

TWO MEN WITH REVOLVERS INDULGED IN SHOOTING BEE AT SPRINGBANK ON SUNDAY

Harry Morris and William Hays Arraigned in the County Court on a Charge of Shooting at L. Kelestine, an Employee of a Local Biscuit Works--The Preliminary Hearing.

Theft of a Lunch Caused All the Trouble.

Charge Is Made That the Men Also Shot at Constable and Other People.

As a result of a wholesale shooting bee which they are alleged to have engaged in yesterday and last night near Springbank, Harry Morris and William Hays, of this city, are today out on bail on charges of carrying firearms and shooting at L. Kelestine, an employee of D. S. Perrin & Co., and who resides at 22 Victoria avenue, London Township.

Morris resides at 183 Richmond street, and is employed by the City Gas Company. Hays lives at 183 Richmond street, and is employed as a clerk in a Dundas street store.

Other Charges. In addition to shooting at Kelestine it is alleged that the two men took shots at a number of other people, including High Constable Hughes, Joseph Fortner, a farmer; a young man named Hardy, Ernest Yelland, a man named Mercer, and several other people, whose names could not be learned.

The trouble arose over the fact that the accused men were led to believe that Kelestine or some of his friends had stolen the lunch baskets, which they had taken down the river in a rowboat.

A Sunday Picnic. From what can be learned, Morris and Hays procured a boat yesterday afternoon and made their way down the river to a spot almost across from Woodland Cemetery.

In the boat were a couple of repeating rifles and revolvers, a quantity of liquor and some food. Everything ran along smoothly until late in the afternoon when Morris and Hays missed their lunch. Thinking they had merely mistaken it for ice, they scoured the immediate vicinity for it.

Eventually they came upon an old shanty in the woods, in which a number of young Londoners, including Messrs. Kelestine, Hardy, Yelland and Mercer had taken shelter from the rain.

Pulled Revolvers. The young men in the shanty denied all knowledge of the missing lunch, whereupon it is alleged that Morris and Hays pulled revolvers and threatened to shoot up the entire place if their lunch was not forthcoming at once.

Then one or both of the invaders, it is alleged, began to shoot into the crowd, which, with the exception of Kelestine, scattered and ran for dear life.

Kelestine grappled with Morris, who is a much larger man, and scratched the latter's arm considerably in the tussle. Made His Escape. In some manner or another Kelestine managed to get out of the shanty without being perforated, and at once made for the farmhouse of a man named Rose nearby.

He was closely followed, it is said, by Morris and Hays, who shot rings around him, but failed to injure him. In the meantime, Mr. Ross' family and some friends who were visiting the house, attracted by the shot, came out in front to see what was up.

A Close Call. Several stray shots whistled by their heads, and they made haste to reach the safety of the house, closely followed by Kelestine, who was hitting nothing but the high spots in his efforts to get out of range of the infuriated pursuers, who, by the way, were alleged to have been the worse for liquor.

Realizing that they could not catch Kelestine, it is further stated, Morris and Hays left the place and started to row back home up the river.

Later, when he deemed it safe, Kelestine, in company with Mr. Ross, drove to the city, where High Constable Hughes was apprised of what had taken place.

High Constable on Scene. The high constable tried to get in touch with one of his constables, but failing to do so started out down the river himself on foot.

About half way down to the scene of the shooting, Mr. Hughes sighted his quarry leisurely rowing up toward the city.

COL. SAM HUGHES SCORES AGAIN

Downs Critics of the Ross Rifle and Incidentally Against Mr. Fowler.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Ottawa, June 15.—Col. Sam Hughes has scored once more against the critics of the Ross rifle and also incidentally against Mr. George Fowler, M. P., who in the Commons recently took occasion to criticize Col. Hughes' own attempts at shooting with Canada's new national arm.

At Quebec, on Saturday, in the presence of cheering crowds, Col. Hughes scored fifteen straight bullets at the five hundred range with the new long Ross rifle.

The small arms committee appointed to test Ross rifles, under the chairmanship of Col. Hughes, was at Quebec on Saturday conducting some tests of the rifle.

BROTHERS DROWN

Boat Upsets in St. Lawrence While They Were Fishing.

Cornwall, June 15.—Two young Englishmen, James and Albert Lillie, aged respectively 18 and 12 years, were drowned in the St. Lawrence here on Saturday afternoon. The Lillies came here about a year ago from Elgin, England, and although unfamiliar with the currents and eddies of the St. Lawrence they were fond of fishing.

They were in a boat about 75 yards from shore when the current from the bywash at lock 17 upset their craft. The older boy held on to the boat till he saw a lad named Archambault coming to his assistance, when he let go. Archambault, fearing that the two drowning boys would pull him under, turned back. Neither of the Lillies could swim, and they soon disappeared.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

And Yet the Victim Lives to Relate His Experience.

Malone, N. Y., June 15.—Ernest C. Gleason, a well-to-do farmer who lives just outside this town, has the distinction of having been struck by lightning and living to tell of his experience. With his two daughters, Gleason, was sitting on the veranda of their home last evening during an electrical storm when a bolt of lightning crashed into the group.

All three were thrown to the floor by the shock, but with the exception of Gleason none were seriously hurt. His left side was paralyzed and he was unconscious for several hours, but today he was reported to be well on the way to recovery.

JEALOUS OF CANADA

New York Complains That Grain Trade is Diverted to Montreal.

New York, June 15.—The withdrawal from service of the freight ships of the White Star Line and the complaint of the company that the railroads have so discriminated against New York that the grain of the country is being sent abroad by way of Montreal, will be thoroughly gone into by the New York Produce Exchange next Thursday, when its trade and transportation committee will submit a report on the subject, which is expected to recommend the appointment of a committee to confer with the railroads.

"New York should be the natural shipping point for the grain of the country," said President Ring, of the exchange, and there seems to be no other reason for the grain being sent to Montreal than that the railroads are giving that port a lower rate than they are giving New York. We have all the facilities here for handling the grain, and all of the terminals are in good shape to admit of its handling. The railroads have plenty of cars and engines."

Mr. Ring said that everything that could be done would be done by his association to bring back the business to this city.

ELECTRIC BILL CAUSES FLURRY CITY OF LONDON IS WARNED

But It Would Appear That the Municipalities Are Protected By a Clause Which Brings the Dominion Power Company Under Control of the Railway Commission.

Mayor Stevely received a telegram on Saturday from Mr. W. D. Lighthall, of Montreal, secretary of the Union of Canadian Municipalities, calling his attention to the bill that the Dominion Power Company is endeavoring to have passed in the House.

According to Mr. Lighthall's information, this bill had already passed the Senate and was being backed by a strong lobby to pass the House of Commons.

It would give the Dominion Power Company the right to enter any city and erect poles and string wires without the consent of the municipality, and also sell power.

Comes Up Wednesday. The wire also bore the information that the matter would come up before the railway committee in Ottawa on Wednesday, and asked that Mayor Stevely see that the city is represented to object to the passing of the bill, and to protect the city's rights.

Mr. Lighthall also notified his worship that the other cities intended sending representatives to Ottawa.

Wired by Major. Mayor Stevely at once wired Major Beattie, M. P., asking for information regarding the bill and asked him to take whatever steps were necessary in the meantime to protect the city's interests.

Major Beattie wired that the bill had already passed the Senate and that the company had no power over the city's streets, as the bill came under section 247 of the Dominion railway commission act, which prevented any company using the city streets without the consent of the municipality.

Secretary Lighthall did not think the section referred to applied in the case of this bill.

Mayor Stevely wired Mr. Lighthall to send all possible information regarding the bill to him at once.

Mayor Speaks. "I do not know who the Dominion Power Company is, nor what the bill means," said Mayor Stevely. "All the information I have received is contained in the telegrams I have received. I have written to Mr. Lighthall to send all the information he can to me at once in order that we may know what to do. Major Beattie is sending me a copy of the bill, and when that comes I will know what it means. If it is necessary to send any person to protect the city's interests, I will send City Solicitor Meredith. If the company gets the right to enter the city, string wires and erect poles on our streets and sell power, without our consent, it will seriously affect our power scheme. I had a telephone message from Mayor Geddes of St. Thomas, and he informs me that the council will send its solicitor and one of the aldermen to Ottawa on Wednesday."

People Protected. So far as can be learned the bill is somewhat similar to the bill of the Hamilton Radial Company, over which there was such a fight last winter.

It was found in that case also that the company came under the jurisdiction of the Dominion railway commission act, and that according to section 247 of that act it could not enter a municipality and sell power without the consent of such municipality.

SEVENTH BOYS HAVE TROUBLE

In Getting Away for the Quebec Trip in July.

An unforeseen difficulty has arisen that may seriously affect the trip of the Seventh Regiment to Quebec.

So far as can be learned over 60 per cent of the men find it impossible to get away for the trip.

This fact will militate seriously against the successful carrying out of the plans of the officers in charge.

It is thought, however, that employees will not stand in the way of the regiment, but will show civic pride and patriotism and allow the men to take in the trip.

It has been learned that several employers when they found that their employees would seriously interfere with the regiment's efficiency if their employees remained at home, have given their consent.

With a full regiment, the Seventh would make an excellent showing in the Ancient City, but if only a small section of the regiment goes, the locals will not make much of a stir in the city of Quebec.

"We hope we can get to Quebec with our full strength," said an officer. "If we can do so, we will make a good showing. If we do not, I expect the employers will look upon this matter in a broad spirit and assist us all they can. It means much for the city."

WOMAN ARRESTED ON THEFT CHARGE

Alleged She Stole From a Dorchester Hotel.

Mrs. Martha Martie, who said she worked in a King street restaurant, was arrested Saturday night at Dorchester by Constables Northgreaves and Sadler on a charge of theft.

The accused was today remanded until the 20th by Squire Chittick. It is alleged that she stole from a Dorchester hotel, two pairs of shoes and a pair of gold eyeglasses and a library book.

OFFERED NO DEFENSE

Hamilton Election Officials Were Committed for Trial.

Hamilton, June 15.—Wm. Lawson and Harry Dillabaugh, the two local election officials, who were alleged to be concerned in an endeavor to sell fifty ballots for $50, were committed for trial at the police court this morning.

D. L. McCarthy, Toronto, appeared for them, and pleaded not guilty. Those witnesses were examined—Col. Moore, the returning officer, his brother, and Wm. McLaughlin, the Liberal chairman of Ward 5, to whom Dillabaugh endeavored to sell the ballots.

There was nothing new in the case, and the prosecutors offered no defense. Bail was fixed in the sum of $400 each.

RECOUNT IN LONDON ELECTION DATE SET FOR MONDAY, 29TH

Step Taken in the Interests of Regularity at the Polls—Alleged That There Will Be Some Curious Mistakes Brought To Light—Mr. McEvoy Out of City.

A recount of the ballots cast in the recent election in the city has been demanded, and Judge Edward Elliott has set Monday, June 29, as the date on which the recount will commence.

It is alleged that the recount will show curious things in connection with the recent vote.

Mr. J. M. McEvoy has been working very quietly on the matter ever since election day, and now that he has demanded a recount, it is expected that the vote will show some very interesting features.

Mr. McEvoy is in Toronto today. The recount was demanded by Mr. E. J. Dawson on behalf of Mr. McEvoy.

This is the last day on which a recount could be demanded.

Jumped from an Attic Window Frederick Harris Badly Injured

Police Conduct a Successful Raid on Dynamite Hall.

Frederick Harris, a young colored man, jumped from a three-story attic window in Dynamite Hall at the corner of Burwell and Bathurst streets on Saturday night while the police were conducting a raid on the place, and sustained a severe fracture to his right thigh, and a number of bruises about the body.

Harris was picked up and taken to Victoria Hospital where he is recovering.

The raid is the third which the police have made on Dynamite Hall recently, as numerous complaints have been made regarding the house by people living in the vicinity.

On Saturday evening, it appears, Mary Harris, Rachael Harris and a young man named Lewis Harris got into a drunken altercation, and affairs were getting serious when the police were called.

It is not known whether or not Frederick Harris was in the row as he was not with others when the police arrested them, but was found later lying outside suffering great pain.

The raid was conducted by Officers Whelan, Beck and Sergeant Downs. Those arrested were charged with being disorderly. Frederick Harris, it is stated, has only been in London a short time.

Where Was Sairey Camp? The Harris family have the upper part of the house, the rooms below being occupied by Mr. and Mrs. William Station, both of whom are at present in the former on a charge of attempting to take her own life, and her husband on a charge of drunkenness.

NO G. T. R. IMPROVEMENTS SO SAYS MANAGER BROWNLEE

After Going Over the Road the Management Is of the Opinion That It Is Not Advisable To Spend Any Money at This Time—Ontario Limited Will Not Be Run.

"There will be no improvements made on the Grand Trunk this year," Manager Brownlee told The Advertiser this afternoon.

"After making a thorough inspection of the system, Mr. Hays and the other officials have decided that such improvements as are deemed necessary are too expensive to be carried out under present conditions, and all the work that had been planned will be left over until next year, at any rate."

BUSINESS FAIR. "Business is fair all along the line, but is not increasing to any appreciable extent. "We are holding our own, and that is all. "We expect that Canadian summer resorts will boom this year as never before.

"So far we have had hundreds of letters from people all over the world inquiring about Muskoka and other Canadian resorts. Never have we received so many inquiries before."

"KIDDIES" AT SPRINGBANK WREAKED HAVOC IN PARK

London Street Railway Has Thus Far Failed To Clear Up the Waste Paper and Remnants of Lunches—Water Commissioners Hear From Parks Commissioner.

At the meeting of the water commissioners in the mayor's office at noon today, the condition of Springbank after the big picnic of Thursday was one of the chief topics of discussion.

Parks Commissioner Pearce brought the matter to the attention of the board, and declared that the Park on Friday was in a most disgraceful state. There were papers and refuse scattered all over the grounds, and the London street railway made no effort whatever to clear it away.

He suggested that if the street railway did not clean the grounds the city should do it, and charge it up to the company.

He also suggested that boxes for paper and refuse be scattered throughout the park.

This would materially reduce the amount of refuse to be gathered, and assist in keeping the grounds in a presentable condition.

Chairman Agreeable. Chairman Jones concurred in the opinion of Mr. Pearce, and said the grounds were in a most disgraceful condition. (Continued on Page Nine.)

Pere Marquette Wants L. and P. S. R. Talk of New Lease Negotiations Soon

Officials Say the P. M. Is Now Doing a Big Business in Canada.

Superintendent Pycatt and Trainmaster Gilhula, of the Pere Marquette were visitors at the city hall this morning, and paid Mayor Stevely a visit.

There was no business to be discussed, and the visit was purely informal.

It is expected, however, that the Pere Marquette will shortly make advances to the city regarding the lease of the London and Port Stanley Railway.

The lease expires within four years and the company is willing to make many permanent improvements in the road owing to the fact that the lease will be given to another company at the expiration of the present term.

It is understood that the Pere Marquette is willing to make special improvements provided the lease is extended long enough to make it worth while.

A New Lease. The question of a new lease will be taken up very shortly, perhaps within the next month.

"The Pere Marquette is having an excellent season," said Mr. Gilhula. "We have all the business we can handle, and it is gradually getting better. At one time it was thought that the Canadian branch was only a tag line, but it is doing the business now. We will change our Port Stanley time table on June 29, and will put on the summer service then. "The prospects for a good summer are excellent."

Fire Destroys Dufferin Ave. Cottage

Bad Blaze at Early Hour on Sunday

Home of Mr. E. E. Hinsley Wiped Out—Insurance Is Small.

The frame dwelling at 356 Dufferin avenue, owned by the Matthews estate, and occupied by Mr. Elmer E. Hinsley, of A. Screaton & Co., was completely gutted by fire Sunday morning between 2 and 3 o'clock.

The loss on the house alone will be $1,000, with insurance of only $450.

The fire was discovered by Mr. E. C. Nixon, who lives next door. About 2:30 o'clock he was awakened by a crackling sound, and on investigating found Hinsley's house a mass of flames. He wakened Mr. S. H. Craig who lives next door, and an alarm was phoned in.

Chief Clark and the brigade were soon on hand and after a stubborn battle, confined the fire to the residence of Mr. Hinsley.

Runs a Mower at 99 Years of Age

Young London benedicts who frown and mutter things when wifey suggests plaintively that the front lawn be cut after supper can profit by the example set by Mr. Alexander Scott, of 34 Horton street, who, although now 99 years of age, has been mowing the large lawns surrounding the City Gas Company's plant on Horton street for the past three or four years. Prior to that time Mr. Scott was a mason by occupation.

A few days ago Mr. Scott was compelled to give up his work of grass-cutting, but he blames rheumatism, and not old age, for doing so. Mr. Scott is rapidly approaching the century mark, but still retains much of his youthful vigor, and he is anxious—and, perhaps more so—to be at work as some of the younger generation.

STOCK'S MAJORITY GOES UP TO 56

Previous Reports Were a Long Way Out, Giving Him Only Seven.

St. Marys, June 15.—Latest figures (official) show that the increase in Mr. Stock's majority is 56. Incorrect returns were received from South Easthope on election night. Valentine Stock's majority over the Hon. Nelson Monteith was first reported at 16 and afterwards at 7. Mr. Monteith decided on Friday to call for a recount, but that is now out of the question. There is some talk here of Mr. Torrance, of North Perth, making a way for the minister of agriculture. Two relatives of Mr. Monteith have sat in parliament as representatives of that riding.

COASTER KILLS FOUR

Disaster at a Pleasure Resort in Denver—Car Jumped Track.

Denver, Col., June 15.—Four persons were killed at a suburban pleasure resort Saturday, when a car on the "roller coaster," running 75 miles an hour, jumped the track, hurling its passengers to the ground below.

INCENDIARISM SUSPECTED

Strong Local Option Men's Barns and Stables Burned.

Dundas, June 14.—Five barns and stables belonging to John J. Lyons, of Ancaster were burned this morning, and as a consequence the attorney-general's department will be asked to investigate the circumstances with a view to bringing home a charge of incendiarism against the liquor interests, of which Lyons has always been an ardent foe. It is believed by the community that the setting fire to the barns was part of a concerted campaign against the farmers who were instrumental in securing local option for this riding. Lyons, Matthew Burton and John Lewis were foremost in the fight to abolish the sale of liquor, and last fall Lewis' barns were burned down mysteriously. Shortly after the Burton family awoke one Sunday morning just in time to see two men setting fire to a stable. The community is much worked up over the affair, and certain well-defined suspicions have been voiced.

GIVES UP $20,000

Millionaire Glad to Give Services as Steel Receiver.

Pittsburg, June 15.—William G. Park, the $20,000,000 millionaire steel manufacturer, and the head of the Crucible Steel Company, has refused to accept a fee of $20,000, because he believes that some other people need the money more than he does. Some time ago financially embarrassed, and the court appointed Mr. Park and the Union Trust Company, of Pittsburg, receivers.

NO SHORTAGE AT NIAGARA

Power Now in Use Make No Great Difference in the Water.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., June 14.—For full five hours today the American Niagara piled over the cataract as free and unharassed as it did the day it was discovered. The powerhouse on the American side of the river capped their wheel pits, and the mile and a half tunnel that carries the bolt of water after it has turned the turbines and generators, ran dry. The plants were closed down to allow divers to inspect the American abutment of the upper steel arch bridge at the mouth of the tunnel. In the last ten years a concrete wall two and a half feet thick has been battered down, and attempts to place retaining walls have been frustrated by the current. The divers today found the abutments of the bridge solid and safe in every particular, with the exception that the guarding wall of one of the pits had been undermined. It probably will be rebuilt, although the bridge is in no danger. Engineers of the United States Government, under directions of Major Kutz, of the Taft commission, took measurements of the river while the water was unharassed, and the test showed that not enough water is diverted from the American cataract to make it noticeable. A rise of one-tenth of an inch was noted. While the American plants were closed down 175,000-horsepower was shifted to the Canadian plants. The machinery of the power plants will probably not be stopped again in the next generation.

TROUBLE IN MOROCCO

PICTURES OF HEROIC PAST

Magnificent Historical Pageants To Be Feature of Quebec Tercentenary.

Toronto, June 12.—The Toronto Press Club at its regular dinner at the St. Charles Hotel last night entertained as guest of honor Mr. Frank Lascelles, of Oxford, England, who came to Canada on the invitation of Earl Grey for the purpose of designing and rehearsing the magnificent historical pageants which are to be such an important feature in the Quebec Tercentenary celebration. Mr. Lascelles produced the great Oxford pageant, which portrayed the history of the old University City for one thousand years. He approaches his work from the standpoint of the student, the historian and the antiquarian. It is not a business proposition with him, and he will receive no payment for his services at Quebec, but is making a gift of his time and his talents. Pictures of the Pageant. In eloquent language that made the scenes he described spring into being Mr. Lascelles for nearly an hour kept his audience enthralled with the vividness of his descriptions, and at the same time instilled into all who heard him the same spirit of enthusiasm with which he himself is animated. It was upon the effort to make everything real that Mr. Lascelles dwelt most earnestly. He pointed out that the organizers of the great pageant were striving to eliminate the purely theatrical element, and, as far as possible, make the scenes depicted a living reality. In the latter part of his address Mr. Lascelles dwelt upon the arrangements which had been made to accommodate the great throng of visitors from all parts of the world who will gather at the ancient gateway of the wonderful west. Quebec, he said, was ready to receive her guests with that hearty welcome and hospitality for which she is so well known. Arrangements had been made for the accommodation of 30,000 or 40,000 people at the hotels and the houses of a number of the citizens, while the tent city to be erected outside the city boundaries is already springing into being. Within the limits of that white-walled town some six or seven thousand people will be accommodated, and every effort is being made locally to provide for the largest number of visitors that is anticipated. All Interested. Mr. Lascelles referred to the enthusiasm of all classes of people in the project. As he rightly said, it was impossible for anyone who thought for a moment on the wonderful history of early Canada, or the times when Jacques Cartier first brought his tiny vessel across the stormy seas of the North Atlantic to the banks of the plain and the self-sacrifice of the holy men who abandoned their native land for what was then a savage country, not to have their imagination awakened. Largely through the noble project of the representative in Canada of his majesty the king, the Dominion would possess a lasting memorial of the great events which would take place in their hundreds and thousands down to the quiet old-world city. The days of the pageant would be really an era in Canadian history to which children yet unborn would refer, telling in turn their children how their forefathers had communed with the noble deeds of the old pioneers who through misery and warfare had come to build up a great new country. It would be an event that would appeal not merely to one great nation, but to three. While on the Plains of Abraham they would see the picture story of the past, in the river below would be the battleships of three great nations once at war, but now united in peace. When he had reached Quebec on a frosty night, the light showing the city as if it were lit with a jewel, he had said they came to study its history, they found a story more romantic than which was not known to the world, and it was the attempt to revive that story that had brought him across the Atlantic.

Pictures of the Past.

In the picture of the past they would see the golden lilies of old France hanging side by side with the flag of the great empire of which Canada was such a valued part. They would see something of the great heroic past, the glorious future, and obtain, perhaps, a glimpse of the boundless possibilities of the future. It was an opportunity which afforded the designer a chance to create great spectacular scenes, but it was not merely the dramatic or spectacular side of the pageant which had led him to undertake this work. Spectacular it was in a sense, and the representation of fact was always more dramatic than the representation of fiction. It was a form of acknowledgment of the great pioneers of 200 years ago, and their noble successors, who had won Canada from a state of savagery and laid the foundation of the greatest part of the British Empire. Mr. Lascelles gave some wonderful descriptions of the scenes at the courts of Francis the Stately, and Henry IV., and the landings at Quebec of Cartier and Champlain, which would be reproduced with all their wealth of detail. More lightly, he touched upon the enormous work involved in getting together such a magnificent series of tableaux. All this, he explained, was not done without much hard work. The quantity of Canadian plants. The machinery of the power plants will probably not be stopped again in the next generation.

Two Children Died in Trunk

Impriisoned By the Spring Lock—Hidden To Avoid Going To School.

Fall River, Mass., June 4.—After a long search the bodies of Joseph and Andre Deaudry, 8 and 5 years old respectively, were found locked in a trunk in which the children are supposed to have hidden themselves in order to escape going to school. The trunk has a spring lock. The medical examiner decided that their deaths were due to suffocation. The interior of the trunk and the clothing and bodies of the children gave evidence of the struggle which the little ones had made to escape before death finally overtook them. Joseph and Andre were the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Beaudry, who work in the mills, and the little ones were left in care of their older brother, Wilfred, who was supposed to get them ready for school. Wilfred thought Joseph and Andre had started for school when he left the house to attend school himself, and he knew nothing about their disappearance until he returned home.

Volcano Emits Torrent of Lava

Auckland, N. Z., June 15.—Advice received here states that for three nights, beginning May 10, there was a remarkable volcanic outburst on Savaii, the largest of the Samoan Islands. The first eruption was followed by the greatest flow of lava in the history of the island, it being estimated at nearly 3,000 tons per minute. Soot there was an almost continuous sheet of lava, 8 miles wide, and from six inches to six feet deep, flowing down the mountainside. It overflowed the cliffs, destroying many native houses in its way, dropping into the ocean and causing an immense uprising of steam. Fun For Yankee Bluejackets. Magnificent new bathhouse grounds will be opened at Rotorua, one of the hot lakes of North Island, New Zealand, in connection with the visit of the American fleet. Native festivities and dancing have been arranged for the entertainment of the visitors. The Auckland volunteers will act as hosts at a dinner to the petty officers.

Likely To Be a Big Shake-Up In Supreme Staff of the I. O. F.

Nomination of Harry Collins Not Being Backed By the Regular Slate.

Toronto, June 15.-The Telegram says: Preparations are being made for the election of the supreme officials of the I. O. F. on about the same scale as if a national convention were on the eve of meeting.

Such is the interest taken in the forthcoming meeting of the supreme council, starting Tuesday, that many members have expressed to be allowed to occupy balconies overlooking the chamber where the 200 delegates will be seated, and where the great struggle for the main positions will be made.

The Americans-outlasting Canadians in number-will be lined up in state delegation, just as if Chicago or Albany were doing the thing up, and Canadians will line up per province, with the lone Australian, instructed delegation or not, can sit where he pleases.

The ordinary member of the I. O. F. does not know it, but there are going on some pretty struggles for votes on the floor, apart from the main contests. This is the struggle for the position of supreme chief ranger.

"I'll win; that's all," said Harry Collins, supreme treasurer of the Independent order of Foresters, who has announced himself a candidate for supreme chief ranger of the order, this morning.

"Is there any prospect of your withdrawing?" he was asked.

"No, none at present," he declared. Mr. Collins denied that he had a close sympathy with the candidacy of Mr. Collins, it was said that the following will be candidates for the various supreme positions of the order, and that they compose a slate to be put in concurrence with the nomination of Mr. Collins:

O. P. Stockwell, of Attica, N. Y., for supreme counselor.

H. W. Wood, of New Brunswick, for past supreme chief ranger.

L. V. C. Cresce, K.C., for supreme vice-chief ranger.

C. R. Fitzgerald, for supreme treasurer.

E. J. Hearn, for supreme secretary.

"I understand that this slate has been brought forward, Fitzgerald to run for Collins' position and to replace him if Collins defeat S. C. R. Stevenson for first place in the order, Fitzgerald has lived in Buffalo, but the last report he made as auditor he tacked on to the end the statement that he would make it imperative for him to take up his residence in Canada permanently. This is very significant, and view of the fact that members of the executive council must have a permanent Canadian residence. He is now at the Arlington," said a member today.

Supreme Chief Ranger Stevenson refused to comment at all on the situation, saying he did not think it was becoming for him to do so.

An official close to the chief, however, gave it as his firm conviction that out of the 200 votes to be cast for the post of S. C. R., that Collins would get more than 40 votes, and that he would not net 25 per cent of the American vote.

Move Orphans' Home. One very important matter that will be brought before the supreme court will be a report affecting the Orphans' Home established by Dr. Oronhyatekha on Foresters' Island, and which is capable of housing 200 inmates, children of deceased Foresters.

This institution has been a source of very heavy expense to the order, and last year there were but 60 children home. The recommendation will be made to the supreme court that the home be moved near Toronto, a plot of ground to be purchased near Oakville or a similar location, where supplies can be easily received from this city.

To Cut Salaries. The suggestion is made by a correspondent, a member of the order, that in the interests of economy, the salaries being paid to the heads of the I. O. F. should be cut in two, instead of "freezing out" the older members, as he calls it.

The Officials. Seven offices have to be filled by the supreme court, and the following are the officers who form the executive council: Mr. Elliott G. Stevenson, Toronto, supreme chief ranger; Mr. Victor Morin, B. A., LL. B., M. P., Montreal, past supreme chief ranger; Mr. J. D. Clark, Dayton, Ohio, supreme vice-chief ranger; Mr. R. Mathison, Toronto, supreme secretary; Mr. H. A. Collins, Toronto, supreme treasurer; Dr. T. Milligan, M. D., Toronto, supreme physician; Mr. W. H. Hunter, M. A., Toronto, supreme counselor.

200 Vote for 265,000. The I. O. F. is composed of about 265,000 members.

Each unit of members is entitled to a high court.

Each high court elects delegates, its strength elects delegates.

It is these delegates who are sent to the supreme court, and who will do the voting on Wednesday.

Present Staff and Salaries. Supreme Chief Ranger Stevenson $15,000

Supreme Vice-Chief Ranger Morin 7,000

Supreme Secretary Mathison 7,000

Supreme Chief Physician Milligan 7,000

Supreme Counselor W. H. Hunter, Past Supreme Chief Ranger Morin, Quebec; Supreme V. C. Ranger J. D. Clark, Dayton, O., receive fees and expenses.

LONDON, MONDAY, JUNE 15.

BOURASSA AND THE CONSERVATIVE PARTY.

The joy unfeigned and undisguised of certain Conservative papers in the appearance of Mr. Bourassa and his attendant luminary in the firmament of Quebec provincial politics, is worthy public attention. The more so because the entrance of these gentlemen into their new sphere of activity was aided and abetted by Conservative politicians, Federal and Provincial, and because their appearance was accompanied by the unmentioned eclipse of the Conservative party in the Quebec Legislature.

No Conservative candidate ran in any constituency contested by Mr. Bourassa or his avowed supporters. Members of the Federal Opposition appeared in constituencies throughout the province in aid of Mr. Bourassa's candidates, and the whole party machinery, Federal and Provincial, was employed on behalf of those candidates. Such power as Mr. Bourassa has attained, therefore, he attained with the enthusiastic assistance of the Conservative party leaders, Federal and Provincial.

More, the triumph of Mr. Bourassa was accompanied by the extinction of Quebec Conservatism as a provincial force, if, indeed, the effectiveness of the party was not deliberately sacrificed that the way might be made clear for Mr. Bourassa. The provincial leader of the party went down in the fight, but his loss is not mourned. There is no suggestion of securing another constituency for him. His defeat is accepted as his finish politically.

Meantime the advent of Mr. Bourassa is hailed as a party triumph. The Ottawa Citizen declares that "on Monday a notable increase was made in re-establishing Conservatism in the Liberal stronghold of Quebec." Remembering that the party leader went down, no construction of these words is possible, but that Mr. Bourassa is the "notable increase." This is in thorough accord with the protracted jubulations with which the party press still continues to allude to Mr. Bourassa's election.

Conservatism in Quebec has, therefore, been merged into Bourassism. He is the hope and the only hope of the party in that province. To him and to him alone the party, Provincial and Federal, looks to shake the influence and prestige of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and to make a Dominion victory possible; to renege the conditions under which and by means of which Conservative governments held power at Ottawa for nearly twenty years; to bring again the days when the voters of that province stood up to be counted as they were told—and were invariably told to vote for the Conservative candidate.

For this is the meaning and purpose of Bourassism. The idea of that gentleman as consistently and persistently maintained in the House of Commons and out of it, is a French Canada within Canada, not as an isolated element in the nation—an element hostile to every imperial interest and purely negative in its attitude towards British connection. This attitude Mr. Bourassa has taken, avowed and maintained; and when the Conservative party adopted Mr. Bourassa it adopted him as Mr. Bourassa, the Canadian disintegrator and anti-imperialist.

With what views the party at large will regard the lieutenant bestowed upon this firebrand remains to be seen; but whatever the party may think of it they must recognize that the honor has been regularly bestowed by the duly recognized party authorities. Whatever Mr. Bourassa may choose to do or say in Quebec, that the Conservative party throughout Canada must answer for. Mr. Bourassa accepts the honors with no renunciation of principles. He is free to promulgate his reactionary and anti-British programme, knowing that he speaks with authority and in the name of the great Conservative party.

Mr. Bourassa had to part with his unpatriotic views or part with the Liberal party. He left the party and sought entrance to the public life of Quebec. The Conservatives who had reviled the Liberal party because of his views, made alliance with him, entered the lists in his behalf, invited their supporters to elect himself and his candidates, and applaud his election as a "notable increase" in the party's fortunes. Henceforth, they are responsible for him. He is their Quebec lieutenant. He will shape their policy in that province after his own fashion. They will receive whatever advantage he can give them. But they must be answerable for him to the public. His record gives promise that they will have much to answer for. An alliance between the party which boasts its imperialism and the man who boasts his hostility towards imperialism, is not likely to be a happy one.

SMUGGLING AND THE FAIR SEX. Twenty Chatham women have been detected in smuggling, and have been notified to contribute to the Canadian customs an amount which will make their purchases in Detroit anything but bargains. It does seem that every woman is a confirmed free trader. No matter how highly cultivated her conscience may be, she has no compunction about evading the tariff laws. Scorning deceit or deception in ordinary relations, she will walk by a customs official with an air of innocence on her face, and a load of dutiable goods concealed on her person. She is honest, however, in this respect, that she sees nothing morally wrong in the performance. She knows she is at liberty to carry across the boundary line her personal effects and certain classes of goods free of duty, and she makes no fine distinction between these commodities and others which are on the dutiable list. The fact is that tariff legislation makes a crime of an action which is not in itself immoral; and it is naturally difficult to enforce such laws.

The Chatham women perhaps deserve to be fined for not patronizing their home merchants, and for the absurdity of buying in Detroit when nine times out of ten they can get the same goods cheaper in Canada.

THE KING AND THE CZAR.

The eyes of all Europe have for a week been turned to the Russian port of Revel, where King Edward and the Czar Nicholas have been in conference. The theory that the meeting between the two monarchs was of political importance is supported by the presence of the British Permanent Under-Secretary of Foreign Affairs, who is a sort of connecting link between incoming and outgoing ministers, and who is thus enabled to keep in close and uninterrupted touch with Britain's foreign concerns.

In view, however, of the fact that Anglo-Russian relations have been greatly improved by the conclusion of a convention covering Persia, Tibet and Afghanistan, thus removing all points of dispute between the two countries, the press of Europe has been busy speculating as to the particular matter which has been engaging the attention of their majesties. It is considered not a little significant that the meeting at Revel has been the signal for expressions of violent antipathy to Germany on the part of a section of the Russian press. Some of the German papers declare that the Anglo-Russian entente is directed against Berlin, and accuse King Edward of aiming systematically at the isolation of Germany.

It may be taken for granted that the object of King Edward's visit to Russia is the maintenance of the peace of Europe. His majesty, able diplomat that he has proved himself to be, may be trusted not to initiate any movement which will imperil the harmony at present existing among the nations. It is not his function to guide or control the foreign policy of his country. In all his movements he must act under the instructions of his responsible advisers. Although not the guiding hand, he is an efficient instrument in diplomacy, for a clever king may be of great assistance to his ministers without overstepping his prerogatives.

The big republic to the south is in the throes of the presidential nominations. Whether Republicans or Democrats win, makes little difference to Canadians, since they have ceased to rely upon the American market. Truly, commerce knows no flag. The White Star Line, a British company, threatens to take its steamers off the New York route because the railways, it is alleged, discriminate against New York, in favor of Montreal, a British port.

The Earl of Derby, who died yesterday, was known as Lord Stanley when governor-general of Canada. He was perhaps the least impressive in the line of governors-general since confederation, excepting Lord Minto. Alfred Laurier and the party he leads were assailed as traitors for numbering him among them—by none more vigorously than by the journals who now clasp hands with Mr. Bourassa as the new Quebec leader of the Conservative party.

father, the late earl had considerable public spirit, and served in general Unionist ministries. In Canada he was overshadowed by his clever predecessors, Dufferin, Lorne and Lansdowne, and by his successor, Aberdeen.

Other things being equal, it is not at all likely that the London Machine Tool Company would have removed from this city to Hamilton, because of the price of power. Manager Yeates himself admits that there were several factors in deciding the company to make the change. Fortunately power is only one item, and not the principal one, in determining the location of an industry. Otherwise Ontario manufacturers would gravitate to Niagara Falls, even under the scheme of the hydro-electric commission.

THE REMITTANCE MAN.

[Robert W. Service.] I have already drawn attention to the remarkable little volume of poems by Robert W. Service, the Canadian singer of the emancipated life, which Mr. Fisher Edwin has recently put before the British public, writes T. P. O'Connor. My readers will appreciate one complete poem from Mr. Service's collection:

There's a four-pronged buck a-swinging in the shadow of my cabin, And I ranned the velvet valley till to-day; But I tracked it by the river, and I trailed it in the cover.

And I killed it on the mountain miles away. Now I've had my laxy supper, and the level sun is gleaming

On the water where the silver salmon play; And I light my little corn-cob, and I linger softly dreaming.

In the twilight of a land that's far away. Far away, so faint and far, is flaming London, fevered Paris,

That I fancy I have gained another star; Far away the din and hurry, far away the sin and worry,

Far away—God knows they cannot be too far; Gilded galley-slaves of Mammon—how my purse-proud brothers taunt me!

I might have been as well to-do as they Had I clutched like them my chance, learned their wisdom, crushed my fancies,

Starved my soul and gone to business every day. Well, the cherry bends with blossom, and the violet grass is springing;

And the star-like lily nestles in the green; And the frogs my joys are singing, and my heart in time is ringing.

And it doesn't matter what I might have been above the scented pine-gloom, piling heights of golden glory,

The sun-god paints his canvas in the west. I can reach me deep in clover, I can listen to the story

Of the laxy, lapping water—it is best. While the trout leaps in the river, and the blue grouse thrills the cover,

And the frozen snow betrays the panthers' track, And the robin greets the dawnspring with the rapture of a lover,

I am happy, and I'll nevermore go back. For I know I'd just be longing for the little old log cabin,

With the morning glory clinging to the door. Till I loathed the city places, cursed the care on all the faces,

Turned my back on Laxar London evermore. So send me far from Lombard street, and write me down a failure;

Put a little in my purse and leave me free. Say: "He turned from Fortune's offering to follow up a pale lure,

He is one of us no longer—let him be." A SURE CURE. [Toronto News.]

"No drugs, plenty of rest and simple food." That is the prescription which Sir Wilfrid Laurier says eminent physicians gave him five years ago. To this, some advice he attributes the fact that he is still capable of hard work.

BRITONS BEYOND THE SEA.

[Harold Begbie, in London Daily Mail.] God made our bodies of all the dust that is scattered about the world,

But we might wander in search of home wherever the seas are hurled; But our hearts lie here in the dust of English dust, and mixed it with none beside,

That we might love with an endless love the land where our kings abide. And tho' we weave on a hundred shores, and spin on a thousand quays,

And tho' we are true with all the winds and gypsy with all the seas,

We are touched to tears, as the heart is tuned by the sound of an ancient tune. At the name of the Isle in the western seas with the rose on her breast of June.

And it's O for a glimpse of England, and the buds that her garden yields, the delicate scent where her hedgerows wind and the shimmering green of her fields,

That roll her down and the lull of her dew-drenched lawns, And the calm of her shore where the waters wash, rustle-winged with her thousand gulls.

And it's O for a glimpse of London town, thro' the fog and the rain, The loud-voiced streets and the glittering shops, the pageant of pomp and pain;

And it's O for a sight, tho' it be a dream, of the Briton's beacon and pride— The cold gray Abbey which guards our ghosts on Thames' sacred side.

EXCEPTING MIDDLESEX.

[Braunford Expositor.] With the exception of the Middlesexes, the Whitney gerrymander accomplished that for which it was devised. For a Government with a majority of 40 to tie the hands of a maimed opponent, and then strike him, was not a very manly performance.

A BRIGHT SPOT.

[Braunford Expositor.] One of the bright spots in the Provincial contest was the triumph of Mr. Duncan C. Ross, in North Middlesex. By the gerrymander the town of Stratford, in which Mr. Ross resides, was taken out of his old riding of West Middlesex, which was made a Liberal live, and placed in the north riding. He determined to go up against the handicap, and did so successfully.

BOURASSA AS CONSERVATIVE LEADER.

[La Presse, Montreal.] Nous ne sommes pas fache que monsieur Bourassa s'en aille a Quebec. S'il a une mission, il la remplira; nous aurons un point a comprendre, mais lorsqu'il la redra a l'Etat pratique, nous serons fiers de nous en occuper, et nous le combattrons. Les hasards de la bataille ont voulu qu'il devienne chef malgre lui, puisque le hon. MM. LeBlanc et Pelletier ne sont pas. Vous savez bien qu'il n'y a pas tres longtemps, qu'il n'existe pas de place pour un tiers parti; que, force-majeure, nous sommes obliges de passer le parti conservateur ou vice versa. La chose est faite. C'est maintenant, a M. Bourassa de diriger ces forces reunies; lorsqu'il s'agit d'interet, d'ailleurs, il peut s'habituer a supprimer ses violences de langage et devenir un chef d'opposition tout a fait constitutionnel.

FREE HAT DAY STARTS A RIOT

Women Theater-goers Were in Scramble—Police Helpless in the Rout.

New York, June 15.—Saturday was the day set for the distribution of Murray Widows hats at the matinee of "The Merry Widow" at the New Amsterdam theater, and there was a dandy riot, which left behind it a playhouse strewn with back hair tufts, baby pins and all those things which come of a hat depot and put across the front of it a long counter, behind which were stationed a lot of people to give out the hats to the bread line, which the management intended to have easy by and get their hats in order, Henry W. Savage manner. But that wasn't exactly what happened.

As it turned out, there was something like 2,000 women in the house, and the pillars of hat boxes, which was miscalculation No. 1, of course, there wouldn't be a chance for the women if they were given hats on their entrance into the theater to get them into their seats and still let everybody see the show. So counters were given at the door, redeemable after the last curtain, each calling for a hat. And the management fondly were in the women would wait, which was miscalculation No. 2, there they were during the last intermission, just before the Maxim's scene, a number of women decided they preferred to stand during the remainder of the show. These filled up the space behind the seats. And then one or two of these happened to think they had to get home early and presented their coupons.

Manager Douglas and his corps of ushers and girls behind the counter wanted to please and gave out one or two hats, and the other women who were standing near happened to think they had to get home early. More hats were given out, and then those down in front noticed the others were getting hats and started out to get theirs—all this long before the curtain fell.

By the time Sonna and the prince left Maxim's in the yellow spot there was more doing at the rear of the theater than on the stage, and the women began to come out and everybody who was not already there made a rush for the bargain counter.

The bread line absolutely refused to force their way from all directions, and all wanted to get their hats. There was one poor lonely special officer on the job, and it wasn't a minute before he was entirely surrounded by women.

Manager Savage himself took a hand and then remembered he had an engagement down town. Press Agent Maurice Kirby also looked in before going over to the Knickerbocker for a rick.

When the doors were opened for the people to go out the women in the gallery who hadn't heard anything about the coupon racket thought they had been forgotten, and they came in as their down stairs sitting as well as all came down and around into the theater and joined the merry party.

About this time some woman went through the breastworks of the hat boxes and the pillars of hat boxes and over with her. Some of the hats were smashed and a lot of women thought it made a good chance to get their hats without waiting any longer and everybody went into the scramble. Four policemen were called in to stem the tide of women and save what could be saved of the hats.

Now it seems that after a coupon had been exchanged for a hat it was put in a little box and the women went over to the counter where they were scattered over the floor. Those who had received no coupon went after the hats and the ushers went after the coupons, too, and that was another rough house.

And at 6:30 there were groups of women landing on the street clear over to Broadway, hatless, who had come that way intending to get their new hat on and not have an odd one to carry and who stood there with their hats in their hands and said naughtily, naughty things.

CANADIAN PACIFIC SHORT CUT WEST

Eight Hours To Be Taken Off the Journey To Winnipeg—First Trial

Toronto, June 15.—The World says: They put another shuttle last night in the gigantic loom on which is woven the web of life of the Canadian west.

The first direct C. P. R. train for Winnipeg via Sudbury rolled out of the Union station at 9:30 sharp with an exploding torpedo to signal the event.

A godly crowd of the public were present to speed their parting friends, and out of curiosity for the novel departure in railroad enterprise. Eight hours of the Winnipeg journey is a consideration for the traveler, and when this is combined with the comfort of a C. P. R. palace special the public are appreciative.

There was an average load of passengers, about equally distributed over the several cars. The dining-car was brightly lighted and stood temptingly to the appetites of the waiting travelers. The cars were nearly all new or newly refitted, and the whole train presented a cheerful and attractive appearance.

THE CRIMSON BLIND
BY FRED M. WHITE

A sudden light came to Chris. He had found out part of their scheme. He knew that David Steel would be probably away from home on the night in question. In that case, having made certain of this, and having gained a pretty good knowledge of Steel's household habits, what easier than to enter Steel's house in his absence, wait for Van Sneek, and murder him then and there?

It was not a pretty thought, and Chris recoiled from it. "How could Van Sneek have got into Steel's house?" she asked. "I know for a fact that Mr. Steel was not at home, and that he closed the door carefully behind him when he left the house that night."

Merritt grinned at the simplicity of the question. It was not worthy of the brilliant lady who had so far got the better of him. "Latch-keys are very much alike," he said. "Give me three latch-keys, and I'll open 99 doors out of 100. Give me six latch-keys of various patterns, and I'll guarantee to open the other 10."

"I had not thought of that," Chris admitted. "Did Van Sneek happen by any chance to tell you what he and Mr. Henson had been quarrelling about?"

"He was too excited to tell anything properly. He was jabbering something about a ring all the time."

"What sort of a ring?"

"That I can't tell you, miss. I fancy it was a ring that Van Sneek had made."

"Made? Is Van Sneek a working jeweler or anything of that kind?"

"About seven years, speaking from memory. There were two copies made—one from description. The other was much more faithful. Perhaps there were three copies, but I forget now. Van Sneek raved over the ring; it might have been a mine of gold for the fass he made over it."

Littimer asked no further questions. But from the glance he gave first to Chris and then to his son the girl could see that he was satisfied. He knew at last that he had done his son a grave injustice—he knew the truth. It seemed to Chris that years had slipped suddenly from his shoulders. His face was still grave and set; his eyes were hard; but the gleam in them was for the man who had done him this terrible injury.

"I fancy we are wandering from the subject," Chris said, with commendable steadiness. "We will leave the matter of the ring out of the question. Mr. Merritt, I don't propose to tell you too much, but you can help me a little farther on the way. That Van Sneek you saw in Van Sneek's possession passed to Mr. Henson. By him, or by somebody in his employ, it was substituted for a precisely similar case intended for a present to Mr. Steel. The substitution has caused Mr. Steel a great deal of trouble."

"Seeing as Van Sneek was found half dead in Mr. Steel's house, and seeing as he claimed the cigar-case, what could be proved to be Van Sneek's, I'm not surprised," Merritt grinned. "Then you know all about it?"

"Don't know anything about it," Merritt growled, doggedly. "I guessed that. When you said as the one case had been substituted for the other, I don't want a regiment of schoolmasters to see where the pea lies. What you've got to do now is to find Mr. Steel's case."

Lightning Remedy for Cramps
Some people have cramps pretty often, others only now and again. But when you do have them it's a mighty quick relief you want. Polson's Nerviline is as sure as death to relieve cramps in thirty seconds—It's almost instantaneous. Just a few drops in sweetened water and the pain is gone. Buy a bottle of Nerviline today and keep it handy. Nerviline is a common household necessity, because it both prevents and cures. More pain killing power in a bottle of Nerviline than you can find in any other preparations. Test it today—all dealers sell Nerviline.

"I have already found it, as I hinted to you. It is at Rutter's, in Moreton Wells. It was sold to them by the gentleman who had given up smoking. I want you to go into Moreton Wells with me today and see if you can get at the gentleman's identity."

Mr. Merritt demurred. It was all very well for Chris, he pointed out in his picturesque language. She had her little lot of fish to fry, but at the same time he had to draw his money and be away before the police were down upon him. If Miss Lee liked to start at once—

"I am ready at any moment," Chris said. "In any case you will have to go to Moreton Wells, and I can give you a little more information on the way."

"You had better go along, Frank," Littimer suggested, under his breath. "I fervently hope now that the day is not far distant when you can return altogether, but for the present your presence is dangerous. We must give that rascal Henson no cause for suspicion."

"You are quite right," Frank replied. "And I'd like to—shake hands now, dad."

Littimer put out his hand, without a word. The cool, cynical man of the world would have found it difficult to utter a syllable just then. When he looked up again he was smiling.

"Go along," he said. "You're a lucky fellow. Frank that girl is one in a million."

A dog-cart driven by Chris brought herself and her companion into Moreton Wells in an hour. Frank had struck off across country in the direction of the nearest station. The appearance of himself in Moreton Wells on the front of a dog-cart from the castle would have caused a nine days' wonder.

"Now, what I want to impress upon you is this," said Chris. "Mr. Steel's cigar-case was stolen and one belonging to Van Sneek substituted for it. The stolen one was returned to the shop from which it was purchased almost immediately, so soon, indeed, that the transaction was never entered on the books. We are pretty certain that Reginald Henson did that, and we know that he is at the bottom of the mystery. But to prevent anything happening, and to prevent our getting the case back again, Henson had to go further. The case must be beyond our reach. Therefore, I decline to believe that it was a mere coincidence that took a stranger into Lockhart's direct—after Henson had been there to look at some gun-metal cigar-cases set in diamonds. The stranger purchased the case, and asked for it to be sent to the Metropole to 'John Smith.' With the hundreds of letters and visitors there it would be almost impossible to trace the case or the man."

"Lockhart's might help you?"

"They have as far as they can. The cigar-case was sold to a tall American. Beyond that it is impossible to go."

A meaning smile dawned on Merritt's face. "They might have taken more notice of the gentleman at Rutter's," he said, "being a smaller shop, I'm going to admire that case and pretend it belonged to a friend of mine."

"I want you to try and buy it for me," Chris said, quietly.

Rutter's was reached at length, and after some preliminaries the cigar-case was approached. Merritt took it up, with a well-feigned air of astonishment.

"Why, this must have belonged to my old friend, B—," he exclaimed. "It is not new?"

"No, sir," the assistant explained. "We purchased it from a gentleman who stayed for a day or two here at the Lion, a friend of Mr. Reginald Henson's."

"A tall man?" said Merritt, tentatively. "Long, thin beard and slightly marked with smallpox? Gave the name of Rawlins?"

"That's the gentleman, sir. Perhaps you may like to purchase the case?" The purchase was made in due course, and together Chris and her queer companion left the shop.

"Rawlins is an American swindler of the smartest type," said Merritt. "If you get him in a corner ask him what he and Henson were doing in America some two years ago. Rawlins is in this little game for certain. But you ought to trace him by means of the Lion people. Oh, lor!"

She crossed over to the postoffice and dispatched a long telegram thus: "To David Steel, 15 Downend Terrace, Brighton."

"Go to Walsen's and ascertain full description of the tentative customer who suggested the firm should procure gun-metal cigar-cases for him to look at. Ask if he was a tall man with a thin beard and a face slightly pock-marked. Then telephone result to me here. Quite safe, as Henson is away. Great discoveries to tell you.—Christabel Lee."

Chris paid for her telegram and then drove thoughtfully homeward.

CHAPTER XLVIII
—Where Is Rawlins?

Lord Littimer was greatly interested in all that Chris had to say. The whole story was confided to him after dinner. Over his coffee on the terrace he offered many shrewd suggestions.

"There is one thing wherein you have made a mistake," he said. "And that is in your idea that Henson changed those cigar-cases after Miss Gates laid your motive offering on Steel's doorstep."

"How else could it be done?" Chris said.

"My dear, the thing is quite obvious. You have already told me that Henson was quite aware that you were going to do—at least that he knew you were going to consult Steel. Also he knew that you were going to make Steel a present, and by a little judicious eavesdropping he contrived to glean all about the cigar-cases. The fellow has already admitted to your sister that he list, ed. How long was that before you bought the cigar-cases?"

"I should say it might have been a week. We had inquiries to make, you know. In the first instance we never dreamt of offering Mr. Steel money. I blushed to think of that folly."

"Well, blush a little later on when you have more time. Then Henson had a week to work out his little scheme. He knows all about the cigar-cases; he knows where it is going to be bought. Then he goes to Lockhart's and purchases some trifle in the shape of a cigar-case; he has it packed up, yellow string and all. This is his dummy. By keeping his eyes open he gets the chance he is waiting for. Ruth Gates hadn't the faintest idea that he knew anything when she left that case the day she bought it within reach of Henson. He gets her out of the way for a minute or two, he unties the parcel, and places the Van Sneek case in it. No, by Jove, he needn't have bought anything from Lockhart's at all. I only thought of that to account for the yellow string and the stamped paper that Lockhart's people use. He first takes one case out of the parcel and replaces it with another, and

GOOD CONDITION OF WESTERN CROP

Cold Weather Has Not Injured It—As Healthy Looking as Could Be Wished.

Winnipeg, June 13.—Although the past week has been characterized by heavy showers, alternating with spells of heat, and nights generally have been cool, and from reports received the young crop does not appear to have suffered.

Apparently root strength has not suffered by reason of rapid top growth, and Superintendent Murray, of the Dominion Experimental Farm at Brandon, says that, while there has been too much hot weather, there are really no ill effects.

At present the indications are that the foreign exporting countries will not produce more than an average crop of clover seed, and the Ontario supply is likely to be short.

(Continued From Page One.) condition. It would be of no use, however, to do the work and charge it to the street railway, as the company would not pay for it.

The only rent the company paid for the park was to keep the grounds clean, and it was seeking to get out of paying that. He thought that Superintendent should write the manager King a stiff letter on the subject, and insist that he do better in the future.

This was agreed to by the board.

THE MURDERED ACTOR

Victim of Brutal Assault in New York Was a Torontonian.

Toronto, June 15.—The actor of the "Road to Yesterday" company, who was held up and beaten to death by highwaymen on West Twenty-seventh street at 12 o'clock on Friday, and whose name was given as Albert Grosby, was rightly Albert G. Nowell, a son of Mrs. H. Nowell, of this city.

In the unfortunate man's pocket when he was picked up was a notebook bearing an entry reading: "In case of accident, notify my mother, 136 Morse street, Toronto." It was by means of this that his identity was ascertained.

A telegram was received by the police and the description given of the dead man coincided with that of Nowell. William Nowell, a brother, left for New York Friday night to see and take charge of the body.

The word his mother received was the first that his mother had heard of him for some time, as the young man had not been in very close touch with his home.

LAST PUBLIC APPEARANCE

Archbishop O'Connor Confirms Large Class of Children.

Toronto, June 15.—Archbishop O'Connor made his farewell public appearance yesterday afternoon, when his grace confirmed 50 girls, 41 boys, and a number of adults in St. Patrick's Church.

A peculiar significance attached to the service owing to it being generally known that it would be the last one at which Archbishop O'Connor would officiate, and his words of admonition to the newly confirmed seemed to be more than usually impressive because of this fact.

Following the confirmation, in which the Archbishop was assisted by Rev. Father Murray and Rev. Father Brick, pastor of St. Patrick's Church, the boys, with uplifted right hand, promised not to touch intoxicating drink until 21 years of age. His grace advised both boys and girls not to join any society without first consulting their priest, and not to take part in religious exercises in any other church than a Catholic church.

The service concluded with the Holy Sacrament. Archbishop McEvoy, who succeeds Archbishop O'Connor in the high office which the latter has voluntarily relinquished, will be installed on Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock in St. Michael's Cathedral.

BRITISH CRUISER'S CAPTAIN FIRED

Commander of Gladiator Bears Blame for Loss Caused by Collision.

Portsmouth, June 15.—The naval court-martial which has been in session here for several days before Vice-Admiral Lovry to investigate the loss of the British cruiser Gladiator, resulting from her collision last April with the American line steamer St. Paul, has, after a lengthy consideration, found that Captain Lumsden, commander of the cruiser, had hazarded his ship by default, though not by neglect. The sentence passed upon Captain Lumsden by the court was, in part, as follows:

"The court having found the charge partly true, and taking into consideration the difficult position in which the prisoner was placed by the steamer St. Paul in not complying with articles 15 and 18 for preventing collisions at sea, adjudges him to be reprimanded and dismissed from ship."

Captain Lumsden, earlier in the day, testified that he found the Gladiator un navigable at a speed of six knots, therefore before the collision, was necessary to enable the Gladiator to clear another vessel which was approaching at the same speed.

When the St. Paul was sighted, Capt. Lumsden declared that the Gladiator, his turn to port would have carried the Gladiator out of the liner's track had the St. Paul reversed her helm instead of keeping hard to port.

He considered the liner's speed unjustifiable and contended that the St. Paul should have sounded earlier warning signals.

A DEMONSTRATION BY SUFFRAGETTES

Great Army of 15,000 Women Parade Streets of London —Want Votes.

London, June 14.—Marched in eight distinct columns on the Victoria embankment, a great army of from twelve to fifteen thousand women suffragettes paraded the metropolis yesterday afternoon, and wound up with a meeting at Albert Hall, at which such well-known names as Dr. Anna Shaw, Lady Henry Somerset and Lady Frances Balfour, voiced the demand for women for an immediate extension of the franchise. Suffrage societies in Austria, Australia, Canada, France, Russia, South Africa and the United States sent representatives to support the British women. The great procession, which started in Trafalgar Square by several thousand barmahs, who had been demonstrating against the licensing bill.

All sorts of women whose condition of life are as wide asunder as the poles took part in the march, and united in the common cause of woman suffrage. Sarah Grand, Beatrice Hamden, Elizabeth Robins, Lady Onslow, Mrs. Alfred Lytton and Gertrude Kingston were among the more notable women that marched at the head of the different sections. Dr. Anna Shaw and Miss Lucie J. Anthony, delegates from the United States, led the procession in carriages.

IDEA OF STARTING REORGANIZATION

Hon. A. G. MacKay's Views On That Matter—Not Wisest Thing Just Now.

Toronto, June 15.—Hon. A. G. MacKay, leader of the Liberal Opposition, was in the city for a few hours on Saturday on his way from Mount Clemens to Owen Sound. It was his original intention to have spent a couple of weeks at Mount Clemens, but after a few days he thought himself sufficiently rested to again resume work.

Commenting on the result of the elections, he stated that the outcome had been a complete surprise to him. Several good men who had performed earnest work in the Legislature during the past few sessions had been defeated, though Ontario Liberalism was by no means dead, he added.

"Do you counsel a provincial convention?" Mr. MacKay was asked.

"I do, at the proper time. I do not know that it would be the wisest thing to do to call it immediately. Men are apt to be a bit lethargic in the face of such an experience as reports indicate the Liberals have recently gone through. But I have a lot of faith in the Liberalism of the earnest, aggressive kind that knows it has a mission and is ready to perform it. A year ago when I was tendered the leadership I expressed the view that a convention should eventually be held—a free gathering of Liberals, not to pass cut-and-dried resolutions, but to confer frankly together as to position, policy and platform. Within the next year such a gathering might well be held."

"Will there be many protests?" he was further asked.

"I haven't much use for post-mortems," was the prompt response, "nor do I believe in making allegations which we cannot prove. If there has been any general corruption, and there are some serious allegations to that effect, then, of course, it should be investigated. But it costs money to fight protests, and the Government, as I believe, are not usually overflowing. Frankly, I haven't much faith in the protest talk unless the evidence is indisputable, and we are financially in a position to prove what we allege."

Fire Chief W. A. Howard, formerly a fireman on the local brigade, has tendered his resignation as chief of the Owen Sound brigade. The council will probably accept the resignation. Mr. Howard has been offered the position of fire chief of Peterboro and will accept. Chief Howard has been in Owen Sound a little over a year, and it is said that he has reorganized the department and made it one of the most efficient in the province. He was in charge of the Berlin department before going to Owen Sound.

Knights of Columbus.
A Hamilton dispatch says: Although prominent Catholics here will unite with those of other cities and towns in the archdiocese in an appeal to Archbishop McEvay for recognition of the order of the Knights of Columbus, it is stated on good authority that there is little prospect of the request being granted. His Grace Archbishop McEvay is said to hold similar views to Archbishop O'Connor on this subject. The society has gained a strong foothold in Hamilton, over thirty members from here being initiated recently at Lindsay, although no branch has been allowed to start in this city. The objection taken to the order is that it insists on electing its chaplain, who must be a member of the organization. Dowling takes the stand that those in authority in the church should appoint the chaplain, and that it should not be necessary for the chaplain to be a member of the society.

Nature Shaped Shoes for Children

It's a great mistake to put poor-fitting shoes on growing feet. But it's done time and again. Every child should wear nature-shaped shoes—shoes that fit the feet as nature intended they should fit.

We Have Such Shoes

They are made by makers who are masters in shoecraft. Leathers, soles, lasts, shoe-making and shoe-shaping, all are right for children's growing feet.

Prices governed by the quality and the size, but in every case the price is the lowest for the quality offered.

We ask the opportunity of proving to you our ability to fit children's feet correctly.

Wife Desertion Prevalent in Ontario

The fact that family desertion is a prolific cause of the dependency of children, is forcibly stated by Mr. J. J. Kelso, in his fifteenth annual report, recently presented to the Ontario Legislature. Among other things he reports said:

The desertion of wife and children by the responsible head of the family continues to be one of the most prolific causes of dependency. Public institutions in all parts of the country are overcrowded with this class, and in addition to the misery caused by these cruel desertions the burden of expense thrown unfairly upon the charitable public is simply appalling. No effort is made to bring these men back and compel them to do their duty, and even when they remain in town they are allowed an order of separation in the police court that frees them from responsibility.

Many children go astray because their mothers are widows or deserted wives compelled to go out working and thus leave the young people to their own devices. The fact is emphasized almost hourly in every office where the problems connected with neglected or dependent children are being studied. Recently a young man called to ask my advice about one of his Sunday school scholars, a bright interesting lad of eleven. The boy, although so young, has been en-

SUNDAY IN THE LONDON CHURCHES

"A Soul To Let" was the theme of an interesting sermon in Colborne Street Methodist Church last night by Rev. E. E. Malott, who took his text from Matthew xii, 43 to 45. "When the unclean spirit has gone out of a man,"

Mr. Malott told the story of the man who tried to conquer evil by keeping clean by keeping it empty. That it is impossible to live a negatively good life.

If a man puts away evil he must also cultivate good. The heart cannot be kept clean by keeping it empty.

Mr. Malott stated that half of the conversions of today are becoming lamentably common. Too many people are trusting to reformation, and are not seeking regeneration.

In concluding the speaker, made a strong appeal to his hearers to let Jesus Christ have the right of way in their lives and hearts, as this is the only means by which they can permanently conquer evil.

In the morning Mr. Malott spoke on "Election," pointing out that God's best will come to us only as we show activity on our part in seeking him.

During the services Mr. Chris Pink and Mrs. Cochrane rendered solos and the choir, under the direction of Mr. Geiger, sang several anthems, which were much appreciated.

Rev. Thomas Mitchell preached a practical sermon in the New St. James' Church yesterday morning on "The Problem of Suffering." In the evening Mr. Mitchell exhorted pulpit with Rev. Mr. McKay, of London Junction.

At Maitland Street Baptist Church last night, Rev. C. M. Carew continued his sermon begun last Sunday on "The Life of King Ozias." The morning service was taken by Rev. J. J. Baker, M.A., of Harding Hall.

Rev. A. K. Birks, of Askin Street Methodist Church, and Rev. A. E. James, of Auburn, exchanged pulpits yesterday. Large congregations were present at both services in Askin Street Church yesterday, and Mr. James' sermons were much appreciated. A beautiful musical programme was rendered by the choir.

In the second of a series of sermons on "Elijah," Rev. Canon Hague at the Memorial Church last night, spoke particularly of his character. In connection with modern times, just as there were formerly. While people today did not worship graven images they made a god of wealth, pleasure and similar things.

A large audience was present at Dundas Centre Church last evening, when Rev. E. B. Lancelotti preached on the subject, "A Dead Angel," taking his text from Revelations. During his services Miss Reg rendered a solo that was much appreciated.

The pastor, Rev. A. J. Vining, preached to good congregations at both services yesterday in the Talbot Street Baptist Church in the morning his subject was taken from Romans, eighth chapter, verses 16 and 17, under four heads: Children, heirs, discipline, glory, and surely his Christian hearers must have been edified and inspired to a higher plane of Christian life as they listened to their pastor, who evidently spoke out of a full heart and under the guidance of the Holy Spirit.

The evening subject was a continuation of the series of sermons on the people of Israel. The reigns of three kings were discussed, covering a period of over 700 years, viz., Jehoshaphat, Jehoshaphat and Jehoshaphat. The preacher most earnestly and in most eloquent terms emphasized the truth that a nation's destiny is determined by the character of the people who comprise it, and urged upon his hearers to make every effort to see that we as a people be loyal to God and to the Lord Jesus Christ.

"Blessed is that nation whose God is the Lord."
