

BIG ELECTRICAL CONCERNS ARE READY TO FINANCE ELECTRIFICATION CAMPAIGN

Expectant of Landing Contracts, They Will Go to Any Length To Bring About Expenditure of Million Dollars—Ready To Provide "the Sinews of War."

GLAUBITZ PICKED AS THE ENGINEER

Surprises at the electrification interests meeting tonight are promised by Mayor C. M. R. Graham and his official press agent—the Free Press. Just what the surprises will be can only be guessed by those who have kept in touch with the campaign that has been waged in London and out of London and Port Stanley. It has been the open boast of some of the electrophobes that the election will be won by them—not on sentiment—but on organization. The surprise promised for this evening is believed, by the initiated to be a revelation of the strength of this organization that is being touted as the real little election winner.

Corporations to Help.
Hints of a large campaign fund that will afford an ever-ready supply of cash for the pro-electrification interests have been for some time. It has been asserted that this fund has received the support of large OUTSIDE corporations, those who are in touch with the situation have no hesitancy in declaring that the contracts for the electrification reconstruction have been practically let so sure are the electrophobes of their success.

Not Here For Health.
Representatives of the big electrical construction companies of the States and of Canada have been in London for some time on various mysterious missions. Some of them have cloaked their real missions by calling on the electrical department soliciting orders there. Others have hardly bothered adopting such a subterfuge, so confident have they been. The fact that they have been in London is well known. It is also known that they have not been here for their health.

Glaubitz as Engineer!
Surprises by the score could be sprung on the electrification question. Rumors as to the future conduct of the road are rife. Among the most prevalent is one that alleges that General Manager H. J. Glaubitz, of the water commission, has been slated for the chief engineering of the electrified line. Another is that Mayor C. M. R. Graham, in the event of the success of his campaign, will endeavor to secure a third term in the reaction that will follow the electrification. Both these rumors have been stamped with the mark of more than possibility. Indeed both would be part and parcel of the "cut and dried" program that the interests who are fostering and furthering the electrification.

INSANE MAN GETS OUT THREE TIMES AT THE HOSPITAL

Pursued by Scores of Children, He Rushes Naked Up Colborne Street.

CAPTURED, TIED DOWN

He Loses Bonds and Again Gets Away at Noon Hour.

A deranged patient in Ward 3, of Victoria Hospital, has managed to escape three times in the last 24 hours, and has created the greatest sensation in the vicinity of the hospital by dashing wildly up the street absolutely nude, and with scores of children in pursuit.

The man made his first escape at 8 o'clock Monday night, and was returned to the hospital with little difficulty. At 8 o'clock today, however, he made his second escape, after threatening the nurses, and tearing off his hospital bed uniform.

Pursued by Children.
Scores of children went on the streets when he managed to gain the front of the hospital, and he ran wildly up Colborne street. The sight of his nude figure, the flying attendants, and the following of children was one that caused the most intense excitement. After being captured and brought back once more to the ward, he was strapped to the bed. At noon, however, he managed to get loose from the bonds and manœuvred his third escape, running west on Ottawa avenue.

HAD NO AUTHORITY TO USE NAME OF MARSHALL FIRM

Electrificationists Secured No Permission From Messrs. Munro or Simson.

A STRAIGHT REBUTTAL

Members of the Firm Call The Advertiser to Explain Their Position.

Another name, inserted without authority, has been found on the pro-electrification petition that was plastered over the front page of the evening electrophobe on Saturday. In big type the name of the John Marshall & Co. was included in this list. Messrs. Sam Munro and Walter Simson, members of the firm, called The Advertiser this morning to state that the firm's name had been used without authority.

Mr. Simson called The Advertiser office and drew attention to the fact that the firm had not given permission to use its name in the petition. Mr. Samuel Munro corroborated his partner's statement.

They had no authority to use the firm's name at all," said Mr. Munro. "No permission or authority was granted for its use."

TAKES CARBOLIC ACID IN MISTAKE FOR DRINK

James Harris, Well-Known Colored Man Is in Serious Condition.

James Harris, a colored man, took carbolac acid in mistake for a house on Dame street, near the corner of Egerton, Monday night. It is said that Harris thought he was drinking whiskey, and that he took several swallows before noticing his mistake.

Dr. F. E. was summoned by members of the household, and when he arrived Harris was in a serious condition. He was reported to be considerably better at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

BRITISH GOVT. TO DEFY CARSON AND PASS THE HOME RULE BILL

No Chance of Any Compromise—Carson Will Simply Be Ignored and Government Is Ready To Take All Chances on Civil War in Ulster.

[Canadian Press.] New York, Oct. 7.—A London cable to The Tribune today says: Home Secretary McKenna made a speech of great importance last night. He is the first cabinet minister to speak in public on home rule since the Ulster crisis stirred up by Lord Loreburn's famous letter.

He said: "The Liberal party have convictions, and have the courage of their convictions. One of those convictions is that in the government of the country the will of the majority lawfully expressed through their representatives must prevail, and upon that conviction the Liberal party will stand. There is, indeed, no possible alternative. We are not going to submit either to rule by minority or to anarchy."

More Reasons Why It Would Be Folly to Spend $700,000 on Electrification

The tax rate of the city—24 9-10 mills on the dollar—is such that all unnecessary expenditure must be avoided. The electrification scheme is unnecessary.

The reports of the experts appointed by the city do not justify the conclusions which the promoters of electrification profess to draw from them.

The city needs storm sewers. Unless the bylaw for that purpose carries, thousands of cellars will be regularly flooded, with serious injury to property and health.

A new breakwater would be only a measure of fair play to West London. It would increase the value of property in that growing suburb, and return to the city in taxes more than the cost of protection.

The city must soon embark on a good roads policy. The state of the roads last spring was lamentable. Miles of new unpaved streets in the new districts aggravate the problem.

London needs radial railways north, east and west. It is folly to neglect these opportunities by spending $700,000 to revamp a railway through a district already served.

The city could derive a large revenue from the L. and P. S. R.—larger than at present—without spending a dollar on reconstruction, and at the same time obtain all the benefits that are promised by electrification, without the risks.

MOTHER TOOK BOY AS HE PLAYED IN STREET

Intends to Take Little David Hetherington to Detroit, She Says.

David Hetherington, 5 years old, who disappeared from his home, 692 Adelaide street, several days ago, has been located. He is now with his mother, who starts Wednesday morning for her home in Detroit.

Parents Are Separated.
For some time Hetherington and his wife have been parted. Marital troubles brought the couple to police court on several occasions, and the last time they appeared the husband was ordered to pay his wife a certain sum each week. He took possession of the little boy. On several occasions the mother tried to get the boy, and even went to the police magistrate and asked that an order giving her possession of him be granted.

Saturday afternoon she found the boy playing on the street near his home, and took him with her. She did not kidnap him, she told the police, and intends to take him to her home.

"We are powerless in the matter," said Chief Williams. "The boy belongs to his mother, and he does to his father. If he wants the boy he will have to steal him back again."

WHAT THE COUNCIL DID.

Voted to print all electrification reports or synopsis.
Ratified sale of $338,500 city debentures.
Decided to have lieutenant-governor pass on population for Sunday cars.
Granted $500 to Greater Middlesex Association.
Settled London Township school case.
Purchased $799 auto for fire chief.
Referred wiring inspector appointment back.
Passed accounts for $67,748.
Answered Lord's Day Alliance protest for Sunday work.
Passed resolution of condolence to family of ex-Ald. George W. Armstrong.

All electrification reports or a synopsis are to be printed, and arrangements will be made by the finance committee for their distribution. This was decided by the council Monday night after a spirited debate.

Ald. B. W. Bennett introduced the motion for the printing of these reports, moving a resolution that 5,000 copies of the three reports—Eastman, Marshall and Warfield—be printed and placed in the hands of the elector. After considerable discussion it was decided to print all reports in full, save the Warfield report, a synopsis arranged by the finance committee of that being substituted for the full report.

MAYOR SAYS WARFIELD REPORT IS NOT "APPROPOS FOR GENERAL READING"

"That's the Reason I Want It Printed," Says Ald. Bennett, "To Show the People What a Pack of Dope It Is."

In full? Inquired Mayor Graham of Ald. Bennett, after the motion had been made.
"Yes," was the answer.
"Not for 'General Reading.' There is a lot in the report that would not be apropos for general reading," returned the mayor.
"That's the reason I want it printed," said Ald. Bennett, "to show what a pack of dope we have been paying for. The ratepayers paid for it and they're entitled to see the entire report, and not any section of it that might suit any one of us."

Mayor Graham resented the "any one of us" section, but was informed that that was what the appearance seemed to indicate, by Ald. Bennett.
"I am a committee is now having the other reports printed," said Mayor Graham.
"When did No. 1 committee have this done?" demanded Ald. J. G. Richter, a member of that committee.
Chairman Moore Did It.
Cornered, Mayor Graham said that he did not know what No. 1 really was having printed. He only knew that they were. Chairman J. P. Moore, of the committee, came to his rescue then, and said that the printing was being done on his authority—the Eastman and Warfield reports being printed in pamphlet form.
"I did not think it necessary to have the Warfield report printed, as that is on file at the city clerk's office, and anyone desirous of seeing it," continued on Page Ten.

ATHLETICS WIN 6 TO 4 NEW YORK WAS OUTBATTED

Bender Had Best of Great Pitchers' Battle—Baker Features With Home Run Wallop Into the Right Field Stands—Mack's String of Heavy Hitters Proved Too Much For the Veteran Marquard, Who Retired in Favor of Crandall—Tesreau Finished Game.

[Canadian Press.]

Polo Grounds, N. Y., Oct. 7.—Some 40,000 persons filled the broad reaches of the big Brush stadium this afternoon to witness the New York Giants, pennant winners of the National League, do battle with the Philadelphia Athletics, leaders of the American League, in the first game of the world's baseball series.

A record-breaking attendance was insisted for the turnstiles were still merrily clicking at noon, and elevated trains, traction cars, automobiles and all manner of conveyances were bringing their hundreds to the playing field. Over back of the Athletics' dugout were several hundred Philadelphia enthusiasts.

Murky clouds, from which there came an occasional sleetless drizzle, screened the sun, and there was a constant threat of heavy weather.

Both Out Early.
Shortly after the contending clubs trotted into the field, and then came the batting practice. What a shout there was when long hit after long hit was driven by the Giant batters to the far corners of the field. Of course, the hits were made off straight balls, but the home club, and the crowd was happy. Fielding practice was brisk and brilliant by the home folks, and the visitors and the players were loudly cheered.

Two hundred or more newspapermen from all over the country turned out reams of copy in the press cage behind the catcher, while sixty operators were required to telegraph the accounts of the game.

In Usual Uniforms.
The Giants wore their home uniforms of white with white and purple stockings. The Athletics were garbed in their regular travelling uniforms of gray, with white stockings with black bands.

Before the game began an automobile was presented to Jake Daubert, first baseman of the Brooklyn club, as being the most valuable player to his club of any player in the National League.

During the batting practice Wyckoff pitched for the Athletics and Fromme for the Giants.

It was announced that Umpire Klem would give the balls and strikes decisions, while Umpire Egan would give decisions on bases, while Rigler went to left field and Connolly to right field.

Marquard and Meyers were announced as the battery for New York.

Wilson Not Bet.
President Wilson was an enthusiastic fan today waiting for news of the world's series. Several friends telegraphed the President inviting him to their boxes at the Polo Grounds, but Mr. Wilson declined with regrets. He would have liked to go, but official business prevented.

The President thought the teams too evenly matched to bet. Secretary Tumulty wagered with Congressman Covington, of Maryland, that New York would win the first game.

Bender and Schang were announced as the battery for Philadelphia.

John Brush Hempstead, the young grandson of the late John T. Brush, president of the Giants, threw out the ball, and the world's series battle was on.

Murphy Flew Out.
First Inning—First Half—Marquard sent over a high one and Murphy flew out to Murray. Murphy smashed the first ball pitched, and the crowd gave a big cheer.

Marquard shot a strike over Oldring. Oldring singled to right on second ball between Doyle and Merkle. Marquard tried to catch Oldring napping at first, but could not get him. The New York pitcher used plenty of speed and kept the ball around the Athletics' knees. Oldring caught off first by a quick throw by Marquard to Merkle. Collins singled sharply to centre, after having two strikes called on him. The crowd gave Home-Run Baker a great cheer when he came to bat. Baker flew out to Burns. No runs, two hits, no errors.

First Inning—Second Half—Bender grinned as Shafer came to bat, and sent a wide curve which was close in to Shafer's knee. It was a ball. The next one was a strike. Bender had good speed, which was difficult to follow in the dark. Shafer fled out to Murphy. Doyle out on a high fly to Strunk. Fletcher got a slug by Baker. New York's first hit. Fletcher, out, stealing, Schang to Collins. Fletcher was at least ten feet off the bag. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Second Inning—First Half—McInnis fouled off the first pitched ball. McInnis out, Herzog to Merkle. Strunk fanned, being unable to solve Marquard's puzzling shots. Barry out, Fletcher to Merkle. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Second Inning—Second Half—Bender employed a wide outshoot, and high fast ones. Burns fanned. He had three balls and one strike called when Bender shot over two curves for strikes, sending the New York batsmen back to the bench. Herzog out on a grounder to McInnis.

McInnis, who retired the runner at the bag, Murray singled to left and would have taken second, but Oldring's quick fielding and throw drove him back to first. With Meyers at bat it was Indian against Indian. Meyers fled to Oldring. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Third Inning—First Half—Schang out on a high one to Burns. Bender went out, Fletcher to Merkle. Fletcher made a poor throw. New York's second hit. The Athletics' fans cheered at the ball. Murphy got a Texas Leaguer to centre, which Shafer could not get near. Murphy was forced at second base when Fletcher took Oldring's grounder and touched second. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Third Inning—Second Half—Merkle sent up a high foul near the right field stand, but neither McInnis nor Murphy could get it. Merkle sacrificed, Collins to McInnis. Merkle got an infield hit, which Barry could not get in time to catch the runner. With one out and a man on second base the New York crowd kept up a constant cheering. Shafer out on a high fly to Strunk. Merkle scored on Doyle's single to right. The crowd was in a frenzy. Fletcher fled to Murphy. One run, two hits, no errors.

Fourth Inning—First Half—Collins sent a long drive to the centre-treble fence for three bases. It was the first ball pitched, with Baker at bat, the Philadelphia fans cheered to the echo. Baker fouled off the first ball. Collins scored on McInnis' double hit which Doyle was barely able to knock down with his glove hand. McInnis sacrificed, Marquard to Merkle. Baker out at third when Marquard speared Strunk's grounder and threw field line, sending Strunk to third. Strunk and Barry scored on Schang's three-base hit. Marquard threw out Bender. Three runs, four hits, no errors.

Fourth Inning—Second Half—Burns doubled along the left field line. Herzog sent a ball toward third, which was foul by only a few inches.

Burns Was Caught.
Burns was caught out on the line when Bender took Herzog's grounder and tossed to Baker, who threw to Collins, who returned the ball to Strunk. Merkle scored on Doyle's single to right. The crowd was in a frenzy. Fletcher fled to Murphy. One run, two hits, no errors.

Fifth Inning—First Half—Murray was a strikeout victim, going on three straight strikes. Meyers fled out to Oldring. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Easy Outs.
Fifth Inning—Second Half—Murray went out bunting, Marquard to Marquard took Oldring's bounder and threw the batter out at first base. Marquard became unsteady and gave three balls to Collins. Schang, on a strike, Collins walked. It was the first base on balls given, Marquard almost caught Collins off first with a quick throw. Collins stole second. Meyers' throw being slightly wide of the bag, and the runner having taken a good lead on Marquard. Collins scored on Baker's home run drive into right field stand. It was a longer drive than Baker made when he won his famous home run two years ago on the Polo grounds, and tied the score on that occasion. Pandemonium broke loose when the ball fell in the lower right field stand, and the Athletics players themselves patted Baker on the back. Bats were thrown in the air as also were the Athletics' hats. McInnis lined a fly to Fletcher. Two runs, one hit, no errors.

Fifth Inning—Last Half—Merkle sent a hot liner over second for a single. McCormick batted for Marquard. McCormick singled to centre, Merkle being held at first by Marquard. Shafer went out to Collins to McInnis. Merkle going to third and McCormick to second.

Merkle Scores.
Merkle scored when Barry took Doyle's grounder and threw wild to first. McCormick went to third. McCormick scored on Fletcher's single, which bounded off Bender's leg into right field. Doyle took third on the play. Doyle scored when Baker had Burns' bounder and threw out Fletcher at second. Collins took the throw. Herzog fled out to Collins. Three runs, three hits, one error.

Sixth Inning—First Half—Crandall batted for Marquard. Crandall made a poor throw. New York's second hit. The Athletics' fans cheered at the ball. Murphy got a Texas Leaguer to centre, which Shafer could not get near. Murphy was forced at second base when Fletcher took Oldring's grounder and touched second. No runs, one hit, no errors.

JURY BLAMES THOMAS RILEY FOR GEO. BLACKBURN'S DEATH

Several Witnesses Heard at Inquest Held in the Police Station Monday Night—Doctors Say Bullet Wound Caused Death.

PRISONER PRESENT AT INQUIRY

"That the deceased, George Blackburn, came to his death on the evening of Oct. 4, in the city of London, from the effects of a pistol shot wilfully fired by Thomas Riley at Cecil Hotel on the evening of Oct. 3."

The above verdict was reached by the coroner's jury, which inquired into the death of George Blackburn, who was shot and mortally wounded in the Cecil Hotel Friday evening last. The inquest was held by Coroner Dr. MacLaren at the police station. Riley was present during the proceedings, but was removed at the conclusion of the evidence and did not hear the verdict of the jury. He was not represented by counsel, and seemed to take little interest in the proceedings. The public dock contained a small crowd of men, who remained throughout the inquest.

Only four witnesses were placed on the stand by Crown Attorney J. B. McKillop. With deep anxiety written in every line of his face, the prisoner sat in the dock during the taking of the evidence. He appeared to feel his position keenly, and said almost to the lower level of the railing, apparently seeking to screen his face from the gaze of the crowd of men who stood in the public enclosure. He avoided the glances of the newspapermen and the jurors who occupied places opposite the dock.

Pierced Intestines. Dr. Drake, who attended the injured man at the Cecil Hotel following the shooting, was the first witness called. He stated that in response to a call to the hotel he went there and found Blackburn lying on the bed with a bullet hole in the right abdominal cavity. He expressed the injury to be so much hemorrhage as possible, and then had him removed to Victoria Hospital, where an X-ray photograph was taken, locating the bullet. He afterwards operated in company with Dr. W. J. Stevenson.

In opening the abdominal cavity they found that the ball had pierced the small intestine in three different places, each opening large enough to pass the index finger through. One of the chief arteries had been severed, and the covering of the intestine torn and lacerated. They also found the pelvic cavity filled with blood clots. The ball was traced to the posterior part of the pelvic cavity on the right side, and there was found considerable blood. It was not considered advisable to go further in searching for the bullet at the time. Dr. Drake was in attendance upon Blackburn from then until the time of his death, about 6:50 Saturday evening.

The witness also told of performing a post-mortem examination with Dr. Stevenson Sunday afternoon. The written statement of the post-mortem was read, and showed that the exterior wound was scorched with powder. The bullet, as shown in the radiograph, was of the largest calibre. "We believe that he died of hemorrhage and shock," the statement concluded. Dr. W. J. Stevenson was then called to the stand. He corroborated fully the evidence of Dr. Drake, and there was nothing to be added, he said. He had, however, produced the bullet which was found in the body of the deceased, and also put in the X-ray plate, showing the location of the bullet in the body. The bullet was handed over to Detective Sergeant Thomas Nickle, by direction of the coroner, and it was exhibited to the jury. Dr. Stevenson agreed that death was due to the bullet wound.

Saw the Whole Affair.

Crown Attorney McKillop then called upon Howard Beattie, of 273 Clarence street. Beattie was in the bar-room of the Cecil Hotel about five o'clock on Friday evening. Blackburn was tending bar then. A drayman, whose name Beattie did not know, was there when Thomas Riley and another man named Harry Andrews entered. They had a drink together. The old man seemed to attract Riley's attention, and he walked over to where he was. The old man shoved him away and told him not to bother him. They then started taking hold of one another and fooling. Riley retorted that the old man was strong. Then he appeared to get angry. George Blackburn said, "You're getting angry at the old man, but it's out." Riley then walked down to where his glass of beer was standing on the bar, and taking the glass in his hand threw the beer over Blackburn's right shoulder, setting his clothing. By that time

Andrews had gone out and Riley followed him out the corner door. He returned almost immediately.

He walked down to the bar, and said to Blackburn that he wanted to apologize. Blackburn said he would accept no apology, and ordered him to get out of the house or he would get somebody who would put him out. Riley replied, "You needn't mind, I'll walk out," and walked out the end door of the bar into the hall. When he got there he looked in at the other door and said, "I'll get you," to George Blackburn. Beattie judged it to be about ten minutes to six when Riley finally went out on the street. The witness left the hotel shortly after and returned about 7 o'clock. When he came in the hall door Blackburn was waiting for him. Riley went down the hall to the bar, and then to the bar-room. He went up and tapped Riley on the shoulder, and told him that he would have to get out; that he had had enough of his abuse that afternoon. He then opened the door, and both walked together over to the corner door.

Told Riley to Get Out.

Blackburn opened the door and Riley stepped out and turned. He did not see him draw a gun, but noticed that he kept his right hand covered by his left. Riley turned to the left, and immediately witness saw a flash and heard the report of a pistol. Blackburn tumbled back and cried, "Oh! He's got me, Dub!" referring to Wm. Burrows, the other bar-tender, who was then behind the bar. Blackburn sank down on the floor. A couple of men helped him up and walked him into the office, and Dr. Drake was sent for. Riley went out the door and disappeared immediately after the shooting. Wm. J. Burrows, the bar-tender who was on duty on the evening of the tragedy, followed Beattie on the stand. He came on duty that evening at 6:30, and he worked on until about 7:15 before he noticed Riley enter from the Clarence street entrance. He walked up and said, "Give me a small glass of beer." Without waiting for it to be drawn he walked to the south end of the bar. Here he said, "Give me a small beer, and give my friends some, and have something yourself."

At this juncture Blackburn entered and spoke to Burrows, after which he went out and entered through the hall door into the bar. He said to Riley, "You get out of here. If you don't I'll get you arrested. I've had enough trouble with you." He walked up and laid his hand on Riley's shoulder. "All right," and both walked to the door. Blackburn opened the door with his left hand and stepped back. Riley turned and drew from either his side or hip pocket a revolver, which he aimed at Blackburn. Riley stood facing one another at a distance of about two and a half feet apart. Then Burrows heard the report of the revolver, and saw the flash. Blackburn stepped back a few feet and sank to the floor, crying out, "Oh! Oh! He's got me, Dub." Riley disappeared. Burrows corroborated the evidence of the former witness as to what was done with Blackburn following the shooting.

This was all the evidence that was offered at the inquest. Crown Attorney McKillop explained to the jurors that all the evidence in the case would have to be taken by a magistrate, and if taken at this time a great mass of evidence would have to be gone over twice. He asked if the jury had enough evidence upon which to bring in a verdict, and the reply was in the affirmative. The court room was accordingly cleared, and a verdict was returned at the expiration of about twenty minutes.

FRUIT JAR BURST

Amherstburg Girl Put It In Hot Water To Open It.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Amherstburg, Ont., Oct. 7.—Miss Grace Hackett, daughter of Mr. Andrew Hackett, of the Bois Blanc Lighthouse, is in Grace Hospital, Detroit, as a result of an attempt to open a glass jar by placing it in hot water. When she found the cover of the jar so rusted that she could not remove it, she thrust it into boiling water. The jar burst, and pieces of glass were thrown into the girl's face. Both eyes were cut.

NO LIVES LOST IN STORM WHICH DEVASTATED NOME

Over Five Hundred Buildings Gone and Loss Is About $1,500,000.

HELP BADLY NEEDED

Winter Is at Hand and Supplies Are Short in Alaska.

[Canadian Press.] Nome, Alaska, Oct. 7.—Fire has broken out in the storm-stricken city of Nome, and the flames have attacked the Pacific Cold Storage plant, where is stored the chief supply of meat for the winter. The fire apparatus was destroyed in the gale.

Front street became a seething mass of wreckage, into which seas broke, while hundreds of homeless persons struggled to save the necessities of life.

Heavy seas carried away the contents of wrecked houses and stores, as well as parts of wrecked structures. None of the buildings on the sandspit were destroyed.

This portion of the community was cut off by the turbulent waters.

Nome, Alaska, Oct. 6.—Nome has been almost destroyed by a storm. The south side of Front street is gone. The sandspit is gone. Two miles of territory next to the sea was devastated. No lives were lost.

The storm that last night began beating in from Behring Sea was the worst ever known here. Men and women worked all night in the sea water to save their household effects. The electric light plant was wrecked, and the telephone service cut off. The loss is estimated at a million and a half dollars.

Much Suffering. There will be much suffering, and outside help will be required. Winter is at hand, and it will be impossible to get in supplies needed. The steamships Victoria and Corwin, which were lying in the roadstead, ran to the open sea and escaped damage. All the small boats on the beach were destroyed. Five hundred houses have been demolished, and more are falling.

Built on Sand. Nome, the famous gold camp on Behring Sea, the most northerly city in the world, was built on a sandy sea beach. The principal part of the town is on the east side of Snake River, with a finger extending to the west along a narrow sandspit. This sandspit was rich in gold dust, and the earlier settlers built their cabins there.

Of late years the sands have been worked out, and little except dredging operations, which require large capital, is being done. Nome has produced more than $25,000,000 in gold dust. The summer population of Nome is about 4,000, and in winter 2,000 remain, the others coming out on steamships that leave late in October. One steamship is yet to leave Seattle for Nome.

It will be possible to send revenue cutters to Nome to deliver supplies and take away needy persons who wish to leave.

WILL PREVENT POWER CO. COMING INTO CANADA

Edison Company Can't String Wires on Provincial Territory.

[Canadian Press.] Toronto, Oct. 6.—No injunction has been granted against the Edison Electric Company, of Detroit, to restrain them from coming into Ontario, said Hon. J. F. J. Foy. "If any effort is made to cross the Detroit River with wires, the company is anticipated the company wishes to cross over into Essex, steps will be taken to stop them and to conserve the rights of Ontario."

This statement was made by the Attorney-General today, and makes it clear that no matter what the Dominion Government may do respecting privileges for the Edison Company, of Michigan, to carry their cables over to Essex, the Ontario Government will not permit these cables to be carried over the water lots, which the recognized property of the Province.

AMUSEMENTS

New York Infatuated With It. At last the Rogers will have an opportunity to see "Peg o' My Heart," which comes here on Thursday, and which has been the rage in New York for over a year. It is said that for a time the Rogers will have played to absolute capacity at every performance. J. Hartley Manners, who is the author of "Zira," "The House Next Door," "The Honeycomb," "The Indiscretion of Youth," and other successes, wrote "Peg o' My Heart." The stage settings are elaborate. Seats on sale.

Great Comedy Success. "Brewster's Millions," which comes to the Grand Friday and Saturday evenings and Saturday matinee, at popular prices, is the result of a unique and original idea. Most people find it a task to accumulate a million dollars in a year—strange as it may seem in these days of endless-chain fortunes—but "Monty" Brewster has found a way to do it. He has accumulated a million dollars in twelve months. On this idea the play was founded. It is carried through four acts with increasing action and amusing situations, the great climax coming in the third scene with the great yacht scene. Seat sale opens tomorrow at 9 a.m.

The World's Most Versatile Actor. America now knows England's foremost actors pretty well, for with the exception of Cyril Maude, London's leading comedian, almost every actor of the first importance has made one or more extended tours of this country prior to this season. This year Mr. Maude, too, is coming over, bringing with him a repertoire that will enable his auditors to summarize his career. He will give performances of various roles created by him with great success at all periods of his career. The fact that he is now ten years older than he was when he created some of these parts will make no material difference in his playing of them, for Maude, the father of a grown-up and charming daughter, can play young men with the same art with which he depicts the graybeard.

During Mr. Maude's tour he will be seen in at least half a dozen of these old parts, each strongly contrasted to the others. In addition he will show America two new plays prior to their production in London. One of these is "Grumpy," a new kind of a detective play, by the authors of "Sunday," and the other a new version of Goldsmith's "The Vicar of Wakefield," prepared by Louis N. Parker, who wrote "Joseph and His Brothers" in "The Vicar" Mr. Maude will play Mr. Primrose and his daughter will be the Olivia.

Mr. Maude's repertoire for his engagement at the Grand Opera House on Monday night, Oct. 13, is "The Second in Command," and Tuesday night, Oct. 14, "Tiddlers." Seat sale opens on Friday, Oct. 10, at 9 a.m. Mail orders accepted now.

Messrs. Ladbroke purchased two of these valuable little fur-bearers in the vicinity of Thamesford recently for $11,000.

FARMING MACHINERY IS UNAFFECTED BY TARIFF

President of Massey Harris Co. Discusses the Situation in West.

[Canadian Press.] Saskatoon, Sask., Oct. 3.—Sir Lyman Jones, president of the Massey-Harris Company, in an interview, expressed the opinion that the provisions of the Underwood tariff bill, permitting the entry of farm machinery free into the United States, would have practically no effect on Canadian manufacturers, and said the American companies were so firmly established they feared no competition.

Asked as to the effect if Canada were to place farm implements on the free list, he said the American plant of the Massey-Harris Company might do a little more business. Speaking in a general way, he said that the subject opened up the whole question of free trade and propounded the question whether people were prepared for direct taxation.

Money, he said, seemed scarce in the west, and more than one good crop was needed to liquidate the existing indebtedness of the farmers.

Sir Lyman left last night on a shooting expedition after a seven-hour stay over, and will later proceed to Edmonton.

THE RED LION

A MYSTERY STORY OF NEW YORK

By WILL IRWIN

Copyright, The Bobbs-Merrill Company.

"Why, they were quarrelling when I went," she cried. Then she stopped, as though fearful of her own words. The words turned on her. In a tumble of words and emotions, she told what she knew. Mr. Wade's late call, the high words, the fact that none had heard a sound from Captain Hanks's room after Wade left the house—that was enough for the coroner and the detectives. They packed Tommy North—sober, pale, but how thoroughly collected—into the patrol wagon, sent the car and crier to the Curfew Club after Mr. Wade, put the house under guard, and called their day's work done.

And the rest of the Moore establishment, having first received a dreadful warning concerning the fate of absconding witnesses, finished that uneasy night under the ministrations of Rosalie Le Grange at 442.

CHAPTER II.
The Chief.
Inspector McGee, the middle-aged, solid executive of the New York detectives, sat in his business office running over the reports on the Hanks murder, now less than a calendar day old, but already the subject of those innumerable extras which the newspapers were shouting under his windows. Nothing in the formal documents before him served to give him any new light. Thomas North, advertising agent, at present locked up to await examination, had announced discovery of the murder. When he made the announcement he was spotted and daubed with blood. Captain Hanks had then been dead at least an hour. For the period in which Hanks must have died, North proved a perfect alibi—unless the landlady, or North's companions at the annual dinner of the Careklers, had lied to the detectives. Lawrence Wade—that looked like the man. Wade was missing from the Curfew Club when the police arrived; however, through the good memories of a taxi driver and a ticket seller, he had been traced to Boston, and there arrested in the very act of engaging European passage.

Wade had visited Hanks at about the time of the murder, as shown by the condition of the body. Wade admitted that fact. "I was there on business for a friend," he said. "I was to explain why he had made such a sudden trip out of town, he declined to answer. He knew his legal rights—he was a lawyer, it appeared—and he would give no further explanation. Lawrence Wade it must be—unless this proved an 'inside job.' The windows of Captain Hanks's room were both fastened when North discovered the murder, but his outer door, leading into the hall, was unlocked. There were no signs of any entrance by the front door or the basement door. By night, Wade and North must go on the carpet for a little touch of the Third Degree. McGee was a firm believer in that same Third Degree. Loco tactics he distrusted, with the distrust of a narrow man for the other man's weapons.

But the formal documents in the Hanks case interested Inspector McGee less, a great deal less, than an informal verbal report made that morning by the sergeant in command of the reserves. We didn't know nothing about her, Chief," he said, "except that she had an order from you telling us to keep our hooks off her. Forget the name—something French, with a 'de' behind it. It was all right, wasn't it?"

Inspector McGee understood at once, and the information brought a little thrill. He had given only two papers in his career, and the other was held by a man. So Rosalie Le Grange had bobbed up again. Rosalie Le Grange, France, French, and clairvoyant medium, follower of a small half criminal trade, but friend of society against larger criminals. How curiously that woman had glided in and out of his life, and what luck she had brought! His first success, for example—the solution of the Heywood murder, which had raised him from plain detective to detective sergeant. None but him and her knew how Rosalie Le Grange had cleared up that important case by her knowledge and shrewdness, and had slipped out of it in the dramatic moment, leaving to him the credit. Then the Martin case, which had helped make him a captain—the McGee diamond case—half a dozen smaller cases, successes and all redounding greatly to his reputation. For three years now she had been completely out of his world. Once a vague rumor that she was very prosperous had set him wondering with a little regret whether she had fallen to tricking big dupes. In old years she always affected to despise that process.

Here she was again, mysterious and dramatic still, at the very focus of another big case. The heavy lips of Martin McGee relaxed in a smile of unaccustomed sweetness as he thought on her, and less on her talents and her beneficent influence over his career, than on her look and move and joy in life. He recalled her as she stepped into his career, ten years ago, plump but shapely, dimpled, brown-haired, marvellous in the compelling expression of her gray eyes. He recalled the Rosalie of three years ago—still shapely, but now touched with age and powdered with gray. From among the half-forgotten memories of a busy and rather brutal life, she stirred into full vision. Inspector McGee was forty-eight years old, and that period is the Indian summer of romance. He found himself looking forward to their next meeting.

And as he bent over his desk in unaccustomed meditation, the hour of that meeting was come. The doorman brought a card—"Mrs. Rosalie Le Grange"—and behind him she appeared.

Any woman who had known the Rosalie Le Grange of Inspector McGee's recollections would have nearly leaped into her at first glance. Then, her shrewdness, always immaculately neat, were of cheap lawn; now her modest waist was chiffon and Chrys hung over a figured silk. Her suit had that perfect tailored simplicity which only genius achieves. Her hat was unobtrusively elegant, and that feminine eye would have seen that Verre made it, and Verre comes high. These signs of wealth escaped Martin McGee. The proof to him was more tangible—the diamond pendant at her throat, the rings on her fingers. He noted these little breaches of propriety before he perceived how much younger she appeared.

In face and figure than when he saw her last. Being there male man, he could not understand that this false youth was born and bred of the modiste, the milliner and the masseuse.

"Well, well!" exclaimed Martin McGee, rising as though to some great personage, "back again! Say, you just couldn't get out of big doings, could you? And how pretty you look—prettier and prettier all the time! What hauled you into the Hanks case?"

"I wasn't in the Hanks case at all," responded Rosalie Le Grange, answering his second question first. "At least, not deep. Martin McGee, she flashed upon him her dimples, snapped at him her great gray eyes. "When a person is coming home late from a supper with an actress friend and sees a door open and hears people talking on the inside with remarks about murder and police, she investigates. While I don't know what she finds a lot of human beings running around like their heads were cut off, she helps straighten things out. I was never right up close to a murder before."

She paused a minute, her dimples faded and the lines of her face fell. "Ugh!" she shuddered with the memory. "That," said Martin McGee, "is what I'd call a coincidence."

"Coincidence!" repeated Rosalie Le Grange. "Now you look here, Inspector McGee, there ain't any such thing as a coincidence—any more than there's such a thing as luck. No, Martin McGee. Nearly everybody that's lived long enough in New York has had a murder or a burglary or something in the neighborhood. It was bound to happen to me in time. It happened; and instead of minding my own business like the rest, I butted right in. When the coroner for a day got too tangled up for you and me to follow, we stuck a label on it and called it luck. But there, she checked herself. "This is just one of my platform inspirational talks like I used to give the sisters in my test sessions. Only then I laid it to the spirits. Now I lay it to Rosalie Le Grange."

EXPERTS WHO PROVE A DEFICIT.

The advocates of electrification try to obscure the financial details of the scheme by a cloud of phrases about "monopoly" and "private interests." They have refused to analyze and compare the experts' reports because these are fatal to the project.

Take the Warfield estimate of the cost of construction, $706,000, which is $6,000 more than the bylaw provides for. Add to this the Warfield figure of $765,000, representing the outlay on the road in its present condition. Here is a total of $1,471,000, which, at 5 per cent interest, entails an annual fixed charge of $73,550.

But depreciation must be taken into account. All the new construction—electric locomotives, cars, wires, substations and other equipment—would be of a depreciable nature. For this purpose $35,300 yearly must be charged, being 5 per cent—a very modest rate for depreciation—upon $706,000. In addition, a certain portion of the present property—such as stations, culverts and bridges—is also depreciable. Valuing this kind of property at $165,000, another depreciation item of $8,250 yearly must be allowed for. Here are total depreciation charges of $43,550 to be added to interest charges of $73,550, making total fixed charges of $117,100.

The electrificationists have been asked to show wherein these calculations of fixed charges are excessive.

The annual operating expenses are estimated at $111,000 by Mr. Warfield, and nearly $135,000 by Mr. Eastman. The difference is accounted for largely by the inclusion of $15,000 for car rentals in Mr. Eastman's report. This is a necessary charge, which Mr. Warfield admits that he overlooked. Yet if Mr. Warfield's estimate of freight earnings were correct, nearly $40,000 would be required for car rentals.

Take the Warfield operating expenses, $111,000, add $15,000 for car rentals, and $117,500 for fixed charges, and the total annual outlay would be $243,500. Yet the Warfield estimate of annual receipts is $223,000; the Eastman estimate $210,000, and the Marshall estimate only $205,000. This would leave a deficit in every case.

If there is anything amiss with this figuring we should like to have it pointed out.

SWINGING AROUND.

Only two years have elapsed since the last election campaign. The people have not yet had time to forget the arguments against the trade agreement. Were we not told that traffic north and south would ruin our east and west railroads; that it would be a blow to business in Canada; that it would imperil British connection? Not least, was not our pride appealed to against allowing our tariff to be fixed at Washington?

It is a very short time in which to change tactics, and reverse policies. But already our Conservative friends are swinging around. The new United States tariff, while it admits most natural products free, retains a duty on wheat, with a provision, however, that the duty may be taken off whenever other countries take off theirs.

Of course, under the two-year-old Conservative policy, Canada should not take off the duty we now impose on wheat; on the contrary, the proper thing to do would be to raise it, and thus prevent any facilities for north and west traffic, which would endanger our imperial relations. And yet here are three Conservative papers actually advising the Government to remove the duty on wheat, and thus allow free trade in wheat and flour between the two countries. The Ottawa Citizen is out with a strong anti-food tax article that covers more than grain. The Toronto World in urging duty-free wheat, contends that such a course would make the C. P. R. bring down its rates—a very poor reason, because the Railway Commission controls rates, and can keep them as low as it likes. Then the Toronto News, while not quite so outspoken, still gives clear indications of following the World. Other Conservative papers are not saying anything yet. Two years ago they would have been loud in their denunciations of the World's proposal. The arguments against a free exchange of food stuffs are just as strong today as they were two years ago; only their real weakness is more apparent. The fact is, it only needed a little time to show up the inconsistency of the Conservative campaign.

Our trade with the United States was an injury to us two years ago. But it has gone on increasing without damage to our pockets, or our loyalty, and now some of the leading Conservative papers want to increase it still more. Reciprocity was opposed because it meant having our tariff fixed at Washington. We all know it did nothing of the kind. There was only a mutual agreement to take off certain duties which either party could reimpose whenever it saw fit. But now we are asked to take off certain duties because Washington requires us to do so under penalty of imposing duties on our exports. And the cry that our duties will thus be regulated by the action of the United States Government is not heard any more.

We agree with these late converts to lower tariff rates, because that is the Liberal policy. And it is the right policy. Taxation on what people eat is the worst kind of taxation. There is the tax that presses on the poor man, while it is hardly felt by the wealthier neighbor. Take off the duty on wheat by all means. It would have been done two years ago if the Liberals had remained in power. But do not stop at that. Years ago we followed the example of the people of the United States in putting heavy indirect taxes upon the people. Our neighbors have seen the folly of their past action, and are trying to lighten their burdens. We followed their bad example; it is time to follow them when their example is good.

MEMORIALS OF HISTORY.

The meeting of the Ontario Historical Association at Chatham has had the effect of stimulating the movement for the erection of some memorial in honor of the renowned and loyal Indian chief, Tecumseh, who lost his life at the battle of Moraviantown in defence of the British flag. The matter has been taken up by some of the leading citizens of Chatham, and we may expect that it will be pushed to a satisfactory conclusion. At present there is some controversy as to the shape the memorial shall take, whether it shall be a monument or a building to serve as an historical museum. This, of course, is something to be decided by the people who will advance the money for the work.

In matters of this kind, however, we must confess our preference for a memorial building. Where the subject to be honored is purely personal, there is much to be said for a simple monument. But where it takes on largely an historical character, a building is not only appropriate, but particularly useful. The Chatham News suggests that a building should be erected, to serve as an historical museum, in which could be preserved documents and relics, not only of Tecumseh, but of the war of 1812, and of the early history of Kent County.

The suggestion seems reasonable. We are beginning, though rather late, to interest ourselves in the memorials of the past. Local historical societies are trying to gather up the records, both public and private, of the early days of Canada. The life work of our pioneers was not only valuable to us from a material point of view. Its record is equally valuable as an evidence of what energy and self-devotion can accomplish. Its history is as interesting as any romance. Public documents tell but half the story. Private letters, diaries, deeds, and papers of all kinds; old implements of agriculture and household utensils, are necessary to complete the picture.

Our historical societies, in their endeavor to secure these old records and relics, are hampered by the lack of accommodation for storing and exhibiting them. That is the case with our own society. Some of its material is stored in the public library; more of it is in the possession of the officers. It is doubtless safe enough for the present. But it is of no value to the public, as it is not accessible. In Kent County, we presume, the same condition exists. The members of the local society have no place for any memorials of the past they may collect. For this reason, a building, which could be of such an architectural design as to serve all the purposes of a monument, could also be made of use as a museum.

We have suggested this same course for London on more than one occasion. The oldest building in the city—the first court house and school house—is occupied by the waterworks commission as a workshop. It is on ground belonging to the county, and the county council has warned the commissioners to take it away. The probabilities are that in a short time it will be pulled down and destroyed. There does not seem to be enough local pride and patriotism in London to preserve this interesting memorial of the first days of the city, and utilize it as an historical museum, and a memorial of the work of the men who made London and Middlesex.

In this connection, we note an interesting incident reported from the city of Minneapolis. It is not as old as London, though very much larger. The first house erected on the site of that city was to be destroyed by its owner. The city purchased it, and found a place for it in one of the parks. It was placed on rollers; long ropes were attached, and the school children drew it to its new location. Has no one in London sufficient enterprise to follow this example? The building is too large for our school children to move it. But money and energy will accomplish the purpose.

What a pity the Chateaugay River doesn't flow through East Middlesex!

The weather is highly favorable to the Government candidate in Chateaugay. Work on the dam goes on bravely.

A stampede of Canadian cattle to the duty-free American market has set in. Are we powerless to prevent this sordid and seditious process?

In spite of Ottawa disclaimers, it is probable the Government will place wheat on the free list. A little thing like consistency never stood in its way.

The householder whose cellar is periodically flooded for want of storm sewers will not be found voting to spend $700,000 upon a luxury like electrification.

There would be practically no business for the London and Port Stanley Railway divorced from steam road connections, between the closing and opening of navigation.

Taxpayers are asked to add $1,125,000 to the city's debt at one stroke. We opine that they will consider $425,000 for sewers and breakwaters enough for one day, and will let the $700,000 bylaw slide.

The steamer City of Ottawa (Capt. McKay) arrived at Port Stanley yesterday, having on board 170 tons of freight for London importers.—"London Free Press."

Is it possible this could happen without electrification?

Where is the Hon. Clifford Sifton in this crisis? He went through Ontario two years ago predicting that fearful calamities would follow the free export of Canadian grain to the United States. Isn't another trumpet call of alarm due from this patriot?

A THOUGHTLESS SPOUSE.

[Boston Transcript.]
 Mrs. Newlwynd—I wonder why we are growing tired of each other.
 Newlwynd—I haven't an idea.
 Mrs. Newlwynd—Yes; maybe that is the reason.

NOT GIVEN IT UP YET.

[Chicago Record-Herald.]
 George Bernard Shaw makes the announcement that Christianity has been a failure. There are indications, however, that a large number of good people are disposed to give it another trial.

TIRED OF LIFE.

[Montreal Herald.]
 A Chicago girl committed suicide after trying to live on a weekly salary of $3. Food experts in your tea, 29-cent dinners contained all the elements necessary to support life. Yet human nature is such a foolish thing. Sometimes it craves more than the mere elements necessary to keep body and soul together.

OVER THE TEACUPS.

[Chicago Record-Herald.]
 An open fire, blue tea things on the table and a tea-kettle singing a little song of comfort are the proper stage settings for this little anecdote.
 An Irish hostess, when she asks if you'll have sugar in your "tay" holds out the bowl and absent-mindedly goes on with her conversation, or stirs the fire, allowing you to help yourself.
 An English hostess asks, "One lump or two?" and carefully drops the sugar into your tea.

If you should ask a Scotch hostess for a little more sugar in your tea, she would demand with a note of surprise: "And hae ye stirred it yet?"

THE TACTLESS ONE.

[Chicago Record-Herald.]
 "I will confess to you," she said, "that I am older than I look. I will be 31 my next birthday."
 "Really?" he replied. "Hardly anyone would guess that you were more than about 29."
 "That's the last time," she said when he had departed, "that I'll ever try to be nice to a brute."

SPINELESS.

[The Christian Register, Boston.]
 "Yes," said Mrs. Twickenbury, "you seldom see Mr. Twickenbury without a cigar in his mouth. He's a most inveterate smoker."

COMPETING CONSUMERS.

[Washington Star.]
 "You used to say 'competition is the life of trade.'"
 "So it is," replied Mr. Cumrox, "only instead of competing to sell things, the idea now is to corner 'em up and get people competing for a chance to buy."

WILL BE TAME.

[Washington Star.]
 "Do you think your wife will be happy when she gets the divorce?"
 "I'm afraid she won't," replied Mr. Meekton. "Merely going to the polls and casting a ballot will seem pretty tame compared to organizing these great suffrage demonstrations."

AN EXPERT IN HANDWRITING.

[Popular Magazine.]
 Mother was fair, but she wishes to be fairer still. Adorned by nature, she sought further beautification. Loveliness was her great goal.
 Invited out for dinner she stood before the mirror, and having made her yellow locks a trifle yellower, she proceeded to apply the pencil to her eyebrows. This, it may be remarked, is an age of artificiality, and mother had reached this age.
 The little daughter stood by and wondered.
 Finally she asked:
 "Mother, what are you writing on your face for?"

OUR DIVORCE LAWS.

[Simcoe Reformer.]
 Legal Canadian divorces are only for the rich. For those who are not rich it means adultery, bigamy or the subterfuge of a United States decree, which, if brought into a Canadian court, would, in nine cases out of ten, be found of less value than the paper upon which it is written.

FROM AN OUTSIDE VIEWPOINT.

[Buffalo Courier.]
 The other day certain labor leaders called up Sir James Whitney, premier of Ontario, with reference to legislation they favor. "The sensible way," said Sir James, "is to let the Government interpret what is best for the people and what the people want." That is the specimen of old-fashioned Conservative paternalism.

LOOKING CONSCRIPTION-WARD.

[Toronto Star.]
 The proposal that a muster roll be made of all Canadians liable for militia services in case the country were invaded has no merit in it except in the sight of those who see in it a comparatively innocent-looking first step towards conscription and enforced military service.

OVER 3,000 BIRDS FOR POULTRY SHOW ON THE HOLIDAY

Thanksgiving Day Exhibition Will Be Finest in City's History.

HELPED BY MERCHANTS

Event That London Is Still the Poultry Hub of Canada.

Arrangements are now complete for London's great quality poultry and pet stock show on Thanksgiving Day. The London breeders have been hard at work for some time, and they have been greatly encouraged by the splendid manner in which London's businessmen have co-operated by subscribing to the prize list, which far surpasses anything ever before offered in Canada. The business people of London evidently appreciate the publicity given the city by the fanciers. Londoners have exported chickens to almost every country on the globe, and are certainly doing their share in keeping the city on the map. Mr. F. C. Dulmage, the energetic secretary, is receiving large entries from all parts of Canada, and it is expected that over 3,000 birds will be on exhibition at this great show. London is still the poultry hub of Canada.

TAKE NO PRISONERS IS ORDER NOW TO FEDERALS

Troops Are Acting With Far More Inhumanity Than Rebels.

[Canadian Press.]

Vera Cruz, Oct. 7.—A report on affairs at the capital brought by Nelson O'Shaughnessy, charge d'affaires at the United States embassy in Mexico City, was laid before John Lind, the personal representative of President Wilson, in an overnight conference. It was said that he brought no roseate but reported assurances from the National Palace that fair elections would be held and early pacification of the country accomplished.

A number of mining men who arrived here today from the State of Durango assert that the federal troops there have been acting with far more inhumanity than the rebels. They say that in pursuance of their instructions the federal soldiers kill all wounded rebels, and that one man was dragged from a hospital immediately after one of his legs had been amputated and was placed before a firing squad and executed. In the coast country to the south of Vera Cruz the federal soldiers have been ordered not to take any prisoners. It is reported that this order is to be extended to the State of Puebla. A force of rebels who lately attacked the town and camp were repulsed and are said to have received fresh supplies of ammunition. From other portions of the same state minor uprisings are reported.

Chamberlin Stays G. T. R. President

[Canadian Press.]

Sir Gilbert Parker was honored at McGill University.

[Canadian Press.]
 Montreal, Oct. 7.—Sir Gilbert Parker, the noted Canadian novelist, and Mr. F. E. Benson, the actor-manager of the Stratford-Upon-Avon players, were given the degree of LL.D. by McGill University here today.
 Mr. Benson is the first actor to receive such a degree on this continent. Dr. Peterson, principal of McGill University, mentioned this fact and also Benson had placed lovers of Shakespeare under his production of 34 out of 36 of the plays accredited to Shakespeare.

Girl's Nerves Fully Restored

WAS NEVER ABLE TO OBTAIN LASTING BENEFIT UNTIL DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD WAS USED.

Too many girls grow up with weak, anemic bodies and exhausted nervous systems. Indoor life and too much application in school are sometimes the cause.
 The blood needs enriching and the nerves need strengthening by such treatment as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. This food cure is doing wonders for many thousands of girls whose parents had almost despaired of their ever developing into strong, healthy women.

Mrs. J. Bagnall, 395 Woodville avenue, Toronto, writes: "My daughter suffered from nervousness since childhood, and no medicines she tried did not do any lasting good. We read in the papers about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and my daughter used it with wonderful results. This treatment has built up her system, and she is now strong and healthy. She feels like another girl."

GENERAL LI YUEN HENG IS NEW VICE-PRESIDENT

Comparatively Young Man But Has Had a Long and Great Experience.

[Canadian Press.]

Peking, China, Oct. 7.—General Li Yuen Heng, provincial vice-president of the Chinese Republic, was today elected vice-president for a term of five years by the united houses of the Chinese Parliament, receiving 610 votes out of the 719 cast by the representatives and senators present.

General Li Yuen Heng is a comparatively young man, having been born 49 years ago in the Province of Hu-Peh. His military studies have been very thorough. He was, however, at first a soldier, and passed through a course of six years at the Pen Yang Naval College, after which he served on board a cruiser during the Chinese-Japanese war. He then went in for land service and assisted in the organization of the modern Chinese army. He took a long leave of absence to study fortification in Japan and subsequently served in several branches of the army.

During the revolution against the Manchus, General Li Yuen Heng for a long time believed it would prove unsuccessful and refused to join in the active operations against the imperial government, but when he did throw in his lot with the revolutionists he became their most able leader.

After a long period of severe fighting, in which the rebel forces were victorious, General Li Yuen Heng devoted his energies to bringing about the Shanghai peace conference between the imperialists and the revolutionaries.

Mrs. Joseph Lyon Died at Lonsborough

[Special to The Advertiser.]
 Lonsborough, Oct. 7.—The funeral of Mrs. Joseph Lyon took place from the family residence on concession 13, on Monday afternoon. Deceased had been ailing for some months, but during the last two weeks was confined to her bed.

She was 85 years old, and was born at Lincolnshire, England, and came to Canada with her husband about 60 years ago, settling near Guilford, where they lived about five years before moving to Lonsborough, where they have since resided.

She was a Methodist in religion. Besides her husband she leaves four sons and two daughters, Harry, Thomas and Will, of Lonsborough, and Benjamin, of Brandon, Man.; Mrs. Thomas Sampson, of Lonsborough, and Miss Esther, at home.
 The funeral was largely attended. The pallbearers were H. Lyon, T. Lyon, W. Lyon, T. Sampson, J. Spindler and W. H. Lyon. Those present from a distance were: Mr. John Hiles, of Kincardine; Mrs. Geo. Davidson, of Woodstock; Mrs. Hogan, of Rockwood; Mr. and Mrs. E. Campbell and Mrs. N. Campbell, of Westfield; Mr. H. Reynolds, of Aurora; Mr. and Mrs. John Mead and Miss F. Garrett, of Clinton; Rev. Dr. Medd, of Essex; Rev. J. H. Osterhout, assisted by Rev. Dr. Mead, conducted the services.

TEN WITNESSES CALLED

Preliminary Hearing of Riley Is To Be Held Thursday.

Thomas Riley, held on a charge of murdering George Blackburn last Friday night, will appear before Police Magistrate Judd for his preliminary hearing next Thursday morning.

A registration court of appeals is scheduled to be held by the magistrate on that morning at 11 o'clock. Asked this morning as to how he would hear both cases, the magistrate replied that he would adjourn the Riley hearing at 11 o'clock until after he finished the appeal court, and would then resume it.

Ten witnesses have been summoned to give evidence at the preliminary Executive of Men's Federation Furthers Plans For Its Campaign.

A meeting of the executive of the Men's Federation of London, held in their rooms on Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock, was addressed by Dr. W. A. Riddell, of New York. A comprehensive outline of the work and also that of the several committees was given and a general discussion entered upon.
 Questions of religious survey were brought up for discussion and it was decided by the members of the executive to recommend to the meeting to be held tonight in the First Presbyterian Church that if possible the services of Dr. Meyers, of the committee on religious education of the Presbyterian Church be secured for the survey of religious conditions in the city at the same time as the general survey under Dr. Riddell.

Rev. D. C. McGregor, of the Presbyterian board of social service and evangelism, was present at the meeting and spoke of the social service work. "As far as I can see," he said, "London is more advanced than any other city in Canada in organization for this work, and the cities throughout the country are observing the work in London with a view of organizing along similar lines if the movement in this city is successful."

During the progress of the meeting a resolution of thanks was passed to the London Life for the use of the office they have supplied for the federation's use. A resolution of thanks to St. James' Men's League was put before the committee.

The Interdenominational Union of the Young People's Societies of London are in favor of co-operating with the federation, and have forwarded a resolution to this effect to Secretary Lyons. It was decided to accept the co-operation of the young people and the federation is devising plans for the inauguration of that organization in the work.

The resignation of Mr. G. N. Hazen, chairman of the educational committee of the federation, was accepted, and Rev. W. J. Knox appointed to the office. Mr. Hazen to remain a member of the committee.
 The work of the several committees was classified and are as follows: Executive committee—General oversight of the federation, Sum-commit-

PROBLEMS OF THE FAIR SEX SOLVED BY CYNTHIA GREY

[Correspondents are requested to make their inquiries as brief as possible, and to write on one side of the paper only. It is impossible to give replies within a stated time, as all letters have to be answered in turn. No letters can be answered privately.]

Gypsy's Questions.

Dear Miss Grey: Since your answers to others have been so helpful to me,
I venture to ask queries of my own.
1. Supposing a lady did not want any silver at a silver anniversary, would it be quite correct to write "no silver" on the invitations?
2. Is it necessary to have a ceremony on such an occasion?
3. Should the bride wear white?
4. What would you suggest for the supper?
5. Should the members of the family sit at the same table as the bride and groom?
6. Is it necessary for an engaged girl to wear a diamond solitaire from the young man even when he can afford it?
7. I am twenty-two years old, and people tell me I should get married before I am too old. Don't you think I have lots of time, especially when the idea does not strike me favorably as yet.

8. I am five feet two inches in height, weight 115 pounds. Am I out of proportion?
9. Should an engaged girl correspond with other young men?
10. What is the family name of the royal family?
11. Please, what do you think of my writing?
Thanking you in advance, and hoping I have not worn out my welcome, GYPSY.

A.—1. Yes, have the words "no silver" or "no gifts" appear at the lower left-hand corner of the invitations.

2. No.
3. Many women keep their wedding gown and wear it on such occasions.
Otherwise, it is better, perhaps, for the "bride" to wear a colored gown, say gray, or tan, but it will be perfectly correct, if she prefers it.

4. Oyster soup, cold turkey, escalloped potatoes, salad made from celery and walnuts chopped, mixed with dressing and filled into scooped-out tomatoes, olives and pickles, ice cream with sliced peaches, cake, coffee, grapes and apples.

5. Not necessarily. The "bride" and groom, together with the clergyman who married them, and if possible, the attendants should sit at the table of honor. If these latter are not present at the anniversary, any special guests might sit with the "bride and groom."
The family could sit at the next table.
6. It is customary—not necessary.
She need not wear it if she prefers not, but most girls are quite proud of displaying a diamond.
7. Yes, I think you could afford to wait two or three years—but how about your betrothed—is he willing to wait so long?
8. No.
9. No.
10. Ginipph.
11. It is very neat and very easy to read.

Wedding Gift Hints.

Dear Miss Grey: I have a few questions which I should like to ask you, and hope you will "in the goodness" of your heart, find time to answer them.

1. Is it considered necessary that a young gentleman who is to act as a best man for a friend (not a very great friend) should give the young couple to be married, a present, and if so, could you suggest something suitable?
2. What is meant when one receives a calling card turned down at one corner?
3. And may I dare ask your opinion of my penmanship?

Yours waiting in anticipation,

LULU.

A.—1. Yes, by all means. Suitable gifts would be a clock, pearl-handled fruit knives, or other cutlery in silver, large fancy tray (one of those with a design under glass), readinglamp, articles of cut-glass, or a picture, nicely framed.

2. At one time the folding of the end of a card was meant to show that the visitor called in person, and that the card was intended for all members of the family. It is seldom used now.
3. You may dare. I find your handwriting very attractive.

Is a Constant Reader.

Dear Miss Grey: I am a constant reader of your helpful column, and I wish you to help me for my first time. Thanking you in advance,
1. Do you think a girl of sixteen too young to go with a fellow?
2. I kept company with a young gentleman for about a month, but one time he didn't keep his engagement with me. Sometimes he raises his hat, and another time he doesn't let on he sees me. What do you think of him?

3. What are the latest styles for fall hats, and also colors?
4. I have not troubled you too much, I remain, BLUE EYES.

A.—1. Generally speaking, yes, of course, it is natural that you should prefer some of your boy friends more than others, but I am sure your mother may rather keep her girl a "little girl" for another year or two.
Plenty of time then to think of a beau.

2. It looks to me as if he was not very anxious to see you. Do not bother yourself about him any more.

3. Taupe, navy, brown and black, are all popular shades. Many of the hats are small and round.

The Little Minister.

Dear Miss Grey: I would be very happy if you would answer the following questions:

1. Do you think the story about "The Little Minister" is true? If so, were the names given to the characters their real names. How many years ago did it happen?

2. Is the "Auld Licht Manse still in Thurms?"
I sincerely hope I have not tried your patience, I remain, BABEIE.

A.—1. No, but many of the characters found in the book, as well as in "Auld Licht Idylls" and "The Window in Thurms" portrayed people living in Barrie's native village, Kirriemuir, which is known to the reading public as "Thurms." From his mother, about whom he wrote a book, "Margaret Ogilvy," Barrie is indebted for many quaint reminiscences, and his wonderful insight into the lives of the village folk.

2. There is a building in Kirriemuir today which is pointed out as being the "Auld Manse," the scene of the "Little Minister."

MISCELLANEOUS.

Before putting certain hooks in curtains in damp weather, rub the inside with a clean, oily rag. It prevents from rusting and tearing the curtain, and they can be taken in and out more easily.

To thread a darned needle take a length of cotton, put the two ends to-

KATHERINE LESLIE'S HOME CHAT

THE TIME FOR BULB POTTING FOR HOUSE USE.

The woman who loves flowers makes regulate their bloom, so that when a point of having daffodils and narcissus of her own growing to make her rooms pretty and gay in the afternoon months, when all the world is white with snow out of doors. And there is nothing simpler than bulb growing for house use to the woman who really loves flowers. There is little to learn, and the florist or gardener who sells bulbs will give the buyer all the information she needs as to the care of her plants. Indeed he will pot them for her and send them home, and all she has to do with them is to put them in a cool darkish cellar for a few weeks till the tiny green shoots appear above the soil. The pots are then brought to a lighter room and gradually accustomed to the light and sun. They thrive on light and water according to their kind and need, and when February or March comes the flower lover's yellow single or double daffodils, or the exquisite yellow-trumpeted, white-petalled narcissus. It is really a fascinating and absorbing task to watch the growth of these sunny hairings of spring. By timely them the flower lover may

The Useful Laundry Bag

What to do with soiled linen is frequently a problem to housewives who live in modern apartments. Frequently there is no available space in which one can comfortably put a clothes hamper. Moreover, the clothes basket, which might be utilized in lieu of a hamper, has to be hung, perhaps, on a hook high up on the kitchen wall, since there is no available closet shelf on which to get it away.

When such conditions as these confront a woman, she can provide for herself and her family, laundry bags which can be hung inside the closets and prevent the latter being littered with the personal washing apparel, which is waiting to be sent to the laundry.

There are various ways of making a laundry bag and from the following descriptions one can choose the style most suited to her needs.

A bag that can be very conveniently attached to the inside of a closet door, is made by folding together a yard and three-quarters of any strong washed material, either of the eight-seven-inch or yard-wide goods, seaming the sides together and making a run at the top wide enough to hold a curtain rod by folding the top edges over together.

This bag must have a slit down the centre of the front about half way. The sides of this slit must be hemmed, and through it, the soiled clothes are put into the bag and taken out of it. The top is closed. The advantage of this bag is that it lies flat against the door of the closet, and even when quite full, does not bulge out and swing around,
and so get in one's way as a bag drawn up with a string is likely to do. The curtain rod can be removed when it is desired to launder the bag.

Made From Towels.
A very serviceable laundry bag suitable for holding personal laundry, can be made from two linen towels of uniform size, and a single oval-shaped wooden hoop. Lay the towels together and stitch across one end and about one-third of the way up on both sides.

Fold the loose end over, making flap on the outside. Stitch a hem where the fold comes, working the wooden hoop in as you go along. This makes a bag with a round opening into which clothes can be very easily slipped.
This bag requires a cord to be hung by.

If one should use two oval hoops, putting a side of each into the hem on the top of one towel, the bag would then hang flat at the top and the hoops can then be used as handles.

Still another style of laundry bag that can be hung flat against a closet door or wall surface consists of a deep, square bag, having a flap on the top which buttons over. Safety pin hooks, such as are used to hang heavy portieres to curtain rings, can be fastened to the top of this bag and these in turn may be swung from hooks or a curtain rod fastened permanently to the door or wall space. When the bag needs washing the safety pin hooks can easily be taken out.

All of the bags described are more serviceable and less cluttering than a plain bag, which is seamed up the sides and held together by a run at the top.

THE POET'S CORNER

QUIET WORK.

One lesson. Nature, let me learn of thee.
One lesson which in every mind is blown.
One lesson of two duties kept as one.
Though the loud world proclaim their enmity.

Of toil unsever'd from tranquility;
Of labor, that in lasting fruit outgrows Far wiser schemes accomplished in repose.

Too great for haste, too high for rivalry,
Yes, while on earth a thousand discords ring.

Man's senseless uproar mingling with his toil,
Still do thy quiet ministers move on.

Their glorious tasks in silence perfecting,
Still working, blinding still our vain turmoil.

Labors that shall not fail, when man is gone.
—Matthew Arnold.

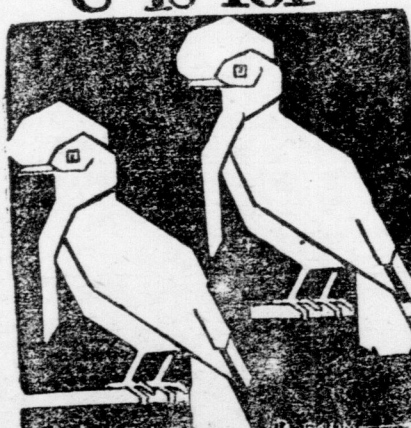

HINTS THAT HELP

TO WASH A SWITCH.

First comb the switch out very carefully, then draw a piece of string through the little loop at the head of the switch and tie it, leaving a large loop to hang up by. Have ready some lukewarm soda made from physicians' and surgeons' soap. This soap is excellent to wash hair, as it not only is a good cleanser, but it rinses out so much easier than most soaps. Hold the switch by both ends and lower it into the water, using both hands. Do not let go of the ends or they will spring up and tangle. Shake about twice with both hands in the water.
Then rinse in several lukewarm and cold waters, holding the switch in the same manner. Hang up to dry by the string loop and do not comb until dry.
Gasoline is also good to wash switches, but you must be careful not to do it near a fire.

Quaint, Black Umbrella Bird Gets Name From Queer, Feathery Hood

U is for Umbrella-bird

Have you ever heard of an umbrella bird?

Artist Barrie and I never had until we made its acquaintance in the big bird house at the Zoo.

First of all, I must tell you that it is BLACK. Its home is SOUTH AMERICA, and it is about the size of a CROW!

The first thing I noticed queer about it was the ornament on its head, a crest or covering which appeared to be something the shape of a parasol. This distinguishing feature of the umbrella bird is composed of straight, elevated feathers wide stiff, white shafts.

The next thing I noticed was that the bird's neck seemed quite naked! But as if to make up for this apparent shortage in covering, there was a cluster of long, drooping, glossy, black, metallic feathers below the breast.

The tail was long and slightly rounded!
This strange bird belongs to the group called the "chatterers."

My, oh my, you ought to hear it proudly call to its mate. It perks up its head and nods its fine crest as if it were a king.

Some day, when you go to the Zoo, ask the keeper to take you to the big cage where the chattering birds live.

Then tell him to please point out to you the umbrella bird!

Tea-Table Talk

A Long It takes about three Woofing. years to woo a maid among the Ekei people in Northern Nigeria, says a magazine writer. This is only in keeping with many other hardships to which the men of this race are subjected.

It seems that a man of the Ekei doesn't confer a very great favor upon the woman he selects to be his wife.
According to the native custom, he must serve her people for some considerable time—usually two or three years—before he can claim her. His work mostly consists in helping to clear the bush for the next season's farms, but other services may be required of him.

During this time he is expected to make presents to the relatives of his future wife, the value of which varies according to his means. A very usual list of gifts to father or mother or guardian consists of a demijohn of palm oil, a head of a goat, a piece of dried meat, two bottles of rum and two or more heads of tobacco.

The woman who is being wooed is often very exacting in the gifts demanded from her future husband.
Here is the usual dowry required: Five silk handkerchiefs, two pieces of cloth, one bead necklace, a tin plate, a spoon,
a looking-glass, a razor, a comb, a pair of scissors, a piece of black cloth, a piece of white cloth, five balls of string, an earthenware plate and a knife.

If the suitor does not make the gifts expected of him the parents refuse to provide the daughter with a good "fating house," a place where she can remain and fatten up for the marriage.

Girls who do not have a good fating house are looked down upon by their companions, and a man who marries a skinny maid is worse than disgraced.

After all these years of exactions the husband is not at all sure that his wife will keep her side of the bargain.
She may divorce him for little or no reason. One man, who had worked for his wife's people for four years, and stinted himself to make them the presents demanded, was divorced by his wife three weeks later because he was indiscreet enough to eat up all the pork in the house. It was also claimed that he had eaten up some fish she had prepared, but this he denied.

If a woman wishes to free herself without the consent of her husband she takes out the fire and pours water on the embers till they die out. She then washes her hair and covers herself with white paint. These simple ceremonies completed, she is free to marry whom she pleases. If both parties agree to the divorce, the proceeding is even simpler. The severing of the marriage bonds is indicated by the wife covering her hands with white chalk.

Divorced wives may marry again, but widows must not listen to the proposals of any man until the mourning for the departed is over.

Among these people—as in the case of down-trodden man—no "near enough to a husband" is a husband must support a mother-in-law if she is not a mother-in-law if she is not a mother-in-law if she is not a mother-in-law.

The chief wife is regarded as the head of the household. It is she who selects the home, and it is the duty of the husband to follow wherever his chief wife may lead.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTES

MAPLETON.

Mapleton, Oct. 6.—The regular meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the residence of Mrs. Lewis Mc-Kenney. The president, Mrs. James Moore, was in the chair. Exercises were given by Miss Peters, of Orton, and Miss O. Norton, of Orton, the latter being on "Sunday School Work." Musical numbers were rendered most acceptably by Mrs.
Frank Enelgrove and Miss Aleta Dance.

At the close the hostess served refreshments.

AYLMER.

The October meeting of the Women's Institute was held last week, Mrs. Griffin presiding. After some discussion it was decided to hold a rummage sale in the town hall, Aylmer, on the first Saturday in November.
Different committees were appointed to provide for the afternoon tea, and quilting to be held in Mrs. H.
Finch's home on Wednesday afternoon,
Oct. 8.

The Bayham Women's Institute were present to furnish the program, and after a short address of welcome by the president, Mrs. (Dr.) Riddell gave a very interesting paper on "Home Influences on the Young." Mrs. Laing also gave an excellent paper on "The Value of Cheerfulness." Both were Ford and Godwin was also much enjoyed. A vote of thanks was extended to the visiting branch for the splendid program, after which the Aylmer Institute served lunch. Several inquiries were added to the roll at this meeting.

ENTERTAINMENTS

A list of "Buried Musicians" may come out of a musical evening program, or a guessing contest at any entertainment. In the following sentences are concealed the names of famous composers, and anyone with a quick brain can readily add other sentences, containing the names of local musicians.

There were verd isles and tender blue of summer skies. (Verdi).
Maud Muller raked the bay; deny it

Needlework Notes

Monograms for Linens.

Very pretty monograms for marking household linen and underwear can be made in the following manner: Draw a circle two and one-half inches in diameter for napkins, guest towels and underwear, three and one-half inches for pillow cases, and four to five inches for sheets and tablecloths. Divide the circle into three parts and place one of the initials in each part, making the outlines of the letters conform as nearly as possible to that of the circle. Finally erase all lines except those forming the letters, and the result is a very pretty monogram which may be transferred to linen by means of inpression paper. Another circle drawn outside the one forming the letters gives a pretty, bold effect.

needs. It makes the thin suit dependable, and a narrow coat take infinite variety.

PETROLEA RUGBY TEAM WILL STRENGTHEN UP

Three Veterans Will Get Back Into the Game and Players Are Confident They Can Win Rest of the Games.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Petrolea, Oct. 7.—The Petrolea Rugby team is confident that it can beat Sarnia on the return game. Although beaten in the Tunnel Town on Saturday, a turn of fortune when McGowan dropped the ball behind his own goal, the Petrolea players are far from feeling downhearted over their defeat.

Three veterans, in Jack and Bob Webb and Ben Thomas, are going to get back into the game and turn out with the team. With the addition of these players and their knowledge of the game, the Petrolea team will be much stronger on its next appearance. Cullen, who was a little slow on Saturday, will with practice develop into just as good a man as McCarty, who was the star of the Sarnia team in Saturday's game.

Sam Stokes, the Petrolea boy, who is playing with Sarnia this year, saved the day for the Tunnel Town team several times in Saturday's game, but there is no feeling borne against him here.

Dublin Employers Refuse To Settle

[Canadian Press.]
Dublin, Ireland, Oct. 7.—The deadlock between the employers and the striking transport workers here is complete, and there seems to be no prospect of an immediate settlement of the dispute.

George Askwith, the official "strike breaker" and his fellow commissioners of the board of trade, submitted to both sides proposals to form the basis of direct negotiations between the disputants.

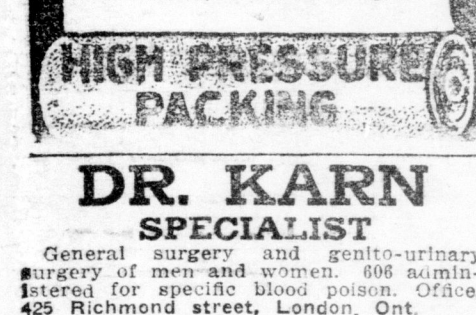

The proposals are accepted by the men, but the employers refused to agree. The report of the commissioners condemn the demand made by the employers that the men shall undertake not to join the transport workers' union, and at the same time condemn sympathetic strikes by other workmen.

In the meantime, large numbers of striking farm laborers have returned to work.

AGED FAN COLLAPSED IN WORLD SERIES LINE

Had To Be Taken Away in an Ambulance—Crowd of Men and Women in Line Since Midnight.

[Canadian Press.]
New York, Oct. 7.—It was estimated that 5,000 persons were in line when the gates to the unserved seats were thrown open at 9:45 o'clock. The weather continued cloudy and unsettled.

Many women were in evidence, some with their husbands, others unaccompanied. Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Hutchison, of Mobile, Ala., said they had waited since midnight. One aged fan collapsed on a street corner, and was taken away in an ambulance.

FORMER PRESIDENT KILLED.

[Canadian Press.]
St. Petersburg, Oct. 6.—Alexander J. Guchoff, former president of the Duma, is reported here to be among the victims of the train wreck at Dvinsk today.

Margot Hall's dam was the dam of Kruger (2:04), that was killed in a race at Columbus. Lon McDonald bought a great deal of Kruger, but has just as much affection for Margot Hall. The mare was rather high strung when she went to him, but he has made her a serviceable racing pacer.

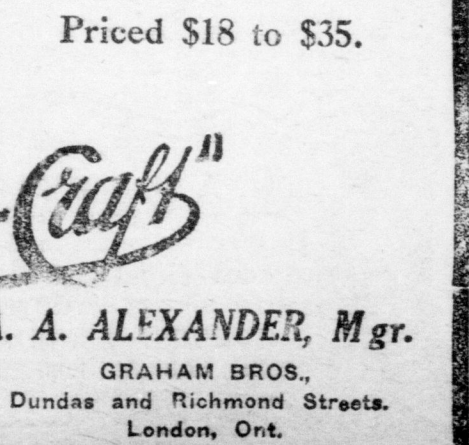

Pred Snodgrass will not play in the world's series, it is said. But judging from Snodgrass' performance last year, will somebody please tell us just when he did PLAY in a world's series.

One of the players on the Guelph Agricultural team is named Acar. One cannot blame Mr. Acar for following agricultural pursuits.

After reading all the dope on the coming world's series struggle, we are sure that somebody slips a few knockout drops into the Athletics' drinking can, and the Macmen will win if the Giants' pitchers are not so much stricken with paralysis in their pitching fits. Otherwise every game is bound to be a tie.

THEM ALIBIS.

The Giants and the Macmen clash today, But are another sun shall mount the sky, The team that lost this all important fray Will hand us out another alibi.

METHODIST MEET HAS MANY ENTRIES

Eighty-Seven Athletes Registered From Different Churches Last Night.

OFFICIALS ARE NAMED

Present Prospects Are Meet Will Be Most Successful Ever Held in This City.

Eighty-seven registrations of athletes eligible to compete in the Methodist Athletic meet on Thanksgiving Day were turned in at the meeting of the M. A. A. last evening. These were only senior registrations, the juniors having until Oct. 15 to get theirs in.

Only four Sunday schools are represented in this list, however, Ridout Street Methodist making its first appearance in any Methodist athletic event, with 7 registrations; Dundas Centre with 17; Askin Street with 31, and First Methodist with 32.

WOODSTOCK WANTS O. H. A. REPRESENTATIVE

Will Name Frank Hyde as Candidate This Winter.

Woodstock, Oct. 6.—An effort is being made to induce Frank Hyde to allow his name to go for nomination as representative to the executive of the Ontario Hockey Association.

The hockey following in Woodstock think they are entitled to a representative on the board of the big hockey organization of Ontario.

Should Mr. Hyde consent to run, local hockey would have a champion, whose long and active connection with this amateur sport would make him fully capable of looking after its interests, and should he be elected at next month's annual meeting in Toronto they would have a representative well worthy of the honor that goes with the position.

PLAN NEW TAX

Government Holds That Corporations in Receiver's Hands Are Liable.

[Canadian Press.]
Washington, Oct. 7.—The Government today began its fight in the supreme court for the principle that corporations in the hands of a receiver are liable to the federal corporation tax. The question arises in suits against Frederick Whitridge, as receiver of the Third Avenue Railroad Company.

BROUGHT TO LONDON

Funeral of James Park Was Held to Mount Pleasant.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Lucan, Oct. 7.—The funeral of James Park, aged 44, held from Lucan today, to Mount Pleasant Cemetery, was largely attended. The pall-bearers were: Eli Hodgins, George Stanley, R. McNamee, J. Chown, James McComb, and D. McVicar.

TORN TO PIECES

Brantford Workman Met Horrible Death in Belting.

[Canadian Press.]
Brantford, Oct. 7.—The report of Samuel Price, C. E., on conditions on Vancouver Island has been received by the Government. It makes several important recommendations, viz: That the men on the island be paid more clearly defined, as the Nanaimo miners claimed that they had only gone on a holiday; that agreements between employers and employees should have the sanction of law; that a change should be made in the management law so as to prevent discrimination against any employee who exercises the right of joining a labor union; that it be made an offence to call a man a "scab."

The trouble arose over recognition of the United Mine Workers, and the Government cannot compel either side to recede from its position.

FISHERMAN DROWED

[Canadian Press.]
Warton, Oct. 7.—Early today Charles Jones, a fisherman of Owen Sound, with some others left Warton in a launch for Griffiths Island. When they were at Four-Mile Point, Jones, him call, but owing to the dense fog and being unable to swim, they could not save him. The body is not yet recovered.

[Canadian Press.]
Washington, Oct. 7.—President Wilson today selected Dr. Arthur Yager, president emeritus of Georgetown College, Georgetown, Ky., for governor of Porto Rico. His nomination will be sent to the Senate this week.

LONDON MAY PLAY TORONTO ARGO 2

Local Rugby Club Receives Letter From Toronto Club Wanting a Game Here on Thanks-giving Day.

Saturday's win over the Guelph O. A. C. has given the local Rugby club a lot of confidence and has also been the means of pointing out the weak spots on the line-up. The players are now busy getting down to work for next Saturday's game with Sarnia in this city. Practices will be held every night this week.

Sarnia demonstrated by defeating Petrolea that it will have to be strongly reckoned with before the group championship is decided, and the local club is not overlooking anything in the way of strengthening the club. The very best team available will meet the Border City's representatives when they play here, and one of the best games of the season will result.

The win at Guelph has served to stimulate interest in the local team, and a good crowd is expected out on Saturday. The players are in good shape and ready to put up the game of their lives.

The local club is still making an effort to arrange a game for Thanksgiving Day and it is not unlikely a Toronto team will be attracted. A communication from Secretary Lockhart, of the Argonaut Club in Toronto, has been received, in which he wants to arrange a game here for the Argonauts II's or III's. They will likely be accommodated.

THE REAL DOPE.
I've studied all the dope that I could find.
I've read a million articles or more
My brain is in a whirl, I'm going blind,
A' delving into old world series lore

At last, I've found the answer to it all
I'm going to pass you out a gentle tip:
The team that wins the first four games of ball
Will pretty nearly land the championship.

Advice to the London Curling Club—Why not rent a couple of rooms and play tidewalks this coming winter?

The fact that Walter Johnson refused a flattering offer to go on the stage leads us to suspect that Walter has a greater respect for the uplift of the drama than he has for some American League batters.

Martin Kilt is the so-called bad man of the Ottawa football club. But please tell us just who Martin Kilt. Smelling salts! quick!

CAN'T GET AWAY FROM IT.

Count that day lost whose low descending sun
Sees not some new world series argument begun.

"Bonesetter" Reese claims that Hans Wagner will play baseball for a long time yet, all of which leads us to suspect that Hans must have uncovered Jo-Jo Keenan's perpetual youth secret.

Snodgrass, the Giants' centre fielder, is suffering from a charley horse. There are some New York fans who think the charley horse came a year too late.

Even at that, it is doubtful if Snodgrass' charley horse has anything on the nightmare that some of the New York fans had that final game with Boston last year.

TALKING ABOUT BATTLES.

DETECTIVES PRAISED BY CROWN ATTORNEY

J. B. McKillop Pays Compliment to Efficient Work of London Plainclothesmen.

Praise of the way in which the detectives trailed and arrested Thomas Riley Friday night, after he shot Geo. Blackburn, knowing him to be armed and in a desperate mood, is being heard on all sides. Although the night was exceedingly dark, and an object could not be seen ten feet away, the count of the heavy fog, the officers dodged in and around box cars in the Grand Trunk yards, knowing that at any moment Riley might open fire on his pursuers.

In commenting on the work of the detective department this morning Crown Attorney J. B. McKillop paid the officers a warm compliment. "In come up they have never before," he said. "In the capture of Riley, as in all other cases on which they have worked, they exercised the greatest skill, and, as usual, brought their man to justice before he had any chance to get away. London detectives are known all over the country as men who are not only brave in the face of danger, but who are as quick as a flash to see a crime, and as soon as they see him. During my experience in this city I have never known of any crook coming to this city and staying so long. He is always recognized by the detectives and told to get out."

PROTEST AGAINST GOVT. INTERFERING IN ULSTER

Sympathizers Say That No Such Action Was Ever Taken Before.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Ottawa, Oct. 7.—The Government is receiving warm protests regarding its attitude toward Ulster sympathizers in Canada. It is brought out that for many years supporters of home rule have been allowed a free hand in Canada, both in raising money and sending men to advance the cause.

The application of the criminal code has never been threatened when leading Irish Nationalists toured Canada, holding public meetings, at which large numbers of influence were realized for the cause of Ulster.

There was no interference with such leading Canadians as Hon. Edward Blake and Hon. Charles Doherty when they left Canada to give their support to the cause of home rule, and were elected to the British Parliament as Irish Nationalist members. Now it is that those who take the opposite view are against home rule being forced on the North of Ireland should have a free hand for their operations in Canada.

A number of indignant communications have already been sent to the Government by Ulster sympathizers, who declare that they will not tolerate interference by Dominion detectives if they desire to send either men or money to the cause of Sir Edward Carson in Ulster.

Delaware Council

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Delaware, Oct. 7.—At the regular meeting of the Delaware township council there were present: A. E. Montell, reeve; Duncan Gordon, J. H. Johnston, Alton Ryckman and G. S. Ireland, councillors.

It was moved by J. H. Johnston and seconded by Duncan Gordon, that the tax collector's bond be accepted. Carried.

Moved by Duncan Gordon and seconded by Alton Ryckman, that the clerk notify the Hamilton Bridge Company that the abutments are now ready for the ironwork. Carried.

Moved by Duncan Gordon and seconded by Alton Ryckman, that $25 be granted toward the gravelling of the No. 12 sidewalk, providing the people give a like amount. Carried.

Moved by J. H. Johnston and seconded by J. D. Gordon, that the reeve and clerk sign the tax collector's warrant. Carried.

DRESDEN.
Dresden, Oct. 7.—Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Watson, of Chatham, spent the weekend in Dresden.

Miss Haseltine Walker, assisted with singing at the Baptist anniversary services at Florence on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Wheelahan, of Battle Creek, Mich., spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Chas. McIntosh.

Mr. Ernest Pratt and little son are in Toronto for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Florence, visited at the home of Rev. E. S. Walker recently.

Mr. John Vananster and Miss Pearl Lively of Windsor, are visiting the former's sisters, Mrs. F. Bodkin and Mrs. R. Brandon.

Mr. M. Scott and family and Mrs. Mahler spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. John Mahler of Chatham.

Florence, Oct. 7.—Miss Mills, who has been spending a month with her brother, E. Mills, returned to Toronto on Monday.

The Misses Scarlett, McLaughlin and Chapman, of Ridgeway, spent the weekend with Mrs. Lorne Scarlett.

Miss Lucy Hanson spent Sunday with friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. Vinten Counts visited recently with friends in London.

The concert under the auspices of the Methodist Church, held on fair night, was a great success. Mrs. Helen Myrick Sharer, of Detroit, was the soloist for the evening, and proved herself a good entertainer. Mrs. N. Sinclair and Miss Smith delighted their hearers with their solos.

The choir rendered some choice selections very acceptably.

The Baptist anniversary services were held on Sunday when Rev. Mr. Masters of Thamesville, preached at 11 a.m. and again at 7 p.m. The choir sang at both events, and proved themselves very pleasing.

Miss Hazeline Walker, of Dresden, sang solos at both services.

On Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. Mr. Kiley gave a talk to the Sunday school children, the occasion being marked as rally day here. The service was in order, and the children took charge of the singing.

The Mission Circle met last night at the home of Miss Lila McFarlane.

The Ladies Aid of the Methodist Church is meeting on Tuesday at the residence.

The Florence Club will hold its annual shoot on Oct. 8.

The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Beiler is ill.

LOCAL NEWS

Mr. Counsell in the City.—J. L. Counsell, of Hamilton, who is behind the project of establishing a race track just east of the city limits to be the property of the London Jockey Club, arrived in the city this morning.

It is not known whether his visit has anything to do with the project, as he could not be located. It was expected that he would try and make arrangements with the London Street Railway Company to extend its tracks to the property, but he did not approach the management today.

Mr. Glass Critically Ill.—Mr. Gilbert Glass, 82 years of age, and formerly in business in London, is critically ill in Cleveland, according to a letter received by Mr. A. N. Udy, of this city. A telegram received on Sunday expressed fears for his recovery, but a letter written later and since received states that the crisis in his illness is believed to be safely past, although he is still very ill. He was connected with the W. J. Reid Company, wholesale crockery merchants, for many years.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

Death of Mr. German.

Mr. George G. German, of Strathroy, father of Mr. C. E. German, of this city, died on Monday afternoon, aged 85 years. Besides his son, he is survived by two daughters, Misses Mary and Clara, at home in Strathroy.

Funeral of Dr. Annett.

The funeral of Dr. Ivan Annett, a 1911 graduate of the Western Medical College, where he was one of the most popular students in his year, was held on Monday from the residence of his father, Mr. Walter Annett, 1221 line, Brook Township, to Watford Cemetery. For a year after graduation he was house surgeon at the Western Medical College, and a number of former schoolmates were the pallbearers. The floral wreaths were many and beautiful, including one from the Western Medical College, and a number from friends in Windsor. The funeral was one of the largest ever held in Strathroy.

Dr. Annett was a native of Ontario, and his relatives from Glencoe, Ephraim, London, Michigan and elsewhere, a distance of 1,000 miles, gathered in family, of Cerezo, Mich., and family, and Mr. and Mrs. John A. Rose, 100% Oxford Street, London, were among those attending.

The late Dr. Annett was in his 25th year, and is survived by his parents, one sister, Mrs. Carroll, of Brook Township, and four brothers, Walter, George, Calvin and Leonard Annett, at home, Mrs. John A. Rose, of London.

KOMOKA.

BRING A PINE FOREST TO YOUR HOME

The New Home Treatment for Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis and Lung Trouble.

You know that when a person is suffering from some acute form of lung trouble, the doctor, as a last resource, often orders him or her to go to Switzerland, or some district where there are pine forests, and to live as much in the open air as possible. Why is this? It is because there is a wonderful exhalation from pine trees, which, if breathed into the lungs and air passages, so strengthen and fortify them, that irritating coughs, colds, bronchitis, and other forms of "breathing" ailments cannot arise.

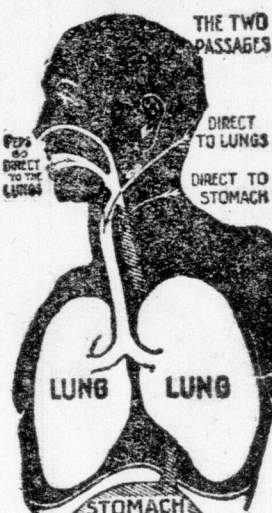

Peps contain these wonderful pine extracts, put up into pastille form, and liberated in vapor as soon as the Peps are dissolved on the tongue!

You may not be able to go to the Swiss Alps, but by using Peps you may bring the pine-laden, health-giving air of the Swiss Alps to your lungs! Put a Pep on your tongue, let it dissolve there gradually, and you will find that the pleasant vapors, which are liberated, will pass down to your lungs, and will stop that nasty troublesome cough, ease that sensation of tightness across your chest, relieve the soreness across the throat, and stop those sharp, shooting pains, which show that the delicate tissues lining the bronchial tubes are irritated and sore. Wherever there are coughs and colds, bad breathing, tightness of the chest, asthma, bronchitis, or any allied chest trouble, there Peps should be tried; and there they will bring their wonderful blessing of healing.

You know how it feels when some little crumb of food "goes down the wrong way." You cough, and splutter, and almost choke! That is because you have SWALLOWED something into your lung passages. The lung passages are for breathing only. Down the tube leading to the stomach is where all "swallowed" foods or liquids go. Look at the Diagram.

See the lesson this teaches? If all liquids and solids you swallow go to the stomach, how useless to take liquid or solid medicines when you wish to reach the lungs and breathing-tubes?

Peps on the other hand, get to the lungs and chest direct! Thus you see their vast superiority. Test this for yourself by mailing free sample coupon.

What You Should Use Peps For.

Peps are the latest word of science on the treatment of coughs, colds, bronchitis and lung troubles generally. Just as the out-door treatment for consumption—the "breathing" treatment—is now admitted to be the only rational treatment, so the "Peps" treatment for colds and lung troubles is the only rational home treatment. Peps treatment means the BREATHING down to the lungs, bronchial tubes, and chest cavity, of healing, strengthening, purifying, medicinal ingredients. You can't SWALLOW medicine into your lungs. If a medicine can't be BREATHED, it can't get to the lungs and bronchial tubes (see diagram). Peps provide a medicine you breathe—not swallow. For all disorders or irritations of the lungs, or bronchial tubes, therefore, use Peps. These include catarrh, coughs, bronchitis, sore throat, tightness or aching across the chest, difficulty in breathing, night cough, hoarseness, asthma, laryngitis, smoker's throat, etc.

All druggists and stores sell Peps at 50c. box or 3 for $1.25. Should your dealer be out of stock, order direct (post paid) from Peps Co., Dupont St., Toronto, or 52 Princess St., Winnipeg.

A Famous Doctor Gives His Opinion of Peps.

Dr. Gordon Stables, R.N., M.D., a Master of Surgery, the holder of a professional position under the late Queen Victoria, and one of England's foremost medical writers, was one of the eminent medical men who investigated Peps. He was so impressed by the value of this new remedy for coughs, colds, and lung troubles, that he has written upon it at great length. He says:—

"Peps provide the 'pine air treatment' for coughs, colds and lung troubles. When a Pep dissolves on the tongue it liberates pine essences and balsamic aromas, and these are breathed down the lung tubes and find their way to the irritated mucous membrane of the air cells. You cannot possibly get at these lung tubes and membranes by any other route. There is no passage of any kind whatever between stomach and lungs, else swallowed medicines and drugs might possibly have some little effect. Surely this shows the utter folly of pouring poisonous cough mixtures into the stomach in order to correct troubles in the lungs! These mixtures could only act on the lungs by paralyzing the nerves."

"I have a strong objection to cough drops, lozenges and their like. These only reach the stomach! From stomach to lungs and air passages is a far cry. I know of nothing more likely to set up an attack of dyspepsia, and so weaken the system already feebly by the effects of a cold, than the old-fashioned cough drops, cough lozenges and liquid cough mixtures. Why put some mixture into your stomach to treat trouble in your lungs and air passages? I put it to every thinking man or woman, is it not better when treating any ailment to apply the medication straight to the seat of the disease? Peps provide a direct and complete treatment for disease of the lungs, throat and air passages."

MRS. STOCKTON FATALLY HURT

Harriston Woman Was Knocked Down by the Bicycle Her Grandson Rode.

FRACTURED HER SKULL

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Harriston, Oct. 6.—Mrs. Louise Jane Stockton succumbed yesterday to injuries sustained a few days ago, when she was knocked down on the sidewalk by a bicycle on which her grandson was riding. She received a fracture of the skull, and never fully regained consciousness.

The deceased was in her 79th year. She formerly resided in the Township of Hawick, where she and her husband were among the earliest settlers. On the death of her husband some ten years ago she took up her residence in Harriston. Three of a family survive her, one son, Benjamin, at home, and two daughters, Mrs. E. Pritchard, with whom she resided, and Mrs. (Rev.) W. Pritchard, of Spokane, Wash., who arrived here today.

PASSED BAD CHECK

Young Man Who Flim-Flamed Hospital Is Remanded to Jail.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Windsor, Oct. 6.—John Murray, of Belleville, who passed a worthless check on the Hotel Dieu here two weeks ago in payment of a hospital bill, receiving $18 in change, was convicted in the police court today of obtaining money fraudulently. Murray said that he had written his sister to place the money in the bank to meet the check, but she had neglected to do so. Magistrate Leggett told him that he should have seen that the money was in the bank before he cashed the check. He was remanded for sentence.

CRIMINAL OPERATION

Ottawa Woman Is Under Arrest on Very Serious Charge.

[Canadian Press.]
Ottawa, Oct. 6.—Mrs. Annie Balcomb, 148 Chapel street, was placed under arrest today on the charge of performing a criminal operation, which resulted in the death of Emily Cornick, aged 24. The girl died yesterday, and she is alleged to have gone to Mrs. Balcomb's house on Sept. 19, the operation having been performed a few days later. Mrs. Balcomb appeared in court here today and was remanded for a week without pleading. She was involved in a criminal operation charge against a Hull doctor two years ago, but was acquitted.

AUSTRALIA IS URGING CONFERENCE ON NAVY

Defence of the Pacific Is a Big Question To Be Settled.

Sydney, Oct. 6.—The correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says the announcement that the Imperial Government had decided not to call a naval conference has caused astonishment mingled with some resentment, especially as it synchronizes with the celebration in honor of the arrival of the Australian warships. Mr. Milson, the minister of defence, said today that supposing the intelligence to be officially confirmed it would require considerable justification, and be received with deep regret. It is declared that the agreement of 1909 has not been carried out by the mother country, and that Australia ought to know what are the intentions of the Imperial Government, what it thinks of the needs of defence in the Pacific generally, and what it will do to get those needs. An inter-Dominion conference is suggested if the Imperial Government persists in its refusal to call a conference, but it is hoped that the necessity for this may not arise on account of the harm it might do to the cause of imperial unity. The political instability at present existing here is not regarded as a justification for the home Government's attitude in opposing a conference which was approved and strongly urged by the Fisher Government. The hope is expressed on all sides that the Imperial Government will reconsider its decision.

Missionaries Are Still Unharmed

Pekin, Oct. 6.—A message dated Oct. 3 was received today at Slang Yang-Pu, in Hu-Peh Province, from the Rev. Christian Stokstad and the Rev. Mr. Johnson, the two American missionaries trying to negotiate with the Chinese bandits for the release of the American and Norwegian missionaries held in captivity by the bandits at Tsao-yang. It says that three white women and two children are at the bandits' headquarters and have not been harmed, while the men are believed to be living. This message appears to discredit the report that the little son of the Rev. Mr. Fauske and Mrs. Fauske has been killed. The Rev. C. Stokstad and the Rev. Mr. Johnson express the hope that the force of 1,800 troops round Tsao-yang will be able to hold the bandits until reinforcements arrive. The bandits number about 1,000, of whom half are mounted.

WORKMAN WAS DROWNED.

[Canadian Press.]
Montreal, Oct. 6.—While working on the floating dock which yesterday raised the damaged liner Mount Temple, for repairs, Simon Ouellette, fell into the water and was drowned. He was unable to see the life line that was thrown to him, owing to the fog.

Exeter Merchant Stricken at Clinton

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Clinton, Oct. 6.—D. A. Ross, of the firm of Ross & Taylor, Exeter, died suddenly here today at the home of Mrs. Arthur Crouch. Mr. Ross came to Clinton on Saturday with his wife to make a short visit, and yesterday attended church services morning and evening and also motored to Seaford in the afternoon, and retired at eleven o'clock feeling quite well.

His heart has been weak for some years, and at times caused his family a good deal of anxiety, and another sudden attack caused his death this morning.

Mr. Ross was in his 60th year, was a prominent manufacturer in Exeter, and an active member of the Methodist Church. He leaves his wife and three sons, Dr. Prescott Ross, Warren and Will Ross.

Had an Extra Bar During Fall Fair

Berlin Man's Case Will Be Made a Test By Authorities.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Berlin, Ont., Oct. 7.—The question of whether a hotel can legally have two separate bars is to be settled by Magistrate Weir. To test the liquor act on this point High Constable Huber has laid an information against Albert Genz, hotelman, of Elmira; Peter Wagner and George Rummig, proprietors of hotels in Wellesley. It is alleged that during the fall fair days they conducted extra bars to handle the increased trade, and it is maintained this is an infraction of the liquor act. The case was adjourned until Saturday.

Richard Strong Is Dead at Galt

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Galt, Oct. 6.—At his home, Purbeck House, Richard Sidney Spark Strong died at noon today in his 89th year. A resident of Galt for 65 years, he was closely associated with the growth of the town, being on the directorate of the Gore District Mutual Fire Insurance Company for half a century and manager of the company for over 30 years. Previous to this he was in business as a druggist in Dundas and Galt, and for a time farmed near Goderich. He was born at Purbeck, Dorset, England, migrating to Canada when 16 years of age.

His wife died 17 years ago, but there still survive one son, A. D. of Galt, and two daughters, Mrs. Hugh B. Lewis, of Ottawa, and Mrs. Wilson A. McWhinney, of Detroit, Mich. The funeral has been arranged for Wednesday afternoon.

PASTOR RESIGNED.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Walkerton, Oct. 6.—Rev. Mr. Park, for three years pastor of the Baptist Church here, resigned after the regular morning service Sunday. His resignation was accepted. Mr. Park has been one of the most successful ministers and workers that Walkerton has ever had.

Looking for Owner of Baby in Basket

[Canadian Press.]
Hamilton, Oct. 6.—Despite efforts of the police to keep the affair secret, the discovery has just been made that a week ago last Monday night a baby boy, six weeks old, was left in a basket on the doorstep of E. D. and Mrs. Marawa, 166 Market street. The child was warmly dressed in new clothing, and the basket contained a package of infant's food, bottle, powder and puff.

A postcard inside stated that the parents were respectable, but dead, and concluded with the statement that more would be heard about the case in a week.

The basket was purchased from A. Norman, a local grocer, who describes the purchaser as a young man, 25 years old, middle height and clean-shaven. He would know him again, he says. The child is now in an institution.

THAW LOSES POINT

His Treaty Rights as a Citizen Were Not Infringed Upon.

[Canadian Press.]
Washington, D. C., Oct. 6.—None of Harry K. Thaw's treaty rights as an American citizen were violated when Canadian immigration authorities forcibly deported him a few weeks ago. That was the ruling today of Solicitor Joseph W. Folk, of the state department. Thaw asked the state department to make representations to the British embassy in protest against his deportation on Sept. 1. In holding that none of his rights had been violated, the department declined to do so.

BRUSSELS FAIR

Fine List of Entries, Great Weather and Big Crowd.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Brussels, Oct. 6.—Brussels Fall Fair was a splendid success, and attracted a very large attendance. There was a crowded exhibit in the inside department, and the display of good horses, cattle and other stock was very fine. Kincairdine Pipe Band rendered a fine program. The athletic sports and three speeding events were well contested. About $900 was taken at the gate.

The two concerts in the skating rink drew large houses. Friday evening it was estimated 1,200 people were present. The total receipts from the concerts were over $300.

BACK TO ENGLAND

Postmaster Samuel Is at Ottawa on His Way Home.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Ottawa, Oct. 6.—Postmaster-General Samuel of England is in Ottawa. He arrived today on his way home after a trip to the Pacific coast. He had a conference with Hon. L. P. Pelletier on the improvement of the cable and postal connections between the two countries. Tomorrow he will speak to the Canadian Club, and tomorrow evening will be the guest of Premier Borden at dinner. He leaves for England at once.

Children Drunk on Reaching School

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Walkerton, Oct. 6.—Herb Meyer, a stage driver on the rural route between Midway and Formosa, was up before Magistrate Richardson today, and pleaded guilty to giving small children liquor.

It seems Meyer took them in his rig on the way to school and treated them, so that by the time they reached school they were quite intoxicated.

McBEATH-BUCHANAN

Popular Elderslie Young Couple Celebrated Their Nuptials.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Paisley, Oct. 7.—A pretty wedding was solemnized at the residence of Mrs. Wm. Buchanan, concession 2, Elderslie, when her daughter, Alice, became the bride of Thomas McBeath, jun., in the presence of about 75 guests. Rev. G. C. Little, pastor of Knox Church, performed the ceremony on the lawn, the bridal party standing under a beautiful arch of autumn leaves. Miss Mary Buchanan, cousin of the bride, played the wedding march. The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. Jas. Buchanan, wore a pretty gown of cream tulle, pearl trimming and lace, and carried a shower bouquet of asters. Mr. and Mrs. McBeath left on a short wedding trip. On their return they will take up their residence on the groom's farm on the banks of the Saugan River, concession 2, Elderslie Township. The bride's travelling dress was navy blue serge with hat to match.

Notice!

Owing to numerous complaints, The Advertiser wishes to emphasize the importance of calling The Advertiser office before 8:30 a.m., after 5 p.m. and holidays according to the following numbers, telling Bell Central that only the number asked for will do:

3670—Business Department.
3671—Editors.
3672—Reporters.
3673—Job Printing Department.

If you do not receive an answer to 3671, 3672 or 3673, call 3670, and you can always get an answer before 9 p.m.

From 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m., any day but holidays, ask for 3670, and The Advertiser Central will give you the department or person wanted.

Delirious Patient Escaped.—A patient at Victoria Hospital, while delirious Monday evening, escaped in his night clothes, and rushed out into the street. He ran into a house on Ottawa street, and was kept there until two orderlies came and returned him to the hospital.

Not David Mitchell.—The David Mitchell who was arrested several days ago on a charge of giving a check for which there was no funds in payment for automobile hire was not Mr. David Mitchell, the well-known butcher, of Thorncliffe. The man who was arrested, according to High Constable Gumb, was employed for a short time in the vicinity of Thorncliffe on a bridge gang.

Meeting Postponed.—The farewell service to Miss Clara German, which was arranged to take place in Dundas Centre Methodist Church on Wednesday evening, has been postponed, owing to the death of Mr. C. E. German's father. Miss German will leave shortly to engage in missionary work in Japan. The regular weekly prayer service will be held.

Settled For $1,000.—The suit of Mr. Edmund A. Pocock against the water commissioners for the death of his son, Henry, who was killed by grasping a live hydro wire in St. Peter's school yard on Sunday, March 30, has been settled. At a conference Monday evening between Mr. C. H. Ivey, representing Mr. Pocock, and City Solicitor T. G. Meredith it was decided to accept the water commissioners' offer of $1,000 and costs in the case. The nominal amount sued for was $10,000. The list of eighteen cases set down for the sittings has now dwindled down to seven, and it is likely that the sitting of the court, which opened this morning will be of short duration. There are no criminal cases on the list.

Walkerton Man Missing.—Alfred Henry Channing, of Walkerton, has been missing from home since Sept. 2, and his wife believes he may have come either to Toronto or London. He left home intending to go first to Toronto to seek employment at his trade as a tailor, and intimated that if unsuccessful in Toronto, he would come to London. Greater apprehension is felt.

felt for his safety, because of a sunstroke which he suffered during the past summer. Not a single message has been received from him since he left Walkerton more than a month ago. He is described as aged 45, height 6 feet, eyes light blue, hair gray, wearing dark suit, and green felt hat with dent around the crown, with a blue spot on the back of his left hand, and the first finger of his right hand bent.

Two Hundred Men at Drill.

The Seventh Regiment paraded Monday night with two hundred men in line and made an impressive showing. Q. M. S. I. White had charge of a class of recruits in the Armories. At the conclusion Major McKinney put the company for the Moravia town celebration through a preparatory drill. It is probable that Capt. F. B. Ware will be in command of the London company there on Oct. 16.

LEITCH-GORDON

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Ridgeway, Oct. 7.—A pretty autumn wedding was solemnized on Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Leitch, Botany, when their daughter, Miss Christina, became the bride of Mr. Arthur Gordon, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Gordon, of Louisville. To the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, played by Miss Katherine Graves, of Ridgeway, the bridal party took their place in the beautifully decorated parlor. The bride was given away by her father. Miss Katherine Leitch, of Botany, cousin of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, while Mr. Wm. F. Cotes, of Toronto, acted as best man.

The bride looked charming in a beautiful dress of cream satin, and carried a large shower bouquet of white roses. Her travelling suit was of navy blue, with hat to match.

After the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. A. Thibideau, of Louisville, the guests were ushered into the spacious dining-room, where a sumptuous wedding breakfast was served, after which Mr. and Mrs. Gordon were driven to Northwood by auto, where they took the afternoon train for Detroit, thence by boat to Cleveland, where they will spend a short honeymoon. On their return home, they will take up their residence on the groom's fine farm at Louisville.

Guests were present from Toronto, London, St. Thomas, Chatham, Walkerville, Louisville and Ridgeway.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

Death of Mrs. Talbot.
Mrs. Elizabeth White Talbot, widow of John Talbot, of Wyton, died yesterday at the home of her son-in-law, Mr. Charles Johnston, 26 Askin street, after a lingering illness, borne with the greatest Christian fortitude. Born in the county of Armagh, Ireland, she came to Canada when young, and was shortly afterwards married to Mr. John Talbot, of Wyton. For 51 years their home was widely known for its hospitality and homelike spirit. The family being grown and scattered, the home was broken up after the death of the father, five years ago. The surviving members of the family are Marcus, general manager of the Post, of Portland, Oregon; Lionel, of Skagway, Alaska; James, of Calgary; William, of Schullburg, Wis.; Fred, of Winnipeg; Mrs. Pannell and Mrs. Patterson, of Calgary; Mrs. E. M. Johnston, of Innerkip, and Mrs. C. Johnston, of London.

The funeral will be held on Wednesday afternoon at Brown's Cemetery, West Nissouri.

Fredericton, N. B., Oct. 7.—The wedding took place at the Methodist parsonage of Mr. Henry Murray, of Appin, Ont., and Miss Ella Peppers, of Lower St. Marys, N. B. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Neil McLaughlan, Mr. and Mrs. Murray have left for their home in Ontario.

Pleasing Addition to London's Office Buildings

New Canada Trust Company Office Nearing Completion.

Mr. Emil Schneider, the expert terra cotta setter of the Northwestern Terra Cotta Company, of Chicago, has completed his work on the front of the Canada Trust Company's new building on Richmond street, next to the Huron and Erie offices.

The front is of a light cream color and presents a very striking appearance, particularly in the rays of the afternoon sun. The new offices, combined with those of the Huron and Erie, will have a total of eight vaults, containing over 13,000 cubic feet of space. Three new nests of safety deposit boxes comprising several hundred individual boxes will also be installed very shortly.

The Canada Trust expect to obtain possession of the new building early in December.

414 STUDENTS APPLYING AT THE INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL

Only Room for Three Hundred and Many Will Be on Waiting List—Students Make Equipment for School—More Accommodation Needed.

The London Industrial and Art School opened Monday night, with a capacity attendance. Accommodation can be provided for approximately 300 students. Already 414 applications for enrollment have been received. This means a waiting list of many prospective students in half a dozen of the more popular classes. The entire building Monday night was a hive of industry. There seemed to be classes everywhere, and every class was well filled. This year there will be three evening classes in dressmaking and two in millinery. In many of the other subjects there will have to be more than one class to accommodate the large number of would-be students. Every evening class is filled to the limit.

Ready for First Lesson.

The classes began work without a hitch anywhere. For several days past Principals H. B. Beal has been busily enrolling the students, and teachers and pupils were ready to proceed with their first lesson without the usual delay and broken periods of opening days.

Trustee W. W. Gammage was present and there were quite a number of visitors and well-wishers of the school who called to express admiration with the admirable equipment and arrangement of classrooms, and the successful swing with which the first night's work started off. Great interest was shown in the exhibit of work turned out by the pupils in the machine shop.

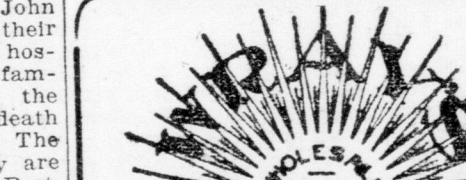

RHEUMATIC PAINS PROMPTLY DISAPPEAR

Relief Comes After Taking Few Doses of Croxone.

It is needless to suffer with rheumatism, and be all crippled up, and bent out of shape with its heart-wrenching pains, when you can avoid it. Rheumatism comes from weak, inactive kidneys, which fail to filter from the blood the poisonous waste matter and uric acid, and the only way to overcome it is to remove the cause. Croxone does this because it neutralizes the kidneys, and the poisonous substances and uric acid that lodge in the joints and muscles, to scratch and irritate and cause rheumatism, and cleans out and strengthens the stopped-up inactive kidneys, so they can filter the poison from the blood and drive it out on and out of the system. Croxone is a truly remarkable medicine for rheumatism, kidney troubles and bladder disorders. You will find it differs from other remedies. There is nothing else just like it. It matters not how old you are, or how long you have suffered, it is practically impossible to take it without results. Relief follows the first few doses, and you will be surprised how quickly all misery and suffering will end.

An original package of Croxone costs but a trifle, and all druggists are authorized to sell it on a positive money-back guarantee. Three doses a day for a few days is often all that is ever needed to overcome the worst backache or urinary disorders.

PEEVISH, CONSTIPATED CHILDREN LOVE "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS"

Harmless "Fruit Laxative" Cleanses Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once. When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad, has stomach ache, sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in just a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless fruit laxative; they love its delicious taste and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages, and for grown-ups, plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

NOTICE TO OUR CUSTOMERS

OUR MOTTO:
To deliver Bread in the cleanest manner possible.

THE Board of Health and several of the leading citizens of London have made a request that all bread salesmen should wear white gloves in handling of their bread to their customers.

The idea is to prevent the spreading of diseases and also germs, that our bread may be delivered in the cleanest manner possible to its customers. So, starting this morning, we have provided each of our salesmen with a pair of white gloves, to be worn only in the handling of their bread to their customers. These gloves will be supplied to them clean each day so as to insure strict cleanliness in the handling of Parnell's celebrated Bread. People wanting wrapped Bread can get it from any of our wagons.

Have a Kitchen Heater connected to your Gas Range

The Kitchen Heater has a two-fold use; it heats the kitchen and will burn all kinds of refuse. Often there is no register or radiator in the kitchen, and it is too cold to work without some warmth. This Heater will burn coke, any kind of coal, screenings, sweepings, and for that matter anything that is burnable. It is compact, and besides it has a good cooking top, a fact that should not be overlooked, especially in the house where the gas range is overcrowded.

One of these Kitchen Heaters will cost you $10.00, and may be paid for in monthly installments with your gas bills.
