conveyed to the General Public Hospibroken above the knee. It was also found that she was injured internally, account of her advanced age, seventy-holding her own and doing fairly

Smith, who is himself well over twenty, escaped with a bad shaking up and some minor cuts. Their own horse was bolted and caught and placed in the stable. After the collision the horses with the front wheels of the big wagon swinging from side to side continued their dash down Waterloo street, with the driver crouched on the ground holding desperately to the reins.
They came down the street terrified for their cover. It was at the foot of Waterloo street, in Haymarket square, the team made directly for the fountain of the horses jumping into the side of it. The fountain was badly damaged. The contact threw Edmondson

FLYING EASY FOR JACK JOHNSON

Black Champion Won in Ninth Round

Sheriff Interfered to Save the Battered Fireman

"White Hope" Tried to Butt His Way to Victory But He Failed in His Foul Tactics—Mastah Artha Evidently Has the Picture Money in View and Prolonged the Fight.

Ringside, Las Vegas, N. M., July 4.—Jip Flynn's white hope aspiration expired today in the ninth round of his scheduled 4 round bout with Champion Jack Johnson. Flynn's face was chopped and cut frightfully by Johnson's deliberate blows in the ninth round. Captain Cowles, of the New Mexico state police, pushed his way to the ring and declared the contest ended as a brutal exhibition.

For three rounds Flynn had realized his inability to defend himself and frantically tried to butt his way to victory. At times he leaped a foot from the ground endeavoring to crash his skull against the champion's jaw. Again and again Referee Smith warned him to stop and Flynn made no defense. "He's holding me, he's holding me," he would declare, to Smith and in the next clinch he would try again. When the police interfered Referee Smith, through the announcer, awarded Johnson through the fight. Johnson made no action effort to fight Flynn at any time during the nine rounds. Apparently he held himself in Flynn's support from Pueblo, perhaps 200 in number, and distinguished by white roller bars, sat together and were prepared to greet their man when he arrived. Up to this time there had been no calling of fouls or declarations of foul. The absence of yelling or signs of other enthusiasm.

$20,000 FIRE IN HALIFAX SUBURB

Four Houses in Bedford Destroyed Late Last Night; Old Sackville Fort Also in Ruins.

Special to The Telegraph.
Halifax, July 5—Bedford at the head of the harbor, eight miles from Halifax, was badly hit by fire last night, four houses being destroyed between 10 and 11 o'clock and the loss is $20,000.

The houses burned consist of a group built about seven years ago belonging to Chief Broderick proceeding with it to take charge of the fire fighters.

At 1 o'clock this morning the fire was under control. The old Sackville fort, one and a half miles away, was also destroyed. This was a historic place.

Forest fires continue to menace Dartmouth and the campers along the lake are in great alarm. The Bedford fire has no connection with the Dartmouth blaze.

NOMINATION DAY IN SASKATCHEWAN

Contests Likely in All Constituencies—Many Independents Running—Regina Polling May Be Deferred.

Regina, July 4—Nominations took place throughout the province today for next Thursday's election and from reports received here there will be contests in all constituencies. There will be an unusually large number of independents in the field, causing a number of three-cornered contests. In some cases grain growers are running as independents and in several constituencies only one party will oppose the independent.

In Regina the election may be deferred, but no definite decision has been reached. The suggestion to have no contest in the city and to seat the member according to the victorious party throughout the province has not been adopted.

FORTY-ONE KILLED IN TRAIN WRECK

Sixty Others Injured in Collision of Two Expresses Near Corning, N. Y.

Engine Going at Sixty-five Miles an Hour Plunged Through Loaded Cars of Excursionists Standing on Track, Leaving a Trail of Dead and Dying—Engineer Declares Fog Prevented His Seeing Danger Signals—Many of the Victims Unidentified.

Canadian Press.
Corning, N. Y., July 4—West-bound Lackawanna passenger train No. 9, from New York, due to arrive at Corning at 4:47 a.m., composed of two engines, a baggage car, three pullmans and two day coaches, in the order named, was demolished at Gibson, three miles east of Corning, at 2:35 o'clock this morning by express train No. 11, due at Corning at 5:10 a.m.

Forty-one persons were killed, and between fifty and sixty injured. Many of the injured had to lie upon the floor until the physicians could give them the necessary attention.

Those who visited the scene of the wreck before the hospital forces had time to finish the work of removal, witnessed many scenes of horror. One man picked up a small white sheet which lay upon the ground only to draw back, when he faced, as his act revealed the body of a baby only a few months old. At a late hour the child had not been identified.

The people of Corning have opened their homes to the injured who could not find accommodation at the hospitals, or whose injuries were too slight to warrant their crowding other persons from the institution.

Although Engineer Schroeder of the express declared there was no flagman to warn him of the presence of the stalled train ahead, the Lackawanna officials declare tonight that a flagman had been sent back in the rear of No. 9, when she was held up.

Four of the unidentified died at the Corning hospital, where they were removed after the accident. Several of the injured who are unconscious had nothing about their persons by means of which they could be identified.

Engine Crew Jumped.
William Schroeder, engineer of the express train, made this statement: "There was dense fog. I could see nothing of No. 9, until we were almost upon her. I did not have time to shut off the throttle or apply the brakes, nor jump out of the engine. I was hurled into the air, and a few scratches on my face from the engine, but otherwise was unhurt. Thomas Hanley, of Gibson, who was first on the scene, was seriously hurt. He also jumped."

The fact that many of the passengers were undressed greatly delayed the identification of the dead and of the injured who were unconscious. There was nothing upon many of the bodies to aid in the identification. At 11 o'clock this morning there were twenty-three unidentified bodies at local undertaking establishments. Others had been removed to Elmira. One of the unidentified bodies was that of a young woman married yesterday. She had upon her finger a ring bearing within the inscription "C. M. and E. B., July 3, 1912?" On the body of another woman unidentified, was found nothing but a pendant set with an amethyst and three pearls.

Miss Russell, whose back was broken in the collision, was found in a private home or not there are any more bodies in the ruins.

Of the 450 odd houses destroyed, very few will be repaired, as the efforts are being concentrated on clearing out the debris with a view to ascertaining whether or not there are any more bodies in the ruins.

The death list is not increased. There are several patients in the hospitals and at private homes, however, who are not expected to recover, so there are likely to be additions to the list of dead.

CEMENT COMBINE SEEMS COMPLETE

Cut in Duty Has No Help to the User

American Manufacturers Raise Their Prices to Canadians

No Appreciable Increase in Importations—Big Trusts on Both Sides of the Border Are Thought to Be Working Together to Bleed the People.

Special to The Telegraph.
Ottawa, July 4.—The recent cut in the cement duty has apparently not had the expected effect either in increasing the importations of cement from the United States or in decreasing prices to the consumer.

The customs department reports that so far there has been in eastern Canada, at any rate, very little increase in importations of cement. There has been a slight increase reported from Toronto, but as far as the departmental reports go any increase is due rather to the normal increase in demand rather than to any cheapening of price through the cut in duty. Reports from the west have not yet been received in any detail, but the same conditions appear to exist there.

The reasons given is that the United States cement manufacturers have to raise their prices to Canadian buyers, so as to practically offset the decrease in duty and cement is now said to be procurable just as cheaply from the Canadian manufacturers as from across the line.

Indications point to a combine among the cement manufacturers in the States, and a governmental investigation is now being made as to the facts. The customs department here is also endeavoring to find out if there is any such combine either in Canada, or the United States, with a view to unduly keeping up the price of cement to the consumer.

KAISER AND CZAR IN CONFERENCE

Russian and German Capitals Hopeful of Great Results of Meeting at Baltic Port.

Baltic Port, July 4.—The Hopsenstern moored this morning between the Russian imperial yacht Standard and Polarnaia Svizda. The Emperor of Russia, with a group of his officials, immediately went on board the German imperial yacht and cordially welcomed Emperor William.

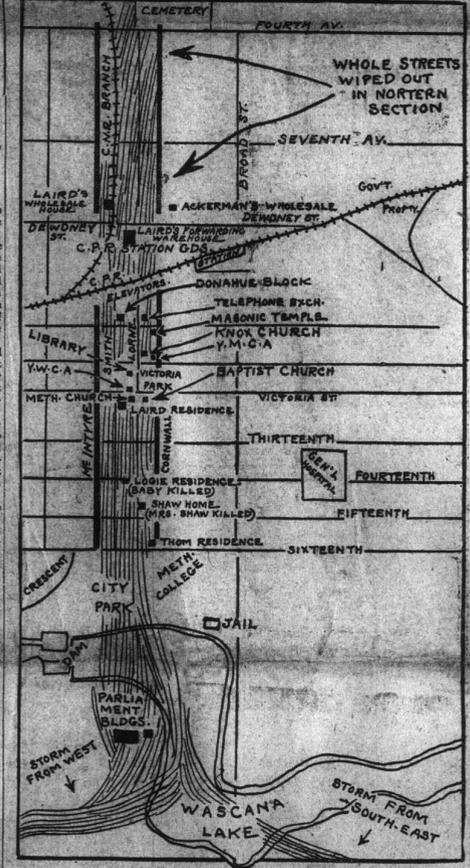

In the German, Russian and other capitals great political significance is attached to the imperial meeting, although semi-official statements assert that its only object is the confirmation of the cordial relations between Russia and Germany for which the way was paved at Potsdam in 1910. It is fully expected, nevertheless, that the possibility of putting an end to the war between Turkey and Italy, the naval position in the Baltic resulting from the Russian naval act and other matters of international interest will be discussed.

TWO MEN DIE OF EXPOSURE, BUT THEIR DOG LIVED

Vancouver, B. C., July 4.—Dead, apparently from exhaustion and exposure, bodies of two fishermen were found yesterday in a fishing boat off Pender Harbor, seventy miles up the northern coast. The boat was nearly filled with water, but floating sturdily was a dog, very thirsty but still living and had strength enough left to bark loudly and attract attention to the boat.

To the identity of the two men aboard there is hardly a clue. The elder man was lying in the bottom of the boat. He looked to have been an Englishman, about forty-five. The other was a lad of eighteen or twenty and his body had evidently been lashed by his companion to the mast. The man had not been dead more than a day or two. On the collar of the dog were initials on a brass plate: "G. S. V., D. T. P., 1912, 60."

CHARGE AGAINST MONCTON OFFICIAL

Street Foreman Put Man's Name on Pay Roll That Did No Work

Investigation Discloses That the Bill Should Have Been for Horse Hire, and Offender Was Ordered Reduced in Rank—Ranaway Chatham Girl Caught in Railway Town.

Special to The Telegraph.
Moncton, July 4.—At a meeting of the city board of works this afternoon, Ald. Nickerson made a charge against Street Foreman Lesmap that he had put his twenty-five and a half day's time for Alex Johnston last year when Johnston had not worked an hour for the city.

Tonight the city council investigated the charge and it turned out that the city had paid the man's time when it was really horse hire. The street foreman was authorized to hire a horse but for some reason the bill was put in as time worked by Alex Johnston when it should have been horse hire.

The board of works decided to recommend the council to reduce the man's pay to the amount of the horse hire. The street foreman was ordered to reimburse the city for the amount of the horse hire.

CURED OF THIS HORRIBLE DISEASE

Edmonton Girl Saved By "Fruit-a-tives"

Edmonton, Alta., Nov. 20th, 1911. "I had been a sufferer from babyhood with that terrible complaint, Constipation. I have been treated by physicians and have taken every medicine that I heard of, but without the slightest benefit. I concluded that there was to be no cure for this horrible disease.

Finally, I read of "Fruit-a-tives" and decided to try them, and the effect was marvellous. The first box gave me great relief, and after I used a few boxes, I found that I was entirely well.

"Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine that ever did me any good for Chronic Constipation and I want to say to all who suffer as I did—Try "Fruit-a-tives"—why suffer any longer when there is a perfect cure in this great Fruit medicine, and absolutely pure Constipation.

$10,000 FIRE AT HARTLAND, N. B.

Hartland, N. B., July 1.—At 5 o'clock Sunday morning fire started from a burning stove in the Commercial Hotel and resulted in a total loss of the building, which was owned by J. L. G. Carr. The building was a two and a half story wood-structure and housed besides the hotel, the C. P. R. dining room, sample rooms, a warehouse occupied by A. P. Randolph and C. P. Burns, and a warehouse occupied by Mr. Carr.

The value of the building and contents is reckoned at $10,000. A small portion of the contents of the hotel was saved and most of the contents of the warehouses. The hotel was managed by G. G. McCollum, who had $870 insurance. The loss was covered. The action of the firemen and the excellent water system alone saved one-half of the town.

Mr. Carr was here for dinner and until further arrangements are made it is likely that the other hotels will be called upon to furnish refreshments. This is the first time that the fire department was played continuously for four hours, without diminution of the force.

Caring for Girls

Some very interesting matters were brought up for discussion at the morning session including the advisability of appropriating the sum of $100 from the Home Mission funds to assist in a work being carried on by the Women's Mission Society in the way of caring for the work of the city. The session on July 14 is to have a deaconess appointed, whose duty it shall be to interest herself in looking after these girls. HEAR THE CALL BACK TO NEW BRUNSWICK

Seattle Post-Intelligencer Says That Story of St. John's Activity Has Spread Over Continent—Boston Man Advises Citizens to Keep Up Good Work of Advertising Our Great Advantages—Elaborate Preparations for Celebration Next Week.

Residents of Seattle who formerly lived in New Brunswick, Canada, have been hearing a "back to New Brunswick" call for the last few months. The Seattle Post-Intelligencer, of which a New Brunswick man is one of the editors, says that after resting idly on the rocks, doing nothing but watching the Bay of Fundy tide rise and fall twice a day for 100 years and more, the old city of St. John has awakened. "Some returned sons of the province, or somebody else, seems to have turned loose a western progressive bug and everybody has been bitten."

"The city now has a 100,000 club, is sending out publicity literature telling about the planned expenditure of millions in harbor improvements, is boasting about its street car extensions, and actually has witnessed the beginning of a suburban development."

"And to cap it all comes a 'back to New Brunswick' call for the week of July 2 to 10."

"What is true of Seattle is true of scores of other places, according to advices received by the committee in charge of the old home week preparations, and the number of visitors in the city next week may surpass all expectations."

"Citizens in general are hard at work in their endeavours to make the old home week in St. John the best celebration of its kind ever put on. Merchants have arranged for feature decorations on their premises and the general committee has provided for street trimming on a very elaborate scale. The attractions have all been well recommended and there is no doubt but that everything will be run to the satisfaction of everyone in the city during the week."

"The city has but recently awakened to the possibilities of its future and the citizens have united to demonstrate to the world that St. John is not experiencing a boom that will soon die out, but that the city is coming into its own in the way of business and legitimate growth."

Reports from points in the United States say that the old home week committee has made no mistake in its selection of the Cambridge City Band as one of the attractions. This band is composed of artists and several members formerly resided in St. John.

W. E. Anderson, secretary of the board of trade, expressed his surprise and pleasure at the fact that so many former residents of St. John, who have decided to return for the celebration, and several of these have expressed the hope of being able to permanently locate here. One man who went to Boston twenty-four years ago, in writing to Mr. Anderson, said that he hoped to be here for the week. He advised his opinion of residing in a big city like Boston by saying that it took practically all his earnings to exist and there was very little chance of saving anything at all. He also says "Your book is a real read today with great interest and the views illustrating good potato lands and having are as scenes from Paradise for the poor weary clerk, who long for the life in the country again." This man is also desirous of purchasing real estate in St. John, and will be able to look some of the old home week residents. He advises the citizens here to keep up the good work as too much cannot be said about New Brunswick and the city of St. John.

Money Pouring In from East as Halifax List Over Thirty Are Injured—Some of Them Suffering from Scalds and Burns.

Regina, July 2.—All devoted to the work of cleaning up the wreckage of the city Sunday afternoon with a list of thirty names of those who were injured in the explosion. The list includes several who were severely injured, including some who were suffering from scalds and burns.

Since the 3,000 homeless and the injured are being well cared for, the city government is clear the debris away and the work of rebuilding the city. The importance is feeding the homeless and rehabilitating the city.

The banks are coming to business men and have been by extending the necessary government money. They were last week are practically all cleared up. What accounts they have been so successful? It is the result of the work of the government. The government has been very successful in its work. The government has been very successful in its work. We recommend as your committee that moderate and temperate use of food and total abstinence in all things injurious to the body as well as the soul. For it is written I. Cor. 6:12-13: "Now we know that all things are lawful, but all things are not profitable. That the spirit of God dwelleth in you?" If any man defile the temple of God he shall God destroy. For the temple of God is holy, which temple ye are."

It is our belief that temperance flourishes more because of the indifference of the so-called temperance people than from a lack of legislation. The temperance cause in Maine has retained her prohibitory law, though against great opposition. We also note the good work being done by Rev. B. Colpitts, Southport, in his efforts to encourage as there was a time, when taken over a counter or from a bottle, as recommended by Paul in I. Thes. 5:22: "Abstain from all appearance of evil, that ye may be without blame in the eyes of men and of God."

The Sunday school agent, Miss Alma Shipp of Fort Fairfield, Me., has been quite a large increase over last year in number, scholars converted and gifts to missions and the needs of the reforming cause. Eight hundred and thirty-seven were the average attendance. Twenty-nine scholars were raised for the year. The schools had raised for the year $1,028.34.

Rev. P. J. Trafton, of Woodstock, read the annual corresponding secretary report of the year. The statistics show that 84 members were added to the churches during the year. Nearly $20,000 was raised for the pastors and nearly $1,000 for missions. Death has made great inroads upon the members and yet there has been substantial increase.

The camp meeting will begin this evening, July 2, as previously announced, when Revs. H. C. Archer and L. N. Fox, of the W. S. A., will be present and will preach each day and evening until July 10. It is expected that the attendance this year will be larger than usual. The grounds are in excellent condition and the number present in the dormitories and cottages shows that Beulah has not lost any of its attractions.

The normal waist-line will return. The permits of wearing belts and girdles.

CUTWORMS AND ARMY - WORMS

Common Pests of the Field and Garden—How to Control.

Cutworms cause more widespread injury and are responsible for more injury on the part of farmers, market gardeners and others who cultivate the soil than most classes of injurious insects. Taking them as a class, they rank in importance with such well-known pests as the San Jose scale, the Codling Moth, the Hessian Fly—all of which are among the most destructive insect enemies. There are certainly few insects which, year after year, do so widespread damage to garden and field crops as the various caterpillars commonly known as cutworms. The annual loss occasioned by these insects in Canada amounts to hundreds of thousands of dollars. In one year (1900) the Varieties of Cutworm alone destroyed in British Columbia crops to the value of $108,000. If we add the losses in the same season in Manitoba and Ontario, the total would reach nearly $200,000. Chittenden has estimated that the total damage caused by this cutworm in the above named States in 1900 was $2,500,000.

The moths of these cutworms belong to the family Noctuidae, which is one of the largest in Canada, fortunately, not more than about twenty of these have ever appeared in Canada, as cutworms, to do serious damage to growing plants. The caterpillars in general are similar in appearance, being of a grayish or dull-brown color, with four or five irregular lines, each of these wings, also, are two characteristic marks, one near the body, and the other near the head, the latter being a red or orange line and the other a black line. The caterpillars are also very variable in size, ranging from about an inch to two inches in length, and when the wings are spread, they are from four to five inches long. When at rest, the wings are folded over the body. They are nocturnal in habit, they are most active at night, and they are very voracious eaters of the leaves of plants. They are also very destructive to the young of many insects, and they are very common in the soil, and they are very common in the soil, and they are very common in the soil.

The caterpillars, or cutworms, of these moths are also very variable in habit. When conditions are not normal, however, as for instance where there is a lack of food, their feeding habits become changed, and they feed by day as well as by night. In general, cutworms are similar in appearance, being of a grayish or dull-brown color, with four or five irregular lines, each of these wings, also, are two characteristic marks, one near the body, and the other near the head, the latter being a red or orange line and the other a black line. ORCHARD COVER CROPS; WHY THEY ARE ESSENTIAL Orchard Management Three Methods Are Recognized and Used in Different Sections—Some of the Advantages—A Matter of Study.

Billy has defined a cover crop as one which is used for the particular purpose of securing its mulching and physical effect upon the land in the intervals between the regular crops or the normal seasons of tillage, and he might have added, to improve the soil chemically when legumes are thus employed. The whole question of cover crops must receive more and more attention as we expect to produce fruit economically, and of such superior excellence as to secure markets and to hold them when once obtained.

In orchard management three methods are recognized and used in different sections, viz.: Cover crop; clean culture and sod mulch. There is something which may be said in favor of each of these systems; but for Quebec and New Brunswick conditions, at least, the cover crop has everything in its favor. Some of these advantages may be summarized as follows:

It will hold leaves and snow thereby lessening the depth of alternate freezing and thawing; it will make the soil friable, increase its moisture-holding capacity and render it more capable of resisting drought; while, on the other hand, when the cover crop lives through the winter, it dries out the soil in spring, and makes early tillage possible. From the chemical standpoint, the advantage is equally great.

The leaching nitrates are retained in the soil, and the nitrogenous matter, which is the chemical basis of little soil; plant food already in the soil is made available and increased in amount, if the crop employed is a legume.

That which makes the cover crop essential in the east, however, is winter killing. Very often the prolonged dry weather of the summer months has prevented vigorous growth, and when the wet season comes on, new wood is formed quickly.

The date of sowing for any section must be determined by local conditions such as rainfall, frost, etc., or, in other words, the prevailing character of the weather.

Our policy concerning the date of sowing is to sow the cover crop as early as possible, and to sow it in a way that will insure its growth and its ability to do its work before the winter sets in. The best cover crop for orchards begins with rye and ends with crimson clover. This may be said, but for a well so poor that it is the better of the two, and buckwheat may be better than either.

Experiment work at the college has shown that the relative value of green vegetable matter returned to soil, the fertilizing constituents of same, and depth of roots, when the usual cover crops are employed.

Enormous as the amounts of plant food, which are returned to the soil in this way, it is the power through fruit root nodules of taking up free nitrogen from the air and building it up in the plant tissue.

By plowing under such a crop, a distinct gain from the nitrogen standpoint. This is the most expensive of all plant foods.

In the Annapolis Valley leguminous cover crops have been sown for so long a time that in some cases the soil has been overworked with nitrogen. The result is just what would be expected—the trees are smaller and the fruit is poorer. This condition is being corrected by using buckwheat and rye in place of the legumes.

Poisoned Baits.—The poisoned bait is the one which is now used most extensively for the destruction of cutworms generally. This is made by moistening the bait with sweetened water and then dusting in Paris green in the proportion of half a pound of Paris green to fifty pounds of bait. It is important that the bait be moistened to such a degree that it will adhere to the fingers so that when the poison is added, it will adhere to practically every particle. One-half a gallon of water, in which half a pound of sugar has been dissolved, is sufficient to moisten fifty pounds of bait. This material is to be crushed and mixed with a soft mud, or even molasses may be employed. The mixture should be applied as soon as cutworms are seen upon the foliage of any crop. The mixture is scattered after sundown, so that it will be in the very best condition when the cutworms come out to feed in the morning. The material is to be applied in the form of a fine dust, and it should be applied in the form of a fine dust, and it should be applied in the form of a fine dust.

Parasitic Fungous Diseases, such as species of Empusa, help to reduce cutworms. These caterpillars are also subject to bacterial diseases.

PREVENTIVE MEASURES.

Clean Cultivation.—The eggs of most of our cutworm moths are deposited upon the soil, and they are very common in the soil, and they are very common in the soil. The eggs are deposited upon the soil, and they are very common in the soil, and they are very common in the soil.

When a cutworm becomes full grown, it enters the earth and makes an earthen cell, in which it changes to a brownish or dull reddish pupa, and when this happens in June or July the moth usually emerges in about two weeks' time.

Natural Enemies of Cutworms.—There are many different kinds of beneficial insects which prey upon cutworms and help very materially to keep them in check. Some of these are parasitic insects, laying their eggs upon the bodies of the cutworms. These eggs hatch and the young maggots or grubs feed internally upon the living caterpillar until they have ultimately destroyed it. Others are predaceous and

ONE UNIVERSITY FOR THE MARITIME PROVINCES

To the Editor of The Telegraph: Sir: The statement that "Union is strength" is today more firmly believed than ever before. Fraternal societies multiply and increase, trade unions and labor unions dominate the civilized world, and the general public are being educated by both outgrown the dream stage and are influencing legislation. A few days ago we celebrated the anniversary of the union of the Maritime provinces. It is a question that Canada has proposed under confederation.

There is a smaller union coming to be formed which might well be discussed in this column of your widely read journal. We have in the maritime provinces no less than seven or eight chartered universities. Each of these universities is a separate entity, and each is doing its best to support one of its own. It is a question that Canada has proposed under confederation.

ELABORATE PROGRAMME ARRANGED FOR BACK TO NEW BRUNSWICK WEEK

Some of the Features for One of the Greatest Celebrations in History of the Maritime Provinces—Street Decoration on Extensive Scale—The Big Day.

Plans are now completed for the greatest celebration in the history of this city. Old Home or Back to New Brunswick Week has been advertised in all parts of the continent and invitations sent out to former residents of the city and province. It is expected that more people will be in St. John during next week than ever before since the city has been in existence. Elaborate preparations have been made for the entertainment of visitors and with the greatest improvement in the city during the last quarter of a century there can be no doubt that many of the visitors will be sorry they ever left, and make arrangements to come back.

All kinds of amusements have been secured for this week and as the great work at St. John east will be officially started on Monday, the coming week should be one of the greatest in the history of the City of the Loyalists. Starting on Monday the festivities will be kept going until Saturday night. Sports, parades, and games and all the other big features which go to help people enjoy themselves will be provided. The city will be decorated especially for the occasion and the business men will also help in the idea of making the town look bright with decorations on their buildings.

The Cambridge City Band, which is one of the best bands in the United States and which took first place in an open competition among bands in America, will arrive here Monday, July 8, and give a concert in St. Andrew's Park Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings. The band is composed of twenty-eight pieces and every member is a master on his special instrument. The band is directed by Mr. Zaelly, who has a great reputation as a leader.

Tuesday will see the real opening of the carnival week and all the attractions will be going full blast. Incoming boats and trains will be met by the local bands and every visitor to the city will be given a hearty reception. The band will also give a civic reception and banquet held under the auspices of the mayor and commissioners. This part of the celebration is to take place in the evening at the Grand Hotel. The band is directed by Mr. Zaelly, who has a great reputation as a leader.

On Wednesday there will be a free car ride for visitors to the city. The St. John Railway will provide cars, which are to leave the foot of King street at 10 o'clock in the morning and a trip will be made over the lines. The different industries of the city will be visited.

The home racing will be one of the big attractions and will start on Wednesday afternoon at Moosepath. The Cambridge band will put on its second concert Wednesday night. The city will be decorated with the local bands so that concerts will be given in the stands about the city and in the parks.

Thursday will be the big day in the Old Home Week celebration and the mayor has asked the citizens to get ready to serve it as a holiday. In the morning there will be a big military parade, including the 3rd Regiment Artillery, 62nd Regiment, 24th Dragoons, the 1st and 2nd regiments of the Boy Scouts and the Cadet Corps. The military bands will be in the parade and there is no doubt that it will be one of the most impressive.

Friday will be the day for the big parade and the city will be decorated with flags and bunting. The parade will start at 10 o'clock and will last for several hours. The city will be filled with people and the atmosphere will be one of great excitement.

Saturday will be the day for the big games and sports. The city will be filled with people and the atmosphere will be one of great excitement. The games will be held at the various sports grounds and will attract large crowds.

SUMMER HOMES NEAR CITI WERE IN DANGER FROM FOREST FIRE

Blaze on One House at Ketepec This Week—Fire Near Norton Under Control.

The lingering hot and dry spell of the last few days has as usual brought with it a few forest fires. Reports from some sections of the country are that, while so far the damage done has not been very much, unless rain soon comes it is known how great it may be. The heat of the last week has dried the underbrush in all districts and the flames soon find ready fuel to devour and spread over an extensive area in a remarkably short time.

A fire which destroyed a considerable stretch of forest land and threatened a valuable timber area near Norton, has been put under control, and will probably go no farther. This week a fire was burning at a point along the Kemebecasis near where it enters the main river. Since Saturday last a dangerous fire has been in progress at Ketepec, on the P. E. I. progress at Ketepec, on the P. E. I. progress at Ketepec, on the P. E. I.

On Monday the fire burned so fiercely that some of the houses nearby in suburban cottages removed their household goods for safety. Nurses caught the house occupied by Mrs. Jones, Wednesday, but the blaze was discovered before it had gained much headway. The cause of the fire was turned by men summing at Ketepec, and it is thought that the most damage has now been done and that the fire will burn itself out.

On Monday the fire burned so fiercely that some of the houses nearby in suburban cottages removed their household goods for safety. Nurses caught the house occupied by Mrs. Jones, Wednesday, but the blaze was discovered before it had gained much headway. The cause of the fire was turned by men summing at Ketepec, and it is thought that the most damage has now been done and that the fire will burn itself out.
