MISS STONE REPORTED DEAD

Thought that she has been Murdered Owing to Delay in Paying Ransom.

The Bulgarian Government Declines to Permit Brigandage, stating in Bulgarian Territory for Ransom.

Berlin, November 13.—The Cologne Gazette to-day contains a despatch from Sofia, Bulgaria, saying it is feared that Miss Stone has been murdered, owing to the delay in the payment of her ransom.

BULGARIA'S POSITION.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Nov. 13.—The Bulgarian officials disclaim any intention to interfere with Consul-General Dickinson's private negotiations for the release of Miss Ellen M. Stone from the hands of the brigands, but they decline to become a party to an agreement sanctioning brigandage or the emissaries of brigands coming into Bulgarian territory to treat for the ransom of persons captured in a neighboring state. In defence of the interests of Bulgaria, the officials cannot show weakness towards the brigands or repudiate responsibility for the consequences. The Government would, however, subject to certain conditions, respect safe conducts granted to Mr. Dickinson to private emissaries. It is suggested that Mr. Dickinson give the bandits a fixed time in which to accept the amount offered and the conditions of payment, as the only means of bringing the matter to a speedy conclusion, inasmuch as the prestige of the United States is injured by the present inconsequent negotiations. Hardly a day passes without persons calling at the hotel where Mr. Dickinson and the newspaper correspondents are staying with information to sell regarding the case. The information is either stale or fictitious. A Greek priest yesterday introduced himself with the statement that he met a Turkish officer with Miss Stone and Madame Tsilka, near Pjunaibala. He added that the woman asked him to tell people that he had seen them. This is the third time, in her letters, that the movements of troops compel the brigands' band to keep in constant motion proves that they must be Bulgarian soldiers, as the Turkish troops in Macedonia are stationary.

STORY TOLD BY A BULGARIAN CLERGYMAN.

New York, Nov. 13.—Ivan Milcheff, a Bulgarian clergyman from Uscub, in Macedonia, has just arrived from visiting Miss Stone, and is now in consultation with Mr. Dickinson, says a Sofia, Bulgaria, despatch to the Journal and Advertiser. "Miss Stone," he said, "is in the house of Bekir Bey, in the town of Ceres, Macedonia. I left her two days ago, coming direct to Mr. Dickinson to try to arrange for her release. Miss Stone and Mme. Tsilka are well, but the strain in terror, and there is danger that Miss Stone may lose her mind. To be always in the same surroundings is likely to drive her crazy; constantly looking at the same objects his semi-mesmerized her, and she has had a presentiment that evil will befall her. The brigands' chief informs me that he will now insist on the full ransom, as the length of time Miss Stone has been left on his hands leaves no margin for bargaining. The names of the original chief is Dervish Younouss, and he is an Albanian. Bekir Bey, in whose house Miss Stone is confined, is hand in glove with the brigand chief. Bekir Bey assisted the brigands by keeping Miss Stone for thirty days in the mountains before taking her to his house.

"There are about 150 Macedonians imprisoned in connection with the Stone affair by the Turkish officials. I want no personal compensation, but I want the Macedonians released. If the Americans, the English, and the French consuls at Salonica insist upon Bekir Bey releasing Miss Stone, it will not be necessary to deal with the brigands, and we can get her release without paying ransom."

MEET JAN. 8TH

An Early Session of the Ontario Legislature Promised.

Toronto, Nov. 13.—The Ontario Legislature will meet on January 8. That date has just been selected, and unless something unusual happens the notice calling the House on that day will be sent out. By ending the Legislature so early in January, the Government hopes to get through before March 31st, when the present Parliament would have died and not the bill extending its life been passed last session. Although the date is considerably early than is usual, Premier Ross and his colleagues claim there will be no trouble about having the business of the House ready by that date.

Work on the estimates is being pushed ahead, so that they may be presented as early as possible in the session. The Government legislation will probably be moderate in amount. The bill to build a Government railway from North Bay to Temiscaming will probably be the most important measure. The assessment law will come in for amendment and the full report of the assessment commission will probably be submitted.

NO ABATEMENT OF THE STORM

The Gale Still Waging on British Coasts—Many Wrecks and Casualties.

The Death List Already Approaches One Hundred—Disastrous Floods in the Welsh Lowlands.

London, Nov. 13.—The gale which has been sweeping over Great Britain and Ireland for the past two days continues unabated at many coast points. Over the Welsh lowlands, the torrential rains are increasing, causing disastrous floods. Reports of wrecks and casualties continue to float in. The death list, made up of threes and fours, has an aggregate approaching one hundred.

The mail boat Nord has succeeded in returning to Dover. The mails and shippers are safe. The crew of the lightship was also landed this morning after passing a terrible night at sea in a small boat.

The British steamer Stelvio has been beached at Dover. She is high and dry across the parade.

Early to-day a French bark struck off Hendon. Nineteen of the crew were drowned.

Numerous other wrecks have been reported, but the weather in some cases prevents the identification of the craft. Two vessels in distress were sighted yesterday evening off Dungeness, but the weather was so severe that he life-boat was unable to put out to their assistance. This morning one of them sank. The other, a steamer, reached Wexham Bay, where a tug is now standing by her.

The revenue cutter Active has been wrecked in the Firth of Forth. Twenty-three of the crew were drowned, and three were saved.

The Norwegian bark Inga, Capt. Olson, which sailed from Falmouth, Oct. 28, for the Tyne, was totally wrecked at Tyne-mouth, and 16 members of her crew have been lost. The Swedish bark Trio was driven ashore late this afternoon at West Hartlepool, Durham, and was broken up. Three of her crew were washed ashore, alive, while the remaining seven were drowned in sight of thousands of spectators, powerless to help them, all attempts at rescue with rockets, carrying life-saving lines having failed.

A terrible gale and snowstorm lasting for the last twelve hours has done much damage throughout Denmark. There are five feet of snow at Copenhagen. Eight vessels are reported wrecked, and many lives have been lost.

SHOP-LIFTER

Maple City Shoe Merchant has an Interesting Experience with a Fair One.

A very humorous incident occurred in one of our Maple City shoe stores the other day, which resulted in the shoe merchant losing a customer, but he claims he will not be a loser by it.

A rather young lady with a pleasant countenance of a rather darkish hue appeared in the store about four o'clock in the afternoon, and wished to see some baby's shoes. The business man, with his ever ready business instinct, promptly brought forth some of the 75 cent quality. After examining a number of these, she finally decided they were too dear. She wished to see some cheaper ones.

The merchant then proceeded to take down a box of the cheaper quality, and while she was doing so, the bright-looking young lady quietly slipped a 75 cent pair under a large cur cape she was wearing.

When another was shown her she was evidently well pleased.

"O yes," she exclaimed, "those are the kind I want. How much are they?"

"Well," said the shoe man with a slight twinkle in his eye, "that pair you are looking at is 60 cents, but that pair you have under your arm is 75 cents."

"O—er—yes—what?" gasped the astonished lady who thought that her action had been unnoticed. Then as she finally regained her composure and noticed the sarcastic grin on the man's face, she played the part of injured innocence, and played it well, too, for an amateur.

"Sit!" she said, rolling her eyes, and looking very indignant, "do you mean to insult me?"

"Not at all," said the other.

"You may have all of your shoes. I will not buy another pair in your store."

And with this she stalked proudly out of the door still playing her chosen roll until she was well out of sight.

"A merchant needs to have eyes in the back of his head," said the shoe man in talking of the incident afterwards.

AMERICAN TESTIMONY UNRELIABLE.

No matter how trustworthy they may be in other respects, Americans are not safe guides on English affairs, and especially on anything connected with the Boer war. An example of this is given by Rev. Dr. Parkhurst, of Red Light District fame, who in an interview with a New York reporter on his return from a visit to the Old Country a short time ago, said that the non-conformist clergy were strongly opposed to the continuance of the war, and were about to bring pressure to bear on the government to grant the Boers such terms as would ensure its speedy termination. Unfortunately for the reverend doctor's story, another clergyman, who had been attending the Methodist Ecumenical Council in London, returned a few days later, and in a talk with another newspaper man, described how the American delegates had been hissed down by the English members the independence of the self-styled South African Republics as one of its conditions. Such a storm was raised, he said, that they did not mention the subject a second time, and his opinion was that the British people, clergy and laity, established church and non-conformists, were unanimous and unalterable in their determination to accept nothing less than the unconditional surrender of the Boers. Dr. Parkhurst may believe what he said to be true, but in the light of what the other minister says and of information coming through English newspapers, it looks as if the reverend gentleman had mistaken what he wished to be true for the truth.

CANADA IN SOUTH AFRICA.

The suggestions made by James Cumming, of Lyn, a few days ago at the meeting of the Manufacturers' Association at Montreal are well worthy of consideration both by the business men of Canada and the Dominion Government, points out the Brockville Times.

Mr. Cumming as a successful and practical business man of many years' experience was exceptionally well qualified to fulfill the duties of special trade commissioner for Canada to South Africa, and his visit to the South African colonies this year has evidently been no mere holiday jaunt for he has succeeded in giving the people of Canada a much clearer understanding of the possibilities and opportunities of trade with South Africa than Canadians ever had before.

His suggestion that business institutions in Canada desirous of establishing and extending their trade in South Africa should have a competent and trustworthy resident agent there, is a suggestion which must strike every business man as a thoroughly business-like suggestion, the neglect of which must almost to a certainty be followed by failure in trade expansion.

If this suggestion, then, is of such vital importance to business men and business institutions in Canada, it follows as a resident Trade Commissioner for the whole Dominion is immeasurably greater. A Canadian Trade Commissioner competent to grasp the business needs of Canada's growing trade, should be sent without delay to South Africa, in order that when peace in Africa assumes the magnified proportion anticipated Canadian manufacturers will be prepared to ship the kind of goods required in South Africa. For of course Canadian merchants and manufacturers must ship what the people in South Africa demand, not merely what Canada manufactures, and it will take some time for Canadian representatives to study the situation, find out just what goods are demanded and then have them made for shipment. The value of a Trade Commissioner has already been proved by the admirable service rendered by Canadian

A THIRD CONTINGENT.

Armstrong Watchman.
The Citizen's suggestion is a wise one, which, no doubt, will receive every encouragement. Quality is what is needed, and Canadians are not lacking in the qualities that go to make the British soldier. Australia and New Zealand are still on the field, while Canada is resting on her laurels.

THE REASON.

Halifax Chronicle.
We presume that the reason why the minister of militia insisted, if he did so insist, that "an officer of the permanent force" should be appointed to lead any further body of men who might be raised for the imperial service in South Africa was that he might make sure of its being properly commanded by some one responsible.

CANKER.

There is a mistaken idea as to the cause of cankers in the mouth and throat. Sufferers imagine that they arise from stomach troubles, but it is nothing more or less than the result of impure blood. ## EVER FELT THAT DEATH WOULD BE WELCOME?

Mrs. Margaret Smith often did until Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart gave her a new hope and cured her heart.

"I was for two years a great sufferer from heart trouble. At times I was confined to bed, at times my pain was so intense that I would have welcomed death with joy. I was attracted to Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart by reading of some wonderful cures wrought by it. One dose gave me relief in 30 minutes. I took hospital treatment for nine months without relief, but a faithful trial of South American Rheumatic Cure permanently cured me." Relieved at once.

THAT OFFER.

Montreal Witness.
The statement that the British Government has a standing offer of a force from Canada does not seem to have been in the memory of the cabinet minister who in an interview with the Witness reporter said he did not think that the British Empire was reduced to the extremity of asking for more colonial troops. If Great Britain has to humiliate herself to the extent of implying that she is in dire necessity in order to get Canadian aid, she will never get it.

UNSOLICITED TESTIMONIALS.

Minneapolis Journal.
A Wheaton, Ill. lady, who had "tried everything in vain until I commenced taking your valuable remedy," has written, if the Wheaton News can be believed, the following testimonial to a country druggist, who is booming a new tonic:

Dear Sir—Before taking your medicine I was too weak to spank the baby, but now I can lick my husband. Heaven bless you.

This reminds me of the Shakespearian man who was nearly blind and took Dr. Sawyer's wonderful Elixir. He wrote:

Dear Sir—Before taking your Elixir I could not see six inches before my face. Yesterday I saw wood. I feel that I ought to let these facts be known. Send me another bottle.

Phineas D. Perkins of Mount Centre, S. D., says (that before trying the Snake Cure "he had not drawn a sober breath for twenty-five years." Last Sunday he drew several sober breaths, greatly to the astonishment of his wife, and without injury to his health. He expects a perfect cure—some time.

CORPORATIONS BENEFIT.

Galt Reporter.
The Brockville Recorder is led to observe, in connection with the judicial decisions upon the scrap iron assessment, that "to put it mildly, the companies are getting the benefit of all the doubts in these decisions."—Toronto Star.

And it was to put the companies in a position to receive the "benefit of all the doubts" that the Ross Ministry copied and bulldozed its followers into voting for the amendment of last season.

The editor of the Brockville Recorder, George P. Graham, is a member of the Legislature and the ponder of the big drum in the corporation amendment to the Commes Bill that in the House was declared to be in the interests of the people, but which in practice has been found of absolutely no value in breaking the power of Commes's prompters. The Graham amendment simply added a stone or two to the breastworks behind which the franchise holders are enconced.

To put it mildly, the Province has been badly governed by the men who have scattered favors among the corporations. They have earned dismissal and if the independent elector does his duty Ross will be completely routed when he appeals to the country.

As Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for womanly diseases. No one knows this better than the woman who has tried local doctors and many medicines and found no cure until she began the use of "Favorite Prescription." It establishes regularity, stops weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

"I was troubled for three years with ulceration and female weakness and my doctor gave me but little relief," writes Mrs. Lulu Hunter, of Allenton, St. Louis Co., Mo. "I saw an advertisement in the paper of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription, began the use of it and about a year ago I took five bottles of it and my health is better now than it was for years. I have also recommended these medicines to some of my friends, who suffered from female weakness, and good results have followed."

BOTH WAITING FOR THE GONG

The Big Fellows Claim to be in Fine Shape—Ruhlin Does
Fast Work.

Madden Talks About the Rules and Says
That His Man Will Surely Win.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 13.—"I have never been as strong or as fast as I am now," said Champion Jim Jeffries on his arrival from Harbin Springs. "He never was in better condition," added his manager, Billy Delaney. "He will be the fastest big man that ever stepped into a ring when he meets Ruhlin. His hard training for the contest is over, and he will now only keep in fighting trim by moderate work on the roads about Oakland, and by a daily spell at the bag and other muscle-hardening machines in the Reliance Club's gymnasium. Chasing the nimble deer over the hills of Lake County has made excellent work for the champion. Not an ounce of superfluous flesh is on him, and his muscles are hard and springy."

This morning he went out on the road, and the afternoon was spent in punching the bag. The big champion left much of his training apparatus at Harbin Springs, expecting that after his go with Ruhlin he will be called upon to prepare to meet Fitzsimmons or Sharkey, or some other aspirant for championship honors. If so, he will have training quarters waiting for him.

So far scarcely any money has been laid on the contest. A few small wagers at $5 to $25 in favor of the champion have been made, but conservative patrons of the game are looking for a more even gamble. Ruhlin's supporters are taking some of the money now offered, and they are predicting that by the commencement of the week the Jack-o'-lantern will have so gained in favor that betting will be nearer even.

"He is only waiting now for the time to come when he can step into the ring," said Billy Madden, his manager. "He could not be in better condition, and I consider him well capable of taking care of himself in the coming mill. He will now only do light work on the road and in the gymnasium, and will remain at his camp until the night of the contest."

Kid Lavigne has established training headquarters at the Six-Mile House, and this morning he was out on the road with Ruhlin. The big fellow let the lightweight set the pace on the way to the point four miles off, and left him panting far in the rear on the way back. Ruhlin will remain at Billy's until the day of the fight. He has nothing to do elsewhere, he says, and he might as well keep filling his lungs with the good fresh air that comes in over the hills from the ocean as long as he has an opportunity.

Manager Madden has something to say about the rules under which the fight is to be fought. He said his man did not care how an opponent fought, as long as he could keep one hand in action. It was the public that objected, he said, to hugging matches, and he thought there would be no complaint on that score in the coming scrap.

"Under Marquis of Queensberry rules," explained Madden. "Climbing is fouling, and all his talk about fighting with one hand free and fighting in breakaways is rot. The rules don't provide for it. To interpret things properly, when one man has his hand on another and strikes him with his free one, that is foul. Both must be clear of each other to be on fair ground. I think that in this regard everything will come off right Friday night. Ruhlin will take care of himself, and I don't think anyone will try to break any way but clean with him."

RESCUED ON LADDERS

Cleveland, O., Nov. 12.—A fire that started in the store of N. O. Stone & Company, on Euclid Ave., late this afternoon, caused a loss of $75,000 to that firm. Insurance about 80 per cent of that sum. The jewellery firm of Arnstein Bros. and Mier, on the second floor of the Stone block, lost $40,000; insurance not stated. A corset factory, employing about 20 girls was on the fifth floor. The fire spread so rapidly that they could not use the fire escapes and were rescued on ladders, while three of the women jumped from the fifth story into a net held by the firemen below. They escaped without injury. The entire building is a mass of wreckage. Three men were injured. Later—When taken to the hospital, Miss Graham, proprietor of the corset factory, was found to have been fatally hurt. She died to-night. Others injured were Miss Jeannette Stratton, who jumped from the second floor and sustained a broken hip; Kate Mulachy jumped from the third story, receiving spinal injuries and a broken leg.

THE LOCAL BUDGET

Mrs. W. H. Fisher, Murray street, is quite ill with rheumatism.

Carl Fleming, of Chicago, is in the city visiting his father, Robert Fleming. He is spending a few days duck shooting on the Dover plains.

C. W. Cameron laid a charge of using insulting language against Henry Landerbeck, of Harwich. Landerbeck pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $1 and $3.50 costs.

George Dunkley brought 160 dozen bunches of celery in from the Erieau celery farm yesterday. He says that it is impossible to supply the demand for the celery. They can sell all that they can get ready for the market.

"I was up to the 'Faddettes' last evening," said a certain newly wed benedict to The Planet this morning, "and was told that one man managed that company of young women. I would certainly like very much to see him and get some ideas from him, as I find it more than I can do to manage one."

"Although a great many people moved from the city during the summer, I think the most of them have and are coming back," said Jas. Marshall to a Planet reporter this morning. "I have nine houses rented at present and could have rented three more within the last week if I had had them. Rent is fairly high and most of the tenants are paying in advance."

George Cartier, stage carpenter at the Opera House, has charge of the ball distribution, and to do this work he always has a number of little lads. Before they can work for George they must have a tough name. The boys who haven't a nickname are quick to find a sobriquet. A shiny little black fellow is called "Plaster," a mulatto boy with considerable chin answers to "Goldy," and others of the dodger carrying crowd are known by the names of "Juice," "Grasshopper," "Ribs," "Ricketty Dick," "Silver," "Ginger" and "Plug."

Col. Sam Holmes has returned from a couple of days' shooting at the Joy Club. He states that the residence of James Parish, Jr., on the 13th concession, Dover, was burned to the ground on Tuesday night at 10 o'clock. Only two women were at home at the time and the fire is supposed to have started from a defective stovepipe. Only a charm was saved. The fire cleaned up everything and nothing was left standing in the ruins except a stove. Colonel Holmes says that it was just such a fire as he would like to have if he had to have one. There was nothing to be pulled down to make room for re-building.

RADIAL ROAD

Mr. Stephens Believes the Railway is Practically Assured.

Radial Road

Geo. Stephens, M. P., is one of the strongest and most enthusiastic supporters of the proposed Radial Electric Railway in Kent. In conversation with The Planet this morning he said:—

"I have no doubt but that in time the railway will be put down, and the railway will be put down, and through the charter we have at present. It is bound to come. There is no place in Ontario where the conditions are more favorable than in Kent and I would like to see the scheme carried out. The line which is most needed is from Chatham to Petrolia. I would like to see a railway taking in the country north of Dresden. While helping Chatham it would in no way injure the smaller places through which it passes, but would tend to build them up also. This has been found to be the case in other places where they have electric roads."

"It is true that some of the electric railroads in Canada are not paying, but we must consider that the conditions of the country through which they run are not as favorable as would be those in Kent."

"Chatham is growing all the time and it is bound to continue to grow. There is nothing to prevent it and an electric railway would help it wonderfully. The only obstacle in the way seems to be the securing of the necessary capital but I have assurances from Mr. Ross that he will not object to the bounding of the road as long as these bonds are made out at a reasonable amount."

"The promoters of the road are still carrying on negotiations and have the scheme constantly in mind, so I don't think it will be very long before we will see the road established."

Montreal, Nov. 13.—Lieut.-Col. Steele, former commander of Strathcona's Horse, in a letter to a relative in this city, says that he is well and likes the service. He first commanded D division of Baden-Powell's Mounted (Police, 2,500 men, and a few months ago a second division was added to his command. With the exception of a couple of Canadian officers, both divisions are composed of Englishmen, and Col. Steele finds them a splendid lot. His men did the scouting in advance of Colonel Kekewich's last successful movement.

Col. Steele's command is now concentrated in Pretoria, and occupies Mr. Kruger's house as his headquarters, writing the letter on the historical verandah.

WILL QUIT

Public School Trustee Wilson Proposes to Retire After ten Years of Active Service.

"I think I will step down and out and let the younger men step in," said School Trustee J. A. Wilson to The Planet this morning, when asked if he intended to run for school trustee at the coming election. "I have been in it now for about ten years without a break, and I think I will settle down and live the rest of my life in peace. 'The trustees were an amiable crew this year, and I have carried most of my points, so I think I will quit while my credit is good.'"

SHOOTING STARS

Look out For a Big Swarm of Them in the Heavens To-night.

Astronomers all over the country are anxiously wondering whether the great Leonid swarm expected November 13, 14 and 15, of last year and the year before, will come this year. For two years past devotees of the science have watched the heavens patiently and carefully, and the three nights for the coming of this most famous shower of shooting stars, only to be disappointed.

On November 14, 1897, a few of the Leonids were seen, but a year later to the day, the watchers were rewarded with a brilliant display, in which about 800 were noted. November 14, 1899, the astronomers, armed with the latest photographic weapons, again awaited the display, and from 100 to 200 were recorded. Last year there were no substantial results, although something more than 100 were noted altogether in northern latitudes, principally at Yale and Harvard.

These records, however, are nothing to the glorious display of the past, the day the watchers are to see the appearance of a "rain of stars." The Chinese also tell of wonderful and awe-inspiring exhibitions in the heavens. From that time to this they have been noted with fair regularity every 33 years or so, the last first class shower in this country being on November 14, 1833. On November 14, 1866, they appeared again, the largest display in 1867. By some it is claimed that the 33 year period would therefore bring them back in 1900, but on the other hand it has been shown that the period of the swarm has been lengthening, and must not be close to 34 years. This calculation would assign to-night as the proper time for their appearance.

The constellation Leonis rises shortly before midnight to-night, but it is not well in view till 1 a. m. It can be found readily by using the pointers in the Dipper in a reverse direction from the customary use in finding the North Star. Leonis will be identified about as far off as the North Star is the other way, and as a very good outline of a sickle, with the bright star Regulus at the outer end of the handle. A better way is to use the two stars forming the side of the Dipper nearest the handle for pointers. These point again in the direction opposite to the North Star, directly at the sickle. The radiant of the Leonids is within the curve of the blade of the sickle, near the center. And does not come into good view until about 2 o'clock in the morning.

CAPITAL CONCERT

It was presented Last Evening in Honor of the A. O. F. Anniversary.

Court Hope of Ontario, No. 624, A. O. F., gave a complimentary concert in the I. O. O. F. Auditorium last evening in celebration of the twenty-third anniversary of the founding of the lodge in this city. A large crowd of Foresters and their friends assembled to do honor to the occasion, and a delightful evening was spent. The hall had been tastefully decorated for the occasion and everything done to fittingly commemorate the founding of the lodge.

W. H. Bensen made an excellent chairman, and under his direction the program of the evening was successfully carried out. In his opening address he welcomed the guests and said many kind words for the order of which he has so long been a member. Dr. McKough was the orator of the evening and he was responsible for a splendid address on the aims and objects of the Ancient Order of Foresters.

The committee to whom credit is due for the success of the concert, was composed of Ben. Longley, A. E. Lenfestey, Edward Cape, Edward Wanless, Fred. Thompson, William Wood, and H. Barnes.

A BROKEN LOVE DREAM

BY LAURA JEAN LIBBEY

Author of "A Broken Betrothal," "Parted by Fate," "Parted at the Altar," "Heiress of Cameron Hall," "Miss Middleton's Lover," Etc., Etc.

"I gave up a lover at my father's command," she said, slowly. "And you have led a lonely, desolate enough existence of it; that broken love-dream has wrecked your life."

She bowed her head with a bitter moan.

"It is true, Arthur," she whispered, huskily. "It has spoiled my life; but for my father, I might have been a loved and happy wife. Ah, yes, love is best; I cannot count you to break your own heart and this poor girl's. The wealth of the world is nothing without love."

"The strangest part of the affair is, I have never breathed one word of my love to her," he said. "I am sure she loves me, though."

"Few women could help it, my dear," replied his aunt; "you are so good and noble. When shall I see you again, Arthur?" she asked, remembering that his father had forbidden him the house.

He remembered it too. "I will write you, sending you my address," he replied, "and some time you will come and see me, and—"

"I will come and see you—and Ione," she supplemented. "I will love her for your sake. You know I am dependent upon my brother's bounty," Arthur said, sadly. "If I had a dollar of my own you should have it, in this the most trying hour of your life."

"I would not accept it," he answered, proudly; "never fear for me, aunt. I shall not sink."

"Love is a great buoy up of youthful hopes," she said, sadly. "I pray all may go well with you, my boy."

He kissed her in his warm, impulsive fashion, and turned away, when she reached the door, he returned and kissed her again.

"It is not lucky to turn back like that, Arthur," she said, smiling through her tears. "Good-bye, aunt," he said; "you, at least, will miss me."

And, little dreaming of the grievous disappointment awaiting him—a disappointment which nearly unmanned him—Mr. Rochester hurried away to Ione's humble home.

CHAPTER VI.

For the first time in Arthur Rochester's life, his heart beat strangely as he pulled the bell at the door of Ione's home—a lover's heart is always more or less in a state of doubt, hope and fear.

Mrs. Gregory answered the summons, and her face lighted up when she saw who her visitor was, but she was greatly flustered at such a grand gentleman as Mr. Rochester coming to their plain, humble home.

All in a flutter she took his card into the inner room to Ione.

"He looks so kind and so noble," commented Mrs. Gregory, as she helped Ione on with a new frill of lace, and a bit of ribbon about the slender neck. "You ought to have heard how nice he talked to me, to put me at my ease. He isn't much like that other one—the duke who looks around as if there was nothing good enough for him, and makes my blood boil when he dusts off my chairs with his silk handkerchief before he ventures to sit down."

"You are greatly prejudiced against him, poor fellow," said Ione, with a blush, but in a pleasant tone of voice, adding, gently: "I hope you will like Mr. Lyons for my sake, if not for his own. A true gentleman never lives."

"All that glitters is not gold," insisted Mrs. Gregory. "Having the appearance of a fine gentleman don't make one. I'd give more for Rochester's little finger, as the old story says."

EVERY MOVE CAUSED PAIN

The Intense Suffering of a Perth man Relieved and Cured by Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets.

The terrible pain that catches you in the back—makes stooping over or rising up, or moving about even, unbearable.

In nine cases out of ten it is traceable to disordered kidneys.

They will promptly relieve the pain, cure the kidney trouble and restore your health and strength.

Here is a case worth reading: Mr. Alexander Montgomery, Perth, Ont., when interviewed, made this statement: "I was suffering acutely in my back when I began using Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets, procured from F. L. Hall, the druggist. I could lift nothing, every move caused pain. There was neither strength nor energy left in me. The constant aching over my kidneys was most depressing. I started using the Tablets and the lumbago quickly began to let up. I am quite over it now. I have found them most satisfactory and can confidently recommend them for bad backs."

Chronic Cases of Kidney Disease. Intense Suffering, Great Weakness, Lingering Misery—cures Effected by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Most people are familiar with the symptoms of Kidney disorders—pain in the back, deposits in the urine, loss of flesh, smarting when passing water, indigestion and constipation. Kidney disorders are too painful and too fatal to be neglected. The most prompt and thoroughly effective treatment that was ever offered for kidney disease is Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. That this is true is proven by such evidence as the following:

Mr. Thomas A. Embree, general merchant, Springfield, N. S., writes:—"As the result of a severe cold settling on the kidneys, I contracted kidney disease which lingered for years, causing me much suffering from terrible pains in the back. For some time I was entirely unable to work, and, although I tried several physicians I could only obtain slight temporary relief."

"Having heard of the merits of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in many similar cases, I began to use them, and after taking seven boxes was completely cured. The cure is due entirely to the use of the great medicine which has since cured several persons to whom I recommended them."

Mr. Mortimer Chase, Concession, Ont., states:—"This is to certify that I was troubled with kidney disease so badly that life was a burden to me. I could find no ease either night or day, as the pains in my back were almost unendurable, and to stoop over would almost send me crazy. I lost flesh to such an extent that I was reduced to 115 pounds, my general weight being 140 pounds. I could not sleep or rest, no matter what position I was in."

"For about four years I was in this dreadful condition. My father and brother told me about Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills which had benefited them, and I began using them. After taking part of a box I began to feel somewhat better. I have taken in all seven boxes and am now as sound and well as ever I was, able to do a man's work and with no recurrence of my former kidney complaint."

"Mr. J. J. Ward, J. P. certifies that he knows Mr. Chase to be a man of truthfulness and integrity, and believes this statement of his cure to be perfectly correct."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have by far the greatest sale of any similar preparation. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box. At all dealers, Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

"I do love you too dearly for that. I am going to give myself up to hard work that I may not have time to think and grieve in secret over my great loss. Let me say this to you in parting, Ione," he resumed. "I shall never love another. You are my first love. You are my only and my last one. If the hour ever comes when you need a good, true friend, remember me—know that I would give my life to serve you. If you called to me, though I were at the other end of the world, I would come at your bidding. Farewell, Ione, my lost love. May you be happy with the man who has won your love. Say one word to comfort me—that I shall remember all my lonely life."

"I—I do not know what to say," she sobbed.

"Say 'Good-bye, Arthur. God bless you,' he said. "Let me hear the name from your lips just once."

"Good-bye, Arthur. May God bless and keep you always," she repeated. The next moment he was gone.

"I had not even learned to love Frank Lyons, I might in time have learned to care for Mr. Rochester," she sobbed. "He is so good, so noble. Ah, why did Heaven let him care for me—to be refused?"

"How her heart ached for him with a strange, dull pain, which she did not quite understand then. "But do I love Mr. Lyons so very much?" she asked herself. "I do not know. 'Sometimes I think so, and again I—I am not quite sure of my own heart.'"

Only that afternoon, when he had called, Frank Lyons had asked her to marry him. "I do not ask you for your answer now," he had said, carelessly. "The next time you see me I will do quite as well, Ione."

How strangely formal and forced, now that she came to look at it, that proposal of marriage seemed to this.

She went straight to Mrs. Gregory and laid her head down on her bosom.

"The door was open when you passed the parlor," she said, in a low voice. "Did you hear—what—what—Mr. Rochester was saying?"

The good woman drew back in high indignation.

"Do you think I'd be so mean as to spy on you, Miss Ione?" she said, "do you imagine I'd do such a despicable thing as to listen?"

"Mr. Rochester asked me to be his wife," said Ione, in a low, husky, quivering voice.

A cry of delight broke from Mrs. Gregory's lips.

"Oh, child, I can hardly believe it!" she gasped. "I always thought, though, that there was something great in store for you—that you were meant to be a great lady, and live in your mansion, and have servants and horses and carriages, and—"

"I refused Mr. Rochester," Ione said in a low voice.

"You refused—Mr. Rochester!" she gasped. "I cannot believe it!"

"It is true," said Ione, gently. "I refused him because I am going to marry Mr. Lyons, who is coming here to-morrow for his answer."

CHAPTER VII.

"Ione! can you mean it? You—you are really to marry Mr. Lyons?" Mrs. Gregory gasped in dismay.

"Yes, I shall marry him," murmured Ione, a swift blush covering her lovely face. "You do not wish me happiness, Mrs. Gregory. Why?"

"Because I fear you will have little enough of it with that man, my dear. I hope you may never rue it—that's all I can say. Why, I'd almost as soon see you lying in your coffin as standing at the altar with Frank Lyons!"

"You grieve me to hear you speak like that," said Ione, turning away with quivering lips. "for I love him."

"More's the pity," commented Mrs. Gregory.

Ione walked into her own room and sat down by the window to think.

In a little while this life of toil would be over; she would be released at last from the grim poverty which she had known all her young life, and what was best of all, she would have a young husband, whom she fairly adored, to love and protect her.

Ah! such rosy, happy, girlish dreams! What a pity it was that they were to be shattered so soon.

How long she sat there she never knew. She shivered from her reverie by Mrs. Gregory coming into the room with a white, terrified face.

"Oh, Miss Ione!" she cried, "would you mind doing a favor for me? My little Jamie is ill, and I have no one to send to the drug store for Dr. Judd, who always attends us—unless you would go. It is so late—after eleven—but—"

"I'll go for you, of course," Mrs. Gregory said, interrupting. "Go back to little Jamie; I hear him calling you. I'll be off in a minute."

"You won't be afraid?" questioned Mrs. Gregory. "You'll have to cut through the park, and the way is lonely so near midnight."

"Afraid!" laughed Ione. "Oh, no!" and throwing on her long cloak, and drawing the hood well over her curly head, she hurried out into the street.

It was lonely, as Mrs. Gregory had said, though the streets of New York, even at night, are never deserted; and many a pedestrian turned to look after the little, dark figure with the beautiful face, hurrying so rapidly away.

Ione executed her errand promptly, and it was on the homeward trip that an event happened that changed the whole current of her life.

Hurrying down the street, she ran almost directly into the arms of a gentleman who, with a companion, was advancing around the corner.

She drew back with a little cry of surprise; for, despite the darkness, she had recognized the face of Frank Lyons at the first instant, and she noticed, too, in dismay too great for words, the fumes of strong wine on his breath.

He drew back with a laugh, crying out insolently: "Whither away so quickly, pretty one?"

"Come, come, Lyons, none of that," said his companion, impatiently. "Never mind the girl—we are discussing an affair of more importance."

Too shocked and horror-stricken for words, Ione had hurried on—noting, however, that he had not recognized her—and feeling the force of the remark that it was too late and too dangerous for a young girl to be walking the streets alone, Ione signaled a passing street car which would take her at least within a block of her home.

She was the only passenger, and sinking back in the nearest corner and drawing her dark veil closer over her face, she gave herself up to a good cry, all unseemly. Heaven help her! was this the lover she had idolized? A moment later the car stopped again, and to Ione's dismay, Frank Lyons and his companion entered, seating themselves directly opposite.

"Seize little creature, by Jove!" commented Lyons, in an unsteady voice; but, as before, his friend silenced him, and the next instant both seemed to forget the little dark-robed girl who was sitting so shrinking back among the shadows.

"You say you can pay this debt," said Lyons' companion, energetically. "You've said the same thing often enough before; now I propose to know when and how I've done trifling—I mean business now. Remember, a debt of honor should be the first to be liquidated. When I loaned you that sum, which you lost in the questionable, you promised me it should be paid at once, and now it must be paid, or a grand exposure will follow."

THE BOERS IN CAPE COLONY

The Most Formidable Command does out the Midlands.

Considerable Progress Made by the British Columns More Horses and Greater Mobility of Columns Needed.

London, Nov. 13. — A correspondent of the Times, writing from Middleburg, Cape Colony, says considerable progress has been made in operations against the Boers. The most formidable commandoes have been driven out of the Midlands. The work of clearing out the Boers is necessarily slow and harassing, as at least two-thirds of the inhabitants of the country districts are sympathizers with them. The responsibility for the fact that the work of clearing out the Boers is done more quickly rests on those who allowed the troops to grow stale by not relieving them in regular rotation. More horses and greater mobility in the columns are required.

TALK OF THE BOER DELEGATES. Berlin, Nov. 13. — The Frankfurter Zeitung to-day publishes an interview with A. D. W. Wolmarans, the Boer envoy, now at Amsterdam, in which the latter is quoted as declaring that the alleged impending peace negotiations between the Boers and British are unfounded. "So long," says Wolmarans, "as the British ministry maintains the attitude outlined by Mr. Chamberlain and Lord Salisbury's question the question of peace cannot be entertained. The idea of the cession of gold fields is absurd."

TWO CANADIANS WOUNDED. Ottawa, Nov. 13. — Lord Minto cables to Lord Minto as follows:—"Johannesburg, Nov. 13. — Begret to inform you that A. 1798, Trooper William Volians, was seriously wounded Nov. 4th at Triekfontein; E. 2209, Trooper John D. Ludgate, accidentally, quite seriously wounded in the leg at Veriver, 7th November, 8th South African Constabulary. Next of kin, respectively, Mrs. G. T. Volians, Portland, Oregon, U. S. A. mother; Mrs. Ludgate, White Lake, Ontario."

London, Nov. 13. — Mr. Brodric, the British War Secretary, speaking to-night at a banquet given in London in his honor by the City Carlton Club, declared that the Boers were hiding their tracks by murdering Kaffirs behind them. "Lord Kitchener wired to-day," he continued, "that the cold-blooded murder of natives had become frequent, and that the Boers were hiding their tracks by murdering Kaffirs behind them. Their hands tied behind their backs, were found on Nov. 10 at the bottom of a mine shaft."

42,000 BOER PRISONERS. Later in his speech, Mr. Brodric said Great Britain now had 42,000 Boers in custody in the concentration camps and on various islands, and that 11,000 more had been killed or wounded or had left the country on parole. He added that he believed the number of Boers now in the field was about 10,000.

TO THE BITTER END. "The country has set its teeth and intends to go through the process of wearing down," he exclaimed. "We intend to provide Lord Kitchener with fresh troops to replace the tired ones. Only to-day a certain colony made an offer of help."

Mr. Brodric said he was sorry anything had happened to affect the career of Sir Redvers Buller, and he assured the company that the deafness of Sir Buller was the result of the work that officer had to do as commander of an army corps.

CAVALRY FROM INDIA. Mr. Brodric explained that four battalions and two cavalry regiments would be drawn from India for service in South Africa.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured. by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out of this tube and restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Theatrical

Among the many magnificent musical organizations which have from time to time visited the Maple City there is none the merit of which has entitled it to a position premier to that won by the Fadettes, of Boston, at the Grand last evening.

When the New York Sun described this splendid ladies' orchestra as "par excellence" simply justice was extended. It is unquestionably without a peer.

Mrs. Caroline B. Nichols, the accomplished lady director, has under her baton a coterie of artists in which no flaw is to be found. The violinists circling in the centre are veritable virtuosi, on the left the flutist and clarinetist are doing magnificent execution, to the rear the young lady who manipulates the traps and drums is a genius, to the right the brass is characterized by pure and delightful tone production. Every unit of the orchestra, from the massive, fluted horn to the diminutive piccolo, seemed perfection.

Not a number went unenjoyed by the large, delighted and enthusiastic audience, and the orchestra was exceedingly generous in responses thereto. There were ten numbers upon the program and the audience secured 22, and were anxious for more.

All the artists who contributed individual numbers deserve praise. "Little Lina" is a gem, and her posing and recitations were really charming. Miss Rogers, mezzo soprano, has a magnificent voice, and uses it well. Miss Reuck-Wilczek in her violin solos exhibited marvellous mastery of her instrument and a brilliancy of technique and tone.

The Fadettes will present an entirely new program at the Grand to-night and are well entitled to the biggest house of the season. Chathamites will wait long ere opportunity may again offer to hear such a superior musical organization.

"The House that Jack Built," a new comedy by George H. Broadhurst, who introduced the "Joneses" and the "Smiths" to the stage, begins an engagement at the Grand on Saturday evening, Nov. 16th. The new play differs radically from any of the author's previous comedies. It has no relation to the familiar nursery jingle, but takes its title from the fact that the house takes place in a new house which is built and tenanted by a wealthy but eccentric Doctor whose name is "Jack." One of the most humorous situations, and one of the most novel, is a super-heating scene, which is a magnificent piece of business and is infectious. Author Broadhurst wishes to go on record as saying that he considers Mr. George H. Sumner, who plays the leading part, as one of the best non-star English speaking actors on the American stage. The house is tenanted by a number of other prominent people, whose principal mission is to evoke laughter.

FROM SCOTLAND YARD.

A new, sensational melodrama is "From Scotland Yard," which comes to Chatham for presentation at the Grand next week. It is a play that teams with exciting episodes. The story is told in five acts and there are fourteen scenes which show bits of celebrated London and views of the charming domesticity of the provinces. A capable company of actors have the several roles.

The story of "From Scotland Yard" revolves about a young Irish detective sergeant, Cleve Ryley, in the criminal investigation department of Scotland Yard. His endeavor to hunt down crime is made the greater by the introduction of a spirit of revenge for a Captain Nero, a leader whose gang made the best element of society tremble for years. Each of the several incidents which are features of the play actually took place and are introduced by the authors, who listened to a recital of the details by men who had in instances taken part in them. Thus the murder of Herbert Mason, the recital of the bullet which and the slow torture death inflicted by the burning cord will be found in the annals of England's great penal institution. A greater interest attaches itself to the play when it is realized that these exciting incidents are actual happenings.

Too much that is good cannot be said for "Mistress Nell," the charming comedy that comes to the Grand next Thursday evening. Plays that have achieved a success equal to that of "Mistress Nell" are few. The triumph of the merry play is one of absolute sensation and would at a glance seem almost impossible. Its success caused its author, Mr. George C. Hazleton, a lawyer with a lucrative practice, to lay aside his law books and take to play writing in order to supply the demand for work from his pen. The players presenting the piece here have been carefully selected and a really excellent organization, under the management of Mr. Maurice Campbell has been formed for the present tour. Miss Agnes Ardick will be seen as "Mistress Nell."

WOMEN IN CASE

Rathbun now says his Wife and Another Woman had Part in the Insurance Conspiracy

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 13.—Newell C. Rathbun, who is in jail here on suspicion of having murdered Charles Goodman in Jeffersonville, made another damaging admission to the detectives to-day. For the first time he admitted that he had a confederate in Little Rock and when closely questioned, he stated that his wife was in part of the conspiracy to secure insurance money illegally, although he insisted that she was entirely innocent of complicity in any plot to put Goodman out of the way. At first Rathbun had stated that his only confederate was a deserter from the regular army by the name of Blanchard, but he finally admitted that this was false, and Blanchard fictitious. He then stated yesterday morning, that he had worked the plot alone. The suspicions of Captain Sullivan were aroused this morning by news from Little Rock that a Miss Corrine, Prior had stated that Rathbun had proposed a very much similar plot of defrauding an insurance company to her, and had said that if she would marry him and carry out her part that he would send a corpse home; that it could be buried as him, and that he and she could divide the insurance money. He also learned that Mrs. Rathbun insisted that the corpse sent from Jeffersonville, and now in Little Rock, was that of her husband.
