RAISE THE SALARY.

It is a matter of regret to all who have heard the welfare and best interests of the Yukon territory that Mr. Congdon has resigned the position which he is so eminently qualified to fill, that of legal adviser to the commissioner and members of the Yukon council.

There is no doubt but that in recent and pending legislation Mr Congdon has already been worth many times his salary to the district and his successor must be able to take the work off his hands and continue it without injury to the country.

THE LICENSE LAWS.

Mr. Stratton in his address at North Monaghan, in West Peterboro, presented a lot of most interesting and most gratifying figures. The most unending tetota advocate will agree that until we can have prohibition good license laws strictly and impartially administered are a most powerful agency in promoting temperance.

The figures which Mr. Stratton furnished his auditors contain answers to more than one mooted question among those who have studied the statistics of the drink traffic. The number of licenses issued in the province in 1874 stood in relationship to the population as 1 to 274, while in 1900 it was 1 to 850.

consumption of liquor for Australia, United States, Great Britain, Germany and France was 23.27 gallons per head, while the consumption in Canada is given at 5 1-5 gallons per head.

CONSIDINE'S POLITICS.

Just by way of setting right some of the small fry Democratic newspapers who have fallen into error on the subject, their attention is called to the fact that John Considine, now in jail for the killing of William L. Meredith, is a Democrat, and has had some part in local Democratic politics ever since his arrival in this state.

That settles it. If Considine is not a Republican he has no right to live, and if the jury does not find him guilty of murder in the first degree and recommend that he be executed between day light and sun-up the following morning it will be derelict in its duty.

"Truth Shall Prevail."

The Nugget is in receipt daily of hearty congratulations for the decided stand it has taken against the corporation which is sucking the life's blood from this country, but among them all none has given more genuine satisfaction than a conversation of Father Gerard's in which he complimented this paper for speaking the truth fearlessly.

"I wish to subscribe to your paper and I have discontinued the News. My reason for doing so is that you published the fact that freight was being arriving at Whitehorse and that boats were consequently tied up at that point. I noticed a denial of that point in the News which I find is not the truth, for one of the fathers who has recently arrived states that the facts are as stated in the Nugget. I do not wish to read untruths, consequently I wish you to send me your paper."

The case was heard last week argument being reserved until yesterday. After hearing the argument his lordship dismissed the case with out costs.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

From Richmond to Atlanta, along the line of the principal railways, it seems as if it were impossible to get out of sight of new cotton mills either in operation or in course of construction.

Five hundred Mormons from Utah recently settled in Chihuahua, Mexico, and these will be followed by another party of 500 in a few weeks. A notable fact in the history of these Mormon colonies in Mexico is that, though established some 20 years ago, there never has been the slightest trouble between them and the Mexicans.

STROLLER'S COLUMN.

A new brand of the oil of joy has been put on sale in Dawson that is apt to be shunned by all who once experience its effects. Dawson is remarkable for her various brands of hooch, but not until Saturday evening were the effects of the latest brand observed.

The steamer Barr was about to sail for St. Michael when a fruit vender called "Fenchy" appeared on the dock with a basket of oranges. "Fenchy" wore a bright red jacket, one of the kind that makes a man feel like a J. Pierpont Morgan if he has only six-bits in his pants. "Fenchy" had looked frequently upon the new brand of hooch which must be called the generous brand. When the fruit vender reached the dock a female whose voice was similar to the intonations of a fog-horn and who was standing on the upper deck of the steamer called to "Fenchy" to throw her an orange which he did. Another female of the same ilk duplicated the request and the order was filled. Other orders came thick and fast from the upper deck and in three minutes time "Fenchy" had thrown his last orange, leaving his basket empty. Yet from the upper deck came the voice of a siren "Please, 'Fenchy', throw me an orange." Then is when the generous brand of hooch bubbled. The basket was empty but the heart of its owner was in the right place. He looked disappointed for a moment at not being able to comply with the request. Then he got action on his right arm and with all the force at his command, threw the basket at the expectant female on the upper deck exclaiming as it went "Zare, — et, take ze basketette."

An hour later "Fenchy" had rustled a box which he had suspended from his neck by straps and from which he was industriously endeavoring to recoup himself for what he had so freely given away at the steamer.

Many people are careless in making out bills for collection and trouble frequently results from such neglect. There is one man in Dawson, however, who believes in itemizing his accounts and when one of them is presented for payment, if a man can afford to take the time to read it, he is apt to pay for fear he might have to read it a second time. The man referred to is an ex-priestman and a few days ago he presented the bill of which the following is a true copy:

July 12, 1901. The Dawson Hardware Co., Dr. To Blank for Express Services. May 1st—Two flat bars of iron and one round do., 50 pounds of spikes in keg, tin of oil and sundry small things in oil case, a roll of two broad pieces of flat rubber sheeting, gunny sack of waste, small box of fax packing, etc., etc., from the store to—some of the things to the steamer Gold Star and the rest to steamer J. P. Light—both these boats lying in the ice on the eastern side of the river about 1 1/2 miles above Dawson. Trail extremely bad, $4.

May 30th—Some three or four iron rods about 14 feet long, some hardware of sorts in a gunny sack, a pick and a man from the store to—al, except the pick, a wagon close to the Klondike bridge, and the pick to Johnston & Holt's (freighters to Hunker). $1.50.

July 6th—A load of shovels, picks, axes, crowbars, zinc buckets, etc., etc., 26 packages in all, from the store at about 11 p. m. to the Yukon stables—delivered into a wagon there. $1.50. Total $7. Please remit. There was no disputing the accuracy of the bill which the Dawson Hardware Company at once paid.

Did anybody in Dawson ever pause sufficiently long to consider what a great colony could be formed at some down river point by congregating all those who leave Dawson between two days, by stealth and in small boats? It would be a great aggregation. Suppose, for instance, Octoroon Germain, who was among the first to leave this spring, had located a townsite some place over the line and had flagged and annexed every ligitative that has since gone that way. The townsite proprietor could look after mail for the colony, Billy Tidball could supply some sort of gaming resort, Houston could supply gas for lighting purposes, Fred Blank could sell "dove dry goods" and others too numerous to mention would each find a field for his specialty. The whole would constitute an aggregation similar to what might be expected if hades would take an emetic.

If the average Dawsonite will trust his imagination for a moment he can hear Germain as chairman of the reception committee extending the colonial welcome to a newcomer thusly: "Why, my dear fellow, I assure you that you are most welcome to our midst. We were just talking about you last night and hoping you would come. (Aside to his cabinet—I never did like the scoundrel). And now that you are here, it is my pleasure, as founder of this colony and as post-master general, to extend to you my dear fellow, the privileges of the town and ask you to cast your lot with us. (Aside—I wish he had drowned on the way down.) Now, my dear fellow (slapping him on the back) just make yourself at home."

The Black's Last Race.

When the Antelope ranch of north-eastern Nebraska was in its prime, there was kept in the corral a black horse that was never used for any but special service. If a child were sick at the ranch house and needed a physician, out came the black, and furiously he covered the distance as no other horse on the ranch could. He even in a day at that time journeyed 120 miles and flung his proud head high in the air, whinnying as if he could joyously cover that distance over again without rest.

The black lived long and well at the Antelope ranch after he was tamed somewhat, but one day he broke the bounds of his corral by some chance, and, standing where the dip of the plain land came up to the bars of his late prison, he gave a triumphant scream and plunged into the wilderness before him. The ranchman heard his cry. They came running, came just in time to see him arch himself on a distant elevation and scream again.

The sun went down, the night wind came, and the black slacked his thirst in streams almost on the border line of Nebraska and South Dakota. Then he swung on again, stronger, freer. Then he called, the wild challenge of the full blooded range horse to the female of his breed. The cry went up and down on the night air. It rang and back from other rolls of land, and it burst through the shadows of the valley and roused the mares. One, two, three, they all called back. Below him was the sound of rising animals, the pattering of hoofs on range grass. He had found his own.

He could not see them so far below were they, but they, looking up, could see him silhouetted against the sky. His mane was blowing free; he was a something carved out of the night; he was flesh and fire and blood, and he was free. Again he called, and again he was answered, and this was repeated several times. No need for him to wait longer. He leaped from his emittance, and he dashed down the rough way to where he knew he would be awaited. Heedless of rock and shale, heedless of gashed waterways now dry, he leaped on, spurring all earth beneath his feet, coming with the wind of the plain. A rock in his path he hit him war quick and did not fall. Shale slid with him; he bounded ahead. Then for one instant there opened before him a horrible gulch, unsoundable, unknown. It had not been there when last he was in this valley. The mares were beyond calling to him. Surrender? He drew off and went at it, rising in the air for frightful span to cover, screaming again his wild song of freedom as he leaped.

The pursuing ranchmen found him in the gulch's bed the next day, back to back, blood at his lips, dead. He was free.—Rx.

LADY MINTO'S GOOD WORK

Will Endeavor to Establish Cottage Hospitals in Yukon.

Major Wood is recently in receipt of the following letter which shows that Lady Minto is engaged in a most humane and commendable undertaking, the establishment of cottage hospitals in various places throughout the Dominion, several of which will be erected in the Yukon territory:

Government House, Ottawa, June 27. Dear Sir—During the extended tour made last autumn by his excellency the governor general, and myself, the urgent need of cottage hospitals in many localities was brought to our attention.

In every community hospital treatment is often required to prevent suffering and permanent injury to health and indeed as a means of saving life. In districts where the population is distant from large hospital centers, cottage hospitals are evidently necessary. Those to be built and bear the name "Queen Victoria Cottage Hospitals" would be a lasting and worthy commemoration of our late beloved queen whose name has always been connected with efforts to relieve suffering.

I have already received an anonymous donation of $2000. I am sure you will recognize the two-fold merits of the effort and of the fund which are to help communities to help themselves and to create memories worthy of our late beloved queen. I shall be so much obliged if you will kindly give me your interest in this matter and shall be grateful for any contribution to the fund which you may be disposed to give. Believe me, yours truly, MARY MINTO.

The idea as explained by Major Wood is that the hospitals shall be constructed entirely by voluntary contribution, the government contributing largely to their maintenance afterward. They are to be strictly nonsectarian and anyone will be admitted for treatment whether they have funds or not. Those with money will be expected to pay for what they receive.

Major Wood has also received from Lady Minto cards for distribution to those who may desire to assist in getting subscriptions for this most worthy enterprise. He will be very happy to meet anyone at his office who may be interested.

TO FERRY THE YUKON

George Hubrick Arrives With Cable and Appliances.

George Hubrick arrived in Dawson last Saturday on the steamer Yukoner bringing with him 4000 feet of five-eighths inch cable and all the other necessary machinery for an overland cable current ferry, which he intends to put into operation across the Yukon river between Dawson and West Dawson.

Mr. Hubrick has been in the ferry business previously to coming to this country and during his trip to the outside has been traveling through Washington and Oregon studying the improvements in construction and operations of ferries similar to the one he intends putting up here. There are a number of ferries of this kind in the states mentioned and at White Bluffs, Washington, is one which requires a cable 200 feet longer than the one crossing the river at this place, which gives Mr. Hubrick a greater degree of confidence in the feasibility of his scheme.

It will be necessary, in order to keep the cable from interfering with the travel of the boats, to erect a tower on this side of the river 130 feet high from the top of which it will be suspended across the river and fastened to the bluff on the opposite side. It is thought this will allow plenty of room for the boats to pass under during the highest water in the river.

The ferry will be similar in construction to the one operated across the Klondike, its only motive power being the current of the river. The boat will be large enough to carry teams and pack horses which it is intended to put onto the route to Miller and other creeks in the country on the other side of the river. It is estimated that the current will carry the boat across the river in three minutes.

ON ELDERADO AND BONANZA

Events That are Transpiring on two Busy Creeks.

Business Changes, Social Happenings and Other Things—Road Building the Order of the Times.

Mrs. M. P. Rothweiler of Magnet hotel, came to Dawson by Orr & Tully's stage today.

Mr. Tom Potter of 33 roadhouse on upper Bonanza, is in town on business today.

Mrs. J. Oliver and Mrs. C. D. Blodgett, of 21 below Bonanza, were visiting friends in Dawson during the past week.

Mrs. Bogan, of 3 below Bonanza, is visiting with Mrs. J. H. White, of 33 below Bonanza roadhouse.

Dr. M. P. Austin, of Minneapolis, Minn., who owns extensive mining interests on Bonanza, arrived from his home a few days ago looking hale and hearty after a winter's sojourn in the States.

Miss Rathstrom, proprietress of the Raymond hotel, Grand Forks, who has been on the sick list for the past week, is again able to be about.

Mrs. F. W. Clayton, of Dawson, who has been visiting with Mrs. Thompson, of 43 above Bonanza, returned home last Sunday.

Mr. Austin M. Gibbs, of the Strathcona hotel, Magnet City, is arranging a football match between the Magnet boys and the Dawson team England vs. Canada to be played on Monte Cristo Hill in a couple of weeks. A big banquet will be given after the match at the Strathcona.

An elegant dance was given at the Big tent at Grand Forks in honor of the departure of Mr. and Mrs. Green. The elite of the city turned out in mass and the popularity of the young couple was attested by the large attendance. Mr. and Mrs. Green departed for their home on the Clifford Sitton last Thursday evening, taking with them the hearty good will and best wishes of the whole community, with a Godspeed for a safe and happy journey. It is to be hoped that we will see their smiling faces at the old stand the coming spring, when they will do greater business than formerly.

Another of Grand Forks' popular society ladies left last night for Seattle. This time it is Mrs. Raymond who goes with her little daughter to look after matters of business that need immediate attention at Seattle.

Mr. F. H. Bense, of Bense & Krober, of discovery roadhouse on Bonanza, has purchased Mr. Lewis interest in the Lewis & Jackson claim on Adams Hill. As near as can be learned the purchase price was in the neighborhood of $20,000. Mr. Bense intends to make some big improvements on the above claim and will no doubt make it a successful venture.

The government has a larger force of men at work building new roads on Bonanza and Eldorado. The Eldorado road is now completed to Gay gulch while the Bonanza road is completed to 17 above on Bonanza.

Major Wood has recently received word from Mrs. Wood dated at Winnipeg stating that she was standing the long voyage to Montreal very well and that her health was already considerably improved due to the change of climate and surrounding conditions.

Police Court.
Benjamin Eddington was given a free ride yesterday evening; that is, it was free for the time being, but this morning when Magistrate Wroughton was told that Eddington was intoxicated and that it cost $3 to hire a wagon to get him to the barracks, the magistrate told Eddington he would have to pay for his ride so he was fined $2 and costs and $3 for the wagon hire.

Tom Webster was fined $5 and costs for being drunk and disorderly on First avenue.

Mary Litigation.
Joran Beaujeu has sued out a writ of execution against Wilfred Delage and seized the upper half of creek claim No. 263 below lower on Dominion and an undivided half interest in a bench in the third tier adjoining the lower half, left limit, of No. 9 above on Last Chance. The interests will be sold by the sheriff at auction to satisfy the judgment on Monday, July 22.

STANDARD THEATRE

"Charley's Aunt" Delights Pleasure Seekers This Week.

The interior of the Standard theater has been undergoing improvements and now has a much larger auditorium and also presents a much better appearance than formerly. During the last week the boxes at the back of the building on the second floor have been removed and the space they occupied has been converted into a balcony making more room and allowing a better view of the stage.

"Charley's Aunt," the play being produced this week is the brightest and most laughable comedy ever produced in Dawson. The plot deals with two young college men, Charlie Wychem and Jack Chesney, each of whom is in love with a young lady and trying to get his courage up to a sufficient degree to declare himself. This is the last day of school and the girls expect to leave the following day for their summer trip. The boys want an opportunity to speak with them so they invite them to a dinner in honor of Charley's aunt, Donna Lucia Dalvador, who has announced her coming. At the last minute Donna sends a telegram that she will not arrive for two days and the boys in order to keep the engagement with the ladies, persuade Lord Fencourt Babberly, who dresses himself as a woman to rehearse for a private theatrical, to take the part of Charley's aunt so that the dinner party may be proceeded with. The various situations which Babberly gets the whole crowd into from the time of the dinner party to the arrival of the real Donna, accompanied by her adopted daughter, who is the sweetheart of Babberly, are exceedingly comical and when the plot is exposed the explanation the boys make keeps the audience in a roar of laughter. In fact the play from start to finish in one continuous round of merriment.

The cast of characters and synopsis of the play is as follows:

Lord Fencourt Babberly, Wm. Mulren; Charley Wychem, Robt. Lawrence; Jack Chesney, C. W. Bohman; Stephen Spettigue, Gus C. Saville; Col. Sir Francis Chesney, Alf T. Layne; Brassett, Fred C. Lewis; The New Footman, Geo. Troxwell; Donna Lucia Dalvador, Julia Walcott; Amy Spettigue, Mamie Holden; Elia Delchey, Lillian Grant; Vivian as Kitty Verdum.

Time: The present. Commemoration week, Oxford.

Act 1—Jack Chesney's rooms at Oxford college. "When pious frauds are dispensations Hudelbras."

Act 2—Garden outside of Jack's rooms. "While there's tea there's hope," Pinner.

Act 3—Drawing room in Spettigue's House. The exposure. "Dinner lubricated business."

The special scenery which has been made for this piece is worthy of note especially in the second act which represents the gardens in the school ground. The work does great credit to the designer, A. R. Thorne and also sets off the play to the best possible advantage.

VERE ISH FRED BLANK?

Der Subbostion Ish Dot He Vas Schibbed Down Der Rifer.

Fred Blank, who was proprietor of the little store in the corner of the Savoy theater and also done a peddling business in cheap and gaudy clothing among the dance hall girls is reported to have left the country and to have also left a number of creditors who would like very much to have his money or the clothes with which he was entrusted.

No capias has been issued, it seeming to those interested that before this he has passed beyond the efficiency of a warrant. He was last seen in Dawson Saturday on which day he returned from a trip to the creeks and it is the supposition that he was among those who went down the river on the John C. Barr and forgot to put their names on the passenger list.

An Innovation.
Julian Baker, the genial and popular proprietor of the Fairview, has taken a step that will greatly increase his already big bar trade and that step was to reduce the price of all drinks from 50 to 25 cents, to add an orchestra and to purchase a heavy stock of the finest liquors to be had. There is a grand opening at the Fairview today and tonight under the new order.

Court of Appeals in Session.
The court of appeals is in session today hearing the case of Fleischman vs. Creese, the appeal having been made by the assigns of the defendant on a decision previously rendered by the gold commissioner. The litigation has arisen over the boundaries on a claim on discovery pup of Last Chance, Creese, who is a well known musician about town, staked a hillside claim on the left limit of the pup and Fleischman staked a creek on the pup. The gulch is quite narrow and in order for the creek claim to receive the 300 feet in width as allowed by law, the side lines would reach well up on the hillsides and conflict with the down hill boundaries of the hill claims. The strip of ground over which the contention exists contains a rich paystreak. Creese sold his interests some time ago and the case is being conducted by his successors. Two other cases will be heard after the one now on trial has been disposed of.

Longevity of Fish.
There are some goldfish in Washington which have belonged to the same family for the last 50 years, and they seem no bigger and no less vivacious today than they did when they first came into the owner's possession. A few of the fish in the Imperial aquarium at St. Petersburg are known to be 150 years old, and the age of the sacred fish in some of the ponds attached to the Buddhist temples in China is to be counted by centuries, if we are to believe the priests.

Somewhat Encouraging.
"Did that rich young Goldbag propose to you last night?"
"Not exactly, mamma, but he asked for an option on me for 30 days."

TIME'S BALM.
When first I met the fair Marie,
My smitten heart at once surrendered,
And in a week, with eager haste,
My love and all I have I tendered.
Marie was very calm and cool,
And when I came away—reduced—
To nothing, I felt faint and sad,
But, oh, how soon so many girls
I've seen, far prettier, sweeter, brighter,
That all their loveliness has made
My head of me distinctly lighter!
In fact, since she said "No" I've met
A lovely girl whom I like better,
And now, whenever I meet Marie,
I think, "Thank heaven I didn't get her!"
