TORONTO TELEGRAM DENOUNCES BORDEN'S CABINET SELECTIONS

Predicts Strangling of Party as a Result of Choice of White and Cochrane---Refers to Mr. Borden's Betrayal.

IT LOOKS LIKE MOCK PARLIAMENT

The Telegram Advises Defeat of White and Cochrane—Only Blessing That Cochrane Has Been "Wafted Away."

Toronto, Oct. 11.—The Toronto Telegram makes comments on the election of the Borden cabinet that have aroused Conservative Toronto. The Telegram is one of the two Conservative evening newspapers of Toronto, and fought bitterly for a Conservative victory. One of the Telegram's editorial pages last night had the following appearance:

THE EVENING TELEGRAM

J. ROSS ROBERTSON, Proprietor and Publisher.

TORONTO, TUESDAY, Oct. 10, 1911.

THE FIRST BORDEN CABINET.
Oh, what's the use?

ONE GOOD RESULT.

"It's an ill wind that blows nobody good," and the zephyr that wafted Hon. Frank Cochrane out of the Ontario Government was a beneficent breeze.

THE CHOSEN AT OTTAWA.

The Borden Government seems to have been chosen with the due sense of high public responsibility that might be expected from the premier of a mock parliament in a students' debating society.

HON. R. L. BORDEN'S CHOICE.

The make-up of the Borden Cabinet impresses the average Canadian in the way that Beerbohm Tree's Hamlet impressed Henry Labouchere:

"As being funny without being vulgar."

HISTORIC CHOICES.

Sir James Whitney is responsible for the make-up of the Ontario end of the Borden Cabinet, and for the whole make-up of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board, and nobody wishes to separate Sir James from the glories of his authorship of two historic choices.

ONE BRIGHT SPOT.

An ideal choice in Hon R. L. Borden's sad series of bad guesses was Hon. Martin Burrell as Minister of Agriculture. An enthusiast, a man of affairs, with vision in his brain and strength in his hands, Hon. Martin Burrell seems to be the best choice that could have been made among the members who sit at Ottawa, Ontario men included.

TO HON. A. E. KEMP—GREETING

Assuredly Hon. A. E. Kemp landed a place without portfolio for himself, thus clothing his postoffice address with the glory of a prefix "Hon." and suggesting that Mr. Kemp will land still higher honors for himself before this Parliament lives out the term of its natural life.

What Hon. A. E. Kemp will land in the way of recognition for Toronto's rights and justice to Ontario's ideals is another story and comparatively uninteresting to Hon. A. E. Kemp.

THE FIRST GREAT BETRAYAL.

If Hon. R. L. Borden and the Borden Government have any real friends in Ontario these friends will set to work and defeat Hon. Frank Cochrane and Hon. W. T. White in any constituency to which they may appeal in this province.

The question for Ontario Conservatives to decide is whether they will strangle the advisers who have subordinated the R. L. Borden Premiership to clericalism and corporationism on the occasion of the first betrayal of the people.

Or will the true friends of the Borden Premiership hesitate to strangle the worst enemies of that Premiership and give these enemies time to strangle the whole Conservative party and deprive Canada of the fruits of as noble a victory as a free people ever won?

The defeat of Hon. Frank Cochrane and Hon. W. T. White in Ontario constituencies would bring Hon. R. L. Borden face to face with the quality of the folly which he has accepted as wisdom, and teach Mr. Borden that the voice of Ontario does not necessarily speak in the accents of Sir William Mackenzie, J. W. Flavelle & Co.

GORDON WILSON'S DUTY.

Wentworth County listened to Gordon Wilson when Mr. Wilson appealed as a champion of the hydro-electric movement and an upholder of public ownership.

Yet Gordon Wilson, M. P., is now mentioned in the dispatches as being willing to hand his constituency over to Hon. Frank Cochrane. Mr. Cochrane was no friend to the hydro-electric movement. Mr. Cochrane has deprived believers in public ownership of the recognition they had a right to expect in the make-up of the Borden Government.

The Old Country voters of Wentworth County listened to Gordon Wilson when Mr. Wilson appealed to them as a friend to Canadian nationality and British unity.

Yet Gordon Wilson, M. P., proposes to invite these Old Country voters to transfer their support to the politician who wronged their cause and outraged their ideals by bringing Bourassa into Ontario.

Public ownership has no surplus of friends at Ottawa. Gordon Wilson's place is in the House of Commons fighting for the principles he was elected to support. It is Gordon Wilson's duty to stand by the people who stood by him. It is no part of Gordon Wilson's duty to provide a seat for an enemy to the principles and ideals Mr. Wilson was elected to support.

SUCCESS TO W. H. HEARST.

Ontario's hope is within Ontario's borders, and there is no minister at Ottawa called to a grander work than that which awaits Hon. W. H. Hearst, Ontario's new minister of lands, mines and forests—IF MR HEARST IS AS BIG AS HIS JOB.

The great work that awaits Mr. Hearst is the opening up of the Temiskaming country. Mr. Hearst follows a minister of forests who has been enthusiastic, capable, a fair and just steward of Ontario' timber wealth. Mr. Hearst follows a minister of mines who was not called upon to do anything but frame and apply a large and just policy in dealing with prospectors and miners. Hon. Frank Cochrane has failed to do even that.

Above all, Hon. W. H. Hearst follows a minister of lands who has had sixteen million acres of the finest clay land in the world absolutely under his hands for more than six years, land that is still almost absolutely untenanted, save for some prospectors or miners, some timber wolves and a few owls. The trouble seems to have been that Hon. Frank Cochrane was so busy watching Beck and proving himself a hindrance to the power policy of the Whitney Government that he never caught a vision of the size of the opportunities that called to him from the Temiskaming country.

Who ever heard of the name of Hon. Frank Cochrane being connected with anything that looked like a great trunk line through the Temiskaming country—a farmers' road? Hon. W. H. Hearst has a great chance. Mr. Hearst may easily do more than his predecessor has done to open up the Temiskaming country. He cannot possibly do less.

JOHN ROSS ROBERTSON,
Owner of the Toronto Telegram, Toronto's Conservative evening paper, which denounces Borden's selection of cabinet ministers.

FIVE IN FIELD FOR MAYORALTY

Mr. Marshall Graydon Is the Latest Name Mentioned for the Honor.

POCOCK FOR COMMISSION

Chairman of Water Board Will Run Again For That Body, But Not For the Mayoralty.

There is going to be a contest for the mayoralty next January, and the candidates will be probably chosen from the following five names: Ex-Ald. Donald Ferguson, Ald. J. G. Richter, Ald. R. C. Eckert, Ald. W. J. Stevenson, and A. H. Marshall Graydon.

Donald Ferguson is definitely in the field. He announced the other day that he would be a candidate and is now preparing for his campaign.

Ald. Richter is being solicited on many sides to allow his name to stand, and he is at the present time considering the matter.

Ald. Stevenson is the oldest in point of service in the council of all the aspirants. He, too, has been asked to allow his name to stand, and it is certain that he is considering the advisability of being a candidate.

Ald. Eckert is chairman of the finance committee, and has been considered a logical candidate since the beginning of the year. For two years in succession he has headed the poll for aldermen.

The latest comer is Mr. Marshall Graydon. Several deputations have approached him and urged him to be a candidate. Certain powerful influences are said to be behind him, and it is considered more than likely that he will run.

Not Mayoralty Candidate.

Chairman Philip Pocock, of the water commission, has been mentioned in connection with the honor, but he has declined to run. He has been approached, but he refuses to desert the Niagara power scheme until it is on its feet in the city. He will be a candidate for the commission.

It was thought at one time that Mayor Beattie would try for a third term, but his definite announcement that he was out of municipal life has eliminated him as a possibility.

In any event there will be a keen contest, and already the candidates are preparing the way.

Little is known about the aldermanic field, but there will be some new blood. A businessman's slate is being mentioned.

TOOK FRENCH LEAVE FROM THE HOSPITAL

Mrs. Theresa Lynn Left, and Will Not Be Vigorously Sought.

Mrs. Theresa Lyons, the lady who about a week ago, took laudanum by mistake, and who has been in Victoria Hospital ever since, escaped from that institution yesterday, and has not been located since. She had almost recovered, and would have been discharged in a day or so, so that not much effort will be made to bring her back.

TURK TROOPS ATTEMPT TO RECAPTURE TRIPOLI

Repulsed With Heavy Losses in Battle in the Moonlight—Italian Cruisers Assist Soldiers With Searchlight and Guns.

[Canadian Press.]

Tripoli, Oct. 11. — The Turks apparently do not intend to abandon Tripoli to the Italians without further determined resistance. For several days bands of horsemen have been hovering in the vicinity of Italian outposts.

Early yesterday morning a force of about 3,000 Turkish troops, with field guns, was discovered advancing in two columns, with the evident intention of recapturing the town. A large body of natives marched with the troops, and presented a formidable array. The Italian commander, however, had an intimation that such an attempt would probably be made, and his men were amply prepared.

Battle in Moonlight.

The Italian guns were well placed, and the Turks were met with a heavy artillery and rifle fire, to which the Turks replied with equal energy. It was moonlight, and the fleet turned the searchlights on the contending forces. When the engagement was at its height, the battleships and cruisers joined in with their smaller batteries, directing the shells to cover the Italian front and flank.

For more than an hour the firing on shore was continued, then it slackened and gradually ceased. The Turks retired, but in good order, although it is reported that they suffered heavy losses.

Few Italians Injured.

Another body of Turks tried to turn the Italians' eastern flank, but without success. The Italian casualties were slight.

The fleet pursued the retreating Turks with a heavy shell fire, until 6 o'clock in the morning.

The looting by the Arabs, which occurred after the bombardment, and the disorderly flight of the Turkish troops, was to a great extent the

MANUFACTURERS DECLARE FOR HALT ON BRITISH PREFERENCE

Hamilton Men Start Warm Debate, Contending That Standard of Living in This Country Would Be Lowered With Further Favors.

[Canadian Press.]

Toronto, Oct. 11.—There was warm debate at the Canadian Manufacturers' Association in convention this morning as to whether a resolution should be sent to Premier Borden, opposing any further preference to Great Britain.

The discussion came on over a report of tariff committe presented by T. A. Russell. Speaking on a resolution, Cyrus A. Birge, of Hamilton, said preference had gone far enough, and anything further would hamper Canadian industry and governments should know this.

H. J. Waddle, of Hamilton, indorsed this view, any further preference would tend to lower the standard of living in this country.

Some Objects to Proposal.

Fraser, of St. John, Que., and other members dissented, and thought the question was one for tariff commission, and that the Government should be urged t create this commission out of the best possible material. W. K. McNaught thought no government should place the making of tariff in the hands of any commission. Their duties should be purely advisory.

President Rowley expressed the opinion that what had been said would give a wrong impression to the public regarding the purposes of the association, and agreed that a suggestion to repeal the preference would be regarded as raising the tariff against the mother country.

For Tariff Commission.

A resolution by Fraser, of St. John, Que., and R. S. Gourlay, Toronto, was passed without opposition, requesting the tariff commission to draw up a resolution to be submitted to the council of the association, and by them presented to the Government, favoring the appointment of a tariff commission to thoroughly investigate tariff conditions in the interests of all Canada.

ORGANIZATION BEGUN FOR DENOMINATIONAL CONFERENCE

Representatives From Amongst Pastors and Laymen of City Met Tuesday Night and Appointed Committees.

The representatives from among the pastors and laymen of the several Methodist churches in the city, met last night, to organize for the denominational conference to be held on the third day of the men's missionary convention. The chairman of the conference, Dr. Warner, from St. Thomas, was present, and it was decided to name a list from each of the churches, as a denominational committee, to cooperate with the executive in the planning. The following were appointed as a sub-committee, to prepare the third-day programme, and it was expected that the discussion will have a very important bearing on the future activity of the churches in this community.

The committee is as follows: Rev. Dr. Warner, Rev. G. N. Hazen, Rev. Whiting, Mr. C. J. Beal, Mr. J. H. Chapman, Mr. C. E. German, Mr. T. B. Escott, Mr. W. H. Winnett.

Apportionment of the membership cards for the convention in Wesley Hall was also made among the churches.

Church Committees.

The following were appointed for the various church committees:

1—Rev. R. Whiting, pastor First Methodist, 512 Wellington street; J. H. Chapman, Dundas street; Dr. F. R. Eccles, Queen's avenue; S. Screaton, 26 Craig street; S. W. Perry, M. A., 269 Princess avenue; R. J. Watson, 528

WARRANT ISSUED FOR NIGHT CLERK

Sidney Eaton Is Charged With Robbing G. T. R. Lunchroom.

MAN WANTED IS MISSING

Police Are Searching for Eaton, But So Far His Whereabouts Have Not Been Learned.

As a result of a robbery which occurred some time during the night at the Grand Trunk restaurant at the London station, a warrant has been sworn out against Sidney Eaton, who was night clerk at the restaurant.

Although special G. T. R. detectives and the local officers are searching for Eaton, he has not been located as yet, and it is thought that he has left the city. The sum of $42 35 is missing.

Eaton was on duty as night clerk, and was alone most of the night. This morning when the day clerk came on to relieve him, Eaton, it is alleged, had disappeared.

An investigation revealed the fact that the cash register in the barroom, in connection with the lunch-counter, had been broken up, and $15 was missing from it.

The cash register at the counter had also been opened, and another $15 taken. There was also $12 35 missing from a till in which some small change is usually kept.

The Grand Trunk detectives were immediately notified and a search for Eaton was instituted. He was not located, however, and a warrant was sworn out charging him with theft.

The local detective department was notified, and Detectives Nickle and Down are working on the case. Eaton has been in the employ of Mr. Morris, the proprietor of the lunch counter, only a short time. Mr. Morris is away in Chicago, having left Tuesday morning. His place was being filled by Mr. Larkins, inspector of the Canada Railway News Company.

LONDON COUPLE WEDDED IN OTTAWA CHURCH

Miss Elma May Reid Becomes the Bride of Mr. Gordon J. Ingram.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, Oct. 11.—An extremely pretty wedding occurred today at a quarter past two o'clock, in Grace Church, when the marriage of Miss Elma May, elder daughter of the late Mr. Robert Reid, of the National Transcontinental Railway Commission, and of Mrs. Reid, and Mr. Gordon John Ingram, eldest son of the late Mr. L. H. Ingram and Mrs. Ingram, of London, Ont., took place, Rev. J. F. Gorman officiating.

The event removes one of the prettiest and most charming girls from the capital, and an ultra fashionable and smartly gowned gathering witnessed the ceremony. The church was a bower of flowers. The service was fully choral, under the direction of Dr. Roberts, the vested choir preceding the bridal party up the aisle, singing "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden," while during the signing of the register Miss Helen Ferguson sang splendidly "Beloved, It Is Morn."

The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. Arthur Reid, and attended by her sister, Miss Helen Reid, as maid of honor, and two bridesmaids, Miss Edith Fielding and Miss Gladys Carling. The ushers were Messrs. Hugh Fraser, Willis O'Connor, "Dick" McGee and Percy Little, of London, Ont. Mr. Gerald Rockham, of Peterboro, assisted the bridegroom as best man.

A $50,000 CHURCH IS PROPOSED FOR KING ST. PRESBYTERIANS

Magnificent Structure Will Be Erected On the Corner of Dundas and Lyle Streets—Matter Will Be Placed Before the Congregation On Wednesday, November 1.

Although there is no official confirmation as yet, it has become known that one of the finest churches in the city will shortly be built in East London. The proposed new church will likely be erected on the corner of Dundas and Lyle streets, as this property is at present owned by the congregation of King Street Presbyterian Church, they having purchased it a little over a year ago.

REV. W. R. McINTOSH.

A meeting of the managers and session of King Street Presbyterian Church was held Tuesday evening, and though nothing has been given out as to what took place, it is rumored that the meeting was held expressly to discuss plans for the new building.

A New Church.

Rev. W. R. McIntosh, when questioned by The Advertiser, was very reticent. He admitted, however, that a new building was contemplated by the members of King Street Church, but the matter would have to be put before the congregation before anything was decided upon. He stated that a meeting of the congregation would be held on Wednesday, Nov. 1, for the purpose.

When asked as to the proposed cost of the building, he refused to state just what the estimate was, but The Advertiser has since learned that the expenditure will be something between $35,000 and $50,000, most likely the latter figure.

Sell Present Church.

The property on Dundas and Lyle streets a few years ago was bought by the King Street Church for the purpose of building a church at some future date, but nothing definite was decided upon at the time of the purchase.

Lately the members have awakened to the necessity of a new building, and it is said that negotiations are under way to sell the present church on King street to one of the smaller denominations in the city. If this sale is put through, work on the new building will be commenced as soon as the congregation decides on the matter. The proposed new church will be modern in every feature, and will be built on the institutional plan.

Young Men's Club.

At a meeting of the Young Canadian Club, a young men's organization of King Street Church, held a few nights ago, Rev. Mr. McIntosh addressed the meeting and informed the members that the managers and session of the church were considering the matter of building a new church. He stated further that the proposed edifice would contain a young men's reading room, a gymnasium, and other institutional features that have been tried out with so much success in the West Street Presbyterian Church in Toronto. The Young Canadian Club members have grown enthusiastic over the matter, and have pledged themselves to assist in every way possible the building of a new church.

WELLS ARE ABSOLUTELY PURE BUT TWO PONDS CONDEMNED

Results of the Analyses of Eighteen Samples Have Been Received—Nothing That Should Cause Alarm Says Mayor Beattie.

The report from the provincial analyst at Toronto shows that two ponds at Springbank are infected with colon bacilli. The analyses came this morning, and Superintendent Glaubitz was instructed by Mayor Beattie to cut off the ponds mentioned until such time as they were cleaned out, and the cause of infection removed.

All the other sources of supply including eleven wells, were found to be absolutely pure, and from these the city supply will be drawn for the next few days, or until it is quite certain that the two ponds now infected with colon bacilli are considered pure.

Eighteen samples of water were taken. Eleven of the wells—all that are being pumped—were tested, and in addition the Colville pond, the pumphouse pond, the upper west pond, the east pond, hydro-electric powerhouse and the city hall tap furnished samples of water.

The Colville pond, that situated near Engineer Simmie's residence, and the pumphouse, showed infection.

Wells Are Pure.

The count was not high, but sufficient to condemn them. The wells were absolutely free from contamination. The city hall tap and the pumphouse tap both were shown to be free from infection.

Dr. Hutchinson received the report and immediately got in touch with Mayor Beattie. After some consultation it was decided to cut off both these ponds, and Superintendent Glaubitz was instructed to do this at once. He went to Springbank and the ponds were cut off.

"There is nothing that would cause alarm," said Mayor Beattie. "The ponds in question, the Colville and the pumphouse ponds, show traces of infection. I do not consider this to be serious, so we decided to cut them off. The citizens can drink the city water now with every assurance that it is absolutely pure. We will examine the two condemned ponds at intervals to remove all possibility of infection."

QUEBEC TRIUMPH SAYS THIS PAPER

Toronto Telegram Occupies Two Pages to Vent Its Rage Upon Borden.

"ONTARIO SERFS' HOME"

Premier's Behavior to N. Clark Wallace Is Recalled by Conservative Organ.

Toronto, Oct. 11.—The Telegram literally cannot contain itself in one editorial page in its edition of last evening. It devotes a special page to its views on the Borden cabinet, as it was influenced by Quebec, and under the heading "Ontario as the Home of Political Serfs, Quebec Is the Throne of Political Sovereigns," it says:

Ontario has earned the place this Province occupies as so much dust and ashes under the triumphant feet of Quebec's race and creed prejudices.

These prejudices threaten to sway the sceptre in the Anglo-Saxon hands of Hon. R. L. Borden as truly as they swayed the sceptre in the French-Canadian hands of Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

It is not ACCUSATION, but ADMIRATION, that speaks in recognition of Quebec's power to enforce respect for her race and creed ideals.

Quebec is A CONQUEROR AT OTTAWA, because Quebec stands by the men who stand by Quebec's race and creed ideals.

Ontario is A CIPHER AT OTTAWA, because Ontario deserts the men who stand by Ontario's race and creed ideals.

The time to speak out is NOW, when criticism may help to prevent Hon. R. L. Borden from perpetrating the blunders that all the criticism on earth cannot cure once these blunders are perpetrated.

A journal whose chief desire is that the premiership of Hon. R. L. Borden may be long and glorious, provided that Mr. Borden's premiership is great and useful, is free to recall one of R. L. Borden's early mistakes. The memory of this mistake will never cease to rankle in the hearts of Canadians who believe, that the Conservative party never had a truer friend or Canadian public a nobler leader than N. Clarke Wallace. The cruel injustice that embittered the closing days of N. Clarke Wallace was one of Mr. Borden's errors, an error that is remembered more in sorrow than in anger.

Canadians could let by-gones be by-gones and allow the memory of R. L. Borden's behavior to N. Clark Wallace to be blotted off the slate if that error were not doubly important; first, as an illustration of Mr. Borden's attitude towards exponents of Ontario's race and creed ideals; and secondly, as an illustration of Ontario's own attitude towards the pub

200,000 MAY STRIKE OVER M'NAMARA TRIAL

Labor to Protest Against Extradition of the Alleged Dynamiters.

[Canadian Press.]

Spokane, Wash., Oct. 11. — Approximately 200,000 industrial workers of the world and other workmen affiliated with that organization are scheduled to quit work the day the trial of the McNamara brothers begins in Los Angeles, as a protest against the arrerst and extradition of the prisoners, according to the local officials of the order.

HAMILTON WORKMAN KILLED.

[Canadian Press.]

Hamilton, Oct. 11. — David Fedwizl, a foreigner, 27 years of age, was struck on the head by a falling brick at the Hamilton Steel and Iron Company's plant last night. His skull was fractured and he died at the city hospital this morning. Chief Coroner Rennie has ordered an inquest.

ALLEGED FORMER LONDONER ESCAPES FROM PRISON

Sheriff Cameron Receives Particulars Regarding a Man Whose Name Is Given as Clarence LeVard—Home Said to Have Been in London.

Sheriff Cameron has received a list of escaped prisoners from R. W. Dick, the warden of the Oklahoma State penitentiary at McAlester, Okla., which includes pictures and a description of a man known as Charles LeVard, who is said to be a former Londoner. It is said that his father resided in this city a few months ago, but the local authorities have been unable to locate the family as yet. It is understood that "LeVard" was also known by the alias of Levitt.

LeVard, who escaped several months ago, is described as a white man sentenced May 30, 1909, from Kingfisher County, for second degree burglary, to a three-year term. His age was 30 years, nativity Canadian, height 5 feet 8¼ inches, weight 147 pounds, medium build, hair black, eyes dark brown, complexion medium dark, and occupation painter. His measurements under the Bertillon system were 73-3, 73-0, 91-0, 19-5, 15-1, 13-4, 6-7,

Six Lads Who Broke Windows Had to Make Good Damage.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ingersoll, Oct. 11.—In the juvenile court last night, six young lads appeared for causing wilful destruction to property. The police have been informed several times of late that damage was being done to property about town, especially to empty houses. It had become so frequent that the police determined to put a stop to it.

The six boys who were up were proved to have broken 58 pains of glass. They were given a severe talking to and made to pay for damage they had done to the amount of $4 92, and also the costs of court, $3 50, which was divided among the six.

Another bicycle rider was added to the list of those who seem to wish to put their money in the police treasury to the tune of $3 50 costs and $2 fine.

At the board of trade meeting, held in the council chamber last night, the by-laws to be voted on on Oct. 27 were discussed and indorsed by the meeting. A committee was chosen to appoint men in the different districts to get out the vote.

GRIMMER TO SUCCEED HAZEN.

[Canadian Press.]

Montreal, Oct. 11.—A group of New Brunswicker at the Windsor Hotel last evening expressed themselves confident that the sucessor of Hon. J. D. Hazen to the premiership of that province will be Surveyor-General Grimmer, M.L.A., for Charlotte. Up to the present time the Prime Minister of New Brunswick has frequently held the attorney-generalship as well, but it is probable that the coming Premier will also remain surveyor-general.

SALMON PRICES TAKE A JUMP

Price in London Is Now 25 Cents Can Instead of 20 Cents as in Past.

TOMATOES GO UP TOO

It Looks as Though the Consumer Will Have Plenty of Trouble Regarding Cost of Living.

The cost of living does not appear to be lessening, in fact it is going up rapidly. Salmon has gone up. Last year salmon retailed at 20 cents a tin. The price now is 25 cents, with some of the better grades considerably higher.

The season's pack is just coming in, very little of it being on the market. Some grocers have carried a stock over, and the higher price applies to that also. The increase, it can be seen, is 25 per cent. Rather a nice increase.

The cost of tomatoes in cans is going to be high. Some time ago the brokers announced that the canning companies could fill but 40 per cent of the amount ordered in the spring. The price quoted to the dealers was $1 17 a dozen, as compared with $1 12 last year. When the grocers asked about the remainder of the suppiy, they were informed that they could be obtained at $1 45 a dozen. A pretty big boost!

Tomatoes Soaring.

The consumer will have to pay 15 cents a can now. Last year he paid but 12½ cents. Late in the season he paid 15 cents for some of his tomatoes, but this year the grocers say they have no idea what price the vegetable will go to after the available 40 per cent of their order is consumed. The majority are looking for tomatoes to be 20 cents a can.

Corn has not been boosted as yet, the price being 10 cents a can retail. Peas sell at 12½ cents a can. These prices are the same as last year's. No notification of an increase has been given.

Some wholesale grocers informed The Advertiser that prices were being obtained from canning companies in New York, Michigan and Ohio. None of the figures were available as yet. The intendon of the wholesalers is to bring in a supply from the other side and pay the duty, in case the market goes up again, as it is expected.

Short on Orders.

"We have been informed that we can receive only 40 per cent of our orders," one merchant stated. "That is not nearly sufficient to put us through. We have been notified that we can get the goods at $1 45 a case, as compared with $1 17 paid in the past. That is too high, and will make tomatoes prohibitive to the ordinary householder. There will be a run on other vegetables, and a consequent increase in price for them. That is the reason we are waiting for figures from the American packers."

Grocers also report an advance in other lines. Brooms, sugar, smoked fish, all show an increase in price.

Canned fruits have not commenced to come in, and it will be some weeks before they do. The prices have not yet been set for them, but no decrease is anticipated. In fact, it looks as if there is going to be an increase.

The consumer does not appear to be in a good position this winter.

LONDON LADY SAW SISTER AFTER 23 YEARS

Happy Reunion of Two Irish Women in the Forest City.

Mrs. Marshall, an Irishwoman, who came to this country recently, and is now in the employ of Mrs. Robert Hueston, saw her sister for the first time in 23 years on Monday.

Mrs. Marshall's sister left Ireland many years ago and came to Canada. She was married before long and her husband is a prosperous farmer near Hamilton. Recently she sent her sister passage money to come to Canada, and they were reunited upon her arrival.

Until she came to this country Mrs. Marshall had never seen tomatoes or cauliflowers, and there were many other revelations for her.

Tuesday the sisters spent a happy day together, taking the train for a point west of London, where some of their relatives reside.

LONDON DOCTOR SELLS PATENT FOR $25,000

R. W. Shaw, of King Street, Realizes Big Sum for American Rights in Furnace.

Dr R. W. Shaw, of King street, who holds patents on a furnace which is manufactured in this city, recently disposed of the American rights for a consideration that will approach the sum of $25,000.

It is known that more than $12,000 cash was paid to Dr. Shaw by an extensive manufacturer in the United States, and that for each furnace made under the patents across the line there will be a royalty that will amount to a considerable sum during the first year, and this royalty will continue for a term of years.

The selling of the American patents does not interfere in any way with the manufacture of the furnaces in London.

A sword in the Dijon museum has just been identified as that used by Joan of Arc, and presented to her by Charles VII. of France. On one side of the hilt, says the London Mail, is engraved a figure kneeling before a cross, and the inscription, "Charles VII.," while the other side bears the name "Vaucouleurs." The sword also bears the arms of France and of the town of Orleans, and the date is 1419.

Rents and ground values are up every place that man frequents. A house and land in the centre of London gave a rent of $1,500 a year half a century ago; the ground rent for the land alone now is between $6,000 and $7,000. Where it was shillings a square foot near the Bank of England not long ago it is now pounds. In less than two generations values soared from $75 a square foot to upwards of $400. Cost of living is the same problem under all the shining of the sun.

Occasionally a man makes his mark in the world because his wife makes him toe it.

BIG CLEARING SALE
DRESS GOODS AND CLOAKINGS

Thursday, at Less Than One-Third and Half Regular Prices

$1.00 and $1.50 SUITINGS to Clear at Per Yard . . . 49c and 69c

$1.50, $2, $2.50 Winter Coatings to Clear at Per Yard . . 59c and 75c

TOMORROW, THURSDAY MORNING, we will make the most important clearing of above lines that has been known for some seasons, and from a money-saving standpoint the best in years. This we assert for two reasons: First, that the time is opportune, coming right at the beginning of the season before you have made your purchases for the coming winter, and also for reason of the very great reductions in price, as you know there are no half cuts here. When we make a price reduction it is made so low that there is no room for doubt that they will go with a rush, as there is so little of the price left that a second cut is impossible. In some cases, the sale price for tomorrow is less than one-third regular, and the materials are all seasonable. Such Suitings and Coatings as are wanted now. The prices would indicate that the season was over, but we have long ago given up that idea of merchandising. The shopping public nowadays want what they want when they want it. COME EARLY TOMORROW FOR YOUR CHOICE.

Reg. $1 and $1.50
Suitings 49c and 69c

Five pieces Two-Toned Diagonal Suiting, smooth, hard finish, in color and black mixed twills; brown and black, green and black, blue and black, gray and black, and purple and black; 48-inch. $1.00 Suitings, sale price, yard ..... 49¢

6 pieces Chiffon Venetians, beautiful high finished material, suitable for ladies' dresses or evening wraps; splendid shades in light and mid brown, copper, taupe, myrtle and gray. $1.50 Suiting, sale price, yard ..... 69¢

Bear Cloth for Children's Coats $1.19
Regular $2.00 to $3.00 Cloths

Here is an opportunity. These cloths were previously carried on the second floor, but have been transferred to the Dress Goods Section, main floor, which is now overcrowded with these additional stocks. To relieve the congestion, these stocks must be reduced, and some bargains are here. The most expensive lines up to $3.50 a yard to be cleared at $1.19. All double width, about 50 inches.

1 piece cardinal, 1 brown, 1 gray, $2.00 Bear Cloth; sale price $1.19

2 pieces oyster gray, 1 cream, $2.00 Bear Cloth, sale price $1.19

4 pieces cream, $2,50, $2.75 and $3.50 Bear Cloth; sale price $1.19

1 short piece, blue and white, reversible, $2.00; sale price 59¢

1 short piece, light gray plaid Tweed, $1.50; sale price .... 59¢

AT 75¢ YARD.

TWO PIECES navy and gray heavy Covert Cloth for children's unlined coats; regular $2.00; sale price ..... 75¢

TWO PIECES extra heavy dark Mantling, invisible plaid effect, suitable for girls' or ladies' ulsters or men's house coats; $2.50 goods; sale price, a yard ..... 75¢

TWO PIECES Astrachan Curl, light blue with black mixture, suitable for children's winter coats; regular $2.00 goods; sale price, yard ..... 75¢

ONE PIECE black smooth hair finish cloth, very glossy, suitable for robe lining with wavy pattern; regular $2.00; sale price, a yard ..... 75¢

ONE PIECE Black Fur Cloth, suitable for making muffs or throws, etc., $2.50 goods; sale price, yard ..... 75¢

ONE PIECE $2.00 Fawn Striped Coating, sale price, yard 75¢

AT $1.50 YARD.

TWO PIECES black glossy hair finish cloth, suitable for ladies' coats and wraps, pretty wave pattern; $3.50 cloth, sale price $1.50

One piece black bear cloth, $3.00; sale price $1.50

1 piece dark gray bear cloth, $2.75; sale price $1.50

These are suitable for girls' and women's coats, muffs, throws, etc.; all are 50 inches wide.

Sale Will Commence Thursday Morning

Come early and look them over. You will surely find amongst this lot something you will need for the coming winter season, and the prices above tell the story of the money you may save. Seasonable Suitings and Coatings at one-half and one-third regular prices. COLORED DRESS GOODS SECTION—MAIN FLOOR.

TURK TROOPS ATTEMPT

work of 450 men left in prison, who beat down the doors and escaped.

ARMY IN PITIABLE STATE.

[Canadian Press.]

London, Oct. 11.—The Morning Post's Tripoli dispatch, dated Oct. 10, reports that the Turkish army under Munhir Pasha, is in a pitiable state from lack of provisions and water, and that Munhir Pasha has opened negotiations with the Italian commandant.

The Chronicle's Constantinople correspondent says that no Turkish troops will be allowed to pass through any port. It is announced that Bulgaria and Roumania have decided on a general mobilization. A run on the branch Bank of Rome in Constantinople has resulted in the withdrawal of many millions.

A Tripoli dispatch to the Daily Mail says:

All Ottoman subjects of Turkish race will be expelled from the town within a week. All the Arab reserves, called up by the Turks, have returned to their homes. The Turkish troops are said to be completely demoralized, and are living on half-rations.

TURKISH FORCES FLEEING.

[Canadian Press.]

London, Oct. 11.—A dispatch to the Times from Malta says that on Oct. 8 300 Turkish cavalrymen advanced to within two miles and a half of Tripoli, and tried to surprise the sentries, but were repulsed. Three Turks were killed.

A majority of the Turkish troops have fled, says the dispatch, by the four caravan routes, but 3,500 are concentrating near Ghurean, some distance from Tripoli, behind a chain of hills. They have only four guns, as the others are abandoned in the Tripoli forts, where the Italians found 27, including Krupps, dated 1875, and some new runs which had been landed from the Derna.

The Times' Tripoli correspondent, in a dispatch dated Oct. 8, describes the Turkish army as being in an unenviable plight, and Munhir Pasha as "a dear old gentleman incapable of independent action without instruction from Stamboul.

Munhir Lacks Spunk.

"He has been marching to and fro in the desert," continues the correspondent, "wanting to attack the Italians, but lacking the backbone to carry through his plans. Finally, he halted about a day's march outside the town, while the camels were sent unescorted into the interior. Realizing that the Turkish regime was at an end and that they were not likely to get their pay, the camel men decamped with the camels and loads.

"Nearly all the local conscripts, as well as the Arabs, who were armed by the local authorities, deserted, and Munhir Pasha, in despair, opened negotiations with the Italian commander. As the Turks left both artillery and wives in Tripoli there was no intention of a serious resistance. The story is one that should fill Shefket Pasha's heirs with grief.

Warships Joined in.

Tripoli dispatchto the Times dated Oct. 10 says:

Last night the naval outpost line around the town was disturbed by a hostile movement along its front. The Italians fired many volleys, and the warships joined in with shrapnel and shell. No Italian casualties are reported.

The Constantinople correspondent of the Times says:

The Italian military authorities have seized the offices of the imperial public debt administration in Tripoli and expelled all the officials, who have been given six days in which to quit the country. The council of the public debt will protest to Italy, and the powers on behalf of the bondholders.

GIFT FOR PELLETIER

Presented With Cabinet When He Retires From Legislature.

[Canadian Press.]

Sherbrooke, Que., Oct. 11.—Hon. Dr. P. Pelletier, ex-speaker of the Legislature, was last night presented by the citizens of Sherbrooke with a handsome silver and maple smoker's cabinet. The presentation took place in the art hall, where a large crowd had gathered. The fund for the purpose of purchasing the cabinet was raised by public subscription, under the auspices of the board of trade.

Addresses were delivered by Mayor C. W. Cote, pro-Mayor Ledoux, and Mr. L. H. Herbert, president of La Chambre de Commerce.

The presentation was made by Mr. E. W. Farwell, president, and Mr. J. E. Poutre, vice-president of the board of trade, who read the address in English and French.

Dr. Pelletier replied in a short address, thanking his many friends in Sherbrooke, and promising them that he would always have a warm spot in his heart for his home city.

How easy it is to spend the money earned by somebody else.

Ever notice the funny names the people in strange towns have?

If you would discover a man's sore spot, keep quiet and let him talk.

TORONTO TO VOTE ON LOCAL OPTION

Temperance Forces Meet and Organize Strong Central Body.

REDUCE HOURS OF SALE

License Reduction Altogether Unsatisfactory to Forces Fighting the Liquor Evil.

Toronto, Oct. 11. — A local option campaign in Toronto in the fall of 1912 will be the probable result of the temperance mass meeting held in Foresters' Hall at the corner of College and Yonge streets last evening. The meeting was called by the Ontario branch of the Dominion Alliance, for the purpose of organizing a permanent temperance body in Toronto. The name of the new body, composed of the several hundred people present, is to be the Toronto City Temperance Alliance, in affiliation with the Dominion Alliance. There are similar organizations in almost every municipality throughout the Province where local option has been voted on or where a campaign is in prospect.

Several resolutions foreshadowing action in the near future were presented to the meeting, and, with some slight amendments, carried.

Tackle the Big Task.

The newly-appointed executive was instructed to consider the rival merits of license reduction and local option bylaws for Toronto when a vote shall be decided upon. A resolution urging that steps should be taken at once to inaugurate a local option campaign to abolish the retail sale of liquor in this city at the earliest date practicable was added to strengthen the other motion. The temper of the speeches was generally in favor of tackling the whole proposition, as the last reduction was felt not to have been a complete success, in many ways.

Two resolutions dealing with the matter of club licenses were passed, one urging that the hours for the sale of liquor be limited to those in force with regard to the regular retail licensed places, and the other recommending that club licenses be abolished altogether.

Hours for Closing.

It was also decided to ask for legislation giving any district or area in a city the right to ask by petition to take a vote upon the abolition of licenses within its bounds.

Another resolution was in favor of asking the Government to introduce legislation closing bars and shops throughout the Province from 7 p.m. every night in the week except Saturday, and from 12 noon Saturday to 8 a.m. Monday, or at least giving the cities power to enach such early closing bylaws as they might decide by vote at the elections.

The sentiment of the meeting was not exactly optimistic. Mr. Ben Spence, secretary of the Ontario branch of the alliance, echoed the opinion of many of those present when he said he was disgusted with the bungling of the license commissioners in making the reduction of 40 licenses asked for by the voters of Toronto two years ago. He said that instead of cutting off whole areas and making the outlying districts clean, they had cut off one out of three licenses in a group, and the other two had simply lengthened their bars and carried on the same amount of business. Other speakers talked about taking a beating for the sake of feeling the situation. It was generally felt that no vote could be taken before January, 1913.

The Officers Elected.

The officers elected to carry on the new organization were as follows: President, Hon. A. B. Morine; vice-presidents, Father Minehan, W. H. Smith, Joseph Oliver, Mrs. F. C. Ward; secretary, Rev. R. F. Hamilton; treasurer, Alderman J. O. McCarthy.

The gathering was very largely attended by representatives of the churches and local temperance societies.

LIFE IMPRISONMENT FOR COLORED PORTER

Chatham Jury Finds Charles Hurst Is Guilty of Manslaughter.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Chatham, Oct. 11.—Life imprisonment was the sentence imposed on Charles Hurst, colored, by Mr. Justice Falconbridge late last night, when the jury returned a verdict, finding the prisoner guilty of manslaughter. Hurst heard the sentence with a calmness that surprised the crowd in the court room. The affair for which he was sentenced took place on Aug. 1, when during a colored celebration, Hurst attacked Thomas Brown, a white man, and inflicted injuries from which he died soon afterwards.

Mr. Edmund Meredith, K.C., conducted the prosecution. No witnesses were called for the defence, and Mr. Justice Falconbridge charged very strongly against the prisoner, saying that they would either have to bring in a verdict of manslaughter or murder.

The evidence was to the effect that during the celebration Hurst was walking around with a woman named Bella Taylor, and after he had had a quarrel with her, she started down a side street. Brown also was on the street, and Hurst, thinking that the woman who had left him was following Brown, went up and struck Brown several blows with his fist, and once with a cane. One of the blows fractured Brown's skull, and he died in a few minutes.

THE GLOBE EXPLAINS

Treated Only as Other Newspapers Have Been Treated.

Toronto, Oct. 11.—The Toronto News has made the accusation that the Toronto Globe is in debt to the Government to the extent of $25,000 for postage on papers during election time. The Globe has completely answered the spiteful attack by pointing out that in common with most of the other Toronto papers, it at first paid extra postage, and was later refunded the money when all the papers claimed that the regular rates should apply. The Globe agreed to the refund on condition that the other papers should be given the same treatment.

SHOT WHILE COON-HUNTING.

Barrie, Ont., Oct. 10. — Fred Salisbury, who is employed on the farm of County Treasurer Daniel Quinlan, while out coon-hunting last night received a charge of shot in his right foot from a gun he was carrying. The injured man is in the Royal Victoria Hospital and it is feared his foot will have to be amputated. One of the party struck at the coon with a stick, the blow discharging the gun in the hands of Salisbury.

KILLED AT TORONTO.

Toronto, Oct. 10.—By hesitating a second too long before stepping off the track when an approaching engine whistled a warning, Paigrane di Angelo was so badly injured at the railway crossing over Mimico Creek at noon yesterday that he died ten minutes later.

COL. CRAIG NOMINATED.

Fergus, Oct. 10.—At a Conservative meeting held here today Col. J. J. Craig was nominated as candidate for East Wellington at the coming elections.

BARN WAS WRECKED.

Chatham, Oct. 10.—The big barn of H. W. Park, of concession 9, Raleigh, which was in the course of erection, was wrecked in the big windstorm recently.

LONDON, WEDNESDAY, OCT. 11.

GROWLING AT THEIR LEADER.

The Montreal Star and the Toronto Telegram savagely rebuke Mr. Borden's want of moral courage in the choice of his associates.

"Sinister forces have been granted admission to the Privy Council chamber at a time when they might easily have been rightly excluded," says the Star. This is significant language, coming from the most aggressive journalistic opponent of reciprocity in the late elections.

The Telegram is more outspoken and personal. It advises Conservatives to try to defeat Mr. White and Mr. Cochrane when they appear for re-election as cabinet ministers. Mr. White it pillories as the nominee of corporationism, but Mr. Cochrane is the chief target of its wrath. It calls him a dismal failure as Ontario Minister of Lands, having done nothing to open up New Ontario to settlement. It accuses him of corporation sympathies, and of having brought Bourassa into Ontario.

Will the Telegram have the courage of its convictions by opposing Mr. White if he is offered a seat in Conservative Toronto? It will not require much backbone to fight him at long distance, if, as reported, he will seek a constituency elsewhere.

Having lined up with the Big Interests in fighting a measure of relief for farmers and consumers, the Star and the Telegram are not too consistent in their protests against corporation domination in the Borden Government. They are getting what they asked the electors to vote for.

THE SURRENDER TO THE NATIONALISTS.

Consistent Conservatives must be scandalized and ashamed at their betrayal by Mr. Borden and his surrender to the out-and-out Nationalists. No other such act as the Borden-Bourassa deal defaces the record of Canadian politics. When Mr. Borden kissed Great Britain's forehead, he is now clearly seen to have betrayed her as well as his party. While he waved the Union Jack with every hand and foot, his ally Bourassa cried to the French-Canadians that this flag should be pulled from the masthead of the Canadian navy, and chuckled to his confreres that no more would be heard of imperial fleets. When Mr. Borden called for "Rule Britannia," he was guilty of hypocrisy, as the Liberal press pointed out all along.

Ontario Conservatives were inclined to be skeptical regarding the "unholy alliance." They looked upon it as an election cry, a device of the Liberal press, a counter bogey to the annexation scare-crow; or they took it as a good joke, something to worry and weaken Laurier, but never expecting really to win and so find the alliance a serious matter. Those few who read the Nationalist press, however, knew very well the danger. The alliance is real and has had the visible result that Mr. Borden must at once pay the price by including three bitter, anti-British Nationalists in his cabinet. Everybody must now know what the alliance means.

Messrs. Monk, Pelletier and Nantel are leaders of the Nationalist movement, men opposed to all forms of assistance to the mother country. Their supporters in the press and platform rallied at the "British-born" as the scum of English slums, and branded them not merely as "British offscouring," but as Britons at all. They are eager to keep out of this country the British immigrant, making no secret of their view that if the Briton is kept out, the rapidly increasing French race will be able to possess or control the Dominion. They have ridden into power and into Mr. Borden's cabinet with this cry on a wave of anti-British sentiment which seized on a part of Quebec. For there the whole campaign was waged on the navy, not on the reciprocity issue.

To appoint such men as these to important cabinet posts was to slap the Toronto Imperialists in the face. But there can be no doubt that Toronto Imperialism is largely a sham. Mr. Bourassa's organ, Le Devoir, sized it up pretty well in the campaign time, when it complimented Mr. Borden for treating the imperialist sentiment of Ontario Conservatives as a negligible quantity. Evidently Mr. Borden still thinks that way. And is he not thinking approximately aright so far as Toronto is concerned? The Toronto malcontents are more annoyed about Mr. White, who called himself a Liberal.

DECEIVING THE LANCASHIRE WORKMEN.

Sir Max Aitken, Canada's cement knight and dashing young merger-maker, has been drawing inferences from the Canadian elections for the comfort of his constituents in Ashton-under-Lyne, Lancashire. "The real solution for unemployment," he told them in an address the other day, "is more markets, more sales for our manufactured goods. Imperial preference is calculated to solve unemployment. The whole basis of preference is new markets for our goods. In the policy of preference lay the only salvation of British trade." The result of the Canadian elections he described as an invitation to the mother country to help herself to these favors.

Sir Max Aitken is deliberately deceiving the workingmen of Lancashire. He is a Canadian, in close touch with Canadian politics and public opinion. He knows that the men now in control at Ottawa will in no circumstances increase the British preference. They would be forbidden by the interests who put them where they are. Mr. Borden himself once said that a factory in Nova Scotia was as good for the empire as a factory in Lancashire or Yorkshire.

If the Unionists ever gain power in Britain on a tariff "reform" platform, the British workmen will soon discover that they have been betrayed by leaders like Sir Max Aitken, who hold out illusory hopes of larger markets in Canada. From the Laurier Government, the authors of the preference, some further favors would have been obtained, but not from the men now at Ottawa. They hold office by the gift and at the pleasure of manufacturers who would exclude all British goods of a competitive character if they dared.

There are four millionaires in the cabinet, and others who will work for the millionaires.

On purely partisan grounds the Liberals can find no fault with the cabinet. Mr. Borden has played into their hands.

Haul down the British ensign on the Niobe and Rainbow. Bourassa says it has no right to be there, and Bourassa is boss.

The average age of the new cabinet ministers is 54, the youngest being 44 and the oldest 64. Where is the young talent in the Conservative party?

The Toronto News pretends to be pleased with the Borden cabinet, two members of which, Foster and Monk, it tried to read out of the Conservative party and out of public life.

The Methodist Ecumenical Conference praises President Taft, and indorses his peace propaganda. Evidently the conference doesn't believe all that was said about him in the late election.

The Hamilton Spectator naively confesses that it cannot understand the why and wherefore of certain of Mr. Borden's cabinet selections, but it has a very considerable confidence in Mr. Borden. Such a cabinet puts a strain on anyone's confidence in Mr. Borden.

HER SPECIALTY.

"But you should see her managing George."

THE PLAIN FACTS.

"Did you see the prisoner strike this man in the melee?"

"No; I seen him swat him on the nose."

SAME FATUOUS PRACTICE.

[Farmer's Advocate.]

In its most primitive and permanent aspects, the history of agriculture is described as the history of man. In its simplest form, crops were raised on one patch of ground till exhausted, when it was allowed to run wild and abandoned to the weeds, for another. After all the teachings of the centuries, men are found pursuing the same fatuous practice. The desire for speedy wealth-getting has depleted many Western State areas, and too many grain-growers in the Canadian West are prone to repeat the short-sighted practice. Fortunately, waning yields, the increase of weeds, and corrective visitations of summer frosts and hail teach the needed lessons of going more slowly by a rational system of mixed husbandry, with crop rotation.

BUBBLES.

[Philadelphia Bulletin.]

Fall comes and—autumn leaves.
Gossip tells on the best of people.
One drink of half and half may make a man wholly drunk.
Fall is the time for chestnuts—especially that old one about "the melancholy days."
There is pretty sure to be a general response to roll call when it is the pay roll.
The trouble with the milk of human kindness is, there are so many times it cannot stand the strain.

SO THEY SAY WHO HAVE TRIED IT.

[Chicago Record-Herald.]

Michigan paper, referring to the bereavement of one of its subscribers, said: "She was left a widow through the death of her husband."

10,000 STUNNED FISH.

[London Daily News.]

During the past week-end the Marquis of Bute carried out some interesting operations at Loch Fad, the largest body of water in the island.

For some time the marquis has been anxious to stock the lake with trout, but it was so filled with pike that this was impracticable. Accordingly he arranged to have it blasted with gelignite from end to end. The loch is over two miles long, and over 200 mines were required.

From the spectacular point of view the effect was very fine, columns of water rising to a height of 70 feet. When the blasting was over nearly 10,000 stunned fish were netted from the surface of the water, and it is computed that many more must have been killed. Operations will be resumed after the lapse of six weeks.

SHE CAPITULATED.

"Would you like to fly with me?" asked the aviator, addressing Miss Fadeout.

"Oh, sir," she cried, grasping him around the neck, "this is awfully sudden, but if you insist."

SORROW.

[Chicago Record-Herald.]

Beside her window all the day
She sits and sadly looks away,
And now and then
She draws a pensive little sigh,
And busy men
And smiling women hurry by,
Nor pause, although her face is fair,
To ask her why she lingers there.

Besides her window all day long
She gazes at the passing throng,
As if to see
If there may not at last appear
A face that she
Has missed through many a lonely year—
She's been invited out somewhere,
And "hasn't anything to wear."

REFUSED M. P.'S SALARY.

[English Exchange.]

The general purposes committee of the Wolverhampton, Eng., Council had before them the offer of Mr. Alfred Bird, M. P., of his parliamentary salary to the borough, and decided to recommend the council that it be not accepted.

The committee passed a resolution authorizing the town clerk to request the borough treasurer to return the sum received from Mr. Bird and to respectfully intimate to him that the council are of opinion that acceptance of this money or of any further sum from the same source might create dissension, which in the public interest it is better to avoid.

OTTAWA'S CHIEF INTEREST.

[Ottawa Free Press.]

There are lots of people right here in Ottawa who are more concerned about Saturday's football line-up than Mr. Borden's Cabinet.

KILLED BY FOX BITE.

[London Daily News.]

The death took place at Sutton Veney, near Warminster, on Thursday night, of Mr. Richard Bower, who had retaken over the mastership of the South and West Wilts foxhounds.

Mr. Bower came down from London on Monday night to attend a meeting of the Hunt Committee at Warminster. He was then feeling very ill, and in the evening became much worse, and sent for a doctor. He remained in a feverish condition until 6 o'clock on Wednesday night, when symptoms of hydrophobia developed, and he passed away on the following evening.

Some months ago, Mr. Bower was bitten by a fox, and it is presumed that the malady was conveyed in this way.

A BIT OF ENGLISH HUMOR.

[Lippincott's.]

The night train was approaching Blackheath, outside of London, and two Americans, unacquainted with the locality, were in doubt as to the station. One peered out through the window into the unresponsive darkness and sank back to his place. The other did precisely the same.

"Is it Blackheath?" inquired the first.

"The Lord only knows!" replied the other, in hopeless fashion.

A small, apologetic, shrinking sort of Englishman, sitting next spoke up.

"I beg your pardon," he said, softly, "for intruding upon your personal and private conversation, but as I happen to share that knowledge with the Almighty, permit me to say that it is Blackheath."

WIDER USE OF MOTOR VEHICLES.

[Cleveland Leader.]

The gains of the motor truck and the motor delivery wagon are among the outstanding features of the business development of the times. The manufacture of such business vehicles used without horses is flourishing at a wonderful rate.

According to the latest statistics there are 2,500 motor vehicles of that kind in New York, half as many in Chicago, 700 in Philadelphia, and 700 in Boston, 400 in Detroit, 300 in Pittsburg and 300 in St. Louis. Kansas City is credited with 160 and Cleveland, Buffalo and Indianapolis with 150 apiece. The figures look altogether too small for this city.

Out on the Pacific coast, where the climate is especially favorable for motor vehicles, there are 300 of the working wagon type in Portland, 200 in San Francisco but only 80 in Seattle and 70 in Los Angeles. In the northwest, Minneapolis has 100 and St. Paul as many. Denver speaks well for the mountain states with 100 motor business vehicles not for passengers.

It will be seen that with such a start the motor wagon and the motor truck are assured of great gains in the immediate future. Those vehicles could not have gone so far if they had not been destined to go much farther, and that speedily.

In a somewhat different field we have the autobus carrying passengers regularly over Nevada deserts, between mining camps. The motor cab and the motor carriage are numerous and multiplying in cities all over the civilized world. And now comes the automobile caravan of touring cars, starting on a sightseeing journey from New York to Los Angeles, with the passengers paying their fare as they would on a railroad train and assuming no further responsibility or care for their ride across the continent.

This gives the automobile new standing as a common carrier. It enters the field of interstate travel, on a business basis, and it becomes in some small degree the rival of the railroad in the field once occupied in part, by the stage coach.

INSPECTOR OF BEDCLOTHES.

[Evening Wisconsin.]

When everything is regulated by law there will be more people on the public payroll than there are now, though great advances have been made during the past few years in nearly every part of the Union. Kansas boasts an official inspector of bedclothes. He is John Kleinhans, who has been directed by the state board of health to see that Kansas hotel patrons get what the law says they are entitled to when they pay their money. This includes sheets ninety-two inches long, free from germs. A hotelman at Goffs, who was found to be using short sheets, has been fined $25. There is only one thing to be said in favor of a short sheet—that it can't hold so many germs as a large one.

THE BUILDING PERMITS SHOW INCREASE PAST EIGHT MONTHS

London Figures Demonstrate a Boost of 17.8 Per Cent Over the Same Period of a Year Ago—The Figures for Canada.

Last week the Financial Post published the building permits of thirty cities for the month of August, the total showing a gain of 41.3 per cent over the same month a year ago. Gratifying as that table proved to be, the following tabular statement presenting the permits of 33 cities for the eight months of the year now expired is equally pleasing as an evidence of sustained and expanding development.

Ten of the cities, says the Post, unfortunately show a decline, and had they broken even instead of going back, the net increase would have been more than three million dollars greater, and equal to a gain of 38.5 per cent. Guelph leads in the percentage column with 332 per cent, Medicine Hat and Prince Albert taking second and third place with 285 and 246 per cent respectively. Other cities exceeding 100 per cent increases are Calgary, Windsor, Regina and Moosejaw. In actual figures of increase, however, Calgary retains the commanding position it has held for some time. Vancouver, Toronto, Regina, Saskatoon, Edmonton and Hamilton following in the order named, and all showing advances in excess of $1,000,000.

BARRIE MAN ON TRIAL FOR LIFE

Arthur Sheridan Displays Absolute Indifference to Proceedings.

SIGNED A CONFESSION

Defence Will Seek to Have Charge Reduced to One of Manslaughter.

[Canadian Press.]

Barrie, Ont., Oct. 11. — Arthur Sheridan, the man charged with murdering Ross Ford on the night of the 8th of August, at a party given by George Duff, in the township of Orillia, was the most indifferent man in the crowded courtroom this morning, when Chancellor Boyd commenced the trial.

T. C. Robinette and J. Mulcahy are acting for Sheridan, and J. White, of Pembroke, for the crown.

Both sides exhausted their challenges before a jury was secured. Sheridan maintained a stolid indifference as one juror after another was told to stand aside.

The first witness was John Reid, chief of the Orillia police, who told of the finding of Ford's body on the roadside in a pool of blood at midnight. He also produced the double-bladed three-inch Italian knife used by Sheridan, as well as the confession signed by the prisoner after his capture.

Harry Wright, a constable, corroborated the the evidence of the chief.

James Coble, who was at the party, at Duff's, swore that he was outside, when Ford asked Sheridan to take a walk. They left the two men together apparently on good terms, but within three minutes Sheridan was back, saying that he had done for Ford. Coble saw a shuffle, and he believed Ford ran 15 or 20 steps after being stabbed before dropping. The defence is endeavoring to make out a case of manslaughter.

MEETING TO PROMOTE MISSIONARY WORK

Extensive Preparations Being Made to Make Convention a Success.

Extensive preparations are being made for the men's missionary convention to be held in this city, Nov. 6, 7 and 8. Mr. A. J. Robinson, the executive secretary, reports that encouraging responses are coming in from all denominations and churches throughout Western Ontario, and everything points to the greatest success for the conference.

The following undenominational committees have been appointed to superintend the local preparations for the convention:

Chairman—J. K. H. Pope.
Vice-Chairman—John Holman.
Treasurer—Israel Taylor.

DEFENDS DENOUNCING OF ASTOR NUPTIALS

Speaker at Ecumenical Congress Says Dr. Richmond Was Right.

[Canadian Press.]

Toronto, Oct. 11.—"The Church and Social Service" was the topic for discussion at the Methodist Conference this morning, but prior to this was presented a resolution proposing the formation of a permanent ecumenical commission, consisting of 100 members, half from the eastern, half from the western sections for the purpose of arranging for exchange of information promoting closer relations, and the furthering of moral progress throughout the world.

The committee will have a ten-year service. It was moved by Sir Robert Perkes, and seconded by Bishop Hamilton of Boston. It will be discussed tomorrow.

Rev. Dr. Alexander, of Nashville, spoke on "Social Teachings of Jesus." He defended the stand taken by Rev. Dr. Richmond in denunciation of the Astor nuptials.

Rev. J. E. Rattenbury pleaded for "Unchurched masses." One speaker had referred to continental socialism as anti-Christian, but that assertion needed analyzing. It should be remembered that movement was largely a protest against a bad form of Christianity. Socialism in Europe was far better than mere skepticism. The greatest force for peace in Europe today was international socialism. The man who is down is too apt to think that the church is the friend of those who are socially on top.

Rev. Wm. Walkinshaw spoke in favor of government land ownership. It was not right to leave it to individual rapacious land owners. The church should press for reform along this line. This was a serious problem in England.

THE CALL OF THE DEEP.

The moon rides high in the emerald sky,
Sing ho! for a sail away,
We'll leave our griefs to the By-and-Bye,
As over the rippling lake we fly,
Out of the shining bay.

The stars are bold and the night is cold,
Sing ho! for the joys to be,
For many a jest will the winds unfold,
And many a story be sweetly told,
Out on the deep blue sea.

Sing ho! sing ho! as away we go,
Sing ho! for the lights ashore,
But out on the deep, with our hearts aglow,
We'll cast our cares to the winds that blow,
Forever and evermore.

SARDINES.

The sardine has been honored with a history, the writer being no less a personage than a member of the Societe Academique of Nantes. The sardine in the early days, says the London Globe, was brought in in small boats. Then came a police ordinance in 1778 in the interest of the poorer classes against the monopolist. Owing to the police ordinance, the sardine was a source of livelihood to the Bretons. Joseph Cillin, whose name is still revered in Nantes, first prepared the fish with oil. His venture was a great success, and he had many imitators. In 1825 there was something like a crisis in the sardine industry. Millet, who was the chief curer, had his factory indicted as a nuisance, but the difficulty was overcome by removing it from the centre of the town to the shore. Although the fame of the sardine was firmly established it was only in 1855 that it received its apotheosis. Then it was shown in the Paris Exhibition.

There was a strange incident on Sedan day, in the Saxon town of Artern, Stuttgart. Hundreds of the inhabitants gathered to celebrate in the square where Bismarck's statue is situated. As the clock in the square struck noon the sword which the statute of the dead statesman held in its hand extended and fell noisily to the ground. It was immediately followed by one of the arms. This peculiar happening caused a great sensation among the superstitious, many of whom declared that it was a sign of war and disaster.

Beavers have become so numerous and destructive in some parts of the Canadian Northwest that the settlers have appealed to the government to exterminate them.

The London Advertiser Ermaline Paper Bag Cookery

These Cooking Bags are now available by mail or at The London Advertiser Office in quantity and at cost, as stated on coupon, which must be clipped out and presented or sent with order. A Paper Bag Cooking Coupon will be found in every issue of The London Advertiser as long as the bags are on sale.

Directions---How to Use Cooking Bags:

1. Select one that "fits" the food intended to be cooked.

2. Grease slightly the inside of the bag, except in the case of vegetables, or when water is to be added.

3. When the food has been prepared for the bag, place the same on the table, and lift the uppermost edge of the bag while you insert the contents.

4. Fold the mouth of the bag two or three times and fasten with a clip, or pins, or in any other way that will secure as nearly as possible a hermetical closing.

Should it ever happen that a bag leaks, simply transfer it with contents undisturbed to another bag.

5. The oven, any kind of which will do, should be kept clean, and if properly heated, as with the old style of cooking, results should satisfactorily follow. Average oven heat should be about 200 degrees, Fahr., and when the bag is put into the oven this heat should be reduced by about 30 degrees. In the case of ovens with solid shelves, a wire grid should be placed on the shelf with a space between and the bag with contents on the grid. Experience will soon teach the cook when the oven is hot enough without the use of a thermometer.

6. The oven door will not require to be opened every now and then "to see how the roast is doing." The whole force of the heat is playing upon the bag and from within it cannot escape.

7. Exercise care in taking the bag out of the oven, and if gas is used the bag should be kept out of danger of contact with the flame.

A plate inserted under the bag will best remove it from the oven.

8. When taken out for use the bag should be ripped open from the top and the fragments thrown away.

RUMORS OF THE RETURN OF EARLY VICTORIAN FASHIONS

The latest reports from the centre of fashion are still very discouraging to those in search of novelty, and the American buyers are investing very little in the clothes offered for their approval. These two facts combined would force one to believe that there must be something in the many rumors concerning an approaching era of hideous clothes, a complete return to fashions that were remarkable for their utter lack of chic and desirable practicability. All eyes are now focused upon the period known as Victorian, the time of binding fichus, long, sloping shoulder lines, puffed sleeves, gathered skirts, wrist ruffles, and as a typical feature of an ungraceful era, white stockings and black slippers. The fulfilment of this dire prophecy will mean an entire transformation of the silhouette and the coiffure, the exchanging of the rather splendid Babylonian finery for the rustic simplicity of the nineteenth century. Of course, a little comfort may be taken even with these vague threats, for materials are more varied and more supple than ever before. Chiffon, always beautiful, cannot be entirely forsaken. Best of all, women may reject the proffered clothes and adhere to the salient features of the present styles.

Slender Lines Retained.

While the new dresses are being made in all ways and shapes, some straight, some with frills and some with the horrible crinoline, good tailors, both here and abroad, closely follow the straight, slender lines of last season. Skirts are slim and narrow, much trimmed, and cut in complicated ways, and coats are hip length, with wide shawl collars, or they fasten to the throat with military collars of fur, while sleeves are tailored with turn-back cuffs of fur or contrasting material. In Paris many late fall or winter suits are made of velvet striped with another tone or seemingly iridescent, and these are braided or fur trimmed and worn with dainty blouses in white and color.

Tailors are also making top coats in tremendous quantities. Every woman owns at least one, and they are huge blanket things, sometimes reversible, and always with shawl collar and cuffs of some other color. The sleeves, the hallmark of every garment, are full and sewn into place at the armhole, or they are kimono, after the fashion of the last few seasons, or they are neither one nor the other, being attached to the coat with Raglan shoulder, in which case they are very full indeed, and caught with rather tightly buttoned cuffs at the hand. Top coats are voluminous and all-embracing, though when buttoned they slope in slightly below the hips. This same idea is carried out also in evening coats of velvet or brocade. These are cut in one piece and very ample to the waist line, then from there down the fastenings are placed on the side, thus giving a draped effect.

Black and White Combination Still Good.

Contrary to all expectations, black and white remains for the third season the smart combination for both hats and gowns, and it well deserves its popularity, for it cannot fail to be both distinguished and becoming. A recent importation in the way of an afternoon gown is of black and white brocade and black velvet, a magnificent affair, though the magpie colors for brocade are not the most beautiful selection. The gown in question, made with a cuirass of the brocade to the hips, where the black velvet skirt is attached by means of a band of shirring. A gown of this kind must be regarded as the individual effort of one maker, a style offered to be accepted or rejected by the public.

If the dressmakers seem to be still undecided about the costume, the milliners seem to be just as far as ever from the definite selection of a hot style, which is a strange state of affairs, for they are usually the first in the field. Indeed, the past week has not even brought rumors concerning headgear. Everyone, however, is positive that the present tall, cone-shaped crown hats cannot last, and the great New York shops most frankly say that they are just waiting to see what is to happen next.

Well-Dressed Women Hesitate.

In the meantime, women are buying only the hats which are absolutely necessary, and the smartest-looking are those who still wear summer straws, even with their heavier suits. It is almost needless to call attention to the fact that there seem to be only two kinds of hats made this season, the small one of velour that may be crushed to suit the face, and the velvet hat, small, high and some draped and some plain. Beyond these two the milliners seem to have no ideas, and as the majority of the hats are black, the hat shops are not places of much interest. As a hat accessory and to relieve the fearful monotony of the so-called novelties, most women are wearing veils, some with chenille dots which have returned, some with a shadow design, and some of thread lace, and well-dressed women are fastening them tight around the face, though not caught in the barret at the back. Some few white and colored veils may be seen, but these are usually but an individual fad, and one that never becomes universal.

Slippers Worn In Paris.

All this summer abroad women have been wearing slippers, just as Americans always do, a change from the tan boots brought about by the short skirts of the day. Many of these slippers, and the majority, were made after the colonial style once so popular here, were adorned with buckles, and as the Parisians always excel in extravagance, there were of silver and gold, and very often set with precious stones or very good imitations. Others, wishing something more original, have their initials intertwined and decorated with flowers and leaves; and, while one may not altogether care for this idea, at least one may grant its novelty. Others with originality as a goal, selected emblems and signs, pregnantly full of meaning for the wearer, but in any case graceful and ornamental. But the most elegant of all were content, as they usually are, to wear plain satin slippers, appropriate to the toilette, but quite unadorned, and this would in itself be a novelty in America, where few people wear slippers without some, however slight, ornamentation. It must be added here that French slippers are always very long and very narrow—also a fashion seldom seen on this side of the Atlantic.

Laces—Real and Imitation.

The extreme and ever-growing popularity of lace on all good costumes makes it desirable that women should learn a little about this most feminine of trimmings. It is surprising to find, when buying lace, how little one really knows, and how difficult it sometimes is for anyone unfamiliar with all kinds to distinguish the real from the imitation. It is true that recent years have made everyone quite learned on the subject of Irish of all kinds and other heavy crocheted laces, but when it comes to heavy Venetian, Venetian point, Chantilly, real and imitation, good filet, fine Brussels, and real Valenciennes, most women are absolutely at sea. And to make the subject really more difficult than ever, many magnificent laces contain the features of two or three of the best-known kinds, so that even experts have a hard time giving the mixture a name. Yet laces are in the fashion, and they must be used all winter, and, indeed, until the fichu and accompanying ruffles go completely out of style, and as they have just arrived, that day may be far distant.

Learning to Know Laces.

The first step is to learn which are pillow laces—that is, made upon a pad-like thing with innumerable and most confusing bobbins, and which are made with the aid of an ordinary needle and cobwebby thread. Then when buying, always compare the imitation with the genuine, a method of learning that cannot fail. As Chantilly is the lace most used at present, a study of that subject will prove useful, and the next in order is the heavy and most expensive Venetian, "Gros point de Venise," it is called the world over. The former is very fine and the threads of silk, while the latter is, in every way, just the opposite, being a pretty design with no background of net. A study of lace is really very much worth while, and knowledge will give one a proper appreciation of the costumes which will be seen during the coming winter.

ADVERTISER PATTERNS

BEAUTY PATTERN COMPANY.

NO. 8396—A SIMPLE BUT ELEGANT GOWN.

Ladies' Princess Dress. With High, Square Neck Opening, and With Two Styles of Sleeve.—White silk poplin, with embroidery in pastel tones or blue chiffon cloth with Persian banding, would be very effective for this model. The design may be closed invisibly at the side front or side back, and has a puff sleeve to the elbow, or may be finished with the one-piece long sleeve, both of which are furnished. The pattern is cut in six sizes—32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure. It requires 5¼ yards of 44-inch material for the 36-inch size.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of ten cents in silver or stamps.

Fashion and Other Gossip From London

[By Paul Villiers.]

Paris, Oct. 10.—Since the tide of American travel turned homeward there has been rather an amusing duel of wits in progress between the proprietors of the leading Parisian jewelry houses and the special agents of the United States treasury department. The answer as to who has been the winner will be answered at the New York custom house.

As is generally known, the American customs authorities keep a constant watch on the Paris jewelers to spot Americans who buy expensive gems, so that especial attention may be given them to see that the American customs are not defrauded.

Just why it is that American travelers are so keen on "beating Loeb," as they say, it is hard to say, unless it be that they like the excitement of the game, but it is a fact they are.

The Paris merchants have entered into the game and are adopting all sorts of devices to prevent the sleuths from seeing what their American customers are buying. One firm has opaque screens over its doors and windows, which render it impossible for customers to be seen from the outside.

Others have employees detailed to find out the identity of the watchers and watch them in turn.

Who could have ever thought that a circumstance, so trifling as that of Miss Anna P. Morgan tying with a running string her skirt around her ankles prefatory to an aviation flight could be to the great industry of Roubaix as the ill wind that blows nobody good? Some snobesses who saw this contrivance devised by the daughter of the foremost New York banker, took the notion as an elegant novelty to the Rue de la Paix where it was at once adopted. In a few days all the leading race course belles came out at Auteuil in jupes entravees This mode is now out, but the very narrow skirt derived from it still remains in, with, however, quilles to render motion easier at lateral opening from the knee down.

It does not follow that the great economy of stuff obtained by the couturieres must lead to a cheapening of the dress. When a gown contained at least a third less stuff, one might suppose, in following the light of reason, that a corresponding reduction must appear on the bill. This is far from being the case.

Hence greater profits to the Rue de la Paix, and the serious slackening of trade at Roubaix. That town supplies superfine delaines, tweeds, twills, ratines for ladies' clothing to the whole civilized world. Its very interesting exhibition, which President Fallieres went to visit, has not remedied the evil due to the jupe entravee and the silhouette slimness of figure which the couturieres do their best not to cast aside.

And so the Roubaisians grumble and look out for labor troubles. I may call attention to another change in which they may perhaps find room for a more hopeful state of mind. I heard from a priestess of fashion of note, in the course of last week. "La grande nouvelle, la nouvelle a sensation," is the reappearance in wareroomg that lay down the law to followers of fashion, of gigot (leg of mutton) sleeves. This will not at once widen skirts, but the French sense of harmony must bring about a metamorphosis in the silhouette—that is, if these sleeves are taken on.

Shoulders that are puffed out will find their balance in widened hips, and the waist, to mark the distance from shoulder to hip, will be longer. This will determine a different contour of the skirt, and bring it into the form of a harebell; I do not like to say a truncated cone, over which an ample skirt, gathered in at the waist, would properly fall. In any case one may predict greater length and fullness in the sleeves. Not that the short sleeves are likely to become old-fashioned. Modes now are very varied, and when there are fine arms it is allowable to show them to the most advantage.

The daring and unconvential dress of a certain Mlle. Paquerette, an "elgante" of the Quartier Latin, led to a curious scene. La Paquerette was wearing a blue silk dress, which opened at the side, allowed passersby more than a glimpse of her shapely ankles and calf, and a silk stocking to match the dress. The students admired her, but somebody took offence and went to inform a guardian that a young woman was openly defying the laws of decency. The guardian verified the statement with his own eyes, and, deeply shocked at the sight, sent for a policeman.

The official asked Paquerette to accompany him to the police station, but she protested with bitter tears. Many saw no harm in the manner in which she was dressed, but she had to accompany the policeman to the station. At the police station she promised to dress with less eccentricity, and was freed.

WHITE ROSES

By KATHARINE HOLLAND BROWN.

With a sudden glance at Corinna's face, Milly rose hastily and joined her husband behind the refrigerator.

"You needn't dodge. I won't throw any furniture," Corinna assured her, with freezing calm. She turned from the two gurgling wretches and swept forward in queenly welcome. For the cloud of dust had halted before their door.

Through its dim haze, there emerged first the bottle-green outlines of Mrs. Walsh's new runabout, then a big, loose-jointed, handsome figure, in smart, creamy flannels, topped startlingly by a huge beehive Mexican hat. For some occult reason, the hat caught and held the eye, far more than did the face of the man himself. Perhaps because of its quaint adornment, for it was draped in a wide curtain of green veil, comically reminiscent at once of the ring at Ascot and of the front pews of an ipswich meeting house.

Corinna returned his gay pow and stood watching him while he tinkered with his car. Behind him, Milly and the Chief gazed, grinning shamelessly.

"Look, look, Tommy! He's really dazzling. Would never dream he was a plodding college president. But that hat is a little—a little—I hope none of the ranchers happen to meet him. They might be startled by it, and say go. For folks with those goggles and that butterfly net, he looks so——"

"Whist, Milly! Don't say it. Sure, he's the fine figger of a man, goggles and all. I say, Corinna!" His whisper rose piercing shrill. "He makes the seventh scalp this month, isn't that it?" Or else the seventeenth? Why don't you keep a card index?"

Corinna swept her ribald family with a paralyzing eye. Then she stepped out upon the tiny portico.

"This is very, very good of you, Miss Curtis." The big blonde fellow dropped his wrench and turned to her with quick, eager deference. His broad, well-featured face lit with pleasure. His manner was frankly captivating. Corinna, the pride of the huge, absurd hat, the masking goggles, the languishing slant of the butterfly net, now drooping from the strap across his shoulder, he was indeed a fine figure of a man, poised, vigorous, full of alert interest, and boyishly engaging friendliness. Yet there was a glint of something keener than mere interest in the long glance he bent upon Corinna; a note of something deeper than friendliness in his strong, vibrant voice.

"Most good of you, I say," he repeated. His handsome, kindly face lighted eloquently with the commonplace words. "I hardly dared ask you to go with me on this rough trip. But I found myself very impatient to see you. So impatient that I could not wait. And it occurred to me that perhaps you would be willing to join me on this—hunting expedition." His shield of cool urbanity wavered a trifle. His fine eyes met hers with a quick gleam of understanding, then grew steady, intent. "For a field day, properly speaking, Mrs. Walsh tells me that some remarkable specimens are to be found roundabout."

"Mrs. Walsh is quite right." The Chief reared himself, serpentlike, but genial, from behind the refrigerator. "One finds no end of surprising specimens in these parts. Lots of 'em are well worth sticking on a card, with a pin. Ask Corinna. She's an expert collector——"

Milly's small, powerful clutch brought his collar strangling taut, cutting off the flow of speech like a stop-cock.

"Glad to hear it, Mr. Leonard." For a moment the eminent professor Hiller looked a shade bewildered. "Miss Curtis and I made several such trips up the North Shore last summer. Our explorations were amazing. Miss Curtis always brought me good fortune."

"That's more than most of her fellow-explorers can boast." The Chief wriggled neatly out of Milly's frenzied reach. "I haven't heard of a single success this year. Though you never can tell."

Vague doubt awoke in young Hiller's broad, ingenuous face. He shifted, and glanced at the marble Corinna.

"Oh, don't listen to Tommy, Professor Hiller. He's just trying to be amusing." Milly hurtled in ablaze with irate candor. "He's talking about people, not bugs. And we surely find odd specimens." She sped on wildly over the thin ice. "Look, there comes one of the oddest of all!" With a gasp of relief she ran to the door.

Young Hiller followed her glance. His dim sulkiness changed to quick interest.

"That boy riding up from the arroyo? Looks like a Mexican. How amazingly well he sits his horse!"

"That is our native prince," Milly explained excitedly. "Cypri D'Artizo. Last of the D'Artizo, he calls himself. Isn't he beautiful?"

"So that's the original land-owner, eh? I've heard of him. Looks like a stage bandit." Hiller glanced again at Corinna. "Shall we start on, Miss Curtis?"

"Why not wait and meet Cypri?" the Chief urged, hospitably. "He's a specimen that will beat anything your butterfly net can scoop in." Charming young villain, full of treasons and stratagems, and things. No? Well, wish you a pleasant day. And—good hunting."

The long low rakish car swung back into the trail then puffed and jounced away. The Chief and Milly stared after them, then turned to each other with an interested air.

"What do you think Tommy?"

"Maybe. Lucky dog! Though the man doesn't live who's fit to dust Corinna's shoes. Well, Cypri. What can I do for you?"

Cypri had halted his pony within ten yards of the cabin. However, his ear did not catch the Chief's voice. He sat leaning forward in the saddle, his black eyes fixed on the big, floundering car with its gay occupants. Every faculty seemed concentrated in his leaning, listening stare; every nerve in his tense young body was passionately thrilled to see.

"I say, Cypri!"

With a start the boy turned in his saddle. The tragic eagerness vanished from his face. His eyes grew densely black; slow, sullen insolence darkened his face. He saluted the Chief, his heavy eyes flashed on Milly as she amiably smiled up at him.

"You've ridden over from the Kelton camps since noon? You must be pretty well beat. Climb off and have a drink," the Chief spoke on, brusquely hospitable. "Milly, haven't you another of those tall, cold, innocent bottles in the ice-box?"

Milly, amazed, caught his meaning eye. Her bewildered face instantly blossomed with inviting smiles.

"Yes, indeed. Come in, Cypri. Nonsense! It's no trouble. She's there!"

Slowly Cypri dismounted. The dull inscrutable anger in his face changed to baffled question; he tiptoed into the cabin at Milly's heels, his long spurs clattering on the bare floor, then stood silent, almost comically overawed, like a great bashful boy. But when Milly poured a brimming glassful he took it, bowing, with a quick return, to his old swaggering ease. His dark eyes gleamed at her.

"Great is your condescension, Senora. Mil gracias!"

"You might pour me another tumbler, too. Thats a good grl. And some cookies, please. Sit down to the table, Cypri, I say. Your pony's too hot to start off right away." The Chief eyed him cordially, yet with an odd, measuring look.

"Thank you. I must not stay." Cypri bowed again. He stood and drank the milk, slowly, watching Milly as she fluttered about, serving her spoiled treasure. Once a flash of laughter glittered in his eyes; but his face held to its carved, moveless lines.

"Mil grasias, once again, Senora. Myself, I am honored, past my poor words to say."

With a sweeping bow, he set down the half-empty glass and strode to the door. He murmured a bland word or so, in reply to the Chief's hospitable present; then, with a final half-smiling glance at Milly, still hovering at the Chief's elbow, he swung on his tired little mount and rode oway.

For a long time the Chief looked after him with narrowing eyes.

"How kind of you, Tommy, dear, to ask him to sit down with you," Milly cooed against his shoulder. "But how queer that he should refuse, and in that grim, stuck-up way. When you're his employer, and his friend, too."

"His employer, and his enemy. That's the way he'd put it. Mind that." The Chief's look sobered. The old eternal riddle, that will forever haunt the man who stands by force of destiny the master of his fellow-man, gloomed in his kind, honest face, and shadowed his patient eyes. "I want to do the square thing by Cypri. I want to do the square thing by all the boys. And most of them know it, too. But—Oh, by George!" He shook his big shoulders with a lift of humorous discouragement—"How I do despise it, to be hated as Cypri hates me!"

"This is like old times, isn't it, Miss Curtis? And—and isn't it good? Almost too good to be true!"

About Cleaning.

Dear Miss Grey: 1. What will clean pink ostrich plumes? 2. What will clean white kid gloves? 3. What will make my hands very white?

A CONSTANT READER.

A.—1. Rub the feathers carefully with the hands in a basin of finely-powdered whiting. Shake out well and hold near the fire to curl the ends.

2. Draw the gloves on the hands, and wash in gasoline. Dry while still on the hands. Be sure to do the cleaning away from fire.

3. Rub nightly with equal parts of lemon juice and glycerine. Wear a pair of loose gloves when retiring.

Laundry Hints.

Dear Miss Grey: 1. Is there anything I can put in the water while washing a black sateen underskirt to make it stiff? 2. How can a white knitted cap be washed to avoid shrinking? INQUIRER.

A.—1. Wash in bran water, using no soap.

2. Knitted articles of wool always "draw up" to a certain extent, when washed. Use tepid water and good castile soap; rub with the hands; rinse and dry as quickly as possible.

A Gift or Not.

Dear Miss Grey: 1. Will you please tell me how I should reply to the announcement of a marriage? 2. Should I send congratulations or a gift to the bride? ANXIOUS.

A.—1. Not necessary or expected.

2. If you feel sufficiently acquainted, and wish to do so, send a gift. Otherwise, defer congratulations until the bride's first "At Home" day, when you can call and give them personally.

FASHION FRIVOLS.

Velvet fruits, especially on small bonnets, are one of the fashions of the early autumn.

Colored crystals in imitation of rubies, emeralds, sapphires and opals are used in motives, bands and tunics in barbaric effect.

A charming new trimming that is exceedingly smart is wool crochet. It comes in the form of flowers and leaves on a vine of silk covered cord or soutache.

Every kind of fringe is in demand, ball, drop fringe, chenille, wool, silk and crystal beads, while tassels are running fringe a close second.

While white gloves are still the correct thing, where economy has to be thought of, greys, tans and black are worn.

Separate Jackets.

The silk or satin jacket made along surplice lines with a peplum extension, finished off at the waist with a fancy girdle, and made to wear over lingerie or lace blouses, has sold fairly well, says the Dry Goods Economist. This style is shown mostly in black and blue satin or silk, and when worn with a smart tailored skirt gives the appearance of a one-piece dress.

Fruit Chocolate Cookies.

Cream thoroughly one-half of a cupful of butter; gradually add one cupful of sugar, beating until creamy. Mix together three teaspoonfuls of grated chocolate, two tablespoonfuls of sugar and three tablespoonfuls of warm water and cook for a moment over the fire until smooth; then beat into the first mixture. Add two well-beaten eggs, one-quarter of a teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of vanilla, one cupful of seeded and chopped raisins and one pint of flour sifted and mixed with one scant teaspoonful of baking powder. Now add as much flour as may be necessary to make just firm enough to roll out quite thin. Cut in rounds and bake on greased pans in a moderate oven.

Sweet Omelet With Jam.

A sweet omelet is a delightful dessert, its only drawback being that it must not stand, but go at once to the table. For the filling crumble half a dozen stale macaroons, add to them one heaping tablespoonful of thick whipped cream and three tablespoonfuls of strawberry or other kind of jam. Beat six eggs, without separating, adding one tablespoonful of warm water and one tablespoonful of sifted powdered sugar. Into a very hot pan drop one scant teaspoonful of butter and tilt until the bottom is evenly greased. Pour in the eggs and shake and turn with a spatula. When the omelet is set and ready to fold, pour the jam mixture in the centre, fold over and turn out on a hot dish. Dredge with a little powdered sugar and brown quickly by holding close to it a clean red-hot shovel, or score in parallel or crossed lines with a red-hot poker. Send to the table instantly and over each service put a spoonful of sweetened whipped cream.

TO CLEAN WICKER.

After summer use doubtless the wicker furniture will require a good cleaning. Do not scrub it with soap and water; that invariably turns it yellow and causes unpleasant squeaking. Try scrubbing it with strong salt water. If there are shabby places, give the articles a thorough salt water bath first; scrub well and dry as quickly as possible in the open air and sunshine. Should you decide to paint the furniture get well-mixed paint, rather thin; if the paint is too thick it will always rub off on the clothing. It is well to finish with a coat of enamel to make it last longer. Enamel does not hold dust like ordinary paint, consequently is more easily kept clean.

HELPFUL DISCOVERIES.

Cut a red cross from paper and paste it on the emergency drawer in the bathroom. This will make it easy for anyone to find the desired articles in a hurry. Soft linen, sterilized bandages, and the various remedies for burns and wounds should all be kept there.

A substitute for a cheval-glass may be provided in a little house by fastening an ordinary looking glass to the inside of a closet door where there is a good light, so that the lower edge of the glass shall be almost level with the bottom of the door. In this mirror one may see very well how a skirt hangs.

Paint your garbage can the same color as the house. You will prolong the can's usefulness, and if it must be stood outside the back door it will be less conspicuous.

Old stair carpet should not be wasted, for it will make good pads to go under the new stair covering. First shake the carpet and then cut away the bad parts; divide the remainder into short lengths, double them, and tack them at the edge of each step, where the tread comes, before laying the new carpet.

Before laundering curtains measure the width and keep it for reference. Lace curtains in particular are often torn by being stretched beyond their original width.

To prevent a baby from rolling off a bed, spread a large cotton quilt or piece of denim between the springs and the mattress, letting it hang over the sides to a depth of twenty inches or more; sew strong tapes firmly to each corner of the quilt or cloth, turn upward, and then tie securely to the bedposts.

WHO WOULD EMULATE HER?

In Brockton, Mass., there resides an old lady who recently celebrated her 97th birthday anniversary. She says she expects to live 100 years. Here are some of the rules she followed, and she attributes her longevity to them:

Lots of regular hard work—fifteen hours a day is not too much.

Abstain from idle gossiping about your neighbors.

Never flirt, for it is a useless waste of energy.

Most emphatically do not read novels, for it destroys the disposition. Women get wrinkles worrying over the troubles of the heroes.

If you have vanity of dress, destroy it. Some of the young women of today, by their mode of dress, are shortening their lives.

Keep away from dances and moving pictures.

NEW YORK LOSES TO BROOKLYN 2-1

Superbas Closed Season Yesterday With Victory Over Champions.

ATHLETICS BEAT STARS

Mack Used Three Pitchers, Who Held Opponents to Three Hits.

New York, Oct. 10.—The Brooklyns played their last home game of the season today, and beat the Giants. Hummel's triple and Barger's single tied the score in the ninth inning, and Wheat's single and Smith's double won the game in the tenth. Merkle played a star game at first. Score:

RAIN PLAYS HAVOC WITH RACE MEETING

No Chance for Racing Today Unless Weather Is Bright.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 10. — Rain again played havoc with the trots today, the entire card being called off before noon. Unless the weather is extremely favorable there will be no chance to race tomorrow as the storm lasted for 12 hours here. The bad weather has caused the association to lose heavily, and many of the outside horsemen are leaving for home. Emil Jacobson, of New York, today announced that he had purchased the fast trotting stallion Electric Todd, 2:09¼, for export to Vienna. Electric Todd was owned by J. J. Mooney, public safety director of Toledo, Ohio, and was a starter in the M. and M. at Detroit last season. This season he won one division of the Tavern stake at Cleveland, and two races at Columbus. He will be shipped to Austria at once.

SILVER CUP TO PARKER AT SPRINGWOOD SHOOT

A most interesting race of two hundred birds for a handsome silver cup has just been concluded at the Springwood Gun Club. Roland Day and Wm. Gibson (Parker), tied with 189. Bert Glover and S. Webb were close seconds with 188. The tie was shot off on Saturday, Parker winning by one bird. Other events will be shot next Saturday. All shooters invited.

CLEVELAND BLANKED BY CINCINNATI REDS

American and National League Teams Engage in Series for State Title.

Cincinnati, Oct. 10.—Cincinnati defeated Cleveland in the first game of the inter-league series for the championship of Ohio today by a score of 4 to 0. Suggs outpitched Blanding, holding the American Leaguers safe at all times. Jackson and Lajoie, Cleveland's most powerful batters, particularly were at sea.

Outside of Suggs' pitching, the throwing to bases of Catcher O'Neil, of Cleveland, was a feature of the game. Bescher batted hard, getting two doubles. It was announced that owing to the desire of the Cincinnati club to rush work on its new grandstands, the remainder of the series will be played in Cleveland.

JENNINGS MAY PURCHASE DOVES

Hughey Is Said To Be After Franchise of Boston Nationalists.

CONTRACT HAS EXPIRED

Leader of Tigers Is Not Now Tied Up With Team, and May Have Now Berth Soon.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Boston, Oct. 11.—Hughie Jennings may not manage the Tigers in Detroit next season. There is a well-founded rumor in circulation here that he is after the franchise of the Boston National League Club, with every prospect of securing it.

Jennings has sufficient backing, in addition to his own money, to secure it, and he will pay the price for it.

The Rustlers have been going badly, and the proposition here has not paid well of late years. Boston is one of the best ball towns in the country, and with a winning team the owners would make big money.

If Jennings purchases the franchise he will manage the team. The fans here are boosting for him to get it.

It is known definitely that Jennings has not signed up with Detroit for next season. His contract with Frank Navin has expired, and while the latter wanted him to sign up, Jennings refused until the question of the Boston franchise was definitely settled.

World's Series Bulletins

The Advertiser has arranged for a special bulletin service during the playing off of the world's series. All details will be received over special wire as the plays are made, and these will be posted at The Advertiser office.

For the benefit of the fans in different parts of the city who desire to keep in touch with the games, the scores will also be posted by the following agents of The Advertiser:

NEW YORK TURFMEN THROW UP THE SPONGE

That Racing May Be Legitimatized Within Three Years, Hopeless.

New York, Oct. 10. — A statement made today by one of the foremost turfmen of New York indicated that the associations which conducted horse-racing hereabouts until this season had about given up hope that the game would ever again be even half-way legitimatized.

Phil Dwyer, president of the Brooklyn Jockey Club, said:

"There will be a meeting of our club Friday afternoon at our headquarters in Brooklyn which shall decide whether we shall hold onto the Gravesend track, which we own, or shall give it up and allow it to be cut into building lots.

"I shall advise the jockey club to sell the track, for, in my opinion, horse-racing cannot come back inside of two or three years. And I think we'd be better off getting some return from the track by way of a sale, rather than letting it lie idle."

The Gittins Bill.

Mr. Dwyer and other turfmen who were with him when he was seen in the Waldorf today seemed very much depressed over the fact that the Gittins bill (which might have allowed racing to go on by exempting its directors from personal prosecution), had not been passed by the session of the Legislature which concluded a few days ago at Albany.

The Queen's County Jockey Club, which is also headed by Phil Dwyer, and which owns the Aqueduct track, will probably be faced soon with the same situation that is now confronting the Brooklyn. Mr. Dwyer was asked about this conviction.

"I don't know what will be done about Aqueduct," he said. "But it will probably be sold the same as Gravesend."

THE GIANTS ARE STILL FAVORED IN BETTING

Continue On at 5 to 4 Odds In New York City—Players Are Resting.

New York, Oct. 10.—With the interest in the world's series baseball games increasing hourly as the opening game approaches, numerous wagers on the outcome of the contests are being recorded. The Giants continue to be slight favorites at odds of about 5 to 4.

Applications for tickets continue to pour into the office of the New York Club, where a force of clerks, working night and day, is necessary to keep up with the mail. Approximately $200,000 has been received in checks for tickets. Today the tickets arrived from a printing establishment in Philadelphia, and a force of clerks was put to work mailing them to persons whose applications and money had been accepted. So great is the number of applications, however, that it is thought some of the applicants will not receive their tickets before Saturday morning.

Extension of Time.

The time for making applications for tickets expired last night, but today it was decided to accept further applications for tickets for the entire series. No more applications for tickets for single games will be received until the open sale of tickets that are left over begins.

Meanwhile Manager McGraw is giving his men a rest. Captain Doyle, who twisted his ankle in the game yesterday with Brooklyn, did not report for duty, and it is said that the injured member is doing nicely and that the second baseman will be in the line-up next Saturday. Catcher Meyers is being given a good rest, as it is up to him to catch all of the games. He has not worked since last week. Mathewson, Marquard and Wiltse will not pitch before the world's series unless McGraw thinks they need a limbering up, and in that case he will send them in for an inning or two in the three remaining games with Brooklyn, which are to be played in this city.

WORKMEN BUSY AT SHIBE PARK

Philadelphia Grounds Undergoing Overhauling for the Big Series.

Philadelphia, Oct. 10.—Workmen were busily engaged today in putting Shibe Park in shape for the first of the world's championship baseball games, to be played here next Monday. Additional benches and desks were installed and equipped with telegraph wires to accommodate the army of visiting newspapermen, while new fences were erected in the outfield to prevent spectators from overflowing the playing field.

Would You Pick Up a Dollar Bill If You Saw It On the Street? (Ely)

When a big store with a reputation like this NEW LIVE ONE makes the public statement that they will give absolutely free a pair of good pants with every Boy's Suit sold this week, it's like picking up dollars on the street.

You'd walk the streets all day long hunting the "filthy lucre," and break your back stooping to pick it up, wouldn't you?

We offer you a new, clean, modern way of picking up money. Here's a bright, new, smart Boys' Store, showing Sanford Juvenile Clothes fit for YOUR BOY. We'll give a good pair of extra pants with every suit you buy all this week, and deliver them also. You can't beat it for picking up money, and it doesn't hurt your back, either.

We've several nice saleslaadies to take care of the little chaps, and a couple of fine men for the bigger boys—every one with a smile—you can't find a "GROUCH" in the lot. Sanford's Juvenile Suits and Top Coats are three-seventy-five to fifteen.

We'll buy them back at double price if not satisfactory.

LORD MOUNSTEPHEN'S ROMANTIC CAREER

Drygoods Clerk Became Peer and Millionaire.

The early career of Lord Mountstephen, as touched on by Modern Society, will interest Canadian readers. What are the odds against a draper's assistant becoming a peer of the realm and a millionaire? Whatever the odds, they have been surmounted by Lord Mountstephen, who on Tuesday of this week entered upon his eighty-third year. The first colonial peer, his father was a journeyman carpenter in the little Banffshire town of Dufftown. It was there that the future baron was born, and in the small parish school he was educated. As a lad he herded cattle in his native glen, going after a time to serve an apprenticeship in an Aberdeen draper's shop. From Aberdeen to Glasgow was but a natural step, and from Glasgow farther "sooth" a still more natural step for the ambitious young Scot. In London he found employment in a big city warehouse, which did business with the colonies. One day a customer from Montreal looked in, and the smart young Scot was deputed to wait on him. The purchasing finished, the assistant made out an order, and signed it in the usual way.

The man from Montreal, noticing the signature, became suspicious, and proceeded to ask a few questions. The upshot of it all was that in the salesman from Banffshire the colonial found a cousin. An invitation to Canada followed, and in very few months George Stephen became his cousin's partner in the latter's business. From that moment success followed him. Abundantly gifted with racial grit, he rose in time to be president of the Bank of Montreal and head of the Canadian Pacific Railway. It was in connection with the latter that Lord Mountstephen's best work was done with Canada, and it was for this that he received, first his baronetcy, and later his peerage. True to the land that gave him fortune, he took his title from the great mountain—named after himself—which looks down upon the railway as it winds its way through the Rockies.

Lord Mountstephen has inherited all the quiet humor of his race. He tells one capital story against himself. He went into the French district surrounding Quebec one day. After he left, two worthies fell to discussing him. "Mountstephen," said one, "is a very fine man. "Yess," assented the other. "Big man?" "Big man in Montreal," said the other. "Oh! Very big man in Montreal—very big man in Montreal?" "Yes." Then came the final question. "What is he—butcher or hotelkeeper?"

NAPOLEON'S DOG.

[Dundee Advertiser.]

Augustus Folin tells an amusing story in the Debats about a stuffed dog that once belonged to Napoleon. This dog, when alive, accompanied the emperor to St. Helena, and was brought back to France by Marshal Bertrand, who died at the chateau of Tout Vent, near Chateauroux. The chateau, with all its possessions, including some relics of Napoleon, was left by its pious owner, Mme. Amedee, to the Archbishop of Bourges, and became the property of the Government when the church refused to accept the provisions of the separation act. The relics of Napoleon were moved to a museum at Bourges, but the people of Chateauroux were able to secure possession of these treasures and to house them in their own museum. The stuffed dog, however, was forgotten, and remained behind at the chateau.

At this there was a great outcry at Chateauroux, for the people wanted the dog in their museum. Their grievances were laid before the Government in prose and verse. However, nothing was done until a citizen of Chateauroux went to Paris and laid his claim to the dog before three cabinet ministers. He did so at considerable peril to himself, for when he said that he had come to see the ministers apropos a dog of Napoleon's that had been seized with the other possessions of the Archbishop of Bourges, he was nearly arrested as a lunatic. Who would have thought, as M. Filon says, that Napoleon's dog, who lived happily under the Concordat, could have got so entangled with the separation law of a hundred years later?

A STRANGE MARRIAGE CUSTON

Wooing is a slightly more complicated matter in Sardinia than it is here. The marriage customs here are very curious, says the Gentlewoman, quoting from "The Romance of a Great Singer." If a father has a marriageable daughter the would-be suitor applies to him for permission to see her as she goes to church, or, in the event of her not wishing to be seen, he communicates with her by means of a species of telephone which has been in use since time immemorial. It is a long string with a wooden knob at each end. The father's permission having been given, the lady drops one knob out of the window, and, the shutters being closed, places the other knob to her ear, while down below her would-be lover pours his protestations into the knob she has thrown into the street. Sometimes this form of courtship continues for two or three years, the man never seeing the face of his inamorata.

LUXURY OF A ROMAN VILLA

Since the days when Horace delighted the world with his epistles and satires a special glamor has hung round the neighborhood in which were situated the farm and villa given by the discriminating generosity of Maccenas to his friend, and an immense deal of labor and learning has been expended in order to ascertain with certainty the exact position of this delectable spot.

The approximate site was settled during the second half of the eighteenth century by a French abbe, Mgr. Capmartin de Chaupy, who spent a considerable part of his life in visiting the many places up and down Italy which claimed to be the actual ground praised with so much fervor by the great poet. But Mgr. de Chaupy was able to prove with certainty that the only situation which answered entirely to the description given was about eight miles from the modern Vicovaro, the Vicus Varia that Horace mentions as his nearest town, at the foot of which runs the little river now called the Licenza, a name which is obviously the Digentia of which Horace speaks, and which passes close to the little ancient Roman town of Mandela.

The Italian Government has initiated systematic excavations to bring to light all that has been left by past vandals, who as late as seventy years ago did not hesitate to carry off the beautiful marbles and statues lying about among the ruins in order to burn them and turn them into lime. From what has already been found it would appear that the historic villa was in the middle of an extensive garden, and was surrounded by a crypto portico, which protected it from the excessive heat of summer. Besides, there was an artificial lake in the middle of the garden 350 yards square and six feet deep, standing in front of the house, fed by the waters of the River Licenza through a most ingenious hydraulic system, the pipes of which have been found almost intact.

The hydraulic works extended to the thermae or baths, which latter date from the time of the Antonines, and of which the remains have also been found next to the villa on the left, with all the different rooms for bathing, cooling, or resting after the bath, showing the extreme of luxury which the ancient Romans enjoyed even in their country houses.

Magnificent mosaic pavements, fragments of beautiful frescoes and stucco work, and marble heads—one of which represents Faustina the younger—have also come to light. The body of the villa is composed of reticulated work, which is characteristic of the finest period of Roman architecture, in which the exquisitely regular form of the stones gives the appearance of a network to the walls, and which must have been particularly difficult to carry out in the hard limestone of the neighborhood. Meanwhile the excavations are being continued with great patience and care.—London Standard.

WHAT OLD FOLKS NEED

Some Are Younger at 65 Than Others Are at 40 Years.

So many people begin saying, "Well, I'm getting old now," about the time they reach 60, and then let themselves act old—and the fact is they could stay young for a long time, in all but years.

We have seen men and women of 65 who were really younger than some are at 40 years; were more active and more up-to date in everything.

When your energy begins to fail, build yourself up with our delicious cod liver oil and iron remedy, Vinol, which is a wonderful tonic and strengthener for all weak persons.

A gentleman of Allentown, Pa., says: "I am 76 years of age and find Vinol a great medicine It is wonderfully strengthening and comforting to me." (Name on request.)

Thousands of feeble old people have found Vinol to be just what they need to revive their flagging strength. We guarantee it to please you—money back if it does not.

Cheap Soleing and Cheap Selling

These two naturally go together.

With a thin "out-sole," and a thick "slip-tap," the cost of soleing can be reduced, since "out-soles" are worth more than "slip-taps."

But what happens? The wearer soon finds these cheap-soled shoes are "cheap" in a sense that doesn't please.

"INVICTUS SHOES" are never made to be "cheap," but to give the wearer all he wants and pays for in footwear.

ADMIRAL SIR EDWARD SEYMOUR WRITES STORY OF HIS LIFE

A Stirring Career—Was at Sevastopol—A Nelson Story—A Town in Russia

"My Naval Career and Travels." By Admiral of the Fleet the Right Hon. Sir Edward H. Seymour. Illustrated. Smith, Elder. 10s 6d, net.

Admiral Sir Edward Seymour, who is sprung of a race of seamen, began his career in the navy at the age of 12 in the year 1852. The entrance examination consisted of arithmetic, including the "rule of three," no fractions, and dictation of twenty lines from the Spectator; three spelling mistakes turned the candidate back for good, no second trial being allowed. The outbreak of the Crimean war almost synchronized with the first voyage taken by the future admiral, and his ship, H. M. S. Terrible, played an active part in the bombardment of Sevastopol. A hard worker, a good linguist, and an enthusiast for all modern improvements in the equipment of the navy, is revealed in the account which Sir Edward Seymour gives us of his career both on shore and afloat. His story is told with that directness and methodical arrangement which one associates with the best type of seaman, and where he passes comment upon men and actions it is done from a knowledge and experience that adds enormously to the weight of his criticisms.

At Sevastopol.

So much has been written about the blunders of the Crimean war that scarcely any folly seems too great for those who were responsible for its conduct. Admiral Seymour cannot leave the subject without expressing his opinion on an error of tactics, committed after the battle of Alma, and he holds to a theory which was backed up years afterward by the admissions of Russian officers.

"We on board the ships had a very fair side view of the battle, which, considering its importance, occupied a very short time. The Crimean campaign is now 'ancient history,' and therefore public opinion is probably but lukewarm about it. It is not for me to criticise, but I have no hesitation in saying that after the battle of the Alma, the allies could have gone straight into the north side, and thus captured Sevastopol with very little, if any, further loss.

"I know this not only from reading, but from talking in after years with French and Russian officers who were present there.

"The result of our not doing so, but sitting down before the place for a siege, was no doubt to bleed Russia through an extremity. But that was not what the expedition was sent for. It was to take Sevastopol, and capture or destroy the Russian fleet, and when commanders, naval or military, are by their governments, or superiors, ordered to do a thing, I presume their duty is to do it—if they can—and as quickly and with as little loss to their own forces as may be."

A Nelson Story.

In 1865, when Garibaldi visited England, the author was flag-lieutenant to his uncle, Admiral Sir Michael Seymour, at Portsmouth. Once, when he was accompanying the distinguished Italian through a cheering crowd, he was amused by the conduct of an old Irishwoman, who invoked curses upon the head of the man "who had dared to pull down the Pope." It was about the same time that an old veteran, Sir George Westphal, narrated a curious story about Nelson on the Victory:

"He was a midshipman in the Victory, and soon after Nelson was wounded, he (Westphal) was shot in the head, carried below and put down near the admiral, who noticed him, and asking who it was, said, 'Put my coat under his head.' This was done, and as Westphal's head was bleeding his hair stuck to the bullion of the admiral's epaulette, and to get the coat away they cut off some of the bullion, which he, of course, kept.

"He said to me: 'If you look carefully at Nelson's coat in the Painted Hall at Greenwich, you will see that some of the bullion has been cut off.' This I have done. I told this story to Admiral Mahan, who regretted he had not known it before he wrote the life of Nelson."

In 1866, with the retirement of his uncle, Seymour went on half-pay with the rank of commander, and during the next few years his experiences were varied in the extreme. He took a trip with Arctic whalers, served on coastguard duty at Queenstown, was commissioned to take H. M. S. Growler to Sierra Leone, where he pursued pirates and refractory natives, and, on attaining the rank of captain, he entered the trooping service, which afforded him the opportunity of landing at many foreign ports. Later on we find him back again in the regular service, and when attached to the Mediterranean squadron he visited the Ionian Islands, Trieste and Tunis. When at the latter port he surveyed the site of Carthage, and tells us that it is not in the least like Turner's picture.

A Tour in Russia.

The chapter in which the author narrates his experiences on a tour through Russia is one of the most interesting in the book. Sevastopol was revisited, and the admiral was entertained at a banquet of Russian officers who had survived the siege. The mere fact that he was invited speaks volumes for his friendliness of character. In a few words we are given most vivid pen pictures of places on the route:

"We went down the Caspian to Baku, of which place you can smell the oil two or three miles off. It was very hot when we got there; the very streets might be said to be 'watered' with oil, and the sea was covered with a good film of it—in a calm I believe you could light up the surface. I bathed in it, and when one came up after diving in, one had a cheap oil dressing on one's hair. The oil 'wells,' or rather oil fountains, took like trees of chocolate, and the froth is like milk."

An account of the China command, to which Admiral Seymour was appointed in 1897, fills up the concluding chapters of the book. One of the things he has to tell about China is a story in which Lord Charles Beresford figures. He is revealed in a most characteristic light:

"Lord Charles Beresford was at Hankow at the same time on his commercial mission to China, and soon after my interview with the viceroy, he also had one. When I again came up there, the consul, who always was present as interpreter at official visits, told me that the next time he saw the viceroy after Lord Charles' visit the viceroy said: 'Is Lord Charles Beresford a rebel?' and on being answered in the negative, explained that he thought so because at one time he had said to the viceroy: 'Well, if our Government won't do (something), my party will make them.'"

Space prevents us from saying anything of the Boxer uprising, or of the means by which the relief of Pekin was carried out. Throughout the book one is rather tantalized by the way in which the author often brings one to the opening of what appears to be a most tempting vision, and then suddenly lets fall the curtain, "because it is no part of his own story." Perhaps at some future date he will give us a peep into these half-discovered regions.

GIANT OUTFIELD IS FASTER THAN ATHLETIC SQUAD

[By Grantland Rice.]

DEVORE, Snodgrass, Murray and Becker against Oldring, Lord, Murphy and Strunk, bring on another super-heated argument between the fans of the New York Giants, and those of the Philadelphia Athletics.

Josh Devore of the Giants is faster than any member of either outfield squad. Snodgrass and Murray are only a shade behind the Giant greyhound in speed. McGraw's trio undoubtedly has the call in speed as all three are like white streaks upon the bases and cover a world of territory.

In the line of outfield play there is little choice. One set covers as much ground as the other and throws about as well. Oldring and Snodgrass both rank well in centre. Both are fast; both can hit and throw. Oldring has the edge in experience—especially world's series experience—and on this account may be given the shade.

In so far as outfield hitting is concerned, there is no difference worth noting. Mack's outlying picket squad probably has the call in batting, but this edge should be offset by Giant speed, where McGraw's clan has something to give away.

Murphy, of the Athletics, and Murray, of the Giants, are of widely different types. Murphy is the more deadly at bat, but Murray has the speed and the better arm.

With all points considered, these two rival outfields are too close together to have the verdict go either way. But while both outfield talent and infield strength are more or less vital factors, neither department, in my opinion, will be the central point nor the important section around which victory or defeat may curl. Speed and pitching will tell 80 per cent of the story, as the next round-up of the classic dope will show.

"Before I began taking Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy I had been suffering from heart trouble for over five years. I had grown so weak that it was impossible for me to do thirty minutes work in a whole day. I suffered intense pains in my left side and under the left shoulder blade, I could not sleep on the left side, and was so short of breath that I thought I should never be able to take a full breath again. The least excitement would bring on the most distressing palpitation. I had scarcely taken a half-bottle of the Heart Remedy before I could see a marked change in my condition. I began to sleep well, had a good appetite, and improved so rapidly that when I had taken six bottles I was completely cured.

NEOLITHIC VILLAGE

Interesting Discovery in Yorkshire, England.

What is claimed to be a Neolithic walled village has been discovered near the main road between Harrogate and Bolton Abbey, at a spot a few miles from Otley, by Mr. W. Storey, of Fewston, member of the Royal Archaeological Society of Great Britain and Ireland. The discovery may be divided in two parts. In a dell behind a hill are 24 stone circles varying in diameter from twenty feet to three feet, the whole being surrounded by evidences of a stone wall. One of the stone circles was a well, and two others are indisputably iron-smelting furnaces. A number of stone implements which experts ascribe to the Neolithic periods, have been found.

On a site above the village is a twenty-foot stone circle, commanding a magnificent view for miles down the valley, and evidently at one time used as a look-out. On the other side of the hill are two stone circles connected by a huge stone slab, a smaller stone circled filled with smaller circles about eighteen inches in diameter and two feet deep containing charcoal, and two large circular erections, supposed to have been used as a place of worship and crematorium.

TORONTO GLOBE ON THE CABINET

Says There Will Be Grave Objections to Inclusion of Rogers, Foster and Monk.

Toronto, Oct. 11.—The Globe today makes the following comment on Mr. Borden's cabinet:

In the formation of his ministry, Mr. Borden has again given evidence that self-assertion and pull count for far more in his eyes than modest worth. There are men in the Conservative party far more worthy of high office than Colonel Hughes or Dr. Reid, of Grenville, but they are of the type of Andrew Broder, and do not hunt for office in the fashion that seems most to impress Mr. Borden.

There will be criticism enough of his cabinet from Conservatives to make much from Liberal sources unnecessary. Especially will there be grave objection to the inclusion of Messrs. Rogers, Foster and Monk in the Government. Mr. Rogers brings to Ottawa from the west a sinister reputation as a politician skilled in the human devices that count for far more in the winning of elections than high ideals and patriotic fervor. It would almost seem that Mr. Borden chose him to "carry the bag." If that was the purpose the choice is well made.

It is scarcely necessary to say that The Globe believes Mr. Foster should not have been included in the Government in view of the verdict following the suit launched by him against The Globe and its editor. The former Minister of Finance went to court to vindicate his reputation and to disprove the charge that while the manager of a trust company "he asked for a private 'rake-off' in a deal with trust funds; that he directed the suspicious way in which that personal rake-off should be paid. That he got that rake-off, and that, as the high-salaried managing-director of the Union Trust Company, handling funds belonging to the I. O. F. fraternal society, he had no right or title to that money."

Mr. Foster failed to obtain the vindication he sought, and that failure should have been followed by his withdrawal from political life. His own political associates so understood his action when suit was entered. Mr. Borden did well when he gave the high place of finance minister to another than Mr. Foster; he would have done better had he left the chief of the nest of traitors out of his Government altogether.

The objection to Mr. Monk is of another sort entirely. He is a man of great ability and of excellent repute, but his presence in the Government proves that the alliance between the Royal Conservatives of Ontario and the anti-British Nationalists of Quebec did not end on election day. There can be no manner of doubt that Mr. Monk sits in the Government as the mouthpiece of Mr. Bourassa. The navy act is to be repealed or suspended, and Canada is to build no vessels for naval defense until the question goes to the people in the form of a referendum. The Liberal party passed the navy act, and had it remained in office would have built in this country the ships called for by it. We venture to say that is the result of Mr. Borden's evasion of the issue and his alliance with the Nationalists, there will be neither a Canadian navy nor a contribution to the imperial navy.

CANADIAN ARRESTED SWINDLING CHARGE

J. W. Hill and Bride Interrupted By Detectives While Boarding Train.

[Canadian Press.]

Salt Lake City, Oct. 11.—The honeymoon of J. W. Hill, alleged scion of an influential Canadian family, who arrived here last week from Los Angeles, where he married Miss Marie Sweeney, was suddenly interrupted by secret service operatives at Toole, Utah, just as Hill and his bride were about to board their train for the coast.

Warrants were issued charging forgery and the uttering of fraudulent drafts on the Union Bank of Winnipeg, Manitoba. The detectives, after allowing Hill to bid his wife farewell, brought him to this city, where he was lodged in jail to await an order for his extradition.

Hill began his operations nearly six weeks ago in New York, according to the officers, who claim to have followed his movements. He was successful in cashing one of the drafts in a New York bank, securing $5,000. It is charged that he disappeared suddenly, being next heard from on the Pacific coast. Another draft for $5,000, purporting to show funds in the Union Bank of Winnipeg, was presented by Hill in Los Angeles, it is alleged.

NEARLY 50,000 LIVES SAVED.

The claims of the Royal National Lifeboat Institution upon the public report are emphasized by the latest report issued regarding the philanthropic and beneficent work of this organization. During the past year no fewer than 767 lives were rescued by the lifeboatmen around our coast, bringing the total number of lives saved since the establishment of the institution to 49,394.

From time to time the nation is stirred by the tales of splendid heroism shown by the lifeboatmen around our perilous coasts, but it is not generally known, however, that this indispensable adjunct of our great merchant service in maintained under considerable financial disabilities. The expenditures necessary to equip and support 284 lifeboats belonging to the institution greatly exceeds the assured income. Futhermore, the demands upon its resources are constantly increasing, largely owing to the fact that motor lifeboats are gradually replacing the sailing boats—which were built at about one-fourth the cost. A greater range of action is secured by the motor boat service, with a consequent reduction of the risk to the lives of the crews and of those they rescue. It is unnecessary to commend the worthiness of an object patronized by King George, and which bears so intimately as the Royal lifeboat Institution does upon the interests and welfare of the people and the travelling public. The appeal now being issued for the necessary funds to carry on the praiseworthy work of the institution will therefore, it is hoped, meet with a generous response.

OLD EVANGELISTS IN DISTANT PAST

Lurid Pictures Painted by Them Would Not Appeal to "Soul" Audiences.

SOCIAL REFORM NEEDED

Nevertheless Men Must Be Brought to Church Through Spirit, Speaker Contends.

[Canadian Press.]

Toronto, Oct. 11.—Continuing its consideration of the various phases of the practical work of the church the Ecumenical Methodist Conference in this city today heard papers on "The Church and Social Service." Those assigned for the morning service were on "The Social Teaching of the Old and New Testaments," by Rev. Gross Alexander, of the Methodist Episcopal Church South; "Our Social Duty as a People's Church," by Rev. W. Hodson Smith, of Newquay, England, and "Christian and Anti-Christian Socialism," by Rev. B. Hudson, of the Primitive Methodist Church.

No subject taken up in open discussion has proved more interesting to the delegates than "Evangelism." Although it became evident that the old-time personal appeal in public is no longer generally applicable to modern conditions, many workers believed that in many cases the mind must be reached by appeals to the emotions.

The Spirit's the Thing.

Rev. J. E. Rattenbury, of London, superintendent of the London West End Mission, said: "It is the spirit that matters. If you have the right spirit the right methods will follow. Theaim is to get men to Christ and Christ to men."

"It would be absolutely impossible to get any sane audience today to believe in the lurid pictures painted by the evangelists of a few generations ago. The climate in our time has changed; the new evangelism must comprehend the child as well as the adult. The time has gone for us to expect a cataclysmic judgment. The new evangelist must be a social reformer, as was Christ himself."

Rev. F. N. Harker, of Durham, N. C., believes the gospel to be more than an appeal to the emotions. "It is a great stimulus to the intellect. There must be men especially fitted as evangelists, and they have a tremendous work to do, but the ideal evangelism must be an expression of the normal life of the church."

Peace Resolution Indorsed.

Delegates today received many messages indorsing the position of the convention as expressed in the adoption of a resolution yesterday, advocating universal peace, and urging "the Christian nations represented in the Ecumenical Conference speedily to take the necessary legislative action to consumate the arbitration treaty which has been signed by the representatives of the British Empire and the United States."

A mass meeting will be held tonight when addresses will be made by fraternal delegates representing the Baptist Workers, Congregational Union and Presbyterian Alliance.

DELEGATES FAVOR ARBITRATION IDEA

World's Congress Hail With Gratitude Relations of Great Countries.

SENTIMENT OF ENGLAND

Old Country Minister Says Desire of Britons Is For Brotherhood on Earth.

Toronto, Oct. 11.—A pronouncement in approval of the proposed arbitration treaty between Great Britain and the United States, and importuning its legislative consummation, as a prodigious step towards securing the world's peace, was made by the Ecumenical Conference at the Metropolitan Church yesterday afternoon.

The resolution was moved by Bishop Hendrix, of Kansas City, Missouri, and seconded by Rev. Dr. Henry Haigh, of Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, president of the conference of the Wesleyan Methodist Church. It reads as follows:

"We hail with pleasure and profound gratitude the deepening and growth of good-will and peace among the leading nations of Europe and America. The noble work of the Hague Conference, as promoted by the Federal Council of the Church of Christ in America, the Church of England and the Free Church councils in England, is already bearing fruit in this arbitration treaty, which agrees to submit questions of national honor to the proper tribunals for arbitration.

"We heartily indorse this signal advance in the interest alike of peace and universal brotherhood. We strongly urge the Christian nations represented in the Ecumenical Conference speedily to take the necessary legislative action to consummate the arbitration treaty which has been signed by the representatives of the British Empire and the United States of America. By every proper means we will seek peace and promote it in His Holy Name, who is the Prince of Peace.—Signed by Henry Haigh, John J. Maclaren, Earl Cranston, E. R. Hendrix, A. W. Wilson."

Sound Round World.

Bishop Hendrix remarked that he was now the only man left of the members of the committee which had met in Cincinnati in 1880 to arrange for the first Ecumenical Conference. For this reason he felt it an honor to propose the resolution, the voice of which would sound round the world and make speedier the realization of the peace treaty which had now reached the Senate of the United States for technical consideration.

Rev. Dr. Henry Haigh, of Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, seconding the resolution, said he felt he expressed the sentiments of not only Methodists, but of all England, in heartily concurring in the motion. They all looked forward eagerly to the time when as between Great Britain and America there could be no possible appeal to the arbitrament of the sword. Let Great Britain and the United States unite once in peace and the other nations of the world would think once, twice and yet again, before challenging that compact.

Sir Robert Perks, Bart., of London, Eng., speaking on behalf of commerce, and the Methodist laity, said manufacturers and financiers as well as the working classes were united in the desire for peace. For an era of peace would benefit not only the working classes, but the great commercial interests, too. Nations could not engage in war unless they were backed by the big financial houses of the world, so he thought the great financiers should form a compact to secure the world's peace.

Without further comment, the president put the resolution to the conference, and by a standing vote, which culminated with the fervent singing of "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," it was carried.

The Church and the Nation.

"The Church and the Nation," the topic of the afternoon session, was fittingly introduced by the singing of the National Anthem. In the absence of the Hon. Walter Runciman, Minister of education in Great Britain, Rev. J. Scott Didgett, of London, Eng., delivered an essay on "International Relations and Responsibilities." Two supreme blessings were needed, a universal peace and a co-operative civilization. The lead in this new movement should be taken by the Christian Church in accordance with Christ's teaching in regard to human brotherhood. The church must develop catholicity of thought amongst the people, knit the bonds of fellowship between the members of every denomination and every race throughout the world, to constitute a league of peace and goodwill, and to align herself with the industrial classes in asserting the supreme interest and obligation of peace.

Rev. W. F. Conner, of Pittsburg M. E. Church, in his essay on "The Church and Civic Righteousness," said that in the main the laws of today were good, and there was an awakening of their administrators to see that these laws were enforced. The church, he believed, was spending too much time in collecting money; for near-bankrupt colleges, forward movements, and even missions in India and Brazil, and other movements which never arrived anywhere.

Women in Politics.

Rev. Dr. E. G. B. Mann, of Lexington, Ky., discussing the church and civic righteousness, said that two things, a pure womanhood and a pure church, held men in the right way, but when either of these went wrong, then men lost the path. He did not believe that the church could purify public affairs by going into politics any more than he did that women could purify public affairs by going into politics. (Laughter.)

Mr. Marvin Campbell, of the M. E. Church, said they had good laws, but they were poorly executed, and responsibility lay in the election of improper men at the primaries and party caucuses. Hon. A. J. Wallace, ex-governor of California, said they should do away with the primaries and the caucuses; the people should elect their candidates by a direct vote. The church could touch the people by telling them to elect clean men to office.

Ideal Protection Against Inroads of Catarrh

BY BREATHING THE RICH, BALSAMIC VAPOR OF CATARRHOZONE YOU PREVENT AND CURE ALL HEAD, NOSE, AND THROAT DISEASE.

Remember this: You don't take drugs when using Catarrhozone; you simply inhale a healing vapor that cures every type of catarrh, bronchitis, asthma, throat and nose soreness and irritation.

No medicine brings such prompt relief, exerts such an invigorating influence, or so thoroughly and speedily cures throat troubles as "Catarrhozone." Doctors, hospitals, sanatoriums, all say that for those who suffer from changeable weather, for those who are predisposed to catarrh, lung trouble, deafness, or bronchitis, no treatment is so indispensable as "Catarrhozone."

Victim of Chronic Catarrh Cured.

"I contracted a severe cold while following my occupation of furniture travelling, and eventually it developed into Catarrh. The desultory mode of life I was following gave me very little chance to attend to the Catarrh condition, and at last I became a victim of Chronic Catarrh. I bought a large package of Catarrhozone, used it as per directions, and have never been bothered since. I will be only too glad to give any information I possess to any person suffering from the disease that was the bane of my life two years.

Fortunately I tried 'Putnam's Painless Corn and Wart Extractor.' A few applications perfectly cured my corns. I recommend Putnam's Corn Extractor." Price 25c, at druggists.

MAYOR CHIEF OF BAND OF ROBBERS

Chief Executive of Cass Lake Minn., Guilty on Charge of Arson.

[Canadian Press.]

Bemidji, Minn., Oct. 10.—Dr. D. F. Dumas, mayor of Cass Lake, was found guilty of arson in the third degree here last night. Dr. Dumas was charged with having attempted, with Mike Davis and Martin Behan, to burn and rob the post-office at Puposky, Minn., on the morning of June 17 last, when Behan was wounded and Davis escaped after a fight with a posse. Behan's confession implicated Davis.

State officers charged that Dumas was at the head of a gang of crooks who robbed safes and burned buildings for the insurance.

At the fourth annual convocation of Westminster Hall, at Vancouver, the other day, one of the leading features on the programme was the conferring of degrees in divinity for the first time in the history of the province of British Columbia.

The two recipients of these honors, however, were unable to be present, but the ceremony was carried out nevertheless. Rev. Prof. A. Gordon and Rev. A. J. MacGillivray, formerly of New St. James' Church, London, Ont., were the names presented to the convocation for honors respectively by Rev. R. J. Wilson and Rev. J. W. Woodside.

MR. CYRIL HAYES ON THE BOOK OF JOB

Londoner Delivered Address Before Baptist Ministerial Association.

Toronto, Oct. 10.—The Baptist Ministerial Association met yesterday in Jarvis Street Baptist Church to elect officers for the coming year. Rev. S. S. Watson was in the chair. Mr. Cyril Hayes, of London, Ont., addressed the association on the "Book of Job." It was resolved that a suggestion be made to the chancellor of McMaster University that the same address be given to the students there.

Officers were appointed as follows: Rev. Thos. Radcliffe, president; Rev. P. A. McEwan, vice-president; secretary-treasurer, Rev. John McIntosh, and Rev. Christopher Burnett, pianist.

WHISKEY FROM BANANAS

Frenchmen Claim Two New Brews That Will Appeal to Drinkers.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, Oct. 10.—Dispatches from Paris announce that two Frenchmen have succeeded in making pure whiskey from bananas. For the new process they claim two new brews that will appeal to all whiskey drinkers.

TRIAL BY JURY

William Howard and Robert Andrews Were Arraigned.

William Howard, more commonly known of as "Butch," and Robert Andrews, the two young men who were committed for trial from the police court a week ago, charged with robbing John Montieth, a farmer, who arrived here recently from Swift Current, of $44, were brought before Judge Macbeth at the court house yesterday and elected trial by jury.

If they resolve to wait till the December sesions for a jury, they may do so, but they have the privilege of appearing before the county judge at any time for trial.

MILK AT TORONTO

Will Cost Nine Cents a Quart During Coming Winter.

Toronto, Oct 10.—The price of milk in Toronto will not be ten cents a quart during the coming winter, but will remain at nine cents as heretofore. The summer contracts of the retail dealers with the producers terminate on Oct. 31 next. The winter contracts, giving the producers an increase of about thirty cents an eight-gallon can for their milk, will go into force on Nov. 1. They will remain in operation until May 31 next, instead of until April 30 as in former years. This extension of the term of the contracts is due to a compromise between the retail dealers and the producers as to the price and to the scarcity of fodder this year.

WOMEN CANDIDATES

Almost Certain They Will Run for the School Board.

The Mothers' Clubs of London are still considering the advisability of placing several women in the field as candidates for the board of education in January next. One meeting was held, and the matter gone into, but nothing definite was announced.

Another session will be held probably on Friday evening when further action will be taken.

The names of half a dozen prominent members of the various woman's organizations in the city are being considered. The members are confident that at least two will run, probably more.

"Nothing definite as yet," said Mrs. W. A. Tanner, secretary of the Mothers' Clubs, to The Advertiser. "We have several names under consideration, but we are not definitely decided as to who will be our candidates. But it is almost certain that we will have representatives in the field."

DEATH WAS NATURAL.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Oct. 10. — The body of Mrs. Mary White was found under a clump of bushes in the rear of a shed on the property of Miss Josie Bigger last night. She had been dead several days. After inspecting the body Coroner W. W. Thompson said death had been due to natural causes.

Psoriasis Was Cured

AFTER FIVE YEARS OF SUFFERING—THREE DOCTORS FAILED AND SAID CASE WAS INCURABLE.

ITCHING AND BURNING WAS TERRIBLE UNTIL RELIEF AND CURE WAS EFFECTED BY

Dr. Chase's Ointment

Psoriasis is another name for chronic eczema. It is the worst form of this dreadful itching skin disease. Once eczema has reached this stage it is usually considered incurable.

But here is a case which proves again the wonderful healing power of Dr. Chase's Ointment. Not only does relief come quickly, but the resulting benefits are thorough and lasting.

Mrs. Nellie Massey, Consecon, Ont., writes: "I thought it my duty to write you telling you the great benefit I received from using Dr. Chase's Ointment. For five years I suffered with what three doctors called Psoriasis. I doctored with three different doctors, with no good results, and one of our noted doctors told me if any one offered to guarantee me a cure for $50.00 to keep my money in my pocket, as I could not be cured.

"The disease spread all over me, even on my face and head. The itching and burning was hard to bear. At last my brother read in the paper about Dr. Chase's Ointment as a healer. I used 8 boxes, and I am glad to say I am entirely cured, not a sign of a sore to be seen. I can hardly praise the ointment enough, and you are at liberty to use my testimony, as I hope thereby to induce other sufferers to try the same."

A BIG CROWD AT BELMONT FAIR

Unfavorable Weather Failed to Keep People Away From Horse Show.

SOME SPLENDID ANIMALS

Programme of Races Was an Exceptionally Good One—The Results.

[By Our Own Man.]

Belmont, Oct. 10.—The annual Belmont Horse Show was held here today, and in spite of the unfavorable weather a very large crowd attended. There were some excellent horses shown, and from every standpoint the exhibition was a decided success.

There was a great showing of horses, particularly in the harness classes. In the roadster classes such exhibitors as W. Parker & Sons, St. Thomas; James Milne, D. McCallum, A. Moore, Adam Harkness, W. Blanchard, J. McVicar & Son, the Purdom Hardware Company, Ira Mabee, Aylmer, P. Odell, J. R. Taylor, T. Jenkins, and others had some fine animals. The quality was much better than in any previous year.

In the hackney classes, Mr. James McCartney, London, had a pair of beauties. He won in his class, while his daughter won for lady driver, and for best turnout. P. McLean, W. Thompson, J. R. Taylor, Parker & Sons, and Adam Harkness also exhibited in these classes, and the judges had a busy time deciding the winners.

In the heavy and general purpose classes Messrs. Ernest Jenkins, John McMillan, W. Knott, B. McMurray, John Smith, Jos. Wheeler, Peter Johnson, W. A. Willsie, and others had entries. There is no question as to the quality, as Belmont is noted for its excellent stock, and every animal was up to the high standard set by the horse breeders of this section.

Excellent Sport.

A first-class speed programme is always provided for visitors to the Belmont show, and this years was no exception. Two of the events went in straight heats, but the 2:30 pace and trot went six heats. An extra heat should have been raced, but the rain came down and prevented it. Three good horses, Sir Mac, Wood Points, and Lady Harkness each took two heats, and every one of them was a horse race. Wood Points looks like a great prospect. He had the speed, but his manners were not good.

There were a large number of visitors from London at the Fair. Mr. George G. McCormick took out a party, while Mr. Jos. Johnston was present looking the good ones over.

Mr. Adam Harkness, the president, and Mr. W. Meikle, the secretary, made a hustling pair of officials, and everything passed off smoothly.

STRATHROY WEDDING

Miss Mary Brown Becomes the Wife of Mr. Joseph H. Thomas, of Porcupine.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Strathroy, Oct. 10.—The home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Brown, Colborne street, was the scene of a pretty wedding today at 12 o'clock, when their only daughter, Mary Victoria, was united in marriage with Mr. Joseph H. Thomas, of Porcupine, Ont., son of Mr. David H. Thomas, of Mount Brydges. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. H. Graham, B.A., of the Methodist Church. The wedding took place in the drawing-room under an arch of evergreens and flowers, with a floral horseshoe suspended, and a background of ferns and palms.

The bride, who was given away by her father, looked charming in a beautiful gown of ivory duchess satin, veiled with marquisette and trimmed with princess lace and pearls. She wore a bridal veil and orange blossoms,and carried a shower bouquet of roses. Miss Mildred Hill, of Stratford, was bridesmaid, and Mr. Oran Thomas, of Mount Brydges, supported the groom. Miss Jean Meekison played the wedding march, and during the signing of the register, "Love's Coronation" was rendered by Miss Mina Thomas.

The groom's gift to the bridesmaid was a gold bracelet, to the groomsman gold cuff links, to Miss Meekison a signet ring, and to Miss Thomas a pearl and amethyst brooch. About 50 guests were present. After dejeuner Mr. and Mrs. Thomas left on the 3:28 train for New York, the bride travelling in a brown serge tailored suit, with hat of brown with touches of green. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Thomas will reside at Porcupine, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. James Healy announce the marriage of their daughter, Elizabeth May, to Dr. Robert George Ross McDonald at All Saints' Church, Strathroy, Oct. 10, 1911.

The Strathroy Collegiate Institute games were held on the fair grounds Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

DIED IN DETROIT

O. C. Willson Was a Former Seaforth Businessman and Traveller.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Seaforth, Oct. 10.—Word was received here of the death in Detroit yesterday of Mr. O. C. Willson for many years engaged in business in Seaforth. Deceased was 74 years old, and for some time he conducted a feed store here, and after that travelled through the district as representative for farm implements. He was widely known. The funeral will be held from the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. W. G. Wallis, on Wednesday.

SENT TO JAIL

Alleged Promoter Is Under Arrest for Obtaining Money From Druggist.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Niagara Falls, Ont., Oct. 10.—S. Irving Shafer, secretary of the Richelieu Sureties Company, of Buffalo, is under arrest here charged with securing $200 from W. J. Campbell, a druggist of Niagara-on-the-Lake, who is president of the Richelieu Company. Shafer, who has a jail record, both in Buffalo and Toronto, posed here as a promoter, and through relatives of Campbell in Niagara Falls, N. Y., one of whom Shafer said he was engaged to marry, succeeded in inducing Campbell to invest $500 in the company which they formed.

He was remanded to jail for eight days.

FULLARTON YOUTH FRACTURED SKULL

Fell From High Tree as He Was Searching For Beechnuts.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Mitchell, Oct. 10.—Gordon Tuer, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Tuer, of Fullarton Township, is in a very critical condition at his home as a result of falling from a beech tree. Young Tuer had climbed up some distance in search of beechnuts when he suddenly lost his hold and fell head-first to the ground. Dr. Smith, who was called, found that his skull had been fractured at the base. It will not be known for some days whether or not he will recover.

ILDERTON WOMAN WAS GIVEN AN ADDRESS

Mrs. Munce, President of the W. M. S., Is Leaving to Reside in London.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ilderton, Oct. 10.—At the close of the meeting of the Ilderton Auxiliary of the Woman's Missionary Society, held at the home of Mrs. Paisley, an address was read and presented to Mrs. S. Munce, who is leaving the village to reside in London. Mrs. Munce for several years has been an earnest worker in the society, and during that time has filled the office of president for several terms with much ability. The address was signed on behalf of the W. M. S. by Miss Robinson, the president, and Miss Minnie Keene, the secretary. At the request of Mrs. Munce, Rev. C. J. Moorehouse thanked the members for the kind wishes they had expressed in the address.

BLAZING TAR SET FIRE TO BUILDING

Was Left in Can to Heat, but Bottom Was Melted by Flames.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Amherstburg, Oct. 10. — Fire which originated when the bottom fell out of a can containing tar, which had been placed on a fire to heat, partially destroyed the roof on a building occupied by D. J. Barron. When discovered the flames were making rapid headway, but through the efficient work of the fire department the fire was checked.

DROPPED DEAD

John Langwith, Hotelkeeper at Point Edward, Passed Very Suddenly.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Sarnia, Oct. 10.—John Langwith, proprietor of the Queen's Hotel at Point Edward, dropped dead shortly after noon today. Deceased had not been in the best of health of late, but was able to go about the hotel, and while walking from one room to the other today he fell to the floor, and before a doctor arrived life was extinct.

The late Mr. Langwith was 62 years of age, and had been in the hotel business for a number of years. Before moving to Point Edward he conducted the Western and Normandie hotels in Sarnia at different periods. He was a member of the Masonic and Orange orders. He leaves to mourn his loss a widow and one daughter, Miss Winnie, who lives at home. The funeral will be held from his late residence to Lakeview Cemetery on Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Service at house at 2:30.

BLACKBIRDS WERE A GREAT NUISANCE

Thousands of Them Annoyed Residents of Mitchell With Their Noise.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Mitchell, Oct. 10. — Thousands upon thousands of blackbirds, which for some weeks have been coming into the town every night and perching in the maple trees, have, to the great delight of Mitchell citizens, gone southward. The birds came in every night in such numbers that while they were passing the air seemed full of them, and before night fell and at daybreak the noise they made was deafening, and caused great annoyance to people in the vicinity.

CRITICALLY ILL

Thomas Cox, of Walkerville, Ate Canned Goods and Has Ptomaine Poisoning.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Walkerville, Oct. 11.—Thomas Cox is in a very critical condition in the Windsor Hospital from ptomaine poisoning caused it is believed by Cox having eaten some canned goods recently. It is stated that soon after Cox had eaten some of the stuff he was taken very seriously ill.

TRUE BILL FOR MURDER

Arthur Sheridan Will Stand Trial for Stabbing Companion.

Barrie, Ont., Oct. 10.—The grand jury brought in a true bill for murder against Arthur Sheridan, who is charged with stabbing a companion, Ross Ford, to death after a dance at Orillia some two months ago.

The assizes opened today, with Chancellor Boyd presiding. In his charge to the grand jury Chancellor Boyd said that from the evidence adduced at the inquest it was a clear case of murder. There are some 39 witnesses for the crown to be heard, and it is thought the case will last several days. It is rumored that the defence case, conducted by Mr. T. C. Robinette, will be one of self-defence. Mr. Peter White, K. C., is crown prosecutor.

BROKE HIS NECK

James Sutherland, of East Nissouri, Fell When Ladder Slipped.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Thamesford, Oct. 10.—James Sutherland, aged 65, fell 12 feet, and landed on his head today, when a ladder from which he was picking apples slipped. His neck was broken, and he died instantly. Mr. Sutherland was unmarried.

AYLMER.

Aylmer, Oct. 10.—A. S. Savage, of Toronto, formerly a resident of this place, spent yesterday in town.

T. G. Loochstader, of London, visited in town yesterday.

Miss Bessie Webber left this morning for St. Thomas where she will take a course in the business college.

Miss Lizzie Scherer is spending a few days with friends in Brantford.

Court of revision was held here yesterday, Judge Ermatinger presiding, and owing to the probability of local option being again voted on in January, a number of women were present.

Mrs. J. McDiarmid, of Toronto, is spending a few days with her daughter, Mrs. Gaines Vanpatter.

Mrs. J. N. Dodd and daughter Lylla and Hazel Ketch, of Alvinston, spent Sunday the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hyma Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Kennedy, of Detroit, are visiting relatives here.

Mrs. F. H. Trim spent Sunday and Monday with her daughter, Mrs. Foster T. Cook, St. Thomas.

The annual harvest thanksgiving service of Trinity (Anglican) Church was held on Sunday last. The church was handsomely decorated with the products of the farm and forest, and those in charge of the decorations are entitled to great praise for their work. Rev. A. B. Farney, now of Amherstburg, and a former rector of the parish, was the preacher for the day.

ARVA.

Arva, Oct. 11.—The Mission Circle will hold its monthly meeting in the church on Wednesday afternoon.

The first heavy frost of the season came on Saturday night. Any corn not cut suffered badly.

Rally day will be observed in the Sunday school on Sunday next at 2 p.m. Mr. Barnard, of London, will give an address.

Mr. Duncan McPherson is packing apples in this vicinity.

SENATOR CHEVRIER DIES AT WINNIPEG

Already Conjectures Upon Effect of His Death Are Being Made.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Winnipeg, Oct. 11. — Already the succession to the seat in the Senate left vacant by the death of Hon. N. Chevrier, at his residence here last night, is a topic of discussion in political circles.

It is generally conceded that Hon. A. C. Lariviere, formerly provincial treasurer, later member in the Dominion House for Provencher, and now immigration agent for Manitoba in Toronto, will make a strong claim for it on the ground of his past party services, and that it is a seat which belongs to a French-Canadian.

There will be no opposition to his claims among the French-Canadians, as Joseph Bernier, the member in the Legislature for St. Boniface, whose seat it is on the ground of his past party record, is slated to enter the Roblin Government in the shuffle that will follow upon Hon. Robers Rogers entering the new Dominion Government.

It is regarded as certain that Mr. Bernier will become minister of education, to which the Manitoba school question has worked round. In regard to the vacancy in the Senate, while it is recognized that Mr. Lariviere has a strong claim, there is a decided general opinion that if the seat is not given to Hon. Hugh John Macdonald, of this city, son of Sir John A. Macdonald, something as good or better ought to be given him by the new Conservative Government at Ottawa.

Had Bad Sore Four Years

ZAM-BUK HAS HEALED IT!

Mrs. Wilson, 110 Wickson Avenue, Toronto, says: "About four years ago a sore spot appeared on the right side of my face. This spot increased in size until it became about half an inch in diameter and very painful. I went to a doctor, but the ointment he gave me did not have any good effect. The sore continued to discharge freely, and was most painful. I had it cauterized, tried poultices and all kinds of salves, but it was no good, and I continued to suffer from it for four years!

"A sample of Zam-Buk was one day given to me, and I used it. Although the quantity was so small, it seemed to do me some good, so I purchased a further supply.

"Each box did me more and more good, and, to my delight, before I had been using Zam-Buk three weeks, I saw that it was going to heal the sore. In less than a month it was healed!

"I know a lady in the east of the city, whose husband suffered for years with an open sore on his leg. On my recommendation, Zam-Buk was tried in that case. The other day, when I saw her, she told me that it had healed the sore completely.

"My daughter, who lives in Lethbridge, Alta., had also used Zam-Buk with the same satisfactory result. I think it is, beyond all doubt, the finest healing balm known."

Such is the opinion of all persons who have really tried Zam-Buk. It is a sure cure for eczema, piles, abscesses, ulcers, scalp sores, ringworm, cuts, burns, scalds, bruises, and all skin injuries and diseases. 50c. a box, all druggists and stores, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. In case of skin disease use also Zam-Buk Soap, 25c. tablet.

SARNIA COUNCIL TO IMPROVE STREET

Thoroughfare That Has Been an Annoyance Will Be Fixed.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Sarnia, Oct. 10.—At the regular meeting of the town council held last night considerable discussion arose over the question of paving the Cromwell street hill. This thoroughfare has been an eyesore to the town, and is almost unfit for traffic. On motion of Mr. Milne it was decided to authorize the board of works to pave the hill with wooden blocks.

The residents of Water street, through Councillor Langan, complained of the disgraceful condition of their street, and the chairman of the board of works will see that the complaint is attended to.

Past petitions from residents in the south ward for an electric light at the corner of Campbell and Savoy street have not been adhered to, but at Monday night's meeting Mayor Henderson brought the matter up, with the result that the much-sought-for light will be placed in position.

Better protection for the G. T. R. crossing on the Plank road was also talked of, and left in the hands of the railway committee.

Remains Brought Home.

The remains of the late Mary Agnes Carmichael, wife of Allan Carmichael, whose death occurred in Toronto on Monday, were brought to Sarnia today, and the funeral will be held from the residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Ward, 443 Vidal street south, to the Church of Our Lady of Mercy at 8:15 a.m. on Thursday. Interment will be made in the R. C. Cemetery.

The Bell Telephone Company are making extensive improvements in their underground system here, and are now getting ready to move into their new office building on Christina street, which they expect to occupy about April 1. During the past two weeks a large gang of men have been busily engaged laying a conduit on North Christina street, in which the wires that are at present strung along Front street will be placed. This will be a step towards making that portion of Front street a little more attractive.

Norman Butler, a youth of 18, appeared before Magistrate Flick here this afternoon on a charge of indecently assaulting a little girl of 8 years, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Arnold, of the 8th concession of Moore. After hearing the evidence the accused was remanded until Saturday next, and bound over in $200 bail.

The case of Mrs. Williams, of the Indian reserve, who laid a charge of assault against her husband, who is an Indian constable, was to have been heard by the magistrate, but had to be adjourned until Williams, who is sailing, returns.

DIED VERY SUDDENLY.

Guelph, Oct. 10.—Major Matthew Beattie, of Campbellville, died suddenly at his residence yesterday of heart failure, after an illness of only one day. Deceased was a staunch Liberal. For many years the major was connected with the Twentieth Regiment. A widow and one son survive. Major Beattie was a Presbyterian.

DEATH OF A NONAGENARIAN.

Blenheim, Oct. 10.—The funeral was held here yesterday of Mrs. A. Smith, the oldest woman in the district, who died on Saturday last at the age of 94. Mrs. Smith is survived by two daughters, each of whom is past 70 years of age.

CAMLACHIE MEETING WAS GREAT SUCCESS

A New Sunday School Association for North Lambton Formed.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Camlachie, Oct. 10.—The Plympton Sunday school convention, under the name of North Lambton, was held in the Methodist Church in the afternoon, and in the Presbyterian Church in the evening yesterday.

At the afternoon session Mr. James Bird, president, presided. The meeting opened with devotional exercises by Rev. Johnston, followed by the Sunday school experiences of the past year, led by Mr. Bird. Rev. J. A. Ross, of Wyoming, talked on teachers' training classes, and emphasized the importance of having efficient teachers in the Sunday school as in day school.

Dr. P. McG. Brown then taught the lesson for Oct. 15, having as his class the convention.

Miss Weaver sang a solo, after which Rev. E. W. Halfpenny, B.D., the provincial secretary, addressed the meeting on "The Kingdom Vision."

When Mr. Halfpenny finished his address, there followed five five-minute papers: Decision Days, Rev. Mr. Weaver; The Teacher and His Class, Rev. Mr. Shearer; The Fruit-Bearing Sunday School, Rev. J. M. Gunn; Supplemental Lessons and Grading, Rev. L. W. Reid; Personal Evangelism, Rev. R. P. Byers. D. W. Galbraith, of Uttoxeter rendered a solo most acceptably.

The collection was taken, and then Mrs. John Laurence spoke on "The Cradle Roll; Its Place and Value." Miss C. Steadman followed with a discussion on "Cradle Roll."

The meeting ended by a round table conference, and the appointing of new committees.

The delegates and visitors partook of an excellent supper at the Needham Hotel.

The Evening Session.

The evening session opened by a song service of the union choirs, led by Rev. Dr. Shearer.

A duet rendered by Miss Jettie Carrick and Mr. Wm. Matthews, and a solo by Mrs. (Rev.) Shearer, were appreciated.

Rev. A. J. Thomas could not be present, and his address had to be omitted, as no one else had been secured in his place.

Mr. Halfpenny closed the meeting with a very interesting address on "The Country Sunday School."

Mr. Joseph Ellwood, of Mandaumin, was elected president, and Mr. Robt. Jardine, of Plympton, secretary-treasurer. A North Lambton Sunday School Association was organized, with Mr McCordic, of Sarnia, as president and Rev. Mr. Reid, of Wyoming, as secretary-treasurer.

The weather was ideal. There was a splendid attendance, and all were well satisfied with the results of the convention.

Very sad news was received by Mr and Mrs. Dan Carmichael of the death of their son's wife yesterday. She leaves three small children and husband to mourn her loss. The funeral will take place on Thursday at Sarnia.

Miss Isabelle Canton, who has been visiting friends here, has gone to Sarnia to her cousin's.

Mr. Oscar Schram has secured a position in the evaporator.

BLACK HAND OUTRAGE.

Wheeling, W. Va., Oct. 10.—Four persons are believed to have perished at Benwood, a suburb, early today as the result of a Black Hand outrage when a big frame house containing forty persons, was blown up, and, taking fire, was consumed. Kolinskey, the occupant, recently received a demand from the Black Hand for $1,500, but refused to place the money in the spot designated.

STRIKERS PAID WAGES.

[Canadian Press.]

Chicago, Oct. 11.—The four thousand striking shopmen, formerly employed at the Burnside shops of the Illinois Central Railroad, were paid their wages for September today. The pay roll aggregated $200,000, and a large force of clerks was busy a greater part of the day disbursing the checks.

HIGHER CRITICS CRUCIFY CHRIST

Bishop Fallon's Strong Words In St. Mary's Church on Sunday Night.

SERMON ON EUCHARIST

Congress Held in East End Edifice Brought to a Close—Large Congregation Present.

Perhaps the largest congregation that has yet thronged St. Mary's Church filled the edifice Tuesday evening at the Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, the concluding service of the first diocesan eucharistic congress in the history of the Catholic Church in Canada.

Bishop Fallon delivered a forceful sermon in which he took occasion to criticise the higher critics of certain sects, declaring that today so-called Christians crucify Christ anew. "What a hideous thing it is," he said, "that men calling themselves Christian ministers are, in this very age in Canada, not many hundreds of miles from London, denying from the pulpit the virgin birth of Christ, and thereby obviously destroying every possibility of a logical Christianity."

The Bishop's Sermon.

The bishop took as his text the words "Do ye this for a commemoration of me." The first eucharistic congress, he said, was held almost 1,900 years ago in a Jewish temple, and was attended by Christ, then in the second year of his public ministry, and by the twelve apostles. It was then that Christ made a promise in ordinary language. His statement, said the bishop, threw consternation into his audience, even though from God, whom they had seen but a few days before perform the miracle of feeding five thousand with a few loaves and fishes. Therefore it is not at all surprising that the doctrine of the Catholic Church should in this day be rejected and made the cause of the greatest discord.

Promise Fulfilled.

Christ's promise was fulfilled at the second eucharistic congress held in an upper room at Jerusalem on the night before his crucifixion, when he gave what he himself called his body and blood, telling them in plain language, "Do ye this in commemoration of me." "I desire to thank in an especial manner your priests, Father McKeon and Father Tobin, in the name of the Diocese of London, and the assembled clergy, and, higher than all, in His name, and I am sure that when I say that His blessing will come upon you, I am but voicing the sentiments of the blessed heart of Christ."

Bishop Fallon spoke of the mass and eucharist as a sacrifice rather than a sacrament. Sacrifice, he said, has been recognized since the dawn of creation as an essential necessity in every true religion, for man must proclaim his dependence upon God. "We are," he said, "not in essential things different from the people of 4,000 years ago, so where there is no sacrifice there is no religion. From the rising to the sun to the going down thereof, in every portion of the world by men of all tongues and nationalities, sacrifice is offered on the altars of the Catholic Church.

The Eucharist.

"When Christ had blessed the bread and wine at that last supper and had pronounced it his body and blood, he made a statement all important in its consequences, 'This do in commemoration of me,' and there is no departure in the Catholic Church from the clear, concise and literal meaning of his words.

"The mass is but a renewal of that last supper, and of the sacrifice; it is not a form of prayer or a collection of words but a tragedy and the divinest action the world has ever looked upon."

Bishop Fallon then explained the different actions and prayers of the mass, characterizing it as "the only religious service which lifts man out of himself."

SWINGS BIG KNIFE TO INJURE WIFE

[Canadian Press.]

Berlin, Oct. 10.—Lawrence Seaman is in jail here in connection with a serious assault he attempted on his wife. Passersby heard a row going on and called the police.

High Constable Huber had barely opened the door of the house when Seaman was seen to swing a murderous-looking butcher knife about him. He was about to rush at his wife when P. C. Wilson pounced upon him and wrenched away the weapon. He was quickly overpowered by both constables and taken the police station. In court today he was remanded until next Tuesday, when further evidence will be heard.

MANSLAUGHTER CASE GOES TO NEXT COURT

Thos. Griffith, Held in Chatham Case, Has Not Yet Got Any Bail.

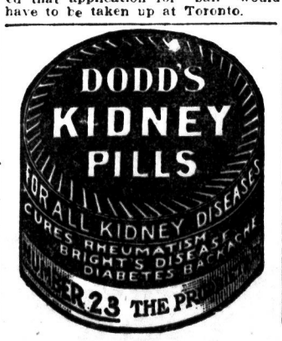

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Chatham, Oct. 10.—The case of Thomas Griffith, charged in connection with the death of Orlando Arnold, who died in the hospital here recently, goes over to the next sittings of the high court. Griffiths was formally arraigned in court today before Mr. Justice Falconbridge, on the three charges of manslaughter, unlawful wounding with intent, and unlawful wounding.

He pleaded not guilty.

"I understand this case is not to go on," remarked his lordship. "Are the crown prepared to consent to bail?"

Crown Prosecutor Meredith declined to do so. His lordship thereupon stated that application for bail would have to be taken up at Toronto.

M'NAMARAS READY TO STAND TRIAL

[Canadian Press.]

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 11. — Today begins the fight of the State of California to hold James B. and John J. McNamara responsible for the death of nineteen men in the explosion in the Los Angeles plant on Oct. 1, 1910.

A severance of the case against the McNamaras, both of whom were indicted five months ago on 21 counts for murder, has been the announced desire of the defence, and the prosecution awaited the formal request in court today to that effect before disclosing which of the two brothers it had elected to try first.

Neither of the brothers knew when they awakened today which the prosecution would summon. Since April 26 they have been confined in jail, but both reiterated today that they were ready.

"Of course, we are ready," said John J. as he pushed his fingers through thick locks of grey hair. "It doesn't matter who is tried first."

Counsel for both sides admitted today that the examination of witnesses and the taking of evidence could not be approached for some time.

For today, therefore, little was anticipated beside the preliminary motions and perfunctory examination of the jurymen.

Of the venire of 125 men summoned on Monday, 47 names still remained, but it was considered not improbable another venire, and possibly a third, would be required from which to make a final selection.

The trial will take place on the eighth floor of the newly-completed hall of recorders.

A POLITE PRISONER WAS IN THE CAGE

Thomas Lough Made an Impression on the Court.

Thomas Lough, who was remanded on Monday after being brought in on Saturday charged with being drunk, appeared again in the police court this morning. Lough has the appearance of being at one time an English butler, and he was exceedingly polite this morning.

He informed the magistrate that he worked at a place on the Elgin road, where he was engaged as a painter.

"Will you go back there if I let you go?" asked the magistrate.

"With pleasure, sir," quietly returned the prisoner. "I thank you sir, thank you," he repeated as he was being led out.

Mrs. Agnes Ivey was arraigned on a charge of theft laid by a man named Wright. However, Mr. Wright did not appear to press the charge, and the magistrate stated that he could not make a conviction on the statement he had heard from the plaintiff. The crown attorney was also of the same opinion, and accordingly Mrs. Ivey was discharged. She was taken back to the jail, where she is serving a 15-day sentence for getting drunk while on the Indian list.

INSURANCE AGENT SHOT

About to Start on a Hunting Trip, When Gun Discharged.

[Canadian Press.]

Richmond, Que. Oct. 11. — A shooting accident occurred here yesterday morning, resulting in the death of Frank Dresser, insurance agent, of this place. One story is that the young man, who intended going shooting, was standing in the kitchen door, when his gun was accidentally discharged. The contents entered his body and he died in a few minutes.

PROVINCIAL TREASURER MAY RESIGN SEAT

Col. Matheson Feels Strain of Election Too Much For Health.

[Canadian Press.]

Toronto, Oct. 11.—The rumor persists that Col. Matheson, the provincial treasurer, is to resign his portfolio and retire from politics. Last winter his health suffered through the strain of work, and he has spent much of this summer recruiting. With a provincial election at hand, to be followed by a session of the Legislature, it is reported that he feels that the strain will be too much for him.

S. IRVING SHAFER IN TOILS AGAIN

"Sailed High" in St. Catharines and Secured Money From Fiancee.

[Canadian Press.]

St. Catharines, Oct. 11.—S. Irving Shafer, secretary of the Richelieu Surety Company of Buffalo, who is under arrest at Niagara Falls on a charges of fraudulently obtaining money, is well known here. He came to St. Catharines a couple of years ago and sailed pretty high for a while, because he said he represented the Laurier Government in plans to amalgamate a newspaper and big job printing house, with a view to running a large Liberal newspaper in St. Catharines.

The end came suddenly when he was arrested at the Welland House on information from the Toronto police, charging him with fraudulently obtaining $200 from a girl in Toronto he was engaged to marry. Shafer was kept in jail in Toronto for some time, and then managed to get out of the trouble in some way. From Toronto he went to Buffalo, where he was arrested on a forgery charge and imprisoned. His home is in Berlin, Ont., but he was for years in the newspaper business in Toronto and Montreal.

NEGRO HANGED.

[Canadian Press.]

Greenville, S. C. Oct. 11.—A telephone message, reaching here at midnight from Honeapath, states that a negro, Willis Jackson, was hanged to a telegraph pole there shortly after 11 o'clock, and his body riddled with bullets.

RASH SO BAD BABY CAME NEAR DYING

Head Broke Out. Spread to Arms, Legs and Entire Body. Itched So He Would Scratch Until Blood Ran. One Box of Cuticura Ointment and Nearly One Cake of Cuticura Soap Cured Him. Has Had No Return.

"When my boy was about three months old, his head broke out with a rash which was very itchy and ran a watery fluid. We tried everything we could but he got worse all the time, till it spread to his arms, legs and then to his entire body. He got so bad that he came near dying. The rash would itch so that he would scratch till the blood ran, and a thin yellowish stuff would be all over his pillow in the morning. I had to put mittens on his hands to prevent him tearing his skin. He was so weak and run down that he took fainting spells as if he were dying. He was almost a skeleton and his little hands were thin like claws.

"He was bad about eight months when we tried Cuticura Remedies. I had not laid him down in his cradle in the daytime for a long while. I washed him with Cuticura Soap and put on one application of Cuticura Ointment and he was so soothed that he could sleep. You don't know how glad I was he felt better. It took one box of Cuticura Ointment and pretty near one cake of Cuticura Soap to cure him. I think our boy would have died but for the Cuticura Remedies and I shall always remain a firm friend of them. He was cured more than twenty years ago, and there has been no return of the trouble. I shall be glad to have you publish this true statement of his cure." (Signed) Mrs. M. C. Maitland, Jasper, Ontario, May 27, 1910.

For more than a generation mothers have found a speedy, agreeable and economical treatment for their skin-tortured little ones in Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Although they are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere, a liberal sample of each may be obtained free, from the Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., sole props., 53 Columbus Ave., Boston, U.S.A.

ARCHDEACONERY OF LONDON

Fourth Conference at Strathroy on Tuesday and Wednesday, Nov. 14 and 15.

The fourt conference of the Archdeaconery of London is to be held at St. John's Church, Strathroy, on Tuesday and Wednesday, 14th and 15th of November. The opening service, with recently vested full choir, will be held on Tuesday evening, and the Bishop of Huron will preach. The conference will begin with a well prepared programme on Wednesday morning. A series of important present-day topics will be presented and discussed.

A Los Angeles, Cal., artist has married a model, and will spend the rest of his life, if necessary, in painting a portrait of the woman, which shall not only be a portrait but also shall typify "the soul of the ideal woman." Presumably she will be the model for this element of the picture too.

BUTTER AND EGGS HIGH IN PRICE

Hay $14 to $16 a Ton—New Oats Steady at $1.25 to $1.31 Per Cwt.

The continued prevalence of high prices for butter and eggs is a strong feature of the local market at the present time. Even the wholesale price varies from 24c to 26c per dozen, basket lots bring from 25c to 28c, and the retail price of new-laid eggs is steady at from 28c to 32c per dozen.

Butter is active at from 24c to 26c per lb wholesale, and from 27c to 30c per lb retail. Store lots bring from 22c to 25c per lb.

Hay sold this morning from $14 to $16 per ton, with $15 and $15 50 as the ruling prices. Clover hay brought $14 per ton, and first-class timothy was readily sold at as high as $16 per ton.

Dressed hogs are worth from $8 75 to $9 per cwt for light porkers.

Heavy ones bring $8 per cwt, or in a few cases $8 to $8 50 per cwt. This is a big drop from a few weeks ago.

New oats are steady, at from $1 25 to $1 31 per cwt.

COFFEE.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—The market for coffee futures opened steady, but at a decline of 11 to 15 points. The close was steady, but at a net decline of from 15 to 27 points. Sales, 166,750 bags. Closing bids: October, 13.35c; November and December, 13.40c; January, 13.30c; February, 13.20c; March and April, 13.10c; May, June, July and August, 13.08c, September, 13.07c. Spot coffee quiet; No. 7 Rio, 14⅜c to 14⅞c; No. 4 Santos, 15¾c to 15⅞c nominal. Mild coffee dull; Cordova, 16c to 17¾c, nominal. Raw Sugar—Nominal; Muscovado, 5.45c; centrifugal, 5.95c; molasses, 5.20c; refined steady.

SUGAR.

TORONTO, Oct. 10.—Sugars—Business in Toronto today was fairly active, with prices firm. Sugars are quoted in Toronto, in bags, as follows: Granulated, Redpath's, $5 95; do., St. Lawrence, $5 95; Imperial, granulated, $5 80; Beaver, granulated, $5 80; No. 2 yellow, St. Lawrence, $5 60; No. 1 yellow, Acadia, $5 35; do., unbranded, $5 35. The purchase of a cargo of Austrian beet sugar, says the New York Journal of Commerce, may prove the beginning of a fair-sized movement, provided speculation does not drive prices too high, for Louisianas alone will hardly tide over the situation until new Cubas arrive. Crop advices from Europe are most pessimistic, and a shortage from last year of 2,000,000 tons is awaited. Russia will have a surplus to dispose of, and it is a fair inference that later on the Bursseis convention may raise the export quota. European speculators are looking further ahead than our refiners, for they are still buying Cubas for February-April shipment at equal to 3½c cost and freight. European beets, it is worthy of note, for the same position, are selling about a cent higher, suggesting that the Cuban planter is not unwilling to sell part of his crop at good prices. The consumption of sugar is falling off, according to well-informed circles, the refiners finding little new business at the 6.75c, less 2 per cent, basis. The country nominally goes slow, with granulated $1 67 per 100 pounds higher than a year ago.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—Raw Sugar—Centrifugal, 18s 9d; Muscovado, 17s; beet sugar, 17s 9¾d.

FINANCIAL.

(From Charles Head & Co., by private wire to J. J. Tearney.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—(Noon)—Price movements during the first hour were mixed, and there was an absence of pronounced tone even in issues in which there was a fair amount of activity. Reading attracted most attention, and some outside selling was induced by the circulation of many bearish points, most of them to the effect that the hearing today in the anthracite case on appeal before the supreme court would exert a depressing influence on the stock. Most of the selling, however, was for short account, and met with support from some strong interests.

LONDON, Oct. 11.—American stocks closed as follows: Consols for money, 77 5-16; for account, 77 7-16; Amalgamated Copper, 51⅜; Anaconda, 6¼; Atchison, 107½; Atchison, pfd., 103½; B. and O., 99; C. P. R., 233; Chesapeake and Ohio, 74⅜; Chicago Great Western, 18⅜; Chicago, Milwaukee, and St. Paul, 110¾; De Beers, 18; Denver and Rio Grande, 23; pfd., 48¼; Erie, 31; Erie, 1st pfd., 50½; Erie, 2nd pfd., 42; Grand Trunk, 26⅞; Illinois Central, 149¾; Louisville and Nashville, 149½; Missouri, Kansas and Texas, 30⅝; New York Central, 107⅝; Norfolk and Western, 108½; Norfolk and Western, pfd., 90, Ontario and Western, 39¼⅛ Pennsylvania, 62⅝; Rand Mines, 7; Reading, 70¼; Southern Railway, 28⅝; Southern Railway, pfd., 69⅜; Southern Pacific, 110; Union Pacific, 162⅝; Union Pacific, pfd., 93½; United States Steel, 60⅝; pfd., 112; Wabash, 12; pfd., 23½. Bar silver steady at 24 5-16 per ounce; money, 1½ to 2 per cent. The rate of discount in the open market for short bills is 3⅝ per cent. The rate of discount in the open market for three months' bills is 3⅝ per cent.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Wall street, noon.—The demand for stocks today was confined almost entirely to the limited requirements of professional operators, who did not wish to increase their commitments in view of the holiday tomorrow. Purchases for the short contracts gave the market an eappearance of strength, but outside purchases soon shaded off and the list became lifeless. Almost the only activity was in American Tobacco, 4 per cent bonds, which were influenced favorably by reports that further concessions would be made to holders of these securities in the reorganization of the company. The Hill stocks were heavy, following the pessimistic utterances of the head of the system. Speculation was steadier for a time in the second hour, but the general recovery was hindered by persistent selling of Reading, which went down to 135¾. Lehigh Valley rose a point before reacting, and there was a rise of 1⅛ in United States Rubber and Southern Railway, preferred, the latter responding to the very favorable annual exhibit published today. Bonds were firm.

FIRE ALONG SHIP CANAL.

[Canadian Press.]

Manchester, England, Oct. 11—There was a very serious fire along the banks of the ship canal early today. It started in the oil tanks and soon great quantities of escaped and burning oil poured into the canal and covered the water for a long distance, igniting everything combustible along its path. Buildings and jetties on both sides of the canal were burned.

MOTHER VICTORIA DIES.

[Canadian Press.]

Toronto, Oct. 11.—At 3 o'clock this morning Rev. Mother Victoria, chief superior of the Institute of the Blessed Virgin Mary, died at Loretta Abbey. She was 56, and had been 38 years in community. She was born in Hamilton, where her brother, William Harris, and two sisters still reside. A third sister is in the St. Joseph's community.

CITIZENS WILL MEET DR. BRUCE SATURDAY

A Reception for the New Head of the Alexandra Sanatorium.

Dr. Bruce, the recently appointed physician at the sanatorium, is highly delighted with the place and speaks in glowing terms of the institution.

"The location is very beautiful, indeed," he stated to The Advertiser. "It could not well be much better. The buildings and all the rest of it are excellent. There are a few minor changes that could be made, I think, that would add to its efficiency[These will be made as rapidly as possible. I am getting into the work here, and will soon be settled down to it. I am well pleased with everything at present and think I will enjoy it greatly."

A reception to Dr. Bruce is being planned by the ladies' auxiliary of the sanatorium, to take place on Saturday next. The London Health Association are assisting in the preparations, and a large number of prominent citizens will go down to the sanatorium to meet him. Special cars will leave the city hall at 4 o'clock.

ATTACK BEGUN ON NE TEMERE DECREE

Ten Thousand Copies of Protest To Be Sent Out Immediately.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Toronto, Oct. 11. — The movement to overthrow the ne temere marriage decree of the Roman Catholic Church began today, when the Evangelical Alliancse of Canada, under the executive direction of Bishop Farthing, of Montreal, and Hon. S. H. Blake, of Toronto, issued a statement of the Protestant case against the Catholic position on marriage. Every denomination under the Protestant flag has subscribed to the document, and it will be immediately issued in 10,000 copies for the use of clergymen and other public speakers from coast to coast, to assist in carrying on a series of public protest meetings. The document is the first comprehensive pronouncement of the Protestant bodies, and will be the basis of a Dominion-wide appeal to the Federal Parliament. Petitions for that purpose will shortly be sent broadcast.

NO EASY SEAT IN TORONTO FOR WHITE

[Canadian Press.]

Toronto, Oct. 11.—Because E. B. Osler wishes to resign his seat in West Toronto and retire from politics, friends of Hon. W. T. White think the Minister of Finance should be accommodated by the Conservative organization of Toronto and given the seat. The Tories of Toronto are in no mood to do this, and it does not seem to be their wish that Mr. Osler should quit politics for a while yet. Should he do so the nomination would probably go to J. R. L. Starr, K. C.

The feeling is growing that Mr. White will run either in his native county of Halton or in North York, a riding that seems to elect a cabinet minister regardless of politics. Nipissing is mentioned as the probable seat for Hon. Frank Cochrane.

Personal Mention

Mr. and Mrs. William Curr, of Raton, New Mexico, U. S. A., are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Sumner, first concession, Westminster.

E. H. Tennant, a London student in science and engineering at Toronto University, has been successful in completing his first year at the September examinations.

Mr. H. J. Moorehouse, a former London newspaperman, who is well known in the literary world of Winnipeg and the west, is back in London for a few days. Mr. Moorehouse is a son of the late Rev. J. H. Moorehouse, who was some years ago rector of Christ Church.

Edward R. Glen has just returned from Paris, where he has been for about twelve months studying art with some of the foremost painters of France.

In Hamilton yesterday at Christ Church Cathedral, Miss Sophia Emily Dix Ridley was united in marriage to Mr. Sydney George Mills. The wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. Almon Abbott.

LOCAL ITEMS

A Disclaimer.

Mr. Wm. Collins, of the Queen's Park Hotel, wishes it understood that he was not the man who appeared in the police court the other day.

Painting the Hospital.

Victoria Hospital is being given a new coat of paint. The woodwork will be painted white, while the brick will be treated with a substance that will clean them and make them much brighter in appearance.

Boy Not Located.

No word has yet been received by the police that Lloyd Atkinson, the young lad who ran away from his home in Detroit, has reached London. It is thought by the local authorities that if the boy had come here his friends would have notified the police, but as yet nothing has been heard, and it is improbable that he is in the city.

A Good Idea.

A bylaw to prevent the exposure of food for sale outside grocery and other stores will be considerd by No. 3 committee tonight. This matter has been up for consideration all year, but the aldermen have been waiting for a bylaw in force in other cities. City Clerk Baker has received a copy of a bylaw from Toronto. It will furnish the basis of the deliberations of the committee tonight.

Committed For Trial.

Henry and William Booker, colored men, who were arrested a week ago, were given a preliminary hearing before Squires Janes and Matthews at Delaware yesterday. On the charge of breaking into the house of an Indian named Riley on the Muncey reservation, they were committed for trial before the cunty judge. Judgment was reserved in the second case, in which they were charged with taking liquor into the reserve. Mr. P. H. Bartlett is acting ofr the defendants.

No Reward.

The reward of $100 offered by the city council for the recovery of the body of Freddie Wilson, the boy drowned last winter near the Wellington street bridge, has not been paid to any of the five applicants for the money. When the matter came up for consideration at the finance committee some months ago, Ald. Richter pointed out that the municipal act prevented the council from paying the money. It was left in abeyance until the legal question was settled, with the result that it has been found that Ald. Richter was perfectly right. The council has no power in the matter, and that settles it. None of the applicants will get any reward for finding the body.

MACKENZIE-MANN MAY BUY RAILWAY

[Canadian Press.]

Winnipeg, Oct. 11.—With the failure of the city to buy the street railway interest for $24,000,000, Mackenzie & Mann have begun negotiations with New York-Montreal syndicate headed by F. Morton Mose. Delegation is here examining physical conditions of the property. They must also buy some costly litigation, which is now before the privy council.

A WRIT ISSUED AGAINST H. W. BURGESS

Charles and Roy Tomlinson Seek to Recover Sum of $950.

Mr. John M. McEvoy, acting for Charles and Roy Tomlinson, the young men who claim to have been defrauded of $950 by Hiram W. Burgess, of East London, this morning issued a writ to recover the money in the county court.

Burgess was acquitted a few days ago by Judge Macbeth when charged in the criminal court with obtaining the money from the men by fraud.

PLEADED NOT GUILTY

Henry McGurk Arraigned Before Squire Chittick.

Henry McGurk, who was committed for trial by Squire Chittick a few days ago, charged with indecently assaulting a girl of 11 years near his home on the river bank in Westminster Township, east of the city, pleaded not guilty, and elected trial by judge without a jury in the county judge's criminal court at noon today.

He will appear for trial on Friday morning at 11 o'clock. McGurk was convicted and sentenced to a term in the Central Prison for a similar offence a year ago.

McGurk is depended by W. R. Meredith, while Crown Attorney McKillop is conducting the prosecution.

EAST LONDON NEWS

RUSHING THE WORK

Unusual Activity Around C. P. R. Tracks in East London.

Unusual activity is noticeable these days at the new C. P. R. improvements on Quebec and Ontario streets. Excavations are now being made for the new station to be built north of the roundhouse on Quebec street. The work on the station will be rushed forward rapidly in order to complete it this season. The immense new roundhouse is very nearly completed, only the windows remaining unfinished.

The walls of the new coal shutes are in course of construction, the framework having been already put in place. Sand pits, cinder pits, oil sheds and workshops now cover the site of the improvements with substantial buildings, the majority of which are largely completed.

Large construction gangs of men are now at work laying permanent tracks for the east end yards. Miles upon miles of tracks have already been laid, and the work is not yet completed. All told there are several hundred men steadily employed upon the improvements in one way or another.

Roberts—Gatecliffe.

A very pretty but quiet wedding took place last Wednesday evening, at the Hamilton Road Presbyterian parsonage, when Miss Kathleen Gatecliffe was married to Mr. Edward Roberts, both of this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. Smith. Mr. and Mrs. Roberts left on their honeymoon trip to Detroit and Flint, Mich., and on their return will reside on Dame street, East London.

A Devotional Meeting.

The Adelaide Street Baptist's Young People's Union held a largely attended devotional meeting on Monday night. An address on how best to advance and improve the work of the union was given by Mr. Horace Field and proved unusually interesting and instructive.

Death of Geo. Watts.

George Watts, aged 28, residing on Price street, died in Victoria Hospital on Tuesday after an illness of a year's duration. He is survived by a wife, one brother and three sisters.

East End Notes.

Mr. Joseph Lougheed, of Galt, is visiting his daughter at 539 Ontario street.

Mr. J. H. Wilkie, of East London, is enjoying a hunting trip in Muskoka.

DEATH OF MRS. M'FEE

East End Lady Died at Home on Rectory Street.

The death occurred this morning of Mrs. Jane McFee, wife of Roderick McFee, of 124 Rectory street. The deceased was 64 years of age, and had been ill for a period of five years. She formerly resided in Delaware, but nine years ago the family removed to this city. She was a native of Canada.

Besides her husband she is survived by four sons, John and R. J., of Saskatoon; Hector, at home; George, of Detroit, and one daughter, Miss Annie, at home.

The funeral will be held Friday from the family residence at one o'clock to Delaware Cemetery. Funeral services will be conducted at the home at 12:45. Rev. Mr. Lee, of Delaware, will conduct the services at the cemetery.

HENRY BROADHURST DIES

Liberal Labor Member Rose From the Anvil.

[Canadian Press.]

London, Oct. 11.—Henry Broadhurst for many years a Liberal Labor member of Parliament, and formerly secretary of the parliamentary committee of the Trades' Union Congress, died today. He was born in Oxfordshire in 1840, and in early life was employed as a blacksmith, and later as a stonemason.

KILLS HIMSELF 6 HOURS AFTER BEING MARRIED

San Antonio, Texas, Oct. 11. — Only six hours after his marriage to Miss Gladys Saruthers, a beautiful and accomplished young woman of this city, Lieutenant John R. Lynch, of the Third Cavalry, shot and killed himself yesterday in his quarters at Fort Sam Houston, where he was stationed.

The affair, as yet entirely unexplained, has stirred both army and society circles, where both the lieutenant and Miss Caruthers were well known.

The bride, although on the verge of prostration, has refused absolutely to talk of her husband's suicide or to give any information which she may have as to a cause for his sudden act.
to a cause for his sudden act

She was not with him when he died.

The couple had been married at 1 o'clock in the morning. The reason for having the ceremony at that hour is another mystery of the case.

At 7 o'clock in the morning, fellow officers heard two revolver shots in quick succession They went in search of the cause, found Lieutenant Lynch's quarters locved and burst in the door.

The man was not yet dead, but he was unable to talk. One bullet had penetrated the body near the heart. It is believed he feared this wuold not prove fatal, for he had fired a second shot, the bullet passing through the roof of the mouth into the brain.

Lieutenant Lynch was a native of Los Angeles, but enlisted in the army as a private in 1907.

HON. W. T. WHITE RESIGNS.

[Canadian Press.]

Toronto, Oct. 11.—Hon. W. T. White, vice-president of the National Trust Company, has tendered his resignation, and it was accepted today. No person has been appointed in his stead, and the position is being kept open.

THE McNAMARA TRIAL.

[Canadian Press.]

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 11.—James B. McNamara, the younger brother of John J. McNamara, secretary of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, will be tried first for the murder of the men in the explosion of the Los Angeles Times a year ago. This announcement was made before the opening of court today by District Attorney Fredericks, who declared that should the defence exercise its privilege of having the brothers tried separately, he elected to begin by placing James B. McNamara in the prisoners' bar.

THE SHINING LIFE.

Our religion does not depend upon our philosophy to any great extent. Rather does the philosophy depend upon the religion. As when you see an eagle in the air, if you are interested in eagles and in flying and are a thinking person, you may get a philosophy of the eagle's flight. The flying is the source, or at least the occasion of your philosophy, not the result of it. Your philosophy does not make the slightest difference with the flying, or exert the least influence upon it. So when a human soul mounts up with wings as an eagle, you may have a philosophy of that soul fight, but it flies without much aid from the philosophy, even though it be your own soul that flies. More than one philosophy of that soul's religion there may be. But the religion goes on its heavenly way in spite of all the philosophies. They change. As a vesture they may be folded up. The religion abides. They are of men. It is of God, and is like God. Yes, the shining life, at heart is pretty nearly the same yesterday, to-day and forever.

The world is to be won by it, so far as the world is to be won for Christ, and without it the world cannot be won and held to the Christian faith. The saving of the world, so far as it is committed to us, is not chiefly a matter of movements and of methods, but of life. It is a matter of character made dynamic by the Spirit of God. I hope I shall not be misunderstood, and yet I must take some chances. "Necessity is laid upon me, yea, woe is unto me," if I preach not this gospel. The greatest need and the strongest hope of the kind of evangelization which promotes the kingdom of God with power is not foreign missionary effort or home missionary effort, or city missionary effort, as usually understood and prosecuted, or social service of the organized variety, or evangelistic campaigns, or the entire series of kindred movements. Of great use they are. Essential most of them, or all of them, may be. But with all these movements we shall go on at a poor, dying rate, without the power of a transformed life wherever Christians perform their tasks or seek their pleasures. Something more is needed from us than to send missionaries abroad and promote elevating schemes at home. That something is to live a life aglow with the glory of God and His righteousness in every place and in every relation.—Dr. Timothy P. Frost.

THE USES OF RYE

Furnished Flour For the Bread of American Colonists.

[J. W. Ingraham in New York Tribune Farmer.]

Rye is the principal bread for the inhabitants of Northern Europe; for a long time after the settlement of America it furnished flour for the bread of most families in the northern colonies, corn meal being mixed with the rye flour. "Rye and Indian" was the common name for the head of most households. Rye bread is sweeter than wheat bread, and is preferred by some, but it must be baked oftener, as it dries up more quickly than wheat bread. Mixed with one-half of finely-ground corn meal it will remain moist longer than wheat bread. The corn meal should first be boiled in water and made into "mush" before mixing with the rye dough, as corn meal needs more cooking than rye flour.

Rye was extensively grown in the rougher regions of Western Pennsylvania and was chiefly distilled into whisky. The disturbance of this industry by the imposition of an excise tax levied by the National Government produced the famous whiskey rebellion during Washington's administration.

Rye straw is in great demand for packing purposes and paper making in the eastern part of the United States, and brings so good a price when bright and long that the crop of straw from a field will sometimes bring the farmer more money than the grain, and at the present time, when both straw and grain are sold, an average crop of rye will bring more per acre than an average crop of wheat. I am aware that, as a rule, no straw should be sold from the farm, but when the price is high and the farmer has more wheat and oat straw than he can use for bedding stock, there is no impropriety in selling rye straw and using the money to buy wheat bran to feed his cows.

The number of acres devoted to rye in the United States in the year 1910 was 2,028,000. The number of bushels raised was 33,039,000—an average of 16.3 bushels per acre. The average farm price per bushel in the United States was 72.2 cents. Pennsylvania was the leading state in the amount of production, the number of bushels raised being 6,460,000. Michigan followed next with a production of 5,355,000 bushels. The farm value per acre of rye in the United States in the year 1910 was $11 76, and the average farm value of wheat per acre the same year was $12 53—only 87 cents per acre more than rye.

THE HAVEN OF WOODEN INDIANS

Sealesman Found All the Exiles From New York Out in Cincinnati.

What has become of the cigar store Indians that used to give New York a pretty fair sized aboriginal population, wooden though it was? The once familiar figure is still to be seen on the Bowery and here and there along the avenues of the East Side and in old Greenwich Village, which takes all improvements as a child takes medicine.

But, none the less, he is disappearing. It is estimated his numbers have reduced by more than 50 per cent. A salesman returning from the West brought the one true elucidation of the problem to the United States Tobacco Journal.

"I have found the missing Indians," he said with evident pride. "I counted them and they are all there—2,346."

"Where?" he was asked.

"In Cincinnati," replied the salesman. "They're every one of them there. No mistake. A few blocks from the depot I bobbed up against one that looked familiar. There was a dent on the nose which I remembered in my boyhood as belonging to the Indian who stood in front of Max's store on Fourth street, near the house where I was raised. And then before I had walked three blocks further I saw another which looked like the twin of a Calcutta variety Indian who once guarded Berensen's store on Second avenue.

"He had the same red eyes, the same colored turban with the barber's stripes, the same plethora of body and paucity of legs. But when I examined closer I found he was no twin. It was the very same Indian, as was proved by a mudmark covering the noble dusky's heart. It was unmistakably Second avenue mud and the star-like patch was another memory of my boyhood.

"I then went over Cincinnati's collection and counted the bunch, recognizing many friends. They're all there, all right, and they tell me new ones are coming every week.—New York Sun.

THE FARMERS HELPER.

One thing that cannot too soon engage the attention of all tillers of the soil is the opportunity brought about for relieving farm drudgery by the cheap distribution of light, heat and power. These necessary elements are now carried by wire to the farms. The streams of the State are made to turn the wheels that grind out electrical energy. The waste of the mines is turned into marketable force. This force is what the farmer needs to make his delving bring larger returns at less cost. To this end he should see that the waterpower rights of the State are not legislated into the hands of unchecked monopolies. To this end also the farmer would do well to have his boy in the farm school add a course of electrical engineering to his educational outfit. There is no better use to which transmitted power may be put than to help saw the wood, churn the milk, chop the fed, turn the grindstone, heat and light the buildings, and thus relieve as far as may be practicable the hard manual labor of the farm. It would do much to stop the mad and hurtful rush from the land to the marts and mills.—Philadelphia Record.

LONDON AND DISTRICT

—The anniversary services of Bryanston Presbyterian Church will be held next Sabbath, Oct. 15, when the Rev. Mr. Stuart, of London, will preach.

A Realty Sale.

Len. Weaver, auctioneer, yesterday sold the two-story house, with lot, at 220 Burwell street, owned by Mrs. Trace, to Mrs. Emma Lyons, for the sum of $1,600.

Agreement Reached.

An agreement has been reached in the three actions recently brought by Mr. Bowles, of Guelph, president of the Bowles' Syndicate, against insurance companies to recover loss sustained in a fire last winter. Mr. Bowles claimed $15,000, and by the settlement receives $14,800.

A Stolen Bicycle.

The police are keeping a lookout for a bicycle stolen from a residence on Queen's avenue the other evening. The bicycle is an Imperial, English make, No. 60497. It is black enamelled with red stripes, and is equipped with front and rear mud-guards, New Departure brake, half-inch roller chain, English saddle and metal rims. The owner of the bicycle is advertising for it in the papers and the police are making every effort to locate the wheel.

Entertainment at Fanshawe.

Siloam Methodist Church, at Fanshawe, held an entirely successful entertainment and supper on Tuesday evening. Addresses were given by the Rev. Bela H. Hayden, of London, and Mr. Wm. Gibson, and a number of London people also provided the musical programme, including Mr. Reginald Hudson, Mrs. Harry Kingsmill, Mr. Leslie Roberts, Miss Brown, and Mr. and Miss Moyer. Several readings were given by Mrs. Case. Mrs. Kingsmill was particularly well received and Mr. Hudson also received strong encores.

FORMER LONDONER DEAD AT WOODSTOCK

Charles Tunks, Carriage Maker, Was an Old Resident of This City.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Woodstock, Oct. 11.—The funeral of Charles Tunks, for many years a resident of London, was held here this afternoon, and was very largely attended. Deceased died at his home on Princess street on Monday, after an illness extending over two years. He was 83 years old. Mr. Tunks was born in London, and lived there for some time. Later he removed to Woodstock, where he followed his trade as carriage maker. Besides his wife, he is survived by three sons and three daughters: Mrs. Keeler, Light street; Mrs. Charles Harris, Dundas street east; Miss Rose Tunks, Cleveland; Mrs. N. J. White, Vancouver, B. C.; Miss Maud Tunks, Toronto; Miss Carrie, at home; Charles and James, of Cleveland, and Fred, of Pittsburg.

LONDON WOMAN LOSER IN WOODSTOCK BLAZE

Mrs. LeBurtis Had a Thousand Dollars' Worth of Property Destroyed.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Woodstock, Oct. 10.—Mrs. LeBurtis, a former London woman, lost $1,000 worth of her property in a fire which late last night destroyed a building used by her as a storehouse for herbs, and then spread to the barns of the North American Hotel. The total loss will reach $2,500, and is partially covered by insurance. The origin of the fire is a mystery.

GOOD WORK DONE DURING THE YEAR

W. C. T. U. Women Heard the Annual Reports.

The local Women's Christian Temperance Union held its annual meeting in the schoolroom of the Congregational Church Tuesday afternoon.

The union voted a gift of $5 to the Dominion W. C. T. U. extension fund, to be applied in opening up new work in the Northwest provinces.

The London union has invited the Dominion convention to come to London when they again meet in 1913.

Mrs. Gordon Wright led the devotional exercises with an address.

Four of the members have during the past year distributed 1,465 magazines and papers; two have carried to the hospital, children's home, and other places, 641 papers and magazines, and one has given 100 bouquets, and 6 potted plants; both have bestowed fruits, jellies, clothing and whatever they found was needed by those they visited. The jail superintendent has paid 40 visits, and carried to the inmates of the prison 200 magazines and papers. By inquiry she finds that intoxication brought three-fourths of these women, for she visits women only, to this stage of degeneracy, immorality. Cigarettes are responsible for the remainder.

The officers elected for the ensuing year were: President, Mrs. Hubert Ashplant; vice-president, Mrs. Wm. Heaman; corresponding secretary, Mrs. John Williams; recording secretary, Mrs. (Dr.) Rea.

Delegates to the Provincial and Dominion convention were also elected.

A consignment of fall goods that W. B. Lawson was unable to get cancelled, when he decided to retire from business, has arrived. You will have a chance to get new and up-to-date goods at the cut rates. Call at once and see the bargains at 198 Dundas street.

MOVING PICTURE LAWS

Provincial Censorship Will Be Rigidly Enforced After Ten Days.

Commencing in about ten days the provincial regulations regarding moving picture shows will be rigidly enforced.

These are the regulations which stipulate that all films must be inspected and passed by the board of censors before they can be shown on any screen in Ontario.

Owing to the fact that the censors have been very busy since their appointment they have been unable to inspect all the films, and some have been shown which were not first inspected.

The censors have caught up with their work, and commencing in ten days the regulations, which have been in force for some time, will be rigidly enforced.

HUSBAND IS LOCATED

Bert Weekes Was Meeting Every Train and Watching for His Wife.

Shortly after the local police received the wire yesterday from Cedar Springs to the effect that Bert Weekes, a young Englishman, had disappeared, they found that he was in the city, and watching each train for the arrival of his wife and child, who had arrived in Cedar Springs in the meantime. He had been here since Saturday, and had met each train that had come in from the east on the Grand Trunk, but his wife had come in on the C. P. R. instead, and had gone through to Chatham, and thence to Cedar Springs. He was considerably surprised when informed by Bert Hayes, of the station ticket office, that his wife was waiting for him in Cedar Springs. He stated that he had commenced to get anxious about her, but was relieved to know she had arrived safely. He took the next train out of the city for Cedar Springs.

INTERNATIONAL PAPER PROMOTED IN PARIS

[Canadian Press.]

Paris, Oct. 11.—A scheme is on foot to start in Paris the highest-prices daily newspaper of the present day. It is to be called Le Journal International, to be published in French, and to be sold at 10 cents a copy.

The object of the publication is to regard political affairs from a strictly international standpoint, and for that purpose an international advisory board is to meet yearly to consider the policy of the journal. Lord Weardale for Great Britain, George Brandes for Denmark, County Albert Apponyi for Hungary, and Baroness Von Sutner for Austria, are members of the board, and Theodore Stanton, an American journalist, is editor.

Large premises have been taken in Paris, and it is stated the newspaper will be started in February.

For the five-year period from 1901 to 1905 inclusive the number of births a thousand of population in six leading countries of Europe was as follows: In Holland 155 in Germany 149 in Great Britain 121 in Austria 113 in Italy 106 and in France 18.

Music and Drama

A Brilliant Play.

"With Edged Tools," that brilliant English book play, comes to the Grand Opera House tonight, and those who want to see a Willard production should not miss the opportunity of seeing this piece acted by the cleverest of Britons. The London Daily Mail says: "One great scene, which brings down the curtain on act 4, would alone insure the success of the dramatic version of "With Edged Tools."

"The realism of the episode, as enacted by Campbell Goldsmid, goes beyond description, and discloses Mr. Goldsmid as an actor of quite exceptional power."

"The grace and gentleness of Marie Leonhard is like a light shining in a dark place."

"Replete with incident, crowded with strong, striking scenes, they have rendered a great service to dramatic art by presenting it on the stage."

"The story of love and adventure appealed alike to the romantic and fighting elements of the audience."

"Have secured a rare combination for its presentation. The whole production was hailed with great satisfaction."

"Rivets the attention of the audience from beginning to end."

"The audience showed its appreciation in a marked manner, and the play deserved it."

"The intense interest, exciting plot, and epigrammatic brilliance are all happily blended."

"In every sense a beautiful play."

"There is no doubt of the power and ability that distinguish the work."

"The Fortune Hunter."

In a sermon on "The Fortune Hunter," during its run in Chicago recently, the Rev. Percival H. Barker, of Maywood congregation, said: "This clever comedy is a moral tonic for the youth, as it tells the story of a dejected, hopeless young man who has wasted his treasures in careless and riotous living—a slave to cocktails and cigarettes, but transformed into a manly personality. It is a strong religious sermon, portraying the regenerative power of a pure, intense love." In this age, when wedlock is frequently contracted in the spirit of commerce, it is gratifying to see a play where the hero places loyalty above royalty, marries for character, purity of thought, kindliness of spirit, holiness of aspiration—love."

"The Fortune Hunter" is scheduled for presentation at the Grand Opera House Friday and Saturday, and Saturday matinee.

Francis Wilson in "The Bachelor's Baby."

It has been stated that "if there is a man who does not love children, he will change his mind when he sees Francis Wilson's comedy farce, "The Bachelor's Baby," of which he is himself the author and which is generally conceded to be one of the great big laughing successes of the past two seasons, for "The Bachelor's Baby" is in its third year of presentation, and is to be seen here for the first time within a fortnight. Mr. Wilson has never been seen to better advantage, and with the assistance of his New York company, which scored for eight months at the Criterion Theatre last season, Charles Frohman presents the popular comedian in "The Bachelor's Baby" at the Grand Opera House on Monday evening, Oct. 16. Seats tomorrow.

Strength Comes
NOT FROM WHAT YOU EAT, BUT FROM WHAT YOU DIGEST.
A Tablet Digests a Meal—Trial Package Free.
Most people eat most foods without discrimination—it matters little what. Few stop to think what that food does for them. This is the first turn on the road to dyspepsia. Reckless disregard of the proper choice of foods, rapid eating and improper mastication, are the unquestioned causes of all stomach disorders from the slight ache to the malignant cancer.
There is nothing more revolting than a dyspeptic stomach—a very vat for putrefaction, sending forth its poison throughout the entire system, depressing the brain, befouling the breath, souring the taste, deadening the muscles, incapacitating the liver and kidneys for their work, debilitating the heart, choking the lungs and clogging the bowels.
All of these disagreeable and dangerous conditions are due to the improper digestion of food and the consequent assimilation of poison. What else can be expected? If the food lies in the stomach, if the system is constipated, fermentation is the natural outcome. It shows itself in sour watery risings, belchings, heartburn and painful breathing.
There is only one way to remove this condition. If the stomach refuses to digest your food put something into it that will. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are nothing but digestives. They are not a medicine. They work when the stomach will not.
Each tablet contains enough pepsin, diastase, golden seal and other digestive elements to reduce 3,000 grains of ordinary food to the proper consistency for assimilation into the blood.
Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are absolutely pure. There is nothing harmful in them, as shown in their indorsement by 40,000 physicians in the United States and Canada.
Ask your family physician his opinion of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and if he is honest toward you he will state positively that they will cure your stomach trouble, whatever it may be, unless you have waited too long and have allowed your disorder to develop into cancer.
Act today and begin to end your suffering. A free trial package will be sent to your address upon request. The 50-cent size packages are for sale at your druggist's. F. A. Stuart Company, 150 Stuart building, Marshall, Mich.

LONDON A CENTRE FOR SMUGGLERS

It Is Claimed That Gems Are Left Here for Awhile and Then Taken to Detroit.

THE EXCURSIONS USED?

According to Latest Story This City Has Proven a Rich Thing for Those Who Desired to Beat U. S. Government.

London is supposed to be the centre of the diamond-smuggling trade of Ontario, and the investigations of the U. S. secret service men who were in the city yesterday, may go farther than shadowing certain individuals who are supposed to be in the trade.

For some time rumors have reached the American Government that an extensive smuggling trade was done at Detroit with London as a centre, but nothing definite in the way of information was secured.

It is understood now, however, that they are on the right track, and sensational developments are likely to follow.

The scheme followed is along this line. An agent brings the diamonds to Canada, free of duty, from the continent. They are left here, and when the season for summer excursions arrives, the stones are sent across the line into the United States.

Some times as many as 1,000 people go on these trips to Detroit, and it is the easiest matter in the world for the smuggler to pass in with the crowd without the least chance of detection.

A Profitable Business.

On each trip many diamonds are taken across the line. Thousands of dollars' worth were sent at once to Chicago, where they were distributed throughout the United States.

There is information being given out that a number of local men have been making considerable revenue as a sideline by carrying the sparklers across into the United States.

These facts were given the secret service men some time ago, but they have been unable to locate the parties behind the movement.

They are not after the alleged local conspirators, but they are after the men behind the guns—the big diamond firm who is profiting by the methods.

The secret service men worked all through the city, obtaining information as to the movements of diamond agents.

Two of them left last night on No. 15, taking up the trail of a diamond expert who had in his possession a very large amount of jewelry.

They watched him very closely. His room was on the third floor in a certain hotel, and the detectives took a room directly opposite and watched his every movement.

QUEBEC TRIUMPH

ble men who uphold the ideals of this province. The defeat of Hon. George E. Foster at the general election of 1900 was no surprise. The Blair influence was strong in St. John, N. B., and Mr. Foster's defeat gave N. Clarke Wallace the right of seniority, as nature and experience gave him the right of ability, to take Mr. Foster's place and reply to the budget speech delivered by Hon. W. S. Fielding.

But almost the first act of the Borden leadership was to displace N. Clarke Wallace and deprive Mr. Wallace of his rights BECAUSE THE RECOGNITION OF THESE RIGHTS MIGHT BE INTERPRETED IN QUEBEC AS A RECOGNITION OF N. CLARKE WALLACE'S RIGHT TO HOLD A PORTFOLIO IN ANY GOVERNMENT WHICH R. L. BORDEN MIGHT BE CALLED UPON TO FORM. Alas, the precautions that R. L. Borden took to placate F. D. Monk & Co. were entirely unnecessary. The brave and valiant spirit of N. Clarke Wallace was wounded by the smallness and cruelty that slighted the precedence which a dying man had earned.

Canadians have long since forgiven, they can never forget, the tactics which offered the rights of N. Clarke Wallace as a vain oblation on the altar of Quebec's race and creed prejudices.

The memory of Mr. Borden's treatment of N. Clarke Wallace is important as an illustration of Hon. R. L. Borden's attitude of mind towards the exponents of Ontario's race and creed ideals and Quebec's race and creed ideals.

The best that Hon. R. L. Borden has to offer in his Government is none too good for extremists who have been more offensive in their advocacy of Quebec's race and creed ideals than N. Clarke Wallace ever was in his advocacy of Ontario's race and creed ideals.

Quebec would not have permitted any leader on earth to treat a French-Canadian N. Clarke Wallace as Ontario permitted the Borden leadership to treat an Anglo-Saxon N. Clarke Wallace.

Ontario sowed the wind of subserviency and is reaping the harvest of subjugation to a race and creed that is entitled to rule Canada because the sons of that race and creed are faithful to their ideals and faithful to the champions of those ideals.

What does Ontario expect to win from a Government made up of enthusiasts for the race and creed on the French-Canadian side and of opportunists who care nothing for the ideals of their race and creed on the other side?

Quebec has reason to be proud of her people and proud of the men who represent these people in every Government because Quebec does not lean, as English-speaking Canada leans, on politicians who have proved their willingness to sacrifice the ideals of their race and creed for the sake of party.

The English-speaking section of the Borden Government is made up of gentlemen who put their principles on the auction block of party when Tupper tried to force clerical schools on Manitoba in 1896, or when Laurier forced clerical schools on Alberta and Saskatchewan in 1905.

The dominant figure in the representation of Ontario is Hon. Frank Cochrane, and those who would see Mr. Cochrane's monument and realize where Mr. Cochrane stands in relation to the most cherished ideals of Ontario have only to go to Mr. Cochrane's constituency of Sudbury and look around them. There in Public Schools, perverted into the agencies of a system that makes it impossible for English-speaking parents to educate their children in their own province, they will see Hon. Frank Cochrane's ideals in action and realize whether such a truckling opportunist and other equally truckling opportunists are the men to grapple with the enthusiasts who always represent the race creed ideals of Quebec in the Borden Government.

Ontario does not ask that French-Canadian public men should be struck down for the crime of fidelity to the race and creed ideals of their people. Ontario should not permit English-speaking public men to be struck down for fidelity to the race and creed ideals of their people. The harmony of honorable compromise can only emerge from the discord of fair and manly conflict between two sets of opposing convictions sincerely held and fairly maintained. When the sincere and convinced exponents of French-speaking Canada's race and creed ideals match themselves in a Government against the equally sincere and convinced exponents of English-speaking Canada's race and creed ideals COMPROMISE will be the issue of such a conflict. When the sincere and convinced exponents of French-speaking Canada's race and creed ideals are matched in a Government against the betrayers of English-speaking Canada's race and creed ideals CONQUEST must be the issue of such a conflict. And the race and creed ideals of English-speaking Canada cannot be permanently subjugated by the racial and clerical prejudices in whose presence Hon. Frank Cochrane trembled throughout his whole political career in Ontario, and will continue to tremble throughout his career as master of the administration at Ottawa.

You will be proud of the bread you'll make with PURITY FLOUR

AFTER seeing a batch of big, golden-crusted, snowy-white loaves, that you have baked from PURITY FLOUR, you will, indeed, be proud of your cooking-ability—and proud of your wisdom in deciding to pay the little extra it costs to procure such high-class flour. You will admit, too, that we are justified in the pride we take in milling this superb flour.

PURITY FLOUR
"More bread and better bread"

PURITY FLOUR is milled exclusively from the best Western hard wheat—the world's finest. More than that, PURITY FLOUR consists entirely of the high-grade portions of the wheat. The low-grade portions are separated and excluded during the PURITY process of milling. Such high-class flour, of course, expands more in the baking. It makes "more bread and better bread."

It makes lighter, flakier pastry, too, if you just take the precaution to add more shortening. On account of its unusual strength PURITY FLOUR, for best results, requires more shortening than ordinary flour.

Progressive dealers, everywhere, sell PURITY FLOUR and take pride in recommending it.

Add PURITY FLOUR to your grocery list right now. 106

CHINESE REBELS CAPTURE CITY

Well-Organized Attack Disturbs the Government—Foreigners Unmolested.

[Canadian Press.]

Hankow, China, Oct. 11.—The revolutionaries have won a notable victory, gaining possession of the city of Wu Chang, after a battle with the loyal troops that began yesterday and continued well into last night.

Today the foreign residents had not been molested. The revolutionary committee issued a proclamation exhorting its followers not to harm the citizens of other countries. The fact that the wishes of the committee have been respected thus far, while reassuring to other nations, is in itself a sinister sign for the Government at Peking, as it indicates that the rebellious movement is now more thoroughly organized.

Earlier outbreaks have assumed the character of rioting in which the mobs were soon out of the control of intelligent leadership thus making their defeat by the better directed Government troops comparatively easy.

The fear of the officials now is that the disaffection in the troops will spread to this city, and every effort is being made to ward off this danger. Wu Chang is the capital of Hu Peh Province, and is situated to the south, just across the Yang Tse Kiang River from this city.

Five gunboats are now in the river in readiness to protect Hankow if possible, should the necessity arise.

The foreign consuls have also telegraphed their governments asking that warships be sent to the scene. Japanese cruisers are expected here tonight, while several gunboats are hastening hither.
