreal, June 18—(Special)—A special London cable says: "Canada, being officially recommended for Italian farm emigrants, the Italian consul in London is being asked by numerous correspondents in Italy whether there is any opening for Italian emigrants in British agricultural districts. He sends a report to the emigration bureau at Rome that agricultural employment is too unsteady and too little paid in England and all farming too heavily handicapped by foreign competition. Italian emigrants, he says, should go to the British colonies.

"The house of commons' acceptance last night without division of Austen Chamberlain's motion approving the new Canadian Pacific mail contract for the far east for five years from April 7, 1901, indicates that the British government accepts the Canadian government's assurance that an Atlantic fast mail service will be established at the earliest possible moment.

"Mr. Caldwell alone spoke. He said he hoped the postmaster-general would take the first opportunity to terminate the contract. Austen Chamberlain made no reply and the motion was at once accepted.

Lowell strikers sue for terms.

LOWELL STRIKERS SUE FOR TERMS.

Lowell, Mass., June 18—After a struggle of nearly three months, it appears that the Lowell strikers have given up their fight for an increase of ten per cent. in wages in the cotton mills, and are willing to declare the general strike which was inaugurated March 20.

This afternoon at one of their regular meetings, the agents discussed a communication from the Lowell Council, which is regarded as an overture for peace. Strikers are not inclined to discuss the message, referring to even acknowledge that it was sent, but the men, while unwilling to give the message, made no secret of their purpose.

The main purpose of the strikers' hope is to secure a conference, but in addition to this it contains a suggestion that the operators be allowed to work for a week, the understanding that all shall receive the places to which they were appointed. This proposition meets with a flat refusal from the manufacturers, who say that they will not be allowed to work for a week when the gates were re-opened a fortnight ago, and refused it.

University's Thirty-ninth Annual Commencement Under Way.

MOST PROSPEROUS YEAR.

Best in the History of the Institution—The Alumni Dinner—Base Ball Games—1002-03 Dies Out This Forenoon—A Review.

St. Joseph, N. B., June 18—The skies are silver and gray over the Memramcook valley, but their threatening aspect causes no depression of spirits, or agricultural accidents of the district, or the nine or ten score youths who for the past ten months have made their home at Memramcook's most famous landmark, the University of St. Joseph's College. The farmers have been praying for rain and will welcome a steady downpour of two or three days' duration; the students are in the happy frame of mind in which neither rain, hail, snow or even a genuine northwest blizzard could avail to dampen their spirits.

The beginning of the end of the academic year at St. Joseph's, and you can't by any combination of adjectives or adverbs describe the exuberant joy with which the multitudes of undergraduate halls the advent of his annual vacation, two full months of delightful holidays.

So, as to whether the weather clerk is really resolved to drop sympathetic tears on the corpse of 1902-03, or is merely putting up a bluff, the student body seems practically indifferent. Rain or shine, they all go home tomorrow, and see has only to recall his boyhood days to realize that "going home" means far more than any such trifling considerations as adverse wind or weather. The home-thought is a mental delight, a heavenly process of the college boy's packing up. And the college boy at St. Joseph's, especially this year, is very much in evidence.

The terminal examinations at St. Joseph's were finished at 6 o'clock last morning. Before breakfast this morning, the study halls were emptied of their formidable array of books, and rooms and dormitories were soon witnessing the delightful, disorderly process of the college boy's packing up. And the college boy at St. Joseph's, especially this year, is very much in evidence.

A Good Year. In many respects, 1902-03 has been the most prosperous of the thirty-nine years of the institution. Not only has the number of students enrolled reached the unprecedented figure of 229, but the average last year throughout the school year has been notably in excess of that of previous sessions. While the fees for board and tuition at the university are so low (only $10 per month), the students have not only been able to pay their expenses, but have also been able to save a considerable amount of money.

Some of the reasons for this success are: the fact that the Fathers of the Holy Cross who conduct the institution are religious and patriotic; the fact that the institution is a day school, and the fact that the institution is a day school, and the fact that the institution is a day school.

During the present summer, for instance, there is to be installed an electric light plant. William O'Leary, an electrician at present doing business as an electrical engineer and contractor in Montreal, has the control of the work, and his plans are being carried out with the most perfect system to be found in the maritime provinces. The preliminary work in connection with installing the plant has already been begun, and the students return in September next, oil lamps will have become a thing of the past.

So far as the intellectual success of the current, or rather the concluding year is concerned, the directors of studies, Fathers Guertin and O'Neill, report that the examinations, both semi-annual and final, have been quite satisfactory, and the general average being something over seventy per cent. The work of the literary, debating, and dramatic societies throughout the year has also been particularly good. Not a few freshmen and sophomores of the arts course have made their initial appearance as aspiring orators, and shown genuine promise of future excellence. The Bilingual Society, a college association, unique in Canada so far as the writer knows, continues to be a popular and an effective organization. The facilities for acquiring a practical, working, a speaking-a-well-reading knowledge of French and English are unrivalled here, and most students recognize the unquestionable advantages of being able to express themselves pleasantly in conversation or in public address in another tongue than their own.

The dramatic societies have done their full share in making the year an enjoyable as well as a profitable one. Lefebvre hall during the past ten months has been the scene of several excellent exhibitions of histrionic talent. The hall itself is well worth seeing, containing what is, according to the unanimous verdict of visitors throughout the year has also been particularly good. WILD STATEMENTS.

The Erratic "Scrap" Wants 50,000 Miles of Railroads Built in Next Ten Years, and G. T. R. Road to Portland Torn Up—More Serious Business of Thursday's House.

Ottawa, June 18—(Special)—In the house today Major Fowler asked if T. J. Schell, M. P., for Gloucester, was a partner in the firm of Matherson & Schell, who applied goods to the department of agriculture.

The minister of agriculture had no information as to the personal of the firm. The firm's name was mentioned as getting $2.50 in the shipping manifest's report. The Canadian Northern Railway trustees were called for a government guarantee of bonds to the amount of $13,000 a mile the minister of railways furnished a statement showing that the line to Edmonton, according to engineers' reports, will cost with the necessary equipment $18,301 a mile and the branch to Prince Albert $18,850 a mile. This makes provision in both cases for equipment and rolling stock of $3,000 a mile.

Mr. Barker was afraid the resolution did not sufficiently protect the government in the event of its being called upon to pay the interest. He wanted a promise that the contract would be submitted to parliament before it was completed.

Hon. Mr. Blair did not feel justified in undertaking to do so. He expressed the opinion that parliament should deal with the matter, and that the government should not act too stringently in enforcing its policy of secure in case of default.

Mr. Gourley advanced a policy of building railways by the thousands of miles. He declared the country to be almost barren of railways, and he urged that it be made a condition of any loan that it be used for the purpose of building railways.

KINGS AND ALBERT IN ONE CONSTITUENCY.

Redistribution Committee Settles the Question.

Mr. Fowler, M. P., Objects to the Union—P. E. Island to Have Only Four Members, and Nova Scotia's Membership Reduced to Eighteen.

Ottawa, June 18—The redistribution committee met this morning for the first time in public. Mr. Hyman occupied the chair. There was a large attendance of the committee. Prince Edward Island was proceeded with.

Mr. Letourgue (Conservative) said that the island should not be divided according to its population. A mass meeting had passed a resolution to this effect. He understood that the idea was to divide the province according to county boundaries. Queens was too small for two members and Prince too large for one. Mr. Hackett (Conservative) agreed with Mr. Letourgue. He asked that the island get the six members to which it was entitled.

Mr. McKinnon (Liberal) supported the proposition that the island should have six members. He, however, proceeded to show what he thought should be done in the way of redistribution. He contended that the best way would be to adhere to county lines. It would suit all parties.

Mr. Hughes (Liberal) said that provisions for the redistribution of seats were carried on according to county lines, and the fair and reasonable way was to follow this course in dividing out the political ridings. It would be in the political interest of the government to cut the province up so as to carry all the ridings, but he opposed any such course.

In reply to Mr. Hyman, Mr. Letourgue said it would be impossible to divide up the province without splitting up Summerside, and also Queens without dividing Charlottetown.

Mr. McKinnon admitted this, but to do so would make rather peculiar looking constituencies.

Mr. Letourgue believed that it would be best to adhere to county boundaries, and that would be the best way to divide up the province. He asked that the island get the six members to which it was entitled.

Mr. Borden acknowledged on the ground that it had been determined to adhere to county boundaries.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Hackett then moved that Nova Scotia be taken up, which was done.

Mr. Hackett moved that the county of Pictou should have only one member instead of two, and that the county of Victoria be added to Cape Breton, forming the county of Cape Breton and Victoria.

Mr. Borden pointed out that it would be better to join Victoria with Richmond, although he admitted there would be objections to that at the time it did not join. However, he would reserve his objections and the motion was adopted, which gives eighteen members to Nova Scotia instead of twenty.

When New Brunswick was taken up, Mr. Borden said that it had been suggested to join Albert and Kings. He had suggested joining Albert to St. John county instead, to provide for the necessary reduction of one member in the province.

Mr. Fowler was heard in regard to this. He favored the joining of Albert to St. John county instead of to Kings.

Mr. Hyman pointed out that the community of interest would not be the same between Albert and Kings.

Mr. Fowler showed that as far as population was concerned it would be better to join Albert to St. John county instead of to Kings.

The matter stood over and British Columbia was taken up.

TRIED BOGUS CHECKS BUT THE PLAN FAILED.

This Man Was a Nova Scotian and Very Well Connected.

He Had Some Funds in Bank But Drew To Many Checks and Two Out of Three People on Whom He Passed Them Have Not Yet Secured Their Cash.

Nathan Allan and George Rubins, who have become suddenly notorious during the past few days, are not the only ones who have been passing about bad checks for fair amounts of money. This time it comes to light that a young Nova Scotian has been getting in some fine work. About six or seven weeks ago the young man in question came to the city, with his wife in delicate health, and they secured rooms at a Desborough street boarding house. Everything went along smoothly, and the landlady was paid regularly until about three weeks ago she was paid the board money with a check on the Royal Bank of Canada. When an attempt was made to cash the check it was found that the check was not worth the paper on which it was written. The lady of the boarding house was seen last evening by a reporter, and while admitting that she had been given the check said she expected to get the money some day. She refused to tell just how much the check was made out for, but it was learned from other sources that the amount was in the vicinity of $20. It will be three weeks today since the young man and his wife left the city.

Another place where the young man worked the check business with success, results was with a Charlotte street firm. At this store there was an account of about $10 owing, and the check which he left the city he presented a check for the amount on a Royal Bank of Canada form. A telegram was sent to the bank in the Nova Scotia town and word came back that there were no funds deposited there by the man in question.

A grocer, also doing business on Charlotte street, was more fortunate than the others, he was given a check for $10 and he had it cashed. He was just that amount deposited in the bank.

The young man was at one time in business in his native town, but failed, and has lately been a traveller. His father is very respectable, and like the relatives of the young man's wife the family are leading respectable lives. It is thought the young man's father will make good, all the bills that have been left unpaid.

COL. PETERS' DAUGHTER WEDS. LIEUT. STEWART. Matrimonial Event of Which Many New Brunswick People Will Read With Interest.

The marriage occurred at London (Ont.) on Saturday of the daughter of Col. Peter, D. O. C., former of St. John. The relations of many friends of Col. Peter in this province will read with interest the following account of the event, given in a despatch from London to an Ottawa paper:

"The marriage of Miss Grace Hathaway, eldest daughter of Col. Peter, D. O. C., to James Denham Douglas Stewart, lieutenant of H. M. S. Amphion, of the royal navy, at present on the Pacific squadron, son of the late William Northcott Stewart, of London, was celebrated at 4 o'clock this afternoon in St. John's cathedral. The church was beautifully decorated with large palms and garlands, and the service was conducted by Rev. W. P. A. O'Leary, D. D., assisted by Rev. J. B. Gough, D. D., and Rev. J. A. Hennessey, D. D. The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, who was in military uniform, preceded by the choristers, who as they moved along the aisle chanted The Voice That Breathed Our Eden. Rev. Canon Dunn performed the ceremony."

Another Horse, Too. Check Swindlers Hired One at St. George--Their Trip Down to St. Stephen.

The horse and rig owned by Thomas Short and taken away from the city by the check swindlers, Allan and Rubins, who left it at St. George, will arrive here today. The two men drove only as far as Musquash on Saturday night, and then put up for the night at Dean's Hotel.

On Sunday morning they left Musquash and drove through to St. George. At St. George they left the St. John horse at Hans Magee's stables and hired another from Mr. Magee. With this horse they drove on as far as Dyer's station on the New Brunswick Southern Railway. They left the St. George horse at this place, and have not been heard of since.

The Presbyterian general assembly concluded its session at Vancouver on Wednesday evening. The meetings were marked by great interest and enthusiasm. The next meeting will be held in St. John.

The rector and congregation of St. Luke's church can now reflect upon the fact that their church is absolutely free from debt, for the loan representing an indebtedness of $8,000 were publicly burned Thursday night.

Chancellor Harrison, of the U. N. B., writes from Dublin that he is very much enjoying his visit. He is the guest of his old teacher, the provost of Dublin University, who has been in the city and has met several of his old classmates.

Three St. John seamen arrived home Thursday after experiencing the woes of shipwreck. They are John Day, Charles Sheahan and J. McCusky, of the St. John schooner Progress, which was run into by a bark in low off Pollock Rip lightship last Saturday night.

TWO BROTHERS MEET AND CLASP HANDS AFTER FORTY YEARS

Came from Glasgow to St. John in the Fifties--One Settled in Glassville, the Other Cruised the World to Find a Home in 'Frisco--His Nephew, a Young Klondiker, Found Him Out--How the Old Men Recall the Days That Were.

Two brothers met at Glassville, Carleton county, Tuesday, and they hadn't seen each other for more than forty years. They parted in this province in '61--young men just fresh from Scotland--and while one was content to make his home in New Brunswick, the other journeyed around the world to eventually settle in San Francisco, where he lived continuously up to within a month or so. The brothers are Hugh and John Miller--the former of Glassville, the latter of California--and with the burden of more than seventy years upon them, they again meet to recall the incidents of almost half a century past and, as it were, endeavor to become acquainted again.

"Aye, aye," said Hugh Miller, in speaking of the other evening of the prospective meeting, "when we were lads they told us we looked indeed alike, but now--why man, I don't believe I'll know John, and I fear he won't know me."

He talks with the burr of the old land which practically a lifetime spent in the dominion cannot lessen. He was born near Glasgow, or as he explains, near the battlefield of Bannockburn. In 1841 he came to St. John and secured work in the old Harris & Allen foundry, and it was while working here that his brother John also came out from Scotland to join him. For a year or so both worked along and finally Hugh settled in Glassville--taking up land and doing the duties of postmaster.

"I had to be away from John, upon leaving, said he intended going to Moncton. To Moncton he went, thence to England, then back to Scotland, then to Australia and finally to California and San Francisco.

Decade after decade passed by, and though Hugh had some uncertain knowledge that his brother was somewhere in the west, yet there was no active correspondence. Hugh remained at Glassville and was already married and with a family. His sons grew up, his wife died and presently came the Klondike gold rush.

"One of my boys made up his mind to go," said Mr. Miller, "but he got only as far as Vancouver. His health became bad and he took a trip into California. He'd heard he had an uncle in the west, and I was surprised when he wrote home and said he'd found him. He tried to induce him to come east and see us but he was unsuccessful, so came back alone."

But even if he did not return with his uncle, he at least brought back his news, and told to his father many facts of interest. Early in the spring Mr. Miller removed from Glassville to this city and engaged boarding quarters in Union street. The post office he left in charge of his son.

About this time another son, living in Massachusetts, had heard about his brother's trip west and of the uncle he had never seen, determined to take advantage of excursion rates to California. He notified his father of his intention and started. In due time came word that he had met an uncle who was well known by his Uncle John, and that there was a possibility of his coming east. By and by came the news that they were on the way.

"I didn't know just whether to stay here in town or go on up to Glassville," said Hugh, "but while I was thinking it over I got a letter from my boy at Glassville saying both had arrived and that John was anxious to see me. He also said if I thought the trip up to Glassville a bit too rough for me at my time of life why John would come down to the city."

"And now here's where a peculiar thing happened. You see they didn't know I was in St. John until after they got home. They didn't know I was in St. John at all, and both were actually here all one Sunday while en route to Glassville. I might have met John in the streets for a while I know--but, however, it'll only be a matter of a few days now and we'll see each other."

And so the old gentlemen pondered and awaited.

"We'll have a lot to say," said he, "for a deal happens in forty years; and I'm thinking he'll be glad to hear what he's been doing in the west."

LESS SUNDAY WORK PROPOSED NOW IN NOVA SCOTIA

Forty-three Branches of the Lord's Day Alliance--Roman Catholic Church Heartily Co-operates--Branches in P. E. I. Doubled--Rev. J. G. Shearer in New Brunswick Now.

Rev. J. G. Shearer, secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance of Canada, arrived in the city last evening after a very successful week's tour in Nova Scotia, where he delivered 43 addresses. He spoke on Monday evening in Annapolis.

In conversation with The Telegraph recently Rev. Mr. Shearer stated that there are now 43 branches of the L. D. A. in Nova Scotia, of which 16 were organized during his present tour. He is in connection with the work in Nova Scotia. One is that the members of the P. W. A. and other states and labor people heartily co-operate in the work. The other is that not only do Protestant churches co-operate but very specially the Roman Catholic Church has co-operated in the work and given aid, for example, in Glace Bay, on a Sunday evening after church, Mr. Shearer addressed a mass meeting of 1,100 persons, of whom 1,000 were men. Rev. Mr. MacDonald occupied the chair, and the meeting was held in the King's Theatre, which is owned by the Catholic Young Men's Club. His Grace Archbishop O'Brien very cordially sustains the work, and encourages the Catholic clergy and people to co-operate.

Mr. Shearer says there has been a great deal of unnecessary Sunday work at the Sydney, especially in the Dominion Iron and Steel Works. The Cape Breton Electric Company has been running its system on Sunday and carrying what is distinctly an excursion traffic between centres. The nature of the traffic may be inferred from the fact that the company has had cars and motorcars and conductors sworn in as special constables.

Mr. Shearer also attended the annual convention of the L. D. A. in P. E. Island, where the number of branches has more than doubled within a year.

The annual meeting of the L. D. A. of this province will be held in the C. E. Institute hall on June 24th. Delegates from branches in other parts of New Brunswick will attend.

A Kidney Sufferer FOR Fourteen Years.

TERRIBLE PAINS ACROSS THE BACK. Could not Sit or Stand with Ease. Consulted Five Different Doctors.

Doan's Kidney Pills FINALLY MADE A COMPLETE CURE.

Mr. Jacob Jamieson, Jamieson Bros., Contractors and Builders, Windsor, Ont., tells of how he was afflicted with kidney trouble. 'I was afflicted with kidney trouble which increased in severity the last five years. My most agonizing attack was four years ago, when I was completely incapacitated. I had terrible pains across my back, floating specks before my eyes and was in almost constant torment. I could not sit or stand with ease and was a wreck in health, having no appetite and lost greatly in flesh. I had taken medicine from five different doctors and also numerous other preparations to no purpose. I finally began to take Doan's Kidney Pills and before I had taken five boxes the trouble left me and I now feel better than I have for twenty years. Those who know me know how I was afflicted and say it is almost impossible to believe that I have been cured, yet they know it is so. I have passed the meridian of life but I feel that I have taken on the rosy hue of boyhood.'
