WITHDRAW FROM REPORT READY

That breaks in the London and Port Stanley power lines are common occurrences which are not given publicity was the explanation given by G. B. Everingham of the strike committee of "mallclous cutting of wires" alleged to have happened on the road last week. "The lines are often broken in ordinary times, but they are fixed up again, and no one makes any report of it to the public. Yet when a break occurs during a strike it is immediately declared to be the result of 'malicious cutting.'

"None of the striking employees have been near the right of way." he continued. "We resilize quite well that we would lose the sympathy of the public if we resorted to practices like that, and so you may be sure we had nothing to do with the breaks' that have been reported."

Mishandling of the cars by the "amateur" trainmen who are maintaining a temporary service, is also alleged by the strikers. In one instance, it is alleged that the amateur motorman was required to make a stop a leged by the strikers. Devastated Districts In France Are Again Under Cultivation

Paris, May 17 .- Great progress has been achieved by the inhabitants the devastated regions of France during the eighteen months which have followed the armistice in restoring something like normal conditions. Of 400,000 acres once considered useless, statistics show nearly half have been put in cultivation, and this year's harvest will yield a cereal crop of more than 3,000,000 bushels.

At the time of the armistice there were 235 towns and villages more or less demolished, giving an area of 4,500,000 square yards of debris to be cleared. About a quarter of this has been done. The towns of Amiens, Corbie, Ham, Nesle, Boves and Allly-sur-Noye, and a number of neighboring villages have been almost entirely cleared, and more than 8,000 of the 20,000 damaged houses repaired and made habitable. Ten thousand hats have been erected, and of the 1,200 industrial plants more or less demolished, 230 are in full and 406 in partial operation.

Owing to the amount of wire down nothing could be done toward making repairs until daylight Sunday morning. But even when completed it was found that there was still no power available. A systematic patrol of the line became necessary, with the result that it was discovered in Yarmouth Township that the wire had been cut in two places by the breaking of the messenger wire insulators, and between Yarmouth and St. Thomas a guy wire was found to have been out, and after being connected with the live wire, laid upon the rail, so that it had become fused to it by the heat generated by the short-circuiting.

With the events of Saturday night it was brought to mind that when it was sought to start the operation of the trains on Friday, following the walkout of the men on Thursday at midnight, what was said to be a break in the wire was discovered between stops 1 and 2. In answer to a question, Manager Richards stated definitely

That the men had anything to do with damaging the wires, or other property of the railway was hotly and indignantly denied by President E.

"There is not a man of us who would do such a thing," he said, "and we regret that the trouble should have occurred, for it will put us in a bad light with the public, and we don't want that"

way he could account for the breaks was through accidents resulting from the driving of care by men who did not understand them.

He alleged that the men running the cars were ignorant of practical operating, although they were mostly officials.

Some clerks were assisting in the run officials were assisting in the ran-ning of the cars, and he knew that the officials were busy training some out-siders. The men did not mind the cars being operated by the employees of the road so maich, but they would not stand to see strike-breakers used.

To prevent further damage Sir Adam asked Chief County Constable B. Watterworth to swear in twelve special constables to control the lines between London and St. Thomas. Mr. Watterworth experienced great difficutly in securing ten, but the men were sworn in last night and were posted along the line. It was reported that the constables were fully armed and were under orders to shoot on sight anyone cutting the wires, but no confirmation could be secured for the statement.

One of the directors, in pointing out the folly of such actions on the part of those guilty of cutting the wires, said that no thinking persons would do such a thing. AWAITING ARRIVAL OF WELL DRILLERS

 Public Utilities Has Several Sites Picked For Operation.

The public utilities department is still anxiously awaiting the arrival of well-drillers from Thamesville to sink wells here to provide additional water supply for the city. It is expected that the drillers will arrive some day this week, but the best thing the city can do under the circumstances is to patiently await their pleasure in getting here, for welldrillers, like cooks, are few in number, and come when it suits them. London is fortunate even to have the prospect of their coming here.

Time was when well-drillers were plentiful, the Petrolea oil wells providing steady fork for them. But newer and more promising oil fields in Texas, Dutch East Indies, Japan, China, a, Mexico and South America are today being driven by drillers who learned their trade in Western Ontario. Wells will be sunk in the neighbor-od of the coves, and also in the northeast section of the city, north of the East London industrial area. General Manager E. V. Buchanan of the public utilities department states.

FOR CRITICISM

Speakers Believe Chairman Determined To Break Labor Organizations.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., May 16.— Employees of the Provincial Hydro-Electric Commission engaged on con-struction work on the Chippewa power canal here decided tonight not to strike tomorrow morning, as they had threatened last Friday. Charles F. Swayze, Labor member of the Legislature for Niagara Falls; threatened last Friday.

Charles F. Swayze, Labor member of the Legislature for Niagara Falls; Frank H. Greenlay, Labor member for St. Catharines, and M. M. MacBride, Labor member for South Brant, were present, and advocated moderation by the men. Hon. Walter Rolio, minister of labor, was expected, but was unable to attend the meeting. The men were promised that a resolution would be introduced to the Legislature tomorrow to appoint a board of members of the Legislature to investigate the dispute between the men and the power commission. On the strength of this the men agreed to postpone their strike.

Might Throw it Up.

Mr. Swayze said there was a possibility that Sir Adam Beck, chairman of the Provincial Hydro-Electric Commission, would throw the whole hydro project back on the hands of the Provincial Government, which could not handle it. The various speakers seemed to be under the impression that Sir Adam Beck was determined to break up the local labor organization and blame labor for the non-completion of the Chippewa power canal undertaking in August, 1921, the date it is supposed to be completed, and was in favor of a strike among the men.

Alienate Sympathy.

Mayor M. M. McBride sointed out that an immediate strike would allenate public sympathy. He claimed that there was a conspiracy among capitalists to starve labor into submission and to break up all unions. The great trouble with the hydro project, he said, was that the original project was based on 1912 figures, and was inadequate for the figures of 1920. He also argued that if the hydro were held up it would be a body-blow to public ownership, and that Montreal interests would grab the St. Lawrence waterpowers.

Questioned by one of the men as to whether they could force the hydro commission to accept the findings of the board of arbitration, Mayor MacBride replied that, without threatening the commission power it could make the findings of the board compulsory.

POLICE SERGEANT IS EXONERATED BY JURY

Inquest Into Death of LaForet Shows Shooting Was Justified.

WINDSOR, May 16 .- After an exhaustive inquiry into the circumstances surrounding the death of Walter C. La Foret, slain by Police Sergeant Burchiel of the Walkerville police department. Coroner La Belle's jury brought in a verdict exonerating the officer from all blame in the case. The finding declares: "We agree that Sergeant Burchiel was justified in shooting in fulfillment of his duty, and we therefore exonerate him from all blame."

Just Joy-Riding.

Four hours of questioning of the six companions of the victim of the shooting developed that they were merely joy-riding in two automobiles, and when one of the cars developed engine trouble they stopped near a house on Windermere road known to contain 145 cases of liquor, the owner of which, a Detroiter, has been under police suspicion for some time.

The stop was made about 3 o'clock on the morning of Friday, May 7. The story told by the different witnesses was substantially the same, except for variations in minor details. Following the wounding of La Foret, which resulted fatally, the parties speeded to the home of Gilbert Hamlin, Jackson's Corners, five miles distant, where a physician was summoned, and where La Foret expired a short time after. The men in the automobile denied seeing the officer or hearing him call to them to stop.

His Foot Slipped.

In reply, Sergeant Burchiel claims he did not know his shot had found its mark until the next day, when he was wakened from bed by Chlef of Police Griffiths of Walkerville, who informed him of La Foret's death. Burchiel claimed he had aimed at a tire to effect a puncture and bring the car to stop, but his foot had slipped, making his aim wild.

"Last September we enrolled more than 100 girls from Cleveland high schools, despite the fact that an early canvass showed only 25 possible applicants. Many pupils reach the legal school age limit during their first year in high school, according to Mr. Welles. This accounts for a large percentage of the decline in enrollment. At this time childen at the legal age limit automatically can leave school to work.

Many also reach the legal age limit at the end of the eighth grade in the junior high schools. In previous years high school students of exceptional ability have been coached to talk before junior high pupils on the subject of higher education.

The close co-operation of the junior and senior high schools has tended to reduce the number of pupils who leave after completing junior high work, according to Mr. Welles. Between 80 and 90 per cent of the pupils in the eighth grades enter the ninth grade.

The proposed new department of vocational guidance, truancy and school census should do a great deal toward checking the big drop in enrollment, according to Mr. Welles.

FINANCIAL PLAN OF PREMIERS INDORSED BY BRITISH PRESS

London, May 17 .- Postponement of the Allied-German conference at Spa, Belgium, is approved generally by this morning's newspapers in commenting on the premier's meeting at Hythe. They 10812 also approve of steps taken relative to German disarmament and are mainly in accord relative to the financial arrangements agreed upon by Premiers Lloyd George and Millerand.

While rather lukewarm to the whole conference, the Times expresses doubt whether Germany would undertake, without compulsion, the burden of the debt which the Allies must compel her to assume. The newspaper regards the spheme for the repayment of the Fronch to assume. The newspaper regards the scheme for the repayment of the French debt to Great Britain as a very large concession to France, and finds some obscurity in the announcement of this arrangement. It declares this agreement must be thoroughly investigated, and made quite plain before giving parliamentary and national sanction.

The Daily News is enthusiastic over that a fixed sum was arread. the fact that a fixed sum was agreed upon for the German indemnity, and avs it constitutes "the foundation of a new order if statesmen build aright

CUTWORM CONTROL MEASURES. CUTWORM CONTROL MEASURES.

(Experimental Farms Note.)

Careful study of tobacco insect pests and methods of eradication has been made by H. A. Freeman, tobacco inspector. Some knowledge of the life history of these insects is necessary to properly cope with them. Frequently they can be best attacked when in that stage of their development in which they do no damage to growing crops. One of the simplest and easiest methods of attacksimplest and easiest methods of attacking these insects is through fall plowing of the tobacco field, which destroys all vegetation on which the insects may feed, and also exposes these insects in their winter stages to alternate freezing and thawing.

During the crop-growing season the most certain and practical method of control is through destruction of the insects by poisoning. There are three ways of using poisons against cutworms—1, spraying the tobacco plant; 2, spraying trap crops, and 3, using poisoned beit. oned bait.

Poisoned bait is most generally used.

In using this material, it is advisable to keep the field as clean as possible of weeds two or three weeks preceding to keep the field as clean as possible of weeds two or three weeks preceding transplanting time in order to reduce the food supply of the worms and render them hungry. A couple of days previous to transplanting spray a small patch of clover with paris green at the rate of one ounce to six gallons of water. Cut the clover in small places and scatter in small handfuls about the fields, preferably on a cloudy day, and in the evening when cutworms are out for feed, and the clover will not dry out too rapidly. If these poison baits are not more than 6 to 8 feet apart the worms will have no trouble in finding them. This treatment should be repeated once or twice.

Instead of poisoned clover hait, poisoned bran mash may be used. This is made by mixing one pound of dry paris green with 40 pounds of bran. To this add a little sweetened water or cheap syrup, stirring it thoroughly until moistened uniformly. This is scattered about the field in the same way as the clover halt one same to he more attractive.

the field in the same way as the clover balt, and seems to be more attractive to the worms even than clover. All poultry should be excluded from the area for some time, or at least until the

The Temptation To Speculate

It comes to everybody sooner or later. Most likely it has come to you. You read in the paper how Jones made a fortune on a quick rise in the market. You compare your own earnings with Jones' big winning, and then you're tempted to speculate, too.

When drawing up your will, remember that any private executor you can name is also faced with this temptation. Remember also that for every speculator who makes a fortune there are a thousand who lose the money their labor has earned.

And to make sure that your heirs are protected against speculation, appoint this company as administrator of your estate.

A rare treat is said to be in store for lovers of brilliant, wholesome comedy, when Richard Walton Tully presents "Keep Her Smilling" at the Grand Opera House, three days, beginning Thursday, evening, with a matinee on Saturday. Mr. Tully has been in London, England, for the past year, where his perennially-popular "The Bird of Paradise" has repeated under his auspices its great American success. Mr. Tully immediately supervised the sending out of the sparkling comedy of domestic life, entitled "Keep Her Smilling." The plece was written by John Hunter Booth, author of "The Masquerader." who based his work upon the series of humorous stories by Edgar Franklin, which appeared in "The Saturday Evening, Post. For the leading part of "Henry." Mr. Tully has brought across the Atlantic one of England's most noted comedians. David Miller, who, it seems certain, will duplicate on this continent his tremendous vogue in England. His latest success there was as "Billy" in "Fair and Warmer, which he played for fourteen months in the British metropolis. His part in "Keep Her Smilling" is said to be equally well suited to his personality and clever methods.

For the other parts Mr. Tully has as usual selected a cast of rare excellence including Isabel Withers, De Witt C. Jennings, Lillian Concord, Rose Emerson, Vira Rial, Ethel Conroy, Lincoln Plummer, W. A. Whitecar, William T. Hays, John M. Washburne, Enrico Sbordi, Marle Bantshaff and twelve others, for there are 25 characters in "Keep Her Smilling" The scenic investiture is particularly elaborate, and no more beautiful settings have been seen in many years than the one depicting the charming suburban home, which many of the appealing love episodes of the play revolve. That "Enlighten Thy Daughter" will grip the people tremendously is a foregone conclusion. It is a story of the world's mystery. It concerns every thinking man and woman, and it ought to be the concern of every young man and young woman. It tells about two girls. Pescott, conducted special services in Dundas Centre Methodist Church Sunday morning and evening, on the occasion of the special anniversary of the Sunday school.

Preaching at the evening service on "The Gift of Love," with the story of the anointing of Jesus' feet by Mary as the text, Rev. Mr. Nicholson told his audience not to keep their alabaster boxes of love and affection sealed up until their friends were dead. "A rose to the living is more than supmtuous wreaths to the dead," he quoted from a poem. Mary did not wait to show her affection for Jesus until after his death. Love manifests itself in gifts, but the gifts are valued little unless they are accompanied by the love and sympathy of the giver. James Russell Lowell said, "A gift without the giver is bare."

Some ask why missionaries are sent to foreign lands, while there is missionary work to be done at home. But gifts anywhere in the spirit of love are acceptable to Christ. Mr. Nicholson related a touching story of a little crippled girl who regretted that she had nothing to give in response to a missionary appeal. She reflected and decided to give her crutches, although she could not walk without them. Her example touched many hearts, who gave generously as a result.

A young lady clerk in a flower store on being told by a purchaser of flowers that they were his wife's favorite flowers, ventured to express sympathy for him in his wife's illness. He replied that his wife was perfectly well. After spologizing, the saleslady remarked, that husbands rarely purchase flowers for their wives unless the latter are ill or dead.

Special Music.

Special music was provided by the church choir and the Sunday school orchestra at both services. At the evening service Mr. C. E. German directed special song numbers by the members of the Sunday school for whom the gallery seats were reserved. Special choral numbers were rendered by the choir under the direction of J. Parneli Morris. A solo was contributed by Bert Howcroft. Large attendances avored both services.

URGES SUPPORT FOR CHILD WELFARE WORK

Peter Bryce Tells of Work Being Carried On by the Associations.

Peter Bryce, the eminent child welfare specialist of Toronto, addressed the congregation of the First Methodist Church Sunday evening and of Colborne Street Methodist Church in the morning on "Child Welfare" in connection with the Child Welfare exhibit being held in the city this week.

Mr. Bryce outlined the work carried on by the Child Welfare Association throughout the Dominion. Now that baby clinics have been organized, he baby clinics have been organized, he said, it was the duty of mothers to take their children for examinations and

"The children of today are the generations of tomorrow," said Mr. Bryce, "and it is up to the people of this generation that ye have a healthy generation as free from disease as it is possible with care during the baby days. There would be fewer feebled-minded people if the clinic were taken advantage of."

He pointed out that prohibition and social service were really child welfare measures. Prohibition, he said, had made happy the lives of many little children, who through the intemperance of their parents had suffered and led miserable lives of poverty. Social service was a child welfare measure, he said, because it assisted widows and enabled them to bring up their children under better conditions. Mr. Bryce urged that every person make an effort to boost the Child Welfare Association in this community. He will address the Rotary Club at luncheon today.

Twenty Million Idle Acres

Urgent Need for Colonization

A Movement Afoot Which Will Affect All Canada

At last a vigorous movement is afoot, under the leadership of "The Western Canada Colonization Association," to cope with a problem vital to the whole Dominion—that of peopling 20,000,000 acres of vacant prairie land. Even the lay mind will grasp the significance of this national undertaking and the benefits that will accrue to all Canada. The financial burdens now taxing the reserves of rich and poor alike will be materially lightened.

Widespread Effects of Increased Food Production

The cultivation of these vast areas of now idle lands means a greatly enlarged food production and a rapid increase in the country's export trade. The effect on our national wealth will be farreaching-to the country as a whole-to businesses and individuals. The resultant correction of the present adverse exchange rate cannot fail to be marked. There will be such an increase of population that the national debt will be easier to carry, and the per capita taxation will be lightened. The domestic market for Canadian manufactures will see a notable expansion.

In brief, the speedier exploitation of the abounding resources of the West, still latent, promises to open an unprecedented era of progress for the whole Dominion.

Plan to People 20,000,000 More Acres

These twenty million acres of vacant land all lie within twenty miles of existing railways. As the Government is unable to undertake the settlement of private property, a group of public-spirited men has assumed this trask.

The object of the association is patriotically constructive. Its aim is a greater and more progressive Canada. Its policies will be controlled by a joint executive committee, representative of both East and West. The officials appointed to carry on its work will be highly competent and practical men.

The Evolution of the Project

The story of the evolution of this important project is typical of Canadian foresight and largeness of vision. The Industrial Development Association of Alberta realized that the further development of industry and agriculture in that province demanded the establishment of greater inter-provincial co-operation. To this end "The Western Canada Colonization Association came into existence. The fullest sympathies of Saskatchewan and Manitoba were promptly elicited, and in the three provinces Executive Councils of eight members each were elected.

Leading Canadians Founding the Movement

At a joint meeting of these Executive Councils it was decided to raise the sum of $1,500,000 from business corporations throughout Canada to carry out the work. Before making a general appeal, a number of outstanding public-spirited men were invited to become founders of the Association. The following responded by lending their financial support and sympathetic patronage:
